Pulitzer Prizes

Tiny weekly newspaper, little-known play, 'Cheever' are among winners

NEW YORK (AP) — A tiny California weekly newspaper with one full time reporter and a little-known off-Broadway play are among the winners of Pulitzer Prizes, with the top fiction award going to "The Stories of John Cheever."

The Point Reyes (Calif.) Light, with a circulation of 2,700 in a town with a population of 426, won the Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service for its long-time investigation of Synanon, the drug and alcohol rehabilitation group.

Dave Mitchell, 35, co-publisher of the Light with his wife Cathy, 34, said after the award was announced Monday that for most of the past year almost every issue of the paper had a story and editorial on Synanon. In their investigation of the group, the Mitchells, who did most of the writing, uncovered allegations of beatings, hoarding of weapons and revenge attacks. Mitchell said Synanon leaders consider the paper so insignificant "they haven't even asked for a retraction."

Mitchell said the staff position of reporter has been filled by several persons, including Keith Ervin, who no longer is at the paper, but who wrote one of the stories included in the series that won the prize.

Tapped for the drama prize this year was "Buried Child," a story of disintegrating rural family life in Illinois. It was written by 35-year-old Sam Shepard, who appears as an actor in the film "Days of Heaven." The prize came the day after the play closed following more than 150 performances.

The 66-year-old Cheever, — who won the fiction award for his best-selling collection of 61 stories, spanning three decades — said he was "tremendously excited."

Robert Penn Warren, 73-year-old professor emeritus of English at Yale, was honored for "Now and Then: Poems 1976-78." He said he felt the book was "better than some," but that he was surprised to learn that it had won the prize. "Good luck is always a surprise," he said.

It was Warren's third Pulitzer. He won his first Pulitzer in 1947 with the novel "All the King's Men," and took the poetry prize in 1958 with "Promises: Poems 1954-56."

The reporting of Richard Ben Cramer from the Middle East won the Philadelphia Inquirer the international reporting prize, the newspaper's fifth Pulitzer in five years. Cramer, 28, said "It's been wonderful....I'm frazzled."

The Washington Post picked up its fifth Pulitzer in a row when its syndicated cartoonist, Herbert "Herblock" Block got the editorial cartooning award for the third time in 37 years. The cartoon published Aug. 31 showed a Roman judge named "Judicius Imperius" handing a soldier a "license to fish through notes, memos and anything else belonging to members of the press." The caption read: "And bring me

Voting begun in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Blacks and whites in Rhodesia today voted together for the first time to elect a black majority government as 90,000 soldiers guarded against guerrilla activity.

Voter turnout was reported heavy in Salisbury. In Highfields, where a half-million blacks live in the capital's major black township, 3,000 voters were waiting otside one booth when the polls opened at 7 a.m., election officials said.

Many black voters did not want to be interviewed by reporters for fear of reprisals by black guerrillas opposed to the elections.

But one middle-aged woman, who would not give her name, told reporters: "I vote so that I can gain freedom."

A young black man said, "I voted because that is what we have been fighting for."

In Bulawayo, Rhodesia's second largest city, blacks chanted and danced outside the voting booths. Voting was expected to be heavier over the five days of elections there than in rural areas where guerrillas have been active.

The guerrillas of the Patriotic Front, led by Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe, vowed to wreck the election and were busy on the eve of elections. They set fire to a fuel depot in the southern garrison town of Fort Victoria with rockets, attacked five voting stations and did minor damage to one, and did minor damage to a bus depot in Salisbury with mortar fire.

A commando squad on Monday night attacked a house used by the black guerrillas in Lusaka, in neighboring Zambia. There were unconfirmed reports the attackers were from the Rhodesian army, and there were no immediate reports of casualties.

But with 2.8 million blacks and 100,000 whites estimated eligible to vote, Prime Minister Ian Smith and his three black co-leaders of the biracial government were hoping for a big turnout that could start a tide of international recognition.

Since Smith declared independence from Britain in 1965 to prevent black rule, Rhodesia has been an international outcast. Only neighboring white-ruled South Africa maintains diplomatic relations with it, and it is the target of economic and military sanctions.

Smith reversed himself last March, formed a transitional government with moderate black politicians Abel Muzorewa, Ndabaningi Sithole and Jeremiah Chirau, and agreed with them on a new constitution providing for a black majority in Parliament and the country's first black prime minister.

Nkomo and Mugabe have vowed to sabotage the elections and step up their guerrilla war because while the blacks will have the majority, the whites will dominate the future government.

The whites, who make up just 4 percent of the population, will have 28 of the 100 seats in the new House of Assembly, enough to veto any change in the constitution. Constitutional provisions will also keep the armed forces, the civil service, the judiciary and the police under white control for at least the next five years.

Black supporters of the constitution say they agreed to the guarantees to the whites to retain the whites' expertise for black Zimbabwe Rhodesia, as the country is to be renamed, to get the whites to agree to majority rule and, hopefully, to get international recognition.

The voter was given a ballot with five black parties listed and special symbols to guide illiterates. The voter marked his or her choice with an "x" in a private booth, then folded the ballot and deposited it in a ballot box.

About 50 foreign observers invited by the government were allowed to watch the voting, watch the ballot boxes being sealed and could even place their own seals on them.

Planning group OKs center's plat

Some stipulations put on commission's approval

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

Another segment in the continuing "live" drama involving a developer and some residents unraveled Monday before the Planning and Zoning Commission.

And the final revelation toward the end became a recommendation to approve the preliminary plat and send it to City Council.

Final decision by the six-member commission came only after a lot of discussion and with some stipulations made.

Tacked on to the preliminary plat is the stipulation that Magnatex widen Apollo Drive to include a 60-foot right of way and a corner setback.

MAGNATEX'S PLAN is in the form of Midkiff Plaza Addition — a shopping center and buffer zone of townhouses on 57 acres in the southeast corner of FM 868 and North Midkiff Road. This would be directly across the road from the planned Midland Park Mall.

When the plan first appeared before the commission, Magnatex had not included a buffer zone of townhouses, instead, an alley would have separated the shopping center from a residential area which will border the development on the south and east sides.

After residents in the area registered their complaints about the plan and requested a buffer zone, the townhouse project appeared on the next preliminary plat.

BUT THAT still did not appease some residents, who protested at a March 19 meeting that the buffer zone needed to be widened more. And city staff questions about drainage in the area had not been answered fully at the time.

At Monday's meeting, Magnatex's attorney Harrell Feldt addressed revisions on the drainage plan, saying, "this drainage plan will improve the situation out there now."

Plans call for installation of an underground 27-inch pipe around Apollo Drive and a "retainage basin."

The basin would be located on the southeast corner of the development, an area designated as a trouble spot in a drainage report prepared for the city.

Rainwater from the shopping center will be collected in the basin and be allowed to drain through the pipe after the initial collection of water had been shunted to other major drainage channels in the city, according to plans.

One woman opposed the retention basin, claiming the "pet pond" would be a source of problems because of the possibility of children playing around it.

AFTER GETTING drainage and size of buffer zone settled, the discussion centered on the planned width of Apollo Drive and landscaping next to the street.

Feldt described Apollo Drive, which separates townhouses from the shopping area, as being 50 feet wide and the buffer zone 140 feet side.

"We (Magnatex) continue to argue this plat is consistent with the best possible planning," Feldt told the commission, adding that that particular preliminary plat would be the only one supported before the City Council.

The attorney said the developer had "negotiated and compromised" to give up some of the commercially zoned property and decided on the 190 feet of buffer zone.

Richard Hennessy, director of planning and community development for the city, said the public works department was recommending the street

Gov. Clements halts efforts to increase mortgage rates

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements shut off legislative efforts Monday to raise mortgage interest rates by threatening to veto higher charges, but said a special session may be needed on the subject.

The governor's announcement killed hopes of the savings and loan industry to up the state's usury limit this session from 10 percent to 12 percent.

"Too many Texans now cannot afford home loans, not because money is tight but because interest rates already are too high," Clements told a news conference. "If rates are allowed to go even higher, the number of people able to buy homes will drop accordingly."

If housing starts decline drastically, Clements said he will consider calling a special legislative session on the issue.

After three months of considering both sides, the governor apparently rejected arguments by Sen. Bill Meier, a sponsor of 12 percent interest rate legislation.

"I told him I was disappointed, that I thought he made the wrong decision," said Meier, D-Euless, who talked with Clements before the governor's news conference.

City, county divide Loop funds

Division of $3.5 million allocated by the State Highway Department to purchase rights of way for the North Loop and North Route was decided today in a special joint session of Midland City Council and Midland County Commissioners Court members.

Officials representing the city of Odessa and Ector County met Monday with Midland representatives and agreed on their share, according to Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr.

Midland governing bodies will take 85.44 percent of the $3.5 million. The city will receive 44.38 percent with the county getting 41.06 percent.

Odessa's share will be 10.23 percent with Ector County receiving 4.3 percent, according to figures released in the special session.

The announcement came on the second day of joint executive sessions and more than an hour after the meeting began today.

Exact amount of each agency's share will not be known until after the state has used a portion to relocate people, items or businesses which will be in the path of the projects.

Council Member Tom Sloan said the state is wanting to reserve $260,000 for relocation, but "we think $150,000 is all that will be necessary."

In voting to accept the division of monies, Commissioner Durward Wright added the stipulation that any money not used by one governmental entity will be split by the remaining three.

The formula determining which agency got what was based on the amount of property to be acquired by each agency, amount of property already acquired, property donated and property dedicated through donation.

The city of Midland already has acquired $1.3 million of its total, Angelo said.

According to an estimate prepared by Adam Klein, fee appraiser for the city, Midland has $2,258,000 of additional property to acquire.

Midland already has obtained $403,000 through purchase, $230,300 through donation and $658,250 through property dedication (platting).

The county must acquire a total of $2,588,350. None has been obtained through purchase or donation. The agency does have $114,800 obtained through platting.

Adding in utilties, fencing and appraisal fees, the city now has a total amount of $4,025,150 toward the projects, while the county only has $2,972,550.

Although the city's share of $3.5 million will ease the squeeze on acquiring rights of way for the North Loop, the city still will have to come up with some additional money, officials noted.

But, said Angelo today, "We can see the light at the end of the tunnel now."

Vandals hit during Easter holiday

By MIKE SLATON
Staff Writer

Bricks, clubs and guns apparently were used by vandals over the Easter holiday to damage about 27 cars, trucks and mobile homes, causing thousands of dollars in damage, according to police reports.

No injuries were reported in the wave of destruction in which damage to vehicle windshields has been estimated by several Midland windshield repair shops to be between $4,000 and $8,000.

Area struck by the vandals primarily was in a section west of North A Street, with the majority of damage located in an area defined by Wadley Avenue on the north, Garfield Street on the east, Golf Course Road on the south and Midland Drive on the west.

Fourteen incidents of vandalism occurred within those borders.

Guns were involved in four of the 27 incidents, three taking place sometime Saturday night or Sunday morning and the other either Friday night or Saturday morning, according to a police spokesman.

Robert M. Cunningham reported about 8:23 a.m. Saturday that the windshield of his car parked in the 2000 block of Winfield Road had been shot out and what looked like a bullet hole was found in the right front fender, police said.

About 3:30 a.m. Sunday, police received a call that someone was shooting a gun in the 3000 block of Dengar Avenue.

When police arrived at the scene, they were told by a witness that a man had backed a pickup into the driveway of the home of Texas Rangers Captain J.P. Lynch.

The man stepped out and fired nine shots in a westward direction with a .22-caliber pistol, the witness said.

The man who fired the shots joined another man waiting in the pickup and drove away, the witness said.

A few houses down the street a mobile home owned by Clayton Williams was found with nine small bullet holes in it, according to police.

Officers said Williams estimated the damage at $20,000.

Howard Shaw of the 2000 block of Sinclair Avenue reported about 10:29 a.m. Sunday that eight holes had been shot in the driver's side door of his car, parked about 1½ miles from where the Dengar Avenue shots were fired and about five blocks from where Cunningham's car was fired upon.

Police said the holes may have been made by a .38-caliber or .380-caliber automatic weapon.

A .22-caliber weapon may have been the instrument used to fire two shots through three windows and a wall of Ray McCarthy's home in the 2600 block of Northrup Drive, police said.

McCarthy and his wife, who were asleep in the house at the time of the shooting, were not injured.

The McCarthy home is about half a mile south of the Williams mobile home.

A pickup may have been driven over the curb to vandalize the front yard of J.C. Roberts in the 3000 block of West Ohio Avenue, according to Mrs. Roberts.

Tracks from big tires like those used on pickups were made in the yard about 1:30 a.m., Mrs. Roberts said.

Other Midlanders reported over the weekend that windows of their cars and trucks had been broken with bricks or what they said appeared to be a club or mallet.

Detective Captain Billy Ray said the Midland Police Department has no way of determining whether the crimes are related. But he added that when vandalism occurs in such a defined area, there is a good chance the incidents are connected.

Two injured when car hits city business

Two people were treated and released at Midland Memorial Hospital Monday night after the vehicle they were in collided with two other vehicles before crashing through the brick wall of a Midland print shop.

Robert Hindman, 30, of 4406 Princeton Ave. and Emory Ramey, 15, no address given, were treated and released for minor injuries sustained in the accident, a hospital spokesman said.

Police identified Hindman as the driver of a 1978 Pontiac which they said was eastbound on West Illinois Avenue about 9 p.m. when it struck a car parked in the 2700 block of West Illinois Avenue. The struck car is owned by Ron Waller of 2705 A W. Illinois Ave., police said.

Officers said the Hindman vehicle continued on and subsequently was in collision with a car being driven by Andrew Welch, 18, before jumping the curb, crossing the Andrews Highway and crashing through a window and brick wall at The Fast Print Shop, 2209 W. Illinois Ave.

According to police, Hindman, who was cited by police for failure to control the speed of his vehicle, may have suffered a seizure while piloting the automobile.

Hindman's vehicle was reported to be a total loss as a result of the incident, police said.

Witnesses told police the Hindman vehicle cut across the parking lot at Walgreen Super Center, narrowly missing a metal sign and telephone pole after colliding with the Welch vehicle.

Hindman's car continued across the parking lot and narrowly missed a second utility pole and traffic signal support before crossing the street and entering the print shop, reports indicated.

"Sparks flew all the way across the street," said Beverly Johnson of 1502 Harvard Ave.

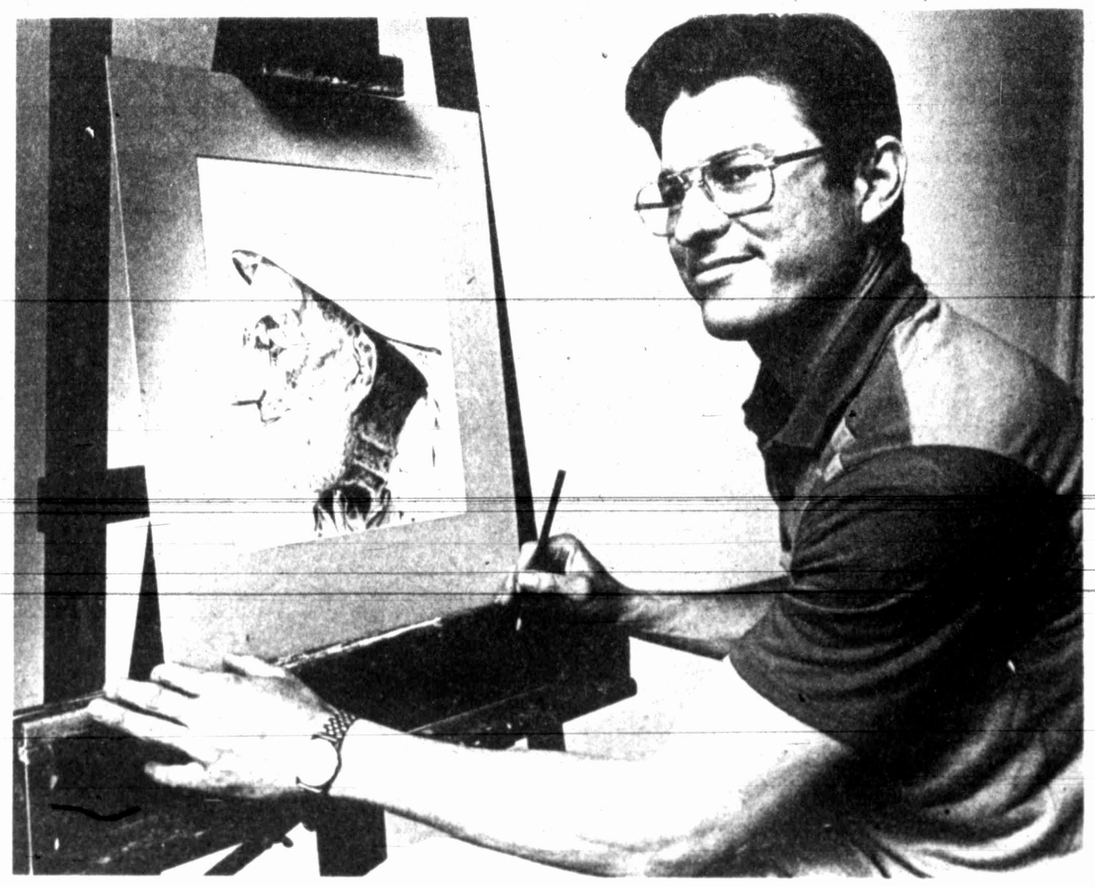

She was southbound waiting for the signal to change at the corner of West Illinois Avenue and the Andrews Highway when the accident occurred.

Morgan Bowman, owner of the the print shop, said chances were slim for an accident of that type.

"This building has been here for 30 years - Think of all the cars passing through the intersection in that time," he said.

While the brick wall and glass were shattered from impact, the interior of the building received surprisingly little damage. Shelves and paper were strewn about the interior following the collision, witnesses said.

Witnesses noted the impact of the accident could be heard inside Midland Memorial Hospital. One person said the sound and effect of the car hitting the print shop was more like an explosion than that of a car wreck.

Fed chairman says U.S. economy slowing, inflation will still be felt

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. William Miller, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, says the economy is already slowing down nicely, although inflation will continue to plague consumers for several more months at least.

"We'll have bad news on prices pretty much for the whole first half of the year," Miller said in an interview Monday. Consumer prices increased 1.2 percent in February.

Miller said he believes the Federal Reserve is already following the correct policies to restrain the economy and inflation and that further tightening of the economy would risk a serious recession.

"We're in the range of properness," he said.

Miller said it takes from six to 18 months for policies to work and that policies now in place probably won't show up in a lower inflation rate until the second half of the year.

The Fed chairman indicated he has no intention of yielding to pressures from some members of the Carter administration to push interest rates higher to slow the economy and help fight inflation.

He said inflation itself is helping slow the economy — especially higher prices for food, energy and housing, over which the government has little control.

"This increase in the cost of necessities is already depleting the capacity of the consumer to buy other items and is already putting downward pressure on the demand for other goods and services," Miller said.

Some of those urging higher interest rates now are the same "lower-echelon people" who worried a year ago that higher interest rates would wreck the economy, said Miller. "They sure change their opinions fast," he added. "I'm not going to worry about them."

Miller said inflation will be "definitely over 8 percent" this year, slightly worse than previous forecasts by both the Federal Reserve Board and the administration.

Carter anti-inflation adviser Alfred Kahn has been blaming the recent worsening of inflation on a so-called overheated economy, meaning the economy is growing so rapidly it is putting upward pressure on wages and prices.

Planning group approves Magnatex shopping center

right of way be 60 feet wide.

MAGNATEX HAD called for the street right of way be 50 feet with 41 feet paved and the other nine feet to be right of way on the south side of the street.

The 41-foot width is the minimum required for a residential street, Hennessy said. Standard right of way for streets in Midland is 60 feet, with the street to be constructed in the middle of that space.

Commission Chairman Robert Truitt Jr. commented the street "will have a good deal of traffic coming out of the shopping center to get onto Midkiff. I think it will be a heavily traveled street."

After being advised Apollo Drive later will tie in with the North Loop's frontage road, another commissioner agreed the road will be carrying more than the average amount of residential traffic.

AFTER A MOTION to recommend approval of the plat failed, the commissioners passed another motion with the 60-foot street condition tied to it. Opposing that motion was member George Veloz.

Where the extra 10 feet is coming from — out of the shopping area or the townhouse area — was not designated Monday.

Magnatex's request for a zone change and approval of the preliminary plat will come before the City Council on April 24.

In other action, the commission approved a final plat for South Park Addition and preliminary plats on Imperial Heights and Nickel Center.

A request by Midland Community Theatre for a special permit to sell beer and wine within the building was given a recommendation for approval.

Boat, complete with fish, stolen

SAN ANGELO — Good luck on the lake turned to bad luck on the lot for a Midland fisherman Sunday.

Bill Brittain reported his $4,500 fiberglass boat, its 70 hp Mercury motor and trailer were stolen while he had dinner in a San Angelo steak house.

In the boat were a pair of water skis, a depth finder, several fishing rods, five life vests and 30 pounds of fish accumulated at Twin Buttes Lake.

The rig had been parked on the street near the restaurant and was stolen about 6:15 p.m. Sunday, Brittain told police.

Motion to disqualify judge added by Fife's attorneys

ODESSA — A motion to disqualify 244th District Court Judge Joe Connally from hearing the murder case in Fort Worth against Odessan Stephen Patrick Fife will be heard here at 9 a.m. Thursday in Connally's court.

Fife, 22, is charged with the murder by strangulation of his girl friend Catherine Ann "Fifi" Murphy, 19, last summer.

The motion to disqualify Connally stems from a conversation in which Will Hadden, attorney spokesman for the Murphy family, said the family would prefer that trial be held in Odessa. Connally allegedly asked Hadden if the Murphys had a preference for the trial.

Miss Murphy was the daughter of an Odessa real estate insurance executive.

The new motion brings to four the number to be considered Thursday. The first three motions call for psychiatric examinations of Fife prior to further proceedings in the case, the release of state evidence against Fife to his attorneys, and the release of Fife to his attorneys to help in the preparation of the case.

their heads so I can see what goes on inside them."

The awards, established by the late Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the defunct New York World, have been awarded since 1917. This year the rules were changed so that nominating juries submitted their choices in each category alphabetically, not in order of preference.

The Pulitzer Advisory Board, whose role had always been more than advisory, renamed itself the Pulitzer Prize Board and picked the final winners. The awards are administered by Columbia University.

Each winner gets a $1,000 prize except in the public service category, in which the prize is a gold medal.

A new award for feature writing went to Jon D. Franklin, science writer for the Baltimore Evening Sun, for a two-part account of brain surgery.

Photography awards went to Thomas J. Kelly III of the Pottstown, Pa., Mercury in the spot news category for a series of pictures of a hostage situation, and to staff photographers of the Boston Herald American in the feature photography category for their work during their city's worst snowstorm in February 1978.

In the arts category, the non-fiction award went to Edward O. Wilson, Harvard entomologist, for "On Human Nature," and the biography prize was won by Leonard Baker for his "Days of Sorrow and Pain: Leo Baeck and the Berlin Jews."

The history award went to Don E. Fehrenbacher, Stanford University professor, for "The Dred Scott Case."

Joseph Schwantner, associate professor of composition at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, won the music award for "Aftertones of Infinity," first performed in New York last January.

Other journalism awards went to Edwin M. Yoder Jr., for his editorials in the Washington Star; to Russell Baker in the commentary category for his humorous columns in The New York Times, and to Paul Gapp of the Chicago Tribune in the field of criticism for his writings on architecture.

A two-time winner was James Risser, Washington bureau chief of the Des Moines Register, whose seven-part series on pollution by farmers took the national reporting prize. He got the same award only three years ago for a series on grain inspection.

The general local reporting prize went to the San Diego Evening Tribune for its coverage of the nation's worst air disaster, the Sept. 25 midair collision that occurred only 28 minutes before the paper's first edition deadline.

Regent to speak at lunch meeting

ODESSA — James L. Powell, a Fort McKavett rancher recently appointed to The University of Texas System's board of regents, will be the luncheon speaker Wednesday at a meeting of the University Lands-Surface Interests in the Holiday Inn's Holidome here.

The meeting is to be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Discussion will focus on a new type of grazing method called Short Duration Grazing, newly-initiated UT flexible grazing lease and other programs.

Others on the program with Powell will include James T. Fitzpatrick, vice chancellor for University Lands management; Neville Clark, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations; Budd Fountain, deputy state conservationist, and Kenneth Kuykendall, president of the Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservations District and a member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation district.

HOUSTON (AP)— An all-woman jury began deliberations in the punishment phase of the Alice McKnight child abuse case today after finding the 27-year-old Houston mother guilty of injury to a child.

Only 20 percent chance left for thundershowers in Basin

The weatherman is holding on to the possibility of rain, but not very firmly.

Partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of thundershowers through Wednesday is the official forecast from the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport.

Warmer temperatures are a surer bet, with Wednesday's high expected to be in the lower 80s. Overnight low should be in the upper 50s.

Monday's chance of showers didn't come through, although the cloud cover cooled the recorded high to a fairly mild 79 degrees. Overnight low was 54. Record temperatures for the date are 96 degrees set in 1937 and 27 set in 1947.

Unless today's longshot showers arrive in time, the monthly rainfall accumulation will remain at .01 inch and the annual total at 1.24 inches.

Area town residents were enjoying the same mild morning Midlanders had, with most reporting clear skies and cool temperatures.

Andrews dispatcher 'good ol' gal'

ANDREWS — Dolores Thompson is a good ol' gal.

Anybody who knows her knows that, and that takes in quite a few folks — the good, the bad and the in-betweens. She sees 'em all. And they like her.

Miss Thompson is chief dispatcher for the Andrews County Sheriff's Department and has been talking into the two-way radio and across the counter for 22 years.

"That's a long time to sit," she said as she sat.

To know her is to know a character.

"He don't know a thing about me," Miss Thompson said, after Roustin' About had taken a seat in her cubicle to chat and snap a few pictures.

She was talking to Roger Andrews, chief deputy sheriff, who was standing by and adding some color to her already-colorful character.

"You ought to get a picture of her smoking her corn-cob pipe," suggested Andrews, who was playing the court jester's role for just a moment.

"Yeah," okayed the good ol' gal, "and chewing tobacco and drinking whiskey."

The photographs were taken without the frills.

In the years since 1957 in which Miss Thompson has been seated here, she has worked for three sheriffs: Ray Phillips, Paul Cumbie and J.A. "Bud" Gregory.

"I've been under Bud however long he's been here," she said.

That's been about 16 years.

"See, I'm pure-dee West Texan," she said. "I was born in Podunk — O'Donnell — and grew up there."

She went to grade school with with Dan Blocker, the Hoss Cartwright of television's old Western series, "Bonanza;" was graduated from high school in 1945, and moved out of O'Donnell in 1953.

"In fact, everybody has left O'Donnell."

Miss Thompson packed her belongings and left "Podunk" and cotton country in 1953, when Andrews got a mighty big taste of the oil boom. The town's still feasting on the black gold.

She came to town to work as a night operator for Carl Betenbough's Andrews Telephone Co. and drove the school bus in her moonlighting stint.

When the telephone company starting cutting back on operators and was really getting automated, she moved over to the sheriff's office.

She hasn't budged since.

A fellow — wearing a tall and wide-brimmed Western straw hat, the usual boots and the rest of a West Texas lawman's garb — walked into the dispatcher's office.

"He's the jailer," Miss Thompson said of Rusty Bartley, "and I'll tell you what else he does as soon as he leaves."

"I don't do nothing if I can get away with it," the jailer said.

He left, but she didn't tell.

When he returned, Miss Thompson shot off another friendly barb.

"He's the kid spanker here, and he thinks he runs everything."

Deputy Fay Earl, who was typing away, noted that Miss Thompson "is a 42 player and a fisherwoman," but she "snitched" no more on her friend.

ROUSTIN' ABOUT with Ed Todd

Deputy Buddy Seale seemed to have a lot to say about her.

"Come on," he said, "and I'll tell you some secrets about her."

He didn't.

The sheriff might have had something to say, but he was out of town.

Dorothy Cummins, one of five dispatchers working under Miss Thompson, later on had something to say over the telephone.

"Oh, yeah. She's grand. She's great," she said of Miss Thompson.

She was genuinely generous in her praise of a person who is generous of heart.

"She's broad-minded. She has a great sense of humor, and she understands everybody's problems," Mrs. Cummins said as if eulogizing the living.

"She doesn't get short (of temper). She's great."

What can you say?

"I'll tell you one thing," Miss Thompson said at another time. "The people of Andrews have been exceptionally nice to me. They're not high-society people."

Mostly, they're just folks, like Dolores Thompson.

Flooding makes more refugees

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Record floodwaters poured over sections of the Pearl River levee today, turning more parking lots, front lawns and open fields into lakes and more Jackson residents into refugees.

"All my life I've heard about refugees, but I never believed I'd be one," said Robert C. Travis, a Jackson attorney forced to flee his northeast Jackson home.

President Carter designated the state a disaster area Monday, making 25 Mississippi counties and thousands of flood victims eligible for federal assistance.

Jackson city officials estimate 17,200 persons have been evacuated from their homes since Friday.

The National Weather Service said the Pearl River's record rise slowed today, standing at just over 43 feet — 25 feet above flood stage. Officials said they expected a crest of 43.1 feet later in the day. But they said the water, which was roof deep on the city's northeast side, probably would not subside for several days.

At least four deaths were attributed to the flooding, authorities said.

In Alabama, record floodwaters raced down the state's two major rivers — the Tombigbee and the Alabama — after 12 inches of rain drenched parts of the state over the weekend and left at least six persons dead.

State prisoners worked alongside volunteers Monday to sandbag threatened levees, as police cars, with sirens screaming, escorted loaded dump trucks through city streets, heading for the river.

"We have survived these trying days and we will continue to survive the trying days ahead," Mayor Dale Danks said.

Danks said reports that the Ross Barnett Reservoir north of town had broken were not true.

"The dam at the reservoir is not breaking. I repeat — not breaking, and it is not being dynamited," Danks said.

Danks ordered the downtown area sealed off as backed-up Town Creek, which normally is channeled underground, fanned out across parts of the city's commercial center. Crews worked to sandbag the telephone company's downtown headquarters, banks and other businesses.

Midlanders answering need

Midlanders are responding from their hearts to calls for help from tornado-stricken Wichita Falls.

Right now, according to Salvation Army captain Bob Vincent, the need is for money.

"Until they get trailers or something in there, there would be no place for the people to put anything we could give them," Vincent said. "The place was entirely devastated."

The Midland Salvation Army disaster canteen has been in Wichita Falls since just after the tornado struck Tuesday afternoon, giving "food and changes of clothes" to the storm's victims.

By Saturday, the Midland canteen had served 6,125 meals, Vincent said, noting the five Salvation Army canteens in the area had served a total of some 28,000 meals.

Workers from Midland are being rotated into the stricken city in three- or four-day shifts, he said.

By the end of the week or early next week, Vincent said, appeals for specific types of clothing or furniture may go out.

So far, Midlanders have donated about $3,000 to the Salvation Army effort.

Some, of course, have given more than others. One 5-year-old girl came with her father to give a donation. She offered a nickel and insisted Vincent take her baby doll for some little girl whose home was gone.

"She gave what she could, and that's what matters," Vincent said.

Those who wish to donate to the Salvation Army efforts in Wichita Falls may send a check or money order to P.O. Box 594 or take a donation by the Salvation Army office at 300 S. Baird St., Vincent said.

Settlement cited

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for Cullen Davis say the millionaire's estranged wife, Priscilla, and her attorneys have an "insatiable greed" in asking $50 million in a divorce settlement.

Davis says his wife should get no more than $400,000, her personal possessions and her Lincoln Continental Mark IV automobile.

District Judge Clyde Ashworth, who heard four hours of final arguments Monday, said he now expects to have a final decision in the 5-year-old case by Friday — several days earlier than his previous estimate.

Davis and his wife sat five feet apart on a front bench inside the courtroom railing, they did not look at each another — a pattern they have followed since the trial began Feb. 20.

Jerry Loftin, an attorney for Mrs. Davis, said Davis "is worth probably anywhere from $300 million up," and "in my opinion, the value she is entitled to is $50 million."

Disaster relief plea

The fatalities, injuries and the widespread destruction left in the wake of the horrible tornado which hit Wichita Falls, Vernon and Lawton Okla., early last week are beyond word description. Pictures we have seen show the havoc left by the tornado.

In Wichita Falls alone, more than 2,500 dwellings were destroyed or damaged, along with 84 mobile homes and 1,254 apartments or condominiums. The number of familes suffering damage total 6,711. In Texas, the death toll has reached 54. There were 1,570 injuries. And yet there are those of us who complain bitterly at times about high winds and blowing sand.

The hearts of people everywhere go out to those people of Wichita Falls, Vernon and Lawton who have lost loved ones or who have suffered injury or property damage as a result of the tornado.

Most everyone would like to help in some way, and many already have. But there are others who don't know the best way of providing assistance.

The Midland County Chapter of the American Red Cross has said that the "most critical need" right now is for financial assistance. And certainly all the funds people can and will contribute are urgently needed and will be much appreciated by the tornado victims.

James R. Tom, disaster chairman for the Midland Red Cross unit, said all persons wishing to contribute toward relief efforts in the disaster area may make donations to their denomination disaster relief fund or directly to the American Red Cross. The contributions should be marked for disaster relief.

The Midland Red Cross chapter will forward all contributions to the disaster relief headquarters at Wichita Falls. Donations may be mailed to the Midland Red Cross, P.O. Box 1706 (79702), or delivered to the chapter office at 2306 Elizabeth St.

This is one effective means by which we can help, and many Midland and area residents undoubtedly will rally to the cause.

The Midland Salvation Army has a disaster unit serving in the area, as does the Red Cross, chapter. Other groups and individuals have helped in various ways, in typical American fashion.

Jerome P. Holland, national chairman of the American Red Cross, toured the disaster area Sunday and Monday, and will report his findings to President Carter.

U.S. Sen. John Tower of Wichita Falls and Gov. William P. Clements previously had toured the Vernon-Wichita Falls area, calling for federal and state disaster assistance.

Aid for the tornado victims cannot be oversubscribed.

Howdy, Cubs!

The Midland Cubs of Texas League baseball fame had a bit of trouble weatherwise in opening their 1979 season, but once play was under way, they got off to a good start.

And from all accounts, fans are well pleased with their '79 Cubs, who have given a good account of their playing talents and enthusiasm on the diamond while engaging the El Paso Diablos, last year's Texas League champs.

It is hoped that this will be the best season ever for General Manager Bill Rigney Jr., Manager Randy Hundley and the Cubs.

The Midland Cubs arrived in Midland the middle of last week from their Arizona training camp and they have been well received in the Tall City.

All Midlanders join in beaming a warm, cordial, typically West Texas WELCOME to the 1979 Cubs, a number of whom are in Midland for the first time. It is great to have them and it is hoped that the players will enjoy their residence in the Tall City, of which they wery definitely are a part, serving as good will ambassadors for Midland over the five states included in the Texas League.

The only other ingredient needed right now to pave the path toward a successful season is community support. And the best way for citizens to display their interest in and support of their Cubs is to attend as many of the home games as possible.

To the Cubs — the best of luck all the way. To Midlanders — see you out at Cubs Stadium.

WASHINGTON JOURNAL:

Sen. Edward Kennedy, the 'Me Decade' candidate

By GRACE-MARIE ARNETT
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — Although Sen. Edward Kennedy insists he has no plans to run for president in 1980, his stance on many major issues could position him as the classic "Me Decade" candidate when and if he changes his mind.

The Massachusetts Democrat is seen by many as the champion of liberal causes in the Senate — a reputation Kennedy cultivates.

But some of his recent positions are tempering that liberalism in a way that may line him up with mainstream America that is saying concern for the individual should take priority over more general social causes.

It is a "Me Decade" political philosophy that crosses liberal and conservative lines and allows the same voter to support an expensive government health insurance plan at the same time he or she advocates huge tax cuts — because both programs would have a direct impact on the individual.

Whether by chance or by plan, Kennedy is in tune with this "Me Decade." He is the nation's leading advocate of a national health insurance program, a venture he says will cost the government $25 billion by 1985.

At the same time, he was a prime proponent of airline deregulation and plans to fight for deregulation of the trucking industry this year. Both deregulation measures, he says, will save government and consumers billions of dollars in reduced red tape and increased competition.

On one hand, Kennedy seems to be toeing a traditional liberal line in creating a massive health care program. But on the other, he seems to be espousing a conservative doctrine: "Get the government out of the marketplace."

Kennedy, and other young Democrats like California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., may represent the new genre of politician who sense public opinion and are able to offer the programs that fit it.

The Kennedy list goes on: the 47-year-old senator supported major changes in the Criminal Justice Act, setting uniform sentencing for crimes in a criminal code bill that passed the Senate last year but died in the House.

First, it addressed an issue many Americans put second only to health care — namely crime protection. Second, it appeased liberals who saw it as a move to impose equal sentencing on the poor, black underprivileged population as well as on more affluent offenders.

Third, it was seen by conservatives as a means of ordering liberal judges to give criminals their due sentences.

"We formed a coalition of liberals and conservatives around an issue that is high on the priority list of most Americans," said Tom Southwick, Kennedy's press secretary.

Even if Kennedy does not run for president in 1980, his programs and politics are lining him up with mainstream America.

"The President will be a candidate and he will be renominated — and I think he'll be re-elected," Kennedy says in a rote response to endless questions about his candidacy.

Beyond that, he refuses to discuss running for higher office, leaving it to friends and staff aides to speculate.

A close associate says Kennedy is wise in not ruling out a presidential candidacy.

"Frankly, he encourages the talk — it's helpful when he has to deal with (Senate Majority Leader Robert C.) Byrd, D-W.Va. or the White House," he says.

"It's just good politics," another associate says.

Kennedy has the luxury of waiting. Name identification is not a problem and neither is a national platform to stay in the limelight, especially since assuming chairmanship this year of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee.

Iowa Democrats dissatisfied with President Carter last month began a draft-Kennedy campaign despite efforts by Kennedy aides to discourage it.

While Kennedy does not blindly support the President, his record shows a high incidence of support for Mr. Carter's programs.

For example, Kennedy is a strong advocate of ratification of upcoming strategic arms limitation treaties. And although Kennedy disagrees with Mr. Carter on the proposed 1980 budget, he says, "We're talking about $4 billion or $5 billion of difference in a budget of $530 billion."

This support for Mr. Carter's programs and re-election may be genuine and it may be genuine politics.

Kennedy does not want to be seen as a party-wrecker, as he would be if he announced he was running against the President in the primaries.

But if Brown does run in the early primaries, as he is expected to do, and seriously erodes Mr. Carter's chances for renomination, Kennedy may respond to a draft from anybody-but-Brown and anybody-but-Carter Democrats.

Whether that scenario repeats itself, Kennedy appears to be in a perfect position to take advantage of it.

And to worry about Chappaquiddick later.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Statue of Liberty's lamp blinks

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Political dissidents who flee their homelands and seek asylum in the United States face a cruel double standard at the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Refugees from communist countries are granted asylum almost automatically; those escaping from right-wing dictatorships are regularly imprisoned and deported.

It's as if a cold war amendment had been crudely tacked onto the high-principled inscription on the Statue of Liberty: "Give me ... your huddled masses, yearning to breathe free — but only those who are good anti-communists."

Liberty's golden door is routinely slammed in the faces of those whose only crime is to have found life unbearable under right-wing regimes that have won the political and financial support of the United States as supposed bulwarks against the Red Menace.

Perhaps nowhere is the inhumanity of this policy more clearly illustrated than in the treatment accorded the 9,000 Haitians who have arrived on our Florida shores without proper credentials in recent years, hoping to find refuge from the corrupt, repressive rule of Jean Claude Duvalier, known more familiarly to his subjects as "Baby Doc." Like Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza, Duvalier inherited the country from his father, he maintains control of Haiti though its brutal police force.

So great is the fear that drives these refugees—and so deadening the poverty in which the Haitian masses live — that they flee with a desperation matched only by their wretched counterparts half a world away in Vietnam. Most of the illegal Haitian immigrants make their way to Florida in flimsy boats by way of Cuba or the Bahamas. How many of their frail craft are lost at sea, nobody knows.

Their welcome to the land of the free is hardly reassuring: They are interviewed briefly by local immigration officers, then tossed in jails at West Palm Beach or Immokolee, Fla., to await transfer to an internment camp at El Paso, Texas.

The flood of Haitian fugitives has become so great in recent years that immigration officials at one point were intercepting teh refugees' boats and flying the Haitians back to avoid having to process and hold deportation hearings for them. The procedure can take years to complete.

The Immigration regulations are clear: No one will be deported if he can convince U.S. officials that he faces persecution in his homeland because of race, religion or politics. The tricky thing is to establish that the immigrant's fears of retribution are reasonable; if it appears that an illegal alien is simply trying to escape economic hardship in his own country, emergency status as a political, racial or religious refugee is denied.

The rub here, of course, is that a Haitian who is deported because he cannot give valid reasons for fearing persecution may well find himself subject to retribution from the Duvalier regime for having made the attempt. With a certain perverse logic, the dictator may figure that a Haitian who claims political asylum is indeed someone to be regarded as an enemy of the state.

So far, the Haitian refugees have had scant success in persuading Immigration officials that they are entitled to political asylum. Of 9,000 who arrived in Florida to date, fewer than 70 have been granted the coveted status of political refugee. The rest are awaiting deportation hearings.

Almost all of the Haitians arrive in this country penniless. The expense of fighting deportation is borne by volunteer groups, and their limited funds can provide only five or six lawyers. When the Immigration Service recently began speeding up the deportation procedure, the lawyers could not keep up, and had to obtain an injunction that temporarily halted many of the hearings.

In stark contrast to the treatment of Haitians fleeing the tender mercies of Baby Doc Duvalier is that of political dissidents from communist-bloc countries. Under a conditional entry program, 17,400 visas are reserved each year for those who manage to escape communist dictatorships.

In the last three months of 1978, for example, 2,220 persons applied for conditional-entry visas; more than 1,800 received them. Most of the applicants were from the Soviet Union, Cuba and Indochina, with a few from the Middle East.

Immigration and State Department officials admit that a double standard exists for political refugees. Anyone from a communist nation who seeks political asylum is assumed to have been persecuted; anyone fron a right-wing regime is suspect, and the burden of proving political persecution is entirely on the refugee.

The political basis of the double immigration standard applies across the board. A refugee's chances depend in large measure on the relations that exist between the United States and the country he escaped from.

The Haitians' misfortune is that Baby Doc's regime is considered pro-United States. This year, we will support the Haitian dictator with $40 million in aid.

Certainly we cannot open our borders, as we once did, to all who want to come. Nor are we arguing that the United States should shirk its responsibilities toward the Indochinese refugees, whose misery we had a part in creating. But it is equally unfair that those with the desperation and courage to flee oppression in their homeland should be punished simply because political expediency dictates that the United States maintain friendly relations with the regime that drove them to escape.

WASHINGTON — In the privacy of the White House, Jimmy Carter put the Three Mile Island power plant accident and the surrounding hysteria into proper perspective with blunt language seldom heard from him by the public — and not likely to be heard in connection with nuclear power.

President Carter met with cabinet officers and other advisers on the morning of April 4 for finishing touches on his energy message, only two days after he had gone to Pennsylvania. He was confident of his facts, and of this conclusion: an airline passenger receives more radiation than the president had in inspecting the plant, but the news media was responsible for whipping up a frenzy. Carter left no doubt he still regards nuclear power as an indispensable energy option.

But the energy speech worked over that morning at the White House contained no such plain talk. It is simply not Carter's style to publicly confront political difficulty, and key political advisers will urge him not to further alienate his party's left wing. Therein may lie much of what is wrong with the Carter presidency.

Actually, Carter always has been ambivalent on nuclear power. On the one hand the former naval atomic specialist has seen the necessity for a strong nuclear arm to the nation's energy program. On the other hand, the party politician seeking to mullify the Democratic left wing has been chary about offending anti-nuclear activists.

But behind the scenes lately, the president has been resolving these contradictions in favor of the nuclear option. While important aides want to avoid clashing with anti-nuclear activists, Carter demonstrated a much different attitude when he joined his senior associates for the April 4 energy meeting.

Unburdened by the indigestible prose of a committee-written speech, the president used the crisp diction of an engineer with the facts in hand. He had been only 1,000 feet from the disabled core of the Three Mile Island reactor Sunday, said Carter, and has received less than one-third the radiation of a passenger on a commercial jetliner flying through the stratosphere.

What about Trade Ambassador Robert Strauss, someone asked, flying across the Atlantic on the high-priced Concorde? Even worse, replied Carter, adding that a casual encounter with X-rays in a doctor's office generates far more radiation than his visit to Pennsylvania.

Why then all the fuss? The president told his advisers he holds media coverage, particularly television, largely responsible for widespread public anxiety. Among adjectives used in referring to this coverage were "exaggerated," "irresponsible" and "outrageous."

Moreover, the president and cabinet members agree that if the anti-nuclear movement capitalizes on this opportunity, the calamitous effects on energy would dwarf the impact of the Iranian revolution. U.S. nuclear power — on line, under construction and planned — amounts to 5 million barrels of oil a day, the entire production of pre-revolutionary Iran.

The president then turned to his energy speech, which contained little on this subject and referred to energy produced by "fission and fusion," a mouthful difficult for Carter or anybody else to pronounce. It was explained that this was a euphemism for "nuclear," which quickly has become politically taboo. Rather than impose a tongue-twister on the president, the dreaded word "nuclear" was substituted.

The energy message was supposed to include much more than the mere word "nuclear." Secretary of Energy James Schlesinger had made progess on two fronts: first, in convincing the nuclear power industry to drop its insistence on fast breeder reactors and go along with the president on light water reactors; second, in whittling away at the president's political inhibitions over nuclear power.

Even after the Pennsylvania accident. Schlesinger insisted that plans to ease licensing of nuclear power plants must go forward. "That was not very smart," commented a presidential aide, suggesting that Schlesinger once more revealed his political naivete. One senior White House aide, apparently unaware of the president's views, told us the problem was not exaggeration by TV but cover-up by the power company.

These murmurs reflect the new lease on life the Pennsylvania accident has given Ralph Nader, Jane Fonda and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in fighting nuclear power. Tim Hagen, the aggressive young Democratic chairman of Cuyahoga County, Ohio (Cleveland), had gone anti-nuclear for the first time. Morley Winograd, the sensible Michigan Democratic chairman, told us he doubts his state party will any longer block anti-nuclear resolutions.

Even nuclear advocates in the administration acknowledge that the president, as a party politician, cannot ignore these political currents and probably should tread cautiously. But those currents might well be reversed if Carter were to speak to the public as he did to his advisers. It might even amend the public perception of his leadership.

Mark Russell says

Pennsylvania Gov. Thornburgh's office is planning a public relations campaign in case of a nuclear mishap. Instead of a disaster, they're going to call it urban renewal.

●

Then, Pennsylvania will be the only state in the Union without slums.

●

Pennsylvania was ready to implement an evacuation plan which had been drawn up by the Shah of Iran.

●

The plan called for the immediate evacuation of all women, children and money.

●

If Harry Truman were alive, this never would have happened. He would have dropped Pennsylvania on Japan.

Egypt ousted

KUWAIT (AP) — The Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries expelled Egypt from its membership today and announced an embargo on oil shipments to Egypt.

Chairman Omar Al Montasser, the Libyan minister of heavy industries, announced the decision at the end of a two-day OAPEC meeting that was attended by the other nine members of the organization.

Egypt walked out of the meeting Monday.

The move conformed with a decision by the Arab League last month to impose a political and economic boycott against Egypt in retaliation for President Anwar Sadat's signing of a peace treaty with Israel.

The decision to impose an oil embargo on Egypt will mean that Egypt will have to seek some oil supplies from outside the Arab world, its main supplier until the ban was imposed.

Oil industry sources said Egypt produced an average of 90,000 barrels of oil daily during 1978, but it had to import oil from Saudi Arabia to meet its local requirements.

Earlier in the week Egypt was expelled from three Arab financial institutions: the Arab Fund for Social and Economic Development, the Arab Bank for Economic Development in Africa and the Arab Mining Co.

Application approved

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The railroad commission Monday approved an application by Esperanza Transmission Co. of Corpus Christi to reassign certain natural gas reserves to Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co., an interstate pipeline system.

The commission determined Esperanza can deliver as much as 600,000 cubic feet a day of surplus gas, and its surplus gas is expected to increase to 1.6 million cubic feet a day by May 1.

The commission order authorizes Esperanza to assigned surplus gas to Tennessee for two years.

****

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The railroad commission Monday suspended for 120 days new natural gas service rates sought by Southwest Gas Distributors, Inc., for its customers in the unincorporated environs of Devers, Liberty County.

Hearings Examiner Lee Everett said Southwest's rural distribution system violates certain safety standards. Also, he said, Southwest has not adequately explained the boundaries of the Devers environs.

Southwest had asked for permission to raise its average residential bill for 6,000 cubic feet of gas from $17.86 to $22.61.

Another hike?

KUWAIT (AP) — Members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries will reconsider oil prices when they meet here in June, Kuwait's oil minister, Sheik Ali Khalifa As Sabah, said today.

OPEC's oil ministers last met in Geneva in late March and agreed to boost the basic price of crude oil by 9 percent on April 1. But individual producers were permitted to add surcharges to the new base price of $14.54 for a 42-gallon barrel of Saudi Arabian light crude oil.

The latest country to announce an oil price boost was Iran, which said over the weekend it is raising prices by 13 percent above the OPEC base level. Iranian officials also suggested another official price increase might be announced at the next OPEC meeting.

Crockett well finals

Anderson Petroleum, Inc., of Ozona No. 1-41-C Laura Hoover Estate is a new well in the Ozona (Canyon gas) pool of Crockett County.

The operator reported a calculated absolute open flow potential of 225,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations from 6,643 to 6,658 feet after 1,500 gallons of acid and 60,000 gallons of fracture solution.

Total depth is 7,225 feet and 4.5-inch pipe is set at 7,212 feet.

Wellsite is 661 feet from north and east lines of secton 41, block MM, T&StL survey and 27 miles southwest of Ozona.

PI report on quarter shows completion hike

DENVER, Colo. — Through the first three months of this year, 11,800 wells drilled for oil and gas were completed in the U.S.

This is 55 more than were completed in the first quarter of 1978, according to Petroleum Information Corp., headquartered in Denver.

Last year's first quarter total included 4,734 oil wells and 2,915 gas wells. The 1979 first quarter total included 4,361 new oil wells — down 8.0 percent for the period — and 3,688 new gas wells, an increase of 25.8 percent from 1978's first quarter.

PI noted that though increases registered in recent years appeared to be flattening, the average depth of all categories of drilling, and industry's success rate were increasing. The average well in the first quarter of this year was drilled to a total depth of 4,873 feet..246 feet deeper than in the same period a year ago. Sixty-eight percent of the 1979 first quarter wells were completed producing oil or gas compared to 65.1 percent in 1978's first quarter.

The slowing in well completions is partially attributable to the first quarter's deeper drilling. Though exploratory wells seeking new fields declined five percent for the period to 1,646 completions, the average depth of those wells increased an average of 435 feet per well.

Total new field wildcat footage drilled in the first three months of 1979 increased 2.2 percent to more than 10.3 million feet. Exploratory wells in and near existing fields were drilled an average of 392 feet deeper than in the first three months of 1978.

Total footage drilled in the first quarter of 1979 was up 5.8 percent to more than 57.5 million feet. This compares with less than 54.4 million feet in the first quarter fo 1978.

Drilling declines in Texas and California largely accounted for the leveling off in the rate of well completions nationwide. Through March, 1979, Texas had 3,862 wells completed...431 fewer than in the first quarter of 1978. Completions in California dropped to 275 from the 648 wells drilled through March, 1978.

The decline in California completions was largely attributed to a slowing in steamflooding projects in the state.

Rig counts in both states, according to Hughes Tool Co. have dropped sharply since the first of this year. For the week of April 2, the Texas rig count was 700 — down 123 from early January, and the California count for the week was 84 — down 20 from the second week in January.

Other states that showed declines in completions from the first quarter of 1978 included: Kansas — down 95; Indiana — down 76; and Illinios — down 51.

The largest increases in drilling during the first quarter of this year occured in Ohio, Louisiana and West Virginia. Drilling in Ohio jumped 153 percent as 746 wells were completed through March, 1979. Louisiana drilling also rose sharply as 1,262 wells were completed in the first quarter of this year, compared to 892 for the same period last year.

Activity in West Virginia continued to increase as 440 completions were reported there compared to 249 in 1978's first quarter. Pennsylvania also had a substantial increase with 325 completions there...96 more than were completed through March last year.

U.S. could get huge portion of Mexico gas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston said Monday that Mexican oil sales could skyrocket to $30 billion annually in the next 10 years and the United States could capture the lion's share of that increase.

On another issue, the California Democrat said he believes the Rancho Seco nuclear power plan near Sacramento should be shut down because it is a near-twin to the crippled Three Mile Island reactor near Harrisburg, Pa.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. previously had asked that the plant be closed for precutionary tests, but the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission ruled that it could continue operations at a reduced level.

"Mexico needs U.S. agricultural machinery, American industrial technology and machine tools for developing its industry. The U.S. needs Mexican oil and gas," Cranston told officials of the two nations at a conference in Los Angeles. "So there is a natural basis for increasing trade."

Cranston said further development of Mexico's oil resources would open "a new era of trade and cultural relations" between the U.S. and its neighbor to the south.

In addition, Cranston, the majority whip in the Senate, urged President Carter and the State Department to place Mexico in a "special relationship based on respect and friendship and plain common sense" in U.S. foreign policy and trade.

"For too long," he added, "we either ignored Mexico or patronized her."

He said increased trade would help alleviate California's problems with illegal immigration.

"It will help to develop employment down there so they won't have to come up here to find jobs," he said.

Cranston declined to speculate on how much of the $30 billion in oil output would come to the United States but said he expected it would be a substantial portion.

"If we get a substantial portion," he said, "it will be a great help."

Between 1977 and 1978, Granston said, U.S. trade with Mexico rose by 34 percent, from $9.5 billion to $12.7 billion.

Decrease requested

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Major purchasers of Texas crude oil have submitted nominations for 2,764,917 barrels a day in May, a decrease of 1,351 daily from April, the railroad commission reported Tuesday.

The commission will meet Thursday to set the statewide oil allowable for May. The April allowable is 100 percent.

Arguments scheduled

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The railroad commission Monday set oral arguments for Thursday on the applications of Lone Star Gas Co. and Amoco Gas Co. to pass on to customers increased natural gas costs in some of the companies' lower-priced contracts.

The two companies contend they should be allowed to pass on gas costs as a result of a settlement between Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and its customers.

Examiner Glenn Johnson recommended the commission deny Lone Star's application to pass through costs to Charter International Oil Co.

Examiner Jeffry Hill, however, recommended Amoco's application be granted to pass on costs to four customers — Air Products and Chemicals, Inc.; Big Three Industries; Champion International Corp. and Gulf Oil Corp.

Hill said there is evidence Amoco is losing $38 million per year in serving the four customers.

Study compares sexual function of homosexual, heterosexual

BOSTON (AP) — There is no difference in the ability of men and women to achieve orgasm, regardless of whether they are homosexual or heterosexual, says a new Masters and Johnson study.

The husband-wife team of William H. Masters and Virginia E. Johnson said their discovery should help erase what they said are the taboos against homosexuality.

The conclusions of their study — conducted from 1968 through 1977 — comparing the sexual function of homosexuals and heterosexuals are contained in their new book, "Homosexuality in Prospective," outlined at a briefing Monday. The work is their first major study since "Human Sexual Inadequacy" was published in 1970.

The couple said they found that the sexual problems of homosexuals — including the desire by some to function as heterosexuals — in many cases can be effectively treated in two weeks of intensive therapy.

They studied 84 homosexual men and women for problems they had in functioning effectively as homosexuals — impotence in the case of the men and inability to reach orgasm in the case of women.

The two-week treatment failed in about 12 percent of the cases, they said. The treatment program is similar to the program they pioneered to solve the sexual problems of heterosexuals.

About 35 percent of the 67 homosexual men and women who wanted to function as heterosexuals failed to achieve a longstanding reversal of their homosexuality during their treatment, the couple said.

The researchers observed the love making of men and women, both homosexual and heterosexual, in their laboratory at the Master & Johnson Institute in St. Louis.

They found that regardless of sexual preference, men and women failed to reach a climax through masturbation, partner manipulation and oral sex less then 1 percent of the time.

When heterosexuals engaged in intercourse, the men failed to reach orgasm just over 3 percent of the time and women slightly less than 3 percent.

"There is no basis in physical fact for the oft-repeated dictum, 'My way is better than your way'," they wrote. "It is reasonable to speculate that, when absorbed, this finding should lead to significant modification in current cultural concepts."

DEAR ABBY

A good provider, but not with sex

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and have a year-old girl. Her father liked to sleep with me but didn't like the responsibility of being a father, so he left.

I swore I'd never get involved with another man like him again.

Now I have a man who is just the opposite. He wants the responsibility of being a father but doesn't like to sleep with me.

He's a businessman who says he's got business on his mind constantly and never thinks about making love.

We've been living together for a year and he's slept with me only twice. He told me he doesn't think we will ever sleep together again. He's loyal, stays home most of the time, doesn't drink, and is a good man. We work together in his store.

Do you think we will make it together? — CONFUSED IN MASS.

DEAR CONFUSED: All that's necessary for two people to "make it together" is for each to need the other. If you can live happily without sleeping with him, and he can live happily with things the way they are, there's no reason why you can't make it.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know the correct way to wear my wedding ring set. Which ring goes on first — the engagement ring or the wedding band? And what is the reason for it? — MRS. W. W.

DEAR MRS. W.: The wedding band goes on first. I don't know the reason for it, but I like to think that the wedding ring is closer to the heart.

DEAR ABBY: When Randy first started to date, he'd say: "The girl has no curfew, and I have to be in before SHE does. It's embarrassing."

Randy is our 16-year-old son, and I'd like to know what the parents of teen-age girls are thinking of.

We're not unreasonable, Abby. We ask Randy to leave the girl's house at 10 p.m. on school nights and 1 a.m. on weekends. If he's going to be held up for any reason, all we ask is a phone call.

This girl he has been seeing a lot of lately has just turned 16. She is under no restrictions on dating. Even when nothing special is planned, she asks Randy to come over and just sit around. Needless to say, we are in a constant state of worry. Our son has had a good upbringing, but even nice kids fall in love and get carried away. I'm afraid they're playing with fire. If Randy came to us and said he wanted to get married before he finished his education, we'd be heartsick.

Abby, please, please tell parents of Appeals court stays hearing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A state appeals court has temporarily stayed a hearing on a woman's refusal to allow her estranged husband to take their infant son away overnight because the visit would interrupt scheduled breast-feeding.

The temporary stay by the state's 2nd District Court of Appeal Monday was hailed by feminist attorney Gloria Allred as "our first victory." Ms. Allred was to have acted as co-counsel at arguments on the case Monday.

Ms. Allred, president of the Women's Equal Rights Legal Defense Fund and past president of the local National Organization for Women chapter, said her organization believes it is "totally improper to have a hearing on this. We feel it is absolutely the mother's right to breast-feed her child."

Pending completion of the divorce proceedings, the mother, Eve Grubisic, has custody of the 6-month-old infant. Although her husband, Barisa, has visitation rights, he hasn't been allowed overnight visits with the child.

Laso week, Superior Court Commissioner Jules D. Barnett ordered the Grubisics to present arguments in the case after Mrs. Grubisic claimed the child required nursing every four hours and that her estranged husband's visitation privileges should remain curtailed because of those feedings.

According to Ms. Allred, Barnett expressed doubt over the need for frequent breast-feeding. She quoted Barnett in transcripts from an initial hearing last Wednesday as saying "if the child is quasi-weaned now, the child can be further weaned."

Drinking risky

Women who drink heavily during pregnancy risk having babies with physical and mental defects, according to the National Foundation-March of Dimes. More than 1 million women of childbearing age are alcoholics.

Gasoline mileage guide distributed

CAR BUYERS NOTE — The expanded, second edition of the 1979 federal gasoline mileage guide has been distributed to car dealers across the nation, the Energy Department reports.

This booklet, prepared by the Environmental Protection Agency, lists autos and tells the number of miles per gallon that can be expected from them. The new edition lists most foreign cars, as well as domestically produced autos.

Auto dealers are required to have the guides on display and to give them to the public without charge. There is a separate version of the guide used in California, which has more stringent air pollution standards.

Single copies of the guide are available by writing Fuel Economy, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Consumers who find a dealer not making the guides available can contact the Office of Enforcement, National Highway Trffic Safety Adinistration, Department of Transportation, 400 Seventh St. SW, Washington, D.C. 20590.

Midland Junior Achievement completes banquet plans

Plans are complete for the annual Future Unlimited Awards Banquet of Junior Achievement of Midland, directors of the association were told at their April meeting held this morning in the J.A. Center.

The function, which is expected to attract several hundred Achievers, their parents, advisers and officers and directors, is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in the Midland Hilton. President Joe Kloesel will preside, and Parker Humes will be master of ceremonies.

Ed Hagan, chairman of the Awards Committee, said numerous awards will be presented to individual Achievers and their miniature companies. Two special scholarship awards will be presented.

Gary Petersen, executive director, said the program is winding down on what has been a "most successful" season. He said nine of 17 companies have qualified for "Company of the Year" competition, which is well above the national average. The number compares with six out of 15 last year. He said the exam scores also are much higher this year than last.

A report on the "Project Business" program was heard, and Gene Abbott reported briefly on the National Business Leadership Conference held earlier this month at New Orleans, La.

It also was announced that the graduation banquet for Achievers enrolled in the Dale Carnegie course will be held at 7 p.m., April 27, at Furr's Cafeteria.

Reports of the nominating and budget committees will be heard at the May meeting.

Communion wine allowed in prison

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Wine is being used for the first time in religious services at the Idaho state prison system, overturning a strict policy against alcoholic beverages behind bars.

The issue came up when prison officials decided to apply the policy to the sacramental wines used in Christian communion services and Passover wine for Jewish inmates.

The ban brought cries of protest from church officials and the general public as the end of the Easter and Passover week drew near.

Four perish in El Paso fire

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A family of four perished early today when fire swept through their one-story brick house on El Paso's west side.

The blaze, which was first reported at 2:15 a.m. MST, caused an estimated $40,000 damage to the house and its contents. The El Paso fire marshal is investigating the cause of the fire.

Lunch date, glasses don't come cheap

NEW YORK (AP) — A $1,000 date isn't exactly cheap, even if it is with one of the country's most expensive models, and $400 is a lot to pay for a pair of specs, even if they were worn by Superman in his milder-mannered guise of Clark Kent.

But the money went for a good cause. It was part of some $100,000 raised Monday night for the New York State Olympic Committee by promoters of an auction of celebrity-owned items at the New York-New York discotheque in mid-Manhattan. About 1,000 persons attended.

Among the items sold, Warren Beatty's sweat suit from the movie "Heaven Can Wait," fetched $600.

More Tut tickets offered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sale of at least 200,000 additional tickets to the King Tut exhibit plus a two-hour extension of evening viewing hours have been announced by officials of the M.H. De Young Memorial Museum.

The additional ticket sales follow allegations of museum mismanagement because San Franciscans will pay higher admission prices and get fewer tickets than Tut fans in other American cities.

The new ticket allotment will be sold at 18 department stores in the San Francisco Bay area and will be for admission to the exhibit between the hours of 10 p.m. and midnight on the three nights it will be open, said museum official Charles D. Long.

The three nights are Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Food programs for elderly listed

Midland's senior citizens have a number of programs which provide well-balanced meals for them.

Meals on Wheels is a partially state-funded program to deliver hot balanced meals to elderly homebound citizens who can't cook for themselves.

Need A Meal, a companion program, is a completely local and self-supporting program for elderly persons who need the meals, but can afford to pay the full cost of the service.

Elizabeth Glenn is director of both programs.

Share-a-meal is an all-volunteer program to provide weekend meals for senior citizens who need them. Volunteers in the program prepare extra food when they cook their weekend meals and deliver the spare portions to the elderly citizens.

The Senior Citizen Center offers a central place for those senior citizens able to come for hot meals and fellowship.

Truck runs over sleepers

PORT ARANSAS, Texas (AP) — Authorities here identified a Fort Worth man as the person killed Sunday when a pickup truck ran over two persons sleeping on a crowded Gulf of Mexico beach.

Officers said the accident occurred Easter Sunday before dawn, but the identity of the man killed, Kary Michael Vinson, 22, of Fort Worth, was not confirmed until Monday.

Vinson's companion, Sally Tamez, 23, of Beeville, remained hospitalized at Corpus Christi where she is being treated for multiple compound fractures.

Daniel Gerard Lucas of Lexington was charged with failing to stop and render aid.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Sterility can result after gonorrhea

Dear Dr. Solomon: A girlfriend of mine has been treated for gonorrhea, and the doctor has told her she is cured. Does that mean that, medically, it's as if she never had the disease?—John

Dear John: Not necessarily. Unfortunately, sterility is a not uncommon after effect of gonorrhea. Dr. Paul J. Weisner, director of the Venereal Disease Division of the National Center for Disease Control, estimates that between 50,000 and 80,000 women become sterile each year as a result of gonorrhea. While some men also lose their fertility because of the disease, it is women who are most often affected.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I've been told I have high blood pressure and that I should lose weight and reduce my intake of salt. How important is weight reduction in the treatment of high blood pressure? Is it as important as salt reduction?—Mr. G.S.

Dear Mr. S.: Blood pressure can be reduced considerably as a result of a significant reduction in weight. A study conducted at Tel Aviv University Medical School in Israel of 107 overweight hypertensive patients revealed that reduced blood pressure is directly associated with reduction in weight even when salt intake is not restricted. This finding held true for both men and women, young and old, and those either moderately or severely overweight.

A reduction in weight is an obvious first step for overweight patients with high blood pressure. It is efficient, low in cost, and completely free of side effects.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Three years ago I had an abortion. I had just been married, our financial circumstances were touch-and-go, and the idea of bringing a child into the world at that time was overwhelming. Today, both my husband and I feel ready to start a family. One thing worries me now. Will the abortion adversely affect a new pregnancy?—Mrs. E.A.

Dear Mrs. A.: There is no evidence that a prior abortion adversely affects a subsequent pregnancy. In a study conducted by researchers from the University of Washington and the Washington State Department of Social and Health Services, a group of 571 women with a history of abortion was matched to a control group of mothers without such a history. A history of abortion did not appear to be related to low birth weight, premature delivery, stillbirth, neonatal death, miscarriage, or congenital malformations in subsequent pregnancies.

Dear Dr. Solomon: What happens when the test shows that the red blood cells contain some sickle hemoglobin? —Mr. C.D.

Dear Mr. C.D.: This first simple test is really known as screening. If the test shows signs of sickle hemoglobin, you would be asked to return for a different kind of blood test that is longer than the first.

Crash kills Texas youth

LITTLE FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A Lake Jackson, Texas, youth and two other persons were killed late Monday night in a single-car accident that state police blamed on "excessive speed."

The victims included Martin T. Indian, 16, of Lake Jackson, Texas.

Troopers at Herkimer said a car driven by Raymond Hart Jr., 17, of Saint Johnsville, Montgomery County, ran off Route 5s in the Herkimer County Town of Danube just west of Lower Paradise Road.

Police said the car struck a ditch, hit a utility pole, flipped over and traveled another 30 feet before it came to a stop around a tree.

The impact of the crash propelled the car's engine 50 feet past the tree, a photographer at the scene said.

BRIDGE

Give your opponents a chance to blunder

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge is a game of mistakes. Don't get between your opponent and his blunder.

Declarer, an old campaigner, took the ace of clubs and ruffed a club before leading a trump.

West took the ace of trumps and had to decide which red suit to lead. He wouldn't have this problem if South hadn't ruffed a club. West would exit with a club and wait for the hand to develop. South would duly lose a heart and two diamonds.

NO EAST EXIT

This easy exit wasn't available when the hand was actually played. Since we're looking at all of the cards we know that West should lead a diamond, but the actual West feared that this partner had the queen but not the ace.

West actually returned a heart, and South easily made his "unmakable" game.

Always give your opponents their full chance to be foolish.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player doubles. You hold: S J 10 9 5 2; H 7 4; D K J 10 3; C A 6. What do you say?

ANSWER: Redouble: the hand is too strong for a jump to four spades. If you redouble and then bid four spades, a stronger sequence, partner may be able to bid and make a slam.

Europe re-examining nuclear plans

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The nuclear accident in Pennsylvania has forced Western European governments to re-examine their nuclear development plans amid growing criticism that the same thing, or worse, could happen here.

Most European officials who have spoken out on the Harrisburg affair have insisted that despite the risk, resource-poor Europe has no alternative but to develop nuclear energy.

But planners at the European Commission in Brussels fear that Harrisburg's legacy to Europe will be a delay of at least one year in the pace of nuclear development as governments tighten safety standards and calm public fears.

Nuclear plants generate only 10.3 percent of the electricity consumed within the nine European Economic Community nations, although plans call for boosting that to 30 percent by 1985.

Non-communist Europe operates some 85 plants, compared with 70 licensed plants in the United States, the world's leading nuclear consumer. Britain leads Western Europe with 33 plants, followed by West Germany with 15. The Soviet Union has 26 nuclear plants.

Robert Elphick of the EEC's energy commission, says the Harrisburg accident — widely reported in Europe — "has not helped the cause of convincing people we can control this technique safely."

After the accident at Harrisburg, local governments in Belgium and Italy called for a halt in plant construction in their areas until they receive assurances of safety.

Voters in the north German state of Schleswig-Holstein may provide a clue to the depth of anti-nuclear sentiment when they cast ballots April 29 in a legislative election that the Social Democrats want to turn into a referendum on a local power plant.

Danish Prime Minister Anker Joergensen said recently that his country had not abandoned plans to build reactors but added, "on the other hand, we are taking a pause, offering ourselves a respite to examine the information we will get on the U.S. accident."

One European country pressing ahead with nuclear development is France, which has the continent's most ambitious nuclear plans. And the Soviet Union and other-Soviet bloc nations have tended to downgrade the Harrisburg incident and press ahead with plans for nuclear power.

But elsewhere, nuclear energy is under attack by environmentalists and lawmakers skeptical of industry assertions that European safety standards are too strict to allow another Harrisburg-type accident.

In Sweden, where the nuclear power issue helped topple the Socialist government in 1976, the present government shelved plans to open two new reactors pending a referendum next year on the future use of nuclear power.

"The Harrisburg accident has raised new and serious questions," Prime Minister Ola Ullsten said when he appointed a commission to study the U.S. accident and evaluate Swedish standards.

Two weekends ago, nearly 10,000 people marched through Stockholm demanding an end to Sweden's nuclear program.

Anti-nuclear groups planning a protest against a government plan to bury nuclear wastes near the town of Gorleben quickly added "We all live in Pennsylvania" to their chants.

Interior Minister Gerhard Baum sent technicians to Harrisburg to study the situation and ordered an investigation of West Germany's 15 plants, despite assurances by the country's leading builder that its plants were superior in design to the Americans'.

Here is a rundown of the nuclear debate in other European nations:

Britain: British officials say the Harrisburg incident is evidence of the superior safety standards of their gas-cooled reactors, which have been in service since the late 1940s with only two minor accidents. But anti-nuclear groups have put forward 50 candidates for the May 3 general election, and 19 of these are expected to make trouble for liberal candidates in marginal seats.

Finland: The Finnish government announced that it saw no need for special safety measures because the possibility of such an accident at one of its two nuclear plants was non-existent.

Italy: Controversy over nuclear safety has held up government plans for an additional 12 plants.

Start getting records ready for '79 tax return

By LOUISE COOK

Now that you've filed your 1978 federal income tax return, it's time to start thinking of next year — particularly if you had to search through stacks of papers to find the records you needed to fill in the forms.

It's important to keep copies of past returns, cancelled checks, receipts, salary statements and other papers for use at tax time. But it's equally important to throw out records which are not essential.

Start with those old returns. According to "Keeping Household Records: What to Discard," distributed by the federal Consumer Information Center, you generally do not have to keep the returns — or the records you used in filling them out — for longer than three years. That's because the Internal Revenue Service has only three years in which to audit federal tax returns.

There are exceptions, however. If you fail to report 25 percent or more of your gross income, the government has five years to act against you. If you file a fradulent return, the government has six years to initiate legal proceedings, and if you file no return at all, there is no time limit.

Once you have checked your salary stubs against your W-2 form, you can throw them out. Cancelled checks that relate directly to your return and medical bills should be kept for three years.

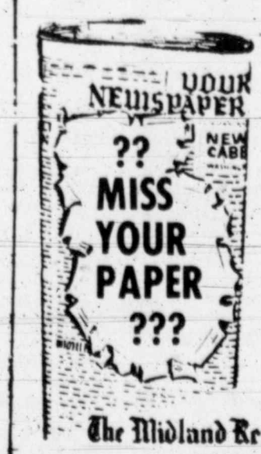

(State laws on tax audits vary. Check with local authorities to find out what you have to keep and for how long.)

Copies of the household records pamphlet are available, at no charge, from Dept. 638G, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009. Action for Independent Maturity, a division of the American Association of Retired Persons, also offers a free guide on what records to keep. It includes forms on which you can list important account numbers, insurance policy information, etc. You can get a copy of "Your Vital Papers and Where to Find Them" from Dept. VP, 1909 K St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20049.

Some records should be kept in a bank safe deposit box. They include: birth and marriage certificates, divorce or separation papers, adoption papers, citizenship records, military service files, government bonds and stock certificates.

You can keep one copy of your will in the safe deposit box, but make sure you have another one readily available to avoid legal delays after death. (The attorney who draws up the will keeps the original.)

Midland Cubs hit road with lock on first place

BY TED BATTLES
Sports Editor

The Midland Cubs departed for their first road trip of the season today a full-game in first place in the Texas League West and the biggest surprise of the first week of play for Manager Randy Hundley was his pitching.

The Cubs got their third straight complete game effort from lefthander Bill Farley, who scattered eight hits for a 9-6 victory at Cubs Stadium Monday as Midland won the series from El Paso four games to two.

"I really didn't expect three complete games," Hundley said. "In fact, that first night I was just hoping Henry Mack could make it through the game because I knew we had six games coming up in four nights and that's when El Paso got that five-run inning."

As it turned out, the pitching just got better as the series progressed and Hundley points out the Cubs could have won the two games it lost, one 7-6 and the route-going 5-3 loss by Jack Ledbetter. "In the three-run inning, the lead off man singled and then was called safe on that steal of second, a play that was very close. The next two batters go out and Jack's out of the inning. Instead, the runner is safe and with two out the single and Harper (Brian) hits the homer."

IN THE early innings, it looked like Earley would be able to keep an early date, if he had one. After two innings, the lefthander was on the short end of a 4-1 count and not only had walked two, but surrendered two doubles and a triple. "I was nervous and trying to get the feel of the mound," Earley recalled later. "I was grooving too many fastballs, but then I began to move the ball around and mix my fastball with a slider and curve". The Cincinnati native who signed as a free agent after graduating from Miami, Ohio, University last spring, did such a good job that he retired 13 of the next 14 batters before Brant Humphry opened the seventh inning with a home run to left. That tied the score at 5, but the Cubs promptly sewed it up against Diablo reliefer Mike Heaton with a four-run seventh. Jesus Alfaro walked, Jim Tracy was hit by a pitch and Eric Grandy beat out a bunt single. Carlos Lezcano then mopped up with a three-run triple into the power alley in right-center. Earlier third baseman Mike Turgeon doubled home a run in the fourth and scored on Bill Hayes' single as the Cubs got Earley back in the game by trimming the Diablos' lead to 4-3. Then in the fifth, Turgeon singled home the go-ahead run to make it 5-4. Although El Paso collected 10 hits, they weren't all that authoritative.

FOR EXAMPLE, Rich Brewster's double in the first which led to a run was a ball that leftfielder Brian Rosinski, playing defensively for the first time this year misjudged and before he realized it the ball was over his head.

Then there was that pop up behind first by Jeff Bertoni in the eighth and Brewster's seventh inning hit didn't get beyond the infield grass. Even if Rich threw that one back, it was still a pretty good night. He wound up five-for-five.

"It's funny how a lefthander can sometimes have trouble getting a lefthander out," Hundley said. "Earley did a good job of retiring righthanded hitters in spring training."

Earley admitted he was a little surprised at going the distance. "I was a starter all last year (10-3 at Geneva) and I didn't know whether I'd start or relieve here. I pitched only six innings at Mesa. But I wasn't tired."

Earley used only 118 pitches, compared to the 106 pitches thrown by Alvin Beal Sunday in his winning seven-inning effort.

The Cubs play a six-game series in Amarillo and then return home next Monday to open a 12-game homestand, starting with the San Antonio Dodgers, who split with the Gold Sox in their first series.

El Paso Manager Moose Stubing saw a lot of Amarillo in spring exhibitions at Holtville, Calif., and Yuma, Ariz., and calls the Sox a veteran club. "They have seven starters back from last year and will have good pitching. They should be a strong club."

Of course, the Sox lost third baseman Barry Evans and outfielder Jim Beswick to San Diego and Midland fans remember the grief Beswick caused the Cubs before he was called up to the majors last year.

CUB QUICKIES— If anything bothers Hundley about the Cubs, it was the 11 double plays they hit into in the first six games. "We work on moving the runners up and avoiding hitting into the double play in batting practice every day," he points out...The Cubs are 4-2 going into Amarillo and a game in first. Last year, after the opening series at San Antonio, Midland was ouch-and-six...Earley and first baseman Jim Tracy were high school rivals in Cincinnati and Miami U. also produced another ex-Midland Cub, lefthander Buddy Schultz, now with the St. Louis Cardinals...Turgeon was 8-for-19 for .421 in the first series while Martin hit .391, Alfaro .444, Rohn .364, Tracy .388 and Lezcano .500 on 8-for-16...Mack gets tonight's starting assignment against the Gold Sox.

Bill Lee, Ken Forsch hurl gems

MONTREAL (AP) — Left-hander Bill Lee of the Montreal Expos may be the subject of off-field controversy, but there's no disputing the way he handles himself on the field.

Making his home debut at Olympic Stadium, the 32-year-old hurler came within two singles of a no-hitter Monday as the Expos blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0.

Lee recently was fined $250 by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for discussing his use of marijuana, but left that issue behind as he won his first game of the season.

"It took him this long to fine me, so I'm going to take my time paying it," said the free-spirited Lee, who made his marijuana revelations known to repoters in spring training. "I'm going to ask a lawyer and, if he has the right to fine me, I'll pay it to the charity of my choice."

Lee was far from charitable, though, to the Cubs Monday. He lost a perfect game with one out in the sixth on Barry Foote's single. The only other safety off Lee was a ninth-inning base hit by Bill Buckner.

In the only other National League game Monday, the Houston Astros defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-0. Rain postponed Philadelphia at Pittsburgh.

The first hit off Lee was a controversial one. Ellis Valentine claimed that he caught Foote's sinking liner, but umpire John Baird ruled that he trapped the ball.

"I caught the ball — there's no doubt about it," Valentine later said.

Montreal Manager Dick Williams said he thought that the ball was caught, but he lost the argument with Baird, an amateur from Montreal who is part of a crew filling in for the striking major league umpires.

The Expos got the only run they needed when Warren Cromartie hit a home run in the first inning off Mike Krukow. Gary Carter's RBI single gave Lee an insurance run, and chased Krukow, who struck out 10 and walked one in 6 1-3 innings.

Astros 4, Dodgers 0

Ken Forsch hurled a five-hitter to lead Houston over Los Angeles. Forsch, who pitched a no-hitter April 7 against Atlanta, did not allow the Dodgers a hit until two were out in the fifth inning, when Dusty Baker and Rick Monday hit consecutive singles.

The Astros scored two runs in the first inning against loser Don Sutton on a walk to Terry Puhl, a triple by Jeff Leonard and a single by Jose Cruz.

"We had to come in here and at least win that first game from the Dodgers — they're always very tough on us here," said the 32-year-old Forsch. "We had so many losses on the road last year. This team right now has a lot of confidence, though; they're screaming and hollering, they want to win."

Toby Harrah finally breaks ice

By The Associated Press

While Fred Lynn continues to crack pitches, Toby Harrah is just happy to break the ice.

"I've been hitting the ball hard all year and coming up with nothing," said the Cleveland Indian third baseman after finally seeing one of his shots turn into something.

Harrah hit a two-run homer Monday to help the Indians take a 4-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

"It was just a matter of time," added Harrah, who incidentally accounted for his team's first homer of the year as well.

The same might have been said of Rick Wise, who won his first game of the year after two losses.

"It's been a long time for that win," noted Wise. "It just feels gratifying."

Lynn, meanwhile, continued his home run assault, hitting his fifth of the young season — all of them off Cleveland pitching.

"I'm not thinking about home runs," Lynn said later, "I'm just trying to hit the ball, trying to iron out a few bugs in my hitting."

In other American League games, the Detroit Tigers beat the Kansas City Royals 10-4; the Chicago White Sox stopped the Toronto Blue Jays 8-4 and the Oakland A's trimmed the Seattle Mariners 4-2.

Harrah's two-run shot keyed a three-run fifth that provided the Indians with their winning margin. Wise surrended six hits before getting relief help from Sid Monge in the seventh.

Tigers 10, Blue Jays 4

Steve Kemp, Aurelio Rodriguez and Alan Trammell drove in two runs each to lead Detroit over Kansas City. Kemp had a two-run single in the second inning and later added a double and a single. Rodriguez singled in a run in the third and knocked in a run in the seventh with a grounder. Trammell singled in two runs in the seventh.

Kemp's 3-for-5 performance improved his batting average to a lustrous .467.

"He's been hitting the ball all over the field — and with power," said Tiger Manager Les Moss, who has been working with Kemp of late on his spray-hitting techniques.

White Sox 8, Blue Jays 4

Alan Bannister, Lamar Johnson and Bill Nahorodny each smacked two-run doubles as Chicago exploded for seven runs in the seventh inning to beat Toronto. Rookie Randy Scarbery picked up the victory in relief in his major league debut.

A's 4, Mariners 2

Rob Picciolo got his first two hits of the season, including a game-winning triple in the fourth inning, as Oakland beat Seattle. Picciolo, the A's shortstop, was 0-for-22 before he singled in the second inning. In the fourth, his triple to right-center scored Mike Edwards from third base, breaking a 1-1 tie, and Picciolo came home on a passed ball by catcher Bob Stinson.

NHL teams shake rusty skates

By The Associated Press

If the Montreal Canadiens, Boston Bruins and New York Islanders were rusty from a week off, they didn't show it for long.

The Canadiens fell two goals behind the Toronto Maple Leafs before rallying for a 5-2 triumph Monday night as the best-of-seven National Hockey League playoff quarter-finals got underway.

The Bruins and Islanders were never behind at all.

"We could hardly wait for the game to start," said Boston Coach Don Cherry after the Bruins roared to a 6-2 rout of the Pittsburgh Penguins. "I had to settle them down on the bench; tell a couple of them to shut up or they'd burn up by the third game."

"After the layoff, we knew we'd be rusty," said Coach Al Al Arbour after his Islanders got three goals from Mike Bossy to beat the Chicago Black Hawks, 6-2. "But we improved as the game went along."

It didn't take long for the Islanders to score: Wayne Merrick tipped a shot past Black Hawks goalie Tony Esposito just 2:29 after the opening faceoff to start the rout.

The Philadelphia Flyers got a goal from Ken Linseman at 44 seconds of overtime to record a comeback 3-2 victory over the New York Rangers in the other quarter-final opener.

Much of the attention, though, was focused on the Montreal Forum, where the Canadiens opened their quest for a fourth consecutive Stanley Cup title. Like the Bruins, the Montreal players couldn't wait to get started.

"It was a week since we'd played," said Canadiens center Jacques Lemaire. "We were nervous. We were all in the dressing room at 4:30 (3½ hours early), but I knew we were going to have a slow start."

He was right. Toronto's Lanny McDonald scored at 9:36 of the first period and Dan Maloney made it 2-0 in the second.

"During the first period, it leaves a coach wondering what he can do," said Montreal mentor Scotty Bowman.

He didn't have to wonder much longer, though. Steve Shutt and Guy Lafleur tied it in the second session, then Lemaire scored twice in the three-goal third period which carried the Canadiens to victory.

"We missed a lot of chances in the first period because we were nervous," said Lafleur, who added three assists. "We were trying to make the perfect play. Sometimes it takes a freak goal ... to put us on the right track."

Lafleur's reference was to Shutt's tally. He seemed to be trying to get out of the way of Larry Robinson's shot but deflected it past Toronto goalie Mike Palmateer.

Bruins 6, Penguins 2

Don Marcotte scored twice, helping Boston build a 4-0 lead en route to its 28th victory — with two ties and just two losses — in 32 games against Pittsburgh.

"We expected them to come right at us and we weren't ready," said Coach Johnny Wilson of the Penguins, who got goals from Orest Kindrachuk and Gregg Sheppard. "They got off to a fast start and it was an uphill battle the rest of the game."

Islanders 6, Black Hawks 2

Chicago faced an uphill battle virtually from the start. The Black Hawks pulled even at 1-1, when Reg Kerr potted the rebound of a J.P. Bordeleau shot at 7:30 of the first period, but spent the rest of the evening trying to catch up.

The major reason for that was Bossy, who combined with linemates Bryan Trottier and John Tonelli for 10 points.

Bossy, who had five games of three or more goals in his 69-goal regular season, also had an assist on a goal by Denis Potvin.

Trottier, the regular season scoring champ, had a goal and two assists while Tonelli, a left wing, set up three goals to help the Islanders hand the Black Hawks their 13th consecutive playoff loss.

Potvin added two assists, raising his career playoff output to 50 points in 50 games.

"I like the assist tonight better than the three goals," said Bossy, who faked neatly past two Chicago defenders before feeding Potvin for a 40-foot shot.

Bossy, who had 53 goals in his rookie season, has 72 in this campaign — just eight shy of the record for total goals in a year set by Philadelphia's Reggie Leach in 1975-76. Not bad for a second-year professional.

Flyers 3, Rangers 2

The Rangers took a 2-0 lead on goals by Don Maloney and Phil Esposito, but Philadelphia forced the overtime with tallies by Bob Kelly and Bill Barber.

Barber's goal came with 4:58 left in regulation, then Linseman made himself a hero with the only shot of overtime.

Hayes starts jail term

DALLAS (AP) — Olympic gold medalist and former Dallas Cowboys wide receiver Bob Hayes has started serving a five-year prison term following his conviction on a charge of selling cocaine to an undercover officer.

Prosecutors said Hayes, 36, could be free in 10 months on good behavior.

Hayes pleaded guilty last month to selling cocaine in March 1978 to an undercover police officer, and elected to have his sentece set by the judge.

State District Judge Richard Mays sentenced Hayes on March 23 to five years each on two counts of selling cocaine, with sentences to run concurrently. He also sentenced Hayes to seven years deferred probation — to be served after he gets out of prison — for selling methaqualone.

Formal sentencing was held here Monday.

Cowboys Coach Tom Landry, Club President Tex Schramm and quarterback Roger Staubach acted as character witnesses in a defense attempt to win robation at the March 23 hearing.

Hayes had been free on $30,000 bond before Monday's formal sentencing, but he was taken into custody to begin serving the sentence.

San Antonio Spurs hope to break playoff pattern

By The Associated Press

The San Antonio Spurs hope to break a playoff pattern tonight when they take on the Philadelphia 76ers in the second game of their Eastern Conference semifinal series.

Last year the Spurs won the National Basketball Association's Central Division, got a bye through the first round of the playoffs and then beat a weary Washington team in their series oener. But the Bullets came back to win the second game and eventually take the best-of-seven series en route to the NBA title.

This year the Spurs again won the Central Division and drew a first-round bye. Again they won the opener of the Eastern Conference semifinals, this time beating a tired Philadelphia club 119-106 on Sunday.

The pattern is familiar, and the Spurs are well aware of it.

"We were kind of cocky last year. We haven't forgotten that," said Spurs guard George Gervin, the NBA scoring champion the last two years. "This year we've got our confidence, but we're not cocky."

THE SPURS are also out to break a string of playoff futility. The Dallas-San Antonio franchise has been in 11 playoff series, but since winning its first set in 1968 it has lost 10 in a row.

In the other East semifinal, the NBA's defending champion Washington Bullets will go for a 2-0 lead tonight when they face the Atlanta Hawks in Landover, Md.

Meanwhile, the two West semifinals get under way tonight in Seattle and Kansas City. The Seattle SuperSonics, who reached the playoff finals a year ago, play host to the Los Angeles Lakers while the Phoenix Suns entertain the Kansas City Kings, surprise winners of the Midwest Division.

Spurs Coach Doug Moe has no intention of letting his team take tonight's game lightly.

"We remember what happened last year," said Moe. "Something like that doesn't pop out of your mind. We came out flat that second game. We have got to keep the same enthusiasm. We'll have to find a way to keep each other charged up."

The Sixers, meanwhile, have to find a way to get themselves charged up after a lackluster performance in the series opener, when they fell behind by 18 points at halftime and by 26 points early in the third period and never really threatened.

COACH BILLY Cunningham is hoping a day of rest will do the trick. His team finished its first-round series Friday night, then had a long flight Saturday and got little rest prior to Sunday's game. The Spurs, meanwhile, had a week off after receiving a first-round bye.

"There's no question the rest helped the Spurs," said Cunningham. We were just a step slow. You'll see a different team on Tuesday."

Atlanta battled Washington on even terms through most of their series opener before the Bullets pulled away with an 18-4 burst at the end. The Hawks managed just one basket and a pair of free throws in the final 5:22, and their shot selection did not please Coach Hubie Brown.

"I was happy with our physical effort, but we played dumb basketball," said Brown. "You can't do that against a team like Washington and expect to win."

But Brown was buoyed by the way his team stood up to the rugged, experienced Bullets.

"The big thing is that we didn't back down because of their physical strength," he said. "They didn't manhandle us. You've got to fight them and deny them the ball as much as possible, and hope the officials don't let the game get out of hand. You fight ... but you don't surrender."

Seattle and Kansas City have both had over a week of rest since the completion of the regular season, while Los Angeles and Phoenix played three tough games in their first-round series. The two Eastern Conference teams that drew first-round byes, Washington and San Antonio, won their series openers with ease.

SEATTLE FINISHED the season as the league's top defensive team, allowing 103.9 points per game. The Suns' starting guards, Dennis Johnson and Gus Williams, are particularly adept at applying defensive pressure.

Los Angeles got by Denver 112-111 in the final game of their first-round series on Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's sky-hook basket with 12 seconds remaining. "It was just great that Kareem made that last shot," said Lakers Coach Jerry West. "He is such a focal point of our game."

Kansas City, buoyed by the addition of rookie playmaker Phil Ford, took a big lead in the Midwest Division early in the year and held off a late charge by Denver to win the title by one game. Injuries to Tom Burleson and Scott Wedman hurt the Kings late in the season, however, and Burleson is still sidelined.

Phoenix was the second highest scoring team in the league with a 115.4 average, trailing only San Antonio with 119.3. Guard Paul Westphal and forwards Walter Davis and Truck Robinson all ranked among the league's top 20 scorers.

Rodgers shatters marathon record

BOSTON (AP) — Favorite son Bill Rodgers wore down Japan's Toshihiko Seko on "Heartbreak Hill" less than six miles from the finish and went on to a record-shattering victory Monday in the 83rd Boston Marathon.

"There's only one thing missing," Rodgers panted afterward, "that's a medal in the Olympics."

Rodgers, a 31-year-old former school teacher, now a sporting goods store operator, whipped through rain and 42-degree cold from suburban Hopkinton to Boston in 2 hours, 9 minutes, 27 seconds, the fastest marathon in American history.

He said the last 10 miles were bitterly painful — because he needed to use a toilet and even considered making a "pit stop," but did not.

While breaking the course record of 2 hours, 9 minutes, 55 seconds he set as a virtual unknown in 1975 and bettering his winning time of 2 hours, 10 minutes and 13 seconds, Rodgers avenged a defeat by Seko in the Fukuoka International Marathon in Japan last December.

The 23-year-old Japanese college student stuck with Rodgers most of the way. The strategy worked, but only for a while. Virtually abreast after 20 miles, Rodgers opened the throttle on the first of three hills. He cleared the second hill about five yards in front and headed for Heartbreak, a famed burying ground for many runners in the 26-mile, 385-yard classic.

Although Seko appeared to be running easily, he was unable to keep up with Rodgers' blistering pace.

"I really poured it on," said Rodgers. "I only run best when I have someone to chase."

Rodgers charged 15 yards in front half-way up Heartbreak and continued to widen the margin. He cleared the hill without difficulty, then sidestepped a spilled police motorcycle and breezed the rest of the way, running at an almost unbelievabe pace on the heels of a police escort, with sirens wailing.

"I could taste that third wind," Rodgers said after being crowned with the traditional laurel wreath and receiving first prize of a gold, sunburst medal.

He looked back only once — about two miles from the finish.

With the record in sight, Rodgers raced down the stretch with arms extended in a victory salute.

Seko was second in 2 hours, 10 minutes and 12 seconds, followed by Robert Hodge of Hanover, Mass., a former student at The University of Lowell.

Two Midlanders in the run finished in the top 10 or 15 percent out of 7,800 runners.

Norman Smith, 32, ran a time of 2:43.31. It was his second Boston Marathon. John Carmony, 25, a geophysicist in his first Boston Marathon, ran a 2:46.47.

"We feel real good about it..absolutely," said Smith, an exploration geologist. "Next year, we'll probably do better."

Smith beat his 2:45.28 time of last year, when he placed 814th, by about two minutes.

Veteran Tom Fleming, a two-time Boston runner-up from Bloomfield, N.J., surprised the whopping field of some 7,800 qualified starters by grabbing the lead and holding it for 15 miles. He faded and had to hang on to finish fourth in 2:12.56.

Gary Bjorklund of Minneapolis, who took the lead from Fleming but surrendered it to Rodgers, was fifth in 2 hours, 13 minutes, 57 seconds.

Rodgers became the first to win the Boston run two years in a row since Belgium's Aurele Vandendriessche in 1963 and 1964. Canada's Jerome Drayton, who won here two years ago in 2 hours, 14 minutes, 46 seconds, was just one second slower this year, but had to settle for 11th place.

Frank Shorter, the 1972 Olympic champion from Boulder, Colo., hit early trouble while running in a pack with Rodgers. Shorter dropped back, finally fading to finish 79th in 2:21.56.

Joan Benoit, a Bowdoin College senior from Brunswick, Maine, set a women's Boston record in dominating a field of more than 500 in 2 hours, 35 minutes, 15 seconds. Patti Lyons of Boston was second in 2: 38.22.

In a special wheelchair race for 20 handicapped athletes, including four women, Ken Archer, 30, of Akron, Ohio, rolled to victory in 2:38.59. Defending champ George Murray of Tampa, Fla., was second.

Rookie umpire serves notice as dispute continues to grow

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was the easiest decision of my life," said American League umpire Ted Hendry, who has filed notice that he is terminating his contract to join his 51 non-working colleagues.

Hendry, a rookie umpire, had signed a contract with the AL before the current contract dispute began and was advised by the Major League Umpires Association to honor his agreement. He did until last weekend, when he decided to submit his resignation.

"I want to be with my brothers," said Hendry, who was greeted warmly by about a dozen umpires who attended a press conference called by attorney Richie Phillips.

Hendry said he was embarrassed by the level of officiating he had seen during the two weeks he had worked. "I've been so humiliated," he said. "Most of the guys who are working don't want to work. They're scared. After one game, one of the umps I worked with ... I don't know his name ... told me a player had cursed him out and called him 'a homer.' I said, 'Why didn't you run him?' He said, 'You think I should have?' Hey, I've missed some in my time, but that one's easy."

Hendry worked last weekend in Oakland and said the ball and strike calls in Sunday's game between the A's and California Angels "were embarrassing."

Hendry and Paul Pryor were the only umpires to sign 1979 contracts and begin the season on duty. Pryor submitted his resignation the first week of the season. After a 10-day termination period, he completed his contractual obligations over the weekend. Hendry will work 10 days and then join the other umpires in the dispute.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, said he had received some calls from players regarding the umpires' dispute and its effect on the outcome of games but that the association had not adopted a formal position on the situation.

NASL players fear deportation

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The union says foreign players might be deported if they don't strike; team owners reportedly say they might be fired if they do.

And the majority of those foreign players in the North American Soccer League find themselves caught in the middle of a bitter American-style labor dispute.

"The law tells me I can't play because my visa was suspended — maybe the team won't need my services when this is all over," said Fort Lauderdale Striker Tony Whelan, shaking his head. "The sooner they sort this out, the better."

Whelan, like many other NASL players, had a tough decision to make Saturday night. Along with about half the professional players, the Englishman decided not to play.

It was the first game he missed since joining the ironically named Strikers two years ago.

"I felt awful about it," he said Monday. "But I believe I did the right thing by not playing ... my son is an American. I consider myself an American now. I just hope they sort this all out."

Whelan and 10 other striking Strikers joined Ed Garvey, executive director of the NASL Players Association, at a news conference Monday to explain their position.

"All we are asking for is recognition (as the players' bargaining representative)," said Garvey. "That's all we ask, not more money or anything else."

Garvey said the association would trade a no-strike pledge for recognition, and he claimed officials of some teams — including Joe and Elizabeth Robbie of the Strikers — were flouting federal labor laws.

"The Robbies are in violation of the labor laws for offering an inducement to break a strike," Garvey charged.

Striker player representative Dennis Vaninger said Joe Robbie, who also owns the Miami Dolphins of the National Football League, offered to guarantee the contracts of any non-striking Striker who ultimately was deported.

And the Miami News on Monday quoted an unidentified Striker official as saying "teams like New York (Cosmos) had no one striking because players were either paid under the table not to strike or they already had special clauses written in their contracts guaranteeing them two years' pay, even if they were deported, as long as they didn't strike."

Deportation is the foreigners' primary worry because U.S. immigration officials have accepted the validity of the strike and ruled any foreign player who doesn't abide by the walkout can be deported.

The law cited was designed to protect striking workers from losing their jobs to imported workers.

But NASL officials claimed the immigration ruling is inappropriate and have pledged to fight any deportations in court.

Meanwhile, Garvey predicted that no games would be played this weekend. Last weekend, all scheduled games were played, although many featured hastily recruited amateurs.

Gary W. Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Hanson of Stanton, is busy preparing to take over as president of the Texas Tech University Student Association. Hanson, a former Stanton High School student council president, will be representing some 22,000 Tech students.

Stanton student to be president at Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — Gary W. Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Hanson of Stanton, is preparing to assume the presidency of the Texas Tech University Student Association which represents more than 22,000 students.

Hanson, a former Stanton High School varsity athlete and student council president, is aware that his new duties will be far removed from those as president of a 200-student high school.

His new duties will includes motivating people to get things done, supervising expenditures of the student budget and signing vouchers.

He also will be responsible for seeing that Student Senate legislation reaches the right administrators and checking on the implementation of the programs.

His plans for the new year include printing summaries of all academic courses, instituting a crime-prevention program on campus and improving campus lighting.

To increase participation in student government — only 2,334 of the 22,000 students voted in the last election — Hanson said he plans to publicize what the association does and can do for students and said he would like to produce a monthly supplement to the daily student newspaper.

After graduation, Hanson's plans are not so clear-cut.

"I'd like to be a sucessful businessman 15 years from now. I'd like a job in marketing or public relations, probably in the Dallas or Houston area.

"I want to feel that I have contributed something to my profession, just as I hope I'll have contributed something to Texas Tech," he said.

Yantis quits state post

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Hugh Yantis, controversial head of the state Natural Resources Council and former chief of the State Board of Insurance and the Water Quality Board, has resigned.

Gov. Bill Clements accepted the resignation Monday and wrote Yantis a letter commending him for his state service.

Yantis told Clements in a letter dated April 13 that he had enjoyed working with Clements but he felt it was time to resign so that the governor could choose his own appointee for the Natural Resources Council.

Yantis had no comment to reporters about the resignation.

A spokesman for Clements, Mit Spears, said there had been some thought given to merging a number of agencies.

Carter calls for 10 million acres in U.S. to be preserved as wilderness areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress should designate nearly 10 million acres of national forest land in the contiguous 48 states as wilderness, President Carter says. The move would keep the acreage free from new development and mineral exploration.

An additional 5.5 million acres of roadless land in Alaska would be designated wilderness under the administration's proposal.

But the president also recommended Monday that 28.5 million acres of roadless land in the lower 48 states be opened to "multiple uses," such as mining, grazing, timber cutting, recreation and oil and gas exploration.

In a statement, the administration said Congress might have "concerns" about the acreage designated for non-wilderness uses.

"While we plan to proceed with other uses on these lands, this does not automatically mean that all of these areas will be intensively or immediately developed," the statement said.

Carter's action essentially reaffirms a recommendation in January by the Agriculture Department. But it would extend protection to about 470,000 acres more than the Agriculture Department had suggested.

Virtually all development is barred on land that is designated as wilderness. The designation, however, permits existing mining and some livestock grazing.

A number of environmental groups wired Carter last week to protest the upcoming recommendation.

William A. Turnage, the Wilderness Society's executive director, called it "among the most negative decisions in the history of public land management and one which threatens to negate the administration's impressive environmental record."

But Eugene Bergoffen of the National Forest Products Association said, "We're relieved there was not a substantial move for more wilderness."

The areas selected are part of the RARE II lands, an acronym for the U.S. Forest Service's Roadless Area Review and Evaluation program involving 62 million acres of land.

The Carter recommendation to set aside a total of 15.4 million acres as wilderness would nearly double the size of the wilderness system.

The recommendation also calls for further study to determine the best uses of 7.6 million acres in the lower 48 states and 2.9 million acres in Alaska.

Non-wilderness areas would account for 28.5 million acres in the contiguous 48 states and 7.5 million acres in Alaska.

Congress already has set aside 14.7 million acres of public land as wilderness. The lands are administered by the Forest Service, National Park Service and Fish and Wildlife Service.

Unruly school children, money woes are topics of legislative concern

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The legislative focus shifted this week to unruly school children and financing of state government for the next two years.

Returning from a long Easter weekend, the House scheduled debate today on a bill giving teachers power to eject "incorrigibles" from their classrooms.

A House-approved bill that would increase the penalties for pupil assaults on teachers was on the agenda in the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

The same committee was to hear Sen. Chet Brooks' bill to punish persons who "scalp" tickets to entertainment events, such as music concerts and football games. Anyone charging more than $2 over the regular ticket price could be sent to jail for six months and fined $1,000.

The public was invited to a House-Senate committee hearing on the use of federal revenue sharing funds. Such hearings are required by law, but chairman Grant Jones of the Senate Finance Committee said he has been told only one witness has ever appeared.

On Wednesday, House members will mark the 100th day of the 140-day regular session by opening debate on a $20.4 billion general appropriation bill. The bill leaves $370 million for tax cuts or additional spending.

Numerous attempts to amend the bill — although probably not as many as the 207 amendments offered when the 1977 spending bill was debated — are expected to delay a conclusive vote until at least Friday.

Republicans are expected to try to cut enough money out of the bill to give Gov. Bill Clements at least part of the $1 billion he wants for school property tax relief.

Some liberals may attempt to raise welfare payments while knocking out $44 million for a new prison.

Only $6.9 billion of the spending recommended by the House Appropriations Committee would come from general tax money over which the Legislature has absolute control. And $5 billion — a fourth of the total — consists of funds.

Jones, D-Abilene, said the finance committee should complete its two-year budget proposal by Friday.

A staggering amount of important and controversial issues have yet to be dealt with as the session enters its final 41 days.

The issues include "sunset" decisions on 25 state agencies that will die this year unless the Legislature acts; property tax "reform;" school finance; "blue laws;" child abuse; pornography; products liability and presidential primaries.

Clements fails to give administrators much hope for higher teacher pay

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Big city school superintendents got no encouragement from Gov. Bill Clements in their quest for higher teacher salaries and didn't even have time to bring up bigger issues of school finance.

Superintendents and administrators from the seven biggest school districts emerged from their 30-minute meeting with Clements on Monday to say he was adamant in his stand on teacher pay.

Clements also said, according to those who were present, he wants diplomas that would tell a prospective employer something of the competency of a high school graduate.

"He wants people to know what level a person was performing at when he graduated from high school," said Dallas Superintendent Linus Wright.

The "Big Seven" school administrators sought the appointment with Clements.

The seven largest school districts are Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Austin, El Paso and Corpus Christi.

Wright said the 30 minutes allotted for the meeting ran out before the school officials could bring up money issues, other than teacher pay.

Each of the seven biggest school districts sent its superintendent and board president to the meeting.

"The only request we made was that he reconsider the salary schedule for teachers. He said he was emphatic on that position," said Wright.

The administrators want 7 percent cost-of-living raises on top of automatic step-ups for teachers. Clements thinks there should be no automatic increases and teachers should receive only the 5.1 percent cost of living raises planned for all state employees.

Wright said he opposed a statewide competency testing program because it would "lower standards" in major districts.

He said, however, he did not expect the big push for competency testing and differentiated diplomas to take place until the 1981 legislative session.

Midland Day in Austin expected to attract 20

Midland Day in Austin will attract some 20 Midlanders to the state capitol today.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce legislative committee, the group will host a reception and dinner for about 50 legislative leaders tonight.

Wednesday will be spent delivering core pencil holders as momentos to each legislative office.

The Chamber of Commerce already has sent each legislator 50 plastic foam cups with "the sky's the limit in Midland" on one side and the state seal on the other, according to chamber vice president Fred Tyler.

The almost traditional trip — the chamber missed the last legislative session — is basically "for public relations," Tyler noted.

"There's no particular legislation we're really interested in at this point, and we've already sent the leadership a letter expression our appreciation of the job they're doing."

Among those scheduled to make the overnight flight to Austin are Thane Akins, Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., Winston Barclay, Tom Bruner, Judge Barbara Culver, Ed Hagan (chairman of the chamber's legislative committee), Thornton Hardie Jr., Joe Kloesel, Budge McDonnald Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Martin Neill, Brad Patteson, Darryl Pounds, Harold Rucker, Joe Sheffield, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Yeager Jr. and Win Brown.

Authorities to move mass murder suspect

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Mass murder suspect Roger Dale Stafford will be transferred from a mental hospital to the Oklahoma County Jail now that he's been found sane and able to stand trial.

The transfer is expected to take place sometime this week, but the exact date is uncertain, authorities said today. Stafford was ruled sane Monday.

Stafford has spent the past 24 days undergoing psychiatric examinations at Eastern State Hospital at Vinita.

Authorities have said they believe Stafford and his late brother, Harold, were responsible for nine Oklahoma murders last summer. The brothers have allegedly been linked by Stafford's estranged wife, Verna, to more than 20 killings around the United States.

Stafford is also a suspect in the 1974 killing of Jimmy Berry, 19, a restaurant employee in Muscle Shoals, Ala.
