U.S. won't beg for hostages, Carter states

MERCED, Calif. (AP) — President Carter declared on Independence Day that the United States will not be "brought to its knees and beg" for the release of Americans held hostage in Iran.

Eight months after the U.S. Embassy in Tehran was seized and four months before the 1980 presidential election, Carter told a town meeting at Merced College that he was confident the hostages "will be coming home safely."

But the president acknowledged once more that no breakthroughs were imminent.

"In the last few hours I have been in touch with the State Department and others I can't name publicly in trying to have an avenue to the Iran leaders to get our hostages released," the president said against a backdrop of American flags.

Carter added the United States was working through the Iranian leaders, including opposition leaders, but "we have very little access directly to the Ayatollah Khomeini," the Persian Gulf nation's revolutionary leader.

Speaking with reporters at the conclusion of the town meeting, Carter said, "We're trying different things, nothing special. I can't predict any breakthrough. We're just trying all the time, different things."

He did not elaborate.

In the hour-long question-and-answer session before some 1,800 people, Carter also said he will not lift the U.S. grain embargo against the Soviet Union unless Moscow "makes some tangible move" to remove its troops from Afghanistan.

The president said his administration is punishing Iran for the hostage-taking and the Soviet Union for its military occupation of Afghanistan and will keep up the pressure.

Carter said "there is no one in Iran who has either the courage or the leadership capability or the authority to make that decision" regarding the release of the hostages. He said he doesn't know "what else we can do without endangering the lives of the hostages."

At the town meeting, Carter took the opportunity to condemn the Iranians holding the hostages as "fanatics ... irresponsible."

The president said there were things he could not do to secure their release, "if it meant embarrasing our country" such as "apologizing for something we have not done or to bring our nation to its knees and beg" for their release.

The economic sanctions he imposed against Iran are costing that nation "literally millions of dollars a day," Carter asserted.

The president said he has "put more time and more prayer" into securing the hostages' release than in anything else.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Highway death toll at eight

By The Associated Press

Eight persons were killed in holiday traffic by Friday evening and Texas Department of Public Safety officials predicted 39 more would lose their lives on the three-day Fourth of July weekend.

The DPS upgraded the projected death toll because of the extended holiday, said DPS spokesman Richard Grimmett.

In 1977, the last time the Fourth of July was part of a 78-hour weekend, 35 were killed on the state's highways, he said.

During last year's 30-hour holiday period, 18 people died in highway accidents.

DPS' "Operation Motorcide" began counting fatalities at 6 p.m. Thursday and will continue through midnight Sunday.

Gunmen attack diplomat's home

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Gunmen attacked the home of a top U.S. Embassy official here early Friday, spraying one outer wall with automatic weapons fire and throwing a firebomb into the front yard, police said.

First Embassy Secretary N. Richard Kinsman was not injured and his family was not at home, police said.

The state-owned news media said Kinsman was among 15 people named as CIA agents in the Jamaica embassy by an editor of the Covert Action Information Bulletin, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., which the reports said has previously named alleged CIA agents around the world.

Woman submits hair, blood

McKINNEY, Texas (AP) — Investigators said Candice Montgomery has submitted samples of her blood and hair to be compared with evidence found at the scene of a gruesome ax murder last month.

Mrs. Montgomery, the 30-year-old mother of two, was arrested for questioning in the slaying June 26 and is free on $100,000 bond.

On the advice of her attorney, she previously had refused to turn over the samples. But lawmen investigating the slaying said the samples were submitted at the Southwestern Institute of Forensic Science Thursday.

Comparison tests will not be made until after the holiday weekend, authorities said.

Betty Gore, 30, was found hacked to death June 13 in her Wylie home. It appeared the ax-swinging killer had washed off the blood, leaving blood and hair in the family shower.

Small, bloody footprints and a thumbprint were found near the body.

Sheriff's deputies previously impounded Mrs. Montgomery's car and she has given investigators her fingerprints and two pairs of shoes.

A Collin County grand jury has been hearing testimony in the case.

Americans celebrate Fourth

But partying muted by thoughts of hostages

By the Associated Press

Americans rejoiced on the Fourth of July, unfurling the red white and blue, sounding the high notes of the national anthem and marching in the summer sun. But celebrations were dampened by thoughts of 53 countrymen deprived of their "unalienable rights" to liberty and the pursuit of happiness eight months ago to the day.

In honor of the hostages held by militants in Iran, Americans planted 53 trees in Cleveland, wore yellow ribbons at St. Louis ceremonies and carried placards in Laverne, Okla. Betsy Morefield, daughter of hostage consul general Richard Morefield, went to Thomas Jefferson's Monticello to hand out cards bearing a yellow ribbon and the number 53.

Early patriots listed grievances against the king of England in the Declaration of Independence. Two centuries and four years later, residents in Clarksburg, Mass., pilloried another leader by setting a sketch of Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini atop a bonfire.

"I wish the real one was up there," said Howard Tanner, chief of the Clarksburg fire company.

Many celebrations were traditional. On village greens and city squares, bands played Sousa marches and "The Star Spangled Banner" and fireworks burst in a cascade of light and sound. Hundreds of thousands of Americans spent the day at the beach or back yard, grilling hamburgers, hot dogs, chicken or steaks.

President Carter, on the stump, spoke in California and Florida before going home to Plains, Ga.

More than 300,000 people jammed the banks of Boston's Charles River Friday night as John Willams led the Boston Pops orchestra in its first Independence Day concert without the late Arthur Fiedler in 50 years. The concert included "Yoda's Theme" and "The Imperial March," composed by Williams for the movie "The Empire Strikes Back." It ended with Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture," complete with the firing of cannons and the ringing of church bells.

In St. Louis, the Mississippi Queen sailed across the finish line four minutes ahead of the Delta Queen, winning the Independence Day steamboat race up the Mississippi River that began June 23 in New Orleans.

About 200 people wore yellow ribbons and sang "Tie A Yellow Ribbon 'Round The Oak Tree," — a song welcoming home a former prisoner — at St. Louis ceremonies attended by Toni and Virgil Sickmann of Krakow, Mo., whose son, Rodney is among the hostages.

Killer heat continues

By The Associated Press

The killer heat wave entered its 12th day Friday in the South and Southwest with the death toll at 106, and a health official in Texas said even more people might die while celebrating the holiday outdoors.

Heat-related deaths were reported in seven states: 61 in Texas, 21 in Arkansas, 16 in Oklahoma, 5 in Kansas and one each in Mississippi, Louisiana and Missouri.

Scattered thunderstorms brought some clouds and rain to west-central Texas, but the moisture evaporated soon after hitting the ground — dried up by triple-digit temperatures. More than two-dozen Texas cities recorded temperatures of 100 or more Thursday.

Dr. Elliot Salenger, head of the Dallas County Health Department, said deaths could increase over the long holiday weekend.

"People will go running, jogging, sunning," he said. "They'll be drinking alcohol and get dehydrated. They'll go on with their holiday plans even though it's over 100 degrees.

He said many would not alter holiday plans despite relentless heat, "and they'll get sick and some will die."

The National Weather Service said there was no sign of cooler weather in store for the next 10 days — possibly longer. Elsewhere in the nation, scattered thunderstorms were reported, with heavy storms in Kentucky and Indiana.

In Louisville and Lexington, Ky., high winds wrecked a garage and uprooted trees, ripping part of the roof from television station WKYT. All Fourth of July activities in Lexington were called off because of the storm, said WKYT news director Ken Kurtz. No injuries were reported.

The continuing heat wave brought water shortages to parts of Oklahoma, and the water tanks were empty in Noble, a town of about 2,000, leaving only the water that was still in the lines. Voluntary water rationing was under way in Tulsa and McAlester.

Many heat victims were elderly people living alone in homes without air conditioning. Some, found alive with body temperatures of 106, were plunged into ice water by medical workers in vain attempts to save their lives.

State and local officials have pleaded with residents to stay quiet and keep air conditioners running, despite the drain on electric power facilities. In Arkansas, the state Office on Aging has ordered air-conditioned senior citizens' centers opened to the poor and old.

The heat wave has created record demands for power, water, beer and such appliances as air conditioners and fans. In some areas, farmers say they will need federal aid if rain does not fall soon for their crops and pastures.

The triple-digit temperatures began in Texas on June 23. The National Weather Service reported the high temperature for the nation Thursday was 114 in Wichita Falls, Texas.

In Arkansas, where light rain fell Thursday in some northern sections, the National Weather Service noted the heat wave was short of earlier 100-degree stretches. In 1934, the temperature reached or topped 100 degrees for 54 consecutive days in Ozark, Ark. And 20 years later, the temperature reached or exceeded 100 degrees in Conway, Ark., on 71 days between late June and late September.

DA irate over newspaper's 'psychic' story

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

Vern Martin is "psychic," but he's not hell-bent into witchcraft.

"It's not a big deal," Martin, the Midland County district attorney, said of dabbling with hunches and occasionally experimenting in extra-sensory perception, psychic phenomena and the para-psychology science called psychometry. "Anybody can do it."

But the county's chief criminal prosecutor is not "just anybody." He's public.

And The Dallas Morning News, via staff writer Bill Deener, apparently hopped onto the seeming oddity of a "psychic" prosecutor who supposedly solves crimes by sensory phenomena. The reporter pieced together a story which labeled Martin as a "semi-spiritualist," a "practitioner of psychometry," and painted him as a "cheap imitation of Johnny Carson's 'Karnac The Magnificent'" — the psychic jokester who answers questions before they are asked.

Not so, said Martin. He's none of those things.

ADMITTEDLY, he seems to be gifted with a sometimes mystical "sixth sense," but figures that is an innate talent possessed and developed in varying degrees by most all people.

And if someone asks him to assist in problem-solving, he will.

"I'm not going to refuse to help anybody," Martin said Friday after the article was published. "But I'm not going to make a big deal out of it."

The Dallas newspaper did, though, he figures. Martin was irate.

"Those bastards have invaded my privacy and embarrassed my family, the people of this community...and me....I think they are trying to damage my reputation, for whatever reason. I don't have any choice but to consider a lawsuit" against The Dallas Morning News.

THE SLAP AGAINST Martin came about after reporters from Houston, Dallas and The National Enquirer had hounded Martin by telephoning him to get an explanation of his so-called mystical qualities. Martin said he declined extensive telephone interviews, shunned in-town publicity and preferred for "the story" to simply wane and die.

Curiosity about Martin's "gift" came about in early June, when he was in Richmond, near Houston, to handle a Big Spring murder trial. It had been tranferred to Richmond due to over-exposure in the West Texas town.

But while he was waiting in the courthouse for a ride to the airport, two Fort Bend County sheriff's detectives asked for his aid.

"I was asked in a semi-serious vein by two Richmond deputies to see what I could do to provide leads in one of their investigations," Martin said.

"I consented in about the same way I might have agreed to play my trombone at a jam session or have a cup of coffee with a friend."

What Martin did was to stick his hand into a paper sack containing

Race car crash causes two deaths

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP) — A woman and her 5-year-old son were crushed to death and five other people were injured Friday when a 600-pound super-soapbox car veered out of control at an estimated 40 mph in the 70th annual Bisbee coaster race.

The driver, Brad Sullivan, 24, of Bisbee, was not injured but was treated for shock, said Police Chief Eddie Lopez.

Michael Didanato, 5, was pronounced dead shortly after the mid-morning crash. His mother, Nancy Jean Didanato, 33, died several hours after being flown to a hospital in Tucson, 93 miles northwest of this old copper mining town near the Mexican border.

Witnesses said Sullivan, reclining feet-first and steering his gravity-powered racer with hand-held cables, applied a foot brake as he crossed the finish line at the bottom of a hill. The vehicle swerved over a curb, pinning the victims against the City Library and the Bisbee Daily Review newspaper building.

"He was coming down the canyon and lost control," said Detective Kay Gojkovich, declining to give further details. "We've got about 20 people we interviewed and another 20 to go."

The remaining two cars in the race were flagged down and the competition was halted.

Released after treatment at a hospital here were the dead boy's father, Capt. Louis Didanato, 34, assigned to Fort Huachuca in neighboring Sierra Vista, and a sister, Barbara, 9, and Manuel Romo of neighboring Naco, Mexico, and his wife, Olga, 43, and daughter, Elda, 5.

The coaster races, from the top of Tombstone Canyon and into the downtown area, began shortly after the turn of the century, but adult competition was halted about 25 years ago when two elderly spectators were injured and died afterward. Races for children, using smaller vehicles, continued, and the adult races were reinstated in 1976.

"I would say let's give it back to the kids," Bisbee Mayor Michael Lynn said after the accident.

In the adult division, a racer may have a combined vehicle and driver weight of up to 600 pounds. Some of the cars are substantially more refined than the back-yard soap-box cars that spawned them.

Harry Mitchell, Bisbee undertaker and announcer for the sponsoring Energy Free Racing Association, said, "It's one of those things that you can't blame on anybody or anything.

"The crowd was staying where they belonged. They weren't in the street. The safety rules were being observed. I've seen them race for 25 years. It was just one of those freaks."

Cooler weather forecast here

It's all depends on how you look at it.

According to the forecast, it's going to be cooler today and Sunday. It's also going to be hot.

The forecast calls for highs today and Sunday of near 100 degrees. Low tonight and Sunday night should be in the low 70s. Winds today should be southerly at 10 to 15 mph.

Friday's high was just a paltry 96 degrees, not even close to the record of 103 degrees set in 1961. The overnight low was 71 degrees. Record low for today is 60 degrees set in 1972.

Fair skies should continue through Sunday.

personal effects of Bob Kahn, a precious metal broker who was slain. Knowing nothing about the articles in the sack, Martin told the deputies in detail much about the man's character, his lifestyle and alluded to a river where the man's body was found.

Martin had no prior knowledge of the unsolved case.

"I DIDN'T KNOW anything (about the case)," he said. "They (investigators) had a problem and were dead-ended and asked me if I would give them any clues."

He did.

The deputies, including Parke Slot, were amazed by Martin's revelation.

The Midland prosecutor figures that one of his former assistants, Timothy Ann Sloan, who's now a state prosecutor at Richmond, was familiar with Martin's bent toward perception and psychometry and suggested the deputies ask him for help.

To Martin, pyschometry is just another technique to continue an investigation in searching for clues and facts.

"I certainly am interested in any and everything related to forensic science," he said. "And rest assuredthat every energy and every talent that I have is available to aid law enforcement here or elsewhere."

"But this 'psychic' thing is being distorted and blown up completely out of control."

Martin, a native East Texan, has been interested in psychometry for about 20 years — not long after he received the law degree in 1958 from The University of Texas. But the neo-science, a branch of para-psychology, has never been a consuming interest. He figures the science takes up about 1/10th of 1 percent of his waking time, and probably gets less attention than his other avocations — trombone playing, reading, Bible studying and painting.

"I'm probably more of a Bible scholar than I am a para-psychologist."

His consuming interest, of course, is law.

WHAT UPSET MARTIN and his wife, Zella, wasn't just the "out-of-context" Dallas article.

"The guy (Deener) didn't even spell my name right (it's "Vern" and not "Vernon"). That's what I resent more than anything else," he half jested in his anger.

Martin cited bothersome aspects of the story.

—His being labeled as a likeness to television's flippant "Karnac The Magnificent."

—Midlanders who "take their religion straight fire and brimstone" and who eat baked potatoes with butter, but sans "frilly chives."

—West Texans who "develop neurotic hiccups" at the mention of the word "psychometry."

—Midlanders who are as skeptical of the mental science as they are of "closet Catholics" — Episcopalians.

—As with Martin, the reporter was very "pushy" over the telephone with Martin's wife, who reportedly said a judge in Midland thinks Martin is a "nut" because he believes in pyschometry. Zella Martin, too, believes all people are born with a sixth sense by whatever name — intuition, psychic powers.

—Martin has read extensively about psychic healer Edgar Cayce but, contrary to the news story, never has read books by him. (Cayce was not an author, Martin said.)

—Martin's being termed a 20-year "devotee" of psychometry.

Psychometry, effectively, is ESP via touching objects. It's the divination of facts concerning an object or its owner. Images are evoked by touching objects.

"IT'S JUST A PARLOR game to me," Martin said of psychometry. "Some day, when we know more about the mind, it may be important."

"I'm probably more skeptical than any other person about this kind of stuff, and it's not something that I'm pre-occupied with....It is something that has no religious overtones."

Martin said he has used psychometry "for the police three or four times in my life." In fact, he said criminal investigators in metropolitan areas worldwide employ the technique when all else has failed. It is a last resort.

"Everybody has imagination," he allowed in alluding to the neo-science, "but no one would take this to anevidentiary thing (in the courtroom). We could extrapolate for hours."

"I think everyone has this (psychic) ability...and no one knows the extent of gifts God has given us."

MIDLAND POLICE Chief Wayne Gideon, who was quoted by the Dallas newspaper, deemed Martin as "a sincere man, well-versed in the law, and a good prosecutor."

"But psychic phenomena is not my forte," he said.

"Law enforcement people are always looking for facts, something we can prove."

Gideon said he was unaware of any case Martin had helped solve via psychometry. But Gideon said he would welcome any technique, including psychic powers, hunches, ESP and psychometry to help solve cases. As did Martin, he noted that the prosecutor's basic job is to reap justice in the courtroom — to prosecute — and not to solve cases.

"We in law enforcement tend to stick to the basic forensic science principles in criminal investigation," the chief said. Psychic is not my forte."

Meanwhile, Martin is incensed over The Dallas Morning News article, which he labeled as "libelous" and as a blatant attempt at character assassination.

"Naturally, I resent this libelous news article and consider it in the worst tradition of yellow journalism.

"I think it is particularly unprofessional of the reporter to bring my wife into this and misquote her out of context. I also think it is incredible that he would employ this left-handed attack on the people of West Texas in a sensationalized witch hunt."

SAN ANGELO — Services for Ruby Webb Sullivan of San Angelo, sister of Mrs. Charles M. Hicks of Midland, will be at 9:30 a.m. today in Johnson's Funeral Home chapel. Burial will be at 3 p.m. today in Goldthwaite Memorial Park.

Mrs. Sullivan died Wednesday in a Midland hospital.

She was born in Rule, Ark., and had lived in San Angelo for 45 years. She retired in 1967 from Gandy's Dairy where she had been employed 25 years. She was a member of the First Methodist Church in San Angelo.

Other survivors include a sister and several nieces and nephews.

Myrtle Killinger

LAMESA — Graveside services for Myrtle Killinger, 83, of Lamesa were Friday in Hancock Cemetery with the Rev. Jack Thompson, retired Methodist minister, officiating. Services were directed by Branon Funeral Home.

Mrs. Killinger died Thursday in a Lamesa hospital after an illness.

A native of Texas, she had lived in Lamesa for 17 years. Prior to her retirement, she was a secretary in the hotel-motel business. Her husband, George, died in 1973.

There are no survivors.

Gas price wars likely because of low demand

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gasoline price wars may be seen before the summer is over because of huge stockpiles and lower consumer demand, according to the Lundberg Letter, a weekly oil market report.

Americans have gotten used to using less gasoline, says publisher Dan Lundberg, and he doubts that anything less than a major decrease in price would get them to start buying more again.

"But still imported crude oil keeps pouring in," Lundberg said. "They're running out of space to put it."

That's why his latest letter, released Friday, said, "The probability of local price wars has increased, and even the national average retail gasoline price might come down before the summer is out."

"The simple solution would seem to be to slow down the heavy flow of imported oil," he said. "But there's growing evidence that it may not be that easy. Trade sources say some crude exporters look dimly at purchase cutbacks. Contracts are contracts and few buyers care to run the risk of upsetting their sources of supply.

"Many have observed the power of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to squeeze off the spigot. But the power to keep oil flowing in surfeiting amounts may be something else to consider."

Lundberg would not say gas wars and significant prices decreases are certain because dealers still must cope with increases in operating expenses and the price of crude oil. That means the only place left to cut prices is in the dealer's profit, he said.

He noted that the U.S. average retail gasoline price, to consumers, rose only 0.28 cents a gallon from May to June. But wholesale prices rose 0.59 cents. Dealers' profit margins deteriorated 0.36 cents, down to 11.39 cents per gallon in June.

The Lundberg Letter said U.S. primary stocks at refineries, in pipelines, and at large terminals stood at 265.5 million barrels on June 27. That was up from the 263.5 million barrels on May 23, the week before Memorial Day. "It is unheard of for gasoline stocks to grow after that day, which traditionally marks the beginning of the summer driving season," the report said.

The estimated apparent gasoline demand in June was the lowest for that month since 1971, Lundberg said. The amount of gasoline available for June was 8,406,910 barrels per day. But shipments from primary storage to dealers amounted to only 6,693,000 barrels per day, based on weekly statistical bulletins of the American Petroleum Institute covering the first 27 days of the month.

"Unless shipments the last three days of the month jumped dramatically, it means consumers took something like 20 per cent less than they were offered in June," the Letter said.

Africans nations demand return of U.S. base

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone (AP) — The Organization of African Unity ended its 17th summit Friday with a demand that the Indian Ocean island of Diego Garcia, on which the United States has a strategic naval base, be returned to Mauritius.

The 50-nation summit also sidestepped a possible breakup of the organization by referring a dispute over who should govern the former Spanish Sahara to a study committee. At least a dozen nations had threatened to quit the OAU over the issue.

The summit endorsed the claim of Prime Minister Seewosagur Ramgoolam of Mauritius to Diego Garcia, now under British control, with a resolution describing the naval base there as "a threat to Africa." It called on Britain to cede the island to Mauritius without conditions.

Ramgoolam's claim had never before been put before an OAU gathering, although it has frequently been raised elsewhere. The matter was not on the summit agenda.

The summit agreed it had authority to take up the issue because its charter declares that "the Organization shall include the continental African states, Madagascar and other islands surrounding Africa."

Diego Garcia, a vital link in the Western defensive lineup in the Indian and Pacific oceans where Soviet and American naval forces are building because of troubles Iran and Afghanistan, passed to Britain soon after British colonial rule in Mauritius ended in 1968.

When ceded to Britain, its inhabitants were evacuated and the United States established a key supply base for its forces in the Indian Ocean there under an agreement with Britain.

The island is in the Chagos Archipelago 1,500 miles north of Mauritius, and is closer to the Seychelles and Sri Lanka, off the southeastern tip of India.

There have been widespread reports the Soviet Union and its allies have urged Mauritius to revoke the transfer of Diego Garcia to Britain. The Soviets have repeatedly denounced the U.S. base as "an advance position of American aggressive imperialism."

In a recent interview, Ramgoolam said the West, especially the United States, should "do more" to help Mauritius solve an overwhelming trade deficit causing by rising expenditure for imports and declining revenues from sugar exports.

Soviets training Afghans to help fight guerrillas

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — In addition to sending commando-type special forces to Afghanistan, the Soviet Union is also training elite Afghan commando units to help the Soviets fight Moslem guerrillas, Afghan exiles in India reported Friday.

The Afghan commandos receive six months training by Soviet forces in Afghanistan or the Soviet Union and get food and other supplies greatly superior to those of the regular Afghan army, the exiles said.

Such amenities may help counter a drain on Afghan military units caused by desertions during the seven months the Soviets have helped the Marxist government in Kabul fight anti-communist Moslem rebels.

The report comes two weeks after the Kremlin announced it was pulling out a division of troops, normally 11,000 men.

Since then, well-informed sources in Kabul reported Moscow has been sending in fresh units of specially trained anti-guerrilla fighters.

Two jail escapees still at large

CENTER, Texas (AP) — Shelby County sheriff's deputies spent Friday searching for two prison escapees who apparently crawled through air conditioning vents and fled early Friday morning, authorities said.

The escapees were identified as Joe Wesley Lett, 17, and Benjamin Lynn Burke, 19, according to jail dispatcher Jack Adams.

Sewage-polluted Newark Bay closed to fishing, swimming

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Newark Bay is so polluted with sewage that the state Department of Environmental Protection has banned all fishing, crabbing and swimming in its waters.

Sewage discharged into the bay by the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission since last November is creating a foul odor in the vicinity, environmental officials said.

The ban imposed Thursday extends from the Bayonne Bridge to the Goethals Bridge in the south and between the two New Jersey Turnpike bridges over the Passaic and the Hackensack rivers in the north.

There is no commercial fishing in the bay but thousands of people use it for recreational purposes, said Richard Cahill, a spokesman for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

The sewerage commission has been releasing treated waste into Newark Bay while a 100-year-old pipe that usually carries the sewage into New York Harbor is being repaired, Cahill said.

The EPA had authorized the commission to reroute sewage from New York Harbor to the bay until June 1. The commission had agreed to finish repairs before hot summer weather began aggravating the stench of sewage in the bay, Cahill said.

But, he said, construction delays pushed the project's completion date up until six or eight weeks from now.

EPA deputy regional administrator Richard P. Dewling said authorities will probably pump oxygen into the effluent at the Newark treatment plant to try to eliminate the odor as soon as possible.

"That is critical to prevent a more significant problem in July and August," Dewling said. "If we don't take the action now, the bay will go completely anoxic — that is, completely dead."

Oxygen is critical to proper decomposition of sewage, Cahill said. Bacteria that act to break down waste products need oxygen to survive, he said. And oxygen also supports marine life in the bay.

Dewling said that even aerating the waste won't alleviate the contamination immediately. He said it would take a minimum of six to eight weeks until the pollution is cleared up, and that it could take four to six months before the bay returns to its natural state.

Hunt brothers expect redress from testifying ex-employee

DALLAS (AP) — Even though a grand jury has decided not to indict William Bledsoe, W. Herbert Hunt says he and his brother Nelson Bunker Hunt expect some redress from their former employee.

Bledsoe, a former Hunt Energy Corp. officer, was accused of misappropriating money from the Hunts. He testified against the brothers in the congressional investigation of their role in the collapse of the silver market.

The grand jury decision "does not mark the end of our differences with Mr. Bledsoe," Hunt said in a statement. "Hunt expects to receive some redress for Bledsoe's actions from the civil suit pending against Mr. Bledsoe."

Dick West, foreman of the county grand jury, said the Bledsoe case was not brought to jurors' attention until late in their three-month term of duty, which expired Thursday.

"We got it too late. We didn't have enough time," said West, a retired editorial page editor for The Dallas Morning News.

He said future grand juries are free to take up the matter.

"Some thought there was really a crime there. Others thought it was too complex to ever go to trial. There were 12 people who were just split on the thing."

West said the dispute involves commissions paid on an Oklahoma land transaction carried out by Bledsoe while working for the Hunts.

Austin water level low

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Faced with an extended dry spell and a broken water pump, Austin officials have asked about a third of the city's residents to observe a voluntary water conservation program that involves restrictions on lawn watering.

City Manager Dan Davidson aimed his plea Friday at residents who live in northern sections of the city. He called for a moratorium on lawn waterings until Sunday, followed by an "odd-even" plan based on house numbers.

"Current hot, dry weather has resulted in abnormal levels in our north Austin water storage facility," Davidson said.

A workman adds finishing touches to a bus made by Grumman Flxible Corp. at its Delaware, Ohio, plant. (Los Angeles Times-Photo)

One of two bus builders struggling for survival

By ALLAN PARACHINI
The Los Angeles Times

DELAWARE, Ohio — Seventy years ago, a man named Hugh Young started tinkering, trying to develop a motorcycle sidecar that would not rise dangerously off the ground on curves.

Young patented his sidecar, called Flxible, built a factory in Loudonville, Ohio, north of here, and started selling it.

BUSINESS boomed until the 1920s, but then Henry Ford cut his automobile prices below those of motorcycles, the two-wheel market collapsed and Hugh Young started looking around for something else to make.

Out of these corporate ashes evolved the Flxible Co., today one of only two U.S. firms left in the city transit bus business. The company, now owned by Grumman Allied Industries Inc., New York, shares the bus market with General Motors Corp.'s truck and coach division.

ALTHOUGH the two bus builders recently have added second shifts to their production schedules, a confused, often contradictory federal transit policy has made at least some restraint inevitable.

In 1977 and 1978, Flxible's 870 and GM's model RTS-2 became the first new transit buses from major U.S. manufacturers in nearly 20 years. But compared to the seven-digit figures common to car and truck production, the numbers in the bus-building business are piddling.

Last year, Flxible delivered 994 of the 870 models. GM put out 1,583 RTS-2s.

BOTH BUS makers have moved to increase both capacity and production as a simple truth has become clear: For the next few years, it will be the bus that accommodates the certain increase in use of mass transit in the face of rising gasoline nprices and increasingly scarce petroleum resources.

Robert G. Landon, the company's new president, says Flxible now has capacity to build 2,500 of the 870s a year. With slight increases in tooling and subcontracting of some component assembly, he says, the capacity figure could easily rise to 3,500.

On paper, it would seem that this is happening just in time.

LAST YEAR, the American Public Transit Association predicted that, to keep pace with transit demand and catch up with long-postponed fleet replacement programs, transit properties nationwide would need 4,200 new buses this year, with production eventually averaging 4,500 annually.

But there has been bad news from Washington. The Department of Transportation pays 80 percent of the cost of buying new buses for the nation's publicly owned transit agencies, and in essence the government determines how many buses will be manufactured.

LANDON and Edward R. Stokel, GM;s top bus executive, have gotten the word from Washington.

"With the inflation-fighting budget cuts, it appears as though mass transit has suffered," Landon told the Los Angeles Times. "We were told by DOT that (only) about 2,900 buses are funded for this year."

Grumman Corp., Bethpage, N.Y., parent company of Grumman Allied Industries, lumps Flxible together with the rest of its "special vehicles" operations, which include divisions making ambulances and fire equipment, unrelated to bus production.

THE SPECIAL vehicles division has posted losses since Grumman acquired Flxible, now called the Grumman Flxible Corp., in January, 1978. Lst year, special vehicles lost $20.35 million, virtually all of it from the bus-building operation, which grossed $127 million.

However, Landon and other Flxible officials say they believe the huge start-up and tooling costs for the 870, which caused the drain, will be covered by increased sales this year. Flxible sources cautiously predict that the 870 — and Grumman Flxible as a whole — will turn a profit in 1980.

FLXIBLE has delivered about 1,400 of the 870s since the model was introduced. The bus currently sells for about $145,000, up from just over $91,000 when it was introduced. GM, Stokel said, has delivered about 2,600 of the RTS-2s.

Tourists shun Uncle Sam's grave

By BEN WALKER

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Just down the road from the Uncle Sam Pipe and Supply shop, and just up the hill from the Uncle Sam Federal Credit Union, rests the grave of Sam Wilson.

Tourists don't beat a path to this eastern New York town to see the site, which is a national shrine. John Burridge, administrator of the sprawling Oakwood Cemetery, says most folks don't even know Wilson is buried there.

"To a lot of people, it's just one of 50,000 interments," he says.

But according to a legend — disputed by some historians but embraced by Congress — America's symbol of Uncle Sam began here with Sam Wilson.

Every Sept. 13 — Wilson's birthday — the local politicians trudge up the hill to the gravesite and read speeches, and high school bands play patriotic songs.

"Governor Hugh Carey's daughter was even here last year," Burridge says with a proud smile.

Who was Sam Wilson, who died here in 1854 at the ripe old age of 87?

He was a meatpacker, and a pretty popular one, according to the stories. He was also very enthusiastic about America's fight against the British during the War of 1812.

Sam Wilson spoke to civic groups urging an all-out effort, and soon the U.S. Army appointed him Inspector of Provisions for the upstate area, asking him to provide 300 barrels of prime beef.

The meat went out in white oak casks, clearly stamped with the initials "EA-US."

A few months later, Gov. Daniel Tompkins went to a Troy army post to inspect the food conditions. While there, the stories say, Tompkins asked soldiers what the initials on the barrels stood for.

He was told the "EA" stood for Elbert Anderson, a food contractor.

The "US" actually stood for "United States," but the local soldiers, who had known Sam Wilson for years, told the governor it stood for "Uncle Sam" Wilson, the man supplying their meat.

The allusion quickly spread to neighboring troops, who said that "Uncle Sam" was watching out for them. The nickname reached New York City in 1813, and was picked up by the Federalist press' political cartoons.

Within a decade, government employees in Washington were telling visitors they worked for "Uncle Sam." Shortly thereafter, a red, white and blue pinstriped figure appeared on the nation's stages.

Some historians contend "Uncle Sam" began with stamping of "US" on government property. But the 86th Congress of the United States adopted a resolution in 1959 making the grave of Sam Wilson of Troy — "progenitor of the symbol 'Uncle Sam'" — a national shrine.

Today's sheepskins only imitations of real thing

By RICK HAMPSON

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Graduating college seniors may have stepped to the stage this year with dreams of finally getting that sheepskin, but they probably returned to their seats with something more prosaic — a paper diploma.

Unless, that is, they were graduating from a bastion of tradition such as Western New England College Law School, where students voted 2-to-1 to give themselves the more expensive, but undeniably real, McCoy.

Elsewhere, the increasingly expensive sheepskin diploma has gone the way of goldfish swallowing and the raccoon coat. But Western New England's law students figured authenticity was worth $28 — twice the price of a parchment-paper degree.

"The diploma is something you'll have with you all the rest of your life," reasoned Student Bar Association President Paul Noto. "After the money law students have invested in their education, an additional $14 doesn't seem like that much."

Even so, the sheepskin has been disappearing from America's college commencement exercises in recent years. Some, such as the Boston University Law School, have given it up altogether; others, such as Emerson College, reserve sheepskin for honorary degrees.

Cost is one reason. Sheepskins sold by Samuel Ward Co. of Boston are imported from England, which is where the sheep are, and "the exchange rate is always changing," says Ward's Ruth Shapiro.

Sheepskin also is more difficult to print or write on than paper. "Not many people are willing to hand-letter on it anymore," says Ms. Shapiro. "No two pieces are the same, so it's hard to get a good flow going. And you can't erase on it." Engraving, she adds, is also more difficult.

Ward, which sells diplomas throughout the Northeast, refrigerates its sheepskins before shipment, because they tend to curl, shrivel up and harden if exposed to heat.

Why would anyone want such a fussy document?

"The advantages are more psychological than anything else," Ms. Shapiro admitted. "Most people have trouble telling the difference."

U.S. ship saves 186 Vietnamese

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Sealift Antarctic, a civilian ship leased by the U.S. Navy, plucked 186 Vietnamese refugees and Indonesians from disabled vessels adrift in the South China Sea and took them to Singapore, the Navy said Thursday.

A 7th Fleet spokesman at the Subic Naval Base northwest of Manila said the ship picked up 100 Vietnamese early Wednesday from a boat drifting about 350 miles east of Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon.

At the time the U.S. ship already had on board 77 Vietnamese and nine Indonesians rescued in separate operations the previous day, the spokesman said.

The Sealift Antarctic arrived in Singapore Wednesday night, he added.

What is Meadowpark?

Meadowpark, a project of Citizens Savings & Loan Association, is a Planned Unit Development of attractive patio home and townhome clusters. Meadowpark will consist of up to 200 attached and detached patio homes and attached townhomes on nearly 60 acres in north Midland. The development is inside the city of Midland and receives all municipal services, including police and fire protection, and water and sewer services.

Meadowpark Owners' Association

Common recreation facilities and park areas are managed by the Meadowpark Owners' Association. Purchasing a patio home or townhome on your own lot automatically makes you a member of the Meadowpark Owners' Association. The Association provides management and maintenance of the common park areas, playgrounds, tennis courts, and swimming pool with cabana, bathhouse and deck area. Homeowners are assessed a monthly maintenance fee.

A low density development.

Meadowpark residents will enjoy a great deal of room and privacy because of the very low density of the development. A low density of 2.5 residences per gross acre allows for privacy. (Many fine residential developments average more than four residences per gross acre.)

The cluster arrangement of Meadowpark restricts traffic flow on residential streets. On-street parking is prohibited, so that streets become areas for family activities.

Patio Homes and Townhomes

Meadowpark residences range in size from a two-bedroom townhome with 1,576 square feet, up to a four-bedroom patio home with 3,600 square feet livable. A total of 17 floor plans are available in one and two story designs, or a buyer may employ his own architect/builder.

As a Meadowpark homeowner, you own the lot on which your home is located, all of the improvements on the lot, and an interest in the common areas and facilities.

Meadowpark homes offer two or more enclosed patios, affording a relaxed, suburban lifestyle. General landscaping includes entrances off of FM 868 (proposed Loop 250) and North "A" Street, berms for noise and visual barriers, trees, ground cover and grass. Clusters of live oaks and red oaks will be used throughout, and poplar and flowering trees will be used at various locations.

Each Meadowpark residence is designed as an energy efficient home and will meet Texas Electric Service Company's strict "E-OK" rating.

What does it cost?

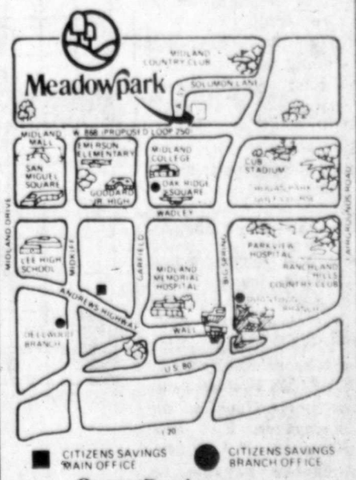

Patio homes and townhomes start in the low eighties and range up to $150,000. Of course, you may request additional features in planning with your builder which may affect the final sales price.

Citizens Savings & Loan Association serves as both developer and permanent lender, and you may wish to visit with one of our loan officers about interim financing and permanent mortgage for your Meadowpark home. We will be pleased to supply a list of reputable builders who will execute your selected Meadowpark plan.

Where is Meadowpark?

Meadowpark is located on 59.91 acres northeast of the intersection of North "A" Street and FM 868 (proposed Loop 250). Nearby are newly developing shopping centers and a regional mall, Midland College, schools and Midland Air Park. Country clubs are close by as well.

For more information about Meadowpark, call Citizens Savings & Loan Association, and ask for John Phipps, Vice President. Telephone: 697-2231

Good Taste

Issac (Ted Lange, left) hits upon a bright idea when he encounters discontented ex-football player Virgil Plummer (Rosey Grier) cooking doughnuts in the ship's galley on ABC's "The Love Boat," Saturday, July 5.

"The Love Boat" follows adventures on the high seas. Each week, ship passengers, who are usually well-known television personalities, meet each other in this rather intimate setting and get a taste of shipboard romance or a spin backwards to their most personal fantasy.

Pontiff raps secularism

300,000 pilgrims greet pope at shrine

APARECIDA DO NORTE, Brazil (AP) — Pope John Paul II on Friday consecrated what some claim is the largest church in Christendom, after warning hundreds of thousands of worshipers about "secularism...as violent as a cyclone."

An estimated 300,000 pilgrims, including several who walked hundreds of miles and one who trudged 1,000, greeted the pope in this small shrine town where, the pontiff said, "the Catholic heart of Brazil pulses."

The town is the site of the National Basilica, in which the pontiff picked up a 14-inch statue of Nossa Senhora Aparecida, or Our Revealed Lady, Brazil's Roman Catholic patroness, and anointed the altar.

Construction of the basilica began in 1947 but is not finished. The project is being funded by mostly poor individual donors who typically give the equivalent of a nickel or dime.

The basilica here is said to have more floor space than St. Peter's Cathedral in Vatican City, listed in the Guinness Book of World Records as the world's largest.

During an open air Mass that preceded the consecration, the pope told the pilgrims their mission was typical of "the hunger for God one sees in many men today."

He said such pilgrimages are a way of combating the "secularism ... that is at times as violent as a cyclone and that knocks down so many, as we are called upon to build the church."

The pope looked tired, spoke slowly and, after finishing the Mass, used his crosier, or staff, to support himself as walked into the giant basilica. He has followed an almost nonstop schedule of Masses, meetings and public appearances since his arrival Monday in Brazil, the country with the world's largest Roman Catholic population.

Almost everywhere he has gone, the pope has been met with great enthusiasm, but the reaction here Friday was much more subdued.

The crowd was much smaller than some had predicted — predictions ran as high as 1 million — and many worshipers left before the pope finished his Mass.

Some church officials blamed the smaller turnout on what they called excessive government warnings to think twice about going to see the pope in Aparecida to avoid utter chaos in the town whose normal population is 24,000. Another factor was bad weather. Chill and rain on Thursday probably discouraged many travelers.

Aparecida normally receives nearly 6 million religious pilgrims a year who come to pray before the clay statuette of Our Revealed Lady, which was meticulously restored after being smashed into nearly 1,000 pieces by a religious fanatic two years ago.

The pope's next scheduled stop on his 12-day tour was Porto Alegre, a bustling city of 1 million that is 750 miles south of here and near Brzazil's borders with Argentina and Uruguay.

The pope was to hold yet another outdoor Mass there, even though it is one of the coldest spots in the country at this time of year, and then meet with local Protestant leaders.

Pope supports rights for workers but denies political role for church

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — While disavowing a political role for the church, Pope John Paul II has urged aid to the poor and supported workers' rights during the first five days of his pastoral journey throughout Brazil.

In speech after speech, the pontiff has mentioned class inequality in this largest of Roman Catholic nations, where the church has clashed with the military-backed government. Yet he also declared: "A priest is not a social worker" and "Class struggle is not the road that leads to social order."

According to the 60-year-old pontiff, political involvement is outside the realm of a religious leader, but the support of human values is basic to the church's spiritual mission.

In the industrial city of Belo Belo, the pope told young people he understood their "desire to transform radically the structures that strike you as injust in society. You say with reason that it is impossible to be happy, seeing a multitude of your brothers lacking the minimum opportunities for human existence."

In Sao Paulo, Brazil's largest city, he told 200,000 workers packed into a soccer stadium: "The persistence of injustice ... threatens the existence of society from the inside out" especially when there exists a "deep abyss between a great minority of rich on one side and a majority that live in need and misery on the other side."

He also advised Brazil's military-backed President Joao Figueiredo: "The church does not cease to acknowledge ... the promotion of values without which no society worthy of its name can prosper ... (values) which aim for a more just society, more aligned with the dignity of every human being."

Booklet of children's drawings tells story of Cambodian tragedy

By DENIS D. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — "When I grow up I want to become a farmer. I also want to draw. Not guns and tanks but trees ... anything — but not guns and tanks."

So wrote 12-year-old Thik, a Cambodian refugee boy. He drew a landscape more peaceful than any he had probably ever seen: a bullock cart and driver, a woman balancing a basket on her head, birds skimming over a blue mountain range.

Thik was one of the hundreds of Cambodian children whose stark experience of cruelty, hunger and death were expressed in a drawing competition held at two huge camps on the Thai border. There they and their families have taken refuge from the latest phase of a war that has torn their own country for as long as many of them can remember.

"We dug canals. We carried baskets loaded with mud and stones. We chopped wood. No, we did not play or sing. That was not allowed."

That was written by Yos Vun, 13 years old. His drawing depicted three rifle-pointing soldiers in black uniforms heading a line of people into the fields under a blazing red sun, and a man tied to a tree dripping beads of blood.

The experience of a decade of fighting in Cambodia is told in "Kampuchean Chronicles," a booklet recently published by the National Federation of UNESCO Associations in Japan.

To relieve the monotony of refugee camp life, and perhaps to help release pent up emotions, the group in April this year announced a children's drawing competition in Khao I Dang and Sa Kaew camps. The U.N. Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization itself and the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees helped run the contest, which set no themes or guidelines.

More than 500 children between the ages of five and 15 submitted entries. Many of them never had used color crayons. A jury later selected 29 winners and the artists were interviewed for the booklet.

Prum Chan, 12, drew the Lord Buddha in meditation beside a river filled with lotuses and wrote: "What will make me happy? I don't know. I have no hope of finding happiness."

Buddhism was the faith of most Cambodians, but was suppressed by the former Pol Pot communist regime and has not been fully revived by the current regime, which was installed in Phnom Penh by invading Vietnamese who drove Pol Pot out in January 1979.

The trauma of life under Pol Pot is the focus of the young artists. The drawings show soldiers whipping people harnessed to plows in the rice fields; lines of stooped, half-naked laborers; executions and, carefully drawn, the ever-present AK-47 assault rifles and B-41 rocket grenades.

Although refugee children know of Pol Pot, whose regime the United Nations still recognizes, his name is never directly mentioned in the booklet.

One drawing — in dark brown colors — shows a boy with a distended belly squatting next to an empty bowl. It is a typical scene of malnutrition from the mass exodus of Cambodians into Thailand last year.

A few of the drawings are fantasies of a happy future or a distant past the children would know only through the tales of their parents.

"In my family we sometimes speak about the past. But not too often because all of us want to forget the past. We don't think about the future either because we don't know what the future will be," wrote a 12-year-old girl, Sok Phy.

Perhaps the most moving entry appears on the last of the booklet's 64 pages. Ten-year-old Phal Lon asked only: "What is a doll?" And with her crayons she drew a young child, tears streaming down both cheeks, looking at an earth covered with human corpses and fish skeletons picked clean of all flesh.

Cambodians said kidnapped by Viets

NONG SAMET, Thailand (AP) — A Cambodian guerrilla leader told reporters at a camp near this Thai border village Friday that Vietnamese troops kidnapped more than 6,000 Cambodians during fighting along the Thai-Cambodian border last week.

The captured Cambodians are being held across from the Thai border village of Non Mark Moon, guerrilla In Sakhan said. He did not say whether they were guerrillas or civilian refugees.

Vietnamese troops, stationed in Cambodia since they ousted former Cambodian Prime Minister Pol Pot in January 1979,

In Sakhan said he had 1,000 armed, anti-communist "Free Khmer" guerrillas under his control. The Free Khmer fought Pol Pot before his downfall and now are also fighting the Vietnamese-backed Cambodian regime.

Rotting garbage greets the GOP

DETROIT (AP) — Rotting heaps of garbage greeted early arrivals for the Republican convention Friday as a strike by 9,000 city workers dragged through a fourth day. Officials denounced sabotage at the sewage treatment plant but denied the city faced a health emergency.

The walkout by members of the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees also halted bus service and disrupted Fourth of July recreation activities.

Holiday picnickers were asked to bring their own garbage bags, soap and toilet paper to untended city parks, and some enterprising teens were asking $5 for their trash removal services. Volunteers from the city's Project PRIDE program bagged trash for free at a southwest city park, but there was no one to collect the bags.

Twenty city pools, six golf courses, and four museums were closed. The Detroit Zoo remained open, offering $1 off $3 adult admission to make up for suspended chimp shows and train rides.

Charles Beckham, director of the city's water and sewage departments, denied reports that the city faced a limited health emergency because of walkouts at five water plants and one central sewage facility.

But deputy Health Department Director George Gaines conceded that garbage rotting in 80-degree temperatures was "an aesthetic nuisance." The city generates five million pounds of rubbish daily.

"There is no health emergency — we are maintaining the purity of Detroit's water by using management and supervisory personnel on 12-hour shifts," Beckham said Friday.

Construction to bring the sewage plant into compliance with a federal anti-pollution court order was continuing despite pickets at the plant, he said.

Mayor Coleman Young denounced incidents of sabotage at the plant, including slashed tires and electric cables, but said federal marshals brought "crazy employees" under control Thursday.

Young said he would seek an injunction ordering an unspecified number of senior sewage plant chemists back to jobs they left Thursday, but Beckham said he did not think a court order was necessary "at this time."

Meanwhile, bargainers for the nation's sixth-largest city planned to begin marathon negotiations Friday night. "When we come back tonight we're going to go until we reach an agreement," said Mark Ulicny, the city's chief negotiator.

Young told Detroit's 1.3 million residents in a televised address Thursday night to "let the strikers know that the people of Detroit can take care of themselves," by picking up their own garbage and organizing car pool alternatives to the bus shutdown.

"We cannot and will not promise money we do not have," Young said. He claimed each 1 percent raise could cost 150 city jobs as officials grapple with a $70 million deficit in the $1.49 billion fiscal 1980 budget.

Officials acknowledged that a prolonged strike would have a negative impact on the anticipated 20,000 people attending the July 14-17 GOP convention. Some conventioneers began arriving in Detroit Friday for early platform hearings.

The AFSCME walkout began at 11:59 p.m. Monday. On Tuesday it brought layoffs for 1,300 bus drivers represented by the Amalgamated Transit Union. Drivers could not work while bus mechanics struck.

Michigan police stage sick-out

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Lansing police staged a sick-out Friday, leaving supervisory personnel to patrol Michigan's capital during a day of holiday festivities.

Police Chief Richard Gleason said 40 officers, irate over the city's refusal to bargain on a new contract, called in sick on the day shift. A normal day shift in the city of 135,000 would include 20 officers, but Gleason said more had been scheduled because of Fourth of July activities.

By noon, some of the 40 afternoon shift officers also had begun calling in sick. Thirty supervisors staffed the department, said Gleason.

"We will police the city and keep it safe," he vowed.

On Tuesday, the 160-member Lansing Chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police unanimously rejected the city's offer of a 7.2 percent wage increase over two years and asked for an immediate meeting with the city to discuss their contract. Figures on current wages were unavailable.

No negotiations are scheduled until Tuesday. The officers' contract expired June 30.

Gleason said neighboring police agencies would assist supervisors in patrolling Lansing and controlling crowds during a Fourth of July parade and fireworks display. There were no incidents during the pre-noon parade, he said.

Sheriff's department strikes in California

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — More than 500 sheriff's department employees walked off the job Friday to protest a contract offer by the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors.

"That leaves us staffed with command personnel and some probationary employees who could not strike," said Capt. Philip Schuyler, on duty at sheriff's headquarters after the walkout.

Schuyler said he expected the job action to run through Tuesday.

The striking employees are among the approximately 625 members of the Sheriff's Employees Benefit Association. They include deputies, marshals and district attorney investigators.

They are asking for a 17 percent annual wage increase. The county board is offering 8.5 percent. Starting salary for a sheriff's deputy has been $1,410 a month, with an increase to $1,715 after five years.

The association issued a press release stating that the activities of all sheriff substations would be "drastically curtailed" by the walkout and that the staff would respond to emergency calls only. They asked citizens to hold non-emergency calls until the job action ended.

Schuyler said the last negotiating session between the association and the board of supervisors was July 1.

Record number of strikes by teachers, NEA says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teachers cite "frustration and inflation" as the reasons behind the record number of strikes by elementary, secondary and college teachers during the 1979-80 school year.

A report released Friday by the National Education Association, holding its annual convention, said there were 242 walkouts in 23 states last year. The previous record of 203 strikes was set during 1975-76.

According to the report, strike totals in recent years have generally numbered between 150 and 175.

In what it called an "unofficial survey" of NEA state affiliates, the American Federation of Teachers and the American Association of University Professors, the report said money was a major strike issue in these times of inflation.

However, the report emphasized that a refusal by school officials to bargain in good faith — or at all — on issues that included salary, class size, discipline, workload, grievance arbitration and evaluation procedures, was an equally important issue for teachers.

Kids due lead test

ATLANTA (AP) — As many as 500,000 preschool-age children will be tested for lead poisoning in the United States this year as part of a stepped-up screening program, health officials said Friday.

The national Center for Disease Control said 116,668 children were tested in 63 local programs during the first quarter of fiscal 1980, and 7,950 were identified as having lead toxicity.

Those figures for October, November and December "were fairly typical," said John Gallagher of the CDC's environmental health services. "That's roughly average for a quarter. It's a fairly stable situation."

Lead poisoning is "usually related to old leaded paint" found in homes in "older, deteriorated sections of cities," Gallagher said. The screening programs involve preschool-age children who may ingest particles of paint.

Woman ordered confined

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — A 34-year-old woman has been given permission to continue working at her job, but otherwise remains under court order to remain in a motel room with her parents and avoid the religious group with which she had been living.

Sherwin and Marilyn Desens of Larkspur, Colo., have gone to court for custody of their daughter, Nancy Desens Jacob, charging that the "Brotherhood" is a cult that brainwashed their daughter into mental slavery.

Goolagong returns to Wimby winner's circle

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — It was the most popular Wimbledon win in years.

Evonne Goolagong , the 1971 champion and darling of the Center Court crowd, defeated Chris Evert Lloyd 6-1, 7-6 Friday to win the women's singles after a gap of nine years.

The Australian, who broke down in tears after her victory, said: "I was getting fed up with being a runner-up. It made me all the more determineed."

In today's men's final, four-time defending champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden meets second-seed John McEnroe, who eliminated No.3 Jimmy Connors 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 in the semifinals on Friday.

Cheered all the way by the crowd that has adopted her as their own, Goolagong dominated the first set against two-time champion Lloyd, then struggled through the second.

When she first won the title, Evonne was a wide-eyed girl from the outback. Nine years later, the mother of 3-year-old daughter Kelly found her second victory much more rewarding.

"I wasn't nearly as emotional in 1971," she said. "Then it felt like I was just exploring everything. I didn't realize how important Wimbledon was.

"Now I have matured a lot. It felt a lot different. I think this has to be one of the most exciting moments of my life."

Playing her characteristic flowing strokes from the baseline, Evonne outplayed the American at her own game. Goolagong opened the match by breaking Lloyd's serve at love. She broke the third-seeded Lloyd all four times the American served in the first set.

Lloyd served for the second set at 6-5 but Goolagong broke and then captured the tiebreaker 7-4 for the title.

After the match, Evonne recalled how close she came to quitting tennis for good.

"When Kelly was born, I thought seriously about retirement," she said. "But I wanted to see if it was possible to mix being a mother with tennis and the two combined very well.

"I enjoy playing, Kelly is a good traveler and everything works out well. I don't see why I should stop."

Evonne said her experience helped pull her through. "I don't think I could have faced a third set," she said. "But I wanted it badly this time."

Lloyd, unbeaten since returning to the tour in April with victories in the Italian and French Opens, said: "Evonne played really well, but I found it hard to lift myself after yesterday's semifinal against Martina (Navratilova)."

McEnroe qualified for his first final here. In the early parts of his match with Connors, the U.S. Open champion was bothered by several line calls. But the 21-year old New Yorker settled down to play fine tennis in the third and fourth sets.

McEnroe defended his controversial behavior.

"The whole incident was ridiculous," he said. "I don't see why I should be 'Mr. Nasty.' I didn't do anything nasty."

McEnroe had less success in the men's doubles. Playing with partner Peter Fleming, he was beaten 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 by Australian champions Peter McNamara and Paul McNamee, seeded No.7.

Fleming and McEnroe were the defending champions and top seeds, but McEnroe's mind was clearly on his singles final.

McNamara and McNamee had earlier defeated Brian Gottfried and Raul Ramirez in the quarterfinals and played Americans Bob Lutz and Stan Smith, seeded fourth, in the final.

In mixed doubles, the Australian team of Mark Edmondson and Dianne Fromholtz, seeded sixth, took on Tracy and John Austin in the final.

Billie Jean King still was alive for another Wimbledon title, which would give her 21 overall. She and Martina Navratilova advanced Friday to the doubles semifinals.

Astros succumb to Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Charlie Leibrandt pitched a four-hitter and knocked in two runs with a single to overshadow Nolan Ryan's 3,000th career strikeout Friday night in the Reds' 8-1 victory over the Houston Astros.

Ryan, 5-6, struck out six in 41-3 innings, including Cesar Geronimo in the second for his 3,000th career strikeout. Only Walter Johnson, Gaylord Perry and Bob Gibson rank ahead of him on the all-time list.

But occasional bouts of wildness hurt the hard-throwing right-hander. Leibrandt dribbled a single through the middle in the second inning to score Ray Knight and Junior Kennedy, who both walked and moved up on a grounder. Dan Driessen homered in the third for a 3-0 lead.

Ryan retired just one batter in the fifth. He walked Ken Griffey and Driessen to open the inning and, after Geronimo delivered a run-scoring single, Kennedy added a two-run double.

Leibrandt, 8-4, gave up a leadoff single to Rafael Landestoy in the first inning and a two-out triple to Enos Cabell in the second. He retired the next 14 batters until Cesar Cedeno slammed his sixth homer of the year with one out in the seventh.

Driessen's RBI single and Knight's sacrifice fly in the sixth off Randy Niemann accounted for Cincinnati's final runs.

Surging Tornado rolls right along

DALLAS (AP) — Njego Pesa, who had not scored all season until this week, made his second game-winning goal in three days Friday to give the Dallas Tornado a 1-0 win over the Rochester Lancers at Texas Stadium.

Right wing Zequinha set up the goal with a corner kick to Omar Gomez, who returned the pass. Zequinha floated across into the goal mouth, and Pesa headed it just inside the left post from eight yards.

Rochester center forward Branko Segota blasted a tricky 25-yard shot with four minutes to play, and Dallas goalkeeper Alex Stepney appeared to be fooled by the shot, but blocked it with his left foot.

Simpson's 69 paces Western Open

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Scott Simpson fired shot 3-under-par 69 for a 5-under-par 139 total Friday and held a one-stroke over Hale Irwin and Andy Bean at the midway point in the Western Open.

Bean got on the scent with a 69 and Irwin added a 71 to share the 140 notch during the sultry afternoon on the par 36-36-72 Butler National course, which covers 7,097 yards,

Tom Kite had a 72, Lanny Wadkins carded 70, and Rex Caldwell, with only one bogey and shooting a 71, stayed in hot pursuit of the $54,000 jackpot at 141.

With poor greens making the competition a no-putting contest, the pros are demonstrating that the key to effective scoring is hitting the greens in regulation.

Simpson, 24, a two-time NCAA champ from Southern California whose best finish in the tour this year was a tie for fifth in the Los Angeles Open, hit 16 greens. So did Bean, Kite and Wadkins, while Irwin hit 14.

Scoring had its highs and lows. Lon Nielsen, who opened with a 73, soared to a 90. Jim Barber bagged a 73 by holing a 175-yard four-iron for eagle two on the tough 18th, and got into the 150 group.

Larry Ziegler, who shared the first round lead with Kite and Irwin at 69, slid to a 78.

And even Tom Watson, seeking his sixth tourney win of the year and 16th in his last three seasons, had his ups and downs. After 12 holes, Watson was 5-under-par and held the early lead. Then he started wandering into the rough and bunkers, bogeying 14, 15 16, and getting a double bogey on 18 when he wasted a shot in the sand.

Watson wound up with 34-39-73 to be at even par 144, along with Ben Crenshaw, defending champion Larry Nelson and Calvin Peete. Peete, winner of the 1979 Milwaukee Open, carded a 68, the lowest round of the tournament thus far.

Hal Sutton, the only amateur, still kept up with fast company with a 73 for 145. Others in that group included Curtis Strain, Tom Weiskopf and George Burns.

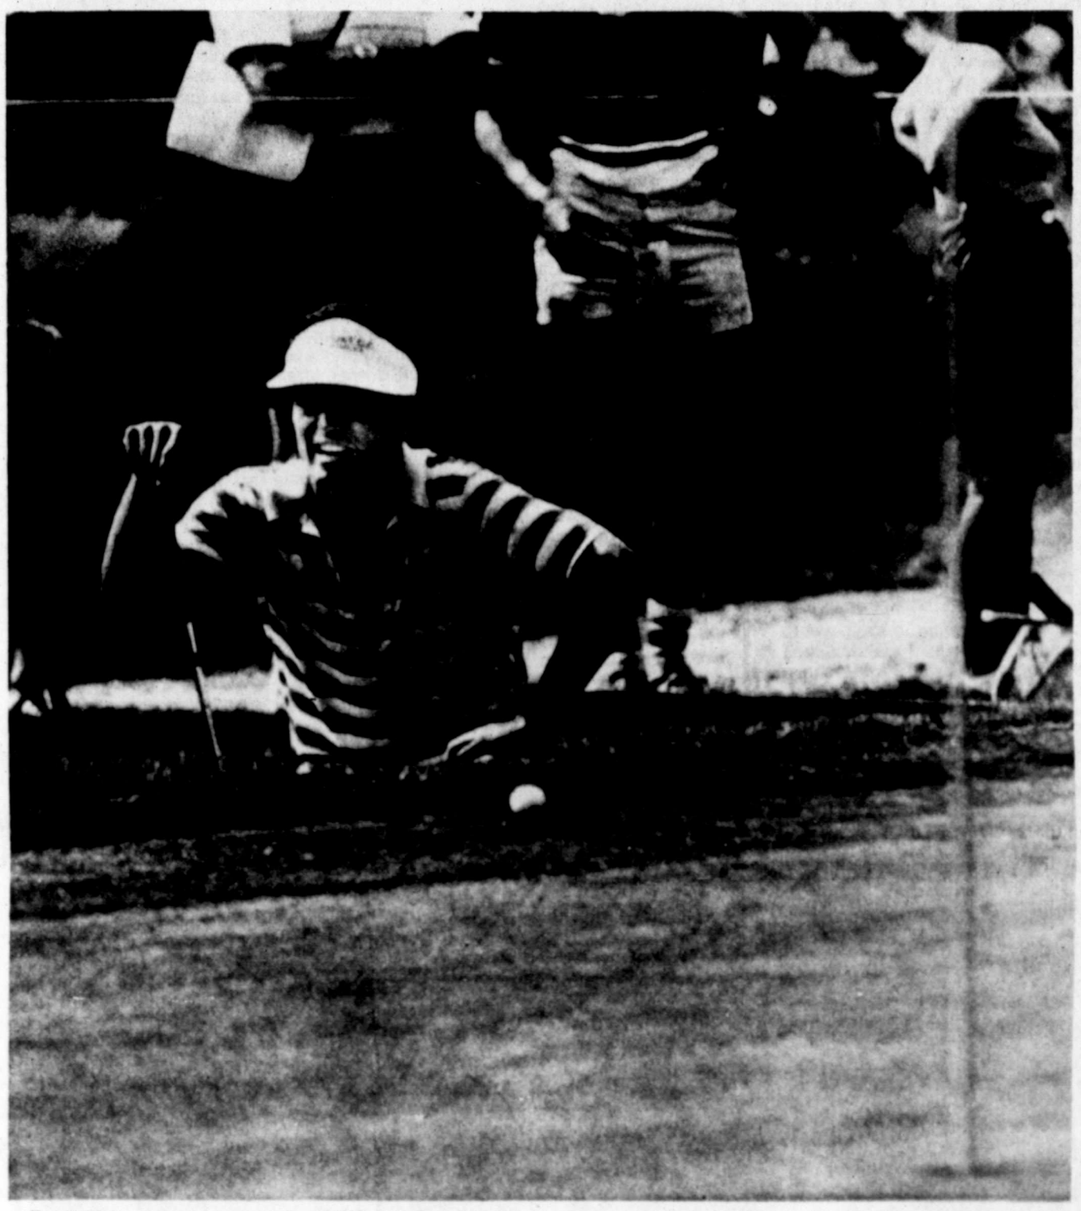

Grouped at 142 were Joe Inman, Jim Simons and 22-year-old John Cook. Cook, the 1979 NCAA titleist from Ohio State and 1978 U.S. Amateur champion, fired a 71.

Irwin summed up the feeling of most of the pros. "You have to keep the ball on the green. You want to stay away from having to chip or play from the sand. So you must try to hit as many greens in regulation as you can."

Queueing up at 143 were Hubert Green, David Graham and Don Pooley.

John Adams of Midland was at 148 after a round of 71 Friday.

The cut came at 150, 6-over-par, leaving a field of about 80 players for the final 36 holes.

Scott Simpson of San Diego, Calif., studies his lie on the 14th green from a bunker at Butler National Golf Club in Oak Brook, Ill., during Friday's play in the Western Open. He finished with a round of 69 to grab the lead after two rounds of the event. (AP Laserphoto)

Rangers win, 4-3

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Bump Wills' sacrifice fly scored Mickey Rivers with the winning run in the 12th inning and Danny Darwin worked 41-3 innings of one-hit relief as the Texas Rangers topped the Minnesota Twins 4-3 Friday night.

Rivers singled with one out in the 12th and advanced to third on a wild pickoff throw by Twins reliever John Verhoeven, 0-2. Wills then flied out to center to drive in Rivers.

Darwin, 5-1, struck out seven and walked none.

Texas' Al Oliver sent the game into extra innings with a run-scoring double in the eighth inning. Oliver's double into the right field corner drove in Wills, who had drawn a walk off Twins starter Darrell Jackson.

Minnesota had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Ken Landreaux's line-drive double to right-center field, scoring Hosken Powell, who beat out an infield single and advanced to second on Rick Sofield's sacrifice.

The Twins made it 3-0 in the second on John Castino's two-run homer, his sixth of the year, off Texas starter Doc Medich.

Buddy Bell ripped a pair of solo homers, his 10th and 11th of the season, off Jackson in the fourth and sixth innings for Texas' first two runs. It was the fourth time this season Bell has homered twice in the same game.

Ailing Schmidt doubtful All-Star

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ailing Mike Schmidt of the Philadelphia Phillies will probably sit out next week's All-Star game because of a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg.

Schmidt, the NL's home run leader with 21, suffered the injury June 28 jn a doubleheader against the New York Mets.

He played briefly in two games this week against the Montreal Expos but was on the bench for three games Thursday and Friday against the St. Louis Cardinals.

With Schmidt not likely to play, it is expected that Ray Knight of the Cincinnati Reds will be named as his NL replacement. Ken Reitz of St. Louis is the other NL third baseman.

"Mike wants very much to be a part of it. He doesn't want to miss it," Green said of Tuesday's game. "But, at the same time, if he's not able there's not much you can do."

M-Cubs grab third straight as offense continues purring

By TED BATTLES
Sports Editor

Midland's Cubs continued to make noises like a second half pennant contender in beating San Antonio, 9-7, their second straight over the Dodgers at Cubs Stadium Friday night, but the Cubs, who have now won three straight, are doing it with their bats.

In the pitching department, the Cubs are pretty much like the 1948 Boston Braves who won with "Bickford, Spahn, Sain and a day of rain." The Cubs' paraphrased version is "Perlman, Clark, Semall and, brother, that's all."

The Cubs have some folks around who could make a contribution, but will have to renounced their ambitions to become astronauts, well, at least, their earned-run-averages are headed for outer space.

Randy Clark hung around long enough to get the win Friday, but needed late inning relief help from Herman Segelke and Bob Blyth, who got his fourth save.

The victory enabled the Cubs to move into a tie for first place with Amarillo, a 6-0 loser to El Paso, both with 7-5 records.

THE CLUBS meet in the third of the five-game series in a 7:30 p.m. 25-Cent Hot Dog night game tonight.

Chico Alfaro, Gary Krug and Dave Stockstill provided the offensive fireworks for the Cubs' July 4 win with Alfaro, who went 4-for-4 Thursday, going 3-for-3, so going into tonight's game the Texas League's All-Star shortstop is working on a 7-for-7 streak.

Bill Swoope's two-run double and Larry Fobbs' run-scoring single gave San Antonio an early 3-0 lead, but the Cubs got one back in the third when J.W. Mitchell doubled and Jared Martin singled him home with his second of three hits.

The Cubs tied it in the fourth when Alfaro and Tom Grant doubled and Krug singled. Midland erupted for five in the fifth and chased starter Brad Tharp, 5-4, in the process. It all started with two out when Scott Fletcher singled, Alfaro singled and Tom Grant walked to load the bases.

Krug then drilled a two-run single up the middle and when Stockstill tagged a double to left-center for two more, Tharp retired in favor of Rusty McDonald, who immediately uncorked a wild pitch and then balked Stockstill home.

IT TURNED out to be a big run when the Dodgers rallied for four to chase Clark in the sixth. Mike Marshall doubled, Dale Holman tripled and Mike Zouras homered. When Mark Bradley singled, Segelke came in and got the side out, although Fobbs managed to single in the final run to cut Midland's lead to 8-7.

When Segelke loaded the bases in the seventh, Blyth, who had been shelled the night before, came in to get Dave Richards on strikes for the final out and then snuffed out the Dodgers in the final two frames.

Blyth looked more comfortable pitching with an 8-7 lead than he did with a 13-4 advantage, after all, reliefers are pysched to work in sweat shops and not in air-conditioned suites.

BRUIN BREWIN'S — The Dodgers outhit the Cubs 16-14, but once again came up empty, this time despite a one-hit relief job by McDonald over the final three innings...Martin went to the wall to shag Holman's drive in the seventh, a play that averted a big inning by the Dodgers....Henry Mack, 2-8, but strong in his last outing, is scheduled to go tonight for the Cubs...

Judge orders warrant for arrest of Tigers' Al Cowens

CHICAGO (AP) — A Circuit Court judge has ordered the arrest of Detroit Tigers outfielder Al Cowens on assault and battery charges.

Judge Clarence Bryant signed a warrant Thursday after criminal charges were filed by White Sox relief pitcher Ed Farmer.

Cowens, whose jaw was broken in 1978 by a pitch thrown by Farmer, hit a grounder to shortstop during a game in Chicago June 20. But instead of running toward first base, he ran to the pitcher's mound and jumped on Farmer's back.

Champion Holmes predicts knockout of Scott LeDoux

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes predicts he'll "sink" challenger Scott LeDoux before the eighth round of their 15-round title bout at Met Center in Bloomington, Minn. Monday night.

Referring to a training program that's been moving at his own leisurely pace, Holmes said, "I've been tightening up the ship. It'll be ready to sail Monday night."

Meanwhile, LeDoux feels as if he's battling two fighters — Holmes and Muhammad Ali.

Ali was scheduled to appear in the Twin Cities Thursday to promote the fight, but at last report was not expected to arrive until Saturday.

"Holmes can't draw 50 people to a fight," said LeDoux, "so they have to bring in Ali. And what does his presence do to the judges? They have it in their minds that Larry is supposed to fight Ali, so how can Scott LeDoux go in there and come out with a victory?"

Ali also is on Holmes' mind, but hardly for the same reasons.

"After LeDoux and Ali, I'd like to fight a fifth time before the year ends," said Holmes, who has knocked out Lorenzo Zanon and Leroy Jones so far this year.

"Why five fights? This is my time to be there (where the money is). I have no choice. I've spent all but about 2½ months in training. It's tough, but it is just as tough to keep in condition if you fight only once or twice a year.

Long shot horse nabs feature race

RUIDOSO DOWNS (AP) — Saurkraut, a 10-1 outsider, found racing room on the rail and went on to win Friday's featured Governor's Handicap at Ruidoso Downs horse track.

Ridden by Joe Martinez, Saurkraut caught the leader, Double B Express when the latter ran a little wide in the final turn of the six and one-half furlong race.

Saurkraut paid $23.20, $7.60 and $4.20. Double B Express returned $5.20 and $4.00, while Happy Irishman was third and paid $4.80.

Here are the results of all races at Ruidoso Downs Friday.

First — 6½ furlongs: Ghan Dancer 7.20, 3.80, 2.80; Jean's Late Show 7.00, 3.80; Supersoy 2.60. T — 1:25.

Second — 350 yards; Big Hurry Bars 12.60, 5.80, 4.80; Moon Runin Sam 5.80, 4.00; Deck Chaser 3.80. T — 18.59. Q — 36.40. Daily Double — 58.60.

McRae's key hit gives Royals win

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Pinch-hitter Hal McRae's two-run triple with two out in the eighth inning Friday night lifted the Kansas City Royals to a 5-3 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

With the score tied 3-3, Darrell Porter and Amos Otis singled to lead off the eighth. Porter was thrown out at third on Clint Hurdle's attempted sacrifice and Dave Chalk filed out, but McRae, batting for Jerry Terrell, slammed a pitch from reliever Dave Roberts to the center field wall.

Roberts, 1-3, took the loss, while reliever Dan Quisenberry, 6-4, got the victory.

Consecutive doubles by Juan Beniquez and Bruce Bochte off Kansas City starter Dennis Leonard gave the Mariners their first run in the fourth inning. The Royals went ahead 2-1 in the sixth on Willie Wilson's RBI triple and a run-scoring single by U.L. Washington.

Seattle got two runs in the seventh on a leadoff double by Joe Simpson, a run-scoring single by Jim Anderson, a sacrifice by Bob Stinson and an RBI-

Cubs sweep Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Starting pitcher Doug Capilla drove in the winning run and yielded just two hits over seven innings, leading the Chicago Cubs to a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday and a doubleheader sweep.

In the first game, Cliff Johnson hit a two-run homer and Bruce Sutter posted his league-leading 19th save in relief of Lynn McGlothen as the Cubs won 4-2.

The Pirates took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on a sacrifice fly by Mike Easler.

Chicago tied it in the fourth when Lenny Randle doubled off loser Don Robinson, 2-4, took third when Robinson tried to pick him off second and threw the ball into center field and scored on a wild pitch. In the fifth Scot Thompson drew a leadoff walk, moved to second on Mick Kelleher's groundout and scored on a single to left by Capilla, his first hit of the season.

In the opener, Johnson gave Chicago a 2-0 lead with his two-run homer off loser Eddie Solomon, 4-3.

The Cubs scored two more runs in the fifth with the aid of three Pirate errors, two on wild throws by catcher Ed Ott and shortstop Tim Foli.

Hendrick's homer lifts Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — George Hendrick lined a home run over the left field wall with one out in the 10th inning Friday to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 1-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Bob Sykes, 3-6, scattered eight hits for his first shutout in the National League. Sykes struck out three and walked one.

Hendrick's homer, his 17th of the season, came off Kevin Saucier, 3-3. It was only the third hit of the game for the Cardinals.

Record crowd sees Atlanta triumph

ATLANTA (AP) — Larry McWilliams hurled a three-hitter for his first shutout of the season and benefited from five home runs as Atlanta blanked the San Diego Padres 9-0 before 46,071, the Braves' largest crowd of the season.

McWilliams, 5-5, was never in trouble, never allowing more than one hit in an inning. Only one San Diego runner got past first as the Braves posted their fifth victory in the last six games. It was the second complete game of the season for McWilliams, who struck out four and walked one.

Gary Matthews and Dale Murphy blasted two home runs apiece and Bob Horner added another.

High-flying New York derails Expos

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Taveras drove in two runs with a single and pinch hitter Jose Cardenal's tie-breaking sacrifice fly in the sixth inning helped the New York Mets to a 9-5 victory over the slumping Montreal Expos in the first game of Friday's twi-night doubleheader.

Taveras' two-run single in the second inning drove in the tying and lead runs as the Mets, who trailed 3-0 before they ever came to bat, took a 4-3 lead. New York made it 5-3 in the third when Mike Jorgensen scored from third on Steve Henderson's double play grounder.

Montreal tied it in the fourth with two runs on RBI singles by Gary Carter and Andre Dawson.

Henderson led off the Mets' sixth with an infield hit and went to second when Montreal first baseman Warren Cromartie missed pitcher David Palmer's pickoff throw, one of five Montreal errors, two by Cromartie.

Henderson went to third on a single by Doug Flynn and came home on Cardenal's fly for the run that made a winner of reliever Ed Glynn, 3-1.

New York added a pair of runs in the seventh on three successive singles, including Henderson's RBI hit and an error for obstruction charged to Montreal third baseman Larry Parrish which allowed the second run to score. Lee Mazzilli hit his sixth homer — including one in each of his last four games — and fifth in the last eight games in the eighth the final New York run.

Yanks ambush Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bobby Murcer's grand slam highlighted a seven-run fourth inning and Ron Guidry allowed only three hits over seven innings as the New York Yankees routed the Cleveland Indians 11-5 Friday for their sixth victory in the last seven starts.

Guidry, 9-4, retired the first 13 Indian batters before Toby Harrah singled to center with one out in the fifth. Harrah moved to third when a grounder by Bo Diaz skipped through third baseman Graig Nettles and scored on Rick Manning's sacrifice fly.

Guidry held Cleveland to two more singles before giving way to Ron Davis to start the eighth.

The Yankees sent 12 batters to the plate in the fourth inning, routing Cleveland starter Len Barker, 7-7.

Bobby Brown singled home Reggie Jackson with the game's first run, then Bucky Dent singled with the bases loaded for two more runs. Barker reloaded the bases on a walk to Brian Doyle, bringing on reliever Bob Owchinko, who was greeted by Murcer's blast into the right field seats.

The Yankees added four more runs in the eighth on an RBI single by Nettles and Jackson's two-run double and an RBI single by Jim Spencer.

Cleveland got its other runs off Davis in the ninth.

Cox steals victory from White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Jeff Cox stole home one pitch after Mike Heath scored on a balk by rookie Britt Burns with two out in the fifth inning Friday as the Oakland A's defeated the Chicago White Sox 2-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Brian Kingman.

Heath faked a break for the plate and Burns, 9-6, balked as he stopped in the middle of his windup. With Burns obviously rattled, Cox broke for home on the next pitch and scored.

The shutout was the first this season for Kingman and the second in his career. He blanked the White Sox last September on four hits.

California defeats Milwaukee, 2-0

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Carney Lansford drove in the first run of the game with a sacrifice fly in the sixth inning and Don Aase, Andy Hassler and Mark Clear combined on a five-hitter as the California Angels downed the Milwaukee Brewers 2-0 Friday.

Aase, 5-8, and Milwaukee starter Reggie Cleveland, 6-3, were hooked up in a scoreless pitching duel until the sixth, when Rick Miller led off with a single, stole second, went to third on a sacrifice by Bobby Grich and scored on Lansford's sacrifice fly to left.

The Angels added an insurance run in the eighth. Miller singled with one out, Grich hit his second double of the game and Miller scored when left fielder Mark Brouhard misplayed the ball.

Baltimore belts Boston behind Stone

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steve Stone, with relief help from Tim Stoddard, posted his 10th consecutive victory Friday night as the Baltimore Orioles beat the Boston Red Sox 10-3.

Terry Crowley drove in three runs with a double and two singles to pace Baltimore's 12-hit attack.

Stone, 12-3, was lifted in the seventh inning after Boston loaded the bases on singles by Gary Hancock, Dwight Evans and Jerry Remy. Stoddard got Carlton Fisk to pop out on his first pitch to end the threat and finished up for his 11th save.

The Orioles, with 14 victories in their last 18 games, chased Mike Torrez, 4-8, during a three-run first and staked Stone to a 6-0 lead after three innings.

Ken Singleton and Rich Dauer drove in two runs apiece for Baltimore. Dauer, who had three hits and is batting .432 in his last 11 games, is 9-for-15 against Boston this season.

Whitaker's double boosts Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Dan Petry combined with Auerlio Lopez on a four-hitter and Lou Whitaker drove in the tie-breaking run with a fifth-inning double to lead the Detoit Tigers to a 4-3 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays Friday night.

The victory lifted the Detroit Tigers into second place in the American League East, two percentage points ahead of the Milwaukee Brewers and 7½ games behind the New York Yankees.

Petry, 5-4, avenged a defeat he suffered against Toronto's Dave Stieb on Sunday. He overcame a shaky start and retired 17 batters in a row during one stretch before giving way in the ninth to Lopez, who recorded his 11th save despite allowing a two-run double to Damaso Garcia.

With the score tied 1-1, Tom Brookens hit a leadoff single off Stieb, 7-6, and raced home from first on Whitaker's double down the left field line.

Whitaker went to third on Rick Peters' sacrifice and scored on Alan Trammell's grounder after eluding a rundown and outracing Toronto third baseman Roy Howell to the plate. Trammell took second on the play and scored on Steve Kemp's RBI single to right.

Barry Bonnell scored for Toronto in the second on Alfredo Griffin's one-out RBI bunt when Brookens elected to throw the ball to first to nab Griffin instead of trying for a play at the plate. Detroit tied the score in the bottom of the second, Richie Hebner scoring on Lance Parrish's grounder.

Disaster struck Friday when the car driven by Phil Finney went up on its front end after going into the grass on the last lap of the Firecracker 400 auto race at Daytona Beach, Fla. At the time of the accident, Bobby Allison was crossing the finish line as winner. Finney, of Merritt Island, Fla., was reported in satisfactory condition Friday night. (AP Laserphoto)

Bobby Allison withstands challenge

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Grizzled veteran Bobby Allison, fending off late challenges by David Pearson and Dale Earnhardt, won the heated Firecracker 400 Grand National stock car race in record fashion Friday at Daytona International Speedway.

Only seconds after the 42-year-old driver from Hueytown, Ala., took the checkered flag, the cheering crowd of about 40,000 was silenced when Phil Finney's Oldsmobile grazed the outside wall in the fourth turn and flew head-on into the wall at the end of pit road.

Finney, from Merritt Island, Fla., was pried from the crushed car and taken to a nearby hospital, where he was reported in satisfactory condition with a puncture wound over the left eye, bruises on his upper body and a probable concussion.

Allison's white-and-blue Mercury crossed the finish line about two car lengths ahead of Pearson's. Pearson pulled up beside the winner on the last lap but was unable to pass him.

Earnhardt, the current NAS-CAR point leader, tried and failed to pass Allison on the next-to-last lap of the 160-lap race as the two approached a long line of slower traffic. Earnhardt was hampered by a slower car as he tried to move past Allison on the inside on the first turn of the last lap, falling back to third.

"Pearson and Earnhardt stayed side by side for a while on the last lap and that slowed them down," Allison said. "Then I came up on the slower cars and that helped me because they pulled me along with them.

"But I still felt I could beat them. The car was handling so good, I was able to run it wide open into the turns. That gave me some advantage over those other guys."

Fourth place went to Buddy Baker, who earlier this year won the Daytona 500. Seven-time NASCAR champion Richard Petty, who started a distant 22nd in the 40-car field, nipped Benny Parsons for fifth.

Allison, hampered only by three brief caution periods, averaged 173.473 mph, breaking the record of 172.890, set last year by Neil Bonnett.

The winner took home $24,805, while Pearson won $14,230 for finishing second.

Alcott's 65 punctures Pulz's lead

NOBLESVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Amy Alcott, helped by an eagle on the front nine, shot a record-setting 7-under-par 65 Friday to take a 2-stroke lead over Penny Pulz at the midway point of a $150,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

Alcott, who began the day in a four-way tie for second at the 6,044-yard, par 72 Harbour Trees Golf Club, broke the single-round record of 66 for this tournament set last year by Midland's Judy Rankin.

Alcott began her second round by sinking a 22-footer for a birdie. The shot helped her complete the front nine in 6-under 30.

Alcott's 65 gave her a 36-hole score of 134. Pulz, who held a one-stroke edge after the opening round, carded her second consecutive 68 to claim second at 136.

Rookie Robin Walton was in third place at 139 after a career best round of 68. Beth Daniel and Dale Lundquist shared fourth at 140.

The 72-hole Mayflower Classic is scheduled to wind up Sunday, with the winner receiving $22,500.

"I'm playing the best golf of my career," said Alcott, 24, who is third behind Donna Coponi Young and JoAnne Carner on the LPGA's money list.

"I'm playing very agressively. The more birdies I make, the more I want," she added. She called the 65 one of the best rounds of a pro career that began in 1975 and has produced 10 victories.

The eagle came on the par-5 452-yard 6th hole, after Alcott reached the green in two and made a 12-foot putt.

"I was just trying to get the ball close. I was thinking eagle, but you don't really try for it," she said.

"I stay loose out there, I talk a lot with my caddie. I went out today and shot some fireworks," she said.

Alcott, seeking her second victory this year, had four birdies on the front nine but parred her first seven holes on the back nine. She missed a 6-footer for a birdie on No. 13, and made a 6-footer for par on No. 16. Her only birdie on the back nine came on the 485-yard par 5 No. 17 hole.

Seventy pros and one amateur survived the cut, which came at 152. Kathy Ahern and Kathy Young, who started the day tied for second, each shot par 72s and were tied at 141 with Pat Bradley, Debbie Austin and Barbara Barrow.

Carner was alone at 142, following her opening round 72 with a 70. Hollis Stacy, the defending champ, was one of six women tied at 143.

Virgin wins Peachtree Road Race

ATLANTA (AP) — Defending champion Craig Virgin, battling intense heat, choking humidity and 25,000 other runners Friday, won the 11th Peachtree Road Race.

Virgin, 24, from Lebanon, Ill., finished the 10,000-meter race in 28 minutes 39.01 seconds off the record pace of 28:30.5 he set last year.

Race officials said 200 to 300 persons were overcome by the sultry summer weather — at least 30 were taken to local hospitals — as temperatures rose from the 80-degree mark during the 6.2-mile race.

The relative humidity was a soggy 90 percent as the horde of runners set out at 8 a.m. from a northside shopping center for Atlanta's annual rite of summer.

George Malley, 24, of Allendale, Md., was second in 29:19.10, followed by Peter Pfitzinger, 22, Ithaca, N.Y., 29:23,99; Kyle Heffner, 25, Littleton, Colo., 29:24.7, and Sosten Bitok, Mission Viejo, Calif., 29:25.0.

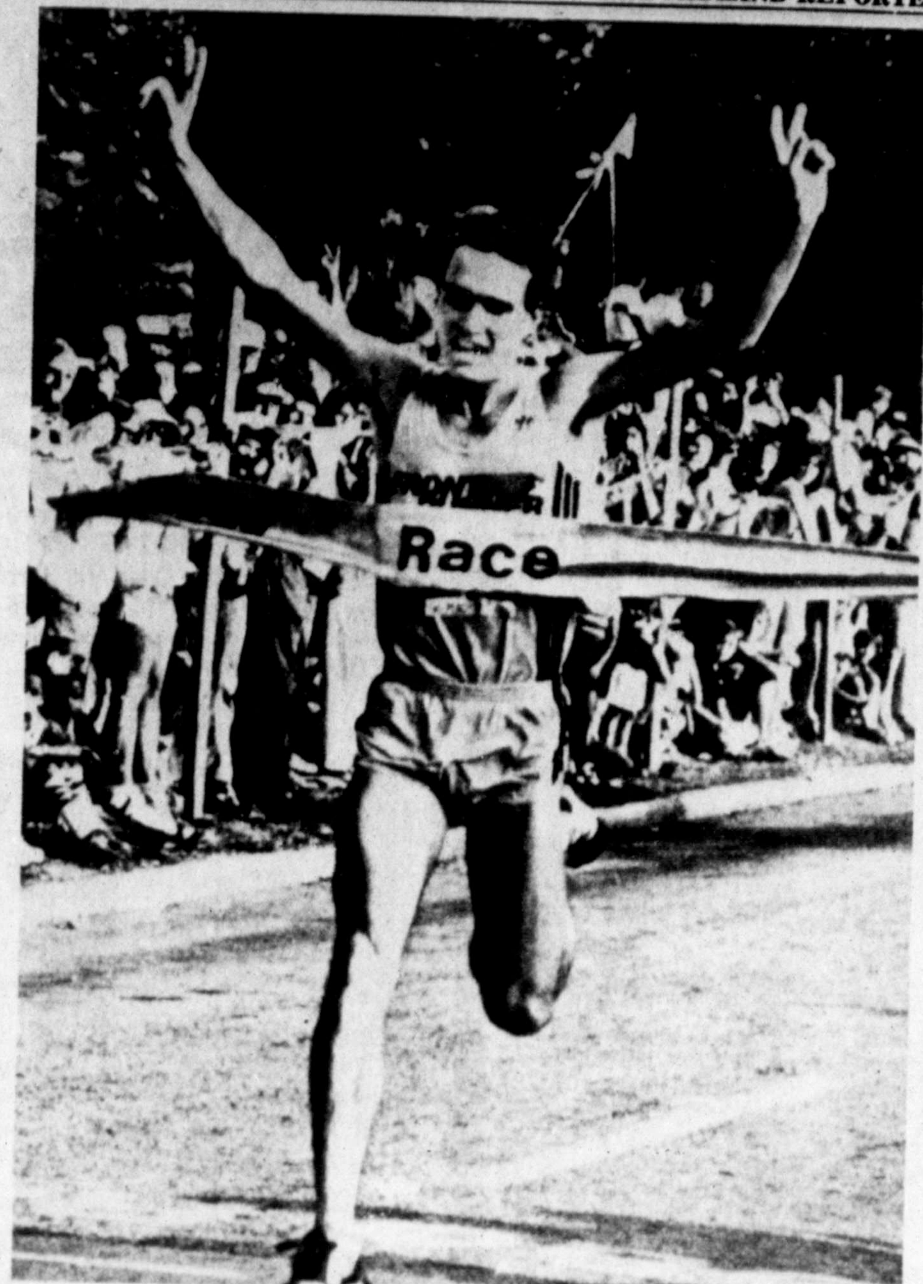

"I'm disappointed I didn't set a record, but I'm happy to have won No.2," Virgin said shortly after the finish. "My next challenge will be to get No.3."

Patti Lyons-Catalano of West Roxbury, Mass., led the field of about 5,000 women with a time of 32:48.54, a women's record for the Peachtree Road Race.

The top female finishers behind Lyons-Catalano were Carol Urish, 28, Houston, 34:31.10; Cathie Toomey, 23, Eugene, Ore., 35:01.57; Eileen O'Conner, 35:11.0, and Gayle Olinek, Venice Beach, Calif., 35:38.0.

Five runners were admitted to Grady Hospital, including one 45-year-old man who suffered cardiac arrest after the finish, said hospital spokesman Del Yoder. The name of the man, listed in critical condition, was not released.

The others were admitted for treatment of "loss of fluid and high heat accumulation" and were in stable and satisfactory condition, Yoder said.

Craig Virgin breaks the finish tape Friday, winning the 6.2 mile Peachtree Road Race held in downtown Atlanta. Virgin, of Lebanon, Ill., won the race for the second year in a row making him the event's only two-time winner. (AP Laserphoto)

Midlanders dominate Brownfield run

BROWNFIELD — Two Midlanders were winners Friday during the 12th annual Firecracker Run here as Robert Schooler captured the overall men's crown and Teri Valero bagged the women's 25-over title.

Schooler clocked 15:00 for the 3-mile run and Valero was timed in 23:21, also for 3-miles.

Another Schooler, Bob, finished third (27:57) in the men's 40-49 division.

The fourth Midlander to win a place was Jimmy Whitley, sixth overall with a time of 16:03.

Russians finish track trials

MOSCOW (AP) — World record holder Lyudmila Kondratyeva, deliberately slowing at the finish line, posted a winning time of 11.21 seconds in the 100 meters Friday in the final Soviet team trials before the 1980 Olympics.

The 22-year-old brunette who set the world record of 10.87 earlier this season, shot to an early lead on the Lenin Stadium track after one false start by an East German rival.

Less than 10 meters from the finish, she slowed her stride and just barely beat teammate Natalya Bochina across the line by one one-hundredths of a second.

Vera Komisova of the Soviet Union was third in 11.26 and Bulgaria's Stefka Popova fourth, 11.33.

East German Birgit Rabe, not one of her country's leading sprinters, finished eighth in 11.58.

Kondratyeva's time was a record for the annual Brothers Znamensky memorial meet honoring two Soviet middle distance runners of the prewar era.

Nearly 600 Soviet men and women and 73 invited foreigners, including two from West Germany, are competing in the three-day meet on the track where the Olympic events start later this month.

Kondratyeva, a fourth year physical education major at Rostov Teachers College in the southern Soviet Union, is the favorite to win the gold medal at the Olympics.

But the miner's daughter and newlywed will face tough competition from East Germany's Marlies Goehr, whose 100-meter clocking of 10.88 is still the recognized world recrd.

56 highlights RHCC golf tourney

Larry Freeman and Don Hargrove combined to shoot a 56 Friday in the Ranchland Hills Country Club Two-Man Best Ball Golf Tournament.

Behind Freeman and Hargrove are three twosomes with 58s. They inlcude R.B. Jenkins and Don Daugherty along with Jim Colter and Brent Watson. Also at 58 were Lawrence Fuller and George Cheyney.

Play continues through Sunday.

56-Freeman-Hargrove; 58-Jenkins-Daugherty; Colter-Watson; Fuller-Cheyney; 59-Daw-Bebee; Peterson-O'Bannon; 60-Mitchell-Hollis; Herrell-Rogers; Morgan-Christy; Hefner-Guthrie; 61-Anderson-Wilkerson; Winkel-Scott; Cunnard-Brimberly; Norton-Hammer; Gilliland-Hunt; 62-Blair-Roan; 63-Riek-Roye; Cope-Turney; Tabb-Fuller; 64-Lunday-Sevin; McKay-Barnett; Hellinghausen-Alvarado; Bell-James; Randerson-Nelson; 65-Walker-Cooke; Howell-McEwen; McWilliams-Welton; 66-Gibson-Fallin; Jones-Pepper; Barnes-Johnson; Manulik-Nolan; McClatchy-Johnson; 67-Martin-Deffenbaugh; 68-Garrigan-Hewitt; Haden-Largent; 70-Cordonnier-White.

Twosome's 54 good for victory

George Hamblin and Bill Chalfant shot a sizzling 54 Friday afternoon during the Two-Man Partnership Golf Tournament at Green Tree Country Club.

The 54 took place during two-man scramble play with today's round being scotch twosomes and Sunday's final round in best-ball play.

Tom Jacobs and Mark Hardwick finished one stroke behind Hamblin and Chalfant with a round of 55 while two twosomes recorded 56s. Paul Varner and Tom Bius shot a 56 along with the pair of Dan McCright and Tom Tully.

Dale Spencer and Barry Halverson shot a 57 while Frank McCabe and Marc Skeen had a 58 along with Mark Stoltz and Bob Hodge.

Campbell stakes bulge in Clark golf

The 16th annual George Clark Golf Tournament at the Midland Country Club got underway Friday with golfers competing in three divisions.

In Division I, for those with a handicap of 15-below, Gene McDaniel netted a 67 followed by John Gould with a 68. Next came Tom Garber and Bill Gesell with 70s while at 71 were Carl Beach and Dr. George Freetage.

In Divison II which includes a 16-over handicap, Lloyd Ugland recorded a net 65 followed by three golfers with 66s. They included Timber Floyd, Dan Moody and J.C. Williamson.

Right behind with 68s were Jim Lacy, Jack Matthews, Howard Shaw, Frank Stahl and Gene Wentworth.

In Division III, which serves as the MCC men's championship and is gross medal play, Craig Campbell shot a two-under-par 70 while Andy Shapira and Bill Hightower, Sr., finished with rounds of 74 and 78, respectively.

Play in the 54-hole event continues today and ends Sunday.

Harvard, Yale crews on collision course

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — Those old American university rivals, Harvard and Yale, moved on course Friday for a final day meeting in the historic Henley Royal Regatta.

Both advanced to the quarterfinals of the Ladies' Challenge Plate for eight-oared boats in the 143-year-old regatta rowed over the narrow, 1-mile, 550-yard Thames River course.

If both universities do go all the way, it will make a marvelous climax for the biggest-ever American entry in this annual regatta.

Once again there were huge crowds, many of the men in straw hats, blazers and white flannels, on the elegant riverside lawns as they listened to bands playing Edwardian-style music.

Despite its easy win over Newcastle University, Yale's junior varsity will have to work hard to keep the trophy.

Harvard's heavyweight freshman crew, the Eastern Sprints Champions, joined their rivals in the last eight with a 1½-length win over a powerful Durham University squad.

A quick, 10-stroke burst at the halfway point opened up Harvard's lead.

"I could not follow any farther because there were such big crowds all over the towpath," said Coach Ted Washburn. "But I saw Durham slump and I thought that was it."

In fact, the English crew hung on hard and it took a late raising of the striking rate from 34 to 37 to maintain Harvard's lead until the end.

Harvard may have a tough semifinal encounter with Canada's Ridley College, winners or two gold medals at Amsterdam. Ridley advanced earlier in the day over Lady Margaret Boat Club, Cambridge.

The jogging habit

For some, jogging becomes a habit, but in the case of Sister Avela Lazano, the habit becomes the jogger. Sister Lozano, a senior at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, is participating in a jogging class. (AP Laserphoto)

Heat came too late to spoil bumper winter wheat crop

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — While heat and drought are ruining the spring wheat up north, farmers are reaping a record harvest of winter wheat from Texas to Nebraska, where searing temperatures came too late to do more than minor damage.

"The winter wheat crop is made," said Roderick Turnbull, of the Kansas City Board of Trade. "It's matured and no rain would make any more wheat now."

A heat wave that has threatened livestock, endangered corn and nearly every other crop on the Great Plains, and contributed to more than 100 deaths, actually has worked to the advantage of Midwest wheat farmers who needed a dry spell to get into their fields for harvest.

"Most of the winter wheat matured ahead of the hot, dry weather," Turnbull said. "It may not be too nice to work in, but it actually helps harvest. It sure doesn't do anything else any good, though."

The scorching weather that settled on the Midwest in late June caused wheat from northern Texas to southern Nebraska to ripen almost at once. That created a severe shortage of harvesting equipment in northern Oklahoma and parts of western Kansas, but the shortage was reported easing Friday.

Hard, red winter wheat, the crop planted from Texas to Nebraska in the fall, is recognized around the world as the standard bread wheat because of its high protein content.

The U.S. Agriculture Department has forecast a crop of 1.7 billion bushels of winter wheat, up 6 percent from last year's record 1.6 billion bushel harvest. And the furnace in the winter wheat-producing states has done little to cool USDA's forecast.

"I would judge that the (heat wave) would have only a slight negative effect on the crop," said the USDA's chief economist, Howard Hjort. "Clearly, there will be a record winter wheat crop."

There is considerably less optimism about spring wheat, the crop planted primarily in the Dakotas during the spring and harvested in late summer.

An extended drought there has endangered that crop, and South Dakota's governor already has asked President Carter to declare the entire state a disaster area because of deteriorating feed crops.

In regard to spring wheat, Hjort said, "The only question is the magnitude of the decline from last year."

The winter wheat crop had gotten off to a somewhat shaky start last fall when dry weather hampered planting in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, the top three producing states. But all expect near-record harvests because more acres were planted this year than in 1979.

'Have nots' blame 'haves' for plight of poor nations

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Developing countries blamed the industrialized Western nations Friday for lack of progress toward a more equal sharing of the world's economic benefits.

Indian Ambassador Brajesh C. Mishra, speaking on behalf of the developing group at the closing meeting of a two-week session of a major U.N. committee on economics, accused the industrialized countries of "stalling" and "lack of political will" to resolve economic injustices.

"The blame for the failure of the Committee of the Whole to fulfil its mandate," he said, "must be apportioned in its entirety to the developed Western countries."

Western ambassadors also expressed regret that the committee, on which all U.N. members are represented, had failed to agree on the agenda and procedures for global negotiations. However, they generally called the talks so far useful.

U.S. Ambassador Donald F. McHenry said the session pointed up the need for delegations to come to the U.N. General Assembly's special session on economics in August with "the necessary authority to resolve the key procedural questions."

In a bid for more flexible stands, he continued: "All government will have to make important decisions on those questions but it might be useful if the possible alternatives and their relative advantages were laid out or could be agreed upon in a single document."

Italian delegate Sergio Cattani said agreement was nearing on a number of issues and prospects for settlement were encouraging. "The achievements of the session have fallen short of expectations, but, given the extent of the task, these achievements cannot in fact be dismissed as negligible," he said.

One-third of radioactive gas at TMI is released

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP) — More than one-third of the radioactive krypton gas trapped in the Three Mile Island reactor containment building has been vented into the atmosphere, a spokesman for Metropolitan Edison Co. said Friday.

"Venting is good, and we are going at a flow rate of 530 cubic feet per minute," said Ralph Neidig. "We are averaging 225 curies an hour."

He said more than 20,000 curies had been released without incident since venting began Sunday "and next week Met Ed plans to speed up the release."

There were an estimated 57,000 curies in the building, which was contaminated in the nation's worst commercial nuclear power accident about 15 months ago.

Latest reports from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency said no krypton above normal background was detected in air samples from nearby communities.

After the gas is vented, possibly by the end of the next week, efforts will be made to enter the containment building. No one has been inside since the accident.

July 3, 1980

NOTICE BY PUBLICATION
TO: DAVID PADAREZ, the father of a Baby Boy born June 25, 1980, Respondent
GREETINGS:

You are hereby commanded to appear and answer before the Honorable 318th District Court of Midland County, Texas, at the Courthouse of said county in Midland, Texas, at or before Ten o'clock A.M. (10:00 A.M.) of the Monday next after the expiration of 20 days from the date of service of this citation, then and there to answer the petition of Lutheran Social Services of Texas, Petitioner, filed in said Court of the 2nd day of July, 1980, being Cause No. DR-11,083 on the docket of said Court, and entitled, "In the Interest of Baby Boy Orona, A Child", the nature of which suit is a request to terminate the parental rights between ELVA ORONA, the mother of a baby boy born June 25, 1980, in Odessa, Ector County, Texas. Additionally, the Petitioner is seeking termination of all rights as between father, DAVID PADAREZ, and the minor child.

The Court has authority to enter any judgment or decree in the child's best interest which will be binding upon you, including termination of parental rights, determination of paternity, consequent termination of all rights to the child, and appointment of a conservator with authority to consent to the child's adoption.

ISSUED AND GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL OF SAID COURT AT MIDLAND, TEXAS this 3rd day of JULY, 1980.

MADGE B. WALLIS
CLERK OF THE DISTRICT COURT OF MIDLAND COUNTY, TEXAS
BY: Jean Hall, Deputy
(July 5, 1980)

EPA promises regulation of waste dumping

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency says it will take steps to restrict the dumping of hazardous chemicals into wells that allow the wastes to go directly into drinking water supplies.

The agency made the pledge to Rep. Albert Gore Jr., D-Tenn., after Gore complained that as many as 7,500 wells around the country may be pumping hazardous wastes directly into the natural underground reservoirs that serve as sources for drinking water.

Steffan Plehn, the EPA's deputy assistant administrator for solid waste programs, told Gore that "to the extent possible," he will work for new regulations that could force the practice to be stopped in six months or so.

Gore, presiding at a session of the House Commerce Committee's subcommittee on investigations, complained to EPA officials that the dumping is not illegal under current regulations.

The officials testifying before the subcommittee said they were uncomfortable with some of the strong wording Gore used to describe the problem.

But Plehn conceded: "As a general principle, what you're stating is close to the mark."

The exchange came as the subcommittee reviewed new hazardous waste regulations proposed by the EPA.

Gore caustically noted that the regulations, four years in the making and published two years after a congresional deadline, do not deal with groundwater contamination — particularly some 7,500 we,ls that Gore said are pumping hazardous chemicals directly into drinking water supplies.

"They can go right on injecting the hazardous wastew directly into drinking water supplies. Is that correct?"

Plehn argued that explanation was "not exactly" right, saying the wheels of bureaucracy are grinding on the problem.

He said the states have up to 18 months to adopt state plans on drinking water under the federal Safe Drinking Water Act. The dumping of hazardous wastes into fresh water aquifers — natural underground reservoirs — would have to stop six months after that.

In addition, he said, the EPA is responding to public pressure for more regulation of drinking water by preparing its own regulations. He said that is slowed by administrative laws requiring public comment periods.

Festooning fire fingers streak down the sky while soft July breezes stir across upturned faces and the band plays softly.

Suddenly I see beyond the framework of our celebration. I see fireworks and flags, hard-boiled eggs and potato salad, a parade down Main Street, cotton candy, roller coasters, and the dance at the country club. I see a little band of people crossing the ocean to make a new life. A woodsman hacking a trail westward, a man and his woman working together to make a home in the new wilderness. I see rows of graves in France, marking fallen doughboys. Four young men raising a flag on Iwo Jima, and an astronaut blasting off to yet a new frontier. I see a sweet land of liberty.

One of the most important things this land stands for is a man's right to worship God in the way he wants. Go to your church and take advantage of this precious heritage.

Soviet peace team visits several American cities

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A lack of information is the greatest obstacle to United States-Soviet understanding and peace, a team of Soviet visitors recently said in Washington, D.C., after nearly two weeks of visiting American cities.

After some initial apprehension that this might be "a rotton time to go" to the U.S., the five Soviet visitors found a "remarkable response" here, they told a news conference. They said they experienced questions indicating concern, ignorance and misinformation, but no hostility.

The tour, sponsored by the Committee for U.S.-Soviet Citizens' Dialogue and other religious and peace groups, was initiated by Carol Pendell of Riverside, Calif. She is the wife of a United Methodist minister. It is expected to be the first in a series of exchanges.

Church holds annual celebration

Memorial Christian Church, 1001 Andrews Highway, is holding its annual Fourth of July celebration Sunday starting with church school and an informal shirt-sleeve worship service in the sanctuary.

Following worship, lunch will be served in the fellowship hall. Activities for the day include a Walt Disney movie, all types of table games, volleyball, ping pong, horseshoes, egg toss, various types of relays, an eating contest and some unusual door prizes. There will be a special "watch the grass" section for the less active crowd who just want to visit.

Those attending need to bring a salad, homemade ice cream, chips or other food items which require no cooking. A main dish along with watermelons and drinks will be provided.

Parales family to be featured

The Singing Joel Parales Family Ministry will be the featured entertainment at the Midland Foursquare Church, 415 Alta Ave., Sunday at 7 p.m.

Parales has written most of the material for "The Galilean" singing group from Dallas, who has appeared on the PTL Club and The Gospel Singing Jubilee. They will perform, among others, "Born Again Children," "I'm On Tour" and "He's Coming Back Again."

The public is invited to this free concert. There will be a free will offering taken.

Celebrities to speak at conference

ARLINGTON, Va. — An African cardinal, a top Vatican aide to Pope John II and Maria von Trapp of "Sound of Music" fame will be among the celebrities speaking at a National Family Life Conference Aug. 22-25 at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D.C.

Keynoting the event will be Canadian Bishop Edouard Gagnon, former head of the Vatican Committee for the Family. Retired St. Louis Archbishop Cardinal Carberry is scheduled to speak at the closing mass.

Workshops will be presented in English and Spanish. For more information write the Family Life Bureau, Department NCFLC, 200 N. Glebe Road, Arlington, Va. 22203, or call 1-703-841-2250.

Pastor, family return from school

John Miller, pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy, and his family have recently returned from the Bible Training Institute in Fullerton, Calif.

The two-week school covered church doctrine and business. Miller completed his second session, with his wife, Gloria, and his daughter, Jenifer, completing their first session.

For the past two years the school has been bilingual. This year's school was composed of students from 13 states and one foreign country. Total enrollment was 197 students.

Church to hold bible school

St. Paul United Methodist Church, 4501 Thomason Drive, will hold its Vacation Bible School Monday through Friday.

Classes are available for children from 2½ years old through the sixth grade. The 2-year- olds must have been 2 by December.

Classes are from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Registration begins Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Evening of gospel singing set

An evening of old fashioned gospel singing is planned for Sunday at 6:40 p.m. at Bellview Baptist Church, 1710 N. Big Spring St.

Before the singing, a film, "To Russia With Love," will be shown at 5:30 p.m. This is an unusual film because two thirds of it was filmed secretly in Russia. It portrays the activities of the underground church.

After the singing, which includes music by a gospel quartet and an instrumental band, a watermelon feast is scheduled.

Humbard special aired Sunday

AKRON, Ohio — A nationwide Rex Humbard special, "You Are Loved," will be aired Sunday at 8 a.m. on KMID-TV, Channel 2.

Constructed around a patrotic theme, "You Are Loved" stars B.J. Thomas, Roy Rogers, Dale Evans and James Cleveland. The one-hour program includes segments shot at such historic spots as Mt. Rushmore, the Statue of Liberty, Kennedy Space Center, the United Nations, the White House and others.

Binion family to be featured

The Binion Family Singers are to be the featured performers at the Church of God, 5300 Thomason Drive, Sunday at 10 a.m.

The public is invited to attend.

Church adopts budget

ATLANTA (AP) — A Greek Orthodox assembly quickly approved a $6 million 1981-82 budget for the Archdiocese of North and South America when delegates dispensed with debate or explanation of the budgets.

The 1981 budget, approved Wednesday by representatives to the 25th biennial Clergy-Laity Congress, represents a 20 percent increase over the 1980 budget, from $5,042,000 to $6,085,000. The church budgeted $6,605,000 for 1982.

The chairman of the finance committee, George Chimples of Cleveland, had not begun his explanation of the budgets before layman John Andrew of Tulsa, Okla., moved for immediate adoption of the budgets with no further changes.

The motion appeared to surprise many of the delegates, but they overwhelmingly approved the budgets on a voice vote.

"This was the first time the budget was ever approved without going over it step by step. It took exactly 20 seconds," said Father Alex Karloutsos.

Delegates to a Greek Orthodox Assembly also listened to reports from two subcommittees Wednesday and discussed expanded programs for youth and the elderly.

An expansion of youth programs to the diocesan level as well as in each parish was discussed. The committee also called for more concentration on campus ministry.

Expansion of summer youth camps, which provide children with activities in religion and Greek heritage, was discussed. Twenty-three such camps have been established in the past six years.

A subcommittee on senior citizens reported on the work of Father Spencer Kezios, who had established a model residence for senior citizens in Northridge, Calif. and is trying to establish another. The delegates expressed concern over problems facing senior citizens in that area.

Delegates earlier agreed to hold a second "conversation" with the Southern Baptist Convention and also with the American Jewish Committee. A report by the Ecumenical Committee had called for a second bilateral meeting with the SBC.

Drought-heat aid requests expected

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements said today he is surprised the state has not been asked to help local communities hard hit by drought and heat.

"If this continues very much longer we will be suffering badly in regard to crops and I am surprised there have been no requests so far for help. But I am sure there will be some if it continues," he said.

Clements noted that the governor traditionally has asked federal authorities to declare disaster areas in Texas because of drought, high winds, hail, rain storms and other forms of unusual weather that cause personal and property damage.

Conference held

LUBBOCK — A special conference for singles will be held in Lubbock at the First United Methodist Church, 1411 Broadway Ave., from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. July 26.

The conference includes a variety of seminars ranging in subjects from "Managing my Money: Financial Planning for Singles" to "Auto Mechanics for the Non-mechanical." Registration is $15 which includes lunch.

For more information call Warren Levingston at the First United Methodist Church.

THE NEWSPAPER BIBLE

Live forever after

May God who gives patience, steadiness, and encouragement help you to live in complete harmony with each other—each with the attitude of Christ toward the other.

And then all of us can praise the Lord together with one voice, giving glory to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

So, warmly welcome each other into the church, just as Christ has warmly welcomed you; then God will be glorified.

Remember that Jesus Christ came to show that God is true to His promises and to help the Jews.

And remember that He came also that the Gentiles might be saved and give glory to God for His mercies to them. That is what the Psalmist meant when he wrote: "I will praise You among the Gentiles, and sing to Your name."

And in another place, "Be glad, O you Gentiles, along with His people the Jews."

And yet again, "Praise the Lord, O you Gentiles, let everyone praise Him."

And the prophet Isaiah said, "There shall be an Heir in the house of Jesse, and He will be King over the Gentiles; they will pin their hopes on Him alone."

So I pray for you Gentiles that God who gives you hope will keep you happy and full of peace as you believe in Him. I pray that God will help you overflow with hope in Him through the Holy Spirit's power within you.

Couple given permission to lock daughter away

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — A judge has given a couple permission to lock their 34-year-old daughter in a motel while they attempt to persuade her to leave a religious group.

The order by District Judge Joseph Gary, issued Wednesday, allows Sherwin and Marilyn Desens of Lakewood, Colo., to keep Nancy Desen Jacob in the unidentified motel pending a hearing next Wednesday.

In the meantime she is to undergo psychiatric examination, and a social worker is to check her living conditions at the headquarters of the group called the Brotherhood, three miles east of Bozeman.

Attorney James Goetz, in documents filed with the court, alleged that Mrs. Jacob enrolled in a discussion group in 1979 that eventually enticed her into a religious cult. The documents alleged that she surrendered her money, her free will, her marriage, her children, her parents and her body.

Clint Kennedy, leader of the Brotherhood, denied all the charges and insisted his group is not a cult, but a "community in residence." He said taking Mrs. Jacob from her job in Bozeman amounted to legalized kidnapping.

"There is a free-will issue here," Kennedy said. "But the question is whether a grown woman can be kidnapped by her parents."

James Jacob, Mrs. Jacob's former husband, said that at first his wife wanted him to attend Brotherhood meetings with her. Later, he said, she would not allow him to attend, refused to have sexual relations with him, moved to the Brotherhood without telling him and eventually sent their two daughters back to live with him.

Refugees claim leftist guerrillas harassing villages in El Salvador

By GORDON D. MOTT

LAS VUELTAS, El Salvador (AP) — Leftist guerrillas are robbing, threatening and sometimes killing peasants in these remote mountains to get food and coerce recruits for their drive to overthrow El Salvador's moderate military-civilian government, according to refugees who say they fled to escape.

"They stole all my corn and pointed a gun at me and said if I didn't join up with them, they would kill me," said Jose Domingo Guardado, 40.

"I barely grow enough to feed my family. I don't agree with what they are doing, but I couldn't afford to give them anything anyway."

Guardado and his family of 10 are among 1,500 refugees in Las Vueltas, a village near the Honduran border 50 miles northeast of San Salvador, the capital. He said he abandoned his home in Conacaste, about a day's walk from here, in the middle of the night for refuge in the dingy mud buildings here and the protection of a 12-man national guard outpost.

The guerrillas use the mountain area's remoteness and a nearby demilitarized zone to set up camps from which they attack military patrols. The peasants say they became alienated by the rebels' terror attacks on them and have turned their villages into ghost towns, depriving the guerrillas of a base of support.

Three leftist guerrilla organizations — the People's Revolutionary Army, the Popular Liberation Force and the National Resistance — operate in the countryside, but officials said they could not determine which is near here. The guerrillas seek to oust the junta that replaced the rightist government of Gen. Carlos Humberto Romero last October, then launched a program of land reform and nationalized the banks in the spring.

The refugees say the guerrillas are getting more desperate.

"They robbed 500 colones ($200) from a house on the outskirts of town here and threatened to rape the woman," said one woman. "They are coming down from the hills around here every night now to try to frighten us."

Another woman said the guerrillas hid in the hills around her village of La Laguna during the day and as soon as night fell sneaked in to terrorize the people.

"They stole from us at gunpoint. They threatened us or our families and said they needed us to join up with them," said the woman. "None of us support them....We are here to be near the national guard.

"Five men went back to their village to get some belongings. But when they were coming back here, the guerrillas were waiting in the dense woods and ambushed them. One man was killed."

The woman, who asked that her name not be used, said some of her neighbors may have joined or supported the guerrillas.

In other parts of the country, leftists claim it is the national guard, El Salvador's army, and right-wing paramilitary terrorists who are killing and harassing peasants. Some of the claims have been proven true and even the government speaks of army "excesses."

But the Chalatenango department, where Las Vueltas is located, benefits from a man who some officials say is the "only moderate army field commander in El Salvador." Lt. Col. Rene Arbaiza says he promotes "civic actions" by his troops. The peasants' lack of fear of the national guard shows he apparently has been successful in building confidence in the soldiers stationed here.

"Every house has refugees staying in it," said one local leader who asked not to be identified. "Everyone is helping the refugees. The refugees have been telling us how the guerrillas treat them. We don't want the same thing to happen here."

Two school buildings, a crumbling convent, a warehouse and the local police commander's house are filled with refugees. They cook on outdoor campfires and sleep in hammocks. The children play in the muddy plaza. The women sit on porches or make corn tortillas. The men sit silently under the shade trees on the edge of the plaza.

Food is critically short, but the government has been supplying rice, beans, corn and oil.

"We don't have a lot of food here," said Guardado. "But no one is starving."

With the planting season already past, the refugees face months of dependence on government food donations. But most say they won't go back to their farms until the guerrillas are crushed. Col. Arbaiza wouldn't speculate when that might be.

Senegal asks special U.N. Assembly session

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Senegal has called for a special emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly as a followup to the U.S. veto in April of a Security Council resolution calling for establishment of a Palestinian state.

Senegal made the request because it is chairman of the U.N. Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People. U.N. sources estimate that it would take several weeks to line up majority support for the request. They said the meeting should open about July 22.

Since there is no veto in the Assembly, the Third-World majority there is considered certain to approve a resolution in favor of Palestinean statehood. But the assembly has no power to enforce its decisions.

Italy moves on inflation

ROME (AP) — The Italian government says it is raising the price of gasoline 23 cents to $3.42 a gallon, increasing taxes on liquor, medicine and the incomes of self-employed people and taking new measures against tax evaders to boost the sagging lira and curb the government's estimated deficit of $48.6 billion.

The Cabinet rejected a proposal to reduce the protection given workers by the cost-of-living escalator, which guarantees automatic wage hikes every three months to match the increase in the inflation rate. Union leaders said the escalator was "untouchable" and they would call major strikes if it was altered.
