

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owes Harry Biddle a gambling debt of $10,000 he cannot pay. His wealthy wife, Miriam, has refused him the money. He comes home late after dodging Biddle all day. Miriam is out. Biddle phones that he will be over at 11 to collect. Marcus is desperate. Miriam comes in, wearing her fabulous diamond necklace. In order to get her out of the library before Biddle arrives, Marcus gives her a doped drink. Keyed up, she speaks cruelly. Miriam, wounded, takes her drink to her room. At 11 on the dot, Biddle shows up. He demands the money under threat. Marcus, cornered, gets an idea. He tells Biddle he's going up to see his wife.

UPSTAIRS, Sterling went directly to his own room, closing the door before flicking on the light. From a dresser drawer he took a pair of fabric gloves and slipped his hands into them. He carefully wiped the keys he had handled, then slipped the ring again over one finger. He paused at his desk long enough to take a small pencil flashlight from a drawer. He turned off the light, opened the door quietly, and closed it after stepping into the hall.

He stood a moment at the door of his wife's room, listening. He could hear nothing. He turned the knob stealthily, pushed the door back a bare crack. The room was dark, silent. He widened the opening, stepped through noiselessly, pushed back the door to shut out the stray light from the hall. Erect, rigid, Sterling waited. After a moment he was able just barely to detect the sound of regular breathing from across the room. He moved cautiously until he stood beside the bed.

Windows at the end of the room, their shades raised, admitted grayish night light to which his eyes were becoming accustomed. He could make out just vaguely his wife's form beneath the covert. One bare arm lay exposed. He saw her face in shadowy profile against the pillow. He satisfied himself that she was asleep. . . . He moved around the foot of the bed, treading lightly on his toes. He swept the beam of his small flashlight quickly across the top of the dressing table. He saw the drink Miriam had brought up with her. Fully two-thirds of it was still in the glass. The discovery unnerved him momentarily. . . . Miriam might not be safely asleep. Then he made another discovery that was frightening. Beside the glass was the small bottle with the ominous red label. He had left it far back among other bottles. That meant Miriam had handled it after coming up.

IT meant. . . . Sterling's pulse stopped at the thought. . . . that Miriam had added more of the dazing drops to her drink. The full six, probably. Perhaps the first few swallows of the now heavily doped liquid had knocked her off. That could account for her drinking barely a third of it. Sterling moved on to the dresser, played his light across it. Cautiously he pulled out the top drawer several inches, searched inside with the small beam of light. The trinkets, items of costume jewelry it revealed were of no interest to him.

He found the bag Miriam had been carrying on a chair. He opened it and carefully emptied its contents. He had no thought here of finding anything of interest. He was doing what he thought a burglar would do. He slipped the packet into an inside coat pocket. As an afterthought, he brushed some papers from the safe to the floor. . . . A sound reached him from the bed. . . . a break in that faint, regular breathing. . . . a choked, incoherent word. . . . Sterling hunched back against the wall, beyond the small table with its tall candlestick, listening, waiting breathlessly. (To Be Continued)

Griffith to Begin Construction of Drive-In Theater

THE GRIFFITH THEATERS plan to begin construction in a few days on their Griffith Drive-In. It will be located about a half-mile south of Pampa on Highway 273.

The Griffith theaters plan to start construction of a 600-car drive-in theater within the next few days on Highway 273, about a half mile south of Pampa. The site of the drive-in has been ready for some time. However, a shortage of material has caused the delay. Steel structures for the drive-in are now on their way to Pampa. Each car at the drive-in will be equipped with its own volume control in order that the occupants of the cars will be able to adjust the volume to suit themselves. Also in the theater grounds will be a concession stand selling popcorn, candy and cold drinks. The new Griffith Drive-In will be the local drive-in has been considered neighboring towns within miles.

Butcher Beefs Against High Prices

"I was just ashamed to stand behind the counter and raise prices every day," said Anthony D'Amelio as he closed up his New York butcher shop. "I felt like a thief." Butcher D'Amelio, an ex-G. I., hoped his dramatic action would prompt other butchers and housewives to join in protest against skyrocketing meat prices. The signs covering the windows of his shop tell the whole story to D'Amelio's former customers.

completely with the voters. They won't even give him another time at bat. And what other game requires as much physical stamina and sure-footed dexterity? A man has to be able to hit with his mouth, and develop a skin thicker than a rhinoceros. He needs a tin ear and an iron bottom to sit out the long hours of legislative debate. He has to be an expert on everything from chicken farming to atom hatching. He has to be able to please his constituents, his wife and the still small voice of conscience. He has more bosses than a private in an army of generals. And after a lifetime, just when you yearn most for the applause, you may have to say, "I want to lay, but I can't play it the way they want me to." And you step down a has-been, another man goes in, his crowd cheers—and the game goes on. Your reward is to have old friends call you by a title you no longer own—"senator," "governor," "congressman." No wonder politics has produced more enduring heroes than any other American pastime. It takes a hero to play the game and come out with anything but a black eye. But there never was a shortage of people who wanted to play it.

Questions And Answers

Q—Under what circumstances did the author write the well-known song, "Maryland, My Maryland,"
A—James Ryder Randall, impatient that his native state should delay in joining the Confederacy, wrote "Maryland, My Maryland." He wrote it at a single sitting in the dead of an April night in 1861, in New Orleans.

Q—What is the Draconian policy?
A—One that is barbarously severe. The word comes from Draco, who framed a harsh legal code for Athens about 621 B. C.

Q—Where did Columbus land in 1492?

A—At San Salvador, an island in the West Indies, now generally identified as Watling Island in the Bahamas.

School Transfer Deadline Is Set

Students who wish to transfer from one school district to another must have their parents fill out forms in the Office of Public Instruction before Aug. 1. Huelyn Laycock, county superintendent of schools, said this morning.

"The law covering transfers states that any child enrolled in one school district may be transferred by the county superintendent provided the proper form is filled out," Laycock said.

This law applies only to students who wish to transfer from one district to another, not from one school to another school in the same district, he said.

Firefly Market Is Opened Up

BALTIMORE—(AP)—The firefly market has brightened considerably and kids here are scrambling to cash in.

Dr. William D. McElroy, biology professor at Johns Hopkins University, is paying 25 cents a hundred for fireflies, dead or alive. A $10 bonus goes to the kid who makes the biggest haul.

Dr. McElroy thinks firefly "tail-lights" may contain vitamin-K. He wants enough of the bugs in order to find out if he's right.

Most Interest Shown in Rayburn's Political Race

By the Associated Press
Rep. Sam Rayburn's 19th race for the Fourth Texas District seat in Congress, which he first won in 1912, is from the standpoint of national interest the most important Congressional contest to be passed upon in Saturday's Democratic Primary.

Rayburn, who rose to the House leadership and became minority leader when the Republicans came to power, has been campaigning tirelessly against two opponents, at times to preside over the Democratic National Convention. His opponents are Judge David Brown of Sherman and State Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville.

Brown, 36-year-old war veteran and judge of Grayson County, is a native of Grayson County, a son of young blood for democracy. He says it is time for a "Constitutional government in a South."

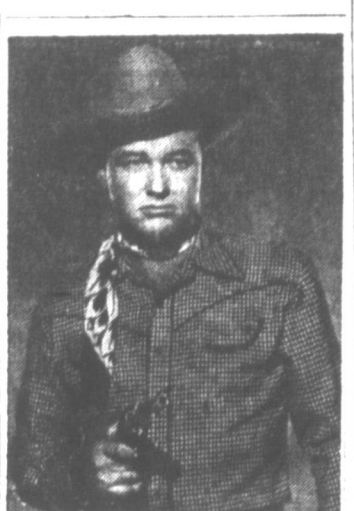

Morris, 35, Greenville attorney, is a native of Grayson County, his promotion to the national judiciary post. He has defied his opponents to prove alleged claims that he is a "corporation" candidate.

Rayburn, standing on his record, campaigned strenuously before voting to preside over the Philadelphia convention.

Defending his stand on civil rights under attack by his opponents, the veteran representative pointed to his voting record: 26 years, always against anti-Asian, anti-polit and anti-union laws. Much of his time spent through the seven-year district has been on a "race" platform, rural electrification, roads and veterans' benefits.

Rayburn's opponents claim that he was equivocated on the civil rights issue. They maintain that he might have raised a voice for civil rights in Philadelphia. Both he has failed to keep promises of cheap electric power and that is served by a political machine built up over his long tenure in office.

Brown says he will be in a run against whom he does not know. This is his first political experience. He was appointed by Gov. Beauford Westerfield when the law court was created.

MONTE HALE, popular young Republic motion picture singing star, will be in Pampa for the Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show Wednesday through Saturday, Aug. 4-7. Besides riding in the grand parade at 4 p. m. Wednesday, he will appear at each rodeo performance. Also, he will attend the "old-time" dances after each performance.

Movie Actor Monte Hale to Play at Rodeo

Monte Hale, popular young Republic Studio cowboy, will attend the Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show Aug. 4-7. One of his latest movies will be shown at the Rex Theater July 30 and 31. The movie, "Timber Trail," was released June 15 of this year and will be shown in Pampa three days before he will arrive in town in person.

Besides appearing in the opening-day parade and each night's rodeo performance, he will sing special requests at the Western dances held each night after the rodeo.

A few of his many movies are "Under Colorado Skies," "The Big Bonanza," "Colorado Pioneers," "Bought Riders of Cheyenne," "Home on the Range," "California Gold Rush," "Sun Valley Cyclone," "Man from Rainbow Valley," "Out California Way," "Last Frontier Uprising," "Along the Oregon Trail," and "California Firebrand."

Brannan Suggests Bread Cost Cut

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan suggested yesterday the baking industry cut the price of bread and other bakery products.

Brannan said cash wheat is about 75 cents a bushel below the peak of last winter. That, he said, "should justify a corresponding decrease in the price of bread and bakery products."

While America's population is steadily climbing, the number of dairy cows on farms producing milk is going down—from 27,770,000 head on January 1, 1945, to 26,166,000 on January 1, 1948.

A famous rug, "The Holy Carpet of the Mosque at Ardebil," now in the South Kensington Museum in London, is valued at more than $500,000.

Public Due to Gain By Special Session

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—While the politicians beat one another over the head with sticks, the public can sit back, grin and say: "Well, maybe we'll get some good out of this special session of Congress, no matter what happens to the fortunes of the Democrats or Republicans."

That's the main point.

Right now, the politicians are arguing about President Truman's calling the special session.

The argument goes something like this:

He pulled a cheap political trick in calling the Republican-controlled Congress back into session because he only wants to embarrass the Republicans and build up campaign ammunition for his own re-election.

Or—

He pulled a smart stunt in calling the special session because in this way he can try to force the Republicans to show whether they really mean the promises they made in their 1948 campaign platform.

Mr. Truman last November recommended to the Republican Congress that it do a number of things he considered important.

The Republican-controlled Congress ignored most of his recommendations and quit for the rest of 1948—or thought it did—when it adjourned in June.

So a great many of the Truman recommendations were shoved aside.

Then the Democrats and Republicans had their conventions in Philadelphia and drew up their party platforms.

Those platforms, as such platforms always go, are a collection of promises each party said it would work on if it won the election next November.

Both platforms contained some of the recommendations made last fall by Mr. Truman but ignored by Congress.

But the party winning control of the government in the November elections won't take office till next January.

So that means—if no special session had been called—that the party victorious in November couldn't start carrying out any of its platform promises till next January.

And, knowing how slowly Congress works, that would mean nothing done on the big issues till many months after January.

Then Mr. Truman stepped into the picture and, in effect, told the Republicans:

"All right, you said that if elected you'd do a lot of things I've already said needed doing months ago. Why wait till next year to do any of them?"

"You control Congress right now. So come back into special session and carry out now—in instead of waiting till next year,

Texas Plans Draft System

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas plans to have a full quota of 140 draft boards in operation on Aug. 30 for the start of draft registration, Morris Swartz, state Selective Service deputy director, said.

Swartz said all but one or two counties are ready to go on short notice. Those are expected to be complete well before Aug. 30.

He estimated that registration in Texas would total between 500,000 and 600,000.

Swartz said the number of local boards had to be cut from an originally-planned 277 to 140 for budgetary considerations.

"This will mean that there will have to be some inter-county boards handling registration for more than one county," he said.

The draft system in Texas is waiting on the President officially to designate state Adjutant General K. L. Berry as state director of Selective Service for Texas.

Berry's nomination has been forwarded by the Governor to Washington. Swartz said this appointment "however, is fundamentally automatic and that organization is being effected on the assumption that the appointment will be made shortly."

One famous oriental rug had designs of brooks, paths, lawns, trees and flowers.

If you win—the things the Democratic and Republican platforms and myself say ought to be done."

KID RIDER—Billy Ragsdale, one and a half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ragsdale, has been practicing and is all ready to enter his division of the Kid Pony Show, to be held Aug. 3 in connection with this year's Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show.

This won't help you to mark your ballot, but it will give you an idea of what you'll find on it election day Saturday.

In the first place, you'll note the pledge at the top of the ballot: "I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary."

Under the pledge are the candidates for U.S. senator: George Peddy, Lyndon Johnson, Coke Stevenson, Otis C. Myers of Dallas County; Jesse C. Saunders of Orange County; Cyclone Davis of Dallas County; James P. Alford of Harris County; F. B. Clark of Brazos County; Terrell Sledge of Hays County; Frank Cortez of Bexar County and Roscoe H. Collier of Dallas County.

Davis, Clark and Sledge recently dropped out of the Senate race in favor of Collier, but it was too late to take their names off the ballot.

There are eight candidates for governor: Beauford Jester of Navarro County, the incumbent; W. J. Minton of Grayson County; Roger Q. Evans of Grayson

Tavern to Lose 'Children's Hour'

NEWARK, N. J. — (AP) — The "Children's Hour" has made its last stand at a Hoboken tavern. The special periods of television programs for children, with the bar closed and adults excluded, no longer may be held at Patrick Radigan's bar, Alcoholic Beverage Control Commissioner Erwin B. Hock ruled.

"Longfellow would turn over in his grave if he could see the locale of your children's hour," Hock commented.

More Cotton Is Planted in Texas

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas farmers this year shifted about two-million acres from wheat and oats to cotton and sorghums, and there was little change in total crop acre. The shift was noted in the United States Department of Agriculture's general crop report, based on July 1 estimates. All acreage planted for 1948 was up about 1 percent from 1947, but harvested acreage was down 1 percent as a result of greater abandonment of oats and wheat. Cotton acreage in cultivation July 1 was estimated at 9,200,000, up 9 percent from last year. Corn acreage for harvest was estimated at 2,798,000, which would be the lowest harvested since 1925 and 5 percent below the 1947 estimate. All sorghums for harvest were estimated at 6,626,000 acres, an increase of 18 percent from last year. All grain sorghums were figured at 6,005,000 acres and sweet sorghums at 621,000 compared with 5,089,000 and 540,000 respectively in 1947. The wheat crop estimate of 87,020,000 bushels compared with the 1947 record crop of 124,270,000 bushels and the average of 45,686,000. An oat crop of 14,734,000 was estimated in comparison with 31,248,000 last year and an average of 34,370,000 acres.

Tag Match Is Scheduled at Sportatorium

A team wrestling match, sometimes called an "Australian Tag Match," will be staged at the Sportatorium Saturday night. Promoter Vic Burnett announced.

The teams will be composed of Frankie Murdoch, Waxahachie, Tex., and Jack Carter, Oakland, N. Cal., against George Lopez, Tampico, Mexico, and Gil Knutson, Denver, Iowa.

Preceding the team match, there will be two 20-minute warm up bouts with Lopez meeting Carter and Murdoch wrestling against Knutson.

According to the rules of the match, only two men are supposed to be in the ring at one time. The other two are supposed to stand by a rope at one corner of the ring.

If either of the two men in the ring can tag his team partner standing in the corner, they are supposed to change places. That's where the tag comes in.

But, if the tag matches staged here before now are any examples, Referee Art Brady will have a tough time enforcing the rules. Such matches usually develop quickly into a mass free-for-all with all four men in the center of the ring at once.

Carter, former New Zealand champion in the 160-pound weight division, appeared here for the first time two weeks ago, when he defeated Art Brady, Lopez, a fast and shifty wrestler, has been here almost weekly for the past six weeks, and has always won the applause of the crowd for his clean ring tactics.

Knutson has been one of the ring for almost two months. While wrestling in Lubbock the first week in June, he received a vicious kick in the mouth that broke several of his upper front teeth. A couple of the teeth were driven back against the roof of his mouth and a portion of his frontal jaw bone was split that required extensive dental repair work before he could again wrestle.

His opponent this morning was Ralph E. Schneider of Shaker Heights, Ohio, a late tournament champion. Schneider carried a large gallery during his fourth round conquest of Mike Sewedko, the Sharsburg, Pa. welder.

In another match this morning, Aubrey Turentine met Ben Hughes. Both golfers have been voted as darkhorses since the second round.

Baby's lunch shouldn't be a problem away from home now. A new insulated bag keeps four bottles warm or cool as desired.

The first attempts at rug making were probably crude efforts to imitate the hairy pelt of wild beasts.

Mangrum and Hogan Enter Golf Tourney

READING, Pa. —(AP)—Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum brought their duel for golf's money winning honors down to the Berkshire Country Club's long fairways and well-trapped greens today in the first round of the $15,000 Reading Open Tournament.

Nearly 150 other top ranking pros and amateurs also have entered the four-day tourney but Hogan, U.S. Open and PGA titlist, and the long-hitting Mangrum are favored.

Mangrum went into the tournament setting the pace financially. He has won $20,421.99, passing the former Texas mite from nearby Hershey, Pa., in last week's Dapper Dan play at Pittsburgh. Hogan's earnings total $20,197.56.

The field numbers just about every name golfer in the country with all of the sport's 10 leading money winners matching drives, chips and putts in the same tournament for the first time this year.

In addition to Hogan and Mangrum, they include Bobby Locke, Skip Alexander, Jimmy Demaret, Johnny Palmer, Dutch Harrison, Cary Middlecott, Clayton Hearner and Chick Harbert. First prize will be $2,500.

Eight Matches Are Scheduled in Golf Tourney Today

ATLANTA, Ga. —The National Public Links Golf Tournament, down to eight matches this morning, where once there were 82, swung into the fifth round with five players leading as gallery favorites.

Defending Champion Wilfred Crossley, Brooklyn insurance man, headed the list with the gallery at North Fulton Park's long 6,762-yard course.

His opponent this morning was Ralph E. Schneider of Shaker Heights, Ohio, a late tournament champion. Schneider carried a large gallery during his fourth round conquest of Mike Sewedko, the Sharsburg, Pa. welder.

In another match this morning, Aubrey Turentine met Ben Hughes. Both golfers have been voted as darkhorses since the second round.

Lions Get New Look

Minors Say 'No' to Television Of Major Games in Area

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Frank Shaughnessy and Frank Lane want it known that they and their minor league brethren would not think of standing in the way of progress and science.

The presidents of the International League and the American Association also emphasize that what little they have seen of television they like.

But Shaughnessy, Muscles Lane and their associates intend to do something about it. They are planning to sue the major league baseball clubs, threatening the reduction of attendance.

Lane, the former football official and Cincinnati farm director, is chairman of a minor league committee studying the effect of television on baseball.

The other members are Shaughnessy, the play-off man, and Jake Flowers, the one-time National League infielder who rose to the presidency of the Milwaukee club.

They claim they get a favorable decision when they meet with similar groups representing major leagues.

"It's the majors' problem as well as ours," says Lane. "After all, the majors own or control 75 percent of the minor league clubs, and have working agreements with the others."

As in the case of radio, the minors demand that televised accounts or reproductions of major league games in minor league territory be only by permission of the minor league club involved.

International League games are being televised in Baltimore, and the engagements of an American Association club or two are being shown.

"It's bad for baseball to have the major league game invade the minors in any way," says Shaughnessy, one of the finest executives in the business.

"We want to glamorize our own players, not the Williamses, Muscles, Boudreaux and Dimaggios."

He believes the televised version will ever compare with the game on the field, but television is sure to knock radio out of the box, and there's no telling what its effect finally will be on baseball. The chair for us to do is to prepare for that now. That's why baseball is making these surveys.

"They said radio would hurt baseball attendance. Col. Jacob Ruppert would not permit broadcasting Yankee games until he was hospitalized by the illness that cost baseball its foremost owner."

"But radio increased attendance instead."

"Perhaps television will have the same effect."

"But major and minor leagues in the West unwise consented to big league broadcasts, and it hasn't helped them any."

Shaughnessy and Frank Lane want to keep the minor

Red Sox Sweep Twin Bill And Move Into Tie for Third

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy finally has caught the New York Yankees, the club his Boston Red Sox consider "the team to beat" for the American League flag.

While Cleveland, Philadelphia and New York have been struggling to play .500 ball since the traditional July 4 holiday, Marne Joe's Sox have won 16 of 20 starts in a sizzling surge.

Now they have nipped the Yanks, the team they fear most. By winning a day-night double-header from lowly Chicago while New York and Cleveland were splitting a pair, the Red Sox moved into a third-place tie with the world champs.

While the Yanks and Indians wrestle on the Yankee Stadium turf for two more days, Boston has a golden chance to gain more ground in its continued series with the White Sox. Only 3 1-2 games back today, Boston can be in a position to challenge for the lead Saturday when Lou Boudreau's Indians move into Fenway Park.

McCarthy must have been encouraged, too, by the relief win of Tex Hughson, the tall Texan who has been lost to the team most of the season. Options to Austin, Texas, B. B. State League to bask the miseries from his sore arm, Hughson was recalled during the All-Star game vacation. So far he has pitched only two hitless innings but one of them was enough to receive credit for his first victory of the year.

Hughson came in to pitch the ninth inning of last night's game with Chicago, picking up the verdict when the Red Sox rallied for three runs in the last of the ninth to take a 10-9 edge. They had won the afternoon half by a 3-1 score for Joe Dobson's 12th success.

Sam Mele, who has been on the bench in recent days, kept the Sox in the night game with a two-run homer in the third after Bobby Doerr doubled with the bases loaded. Mele doubled in the ninth inning and scored the winning run on a fly ball.

Long before this happened, the Yankees and Indians were trading home runs in the third after the Stadium. New York banged up the tribe in the first of a doubleheader for a 7-3 decision over Bob Muncrief.

The Yanks held an 8-4 lead going into the seventh game of the second game but they couldn't hold it. Joe Page was rapped lustily in a relief chore, leaving the game with the score tied and two men on base in the eighth. Karl Drews took over and walked pinch-hitter Wally Judnich to load them up. Then Jim Heggen delivered a grand slam homer for the ball game, 12-8.

Philadelphia ran into disaster at Shibe Park where the St. Louis Browns, suddenly turned sluggers for a night, pounded out 21 hits in a lopsided 17-5 romp.

Washington's Walt Masterson managed to get by with a 12-hitter as the Senators dumped Detroit, 6-1.

Brooklyn's surge again featured the National League doings as the Brooks won a pair from Chicago, 9-3 and 7-1, clipping Boston's lead to six games.

Ralph Branca had little trouble pitching win No. 12 in the opener as Third Baseman Tom Brown continued his hitting streak, knocking in four runs with three singles. Ralph Hamner was the

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owns Harry Biddle $100,000 he cannot pay. His wealthy wife, Miriam, has refused him the money. He comes home late after dodging Biddle all day. Miriam is out. Biddle phones that he will be over at 11 to collect. Marcus is desperate. Miriam comes in wearing her fabulous diamond necklace. In order to get her out of the library before Biddle arrives, Marcus gives her a dogged drink. Kept up, he speaks cruelly. Miriam, wounded, takes her drink to her room. At 11 sharp, Marcus opens the door to Biddle. Biddle accepts a drink, lights a cigar. "Now let's get down to business, Sterling," he says.

We don't keep books. We don't send around a collector. Maybe you've read once or twice what happens to welchers.

"But, Biddle, a welcher is a man who has the money and tries to get out of paying. Do you think you'd have to wait if I had the ten thousand?"

"Don't make me cry, Sterling. Why do you think you were good for ten grand in that game?"

"I lost my head... too many drinks... I shouldn't have got in that deep."

IV

STERLING ran fingers through his mop of straw-colored hair. "I told you on the telephone that I couldn't do anything until tomorrow. Still you insisted on coming here tonight."

"Right. Always, Sterling, my customers come to see ME... in my office. It's been a long trip out here. I didn't make it just for the ride. Why do you s'pose I came out here tonight?"

"Just why, Biddle?"

"I don't like to see you make a big mistake. Just looking around your place, and what little I know about you, I'd say you got a lot to lose. Like I said, you're young. You're big and good-looking and healthy. You've got a place in a bank, clubs, a swell home, a wife that's lousy with dough. That would be a lot for you to give up for just ten grand."

"I don't get what you mean."

"What do you think would happen to you if I turned your IOU over to a couple of my boys?"

"You don't mean..."

"Listen, Sterling. In my business we don't sue when a man don't pay. If a fellow a man don't pay, in my business it's money on the line. Maybe a man has to leave his IOU, like you did, but he shows up by noon the next day with the cash. It ain't my business how he gets it, but he gets it."

"Russia Is Taking Chances Because Of Her Anxiety"

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The greatest danger of war between Russia and the democracies lies in the fact that Russia's European conquest has bogged down and she is taking risks in desperate efforts to get the Red machine rolling again.

The inhuman food blockade of Western Berlin is one of those risks. The blockade must be broken by the Allies—but the consensus is that this isn't the time to use force, as some rather impetuous folk are advocating. It is encouraging to hear General Lucius D. Clay, U.S. military governor in Germany, deny published reports that his headquarters had recommended forcing an armed convoy through the blockade.

Such Allied action surely would result in armed conflict. Obviously there is danger of war, but as things stand there seem to be ways of dealing with the situation without resorting to arms. Concerted action by the democracies in clamping politico-economic sanctions on Russia

The strategy of the Western Allies seems to be developing along the line of applying sanctions and then holding firmly on the front which the bolsheviks have reached through Central Europe.

The Soviet Union has great resources, but a global politico-economic blockade by the democracies would hit her so hard she wouldn't be able to contemplate making world war. Moreover such a blockade would give time for development of the disaffection which long has been at work among the Red slave-states of Eastern Europe.

What the Moscovites are aiming at now is to drive the democracies out of Germany and Austria and make these important countries part of the Red empire. Since Germany in normal times is the economic keystone of continental Europe, her inclusion among the Soviet satellites would lend vast strength to the Communist world revolution.

Certainly there is no place at all for appeasement. And if it comes to a showdown where the use of force is necessary, the democracies will use it!

Navy Veteran Defines UnTexan

AUSTIN—(AP)—Slim, black-haired Navy Veteran Harvey W. Wren of Paris pawned his typewriter to bring his wife and 15-month-old son here to receive a $100 award from gubernatorial Candidate Casa March for submitting what March considered the best definition of the term "UnTexan."

March said he invited Gov. Beauford H. Jester, who once pinned the "UnTexan" term on veterans state bonus demands, to attend but Jester left the capital to make an unannounced inspection tour of a state institution.

stuck for blackmail... mixed up in something?"

"You didn't tell her you lost it playing poker?"

"That had to be out, Biddle. I just told her I needed the money seriously. She'd never be willing to bail me out of a poker game. She made that clear to me a long time ago."

"MAYBE we should get your wife down here now. I won't be afraid to tell her it's my bread and butter you owe me because you got me to stake you in a poker game."

"That would be my finish, Biddle."

"It seems to me, Sterling, it's your finish, any way you look at it," Biddle said.

Sterling leaned forward. "What do you mean?"

Biddle drew deeply on his cigar before he answered. "I mean I'm not leaving here tonight until we settle our account."

"But..."

"Take a minute to think it over, Sterling. I'm giving you a minute. My boys would give you only 10 seconds."

Sterling took the minute. His heart was pounding, his thoughts were reeling. He rested his elbows on the arms of his chair, clasped his hands in front of his lowered face. Before his eyes dangled Miriam's keys from the ring that still encircled one of his fingers.

He had barely noticed the keys in picking them up when Miriam tossed them down to him. She had asked him to be careful of them. Why? He was surprised at the number of keys on the ring. Her automobile key was easily identified, but the ring seemed to hold all of her personal keys. One of them fascinated him... a long thin key. He remembered it vaguely... two years or longer since he had seen it.

Suddenly Sterling lowered his hands, slid forward in his chair, his jaws squared. He stared defiantly across at his opponent. "You give me little choice, Biddle," he said. "I'll take the chance. I'll go up to my wife. Make yourself comfortable until I come down."

The Foot Is Quicker Than the Eye

Montgomery Clift's foot is kicking nothing more substantial than air, but when you see this episode in the movie, it will look like he's kicking a field-goal with John Wayne's head. With camera tricks like this Hollywood makes a blood-and-thunder, knock-down-and-drag-out fight look real, even though nobody even gets slightly dented. This scene will appear in the movie, "Red River."

Gary Cooper May Portray Andrew Jackson on Screen

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Gary Cooper as Andrew Jackson? That intriguing casting may well be seen on the screens in the future. The late Montanan admitted on "The Fountainhead" set he is interested in portraying the colorful life of the seventh president.

He is his usual taciturn self when you try to pin him down to details, but you can bet that when Coop decides he wants to do something, he does it.

The actor who is making about the top profit in town—this may surprise you—is Randolph Scott, because he participates in the profits of his films.

Bette Davis and Robert Montgomery will take a fast powder when they finish "June Bride" in a few days. They'll head for their respective farms.

June Allison sadly relates that husband-Dick Powell is shopping for another boat. June, who cares not for any form of air or sea travel, says the only bright note is that he is seeking a power cruise. "It gets you there twice as fast and you're only half as sick," she remarks.

MGM Censor Al Block was smoking while sitting on a bed on the "Little Women" set. "I'm breaking one of my new rules," he commented. No longer will smoking in bed be permitted in MGM pictures, since many people are killed every year because of bed fires. Which shows you how careful film makers have to be.

Wren, a second-year journalism student at Paris Junior College, was in the Navy nearly three years. His definition, March said, was the best of nearly 2,000 submitted after the candidate offered $100 last month for "UnTexan" definitions.

Wren's winning letter read in part: "Not long ago I read about a veterans' state bonus bill and told my wife that it wouldn't be long until she and our baby had some new clothes... then I heard about it—that word that is called 'UnTexan.'"

"I thought over a definition of the word and found there were two things to define it. One is Beauford H. Jester! Any guy in our state who doesn't want our veterans to have what others are getting (I refer to the bonus other states are paying) is, as he says, 'UnTexan.'"

"And there is another definition for the word and I use that in reference to any veteran who votes for Jester."

to do something, he does it.

The actor who is making about the top profit in town—this may surprise you—is Randolph Scott, because he participates in the profits of his films.

Bette Davis and Robert Montgomery will take a fast powder when they finish "June Bride" in a few days. They'll head for their respective farms.

Pampan Wins Plane Contest

Carl C. Hall, 315 N. Banks, captured first place at the first annual Plainview Model Plane Contest held at Plainview yesterday.

Competing in the open class, Hall won after his model airplane made 108.5 miles an hour.

Another Pampa entry in the all-day show came through with first place in his class. John Snyder's plane, winning first honors in the Class AB division, made a mileage of 83 mph.

Several hundred spectators saw the 56 models competing in the Plainview show. It was one of the best shows of its kind in this part of the country, said visiting representatives of the Plymouth Corp., which co-sponsored the contest with Plainview Plymouth dealers.

Other winners include: A. E. Irvin of Lubbock, second place in the open speed division with 93.5 miles per hour; Charles Norfleet, Hase Center, Junior, 83 mph, first; James Carpenter, Lubbock, 79.5 mph, second.

Class C, John Snyder, first 78.5 mph; Class D, Jerry Longley, Lubbock, 99.5 mph.

Free flight: Class A, Jimmy Grigsby, Plainview, first; Kenneth Smith, Lubbock, second.

Many Never Suspect Cause of Backaches

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of sleep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Silhouettes for '49

BASEL, Switzerland — (AP) — A rowing club here plans to row a good part of the way from Basel to London for the Olympic games.

Last season in which a team was in first place on July 4 and then failed to win the American League flag was 1940. Cleveland led at the mid-way but Detroit took the title.

The American Legation in Copenhagen has been raised to 2000 feet.

A Hollywood director says an actress has to be at least 30 before she is convincing in her love scenes. He admits the young actresses in Hollywood have it over the 30-and-ups in looks, but says that while young girls are speaking tender words to the handsome heroes their eyes are about as expressive as they are when ordering an ice cream soda. That is an observation that can be applied to women in general. At 18 or 20 a girl looks like a man's ideal woman. But she seldom talks or acts the part convincingly. Why?

TOO SELF-CENTERED
Because at 18 or 20 all she is interested in is herself. She is thinking about how SHE looks; how SHE is feeling; whether SHE is having a good time; what kind an impression SHE is making. The woman of 30 has lost a lot of that self-centeredness. She has learned that the way to really charm a man is to think not about

Committee Plans Back Yard Coffee For Ruth Class

A committee consisting of Mesdames Aaron Meek, Harold McMurray, William R. Ballard, John J. Childers and A. B. McPherson met last Thursday in the home of Mrs. Everett Butler to plan for a social for the Ruth Class of the First Baptist Church.

The affair decided upon will be a "Back Yard Coffee" at the home of Mrs. McMurray, 214 N. Somerville, on Friday morning, July 23, from 9:30 to 11 o'clock. Members of Group 1 of Ruth Class will assist Mrs. McMurray as co-hostesses. Announcement has been made that all members, members in service and prospective members are urged to attend the coffee.

herself but about HIM. So she concentrates on making him feel happy and pleased with himself and on giving him a build-up.

So women can be grateful for the fact that young girls are often self-centered. Because if a girl of 20—with her natural good looks—had the poise and charm of a woman of 30, the mature woman wouldn't have a chance with a man. As it is the charms of the young girl and those of the young woman are about evenly divided.

DAY-LONG SHEER

Basic dress of sheer navy crepe styled for a woman's figure. Collar is edged with lace-trimmed organza.

The recent remark of a well-dressed woman that even though she had never been clothes-mad she had always found it worthwhile to look her best expresses the fashion philosophy of most mature women. This Spring, more so than in seasons, it is entirely possible regardless of what you can spend, or what your size problem happens to be. Styles which "fit to begin with" whether you take regular women's sizes, "caters" sizes, or "half sizes" for the short and stout, are big news in New York designer collections... and all at a price.

The sheer crepe coat-dress pictured today, as purposeful as it is inexpensive, is an example of the new, real values for the average woman's purse. It has the three-quarter length sleeves, the look of easy fullness, and the distinction which the mature person likes in her clothes, and it is a dress she can wear throughout the day, and with many different accessories. Small-printed sheers, one-piece polka dot shirtwaist dresses, and simply-designed pastel crepes are other excellent fashions shown this Spring in a variety of women's sizes.

Fragments of rugs dating back hundreds of years before the Christian era still exist.

Lefors YWA Holds Slumber Party

LEFORS — The Elizabeth Rhea YWA of the Lefors Baptist Church met Monday night in the home of Lena Pearl Dick. New officers were elected and plans were made for a slumber party to be held July 26 at the church. It was announced that the mission book will be given and that all unmarried girls, age 16 to 25, are invited to attend.

Attending the meeting last Monday night were, besides the hostess, Maxine Crossan, Nina Pearl Maple, Christine Guthrie and Mrs. Ben Cheek, the sponsor.

In the 47 year history of the American League, the team that was in first place on July 4 won the pennant in 20 seasons. Seventeen teams failed to make the World Series after leading at the mid-way point.

Records Kept On Mosquito Bites

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Government people who counted thousands of mosquito bites jotted down these vital statistics on their scratch pads:
1. Mosquitoes scored only five hits in 1,000 dive bombing attacks on a human target clothed in an Army field jacket.
2. But the pesky things broke through 690 times in 1,000 strikes against light Navy nylon opposition.
3. After testing 56 kinds of clothing materials, the Agriculture Department's bug and insect specialists came to the sad conclusion that no cloth is sweater-proof.

Polls Opened For One Voter

SEATTLE — (AP) — King County set up its election machinery and opened the polls for one voter. He was Roland G. Burrows and the question was: Should his two acres of land be annexed to water district No. 68?
The result: for, 1; against, 0.

It Couldn't Happen, but It Did

The chances were decidedly against a shiny new 1948 car crashing into a dusty old 1898 cabriolet, but crash they did. It happened in New York, where the ancient horse-drawn vehicle carries passengers around Central Park. The car, which had been stolen, slammed into the cabriolet, but no one was injured.

Present Happenings Carry Out Predictions of Biblical Verse

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Peace, peace, the Bible said. The prophet Jeremiah said that about 2,600 years ago.

It is almost three years now since Japan surrendered and World War II ended.

And where are we now, three years later? Quiet, are we? Are we comfortable now, in the rocking-chair of peace?

Communism has spilled over the Russian frontier, leaked through the cracks of Eastern Europe, lapping hungrily at the borders of Western Europe.

The story that follows is made up entirely of paragraphs from Associated Press stories picked out from the front pages of Washington newspapers Tuesday.

The shy, tender, nervous Jeremiah would have understood them well. Here they are:

WASHINGTON — President Truman today issued a proclamation calling for the draft registration to start Aug. 30.

THE HAGUE — Leaders of the five Western European nations viewed the Berlin crisis as "extremely grave" and advised utmost caution in dealing with the Russians.

ATHENS — The Greek general staff said today that guerrillas blew up a train in Thrace, killing 14 women and wounding six.

In Western Macedonia 46 rebels were killed and 15 captured. Army losses were listed as 17 dead and 92 wounded.

FRANKFURT — Gen. Lucius Clay, American commander in Germany, was summoned to Washington today to report on the Berlin crisis.

NEW YORK — Twelve U. S. Communist Party leaders and members were indicted today on charges of advocating the overthrow of the United States government.

CAIRO — Jewish sources in Haifa said today that fighting (with Arabs) still was going on in Northern Palestine on the third day of the truce imposed by the United Nations.

Power Farming Making Strides

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Power farming has made rapid strides in the nation the last year. Implement & Tractor, farm equipment magazine, reported.

The magazine, in its eleventh annual statistical issue, said there now are 3,114,596 tractors on farms as compared to 2,777,111 a year ago.

It also estimated there are more trucks and cars on farms today than ever before, placing the number of trucks at 2,191,621 and cars at 4,928,127.

The number of farms electrified was given as 3,817,100, representing half the number in the nation. The magazine estimated that 2,265,396 farms have running water.

But, reported the 63-year-old magazine, only 18 percent of the nation's population now lives on farms as compared to 25 percent in 1929. Total farm acreage, however, has jumped from 987,000,000 in 1930 to 1,100,000,000 and acreage per farm has jumped from 174 to 180 acres.

The magazine, predicting another million tractors would be sold in the next five years, explained farm equipment manufacturers still were hampered by manpower, steel and related shortages.

Shaw Sees No Need for Soap

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, Eng. — (AP) — George Bernard Shaw thinks people ought to stop using soap on their faces.

"Why should anyone rub soap on his or her face?" the playwright asked in an article written for the Optical News, a new Irish magazine.

"It hurts the eyes, nose and mouth, which all need cleaning," Shaw went on. "It makes children hate being washed. Sensible women use face creams, instead."

Papal Medal

One of two gold medals recently presented by the Vatican to the Pope commemorates his 1947 achievements. It bears a portrait of the Pope on the face, and on the back the nine saints canonized during the year. At bottom right is St. Francis Xavier Cabrini, first American citizen to be so honored.

Women Flock to Tattoo Parlors

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The waterfront tattoo parlor has a branch office uptown these days. The technique's a little different, but the idea's just about the same.

And who do you think are the best customers? Women. The same women who would look most askance at an arrow-pierced heart on a swain's bicep, or a ship crossing a manly chest under full sail.

Dr. Robert A. Franklyn, Hollywood plastic surgeon, says women are turning increasingly to tattooing for eyebrows, lips and even eyes. Removing birthmarks and creating beauty marks are popular sidelines. Says he:

"Eyebrow tattooing is a great thing for girls who can't draw straight lines. And women with tattooed lips never leave lipstick on cocktail glasses or shirtfronts."

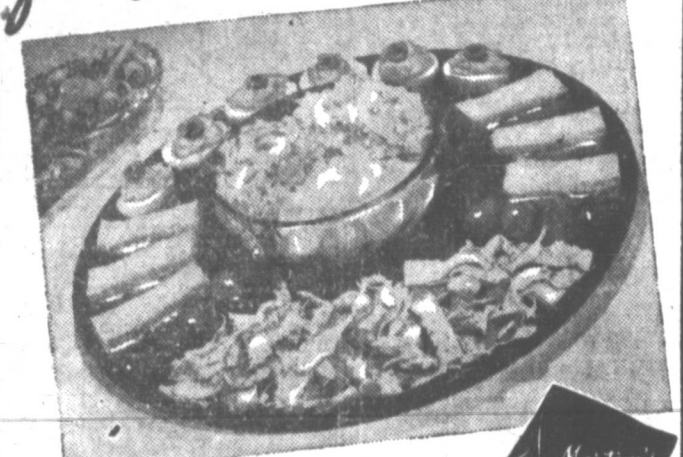

On the lips, the red tattoo—or purple, if desired—can reduce the overplump variety or give the voluptuous look to the thin-lipped. Most popular, he finds, is the "full, sensual, pouting underlip." But the needle can also provide petulance, sophistication or an air of innocence.

For the eyes, Dr. Franklyn—who was with the Royal Canadian Air Force—and other wartime plastic surgeons developed treatments to repair damaged pupils. They have been adapted to plastic surgery, at a price, to actually change the color of the iris.

So now girls, if you want, you can be green-eyed redheads, with really hissing lips. For $500 up on the eyes, $200 up on the lips.

Has Your Cow Acted Thus? Use Suggested Diagnosis

Dairymen should be on the look-out for a cow who exhibits these symptoms: poor appetite, low milk production, a gingerly walk and a dislike for moving down hill. She may be in danger of being stabbed to death.

Add to these symptoms an intermittent fever, increased heart action and breathing rate, and a veterinarian should immediately be called in to hold a stethoscope on the cow's windpipe, and thump under the second stomach. If the cow grunts at this treatment that's final proof. She has a piece of wire or metal sticking in her stomach and without prompt surgery, she will die.

This is what kills half the cattle that die on a well-managed farm, according to Doctors Arthur B. Christian and E. L. Shuford, North Carolina veterinarians who have conducted a ten-year series of post-mortems at the Biltmore Dairy in Asheville. Their research and findings are reported in the July issue of Country Gentleman.

The two doctors are responsible for the foregoing method of diagnosis and for "operation" hard-ware, the surgery which can save afflicted cattle. They claim that this operation has a 90 to 95 percent chance of success if undertaken in time, adding that any competent veterinarian can readily learn to perform it.

Stressing the extreme importance of early diagnosis, Dr. Christian says: "The important thing is the diagnosis. The operation is useless unless you get the wire, or whatever it is, before the stomach is penetrated."

The article points out that the operation is relatively simple. Clean, dust-free surroundings are necessary. The cow is shaved to remove the hair at the point of incision—high on the left flank, in the hollow near the hip bone. A hypodermic of local anesthetic insures that there is no pain as the knife cuts through skin, muscle tissue and the peritoneum. Very little bleeding occurs, and as the incision is completed the top of the first stomach is exposed. This, too, is cut open, and a rubber apron with a funnel-like opening is tucked in place. It holds the incision open so the veterinarian can reach directly into the stomach without touching the raw edges of the cut, and also prevents anything falling in to the body cavity of the cow.

The vet wears a shoulder-length rubber glove, and must remove the partly digested fodder in order to reach down into the second stomach where the metal is probably lodged. After the operation, in which a suture is used that the body fluids can absorb, the stomach wall knits together as if it were plastic. The vet then sews the peritoneum, muscle and skin all together at once, dusting in nearly a whole jar of sulfa powder.

The cow will recover extremely rapidly, the article concludes.

Hatchery Production Below 5-Year Average

AUSTIN —(AP)—Texas commercial hatchery production last month rose eight percent above that in the comparable month a year ago, but remained 10 percent under the five-year average for June, the United States Department of Agriculture reported yesterday.

June production was placed at 3,335,000 chicks.

Egg production from Texas farm flocks was estimated at 267,000,000 eggs last month, six percent less than the same month last year.

Amos Harris, Jr. Wins First In Kiwanis Wheat Contest

GLENN HARRIS, brother of Amos Harris, Jr., who won first prize in the Kiwanis Wheat Improvement Contest, is shown up to his knees in his Westar wheat which won him second place in the contest. At his left is Vic Joyner, assistant county agent and director of the Gray County 4-H Club boys.

Amos Harris, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Harris of Kingsmill, will be presented a loving place from his Westar wheat grown on his section of the Harris farm a mile east and two miles south of Kingsmill. He harvested slightly more than 31 bushels to the acre.

Brent Carruth, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carruth of Pampa, will be awarded the third prize. Slightly more than 18 bushels to the acre.

Improved Grain to Better Texas Crop

"The upward trend in the acreage of better yielding varieties of wheat" was credited by V. C. Childs, agricultural statistician of the USDA for Texas in his July crop report as one of the contributing factors to the better than expected out-turn of the 1948 wheat crop in Texas.

"A comparison of the harvested acreages of acceptable milling and baking varieties in 1947 with 1948, county by county shows a total of 386,800 acres switched to these better varieties. This is an increase of approximately 6 percent in acceptable types of wheat," states Keats Soder, director of the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Program, whose job is to plug these new wheats.

Texas wheat growers were not able to kill their volunteer last planting season, so did not do as well as Oklahoma farmers who came up with 990,500 acres of additional improved varieties for a total of improvement of 14 percent the acre were netted from each of the two varieties of wheat he grew. They were Early Triumph and Standard Black Hull wheat.

All three of the boys will display their wheat at the Tri-State Fair held in Amarillo during October. The first prize, or loving cup presented by the Kiwanis Club, will have Amos' name inscribed on it. If he should win the cup for a second time next year, he will be allowed to keep the cup. The second and third prizes of the contest are ribbons.

according to Soder. The total of 1,377,000 acres in the two states is almost exactly a 10 percent average improvement and means over 15 million bushels of additional good types for millers and bakers in the next few months. Wheat growers boosted their income at least 5 bushels on every one of these acres for a total of $10 extra for every acre. "No wonder demand for seed of the Comanche, Westar, Wichita and Triumph varieties is in such strong demand today," Soder concluded.

163 Judges Are Businessmen

Our position on the county judgeship has not changed from that first stated in this column last Jan. 26.

At that time we said:
"We think that at least for the next two years the legal side of administering the judgeship could very profitably give way somewhat to the business side. We think that some businessmen, having time to spend in the public business, should come out for the office. Such men, with a record for past accomplishment in the field of business, would merit the overwhelming vote of the people. Moreover, we think they would receive that acclaim from the people."

At that time we advanced the thought that perhaps there were many counties in the state that had businessmen for judges. There was some doubt advanced as to the validity of our thought in that connection, we took the time to look into the matter.

We wired E. C. Grindstaff, county judge of Bunnells County, Texas, as president of the State Association of County Judges. He reported that there are 163 county judges out of the 254 county judges that are not lawyers. Only ninety-one of the state's county judges are lawyers.

Therefore, we do not believe we are wrong in advocating a businessman for the office at least for the next two years. If we are wrong the state of Texas seems to be wrong, and we don't believe the state is wrong. In fact, we think the state is right almost all the time, especially in matters of this sort.

Check the record of the candidates before you make up your mind about a candidate Saturday. You won't go wrong.

Aside from this argument, however, we do urge you to vote for someone.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN
Well, I see that Lansing, Mich., has a drive-in bank where motorists just sit in their cars and do their banking. The idea isn't new with me, because I once drove into a bank when I thought a truck was chasing me.

But goodness, I get confused enough in banks now without driving in and wondering if my checking account needs a new set of spurs. I don't want to keep looking at my gas tank gauge to see if I'd overdraw my account again.

Anyway, my husband says I can run through enough money just walking to a cashier's window without driving 20 miles an hour. But I think I could save quite a bit of time now speed trying to identify myself. With a drive-in bank, that fresh motorcycle officer who nearly always follows me when I go driving would be right on hand to tell who I am.

The recent conciliatory sounds from Russia are a direct recognition of the defeat in the Italian election, of the growing indications of the success of the Marshall Plan and of the news from America that we are strengthening our armed man power and Air Force and legislation against the Communist fifth-column tactics.

Europe's production of bread grains (wheat and rye) will be much greater this year than in 1946 or 1947, but still about 15 percent below pre-war level.

FOURTH PARTY

WASHINGTON — There is revival of fourth-party talk. For some years there have been desultory efforts to get a conservative party going. What are the chances for such a party?

The talk always goes with the complaint that the two major political parties have not given the voters a choice since the Republicans nominated Willie and the Democrats, Roosevelt, in 1940.

Last year there were at least half a dozen small scale threats, or promises, to launch a conservative organization, and more recently there is a regional threat in the Old South.

Whether any such efforts will crystallize across the continent in the next few years, depends on what the Dewey administration (assuming its election) will do. If Dewey adopts a traditional American attitude toward business, generally believes in capitalism, does not attempt any radical socialization, such as federal education subsidies, and socialized medicine, and does not force the civil rights program—it will relieve the pressure among both Republicans and Democrats for a conservative party.

It will, in such an event, pull many conservative Democrats across the mythical Mason-Dixon line into the Republican Party.

If it should draw off enough of the conservatives from the Democrats—and they are mighty un-

Fair Enough.... by Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK — In one final, thundering, dazzling blast of hubbub, hypocrisy and confusion, the Democrats blew up their convention as they went along home reasonably proud of a job well done. This explosion had to be and they made it a good one.

None among them had entertained the slightest doubt all week that the gray train was in the ditch. Last Thursday, however, it remained no reason to continue the pretense that the true Democrats of the Deep South had anything in common with Eleanor the Great and the "minority" rascals, the union-baiters, and the Curleys and Keays and Farleys of the North.

As long back as the fourth term convention of 1944 in Chicago, when their late mahatma deigned to accept the nomination without a word of thanks to the priceless mob in the hall, it had been noted that here was an aggregation of mutually hateful elements held together nevertheless by the gall and guile of a faker. So the obvious next order of business was an open confession of opinion by all these fretful inmates of the crazy house.

The Southern Democrat is less about toward Negroes than late Roosevelt himself was all in his statements of policy on the subject. Only 75 years ago, within the life of his grandfather, the Southern white man was "Jim Crowed by an inarticulate, undisciplined horde of freed men who were stimulated to overbearing conduct by unscrupulous whites. These carpetbaggers were the true political and moral fathers of the left-wing Northern New Dealers of today. The Southern white man was covered with guns, driven from the polls while the Negroes were encouraged to vote away his last trifles of liberty and property."

His policy is that he will never let that happen again. He has never been persuaded by any of the vague assurances of the North that the white Democrats who rarely took the trouble to try to persuade him, anyway. On the contrary, most of them have grimly indicated that another spell of humbling would serve them right.

The being of the party, and this white Democratic, who rarely took the trouble to try to persuade him, anyway. On the contrary, most of them have grimly indicated that another spell of humbling would serve them right.

of a thousand million words addressed to the eye and ear from that convention, they were not named. These Northern "minorities" thus rule the whole country as a balance of power, but always as anonymous forces.

The Democratic Party under Roosevelt forbade price-cutting, under criminal penalties, as a violation of the National Recovery Act, which Maurice Tobia, the Governor of Massachusetts, extolled on closing night in another phase of the same dispensation, citizens were sent to jail for raising prices. Employers were pilloried for greed in paying niggardly wages and threatened with jail for raising the wages of individuals on the ground that such raises were intended to persuade them that unions were not necessary for their progress. The South, which had almost no mob violence, was threatened with an anti-lynching law by this convention in a resolution pushed through by states were union mobs run wild.

In the final end of it, Jimmy Roosevelt, a parasite on the party and his father's position for fifteen years and part of the time a front for an old-time prohibition mob at $5,000 a month, bobbed up as the leader of the opposition to the one mah his father selected to carry on. And Hague and Kelly and O'Dwyer, New York, Catholics and not stalwarts of reaction, by a marvel possible only to Democrats in the most advanced stages, were found on the side of Justice William O. Douglas, who is somewhat to the left of Henry Wallace, the candidate of Josef Stalin.

It was time to turn it off. Another hour and they would have nominated Tom Dewey.

OFFICE CAT

PROMOTED TO BROTHER-IN-LAW (Wall Street Journal)

A certain Southern lady waited what her neighbors considered an inordinately short time, after the death of her husband, to marry his brother. She did have the kindness to have a picture of her deceased husband's portrait, and this somewhat modified her friends—that is, until they overheard a remark she made to a stranger who came to her house.

"Tell me," said the stranger, with a nod toward the picture, "is that distinguished-looking gentleman—"

"Oh," said the recently married lady, "that's my poor brother-in-law. He passed away recently."

"He—Don't you think that 'ever men make excellent husbands'?"

"My dear, eleven men don't become husbands."

Common Ground

The Futility of Compromise

Some persons criticize the position of this column because it is opposed to compromising on moral grounds. Some claim that we are not practical for this reason.

On the subject of "The Futility of Compromise" or "The Penalty of Surrender," Leonard Read, President of the Foundation for Economic Education has supplied a very informative presentation. As a way of introduction to the importance of the Foundation for Economic Education, I believe it is the soundest organization in the United States and one that is most consistently advocating the principles on which this government was formed. The article "Penalty of Surrender" is a reproduction of an address made by Leonard Read in January, 1948 at the Sunday Evening Club of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles. I quote:

"These remarks, hardly more than a personal confession of faith, have their origin in an attitude or behavior commonly referred to as 'compromising.'"

"The compromising attitude is exalted by many and deplored by only a few."

"As an example of the way this attitude is exalted, a certain business leader, perhaps the most publicized one in the country, once severely lectured me on my unswerving refusal to compromise in my behavior. He charged that I was things only in blacks and whites. He said that practical life was lived in shades of grays, actually in the shadows of these two extremes. He suggested that I had a nice chance of 'going far' in the world if only I would become more pliable to the thoughts and actions of my fellows."

"This criticism by so popular a person left me somewhat speechless. While it is true that I felt no sense of guilt whatever, nor even an unfaithfulness to those who thought differently than I, nonetheless, I found myself unable to do more than stammer in my own defense. Did you ever experience the feeling of being unable to deal promptly and effectively above may require additional power to deal promptly and effectively above. Indeed, there are reports that in one of his first messages to Capitol Hill, he may request the legislators to remain in continuous session until the current conflict with Moscow has been resolved peacefully or belligerently."

Despite reports, Mr. Truman did not want to bring back Congress, figuring that it might hurt rather than help him. His so-called political managers, however, argued he had nothing to lose, in view of his present low state.

But it is understood that the most convincing argument for a special session was advanced by Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the President. He based his thesis solely on the threatening situation overseas.

PRETEXT — President Truman, for instance, has no legal authority for his recent dispatch of sixty B-29's to Britain if they are to be stationed there for any length of time. He has no more right to make such a move on his own than Franklin D. Roosevelt had when he shipped artillery, rifles and ammunition to England after Dunkirk without the knowledge or consent of Congress.

The air armada has been sent abroad on the pretext that it is making a trial test, and with no reference to the "Battle of Berlin." Despite this bit of official casuistry and deception, British and French officials are under no illusion as to the reasons for this air reinforcement.

They regard it as an attempt to back up General Lucius D. Clay at the German capital in his Russian seek to block the air corridors through which we fly food and fuel to our sector of Berlin. As our naval vessels pass B-29's on foreign ports, so these B-29's may remain in England, France or Germany under executive order for a short time. But Army lawyers believe that a permanent/stay must be based on Congressional authorization.

REASON — Some of Mr. Truman's political advisers maintain he should have highlighted the foreign difficulties as his main reason for the special session. Then when he had kidnapped the legislators from their homes, he could have sprung on them his demands that they make good on their platform pledges on high prices, health, education etc. For the fact is that the reaction to the Truman challenge has been generally unfavorable. White House Secretary Charles G. Ross's announcement that letters on this question have been favorable by a twenty-to-one ratio does not mean a thing.

As a rule, only those holding the affirmative ever communicate their views to the White House, and they usually consist of extreme.

There is no longer any reason why the South should vote Democratic or the North, Republican. Both regions now are industrial as well as agricultural. Both now are hosts to the same appalling race problem — though Northern people are slower to wake up to the threat.

Federal police control of mobs under an administration friendly to leftist union mobs would spread as much terrorism in the North as in the South. An FEPC would make a Tower of Babel out of Northern firms no less than Southern.

If both major parties continue to try to outdo Henry Wallace on only one frustrating power — the private secret police of left wing organizations can prevent conservatives from forming a fourth party.

In fact, it has been the smear power, the power of the radical machine to spread misrepresentation, falsehoods and confusion which prevented the rise of one more conservative groups to date.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The increasingly dangerous crises in Berlin, the Middle East and the Far East are now advanced by White House advisers as an important reason for President Truman's demand that Congress assemble in a special session next Monday.

Although they do not attempt to laugh off the general accusation that his primary motive was political, and designed chiefly to embarrass the Dewey-Warren ticket, they insist the Chief Executive may require additional power to deal promptly and effectively above. Indeed, there are reports that in one of his first messages to Capitol Hill, he may request the legislators to remain in continuous session until the current conflict with Moscow has been resolved peacefully or belligerently.

Despite reports, Mr. Truman did not want to bring back Congress, figuring that it might hurt rather than help him. His so-called political managers, however, argued he had nothing to lose, in view of his present low state.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

"Build it better and sell it for less to more people."

That is the "Success Secret" of Powell Crosley, Jr., President of Crosley Motors, Inc.

Mr. Crosley's Success Secret not only made him successful, but it is one of the men who saw the value of mass production—which has given the American people the highest standard of living of any people in the world. Back in 1921 Mr. Crosley's son, Powell III, heard a radio receiver and asked his father to buy him one. Mr. Crosley shopped around and found that the cheapest radio retailed for $119. There wasn't much future for radio, he decided, if that was going to be the lowest price.

Up until that time Crosley knew next to nothing about radio. But with the aid of a cent manual and two University of Cincinnati engineering students, he designed a one-tube set that could be sold for $30. Two radio "hams" built him a 20-watt transmitter so that the buyers of sets would have something to listen to.

The rest is history. Within one year Mr. Crosley's company was the largest manufacturer of radio sets in the world. The transmitter that started with 20 watts power became the world-famous WLW.

Crosley could easily have retired back in 1921. He could have pocketed the fortune he had made in his mail-order business which sold automobile accessories nationally. Instead, he became the world's largest manufacturer of radio's.

He might have retired in 1945, when he sold his interest in the Crosley Corporation, with a much larger fortune. Instead, he organized and a largely financed Crosley Motors, the country's biggest producer of light-weight, low-priced automobiles.

Once more Mr. Crosley is putting his life-long Success Secret into effect. At an age when most men would be reflecting proudly on their achievements, he is carrying a new career of "building it better and selling it for less to more people."

Here is a Success Secret that cannot be taught. It is waiting for you to use. All you need is a little boldness, a little bit of self-confidence, a willingness to "launch out." (Copyright 1946, General Features Corp.)

New Drug Meets With Some Success in Fighting Polio

NEW YORK —(AP)—Aureomycin, a new drug that is being tried on infantile paralysis in Texas and on a little-known venereal disease in New York City, has been formally unveiled.

This drug is in the same class as penicillin and streptomycin, that is, it is an antibiotic made from chemicals that microbes produce. It was developed at the Lederle Laboratories, New Jersey, and was discussed in a day-long session under auspices of the New York Academy of Sciences, Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons and the University of Texas Medical School have been trying it.

The importance of aureomycin lies in the fact that it is effective against some viruses. These are peculiar "bugs", usually much smaller than germs or bacteria. The virus bugs live only inside tissue cells, and that makes it hard for most drugs to reach them. In polio there never has been any medicine that penetrated inside the nerve cells where the polio bug, a very small virus, does its destructive work. The new aureomycin has shown effectiveness against the virus causing lymphogranuloma, a venereal disease resembling syphilis. Doctors Murray Saunders and Alton E. Braley, of Columbia reported that the new drug is better for this venereal disease than any other remedy they have tried in more than 20 years.

The theory is that if aureomycin attacks one virus it may be able to destroy a different virus. The polio virus is a different bug. There have been numerous reports that 60 Texas polio patients are up and walking, due to aureomycin, and the same reports also have credited these alleged recoveries to another new drug, thiazolyl, a relative of vitamin B-1.

Dr. Chauncey Leake, dean of the University of Texas Medical School, reported that 60 patients had been treated with both drugs. He mentioned no cures and said it is too early to give an opinion on the value of the drugs.

Gray County Needs a Successful Businessman for County Judge

JOHN O. PITTS IS THAT MAN!

Problems that confront Gray County during the next several years can ONLY be solved by sane, sound business judgment. Many counties in the great state of Texas that receive the best county management are counties that have experienced, successful businessmen as County Judges.

New Look Will Fade This Fall

NEW YORK —(AP)—Mrs. U.S.A. can look forward to a season of contented shopping next fall, as the new clothes now being previewed by the nation's fashion press are exactly what she ordered.

Proving that she has a mind of her own, the typical American woman frankly balked at last fall's freakish "new look," and announced—"I'll have none of it!" The only thing remaining of the French inspired silhouette is the longer skirt length—about eleven inches from the floor is average daytime length—but the bulky skirts and padded hips and the pinched waists have gone the way of all unbecoming fashions.

The new silhouette is slim, streamlined, ladylike, faintly victorian, and almost always flat-tering.

Suits are likely to be trimmed in precious furs, fitted as to jacket, slim as to skirt, accompanied by small barrel muffs.

Man Steals Own Mother's Cow

FRANKLIN, Ind. —(AP)—Soot Pitcher, 38-year-old farmer, was the Indiana State Prison on his plea of guilty to stealing his widowed mother's only cow.

Pitcher, sentenced by Circuit Judge Grant Rodgers, had been charged with grand larceny by his mother, Mrs. Faisy Pitcher. She had lost all her possessions except the cow when fire destroyed her home last year.
