OLD COMPRESS BUILDING GOES DOWN

This is all that remains of the old Traders Compress, which served gins and cotton farmers of Collingsworth County for half a century. It was not used during the last season, and the 8-acre tract was purchased by Robert Owens. Not visible is the large storage building being completed by Mr. Owens. Space in it will be available to the public. He has not announced plans for the remainder of the tract.

Detention Center Plans Get Under Way in Meeting Here

Representatives of four counties met in Wellington Friday, July 2, to make first plans for a multi-county juvenile detention center with additional facilities for women prisoners and intoxicants. Wellington, because of its central location, is the tentative site of this facility.

Present were the sheriffs, county judges and commissioners of the counties that will share the center, Hall, Donley, Wheeler and Collingsworth. The meeting was called and presided over by County Judge Zook Thomas.

Sheriff John Rainey was elected chairman of the building committee and members include the sheriffs, county judges and commissioners of the four counties.

Bob Watson is project director for the grant applications.

Potter County Sheriff T.L. Baker, one of the two sheriffs on the Texas Commissions on Jail Standards, attended the Wellington meeting to advise the group on possible requirements.

The detention facility must be built to conform to specifications which are yet to be set up by the newly-formed

Texas Commission on Jail Standards and also by the National Clearing House for Criminal Justice Planning and Architecture, which gives guidelines on the federal level. Judge Thomas pointed out.

Those working with the project estimate that its completion is at least two years away.

Work will be divided into Phases I, II and III, Sheriff Rainey said.

The next step will be the selection of an architect later this month and he will carry out Phase I. This will be an in-depth study of the four counties, as to their needs, including their number of prisoners, sex, race, and age. From this, the architect will be able to determine the type of facility needed.

This phase will not cost the county anything, but beginning work is contingent on two points:

The Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office has earmarked $14,000 in funding for Phase I, but before this is available, Watson must submit a grant application along with the contract of the architect to Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, hopefully in its August meeting. From there it will be submitted to the Texas Criminal Justice Division in Austin, probably at its next meeting in October.

Also, Phase I cannot begin until the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, created by the last session of the Legislature, —See #5, page 2

Wellington, N.Z. Mayor Sends Greetings to City

Greetings on this nation's 200th birthday were extended by the mayor of Wellington New Zealand, and received by the mayor of Wellington, Texas, Thursday, July 1.

His Worship, The Mayor Michael Fowler cabled Mayor Bill Hatch:

The Mayor, Counselmen and citizens of Wellington, New Zealand, send greetings and send to you and the citizens of Wellington, Texas congratulations and good wishes on the occasion of the Bicentennial of the United States.

The cable was read to members of the City Council in their meeting Monday night, July 5.

An earlier mayor of Wellington, New Zealand, His Worship, the Mayor F.J. Kitts, visited Wellington, Texas, a number of years ago and was honored with a barbecue in Bura Handley Community Center.

Joe Thompson, Here 50 Years, Dies Sunday

Joe Thompson, 82, retired merchant, city secretary and sales representative, died in Collingsworth General Hospital Sunday, July 4, at 11:50 a.m. He had been in failing health a number of years and critically ill for several weeks.

Mr. Thompson came to Wellington in 1925, from Altus, Oklahoma. He operated a dry goods store for a number of years. Beginning in the 1930's, he was Wellington City Secretary for 12 years, and it was during this time that the Bura Handley Community Center and city hall complex was erected. It was during these years that many other improvements to the city were made, including a street surfacing, as well as other projects, limited only by the depression and later World War II.

Afterwards, he was for many years sales representative for Supreme Bakers, until

Highway US 83 Finished From Lutie to Elm Hill

The widened section of Highway US 83, from Lutie North to Elm Creek Hill, was accepted by the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation Thursday, July 1, according to O.V. Johnson, resident engineer.

Lewis White, District 25 Highway Engineer, Childress accepted the road for the department from the contractor, Ivan Dement Inc.

The road was completed in 136 working days, Mr. Johnson said. This is 15 days ahead of the contractor's proposed schedule.

Of asphalt and concrete construction, the highway was widened to 24 feet, plus an 8-foot shoulder.

Mr. Johnson said this is one of the last highways with this width shoulder that will be constructed in Texas, as most of those in the future will be cut back to a 4-foot shoulder.

Presently, the Wellington office of the Department of Highways and Public Transportation is working on plans for widening US 83 in Wheeler County. This work is due to begin at the Hemphill County line and progress south through that county. It is hoped that the contract on the first stretch can be let in September or October.

Collingsworth County's next project should be letting the contract that will close the 5-mile gap in FM 3070. This is in the north-west corner of the county. When it is completed, there will be a paved FM highway diagonally across Collingsworth County, from McLean, Gray County, through Wellington to Dodson in the southeast corner.

Friends of the Library To Organize July 22

Friends of Collingsworth County Library will be organized Thursday, July 22, in a meeting to which all interested persons are invited. It will be in the library beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Spearheading the work is Mrs. Ronnie O'Rear of the Rolla Community, along with Mrs. Frances Mote, librarian, Mrs. Emil Kersten, assistant librarian, and Mrs. Sandown Smith.

Mrs. O'Rear emphasized that more interested people are needed to work on the organization.

Friends of the Library is an organization open to anyone who is interested in promoting a library. It can be affiliated with the national organization. Usually all community organizations are represented in the association, Mrs. O'Rear said.

Sunday Mail Service Resumed in PO Here

U.S. Postal Service has stopped plans to cut back services that would have eliminated all incoming and outgoing mail to Wellington on Sundays and five major holidays.

Postmaster L.B. Bratten told The Wellington Leader Wednesday morning that he has not received official notification of this change, but from wire service stories in newspapers, he assumes that there will be the usual morning delivery from Childress and the afternoon outgoing mail to Childress this Sunday.

Announcement of the Postal Service change of plans came Thursday, July 1.

On Wednesday, June 30, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailer announced that no small post offices would be closed pending the outcome of a bill that Senator Gale McGee (D. Wyo.) has before the Senate Post Office and Civil Services Committee halting the closing until February 15, 1977.

That halts the closing of post offices at Dodson, Quail, and Samnorwood, at least until the February date.

Postal service plans affecting the Wellington office would have also eliminated boxing of all mail on Sunday and five major holidays. (This service reduction was slated for all second and third class post offices in Texas.)

Protests of postal patrons and newspaper publishers and banks are credited with halting the proposed service eliminations.

The Wellington Leader, Mrs. John Coleman, county Democratic Chairman, and a number of individuals took the service cut proposed for Collingsworth to the offices of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and Rep. Jack Hightower, both of whom promised action in the matter.

Mrs. Coleman urged Collingsworth citizens to write to Senator Lloyd Bentsen and to Congressman Jack Hightower expressing thanks for their help in preserving current postal services.

Hightower's address is 1315 Longworth Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 and Bentsen's address is Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Mrs. Ernest Lewis, Dies Monday of Lengthy Illness

Mrs. Ernest F. Lewis, 84, died at 8:30 p.m. Monday, July 5, in Thomas Nursing Center, after being in ill health for several years.

She was the widow of a former Wellington mayor, business man and civic leader for half a century.

Mrs. Lewis came to Wellington with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mincey, from Groom in 1917, just a year after Mr. Lewis had arrived from Blair, Oklahoma to enter the grocery business.

In a quiet and gentle way, she was a leader in First Christian Church and took part in its activities for as long as her health permitted. For many years, she sang in the church choir.

For a number of years, as a younger woman, she was active in club work, and she was among the parents who worked with the schools and in other youth activities.

She was born Mary Lou Mincey on October 26, 1892, in Parker County, Oklahoma, then the Indian Territory. With her family, she moved to Groom as a young girl, traveling by covered wagon.

She was married to Mr. Lewis June 12, 1921, in Wellington.

Purchase of New Equipment For City Given Approval

A bid submitted by the Burroughs Company on a mini-computer which would handle most of the city's bookkeeping was accepted by the Wellington City Council

Monday night, July 5. The bid price was $21,627.49.

Steve Taylor, representative of the company's Amarillo office, met with the council to answer questions about the machine.

Approval of the bid is contingent on 60 days trial use in the city office, along with programming the material to be stored in its memory bank, and training a city employee in its use.

This machine is identical to the one used in Collingsworth General Hospital, the council was told.

After discussing the condition of the city's garbage truck and the frequency with which it has been out of running condition, the council agreed to call for bids on two types of trucks, on a motion by Tom Wilkins.

The newer type Dumpster loader, or side loading truck, would also use metal trash and garbage receptacles, placed two or three to the block along alleys. The total cost of the dumpster loader and receptacles is in the range of $70,000.

Auxiliary of VFW Wins State Trophy

The Auxiliary of Glynn Moore Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has received the state trophy for having the largest number of business firms participate in its Poppy Day activities of any town in Texas.

The trophy was presented by the state president, Mrs. Archie (Jacque) Smith, of Ft. Worth at the 56th annual convention of the Department of Texas Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Auxiliary, held in Amarillo June 24 through 27. It was received on behalf of the Wellington unit by Mrs. Don Jones, president, and Mrs. Hubert Leach.

The Auxiliary also received a plaque from the state Auxiliary and a certificate from the National auxiliary for having received 1100 per cent of its member ... by January 1. The unit also received a certificate for contributions to the National VFW home.

The VFW Post received a state award for its participation in the Buddy Poppy Program. Jake Leach repre-

Ministerial Alliance Sets Policy on Needy

A new policy from the Ministerial Alliance concerning aid to needy people was issued Tuesday, July 5 by the Alliance.

Any person receiving help from the Ministerial Alliance will be required to obtain an official authorization from a member of the Alliance and must be signed by a member of the sheriff's office and a member of the Alliance, said the Rev. John Harrison, president.

No bills will be paid by the Alliance that are not submitted on this form and properly signed. No merchant is to honor such form unless signed by a member of the Alliance and a member of the sheriff's department. Only staple food items are to be purchased.

All persons requesting aid from the Ministerial Alliance will be checked on through the Department of Public Welfare office and Community Action Center before any aid is given.

Other business transacted in the Tuesday Morning Meeting: Rev. Harrison was elected president and Rev. Darrell Feemster was elected vice-president. Rev. Raymond Vaughn is secretary and treasurer and Rev. James Boswell, reporter.

Autograph Party to Honor Mrs. Vaughan

Mrs. Henry Vaughan of Hereford, who formerly lived at Wellington, is the author of a new book, "The Hourglass," in which she draws on her memories from the horse-and-buggy era to the space age.

In recognition of this, the Esther Group of United Methodist Women will honor her with an autograph party Saturday, July 10, in the Heritage Room. The hours will be 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon. Mrs. Vaughan will have books for sale and will autograph them for each purchaser. Mrs. Cecil Masten, chairman of the Esther Group, is handling arrangements.

"As the sands slip through the hourglass, just so have the days of my life, in retrospect, slipped through time and distance," Mrs. Vaughan states in the foreword. "It is an account of children, born when the twentieth century was new, children who have lived through probably the most revolutionary period in the history of the world—from the horse-and-buggy era to the space age. Not so far in time, but in life style so very far," she continues.

The book is written in the first person. There are no names, therefore anyone can identify with the little girl in white eyelet embroidery dress with blue ribbon sash or the barefoot boy in knee pants! It is a trip down "memory Lane" so to speak for those who have been privileged to see this century come to maturity."

Mrs. Vaughan came to Wellington at the time of her marriage to Mr. Vaughan, after living a number of years on the South Plains. She quickly became "Louise" to those who knew her. She was especially active in First United Methodist Church and the United Methodist Women. She served as a district officer.

In addition, she was a member of the 1924 Study Club and La Paisanta Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and retains her membership with this chapter.

The book was published by Craftsman Printers of Lubbock and sells for $5.95. As many people will be on vacation at the time of the Autograph party, the Esther Group will retain a few books for sale, or they may be ordered direct from Mrs. Vaughan. Her address is: 204 Cottage Drive, Hereford, Texas 79045.

From then on, she worked with and supported him in his many activities, as Mayor of Wellington for two terms, 1947 to 1951; as a member and president of the school board, in the American Legion and Kiwanis Club, as well as his other civic endeavors. The business which her husband established is now operated by their son, Robert Lewis.

He preceded her in death April 24, 1972.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, July 7, in First Christian Church. Charles Waugh, former minister of the church, now of Amarillo, conducted the service and burial was in Memorial Gardens under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Earl Clark, Bill Hatch, Cal Hurst, Jim Cochran, Mack Saied, Jr., and Melvin Kiker.

Survivors are her son, Robert Lewis; a sister, Mrs. Bonnie Houth of Guymon, Okla.; and three grandchildren, Mrs. Clyde Jennings of Austin, Mrs. Jim Neeley of Amarillo, and Don Lewis.

he retired in 1958.

He was a Master Mason and belonged to the American Legion. Mr. Thompson had been a Methodist since early in life and he was a veteran of World War I.

On August 12, 1917, he was married to Grace Godbey in Altus, where they lived until they moved to Wellington.

Joseph Covington Thompson was a native of Jackson, County, born February 2, 1894, while that area was still the Indian Territory. His parents were the late Dan and Cordelia Barr Thompson.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 3:00 p.m. in First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. James Boswell, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Memorial Gardens by Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Sandy Parsons, Hardy Wright, Bob Hightower, James Sullivan, E.F. Bartlett and Jack Davis.

Surviving Mr. Thompson are his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Emory Hunter, and Mrs. Floyd Dickey of Dimmitt. There are three grandchildren, Steve Hunter, Mrs. Tommy Beam of Amarillo and Mrs. Jim Axe of Lubbock, and 5 great grandchildren.

A daughter, Leeda Jo, preceded him in death several years ago.

issues its guidelines. This is not expected until October.

An additional $14,000 funding is earmarked by the Criminal Justice Division for Phase II, when plans for the detention facility will be worked out and the architect's design drawn.

Again, this will not cost any of the counties any money, and through that point, any county who wants to withdraw from the program may do so.

Phase III is the actual construction of the detention facility, if all counties agree and money is available.

The proposed facility will have both minimum and maximum detention units. There will be separate sections for both boy and girl juveniles and a separate women's unit.

Still another section will be included for intoxicants. This is in line with the federal and state requirements. Such a unit will probably contain facilities for detoxication and treatment. Sheriff Rainey pointed out that already in some states, an officer cannot arrest a drunk person, although he may detain him in a center such as the one proposed here.

There are no accommodations in the present jail for women. It met all state and federal requirements when it was built, only a little more than 10 years ago.

Collingsworth County's juveniles are handled by the 100th Judicial District Probation Program, directed by Mr. Watson.

They are presently housed at Childress, but even that juvenile facility is not adequate, Sheriff Rainey pointed out. It is the remodeled jury room behind the district court room, officers say, and already three Collingsworth youths being detained there have broken out.

District Attorney Charles Darter, in the district court room for a case, caught two youths as they were leaving the detention room.

Collingsworth County has been billed for more than $400 for damages caused by the third youth during his escape. The alternative to Childress is Amarillo.

None of the other three counties in the Multi-County Detention Center plan has a place for its juveniles.

In addition, the jails in those three counties have been condemned. Sheriff Rainey has held Hall County prisoners in the Collingsworth jail for some time. Wheeler County has brought most of their prisoners here for the last 6 months. Donley County is still using its jail, although Rainey has handled some of its prisoners. The jail here is the only maximum security jail in the area.

The proposed detention center would be on the present jail grounds, but whether it will be attached to the county jail, but with separate entrances, or whether it will be a separate building will be determined.

Driver Unhurt in Cow-Car Wreck

A Wellington man, Roger Browning, escaped injury when the car he was driving collided with a Hereford cow Saturday, July 3.

The accident occurred about 12:30 p.m. 23 miles west of Wellington, on State Highway 203, according to Patrolman Jackie Gunnels, who investigated.

The front of the car was reported badly damaged and the cow was killed. Owner of the car was identified as Billy Duckworth.

a price on the juvenile detention center until they know what the Texas Commission on Jail Standards guidelines will be.

Judge Thomas explained that this commission will not only have to approve construction, equipment, maintenance and operation of a jail or juvenile center, it also must approve the provisions for custody, care and treatment of prisoners, the jail supervisory personnel, the programs and services to meet the needs of prisoners, as well as rehabilitation, education and recreational facilities. Beyond this, the facility must meet federal guidelines.

This is going to be a costly project, everyone agrees. He said the National Clearinghouse estimates costs to be around $35,000 per bed.

Mr. Watson stressed another point.

"In the past few years, the rate of law suits involving jails and detention facilities has risen at the alarming rate of 2,900 per cent! In the event of a law suit against one of these four counties, it would be a possible defense that they are involved in Phase I or Phase II planning for a new facility."

"T.L. Baker has 32 law suits pending against him in Amarillo. The last one had to go to federal court in Dallas, and it cost Potter County $27,000 in attorneys fees plus time and effort. Not only has the sheriff been cited as a defendant, the Potter county judge and commissioners are also cited as defendants."

Roy Horn and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joe Horn, flew from Lubbock to Dallas last week where they joined Dr. Joe Horn. The three then went to Austin, and from there to Abilene to attend the wedding of a relative. They also visited LBJ country around Johnson City before returning home.

YOU CAN BANK on It!

By BILLY MOSELEY
President
CITY STATE BANK

One yardstick used to measure the nation's growth and health is called the Gross National Product, or GNP. The GNP is the combination of all of the goods and services, plus government expenditures, and generally is computed on a quarterly basis.

As the end of 1975 approached, the GNP stood at nearly $1.5 trillion. While there have been some quarter-to-quarter declines in the GNP, particularly in periods during the past 18 months, it generally has shown a steady growth pattern, indicating a basically healthy economy.

In 1972, for example, the GNP was some $1.1 trillion, by 1974 it had expanded to $1.4 trillion.

One figure the economy watchers analyze in the GNP is the percentage attributable to federal, state and local expenditures. Most recent figures indicate that government spending for GNP purposes accounted for nearly 35 per cent of the total Gross National Product.

In the latest figures compiled by the Department of Commerce, which is responsible for developing GNP figures, federal government expenditures were 13% of the total, while all state and local governments accounted for over 21% of the GNP.

There is usually a small membership dues.

Mrs. O'Rear has pointed out some of the objectives of a Friends of the Library organization:

--To create public support for an expanding library program.

--To encourage gifts, endowments and memorials for the library.

--To provide direct financial assistance by purchasing for the library special and unusual items which would be of great benefit but cannot be purchased from the budget.

--To work for library legislation or appropriations.

--To increase house of service by the library.

--To intensify community awareness and use of the library.

--To sponsor program designed to add to the cultural life of the community.

The first meeting will serve to acquaint Collingsworth County residents with the Friends of the Library organization and explain what can be achieved through the organization, Mrs. O'Rear said.

Debra Wood Runner Up As Miss Spirit of '76

Debra Wood, Wellington's nominee in the Happy Birthday USA celebration at Childress, Monday, July 5, was second runner-up in the Miss Spirit of '76 pageant, held during the evening. She was the nominee of Wellington Kiwanis Club.

The winner was Trish Hart of Childress, while Teresa Wakefield, also of Childress was Miss Congeniality and first runner-up.

The 16-year-old Wellington beauty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farris Wood.

The contest was in three divisions. Each girl appeared in a bicentennial costume, a formal, and appeared in a talent number.

Debra's talent was a tap dance to the music of "Let Yourself Go." She wore a black sequined body suit with black chiffon sleeves.

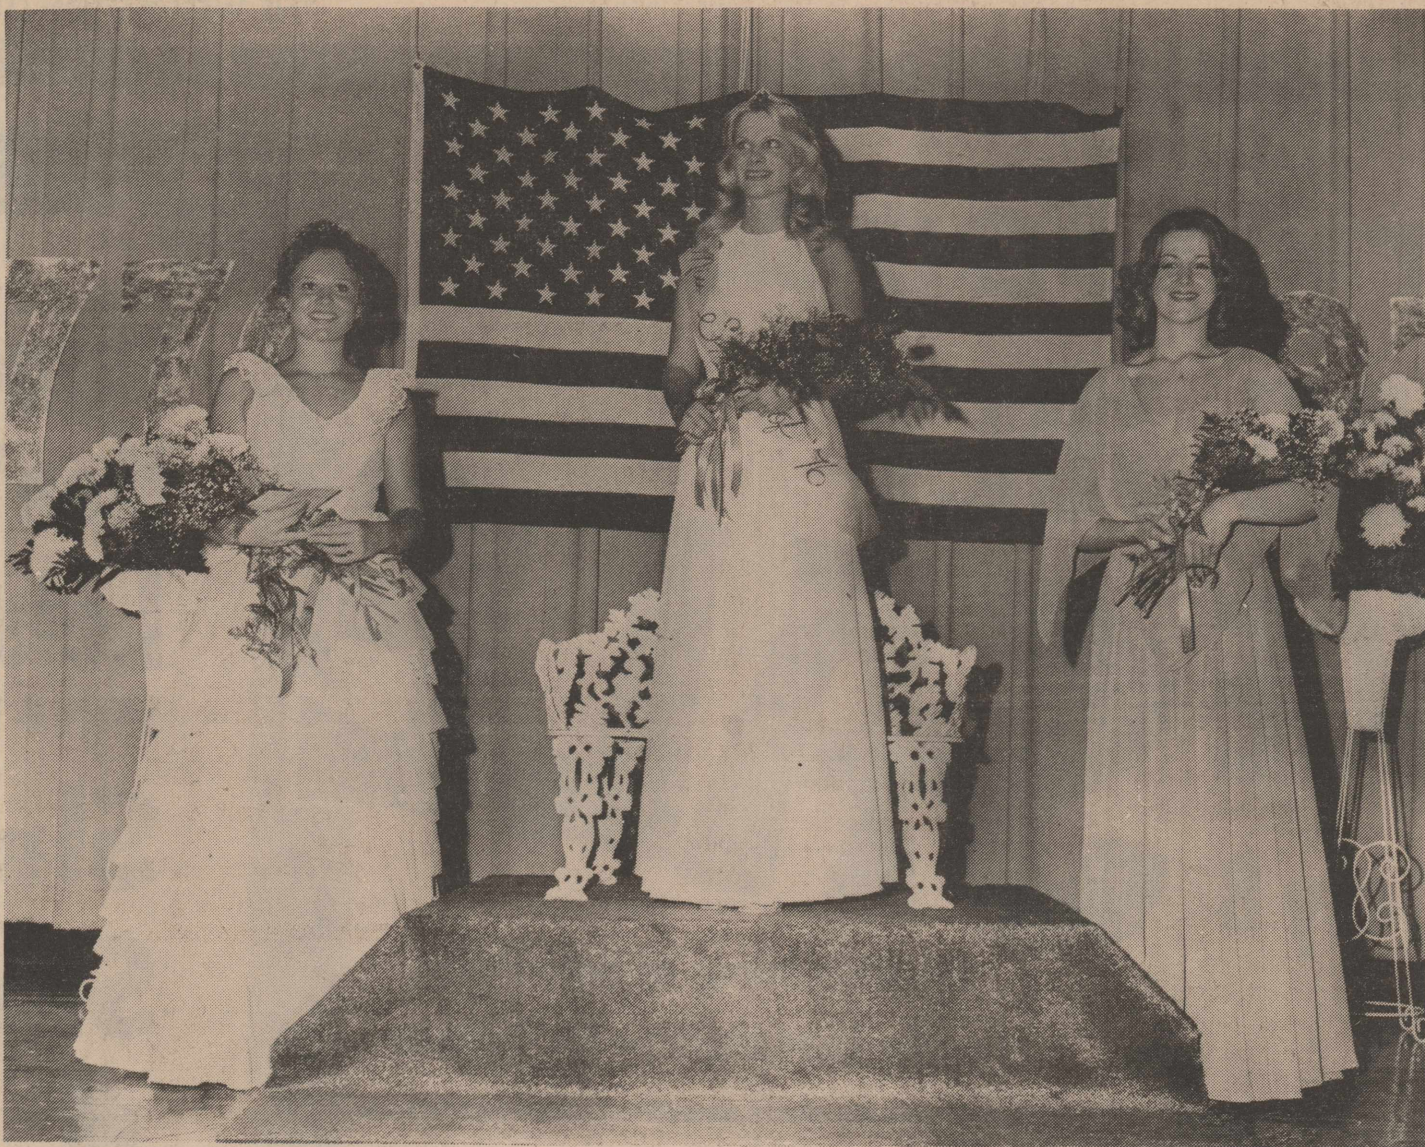

Her bicentennial dress was the wedding dress worn by her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. E.T. Vaughan, which she was married in 1910 in Collingsworth County.

Of pure silk, it had lace trim and was heavily beaded. There is a tucked georgette dickey and sleeves. With it, Debra wore her great-grandmother's strand of pearls and pearl earrings. The dress has retained its true ivory color. She carried a nosegay of spring flowers.

In the third portion of the contest, Debra appeared in a mauve chiffon veil floor-length dress, with a fitted bodice and v neckline. The bodice overlay came to points at the waist and elbows. A dark plumb colored velvet ribbon was tied at the natural waistline. Her circular skirt was floor length.

Contest judges were Quannah Chamber of Commerce president, Mrs. R.P. Jones; Gene Gallet, Nocona ballet instructor, and Mrs. Margaret Vines, Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce secretary.

MISS SPIRIT OF '76 WINNERS

This trio took top honors in the Miss Spirit of '76 pageant at Childress Monday night, July 5. At left is the first runner up who was also Miss Congeniality, Teresa Wakefield of Childress. Miss Spirit of '76, at center, was Trish Hart, also of Childress, and on the right is Wellington's Debra Wood, second runner up.

Wellington Voluntary Service Recognized in DPW Program

Wellington may well merit the name of "The Volunteer-iest Town in Texas." People who live here take these things for granted and go about their volunteering ways.

Some of the volunteer services in which Wellington people are involved were emphasized in a slide-commentary program presented before 5 state-level administrators from the Texas Department of Public Welfare at an Amarillo meeting Thursday and Friday, July 1 and 2.

Some of the services are related to PWD's Care Corps, an organization of volunteers. Others were independent of it. Mrs. Ernest Harwell made the slide-narrative presentation. "Rather than talk so much about the volunteer program all over the region, we decided to choose a town that has embraced the concept of volunteer services and has made outstanding use of volunteers within and without the structure of Care Corps," said Mrs. Nova Purdy, PWD volunteer coordinator.

"Wellington already had some particularly efficient corps of volunteers meeting specific needs. However, our DPW workers saw some areas of need which were not being met, and upon hearing of Care Corps in the spring of 1975, decided to establish a Care Corps to meet these needs," said Mrs. Purdy.

County Judge Zook Thomas was cited as a good example of community awareness and concern.

Here are some of the ways in which Wellington volunteers themselves.

Volunteers work at the closed circuit TV station, Channel 5, of First Baptist Church.

Picnic areas in Ellison Park have been furnished by citizens—the latest by Kiwanis Club.

Volunteers, both individuals and groups, furnish items for the Satellite Training and Work Center. This center also trains students for such jobs as yard work and helping local farmers, Mrs. Harwell pointed out.

There are instances in which citizens help retirees to continue living in their own homes. A local man serves as protective payee. With community acceptance and assistance, these live a near normal life.

A volunteer acts as an interpreter, working with clients on food stamp applications.

Unpaid workers are in charge of a clothing room where those in need may select clothes.

An interpreter working to assist individuals filling out food stamp applications does so without pay. Another helps Nancy Floyd, the protective service worker, with clients.

Care Corps has plugged into the RSVP and Senior Citizen Center, clearing house for much volunteer work.

These people—most of them senior citizens, do a great deal of work at Thomas Nursing Center, with such services as reading The Wellington Leader to residents; playing games.

Other senior citizens are friendly visitors to the elderly in their own homes.

Churches and individuals bring programs to the nursing homes.

Many RSVP members also belong to Care Corps and their work serves both groups. Volunteers wrote about 90 letters in a successful attempt to secure an additional doctor for Wellington and to prepare the rooms for his office.

Current project at the Senior Citizens Center is making flower arrangements. Volunteers donate their time, and flower arrangements are sold to raise money for the center.

Some of the women make quilts for fun and profit—again not for themselves but for causes or projects.

Volunteers staff the free blood pressure clinic at the Senior Citizens Center where from 125 to 150 people are processed each month.

More than 60 persons at RSVP have each given more than 100 hours of volunteer service. Some have given 300 to 400 hours. In recognition of this, those who qualified received certificates and pins in appreciation of their work.

Others give assistance to the blind, taking them to the bank, to pay bills, buy groceries and get medicines.

Volunteers, also, at their own time and expense, have taken elderly ill to Amarillo and to Altus, Oklahoma for doctor's appointments.

Two teams traveled more than 50 miles to help an inadequate mother, twice a week, in an attempt to improve her child care and home management skills.

The Wellington Volunteer Fire Department, one of the oldest in the Panhandle, has long been recognized as outstanding, with each of the 25 members giving his time without pay.

Growing in importance is the highly trained Volunteer Ambulance Service, with 32 members, most of them Emergency Medical Technicians. A team is on call 24 hours a day.

Wellington also has a volunteer disaster program, which can be mobilized to act in case of disaster.

The Collingsworth County Historical Museum has also reached its present status through the work of volunteers. Daughters of the American Revolution work on regular schedule, and members of the Lions Club gave their time to put in curbing and side walks. Members of the 1954 Study Club donate their time as docents.

One of the county's latest projects in which volunteer work has played a major role is Collingsworth Pioneer's Park on Salt Fork. Both individuals and organizations have worked here.

DPW personnel on hand to see this presentation were Jerome Chapman, Department commissioner, with Merle H. Spring, deputy commissioner for financial services; Dr. C. Rodman E. Porter, chief management specialist; Erwin Dabbs, field administrator and Marlin Johnston executive director of the medical programs.

The Care Corps volunteers came about when John Alf Thomas, a food stamp worker, called a meeting of ministers wives and church women in the spring of 1975. Mrs. Ernest Harwell was named volunteers coordinator.

"In the spirit of wishing to cooperate with all agencies and organizations already using volunteers, we want to show you many volunteer activities which affect our

CYANIDE (JOHNSON GRASS) POISONING

Cyanides are found in insect fumigants, soil sterilizers, and some fertilizers, however, the most important source to animals is cyanogenetic plants. These plants include Johnson grass, sudan, and common sorghums, all of which contain cyanogenetic glycosides that are broken down by an enzyme during digestion to hydrocyanic acid. The hydrocyanic (prussic) acid reacts in the blood with methemoglobin making it unable to carry oxygen. This results in the various body tissues being starved for oxygen.

The clinical signs are a forced breathing, muscle trembling, staggering, coma and death all a result of the anoxia or low blood oxygen. The signs occur rapidly after ingestion of the cyanogenetic plant, as short as 5 minutes with as little as 5 pounds in a cow. Generally the course of the disease is less than 30 minutes before death and those that live 2 hours will probably recover.

The cyanide forming plants have increased levels when the plants are heavily fertilized, wilted and stunted from drought, or have been damaged by trampling or plant disease. Freezing weather tends to increase the amount of hydrocyanic acid also. Therefore to prevent poisoning from these plants grazing must be avoided when the factors are present that increase toxicity. There is little danger from feeding well-cured hay from these plants.

The risk of cyanide poisoning may also be decreased by heavy feeding of grains and hay before turning the animals out to graze. When anticipating grazing of these plants during stress conditions there are economical laboratory tests that can be run on plant samples to determine the degree of cyanides present. Medication is also available which if given immediately after an animal goes down is relatively effective in saving it.

MRS. LARRY MICHAEL WIGINTON

Dianna Cantrell, Larry Wiginton Repeat Vows in Church Rites

Miss Dianna Mae Cantrell and Larry Michael Wiginton were married in a candlelight ceremony Tuesday, May 18, in the Eleventh Street Baptist Church, Shamrock. The Reverend O.E. Wright of Wichita Falls, pastor of the Church of God and uncle of the bride, read the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cantrell, Route Three, Shamrock, while Mr. and Mrs. L.M. Wiginton of Lakeview are parents of the bridegroom.

Vows were exchanged at an altar which had at each side candelabras holding votive candles and baskets of pastel spring flowers. The altar table held the anniversary candle and the couple's family Bible. The prayer bench completed the decorations. Satin bows marked the family pews.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Martha Ramsey, pianist, who also accompanied Joe Bob Fudge of Muleshoe, vocalist.

Mr. Cantrell gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a floor-length gown of white bridal satin, fashioned with a scooped neckline and fitted empire waist. Venise lace was used for the bodice overlay and long full sleeves, gathered at the wrist. Appliqued lace flowers accented with seed pearls were scattered on the A-line skirt. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was edged with Venise lace, which also formed the headpiece. She carried a nosegay of daisies surrounded with blue rosebuds and pastel satin streamers, and pastel rosebuds were used to accent the lace-covered bride's Bible. She carried a handkerchief belonging to her great-grandmother, Mrs. Williams, and she wore an opal and diamond necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Kayla Wade of Groom was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length pastel blue gown styled with A-line skirt and empire waist, with low round neckline and short puff sleeves. She wore a matching bow in the back of her hair and carried a nosegay of spring flowers.

Dennis Holt of Memphis was best man, and ushers

Party Honors Ginger Daniels

A birthday party honoring Ginger Daniels on her sixth birthday was held Wednesday, June 30, in Ellison Park from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m.

The Raggedy Ann and Andy theme was carried out and cake and punch was served. The children played organized games and also enjoyed the park equipment.

Those attending were De Jon Lindsey, Jana Nunnelle, Paula Nunnelle, Brad Long, Kevin McDanel, Mary Elizabeth Binford, Lindy Thomas, Tommy Thomason, Bobby Wilkerson, Steven Owens, Stephanie Barton, Rusty Bawcom, Penny Wilkins, Jeff Powell, Leslie Black, Carrie Langford, Lindy Forrester, Linda Lacy, Raquel Neeley, Jonny Settle and the honoree.

were Jerry Cantrell and Dale Wiginton of Lakeview, brothers of the couple.

Timmy Wiginton of Lakeview, brother of the bridegroom, registered the guests as they arrived and distributed rice bags from the lace-covered table.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cantrell entertained with a reception in the fellowship hall.

The bride's table was laid with a white embossed linen cloth, falling in a flounce to the floor, and edged with ruffles. Garlands of greenery edged the table. The centerpiece was a double silver candelabra holding blue tapers.

Crystal appointments completed the table setting. Miss Lena King and Miss Janette Sanderson served the guests.

Special guests at the wedding and reception were the grandparents of the couple, Mrs. Dicey Ackley and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Williams of Shamrock and Mrs. Myrtle Hammons of Memphis.

The bride is a graduate of

Family Reunion Here Honors Mrs. T.C. Clement June 20

The children of Mrs. T.C. Clement and their families gathered here Sunday, June 20, for a reunion, just as they do each year on Father's Day.

A son and daughter, E.W. Clement and Mrs. Pearl Harwell, were hosts for the picnic supper Saturday evening at their home.

Sunday the group gathered at the Heritage Room where two of Mrs. Clement's nieces, Miss Inez Clement and Miss Mable Clement served the buffet luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement came here from Vernon in 1917. His parents, the late Rev. and Mrs. J.C. Clement also came here from Wilbarger County. They were the parents of 11 sons, 10 of whom lived to adulthood.

Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Clement farmed in the Fresno Community many years before he retired and they moved into Wellington.

Attending were Mrs. Clement; Mrs. J.T. Clement, and son, Mr. and Mrs. Don Clement of Brownfield; Mrs. Opal Dunn and son Bill Dunn and Bob Dunn and family of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Clement and Todd of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Earl N. Clement and Ronny of Colorado Springs, and another son, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Clement, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Clement and Cristy of Pueblo, Colorado; and the hosts, Mrs. Harwell, E.W. Clement and daughter, Soni.

B&PW Hears Of Convention

The Wellington Business and Professional Women's Club met for a regular meeting on Tuesday, June 30.

Mrs. Dudley Phipps presided over the business session and led the club collect and the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

After the business session, those who had attended the state convention of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club, reported on this meeting.

Those attending the convention were: Mrs. Phipps, president; Mrs. Ernest Harwell, club bicentennial chairman; Mrs. Zook Thomas, District Woman of the Year; and Miss Myra Hays, district bicentennial chairman. Mrs. Harwell carried the club flag, which was depicting 100 years for Collingsworth County and 200 years for our nation in a Parade of Flags on Friday night at the meeting.

Probably there were 75 clubs who had made these

Wind, Sun, Tortured Pioneers, But May Be Tomorrow's Boon

The sun and the wind tortured many who came through this area a hundred years ago, as the counties of north and west Texas were being created and given names.

Now as these counties enter their second century, this same sun and wind may turn into a blessing as they, with the rest of the nation begin to view more seriously the energy shortage.

Solar energy for heating and wind energy for power are no longer idle speculation. They are in the experimental stage in many parts of the United States, and in use in several parts of the world. One thing now is to make them economically feasible.

Two Texas towns, Bridgeport and Crosbyton, have begun work on solar energy plants to furnish electric power. Crosbyton's project is in conjunction with Texas Tech University. That town, smaller than Wellington, has no deadline to meet, and it will be one of the best experiments carried out so far.

Locations are being chosen for wind energy experimental sites in several parts of the United States.

Wellington could well keep its eyes open for any future developments in which we might become a part. With the many good things this town has going for it now, this would not be an impossible dream. Certainly it would require effort, but we are in just as fine a position as many other places which would actually receive such an experiment.

We have had our day with wind energy. Prior to and during World War II, windchargers dotted the countryside in much of Mid-America, furnishing power for radios and lights. It was entirely satisfactory to the users, although totally inadequate by today's standards.

Other Editors Say . . .

Safer Bridges Critical State Need

Texas drivers are in trouble, their lives may be at stake.

In 1972, 19 members of an Austin church were killed when their bus collided with a cattle truck on a 25-foot wide bridge in New Mexico. In 1974, a bus collided with a truck on a narrow bridge outside of Bakersfield near Fort Stockton. Seven persons were killed.

And, according to retired state highway J.C. Dingwell, it is entirely possible that such tragedies could recur on Texas highways. "This type of accident is going to happen again," he flatly told an Austin press conference called by The Railroad Information Program (TRIP).

The sobering fact is that TRIP has compiled a list of 5,346 bridges in Texas—about 10 per cent of all the state's bridges—that constitute a danger either through structural faults or obsolescence.

The potential for disaster is obvious.

The solution, it would seem, is equally obvious: Initiate a comprehensive program to bring these bridges up to modern standards.

The problem, predictably, is money. It is TRIP's estimate that it would take 15 years and $845.7 million to overhaul defective bridges for Texas alone. However, Congress is now looking at a bill that would provide only $180 million for bridge improvements for the entire country in 1978-79. Dingwell proposed that funds be freed from the federal government's Highway Trust Fund, which currently has a bankroll of $8.5 billion to $9 billion.

In the meantime, Texas should take whatever steps it can to update highway bridges. This might run counter to Gov. Briscoe's "no new taxes" policy, but that is a risk we will have to take.

No More Bingo?

It is my understanding that Texas Attorney General John Hill has ruled against Bingo, a favorite game of millions of people.

Whether or not Hill can outlaw the popular game remains to be seen.

But, if he is all powerful, why doesn't he do something about the downright slime that pours into and is printed in Texas?

It is about as downgrading as can be.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Major House committees and Speaker Bill Clayton offered a grab-bag program to save 10 to 15 per cent on utility bills and renewed a call for a special legislative session.

Clayton said he had discussed the proposals with Gov. Dolph Briscoe. Briscoe has been cool toward a special session unless he can be convinced substantial immediate savings in gas and electric bills would result.

Recommendations include elimination of the five per cent state-local sales tax on utility bills and a new state tax credit for investor-owned utilities. The latter is supposed to save consumers 10 to 12 per cent monthly if enacted.

Tax reduction proposals would reduce state revenue about $500 million over the next three years, but Clayton said an anticipated surplus of more than $2 billion would make this painless for government.

Among other recommendations:

—Restructuring natural gas levies to shift $36.6 million of the burden from Texas to out-of-state consumers.

—Prohibition of take-or-pay provisions for more than 80 per cent of deliverability in future natural gas sale contracts and a guarantee of make-up periods of not less than two years to use gas bought under such provisions.

—A requirement that the Railroad Commission hold public hearings on re-determined prices of gas and pass-through charges to consumers.

—Uniform application of all gas cost adjustments to consumers regardless of class or amount of consumption.

Commission Administrator Luke Robinson quit his job under fire.

Robinson pointed to disension on the commission as his reason for bowing out after only a nine months trial. He said he would not "play games with the people's business . . . and not break before the winds of political pressure."

The new administrator ordered a series of raids last fall and insisted on strict application of a law requiring 51 per cent of stock in establishments which sell alcoholic beverages to be owned by Texans.

Democrats Seek Truce

Democrats, troubled with friction over state party leadership, held summit truce talks here last week to discuss patching up differences for a united general election campaign.

Texas members of the Democratic National Committee, State Chairman Calvin Guest, Bob Armstrong (who heads Jimmy Carter's presidential nomination campaign) and AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard talked over plans for the fall campaign in a three-hour session.

Guest proposed joint campaign headquarters for Carter and state and local candidates in 23 major Texas counties and cooperative efforts by all factions and groups in the party.

Insurance Talk Set

State Insurance Board members scheduled a July 16 session to explore reasons why companies are declining to sell auto and household policies to Texans.

Agents said they are having the worst time ever finding companies who will write policies on their clients.

COTTON COMPRESS

The cotton compress at Wellington, left, as it appeared just after it was built, circa 1925. The hand-operated wooden compress at right was found in a corner of the building as it was being demolished this year. Robert Owens, who purchased the property, has given the wooden machine to the Collingsworth County Museum, and it will be used as the basis of a cotton exhibit.

order against pre-trial reporting of facts about a mass murder, curbed judges' powers to censor news media in reporting criminal cases before the trial stage.

The high court left standing, however, conviction of California reporters for contempt of court in violating "gas orders" and refusing to reveal sources of information.

An Austin district judge turned down a request for a temporary injunction to knock Democratic Railroad Commission candidate Jon Newton off the ballot as ineligible, but set a July 9 hearing on merits of the suit brought by defeated candidate Jerry Sadler.

State Board of Pharmacy will appeal a Dallas court ruling that drug stores can advertise drug prices regardless of a state law prohibiting the practice.

Ag Opinions

Placement of a statue in the Alamo Chapel which would require an excavation four feet deep would violate state law against any change or alteration in the historic church. Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—The State Commissioner of Labor Statistics is not authorized to collect back wages owed to employees or former employees of a regulated employer.

—Information from investigative files on individuals compiled by the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers may be withheld from public inspection.

—The Vocational Nurse Examiners Board director of training must have at least five years as a nursing teacher.

Appointments

Dr. David Wade of Austin was appointed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

Briscoe appointed 21 members to the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Advisory Board, and designated John Mark McLaughlin of San Angelo and Don R. Workman of Lubbock as chairman and vice chairman.

John F. Pettit of Del Rio is the new assistant Texas secretary of state.

Regina Jones has been named director of information services for the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Short Snorts

Texas delegates to the Democratic National Convention are leaving for New York City this weekend.

The State Insurance Board recommended a 5.5 per cent average increase in workmen's compensation rates to cover higher benefits.

More than $1.2 billion in state time deposits in 1,240 banks will draw $84.1 million in interest this year, according to a report by State Treasurer Jesse James.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Protecting the consumer was a major concern of the attorneys general from more than 40 states and U.S. territories attending the 70th annual meeting of the National Association of Attorneys General recently.

Our office, which hosted the meeting in San Antonio, was an active participant in meetings of the 14 N.A.A.G. committees, where much substantive discussion of consumer-related matters took place, and where resolutions were hammered out which later were adopted by the N.A.A.G. general assembly.

One such measure, proposed by our office's chief of consumer protection, Philip Maxwell, resolved to ask that Congress amend federal bankruptcy laws to close a loophole which in effect permitted violation of state consumer laws by unscrupulous merchants in certain limited instances.

Consumer protection attorneys said that some states have reported cases where corporations that are defendants in deceptive trade practices suits brought by state attorneys general have used federal bankruptcy laws to circumvent justice.

This comes about when the corporation being sued files a petition for bankruptcy. Under current federal law, all state legal actions are then held up until the bankruptcy proceedings are settled. Some corporations allegedly have misused this provision of the law as an obstructionist tactic to evade state legal actions, while continuing to operate under a special "Chapter 11" bankruptcy provision.

Rangers Win '76 Little League Championship

The Rangers won both halves of the season and are the Champions of the Wellington Little League for 1976.

The all-star team was also announced and it will play Childress Little League on July 10 at 8:00 p.m. in the second game of the district championship.

The Little League teams from Memphis and Clarendon will begin their series at 6:00 p.m. that day at Childress. "We hope that a number of the Wellington fans can be present to urge the Wellington All-Stars on to victory," said Charles Darter.

The All-Star team members are as follows: Jeffery Barnett, Scott Cochran, Brad English, Pat Guajardo, Timmy Harris, Brent Long, Raymond Mackey, Rickey Martinez, Tony Maxwell, David Moore, John Paul Munn, David Nelson, Tito Neveraz and Wade Williams.

On June 15, in the first game of the second half of Wellington Little League season, the City Sate Bank Rangers scored 8 runs in the last inning and Raymond Mackey held off the Lymans Automotive Astros to defeat them 24-22.

Jeff Emmert took the defeat for the Astros and Brent Long and Wade Williams also pitched.

Mackey was the winning pitcher in relief of Darren Hall. Mackey also led the Astros with two home runs and a triple and Martinez had two home runs, a single and a double. Lynn Bartlett and Timmy Harris had three hits each to lead the Astros. In the second game, the Wellington State Bank Cubs defeated the Wellington VFW Tigers 10-9 with Chad Holland scoring the winning run in the last inning of play.

Brad English took the loss for the Tigers, going all of the way and Eddie Trimble got the win with relief from Mark Hunnicutt. Roy Mote tripped and singled and Tony Maxwell had three singles for the Cubs. Brad English, Bill Reeves and Ben White each had two hits for the Tigers.

On June 17, the Tigers avenged the defeat from the Cubs by out-lasting them 12-11.

John Paul Munn picked up the victory for the Tigers and Joe Bill Munn took the loss.

Channy Wood and Scott Cochran led the Tigers with two hits while James Bergvall and Joe Bill Munn had two hits for the Cubs.

In the second game, the Rangers defeated the Astros again 16-8 with Mackey picking up the victory and Bartlett the defeat.

Mackey had three hits and Pat Guajardo had two to lead the Rangers to their second win, and Tito Neveraz and Williams had two hits for the Astros. Bartlett and Williams had home runs for the Astros.

On June 22, the Tigers outslugged the Astros 19-12 with John Paul Munn going all the way for the victory and Long picking up the defeat.

Kevin McClendon, Cochran, Hudson and Woods each had two hits for the Tigers. The Astros were led by home runs by Harris and Long, and Tony Maxwell also tripped.

The Rangers and Cubs game was rained out.

On June 24, the Rangers continued winning by defeating the Tigers 18-10 with Guajardo picking up the victory and Cochran the loss.

Rickey Martinez and Mackey homered for the Rangers. McClendon had a homer and a single to lead the Tigers.

In the second game, the Astros exploded to defeat the Cubs 17-3 with Williams going all of the way to victory and the Astros being led by hitting by Tommy Hernandez and Bartlett with three hits each. Joe Bill mun had three hits to lead the Cubs.

On June 26, the Astros scored three runs in the last inning to ease by the Cubs 13-12 in one of the best games of the season with Harris getting the victory and Hunnicutt the loss.

The three winning runs were scored on a double by Harris and walk to Bartlett and a homer by Neveraz.

Barry Meadows had a home run for the Cubs. Roy Mote had two hits for the Cubs.

In the second game, the Rangers won their third victory by a score of 8-3 over the Tigers.

Guajardo took the victory with relief from Mackey, while Vincent Fitzgerald went all the way for the Tigers.

McClendon had 2 doubles to lead the Tigers in hitting while Guajardo had 2 hits and Jim Warrick had 3 walks to lead the Cubs.

In games on June 29, the Rangers out-lasted the Cubs 14-8 with Hall getting the victory and Joe Bill Munn the loss.

Hall, Guajardo and Martinez each had three hits for the Rangers with two of Martinez's being home runs.

For the Cubs, Hernandez homered and singled twice and Jay Jones, Tim Maxwell, Tony Maxwell and Eddie Trimble with one hit each.

The rained out games were not rescheduled since the City State Bank Rangers were undefeated in the 2nd half and the games would not affect the championship. The final second half standings are as follows: Rangers, 5 wins, no losses; Astros, 2 wins, 3 losses; Tigers, 2 wins, 3 losses; Cubs, 1 win, 4 losses.

Deadline Near To Report on Low Yield Wheat

Wheat growers were reminded this week that they have only 15 days from completion of harvest on each farm to apply for low yield payments.

This time is about to expire for most farmers, and if they think they are eligible, they should act immediately, according to Bob Weatherly, county executive director of the Collingsworth County ASCS.

He also pointed out that cotton acres must be reported by August 2. Anyone with an

Tami Boswell Kiwanis Speaker

Tami Boswell, who participated in the State 4-H speaking contest at College Station in early June, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club Friday, July 2.

Tami, who has a hearing difficulty, based her talk on her 4-H speech, and told of speech and hearing centers and other developments to aid other children who also have this problem.

Jake Leach, president, announced that several additions have been made to the list of users of the United States Flag Service sponsored by Kiwanis. On each of the designated holidays, flags are put up in front of businesses and houses and homes using the service. There are now 108, he added.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilkins, Mark and Scott of Shawnee, Oklahoma were weekend guests of Mrs. T.B. Wilkins. They also visited the Tom Wilkins.

Diabetic Screening Clinic Will Be Held on July 14

A diabetic screening clinic to be held at the Senior Citizen Center on Wednesday, July 14, from 1:00 to 5:00 P.M. Mrs. Dee Burba, Community Action, and Mrs. Mecca Manuel, RSVF, have announced.

This is the regular day for the blood pressure clinic and the diabetic screening will be held in conjunction with it.

Mrs. Winifred Gass, RN, nursing director of Public Health Region I, of Canyon, will be in Wellington to do the screening. This consists of a finger prick with a single drop of blood. Anyone that has a positive results at the clinic will receive a letter with instructions and time for a second screening.

During the second screening everyone will receive a letter telling them whether or not the results were positive. Those having a positive test will be referred to their private physician for testing.

Mrs. Gass advised that anyone over 40 years of age is eligible for the screening. Others that need to be screened are women who have recently had over-weight babies and members of families that have a high incidence of diabetes in the family.

Mrs. Burba and Mrs. Manuel invite anyone interested to please come by and have the screening test made.

FB Seeks More Talent Find, Queen Entries

Entries are needed in the Farm Bureau Talent Find contest, which will be held along with the Farm Bureau Queen contest Saturday, July 24.

So far, there have been no entries in the talent event, according to Mrs. G.N. Davis, FB office secretary.

"There is lots of entertainment talent in Collingsworth County, and it deserves recognition," she said. It can be any sort of talent and the contestants must be between 17 and 30 years of age, with their families members of Farm Bureau.

Four girls have entered the queen's contest, Kathy Guthrie of Quail, Kay Coffee, younger sister of the reigning Farm Bureau queen, Debra Wood, and DiAnna Schaub of Samnorwood. Contestants must be between 16 and 22 years and belong to a Farm Bureau family.

The contest will be in Bura Handley Community Center beginning at 8:00 p.m.

There will be out of town judges for both portions of the contest.

Any girl who wants to enter the queen's contest, and any

Bond Sales Total $2,105

May sales of Series E and H United State Savings Bonds amounting to $2,105 in Collingsworth county were reported today by County Bond Chairman Billy Moseley. Sales for the five-month period totaled $19,650 for 25% of the 1976 sales goal of $80,000.

Sales in Texas during the month were $23,323,639—while the year-to-date sales totaled $118,488,815 with 44% of the $272.4 million 1976 sales goal achieved.

young man or woman, or any group, wishing to enter the talent find, may contact Mrs. Davis at the Farm Bureau office, Albert Fulcher, contest chairman, or Jerry Scott, county FB president.

The winner of both events will represent the county in the District contest at Amarillo later this summer, and those winners will compete on the state level at the annual Texas Farm Bureau convention.

Charles Michael, Jr., of Garden City Kansas, came last Thursday to visit his grandmother, Mrs. J.F. Michael. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Michael, and Kathy came for a visit over the holiday weekend.

Memphis Woman Critically Hurt in July 4 Accident

A Memphis woman was critically injured Sunday night, July 4, when the car in which she was a passenger failed to negotiate a curve on FM 1547 approximately 17 miles southwest of Wellington.

Patrolman Jackie Gunnels, who headed the investigation, identified her as Maxine Downing, 31. A spokesman for Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo, where she was transferred with severe head injuries, told Gunnels Monday morning that although her condition is still critical, it is believed that she will live.

Driver of the car was Frank Davis, 32, and the third occupant was Patsy Davis, 17, both of Memphis. The latter two were only slightly injured, the patrolman said. The women are thought to Davis' sisters.

Patrolman Gunnels said the accident is believed to have occurred between 8:30 and 9:00 p.m. The 1965 Chevrolet, after failing to make the curve, went off the road, hit an embankment then rolled over two or three times. The door on the passenger's side was torn off and the Downing woman was thrown out.

Miss Davis started walking down the road for help and was picked up by a Shamrock couple, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Thrasher. They took her first to a farm house, where the phone was not in working order, then back to Memphis.

A Highway Patrol unit responded to the call and gave first aid until the Memphis ambulance arrived.

Illinois Guests Visit Truett Hollands

Holiday week guests of Mr. and Mrs. Truett Holland were his cousin, Mr. and Mrs. George Scivally and daughter, Jane, and another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McMahan and sons, Joey and Randy, all of Anna, Illinois.

The group attended the show "Texas" on Tuesday evening, June 29. They spent another interesting day making the acquaintance of other area kinspeople, as this marked the first time the Illinois natives had visited in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyer of Dallas visited her mother, Mrs. Ollie Wilson, week before last, and their daughter, Jackie, stayed for an extended visit with her grandmother.

Sisters Visit Through Ozarks

Two Wellington sisters, Mrs. Charlie Hill and Mrs. Bura Handley, along with the latter's son, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brock and daughter, Janet of Portales, N.M., have returned from a vacation in southwest Missouri and northwest Arkansas.

They visited relatives and went to many scenic places.

"In Eureka Springs, Ark., one of the most beautiful spots was the Passion Play area," said Mrs. Handley, adding that the lakes were beautiful.

They visited a nephew, Mr. and Mrs. H.T. (Hobb) Hart in Forsythe, Missouri. The Harts formerly lived in the Needwood community and later in Wellington, while he was Route 6 mail carrier. Formerly a building contractor, he suffered a heart attack in December and is now retired. Mrs. Hart, their son and daughter-in-law, operate a beauty shop in Forsythe. This is a resort area, in the Ozark Lake country. Many St. Louis people come for weekends or vacations.

This is the area where Mrs. Hill was born.

Mrs. Handley, who is doing research on her family, the Keesees, spent one day in the Taney County Court House searching old records. She reported it was gratifying to look through these records of her grandfather's time.

They visited the cemetery where the grandparents of Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Handley are buried, the Peter Keesees.

A cousin from Lead Hill, Ark., and another from Ontario, Calif., who was visiting there, met the Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dee Coleman last week were two grandsons from Canyon, Nicky Coleman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Mario Coleman, and Scott Coleman, son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Coleman.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, Wade, Amy and Ashley vacationed a short time ago at Eureka Springs, Ark. They also visited the 'Dog Patch' amusement center at Harrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sims of Amarillo were holiday weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carthel Lewis.

Recent guests in the home of Mrs. L.A. Gilmore were her sons and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gilmore, Jimmie, Tammy and Chris of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gilmore, Sandra Kay and Misty Dawn of Matador. Other visitors were her brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Martin, Don and Jamie of Crowell.

Attending the Gilmore reunion in Ozark, Arkansas recently were Mrs. L.A. Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gilmore, Sandra and Misty of Matador and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Posey. They also visited relatives in Fort Smith and the James Poseys in Bethany, Oklahoma.

Supper guests Friday night of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Meadows were their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Harper and Clay of Childress. Other guests of the Meadows were his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Olan Humphrey of Clarksville. The Meadows and the Humpherys spent the Fourth of July weekend in Amarillo visiting their other brothers and sisters.

Wellington group at the cemetery and Church of Christ, on the same grounds. The name, Keesees, was on the front of the building, --a church named for their ancestors. Although quite old, it was in good condition.

Their first stop was in Tulsa, Oklahoma, where they visited Mrs. Vella Mae Thompson, sister-in-law of Mrs. Handley.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Lancaster is their daughter, Mrs. Carl Vincent of Carrouthers, Calif. She will be remembered as Miss Lila Lancaster. Joining them over the weekend were another daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Sears of Amarillo.

Treva Boiles, age 11, and Taunia Boiles, nine, of White Settlement are visiting this month with their uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Boiles, Richard and Kailyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bowen of Amarillo were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. King Bowen and Mr. and Mrs. Don Manuel.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Harris of Houston were visitors last week of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Harris, and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carter, of Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Needham and girls of Pampa were July 4th visitors of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Needham.

ARE YOU COVERED?

There is so much to remember when you leave on a trip. If you are driving, make sure you have extended coverage on your auto or camper and that it is in force. Carry a list of numbers of agents in towns you will be in or near in case of emergency. If you are driving in a foreign country make sure you are covered . . . it costs only pennies to do so.
