Berlin Reds Fear Sabotage

Purge Of City Employes And Courts Slated

Fire Department Taken Over After Gas Works Burned

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Dec. 10 — A sabotage scare gripped the Communist government of eastern Berlin today.

Paul Markgraf, chief of police in the Soviet-occupied sector, announced that he had taken direct command of the fire department. The action came after he investigated a fire which destroyed a big city gas works three nights ago.

The Soviet army's official newspaper, Taegliche Rundschau, reported discovery of a purported plot by teachers to remove equipment of an industrial school in eastern Berlin to an area under protection of the western powers, the United States, Britain and France.

Further Purge Expected

Communist associates of Friedrich Ebert, chosen lord mayor of the rump government Nov. 30, disclosed a further purge of city employes is in prospect. They said all ranks of officials would be screened to determine whether "dangerous reactionaries" still remained at their posts.

Ebert's legal director told newsmen the city's administration of justice would be revised and unified with that in other parts of Russian-occupied Germany. Legal education will be discounted as a qualification, he said, and workers instead of lawyers may be drawn upon for panels of judges.

HST Will Get China Appeal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—President Truman late today receives Mms. Chiang Kai-Shek's personal appeal for new and far-reaching American aid to the hard-pressed government of China.

The wife of China's president was scheduled to go to Blair house—the temporary White House—at 4 p. m. (CST) for tea with the President and Mrs. Truman.

The chief executive himself made clear that Mme. Chiang was going to see him about helping China. She held two conferences with Secretary of State Marshall last week, after her arrival December 1.

While Mr. Truman offered no preliminary hint of his reaction to her appeal, indications were that he could offer little more than a cordial reception and a promise to give the whole Chinese situation continuing serious study.

Officials on whom the President relies for advice appear to have lost confidence in the ability of

AMA Starts Fight On Insurance Plan

Journal Sounds Call To Action Against Nationalization Of Medicine In America

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 10—The American Medical association sounded the battle cry today against compulsory federal medical insurance—a proposal it is seeking to raise $3,500,000 to combat.

In an editorial captioned, "A Call to Action Against Nationalization of Medicine," the AMA Journal advised its members of plans to assess them $25 each. The fund, the editorial said, will be used for "meeting the proposal of the present federal security administrator to nationalize the services of the medical profession through the enactment of a compulsory sickness insurance act covering every person in the United States."

Decision to assess the AMA members was reached by the AMA house of delegates at a secret meeting Dec. 1 during the AMA interim session in St. Louis.

The Journal said that Oscar Ewing, federal security administrator, was "attempting to break down public confidence in the medical profession by every possible technique."

In his radio talks and interviews, the Journal said, Ewing "has chosen to insult, berate, deride, and ridicule the great medical profession of this country." The editorial added:

"Again and again Mr. Ewing has referred to the fact that the lives of 140,000,000 persons are more important than the wishes of 180,000 physicians. Let the people know that medical care comes from the medical profession and that no compulsory sickness insurance plan or other form of nationalization of medical service can

Youths Are Sought After Man Slugged

Police this afternoon sought several youths for questioning after Marsiano Salas, a Vernon Mexican, had reported at 3 a. m. that he had been "knocked in the head" and his wallet containing $156 taken.

Salas said he had been struck by a piece of lumber, at rear of 219 Ave. K. He told investigators he did not know who the youths were, "but I would recognize them if I ever see them again."

Battered Safe Found

The battered remains of a safe removed Nov. 5 from City Steam laundry, at 1811 Nineteenth, were found by two bird hunters Thursday in a pasture 20 miles southeast of Morton, and had been delivered to police by Dep. Sheriff Crockett of Cochran county, Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson of Lubbock police said.

"A large part of the papers in the safe were found, but were scattered over a radius of approximately a mile," Davidson said. The safe, rolled out of the laundry, was battered with what apparently was a heavy hammer. Checks were included in papers found.

No arrest had been announced in the case.

Fix Meet Death As Result Of Argument

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 10. (AP) An argument over steam boilers yesterday resulted in shooting deaths of five Northern Pacific railway shop workers. Four of the men were slain by a fifth, who then took his own life.

The slayer was John J. Hill, 54. His victims were T. R. Williams, 65; W. L. Butler, 44; Arthur Buhrman, 48, and Joseph T. Murray, 65, all of St. Paul.

A company official said Hill had been instructed to replace covers of several steam boilers following a check by state inspectors. He declined to do so and an argument and the shooting followed. Hill shot his fellow workers and himself with a deer rifle.

Negroes "Freeze" And "Breeze" As Pistol Slugs Fly

DALLAS, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—It may depend entirely on how you feel in a given situation—when firearms are involved, that is.

Anyway, two Dallas negroes reacted differently to the "given situation."

Rooted To The Spot

But the other negro was rooted to the spot, according to his story today to Dallas police.

An assistant district attorney asked the witness to tell the court how far away from the woman he was when the first shot was fired.

"About one foot," he replied.

"And the second?"

"Boss, by the time she pulled that trigger the second time I was a block and a half away."

The other negro, 22-year-old George Lewis of Richardson, told police he couldn't get "mah feet moving."

He complained that he was

Prisoner Killed In Head-On Car Crash

AMARILLO, Dec 10 (AP)—Sheriff Guy Mercer of Guymon, Okla., was critically injured and a prisoner he was returning to Oklahoma was killed in an automobile accident near here yesterday. Another Guymon resident, Clarence Hogner, was injured.

Dead is J. L. Morris.

Public Transportation Brought To Halt

Cleveland Blacked Out When Power Building Catches Fire

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Dec. 10. — This Lake Erie metropolis experienced a war-time type blackout last night when a fire in the switch house of the Cleveland Illuminating Co. plunged most of the east side and downtown into darkness.

The lights went out twice. The first failure occurred shortly before 9 p. m. (EST) and after one brief return of light 48 minutes later, they all went out again for 12 minutes.

Approximately 40,000 CEI customers were affected.

Origin of the fire was described as a "jump of current" from a solid row of breakers to another solid row of breakers.

The power failure brought public transportation to a standstill.

Three trains were held up

Spy Hearings Reveal "Leak" Of War Plans

Third Suspect In Communist Ring Ordered To Appear

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Vital military secrets of friendly nations turned up today among stolen government papers uncovered in the House un-American activities committee's spectacular Red spy hunt.

They involve such things as British battleships, Chinese bombers and strategic war materials from the Argentine.

And as the committee scrapped furiously with the Truman administration over how the spy probe should be run, it spotted suspect number three out in Appleton, Wis.

It ordered him to show up for a hearing by 2 p. m. (EST) today.

The man has been described to the committee as a former employe of the national Bureau of Standards. The bureau tests some of the government's most secret weapons and military devices.

Chambers Gave Name

The committee got the man's name from Whittaker Chambers, a former Communist courier. Chambers has testified that while he was in the Red underground before the war, government workers fed him secret documents for transmission to Russian agents.

He has named Alger Hiss and Henry Julian Wadleigh, both formerly in the State department, as two of the suppliers.

Hiss, now head of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, has denied all.

Wadleigh, now unemployed and living at nearby Vienna, Va., was a witness yesterday. He refused to say whether he had or had not slipped secret information from the State department.

Wadleigh said he might incriminate himself by answering questions on that point.

Chambers has yielded to the committee some of the papers he obtained, in the form of photographs or copies. Most of them came from the State department and are dated 1937 and 1938.

Subjects Revealed

It is known that they contain information on such touchy subjects of the times as:

Whether Britain was going to specialize on cruisers or battleships as the backbone of her fleet.

The placing of Chinese orders for bombers in France.

Argentine sales of large quantities of linseed oil to the Germans at fancy prices. Linseed oil is a strategic war material.

Germany was getting ready then to move against Austria. Some of the papers deal with the Austrian anschluss and with other behind-

George Dale Elected As ABC President

George Dale, commercial representative for radio station KCBD, today was elected president of the American Business club in annual election of officers at the club's luncheon today noon at the Hilton hotel.

Bill Pittman and Preston Johnson tied for first vice president and the club will vote on them again next Tuesday when members of the board of governors are named.

Ed Hambright was named second vice president; W. D. McCarty, re-elected secretary-treasurer; and Lambert Eaton, sergeant-at-arms.

The new officers will be installed at an elaborate installation banquet at the Hilton on the night of Jan. 7. Dale succeeds A. B. Watkins as president.

Election of officers occupied the entire program at the luncheon with the exception of an appeal by Waggoner Carr that ABC members join with the Jaycees in supporting the Phillips-Monahans game Saturday, which the Jaycees are sponsoring.

Berlin Airlift Forces Nation To Rush Plans

60-Group Size Is Reached; Defense Strategy Drafted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The Beslin airlift has forced a speed up in the Air Force's expansion, bringing it now to 60-group size.

This development was spotlighted today by an Air Force order for redeployment of three overseas units. These shifts include the transfer of a transport unit from Japan to Germany and assignment of a fighter wing to the Panama Canal defense system.

The new 60-group strength includes nine troop carrier units—one more than had been planned—even by next June 30. On that date the Air Force is scheduled to have 66 groups of all types—bombers, fighters, transports and other elements.

Five Wings Operating

The new addition to Berlin's food ferry fleet makes a total of five transport wings operating there—apparently on a permanent basis. The Air Force said the 317th troop carrier wing will transfer "this month" from Tachikawa, Japan, to Germany. About 1,050 more men will be added to the outlet before it arrives in Europe. (The normal strength of a troop carrier wing is approximately 1,500).

In answer to a question, Air Force spokesmen said the five transport outfits are "stationed" in Germany instead of being there on "temporary duty." In military language, this indicates a permanent assignment as distinguished from a limited time mission.

Of the nation's nine troop carrier wings, four now are in Europe, two in the Far East Air Force and three in continental United States. (A wing includes a plane group, plus the unit's service and administrative headquarters.)

Would Abandon Wing

If the Berlin blockade operations should cease before next June 30, it is probable that one of the carrier wings would be abandoned. If not, some officials indicated adjustments might be made in some other units to keep the Air Force expansion plan on schedule. With current funds, the Air Force expects to add five B-29 groups and two long range reconnaissance groups by next June.

In redeploying the three overseas units, the 23rd fighter wing, presently based at Guam, will be sent to Hoaard air force base, Panama Canal zone next April. The 23rd now flies conventional engined F-47 fighters, but will be equipped with jet fighters upon arrival in Panama. The wing

Oil Hearings To Be Staged

AMARILLO, Dec. 10. (AP) — Hearings which may shut down 29 more Texas oil fields to conserve gas were announced today by Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Thompson said that the "show cause" hearings will be held early in January to determine why wells in the 25 fields should not shut down to conserve natural gas.

Fields Not Named

He made the announcement at a press conference.

He did not name the fields.

Thompson also said he was confident the commission orders of 16 fields now operating under temporary court injunctions would be upheld. The shutdowns were ordered to stop the flaring of gas. Oil firms obtained the temporary injunction to stop enforcement of the commission order.

In a speech before a regional meeting of the Natural Gasoline association of America, Thompson said that the railroad commission already has taken a billion cubic feet of gas daily "out of the air"——meaning it had stopped that much gas from being flared.

Job Only Half Done

The job is only half done, Thompson said, He declared the commission has going to stop all such flaring.

The commission chairman said that the billion cubic feet daily now saved would generate as much steam or electrical power as 12 boulder dams.

"I don't see why land owners, royalty owners and company stockholders don't sue the companies wasting gas for wasting their assets", Thompson declared.

"I don't see why we have to go to the courthouse to enforce practices that are so widely preached by those protestants," he said.

Induction Of Texans Into Army Postponed

AUSTIN, Dec. 10. (U.P.) — Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, state director of selective service, today ordered that the scheduled induction into the Army of 440 Texans be postponed until after Christmas.

The induction had been scheduled for Dec. 15-17. The postponement will hold the action over until Dec. 28-30.

"Sulky Boycott" By Britain Under Fire

Churchill Urges Recognition Of Israel; New Relations With Franco Also Favored

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 10—Winston Churchill urged Britain today to end her "sulky boycott" of the new state of Israel.

The wartime prime minister also told the House of Commons in a foreign affairs debate:

1. Attempts should be made to end the East-West cold war and reach a settlement with Russia "before they have the atomic bomb as well as the Americans."

2. Britain should achieve full diplomatic relations with Franco Spain "as soon as we can obtain the sanction of the United Nations."

Speaking of the Palestine situation, the conservative leader told the House:

"The government of Israel, which has been set up at Tel Aviv, should not be ignored and treated as though it did not exist.

"We should send representatives to Tel Aviv without further delay."

Britain thus far has refused to follow the lead of the United States and Russia in recognizing the new Jewish state.

Churchill devoted much of his 70-minute speech to praising the continuing development of British-American uity.

He won loud cheers for his warm praise of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a man who "labored faithfully for the cause of Anglo-American amity and brotherhood throughout the world."

BLAST SERIES ROCKS HUGE PLANT

Eight Men Die In Kansas Explosion

(By The Associated Press)

TOPEKA, Kas., Dec. 8.—Eight men were killed and 17 injured in a series of blasts that shook a huge power and light plant near this state capital for almost 45 minutes yesterday.

Rescue crews still groped through debris today seeking other possible victims.

The explosions occurred in the Kansas Power and Light company's main plant and left Topeka, a city of 90,000 without electricity for several hours.

Hospitals were forced to operate on an emergency basis, elevators were stalled in downtown buildings and many shops and offices closed early. No serious accidents were reported, although traffic was snarled at busy intersections when signal lights went out. Theaters were blacked out.

The plant is in the little town of Tecumseh, five miles east of here.

The exact cause of the explosions had not been determined but several workers reported they had smelled gas in the

Houston Youth Takes Over As Governor

Teen-Agers Flock To Austin For YMCA Legislative Meet

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 10.—A total of 150 'teen-age Texans representing 50 high schools in 30 cities and towns converged on the capitol today for the opening of their "model legislature," an annual feature of the YMCA's youth program.

William Henry Harsh, 17-year-old Houston Hi-Y boy, took over as governor, while a pert little blonde, Nancy Tarlton of Corpus Christi, banged down the gavel as lieutenant governor on a joint session of the legislature.

The program, designed to "teach youngsters how American democracy works by letting them work it," is sponsored this year by Gov. Beauford Jester, Dr. W. R. White, president of Baylor university, W. O. Reed, speaker of the House, and a large committee of educators and state officials.

The youngsters, after voting on whether they would hear Reed, were told in a welcoming address:

Lubbock Youth Hurt In Traffic Mishap

Sixteen-year-old Donald Edwin Teague, an Avalanche-Journal carrier, of 2215 Ninth, was seriously injured early this afternoon when his motor scooter and an automobile pickup were in head-on collision in 2200-block Main, police said.

He was taken to West Texas hospital, where surgery was about to be commenced to repair a broken leg, Police Patrolman John Rucker was told at the hospital. The youth also suffered severe shock and complained of a hurting in the stomach, the investigator was informed.

The scooter and a car driven by Eliphleten Earhart, 47, of Lubbock route 2 were in collision in blowing sand, at 12:30 o'clock.

Police said a ticket was issued to Earhart charging negligent collision by cutting a corner.

Sub-Freezing Weather Hits Across State

(By The United Press)

A high pressure area centered over North Central Texas early today to bring season lows to a number of points including Dallas which reported a frosty 22 degrees.

Bonham reported 17.5 for the apparent state low, but this was not from the Dallas weather bureau. It gets no reports from Bonham, but the weather bureau said the reading probably was an official one from an observer there who makes reports during the summer months to Houston.

21 At Lubbock

A shift in the wind in the Panhandle and South Plains from north to south saved that vast area from the minimums predicted yesterday. It got no lower than 21 degrees at Lubbock, 22 at Salt Flat, 23 at Wichita Falls, Childress, Clarendon and Mineral Wells and 24 at Amarillo. Lows of 17 to 22 had been predicted for that area. However, Junction, in the high plateau country had a low of 20.

The cold air mass was moving rapidly out of the state and the forecast called for fair this afternoon and tonight in both East and West Texas, partly cloudy and warmer in East Texas Saturday and fair in West Texas with little change in temperatures.

Yesterday's maximum was 72

PUPILS PRESENT CHRISTMAS PLAY

The first grade pupils of P. F. Brown school, directed by Mrs. J. B. Earhart, presented a play, "The Lost Tree." Mrs. R. A. Metcalfe discussed "The Home—A Unit for the Development of Emotional Ties."

Mrs. Bates Witt, unit president, reported the state convention.

EAST BROADWAY GROUP MEETS

A musical program composed of Christmas carols was given for East Broadway P-TA by fifth grade pupils. The speaker, Owen Caskey, talked on "The Home—A Unit for the Development of Emotional Ties."

Mrs. Marshall Howard spoke on the state convention and presided at a business session, during which the unit's budget was approved.

PANEL DISCUSSION IS PROGRAM FEATURE

Mrs. Joe Christian introduced the Overton P-TA program, a panel discussion on the question, "What Can We Do to Bring Peace on Earth?" The panel, led by Rev. David L. Zacharias of Westminster Presbyterian church, was composed of Mrs. Marjorie A. Neelley, a teacher; Miss Margaret Turner, woman's editor of Avalanche-Journal publications; and Sam Fort, a parent.

Group singing of Christmas carols was directed by Mrs. Ewell Hunt with Mrs. Truman Hutson at the piano.

Mrs. W. H. Tinney presided at the meeting which was attended by approximately 50 persons, and reported the state P-T convention.

DR. ROY SLOAN IS GUEST SPEAKER

The Choral club of McWhorter school, directed by Mrs. Ernest Wilpitz, sang carols for the P-TA at the school. Later, Dr. Roy Sloan spoke to the group on "The Home—A Unit for the Development of Emotional Ties."

Attendance count was won by the primary and intermediate rooms of Mrs. Floyd Dunn and Mrs. Lennon Hill. Approximately 75 persons attended.

CHORAL GROUPS SING FOR P-TA

Christmas carols were sung by the Harmony and Melody choirs of Carroll Thompson Junior High school for the P-TA Thursday afternoon. Two numbers were offered by a new Cowboy choir, directed by Mrs. Elois Elliott, who also leads the other two groups.

A report was made that the Junior Garden club of the school has made wreaths, corsages and mantel arrangements for Christmas. Mrs. Joe McIlhaney discussed the November P-T convention.

Attendance count was 58.

Preceding the meeting an executive board meeting was held in the home of Mrs. McIlhaney.

After Year's Psychiatric Treatment, She Has New Problem: She Adores Her Doctor

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have had psychiatric treatment for a year through a mental hygiene clinic, and now I am practically cured of my defeatism and inferiority feelings. I am facing my problems and coping with them, instead of pitying myself and blaming others.

My doctor is very proud of me, and as his patient you might say I am a feather in his cap, a fine example of the benefits of psychiatry. However, in process of rehabilitation, I find myself hopelessly in love with him, which is understandable, rather than ridiculous, in view of all he has done for me.

Because of him—plus my own efforts inspired by him — I have begun to live, not merely exist; because of him I shall eventually attain all the things I've wanted; because of him I am the kind of wife and mother I should be, and, with the exception of this one problem, a happy healthy individual.

SHOULD SHE BROACH PROBLEM TO DOCTOR

IS IT any wonder that I see greatness in him and have fallen in love with him, despite his being married and a father and entirely out of my class socially? I try to think of him impersonally, as one thinks of Lincoln or Eisenhower, but it's no use. I long to be near him and am on the verge of "hunting trouble" just so I can continue to visit his clinic.

My common sense tells me that's bad, that I ought to stop going to his clinic, and that, if I did so, this feeling might wear itself out in time. And it's on this point I want advice. Would it be wiser, even though embarrassing to both and painful to me, to bring it out in the open with him and "face the problem," which is supposed to be the whole aim of psychiatry?

I am sure my utter adoration is visible to him when I look at him, and perhaps even more apparent in the way I try to avoid meeting his eye. What should I do? Yes, I see the humor of the situation — imagine a woman asking advice on how to be cured of her psychiatrist!—Signed D. A.

THIS IS ROUTINE NEUROTIC REACTION

DEAR D. A.: In psychiatric therapy, systematically pursued over a period of months, on a basis of weekly or more frequent interviews, the patient invariably develops a "transference" reaction to the doctor.

This transference incorporates either largely hostile or largely worshipful feelings. The one is called negative, the other a positive, transference. Usually this reaction develops early in diagnostic sessions, and sometimes begins to shape up in the very first interview.

However, the patient may try to conceal his transference emotions from the doctor, for fear of offending if the feeling is hostile; or for fear of being thought a fool if the feeling is worshipful. All of which has a bearing on your story, but to go on—

The average person who consults a psychiatrist doesn't do so until he feels driven there as a last resort, by frightened conviction of hopeless inadequacy to keep afloat in life without all-wise help and guidance, immediately supplied. Hence he comes full of fear and disposed to "depend," at once defensive and supplicant.

EMOTIONAL POISE NOT YET ACHIEVED

THE DEVELOPMENT of positive transference, such as you feel, is an invaluable, indeed one might say indispensable aid to successful therapy in initial stages, since it tends to expedite flow of confidence from patient to doctor. But in successful therapy, which achieves the goal of freeing the patient from enslavement to frustrating emotions or symbolic attachments, and reconstitutes his ability to behave realistically, the "love" transference is never a hang-over problem at the end.

If and when it is, the situation is comparable to one in which a surgeon working under stress might fail to remove a delicate surgical lance from the patient's innards before stitching up the incision and getting fine surface healing. And such things happen, as patients' complaints followed by X-rays have brought to light.

Thus your idea of going to the doctor and "having it out" about your dependency - attachment (that's what it amounts to) makes excellent sense. This is a problem yet to be solved; and if he can't take it in hand without embarrassment and vest you with more self-understanding, that translates your "worship" into impersonal gratitude, you should proceed from there to a better-versed specialist.—M. H.

Tea Honors Miss Pharr

Yellow and green, chosen bridal colors of Miss Jewell Alice Pharr, decorated the living and dining rooms at the home of Mrs. O. A. Terry, 2111 Twenty-ninth, Thursday afternoon when the young bride-elect was complimented at a gift tea.

Hostesses were Mesdames Terry, Ance English and J. G. Porter and members of the house party were Mesdames Vernon Brown, Homer L. Pharr, mother of the honoree, Rayburn Pharr, E. G. Pharr, E. R. McCune and Miss Betty Ruth Cobb.

Mrs. C. H. Cale played piano selections during the calling hours and accompanied Mrs. Emil D' Acosta as she sang and Miss Marya Hooten as she played violin numbers.

A heart shaped arrangement of yellow roses, edged with fern and green net and centered with a cupid figurine, decorated the refreshment table. Miss Pharr's name and that of her fiance, Robert E. Dawson, were lettered on the arrow which pierced the cupid's heart. A buffet decoration was of yellow roses and a mantel piece was composed of a miniature bride and bridegroom standing before an archway.

Approximately 40 persons called from 3:30 until 5 o'clock.

College Students Are Guests Of Auxiliary At Special Program

A special Christmas program was given at the regular weekly meeting of the Ann Hasseltine YWA in the Baptist Student center Thursday night. Guests included Baptist men attending Texas Tech, students from Wayland college at Plainview and Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Falwell. Dr. Falwell is student secretary of Wayland college.

Following the song service a welcome was given by Miss Frances Evans, YWA president. Miss Ruth Willis sang a special song number. Two Wayland college students, Miss Rose Wang from China and Rene Costello from Chile talked on conditions of their countries.

Miss Gwyndola Stinnett gave a reading entitled "The Unexpected Christmas Guest." At the conclusion of the program an offering was taken for the "Lottie Moon Christmas Offering." Refreshments were served to approximately 60 members and visitors.

1941 Needle Club To Have Holiday Dinner

A Christmas dinner for Dec. 20 at 7 p. m. at the Chicken Village was planned by 1941 Needle club members who met with Mrs. O. S. Cates, 2821 Twenty-seventh, Thursday afternoon.

Present were Mesdames W. A. Pettey, A. A. Holmquest, J. O. Pope, E. R. Trego, Gordon Douglass, Pat Henry and A. J. Holtkort.

Party Is For Newcomers

Tech Newcomers club Christmas party held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. V. Godeke at 3001 Twenty-first was attended by 32 persons including five new members, Mesdames F. P. Kallina, H. G. Fry, H. E. Mizell, Ruth Russell and R. J. Yantis.

Mrs. L. E. Parsons presented a chalk talk on the Baby Jesus and Mary, assisted by Mrs. S. F. Shafter who sang "Lullaby of the Hills," "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" and "Gesu Bambino," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. H. O'Connell.

Hostesses with Mrs. Godeke were Mesdames C. C. Schmidt, J. C. Hardgrave and O. A. St. Clair.

Christmas cookies, coffee and cranberry wassail were served from a lace covered table arranged with silver appointments and centered with red berries and candles.

Brides-Elect Are Honorees At Gift Tea And Dinner

Two brides-elect of the Christmas season were complimented at Thursday parties.

In the home of Mrs. O. K. Harden, 2409 Ave. L, a bridal shower and tea was given for Miss Tommie Jean French, bride-elect of Richard Rogers.

An ecru lace cloth covered the refreshment table which was centered with red candles, silver sprayed Japonica and red Christmas ornaments. Mrs. A. B. Allen presided at the coffee service.

Mrs. R. A. Leggitt was co-hostess. The hostess gift was crystal.

DINNER HONOR TO MISS JAMIE HINSON

Continuing a series of pre-bridal courtesies for Miss Jamie Hinson, bride-elect of L. H. Stevenson, a dinner was given in the home of Mrs. Preston Smith, 2808 Twenty-second, Thursday night. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames Homer Roper, W. I. Pittman, Eugene Knox and Carl G. Sutton, jr.

Foursome tables were centered with red candles tied with miniature silver bells and surrounded by mistletoe and greenery.

On the list were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. J. D. Hinson, Mrs. Doyle Royall, Mrs. E. Y. Gibbs, and Misses Elizabeth Howard, Dolores Webb, Jo Cole, Delight Hardin, Sybil Lea, Duane Wilson, Cecile Butler, Jo Lee and Betty Jenkins.

The bride-to-be was presented a kitchen shower.

Ewing Home Is Scene Of Class Yule Party

In the home of Mrs. M. M. Ewing at 2504 Twenty-third Thursday night, a Christmas party for First Baptist Winsome class was given. A program was presented as follows: Mrs. F. C. Stanley sang "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," accompanied by Mrs. S. J. Nabers; Mrs. Nabers sang "O Come All Ye Faithful," accompanied by Mrs. Charles Moeser; Mrs. Earl Hobbs gave a Christmas reading, and the group sang carols led by Mrs. Stanley and accompanied by Mrs. Nabers.

Mrs. John Cocanougher, president, presented a class gift to Mrs. R. E. L. Pattillo, teacher, and members exchanged gifts. Corsages were plate favors.

Forty-seven members and guests attended.

Peronistas Leading In Argentine Vote

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 10. (AP)—President Juan D. Peron's party held a lead of more than two to one over combined opposition groups today as returns continued to come in from Sunday's election on constitutional issues.

The Peronista party sought support for a constitutional change which would enable Peron to succeed himself as president in 1952, when his term expires.

With partial returns in from the capital and eight of Argentina's 14 provinces, the count thus far gave Peronistas 165,955 popular votes, to the Radicals' 64,200. The scattered Communist vote was small so far.

There were 12,737 blank ballots cast by members of other opposition parties, presumably as a protest vote. Under Argentine law all eligible persons must vote and their blank ballots would be some indication of their parties' strength.

Elizabeth Stanley Is Honored At Dinner

As a courtesy to Elizabeth Stanley, Miss Ruth E. Ford gave a dinner party Thursday night at the Lubbock Country club. Small boxes of thank you notes marked the places.

Guests were Jane Austin, Dorothy Kennedy, Sammy Dunn, Zita Martin, Christine Toles, Mari Ruth Sims, Evelyn Burks and Mrs. H. D. Stanley.

Smuggling Of Gold Probed

BROWNSVILLE, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Border country police pushed their search today for Felix Klarberg, 36, believed to be the ringleader of a trio charged with gold smuggling.

The Bronx, N. Y., man failed to appear in federal District Judge Allan Hanney's court yesterday to answer charges of smuggling gold from Mexico into the United States. A border official said the gold was destined for Israel.

Judge Hannay ordered his rearrest and forfeiture of an $8,500 cash bond. New bond was set at $15,000 on the smuggling charge and $2,500 on a charge of falsely representing himself as an American citizen.

Senator Defense Attorney

Speculation along the border country was that Klarberg had fled to his native Tel Aviv.

Klarberg, Charles Kurt Wajnryb of Long Island, N. Y., and Jacques Bodmen, Flushing, N. Y., each denied any knowledge of a butane tank full of gold bullion and Mexican gold pesos when they were arrested at Hidalgo, Tex., July 10.

State Senator Rogers Kelly, attorney for the trio, won a continuance for Bodmen and Wajnryb on his plea that he hadn't had enough time to prepare a motion to quash three of the five counts.

The trial is expected to come up in the May term of the court, unless an earlier special term is called. The indictment charged the confiscated gold was purchased for 348,000 pesos from a man named "Laufers" in Mexico City. Mexican police reportedly were searching for him.

HUNTING PERILOUS

BLUFFINGTON, Ind. (U.P.)—Bob Meeks doesn't take his gun with him on the tractor anymore. Meeks used to carry the gun in the hope of shooting a rabbit. A jar caused the weapon to discharge and pellets lodged in Meek's eye, arm and leg.

State In Line For Hunk Of Back Taxes

AUSTIN, Dec. 10 (U.P.) — The state of Texas was in line today to receive a sizeable hunk of $950,265 in back taxes on five Reconstruction Finance corporation enterprises in Harris county.

Attorney General Price Daniel said yesterday that Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly had decided in favor of the state of Texas and Harris county on claims that the RFC's plants in the county had not paid ad valorem taxes during the period 1944-48 on high-octane gasoline and rubber.

Daniel, who said the state's share will amount to $400,000, reported that he had been informed that the government would not appeal the decision.

Harris county presumably will receive the remainder of the tax money.

The RFC recovered the plants in 1944 from private concerns to which they had been leased.

The attorney general said the Supreme court had upheld the states' rights to collect taxes from the RFC in previous cases involving other states.

British Dentists Never Better Off Than Under Health System

LONDON, Dec. 10. (AP)—British dentists never had it so good.

Under Britain's nationalized health service, providing "free" dental care, they have rocketed into the big money.

The dentists like the new system and they plan to fight tooth and nail health Minister Aneurin Bevan's decision to cut their earnings, made by treating Britons' teeth and billing the health ministry.

Bevan said more than 100 dentists of the 9,000 in the plan are each grossing more than 12,000 pounds (about $48,000) a year. Between 75 and 100 others, he said, are making some 6,000 pounds each.

Patient Cost Is More

That is big money in Britain where the average dentist used to gross about 2,000 pounds a year and found it hard as pulling teeth to collect that.

Bevan has proposed that, effective Jan. 1 one half should be extracted from everything a dentist earns above 4,200 pounds.

Cuts are imperative, he said, because costs are far exceeding estimates. The health ministry says it figures dental costs at 7,000,000 a year. The British Dental association says they are running at about four times that amount.

Fees under the plan are higher than they were in private practice.

Dentists formerly put the bite on patients for seven shillings six pence ($1.59) when they filled a tooth. The ministry pays from 21 shillings to three pounds ($12) per filling.

Booked Months Ahead

One health ministry official said a plan is being considered which would limit a dentist's income to 3,800 pounds ($15,200) a year under the health plan.

The dentists want to remove the teeth from this proposal.

"That's too little," cried L. C. Attkins, an executive of the Public Dental Service association. "Some of the dentists under the plan are making big money by working extra hours to meet the public need. If fees are cut they probably will work fewer hours and then fewer people can receive treatment."

The demand for dental service is enormous. Most dentists now are booked two to three months ahead, said the dental association, and many have closed their books to new patients "because they simply can't handle them unless they are willing to work 24 hours daily."

Plan Criticized

The Evening Standard in an editorial criticizing the health plan, said that while the private dentist is coining money, public dental services run for school children are being wrecked.

"In London some 30 per cent of school dental officers have resigned," the Standard said.

"Why shouldn't they, when Bevan offers them 640 pounds per annum for work in schools or a chance of that much a month if they put up their plates?"

The health ministry admitted some school dental officers have quit, but says the trend will be checked by offering them more money.

It is estimated that some 15,000,000 Americans have some degree of hearing impairment, but only one-third or less need hearing aids.

Beaumont To Honor New Head Of Legion

BEAUMONT, Dec. 10. (AP)—S. Perry Brown's hometown is going all-out Saturday to celebrate in his honor.

Beaumont will mark Brown's recent election as national commander of the American Legion.

There'll be a parade . . . and trimmings. The trimmings will include a fighter-plane demonstration. B29 bombers will roar over the city during the parade.

Parade Marshall Elmo Beard predicted the parade will be the biggest in the city's history.

Col. Louis H. Rendrow, assistant military aide to President Truman, will officially represent Maj. Gen. Lewis Hershey, director of selective service.

Louis Johnson, former assistant secretary of war, and Legion officials from over the nation will be here for the festivities.

American Newsman Must Leave Hungary

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP) — Homer Bigart, foreign correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune, has informed his paper that the Hungarian police have ordered him out of the country by midnight tonight.

"No reason has been given for the expulsion," Bigart said in a cable to the paper last night. "Hope to get reason tomorrow."

Christmas Presents Requested For Foreign Small Fry

Children Back East Not All Selfish Little Imps: They Ask Santa To Remember Others

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—If you think the neighborhood kids are selfish little imps, you ought to read some of Santa Claus' mail.

Harry A. Heim, the manufacturer who bought the whole village of Savage, Md., and is going to entertain some 2,000 children there this Saturday, let me look over some of his mail.

You'd be surprised at the large percentage of youngsters who asked Santa Heim to remember somebody else first.

Wants Red Ribbon

Typical was the childish pencil scribble of an eight-year-old girl named Linda, who said:

"Dear Santa: Please do not bring me a baby doll. Give it to some little girl who won't get anything for Christmas. We are not rich, but I already have one. I guess I have everything I need. But I could use a new hair ribbon if you have one. A red one. Thank you, Santa."

A large number of the small fry wrote to Santa Heim and begged him to forget about them entirely and remember the "poor kids in China and Germany."

And a lot of the kids, wearing big American hearts, pleaded with the jolly old-timer to remember their brothers and sisters and playmates—and forgot to mention themselves.

Reindeer Not Exempt

Take another look at junior tonight, pop. He may be a better kid than you think he is.

Of course, not all of the letters were in the give-my-stuff-away vein. There were the usual requests for dolls, trains, rocking horses, and all of the other truck that makes the small ones happy.

One five-year-old boy named Perry had "Gaddy," his grandmother, write Santa that he heard Santa Heim had eight live reindeer.

"You could get along with seven and leave 'Dunder'," the kid had granny say for him. "All I want is one of your reindeer. Dunder, if you please."

Picture Promised

One little girl who forgot to sign her name said that all she wanted was a "raggety Anne" doll for herself and an "ashtray for mama."

Another young female admirer of old Santa, named Martha, said she was about to turn six and would like a two-wheeler bike. The mother post-scripted that she had written and mailed the letter at the little girl's request and that Santa should please disregard. "Martha is too small for a two-wheeler," the mother wrote.

A mother wrote to Santa Heim from England and said her five-year-old son Harry, whose father was an American soldier, was ill. Little Harry had heard about Santa, but had never seen him.

"Please, Santa," the woman wrote, "send Harry your picture."

It will take 15 to 20 years to clear the debris from Berlin, at the present rate.

Greenville Rites Set For Collision Victim

GREENVILLE, Dec. 10. (AP)—Funeral and burial services for C. R. Washburn, 40, of Abilene, will be held here. Definite time has not been set.

Washburn, an engineer for the Lone Star Gas Co., was killed in a head-on auto-truck collision near Wichita Falls Wednesday night. His body was brought to Greenville, where he was raised, last night.

Several dozen different starches are made for the paper maker, textile mill, salad dressing manufacturer, laundry, and other uses.

GRAND OPENING!!
FEATURING NEW BUICK MODELS

TOMORROW & SUNDAY!

FIRST SHOWING OF THE '49 BUICK

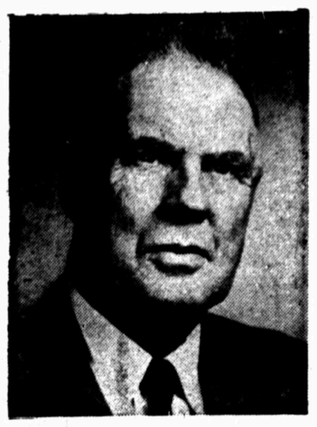

FORMAL OPENING OF OUR NEW BUILDING

This is the high point of almost 20 years' dependable Buick service by the Scoggin-Dickey Buick Co. Grouped around this page are views which show details of our ultra-modern new building, 1917 Texas Avenue. Each tells part of the story about our plant, its equipment and personnel; for a first-hand inspection, we invite you to join our Grand Opening visitors tomorrow and Sunday. Members of our staff will guide you through the large Sales and Service building, as well as our Body and Paint shop nearby.

Of special interest in the Sales room will be the 1949 Buick, a car beyond the limits of automotive expectation. Get the close-up feel of its luxurious interior . . . see the comprehensive improvements that make the 1949 Buick the car for the years.

You will also enjoy a trip through our vast Service department, which has been constructed to take care of as many as 17 cars at one time. Our adjacent Parts department supplies our trained mechanics with genuine Buick parts to be used in servicing your car. For wheel adjustment, there is a new VISUALINER installation; engine cleaning is done faster and better with new steam equipment; our Circo DE-GREASING machine quickly removes grease and grime on parts being repaired; accuracy is a daily standard in our new machine tool room.

Look forward to Buick service that stands out like the Buick pylon at 1917 Texas Avenue, from the Scoggin - Dickey Buick Co. Come, and bring your family to our Grand Opening tomorrow and Sunday!

Venezuelan Military Clique Hits Old Regime Vital Blow

CARACAS, Venezuela, Dec. 10. (AP)—The military junta which wrested control of the Venezuelan government Nov. 24, removed today the last bulwark of the old regime. It dissolved the ruling Democratic Action party of exiled President Romulo Gallegos.

The junta, which spearheaded the bloodless November revolt, declared the Action party had followed a course which gave it the character of a "state." The decree charged the party had attempted to use the armed forces for its own ends.

Last week the junta dissolved the national congress and state legislature, established during Gallegos' regime, declaring they were "incompatible with the transitional state" of the present government.

Sponsored Elections

The Democratic Action party was installed in power following the bloody 1945 revolution which was led by the same military elements now constituting the provisional government.

The party was the only organized opposition group when armed forces toppled the regime of President Isaias Medina Angarita in October, 1945. Since then the party had sponsored national elections which resulted in swepping victories for its candidates.

Gallegos headed the party from 1945 until his election as president last year. Gallegos now is in exile in Cuba.

In the past year the party had been directed by Romulo Betancourt, who served as president of the revolutionary junta after 1945. Betancourt took refuge last week in the Columbian embassy in Caracas.

Arms Cache Found

The decree abolishing the party said arms retained since the 1945 revolution and later augmented through contraband gun running, had been discovered in various headquarters of the party

The decree said these arms had been intended for sabotage and other destructive ends. Army officials said Tuesday they found a large arms cache in Cumana and arrested several Democratic Action leaders.

The junta also charged that the party secretly incited labor and agricultural groups to take part in a general strike for political purposes.

The decree set forth that the party had ceased to be a political organization and had become a faction which aspired to maintain itself through force and by measures aimed at disintergrating the social life of the nation.

Too Many In Act; Sign Comes Down

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10. (AP)—When Bill Bard, who has a photographic studio, went out to lunch he put this sign in his door:

"I'm at the Bellevue for lunch. Won't you join me there?"

After the 11th person sat down at his table and ordered he went back and took down his sign.

Girl Baby Sitters Learn Trade Tricks

EL MONTE, Cal., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Eighth-grade girls at Columbia school are studying scientific baby-sitting.

The class, officially called child psychology, first visits the school kindergarten. Then the students query parents about baby-sitting requirements.

Next, the 13 and 14-year-old girls write original stories and make scrapbooks, toys and dolls to keep their charges amused.

They go on the job equipped with a notebook for new ideas and a list of telephone numbers of police and fire stations, where the parents may be reached, nearest friend and family doctor.

'FLYING SPECK' TAKES TO THE AIR—Lying prone, handling the controls through holes in the fuselage, test pilot William Bouck proves airworthiness of the Wee Bee, called the world's smallest plane. Demonstrated at El Cajon, Calif., the "flying speck" weighs only 170 pounds, has a 15-foot wingspan. Its 18½-h.p. engine takes it 90 miles on its limit of two gallons of gas.

Blaze Sweeps Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. (AP)—Fire swept through the five-story, 208-room Hubbard hotel in North Clark street early today, driving dozens of residents into the street.

Early, fire officials said there were no fatalities. One man was hospitalized after being overcome by smoke.

Flames shot more than 50 feet into the air as the fire spread rapidly through the brick hotel building at 417 North Clark street, across the Chicago river from the loop.

Extra Alarm Sounded

An extra-alarm was sounded and 42 pieces of fire equipment rushed to the scene. Deputy Chief Fire Marshal Otto Dahl said the fire was believed to have started on the second floor and spread through the walls to the top floor.

Most of the guests fled when the flames were discovered but firemen helped carry some into the street. Hundreds of persons watched firemen fight the blaze in the below freezing weather. The mercury was around 16 above.

Actress To Divorce Oil Firm Executive

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10 (INS) — Carol Thurston, brunette film beauty, disclosed today that she will file suit for divorce against Oil Company Executive David Thayer.

The actress and Thayer were married in 1945 at Yuma, Ariz., while he was an Army Air Corps officer.

Miss Thurston explained:

"Since my husband went with the oil company he has been away on business more than half the time. We drifted apart and marriage finally became impossible."

Miss Thurston won screen fame several years ago portraying Three Martini, the native girl in "The Story of Doctor Wassall." She recently was selected to play the Eskimo heroine in "Arctic Man Hunt."

Election Tossed One Item Out Of Market

Many New Gadgets On Market To Help Make Life Easier

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 — Science, which perfected tools to destroy men during the war, has been working overtime of late to make life easier for all of us.

For proof, run a thumb through the files of the U. S. Patent Office, which is located in the sprawling Commerce department building here.

Take Pete Bowling of Lewiston, Ida. He has invented a new-fangled shaving kit. It's even better than the new electric shavers they have in some of the 1949 cars. Men—you can clip Bowlin's gadget in your vest pocket beside your fountain pen (on mornings when you sleep through your alarm) and sneak a quick shave when the boss isn't looking. No worry about running a red light while shaving with one hand and driving with the other.

The Ritepoint Pen company of St. Louis is putting a new cigarette lighter on the market. It's a plastic deal where you can see how much fluid is left. Ever offer the vice-president of you company a light and wear your thumb down a couple of joints trying to scratch up a glow?

We are indebted to Manuel Lopez of Akron, O., for a sleeve stretcher, which ought to serve comfort to a lot of folks. There is nothing worse than buying a preshrunk sweater and learning on first getting it back from the cleaners that the sleeves have shriveled to where the thing looks like a polo shirt.

Somebody once said something about building a better mouse trap and thereby getting the world to beat a path to your door. Vernon J. Price of West Dearborn Mich., must have had that in mind. He has designed a new animal trap that is a thing of rare beauty. Any mouse would be proud and happy to be caught in it. It's a mouse apartment, that's what it amounts to—big enough to accommodate a whole family in luxury and comfort.

Joseph J. Kispert of Mount Carmel, Conn., has a patent on a new "ventilated corset." It goes back to the old-fashioned stay like granny used to wear, but this one has an "open weave" which lets some air in when the ribs get cramped.

And if you haven't finished shopping for mama, Marian L. Finnman of Minneapolis has a new comb—one without any teeth in the middle. It's for upsweep style hair styles and fits the contour of the head.

One of the most exciting, though, is something that got on the market by accident. We can't name any names for it would be embarrassing.

Anyhow, these fellows thought it would be cute to follow the pollsters' predictions ahead of election time and beat the smart boys to the punch. So, at great expense, they had the dies made for thousands of elephants, which nodded their heads on the principle of the little birds which were so popular a couple of years ago It is a matter of balance, with a couple of water-filled bulbs inside.

The investors saw big sales with Mr. Dewey in the White House. One on every desk in Congress and the rest of the country willing to imitate—at so much an elephant.

Well, you know what happened.

The elephants, once gray, are now on sale as toys, re-painted.

Pink colored.

Science Finds Way To Salvage Coal From Worthless Material

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Mining engineers are taking a tip these days from the old-time gold prospector in the art of rescuing valuable ores or coal from worthless material.

The modern technique is known as the "sink-float" method, John T. Sherman, mining engineer of the American Cyanamid Co., told the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

It utilizes the force of gravity to separate valuable from worthless materials and is similar to the method used by the gold miner's pan, the sluice box, jog and the shaking table to separate heavy constituents of an ore or raw coal from the light.

Developed Rapidly

"Sink-float processes, highly efficient in separating coarsely-crushed solids on the basis of specific gravity differences, have developed rapidly during the past few years and today are treating millions of tons of ores and coal each year," Sherman told the meeting.

"The two largest coal cleaning plants in the world, now under construction, will employ sink-float methods and the use of these processes will continue to expand sharply in the future."

Through the process, the American people will have a more abundant fuel supply in that millions of tons of coal may be salvaged from apparently worthless ground, scientists pointed out.

"Although many ores cannot be treated by sink-float methods, practically every coal can be cleaned by one or more of these processes," Sherman said. "This fact becomes increasingly important as the better seams of coal are exhausted and it becomes necessary to use lower grade coals more difficult to clean."

Use Specific Gravity

In a sink-float plant, the coal containing other undesirable ores is run through a series of troughs or vats containing a liquid having a specific gravity the same as the gravity at which separation is desired.

"When ore or coal particles are introduced into such a liquid, those having a specific gravity higher than that of the liquid will sink, while those that are lighter than the liquid will float," Sherman explained.

One of the obstacles to the technique, he said, is the lack of cheap liquids having the desired specific gravity. However, the scientists have overcome the obstacle to a certain degree by mixing a fine, heavy solid with water.

"While the fine particles are in suspension, the mixture, known as a medium, has a gravity higher than water and can be used to make gravity separation in the same way as can be accomplished by the use of heavy liquids," Sherman said.

Clerk Finds Draft Board Is Drafty

LIBERAL, Kas., Dec. 10 (AP) Back in 1943 Miss Olive Fulton, a draft board clerk, tried over and over again to get an electric fan from the government for her office.

When the draft board dissolved at the end of the war, she still hadn't received the fan.

Last August the draft board was reactivated and Miss Fulton again became clerk.

This week she received a package from the government —on one of the coldest days since the board resumed work.

It contained an electric fan.

Grandma Quits Her Tower For Winter

ORCUTT, Cal., Dec. 10 (U.P.) — Grandma Bessie Hampton, 54, has climbed down from her glass-enclosed watch tower for another winter.

For four summers now, she and her dog Rover have maintained a 24-hour-a-day vigil atop Mr. Solomon, 1,336 feet above the ocean. She turns her spyglasses on the surrounding forests between Pacific Coast highway 101 and the sea, reporting suspicious smoke to the fire warden.

Grandma, who boasts 12 grandchildren, got in training with 12-hour shifts at a war-time aircraft warning post. She opens the fire tower about May 15 and closes it in November each year.

Now she's set for a winter of traveling.

Saucepan Radio Sets Are Going To Africa

LONDON, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Radio sets made from saucepans are being produced in Britain for use in African territories. They are part of a drive to develop broadcasting as a means of communications in the African continent.

The colonial office has been working for years on the development of a cheap radio set for reception in Africa. Research showed tha tsaucepans make the best kind of chassis for short wave sets as they are impervious to climate and insects.

Engineers working on the new sets draw their ingenius design from war-time experience. Royal Air Force fliers at German prisoner-of-war camps made radio sets from such oddments as corned beef tins, pen nibs and shoelace tags. In that way, they were able to listen secretly to Britain's war news.

Man Builds A Cabin Boat In Seven Years

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—A seven-year plan brought Joseph Schofield the cabin cruiser he always had dreamed about.

For two years the steel technician studied every book on boatbuilding. The next five years he spent building the 35-foot craft.

Schofield had no professional assistance in building the boat in his backyard. His son, Joseph, and his daughter, Edna May, gave him a hand and the craft now bears the name Jo-Ed.

Schofield said the boat cost him $1,600. He estimates that a comparable craft would cost at least $5,600 at today's prices. The engine and a few fixtures are the only parts which are not new.

● Mooebeam-Phillips Class A Playoff. Saturday, 2:30 P. M.—JONES STADIUM

10,000 Fans Expected For Phillips-Monahans Game Here

Perfect Grid Weather Seen

The weatherman last night virtually assured Lubbock of perfect weather for Saturday afternoon's state Class A quarterfinal football game in Jones Stadium, when Phillips and Monahans tangle before a crowd that probably will exceed 10,000 fans.

The forecaster at the weather station predicted that temperatures would be in the high 60s and possibly 70s, with the skies almost clear. At the present time, there is no rain, dust nor other storm probable for Saturday.

Ticket Sales Brisk

Adding joy to the predictions from the weather bureau was the advanced ticket sale, which Jaycee officials declared indicated that from 5,000 to 7,000 Lubbock grid fans would be in the stands. Additional tickets have been placed on sale in Littlefield, Levelland and Seminole and the response in those towns has been good.

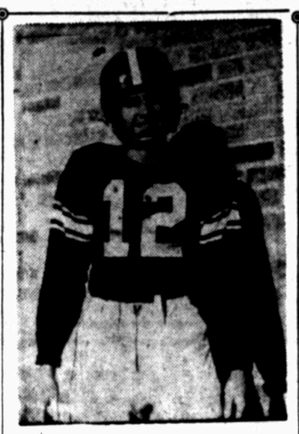

Phillips and Monahans also have tickets for sale and requests to the Lubbock Jaycees have come in from almost all towns having Class A football teams. A large number of football fans probably will come in from all parts of the Panhandle and South Plains.

Don't Wait 'Till Saturday

Lubbock Jaycee officials, however, wish to emphasize that local grid fans should not wait until Saturday to buy tickets, or else they will cause a line jam at the stadium. There will be hundreds of persons from out of town trying to buy tickets the day of the game and an additional number of Lubbock fans will only make matters worse.

Although individual seats are not reserved, there will be a reserved seat section and tickets should be bought early to assure fans of good seats. Reserved seats sell at $1.50 each, while tickets for students, both public school and Texas Tech, are available at 50 cents each. Tickets may be bought at Wylie's Drug store, Hop Halsey's Drug store, McGuire's Drive-In, Tech's athletic office and the high school athletic office.

Both squads are busy polishing their offensive and defensive formations this week. Coach F. O. Scroggins of Monahans said that most of his attention was being given to tightening his defenses, which leaked badly against Ballinger last week. The Lobos won the game 33-28 in an offensive display, but Scroggins is filled with respect at Phillips' defensive record. The Blackhawks have given up only four touchdowns in 12 games and not more than one in any game. On the otherhand, Monahans has blanked six of its opponents.

SIGNAL - CALLER — Billy Braden, 126-pound quarterback, is the brains of the Phillips football team attack. The lightweight quarterback took over the job only recently when the regular quarterback was injured and he has been doing a fine job. Braden also is a good runner and his change to the man up under in the T formation hasn't weakened the Blackhawks at all. They play Monahans here tomorrow.

Starters Set For Tanforan

SAN BRUNO, Calif., Dec. 10 (AP) — It's heavily-favored Citation against a so-so field tomorrow in the $50,000 added Tanforan handicap.

The Calumet farm three-year-old is expected to attract 30,000 racing fans when he goes postward against at least six western horses.

Horse	Rider	Impost
Citation	Eddie Arcaro	123
See-Tee-See	Ralph Neves	117
Stepfather	Walter Litzenberg	110
Texas Sandman		109
Happy Issue	Gordon Glisson	107
Tropical Sea	Donald Wagner	105
Cash Reward		104

On Trust, the leading California-bred money-winner, and Please Me are listed as very doubtful starters.

Winner Gets $31,800

Net to the winner, in the event of a seven-horse field, will be $31,800. The second horse will receive $10,000, the third $7,500 and the fourth $5,000.

A win for Citation, regarded by fans as a virtual certainty, would boost his earnings to approximately $860,000, about $50,000 short of the world money leader, Stymie, now in retirement. The Calumet flyer will be shooting for his 27th win out of 29 starts as a two and three-year-old. His regular jockey, Eddie Arcaro, will be aboard.

Trainer Jimmy Jones declared Citation to be fit, expressed hope for a fast track. The track superintendent said the track should be "good" if no further rain falls.

Hurlers For Browns Sold To Baltimore

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—The St. Louis Browns said today that they had sold Pitchers Bryan Stephens and Al Widmar to Baltimore of the International league.

A Browns spokesman said both pitchers went on straight cash deals, but did not announce either sum.

Baltimore also bought Outfielder Bill Savage and Pitcher Carmen Ferullo from the Toledo Mudhens of the American association.

Tulsa of the Texas league announced the purchase of Shortstop Roy McMillan from Columbia, S. C., of the South Atlantic league.

BOWLING

Sears-Roebuck keglers took two of three games from Cunnyngham's to move into a deadlock for the top spot in the Business Bowling league this week.

In other loop tilts the City Employers won two games from Reeves Insurance. Carl Maxey's crew won two settos from West Texas Gas and Household Supply gained two decisions over Hub Laundry.

The league standings:

TEAMS	WON.	LOST
Cunnyngham's	24	15
Sears-Roebuck	24	15
Carl Maxey	21	18
City Employes	20	19
Hub Laundry	18	21
West Texas Gas	17	22

Texas Lumber Wins Feature Cage Play

Texas Lumber Bin's cagers drubbed the Plains Gassers, 45-28, Thursday night at Senior High school gymnasium in the feature tilt of four City basketball league games. Wayne Covey tallied 13 points for the Lumber Bin quint, while Eugene Shuey scored 12 points for Plains.

In the other tilt at the Senior High floor, the Blue Flame Gassers trounced Hoyt Furniture, 35-24. Thomas George swished the net for 12 points and Glenn Quattlebaum notched six for Hoyt.

Two games were played at the O. L. Slaton Junior High gym, with Brown-Layco drubbing Trammell Magnolia, 43-20. Bill Wolf topped the winners with 13 points, while James Cowden tallied seven for Trammell.

Crawford Electric bested Hilton hotel, 36-18, as Bob Barkowsky hit the loop for 17 points. Carl Johnson paced the losers with six.

Go-Ahead Sign Given For Baylor Stadium

WACO, Dec. 10. (AP)—Waco has entered into a contract with Baylor university to prove a site for a new football stadium that will seat 40,000 persons.

Waco city aldermen voted last night to enter into the contract and the Baylor stadium committee has authorized a go-ahead on plans. The site will be in the same area as the present municipal stadium. It is hoped the stadium will be completed in time for the 1949 football schedule.

Tech's Bid For SWC Membership Up For Study

Meeting To Be Held In Dallas

The question of whether Texas Tech will be admitted to membership in the Southwest Conference may not be decided at Dallas in annual fall meetings scheduled today and tomorrow, but the Lubbock institution will be well represented, when action is expected to be taken.

Dell Morgan, head football coach, and Morley Jennings, athletic director, will be the official representatives at the meetings. They usually always attend in connection with scheduling opponents and in keeping step with eligibility rules and other regulations.

McMillan To Attend

In an unofficial capacity, Bill McMillan also will be present for the meetings. The Lubbock contractor, a former Texas A & M athlete, is one of three SWC college graduates living here who have led the fight this year to obtain membership for Tech.

The other two members of the committee, Tom Duggan, Jr., and Bill Evans, both lawyers, have decided that they will not attend so that no accusation of high pressure can be levelled.

At the same time, Clark Schooley, sports publicity director, and Frank Junell, administrative assistant to the president, also will be in Dallas. Primarily, both men are making the trip to Ft. Worth to attend a publicity director's meeting and will reside in Ft. Worth during the meeting. But both will go by way of Dallas to attend the conference meetings in an unofficial capacity.

Expansion Question Paramount

The question of whether the SWC will expand is one of the principal topics on the conference agenda. A special committee was appointed at the spring meeting to investigate the possibility of expansion. The committee already has indicated that it will make no recommendation whatsoever to the conference.

While there is optimism in some quarters about the chances for Tech's being voted into membership, press releases from Dallas indicate that Tech will not be voted in. This action probably would be taken indirectly, the conference side-stepping the Tech issue and voting strictly on the question whether to expand or not.

Hardin - Simmons university of Abilene, another Border Conference member, also has made application for membership in the SWC. They probably will be represented by Warren Woodson, head football coach and athletic director, as well as other members.

A decision on whether Texas Tech and/or Hardin - Simmons will be voted into membership probably will rest uhtil final meetings Saturday morning. If Tech is admitted, it would climax six applications and 21 years of trying.

Southwest Players Make All-American

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 10. (U.P.) Two players from the Southwestern Junior college conference won places on the official junior college All-American football team compiled from votes of 251 coaches by E. P. (Chink) Coleman, president of the National Junior College Athletic association.

Bobbie Dill, Kilgore Junior college back who can pass, run and kick and who averaged seven yards per carry on the ground, and Jerry Parker, a flashy end from San Angelo JC, were the players from the southwest on the first team.

Other backs were Hugh McElhenny, Compton, Calif., Ollie Matson, San Francisco City college and Bob Zelznickar, Duluth, Minn., JC.

Other linemen included end Ernie Walkup, Phoenix, Ariz., JC; tackles Ed Dysle, Hartnell college of Salinas, Calif., and Sheldon Oremland, Montgomery JC, Bethesda, Md.; guards Claude Brawner, Northeastern JC, Monroe, La., and Leonard Frederico, Trinidad, Calif., JC, and center Burl Toler, San Francisco City college.

Hannibal's armies consisted almost exclusively of mercenaries and soldiers of fortune.

Rough Afternoon Is Promised Mustangs By Oregon Webfoots

DALLAS, Dec. 10 (AP)—Leo Harris, athletic director of the University of Oregon, said today the Webfoots were coming to Dallas to win the Cotton bowl game against Southern Methodist.

Harris was here making arrangements for the visit by the Oregon team for its post-season battle on Jan. 1.

The Oregon athletic director was guest at a dinner given last night by Tyree Bell, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association.

The Oregon team will fly to Dallas Dec. 20 and will train here until the day of the game. It will be quartered at the Melrose hotel except for three negro members of the squad who will stay with negro families in Dallas.

A squad of 37 is coming to Dallas and Harris said about 1,000 citizens of the state of Oregon would be here for the game.

Idalou, Happy Will Tangle For Crown

TULIA, Dec. 10 (Special)—Regional schoolboy Class B grid championship was at stake here this afternoon when the undefeated Idalou Wildcats, winners of District 4-B, tangled with the Happy Cowboys of 2-B. Opening kickoff of the tilt was slated at 2:30.

The Cowboys, who edged Panhandle last week by a 12-6 margin for the bi-district crown, have been installed as one-touchdown favorites in the crucial encounter, despite the impressive record of the Wildcat eleven. Idalou nosed out Hale Center, 25-24, two weeks ago for the south bi-district title.

Cowboys In Top Shape

Tulia's Younger field was named as the site of the clash at a meeting of the rival coaches, Coach Lloyd Johnson of Idalou and Coach James Peterson of Happy, immediately following Happy's win over Panhandle. Both mentors agreed that the neutral site would be fair to both teams and aid fans of both schools.

Coach Peterson has reported that his Cowboys are in top shape for the game, but the situation is gloomy for the Idalou grid coach. Wildcat Halfback Alvin Joyner, 185-pound regular, will miss the tilt because of a broken leg, and Center Blacky Molynax is on the injury list. Tackle Sid Scoggins has two broken ribs and will not see action today.

High Scores Predicted

A high-scoring battle is predicted by area grid experts, since both teams boast excellent offensive records. The Wildcats have one of the top Class B backfield aces of the state in Donald Seale, who runs, passes and punts from the fullback slot. Seale, a 16-year-old, has completed 45 of 65 passes attempted this season and has averaged nearly 50 yards per punt.

Happy will field a well-balanced backfield group, with any one of four backs capable of going "all the way" on any play.

Happy holds a slight advantage on the basis of comparative scores, the records of the two teams indicate. Idalou was tied early in the 1948 slate by Kress, 13-13, and the same team was edged by Happy, 7-6.

Wharton, Navarro Elevens Will Clash

CORSICANA, Dec. 10. (AP)—It'll be either the Wharton County Pioneers or the Navarro County Bulldogs—football champions of the Texas Junior College Athletic conference after today's game.

The two teams clash here today at 2:30 p. m. Wharton won the south zone title while the Bulldogs won the northeast zone and then downed Ranger college, northwest zone champion, for the right to meet the Pioneers.

The Pioneers have won nine out of ten games. Navarro has won ten and lost two. The Bulldogs will be crippled today. Their regular tackle, Tommy Phillips, is definitely out from injuries received last week and Bill Davis, scatback, is hampered with an injured ankle.

Both teams feature hard running attacks behind charging lines and both can use passes for needed yardage.

Sharpshooters Top Boys Club Scorers

The Sharpshooters of the Senior basketball league, paced by Dan Atkinson's 18 points, pounded out a 36-31 victory over the Roughneck Thursday at Lubbock Boys club.

In the Junior loop the Dirty Five topped the Dirty Demons, 23-21. J. R. Bradford swished the net for nine points for the Dirty Five, while Bill Averitt scored nine for the losers.

The Fighting Irish, led by Jackie Chancey's 16 points, chalked up a 28-16 Midget circuit triumph over the Mustangs in a feature tussle. Don Tucker notched nine points for the Mustangs.

The Hellcats of the Pee Wee loop bested the Wolverines, 8-2, as George Jones connected for two field goals.

Lubbock Wins Initial Game

BORGER, Dec. 10 (Special) — Lubbock High's Westerners used a fast-breaking offense and a steady defense to drub Class B Spearman, 44-30, here Thursday night in the first round of the Borger Invitional basketball tournament.

The tall and speedy Westerners went ahead early in the tilt on a series of push shots by Forwards Charles Galey and Jesse Fullerton, then boosted the count to 20-13 at halftime.

The Westerners, undefeated this season, surged back to tally 24 points in the second half and clinch the meet victory.

Wilson Paces Offensive

Big Jim Wilson, the Westerners' giant center, paced the Lubbock offense with a total of 18 points on eight field goals and two free shots. Wilson hit four of his field goals in the final quarter to take high point honors for the tussle.

Galey collected nine points on four field goals and a single charity toss in the brief period that he saw action, hampered by a foot injury, and Fullerton and Guard Morris Turner each scored seven points.

Clayton Leads Spearman

Spearman was kept in the ball game during the first half by the sharpshooting of Guard Wally Cayton. The veteran cager hit the loop for six field goals and a free shot to score 13 points during the encounter.

The victory boosted the Westerners into the semi-final round of the meet. The Lubbock quint draws a bye in the second round today, but will play again Saturday afternoon. Championship game of the tourney is scheduled Saturday night.

Other first round winners included Borger's Bulldogs, who trounced Quanah of District 2-AA by a 53-20 margin, and McLean, which coasted over Perryton by a 36-27 count.

OU Has Not Applied For Entry In SWC

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 10. (AP)—University of Oklahoma Athletic Director Bud Wilkinson said last night O. U. has not made an application to affiliate with the Southwest conference.

His statement came after Sooner magazine, official organ of the University's Alumni association, published an article hinting affiliation with the conference.

Wilkinson, who also coaches the Sooner football team, said:

"We definitely have not made application for a place in the southwest."

Amarillo Star To Miss Odessa Tilt

AMARILLO, Dec. 10. (AP)—Claude Fox, regular fullback for the Amarillo high school football team, won't be with him team when it plays Odessa Saturday.

Fox underwent an operation yesterday for the removal of his spleen. The day before the 176-pound senior had been injured internally during practice.

Coach Howard Lynch said Fox will be replaced by Jack Newby or Hub Ralson. The Amarillo team will leave here by bus this morning and spend tonight in Midland.

Baksi, Charles Tangle Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—There is a thin possibility that tonight's 15-round bout at the Garden between Joe Baksi and Ezzard Charles will produce a logical challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight title.

That, at least, is the idea behind it. If either man scores a knockout, then he is fairly certain to find himself in the same ring with Joe next June, getting hit. A good, clean decision might serve equally well.

Could Quit Dreaming

If Charles, the lean Cincinnati negro, and Baksi, an awkward clouter from Kulpmont, Pa., put on a poor fight and irritate the $12 customers, they both might as well go home and quit dreaming.

In that case, the veteran Lee Savold, now resting on his laurels—such as they are—in London, will find himself highly desirable in the eyes of the 20th Century Sporting club, which must dig up an opponent for Louis in his positively final title defense.

Charles, though he will be conceding some 30 pounds—180 to Baksi's 210—has been the betting favorite from the start at 12-to-5. There apparently has been little action.

Was Redhot In 1947

Baksi was considered quite a contender a couple of years ago. He was redhot in April of '47 when he made a hospital case out of Bruce Woodcock in London. Then he got out of shape, went to Stockholm to pick up some ready cash and dropped a decision to Olle Tandberg, a novice.

Baksi is said to be in real fighting trim again. But the wise money doubts that a man who has not fought seriously for a year and a half can cope with an eager beaver like Charles who has been fighting regularly.

Denison Will Battle Bucks

(By The Associated Press)

Denison and Breckenridge battle at Denison today in the first big game of a Texas schoolboy football week-end schedule that will determine one state champion, establish semi-finalists in two divisions and decide regional titles in another.

Denison and Breckenridge clash in one of four games that will send class AA into its penultimate round. Tomorrow Amarillo will be at Odessa, Waco at Texarkana and Port Arthur at Austin.

Battle For City Title

Also, tomorrow afternoon Arlington Heights of Fort Worth and Lamar of Houston will play at Fort Worth for the state championship of the City conference.

In class A tonight Bowie and New London play at Dallas, Van and New Braunfels at Temple and Aldine and Falfurrias will clash at Victoria. Tomorrow afternoon, Phillips and Monahan will tangle at Lubbock for the fourth spot in next week's class A semi-finals.

Class B decides regional championships only and will finish up this week. One title already has been determined. Whitewright defeated Bridgeport 20-0 at McKinney last night for the region 4 championship.

Titles Go On The Line

This afternoon Happy and Idalou play at Tulsa for the region 1 crown and tonight these championship will go on the line:

Region 2—Iraan vs. Menard at Iraan.

Region 5—Masonic Home (Fort Worth) vs Corsicana State Home at Fort Worth.

Region 6—Talco vs. Judson at Longview.

Region 7—Elkhart vs Midway at Mexia.

Region 8—Anahuac vs Tomball at Liberty.

Region 10—San Felipe (Del Rio) vs Floresville at Floresville.

Stan Heath Hailed As Nation's Top Pigskin Tosser

Between . . . The Lines

— By JOE KELLY —

While most of the South Plains is in a dither over the Class AA game in Odessa tomorrow and the Class A game in Lubbock, a pair of powerful Class B High school football teams will attract a capacity crowd this afternoon to Tulia. Idalou and Happy, two of the more outstanding Class B elevens, tangle for the regional championship which, to this classification, is equivalent to being the top rung. Class B schools don't fight to a state championship and this is the first year that Class A has gone that far. We'd like to see the B schools go on next year.

But to get back to Idalou and Happy. It seems like a natural, with both teams rated among the top in the state. There's only one game on which to compare the two teams and that shows an even struggle. Happy edged Kress, 7-6; Idalou was tied 13-13. Since then, Coach W. L. Johnson at Idalou has lost some players due to injury, which hurts. At the same time, Coach Jim Peterson at Happy has deep respect for the Wildcats. It should be a bang up game and we'd like to see our neighbors at Idalou bring home the crown.

This may come as a surprise to some Lubbock fans, who are be-moaning the fact that they can't go to Odessa for the game there Saturday. But the fact remains that several Odessa fans will be in the stands at Jones Stadium Saturday. A few already have bought tickets and, after seeing Monahans in action, they predict the game here will outshine the Odessa-Amarillo battle. That might cause some confused thinking, unless you had seen Monahans, as we haven't, or Phillips, as we have. They are to Class A what SMU is to the SWC.

We said the other day that we hadn't seen an eleven this year that was any better drilled or worked with more finesse and precision than the Phillips crew. We repeat that and emphasize that any grid lover will have missed a lot if they don't see that game tomorrow. As for Monahans, we are told that they work with almost the same amount of precision, but are more of an offensive power than a defensive one. We can believe that after looking at the scores they have rolled up. In fact, we might almost make a comparison; Monahans is like Hardin-Simmons and Phillips is like Texas Tech.

If that follows, then you're apt to see a great game, with offense overshadowing defense. At the same time, you can't take away the fact that Phillips has allowed only four six-pointers to be scored against it in 12 games and not one extra point. It's an amazing record. And they have showed offensive power as well, rolling up 324 points for an average of 27 points a game. But Monahans has scored 346 points in 12 games for an average of 28 points a game, even though the defense has allowed 84 points to be scored. Just because a neighboring sportswriter chose to put us on the spot, we had to predict the final score. We chose Phillips, 21-20, and we may live to regret it, but we don't think it's far from wrong.

Regardless of the outcome, football fans should see one of the year's top games, bar none. Both teams have potent offenses, both have strong running games. If they play the same type of games they played in their regional games, local sport fans will be making no mistake in seeing this game. And one thing we'll get for sure; more Lubbock fans will see the game than Amarillo was able to turn out for the Post-Phillips contest.

If the sports pages had a sweet smell for a change the other day, it wasn't because the staff has changed any. Since then we understand that the subject of perfume is taboo!

Today we'll be in Dallas for the Southwest Conference meetings hoping with all our fingers crossed that Sunday morning's paper has nothing but good news from Big D. Action on Tech's admission is not likely to come before Saturday morning's meeting of the SWC faculty representatives, but it might come today. In the meantime, there will be a lot of shop talk, schedule discussion and other odds and ends. The only member of the three-man committee, that boosted Tech's efforts so strongly, who is going to Dallas is Bill McMillan. We talked to Bill Evans last night and he is highly optimistic about the prospects of Tech's being admitted. So is Bill McMillan and Dell Morgan.

So much optimism is bad for our nerves. We want nothing better than to see Texas Tech assume its rightful place as a member of the august Southwest Conference. But we prefer to take a pessimistic outlook, thus suffering no pangs if Tech is turned down, and great joy if they are admitted. It will be a hard night waiting, if they don't act today, and our return tomorrow may be sorrowful. We hope that it isn't. We hope Tech becomes recognized. WE WANT IN.

New Records Go In Books

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Rubber-armed Stan Heath of Nevada was credited with two new passing records today and hailed as the nation's top pikskin-pitcher among the major college football teams for the 1948 season.

Gene Rossides of Columbia also established a new passing mark for avoidance of interception. Johnny (Red) O'Quinn of Wake Forest led the pass receivers, but Ellery Williams of Santa Clara, who didn't even finish among the top 20, set two new pass-catching marks, according to the final official statistics released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Broke Old Marks

Heath, who won a backfield berth on the United Press All America team, gained a total of 2,005 yards to break the yardage mark set last year by Charley Conerly of Mississippi. The Wolfpack quarterback's 22 touchdown throws also set a new standard.

Rossides had only three interceptions in 112 passing attempts for the best mark in the 12 years that the N. C. B. has kept tabs on college football performances.

O'Quinn caught 39 passes that covered 605 yards and produced seven touchdowns to beat Jim Powell of Tennessee and Bob McChesney of Hardin-Simmons for the pass-catching crown. Williams caught only 21 aerials but his average of 29.6 yards gained on each catch was a new high mark for the major colleges. And he caught nine touchdown throws —also a record.

Finks Was Runnerup

Heath, who topped the nation in total offense with 1,992 yards gained solely on passing, completed 126 out of 222 passes for a percentage of .568. Runnerup was Jimmy Finks of Tulsa, who connected on 115 out of 214 throws for 1,376 yards, seven touchdowns and a percentage of .537.

Bobby Thomason of V. M. I. was third with 95 completions in 177 tries for 1,252 yards; Jim Walthall of West Virginia was fourth with 83 out of 164 for 1,136 yards, and Ed Songin of Boston college fifth with 83 out of 169 for 1,172 yards.

Powell and McChesney each caught 36 passes, but the Tennessee end made his catches good for 462 yards, while the Hardin-Simmons winkman's catches gained 445 yards. Bob Larsen of Arizona was fourth in pass receiving with 35 catches for 408 yards and Jim Ford of Tulsa fifth with 35 catches good for 403 yards.

In rushing, Fred Wendt of Texas Mines topped the ball carriers with 1,570 yards gained in 184 atempts for an average of 8.53 yards per carry. His yardage and average-per-carry both were new high marks.

New Tree Harvester Being Demonstrated

DAVIS, Cal., Dec. 10 (U.P.) — A new mechanical harvester that can pluck all the fruit from a tree in three minutes is being demonstrated.

It uses pneumatic "knockers" to shake the fruit from the tree into a large canvas-covered "catcher" frame which is mounted on wheels.

When the fruit falls into the catcher, it is unloaded into boxes by two belt conveyors and trucked immediately to dehydrators or drying yards.

The University of California says the new high-speed harvester also can be used on other fruits and nuts.

A simple cocktail sauce for seafood is made by combining catchup, chili sauce, lemon juice and horseradish; chill well before serving.

Oriental Fruit Fly Seen As Menace To California Crops

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10 (U.P.) A fruit fly of oriental origin, believed to have originated on Saipan, was brought to the Hawaiian Islands during the war and now is doing an estimated $700,000 damage yearly to island fruit crops, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Fear that the fly, variously known as the oriental fruit fly, the Formosa fruit fly and the mango fly, might reach the main land to ravage California's mammoth fruit crop has brought elaborate quarantine restrictions.

C. C. Cooley, Pacific Coast supervisor of foreign plant quarantine, reported that should the fly ever cross to this coast, it could cause millions of dollars of damage, particularly in Southern California.

Fruit Imports Barred

Cooley said the fly, which has the scientific name dacus dorsalis, is particularly fond of citrus fruits and avocados, the major Southern California crops.

Fresh fruits from Hawaii have been barred from import for many years, due to two other fruit flies which have been in the islands since the turn of the century. However, in the past it was unnecessary to bar bananas and pineapple, because they were not hosts to the Mediterranean fruit fly and the melon fly.

During the past year, both of those crops have been added to the quarantine list, because of the oriental fly.

Extra precautions are taken to prevent the smuggling of fresh fruit or the migration of the fly, Cooley said.

Aircraft Inspected

All aircraft are inspected and sprayed twice before they leave the island for the mainland. All baggage is inspected before departure.

In the case of ships, they are inspected on arrival here and all baggage is thoroughly check to prevent smuggling.

The 80th Congress appropriated funds for the Department of Agriculture to investigate the oriental fly and develop combative parasites. In addition, the Territory of Hawaii has had a man working on the problem with some success. One type of parasite has been found that is partially effective, and it has been introduced in the islands, Cooley said.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — The Tacoma (Wash.) Athletic Commission, which didn't show much profit on a $12,500 open golf tournment this winter, has a new proposal to offer the Professional Golfers association. . . . The Tacomans were somewhat annoyed when neither Ben Hogan nor Lloyd Mangrum appeared. So their idea is to start the purse at $5,000; add $2,000 if the U. S. Open champ plays, another two G's for the PGA champ, the same amount for the Masters winner and $1,500 for the leading money-winner . . . The PGA now has a $10,000 minimum and wants to boost it to 15. In addition it demands $750 for a "clinic" before each tournament, plus promotional fees and "appearance money" for the stars . . . Somehow we think the Tacoma plan won't get a very warm reception.

When Joe Louis' automotive school opened in Chicago the other day, the first car that was given the works by the students belonged to the heavyweight champ . . . In addition, Louis himself enrolled as a student, thus becoming the first guy to be a college president and an undergraduate at the same time . . . Maybe Joe recalled that one of his school teachers in Detroit once wrote on his report card: "I recommend that this boy be sent to a trade school. He will make a living with his hands."

What's the betting that he'd perk up his ears at a good offer for Carl and turn down a bid for Hank? . . . Big George Mikan, who has been averaging 29.5 points in pro basketball association games, figures to hit a total of about 1,800 this season. That's about 500 over Joe Fulks' record. . . . Although the Detroit Lions' home attendance slumped about 25,000 this year, they're very happy about losing somewhat less than the $137,000 they dropped in 1947 . . . The Yankees' Gus Niarhos, the only Greek in major league baseball, may have a rival in a few years when Gus Triandos, also a catcher, moves up. Triandos had a great season with Twin Falls, Idaho, last summer . . . When Greek meets Greek, they'll probably take over managing the stadium club.

Minor Leagues Slap Trautman

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—Boss George M. Trautman who has sought to run the minor leagues with a firm hand, found himself rebuffed today on several pet projects as the little loops of baseball wound up an eventful convention.

Trautman, attempting to offer guidance to the club owners in legislation he personally felt would be beneficial to baseball, found them voting against him on every turn.

They defeated every amendment submitted on the controversial bonus rule, even though Trautman had urged them to give "special attention" to it and had recommended one proviso which would have established a universal ceiling of $6,000 for bonus players in all leagues both major and minor.

Bus Driving Considered

Trautman also had urged the club owners to pass an amendment which would prohibit any player from driving the team bus, reminding the delegates of the tragedies which occurred in crashes which killed members of the Spokane, Wash., and Duluth, Minn., clubs.

Instead, the club owners passed an alternate amendment which put a ceiling on $100 a month as the extra amount which any team can pay a player for driving the bus or performing other outside duties without counting against the league salary limit.

Still another Trautman-blessed amendment which fell on deaf ears was the proposal which would have prevented a club in the majors or high class minors from optioning players to two teams in the same league.

The amendment, unanimously defeated, was designed to ward off the inevitable criticism which might ensue in the case of players from a parent club, being involved in a league championship game as opponents.

Didn't Get Point

"Such optional assignments could prove very embarrassing," Trautman said. "Supposing a player so concerned is unfortunate enough to make three errors and club B wins the game over club A as the result. I know you will get my point."

The delegates — it seemed — didn't get his point.

The bonus amendments prompted the most impassioned speeches of the convention executive sessions, first from R. C. Torrence of the Seattle Pacific coast league and later from Dale Gear, head of the Topeka, Kan., Western association club.

The delegates will meet briefly toda yto consider a light agenda of new business, vote on resolutions and announce officially next year's convention city —expected to be Baltimore.

Baylor Bears Unsuccessful In Swing East; Back Home Today

WACO, Dec. 10. (AP)—After completing an unsuccessful swing into the east, the Baylor Bears will open their home season in Waco tonight against the powerful Phillips Oilers.

The Bears, who are the defending western NCAA champions, found themselves far behind their eastern opponents who have been at work since school began last fall as compared to Baylor's one month of practice. In addition to being far behind other sections in play, a trait which is marking all Southwest teams, the Bears have been without the services of Coach Bill Henderson who has been busy in his capacity as line coach for the Baylor football team.

No Win In Sight

The home advantage is not expected to get the Bears out of the losing bracket this week however, since Phillips is the best non-professional team in the nation, boasting such stars as seven foot Bob Kurland and All-America Gerald Tucker, plus a host of other former collegiate stars. The Oilers won the Olympic playoffs last year with the entire team being nearly half of the American Olympic squad last summer which emerged as world champs.

Baylor was expected to be back to full strength this winter, but has been thus far without the services of Jack Robinson who may miss the entire season due to a knee injury.

India will buy 963 new locomotives.

Smaller Bowls Have Last Football Fling

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—The little and medium-size bowls will have their last fling at the national football spotlight tomorrow before the older and larger fixtures start drumming up interest in their Jan. 1 attractions.

Six games are on schedule, including two junior college counterparts of the Rose and Sugar bowls.

The Little Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., will send Compton junior college against Duluth junior college in a battle of perfect teams.

The Little Sugar Bowl game at Monroe, La., matches unbeaten and untied South Georgia with Little Rock (Ark.) junior college, which won seven and lost three.

Two of the best junior college records in the country will be put on the line in the Texas Rose Bowl at Tyler, where Kilgore (9-1-0) plays Hutchinson of Kansas (9-0-1).

Other games include:

Grape Bowl at Lodi, Calif.—Hardin-Simmons vs. College of Pacific.

Fish Bowl at Corpus Christi—Corpus Christi vs. Southwestern.

Silver Bowl at Mexico City—Pacific Destroyer Forces vs. Hawaiian All Stars.

Another bowl game—The Texoma—will be played tonight at Denison, with Ouachita and Southeastern California as principals.

All-Opponent Team Selected By Frogs

FORT WORTH, Dec. 10. (AP)—Arkansas' Clyde Scott was listed as the unanimous choice of the TCU football team today as the best back to play against the Horned Frogs this fall.

SMU's All-America Doak Walker garnered only six votes from the entire TCU squad, and failed to make either the all-opponent or the all-conference opponent team picked by TCU players. Walker was a unanimous choice of the Frogs last year.

Sooners Are Tops

Oklahoma, Texas and Scott gave Coach Dutch Meyer's team the most trouble during the season, with the Sooners winning top honors in the annual all-opponent teams and players poll.

In addition to being voted the best of the 10 opponents played by the Frogs, the Oklahoma team also received the TCU nod for both the best backfield and the best line faced during the season. Sooner guard Buddy Burris was named the best linesman faced during the season, and Jack Mitchell was given the all-opponent quarterback slot.

The only other non-conference player to make the all-opponent eleven was end Sam Winton of Indiana.

Texas Proved Tough

Meanwhile, the Texas Longhorns were voted the best of the Frogs' six Southwest conference opponents. Texas also placed three men on both the all-opponents and They are tackle George Petrovich, center Dick Harris, and fullback Ray Borneman.

The Texas line also was selected as the best among Southwest conference teams.

Suspension Of Terms Granted

Five-year sentences assessed after two defendants had pleaded guilty of felony indictment charges were suspended Thursday afternoon by Judge G. V. Pardue of the 99th district court.

The charges named Eless Adams, alias Blackie Adams, a 38-year-old negro, and James Trammel, 17, of Lorenzo.

Both waived a jury and entered their pleas before the court. Neither had been convicted of a felony offense earlier.

Court Has Busy Day

Adams was charged with assault with intent to kill his wife Lillie Bertha Adams Nov. 7. He was represented by Waggoner Carr.

Trammel was charged with burglary Nov. 23 of John's Service station, at 1504 Thirteenth, which is under control of J. G. Willbanks. The defendant was represented by Byron Chappell.

The court had a busy day. At the morning session, Judge Pardue accepted pleas of guilty of two defendants in a total of four cases, arraigned one defendant on a murder charge, and denied a new trial motion made by another person recently convicted of murder.

District Attorney Floyd Croslin and his assistante E. G. Pharr and A. W. Salyars represented the state.

Man Slugged

$100 and county court costs on a plea on guilty of drunk driving, officials said, adding that he paid a misdemeanor fine a day earlier in corporation court here. He was arrested on the latest charge after a collision with another car at Thirteenth and Ave. G.

A wave of thefts, which has reached epidemic proportions, continued:

A battery and rotary pump were taken from an irrigation well of Baxter Harrist. A battery, generator, distributor and coil were taken from an irrigation well house of Claude Martin of two miles west of Idalou. Either or both those offenses may later be identified as burglary.

A $30 tricycle was reported stolen from J. L. Crosthwait of 2613 Ave. L.

Fender skirts valued at $10 were reported taken from the car of Donald Tapp of 2505 Thirtieth.

Dep. Sheriff Bill Dunn of Plainview telephoned to report that 42 junk batteries had been stolen there, and that 27 had been taken two nights earlier.

An $18 coat was stolen from a cafe here.

A car that had been reported stolen from A. C. Wheeler of 203 Ave. A was marked recovered.

The sheriff's department arrested a Mexican described as wanted on a felony warrant issued at Crystal City. The arrest was by Deps. Sheriff Tom Cannon and Raymond Land. Crystal City officials arrived here today to accept custody.

The suspect, Felix Cruz Flores, 19, is charged with desertion.

A 22-year-old Post man was arrested at midnight for Roswell, N. M., military police, who accepted custody. A charge of AWOL informally had been lodged, it was explained.

Man Claimed By Levelland

Sheriff Guy Swain of Levelland late Thursday accepted custody of J. C. Green, 23, from the Lubbock sheriff's department. Green was wanted on a warrant charging swindling by worthless check, a felony, Swain said.

James L. DePauw, 34, of Lubbock, was arrested here early last night on a fugitive warrant from Cincinnati, Ohio, authorities. DePauw posted $1,000 bond returnable Jan. 10 to the court of Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn. The Ohio charge, a felony, was embezzlement, and was filed Sept. 27, an affidavit of Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton said.

Man Pleads Guilty

Horton B. (Bo) Sessums, 26, of Lubbock route 1, who was arrested Wednesday afternoon by a state highway patrolman after a chase which reached speeds as high as 80 miles per hour, entered a plea of guilty yesterday in county court to a charge of transporting liquor. Judge Walter Davies assessed the minimum fine of $100 and court costs.

At the time of his arrest, Sessums was wanted on a warrant charging maiming, a felony, and another charge of reckless driving was filed by the arresting patrolman. Thirty-three bottles of whiskey were found in his car at the time of his arrest and were confiscated in district court action.

Other county court judgments entered yesterday included: Clarence Ellision, 48, of Abilene, $250 and costs on a charge of liquor law violation; A. L. Holley, $25 and costs, violation of check law, and Eless Adams alias Blackie Adams, 28-year-old Lubbock negro, 90 days in jail for aggravated assault.

has about 1,200 men and operates with about 75 planes.

The canal, for the first time since last summer, then will have a full group of modern jet fighters for its defenses. The 36th wing, a jet outfit, was shifted to Germany last August.

As far as can be learned, there are no immediate plans to fill the vacancy in Guam when the 23rd leaves. Guam is headquarters for the 20th air force, a B-29 unit of the Far East Air Forces.

The third transfer will bring the 91st reconnaissance squadron from the American air base in Trinidad to McGuire base, Fort Dix., N. J., within the next 45 days. The 91st, with 388 men and officers, will bring with it the B-17 planes used for patrols.

Stock Market

PRICES PULLED UP

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — A late rally in the stock market today pulled prices up by fractions to more than a point.

Steels and rails attracted the best support of any of the major groups.

A moderate amount of business was done, with trade running at the rate of around 1,000,000 shares for the full session.

Brokerage quarters suggested that a let-up in tax selling, coupled with persistent speculative and investment support, helped the market to turn around.

Carolina Power & Light was one of the few issues to show a sizable decline. Others down include Admiral Corp., Goodrich, Dow Chemical, American Woolen, and Standard Oil (NJ).

On the rising side were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Chrysler, Goodyear Tire, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Atlantic Gulf & West Indies common and preferred, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Skelly Oil, and Eastern Air Lines.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — Cotton futures turned firm today, on short covering which disclosed a scarcity of offerings. Traders felt that the liquidation in recent sessions had been largely completed and this encouraged some replacement buying.

Early selling was influenced partly by a sharp decline in loan entries for the second consecutive week. At the same time, private advices said that a good deal of cotton was offered in the market as a result of the recent rise in prices. For the same reason, traders believed, loan entries were falling-off.

Futures closed 85 cents to $1.45 a bale higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP) — Grains got back a part of their early losses in a rally which began during the last hour on the board of trade today. Prior to the buying movement all cereals had shown easiness in sympathy with a renewed decline in soybeans and lard.

December wheat made the best showing among grain cereals, leading the late rally. Lifting of hedges against sales of flour to the government was considered a factor in the upturn.

Wheat closed ¼-1⅝ lower, December $2.39⅛-¼, corn was ⅝-¾ lower, December $1.42⅞-⅞, oats were ¼-1⅛ lower, December 81⅞-82.

Chambers Quits As Editor Of Magazine

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—Whittaker Chambers, confessed former Communist courier and key figure in the probe of alleged Communist espionage, has resigned as a senior editor of Time magazine, his attorneys announced today.

The attorneys' announcement was headed "statement by Whittaker Chambers." It said:

"I have offered my resignation as a senior editor of Time magazine. It has been accepted.

"Both of these acts became imperative when I recently began to make revelations about Communist espionage."

Couples Give Recipe For Long Happiness

BEATTIE, Kan., Dec. 10 (U.P.) — Four couples are living in this vicinity with a marriage total of 233 years. All four have the same reason for their long and harmonious marriages:

Their recipe is this: simple farm life and rearing their families to observe the Christian virtues.

The couples are Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gurtier, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Koch, and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac P. Pickrell. The Gurtiers and the Moores have been married 64 years, while Mr. and Mrs. Koch have been married 55 years and the Pickrells 48 years.

News Briefs

The body of Charles Walsh, middle-aged Dallas photographic studio employe who Dec. 1 was found dead in a room of a local hotel, Thursday afternoon was buried in Tech Memorial Park cemetery, Plains Funeral home reported. A verdict of death by acute alcoholism was returned in the inquest into the death.

City firemen were called at about 7 o'clock this morning to the home of Dr. Clifford B. Jones, 3501 Nineteenth, where improper functioning of a furnace had caused a considerable amount of smoke within the residence. No damage was reported .

Mrs. Julia Rush and son, Jim, of 1710 Ave. K, left Lubbock Thursday afternoon for Terrell, where they were to attend today's funeral services for Mrs. Rush's mother, Mrs. T. A. Clarida.

Failure of an oil circuit breaker to re-close this morning disrupted Southwestern Public service power distribution in almost all of the west area of Lubbock and in Wolfforth for almost an hour. Service was restored at about 7:40 a. m.

Mrs. A. E. Jones and daughter, Francis Elaine, 10, of 2112 Sixteenth went to Dallas by airplane this morning. Francis Elaine, who underwent a hip operation about a year ago, will report to the Methodist hospital for an examination.

the-scenes maneuvers in diplomacy and international politics.

The committee showed signs of heeding the advice of the State department on whether it should or shouldn't publish the texts of the ten-year-old documents. Some probably will be turned loose and the rest withheld.

Proposal Rejected

But the committee last night hotly rejected a proposal of the Justice department that for the sake of "the internal security of this country" it lay off quizzing witnesses who have testified or will testify to a New York grand jury investigating espionage.

Attorney General Clark, meanwhile, got out a statement complaining of "premature and ill-advised publicity" he said is coming from the committee.

$4,000 Reported In Fund Clean Up Drive

With less than a third of the workers reporting by noon today, only slightly more than $4,000 had been collected in this week's "clean up" drive for the 1948 Lubbock Community Chest, it was reported this afternoon.

More reports are expected to be made by workers this afternoon. Bad weather has hampered this week's solicitation, being made by a corps of 50 civic workers who started out Tuesday morning in an effort to raise the $21,000 which the 1498 campaign was short.

Collections in the drive still put total collections approximately $16,000 below the $97,500 goal set for the Chest this year.

Motion In Trial Of Damage Suits Denied

HOUSTON, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Federal District Judge T. M. Kennerly today denied a government motion to postpone the $260,000,000 Texas city damage suits.

Judge Kennerly said he would set the trial date as soon as he could determine when both sides could be ready, and hinted court proceedings would start early in 1949.

New Tablet Brings Thoughts Of Santa, But Idea Crushed

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—The first thing six-year-old Emilio Landeros thought about when he bought his first school tablet was a letter to Santa Claus.

When he got on the school bus, he opened the tablet and began scrawling his note. But he did not finish it.

Emilio got off the bus and made a dash for the other side of the street. A truck carrying 10,000 pounds of concrete blocks crushed his head.

"Dear Santa," the letter read, "I have been good. I want a . . ."

Right beneath the last word on the tablet, which had been thrown in front of him, was the print of a large tire.

Defense Witnesses Testify Here In Trial Of Infringement Suit Against Food Firm

A parade of defense witnesses, most of whom testified that they had full knowledge that B. H. Taylor's Saveway Food Stores in Lubbock were independently owned and not a branch of Safeway stores, featured trial of the trade name infringement suit brought by Safeway Stores against B. M. Taylor, et al, in Federal court this morning.

Ten witnesses testified in the morning session before Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley, and approximately a dozen more were scheduled to take the stand this afternoon.

Three of this morning's witnesses, Harry Braeuer, insurance man; Jack Teddlie, president of the Farmers' First National bank, and W. N. Brown, automobile dealer, all of Stephenville, testified they had known Taylor when he was manager of a Saveway store in Stephenville.

Braeuer and Teddlie told of conversations they had had with Taylor regarding going into business for himself and that he refused to accept financing from them to enter the grocery business as a competitor to Safeway in Stephenville.

"He said if he went into the grocery business, he wanted to go some place where Safeway was not a competitor," Braeuer testified.

Mrs. C. C. Chambers, Mrs. R. J. Abernethy, Mrs. Sloan Fortenberry, sr., Mrs. J. F. Hankins, Mrs Bob Blanton, Mrs. S. S. Bates, all Lubbock housewives, told of trading with Taylor in his Saveway stores here and declared they had not confused it with a Safeway store and that they knew it to be an independently-owned store. Ross Garrett, feed store owner, and Forrest Lindsey, bottling plant manager, both testified similarly.

Prior to presentation of defense witnesses, Judge Dooley sustained a defense objection against introduction of an anti-trust violation judgment against Safeway in a Kansas City court into the testimony.

"Heaven Or Hell?" Questions Stopped

BRIDGEPORT, N. J., Dec. 10 (U.P.) — The consciences of local citizens were put at ease today. Police ordered an evangelist to stop approaching people on the street and asking over a loudspeaker, "Heaven or Hell?"

Commissioner of Public Safety George B. Davis said the question was "an impertinence and an invasion of a man's private life." Moreover, the commissioner said the loudspeaker was too loud.

State Passes Gas Suit Trial

AUSTIN, Dec. 10. (AP)—Humble Oil and Refining company today assured the state it will stop flaring gas in the Tijerina-Canales-Blucher oil field, Jim Wells and Kleberg counties, by the first of the year.

On this assurance, the state agreed to pass trial of Humble's suit for a permanent injunction against a Railroad commission order which would shut down the field. The order is designed to stop alleged wasteful flaring of gas.

Humble announced it has moved a temporary reinjection compressor into the field and will start conserving casinghead gas Dec. 15. The company said it hopes to have its gasoline plant completed about the first of the year. The plant will be used for Humble's gas in both the Tijerina-Canales-Blucher and the Seeligson field.

$150,000 Damages Estimated In Fire

PORTERS, Texas, Dec. 10. (U.P.) Damage was estimated at $150,000 today from a fire that destroyed a portion of the Daniel Sawmill company here yesterday.

The early morning blaze brought fire equipment from Humble, and volunteers battled three hours before bringing the flames under control.

R. W. Daniel, co-owner of the $1,000,000 mill, said only a small portion of the loss was covered by insurance. It was the second fire this year for the Daniel plant. Five months ago a dry kiln and lumber were destroyed at a loss of $10,000.

Former Banker And AAA Official Dies

ALTO, Dec. 10. (AP) — George Whitfield Terrell, 47, former Texas banker and AAA official in Washington, died in Houston last night after suffering a heart attack on a downtown street.

Terrell, whose home was in Alto, was the eldest son of the late George B. Terrell, former Texas commissioner of agriculture and congressman from the 7th district.

School Land Leases Bring In $2,084,000

AUSTIN, Dec. 10. (AP)—Auction of University of Texas lands leases had brought in $2,084,000 by noon today, midway of the auction.

Lively bidding on tracts in Reagan county accounted for most of the total. Largest single bid was one of $305,000 by the Texas company on 220 acres in tract 71, block 11, section 9, Reagan county.

The Union Oil company of California posted the next highest bid, $205,000 on 160 acres in the southeast quarter of section 10, tract 76, Reagan county.

The bonus revenue from lease of university lands goes to the permanent fund for higher education.

Chief competitors in the bidding were the Texas, Union Oil, Atlantic Oil, Tidewater Oil, and Humble Oil and Refining companies.

Texan Arrested In Attempted Burglary

FORT WORTH, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—A Fort Worth man was being held in the Tarrant county jail here today after his arrest in Temple, on charges of attempted burglary Aug. 26 of a postal sub-station in Fort Worth.

Three men already have been sentenced in connection with the attempt. Postal Inspector A. O. Curry said intruders attempted to knock the knob off a safe, but failed to obtain any loot.

Mrs. Roosevelt Tells Soviet Delegates About Democracies

PARIS, Dec. 10. (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who used to be a schoolmarm, patiently explained to Communist delegates at the United Nations yesterday how democracies operate.

The widow of America's wartime president interjected the lesson in democracy into an address answering Russia's objections to the world declaration of human rights.

Minister Makes Statement

Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, declared Russia would not recognize the declaration if it passed the general assembly in its present form.

Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"We in the United States admire those who fight for their convictions, and the U. S. S. R. delegation has fought for its convictions. But in the older democracies we have learned that sometimes we bow to the will of the majority.

Keep Our Convictions

"In doing that we don't give up our convictions; we continue sometimes to persuade and eventually we may be successful. But we know that we have to work together and we have to progress, so we believe when we have made a good fight and the majority is against us, it is perhaps better tactics to try to cooperate."

Vishinsky was joined in his attack by Dmitri Manuilsky of the Soviet Ukraine. The two lengthy attacks foreshadowed a possible Soviet bloc filibuster.

Barbers Face Race Problem

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 10. (AP)—A group of Pennsylvania State college students planned to throw picket lines around all the town's six barber shops today in an effort to secure haircuts for negro students.

The boycott was decided on yesterday by the campus chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People after the group said Mitchel Williams, a negro track star from Philadelphia, was denied a haircut at local shops.

Students Sign Up

William Meek, president of the local NAACP group, said nearly 150 students had signed up for the picket line "to prove by an effective demonstration of public opinion that discrimination has no place in state college."

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the college said the matter was primarily a problem of private business in the community.

He said there are about 60 negro men and women students on the campus. The college has no quota restrictions on the admittance of negro students.

Must Travel 30 Miles

Meek said the negro students have been forced to travel 30 miles to Tyrone, Pa., to secure haircuts.

He added that the picket line procedure was decided on after Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock failed in an attempt to arrange a conference between the students and barbers.

Jester Announces Clemency Actions

AUSTIN, Dec. 10 (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester today announced the following clemency actions:

Conditional pardons granted:

Albert Hodges, sentenced to five years in 1947 from Dallas county for burglary.

Gen. Eisenhower on strategic questions," Churchill said, promising to set forth his views on this at a later time. But he said he was sorry to note that some British newspapers, reviewing Eisenhower's book, "Crusade in Europe," interpreted it as a slap at British-American unity.

Churchill hailed the projected North Atlantic pact to assure western Europe of American and Canadian military support as a "tremendous event."

"If such an event had occurred in 1940 or 1939 the whole tragic history of the world might well have been altered and possible catastrophe might have been averted," he said.

Churchill got mixed boos and cheers when he endorsed the labor government's action in giving bomber bases to the United States in Britain.

Death Threat Told To Jury

CRAIG, Colo., Dec. 10. (AP)—Mrs. Thelma Jackson told a jury here she heard her divorced husband, Glen Jackson, utter a threat just before Jim Malloy was shot to death.

Jackson, a Midland, Tex., oil field worker, is on trial in district court on a charge of murder in Malloy's death.

Mrs. Jackson testified yesterday she heard Jackson sad: "I've come to blow your brains out." She said Malloy did not reply. She said she told Jackson: "This is silly—we'll talks things over."

Then, said Mrs. Jackson, Malloy went to a bedroom, with Jackson following, and she heard three shots.

Self Defense Claimed

Malloy was a grocer. He was shot to death last Sept. 30 in his home at Artesia, a northwestern Colorado oil town. Mrs. Jackson and her three children had been staying at the Malloy house.

After his arrest Jackson told Sheriff C. R. Johnston he drew a pistol and shot Malloy "when he came at me." He said he believed Malloy was going to attack him.

At that time Jackson said his purpose in going to the Malloy house was to visit his 12-year-old son who had been kicked by a horse.

Prosecuting Attorney Sid Pleasant has told the jury that he would ask for the death penalty. Jackson's attorneys have said he probably will testify in his own defense.

"Chaplain" Bill Plumlee of Abilene voiced a fervent prayer, and Reed Granberry, regular House parliamentarian, presented gavels to Lieutenant Governor Tarlton and Hughes Brown of Gladewater, the "speaker of the House."

The joint session, resolving itself into sessions of the senate and House, was followed by committee meetings representing delegations from:

Turkey Begins Trip To Truman's Table

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 10. (AP)—A 35-pound Minnesota turkey starts its final flight today—via plane for the Christmas table at the White House.

The bird, a broad breasted bronze young tom, will be presented to President Truman Monday. Craydon McCully, Maple Plain, Minn., president of the National Turkey federation, will take the bird to the executive mansion. It was raised by Clint Moline, veteran Isanti, Minn., grower.

Czech Official Resigns Post

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—One of Czechoslovakia's consuls here has announced his resignation as a representative of his Communist-dominated government and says he is appealing for asylum as a "Democratic political exile."

The consul, Zdenek Smetacek, announced last night he was resigning because "the present Czechoslovak regime is dependent on foreign interests contrary to the true wishes of the Czechoslovak people."

He said he was asking U. S. immigration authorities to allow him, his wife, their two children and his mother-in-law to remain in this country.

Asks For U. S. Help

Smetacek, who said he was named to his post 15 days before the Communist coup in Prague in February, declared in a communication to the U. S. State department:

"I hope that the traditional hospitality granted by the United States to Democratic political exiles will be extended also to me, and I take the liberty of soliciting the kind help of the Department of State in this regard."

The consul, press attache at the consulate, told the State department that "I do not consider it possible to associate my person with the activities of agents who are being sent from Prague to the diplomatic and consular missions since February last."

"There is no more hope," he said, that the present Prague regime will return to representation and respect of the natural interests of my nation."

Unemployment Feared

Allied-licensed German newspapers angrily reported that the state railway, controlled by the Russians, had virtually dismantled a locomotive repair shop at Tempelhof, in the American sector of Berlin. About 1,600 workmen at the shops were reported faced with unemployment or transfer to the Soviet sector.

A united front against Communism appeared as still the most important factor in setting up the city government elected by Germans in the three western sectors of Berlin Sunday. Members of two smaller parties were reported close to agreement to join in a coalition administration with the Social Democrats, whose party got 64.5 per cent of the votes.

The explosions pulverized concrete and twisted and ripped heavy steel. The plant's basement was badly wrecked. The external walls of the structure, a part eight-story and part five-story building, were not damaged although most of the windows were blown out.

Approximately 150 men were working in or near the building. Sixty of them were power plant employes. The others were construction men working on a new addition.

Dead Identified

All the dead were from Topeka. They were identified as C. A. Allensworth, Arthur Dahlene, Alphonse Bryant, Charles Miller, Roy Hamby, A. W. Freel, C. H. Redenbaugh and Albert Sheahan.

Men swarmed from the building after the initial explosions. Asbestos workers on the roof were shaken and one tumbled down, but escaped injury. Steel framed windows were hurled as far as 100 feet from the plant.

Power was restored to Topeka last night on a limited basis through an emergency hookup with other plants.

Building Specialist Says Construction Costs Not Likely To Return To Pre-War Year Level

If you are among those waiting for things to "level off" before you build that new house, or add a barn or two on your farm or ranch, you are probably just wasting time.

That is the opinion of W. S. Allen, building plan specialist with the Texas Extension service, who doubts that lumber and other construction materials will ever return to 1935—or even 1940-41—price levels.

Allen's views, expressed to Louis Franke, extension service editor, were addressed mainly to farmers and ranchers, but the same rule, at least as concerns costs, would apply to urban as well as rural residents.

He said that if prices ever again reach the low levels of the 30s "it will be during a major and unlooked for depression, when farmers and ranchmen are seldom in a position to take advantage of low prices."

Says Best Time Is Now

He reasons, therefore, that "if you can afford to repair your old home, or build a new one, better get at it. The chances are you'll never have a better chance to do it than right now."

The view coincides with that expressed almost universally by building material suppliers and dealers, but Allen hastens to add that he has no connection with the building industry, and nothing to gain or lose. He is interested in the welfare of rural people he primarily serves.

What about the rural housing situation?

The shortage of houses in rural areas is not as acute as in urban spots, and although many new homes have been built in rural areas or older homes remodeled, Allen said the proportionate gain is small compared with cities.

Costs Not Discussed

He explained that most farmers and ranchers have used their profits of the past few years to build up their income-producing capacity. They've paid off debts and mortgages, bought tractors and other machinery; built fences, dug wells and tanks. And, Allen said, that is all to the good, exactly as economists recommend.

But, for that reason, farm home building and improvement has been put off.

Allen did not go into the question of costs in relation to long-term debts, or the possible effect on the nation's economy of a rural construction program that would involve heavy indebtedness.

That situation was covered, however, in his "if you can afford it" admonition.

Home Improvement Urged

For the women, who are interested in interior finish and conveniences, as well as in the new house as a whole, Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist with the extension service, chimed in a second to Allen's ideas and added some of her own.

Mrs. Claytor attended the recent outlook conference in Washington, when the nation's leaders gathered for discussion of possibilities of the future. She talked with Dr. Gertrude Weiss, family economist of the USDA's (U.S. Department of Agriculture) bureau of human nutrition and home economics, about the rural housing situation.

Records show that much has been done on rural home improvement in recent years. For instance, between 1940 and 1947, the number of farm houses with modern bathrooms nearly doubled, and more than a million farm homes were equipped with running water.

But, she adds, "that's only a drop in the bucket." Two out of three farm homes still lack running water, and four out of five lack modern bathrooms.

Repairs Generally Needed

Mrs. Claytor cited figures from a recent census bureau survey showing:

Nearly two and a half times as high a percentage of farm homes as city homes are in need of repair;

About one-fourth as many farm as urban homes have private baths, and one-third as many have running water;

Only half as many farm as urban homes have such conveniences as electric lights, installed cooking facilities, running water, flush toilets, bath tub or shower.

Concerning the storied high and magnificent income of farmers, and admitting that farm income has been up for several years, Mrs. Claytor said records show that "the income of some one-third of our farmers is still so low they can't afford much in the way of home improvement."

Believing that the effect of low farm prices of the 20s and 30s is still with us in the form of a sort of economic hangover, she points out that this large segment of farm people—one-third of them—have been caught in the inflation squeeze the same as have white collar workers (salaried people).

But, on the whole, things are looking up in the farm home, with reports from most areas showing more building and remodeling than ever before.

There are indications that prices for farm products may level off some, and there is some question on what congress will do with the farm production price support (subsidy) program, but Franke finds that farm housing experts are generally agreed that now is as good a time as any to go ahead with plans for that new house or barn.

Anyway, you'll probably never be able to build that $10,000 house for $4,000.

Slight Flaw Found In Huge Telescope

PALOMAR OBSERVATORY, Cal., Dec. 10 (INS) — Scientists preparing the 200-inch Hale telescope for exploration of celestial reaches never before observed by man disclosed today that a slight flaw in the instrument has been discovered.

Dr. Ira S. Bowen, director of the Palomar observatory, said: "An inaccuracy was found in the outer edges of the mirror of about 20 millionths of an inch."

Discovery of the flaw will delay the commissioning of the great telescope. It had been hoped to put it into operation soon after the first of the year, but now that will have to be put off until some time later in 1949.

Technically, the observatory astronomers are seeking to control the parabolic curve of the mirror under all conditions of heat and light. They are striving to give the telescope maximum accuracy rather than accuracy that is just good enough.

Boyle Observed Wife's Routine For Week

Weary Wives Can Halt Tired Feeling By Following Theory

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK — A man comes home from his toil and finds waiting for him there a wife as weary as if she had spent the whole day wrestling an alligator.

When he asks, "how come, baby?" He is told wanly:

"Man works from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done."

This doesn't clarify the mystery at all. For the average husband is convinced that if there is one person who has an easier life than his boss—it's his wife. He can't understand how she can get so wornout when he has been breaking his own back earning enough money to buy gadgets to make her housework simple.

Wifely Routine Checked

The only way for a husband to get at the real truth of the matter is to stay home and find out what makes a wife so tired. What are her problems? How does she meet them?

Last week I was bedfast in my own four-room castle with a tumult in my toes that the doctor called a rheumatoid infection. I had a good chance to observe the work routine of my wife, Frances. Illness often sharpens the senses, and I think I have finally found out why wives get weary.

If your household is anything like mine, this is the way the day goes:

The good wife cooks and eats breakfast and carries out the dishes to the sink. Then she goes back to bed and lies down for a few minutes.

Ups And Downs Intense

Up she jumps and goes in and feverishly does the dishes. She flops on the couch and rests. She jumps up and does the beds. She flops on the loveseat and makes out a grocery list. She jumps up to answer the phone. She flops down on the couch. She bounces up to go to the door. No, she tells the man, she doesn't want to buy a four-volume history of Abyssinia.

And so the day wears. She's up . . . she's down . . . she's down . . . she's up.

After watching this for six days, I felt I was in a position to offer Frances my findings.

"Housewives could climb the Washington monument with the strength they waste flopping down and getting up all day long. Either they should stay up longer and get more work done, or else lie down longer and get more rest."

Theory Is Flop

When I asked Frances what she thought of this theory, she said:

"I don't care for your use of the word flop. And as for your theory, all I think it shows is that you are well enough to go back to work."

I guess my theory was a flo—I mean a failure. But it also explains why husbands come home tired. They sit at their desks, then get up and go to the water cooler to keep from tackling a problem. They come back, flop in their chair, rustle some papers—and back to the water cooler. They're up . . . they're down . . . they're down . . . they're up . . .

Honest Youth, Man Return Lost Money

Money totaling $32.04 and a check for $289.59 had been found here and turned in to the police for returnin ; to owners, it was announced Thursday afternoon.

Jean Norris, 14, found a girl's purse on a city bus. It contained $27.04. In it was an identification card indicating the owner is Elwanda Ethridge, described by police as a Senior High school student of 2315 Sanders.

JEAN NORRIS

William B. Miller, about 30, of Lubbock route 1, found a woman's purse containing a man's billfold and $5 in currency and a check for $289.59.

An identification card indicated ownership of Valente Valanos of Rockdale. The check apparently had been made in payment for cotton.

Police asked that owners call at the station and identify themselves and their properties.

Young Norris is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee T. Norris of 2720 Merthel, and is an eighth grade student of Junior High school. The father is a freight clerk for the Santa Fe Railway company.

Police expressed appreciation to the youth and to Miller "in behalf of the entire community—there would be no need for a police department here if everyone were as honest as you."

McMillan Film Hit At Return Showing

Approximately 700 persons attended the first of a three-night return showing of "African Adventures" of the W. G. McMillan family at Lubbock Senior High school last night.

Those at the program expressed warm praise for the films, now shown with a complete sound track, complete with music and a running commentary, and additional film not presented in the first showings here and in this area several months ago.

The shows, sponsored by the Lubbock Kiwanis club for the benefit of the Girl Scout building project, will be presented again tonight at 8 o'clock at a matinee at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and again that night at 8 o'clock.

Price of tickets are $1.20 for adults and 50 cents for school children and Tech students with activity tickets. Tax is included.

The film is a pictorial chronicle of the trip McMillan, his wife and son took to Africa last year and was premiered earlier this year under the Kiwanis club sponsorship. The pictures have been shown in numerous cities of the Southwest.

"New Type Bomb" Blamed For Chinese Reds' Battle Losses

TIENTSIN, China, Dec. 10. (AP) The Chinese Communists today vaguely blamed their losses in the Suchow battle on a "new type bomb which caused destruction of areas of five miles."

In a regional propaganda broadcast, originating in southern Hopeh province, the Red radio thus mentioned a new bomb, but gave no details. (Neither the nationalists nor any other source have ever mentioned use of any such weapon.)

The broadcast went on to say the big north China cities of Peiping and Tientsin couldn't be captured before March or May because the Communists "are too busy cleaning up in the Nanking-Shanghai area."

To Continue Operations

(Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa reported that the foreign consulates in Peiping intend to continue operations if the city falls to the Reds.

(Consulates are maintained there by the United States, Great Britain, Russia, the Netherlands, Belgium and Italy. The American consulate is the largest, with 44 persons, including dependents. It is headed by Edmund Clubb of St. Paul, Minn., whose wife is staying with him.

(Travelers reaching Tsingtao reported that American and British missionaries who remained at Tsinan after the fall of that Shantung provincial capital are being fairly well treated.

Given Special Guard

(Richard Bryant of Lockwood, N. Y., a Presbyterian missionary, said the Communists provided him with a special guard on the journey toward Tsingtao. He said he planned to return to Tsinan after transacting some business in Tsingtao and Shanghai.

(Bryant said there are seven American and two British missionaries in Tsinan. He added that "economically, the people of Tsinan are better off now than before." Bryant, a teacher at Cheloo university in Tsinan, spent six days reaching Tsingtao via donkey cart and rail bus.)

When tobacco was first taken to Europe from the United States, it was used as a narcotic.

Gossips Again Rumoring Split In Stanwyck-Taylor Marriage

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10—Trigger-happy gossips again are rumoring a split in the Barbara Stanwyck-Robert Taylor marriage, and the actress is denying the reports for the umpteenth time.

The cause of these recurring rumors, Barbara reasons, is her penchant for changing houses like some women change their hair-dos.

Barbara confessed that she has changed houses six times in their 10-year marriage, thereby creating at least six opportunities for the rumor mongers.

Has Explanation

Dennis O'Keefe has this explanation on why some of the current comedies are not funny: There aren't enough comediennes.

O'Keefe had to abandon a comedy he wanted to produce because he couldn't find a co-star. Gals like Dunne, Young and Russell are too expensive and the few young ones who can handle comedy—he named Jeanne Crain and June Allyson—aren't allowed out of their studios.

"Comedy is the hardest thing to act," he said on the "Dan Patch" set.

Gifts Showered Upon Child Doomed To Die

MENTOR, O., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Gifts are pouring in by the mail bag full for seven-year-old Arthur Smith, who is suffering from an incurable ailment.

Since his plight became known to readers of newspapers and radio listeners, a flood of cards, gifts and money has descended on the Smith home for Arthur.

"I don't understand it," he says. "It isn't my birthday and it isn't Christmas. They just saw my picture and are sending me things."

ESCAPES PRISON

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 10. (AP)—Thomas Pickens, 26, serving 10 years for robbery from El Paso county, escaped from the main unit of the Texas prison system yesterday. He disappeared from a construction gang at 5 p. m. A saddle horse also was missing. Pickens had been working on the prison's rodeo arena just outside the prison walls.

Agreement For Aid To Korea Is Signed

SEOUL, Dec. 10 (AP)—An agreement providing financial aid to the republic of Korea—subject to approval by the U. S. Congress—was signed today by representatives of the two governments.

The document, under which the new republic hopes to get more than $1,000,000 American aid annually for the next three years, now goes to the Korean national assembly for ratification.

It was signed by Ambassador John J. Muccio, President Truman's special representative, and Korean Prime Minister Lee Bum Suk. Terms of the agreement are in accord with Economic Cooperation administration regulations which require effective and fair use of American aid under U. S. and Korean observation.

"The agreement will strengthen our finance and economy during the important formative period facing us," said the premier. "Raw rubber, fertilizer, raw cotton, food and electric power equipment will be brought into Korea virtually without cost to ourselves.

"It will help develop our industrial capacity."

CHILD IS KILLED

CORPUS CHRISTI, Dec. 10. (AP) Two-year-old Ruby Ann Staten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Staten, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon when she was struck by a car in the street in front of her home in Premont. The Statens had moved to Premont about a week ago from Gonzales.

Threat Of Federal Censorship Spurred Action In Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10. (AP)—Louis B. Mayer says a threat of federal censorship spurred the movie industry to adopt a policy of firing employes in contempt of Congress.

The 63-year-old millionaire head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer said this yesterday at the federal jury trial of the job reinstatement suit of writer Lester Cole, one of "the Hollywood ten." Cole lost his $1,350-a-week job at MGM soon after he declined to tell the House unAmerican activities committee whether he was Communist.

Earlier, Mayer testified that Cole told him he was not a Communist.

Mayer, a bridegroom who interrupted a honeymoon with his 41-year-old bride to testify, said:

"There was a threat of federal censorship at that time. The public wouldn't be appeased unless something was done. The industry belongs to the public like baseball." He did not elaborate on the censorship threat.

Taking the witness stand himself, Cole told of a conversation he had with Mayer in the summer of 1947.

"I told him the question of Communism in the motion picture industry was started by people like James K. McGuinness, an executive producer at MGM. McGuinness had attempted to set up a company union, the screen playwrights, to counteract the screen writers guild, in which I was active."

Smear Campaign Tried

Cole said he told Mayer that McGuinness and others tried to smear Katharine Hepburn, Frank Sinatra, himself and others.

Portions of a deposition by E. J. Mannix, MGM vice president, were read to the jury. Mannix related that at the time the notice of suspension was served on Cole "we had information . . . that organizations in America were about to put on a campaign against the picture business, particularly against the members who defied Congress, and if that organized campaign would have taken place . . . it would have been a very sorry day for our picture business."

Mayer and his bride, the former Mrs. Lorena Danker, left last night by train for Chicago and New York on a honeymoon trip. They eloped last Saturday to Yuma, Ariz.

Demos, GOP In Court Battle

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 10 (AP) Connecticut's battle between Republicans and Democrats over the November election results comes into court for the second round today.

Yesterday the board of election canvassers, all Republicans, signed the official tabulation of votes cast, but said it still wanted to look into "discrepancies" in the voting. The Democrats want to know what these discrepancies are. Today's court session is an attempt by the Democrats to obtain an order "commanding" the canvassers to "certify" the tabulations they signed yesterday.

Demos Given Seats

It appeared virtually certain that, as a result of yesterday's signing of the tabulations the state's eight electoral votes would be cast for Governor Thomas E. Dewey. Unofficial figures gave Dewey the state by 14,457 votes. By signing the tabulations the canvassers in effect, declared also that the Democrats captured three of the state's six seats in Congress; declared that the Democrats won control of the state senate.

The canvassers, two of whom were defeated in the election, signed the canvas after the Democrats had obtained a court order restraining them from examining the voting machines which have been impounded since the election.

In today's court action the Democrats seek to compel the canvassers to certify the election results or explain why not. The board has pointed to unspecified discrepancies in the close vote for state offices as the reason for their inaction.

2,000 Reptiles Victims Of One-Man War

Rattlesnake Killer Champion Of County, Maybe All Texas

LAMPASAS, Dec. 10 (AP) — Elisha Chambers gigs rattlesnakes like piscatorial enthusiasts gig fish.

That makes him a valuable citizen around these parts, where ranchers annually see thousands of dollars worth of their livestock cut down by rattlers.

A lot of folk around here think Lampasas county should have a rattlesnake killer on its payroll. If and when the job is created, it'll go to Elisha Chambers handsdown, for he has an undisputed talent in dealing with the venemous reptiles.

Champion Of County

In the past eight years, Chambers has gigged and dynamited 2,000 or more rattlers. That makes him the champion rattlesnake killer of Lampasas county, easily—and maybe of all Texas.

His "gig" is a long piece of metal tubing with a barbed end. Chambers calls it a harpoon; a fisherman would call it a gig. Whatever name it is called, it is Chambers favorite weapon.

At times, when he gets the gig going in a full nest, Chambers has wiped out whole families of rattlesnakes without stopping to clear the sharp weapon.

The biggest rattler Chambers ever stopped was a 15½ pounder. The snake had 22 rattles, was 6 ft., 3 inches long, 21 inches in circumference.

Begins War On Snakes

Chambers began his war on rattlesnakes soon after he moved onto a ranch near here. The reptiles bit his sheep and his horses and he gnashed his teeth. Then Chambers' baby was bitten, and that did it. He opened warfare on snakes.

Five years later, Chambers had slaughtered everyone of the numerous rattlers on his land. In the past three years, only one has crossed Chambers' path. The result was dire, from the snake's point of view.

No rattler has ever sunk a fang in Chambers' skin. He has had some narrow escapes, but none so narrow as the day he was gigging an especially fruitful den.

Was Hard To Get

This one was hard to get at—halfway up a rocky hillside. Chambers attacked by coming down from above, holding to a rope with one hand and his harpoon with the other.

He speared snake after snake. They piled up, a writhing mass of snakeflesh, on the harpoon. Then, a big one spilled off and plunged downward. As it fell, the rattler struck at Chambers' face, missing by a whisker.

"I can still feel the current of air made by that snake's head in front of my face," said Chambers.

This has been a bad year for rattlers. "They're thinner than usual," Chambers disclosed. This, he said, is presumably because the drouth cut down the usually abundant supply of rabbits and mice. These are prime victuals to a rattler—on a par with choice sirloin steaks for people.

Reds Believed Trying To Trap Chinese Defending Hwai River

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, Dec. 10 — Chinese Communist troops today were believed trying to cut in behind the Hwai river—last government defense line north of Nanking short of the Yangtze itself.

Government sources said the Communists are attempting to cross the Hwai at a bend in the river 90 miles northwest of Nanking. This is at a point where the river is lightly defended.

This threat arose as the bulk of the government armies of east China still strove to break loose from two big traps north of the Hwai.

Would Cut Off Nanking

A crossing of the Hwai in any force would cut off Nanking from the new base at Pengpu, 105 miles northwest of the capital, along with the 80,000 troops manning the defenses along the river.

The number of Red troops committed to the operation was not indicated. But they would be only 15 miles—easy striking distance—from the railway supply line between Nanking and Pengpu.

(A Shanghai newspaper reported a Communist advance 75 miles to the northeast along the grand canal, a drive which might be geared to the Red operations on the Hwai.

(The newspaper Sheng Pao said government troops had withdrawn from the Grand canal cities of Hwaiyin and Hwaian, about 110 miles north of Nanking and had fallen back 25 miles south to Paoying.

Have Straight Shot

(If true the Communists appeared to have a straight shot southward to the Yangtze along a route protected by two large lakes — Hungtze on the west and Kaoyu on the east.)

A return of bad weather grounded the air force, which had been counted upon to help in extracating the four government army groups encircled in two pockets north of the Hwai.

Three army groups from Suchow were said to have reformed their ranks after taking a bad beating and were again fighting southward toward the Hwai.

To the south of them the 12th army group still appeared trapped some 25 miles north of Pengpu, contrary to government reports earlier that it had broken free.

Separated By 20 Miles

(A Shanghai front dispatch in Sheng Pao said 20 miles still separated the 12th from troops trying to fight to its relief north of the Hwai.

(The picture also appeared to be darkening in north China, where Gen. Fu Tso-Yi is trying to save Peiping and Tientsin from the Communist tide.

(Fu's headquarters confirmed earlier reports that government troops had withdrawn from Shunyi, only 18 miles northeast of Peiping.

(Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa reported that the Communists also were putting on the pressure from the southwest and that Peiping was in danger of early Red capture.

Must Decide Quickly

(Moosa said Fu must decide quickly whether to fight a decisive battle on the plains around Peiping or retire northwest to his old citadel in inner Mongolia.

(Moosa reported that the bulk of Fu's personal army from inner Mongolia was concentrated in the Peiping area. Other government troops were deployed east for the defense of the Tientsin area.

(This indicated that Fu would be ready to haul out for inner Mongolia if Communist pressure become too great to stand.)

Bergen To Get New Radio Perspective

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10. (AP)—Edgar Bergen will quit radio after his Dec. 26 broadcast—until he's had a chance to study television and program developments from outside the field.

"I have decided to retire temporarily from radio," the ventriloquist announced last night. "This seems to be the oportune time to step back and get a perspective of radio and television as the entire entertainment industry is going through a state of flux."

Bergen—a top air star for 12 years—was recently dropped by Standard brands and a sponsorship deal with Coco-Cola fell through.

"When a show like 'Stop The Music' with no entertainment value can take away listeners from other shows that are trying to do a good job of entertaining," Bergen said, "the current situation baffles me," said the creator of Charlie McCarthy.

He said that later he might make fewer air appearances, probably alternating with another star every other week.

Post Office Goes On A Big Search

DENVER, Dec. 10 (U.P) — Post offices list almost anything among their duties.

Denver postal officials have been busy, in addition to regular duties, finding an Indian preacher and a shoe store.

The preacher was searched for in answer to a letter from Mrs. Andrew Sturgeon of Colon, Mich. Mrs. Mary Selogg of Ottawa, Ill., asked postal authorities here to discover the name of a shoe repair shop at which she left a shoe when she suddenly was called out of Denver three months ago.

Age Bests Youth In Mexican Competition

JUAREZ, Mexico, Dec. 10 (AP)—Age bested youth as Juarez senoras and senoritas competed in modeling of Mexican shawls and 49-year-old Senora Matilde Vargas won top honors.

The contest was held yesterday as a feature of rebozo (shawl) day in the second day of the five-day-long 289th Juarez birthday celebration.

Friday has been set aside as charro day. Horse races, donkey races and cock fights will be held in the old Juarez race track. A colorful charro parade with Chinas poblanas and American and Mexican cowboys will be staged. Late in the afternoon cowboys from both sides of the Rio Grande will compete for honors in a rodeo.

GETS DEATH PENALTY

BIG SPRING, Dec. 10. (AP)—A 70th district court jury last night convicted Samuel B. Gibson, 22-year-old negro, of murder in the knife-slaying here Nov. 6 of Juan Olague, 14. Gibson was given a death sentence.

RECIPE

TAFFY CREAM CAKE...Snowdrift's creamy goodness in cake and icing, too! Another triple-prize success!

Sift together in a large bowl:
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
2½ teaspoons double-action baking powder (3¼ teaspoons single-action)
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups sugar
Add:
½ cup Snowdrift (Emulsorized—quick-blending)
¾ cup milk
Mix until flour is dampened. Beat 2 minutes. If you beat by hand and take "rests," count beating time only. (With electric mixer, set at "low speed"; scrape bowl and beaters frequently.)
Add:
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup milk
Beat 1 minute. (Smoother, better batters with Snowdrift!) Turn into 2 greased 8-inch layer pans (with bottoms paper-lined). Bake in moderate oven (375°) about 25 minutes. Cool on racks 5 minutes; turn out of pans, invert and cool. Put together with—

TAFFY CREAM ICING
2 tablespoons Snowdrift
2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup light molasses
¼ cup cream
4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, firmly packed
Nutmeats
Cream quick-blending Snowdrift with butter. Add salt, molasses, cream; mix well. Add confectioners' sugar gradually; stir until fluffy smooth. Spread as filling and icing. Decorate top with nuts.

Methodist Bishop For Quick Support Of Chiang Kai-Shek

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa., Dec. 10 (AP) — It will cost the United States 10 billion dollars to re-arm Japan and set up a military base in the Philippines if the Communists win control of China, says Methodist Bishop Fred P. Corson.

"Unless America acts quickly to avert a Communist victory," the Philadelphia church leader told a reporter yesterday, "our children will pay a terrible price for our stupidity and indifference.

"Out of sheer gratitude we owe to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek the help he needs now. When we needed aid following Pearl Harbor, he kept engaged more than 2,000,000 trained Japanese troops. If they had been free to be used against us, there would have written a much bloodier and prolonged chapter in our war in the Far East."

Bishop Corson made his statement — he says it has the backing of every Methodist bishop who has visited China — after Frank T. Cartwright, associate secretary for China, of the Methodist church, predicted early Communist control of China through a military victory or a coalition government.

Issue Stated

Cartwright made his forecast to the Methodist's board of missions and church extensions, which closes its annual four-day meeting today with the reading of routine reports.

The issue in China, Bishop Corson said, "is whether or not we will keep a government in power that has held a national election on Democratic line and stands for freedom of speech and religion or permit Communism to win."

Cartwright, told the 200 member board of missions a coalition government would be formed without Chiang.

"The coalition would probably contain three or four of the present Nationalist leaders in posts of lesser importance," Cartwright declared, "with the major posts in the hands of the Communists."

SAN DIEGO BASE GROWS

SAN DIEGO. (U.P.)—San Diego's naval training center is now the biggest naval establishment of its kind in the United States, according to John Nicholas Brown assistant secretary of the Navy. Brown said the training center has a personnel of more than 24,000 "on board." He stressed this area's importance in the national preparedness program.

West Africa Wants To Help Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (INS) — The words in the song which goes "civilization — take it away" must have impressed officials of a west African mission.

The Episcopal diocese of Chicago received a $22.25 contribution from a west African mission to help fight "the evils of civilization."

An accompanying explanation said a U. S. missionary told about "the bad habits of some Americans in their neglect of Christianity" and "heathen" Chicago was placed at the head of a list of civilized cities to be aided.

About 99 per cent of the earth's atmosphere is nitrogen and oxygen.

Former Big League Player Faces Trial

DALLAS, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Art (The Great) Shires, former major league first baseman charged with the murder of W. H. "Hi" Erwin, one-time Texas league player and umpire, will face examining trial Dec. 15.

Shires was released on $5,000 bond Tuesday after he was charged with causing the death of Erwin as a result of a fight they had last October.

The state said it could summon seven witnesses to testify they saw Shires and Erwin fighting in Erwin's cleaning and pressing establishment.

Erwin died in Methodist hospital last Saturday.

In its charge, the state said Shires beat and stomped Erwin with his fists and feet.

Plastic Surgeon Claims Lots Of Women Lose Men By Nose

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10 (AP)—Ladies, having trouble hooking a man? Maybe your nose is in the way.

It's Dr. Robert Alan Franklin who's getting personal. He's a plastic surgeon who says lots of gals lose out by a nose.

Nosing around in his records, Dr. Franklin found that all but one of 47 spinsters whose schnozzolas he revamped during the last four years got married. The woman who remained an old maid was a confirmed man-hater anyhow, the doc adds.

"Men with matrimony in mind," claims Dr. Franklin with a loftier view than most, "look at a woman's nose before they look at her eyes or legs."

U. S. Campaign Against Jerry-Builders Who Cheated Veterans On Housing In High Gear

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The government's drive against U. S. home builders who have cheated veterans, which has been gaining momentum during the past three months, is now in high gear.

Nearly 200 contractors who sold millions of dollars worth of faulty homes to several thousand veterans have been fined, indicted or jailed so far. Fines have ranged up to $50,000 and jail terms up to a year.

Voluntary Amends Made

Most spectacular results of the drive, however, is the way it has inspired contractors all over the country to make voluntary amends for sub-standard homes which they sold.

Typical of what is happening all over the country is the case of the veteran in Dallas, Tex., who had been living in his house for two years. One morning he was astonished by a crew of workmen who showed up to give him a completely new set of gutters and rainwater downspouts. When the veteran inquired, the contractor admitted that the original gutters weren't right, but that he had been waiting for materials to make the change.

Settlements Out Of Court

That surprise visit happened one week after three contractors had been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury for selling jerry-built houses to veterans.

In the Los Angeles area alone in one recent month, the U. S. District Attorney reported more than 1000 satisfactory out-of-court settlements had been made for veterans who had complained about the houses they bought. Settlements ranged from $200 to $1200.

According to Philip W. Yager, special assistant to the Attorney General who is coordinating the government's investigation, this same activity is taking place all over the U. S. He says:

"Our primary goal is to see that the veteran ends up getting a square deal on a house, not to send builders to jail. The most gratifying results of the work so far are the great number of settlements which we have helped to effect and which our investigations have inspired, without criminal or civil court actions."

The Office of the Housing Expediter reports the same results. OHE recently turned 281 special investigators loose on the problem of helping veterans who got cheated on post-war houses. Out of 13,167 investigations satisfactorily completed in three months only 4489 have ended in court litigation. The great bulk of OHE's results have been out-of-court-settlements.

Publicity Helped

More than $6 million worth of faulty construction has been found in the first $200 million worth of veterans housing investigated.

When the investigation started gathering headway in September, the government had a backlog of 30,000 complaints from veterans. The wide publicity given the probe brought in another 200,000 complaints. It is estimated that settlements can be made on about 45,000 of these.

While the Department of Justice and OHE have directed their efforts to helping veterans who have already been victimized, the Veterans Administration has taken an important step to halt any future sale of inferior houses to veterans. It has established a code of minimum standards for homes that spells out down to the last nail just what the government considers a satisfactory house for a veteran to buy.

Builders can ask VA to make an advance appraisal of a house under the new plan. If the house meets the minimum standard, VA puts a fair price on it and the future sale of it to a veteran, with a guaranteed loan, is automaically approved. VA can't force a builder to meet these minimum standards but it can hold up the loan on a house that doesn't.

Specific Laws Lacking

In addition to the work of the Federal government, some city officials have taken a hand in the problem. In Baltimore 16 builders were brought into court, fined and ordered to improve the construction on veterans housing projects which violated local building ordinances. Thousands of veterans on their own have brought successful suits against builders who were proved to have violated contracts by using faulty materials and failing to supply such things as stoves, storm windows and screens.

The efforts of the government have been hampered by the lack of specific laws which protect veterans against unscrupulous contractors. Thousands of veterans are now living in houses with leaky roofs, bad plumbing, and wet basements; many of these houses are expected to become unlivable before the final mortgage payments are made. The veterans who bought them are victims of gaps in the Federal law.

The government's probe will continue until next June. If the backlog of complaints isn't taken up by that time, Congress will be asked for more money to continue the investigations and enforcement.

Program Discussed At Vets Farm Meet

Walter Y. Wells, secretary and administrative officer of the county Agricultural Conservation association last night discussed various phases of the 1949 crop program before the regular monthly meeting of the Lubbock County veterans Agriculture association. The meeting was held at the livestock pavilion at Texas Tech.

Wells spoke on the agriculture conservation program for 1949, the price support program next year and the cotton crop insurance program for 1949.

Approximately 65 persons attended the session.

Ruling Gives State $75,000 In Liquor

AUSTIN, Dec. 10 (U.P.) — A decision by the United States supreme court has opened the way to confiscation by the state of approximately $75,000 worth of liquor now impounded by Texas authorities, Attorney General Price Daniel said today.

The action, taken Monday by the high court, was decided in favor of Texas in the case of Rainey V. Cartlidge.

The case arose when state authorities seized a load of liquor near Quitman, in Wood county, en route from Shreveport, La., to dry territory in Oklahoma.

State Law Upheld

Earlier, the United States circuit court of appeals in New Orleans upheld Texas laws which prohibit transportation of liquor across the state in private carriers without a permit.

The action—ending in refusal by the supreme court to review the lower court decision—was fought through the federal courts by Daniel and two assistants, Ned McDaniel and William S. Lott.

The attorney general said the court's action cleared the way for criminal prosecutions, as well as the forfeiture of several more loads of liquor being held "at several points" in East Texas. The seizures were made under circumstances similar to those involved in the Rainey case.

McDaniel said that the liquor would be sold back into licensed wholesale trade channels by the Texas Liquor Control board. The revenue will go into the general fund of the board.

In the healthy human, red blood cells live, on the average, for about 120 days before being replaced by new ones.

That Girl on Broadway says family ties are strong—but Christmas ties are louder.

WE remarked here the other day that it would be a fine thing for our community if the talents of the three Junior High choruses were put to greater use—especially for such programs as people enjoy around Christmas and Easter.

Now we are in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Elois A. Elliott, who says we must have been reading the minds of herself, other chorus directors and the Junior High kids themselves, because the choruses will present a program at the Senior High auditorium come Monday night.

Mrs. Elliott directs the chorus at Carroll Thompson Junior High and also co-ordinates vocal music in the Lubbock schools. She says the Monday night program, in addition to featuring the Thompson, J. T. Hutchinson and O. L. Slaton choruses also will swing a spotlight on singers from the fifth and sixth grades of the city's school system.

Mrs. Elliott, J. H. Penn, Miss Imogene Webster and Miss Nell Goodloe, who are responsible for our public school music, are all very anxious to expand the opportunities of their young charges to appear in public. They want to do all they can to give the folks chances to hear the youngsters and if Monday night's program is well attended, we may be sure that others will be forthcoming at appropriate times and upon appropriate occasions.

The Monday night program will get under way at 7:30 o'clock. It is the second annual "Feast of Carols."

The youngsters deserve a good turnout and if they sing like they've been singing at civic club meetings, they'll be well worth hearing.

WE often think, as do many others, that communities both large and small very often fail to take advantage of the good things that are "right under their noses."

Here in Lubbock, for instance, you hear people saying "there's nothing to do around here but go to a picture show." Yet the fact remains that our city has its fair share of talented people whose abilities in the realms of music and the other arts are sufficient to add immeasurably to gracious living at very little—and sometimes no—cost at all.

You've often heard it said that the best things in New York are either free, or so cheap that they can be enjoyed by almost anyone, regardless of his earning power. That is true—and the same thing usually can be said, in ratio of populations, about any city, town, or hamlet in the country.

We Americans would be wiser than we are if we gave more attention and more encouragement to the cultural and semi-cultural talents all about us—in Lubbock, Chicago, or Klutz's Corner.

OLDTIMERS in West Texas who haven't been going to Juarez much in recent years, but who remember when that border city was a great playground and "watering place" for much of the Southwest, would be surprised at the changes time has wrought in that old city across the Rio Grande from El Paso.

In El Paso on business last weekend, we made a mid-day automobile tour of the Mexican city and were surprised at the evidences of growth, expansion and solid improvement pointed out by that old border hand, Bill Hooten, editor of the El Paso Times.

Mr. Hooten, who has been newspapering in El Paso and Juarez for more than a quarter century, knows the latter city like he knows the palm of his hand. He knows the people, their customs and traditions and he'll tell you that growth, improvement and expansion in Juarez over the past 10 years or so compare very favorably with the forward steps of any city in the Southwest on this side of the river.

Most people remember Juarez as a tinseled, rip-roaring town battening on the frustrations of prohibition—a place of wide open vice and gambling; a dirty sort of a town to which few ever turned for any other reason than to kick up their heels and let go.

But today, Juarez has jumped from its old 30,000 population to around 70,000; it boasts many new businesses and fine new buildings; a more than generous sprinkling of very beautiful and costly homes—in short, it has become one of the most important trading posts in all of Northern Mexico.

Gone are the open gambling joints and buried under the civic consciousness of its new leaders is the old "La Luz Colorado." Business is livelier by day than by night, and the business upturn is greater in the business houses than in the saloons and brash night clubs.

JUAREZ has two new and ultra modern hotels, both of which have been built within very recent years. Either would be a credit to any city of similar size on this side of the Rio.

Among its picture shows are two exceptionally fine cinema houses, one of which is almost a replica of New York's Radio City Music Hall and, of course, the superior of 99.44 per cent of the picture shows in the U. S. Juarez's new municipal market is up to snuff in every respect and the old jail—once as horrible as any juzgado in all Latin-America—has given away to a new prison so well-kept that tourists never think of visiting it to become horrified, as they did of old.

But the building most typical of the new and reformed Juarez is a new school building on Dies y Seis de Setiembre street, east of the business district. Strictly utilitarian and entirely modern, this new school would grace any community, of any size, in the U.S.A. Similar grounds and building anywhere on this side of the line would run into an expenditure of at least $300,000. In Mexico, where everything is much cheaper, the layout must have cost the equivalent of $175,000 to $200,000.

Of course, Juarez still does a terrific night life business. Mr. Hooten tells us that the visiting fireman still can find any sort of fire he's looking for if he knows how.

But the solid tourist trade now well overshadows the whoop-'em-up variety of yester-year and the Aunt Agathas who go over there from Dubuque and Olathe are more important than the Goodtime Joes.

Juarez is growing up. It has washed its ears and neck and put on long pants. One of these days it should be among the better cities of Mexico in which to live.

"ALFALFA," says Dr. Wald Semon, agriculture and food expert of Cincinnati, "contains high quality proteins and some day people are going to sit down to a dish of the stuff and like it."

Maybe so. But our guess is people will never sit down to a dish of alfalfa until the U. S. Department of Agriculture gets off the seat of its pants and does something to popularize alfalfa and many other good human foods which now are being fed only to livestock.

What Doctor Semon says about alfalfa also is true of our grain sorghums, raised in quantity on these very plains. The USDA knows our grains are good for human consumption. But even with millions of people hungry in the world, the USDA will do absolutely nothing to promote the interests of those crops and the farmers who grow them.

This very section, alone, could have another major food crop from its grains if the USDA would do something constructive along this line. But until it does, neither our grains, nor Doctor Semon's alfalfa, will get to first base as human food—no matter how good they are, or how many millions of people actually need them.

BY DREW PEARSON: JUSTICE DEPARTMENT, UN-AMERICAN GROUP IN HEADLINE RACE

Both Want Credit For Clearing Up Spy Mystery

WASHINGTON — Beneath the tragic seriousness of the Chambers-Hiss dispute over stolen State department documents there is the humorous spectacle of a news-headline race between the un-American activities committee and the Justice department.

PEARSON

The Justice department, believing in the old axiom that justice moves slow but sure, at first serenely took its time and let one high official recover from an acute case of weekenditis before working up fever heat over the Chambers-Hiss case.

Meanwhile, the un-American activities committee, knowing it faced a hostile 81st Congress, saw this as the last chance to win back its huge appropriations and get a new lease on life.

The result was a headline race which certainly bore out all the American principles of free, competition. Here is the backstage story of what happened.

When ex-Communist agent Whittaker Chambers first testified in a secret deposition in Baltimore that he had received confidential documents from State department official Alger Hiss, Attorney Richard Cleveland, youngest son of the late president Grover Cleveland, acting for Chambers, immediately notified the Justice department. So also did Hiss's attorney, William Marbury.

The Justice department then proceeded with the case as if it did not live in a goldfish bowl, and as if there was no un-American activities commitee to stir up the animals. It began a careful, painstaking investigation.

Midnight Ride To Maryland

Meanwhile, Counsel Robert Stripling, real brains of the un-American activities committee, heard about the Baltimore deposition and, never one to let grass grow under his feet, scurried up to the Chambers farm at Westminister, Md.

He and Chambers were old friends, and the ex-Communist agent was not averse to giving Stripling some additional microfilm documents which he had not given to the Baltimore lawyers, except that the lawyers had told him to say nothing and to cooperate with the Justice department, which had already started to probe the case.

So Stripling returned to Washington, got a subpoena, and sped back to Westminster, arriving there at 1 a. m. Friday. It was then that Chambers led him to the now famous pumpkin.

Incidentally, between Stripling's two trips, Chambers had transferred the microfilm from a squash to a pumpkin. Apparent reason for the switch was his own love of mystery, plus the fact that Stripling on his first trip had remarked on the big pile of squashes in Chambers' barnyard. So Chambers switched the microfilm from a squash to a pumpkin, putting a row of squashes in the shape of an arrow pointing to the special pumpkin.

MEANWHILE, the Justice department, still thinking that justice should move slow and sure, had scheduled new grand jury hearings in New York for the coming Wednesday. It is barely possible that the justice department also had in mind the fact that California's Representative Dick Nixon, Republican chairman of the un-American subcommittee probing the Chambers-Hiss row, was en route to Panama and could not get back to Washington before Wednesday. If so, the Justice department reckoned without its sister department, the treasury.

The Treasury department, apparently not wanted to belie the critics who claim that Truman cabinet members never let one man know what the other is doing, promptly took Congressman Nixon off his boat en route to Panama and flew him back to Washington by special Coast Guard plane.

Immediately, G. O. P. Congressman Nixon scheduled hearings of his un-American subcommittee for Tuesday—one day ahead of the Justice department's grand jury meeting in New York.

By this time, however, the Justice department was shaking off weekenditis and really hitting the ball. Overnight, it stepped up its grand jury session from Wednesday to Monday. This would put it in the headlines one day ahead of the un-American committee hearing.

Nixon Steals Headlines

Congressman Nixon, however, is a resourceful gentleman. With the Justice department holding its grand jury investigation on Monday, he proceeded to call a press conference and issue a statement which completely stole the headlines.

He read part of Chambers' hitherto secret testimony, given in his Baltimore deposition, in which Chamber accused Hiss of giving him State department documents for the Russians.

This was considered so secret that both the Justice Department and the Baltimore attorneys had refused to admit such testimony existed.

Nixon also issued a stinging blast against the Justice department.

"The committee is concerned," he said, "over the apparent lack of interest by the Justice department in getting to the crux of this case."

After holding this sensational press conference, Nixon and his fellow Republican, Congressman John McDowell of Pennsylvania. climbed on a train and went to New York.

Awaiting them at the Pennsylvania railroad station in New York were U. S. District Attorney Jack McGohey and special U. S. Prosecutor Tom Donegan, who has been trying to track down Communist agents before the N. Y. grand jury for more than a year.

McGohey is a mild-mannered man. He doesn't talk much. But, smarting from G. O. P. election-campaign criticism that he failed to prosecute Communist spies and from Nixon's latest diatribe, McGohey said plenty.

Behind closed hotel-room doors with Congressman Nixon and McDowell, he pounded on the table and demanded that the un-American activities committee not reveal testimony that was supposed to be secret. It must not, he said, jump the gun on the grand jury.

The closed-door session lasted for some time. After it ended, the two congressmen appeared — meek and mollified. Nixon, who a few hours before had accused the Justice department of "apparent lack of interest," now proclaimed:

"The committee is cooperating with the federal attorneys and the grand jury 100 per cent. It is our intention to work together."

Just to make sure, however, Mr. McGohey put the two star witnesses, Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers, under federal subpoena. This prevents them from making more headlines for the un-American activities committee until the Justice department is entirely finished.

My God, give me neither poverty nor riches; but whatsoever it may be Thy will to give, give me with it a heart which knows humbly to acquiesce in what is Thy will.—Christian Scriver.

A NEW YORK movie theater recently ran into trouble—in the form of protests from church, school, and civic groups—for offensively advertising one of its pictures as "just plain sexiness—a drama of love and lust."

We've been getting so much "just plain sexiness" the past few years in both movies and novels under the cloak of "art" or "realism" that it would be rather refreshing to see such works more honestly labeled.

MILLETT

There are lots of people who buy books and movie tickets under the pretense that what they are seeking is "realism," when what they're actually seeking, paying for and enjoying is "just plain sexiness."

But under a phony label they can kid themselves they are seeing or reading something worthwhile.

TRUTHFUL LABEL

LABEL a movie or book "just plain sexiness" and it might do a better business among those who don't want anything better and don't kid themselves about it.

But with a trutful label the many people who like to fool themselves wouldn't have any chance or excuse for doing it. Also it would be easier to keep the kids away from "just plain sexiness," if the movies that offer nothing else proclaimed the fact.

If those who protested nad said: "Don't show us movies that can be described as 'just plain sexiness'" they'd have had a talking point. But it looks as though they avoided the real issue when they objected to the advertising rather than to the movie itself.

Headline Hunting Habit Still Prevails In Spy Probe Action

WASHINGTON — Even though the House Un-American Activities committee appears to have documentary evidence of vital significance, the committee continues to behave with nervous excitability. In the face of material that, if substantiated, calls for the most solemn and careful procedure, the old habit of headline hunting prevails.

CHILDS

Favored reporters have their private leaks from committee members. These reporters make themselves champions of individuals and the particular thesis of individual committee members.

At a press conference in Washington, Rep. Richard M. Nixon of California, who made a spectacular and highly publicized flight to Washington from Panama, reads a deposition given in a civil suit, contrary to the rules of the court in which the suit was proceeding. In that deposition Whittaker Chambers accused Alger Hiss of passing out secret documents that were in turn given to a Russian agent.

Then Nixon makes a higly publicized trip to New York. There, six hours after reading the deposition containing the accusation against Hiss, he announces, "we're here to find out who gave this information to Chambers."

Result Is Hysteria

The end result is to create an atmosphere of hysteria, suspicion, doubt and uncertainty. What should be weighed with the utmost seriousness, since it involves the most abhorrent breach of trust and faith, is thus cheapened and degraded.

Contributing to the atmosphere of a publicity man's dream is the apparent rivalry between the committee and the Department of Justice. On the day Nixon held his press conference word came to the Justice department that the committee proposed to hold special night hearings in New York as a kind of adjunct to the grand jury inquiry that has been reopened.

One of the leading newsreel companies asked the department when the hearings were to be held so they could set up their cameras. The idea seems to have been that a witnesses came out of the grand jury room they would go before the committee and the Klieg lights.

GRAND jury procedure under our system of law is most carefully guarded and the committee's proposal, as it was understood at the Department of Justice, caused something like consternation. That is why the committee members were met in New York by John F. X. McGoey, United States attorney for the southern district of New York, who is directing the grand jury inquiry.

A stormy session followed. But finally the committee seems to have been dissuaded from going ahead in a manner that might have interfered with the grand jury. By law and by custom grand jury proceedings are held in secrecy so that witnesses may have full protection and, therefore, feel free to testify without fear of reprisal.

So many questions remain unanswered. The microfilms of secret State department and Navy documents have presumably been in existence for 10 years or longer. Why should these films have gone undiscovered until Chambers, in his own good time, chose to disclose their whereabouts?

In the hearings last summer the committee seems to have accepted everything that Chambers said as fact, without independent investigation. Presumably Chambers had the documents and the films in his possession all the time and chose to disclose them only after he was pressed for evidence in Hiss' $75,000 slander suit.

Question Important

There is, of course, a larger and far more important question. It is why Chambers, by his own confession, and others who may be implicated beyond doubt, should have betrayed their country by stooping to this mean and vicious espionage.

No gloss of misplaced idealism ever can be put over the contemptible work of the spy, the stooge, the saboteur. Only the completely materialistic end-justifies-the-means philosophy of Marxist-Stalinist Communism can approve such methods. That philosophy is alien to all that is best and truest in the American tradition.

The public has a right to expect an earnest, concerted effort by government to find

A PLACE TO SCATTER CHEER

If opportunity ever was offered to invest 75 cents to better advantage than in the Lubbock Goodfellows' Christman Fund for Needy Children this year, we do not know when, or what, it was.

The Goodfellows are asking for $3,000 to remember upwards of 4,000 needy children in Lubbock who otherwise will be forgotten by Santa Claus on Christmas morning. Each 75 cents given may spare some child the tragedy of an empty stocking; $7.50 would insure a generous remembrance for 10 needy children.

Many people naturally are limited in their ability to give. Most of us, happily, could spare a little. No one should withhold his or her contribution because it is small. Every cent is important, considering that it might make the difference between a happy Christmas and no Christmas at all for some needy child.

Send your contribution, large or small, to the Chief Goodfellow in care of The Avalanche-Journal, 1211-13 Texas avenue

Problems Of Palestine Issue May Get Action In UN Today

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 10—Two problems which have delayed a Palestine settlement may get action in the United Nations today.

One is the Jewish siege of Egyptian troops at Faluja; the other is the British resolution for creation of a Palestine conciliation commission.

Aubrey S. Eban of Israel is expected to advise the security council's Palestine committee (about 9 a. m. EST) that a force of 1,200 Egyptian troops, besieged at Faluja, in the Negev, almost since the start of the Israeli October offensive, will be freed.

Release of the garrison would remove one of Egypt's most important declared objections to entering armistice talks with the Jewish state. Israeli sources said last night their government probably would decide to release the Egyptians by stages.

To Take Up Resolution

The general assembly proposed to take up the twice-revised British resolution on Palestine after disposing of the declaration of human rights. The British resolution would set up a conciliation commission of three nations. It would take over the mediation functions now handled by Dr. Ralph J. Bunche of the United States and such specific jobs as working out details of an international regime for Jerusalem within a year.

Tentatively slated behind the scenes to make up the commission are the United States, France and Belgium, whose representatives constitute the present truce commission for Palestine. Belgium, however, is known to wish to avoid the new assignment.

To Strip Features

The resolution would be stripped of controversial features before action on it as a whole under amendments proposed jointly by Australia, Canada, China, Colombia and New Zealand.

These would remove references to the U. N. 1947 Palestine partition plan and the proposals of Count Folke Bernadotte, the slain mediator, for readjustment of that plan. Election of the conciliation commission would be left to the general assembly, instead of to the big five powers—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China.

Chances Fade

Israel's chances for U. N. membership this year faded.

A meeting of the security council, scheduled for this morning, to resume consideration of Israel's application was called off. France and Canada, which hold key votes among the 11 nations on the council, had wanted action delayed until the general assembly voted a Palestine settlement plan.

The assembly is due to adjourn tomorrow and meet in New York next April. A two-thirds majority of assembly members voting is necessary to confirm an applicant after the security council recommends admission.

Scholarly Analysis By Court Clarifies Term "Screwball"

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 10 (AP)—You may not be smiling when you call him a "screwball," but he cannot have you locked up.

The court of appeals ruled yesterday that the "word 'screwball' does not connote opprobrium or reprehensibility.

Judge Edward S. Delaplaine, jr., added in a scholarly analysis of slang, that the term "screwball" may signify:

"Either (1) a peculiar or eccentric person, like crackbrain, crackpot, crank, queer duck, queer fish, nut, queer potato and queer specimen, or (2) a stupid or insane person, like batty, bug-house, and soft-head."

Not Criminal Offense

It is not a criminal offense, however, he said.

The court of appeals decision upheld a Montgomery county jury which held that James T. Crouch of Silver Spring was wronged when a neighbor charged him with disorderly conduct after Crouch allegedly called him a "screwball."

Crouch sued the neighbor, Capt. Thomas J. Kennedy, Navy medical officer for malicious prosecution and was awarded $1,400 damages. Captain Kennedy appealed the decision.

German Prisoners Get Yule Pardons

BERLIN, Dec. 10 (INS) — One thousand German prisoners sentenced by American authorities in the U. S. zone of Berlin were granted Christmas pardons today.

an answer to these and related questions. Once again one must point to the contrast with Canada where a royal commission after long, diligent and careful work behind closed doors gave out a report that is a model of thoroughness and an extraordinary revelation of motive and method. Once again the the Un-American Activities committee seems determined to demonstrate how this kind of inquiry should not be conducted.

Ku Klux Klan Invites Public To Initiation

MACON, Ga., Nov. 10. (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan has invited the public to attend its naturalization, or initiation, ceremony in Macon's city auditorium at 8 p. m. (EST) tonight.

The ceremony will be led by Dr. Samuel Green of Atlanta, Grand Dragon of the Association of Georgia Klans. Both newsmen and photographers have been invited, together with the general public.

Leaflets advertising the ceremony say "the public is invited to attend and to find out for themselves exactly the ideals and principles for which the Klan stands."

Klan officials said the entire ceremony will be broadcast over a public address system.

Improvements In Lubbock's Police Department Forecast

Study Of Needs Is Made Here At City Commission Gathering

Prospects for a more efficient, more courteous and better paid Lubbock police department emerged from the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

These prospective improvements resulted from an unscheduled commission inquiry into policing methods which gave apparent promise, at the outset, of producing sensations. The sensations failed to materialize, but something constructive may have been started.

The inquiry required the presence of Police Chief Lewis Kittrell and prowl car Patrolmen John S. Rucker, Lyndon P. Miller and N. H. Lassiter—Lassiter leaving a sick bed to obey the sudden summons to appear before the commission. All figured in incidents into which the commission probed at length, with Police Commissioner E. K. Hufstedler, jr., assuming the role of chief prober.

Wage Scale Discussed

It was at the end of the inquiry when prospects for improved policing in Lubbock were given a suddenly constructive turn by a question addressed by Hufstedler to Chief Kittrell.

"Are you able to get the kind of policemen you need with the salaries you are able to offer?" the commissioner asked.

"No, sir, I cannot," was Kittrell's emphatic answer. "When we get good men, we have a hard time keeping them. A man with a family cannot make ends meet on a policeman's salary."

Starting salary for a patrolman in Lubbock approximates $225 a month, including a cost-of-living bonus amounting to about $85. The average wage in the department as a whole, including the bonus, is somewhat under $250 a month. About 90 per cent of the men have families and most of them pay rent.

Officials To Study Problem

"If present salaries are inadequate," Hufstedler continued, "then I, for one, would like to have your recommendations as to a scale of pay which will get good men and keep them."

Concurring immediately in this request was the entire membership of the commission, composed of Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioners W. B. Price, John Spikes and Clarence Whiteside

City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., who already was on record with the opinion that wage increases would be necessary, is to assist Chief Kittrell in preparing recommendations.

The indications were that some sort of boost will be provided not later than next April 1, when the budget for the city's new fiscal year will become operative. There seemed a possibility, but hardly more than that, of wage relief before that date.

The police chief acknowledged the need for more intensive training of patrolmen and for more stress upon courtesy by officers in their dealings with their public.

"But, as a rule, we have to take men without previous police experience" Kittrell said. "About the time we get them trained, they usually quit for better paying jobs."

However, other direct results on Thursday's inquiries likely will be more attention to schools of instruction for apprentice patrolmen, with added and continuous stress upon courtesy.

"We want policemen who will treat others as they themselves would like to be treated at all times," Commissioner Whiteside commented.

"That's what I want, too," Kittrell replied.

The inquiries which led to constructive possibilities resulted from complaints which, Commissioner Hufstedler said, had been made to him about two incidents in which police figured.

Story Is Related

One of the incidents involved a negro man, identified only as "Louis," employed by George P. Livermore, prominent oil operator.

The report as made to him, Hufstedler said, was that two policemen—identified as Miller and Lassiter—stopped the negro late on the afternoon of Nov. 30 as he walked toward the postoffice with a sack of letters to be mailed. The complaint continued, according to the report to Hufstedler, that the patrolmen "cuffed" the negro around, scattered the mail upon the pavement and searched a shirt pocket from which, the negro later claimed, "four bits" disappeared.

The further complaint related by Hufstedler was that on the next day, the same officers searched out the negro in "The Flats," mistreated him, and "persuaded" him to accompany them to the police station and change his story about the previous day's occurrences.

Chief Asked To Appear

This version of the incident caused the commission to send out a quick call for Kittrell, Lassiter and Miller. All appeared within a short time.

Lassiter and Miller said they stopped the negro with the sack because they had been alerted a short while before to be on the lookout for a thief who had stolen a woman's purse containing more than $200 from a car parked not far away. They denied they sub-

INTERVENTION IN WAR DENIED

U. S. Marines Will Move Into Shanghai To Protect Lives

SHANGHAI, Friday, Dec. 10. (AP)—U. S. Marines will be moved into Shanghai in an emergency to protect American lives, Adm. Oscar C. Badger announced today.

The commander of the U. S. fleet in the western Pacific told a press conference that "within the limits of reasonable feasibility they would also protect America's primary interests."

(He did not elaborate on "primary interests" but presumably he mean they also would protect American property.)

Intervention Denied

Badger said any Marine landing in Shanghai would be in no way "intervention in Chinese domestic affairs or in the civil war."

Marines would be moved in to aid in the evacuation and definitely would not come as a substitute for recognized agencies of law and order, he added.

Badger also reported a Navy transport may put into Shanghai soon with a small group of Marines aboard "who would remain afloat."

He said he did not intend to put them in shore billets but they might be given liberty ashore.

The admiral emphasized that any Marines would not be left in Shanghai beyond a period of emergency.

Badger conceded that the Marines also might be used to pro-

Harris County Elections Set

HOUSTON, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Harris county voters rallied to their favorites today after a new political front suddenly took shape yesterday when two state legislators resigned.

State Senator Maribelle Stewart, who was elected after the death of her susband, Sen. Lacy Stewart, in March, 1947, said in a letter to Gov. Beauford H. Jester she was leaving the post because of "personal matters." She asked that her resignation be effective "immediately."

Special Election Set

Gov. Jester proclaimed a special election to be held Jan. 8 to name Mrs. Stewart's successor, and then left Austin to preside at the Interstate Oil Compact commission meeting in Wichita, Kan.

Thursday afternoon, State Representative Searcy Bracewell said he would give up his job. He made known his intentions in a wire to acting Governor Allan Shivers, saying he intended to run for the Senate seat vacated by Mrs. Stewart. Shivers proclaimed Jan. 8 for the special election for Bracewell's post.

Mrs. Stewart's resignation, which friends said was made because of marriage plans, touched off what was predicted to become one of the wildest political scrambles in Harris county history.

Candidates Emerge

Three candidates emerged almost simultaneously. First to announce was Lewis Dickson, who has run for the office twice previously. Others were former State Representative William C. Montgomery and Thomas A. Lambright, a Houston contractor, who said today he had decided to run instead for Rep. Bracewell's job. Also in the Senate race was A. C. Glass, a commercial photographer, who announced his plans late yesterday.

Announced candidates for the House seat held by Bracewell were Lambright and A. M. Davis, a dairy farmer. Both men were unsuccessful in this year's Democratic primary.

Apathy Shown In U. S. Vote

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — A total of 49,363,798 ballots were cast on November 2, but only 48,680,416 were marked for president.

That means 683,382 voters balloted for state, county and local candidates, but skipped making a choice for the highest office in the land.

The 48,680,416 total vote for president is the second highest in history. In 1940, the record year, it was 49,820,312. In 1944 it was 47,976,263.

Electors To Meet

The lesser attention given to the presidential race, in contrast with many state races, is explained by the fact that there were many strong candidates and hot contests for senate, governor and on down the line.

Sixteen states in all showed a greater aggregate vote than the total for president.

Presidential electors meet Monday in the state capitals to go through the formality of casting their votes. President Truman should get 304 from 28 states unless Tennessee gives one or two of hers to Gov. J. Strom Thurmond. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will get 189 from 16 states, and Thurmond 38 from four, excluding that possible mix-up in Tennessee.

Truman's total vote was 24,104,836. Dewey received 21,969,500; Thurmond 1,169,312; Henry Wallace, Progressive, 1,157,100; Norman Thomas, Socialist, 132,138; Claude A. Watson, Prohibition, 103,343; Edward A. Teichert, Socialist-Labor 27,921; Farrell Dobbs, Socialist Workers 13,007; and the rest scattered.

Truman Majority Lacking

Truman won by a plurality of 2,135,336, but it was the first time since 1916 that a winner has failed to capture a majority of all votes cast. His percentage was 49.5. Dewey's was 45.1, and the others combined 5.4.

Although this year's total vote was nearly 1,400,000 above that of 1944, the number of potential voters—that is, people of voting age — had increased more than 10,000,000 in the past four years.

Thus the ratio of votes actually cast was much smaller, compared with the previous two elections. This was due primarily to a falling off of balloting in the big states.

Sixteen in all showed fewer votes than in 1944. Among these were New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

In spite of the sandstorms, do you still prefer to live in Lubbock?

THE ANSWERS

NEIL H. WRIGHT, 1634 Main, agent for Southland Life Insurance Co.: "Yes. I've said this many times. Lubbock is the best town of its size I ever knew. I have been told there are lots of towns with 100,000 population or more that are jealous of Lubbock and its opportunities. My son says he was always glad to see the Lubbock skyline if he had to look at it through a sandstorm. We both feel the same way."

MRS. GERALDINE DONNELL, 2020 Fifth, cosmetician at Wylie's Drug store: "Well, yes. You know, I've only been here a month and a half and I'm not quite used to sandstorms yet, but they're not any worse than the soot we have back home in Indianapolis during the winter time. This sand brushes out of everything and you certainly can't brush that soot out."

MRS. PAULINE GOODWIN, 716-B Ave. N, office worker at Zale's Jewelry: "I'd say I do. I'm from East Texas, where they usually have mud and I can get through the sand easier than I can the mud. We have a lot more pretty days here than we do bad and Lubbock provides a lot of opportunities and advantages that many other towns don't."

DAVID PINKSTON, 2306 Ave. S, traffic manager and accountant, KSEL: "Yes, because the sandstorms might be preferable to worse weather in some other sections. They have their tornadoes and their extreme heat and their wet weather. We don't want to overlook that these sandstorms don't occur every day and we do have more good weather than we do bad."

IRA JENKINS, 1909 Twenty-sixth, real estate and loan business: "Now you've got me over a barrel. Well, the thing is that if I told the thoughts I have sometimes, the chamber of commerce would hate me, so I just better not talk too much."

JIMMIE GUNN, 2409 Twenty-ninth, sales manager for Bill Dean Motor Co.: "You bet. I'd rather have sand any time in preference to weather in other parts of the country. I like sand better than the cold weather they have up north."

DENVER, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—For the first time in the law-abiding history of Denver, Communists may hold political meetings and give soapbox tirades in the civic center.

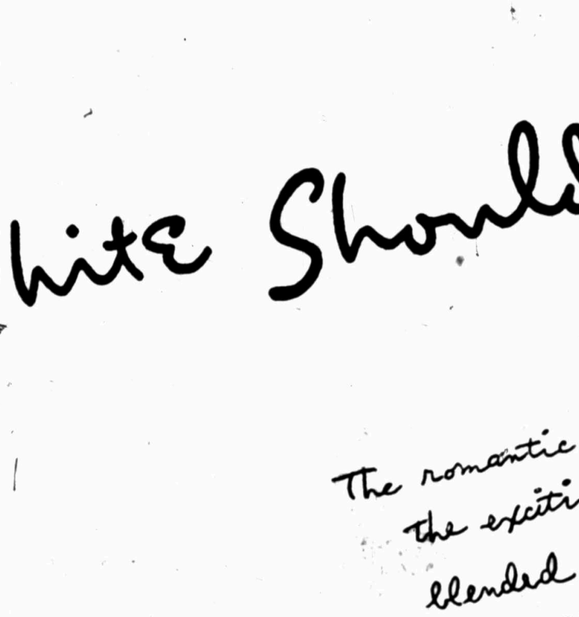

An ordinance has been passed recently to allow groups to give political rallies in the center after they have obtained a license.

Previously, it was illegal to hold such meetings in the downtown park. Even President Truman had to get a special waiver of the old law to give an outdoor campaign speech this year.

Hope Abandoned For Children Taken By Nazis From Lidice

PRAGUE, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Czech authorities have abandoned hope of finding ninety or more children from Lidice.

The revelation came in the dry legal language of the official gazette, announcing that action had been started to declare the missing children legally dead.

In June, 1942, more than 100 children were packed into buses at Lidice and taken to Kladno by the Gestapo. After they had left, the men of Lidice were shot, the women taken to concentration camps, and the village was destroyed.

The Lidice children were traced to Lodz, where a group of racially suitable youngsters were separated and sent to German homes. Most of that group were found after the war, but despite three years of effort by Czech, Polish and other authorities, no trace of the more than 90 others has been found beyond the fact that they were removed from Lodz in July, 1942.

Announcements Printed

The current issue of the legal gazette confirmed that hope had been abandoned by printing seven announcements from the district court in Unhost, county seat for the town of Lidice, asking for news of the missing persons by December 22.

Each said "the above-named was deported to Kladno on June 10, 1942, and then to Lodz. From Lodz he was removed July 2, 1942, to an unknown destination, and it is probable that he was killed by the Germans."

One of the seven children named in this issue was Jaromir Zelenka, who was originally listed among the Lidice children believed to have been found after the war. Fourteen children returned to Lidice are believed to be correctly identified, but in at least five other cases the original identification turned out to be mistaken.

Identification was particularly difficult for very young children such as Jaromir Zelenka, who was less than two years old at the time of the tragedy, and would have been only five or six when found.

No Exact List

Besides the 100-odd carefully tabulated by the Gestapo in records recovered after the war by Czech authorities, a half dozen youngsters less than a year old were deposited in a children's home in Prague and found there after the war. Czech nurses had secretly kept the children's identity clear.

Several others, born after the tragedy, were scattered among German homes. Some of those, too, were located later.

In other cases all the relatives of missing children were killed or died before the war's end, making listing and identification more difficult.

Family Keeps Control Of Legislative Seat

WAYNESVILLE, N. C., Dec. 10 (U.P.) — When Grover C. Davis ran for the state legislature, it wasn't particularly because he loves politics. The Haywood county seat in the North Carolina house of representatives runs in his family.

Davis will be the fourth member of the clan to represent the county.

In 1846 his great-great-grandfather, Andrew Ferguson, won the seat. Grandfather F. M. Davis took over in 1874. His father, J. S. Davis, was elected to the post just 50 years ago.

"I thought I had better run to keep the family records straight," the latest legislator said.

Bumper Seed Crop Poses Big Problem

CLAIREMONT, Minn., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Henry Sleeper has a bumper crop but he's not sure whether he likes it.

Last year he bought a five-cent bag of sunflower seeds "just to see how they'd grow." Today a jungle of 15-foot sunflowers covers an eighth of an acre on his farm.

He said he read somewhere that the seeds "were mighty useful for something or other, but now that I've got them I can't remember what they're for."

Reburial Rites Set For Spur Veteran

SPUR, Dec. 10. (Special)—Reburial rites for Sgt. Corbett E. Roberson, killed Jan. 24, 1944 over Italy while on a flying mission to Bulgaria, will be conducted at the First Christian church here at 3 p. m. Saturday.

Rev. L. L. Hill, pastor of the First Methodist church, and chaplain of Post 161 of the American Legion, will conduct the services, assisted by Rev. Charlie McLean, retired minister. Burial will be in Spur cemetery where the Legion post will be in charge of graveside rites, Chandler Funeral home reported.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Roberson of Spur, two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Sweatt of Dallas and Miss Byrdean Roberson, a student at Texas Tech, Lubbock and a cousin who was reared by Mr. and Mrs. Roberson, Ralph Leighton.

Sgt. Roberson, a tail gunner, was killed on a few days before his 19th birthday.

Hybrid Grass May Aid Many Ranchers

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 10 (U.P.) —Scientific cross-breeding of grasses may increase the productivity of western ranges in the same way hybrid corn boosted midwestern grain yields.

Dr. G. L. Stebbins, University of California scientist, says experiments with Brome grasses "offer much hope" that ranchers soon will be able to graze their cattle on new man-made forage.

He reports that features of as many as seven different types of grasses were combined into a single hybrid type by cross-breeding.

Some of the new plants, started three years ago, are growing vigorously in the university's botanical gardens. They are much larger and leafier than some of their wild relatives, growing alongside them.

Their strength indicates they will be able to flourish in range areas, Stebbins says.

The hats of all the American presidents from Grant to Truman ranged in size from 7 3-8 to 7 3-4.

Thumb-Tack Banking, Tricky Pencils Are Fun To Innkeeper

By SANKY TRIMBLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TAOS, N. M., Dec. 10—Never let it be said David Alvord does not enjoy life. Alvord gets fun out of driving people half looney with a pencil and placating them by thumb-tack banking of their extra dollar bills.

Alvord, portly hotel operator, fastens a trick pencil with a loop of string into his guests' buttonholes, and then defies them to remove the gadget.

Printing on the pencil says if you can't remove it, you must cut the buttonhole—"for it is seven years bad luck to burn, cut or break the pencil or string."

Alvord estimates he has hung 10,000 of the gadgets and those honored have spent hours, days and weeks trying to remove the pencil.

Calls Long Distance

One fellow called long distance from Denver and talked 30 minutes getting instructions as to how to get it off. He was so relieved to rid himself of the object he sent Alvord a pair of boots. Another wired from Chicago asking the solution.

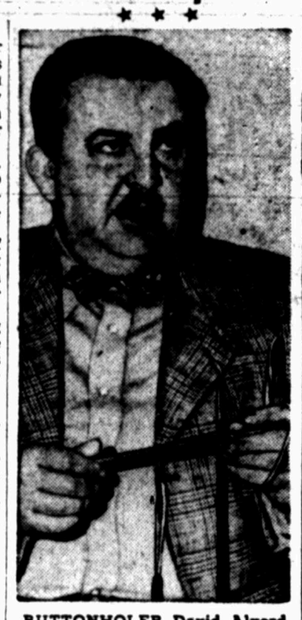

A couple from Stockholm, Sweden, walked in recently and asked if "this is the place with the pencils?" They'd heard about it from Stockholm neighbors.

The Taos host gets almost as much fun out of his thumb-tack banking.

It all started a year ago when a Wichita, Kas., resident wrote his name on a dollar bill and asked Alvord to pin it up behind the bar—in case he should ever come in with a flat wallet and need a drink.

The idea grew. Just like a checking account, people said. Now there are approximately 100 dollar bills with names and addresses dangling in profusion from thumbtacks back of the bar.

Work On Leon Dam Underway

TEMPLE, Dec. 10. (AP)—The day many had waited for came and ground officially was broken for the Leon dam on the Leon river between Temple and Belton.

Seven silver-gilded spades turned the earth yesterday while 3,000 persons watched at the site where the $20,000,000 structure will rise.

Dream Realized

"We come here today to witness the realization of a dream first conceived by generations before us," said Frank Mayborn, publisher of the Temple Daily Telegram, who was master of ceremonies.

Senator-Elect Lyndon Johnson said: "This is a people's project, contradicting the view that there is any economy in allowing waste to continue."

The seven spades represented the seven communities participating in the ceremonies—Temple, Belton, Cameron, Gatesville, Killeen, McGregor and Moody.

Flood Control Measure

The dam is designed to stop floods on the Little river, which is formed by the junction of the Leon and Lampasas rivers a few miles below its site. It will have a maximum height of 190 feet, will be 6,000 feet long and have a 1,300-foot concrete spillway. The lake impounded will normally cover 12,000 acres—at its maximum 30,000 acres.

It is primarily a flood control project but will be available for power production on completion of the Proctor reservoir up river from it.

The Leon dam is three miles north of Belton and six miles west of Temple.

Quail Hunting Slump Traced To Weather, Imperfed Dogs

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Writer

The current slump in quail hunting can be traced to dry, dusty weather which plays havoc with a dog's sniffer.

That was the main complaint today from sportsmen who were hopefully looking for rain.

As dust was kicked up over the state, the game, fish and oyster commission began to hear more and more complaints from hunters that quail hunting—generally—was poor.

Most sportsmen were putting up their dogs for the season, because the dogs couldn't smell quail.

Deer Bay Drops

However, it was not a surprise to game officials, who expected the season, which continues to Jan. 16, to be a disappointing one.

On other hunting fronts, the deer kill also was reported to be falling behind in the hill country around Fredericksburg.

Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the game commission, explained that in some areas, based on the number of bucks brought to ice houses, the drop in weed kill had been 25 per cent or more below last year's performance.

But he held hope that the bag of deer throughout the state would be "up to normal" when he received reports from other areas.

At first, it was thought that deer hunters were having more success than last year, but later reports proved that false.

Salt Is Lacking

Game officials were having their own troubles with deer, stemming from an epidemic which wiped out a number of deer in the Big Bend national park in West Texas.

Investigation proved that the deer there weren't getting enough salt. When officials looked into the stomachs of some deer which died, they found pebbles and dirt which the deer had dug in their search for salt.

At Caddo Lake in East Texas, one hunter shot what sportsmen believed to be the largest deer ever bagged in that area.

It was a 23-point buck, and dressed at 143 pounds. It was shot by Elton Bland of Longview.

But three youthful hunters near Alpine found difficulty in distinguishing between a deer and an elk and came up with an 800-pound elk. The ranch owner promised to drop threats of legal action if the hunters would replace his elk, on which there is no open season in Texas.

Pelican Pete Gets New Bamboo Nose

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 10 (AP) — A rare old bird is the pelican, but the rarest of all pelicans is Pegnose Pete, the Mexican Pelican with the bamboo beak.

Only a few weeks ago, Pete was just another pelican around the Todos Santos Islands in Mexican waters south of San Diego. Then somebody took a shot at the friendly old bird, almost severing his upper bill near the middle.

But along came the tuna clipper Resolute, skippered by Richard Strumpf of San Diego.

For a week Pete came alongside the Resolute every morning to be fed smelt caught for him by members of the crew. Then Capt. Strumpf brought Pete aboard. He fashioned a splint from a length of bamboo fishpole, drilled holes in both halves of the bill and wired Pete's profile firmly back in place.

Pete made the return trip to San Diego with the Resolute, but not without trouble. Humiliating as it may seem, old Pegnose Pete was seasick.

Today, however, he is well and chipper, the pride of the San Diego zoo's seabird pool, which has brown, white, Peruvian and Mediterranean pelicans — but only one with a bamboo beak.

BUICK HAS NEW LINES FOR '49—Buick's completely re-styled 1949 Super and Roadmaster models feature lower, wider and roomier bodies with greater visibility through use of 22.8 per cent more glass. The new models will be on display this week-end in Scoggin-Dickey Buick Company's new home at 1917-27 Texas avenue. Pictured above is the new four-door, six-passenger Super sedan.

Automobile Firm Plans Twin Showing Of New Home, Cars

Scoggin-Dickey Buick company this weekend is staging a twin showing—of its new home at 1917-27 Texas avenue and the new 1949 Buick models.

The new property fronting 240 feet on Texas avenue, contains the major building, a body shop and parking area covering 33,250 square feet. Constructed of brick, tile, steel and concrete, the main building covers 17,250 square feet and represents the latest in construction for buildings of its type.

"New Look" Displayed

The building makes a substantial addition to Lubbock's new "Auto Row" on Texas avenue and is one of the finest Buick sales and service units in the Southwest.

In showing the new models, Buick's "new look" will be displayed to the Lubbock public for the first time.

The new Buick's distinctive styling is highlighted by flowing full-length fenders, a lower, wider grille, full-vision curved windshield and rear window and functional, chrome-ringed "venti-ports" on front fenders for identification and cooling purposes.

Buick's 11 new models include nine completely re-styled Super and Roadmaster cars. They are lower, wider and roomier with greatly-improved visibility through use of 22.8 per cent more glass in sedan models.

Nine cars will be displayed by Scoggin-Dickey in their formal opening, scheduled from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturday and from 1 to 6 p. m. Sunday.

Cars Are Shortened

A three-inch reduction in wheelbase of the Super and Roadmaster models permits a proportionate cut in overall length to facilitate parking and storage. Although the cars are shorter, there is more room for passengers and luggage.

A new Roadmaster, the two-door six-passenger "Riviera," a solid-top custom coupe which offers the graceful lines of a convertible and a sturdy, all-steel, non-lowering top, will be in production next spring.

Buick's unique "no-shift, clutchless" Dynaflow drive transmission, introduced last January, is standard on 1949 Roadmasters and optional on Super series cars.

New drive-centered instrument panel with all instruments and push-pull controls on left side.

Installation of precision-type replaceable connecting rod bearings having greater durability.

Doors Swing Clear

New, concealed box-type hinges which permit front doors to swing out clear of the body; use of spring-set door checks and hold-opens that enable easier opening.

Six-passenger, four-door sedans, and six-passenger, two-door sedanets, offered in the Series 50 Super, Series 70 Roadmaster and Series 40 Special; and six-passenger convertible with hydraulically-operated top and six-passenger, four-door estate wagons are available in the Roadmaster and Super series. The six-passenger, two-door "Riviera" custom coupe is available in the Roadmaster models only.

Their Future is in the Balance

Meat animals are what they eat! It takes a balanced ration to keep them healthy, growing and gaining. Successful livestock men know this. Hundreds of controlled feeding experiments prove it. Morrison, the great feeding authority, states—"Lambs on unbalanced rations require 46% more corn and 15% more hay for each 100 pounds of gain!"

Balanced rations for hogs show spectacular results. Anyone can make a lot of fat and a little lean with corn and water. But that's the slow, expensive way. It takes a pile of corn to do it. But with corn balanced with proteins and minerals and vitamins hogs can be fed to market weights in six months or less. Think of the corn you can save—11 bushels of corn alone will make 100 pounds of pork, but only 6¼ bushels of corn plus 35 pounds of protein supplement will do the same job faster.

Scores of feeding trials prove that a balanced ration pays with steers and lambs, whether on the range or in the feedlot. In fact, the same basic principle applies to all livestock and poultry. Forage and other homegrown feeds, properly balanced with proteins and minerals, make more and better meat pounds at less cost.

Continuous research affords new and exciting means of using available materials in improved rations for livestock. At first, tankage alone was used to add protein to hog rations. It did a good job. Then research proved that a combination of proteins is better than one kind alone. A mixture of tankage, soybean meal, linseed meal and, in some areas, cottonseed meal, produces better quality pork even faster. This improvement in rations makes for more efficient and economical use of proteins. But what about vitamins and minerals? Here, too, many advancements in techniques of supplying these nutrients have been made. Dehydrated alfalfa, milk solids, vitamin oils, and some synthetic sources provide essential vitamins and other factors. Mineral balance is necessary, too. Salt, the universal need, supplies sodium and chlorine. Steamed bone meal supplies calcium and phosphorus, and other major minerals. With these, alert research men now are combining other known essential elements, such as cobalt, manganese, iron, iodine, copper, and magnesium, to turn slow gainers into fast gainers.

How good are you kids at knowing the names of the animals used to help you play games?

In baseball, what part of a steer do you wear? Why, the glove has a padding that's made from its hair!

In what game would you say the pig best fits in? Yes, football, that's right—the ball's called a "pigskin"!

And the last time you walloped a tennis ball—wham! Did you know that the racket strings came from a—lamb?

By-products that meat packers save every day increase livestock values, make stockmen more pay.

Soda Bill Sez:

What America needs is less soiled conversation and more soil conservation.

Quotes of the Month

First Calves Forecast Production

Marvin Koger

by Marvin Koger,
Animal Husbandman
New Mexico A. & M. Experiment Station

Want to estimate efficiency of calf production in your cow herd? The cow's first calf tells more than her good looks. In a New Mexico study, we took the weaning weights of first calves weaned by three-year-old cows. These weights were compared with the weaning weights of calves raised by these same cows in the next four years. Cows and calves were placed in five groups (according to the weaning weight of first calves). Here's the 5-year record:

Groups	Average First Calf Weight From 3-Year-Old Cows	Average Calf Weights From Same Cows for Next 4 Years
Group 1	321 pounds	404 pounds
Group 2	349 pounds	417 pounds
Group 3	383 pounds	430 pounds
Group 4	409 pounds	443 pounds
Group 5	441 pounds	456 pounds

Considering only the two extremes, Group One and Group Five, it was shown that breeding stock picked from Group One could be expected to produce, for the next four years, calves that had a yearly average weaning weight of only 404 pounds. But those picked from Group Five should produce calves with a yearly average weaning weight of 456 pounds, 52 pounds more than Group One.

These figures show that later calves are apt to be a repeat performance of the cow's first calf. Cows doing poorly their first calving year continued to produce the lightest group of calves. They were poor risks. Culling cows with light, scrubby first calves would be well repaid in greater profit through more efficient production.

If you would like a full report on this experiment, write to New Mexico A. & M. Experiment Station, State College, N. M.

Nutrition is our business—and yours

"It takes a big tractor to pull a heavy-duty plow"

This large tractor is especially designed to handle the big and heavy jobs—easily, efficiently, economically.

This little tractor is good when used for its proper purposes. But it is not built to pull such a heavy plow.

It's the same way with business, including the meat-packing business. There's need for all kinds and sizes of packing plants—large ones as well as small ones. Two-thirds of the livestock is produced west of the Mississippi River. Two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of it. Bringing meat and meat-eaters together is a big job!

That's where the "big tractor" proves its worth. The country needs nation-wide meat packers like Swift & Company. For with processing plants located where most of the livestock is raised, we can help bridge the gap between western range and feedlots and the kitchen range. It is an important job, filling the vital needs of producers and consumers. As we have served them over the years, we have grown. And as we have grown, so also our ability to serve has grown.

First Reports Indicate Yule Shopping To Fall Below 1947

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Yule shoppers are on the verge of ending the Christmas sales records which have soared higher each year of the past decade.

With only 13 more gift-buying days to go, department store sales have dropped below last year's mark for the fifth straight week, the Federal Reserve board reported last night. This is the longest consecutive decline since the war.

Some officials here said no longer can there be any doubt that price resistance and the living-cost squeeze, particularly on those in low income brackets, are playing a part in the downtrend.

Drop Nationwide

"Specials" blossoming out in store ads across the nation showed many merchants agreed with this view.

Some storemen who earlier had anticipated continuation of "bigger and better" sales returns, now pin their hopes on a revival of prewar "last minute" shopping habits.

Although some people attributed the decline to unseasonable weather at the opening of the Christmas season, the FRB report showed the sales drop was nationwide, falling four per cent under the 1947 returns. The percentage decreases ranged from two per cent in the Boston area to eight per cent in San Francisco.

While the department store sales are still high—measured by anything but 1947 standards — their lowered showing took on added significance when matched with other signs that inflationary forces have lost a lot of their punch.

The sales downtrend emphasized one high official's comment that "when housewives decide one night that prices are too high, they'll quit buying and inflation will be over the next day."

A sign that the same thing might go for businessmen was another Federal Reserve report showing that business loans also dropped the last three weeks of November.

Coupled with that was an even more unusual decline in real estate loans which, though slight ($1,000,000), halted a week-to-week climb to new highs that had been going on in this field since wartime.

Inflation Still Feared

Top official thinking, however, still was giving inflation the edge over deflationary forces, as indicated by the comment this week of Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, head of President Truman's economic advisory council.

Nourse said that although there has been some "flattening out" in prices, there still is need for a stand-by anti-inflationary program which Mr. Truman asked him to draft last month.

The explanation given in official quarters of the administration's continued emphasis on inflation is the likelihood of new upswings resulting from increased military and foreign aid spending, metals shortages, and the possibility that short farm crops could wipe out the biggest sector of price declines so far—those in farm products.

Policeman Gets Fed Up With Film Slurs

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Policemen need more publicity to counteract grade-B movies which portray them as slow-witted individuals who are "always making stupid remarks," says Capt. H. C. Crosby, chief of suburban Brookfield's police force.

"Every time the movies portray a policeman, they show him as a slow-witted flatfoot who's always the comedy element," Crosby said.

In the movies, he said, "the hero who solves the crime is always shown as either a newspaper reporter, a private detective, a district attorney or an FBI agent—never the policeman."

Speaker At Dinner Sees Turning Point In Berlin Dispute

The United States will not be forced to go to war against Russia as long as we maintain our military and economic strength, and the present Berlin crisis is nearing a turning point.

This is the belief of Vivian Meik, columnist of "The Deseret News" at Salt Lake City, who spoke to approximately 150 members of the Lubbock Knife and Fork club at Hilton hotel last night.

The United States is not only seven years ahead of Russia on the matter of military weapons, he said, but the Marshall plan is gaining sufficient support in Europe to create unrest in the eastern zone of Germany which is now dominated by the Reds.

Economically, there is no comparison between the United States and Russia, he pointed out. Some four million persons died of malnutrition last year in Russia alone, and another 30 million people are in concentration camps in Russia and the Russian occupied zones of Europe, he added.

The Iron Curtain of Russia is not so much to keep information from leaking out of the country, he states, as it is to keep information from getting to the Communist dominated populations of Russia and eastern Europe.

Taught To Hate U. S.

Behind the curtain, he told the audience, children six to eight years of age are taken from their parents, screened, and sent to various schools to be trained in various phases of the Communist way of life. These children are taught to hate two things—religion and America.

Meik said that the one pitiful thing about the American people was their seeming indifference to the fact that they were the most fortunate people in the world today.

Mrs. R. B. Luker, a director of the club, introduced the speaker of the evening, and Clarence Whiteside, club president, was master of ceremonies.

Twenty-seven couples, who have been voted into the club during the past year, were given formal recognition at last night's meeting.

Artistic Ambition Is Realized At 50

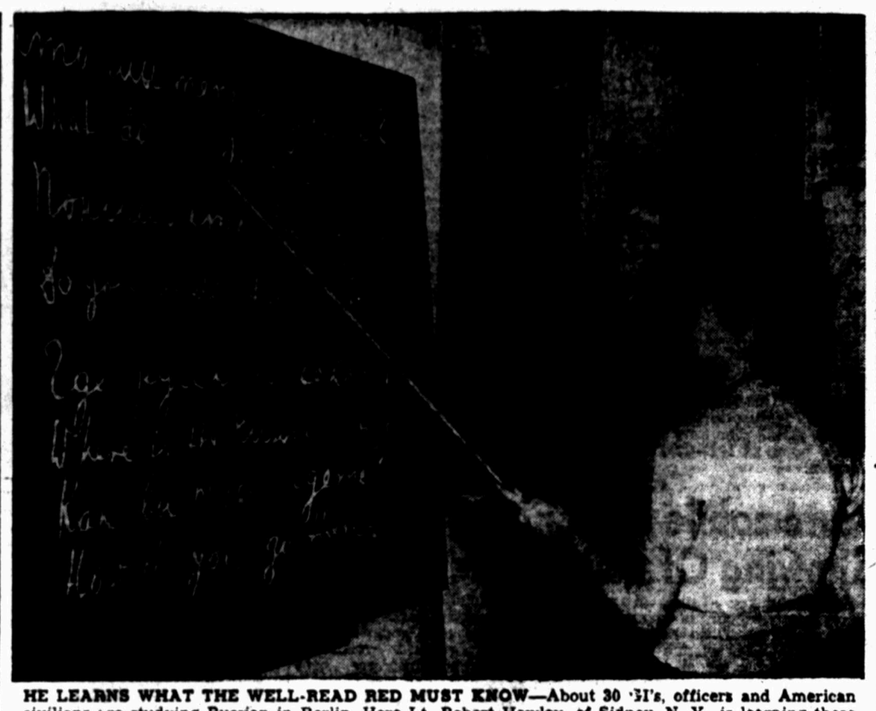

MANADA HILL, Pa., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—David Keller, 60, was detoured through a great part of his life, but finally at about 50 he reached his goal and became a full-time artist.

Since he left high school 43 years ago, Keller has been an auto dealer, house-painter, garageman and grocer.

After leaving school he took a correspondence course in commercial art, but did not enter that field because the advertising agency which offered him his first job had liquor and tobacco accounts. The church frowned on smoking and drinking.

But Keller kept up his interest in art.

Tests May Disclose Why Rubber Bounces

AKRON, O., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—In addition to its explosive powers and medical uses, atomic energy may provide the answer to a 200-year-old question, Dr. Howard E. Fritz believes.

The question uppermost in the mind of the vice president in charge of research for the B. F. Goodrich Co. is: "What makes rubber bounce?"

"Researchers still are unable to explain scientifically what puts the bounce in rubber," he said. "We believe that such by-products of atomic energy as radio-active tracers will not only help us to solve these and other mysteries but also will result in better rubber products."

Town Convinced That Its Mayor Is Artist

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—The way Oliver J. Housel reasons, it's better late than never, even in oil painting.

Housel, mayor of Montgomery, is 72 years old. He didn't start to paint until recently.

A friendly intra-family challenge started Housel painting. He was teasing his art-student daughter about her work, one day, remarking that even he could do as well if not better. She invited him to try.

Housel timidly began to paint his first picture. From that shaky beginning, he has advanced well enough to draw the praise of almost the whole town of Montgomery.

Man's Shoplifting Technique Slipping

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 10 (U.P.) — Frank P. Holtslander, 74, Mesa, Ariz., ignored the advice of a friend to stay away from Milwaukee.

He had cause to regret it when police arrested him for shoplifting in a department store.

"I'm getting so old I can't even do a decent job of shoplifting," Holtslander lamented to Detective Captain Adolph Kramer. "Maybe it's just as well if you send me up again."

He admitted spending most of the last 48 years behind prison bars.

Contempt Of Congress Depends On Way Witness Gives Answer

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—A witness goes before the House un-American activities committee, doesn't answer a question, and . . .

Whammo, he's cited for contempt of Congress. Then, if found guilty in court, he can be jailed or fined.

But another witness goes before the same committee and refuses to answer, and nothing happens. How come? It's all pretty much in the way you do it.

Contempt Explained

But what is contempt of Congress? It's violating a law which says:

When anyone called as a witness before a congressional committee ignores the summons or "refuses to answer any question pertinent to the question under inquiry," he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

A person cited for contempt, indicted by a grand jury, and found guilty in court can be jailed for 1 year and fined $1,000.

If the committee asks a witness a "pertinent" question and he simply and flatly says "I refuse to answer," he can be cited.

If the committee asks a "pertinent" question and decides the witness is stalling by answering neither yes or no directly, he may be cited.

But if a witness says "I refuse to answer on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate or degrade me," he's pretty sure not to be hooked. Here are a couple of examples:

Yesterday the committee, investigating an alleged pre-war Soviet spy ring here, called in Henry Julian Wadleigh.

Exercised Right

He had worked in the State department before the war. And the committee asked if he had fed secret government papers to a Soviet spy.

He said "I refuse to answer on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate or degrade me."

This didn't necessarily mean Wadleigh had done anything wrong while working for the State department.

It did mean he was exercising a right given him under the fifth amendment to the constitution. That says:

"No person shall be . . . compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself . . ."

The tall, bushy-haired Wadleigh gave the same answer to many questions by the committee.

Is there a chance he may be cited for contempt?

Movie Writers Cited

"No," said a committee member when asked about it. "He's not in contempt of Congress. We won't make any charge against him. He was standing on his constitutional right.

"If he'd said 'I refuse to answer' and let it go—without giving the grounds he gave for refusing—we'd cite him for contempt."

Here's how it worked out another way when 10 Hollywood writers appeared before the committee last year and were cited for contempt.

They did not give—although they didn't flatly say they refused to give—a yes or no answer to this question:

"Are you, or have you ever been, a member of the Communist party?"

Nor did they say "I refuse to answer on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate or degrade me."

Appeal Pending

They just didn't answer the question directly, or they talked around it, or challenged the committee's right to ask it at all.

For not answering to the committee's satisfaction, two of the 10 already have been convicted in court.

One of the two, John Howard Lawson, has appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. The outcome of his case will bear directly on the others.

In his appeal Lawson said the un-American activities committee is different from other congressional committees in that—he said—it has no legal standing.

Further, he said its tactics invade the freedoms of an individual guaranteed by the constitution.

Death Of Russian General Announced

MOSCOW, Dec. 10. (AP)—Red Star today announced the death of Lt. Gen. I. Y. Babich, wartime head of Soviet counter-intelligence on the northwestern front.

The Soviet army paper said Babich held a high post in the state security ministry when he died.

Britain Devises New Self-Cleaning Paint

LONDON, Dec. 10 (U.P.) — Engineers on Britain's railway lines can't miss the signals now. A new white paint has been developed for signal posts that stays white in spite of dirt and weather.

The self-cleaning paint, made with a new pigment and other materials which are being kept secret, "sheds" layers throughout a process of "chalking." In standard paint, the surface disintegrates and forms a powdery residue which may be washed away by rain.

While the disintegrating surface of the new paint is washed away by rain, a new layer is exposed underneath. The process is repeated until the paint has disappeared entirely but no matter how thin it wears, no discoloration takes place.

PUP DOLLED UP

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—A lost pup with red-tinted toenails followed Bob Adams home. Adams deduced it was owned by some small girl, because of the nail polish. Sure enough, a small girl claimed the animal in a few days.

Doomed Child Will Get Many Presents

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10. (AP) The presents will be heaped high under little Lewis Dillard's tree for this Christmas may be his last.

Lewis, who will be three years old Christmas Eve, has nephritis. Doctors at the University of California hospital here told his parents yesterday he probably will die within two years. There is no known cure, they said, for the kidney condition.

The healthy looking blond child must spend half his remaining days in a hospital and the rest at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dillard, Jr., of Napa, Calif.

Today more than a dozen Napa service clubs were planning to buy Lewis all the Christmas presents he could possibly want.

Water flows into the Mediterranean from both the Atlantic and the Black seas to make good losses by evaporation.

The Perfect Christmas Gift

HEARING

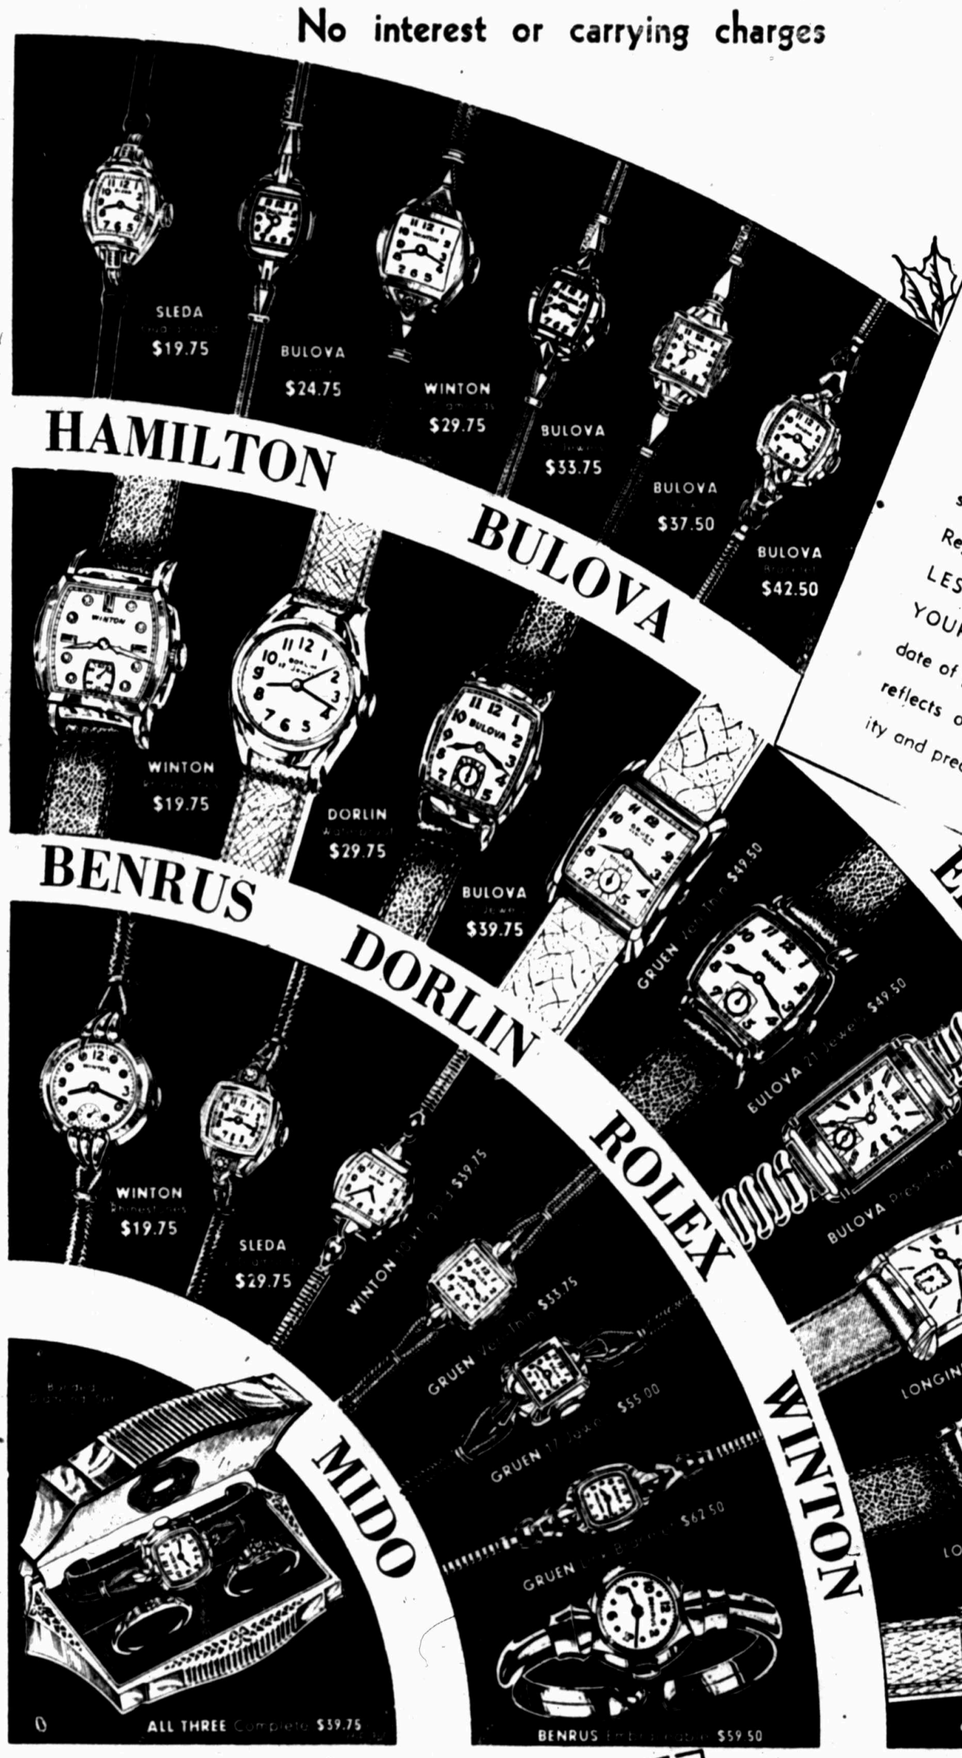

What is Christmas without the sound of church bells, the sound of traditional carols, the sound of pipe organs playing familiar hymns, the sound of friends with Yuletide greetings? Yes, you love the sound of Christmas, because you can hear. But thousands have lost much of th enjoyment of the holiday season because they have lost their ability to hear. What more perfect gift is there than a hearing aid for that beloved friend or member of the family who is hard-of-hearing? GIVE HEARING FOR CHRISTMAS, restore to him or her the world of sound and the richness of Christmas enjoyment. Today's tiny, efficient BELTONE is a joy to give, a treasure to receive . . . the perfect Christmas gift. Come in or write for information about our GIFT CERTIFICATE and budget payment plan.

B-36 May Have Been Picked Up On Radar Screen In Mock Raid

HONOLU, Dec. 10. (AP) — Was Pearl Harbor caught with its radar defenses down on the seventh anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack?

Not Singled Out

The officer, Col. T. W. Blackburn, said yesterday 21 planes were picked up by radar in the two hours the strategic air command's six-engine bomber was believed in Hawaiia nskies. But the B-36 was not singled out.

At Fort Worth the pilot, Maj. John D. Bartlett, said his big silver craft went to Pearl Harbor and then to the northwest point of Oahu island before turning back to the mainland on the 35½-hour flight.

The "surprise raid" caused some feeling in Hawaii that the islands' air defense might have been caught napping.

Blackburn emphasized that under peacetime conditions there is no way to keep a single aircraft from slipping through the defense net.

Emergency Different

He said civilian aircraft do not carry equipment to send out the friendly identification signal for radar.

"If we were in a state of emergency or threatened war, all aircraft would be under military control," Blackburn said. "Then we could filter it."

Suokesmen for the Air Force, the Navy and Army said earlier they had no report of any radar or radio contact with the B-36.

At Fort Worth, the strategic air command said the flight—described as more or less a routine training mission despite its length—was a forerunner of a series of similar overwater hops by the huge bombers.

The B-36, built to cruise at better than 350 miles an hour, carried combat equipment besides the bomb load and a crew of 15.

Lubbock Police

jected the man to any abuse or mistreatment, that any mail was scattered or that anything was taken from him.

They acknowledged they stopped the man again near the post-office the following afternoon and asked him to go with them to the police station. They denied they had searched for him in "the Flats" or anywhere else or that they compelled him to accompany them.

"We had been put under the suspicion of cuffing him around and of taking his money," Lassiter explained. "We wanted to get those charges straightened out."

To Continue Study

Members of the commission made unsuccessful efforts to reach Livermore, who was out of the city, and the negro. The plan is, according to the mayor, to talk to both before closing the investigation.

The other incident into which the commission inquired resulted from a minor auto collision on Fifth street near College avenue on late afternoon of Nov. 27 in which a police patrol car driven by Rucker brushed one driven by J. A. Dunlap, resulting in fender damage.

Hufstedler quoted Dunlap as charging that the policeman attempted to speed from the scene after the accident. Dunlap said further, according to Hufstedler, that Rucker did not stop until after a chase, and was discourteous during ensuing conversations.

Rucker's version of the incident was that the fenders brushed when Dunlap started to pull away from the curb at the instant the police car passed. He said that he continued in the police car to the first parking space so as to avoid blocking heavy traffic at the scene, and that he radioed for another police car to make the investigation of the accident before he came to a standstill. He denied he attempted to run away from the scene or that he was discourteous.

"Mr. Dunlap said a good deal—he was practically jumping up and down," the patrolman related. "But I have learned from experience it is better to say nothing at such times. So I kept quiet, except to ask Mr. Dunlap whether he had a driver's license."

Other Business Routine

Members of the commission did not attempt to get in touch with Dunlap, but said they probably will talk with him before closing the investigation. The intimation was that he will be reimbursed for $17.60 repair expense.

The inquiries consumed nearly all of a five-hour commission session.

Other business transacted included:

Approval of an ordinance which provides for approximately 20 scattered blocks of street paving.

Adoption of a classification ordinance recommended by the city civil service commission.

The decision to keep the city fire marshal position answerable directly to the city manager rather than to the fire chief, as suggested by the civil service group.

The purchase of a lot at Twenty-third street and Tyler avenue from Mrs. Thomas H. Turner for $2,500 as the site for a new fire department substation.

Authorization to Lubbock Bus Co., to change its routing on the 16th St.-Tech line so as to turn west off College avenue into the Tech campus at Fourteenth street instead of Broadway.

Authorization of the publication of 5,000 pamphlets containing the city's new consolidated traffic ordinance at an estimated cost of $177.

Denial of a permit to W. W. Rix funeral home to operate a loudspeaker transmission of Christmas carols from 6:30 to 9 p. m. daily during the holidays from decorations at 1601 Thirteenth street.

Authorization to the Salvation Army to establish a Christmas kettle booth in a parking space on Broadway between Texas and Avenue J.

U. S. Election

Indiana.

The apathy some citizens showed toward the presidential race was evident not only in the 16 states where the number of ballots cast exceeded the vote for president.

In five other states, individual candidates for state offices ran ahead of Truman and Dewey even though the aggregate presidential vote was higher than that for any other office.

U. S. Marines

tect the Shanghai power plant—a subject of much speculation here.

Asked what the Marines would do if retreating government troops might try to blow up the plant as a scorched earth measure, Badger replied "I think such a thing could be avoided by conversation rather than gunfire."

In the event of disorders, American nationals in Shanghai will be taken aboard Navy ships in the harbor. Some of these ships would remain here to accomodate Americans who would want to return to Shanghai when order was restored.

Meeting Of Oil Compact Opens

WICHITA, Kans., Dec. 10 (AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester presides today at the first general session of the Interstate Oil Compact commission.

Jester and Frank Carlson of Kansas and other officials of the Interstate Oil Compact commission met the press at a dinner here last night which previewed and keynoted the compact's winter annual meeting.

Independence, initiative and state conservation of resources of the industry were commended by speakers in contrast with what they termed attempts to regiment the oil industry and to control it from the central government in Washington.

In announcing appointment of two committees, Gov. Jester named Gov. Carlson to head the meeting's resolution committee as chairman. The Texas executive, who is the 22-state compact chairman, announced that Clarence Smith of Illinois will be chairman of the nominating committee.

Jester Makes Charge

Jester charged that "we caw an attempt to smear the oil industry this year, using the big rich oil companies as a smoke screen." He pointed out what he said were attempts to "nationalize the oil industry around the edges . . . but they've found states have done a good job in this matter of conservation." He said he was particularly proud of the work in the secondary recovery committee of the commission.

"They've taken a sensible and practical approach for going back into oil fields for production of millions of barrels of oil for public consumption," he said.

Gov. Carlson extended a welcome from the host state and briefly discussed state conservation as opposed to central government control. "It has been the history of the state and the history of the oil industry that we can take care of ourselves," he said.

Chairman Tells Reporters

E. O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, told reporters that atomic energy will be available long before the nation's natural gas supplies are exhausted.

He said that in 20 or 30 years "other and more efficient energy" will be available for fuel and other purposes.

Thompson described conservation practices of gas in Texas as satisfactory.

THOUSANDS OF PHOTOGRAPHS ARE STUDIED

Protestants Thinner Than Catholics, Jews Fattest, Harvard Analysis For Army Shows

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Protestants tend to be thinner than Catholics, New Englanders stronger than Southerners, and officers fatter than privates—that's what a Harvard university report on 35,000 Army veterans says.

Dr. Ernest A. Hooton, noted anthropologist, studied thousands of photographs of nude men and women, taken at separation centers. He reported to the Army that there is a definite relationship between what a man looks like and where he comes from, his work and his belief.

The report, part of a quartermaster study to fit clothes better and assign jobs to the men best able to do them, was made public today.

Protestants Analyzed

Measurements were taken of 105,000 men and 9,000 women. Full length photographs were made of 50,000 men and 55 women.

The report made public today analyzes the physical development of 31,658 male white soldiers and 35,051 male negro and negroid soldiers.

"In general," the Army said in discussing the report, "the Protestants tend to thinness and poor muscularity, or to plump and fat, but not very fat types of inferior muscularity. Above all they are lean and poorly muscled.

This does not mean that all the Protestants studied were thin, by any means. The soldiers examined were divided up into 18 groups according to the degree of fat, muscular development and "attenuation" (that is height in relation to weight.) Protestants tended to rank first in the lean and poorly muscled classes.

Jews Are Fattest

Catholics ranked first in heavy and muscular or light and muscular classes. Jews ranked first in most of the fat classes, the Army said.

"The reasons for these differences," it said, "are not connected with religion but almost certainly with national extraction and to some extent with occupation. Thus the Protestants owe their leanness in large part to their old American, British and Scandinavian extraction.

"The Catholics are muscular and heavy because the majority of them belong to the southern Mediterranean, near Eastern, Balto-Ugric and other extractions of central or eastern European origin that are strong in the stocky, powerful body builds.

New Englanders Muscular

"The Jews owe their peculiar body builds to their ethnic distinctiveness and probably also to a variety of environmental factors involving occupations, diet, etc."

Generally speaking the highest percentages of the muscular types come from New England (influenced by national extraction) with foreign born group ranking second and the mountain and Pacific groups rating well.

"The areas with the largest assortment of thin-weak or plump-weak types are easily the south Atlantic and the east south central. East north central is unexpectedly high in the less muscular types.

"Highest concentration of fat men is in the middle Atlantic district, irrespective of associated muscularity. The mountain and Pacific districts lead in the strong balanced, short to medium types.

Medical Men Heavy

Lighter, smaller men tended to be privates, the report said.

"All fat and very fat types showed: officers, were first, and non-coms second. Officers and non-coms, it was explained, were older than privates on an average and therefore more likely to have taken on fat.

"They may also do less physical labor," it was commented.

The supply corps, Dr. Hooton found, was "notable for the dearth of thin and sub-medium fat men and for tremendous overloading with fat and very fat types."

Gunners and combat infantry men were the toughest and best physical specimens. Medical men ran to fat and very fat types.

Dr. Hooton found and reported without comment that unmarried men tended to be leaner and less muscular than the married men.

Death Ends Career Of Famed Musician

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10. (AP)—Death has ended the renowned musical career of Albert E. Ruff, violinist and singer once associated with Brahms, Liszt and Greig.

Ruff died yesterday just a month short of his 95th birthday. He had sung and played the violin before three generations of music lovers in Europe and America.

Many of the world's leading concert and operatic stars once were his voice pupils. Geraldine Farrar, then a reigning soprano of the Metrolopitan Opera company, once paid him $3,000 for a month's instruction.

He was bornin Glasgow, Scotland, and received his musical education in Germany. He once played in a string orchestra directed by Johannes Brahms. A son, Arthur, recalled that his father often talked of a musician who once obligingly turned the pages of his score for him during a rehearsal. It was the great Russian composer and pianist, Anton Rubinstein.

Ruff formerly lived in New York and Chicago. In Chicago, he was associated with the elder Florenz Ziegfeld.

Take off the BLINDFOLD when you select milk!

You're certainly missing plenty if old time prejudices are keeping you from trying Daricraft Homogenized Evaporated Milk.

The improved flavor of Daricraft is fully acknowledged by medical and milk authorities. Daricraft is pure wholesome whole milk from selected dairy cows, concentrated by evaporating about 60% of the natural water in milk.

The high nutritional value of its proteins, vitamins, phosphorus, calcium and other milk minerals, and its uniformity and absolute sterilized safety make Daricraft a prescribed baby food with many doctors.

MAKE YOUR OWN CREAM PITCHER TEST...

Prejudices against "canned" milk melt away to your more complete enjoyment when you make this simple Cream Pitcher Test. For the next 7 days, keep your cream pitcher full of chilled Daricraft. Let your family use all they want—in any way they like to enjoy pure, wholesome milk.

WHY PAY RENT?

We are building some really nice small completely modern homes with 3 rooms and complete baths, 8 ft. kitchen cabinets, oak floors throughout, construction similar to FHA requirements. Arranged so additional rooms may be added.

These are located in 200 block Sherman Ave. or in same block on Ave. S.

Priced $3950. $1,000 cash, balance $60 per month. No loan cost, no delays in closing, notes payable on or before. Houses would easily rent for $60 per month. So WHY PAY RENT?

Possibilities Of Oil Discovery Are Developed In Terry County

Discovery possibilities from the Pennsylvanian in Northeast Terry county developed at Seaboard Oil company of Delaware no. 1 Hinson, wildcat failure in the Ellenburger at 11,845 feet.

The prospector pulgged back to 9,445 feet, where signs in the Pennsylvania were drilled through, and began swabbing. In 18 hours, it swabbed 370 barrels of fluid. Shakeout was 160 barrels of new oil and 210 barrels of basic sediment and water.

The last 24-hour swabbing gauge showed 176 barrels of oil produced in tanks and approximately 20 barrels in pits. That fluid was cut one per cent water and two per cent basic sediment.

Estimated fluid level was 4,700 feet. Swabbing was continuing. Some observers believe it will make an oil well and prove a new pay in the area.

Discovery Indicated

An oil fill up at Edward C. Lawson No. 1 George L. White, Northwest Hockley county wildcat, indicated the possibility of a discovery from the San Andres, upper Permian, in the region.

On a total depth of 4,637 feet, with 5½-inch casing cemented at 4,617 feet, the prospect drilled out cement and began making new hole.

Upon deepening 11 feet to 4,648 feet, it had a good oil increase in the hole. The fill up was not estimated.

The section between 4,637 feet and 4,648 feet is to be treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Operator is then due to test that formation in an attempt to make production.

The open hole section at 4,617-37 feet is not scheduled for examination at this time.

The drillsite is about 18 miles northwest of the town of Levelland and 440 feet from south and east of labor 16, league 704, State Capital Lands survey, abstract 236, A. Taylor original grantee.

Develops Salt Water

Seaboard Oil company, of Delaware No. 1 Clanton, South-Central Borden county prospector, one mile north of the nearest production in the Vealmoor field, which is just across the line in North-Central Howard County, developed salt water on a drillstem test in the Vealmoor pay section, and is now making hole below 8,290 feet in lime and shale.

The water came in a one hour test at 8,247-58 feet. There was a steady blow of air throughout the period. Recovery was 1,800 feet of salt water. No signs of oil or gas were reported from the investigation.

The venture is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 20, block 32, TP survey, T-3-N.

Operator representatives have not revealed how much deeper this development will be carried.

Rites Pending For George W. Murfee

ABILENE, Dec. 10. (Special)—Funeral arrangements for George W. Murfee, prominent West Texas lumberman who died at 10 p. m. Thursday in Hendricks Memorial hospital, had not been announced this morning.

Mr. Murfee, a former resident of Lubbock, had lived in Abilene for about 25 years. He was a member of the Yellowhouse Masonic lodge of Lubbock, retaining membership there until his death. He resided at 890 Rivercrest.

Survivors include the mother Mrs. J. E. Murfee, sr., of Lubbock; a daughter, Mrs. E. G. Johnson of Abilene; a son, Byron T., of Abilene; three sisters, Mrs. D. H. Spencer of Albany, and Misses Mae and Vera Murfee, both of Lubbock; three brothers, J. E., jr., of Pampa, Lattimer of Houston, and J. Louis, sr., of Lubbock; and five grandchildren.

Rites Set For Son Of O'Donnell Couple

O'DONNELL, Dec. 10 (Special) A graveside service for Bruce Wayne Gage, month-old son of Mr and Mrs. Joe Gage of O'Donnell, was scheduled for 3 p. m. today in O'Donnell cemetery.

Rev. R. T. Peek, pastor of the local Assembly of God church, was to officiate.

The infant died Thursday in Price hospital in Lamesa.

Survivors include the parents; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Rogers of O'Donnell; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Gage of Tahoka; six aunts, and six uncles.

WIDOW'S MITE MIGHTY

USED CAR'S VALUE?

Why hesitate to buy when you need a car and can afford to buy it?
Is it because you are afraid you'll get STUCK! If so, ask your neighbor who bought a used car at Womble Olds about his purchase. He will assure you that you'll find good cars, thoroughly reconditioned and guaranteed to perform as represented.
Our relation with the customer begins rather than ends with the sale of an automobile.
