Ask Injunction Against Strike Of Railroaders

CLEVELAND, March 11 (AP) — The government today asked a Federal court to order three rail unions to end their strike against two rail lines 'immediately."

Judge Emerich B. Freed was expected to consider the government's request for an injunction order without delay.

Justice Department attorneys filed the action for the Army, which has controlled the railroads since Aug. 27, 1950. Their petition also asked the court to keep the engineers, firemen and conductors from spreading the walkout to other railroads.

Since the surprise strike started Sunday morning, only the New York Central lines west of Buffalo and the St. Louis terminal have been targets of the three rail operating brotherhoods. About 6,000 men are on strike, and an additional 25,000 New York Central employes have been laid off.

Failure to end the strike or its extension would put heads of the three unions in contempt of court and make them liable to fines and imprisonment.

A year ago when the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen extended their "sick" walkouts in defiance of a federal court order, that union was fined a total of $100,000 in U. S. district courts at Chicago and Washington.

The injunction request came after heads of the three unions meeting here took no action on an Army demand they end the walkout or face "appropriate action." The Army said the defense effort could not permit an interruption in transportation.

The strike has slowed down freight shipments, caused some industrial layoffs and forced about 20,000 daily NYC passengers to find other rides. Industrial lay-offs would mount rapidly if the strike is prolonged.

Chiefs of the striking brotherhoods said approximately 200,000 members, despairing of what they call lengthy, fruitless negotiations, want better working conditions and a pay raise. On raises, however, the two sides are fairly close.

More important is their fight against attempts to change four working rules, which they say would amount to substantial wage cuts.

In spite of differences with the roads and the government, the leaders of the striking brotherhoods announced at their headquarters here last night that they still are ready to negotiate.

The statement was signed by the three chiefs: R. O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors; D.B. Robertson of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; and J. P. Shields, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

They said "We have held ourselves in readiness and continue to be prepared to negotiate the issues with the railroad companies or anyone in authority to settle the dispute."

Abandon Kent County Well At 7,704 Feet

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. has plugged and abandoned its No. 1-A J. J. Emery Estate in Central - North Kent County.

It was drilled to total depth of 7,704 feet in lower Pennsylvanian lime and shale.

Drillsite for the project was 660 feet from north and 735 feet from east lines of section 63-1-H&GN, about 12 miles northeast of Clairemont.

GOOD SHOWS

Sun No. 2-C-E Bilby Wallace, just outside the Clairemont pool, is preparing to complete as a producer. On a drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian reef from 6,748-6,758 feet, gas surfaced in 17 minutes. Recovery was 1,020 feet of clean oil with 20 feet of drilling mud. The well is in the northeast quarter of section 9-98-H&TC.

Superior Oil No. 1-3 A. Wood, Salt Creek field project, is drilling below 5,192 feet in shale. It is in the southeast quarter of section 3, John Rodman survey about 13 miles northwest of Clairemont.

FISHER WILDCAT

Noranda Oil Corp., L. T. Lohman, trustee, and Peeler Bros. are to begin operations in the near future on the No. 1 M. T. Beard and others in Fisher County.

Bevan Makes Attlee Eat Words In Party Meeting In London

LONDON, March 11 (AP)—Aneurin Bevan today defeated an attempt by Clement Attlee's moderates to censure him for bucking the Labor Party's views on rearmament. The censure motion was defeated 172-62 at a party meeting in which Attlee at one time was booed.

All that Attlee salvaged was a watered-down version of restoring "standing orders" of the party leadership. Under standing orders, rebels can be expelled from the party. But the resolution as finally adopted left loopholes for the Bevanites.

Both sides claimed victory in the lobbies after the meeting, but it appeared the Bevanites' claim was the stronger.

The party decision avoided censure of Bevan and his 56 followers. Bevan had not recanted in any of his beliefs, and he had headed off an iron-clad crackdown on his bloc.

Commissioners Meet To Cut Hospital Cost

Architects and low bidders on the proposed county hospital, Cogdell Memorial Hospital, met today with D. M. Cogdell, benefactor, and the commissioners court to negotiate for possible lower construction costs.

No action has definitely been taken, but plans were made tentatively to reduce the cost several thousand dollars by substituting a slightly thinner roof and making alterations in window glass and steel. The changes will not alter the appearance or usefulness of the building in any way, Edgar Taylor, county judge, said. The alterations are to be presented to officials of the state health department in Austin tomorrow for approval, he said.

If the changes are approved in Austin, the commissioners plan to award contracts some time this week, Judge Taylor said. It is not yet known what bids will be accepted, but several bidders have offered to cut costs if the alterations are approved.

The low bids considered about two weeks ago totaled approximately $200,000 more than the amount the county had available for the project, including promisory federal aid.

NEW CUBAN POLICEMAN

A supporter of Fulgencio Batista, Lt. Rafael Salas, right, talks to a Cuban news reporter in the police station in Havana shortly after Salas took over as the new chief of police. Batista led the revolt in the country, ousting the present government. Salas' new job was taken when he marched into the station, announced he was a colonel and was to head the police department.

Taft Makes Bid For Support Of Southerners In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, March 11 (AP)—Republican Presidential candidate Robert A. Taft made a wide-open bid for Southern Democratic support here today, and he told his audience confidently that "I don't know why Taft can't win. I always have won."

Taft spoke to 3,350 persons at Municipal Airport in a one-hour stop on his tour of Texas.

"Southern Democrats want a foreign policy that first protects our own liberties and second secures world peace," the Ohio Senator argued.

"They want honesty in government, reduced federal expenditures and lower taxes," Taft added, charging Republican organizers present that a "grass roots, doorbell ringing campaign that refuses to compromise traditional party principles—not me-tooism"—is the way to a GOP victory. He promised a frontal attack on administration foreign and domestic policies.

Scoring the Truman administration's foreign policy, Taft proclaimed that "there is no worse foreign policy than one that causes an unnecessary war," as he labeled the Korean conflict.

Claiming that immediately following World War II the United States was the world's greatest military power, and that Russia "had nothing," Taft charged that Truman - Acheson foreign policy had rendered Russia a dangerous threat. He laid Communist advances in Europe and Asia at the doorstep of Administration policymakers who earlier viewed Russia as "a peace-loving Democracy."

"The threat of the Soviet Union was built by administration policies, and we still find in the State Department those with a strange favor for Communism, particularly its manifestations in the Far East."

Literature passed to the crowd stressed the Republican Senator's vote-getting record, and Taft, in apparent allusion to opposing candidate Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's claimed popularity, quipped:

"I thought I understood you don't bet on horse races in Texas," he smiled, "it seems to me you had rather put your money on a horse that has always won rather than on one that has never run."

Though the loudspeaker blared "Old Soldiers Never Die, They just Fade Away," Taft spoke amiably of General Douglas MacArthur, stating that if elected he would like to use the general's services where best suited.

"We could have won the war in Korea if we had wanted to," he added. "MacArthur was dismissed because he wanted to win. Now we should settle an armistice in Korea. You can't punish a big aggressor like Red China, as you can a smaller one."

Moscow Prints Yank's Diary

MOSCOW, March 11 (AP) — Moscow's Literary Gazette reprinted today portions of the diary of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, former U. S. military attache in Moscow, as published in East Germany.

The Literary Gazette said the book with the diary excerpts "exposes the real plans of the warmonters."

Grow's diary, partly reproduced by photostats in the book, discussed a possible war with Russia, described vulnerable bombing targets such as bridges and contained such lines as "War! As soon as possible! Now!" and "It seems to me the time is ripe for a blow this year."

This was the first report and comment in the Moscow press on the book, which was published in the Soviet Zone of Berlin last December. The book's author, Richard Squires, was identified as a former British army officer living in East Germany.

(U. S. Army authorities in Washington, confirming last week that parts of the diary had been published by the Communists, said it apparently was stolen by "a Soviet agent," photographed and replaced while Grow was attending a meeting in Frankfurt, Germany, last summer of U. S. military attaches from Soviet bloc countries.

(Grow was recalled from Moscow in December, and Maj. Gen. Harry J. Collins was assigned to replace him.)

News of the book—called "On The Path To War"—is expected to create considerable indignation among Russian readers.

Vote Today On One Amendment To Tidelands Bill Before Senate

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — The Senate neared a vote today on the first of a dozen amendments proposed to pending legislation for federal control of the oil-rich offshore coastal lands.

Sponsored by 20 senators, the amendment would specifically surrender any Federal interest to lands beneath inland navigable waters.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) contended in calling up the amendment yesterday that it would ratify assertions made repeatedly by officials of the executive agencies.

He also expressed hope that it would calm any fears of the inland states that the Federal government might at some future time claim paramount rights to the beds of rivers, lakes, bays, harbors and inlets. Such fears have been voiced in arguments by opponents of the federal control plan.

The amendment also would shut the door to any claim of the Federal government to docks, piers and other structures jutting into the off-shore area where the Supreme Court has ruled the Federal government has paramount rights to the land and minerals.

The amendment is sponsored by Senators O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), Anderson (D-NM), McFarland (D-Ariz), Hill (D-Ala), Douglas (D-Ill), Wiley (R-Wis), Lehman (D-Lib-NY), Murray (D-Mont), Case (R-SD), Moody (D-Mich), Sparkman (D-Ala), Humphrey (D-Minn), Aiken (R-Vt), Fulbright (D-Ark), Benton (D-Conn), Morse (R-Ore), Neely (D-WVa), Hennings (D-Mo), Langer (R-ND), and Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Senator Hill, chief sponsor of an amendment to devote Federal revenues from the submerged lands to a program of aid for education, indicated that he will not call up his proposal until a state-ownership substitute is considered.

Senator Connally (D-Tex), Senate sponsor of a House-passed "states rights" bill, said he might be ready to take it up today.

The pending Senate proposal, without determining final ownership of the offshore lands, would give the Secretary of Interior jurisdiction over their administration. Leases made in good faith by the states would be ratified, and the states would receive three-eights of royalties from lands within three miles of their coastlines.

Death Threats To Family Of Murdered Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Death threats to a mourning family and to a garageman involved in the arrest of bank robber Willie Sutton today spurred New York City's grimmest killer-hunt in a dozen years.

For 19,000 policemen the No. 1 job was to trap the slayer who in gangland-style Saturday night shot down pants salesman Arnold Schuster, 24. It was his tip that led to Sutton's arrest.

The scope of the manhunt was emphasized last night when Major Vincent R. Impellitteri said he would ask the city board of estimate to vote a $25,000 reward for the capture of the murderer."

Not since 1940 has the city put up such a high reward, and then it was in the killing of two detectives.

Even as Schuster was buried yesterday, the reports of new death threats extended the shadow of terror over Brooklyn.

A report said that just two hours before the funeral, Schuster's family received this warning: "One death isn't enough, there will be others." It was not clear whether the message was mailed or phoned.

Police had no comment on this report. Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan noted that a special 24-hour guard had been placed on the family.

Young Schuster received several threats before his death. Police said later he had rejected offers of a guard.

While the Schusters were at the funeral, a threat was directed at Jack Peene, a garageman who was helping Sutton with a stalled car shortly before his capture Feb. 18.

A man telephoned Peene's wife Mary that she should advise her husband "to take out a larger insurance policy and not to take long walks."

Peene immediately was given a police guard at his service station, while his wife and their two small children were sent under guard to an undisclosed shelter.

Young Schuster's funeral came under tight scrutiny. A score of detectives and swarms of uniformed police, hoping to find a clue, watched a crowd of some 2,000 persons.

Mourners muttered threats of vengeance. Women wailed. Schuster's father, Max, and mother, Ethel, had to be supported. The mother collapsed at one time.

Batista Sets Himself Up As Head Of Cuban Government, Promises Cleanup To People

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Veteran revolutionary Fulgencio Batista was back in the Cuban saddle again today, pledged to clean up "thieving and gangsterism in government." He promised elections for a new government after the cleanup.

With Army backing, Batista ousted the government of President Carlos Prio Socarro before dawn yesterday. Two men killed in a brief gun battle at the presidential palace were the only reported casualties.

Batista's forces were reported in command of police, Army and Navy stations in Cuba's five outlying provinces.

The 51-year-old Batista, who ruled the Caribbean island country from 1934 until 1944—first as a behind-the-scenes dictator and then as President—this time called himself "chief of the revolution." He named a 15-man Cabinet of civilians, replaced top military and police officers as well as Havana's mayor and said he, himself, "might possibly become Prime Minister and, as such, head of the government."

Batista is barred from the presidency until October, 1952, by a Cuban law requiring an ex-President to stay out of the office eight years.

President Prio, who had left the presidential palace yesterday just ahead of Batista-controlled Army tanks, took rfuge early today in the Mexican Embassy. He was expected to ask asylum in Mexico, where he lived in exile from 1935 to 1946.

Mexico was expected to grant his request and to start negotiations for his safe conduct there. A number of officials of Prio's government also were refuged in the embassy.

The government overthrow came in the midst of the campaign for presidential elections June 1, in which Batista was a candidate. He at once postponed the balloting indefinitely. In a radio speech last night he assured Cuba's people that the "new government will be in power only the time required, and then we shall have elections without pistoleros (gunmen) sowing terror in the republic."

Batista said he staged his revolt because he had reliable news that Prio, "faced with the defeat of his candidate in the June 1 elections, was planning a phony revolution for April 15."

Prio, barred from re-election, was supporting the nominee of his own Authentic Revolutionary party, former Secretary of State Carlos Hevia. Batista and Roberto Agramonte were candidates of the opposition United Action and Orthodox People's parties, respectively.

Batista during his former presidency maintained close ties with the U.S. and visited President Roosevelt in 1942. The new Cabinet published a decree today promising compliance with all international treaties and with obligations to the United Nations.

The coup brought back into power one of Cuba's most colorful political figures. As a sergeant and stenographer to the general staff, Batista led the "sergeant's revolt" of 1933, which ousted the Army's officers and unseated Dictator-President Gerardo Machado.

Batista went into voluntary exile in Florida in 1944 after Ramon Grau San Martin defeated his hand-picked candidate for the presidency. While still in exile, he was elected senator in 1948 and since then has lived quietly on an estate outside Havana.

Batista said it was necessary to suspend Congress, not now in session, and constitutional guarantee for 45 days, but today's Cabinet decree promised "full guarantees to all citizens and leaders of political parties."

Soviets Want Meeting To Unite Germany And Prepare Peace Treaty

MOSCOW, (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today an immediate Big Four conference to reunite divided Germany and prepare for a peace treaty barring the Germans from alliances aimed at any of their World War II enemies.

Western observers in Moscow predicted the United States, Britain and France would turn down the proposal, which included a detailed outline of principles that the Soviet said would be the basis of the peace treaty. The Russians, said, however, they would discuss other projects also.

(West Germany is one of six governments negotiating to form a European army linked to the Atlantic Alliance against communism—an alliance which Russia has insisted is aggressively directed against her.)

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko handed the plan to Big Three diplomats in Moscow last night. It was made public almost immediately, in early morning Soviet broadcasts and the morning editions of Pravda and other papers.

(In Washington, the State Department's press officer, Michael McDermott, said early today the text of the note had not been received and there would be no U. S. comment until State Department officials have a chance to study it.)

The Russians said they wanted Big Four talks on German unification and on the treaty to begin "without delay" and asked Western answers to their notes "in the shortest possible time."

"The signing of a peace treaty with Germany will be conducive to the improving of the international state of affairs as a whole, thus being conducive to the establishing of a stable peace," the Soviet communication said.

Russia put the unity of Germany ahead of a peace treaty draft, saying the treaty must be worked out with the participation of a general German government.

After the Big Four and Germany agreed on a draft, it would be presented to an "international conference where all the interested states would be represented."

The Soviet list of principles for a German peace seemed identical with previous Russian proposals on the subject.

They called for putting the German border on the lines set by the Big Four in the 1945 Potsdam conference. (This gave a big slice of prewar East German territory to Poland but the West has declared the decision was temporary, subject to revision in a peace treaty.)

Rents Up Here After News Of Air Force Personnel Coming

Rent prices began to take a sudden leap in Snyder this week after officials of Big Spring Air Force Base asked the Chamber of Commerce for rental listings here.

Leon Huff, Jr., Chamber manager, said that about 50 persons have called his office to place their names on listings for Air Force personnel, but he added that their prices are probably higher than military can pay.

BOOM RENTS

A large portion of those who have indicated they might rent to military personnel quoted their rent prices from $80 to $120 a month, which is close to the prices on living quarters here during the height of the oil boom.

Several real estate men here estimated the average rent in Snyder on furnished or unfurnished three room apartments ranges from $50 to $75, adding that many persons have probably raised rents because they believe military personnel will pay more when in need of housing for their families.

STUDY CONDITIONS

Huff said that the average Air Force enlisted man probably cannot afford more than $60 to $75 in rent. He added that the base will send a representative here soon to study the housing situation and that officials at the base will probably decide to try another city, such as Colorado City or Lamesa, after finding that rent prices have again risen here.

The Chamber manager said that one person has indicated that he may build an ample number of duplexes, to house the military who would live here.

Filling Station Is Robbed Here

A lone bandit robbed a service station here last night of $48.58 in an unarmed burglary while two attendants were busy servicing cars at the station.

The burglar, thought to be a hitch hiker, evaded an intensive police search of Snyder and had not been apprehended early today here or in surrounding towns where police were alerted.

Attendants at the Jones Gulf Service Station, 2200 Twenty - fifth Street, told police that the unknown man entered the station while both attendants were busy servicing cars and looted the cash register.

Police said the bandit was described as being about 25 years old, about five feet, nine inches tall, and weighing about 170 pounds. He was dressed in a light green shirt, khaki trousers, and a cloth hat.

L. D. Whitehead and Gail Pettitt were the attendants on duty when the burglary occurred at about 8 o'clock last night.

Cecil Osborne manages the station which is owned by Tom DeShazo.

Government Settles On Mineral Rights

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 11 (AP) —The Federal government has agreed to settle with owners of mineral rights on land lying under Lake Texoma and has offered the claimants about $150,000.

The big fued started when the government condemned land for the reservoir, but neglected to condemn the mineral rights at the same time. Land owners sued for from $17 to $20 an acre on the 30,000 acres, a total of $600,000.

The government has agreed to pay an average of $5 an acre as a compromise.

Cleanup Man Before Hearing To Tell Of Deals With China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newbold Morris, the government cleanup man, goes before Senate investigators today to defend his role in big ship deals and trading with the Chinese Reds.

Morris heads the China International Foundation, Inc., whose subsidiary United Tanker Corp. hauled oil to the Chinese Communists in ships flying the U.S. flag until a month before the Korean War started, in June, 1950.

His law partner, Houston H. Wasson, and other witnesses have named Morris as a lawyer also for a Chinese firm which shipped goods to Red China ports until the war was six months old. China had openly entered the war in its fifth month.

The firm was the China Trading and Industrial Corp., a self-styled Chinese Nationalist group. No witness has explained fully why Nationalists were willing to carry goods to the Chinese Reds.

The Senate investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hoey (D-NC), called Morris to tell whether he questioned the propriety of any of the shipments and if so, whether he tried to halt them.

Wasson, secretary-treasurer of the China International Foundation, has testified the organization could have forbidden United Tanker to sign an oil-carrying contract with a Soviet Russian agency but did not.

Morris, a Republican, has been under fire from the GOP side of Capitol Hill almost from the minute he took the government cleanup job on Feb. 1, and Republican subcommittee members gave frank notice they were preparing a hot reception for him.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has disclosed it is holding up action on a request by President Truman for broad subpoena powers for Morris—authority which even the attorney general does not possess—until after Morris has told his story.

The investigation has set off a Justice Department inquiry into whether there was some concealed relationship between the China Trading Corp. and either the foundation or United Tanker. Witnesses have sworn that China Trading aided United Tanker financially.

Willard L. Thorp, assistant secretary of state in charge of economic affairs, and L. James Falck, a State Department employe, testified yesterday their agency knew in advance that United Tanker planned to take the oil contract, but had entered no objection.

They testified after Col. Arthur G. Syran, transportation chief of the Mutual Security Administration, said he had described United Tanker in an official memorandum in 1950 as "controlled by a Chinese group sympathetic with Soviet motives."

START WORK ON NEW RESERVOIR

Excavation was completed last week for the combination sedimentation basin and water reservoir being built at Thirty-third Street and Avenue M in Snyder. The basin will be used as a filteration plant for water from the lake being completed in Southwest Scurry County until a filteration plant at the lake can be built, and as added reservoir space for city well water is available.—(Lee Watson photograph.)

Stock Show Animals Brought $26,000 To Youths Of County

Scurry County 4-H Club and F-FA boys and girls sold 270 animals in the auction sale following the annual Junior Livestock Association show Saturday afternoon for a grand total of $26,600.64, Oscar Fowler, county agent, said.

The 38 calves sold in the show brought an average of $47.60 per 100 pounds for a total of $14,916.-45.

Top price for an individual calf was paid to Glenn Thompson for his grand champion Hereford calf. It brought $1 per pound. The animal weighed 888 pounds when sold.

In addition Thompson received the $100 prize for the grand champion placing, and a $65 cash award for having his calf place first in the heavy weight class.

HIGH MONEY

Monnie Hedges probably took more money home from the show than any other single exhibitor however. He sold two calves, one hog, and three lambs for a total of $1,222.51. He won some prize money, too, but individual prize totals, and individual placings in the show below tenth place have not been compiled, Fowler said.

The 145 head of sheep sold at th show brought a total of $6,-368.17, and the 83 head of hogs sold for $5,273.02. Four capons were sold for $43.

City Discusses Ordinances

Damage caused by oil in the sewage system was explained last night to 15 service station operators at a brief meeting of the city council.

W. W. Park, city attorney, also read two new ordinances to the group. One concerned horses, mules, jacks, jennets, cattle, sheep, goats and hogs running loose in the city. The other concerned vaccination, muzzling, and impounding of dogs. No action was taken because the city secretary was not present.

Wayland Holt, Snyder lawyer, appeared before the council representing Wayne Butler of Fort Worth who owns property in the 1900 block of Twenty - seventh Street. He was requesting the city pay half the cost of paving in front of his property since paving and guttering had been there before the new paving was laid. He contended that paving already there had been torn out and new paving laid.

Mayor F. G. Sears told Holt that the paving in front of Butler's property had been of sub-standard quality, and if it had not been torn out and re-laid it would have been lower than the rest of the street.

No action was taken, but all councilmen agreed that Butler's claim was not valid.

Health Report For County Is Improved

Communicable diseases in the county slowed their pace last week, according to city - county health unit officials, who reported only 11 cases of influenza for the week ending last Saturday.

Other diseases reported last week were gonorrhea, five; chicken pox, three; and dysentery (bacillary), three.

City Manager Qualifications Provided For

The city charter commission last night adopted for the proposed charter a section providing for a city manager and naming his qualifications and duties.

The manager is to be hired by the city council for an indefinite period and may also be removed from office by the council. It is not necessary that a person be a resident of either the city or the state at the time of his appointment, but he must reside in the city during the time he holds the office.

Removal of the manager from office may be done, according to the tentative provision, by a majority vote of the city council. The procedure for such removal requires the council to pass a preliminary resolution to which the manager may reply in writing within 10 days and require, if he wishes, a hearing before the council. His salary is to continue for the 10 days following the preliminary resolution, and the final resolution removing him from office may be passed in not less than 10 days nor more than 20 days after the first resolution.

The salary of the city manager is open to setting by the council.

Qualifications also include the provision that "no persons who has held an elective office of the city shall be eligible for the appointment of city manager until after one year of his release from such office."

In case of the temporary absence of the manager or his temporary disability to serve, the council may appoint a competent person to act as manager. The city manager is to be the chief executive officer and may hire or remove other appointed officials, "except as otherwise provided by the charter." (The charter provides that the city council is to hire the city secretary.)

The section provides also that one person may head two or more administrative departments and that the manager may also head administrative departments or divisions. He may authorize heads of departments to hire or remove subordinate personnel.

Sheriff Will Get New Cars

Bids proposing to sell the county four new automobiles for the sheriff's department will be called for consideration March 24, the commissioners court decided yesterday.

The court authorized calling for bids for three light, standard-weight cars and one medium to heavy - weight car. They are to replace two 1949 Plymouth sedans, a 1948 light Chrysler sedan, and a 1950 Pontiac sedan, all of which are to be traded in on the new ones.

The commissioners also granted the sheriff authority to deputize Bob Collins, county airport manager, to work as an officer at Winston Field. The request was made by Lloyd Merritt, sheriff, who told the court the airport board had requested him to deputize an officer for the field. The Civil Aeronautics Administration requires that all CAA approved airports have an officer on duty.

Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash) displays in Washington half a shirt he said was sent him by Ira Reavis of Bellingham, Wash. A half-shirt is "useless to me," Cain said, and tried unsuccessfully to give it to Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash), who was sent the other half. Reavis explained in a note which Cain read to the senate, that since the federal tax collector had taker everything else, he figured the senators might as well share the shirt off his back.

Fire Truck To Oklahoma City

Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, will take the Ford truck purchased recently for the fire department by Scurry County to Oklahoma City tomorrow to have a tank, pump, and other equipment installed.

The Boardman Fire Fighting Equipment Co. of Oklahoma City is to build a custom fire fighting unit for the truck at a cost of $3,880.

It will include a 600 - gallon water tank, which will greatly increase the department's ability to fight out of town fires, Gatlin said.

About 120 days will be required to complete the special unit.

The truck was purchased for $2,249. Enough money will be left in a $7,000 fund provided by the county to purchase hose and other auxiliary equipment to complete the truck as a fire fighting unit, Gatlin said.

TEXAS BRANDS

BY JOHN M. HENDRIX

The Double Diamond brand had its origin before 1877 in Navarro County and was originated by a Mr. Gowan and originally had a half circle over it. The cattle wearing it were moved to Clay County in 1877. Mr. Gowan sold the brand and cattle to J. B. Young in 1882. They were on free range and the brand became widely known about that time. In 1889 the Double Diamond brand and cattle were bought by Sam Sherwood who moved them to the Indian Territory. The brand was discontinued shortly thereafter.

The Double Diamond was revived in Briscoe County by J. H. and J. W. Burson in 1897 without the half circle and has continued until this day as we know it and is owned by members of the Burson family.

Big Penalty In Insurance Rates Against Snyder

A preliminary check of the State Fire Insurance Commission's report on fire losses in Snyder last year has resulted in discovery that the city was charged with at least $9,000 in losses from fires outside the city limits, Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said.

The commission recently increased the fire insurance rates in Snyder by a total of 20 per cent. Last year the city had a 15 per cent fire loss credit. If no changes are made, a penalty of five per cent will be charged above the regular premium rate this year.

Gatlin said losses listed in the report from the commission for Snyder for last year totaled $160,-493.66. Much of that was from small fires which were not reported to the fire department at the time they occurred, he added.

One big fire which occurred on Dec. 19, 1950, was included in the loss total for 1951 because the insurance claims were not settled until last year, Gatlin said. That was the $60,000 Waymar Apartment house fire in which two apartment buildings burned and others were damaged.

Gatlin is optimistic that at least the five percent penalty can be saved by going over the commissions report carefully, and by checking the location of each fire included in the report.

He said he believes as much as $13,000 in losses can possibly be deducted from the total reported against Snyder.

Postmaster Is Quitting

Mrs. John Cason has presented her resignation as post master at Ira effective April 1.

Mrs. Cason is moving to Lamesa.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coats, Jr., were week-end visitors of his sister, Mrs. Jack Sparks, and Mr. Sparks, 411 Twentieth Street.

William M. Johnston, west of Snyder, was returned home Friday from Providence Hospital in Waco where he had been treated for pneumonia. He is reported much improved.

Money Raised For Rainmaker

LAMESA — A total of $28,700 was paid into the West Texas Weather Improvement District last night by seven of the counties who comprise its membership.

The executive committee of the district accepted the Krick Weather Improvement Service bid for a try at increasing the rainfall over the district. A cheaper bid by the North American Weather Improvement Service of Pasadena, Calif., first offered Sunday night, was rejected after considerable discussion.

Carson Echols of Lamesa was elected president of the district. Other officers elected were R. C. Anderson, Lamesa, vice president; Joe McDaniel, Gaines County, secretary, and Doyle Hankins, Lamesa, treasurer.

Counties who made payments last night were: Terry, $5,700; Borden, $2,500; Dawson, $6,550; Lynn, $5,000; Gaines, $4,000; Martin, $2,-500, and Howard, $2,400.

Stonewall County representatives attended the meeting as spectators. Yoakum County, a member of the organization, did not send representatives. Midland and Andrews Counties reported solicitation for the fund, but made no report. Mitchell County reported subscriptions totaling more than $600.

Woman On Jury Breaks Traditions In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An expectant mother threw the otherwise very dignified Oklahoma County District Court into a dither yesterday.

The lady insisted on serving on the jury although the judge offered to excuse her.

As the case drew to a close, Judge W. A. Carlile was extremely troubled. To reach the jury room it was necessary to climb a flight of steep stairs. He finally threw aside all court tradition, cleared the courtroom, and allowed the jury to deliberate in their seats.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

The only family story in which we never lose interest is our own.

County home demonstration clubs realize this fact and are planning a project to preserve family records. The gathering together of the family records can be a creative activity for the whole family. Many years ago the big family Bible and the old family album occupied the place of honor in every household. Family dates and records were written with a flourish in the big book which was always on display on the center table. Today we find that there are many families whose family Bible has few family records and many times the family has moved away from the original home and perhaps some other member of the family has inherited the old family Bible.

Many families have evidence of great family interest and pride in their family which has been traced so many generations back and in many cases has been assembled and printed or mimeographed for every family member. Many of these family histories or family trees are records of family ancestors as far back as families can trace their lineage with little or no space devoted to the family as it is today. Certainly all families do want to know their heredity. Every family should know all vital facts about their family for at least two or three generations. This is of real interest and value to members of the family, but many histories get lost in the past.

New family albums may now be bought with leaves for mounting pictures covered with plastic which gives visible protection for photographs or other documents. These covers are transparent, moisture proof, soil resistant and are made of non-inflammable plastic.

Families still have their own special celebrations and customs which make every family different from all others. These details will make of your family history a real record of family living.

All families need also to provide a special place for the recording of deaths as well as births. Death certificates are after all as necessary as birth certificates and to fill them out families need to know accurate dates of birth and death of all family members. It is certainly wise to have such information in some place where it is available to the family.

Mrs. MILDRED SPARKS, county home demonstration agent, has two family tree patterns which will give a start to the genealogical interested.

Even if you do trace your family back to horse thieves, think nothing of it. Our grandfather, a sage old doctor and lawyer traced our family back to Scandanavians who crossed the straight of something-or-other and robbed the Anglo-Saxons!

Local businessman says today when you write your congressman a post card you are literally putting in your two-cents worth!

Ask Mildred

Send your questions to Mrs. Mildred Sparks, county home demonstration agent, the courthouse, or to the Daily News.

I like canned soups very much, and I am wondering if you could suggest some combination of soups which I could try. Mrs. R. L. T.

You migh try the following: cream of mushroom and chicken or split pea; cream of tomato and cream of celery, split pea chicken gumbo or pepper pot; chicken and cream of celery, vegetable or clam chowder.

* * *

I guess what I hate most about house cleaning is shaking the oil mop. Have you any suggestions for eliminating this unpleasant procedure? Mrs. N.

You can make or buy slip overs for the mop out of cotton flannel. Wash it in hot soapsuds after using it. Make or buy two, so you'll always have one clean and ready to use.

My baby sleeps in a sleeping bag arrangement but is fast outgrowing it. I have heard of a new sleeping bag on the market and wonder how it works to "grow" with the child. Mrs. A. N.

I have seen a new "Slumber-Gro" sleeping bag of sanforized cotton flannelette or cotton blanket cloth, among other fabrics. The growing powers of the bag are three six-inch folds stitched in the botton to be let out as needed.

* * *

What could I do with old terry towels besides making the usual wash cloths? Mrs. S.

You might try making soapy mittens for children in your family. Simply make mittens with a soap pouch in the palm. Or make mittens for yourself to use when you want to scrub dirt out of corners without ruining your fingernails.

Chinese Reds Appear To Have Good Way To Stop Corruption

HONG KONG, March 11 (AP) — Come on along to one of those public confession blowouts they are holding now all over Communist China.

It is part of an anti-corruption, anti-waste, anti-bureaucratic campaign that preoccupies the Peiping regime. It is something to see.

The Communists don't like to have Westerners prowling back of their bamboo curtain, so we'll have to look through the eyes of a private correspondent for Wah Kiu Yat Pao, an independent newspaper here in Hong Kong.

The setting for this confession party was Canton. There was quite a crowd around—partly faithful of all degrees and probably quite a few just plain ordinary curious Chinese.

The bigger local shots sat on the mourners' bench up front.

Ma Ping-shan, deputy director of the South China Party Secretariat, spoke up first.

He confessed that while in Peiping last year for the national conference of the party secretaries-general he spent more than 1,300,000 Red dollars (about $60 U. S.) of government money.

More than 400,000 ($18) was whooped off for entertainment and gifts to friends. These bargain-basement peccadillos, he realized, were a terrible sin. He was sorry and could see now the error of his ways.

After this 10-cent pump-priming, he called "upon all corrupt elements to make a clean breast of their malpractices and upon everybody to criticize those whom they know to be guilty."

In such a situation under Chinese communism it is often one of the ardent young woman comrades who steps up.

Li Ping, a member of the New Democratic Youth League and an employe of the secretariat under the repentant Ma Ping-shan, bounced up and began criticizing not herself but:

A. Her husband, Kuam Kai a communications man in the secretariat.

B. Wang Chian-peng and Tai Hsiang-shih, two other secretariat workers.

In the early days of the "liberation" two years ago, she said, they dipped into the office gasoline money. Once they took a bribe of 2,000,000 ($48 U.S.) from a merchant who sold material to the regime.

At this point, the meeting displayed great confessional enthusiasm. Souls were being laid bare without much damage being done to any party people. But the tattling virus was taking hold.

Li Ping hadn't any more than taken her righteousness and her baggy trousers back to her bench when a party member Tien Yu and Youth Leaguer Liu Yu-chang waltzed out.

They put the finger on Wang Chien-peng, chief of the former administrative section of the Canton municipal government.

Wang's boodle came to a staggering five million (U.S. $240). He first embezzled it, then he squandered it. Someone else jumped up and said that on top of that Wang suppressed criticism of decadent living.

Wang looked like the target for the day but the evil of others was being abundantly brought to light. By the end of the first session the list of the accused was growing fast.

So far, no punishment had been ordered. The crowd seemed to people begin to get arrested and put in jail, or on work projects like driving spikes on a Sinkiang Desert railroad, or making little ones out of big ones in a Manchurian mine. That is, if they aren't shot.

They know these confessions are supposed to be for one's good, lift the burden from the soul and make everyone happy.

Trouble is, a week or so later have been uplifted by the stimulant of a confession that turned out to be mostly accusation. Everybody seemed to feel good.

Everybody, that is, but those accused of taking too much money. They were worried.

in cotton-insect control

Early season control gets the young plants off to a healthy start . . . and it's no problem at all for aldrin.

So powerful that an early season dust or spray for an acre of ground contains only 2 ounces of actual aldrin; aldrin goes to work at once . . . with dead bugs falling in an hour or two. Even if rain falls the next day, aldrin's killing job is accomplished. At the same time aldrin does less harm to beneficial insect parasites which help to depress aphid and mite buildup.

Lowest cost . . . On an acre-for-acre control basis, aldrin costs less to use (either spray or dust) than any other cotton insecticide. And aldrin is approved in every cotton area in the country!

Aldrin can be sprayed as you cultivate : : : saving an extra operation. Aldrin will not clog spray nozzles . . . use any conventional equipment.

If you want the best at lowest cost . . . ask your dealer for aldrin . . . available everywhere:

Strip-Tease Losing Out With Japanese

TOKYO (AP)—The strip-tease show, one of America's unintentional contributions to Japanese theatrics seems to be on its last legs in Tokyo.

Its decline is being hastened by the sudden emergence of a new all-Japanese style of entertainment called a "swordswoman's drama."

The swordswoman dramas, like western movies, all have essentially the same plot.

A frail heroine, bullied and beset by cruel men, becomes an Amazon in the last act. Snatching up a Samurai sword, Jpaan's traditional heavy-slashing weapon, she mows down her tormenters like hay.

Japanese men and women, under a foreign occupation for the first time in the country's history, apparently get a symbolic thrill from the dramatic ending.

The Samurai sword itself is a powerful Japanese symbol. For 1,000 years it was considered "the soul of the Samurai"—the revered warrior class—and even today a display of swords will draw a crowd.

At any rate at a time when Japan's biggest amusement company had closed its No. 1 strip-tease house near occupation headquarters, Michiko Oye, a leading "swordswoman," has won the top spot in an all-Japan stage popularity poll. The poll was conducted by Daily Sports, the Japanese equivalent of Variety, and there wasn't a single stripper on the list.

The earlier popularity of the strip show was one of Japan's post war phenomena. The Japanese usually handle sex on the stage in a rather restrained way, but in the rush to ape anything American, the strip tease attained a certain popularity.

Says Contracts In Hollywood Run Too Long

ROME, March 11 (AP) — "Goldielegs" Franca Faldini, Miss Cheesecake 1951, can sign her own contracts now.

She was 21 on Feb. 1.

But, said the shapely Italian actress who fled recently from Hollywood blandishments, she won't sign any long term American contract.

Miss Faldini was picked as "Miss Cheesecake" by occupation troops in Germany after they got a good look at a picture of her in the Army's Stars and Stripes. She plans to give her soldier admirers soon a real - life closeup of the legs and curves that won her the title.

Franca won her title while she was in Hollywood under a Howard Hughes contract. In Paramount's "At Sea With the Navy" she did a torrid hula.

Cheesecake, she says, is all right, "but what really interests me is deep — down acting and drama." The reason she took off from Hollywood was because they didn't give her enough work to do.

The "Goldie-legs" was hung on her by Italian friends when they spotted her underpinnings wrapped in 24-karat gold mesh stockings—a gift from an American hosiery manufacturer who wanted to give her some slight token of regard for the advertising her legs had given his product.

In the rambling, old-fashioned Rome apartment where she lives with her father and mother, Franca rips along in American slang English.

Her father and mother beam as they try to catch the strange words of the foreign language. You can see that they are pleased and happy because of her American triumph.

When Franca left the United States—pell-mell sort of—a studio representative trailed her and enlisted the New York police to track her down to her hotel.

"Wow" she said. "The police—I was worried."

Then the phone rang. It was Hughes' man. He tried to talk her into going back to Hollywood. But Franca's mind was made up.

Pfc. Warren G. McConnell (above) of Alloway, N. J., now serving a ten-year sentence on charge of sleeping while on guard duty in Korea, will have his sentence appealed. Washington attorney Myron G. Ehrlich announced he has been retained by boy's father, Dorsey McConnell, to appeal sentence on grounds boy was assigned guard duty after having served 72 hours on other active duty.

German Cleared As Carrier Of Disease

OTTAWA (AP)—Big, blond Willi Bruentjen, an immigrant German farmhand, flies back to Vancouver tonight with $50 in his pocket and the happy knowledge that he didn't bring Canada's current outbreak of foot and mouth disease from a German farm.

He was cleared last night of suspicion he might be the innocent carrier of the cattle disease after 11 days of federal laboratory tests.

He was paid $50 for time spent at the laboratory.

Authorities feared that he might have brought the virus on his clothes from a farm in Germany where he worked and where it broke out before his departure.

City League Finals To Start Tonight

The D & H Food basketball squad nabbed third place in city league practice game standings last night as they ran over National Guard 39 - 18:

The loss was the seventh for the National Guard as teams had their last practice night before the tourney for championship.

D & H led by eight points at the end of the first quarter and kept a good lead throughout the game. Eddie Hight accounted for 24 points, the majority of those made by D & H. Rudy Minor was high scorer for the National Guard with 6.

In last night's second game, Wade Pipkin Motors captured fourth place by defeating the Jaycees 52-38.

Fifteen of the Wade Pipkin points were tallied by Ernest Kinney, while Lewis LaBaume made nine for the Jaycees.

The championship tourney, which begins tonight, will last about two weeks. Tonight's first game will not begin until about 8:30 o'clock, after a high school girls' volleyball game ends.

Scheduled to play tonight are Sunray vs. Jaycees and Pan American vs. National Guard. The remainder of the first round will be played Thursday night when Wade played Thursday night when Wade Pipkin Mitors meets D & H Food Chuck Wagon.

All teams were instructed this week by the Quarterback Club league committee to turn in complete rosters before they play in the tourney. Changes on the rosters cannot be made during the tourney without approval of the committee. John T. Lynch and Blue Lowry will be officials for the series of games.

Nobody In Texas Conference Wants To Become 'Amateurs'

By The Associated Press

Austin College can make football "amateur" by abolishing athletic scholarships and other athletic aid but its fellow members of the Texas Conference aren't having any, thanks.

Reaction from the other four members — Howard Payne, McMurry, Abilene Christian College and Texas A&I — was quite similar to a proposal from the trustees of Austin College that intercollegiate athletics be on purely an amateur basis which, they said, would mean cutting off all aid to the athletes although professional coaches would be retained.

What they want to do is to eliminate any kind of financial help for a boy because of his participation in athletics. They called on the other colleges to follow suit.

At McMurry College, athletic director Wilford Moore said: "We have no intentions whatsoever in following Austin College's 'amateur' program and, in fact, we are going forward with our athletic program."

At Abilene Christian College, Athletic Director A. B. Morris said, "We plan no change in our athletic program. We are going to continue to have a well-rounded program, putting equal emphasis on each sport."

Said Dr. Ernest H. Poteet, president of Texas A&I: "A&I will continue in intercollegiate athletics, going along just as we have been going. We will continue our athletic scholarships. At A&I our athletes earn their scholarships. Sports have not been over-exaggerated at Texas A&I. We have always aimed at building men first. Putting out winners is important, but secondary. Some of our best students are football players."

Football Coach Dewey Mayhew of A&I said "We will go along just as we have been going where football and intercollegiate athletics are concerned." Mayhew has a record of operating the athletic program in the black each year.

Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president, Athletic Director Carl Anderson and business manager and Track Coach J. H. Shelton of Howard Payne, said a limit on athletic scholarships might be advisable but complete elimination probably would mean the same situation would develop with a different complexion such as student aid in various forms.

Anderson said he could go along on a policy of limiting scholarships but wouldn't favor limiting the number of men in uniform to some certain number. "That would mean non-scholarship boys who do not have the ability of being worthy additions to the squad could not come out for football just because they want to participate in the sport," he commented.

They all said that on a strictly amateur basis, completing schedules in the five-member conference would become more difficult than ever — unless the simon-pure code was observed all over.

They thought it would be discrimination against athletes whose worthy service on the athletic field might merit the scholarships making possible their higher education, pointing out that scholarships are provided from various sources for students who are not athletes.

Shelton said he felt that operation under the amateur proposal would mean the conference might fold up.

The Big State Conference already operates under a code that eliminates football and requires participation only in basketball — but even that conference has athletic scholarships although limiting them to 12 per school per year. In this conference are Southwestern, St. Edwards, St. Mary's, Daniel Baker, Texas Lutheran, East Texas Baptist and Texas Wesleyan. Wesleyan and Southwestern formerly were in the Texas Conference.

Holy Cross, St. Bonaventure And LaSalle Take Victories

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Hickey and Dudey Moore, whose St. Louis University and Duquesne teams make their first appearances in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament, did a little scouting from the upstairs press box at Madison Square Garden last night.

They were somewhat less impressed by what they saw than the 18,310 fans who watched St. Bonaventure and LaSalle make their way into the semi-finals and Holy Cross come through belatedly with a smashing first-round victory.

St. Bonaventure, almost blowing a huge lead, barely outlasted Western Kentucky, 70-69. LaSalle provided the tournament's first real upset, whipping third-seeded St. John's of Brooklyn, 51-45.

Holy Cross, tabbed by Coach Bus Sheary as "the best friends of New England undertakers" because it has won so many close games in the last minutes, came through with a flashy final quarter to rout Seattle University, 77-72.

The fans, giving noisy expression to their enthusiasm, apparently loved it all. And if they were disappointed in the showing of some of the publicized stars, they found a couple of record breakers to admire.

LaSalle's Norm Grekin broke the tournament record for foul shooting when he netted 13 free throws in the second game. Seattle's little Johnny O'Brien, who scored more than 1,000 points during the regular season, wiped out that mark in the next game with 15, although he was held to three field goals.

Between them they erased the NIT record of 12 free throws, made by Jack Kerris of Loyola (Chicago) in 1949 and O'Brien equaled the Garden record of 15, made in 1947 by Mac Otten of Bowling Green.

Hickey, the serious little St. Louis coach who has an intense dislike for "control" basketball, watched St. Bonaventure make a botch of an effort to slow down the action against Western Kentucky and remarked:

"I don't think any team can be good without a fast break. St. Bonaventure essentially is not a fast breaking team and it didn't have the weapon when it was pressed. The game demonstrated the value of a pressing defense."

Then St. John's came on for the middle section of the triple-header, tried to play a slow "possession" game and lost it in the closing minutes when the scrappy young LaSalle players refused to have any part of this style of play.

Tonight its Duquesne against Holy Cross and St. Louis against Dayton in the remaining quarter-final games. Duquesne and St. Louis, seeded first and second, drew byes while Dayton trounced New York University, 81-66, last Saturday.

Moore credited the smart St. John's defense with holding Tom Gola, the touted LaSalle freshman, in check but pointed out that LaSalle's shooting was particularly bad in the first half.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Veteran first baseman Johnny Mize of the New York Yankees is up to his old tricks—hitting in the clutch.

Mize, who figures to be used primarily as a pinch-hitter this year, socked a two-run double yesterday as the Yanks downed the Boston Red Sox, 7-4, at St. Petersburg.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—New York Giant Manager Leo Durocher is upset over the performance of his National League champions.

His regular pitchers are being hit hard and misplays have cost the Giants at least one game in their duels with the Cleveland Indians.

Yesterday, a second string of Indians beat the Giants, 4-0, while a "b" Giant squad thumped the Chicago Cubs, 15-3.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Tiger pitching staff is so slim the squad's rookie hurlers are getting extra-frequent mound duty.

"After you get beyond our first six or seven pitchers, we don't know just what we've got," said Manager Red Rolfe.

A makeshift lineup that included only Vic Wertz and Hoot Evers of last year's regulars lost yesterday to the Washington Senators, 4-1.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — The Boston Braves will seek revenge today against Manager Eddie Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals for yesterday's 8-5 setback when they tangle at St. Petersburg.

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs have made their first cut of the spring by sending pitcher Andy Varga to their Los Angeles farm club now training at Fullerton, Calif.

Dimmitt, whose boys team went undefeated and won the state and division championships, is a favorite to do the same in the girls' league. But the competition will be tough.

Dimmitt and Penelope are favored to reach the finals of the upper bracket and New Deal and Seagoville in the lower bracket.

The opening schedule:

Dimmitt vs East Chambers, Three Way vs Aledo, Sunray vs Bullard, Huckabay vs Penelope, New Deal vs Evant, Meadow vs Midway, Noodle vs Meridian, Peacock vs Seagoville.

Ted Schroeder Will Pass Up Future Meets

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 10 (AP) — Ted Schroeder, veteran Davis Cup tennis player, today said he has decided to pass up playing in future Davis Cup matches and at Forest Hills and Wimbledon.

He said he was bowing out of big-time tennis "for purely personal reasons. I don't want to make the effort necessary for big-time tennis."

"I'd just like to play the game for the fun I get out of it," the La Crescenta, Calif., refrigerator salesman told a civic club luncheon.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 11 (AP) — The second annual national Seniors Best-Ball Golf Tourney for men began today.

Revolution Cancels Festivities In Havana After Yacht Race

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11 (AP)—The annual 284-mile St. Petersburg to Havana yacht race was over today but the 27 competing craft were strung out along the entire route.

The Cuban revolt cancelled all race festivities in Havana. Eight of the craft never reached their destination.

The Red Bird and the Water Witch put in at Key West, the Wicked Witch and the Red Witch put in at Naples, Fla. The North Wind, Allyne B III and Doris III turned back to St. Petersburg.

John D. Hertz, Jr.'s great ketch Ticonderoga won the race in record time, covering the distance in 31:36.15 to beat the old record of 35:03.47 set in 1949 by Bellatrix.

Second to finish was Caribbee, owned by Carleton Mitchell of Annapolis, Md., in 34:22.29. Gulf Stream of Houston was third.

Racing News Not Profitable

CLEVELAND (AP) — Continental Press, harassed by federal crime hunters as a multi-million dollar horse race result service for the nation's bookies, says tomorrow is its final day.

The reason, it said: poor business.

But a public official appeared dubious today that the syndication of horse bet payoffs is dead.

Granting that bookie and "scratch sheet" business is "way down" because of the 10 per cent federal gambling tax. Police Lt. Martin P. Cooney of the Cleveland racket squad said Continental subscribers have millions invested in race news equipment.

"It may not pay them (Continental's operators) to keep on paying that Western Union bill," said Cooney. "But there's millions tied up in that wire and it would be too costly to tear it all out."

Continental subscribers, the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee said, fan out horse race results to bookies all over the nation. Continental insisted that all its subscribers had legal operations.

The new men are Orville Eckstine of Webster City, Ia., and Alton Sample, Girard, O., purchased from the K-O-M League; Warren Heklie, Windsor, Canada, purchased from the Mississippi-Ohio Valley League; William Valentine, North Little Rock, Ark., purchased from the Ohio-Indiana League, and Richard Melchin, Kewanee, Ill., signed as a free agent. He worked last year in the Ohio - Indiana League.

Dutch Meyer Writes Book On His Formation

FORT WORTH, March 11 (AP) — "Spread Formation Football," a book by Dutch Meyer on the football formation he devised, will be published in the early fall by Prentice-Hall of New York.

The longtime Texas Christian University football coach has just completed the 60,000-word book.

Meyer devised his spread formation a number of years ago and used it as a supplement to his wing-back style. He installed it as his basic offense last season.

Sewell of Sam Houston and Ralph Sholars of East Texas.

Maze, Southwest's six foot-five inch senior center, was the only unanimous choice. It was his third season to make the mythical all-star team.

Sewell, a sophomore, was the league's leading scorer with 376 points, a new season record, and boasted the best game average in the conference, 15.7. Maze, with 361, was second in scoring while Asimos, only other repeater on the all-star team, ranked third with 359 points. Berry scored 242 over the season.

Beven's Arm Is OK, He's Sure He Can Make His Comeback Now

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—"See that big fellow over there" Cincinnati Manager Luke Sewell was saying. "He's an old friend of yours. Why don't you go over and talk with him? He may be the biggest story of the year."

"The old friend" turned out to be Floyd (Bill) Bevens. Remember him? He's the guy who came within two strikes of pitching the only World Series no-hitter.

This is the same Bevens who needed only one more out to pitch the Yankees to a no-hit victory over the Dodgers in the fourth game of the 1947 series. Picture the drama-packed scene.

The Dodgers at bat, runners on first and second and two out in the ninth. Bevens hadn't allowed a hit. Cookie Lavagetto, pinch-hitting for Eddie Stanky, missed the first pitch, then lashed a long liner against the right field fence. The blow not only ruined Bevens' no-hit dream but gave the Dodgers a stunning 3-2 victory.

The big righthander, now 34, is attempting a comeback with the Reds after four years of wandering around from one minor league team to another. A mysterious ailment that caused his pitching arm to go dead at the height of his career had caused his dismissal by the Yankees before he had pitched a single game in 1948.

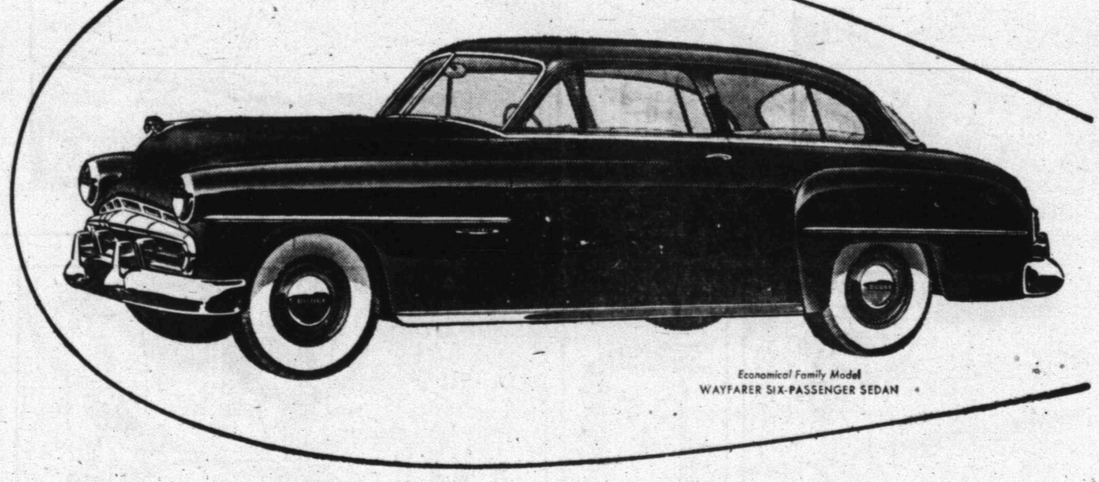

In 1950, Bevens was advised to see Dr. Wayne Anderson, Cincinnati trainer and osteopath. Anderson found the source of the trouble. After weeks of treatment, Bevens finally was ready to pitch. He took a job pitching for his home town Salem club of the Class B Western International League. The Reds drafted him from that club for $4,000 after he had won 20 games.

"The arm felt good right from the start," he said. "It never hurt me all year. I had the same old delivery and about the same speed. I was delighted, of course, but I still wanted more proof that the arm really had come back. So I asked Manager Hugh Luby, the old Giant infielder, to pitch me with only two days of rest. That happened five times and I won each time while going the route. That convinced me that I had come back."

Bevens realizes he may not be as good as he was in his days as a Yankee starter, but he is convinced he can still pitch winning ball in the majors.

Hospital Specializes In Use Of Atomic Medicine For Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., March 11 (AP) —The world's first atomic cancer hospital is sending some patients home feeling better, with renewed life.

In just under two years, it has treated some 150 patients. When they came, all were people who could not benefit from usual treatment.

It is much too early to tell whether a single one has been cured. But a fair percentage went home feeling better, some given longer life, a few with their disease perhaps temporarily arrested.

The 30-bed hospital looks much like other hospitals. But it has special equipment, and special problems. Many of the medicines are radioactive. Patients often become temporarily radioactive from drinking atomic "cocktails" or taking injections of atomic medicines.

Their radio-medicines come from the Oak Ridge atomic oven, located only a few miles away, or from the atom-smashing cyclotron. The radio-atoms give off rays that may kill cancer cells.

The hospital was set up here so patients could get radio - atoms, which last or live only a short time, and also benefit from the facilities and knowledge in the Oak Ridge atomic center.

Two similar hospitals have since been set up, near the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago, and Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island, New York.

The one here is operated by the medical division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, an educational organization sponsored by 29 Southern universities. Dr. Marshall Brucer heads the hospital staff of 60 doctors, radiologists, physicists, nurses and other personnel.

Usually the hospital has about 20 patients at a time, and they stay two weeks to two months. They are selected on recommendation from doctors in medical schools of the co-operating universities. First choices are patients who might especially benefit from atomic medicines, or whose cancers offer the best opportunity to learn new potentially life-saving knowledge.

"Please stress that people should not write to us in hopes of being admitted," hospital staff doctors said. "We are strictly limited on admission."

Patients volunteer for trials of radio-medicines. There is no guarantee of benefit but there is assurance that none of the new medicines will do harm. Patients also are treated by X-rays coming from powerful bits of radioactive metals.

Best known of the radio-medicines so far is radio-iodine-131, for thyroid cancer. The iodine concentrates in thyroid tissue and in thyroid cancers which have spread to other parts of the body. Drinks of radio-iodine have helped a number of patients, and kept alive or greatly improved some who otherwise would soon have died.

Phosphorous-32 sometimes brings temporary improvements in Leukemia.

It also assists in fighting another disease, polycythemia vera, in which there are too many red cells in the blood.

Liquid radio-gold-198 brings more comfort to people with cancers accompanied by watery accumulations in the abdomen or chest. The gold somehow slows this process, but doesn't seem to affect the cancers.

Newest of the radio-atoms is gallium-67, a metal of the aluminum family, grayish white in color, which melts in your hand. Gallium is a hope for cancers and tumors of bones. It concentrates in bones, just as iodine does in thyroid tissue.

Industrial Accidents Still Waste Many Hours Of Work

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP) — On-the-job injuries last year lost enough work hours in the United States to have built 700,000 five-room houses, — or 7,500 twelve-room school buildings.

An increasing number of companies are fighting the growing industrial accident rate — it went up nine per cent last year — by redoubling safety efforts and staging various types of safety contests.

The growth in the accident rate is partly due to the increasing number of industrial workers and to the change-over to defense work, which often means using unfamiliar tools, according to Robert Mattox of the Mutual Insurance 200th Anniversary Committee. This group represents 2,600 mutual fire and casualty companies in the country who are observing the establishment of mutual insurance in America 200 years ago.

Mattox quotes Bureau of Labor statistics' estimates to show that more than two million American workers were disabled by work injuries last year — about 16,000 of the accidents being fatal, and 91,000 other persons suffering some permanent disability such as amputation.

The committee is working on a rehabilitation program to return as many of the 91,000 as possible to gainful employment.

The growing accident rate has caused many companies to step-up safety contests in their plants. About half of the companies recently surveyed by the industrial conference board are offering cash awards for safety records. Next most popular prize is either the departmental or the individual trophy. Some companies give merchandise awards for good safety records, and a few offer employes trips.

Here are a few schemes that some companies try, typical of many others in all parts of the country. Most base their contests on "frequency rate" — this is the number of lost-time accidents per manhours worked. Lost-time means an injury that keeps a worker from showing up at his next regular shift. The plant, division, or individual with the lowest frequency rate wins.

Kimberly Clark runs a safety derby for its field service crews in the timber and paper business. Each "owns" a former derby winner to run on a six-lane chart. For the horse to run a mile, the crew must go 30 days without a lost-time accident. After such an accident the crew's horse must start the mile over. Cash prizes are given for win, show or place.

Sherwin Williams Co. makes each department complete against its own past record, instead of against each other. The prize goes for the best improvement.

Humble Oil and Refining Co. gives each plant a safety goal, and hands out trophies to each employe when the plant achieves the goal. Goals are stepped up 10 per cent each time they're achieved.

Old Doc Diagnosed His Own Right, Going Home 'To Wait'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Old Doc Ervin, a country doctor who rarely bothered to send bills to his patients, can have visitors now.

Monday, he'll be leaving Baptist Hospital for home.

Home is Inverness, a small town in West-Central Mississippi, where Old Doc—his full name is Dr. W. L. Ervin—has practiced medicine for 33 of his 75 years.

But Old Doc, whose patients—both black and white, rich and poor—chipped in to raise $2,000 for his medical expenses, won't be going home as happy as he could be.

Doc's diagnosis of his ailment was confirmed by the big city physicians. They operated and found he was suffering with cancer of the liver, and that it was too late to remove the organ.

So he'll be going back to Inverness—to wait.

When told of this, Old Doc didn't lose his famous smile. He set his mind to feel a few pulses, take a few temperatures and write a few prescriptions for patients who'll call at his home—while he's waiting.

As far as is known, Old Doc's smile has left him only once. That was when the people of Inverness and thereabouts presented him with the fund. He broke down and cried.

But he didn't cry this time. He was happy, knowing he was going to be among the folks who live in big plantation homes and broken down tenant cabins, the neighbors who came to his aid when he needed it most.

The money for the gray-haired doctor with twinkling blue eyes was collected in a campaign that found solicitors knocking on doors of mansions and rickety shacks alike. It was kept a secret until the day he arrived here for treatment.

"Best people in the world down there, both black and white," Old Doc said, with a lump in his throat.

Many was the time Old Doc made his round to minister to the sick and got a fee of only a spoken "thanks," or a slab of bacon, or

Motel Operators Must Watch Things Left Behind By Guests

Many a person who has sought a job as manager of a motel thought he was securing an easy position, where he could sit around most of the day and occasionally check a person in or out.

That was only his conception of the job until he began in the work, then he found that it wasn't the cinch he had figured. And among the biggest of jobs in the business was taking care of things guests left in their rooms when they checked out.

Guests, according to many motel managers here, are very forgetful persons, especially the ones who are hundreds of miles away before they think about the toothbrush they left in Snyder.

MOST FORGOTTEN

That which seems to be most often forgotten is a suit of clothes or a toilet kit, managers say, and it's up to the manager to attempt to get the lost article back to its proper owner.

A large percentage of the forgetters call or write the motel from their homes or somewhere along their route of travel and ask that it be sent to them. Many times, the items have already been bundled and sent before the ex-guest inquires. Usually the manager, after the maid has cleaned the room and found something that has been left, wraps it up and sends it to the address given by the guest when he checked into the motel.

UPPER PLATE

A. D. Flatt, manager of the Canyon Courts, said that one of the most unusual cases of forgetfulness on the part of one of his guests was when a lady checked out in the early hours of the morning and was ready to eat breakfast in Anson when she discovered she had left her false teeth here. She called Flatt and asked him to send them to her home in New York.

Rarely, the motel men say, do guests forget anything of much value. Jack Nesbit of Nesbit's Motel said that the most valuable item ever left there was a ladies handbag containing $36, and the lady drove back from Mineral Wells to Snyder to recover the purse. He remember an incident that occurred when he was a hotel manager in Biloxi, Miss., — a professional baseball player and his wife forgot a package containing $15,000 worth of jewelry when they checked out. After a week elapsed, the baseballer finally called for his package and told Nesbit the value of the contents.

Harry Holbrook at the Sunset Courts remembered a man from Minnesota who forgot a pillow and later wrote to Holbrook and asked him to send it to him.

MOST ARE CLAIMED

Most guests remember their loss shortly after they leave the motels, managers agree, and none have very many items now unclaimed.

Guests rarely take linens and other articles which belong to the motels, managers say. Most agreed that taking towels, ash trays, bed clothing, and other possessions of the landlord is a practice usually confined to hotels and other large establishments. Occasionally guests will take towels bearing the names of the motel as a souvenier.

Truitt Berryman, manager of the Manhattan Hotel, has had little trouble with those who take things belonging to the hotel, but he said that many leave clothes here. A few sneak out without paying bills and leave their clothes to avoid being caught, he said. Many times, they will come back when they have enough money to cover the bill and recover their clothes.

All the managers say they keep the forgotten articles on hand for several weeks or months if they cannot locate the owners to give them a chance to call for them. If the lost items are not picked up, managers must find other ways to dispose of them. Possibly they all use the method Berryman said he uses: "If they don't get their clothes in a reasonable length of time, we give them to someone else."

DOROTHY THOMPSON SAYS

UMT Is Too Important To Be Sent Back To Committee

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The matter of universal military training should, of course, have been settled instead of returned, as it has been, to committee, because it would appear that nothing more could be said on the subject by either its advocates or opponents.

We confess we have been dissatisfied by the arguments of both sides—some of which were utterly pointless.

When Rep. Adam Powell of New York attacked UMT on the ground that it follows Communist practice—emphasis on militarism, allegiance to the militaristic state, suppression of conscience, etc., etc.—we were not impressed.

Universal military training originated in the France of liberty, equality, and fraternity; and Switzerland, the least militarist of European countries, has it, too.

On the other hand, we were not convinced by the argument of its advocates that it would be cheaper, and we may be permitted to doubt whether six months' training would fit any man for war months, or possibly years, later.

The real issue, however, was what this training was for. The question was, and is, not military but political. If it is going to continue to be American policy to police the world, and send troops to suppress aggression and fight Communist armies wherever they may engage other forces, even within a county— i. e., in civil war; if it has become the mission of America to enforce a United Nations law, which had never been defined and to which no other country has committed itself; and if all this is to continue with complete suppression of diplomacy until Russia collapses, is defeated in arms, or emerges victorious, then we shall be a military state with everything that goes with a military state.

Hitherto, in history, compulsory military training has been instituted only for one of two purposes.

States with vulnerable land frontiers have maintained an armed citizenry to repulse invasions over land, or states with the ambition to expand have armed their citizens for conquest. But never have state satisfied with their frontiers and surrounded by peaceful or weak neighbors, engaged in universal military training for—of all things—peace.

UMT has not been recommended for American defense, but to back up a foreign policy, theoretically but falsely called the policy of the United Nations, which may require sending men anywhere on the globe, to fight in countries many of which are extremely reluctant to be defended and become sitting ducks for attack in another war; or to shore up tottering colonial empires of others.

It is this policy which ought to be debated in the election campaign, but apparently it will not be.

To a simple mind, it would seem both more intelligent and good to take the lead in advocating universal, simultaneous, and total disarmament, instead of contributing to mobilize the world as satellites of two great powers, to engage in an armaments race under the theory that the military are the leading peacemakers.

The plain fact is that the military can no longer defend any country. They cannot defend even its children in modern war. Any country on which another great war is fought is doomed. What remains of it will be a charge on and a liability to its unfortunate victors.

This fact that war has reached the reductio ad absurdum is what ought to be continually aired and discussed in the United Nations, where every effort should be directed toward universal and total disarmament, in an appeal to the conscience and common sense of mankind.

But today, and everywhere, the state is all, or almost, supreme, and to a greater or less degree the people are everywhere dumb shallow slogans, and promisd, as usual, a millenium of peace on the other side of armageddon, with hardly a voice raised in protest.

Gambling Tax Brings In More Than Expected

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Based on current collections the annual revenue from the new gambling tax will be slightly over nine million dollars instead of the 400 million congressmen hoped for when they passed the law last year.

The Internal Revenue Bureau reports that only $1,455,392 has been collected from 16,029 registered gamblers since the law went into effect last Nov. 1.

For the first full month of operation — December—gamblers reported they took in $7,591,828, and paid the required 10 per cent tax which amounted to about $759,200.

This brought to $970,964 the total tax collection on gambling operations since Nov. 1. In addition, 2,725 gamblers registered for the first time in January and paid their $50 occupational stamp tax, boosting the number of admitted gamblers to 16,029.

Government officials say revenue is running far below original optimistic estimates because (1) they haven't enough enforcement agents, and (2) many gamblers are quitting the racket rather than disclose their names and addresses as required by the law.

The new legislation slaps a 10 per cent tax on all money handled —not just gambling profits— plus a tax stamp of $50 a year on all bookies, numbers and lottery operators, and punchboards, illegal in most states.

It forces gamblers to give their names and places of business, but gives them no immunity when they do.

The latest report shows that gamblers have registered in all but three of the 64 revenue collection districts. These three are lower Manhattan, Iowa and Vermont.
