Legislature Called To Meet Aug. 30 To Pass Tax And Insurance Laws

James J. Davis And Six Others Billed In Huge Lotteries

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (US)—Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, was indicted today by a federal grand jury with six other men and a telegraph company for operation of lotteries in fraternal organizations.

Senator Davis, who was a member of the cabinet of both Presidents Coolidge and Hoover and is now a senatorial candidate for re-election, was named in two indictments based on lotteries for the Loyal Order of Moose of which he was director general until recently.

Conrad Mann Named

Indicted with him on similar charges was Conrad H. Mann, high official of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, personal friend of President Hoover, and president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce. Mann, a Republican leader, was a member of President Hoover's unemployment commission and only Monday was named by the president a delegate to the forthcoming national economic conference.

Others named in the indictments are:

Bernard C. Maguire of Aurora, Ill., and New York, promoter of lotteries for the Moose, the Eagles, Shriners, and Knights of Columbus.

Theodore G. Miller of Mooseheart, Ill., the Moose colony, head of the Moose's propagation department and long regarded as Senator Davis' right-hand man in Moose affairs.

Frank G. Herring of Kansas City, editor of the Eagles Magazine, trustee of Notre Dame university and associate of Mr. Mann.

Raymond Walsh of Philadelphia, assistant to McGuire in the promotion of various lotteries.

The Western Union Telegraph company, charged with having aided in the distribution of the lottery tickets which were sold from coast to coast.

M. J. Rivise, in charge of the package delivery department of the Western Union.

$5,000,000 Involved

The charges, which follow nationwide investigation directed by U. S. Attorney George Z. Medalie of New York in cooperation with department of justice agents assigned from Washington, are based on the sale of more than $5,000,000 worth of lottery tickets.

While the intake is estimated to have reached that amount, the prizes amounted to only $225,000, and only one-fifth of the money taken in was turned over to the

RALLY TONIGHT FOR FERGUSON

Dallas Attorney and Women's Leader to Speak

Advocates of the candidacy of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for election as governor of Texas will stage a rally in her interest on the lawn of the Memorial auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday night, according to plans announced Thursday by J. B. Marlow, local chairman of the Ferguson campaign.

While other speakers are campaigning for Mrs. Ferguson throughout this section of the state, two speakers from Dallas will address the gathering here Friday night to plead for the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson in the run-off primary Aug. 27. Luther Nichols, Dallas lawyer, and Mrs. Don F. Onion, reputed to be one of the most impressive woman speakers in Texas, will speak for the Fergusons, who themselves addressed a mass meeting here in June.

Mr. Nichols attained considerable prominence several years ago, Mr. Marlow stated, as head of the opposition which sought the removal of Earle B. Mayfield from the seat to which he had been elected in the United States senate. The Dallas attorney was described as a stimulating speaker, and a recognized force in state governmental affairs.

Mr. Marlow will preside at Friday night's rally, with John Davenport, Wichita Falls attorney, introducing the speakers.

Rattler Alarm Clock Rouses Sleeping Woman

TULARE, Calif., Aug. 18. (UP)—Mrs. J. L. Sweeney is an authority on rude awakenings.

A guest at a summer home near here, she was partly awakened during a nap by feeling something crawling over her legs. Thinking drowsily, it was one of the harmless variety of lizards found around here, she shook it off. Then a whirring sound awakened her completely.

It was a rattlesnake she had tossed to the floor.

R. F. C. Loans Before July 21 to Be Revealed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Loans by the Reconstruction corporation subsequent to July 21, will be made public under a ruling today by South Trimble, clerk of the house.

The house official's decision follows a controversy which raged during enactment of the unemployment relief bill over making public information about loans by the corporation to banks and financial institutions.

The house, led by Speaker Garner, inserted the "publicity" clause, requiring the corporation to report monthly to the house and senate. Despite administration objections, the senate approved the clause.

Women Endurance Fliers Still at It

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Aug. 18. (AP)—Less than a day from their goal—the women's endurance flight record—Mrs. Frances Marsalis and Mrs Louis Thaden continued to soar over Curtiss field tonight.

Rain pelted their plane and even worse weather was expected but the women indicated in notes dropped to the ground they had no intention of coming down—not even tomorrow afternoon. If they remain aloft, they will equal the record of 122 hours and 20 minutes at 12:30 p. m., central standard time, tomorrow and they will be the new record holders one hour later.

Herb's Fishing Story Becomes Shark Tale

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—While President Hoover arranged tonight to go to his Rapidan camp tomorrow afternoon, tales of the recent presidential fishing trip continued to grow.

Guests on the three-day excursion in Chesapeake bay which ended last night, reported Secretary Hyde had hooked a small shark and succeeded in landing him much to the consternation of some of the party.

PROCLAMATION ENUMERATES 4 NEEDED ACTS

Assumption of Road Bonds By State Advocated By Sterling

CONTROVERSY LOOMS

Robertson Insurance Law May be Armageddon Of Session

AUSTIN, Aug. 18. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling today formally ordered the Texas legislature to convene in extraordinary session on Tuesday, Aug. 30, at 10 a. m. principally to consider tax relief measures.

One section of the subjects enumerated in the proclamation, that dealing with proposed amendments to the state insurance and building and loan association laws, was regarded as opening the way for consideration of what is known as the "Robertson insurance law," placing limitations upon out-of-state insurance companies doing business in Texas.

Law Controverted

Repeal of the Robertson insurance law has been a controversial subject before previous legislatures. Recently there was organized an association, with headquarters in San Antonio, whose announced purpose was to work for changes in that law.

Four subjects for legislation were opened, as follows:

1. Providing that outstanding issues of road bonds, heretofore issued by counties and road districts, for the purpose of aiding in constructing roads which are now state highways, shall be assumed by the state; and that all taxes required to be levied upon property within such counties or road districts from the assessment therein for the year 1932, or succeeding years, but that the principal and interest on such bonds, as the same may accrue, shall be paid out of the state highway fund.

Tax Penalties

2. Pass legislation releasing the penalties and interest accrued upon all delinquent taxes provided the same are paid on or before Jan. 31, 1933.

3. Amend the laws of Texas governing the investments of life insurance companies and of building

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18. (UP)—Word that two members of a motion picture company were lost in a blizzard raging in the arctic circle was received at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios today from W. S. Van Dyke, head of the expedition.

'Baering' Down On The News

BY ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

TAKE FARMS OFF THE STREET

We paid for our lessons in Wall street even if we did lose them in the mail.

We have some badly frost-bitten ideas of why stocks and bonds scamper up and down like mice in a belfry.

But we never could see why wheat, cotton and corn are subject to the call and demand of speculators who eat cake, wear silk and hate succotash.

It's about time they took farming away from the ticker and put it back at the end of the plow.

It's a tough racket when you have to spend your life digging for another man's fishing trips.

And that is what the dirt farmer is up against. He's got to raise two crops to pay the freight charges on one. All he gets from his cows is red ink. If he gets sore and quits farming he starves. If he raises just enough for his family he's bankrupt. If he raises too much it's worse than none at all.

The farmer is at the mercy of the middleman and the broker. And there is an old adage that you can't get rich with another man counting your money.

GARNER FLIES BACK TO TEXAS

Speaker Addresses Crowds At All Stops

AUSTIN, Aug. 18. (AP)—The plane in which Speaker John N. Garner was returning home from the East encountered a heavy rain storm here and stopped for the night. Mr. Garner accepted the invitation of two young men to continue the trip to San Antonio in a small automobile.

San Antonio is about 80 miles from Austin.

"I'm entirely at home in a Ford," the speaker said. "I can drive it myself if I have to."

The names of the young men who offered the ride were not obtained. With about 100 other persons, they had gone to the Austin airport to see the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

The Garner plane ran into rainy weather soon after leaving Little Rock, Ark., and traveled under similar unfavorable conditions through North Texas.

Garner talked informally to the crowd at the airport in Austin, as he had done on other brief stops during the day.

He reiterated confidence the Democratic national ticket would

Strikers Seek To Close Coal Mines

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Aug. 18. (AP)—A caravan 12 miles long of striking coal miners—sullen faced and determined—moved into Taylorville tonight, grimly bent on preventing work in mines on a reduced wage scale.

There was little disorder and virtually no violence. Local authorities moved out of the miners' path, but in Christian county alone there were 1,500 deputy sheriffs and vigilantes ready with weapons in case of need.

Overhead soared airplanes carrying high officials of the Illinois national guard, ready to call out reserves if necessary.

Mine officials described the situation as "exceedingly tense."

Aid for Oklahoma Flood Victims Asked

ENID, Okla., Aug. 18. (UP)—Appeals for aid in behalf of northwestern Oklahoma flood victims were made today by the Red Cross.

A survey of the area, stricken by cloudburst rains, showed damage at near the $2,000,000 mark. Four persons were drowned. Scores were injured, or are suffering from exposure. Rich wheat lands were washed out. Livestock was lost.

Ralph Von Thurn, Red Cross representative, asked $15,000 to aid the homeless and destitute at Cherokee. Enid, with more than 300 persons routed from their homes by the high waters, is seeking to handle its own relief.

Hoover Told He Will Sweep New England

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (US)—President Hoover was told today the Republican ticket will sweep New England in November.

Senator Bingham of Connecticut, who battled for an outright repeal plank at the Chicago Republican convention, said:

"New England likes the president's prohibition statement in his acceptance speech. The speech makes certain a change, with the details to be left to congress. It's a grand step in the right direction."

BANDITS GET $5,000

ASHDOWN, Ark., Aug. 18. (UP)—Two bandits robbed the First National bank here of between $5,000 and $6,000 this afternoon and escaped in a waiting automobile. The robbers, armed with pistols, forced the two bank employes to lie on the floor. They fled south.

CURTIS STAYS DRY IN SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

Vice President Approves G. O. P. Platform And Hoover's Stand

5,000 Persons Gather At Topeka Capitol For Notification

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 18. (UP)—Vice President Charles Curtis, looking but little older than he did on a similar occasion here four years ago, accepted his second Republican nomination today as vice president of the United States.

He said that he personally was a dry, that he was a loyal Republican, that President Hoover had made an excellent president—and that even the Democrats knew it.

It was a big day for Topeka, the Curtis family and the friends of the vice president who had watched him grow up from a jockey at country fair grounds to be a prominent attorney and finally to receive the nation's second highest honor. The family and the friends were emphatic in predicting he would receive the latter again, as running mate to Mr. Hoover.

Dickinson Speaks

Five thousand persons gathered near the capitol steps. Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, introduced Senator L. J. Dickinson, while the crowd cheered and Curtis smiled, "and due notice is accordingly given."

Mrs. Dolly Gann, the vice president's sister who worked so valiantly for her brother when it appeared for a time that some one else might be nominated at the Chicago convention, was prominent on the speakers' stand. She fanned herself and smiled almost constantly while the elderly Curtis spoke.

Approves Platform

He said he approved of the entire Republican platform and of President Hoover's "admirable statement of Republican principles and achievements" in his acceptance speech.

"I am a strong believer in the rule of the majority," Curtis said, "and I feel that the people should at all times be given full opportunity to express their opinion on the constitution or the amendments thereto.

"But personally I am not only in favor of honestly and fearlessly enforcing all our laws, but further am I opposed to the return of the saloon and I am opposed to the repeal of the 18th amendment."

Defends Farm Policy

He defended the Republican farm relief policy, called for a protective tariff, for rigid restriction of immigration, and for reorganization of governmental agencies to eliminate duplication. He asked for the votes of women and of labor and said of President Hoover:

"He is the careful organizer, the great student of the needs of our people."

Commodities Finance Corporation Formed

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—The organization and operating plan of the Commodities Finance corporation, proposed by Eugene Meyer to furnish credit for the movement of commodities from producers to manufacturers, was announced today after a meeting of prominent New York bankers.

The corporation will be authorized to issue up to $50,000,000 in notes for which New York banks will be asked to subscribe. The notes will have behind them all the assets of the corporation, which will consist principally of capital stock of two subsidiary companies which will be formed.

HEADS AND TAILS OF IT

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee and manager of the Roosevelt-Garner campaign, issued the following comment tonight on the acceptance speech of Vice President Curtis:

"It looks as if the Republican party has a half-dry head and a dried out tail."

Stratosphere Balloon Pierces Unexplored Levels Of Altitude

By R. G. HADFIELD
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAVALLADO DI MONZANRANO, Italy, Aug. 18.—Prof. Auguste Piccard and Max Cosyns, both a little bit shaky, came back to earth from the stratosphere today after having ascended to the highest altitude ever reached by man.

Their altitude was 16,700 meters, or 54,776 feet. On the professor's first flight last year the top height was 51,793 feet.

"We are very well satisfied with our flight," the professor said, while hundreds of gaping farmers stood about staring at men who had been far above the rain and the clouds in a little aluminum ball attached to a balloon.

Prof. Piccard

Professor Piccard, 48 years old, lean, his head crowned by a shaggy mass of hair, and his 25-year-old assistant, took off at 5:06 o'clock this morning (10.06 p. m. Wednesday, central standard time) at Dubendorf, on the other side of the Alps in Switzerland. They were in the air about 12 hours.

The Belgian scientist's first thought after his aluminum ball had bumped against a stubble field in this tiny village was for the safety of his balloon. That taken care of, he said:

"Where is a telephone? I want to phone my wife in Zurich."

Wife Relents

When he made his first ascent last year he almost lost his life, and his wife made him promise then that he never would attempt the dangerous feat again. But she reconsidered, and when he and his Belgian assistant took off before sun up this morning she was there to see him off with their children.

The scientific results of this new flight into the heavens remained uncertain. The professor hoped to gather evidence which will assist in determining whether the universe is "dying" or immortal. Such evidence would come from measurements of cosmic rays. But before it is possible to establish anything it will be necessary for his data to be examined and checked.

Loses Equilibrium

When Professor Piccard stepped out of the port hole of the balloon gondola he tried to stand erect. But he could not. He swayed, and only the crowd pressing about him kept him from falling. He placed an arm on the shoulder of a man nearby to steady himself.

"It's the difference between the intense cold up there and the intense heat down here," he explained.

Revival of Chinese Boycott Is Charged

SHANGHAI, Aug. 18. (AP)—The controversy partly responsible for the destructive Sino-Japanese conflict of last winter has bobbed up again to disturb the peace of the Far East.

Consul General Kuramatsu Murai of Japan today submitted to Mayor Wu Teh-Chen of Greater Shanghai a sharp protest against what he termed revival of the anti-Japanese boycott by Chinese terrorist organizations.

Consul General Murai, himself wounded by a bomb in the hands of a crazed Korean in March, charged that chambers of commerce in many Chinese cities were backing up these "lawless elements" with the intention of stifling Japanese trade.

Oklaunion Farmer Gets 10 Cents Per Pound For Cotton

Special to The Record News.

OKLAUNION, Texas, Aug. 18.—The Oklaunion area's first bale of cotton, ginned here today, sold for 10 cents per pound.

It was brought in by David Thompson, farmer residing about five miles northwest of here. The bale, weighing 350 pounds, represents the yield of about 20 acres, Thompson said.

Thompson's bale came in about 10 days earlier than the first bale of the 1931 season. It was ginned by the Maloy & Key Gin company, which later purchased it.

Thompson has about 400 acres of early cotton and expects to begin picking it soon," he said.

TUGS RESCUE U.S.S. SARATOGA

Giant Aircraft Carrier Goes Aground

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18. (US)—After being fast aground about 20 miles south of here for more than four hours, the giant aircraft carrier Saratoga was refloated tonight at 8:02 p. m. Pacific standard time, with the aid of tugs and proceeded to its anchorage at Los Angeles harbor.

It was reported that an examination disclosed no damage to the hull of the $35,000,000 carrier which, with its sister ship, the Lexington, are the largest in the United States navy and are two of the biggest navy vessels in the world.

The Saratoga had 1,700 officers and men and 80 airplanes aboard.

Witnesses said the haze was very thick when the Saratoga struck and the assistance was not called until the carrier was unable to free itself with its own engines. Early attempts by tugs also failed.

Crew Examines Prow

Charles Agroske, manager of the Bolsa Chica Gun club, said that soon after the Saratoga went aground small boats were launched and the crewds examined the prow and began taking soundings.

"One ship arrived and cast a line to the carrier, but it could not pull the huge boat loose," he said.

"By 6 o'clock the fog became thicker and it was difficult to see

Posse Formed After Pair Release Altus Man From Auto

ARDMORE, Okla., Aug. 18. (UP)—Search for desperate convicts who escaped from the Granite state reformatory ended tonight in death for one fugitive, Finis Beard, 21, who died resisting a posse of peace officers.

Beard was shot and killed by a party of authorities including Bill Guess and Cecil Crosby who killed Manual Gomez and Emilio Rubio, relatives of the president of Mexico some time ago.

Near Sister's Home

Beard was cornered in the high grass near his sister's home. Officers shot him when he resisted their attempts to arrest him. No gun was found in his possession.

Beard's companion, Albert Snyder, was captured.

A posse was formed here hastily this afternoon when Dee Walker, Altus, Okla., automobile salesman, was released by Beard and Snyder, who had held him captive since Sunday night.

The men forced him to drive them to Oklahoma City and over the central part of the state in their attempts to evade arrest, he said.

Walker Unharmed

Walker was thrown unharmed from his car late today at Sulphur, 20 miles northeast of here.

Snyder, when captured, was near Walker's car. Walker will remain to testify before the grand jury tomorrow.

The shooting of Beard and arrest of Snyder brings the total number of convicts rearrested to 12. Twenty-two men participated in the escape plot.

July Yield of New Taxes Less Than $3,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (US)—The new excise taxes which congress adopted instead of a general manufacturers' sales tax netted the treasury department less than $3,000,000 during July.

This was revealed in the first comparative statement under the new act, issued by the treasury department today.

The first month's figures are not typical of what the new act will yield, since the increased income tax rates are not yet reflected. In addition, there was a heavy advance buying of taxed articles in order to avoid the levy.

Walker Seeks Dismissal of Charges And Court Writ to Stay Investigation

ALBANY, Aug. 18. (US)—Mayor James J. Walker played two master trump cards today in the public removal hearing before Governor Roosevelt.

He obtained a supreme court order requiring the governor to prove his right to continue the hearing or render a verdict.

The mayor then, through Counsel John J. Curtin, tore into the Seabury charges and in over five hours of steady argument branded them as founded mostly on inference and without a "sinister motive," to back them.

The supreme court writ is returnable at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Should it be upheld, it will mean that Governor Roosevelt has been wasting his time in hearing the removal charges.

Mayor Walker based his petition on two arguments:

1—That the governor has no legal jurisdiction over him.

2—That he has been deprived of his constitutional rights by the governor's method of conducting the removal hearing.

The mayor's counsel at 10 a. m. tomorrow will appear before Justice Ellis J. Stacey to seek an "alternate writ of prohibition," thus halting the hearings.

Governor Roosevelt, in opposition to the writ, will be represented by Attorney General Bennett. Behind tomorrow's proceedings lies the threat of extended court litigation which may hold up the final determination of the Walker case for weeks and possibly months.

Meanwhile, to forestal any snap action, Attorney Curtin in today's session conducted a successful filibuster. He argued hour after hour for a dismissal of the charges.

Both Parties Line Up Speakers For Oratorical Assault on East

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Both Republicans and Democrats began lining up their star orators today for a forensic bombardment of the East.

Representative John Q. Tilson, eastern director of the Hoover-Curtis speakers' bureau, announced the names of 20 men who will stump the 12 states in this area.

The vice president heads the list, which also includes six cabinet members and five senators.

From Democratic national headquarters came a list of six speakers who will be sent into Maine. Two are governors and one a former governor.

The first objective in this speaking campaign will be the Maine state election Sept. 12," said Colonel Tilson, in telling of plans for opening the floodgates of Republican oratory the first of next month.

The speakers of his list are Vice President Curtis, Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Secretary of War Hurley, Secretary of State Stimson, Secretary of Labor Doak, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Postmaster General Brown; Senators Moses of New Hampshire, Hebert of Rhode Island, Bingham of Connecticut and Davis and Reed of Pennsylvania; Fourth Assistant Postmaster Philp; Alien Property Custodian Sutherland; Cresswell MacLaughlin and Will Irwin, authors; Representatives Chiperfield of Illinois and Hooper of Michigan; and former Representative MacLafferty of California.

GAS AND CHECK TAXES LEADERS

Nine Days' Report Shows $3,000,000 Collected

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Bank checks and gasoline led the way in July in producing the largest amounts of revenue from the special excise and miscellaneous levies in the new billion dollar revenue act.

Though covering only the last nine days of June, the treasury reported the two-cent tax on bank checks produced $1,094,287, while the one-cent gasoline levy brought in $539,461.

Next was the brewers' wort, malt, and grape concentrates tax, which produced $221,359; tires and tubes, $96,067, and soft drinks, $89,569.

The three per cent tax on automobiles and motorcycles returned $47,629; the five per cent levy on radios, $32,848, and the three per cent tax on electrical energy $32,196.

The amount of taxes was small and while credited to July receipts actually comprised that collected for the last nine days of June and what the internal revenue bureau termed a "dribble of current taxes" during July.

Most of the manufacturers' excise and miscellaneous taxes are payable the last day of the month for the preceding months so that the total actually due for July will not be paid into the treasury until the last day of August.

The July receipts are held by bureau officials as bearing no comparative relation to the same nine-day period of succeeding months because consumers stocked up nearly all articles just before the new taxes went into effect June 21.

August receipts, covering July tax payments, are awaited by tax experts as the first figure upon which the total yield from new levies for the year can be estimated.

Despite collections of nearly $3,000,000 in new and increased taxes, the total in July from all sources was $12,482,790 less than July, 1931. While the new levies brought in $2,733,731 and the increased tax on issues of stocks, bonds, etc., raised revenues in that bracket by $225,000, the total receipts were $61,686,467 compared with $74,169,258 in July last year.

Income, estate, tobacco and stamp taxes decreased over $14,000,000 as compared with July, 1931.

what was occurring. I saw several other small boats arrive and then a warship. I could not tell the name of the navy boat.

"The crowds along the beach were terrific and all the traffic was jammed."

"It must have been the fog," he declared. "For several days, the fog has rolled in and out rapidly. It is clear one minute and impossible to see the next."

HIGH TIDE MAY FREE CARRIER

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 18. (AP)—The giant aircraft carrier U. S. S. Saratoga, pride of the United States navy, went aground one-half mile off Sunset Beach, Calif., late today.

Sergt. Ray Wilkinson of the Seal Beach police, reported the Saratoga lay about one-half mile off shore and one tug had reached her and had thrown her a line at 7:30 p. m. The giant ship was lying parallel with the shore line, and a huge crowd had formed to watch her.

The ship was not listing, and with high tide due at 12:21 a. m. there were prospects she would be floated safely at that time.

The commandant of the 11th naval district here ordered all tugs to proceed to the aid of the Saratoga immediately. Three left port here at 6:30 p. m. and six others were under steam. Five tugs at San Pedro were included in the order.

The Saratoga is 888 feet long, has a beam of 106 feet, and a mean draft of 24 feet. It cost $40,000,000 and has a standard displacement of 33,000 tons.

Its flying deck, 900 feet long, is equivalent to approximately three city blocks.

The Saratoga carries 147 officers and 2,750 enlisted men including 256 with aviation ratings. A total of 100 airplanes usually is carried by the carrier, however, a large proportion of the planes at present are at North island, naval air station here.

Skippers of half a dozen additional tugs were ordered to prepare to leave port immediately at 5 o'clock.

FISHING NOTE

Irrigation Area to Close Lake Kemp Water Gates Sunday

High waters in the Wichita river between Lake Kemp and Diversion lake which have deterred fishermen from angling there recently will recede after 6 o'clock Sunday morning, it was announced Thursday evening by G. A. Remington, general manager of the irrigation projects.

Due to a surplus of water in the larger upper lake, it has been released during the past few days into the river for escape through Diversion lake. That surplus flow is to be shut off at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, Mr. Remington said, promising a quick return of the normal conditions which prevail in the river above Diversion lake when the Lake Kemp gates are closed.

EXTRA SESSION SET AUGUST 30

Governor Calls Legislature For Tax Laws

and loan associations so as to allow them to make the necessary investments in the stock of the federal home loan banks, so as to enable the home owners of Texas to have the benefit and assistance of those institutions in financing and refinancing and carrying and extending loans on their homesteads.

4. Consider and act on such other subjects of public imperative importance as the executive may, from time to time, during the session, submit by message or otherwise.

Proclamation at Dallas

The proclamation was signed by the governor in Dallas, where he stopped to dictate the call while campaigning for renomination. He notified his secretary, Pat Dougherty, that he was forwarding it to Austin to be officially attested with the state seal and filed with the secretary of state.

In the proclamation the governor remarked that "it is highly important that, to the limits of the constitutional powers of the legislature, the taxpayers of Texas shall be relieved at the earliest possible moment of the onerous and unfair burden of taxation now resting upon them."

He said that the taxpayers' "homes, farms and ranches, and other property, are taxed for road bond issues heretofore voted by counties and road districts for the purpose of aiding in the construction of roads that are now state highways, which burdens ought to be assumed and paid by those using the highways, out of the state highway fund."

Urges Tax Payments

He suggested that "legislation should be immediately enacted providing that all penalties and interest shall be released upon all delinquent taxes paid on or before Jan. 31, 1933, as as means of inducing payment of delinquent taxes and ameliorating the hardships of distressed delinquent taxpayers."

The proclamation also pointed out that "Texas home owners should be enabled immediately to avail themselves of the benefits of the Home Loan bank law recently enacted by the congress of the United States, making provision for the financing and refinancing and extensions of loans on resident homesteads."

The governor previously had expressed a hope the legislature would complete its work before the state Democratic convention meets in Lubbock on Sept. 13. The constitution provides that special sessions shall not exceed 30 days duration, leaving it to the will and discretion of the legislators should they adjourn before the time limit fixed by the fundamental law.

Third Special Session

This will be the third special session of the 42nd Texas legislature. The second called session, convened to consider a law to reduce cotton acreage in Texas, adjourned on Oct. 3, 1931, after having been in session since Sept. 8, 1931. The first called session convened on July 14, 1931, to consider conservation measures with special reference to the East Texas oil field, worked until Aug. 2, 1931.

The regular session under the Sterling administration conveped on Jan. 13, 1931, and adjourned on May 23, 1931. It was the first regular session since adoption of a constitutional amendment fixing the duration of regular legislative sessions at 120 days, instead of 60 days as theretofore.

HITLER DENIES COUP PLANNED

Fascist Leader Will Play Waiting Game

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

BERECHTESGADEN, Bavaria, Germany, Aug. 18.—Adolf Hitler, leader of Germany's 13,700,000 Fascist national Socialists, declared today he had no intention of marching on Berlin.

"Why should I," he said, "when I am there already. The question isn't whether I'll march on Berlin but rather who will have to march out of Berlin."

High up in the Bavarian mountains 107 miles from Munich, Hitler is calmly awaiting further political developments in the certainty that no matter what cabinet is established after the reichstag meets Aug. 30 his Nazis will have at least 75 per cent representation in the government.

Claims Rights

"According to the rules of democracy," he said, "any party or group of parties commanding 51 per cent of the electorate can claim the right of having the entire government turned over to them.

"Our movement at the last elections won 37 per cent. This means that of the 51 per cent necessary for taking over the government we can furnish about 75.

"Let me put it in terms of business: We will supply 75 per cent of the capital to be invested in this business. Whoever furnishes the rest, whether the reich's president or the other parties, can supply the other 25 that obviously means that our 75 per cent has a right and claim to leadership.

Plays Safe

"Without us legal government in Germany is no longer possible. We can well afford to wait. I hold my safe position. I now have 13,700,000 behind me; the next time I'll have 14,000,000 to 15,000,000 and so on.

"At the presidential run-off election I stood absolutely alone with all others against me and more than 13,000,000 voted for me. That is my hard-earned capital which nobody can take from me and which I have risked my life to get together.

"If put into the government business of which I spoke it has the further advantage that it will not need majority votes. The 75 per cent can be put to work at the say so of one man."

Hitler's mountain cottage is only a few miles from Austria, the country of his birth.

Lives in Seclusion

Here the Nazi leader lives in seclusion, attended only by three strong-armed brownshirt guards, his secretary, his adjutant and several huge shepherd dogs. His only sister, slightly older than he, keeps house. The swastika banner of the Nazi movement flies from a flagpole before the cottage.

When he speaks with visitors he frequently falls into his familiar pose of the orator. His guests, all of whom must be previously announced, include not only Nazi leaders but also confidential emissaries of the present government which desire somehow to come to terms with Hitler.

Man and Woman Held In East Texas Theft

A woman and a man were placed in jail late Thursday by city officers after a quantity of merchandise reported stolen from several East Texas stores was recovered. City officers have been working on the case several days and recovered the merchandise at the time of the arrests.

The stolen goods was reported taken in burglaries at Commerce and Wortham and includes more than a dozen dresses, several pairs of women's shoes and stockings and similar merchandise. Officers are seeking two additional men for investigation in the case.

FATHER AND SON BATTLE

One Wichitan was released from the Wichita General hospital in custody of police late Thursday after nine stitches were taken in his scalp. The man was injured in an affray with his son on Sixteenth street. Both father and son will appear in police court Friday morning on charges growing out of the affray.

Murray Sends in $1,600 For Fund to Elect Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley said today that one of the first contributions to Governor Roosevelt's presidential campaign was sent in by Gov. "Alfal Bill" Murray of Oklahoma.

Governor Murray sent $1,600 contributed by his friends and himself.

Farley said Governor Roosevelt would be introduced when he addresses the Ohio state convention at Columbus Saturday by former Gov. James M. Cox. Governor Roosevelt will return to Albany Sunday.

POLICE JAIL 'JOY RIDERS'

Three Men and Two Women Held, Beer Seized

Three men and two women were lodged in the city jail Thursday afternoon by city officers in connection with a wild ride over the city Wednesday night in an automobile stolen from W. R. Duke, 1800 Tilden. The car was reported stolen from Eighth and Indiana at 8:40 o'clock Wednesday night and was recovered at 1:30 a. m. Thursday in the 700 block on Scott by Patrolman Oscar McLain.

Charges of "joy riding" —use of a car without the owner's permission —will probably be filed against the group Friday in county court, Police Chief Dick Morris said. The defendants were arrested in an apartment on Eighth street and officers confiscated 65 bottles of "home brew" and other brew equipment. Two of the men have served prison terms on car theft charges, officers said.

Officers reported a varying number of occupants in the sedan as they gave chase numerous times Wednesday night only to be distanced by the powerful sedan. One man, two men, and three men were reported in the car as various chases failed. At one time officers saw the car speed away with two men and two women as the driver bumped over curbings, sidewalks and residence lawns in a hail of bullets directed at the tires.

Officers Believe Lawyer Was Slain by Client

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 18. (UP)—The theory that J. Earl Smith, criminal lawyer, was shot to death by a former client was advanced by police today.

The attorney was found murdered in his automobile Tuesday night. Officers were seeking clues to link Smith's death with a group of bank and bond bandits he is reported to have defended at various times.

JAMES J. DAVIS FACES CHARGE

fraternal organisations for their own charitable uses, according to the charges.

The rest of the money, it is charged, went to officials inside and outside of the organizations.

Investigation was begun on complaint of several persons who questioned disposition of the lottery funds.

Davis Under 11 Counts

The two indictments, naming Senator Davis on eleven counts, charge both operating and conspiring to operate lotteries. They carry a maximum sentence of four years in prison and $11,000 fine if the defendant is found guilty.

McGuire, the alleged promoter of the lotteries in question, was named in four indictments which would carry a maximum sentence of eight years in prison and a $25,000 fine.

Mann and other defendants with the exception of the telegraph firm face a maximum sentence of two years in prison and $2,000 fines if found guilty.

The general membership of the lodges knew scarcely anything about the operation of the lotteries, according to the federal officials. Members were told the money from the sale of tickets would go back to the lodges for charity uses.

The system was to stage in connection with the ticket sale a series of dances or other social events for which the tickets would be sold with the lottery tickets attached. They were called "charity ball campaigns."

Drawings Held

Two main drawings were staged last year.

The first, for the Eagles, was a drawing of $75,000 in prizes during the Eagles' convention in Toledo.

Through telegraph and express companies, packages of tickets had been sent to 600,000 members of the Eagles and about $3,000,000 collected.

The second drawing was for $150,000 in prizes under auspices of the Moose, which sold several millions of dollars worth of tickets through its 700,000 members. Only a small amount of the proceeds, it is alleged, went to Mooseheart, the organization's charity colony in Illinois.

McGuire, promoter of the lotteries, is alleged by the federal officials to have made a fortune in the enterprises.

Last spring, they said, he signed a contract with the San Francisco convention committee of the Shrine to conduct a similar campaign. It was begun with temples of the Shrine in the West and Middle West participating when suddenly the Shrine officials were warned by the federal authorities of the investigation under way.

A large amount had already been collected and $115,000 turned over for prize money but was never distributed at the convention in San Francisco last month because of the federal warning, it was said.

District Attorney Medalle said tonight he expects the men named in the indictment will appear to plead either guilty or not guilty and seek bail within a few days.

ASHES AND AGONY

$40,000 Savings Kept In Cans Destroyed As House Burns

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 18. (AP)—Americus Baker, who saved $40,000 from his earnings and real estate deals during his 80 years, today had only $500 left.

That amount was grabbed by his granddaughter as his one-room shack near Nelsonia, Va., was destroyed by fire yesterday. An overheated stove, which he had left for a few minutes, was blamed for the fire.

Baker said he had his $40,000 stored in tobacco cans about the shack. After the fire, the cans were found but all they contained were ashes.

PICCARD LANDS WITH BALLOON

ed, running his hand across his forehead. "It was below zero up there."

The temperature on the ground was just over 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

As the balloon descended from its great height of more than 100 miles, its occupants gradually discarded their heavy clothing, and when Professor Piccard emerged from the sphere in which he had taken a ride across the Alps he wore only trousers, a shirt and shoes.

Balloon Dented

The aluminum ball was dented slightly when it bumped against the landing field, but neither of the men was injured.

After the scientist had talked by telephone to his wife, assuring her that he was safe and well, officials placed an automobile at his disposal to take him to Desenzano, but he wouldn't go that quickly.

"I must remain here until I see the balloon safely packed up," he said.

Then he collected his scientific instruments and deposited them in the automobile. He and Cosyns were to spend the night at Desenzano as guests of the Italian air force.

In the course of the ascension the professor dispatched the first radio message ever originated in the stratosphere.

"All is going well," the message said. "Observation is good. Our altitude is from 14,000 to 15,000 meters."

There were several other messages at intervals during the day, and in one of them the scientist said he could see Lake Garda and was planning to descend soon in order to avoid alighting in the Adriatic. "Everything aboard is all right," he said, "but the temperature is very cold."

HEAVY RAINS AT WELLINGTON

Cotton Farmers Greatly Benefited

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Aug. 18.—Heavy rains over this county Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning transformed farmers from a state of hopelessness to one of hope and anticipation of a 40,000-bale cotton crop today.

The rain was especially beneficial in this section due to the fact that most of the farmers have been forced to replant their crops from five to six times and the majority of the crops are late. Late feed was beginning to wilt.

Rainfall in Wellington measured an inch and a half for the past three days, but it was thought to have varied from one to two inches over the county. The rain extended almost to the Childress county line on the south and into Wheeler county on the north.

Murray Revokes Woodie Tilghman's Parole And Drops Theft Charge

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 18. (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray today revoked the parole of Woodie Tilghman and sent the son of the famous Oklahoma peace officer back to prison to serve the 20-month balance of a five-year manslaughter sentence in lieu of prosecuting young Tilghman on an auto theft charge.

Tilghman was charged with participating in the theft of the car of C. E. Gidden, Oklahoma City.

Revocation of the parole was at Tilghman's own request, on condition the auto theft case be dismissed. His mother and County Attorney Lewis R. Morris of Oklahoma county concurred in the recommendation.

The youth was given the five-year sentence after the fatal shooting of Jim Chitwood at a dice game near Minco in Grady county in 1930. He was 16 years old at the time and was taken to the game by his older brother, Richard, and an uncle, A. M. Stratton. Richard Tilghman died as a result of wounds received in the shooting.

Gov. W. J. Holloway paroled Tilghman from Granite reformatory Jan. 2, 1931.

Tilghman and Robert Smith were arrested for the theft of Gidden's car on March 9, 1932. He has been in Oklahoma county jail since arrest awaiting trial.

Vallee Offers Battle To Hecklers in Midst Of Program

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 18. (AP)—Rudy Vallee, radio "crooner," demonstrated to a Fernbrook park dance hall audience that when "heckled" he is willing to indulge in fisticuffs.

On Tuesday night, during a dance music program, a number of young men gathered around the platform and began heckling so much that Rudy dropped his baton and made his way to where the "hecklers" stood.

All but two members of his band followed to back up their leader.

Police, however, quickly escorted Rudy's tormentors out of the park before the "crooner" could inflict any damage.

West Texas Association Closes Session

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Aug. 18. (AP)—Floyd M. Bowen of Lubbock was elevated from the vice presidency to the presidency of the West Texas Pharmaceutical association in closing its semi-annual convention here today. S. E. Philips of Big Spring was elected vice president and Esker E. Smith of San Angelo was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Under an amendment to the bi-laws providing for the addition of the retiring president to the executive committee and the election semi-annually of only one new member instead of two, R. W. Earnshaw of Ballinger, retiring president, and Cecil Fitch of Abilene were added to the committee, succeeding John Ray of Abilene and the late A. M. McMillan of Plainview. Members whose terms continue are Louis Montgomery of Abilene and Frank Cordell of El Paso.

The place of the next convention, in March, 1933, will be selected by the executive committee later. Amarillo was favored by the delegates. Abilene, Big Spring, Mineral Wells and Ranger also have extended invitations.

The association by resolution pledged its support to the proposed Texas centennial celebration in 1936.

Kansas Grain Man to Testify on Farm Board

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 18. (AP)—L. E. Webb of Dodge City, Kan., president of the Kansas Cooperative Grain Dealers' association, has been offered the opportunity to testify in September before the Shannon house committee investigating alleged government competition with private business.

An exchange of telegrams between Joseph B. Shannon, chairman, and Webb, disposed of his complaint that he could not get a hearing before the committee.

In a brief session today, Shannon received the protest of N. S. Von Phul of San Antonio, Texas.

Von Phul, operator of a cold storage plant, charged that the federal farm board advanced $180,000 to the Poultry Breeders Association of Texas for the purchase of a plant to operate in competition with other cold storage plants in San Antonio.

Mother Of Army Officer Relates Eccentric Traits

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Lichtenberger, mother of Lieut. Herbert C. Lichtenberger, former Randolph field flying instructor charged with the holdup last February of the Scherts State bank, took the stand at a court martial trial today and testified to eccentricities of the accused man.

Mrs. Lichtenberger was introduced as a defense witness in support of the insanity defense. She declared her son had an attack of scarlet fever when he was 9 years old and after that frequently had "pains in his head."

He was near death for four or five days, and later had to miss school occasionally because of trouble with his head, the witness said.

Lieutenant Lichtenberger's father's people were "nervous and high strung," the mother testified.

The witness told of seeing her son at the time he was stationed near Chicago and while he and his wife were expecting a baby. The lieutenant worried a lot about hospital expenses and was afraid he could not take care of his wife and baby, Mrs. Lichtenberger said.

Conroe Proration Rule Withdrawn by State

AUSTIN, Aug. 18. (AP)—R. D. Parker, chief of the oil and gas division of the Texas Railroad commission, said today the proration rule placed on production in the Conroe oil field had been withdrawn pending a rehearing of operators in the area.

Parker said the hearing had been set for Aug. 30. He pointed out that only that conservation rule prorating production had been withdrawn.

The field had been prorated on a combined acreage and per well basis. The order had been the subject of court action in Harris county.

CEREAL RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought New Health

Every one who has suffered from constipation should read Mr. P. M. Fisher's letter:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."—Mr. P. M. Fisher, 352 Evergreen Place, Ridgewood, N. J.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN supplies both—and also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

How much safer this is than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—That President Hoover regarded the occasion of his acceptance speech as the most critical moment of his political career, few who heard him deliver it could doubt.

PRESIDENT HOOVER

It was a new Hoover who faced a loyally noisy audience in Constitution hall and the vast company listening beyond the radio "mikes."

It was a Hoover stirred to a fighting pitch rarely if ever exhibited before in his public addresses.

It was noticeable in his manner of delivery, perhaps, even more than in the wording of the platform he built for himself.

Mr. Hoover is hampered by lack of oratorical knack. He has nothing of gesture and little of changing inflections to give stress and emphasis to his words.

Spurred by the Event

Yet, despite these limitations, the president managed to put a solemnity into his tones that spoke volumes for his own evaluation of the importance to his own hopes and aspirations of what he said. His rate of speaking was speeded up beyond his normal pace. It almost seemed that he had much of what he read by heart.

Watching the president among his guests on the White House lawn that afternoon, The Bystander thought he sensed something of the solemn mood that marked the acceptance speech a few hours later.

Mr. Hoover played his role of host gracefully, smiling as he exchanged pleasantries with this or that purely social group.

Yet his preference seemed to be for the unsmiling brief conferences he had with two or three at a time of the party key men from many states as he moved about.

Contrasts

The Bystander felt then that Mr. Hoover's thoughts were almost exclusively with his coming acceptance speech, the answer he would make—perhaps the most boldly phrased of his career—to the challenge of his leadership that is the foundation stone of the Democratic campaign to drive him from the White House.

As a study of the two major personalities of the campaign, President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt, the talking movie records of their acceptance speeches should be illuminating to political historians.

They are as dissimilar as men could be. Where the one enters the lists ardently eager for the high adventure of the battle itself, the other faces the onslaught solemnly, a heavy task laid upon him.

Sterling Talks Made in Montague and Nocona

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, Aug. 18.—A county-wide meeting of the Sterling for Governor supporters was held at Montague, county seat of this county recently. Several hundred from all sections of the county attended.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Rolling, chairman of the Montague county club, who turned the meeting over to Representative Paul Finn, who acted as chairman.

Senator Grady Woodruff outlined to the audience plans of the senate for the next two years and pointed out the effect the governor's race had on these plans.

Senator Woodruff then introduced Amon G. Carter, editor of the Fort Worth Star Telegram. Mr. Carter told of his early life in Montague county. He stated his father was a blacksmith in this county many years ago, that he moved to Nocona and later to Bowie. He said he was interested in seeing the voters of the county go for the cause of good government. Later speeches were made on the street in Nocona in the interest of Governor Sterling's campaign by Mr. Carter and Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls.

Truck Injunction Suit To Be Heard August 29

RANKIN, Texas, Aug. 18. (AP)—Judge Joe G. Montague today set Aug. 29 as the date for a special session of 112th district court here at which the attorney general's motion to dissolve injunctions granted in a group of truck load limit cases will be heard.

The original suits involved were entitled Dunn Brothers vs. W. C. Fowler et al., and J. K. Thomas vs. W. G. Fowler et al. Fowler is the sheriff of Upton county. Thomas operates out of Fort Worth. Dunn Brothers is an Odessa concern.

More than 100 other truck operators have intervened in these two original suits, in which injunctions have been granted restraining all peace officers and the state highway patrol.

The attorney general's department today filed a motion asking that the two original suits be consolidated.

Cleburne's 'First Bale' Is Sold at Auction

CLEBURNE, Texas, Aug. 18. (AP)—The first bale of cotton raised in this section this season was auctioned today at 15 cents a pound. Including the premium, T. E. Brand, the grower, received about $340 for the bale.

Kidnaping has been made a federal offense, but here's hoping it doesn't become as popular as some other federal offenses.

It's the upkeep of an airplane which makes it a bother, a flyer says. For our part, the principal bother is the keep-up.

Money not only goes farther in these days of the depression, but it stays away longer.

A Lonely Boy and the Depression

BESIDE the front walk of a middle western orphanage there sits, every day, a 3-year-old boy, one arm circling the neck of a big police dog which has befriended him. The boy keeps watching every one who comes up the walk; and whenever he sees a woman approaching his face lights up and he asks, eagerly, "Mamma?"

This youngster was brought to the orphanage several weeks ago. His mother and father had been out of work for a long time, and at last they had left him with their landlady "for a day or so" while they went to a nearby town to look for jobs. They haven't come back yet, and the landlady at last notified the authorities. So now the lad waits at the orphanage, tries to see his mother in every woman who passes by, and wonders dimly what is the cause of this upset in his little world.

Quite clearly, the lad is just another victim of the depression; and his plight, so pathetic and heart-wrenching, is a thing we ought to remember—because it helps us to understand the tragedy and suffering which that one word, "depression," means.

There are good grounds now for believing that we have just about got to the end of the depression. Sooner or later we shall be back on our feet again. Shall we, when that time comes, talk glibly once more about "economic cycles" and the like, taking it for granted that our civilization must swing back and forth between extremes of prosperity and stagnation?

If we forget all of the bitter lessons that the last couple of years have taught us, we might be foolish enough to do just that; and, if we do, in a few years we shall repeat the old cycle again and go down into another depression like this one.

But we might remember that this "business cycle" causes thousands upon thousands of tragedies just like this one of the lonely boy at the orphanage. It means an almost immeasurable amount of human suffering. Keeping that in mind, shall we not insist that we will not put up with any economic system which does not find some way of averting periodic depressions?

Acknowledgment

IT IS an old and proven theory with commentators on education that extra-curricular activities of some professors equal or exceed their classroom services in good influence upon students. Texas university includes in its faculty a veteran teacher who offers one of the nation's best examples of that type.

Texans need not be tennis enthusiasts to take pride in the unending string of tennis stars which flows from the university ranks year after year. Davis cup team membership and other top-notch rank in that growing sport are now attained annually by young men who have attained their polish on the university courts at Austin. There is a just pride throughout the state in such athletic achievement.

But those privileged to know the tennis chief at the university know that he imparts much more than athletic technique both to the players under his supervision, and to the student body generally. In him are embodied the finest principles of sportsmanship, and the highest ethical traditions of tennis as an admirable sport. The attributes of a gentleman so well personified in the university tennis coach permeate the student groups with which he associates. Courtesy becomes inherent with those whom he trains; remarkable cleanliness of speech and personal conduct develop naturally out of respect for his example.

For more than a score of years this professor of Greek language has fathered tennis as a leading student activity, and always without material remuneration of any kind for his services. The entire state may properly feel a warm gratitude to this man whose good influence upon character equals his rare qualities as a coach—Dr. D. A. Penick, gentleman, teacher, and athlete.

The Spanish Revolt

THERE is something just a little bit comic about the complaint. "Everybody abandoned me," which was voiced by Jos San Jurjo after the revolt which he tried to lead in Spain collapsed and landed him in prison.

The leader of any revolt has to take his chances; because, in most cases, he has no very definite idea how much popular support his movement is going to command. It may sweep the country like wildfire, in which case he becomes a great popular hero and rises to the height of fame and power; but it may, just as well, fizzle out like a wet firecracker, leaving its leader in a very pronounced jam.

That seems to have happened in Spain; and the cry, "Everybody abandoned me," rings out as the perennial wail of the revolutionist who misjudged the popular appeal of his cause.

Trade With Russia

ONE of the most significant things about recent developments on the stock market is the fact that at least part of the optimism displayed in Wall street is reported to be due to a belief that trade relations between the United States and Russia are about to be very materially improved.

There is no question but that the overwhelming majority of Americans have very scant sympathy for the Communistic experiment in Russia. But there is, at the same time, no question but that the huge orders which Russia is placing with foreign manufacturers these days would do American industry a lot of good.

If the nation is at least on the verge of realizing that the Russian market ought to be cultivated, it is small wonder that Wall street feels that better times are ahead.

SO THEY SAY!

No group of countries can isolate themselves from the rest of the world. . . . The United Kingdom needs the world market for her manufactures.—Prince George of England.

One might well draw the conclusion that there was no courage nor magnanimity left in the world.—Owen D. Young, industrialist and financier.

The communities do not get all the tax money they should have. For instance, only one-quarter of the motor vehicle license fees go back to them in New York.—State Senator Seabury C. Mastick of New York.

In politics, there is always a joker in the game. No one can tell what the joker will be this year.—Col. E. M. House, adviser to the late President Wilson.

Things You Never Knew Till Now About Famous Hosts and Their Music

Henry Ford will not permit the orchestras in his home to play anything but old-fashioned jigs and barn dance music . . . When he entertained the Prince of Wales, the three orchestras alternated from one antiquated tune to another until the prince was prompted to ask an intimate if some one was playing a joke on him . . . "It's very Russian, isn't it?" he remarked.

John D. Rockefeller Jr., is the most democratic of all famous hosts . . . Once he has hired his orchestra, he makes no suggestions and leaves all the details in the hands of the leader . . . As a result, the music at his parties is always superb . . . There is less drinking at the Rockefeller affairs than at any of the others in society.

Mrs. James B. Duke, wife of the tobacco magnate, has a spectacular way of breaking up her parties . . . Just before dawn, the musicians walk out toward the gates playing as they go while the guests follow them in a long snake dance . . . No one is permitted back in the house.

Calvin Coolidge at intimate parties sometimes gives excellent imitations of railroad whistles and the screeching brakes of trains on a small harmonica . . . Mr. Coolidge has had the same harmonica for 30 years and keeps it in a special deposit box in his home.

Mussolini will neither dance nor applaud an orchestra unless it plays the soft melodies of the waltz . . . Musicians coming to his home understand this and have never been known to offend his tastes . . . Several years ago the duce visited Lido in Venice when Meyer Davis was leading the orchestra . . . The American leader struck up an Italian martial score in his honor, but Mussolini sent word from his table to change it to a Viennese waltz.

Edward T. Stotesbury, the Philly social leader, is fond of gay parties and modern dance rhythms . . . He was a drummer in the civil war and usually does a turn for his guests with the stocks.

Andrew Mellon always insists on two orchestras—one the regulation band with brass, the other a strong ensemble to furnish the softer music every third dance . . . The American ambassador to England seldom remains through one of his own parties . . . After greeting his most important guests, he slips away to bed.

Poor Smith Reynolds liked the "St. Louis Blues" type of music . . . The hotter the orchestration, the more pleased he was . . . He frequently employed orchestras to repeat one favorite number for him for an entire evening.

Edward Windsor, Prince of Wales, enjoys huge gatherings of friends . . . He prefers gay and boisterous music, and often during a party he'll replace the drummer . . . Although he is a tenth rate manipulator of the drum-sticks, his sense of rhythm is perfect . . . The reason he likes loud and swift orchestrations is "because it's real and living. Soft music is obsequious and I've had too much of that business."

The late Col. duPont frequently halted the music in the middle of a dance, called all his guests into a corner of the ball-room, withdrew a deck of playing cards from his evening suit, and performed almost unbelievably difficult tricks.

Owen D. Young will walk a hundred miles to listen to a quartet, and once he did . . . The first order he issues, when music is being arranged for one of his affairs, is that a quartet be included . . . He keeps them singing till late hours and often joins in the vocalizing . . . His friends are not so hot for the quintets.

Alice Longworth's parties exude real Continental glamour . . . They are swiftly paced, invariably joyous and always last until dawn . . . Brassy, negro music is predominant, but the acoustics of her home are so arranged as to endow it with a softness that is strange to the Harlem cocaphony . . . You will always want to be invited again.

The late Nicholas Longworth entertained his visitors with violin solos . . . He was a pupil of Leopold Auer and played nothing but classical music.

Clarence Mackay entertains more royalty than any other American . . . He abhors the raucous type of music, preferring harp and violin solos . . . The only deviation he ever made from this was when the Prince of Wales was his guest . . . For this occasion, he personally accompanied a musical agent to Harlem to select the best band available at the time.

Ralph Beaver Strassburgher, the Philly publisher, insists on absolutely new chunes at his warmings . . . Usually he has one or two especially composed for the occasion . . . Of course, orchestras cost him a great deal more than the average . . . At the Ritz-Carlton recently, his music bill was $10,000 . . . The orchestra leader had it photostated and framed.

Warren G. Harding's favorite piece was "La Paloma" . . . And Washington society used that number almost as its theme song during his occupancy of the White House.

Henry O. Havemeyer, the sugar king, gives parties at which all the music comes from harmoniums (miniature organs).

Cotrary to popular belief, Otto Kahn does not like crowds . . . He may never miss an opening or an important society event, but when he gives parties, they are always intimate . . . He usually learns what kind of music pleases his guests most and orders it accordingly.

Gene Tunney and Polly Lauder demand the musical hits from current shows, and because their parties are frequently given the night after a premiere, orchestrations are difficult to obtain.

Edward McLean, the Washington and Cincinnati publisher, is fond of singular musical combinations . . . His favorite diversion is having the orchestra split up and play four different songs at the same time.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

AN OLYMPIC FISHING CHAMPIONSHIP—After the modern revival of the ancient Olympic games, the second Olympiad was held in Paris in 1900. This Olympiad, which was entirely ignored by the local newspapers in Paris, was distinguished by the strange assortment of competitions which were then classified as "sports." Among the Olympic championships contested in 1900 we find such strange competitions as "Fireman's Drill," "Carrier-Pigeons' Flight," "Ballooning," etc. A Frenchman, whose name was not preserved for posterity, won an Olympic championship for angling for live fish in the river Seine, in 1900.

THE LENGTH OF A SHAVE—The beard area of a man's face is approximately 50 square inches. A daily shaver therefore covers an area of 365 by 50, or 18,250 square inches, equal to a strip one-half-inch wide and considerably more than a half-mile, in one year's time.

FLIGHTY

by Alma Sioux Scarberry

SYNOPSIS

Gypsy O'Malley, 22, and small, dark and lovely, lived with her pleasure mad, hard-drinking family in a house on her wealthy grandmother's Long Island estate. Her 18-year-old half sister Angel was a Follies girl. Her half brother Jiggs drank hard, gambled and dodged creditors. Jim O'Malley, her father, lived beyond the allowance made by his mother, and Peg, Gypsy's stepmother, still good looking at 40, was vain and craved the admiration of men. Gypsy, thoroughly disgusted, went job hunting. Returning home in a storm, she heard an airplane circling in the dark. She lighted a pail of gasoline as a flare and Brent Jamison, famous transatlantic flyer landed safely. He offered to teach Gypsy to fly and was assisted by Ted Colman. She loved Brent but he was captivated by Angel's baby-faced beauty. The O'Malley's, known for their escapades, achieved more notoriety when Fluffy Little, a Follies girl, drove Jiggs' car into a pole and was killed. She was the wife of a wealthy Broadway spender. Then "Pinky" Delmar, owner of Jamison airport who had entered Gypsy in the women's air races, insisted that she see reporters and cameramen. One paper coupled her picture with that of Brent and said they were engaged. Brent was angry and told her he and Angel were to be married soon. Another paper said Mrs. Delmar was to sue for divorce, naming Angel as correspondent. One evening when Gypsy was alone a tough looking man asked to see Jiggs. He said he came to collect "a grand" Jiggs owed.

INSTALLMENT XIV

"What does my brother owe you money for?" Gypsy asked.

"He don't owe me nothin', sister. I collects fer 'Black Jack' O'Rourke. You know, de guy dat owns all de big gamblin' joints on Long Island. Your brother owes him a t'ousand berries and he's tryin' to welch on him. Dat don' go wit' de big boy."

"Oh, I see." Gypsy could scarcely answer him. "He — you wouldn't harm my brother if he couldn't pay, would you?"

Bing Flynn laughed raucously at that. "Ain't yuh never heard wot happens to guys what welches on gamblin' debts, sister?"

Gypsy shuddered. She understood without an explanation that Flynn had orders from O'Rourke not to come back without either the money or the blood of Jiggs O'Malley. It seemed incredible that such a thing could be done so boldly in a civilized country. But every day the papers told about it.

Gypsy pressed her hand to her head for a moment, then said to Bing dully, "I'll see what I can do if you sit down there in the swing and wait. We haven't any money. But I'll see if I can borrow it from my grandmother."

He smiled again—and shrugged. "I should worry w'ere it comes frum baby. S'long as it's de old yellow paper, see? No checks—understan'."

"Yes," Gypsy said. "Wait here."

She went into the house and sat down for a moment to catch her breath. And she hated herself for what she felt she had to do. Jiggs' life was more important than a thousand dollars—a million for that matter. But she hated herself for having to lie to her grandmother. And she must never tell Gram. No one but she and Jiggs must ever know. She would help him this once. But if he ever got into trouble again he would have to get out of it himself. She sat for some time trying to think of an excuse for borrowing a thousand dollars. Then it came to her in a flash.

She went to the phone unhappily and called Gram.

"Oh, Gram," she began hurriedly, "I've just found out something that's a terrible shock."

"What's that, my child?" Gram chuckled, "did you find a gray hair?"

Gypsy forced a laugh. "Worse than that. I've got to have a thousand dollars for an entrance fee for the air races. Can you imagine that?"

"You want to fly in the races, don't you?" Gram sounded entirely unperturbed.

"Oh—very much. But I don't see how I can afford a thousand dollars. And I'm supposed to have it right away."

"Can you come over before I go to bed?"

"Oh, Gram, darling—you're an angel!" Gypsy's heart felt much lighter. "I'll come over right away. I'll have to have cash if you have that much. They won't take checks."

Gram always believed Gypsy. She heard her chuckle again as she hung up. She ran out to the porch where Bing was sitting a little impatiently by this time.

"All right, Mr. Flynn," she told him in a business like voice," if you'll step to the light here and write a receipt for a thousand dollars I'll take you over to my grandmother's and you can wait while I go in and get it."

"Never mind dat," Bing grinned triumphantly. "I got the I. O. U.'s here in me pocket. We'll jes' tear 'em up."

"Notricks," Gypsy said, severely. And he laughed.

"Lady—I wouldn't fool a cute little package o'sweetness like you."

Gypsy wanted to slap his face. But she controlled her anger and set out hurriedly for Gram's. When they had crossed the estate to her house, Gypsy told Flynn to wait in the shadow of some trees and went inside.

Ten minutes later she came out and gave him ten one-hundred dollar bills in the light from a flashlight he carried—and he tore up the I. O. U.'s. Then Gypsy ran home to cry with relief that she had saved Jiggs from dreadful trouble—and with a sick heart because she had told Gram the first lie she had ever told her.

Bing stood looking at Nancy O'Malley's house, thinking deeply. Then he whistled.

"That old dame's got a sock full o'coin. I got to do some thinkin! Dis ain't enough. On'y a thousan' measley smackers."

The O'Malleys were so busy going places that they seldom met, except for a brief time on Sundays occasionally. Gypsy left early in the mornings for the airport and came back home usually after the rest had left for their parties, or Angel had gone to the theater.

So it was not surprising that the newspapers announced the engagement of Angel to Brent Jamison before Gypsy heard it from one of the family. Angel had come into the room where Gypsy lay reading a book early in the afternoon and tossed the papers at her with a triumphant little smile.

"Get a bunch of this, darlin'—and don't collapse."

Although Gypsy had heard the news from Brent several days before, seeing it in black and white one. She spread one of the papers was almost as great a shock as though it had been a complete surprise. She struggled a moment to get her bearings. Nearly all the papers had given the announcement a great display with headlines and pictures. Angel was congratulated for landing one of the country's most eligible bachelor heroes.

In a little while Gypsy reached out and put her arms around Angel. Her voice sounded natural—really happy.

"Honey—I'm awfully glad. You're a lucky girl. Brent is a wonderful man."

Angel drew back and laughed. Gypsy was surprised at the tone of her voice. She didn't sound like a romantic girl who had just succeeded in letting the world know of her capture of a world renowned celebrity.

Gypsy's eyes clouded.

"Angel," her voice quivered but her half sister was too busy scanning the papers again to notice it, "you love him, don't you?"

Angel's smile was an enigmatic out then and answered mirthfully, "I love that."

"You mean—the publicity?" Gypsy looked at her miserably.

"Why not," she shrugged. "I'll bet I'll get a raise. Look at the people who'll come to the Follies just to see me."

"When are you going to be married?" Gypsy turned her head to ask unhappily. But again Angel was too absorbed in her triumphant bursting forth on the front pages to pay any attention to Gypsy's attitude.

"Married?" She laughed again. "Aren't you old-fashioned? Does a Follies girl have to marry the first man she gets engaged to? I'll probably be engaged a dozen times before I tie myself down."

Gypsy was amazed. She didn't know whether to believe Angel or not. It was hard to believe that any one who looked so saintly and sweet could be so callousted.

"You're fooling, aren't you?" she asked then, studying Angel's face.

"Gypsy! Honestly, sometimes I don't know whether you can be such an old-fashioned prude—or whether it's just a line you pull." She went back to looking at the papers again.

Gypsy was so miserable that she was afraid Angel would see how unhappy she was. She wanted to find some way to escape from the room so that she could suffer alone. But she wanted, too, to find out more about Angel's feelings. Whether she was being smarty—or whether she was just using Brent for her own glorification.

"Maybe I am old-fashioned," Gypsy forced a smile, "but I can't see breaking a man's heart just to get into the newspapers. Or—maybe Brent doesn't care any more for you than you do for him. That would sort of square things."

Angel flamed at that.

"How can you say such a ridiculous thing? You know he's perfectly mad about me. I can wrap him around my little finger. What's the matter—are you jealous?"

Gypsy blushed hotly—and got up to cross to the dresser to powder her nose to hide her confusion.

"Jealous?" she said lightly. "He's never given me any occasion to even get interested in him. I've never seen him look at any one but you."

That appeased Angel's vanity somewhat and she was all smiles again. In a moment she got up and stretched like a soft, beautiful cat, which has just had a warm bowl of milk.

"Well, I guess I'd better get into my boudoir and make myself look romantic—and innocent. I've got some tall explaining to do."

"Explaining—to whom?"

"Oh, Brent," Angel shrugged. "About all this stuff in the papers. He'll be fit to be tied."

"Doesn't he want any one to know you're engaged?"

Angel laughed again with keenest amusement.

"Can you imagine—he wanted to go away and get married right away—quietly. He didn't want anything in the papers about it. Now I've got to stall around about a date and tell him the publicity man of the show found it out and spilled it. He must never know I had anything to do with calling the papers up and tipping them off. Oh, he's such an old nuisance sometimes."

"Then," Gypsy shivered at Angel's heartlessness, "you're not going to marry him, are you?"

Jubilee Exposition To Show Quilt Of Famous Wichita Cattle Brands

Historical Committee Adds Valuable Relics To Collection For Reunion Here

Fifty years of history will be recalled in many ways in Wichita Falls within the next few weeks climaxing with the golden jubilee party Sept. 26-28. Romance and adventure found in the raw frontier life of a half century past will form a basis for much reminiscence on the part of Wichitans and former residents of the area as early incidents are recalled.

A large portion of public attention at the time will be focused on exhibits arranged by the historical committee and especially on ranch life relics collected by the group. Bob McFall of Wichita Falls, veteran range hand and peace officer of the county, is actively aiding the committee in this work and among the exhibits will be a square intended for a "wandering jew" quilt, but which carries the stitched brands of 32 cattlemen and ranchers active in the Wichita area when stock formed the leading industry of the section.

The branded square was occasioned when Mr. McFall turned out one unit of a quilt he was assisting his mother, Mrs. S. O. McFall, in piecing in the spring of 1930. The branded square has been framed. Mrs. McFall has turned out numerous quilts in her 80 years of life and the "wandering jew" design is a difficult one to execute. Mr. McFall stitched in the brands himself in green thread.

Washboard 25 Years Old

Other reminders of the pioneer days found in the McFall household include a washboard that remains in service today after 25 years of scrubbing many articles of clothing. The washboard is of different design from modern scrub boards but the basic plan is the same. Wires are used instead of a corrugated sheet of metal.

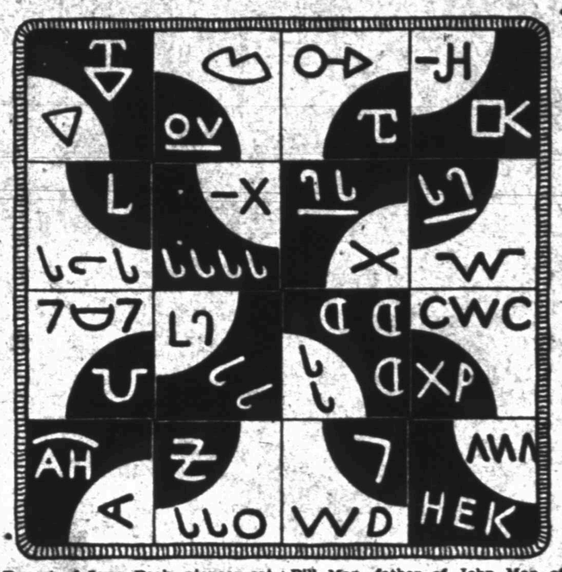

Mr. McFall also has numerous pictures of early day scenes and personages, including many of his friends and associates during his active years on the range in this section.

Members of the historical exhibits committee also are making arrangements to secure a piece of rope used in hanging Kid Lewis and Foster Crawford on the night of Feb. 27, 1896, for the robbery of the City National bank, then located at Seventh and Ohio. The youths were hung from a telephone pole in front of the bank in which Cashier Frank Dorsey was killed on the afternoon of Feb. 25.

Famous Wichita Brands

The branded quilt square stitched by Mr. McFall will be exhibited in a prominent place in the downtown historical exhibition of the 50th Anniversary association. The brands and owners are listed, reading from left to right by small squares. Practically all of the designs are listed in two large bound volumes in county records at the courthouse. Cattle brands were filed with as much accuracy in the pioneer days as are automobile license plate numbers today.

Many of the irons designed to quickly burn the brand into the hide of cattle and horses also will be exhibited. Mr. McFall has a number of the old irons in his possession.

The triangle is listed by Tom Burnet of Iowa Park, pioneer cattleman, who at one time employed Mr. McFall on his range. The T-triangle was used by Tom Jones, deceased, at his holdings on Deer creek.

The C. C. White interests used the OV bar on a ranch along Holliday creek with headquarters near the present site of Haven park. The rocking M was used by the late Bill Man, father of John Man of this city.

Cal and Ikard Suggs, well-known cattlemen of this area, used the OH triangle and the TL brand was used by Dickey brothers on their Little Wichita river holdings. W. M. Coleman of this city later adopted it for his livestock.

The late J. L. Huggins of Clay county branded his cattle with the bar JH and the Box-K was used by Ed Cobb and others at their holdings just west of Wichita Falls.

Burnett Brand

Mr. McFall adopted the 6-9-6 brand originally used by Ed Trice, due to the ease with which it could be applied in three rapid motions with one heating of the iron. S. B. Burnett used the L on the left shoulder for his horses. Mr. McFall has a picture of Mr. Burnett mounted in which the brand may be seen. Mr. Burnett used the four 6s for his cattle and the bar-X was adopted by Sid Webb of Bellevue while operating near Dundee.

The 9-6 bar was used for Mrs. Ollie Burnett. The lazy X belonged to the late John Fore, former Wichita county sheriff. Annie Burnett used the 6-9 bar. She was the daughter of Tom and Ollie Burnett. Stark and Bill Morris used the flying W.

Tom Roberts of Wichita Falls used the 7-D-7. Mr. McFall has been unable to establish the ownership of the flying U, with which a horse straying to his place was branded. The late Jerry Burnett used the L-9 and John and Jeff Waggoner branded their cattle with the two lazy 9s, one on each hip and thigh. The other 6s were used by Merle Waggoner similarly.

Three D Brand

The Waggoner interests in this area continue to use the original three D brand, not only on their cattle but all brands of oil and gas products. The Charles Penner cattle carried the XP markings in this county. Columbus Waller, deceased, used the CWC brand.

A. C. Henson who resided at Electra before his death used the half circle AH and the lazy A was used by George Meyer of Clay county.

A. Mr. Nance with holdings on Beaver creek used the Z cross and the 6-6 circle was used by Luke Wilson of Archer county who died in 1928. Warner brothers on Red river in the northwest part of the county used the WD marking and the 7 brand was used by Ed Waggoner.

HEK was adopted by "Old Uncle Heck" Baxy, negro who was employed by S. B. Burnett. John Wheeler, now residing in Oklahoma, used the open ANA.

REV. BERRIE DENIED BOND

Prosecutor Scores Pastor For 'Damaging' Church

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 18. (AP)—Berated by the governor's prosecutor, for "damaging" the church, the Rev. S. A. Berrie, 53-year-old clergyman, was back in jail tonight, denied bail on a charge of murdering his first wife.

At the conclusion of a habeas corpus hearing, District Judge Enlos V. Vernor ordered the preacher held without bond.

"If Berrie should live 100 years," shouted James Babb, the prosecutor named by Governor Murray, "and if every day should get on his knees and pray to God, he could not repair the damage he has done to the church. Skeptics and unbelievers are pointing their fingers of scorn at this man and his case."

The Rev. Mr. Berrie did not comment on the decision. He sat beside the 19-year-old girl he married less than two months after the first Mrs. Berrie died last March, and patted her hand.

His attorney sought his release on the grounds a crime had not been proved.

In reply Prosecutor Babb declared poisonings always are committed in secret and constitute the most difficult of crimes to trace. The state charges Mrs. Berrie died of poisoning.

The minister, formerly pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church here, was indicted two weeks ago by a grand jury on the murder charge. His bride was exonerated by authorities.

Pioneer Postoffice Looted by Burglars

CROSS PLAINS, Texas, Aug. 18. (AP)—The postoffice at Pioneer was looted last night by burglars who hauled away the safe and three government pistols. The safe was smashed open three miles north of town and $110 was taken.

Stamps valued at nearly $200 were in the safe but the thieves did not take them. Instead, they strewed the stamps on the ground near the wrecked safe where they were ruined by rain.

Postal Revenue Gains Despite Higher Rates

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Postmaster General Brown, after a conference today with President Hoover, said he had reported that despite a decrease in the volume of mail under the increased postal rates there has been "a substantial increase in postal revenue."

Brown said it would be impossible to estimate exactly whether the increased rates would overcome the huge postal deficit until a six-month period had elapsed but that the prospect was hopeful.

BEWARE OF STALE GASOLINE!

ONLY fresh GAS PACKS FULL POWER!

THE longer gas is stored, the weaker it gets. Volatile "easy starting" elements evaporate. In addition, a definite chemical change takes place—so that as gas gets staler, it gets feebler and feebler!

Stale gas is stickier, too—and is far more apt to knock.

The entire petroleum industry has long known these facts—has long sought a way to halt gasoline deterioration.

Now, by radical advances in refining and distributing, Gulf protects you from staleness—assures you of getting FRESH, full-powered gasoline. In this way...

By making the finest possible gasoline and by refining out of that gas the elements which cause fast deterioration—"staleness." Hence Gulf gas stays FRESH longer.

And by rushing you this FRESH-MADE gas like some perishable food—giving it no chance to get stale.

Careful location of Gulf refineries has made this possible. So wisely are these refineries placed that every Gulf station is close to a source of FRESH-MADE gas. A huge fleet of tank trucks rushes FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day.

Get FRESH-MADE, power-packed gasoline!

Get Gulf—and nothing else. Your motor will be cleaner. Quieter. Faster.

get THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE—it's fresh

RADIO AUDITION CONTEST OPEN

Eithel Allen Nelson to Act As Chairman

Young singers of Wichita Falls and surrounding territory who aspire to musical careers now are being invited to participate in the annual Atwater Kent radio audition contest to be conducted through radio station KGKO in September, according to Eithel Allen Nelson, local chairman for this area for the 1932 national audition.

As in past years, amateur singers between the ages of 18 and 25 inclusive are eligible to compete in the contest which offers cash prizes totaling $15,000. Contestants who qualify in the audition here will be eligible for advancement, through district and state contests, to the national finals.

Mr. Nelson, in urging young singers in this community to test their talents by entering the audition here, emphasized the fact that a high degree of vocal training is not necessary for successful participation. Natural endowment of the voice for successful singing, rather than a high degree of completed training, is the objective of the auditions.

All entries must be filed with Mr. Nelson before Sept. 12, it was announced.

'Dusty's' Dream of Ring Proves Too Realistic

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 18. (UP)—A bell clanged. "Dusty" Miller, onetime heavyweight, left his chair and charged forward, throwing blows at the man he saw before him.

Another bell clanged, sweet music to the cauliflower ears of Dusty, who, by that time, was somewhat weary. He returned to his chair.

Another bell, and another swift dash to the fray. Then something hit him. He went down. Dimly, he saw someone bending over him, heard him counting. Dusty shook his head, arose slowly, and at the count of nine, swung back into action viciously. One of his blows struck the "referee," who went down for a long count.

And then jailers at the "drunk tank" of the county jail moved Dusty to a solitary cell, where his too-realistic dreams of the prize ring wouldn't endanger fellow prisoners, one of whom nursed a swollen jaw.

Soviet Rail Porters Had Ticket Racket

LENINGRAD, Aug. 18. (INS)—A form of speculation said to be new to the Soviet Union has just been uncovered by the G. P. U., the state secret police.

Porters at the railroad station have been buying up all the tickets and selling they to distracted would-be passengers at high prices, it is charged. Conductors have also been working a profitable racket by collecting tickets and failing to punch them. These tickets are then resold within the period of their validity with the profit going straight into the conductor's pocket.

Porters, incensed at the way their rates were being cut by the conductors, who, on the second sale, charged only the face value, let the cat out. The G. P. U. then swept down and arrested the lot, including the porters. A show trial is scheduled for the near future.

Depression Brings Boom To Assayer's Office

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18. (UP)—The depression has brought increased business to one establishment here—the United States assay office.

There impoverished people go to sell wedding rings, spectacle frames, dental work, watch cases, napkin rings, cuff links and anything else made of precious metal.

The office here is one of five over the country. The others are at New York, Carson City, Nev.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Boise, Idaho; Seattle, Wash. The office was kept here to receive gold and silver bullion from South American countries.

SEE VENUS SURFACE

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Recently astronomers received their first glimpse of what they believe to be the surface of the planet Venus. Hazy markings, something like the geometrical patterns on Mars, were observed through the powerful telescope of the Lowell observatory. Venus has always been hard to observe because of the thick clouds by which it is surrounded.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

WORRY

When something untoward happens to us we accept it and ask for more. We seem to accumulate trouble once we get a taste of it. That is one of the unaccountable foolish traits of human nature. As if one bit of misfortune were not enough we draw upon our imaginations for the full series and suffer as though they had actually come upon us. Let's not.

We have all lost money we had, or thought we had. Most of that money was as imaginary as the present worry. In the thought of it we felt rich and now again, in the thought of the lack of it, we feel poor. It is not good for us to feel poor and the sooner we cease to feel that way the sooner we will get out of our doldrums. We are actually very fortunate if we could only see it. There is enough for us all if we could only let go and stride forward in spirit. That is not what we do.

Word comes that the stock is not going to pay any dividend this quarter. Now we are not altogether dependent upon that dividend. We still have health and strength and ambition and there is work to be done in this world. It did not cease revolving on its axis when the market broke and it has been doing 24-hour duty right along, piling up work, storing opportunities, asking conundrums which we will have to answer by and by. We have to get up and get busy instead of sitting in a corner holding our heads and asking, "What shall we do?" Find a way of getting along without the dividend. We have to so we may as well start.

"It means that Junior can't go to college. It means that we have to cut down expenses all along the line. It means that our children will have to be deprived of education and culture. It means privation and suffering for loved ones. Are you so sure? People have been born, have lived and died on this earth for many many centuries. They have faced every sort of danger, suffering, and death. Yet they wrote their names in history before passing on. We will do as they did, suffer and grow strong.

How do you know Junior won't go to college? All you know is what you see today and you aren't certain about that. Time and the changes that time brings to people and circumstances will tell that tale. Junior will have something to say about what he does. You do not have to play Providence to the extent you vision as you sit with your head bowed in grief. The things you worry about won't come to pass, more than likely. If they do come they will come in a way so different, they will change things so radically, that your favored conception of the future will be all wrong. Nothing is ever as good as it is said to be, and nothing is ever as bad as you think it is going to be.

Gather up the pieces and set out to do something even if it is renovating the old strawberry bed, raising chickens, mending, making, marketing, whatever your hand finds to do. Don't wait. Begin. The market will open to your wares when you carry them in the right basket. It is surprising what one can do once one thinks he can do.

Cut out worry. You never worry the right thing into the right place so it is sheer waste. Live just today. Get busy even if you cannot find anything to do but polish the doorknob. It might be the signal for fairy fortune to call. Take a chance on feeling fine and fit. You never can tell.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Altrusans Plan Study Course In Fall Meets

Plans for a study course for new members to be held in connection with the regular autumn meetings of the Altrusa club were discussed when the club met in the Camp dining room Wednesday for the August summer luncheon.

Miss Juanita Kinsey presided in the absence of Mrs. Madge Whitney, president, and read a letter from Mrs. Harriette Quisenberry, district governor of district seven. The letter asked that each club pass on the suggested amendments to the constitution before district meetings in November. It was announced that the next meeting will be held in September.

Presbyterian C. E. Makes Summer Plans

Members of the Pioneer Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church have varied their meetings in August by having mid-week programs combining the worship and outdoor meetings. On Wednesday night the members went to Kiwanis park where they held a worship service at dusk with Roberta Gould as leader. The theme was "An Old Mine" continuing the theme of the quarter, "Mining in the Bible." The Psalms were used as the basis for study, with special analysis of the Shepherd Psalm. Appropriate songs and prayers were included in the program.

A fire was built and marshmallows toasted.

Last week members went for a swim at Westmoreland with a picnic lunch in the back yard of the home of Gladys Brandeberry, 1208 Buchanan. Dorothy McGown had charge of the program, directing a number of Bible story dramatizations by various members.

One meeting was held at the home of the sponsor, Miss Mary Mellheran, with a swim at Cedar park. Mary Margaret Hinds was in charge of the worship program.

Next week the group will probably have a hay ride.

TOMATO HASH RECIPE GIVEN

Expert Tells How to Use Green or Ripe Fruit

In the recipes for tomato pickle given today, Miss Ethel Luise Webb, county demonstration agent, furnishes three for the use of green tomatoes and one for ripe tomato hash. The choicest tomatoes of the season are now on the market and prices are reasonable. Recipes are tested.

Green Tomato Soy

Eight cups of chopped green tomatoes
Three cups of chopped onions
One tablespoon salt
One teaspoon each, cinnamon, cloves, allspice
Two and one-half cups brown sugar
One-half cup celery or 2 tablespoons celery seed
One-half tablespoon white pepper
One cup vinegar
Two tablespoons white mustard seed

Mix all ingredients. Let stand four to six hours. Cook about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into sterilized jars. Seal and process 15 minutes.

Tomato Hash

Four cups chopped ripe tomatoes
2 cups chopped cucumbers
One cup chopped onion
One cup chopped celery
One teaspoon white pepper
Two teaspoons salt
One-half cup sugar
One cup vinegar

Mix all together and let boil for five minutes. Pack into hot sterile jars and process 15 minutes in water bath.

Spanish Pickle

Eight cups chopped green tomatoes
Three cups chopped onions
One cup chopped sweet green pepper
One cup chopped celery or 2 tablespoons celery seed
Four cups ripe tomatoes
One-fourth teaspoon each cloves, mace and allspice
One quart vinegar
One and one-third cups brown sugar

Place the green tomatoes, onions and peppers in salt for six to eight hours. Rinse and drain well, add celery, ripe tomatoes and seasoning tied in cloth. Cook about an hour. Pack and seal while hot.

Crystal Pickles

Seven pounds green tomatoes
Two gallons water
One quart lime
Four and one-half pounds sugar
Two quarts vinegar
Six strips cinnamon bark one and one-half to two inches long
One teaspoonful grated nutmeg, tied in bag
One teaspoonful ground ginger, tied in bag
Two tablespoonfuls salt

Slice green tomatoes one-quarter inch in thickness, place in porcelain-lined or granite vessel. Cover with two gallons of water in which the quart of lime has been dissolved. Let stand 24 hours. Remove, and rinse well through several cold waters to remove all lime sediment. Dissolve sugar in vinegar, add cinnamon sticks, and cloth containing nutmeg and ginger. Heat the vinegar and spices together and allow to infuse for one hour. Add slices of green tomato and cook rapidly until slices are glazed and syrup clings to the spoon. Fill sterilized jars with the slices, arranging cinnamon sticks attractively with the slices in the jar. Discard the cloth containing nutmeg and ginger. Process quarts ten minutes, pints seven minutes.

Cool Drinks, Dainty Sandwiches Suggested For Afternoon Bridge

Contract is the game that passes many pleasant afternoons for women of Wichita Falls who are taking their vacations at home. Usually the hostess wishes to serve something refreshing that is easy to prepare; salads, sandwiches and iced tea, coffee or punch are summer foods that may be made attractive and delicious without much expenditure of money.

Iced Coffee

Coffee, which depends on its aroma for much of its enjoyment, should be made a wee bit stronger of whipped cream adds to its attractiveness. It should be made just before serving and poured hot over ice in tall glasses.

Sandwiches

Rolled sandwiches are a pretty change and can be easily made. Slice cream bread as thin as possible and put the slices in a damp cloth for half an hour. Spread thinly with butter and a little mayonnaise. Put a well seasoned tip of asparagus in each slice and roll; put a tip of parsley at the end of the rolled sandwiches. Thin slices of orange also make delicious sandwiches.

Open Sandwich

One grows tired of the same old sliced tomato and lettuce sandwiches; a good change at a time when tomatoes are so beautiful in the markets, is an open faced tomato sandwich. After scalding and pulling skin from large tomato, slice thin and lay on slice of buttered bread cut round. Sprinkle with salt and with the grated yolk of hard boiled egg.

Sandwich Fillings

Chopped dates and pecans mixed with Boston cream cheese; tuna fish flaked, mixed with chopped celery and mayonnaise highly seasoned; peanut butter with slices of banana on slices of bread spread with butter; Boston cream cheese mixed with a little chopped pineapple.

Salads

Jellied salads are particularly nice during the warm weather because they may be made the day before serving and served with so little trouble.

An easy tomato aspic may be made by dissolving one tablespoon of gelatin in cold water and pouring over it a can of tomato soup mixed with a half can of water which has come to a boil. When it cools and begins to thicken, add chopped green pepper, tiny pearl onions and chopped celery. Place one shrimp in bottom of mold and pour aspic in set. To loosen, run cool water over bottom of individual molds and turn out, leaving shrimp on top. Serve with mayonnaise.

Lime Jell-o Salad

Dissolve one package of lime jell-o; when it begins to cool, put in frigidaire pan with layer of whipped cream and layer of mayonnaise mixed with cream; delightfully refreshing.

China's 1931 flood affected a farm population approximately equivalent to the entire farm population of the United States.

INSTALLMENT PLAN

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Texas, Aug. 18.—It is now possible for the property owners of Haskell to pay their delinquent taxes on the installment plan, without interest or penalty, and at the same time if enough of the city taxes now delinquent can be collected on this plan, the city officials believe that it will be possible to omit the tax levy for next year, or at least cut it to one-third or one-half of this year's rate.

A drive is being made to interest Haskell citizens in taking advantage of this opportunity, as it will mean many thousands of dollars saved by the people if every one will cooperate.

HASKELL, Texas, Aug. 18.—J. F. Jones of Abilene, has let a contract for a modern one-story brick building on the east side of the square and actual construction work was begun the first of the week.

The building will cost approximately $4,000 and will occupy the space on which his building burned last fall when the Josselet grocery and Kendrix confectionery were destroyed along with the Robertson Dry Goods company.

The new building will be modern in every respect, with concrete floor and plate glass front. It will be divided into two store rooms, similar to the arrangement of the old building.

Save 2½¢ PER GLASS on your Grape Jelly

The cheapest, most delicious grapes of the year are crowding the local markets. So read below how you can make jelly quicker and cheaper than ever this year . . . and then go to your grocer at once.

By Mrs. F. Bateman
ILLINOIS STATE JELLY CHAMPION

"I just hate to think of women still making jelly and jam the old-fashioned long-boil method. It's so costly. And so terribly tedious!

"I make all my prize-winning jellies and jams with Certo. And I would never think of doing it any other way.

"In the first place, Certo reduces boiling time for grape jelly, for instance, to ½ minute. And, of course, that is how it saves me so much money. For, with so little boiling needed, not one bit of the fruit juice has time to boil away. And as a result I usually get fully 5 more glasses from the same amount of fruit . . . and save as much as 2½¢ on every glass.

"Of course, this ½ minute of hard boiling also saves me lots of time, too. Indeed it takes me only 11 or 12 minutes from the time I put my fruit and sugar mixture on until the time my finished jelly is cooling in the glasses.

"And with Certo you get much better tasting jelly or jam, too. Certainly the 37 prizes the State Fair Judges awarded my jellies and jams in the last two years testify to that!"

Why don't you do as Mrs. Bateman suggests and order a supply of Certo today—with your grapes and other jelly making supplies? You will be delighted at the money and time it will save you!

And the extra flavor it will give your jellies and jams, too . . . if you will simply follow carefully the Certo recipes that come in the booklet attached to every Certo bottle.

So don't delay. In a few days these marvelous grapes may be on the wane.

Get your bottle of Certo from your grocer's today. It is a product of General Foods.

NONE OF MY GRAPE JUICE BOILS AWAY IN COSTLY STEAM!

Mrs. Bateman is only one of the many State Fair jelly and jam prize winners who use Certo in making all their blue ribbon jellies and jams. Indeed, Certo gives such amazing results that today nearly half the jelly makers in America are using it. Why not try it yourself? It will save you lots of money!

SHOUSE HEADS WET FORCES

Former Demo Chairman Named Association Leader

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment today announced appointment of Jouett Shouse as its new president.

Shouse, until recently chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, will succeed Henry S. Curran, who will assume vice chairmanship of the board of directors.

The announcement was made in a letter to directors of the association from Pierre S. du Pont, chairman of the organization's executive committee, in which he said a "somewhat different character of work confronts' 'the association.

Active steps toward organization will be required in a number of the states "to bring about promptly the ratification of the new amendment which congress will submit," he said.

To meet a "need of character of guidance additional to that so successful in the past," du Pont continued, Shouse has been named to the presidency.

In an accompanying statement, Shouse said "a constructive opportunity of large possibilities now awaits the association." He said it was founded on the principle that "the police power embodied in the 18th amendment never belonged in the federal constitution and should be eliminated."

Now, he added, "there is the duty, too, to see that in any substitute that may be proposed this improper attempt at control is guarded against."

Curran also issued a statement welcoming Shouse to the organization and describing the association as fortunate in securing his aid.

Canada Plans Five-Year Advertising Program

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 18. (UP)—A tremendous five-year advertising program, with newspapers as the chief medium, is being launched throughout Canada for the purpose of encouraging Canadians to eat more home-grown fruit and vegetables.

"The cost of the advertising campaign," according to the Canadian Pacific railway, "is to be borne cooperatively by growers, jobbers and shippers of fruits and vegetables. Educational and health organizations have promised assistance to make the campaign successful.

"Virtually all forms of advertising will be utilized over the span of five years, but newspapers throughout the Dominion are expected to be the principal medium."

The Canadian horticultural council is said to be one of the principal directing forces in the campaign.

Beards Appear as Ads For Nebraska Fairs

NORFOLK, Neb., Aug. 18. (UP)—Bearded faces, like in the days of the gold rushes, are becoming popular in northeast Nebraska.

The idea originated at Grand Island and McCook earlier in the summer of having the men folks grow beards to advertise the anniversary celebrations of those towns has been copied.

Five hundred men here are letting their whiskers sprout and are growing Van Dykes, pork chops and goatees to advertise the fall festival.

At Neligh, west of here, 100 men have started a "whisker club" to boost the annual Antelope county fair.

Appetites just can't resist!

When you have Kellogg's Rice Krispies for breakfast, the day gets a flying start. These toasted rice bubbles are delicious — so crisp they actually crackle in milk or cream!

Nourishing too. Rice Krispies are rich in energy that is quickly released. Enjoy them with fruits or sweetened with honey. Delightful for lunch.

And of course, Rice Krispies are splendid for the children's evening meal—as countless mothers know. So easy to digest they encourage restful sleep. How much better than hot, heavy foods.

San Antonio Baseball Player Held Up By Bandit In Fort Worth Hotel

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP)—Lying on his bed in his room at a local hotel an hour before time to go to the ball park Tuesday afternoon, Ulmont Baker, third baseman of the San Antonio Indians, heard the door creak as it was opened.

Arising to see who was there, Baker found himself looking into a gun.

"Stick 'em up," demanded the intruder.

"What for?" asked Baker.

"Dead men tell no tales," was the reply.

"Stick 'em up and keep 'em up and get into that bath room."

"I asked no more questions, but followed orders and he tied my hands behind me," said Baker.

"You don't have to tie my hands; you may have what I've got, because I'm broke," continued Baker. When the bandit saw Baker's baseball uniform on the floor he said:

"You're the wrong man, I must have the wrong room."

"With that," Baker said, "he untied me, shaking hands, saying, 'Ball players are always broke,' and gave his name, which I do not remember, immediately leaving the room. He also ordered me not to leave my room for 30 minutes."

It is the second time that members of the San Antonio club have been held up here. Last year Lee Stebbins and Tom Nash, then members of the Indians, were tied and robbed of their watches and what money they had early in the afternoon.

HOT FIRE—COOL HEAD

BROOKLYN. — Jacob Schiller's wife stayed behind to dress after fire had been discovered in their apartment. Her husband and son had already left the building, believing she was following immediately. When she was ready, smoke and flames cut off her escape. Undaunted, she pulled in her clothesline, tied one end to a table, and slid down it to the ground and safety.

ROBBER KILLED AT FORT WORTH

Man Shot to Death as He Robs Motorman

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (INS)—A man identified through Bertillon records here as Earl Howe, 32, said by officers to be wanted by California authorities, was killed here early today in a gun battle with Charles Carmichael, a policeman.

Carmichael, who was off duty at the time, engaged Howe in a battle as the latter robbed W. H. Toney, street car motorman, of $40 after binding him in a vacant lot.

The officer was shot once through the hand.

Carmichael was called to the scene of the robbery by Sam Baker, a motorman en route home, who had witnessed the robbery from outside the car.

Bank Robbers Hide Behind Girls in Getaway

BELOIT, Wis., Aug. 18. (AP)—Seven robbers, who used six frightened girls as shields against gun fire of police, today held up the Second National bank of Beloit and escaped with between $40,000 and $50,000.

For three blocks, the girls were forced to ride through busy downtown streets on the running boards of the robbers' automobile. A chief of police and other officers, pistols in hand, watched helplessly as the car left the banks.

Three blocks away the robbers jabbed the young women with pistols and made them jump from the moving car.

CUBS WIN SECOND EXTRA-INNING TUSSLE WITH BRAVES, 4-3

BATTLE RAGES 15 INNINGS

Guy Bush Wins Second Game in Two Days

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—The battle of extra innings raged on at Wrigley field today with the Cubs once more defeating the Boston Braves, 4-3, in 15 innings of brilliant and erratic baseball.

The overtime game extended the three-game series between the two clubs to 43 innings with the Cubs now two and one-half games in front of the idle Pittsburgh Pirates in the National league race. They defeated the Braves, 4-3, in the first game on the tide of a four-run rally in the ninth inning, captured yesterday's battle 3-2 in 19 innings and came back to win in 15 today.

Guy Bush, the third Cub pitcher to take the mound today, gained the distinction of winning two games in as many days by pitching to just seven batters. He relieved Tinning and pitched one inning to win yesterday.

Huck Betts, always a jinx to the cubs, pitched 14 full innings before he was retired for a pinch batsman in the Braves' half of the 15th, when the Boston rally boomed and fizzled. Score:

PHILS WIN TWO

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' latest drive to defend their National league championship successfully was thwarted today when the Phillies took both ends of a double-header, 10 to 4 and 9 to 4. A five-run rally in the fifth inning of the aftermath drove Stout from the mound to clinch the game. The Quakers also bunched their hits in the first game to win. Scores:

Rain Delays Play In Women's Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 18. (AP)—Just when the grandstand tenants apparently were on the verge of seeing something exciting after three days of rather dull going in the women's national tennis championships, rain fell today and caused postponement of any climax there may be until tomorrow.

When the big drops began to fall the crowd was straining forward to watch a black-haired little fighter from Los Angeles, Carbline Babcock, play rings around Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, the tournament's second seeded star.

MOSCOW, Aug. 18. (UP)—Biographies of Joseph Stalin, Viacheslav Molotov and other Kremlin personalities are in the process of composition by leading Soviet literary men, for publication in conection with the 15th anniversary of the revolution, next November.

The initiative in the project is said to have been Maxim Gorki's. Presumably, he is one of the authors collaborating on the series of biographical spetches, with Stalin most likely as his subject.

SAINT JO WINS SECOND GAME

Cap's Corner Loses Again In Play-Off Series

Special to The Record News.

SAINT JO, Texas, Aug. 18.—Saint Jo won the second game of the Red River Valley league playoff at Caps Corper Wednesday afternoon by a score of 9 to 5. Powerhouse hitting at the right time defeated the Cornerites in their own backyard for the first time in the last 10 games played there. Dutch Phillips continued to play his stellar game, driving in three runs with two singles. Hundley started the pitching duties but was removed after Thompson had led off in the second inning with a single. Three runs were scored off him in the first inning on three hits and one error.

Phillips went to the box for Saint Jo and allowed seven hits for the rest of the game and two runs. Saint Jo's batters were continually hitting the ball in every inning and getting a run or two to finally put the game on ice in the eighth on three hits and a hit batsman which were good for three runs.

The Corner boys were hitting but could not make their pokes count for runs. O. Dowd was the leader with three singles. O. Davenport, Fleming and Thompson got two bingles each. Fleming was the "goat" with three errors.

Williams, Dutch Phillips and G. Pedigo got two hits each while every other man on the team hit once. The great play of the game was when Dean, left fielder for Caps, snagged Phillips' line drive with a leaping backhanded catch, robbing him of three bases at least.

This game gives Saint Jo a 2 to 0 edge in the series which is the best three out of five games. The third game will be played at Caps Corner Aug. 21.

Six Lion Lettermen Return for 1932; Team Expected to Be Fastest in District

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Aug. 18.—More than 50 aspirants for the 1932 Vernon High school football machine are expected to answer Head Coach W. C. "Heinie" Weir's call for candidates Sept. 1. Uniforms will be issued and practice will open Sept. 1, Coach Weir said today, and starting Sept. 5, the candidates will be placed through two workouts daily. Ralph Binnion, assistant coach, who is at present in Fort Worth, is expected to return here before the opening of practice.

Only six lettermen will return for the 1932 squad and pre-season indications point to an exceptionally light and inexperienced eleven, although the team will probably prove the fastest in this district. One mentor, Coach Griffin of Childress, has already selected the Lions as the team to beat for the district No. 2 football title, but advance indications fail to produce the reason for his optimism.

Returning Lettermen

The lettermen returning from Weir's crack 1931 machine are Capt. H. A. Thompson, all-district back; Tarleton Jones, all-district tackle; T. M. Watson, 1931 captain and all-district guard; Odie Maney, Henry Calloway, and Billy Reed. Thompson lettered last year for the first time, Jones has two stripes, Watson three, Reed and Galloway one each, and Maney one in Vernon and two from Archer City. Maney and Galloway are centers while Reed is a guard.

The main trouble with the 1932 prospects is that no experienced end is available. Louis Emrick, all-district performer; Eugene Judd, four-year letterman; Sam Parker, and others along with Woodie Weir, Woodrow Smith, Cleo Mason, Jimmy Lutz, Frank Anderson, Cecil Colwell, Dinty Dolan, and Ernest Christian were all lost through graduation or ineligibility. Other 1931 squadmen who will not be candidates this year are Richards, Cox, Corzine, Burchfield, and Youngblood.

Squadmen returning this year aside from lettermen will be Stewart, a guard; Caldwell, a tackle; and Garner and Grogan, backs. Garner played in parts of two conference games last year but failed to letter.

Among the probable outstanding prospects this year, aside from lettermen and squadmen are Paul Taylor of Hinds, a guard who was the sensation of spring training this year; J. B. Huff and Weldon Dicus of Tolbert, linemen who performed in spring training; J. C. Armstrong, Marine captain the past two years; E. C. Thomas, who proved the outstanding end of intra-mural play last year while a member of the freshman team; Roy Compton, South Vernon; J. B. Osborne, West Vernon; Paris Grogan, possibly the best punter in a Vernon uniform last year; Kermit Ammons of Fargo; J. B. Davis, South Vernon; Ed Miller, Guy Wheeler, Don Donahue, and Harrold Wilson, all of the Marine (third string organization) team; Billy Baskerville, West Vernon; and Wayne Smith, Buster Barton, and Cullen Cribbs of intra-mural competition.

Candidates Expected

Candidates expected the initial day are Odis Maney, Henry Galloway, Quanah Parker, Forrest Orr, Graham Orr, T. M. Watson, Billy Reed, Frederick Stewart, Harold Brewer, Paul Taylor, Tarleton Jones, Leonard Liles, Jim Caldwell, Roy Jones, A. W. Seale, Marlin Anthony, David Nowlin, J. B. Huff, Weldon Dicus, J. C. Armstrong, Marcus Barnes, Wilson Hollars, linemen.

Howard Withers, E. C. Thomas, R. S. Parr, Henry Ben Hopson, Roy Compton, Albert Townsend, Linville Lawson, J. B. Osborne, ends.

H. A. Thompson, Edwin Garner, Paris Grogan, Kermit Ammons, J. B. Davis, Ed Miller, Guy Wheeler, Don Donahue, Harrold Wilson, Billy Baskerville, Grady Foster, backs.

Beaten Only Once

The Lion eleven of last year went through the season with only one defeat. Vernon defeated Electra, Childress, and Wichita Falls in conference competition, and tied Quanah, 0-0, the Indians taking the game on 20-yard penetrations. The Lions beat Altus, Frederick, and Olustee, Okla., and Seymour in non-conference tilts while losing, 19-13, to Grandfield, Okla. They scored 249 points again 25 for opponents, and were not scored upon by a Texas football team last year. Incidentally, they handed Wichita Falls its worst defeat in the past 10 years rivalry between the two clubs, beating the Coyotes, 25-0, on the Wichita Falls gridiron. The worst previous defeat was 35-0 in 1925, which was later discredited when a Vernon player was ruled ineligible.

Speedy pick-up is all-important these days. Pick-up for congested traffic and pick-up for passing the car ahead on the open highway. Sinclair had this growing need in mind when it developed, for cities, towns and villages, Sinclair Regular Gasoline—a faster, lighter motor fuel.

Try the improved Sinclair Regular in traffic—or enjoy its eager surge of power for quick spurts in passing the car ahead on the open highway. And remember this: though it's faster and lighter—though it's more highly refined—the improved Sinclair Regular costs you nothing extra! Ask for Sinclair Regular, that fast-steppin' gasoline.

NOTE: For best results, use Sinclair Opaline or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil. Both have been de-waxed, and also freed from petroleum jelly at as low as 60° F. below zero.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—A moderate early decline in cotton today in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of further showers in the Southwest, was followed by an advance on trade buying and covering which appeared to be stimulated by the afternoon rallies in the grain and stock markets.

December closed at 7.69, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 10 to 13 points.

October sold up to 7.55 and March to 7.96 making net advances of 13 to 16 points and closing quotations were within 3 or 4 points of the best.

The relatively easy showing of Liverpool may have been influenced by the labor troubles in Lancashire, but Liverpool selling tapered off after the close of the English market, and there was some buying here through brokers with far eastern connections.

There were further private reports of boll weevil damage particularly from Georgia, but there was some favorable comment on crop prospects in West Texas as a result of recent rains.

Liverpool cables said that local and Bombay liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling in that market, but that business in cotton cloth was checked by the difficulty in guaranteeing deliveries. Reports that the organization of the proposed commodity financing corporation might be announced after the close, may have been a contributing factor on the afternoon advance. Exports today 7,316 making 245,419 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,315,381.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18. (AP)—Cotton prices fluctuated freely today with variations in stocks, but was supported on the dips by too much rain in the central and eastern belts. The close was very steady 2 to 3 points under the best at net gains of 13 to 15 points for the day.

The market eased off in the early afternoon on realizing and some recession in stocks declining 10 to 11 points to 7.33 for October and 7.51 for December. Around the middle of the afternoon, however, prices rallied sharply with a good upturn in stocks and wheat which caused shorts to cover freely and prices made new highs for the session at 7.54 for October and 7.71 for December, or 24 to 25 points above the lows of the day. There was a slight reaction of 2 to 3 points at the end on realizing but the market closed very steady with October 14 points net higher for the day and December 13 points net up.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 6 to 8 penny points up.

Port receipts 9,390, for week 60,039, for season 179,922, last season 54,886. Exports 5,516, for week 35,305, for season 363,716, last season 96,317. Port stock 3,299,388, last year 2,719,190. CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—After opening lower, cotton rallied sharply and closed at or near the top for the day, 14 to 16 points higher on the board of trade. Cables were about six penny points lower than due, and the opening at Chicago was 3 to 7 points down. After slight hesitation, prices worked higher and cotton followed the action of these markets. Rain fell over most of the cotton territory and further showers are forecast, especially over the Southwest.

Recovery Of Wheat After Early Dip Induces Rise In Stock Prices

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (US)—Stocks took their cue from the wheat market today. They followed the commodity in an early dip, then a brisk recovery in wheat induced a rally in stocks sufficient to wipe out early losses of a point or more and close the entire market up on the day.

Wheat finally finished up a cent per bushel net, and cotton, too, was strong. Spot cotton was at the highest price in 12 months. Coffee was unusually strong and at a new peak.

The bond market continued strong at the highest levels of the recovery.

Railroad stocks furnished the bull leadership of the day, showing the largest average gain of the three important groups and attaining a new peak.

Public utilities, on a smaller net gain, also were in new high ground, but industrial shares lagged behind the two other major groups.

Wheat had been sluggish early in the day, but widespread forecast that the long-expected commodity financing organization would be announced "before the close" helped stimulate all of the commodities.

This hope, however, was disproved when the promised decision on the commodity organization was still delayed by the bankers who have been dickering now for a long time over its make-up.

Turnover in stocks dropped below 2,000,000 shares.

Keen observers were guessing that the market's principal bull sponsors were rather anxious to entice a new short interest. The rapid advance had frightened or forced out a goodly part of the short account which had played so important a role in the early stages of the present recovery.

In a few stocks, the short account has been very stubborn. This is so in Case and American Telephone particularly, and explains why these stocks have been able to show such vigorous rallies from selling waves.

The market's sponsors seemed hesitant most of the day, but the action of many leaders suggested that short-selling was being invited to re-establish a strong technical position for resumption of aggressive constructive activities.

Most of the day the market was awaiting announcement of the commodity financing organization and hoping for additional stimulating news from industry.

There was little encouragement in the statement of the Atchison railroad's chief executive, who is recognized as an unbiased and quite frank commentator. He was quoted as saying:

"There is no turn in the railroad situation as yet. I would like to see an increase in employment and in carloadings as a result of the security market improvement. The Atchison could handle a large increase in business without the necessity of going into the new equipment market."

To partly offset this, a statement was made that Chesapeake and Ohio's recent loadings have shown a more favorable trend.

European buying has continued on a relatively substantial scale, and the biggest bulls maintain that new developments of cheer are "on the way."

Trade advices continue spotty but in some instances are genuinely cheerful.

A confidential Pacific coast wire to this column stated "many retail stores report surprising pick-up in business. Buyers returning from New York report scarcity of goods and predict higher fall prices."

Action of the rail shares supplied credence to the report that a large bull pool is operating in this section of the market. Southern Pacific appeared the particular favorite of the group today, while New York Central held modestly above its previous close. The plan apparently is to keep shifting activity from one rail to another. Strength of the rail group supplies one of the strongest arguments of the bull contingent.

Consolidated Gas held firm even during the reactionary period in the market. This issue is being groomed, according to report, for leadership of another attempt to advance the utility group.

Brokers' loans declined $1,000,000 which is insignificant when compared with the active market. It will be accepted bullishly.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP)—Demand for wheat continued good on the Fort Worth cash grain market Thursday with light offerings fairly easy selling.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat—No. 1 hard according to protein and billing 56½@59½c. Barley—No. 2 nominally 31@32c. Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100-lbs. 69@70c; No. 2 kafir 68@69c.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn—No. 2 mixed 41@42c; No. 2 white 44@45c; No. 2 yellow 47@48c.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats—No. 2 red 19½@20c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Quickly answering to reports that a general commodity financing pool had been organized, and would begin to function at once, wheat shot upward late today.

Wheat closed firm at virtually the day's top 1¼@1⅜c above yesterday's finish, corn ⅛@½c up, oats ¼@⅜c advanced and provisions 5 to 12 cents down.

Rising prices for wheat came after a series of indecisive fluctuations. Bears emphasized estimates that the 1932 northern hemisphere crop would be only 2,400,000 bushels under last year. This was counter-balanced by suggestions of a possible frost scare in Canada, together with talk that rallies to be expected after a break of more than 6 cents from last week's high.

Assertions that wheat was selling below production cost, and that no commodity could long stay in that position, were made much by bulls. There were also authoritative reports that soil moisture conditions have been bettered in only a few places this year over drouth sections which range from the Texas Panhandle into Canada, with drouth also in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, where soil conditions a year ago were excellent. On the other hand, export business today was confined to Canadian wheat, 800,000 bushels.

Corn prices were helped by word that Germany would import 100,000 tons of corn. In oats, hedging forced values temporarily to fresh bottom records for the season.

Provisions lacked support.

'JIM' BEMOANS ILLEGAL VOTE

100,000 Ballots Would Have Nominated Wife

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, Aug. 18. (AP)—James E. Ferguson returned to the stump in Southeast Texas here tonight to further the campaign of his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Answering charges of State Highway Commissioner Cone Johnson that thousands of illegal votes had been cast in the recent first primary election, in which Mrs. Ferguson led, Ferguson said that "probably if it hadn't been for that 100,000 illegal votes they now discover, my wife would have been nominated in the first primary."

"Nobody ever heard of Ferguson supporters voting illegally," he said.

Criticizes Session

He criticized sharply the calling of a special session of the legislature by Governor Sterling at this time.

"Calling a special session at this time is another waste of the people's money," he said, asserting Governor Sterling's action was directed by "political purposes."

"Neither the state nor the state highway department has money at present to reimburse counties which voted bonds for state road improvement, even if the legislature met and passed Sterling's law tomorrow."

Ferguson produced a copy of a letter which he said State Senator Clint Small, unsuccessful candidate for governor two years ago, had written to newspaper friends some months ago in which Small was quoted as saying Sterling was "not captain of his own boat" and would run for re-election "if he gets his orders to run."

Small "Commanded"

Small spoke last night at Vernon in behalf of Governor Sterling's campaign for re-election.

Ferguson said the "big hired newspapers" had commanded Small, when the latter announced he would campaign for Sterling, but they "forgot to ask him how many fool letters he had written about Brother Sterling."

The former governor followed his usual speech in outlining his wife's platform. Mrs. Ferguson did not accompany her husband to Port Arthur, planning instead to join him for a speech Saturday night in Groesbeck.

"We hadn't intended to get into politics," Ferguson said, "but it hadn't been six months after the present administration took office until the people discovered they didn't have any governor and weren't going to have any. And so our friends urged my wife to run."

Then he used the old phrase of past campaigns, which set the crowd to howling with glee:

"I'm helping my wife, I'm picking up chips and bringing in water for Mama."

Ferguson said figures showed "the highest tax rates in the history of the state are necessary to operate the government under the present crowd, which is running on a platform of responsibility in office."

Ferguson denounced the highway department, saying it "and old Ross are busy as a cat on a hot rock because it's near election time."

He said it had been asserted here that the Ferguson platform contemplated letting the oil fields run wide open. "Our position," he said, "is for orderly marketing and for conservation of natural resources in this state. The Ferguson platform wants the proration laws properly and emphatically enforced, but my wife will never invade a peaceful community with an army. She wants to protect the rights of the little producer and the big producer too."

About Small

Concerning Small and his asserted letter about Sterling, Ferguson said the senator had taken the stump "to abuse the Fergusons" only a few days ago.

"But he didn't know I'd been laying for him. Last December Clint Small wrote newspaper friends of his. Here is a photostatic copy, and I've seen the original. Here's what he said in that letter:

"'Put this down in your book to remember—if Ma runs against Sterling, look out for another Ferguson administration . . . As for the oil companies it would be rank ingratitude for them not to support him. He (Sterling) has always signed on the line fixed for his signature and they would be very foolish to experiment with some one else at this time. . . . Sterling is not captain of his own boat and if he gets orders to run, he will be in the race'."

In closing Ferguson said his wife would receive in the second primary "90 per cent of the vote Tom Hunter got in the last primary."

STERLING SPEAKS AT LONGVIEW

LONGVIEW, Texas, Aug. 18. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling brought his candidacy for renomination into the heart of East Texas tonight.

He came here after a day marked by continued campaigning, the affixing of his signature to a proclamation calling a tax relief session of the legislature, and a statement that illegal voting occurred at the first Democratic primary.

Judge Will C. Hurst preceded the governor's speech with an appeal to Gregg county voters for legal exercise of the ballot. E. M. Bramlette, county Democratic chairman, made a similar plea and explained the election laws to the crowd. Mrs. Holly Lawrence, head of the county women's Sterling-for-Governor club, spoke briefly.

District Attorney John E. Taylor introduced Sterling.

Some heckling was mingled with applause as Taylor said, "if you want efficient, honest government, re-elect Ross S. Sterling."

Sterling appeared disturbed by the heckling.

"I want to apologize," he shouted, "to the people of Gregg county and from other states for the manner in which some people heckled after assertions made by Mr. Taylor. To the hecklers, he said, "if you can't respect me, go to other quarters."

Enrico Caruso Jr. Studies To Take Famed Father's Place In Music World

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18. (AP)—Movie sets of Hollywood are affording dramatic training to Enrico Caruso Jr., as he studies to earn a place on the grand opera stage where his father's name lives on in memory.

Caruso, now 27, takes on occasional small parts in pictures so he may gain experience as an actor at the same time he is preparing his voice for presentation to the public.

Started Two Years Ago

It was less than two years ago that the younger son of the famed Italian tenor began seriously on a musical career. His maestro is Adolfo de la Huerta, 51-year-old former president of Mexico, now engaged solely in imparting his knowledge of voice to his pupils.

"When my father was alive," says Enrico, "he thought one singer in the family was enough, so I never studied singing.

"Later I thought of trying to develop a voice, but was discouraged by those who heard me. One teacher said if I had a trade I should go back to it and forget about music. So I did forget it, until I came to Hollywood.

His Voice Improving

"A friend introduced me to my maestro, Senor de la Huerta, and the maestro said he would work with me. He has shown me where my voice was, and how to use it. After a few more months I expect to appear in concert, but my ultimate ambition is grand opera."

Enrico's voice ranges from low D to D above high C—at present. It improves with work and practice, but even today an audience could detect in its volume and timber some evidence that he has inherited the gift of his father.

His training has been interrupted twice thus far, delaying his concert debut by months. An operation for appendicitis accounted for three months and he was required by immigration law to leave the country five months before his permit could be renewed.

Caruso's elder brother, Rodolfo, is in Italy now, while Gloria, his half-sister, aged 11, is in Cannes, France.

Enrico, who was often in America with his father, and attended an American military academy for two years, returned originally on business concerning the late opera star's estate, but remained after his interest in singing was revived.

Warden Nabs Two For Killing Plover

Two Wichita Falls men were charged with shooting plover near Iowa Park Wednesday afternoon in complaints filed before Justice of the Peace O. L. Gibbs Thursday and signed by E. A. Preskett, game warden.

Jail sentences were imposed by Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court at law upon defendants who entered pleas of guilty when arraigned by County Attorney L. V. Abernathy. Answering to a charge of aggravated assault, a negro was given 90 days in jail plus costs. He was accused of having shot another negro in the arm with a shotgun Wednesday during an affray.

A 17-year-old youth was given 30 days in jail plus costs for theft of a bicycle from a local telegraph messenger last Saturday.

Another man charged with use of narcotics was fined $30 and costs.

Convicted Men Start Trip to State Prison

Two prisoners were delivered Thursday morning by Sheriff Perry Browning from the Wichita county jail to State Penitentiary Agent "Bud" Russell for transfer to the state prison at Huntsville.

Max Berryhill, given 12 years here early in June for robbery of the Kemp Kort Drug store and 12 years in Clay county the same day on a hijacking charge, was one of the pair which started to Huntsville Thursday. G. C. Thedford, under two-year sentence for forgery, was the other.

Berryhill's sentences were made cumulative. He had been discharged from the state penitentiary only a few weeks before his arrest here on May 30.

Boys Earn Pin Money By Capturing Racers For Dallas Contest

Members of the Wichita Falls Boys' club and other young Wichitans are reporting a brisk trade in a new racket this week—riding herd on as many turtles as possible. The demand for the animals followed announcement of a terrapin race at Dallas on Labor day, sponsored by the Dallas labor council.

Thurston Harvick of the central fire station assembled 92 terrapins Thursday and requested the youths gathering the animals to secure 108 more. He desires 200 turtles to send to a brother at Dallas for use in the projected handicap. Another Wichitan, Dr. L. I. Lacey, Henrietta road, has advertised for the same number of terrapins.

Patrons of the local schools have kept the office telephone of the superintendent busy this week inquiring the opening school dates. Twelve holidays are listed in the two semesters and the term will close on May 26.

Red Cross Issues Plea For Storm Relief Funds

An appeal for public contributions for use in the American Red Cross relief work in the Houston area, devastated by tropical storms over the past week-end, was received in Wichita Falls Thursday by Chairman W. O. Beeman of the county organization.

Contributions will be received by W. U. McCutchen, assistant cashier at the First National bank. The appeal is county-wide and the funds will be used in caring for 700 homeless families, others whose homes were damaged and farm areas where crops were destroyed, Mr. Beeman said.

Tom Connally Protests Location of Home Bank

PALACIOS, Texas, Aug. 18. (UP)—Senator Tom Connally of Texas protested today to Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the federal home loan bank board, against a reported likely location of the southwestern branch bank at Little Rock.

Connally telegraphed Fort that the bank for the Southwest "should be located in Texas, which is financial and commercial headquarters of all this territory." He said location of the bank should not be made a matter of political negotiations.

Ancient Stage Coach Meets Southern Editors

LINVILLE, N. C., Aug. 18. (UP)—When North Carolina editors gathered here for their 60th convention, officers were met by the mountain stage coach used 50 years ago.

The coach, resembling those memorialized by the western movies, was drawn by six horses. The officers were escorted by a mounted deputy sheriff, garbed in the costume of a half century ago, with a pistol hanging prominently at his belt.

WHAT'S A LEG!

LONDON, England.—There's a gentleman in Workington, Cumberland, England, who claims to be the most versatile one-legged sportsman in England. He lost his pedal extremity during the world war at Meuniex, France, yet he plays tennis, bowls, plays golf, walks, runs, rides a push-bicycle and a motorcycle, drives a motor-car and, besides, is a table-tennis enthusiast. And perhaps the strangest thing about this one-legged phenom is that his name is Mr. S. Walker.

PESKY PEST YEAR

WASHINGTON.—In addition to the depression and the unusual weather, 1932 has proven the most prolific bug year in a decade. Some of these bugs are the cot louse, the tobacco horn worm, bean beetle, chinch bugs and the Hessian fly.

WOMAN BURNED IN EXPLOSION

Gasoline Ignites as She Cleans Clothing

Mrs. L. W. Campbell, 2017 Collins, was reported resting well at her home late Thursday after suffering painful burns about one hand, forearm and leg about 9 o'clock Thursday morning while washing clothing in gasoline. The gasoline was ignited by static electricity.

Wichitans who continue to wash clothing in gasoline take their lives in their hands by doing so, Fire Chief J. L. McClure said in commenting on the blaze. Static electricity is created by rubbing certain fabrics together and when this is done in flamable liquids the result is often disastrous. The blaze Thursday morning was the second this month resulting from the same cause, although no one was injured in the first. Satin, silks and wool are especially attractive to static electricity, Chief McClure said.

Mrs. Campbell was given emergency treatment at the Hargrave-Walker hospital after she was rescued by Fireman Joe Carter of the central station. Mr. Carter was off duty at the time and extinguished the fire after hearing Mrs. Campbell's screams as he passed the house.

Dandruff? No Excuse for It Now

Mr. E. Doucette, 1600 E. 49th St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"Send me one bottle of JAPANESE OIL as soon as possible, as I find nothing to compare with it for removing dandruff. My hair is doing fine and I am sure that if JAPANESE OIL won't help it nothing else will."

Mr. Doucette is one of thousands who knows by actual experience that JAPANESE OIL, the antiseptic liniment, seldom fails to remove dandruff. Try it tonight. Massage it well into your scalp. After a few nights you'll be gratified to find that the dandruff has disappeared. Then use JAPANESE OIL regularly twice a week. It will keep your scalp clean, stop further hair and encourage the growth of strong, healthy hair.

Garner Talks Confidently to Crowds At Stops on Flight to Texas Home

be elected by an overwhelming majority in November.

He also remarked he still thought Texas would be better off if divided into five states, a thing he has said on other occasions.

"Then there would be ten Democratic senators from this section, instead of two," he said.

Mrs. Garner and Garner's son, Tully Garner, banker of Uvalde, were waiting at the San Antonio airport to greet the speaker when the plane stopped in Austin.

SPEAKS TO 30,000 DURING FLIGHT

WACO, Texas, Aug. 18. (AP)—Speaker John N. Garner, in a brief speech while his plane halted at Rich field here tonight told a crowd of Waco citizens that he had spoken to 50,000 persons since leaving Cincinnati in the morning.

"I want you to know that I'm having a big time," he said. The crowd here was estimated at 5,000. He was introduced by Archie Price, state secretary of the Roosevelt-Garner clubs.

"Every time I tell the truth about the Republicans," Garner said, "they accuse me of jumping on Herbert Hoover. But when I tell the truth, I can't help it.

"It's no question but that the next government of the United States will be Democratic, because our bunch wants to put the government back into the hands of the plain people."

The speaker said that when he went East to confer with Governor Roosevelt he chose a slow train to avoid the crowds but never has been found crowds at all stops.

"They probably wanted to "see what kind of an animal I was," he explained.

"WE'RE HONEST," GARNER DECLARES.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP)—Texas' vice presidential nominee, John N. Garner, was in Fort Worth tonight for the first time since his nomination at Chicago. A crowd disregarded a series of showers to hear him speak during the 10 minutes his plane was here.

Speaker Garner's only political statements were: "You know Governor Roosevelt and I have always been honest and that we've always told the truth," and "when I hear that Texas may go Republican this year I can't believe it," the latter statement drew shouts of "it won't" and "it's not so," from the crowd.

Garner's plane arrived at 7:10 p. m. and took off for San Antonio at 7:20.

DALLAS CROWD HEARS SPEAKER

DALLAS, Aug. 18. (AP)—John N. Garner, Democratic vice presidential nominee, left here on a regular passenger plane at 6:48 p. m. today for Fort Worth and San Antonio en route to his home at Uvalde after a trip east. He arrived a few minutes previously by plane.

Mr. Garner made a short talk to several thousand persons gathered at the airport to see him. He planned to make another talk at Fort Worth.

The plane was delayed by thundershowers near Little Rock and Texarkana, but the pilot reported no unusually difficult navigation problems.

Ancient Greeks Took Precautions To Make Real Estate Deals 'Fool Proof'

By F. B. COLTON

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18. (AP)—Greek real estate dealers of 348 B. C. took no chances when they sold a house—the contract was carved on the wall.

Such a contract, worded much like modern bills of sale, has been discovered on the wall of a house in the ancient Greek city of Olynthus by Dr. David M. Robinson, archaeologist of Johns Hopkins university, recently returned from the excavations on the site.

The contract, still legible after 2,000 years, states that Archidamus had bought the house from Sosion "with a year's grace for deliverance," and that the house was located between those of Pythian and Polyxenus.

Olynthus was destroyed in 348 B. C. by Philip of Macedon, father of Alexander the Great, and never rebuilt. Houses, streets, money, ornaments, implements of all kinds remain just as they were left when the 40,000 inhabitants were slain or sold into slavery.

"Extra Fare" Styx Ride

In a cemetery near the city Dr. Robinson discovered that four coins instead of the usual one had been placed in the mouths of several skeletons to pay the fee of Charon, underworld god, for ferrying the dead across the river Styx.

Discoveries of mosaics probably made before Alexander's birth and which Dr. Robinson says will alter some conceptions of Greek history previously held by archaeologists were made on the site.

The houses uncovered by Dr. Robinson were well built and well planned, and equipped with bath tubs and shower bath arrangements in many cases. There was usually an open court in the center, with a second floor balcony looking down upon the court.

Proved Untrue

As a result of the discovery, Dr. Robinson says that "the statements that the Greeks till the Hellenistic age lived in petty little towns and houses like so many wasps' nests and had no important domestic architecture will have to be revised."

A bronze "pencil and eraser" was found in the ruins. It is in the form of a two-headed crocodile. From one mouth projects a sharp stilus for writing on wax, and from the other a flat piece of bronze for erasing mistakes.

Silver and bronze coins from 50 different places were unearthed, indicating Olynthus had a wide "foreign trade."

More than 900,000 square miles, or 28 per cent of the area of Canada, exclusive of the Arctic islands, is still unexplored.

300 ATTEND DIXIE REUNION

Stonewall Jackson Group Opens Annual Meet

More than 300 sons and daughters of Confederate veterans of the Stonewall Jackson camp gathered at the Stonewall Jackson park, south of Holliday, Thursday for the opening of a two-day annual picnic. Matt Wicker of Cloud Chief, Okla. was the only veteran of the original group of 86 who founded the camp to attend. John T. Woodhouse of Wichita Falls, only other surviving veteran, was unable to attend due to illness.

Mr. Wicker is the guest of Arthur C. Howard in Wichita Falls and plans to attend Friday's picnic sessions. Attendance at the picnic was cut Thursday by weather conditions but hundreds of others are expected to attend Friday.

Games for the young people and reunions of older camp members featured Thursday's program.

Judge P. A. Martin of Wichita Falls was the principal speaker on the afternoon program and discussed current conditions, and urged his hearers to adopt a retrenchment program to insure return of normal conditions. Judge Martin pledged his support to continuation of the annual Stonewall Jackson picnic in August and urged others present to support the camp. He was introduced by Mr. Howard.

A full day of picnic entertainment is scheduled for Friday and the day's activities will close with a dance. A dance closed Thursday's program.

HOWARD GIVES POSTAL TALK

Rotary Club Told Growth Of Mail Service

Growth of the postal system in this country since its establishment in 1639 was reviewed before members of the Rotary club Thursday noon at the Kemp hotel by Lon Howard, assistant postmaster, in a classification talk.

Development of mail-carrying service through the pony express, stagecoach, and railway stages was described by the speaker, after which he told of the quick growth of an air mail system which today operates planes over a total of 35,000 miles daily. Mr. Howard also detailed the various processes through which mail of different classes is delivered speedily to its different destinations.

Postal savings accounts began in the Wichita Falls postoffice in 1910, the speaker said, and now number more than 700 with a total savings of more than $400,000.

Sam R. Hord of Chicago, formerly a member of the Rotary club, was greeted as a visitor at the luncheon. Edwin Bebb, program chairman, presented prizes to Rotarians who could name the business and donor of submitted packages.

Scot Aviator Over Atlantic

Mollison Aims at Round-Trip to New York

PORTMARNOCK, Irish Free State, Aug. 18. (AP)—Capt. J. A. Mollison who left his bride of three weeks today and took off on a projected round-trip flight to New York was sighted this afternoon 650 miles off Ireland and going strong.

His bride, the former Amy Johnson, herself an eminent flier, watched his ship as it disappeared in the west.

"A fine start anyhow," she said. "I have perfect faith in him and in that little bus. I think he's wonderful."

A few minutes later she got into a plane and sped away to catch up with him and accompany him on the first hundred miles or so of his journey.

Mollison, a 27-year-old Scotsman and veteran of the Royal Air force who already has made a bit of aviation history with record Australia-London and London-Cape Town flights, hoped to be back on this side within two and a half days.

The plane on which he is depending to carry him on the first solo crossing of the Atlantic from east to west is a tiny Puss Moth weighing little more than a ton.

At 10 a. m., central standard time, the Cunard liner Ascania reported sighting him 650 miles at sea, racing toward the west in fine clear weather.

There are about 2,100 miles of canals in the United States.
