

Native American, Vietnamese Shrimpers

Both Sides Seek Limited Entry

By Pat Blair

Vietnamese and native American shrimpers have reached agreement about one thing: both sides want a limited entry policy for area bays.

The questions that remain to be resolved concern how many boats the shrimpers are talking about.

An inventory of American and Vietnamese boats was agreed on Thursday morning, January 22, in the latest of a series of meetings with a representative of the U.S. Justice Department — and the first in which native Americans and Vietnamese talked together.

And another meeting was set for Friday afternoon or evening — with no exact time determined as of Thursday afternoon — in which it is expected that Vietnamese shrimpers will give their answer to a request by the Americans that they consider cutting back on their fishing fleet.

Meetings began Tuesday evening, January 20, with a session between American shrimpers and Efrain V. Martinez, conciliator-director of the Houston field office, Community Relations Service of the Federal Department of Justice.

That was followed by a meeting between Martinez and representatives of the Vietnamese fishermen Wednesday morning and another meeting between Martinez and some six or seven representatives of the American shrimpers again Wednesday afternoon.

At Thursday morning's session, six representatives from the Vietnamese community in Fulton met with the American representatives to discuss the situation.

What one shrimper, Leon Bateman, called a "stumbling block" concerns the number of boats being operated by the Vietnamese shrimpers.

At Thursday's meeting, the Vietnamese spokesman said Vietnamese fishermen presently have 30 or 31 boats in the water and 11 boats are being built. Of these 11, three are replacement vessels.

Asked how many boats the Vietnamese feel they could limit themselves to, one of the spokesmen said, "We request that the number we have right now is our expectation."

Bateman said he had earlier been led to believe the Vietnamese had agreed to limit their boats to 29.

Another shrimper, Danny Adams, suggested that the two committees "take a break, ask them (the Vietnamese) to think about cutting back (on the number of boats)."

Adams added that this would be a sacrifice on the part of the Vietnamese fishermen, but the American shrimpers would on their part "sacrifice the legality." He was referring to the issue of "Documentation" which is a federal

Tanks Explode Near Aransas Pass

An explosion involving two oil tanks located at an oil storage farm near Aransas Pass occurred Wednesday night and resulted in a fire, injuring two men and bringing in firemen from six surrounding areas.

The two men injured, Eric Wilson of Conroe and Daniel McCoy of Aransas Pass, were working at the storage facility when the tanks, one empty and one half-full, exploded. The men suffered first and second degree burns but escaped serious injury. Both were taken to the Lyman-Roberts emergency room, treated and released.

After firemen answered the alarm the blaze was put out in a short time — approximately an hour and ten minutes, according to Aransas Pass Assistant Fire Chief Richard Graf.

Graf reported two cars destroyed during the fire in addition to the storage tanks, and added that as yet, the cause for the explosion has not been found.

Graf said the storage site belonged to the Milam State Company from Houston.

Among the fire units answering the alarm were Rockport and Fulton Fire Departments. Fire Chief Jimmy Hattenbach of Fulton reported eleven firetrucks at the scene with two trucks each from Rockport and Fulton. Approximately forty firemen from this area were involved in the effort.

Airport Receives TAC Grant

The Aransas County Airport has received a $50,000 grant from the Texas Aeronautics Commission as part of the TAC's $780,000 loan program for ground facilities development at state airports.

The funds will partially finance the seal-coating of the 5,600 foot runway #14/32.

Total cost of the project will be $80,000 with the county adding $30,000 to the TAC funds.

County Judge John Wendell said the asphalt project will start when the weather warms up and will be handled by the engineering firm of A.R.E., Inc. of Austin. Joe Hernandez, Jr. will be the project engineer.

Shrimp Landings Top Totals For '79

With totals available for 11 months of 1980, shrimp landings of Rockport-Fulton-Aransas Pass were running about 1 million pounds ahead of landings for the same period in 1979.

Through November of 1980, some 11,861,800 pounds of shrimp had been landed in ports in this area, compared to 10,823,400 pounds for the January-November, 1979, period.

November landings for area ports totalled 996,600 pounds, the second-highest in the Texas coast system. Leading the state in November landings — and in January-November landings for 1980 — was the Brownsville-Port Isabel system.

Brownsville-Port Isabel landings totalled 1,012,300 pounds for November for an 11-month total of 12,012,800.

The Brownsville-Port Isabel ports and those in the Rockport-Fulton-Aransas Pass System were the only ports in Texas to report landings of more than 10 million pounds of shrimp during the first 11 months of 1980, according to figures from the National Marine Fisheries Service.

While Aransas County Sheriff Bob Hewes, left, writes down what was marked, Rockport Police Chief James Craig engraves one of the city's walkie-talkies to insure it against theft. The engravers and checklists are available at the Rockport Pilot office as part of the countywide Neighborhood Crime Watch underway this year in an effort to cut down on burglaries. County residents are being urged to use the engravers — they are available at no charge — to mark their property, preferably with their driver's license number. The fact that the property can be identified discourages thieves and, if it is stolen anyway, the owner can be traced through his or her driver's license. Stickers will be available later that say property within your home has been marked for easy identification — another deterrent to would-be burglars. [Pilot Photo by Pat Blair]

"IT'S AN ATTRACTNE, THREE BEDROOM CAPE COD WITH ONE MINOR FLAW."

Our Readers Write

To the Editor:
Judge Rachel Littlejohn and Judge Ronald M. Yeager have issued the following statement:
It is with great regret that we learn that our well-beloved District Clerk, Mrs. Winnie Light, is planning to retire. She has been an inspiration and help to each of us, and to the former judges of the district, and the many other officials and citizens she has served so faithfully. Mrs. Light has been a byword for courtesy and helpfulness to everyone who has been in her office. Her office is noted for the efficiency and dedication of Mrs. Light and all her staff. We sympathize with her health problems, however, and wish her good health and enjoyment of the well-deserved retirement.

Our desire to see the fine work of this office continued prompts us to appoint the most competent person to succeed her. Mrs. Patricia Norton has been a deputy in the District Clerk's office, and chief deputy, for a number of years. She is thoroughly familiar with the work of the office. Our belief is that Mrs. Norton should be appointed to succeed Mrs. Light as District Clerk, and this appointment will shortly be made, to take effect upon the retirement of Mrs. Light.

Dear Editor:
Since authoring the Sunset Act in 1977, I have sought to use it as a tool to assure both the responsiveness and efficiency of state agencies. During 1979 I wrote you concerning the first round of our Sunset Commission's activities. Editorial support and news coverage around the state were vital in encouraging the members of the Legislature to consider the needs of the general citizenry as each agency was reviewed. The results of that first review cycle included the abolition of several largely non-functioning agencies, the consolidation of some duplicative agencies, and, perhaps most importantly, the application of a number of key Sunset principles for each agency that was renewed.

Since the end of the 1979 Session, the staff and members of the Sunset Commission have been reviewing 28 additional agencies, and a final report will be filed in the near future. It includes recommendations for the abolition or merger of five of the 28 agencies and for reforms in many of the others. Many of the agencies reviewed this interim were in the health care field. While most of the Sunset Commission work represents careful consideration of the facts gathered by our staff from its audit of the agencies, I believe the Sunset Commission fell short in its evaluation of the Board of Medical Examiners and the Board of Nurse Examiners.

Enclosed you will find a copy of the Minority Report that I am filing dealing with these two agencies. Action on these matters involves both consistency in applying good Sunset principles to all agencies, even those with strong lobbyists and political action committees, and to vital health care issues relating to the future of our state.

Your consideration of these matters as well as your referral of this information to any person on your staff that may be particularly interested in health care matters will be appreciated.

I would be pleased to visit with you or any member of your staff concerning these issues.

Sincerely,
s/Lloyd Doggett

55 Mile Speed Law Ending?

Senator S.I. (Sam) Haya-kawa (Calif.)...I am introducing a bill (S.54) for appropriate reference, which will right an injustice that began in 1974 and continues to harass States with no regard for responsibility or reality.

"I refer to the national maximum speed limit of 55 miles per hour..."

"Prior to 1974, the various States were charged with the responsibility of establishing maximum speed limits. To this day the States retain not only that responsibility but that authority."

"The Federal Government does not have the power to deprive the States of the responsibility — so it threatens to deprive Federal highway funds to States which maintain maximum speed limits in excess of 55 miles per hour. That is nothing less than extortion."

"If that is not enough, the Federal Government requires that the States not only establish maximum speed limits at 55 miles per hour — to be eligible for owed highway funds, States are required to demonstrate compliance with the limit."

"In many States, that is not possible — because drivers will not accept this Federal mandate. Not unlike prohibition, the national speed limit is creating a population of criminals. Like prohibition, the national speed limit cannot be tolerated..."

"It simply does not make sense for a citizen in New Jersey to determine what a safe rate of speed is on California highways. New Jersey is a densely populated State which is 166 miles in length; the distance between California's two major commerce centers, San Francisco and Los Angeles, is 347 miles through sparsely populated agriculture land."

"So while a speed of 55 miles per hour may be appropriate for New Jersey, it is not appropriate for California."

"I am not advocating that we abolish the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit. I am saying that the responsibility for making that determination should be returned to the States, and that Federal blackmail for highway funds must stop..."

"The contribution of the national speed limit to fuel conservation has been exaggerated. One estimate concludes that the 55-mile-per-hour limit has an impact on one-half of one percent of the total fuel consumption of the United States."

"Another estimate concludes that the speed limit has no greater impact on fuel economy than properly inflated tires would have..."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

It's expected that Senate Bill S.54 will be only the first of a flood of bills designed to relieve American citizens of the burden of Federal Government regulations.

Your Social Security

Retirement test questioned

Copley News Service

Q. Why do we have a retirement test? — J.J.T.

A. Social Security is not an annuity plan. It is a system of social insurance designed to protect people against the risk of loss of income from work when you retire. Social Security provides earnings replacement.

The retirement test is a measure of the extent to which one is retired. The test does not require that you have no earnings but rather, prevents the payment of full benefits to people with significant amounts of earnings. To eliminate the retirement test completely would add another $7 billion in 1980 alone to program costs and would benefit only a relatively few individuals.

Questions on Social Security may be sent to Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's Note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassburr ranch tackles a Presidential problem this week, sort of.

Dear editor:
As hard as inflation is on most of us, it's even harder on a President. I'll explain.

According to economists, inflation occurs when there's an overabundance of money chasing too few goods and services. Car manufacturers, with rows and rows of high-priced unsold cars on their lots, have a hard time understanding this theory. And if there's an overabundance of money, the people with it are sure keeping quiet.

Inflation and economists are like bad colds and doctors. Doctors can tell you when you've got a cold but not what caused it, how to cure it or how to prevent the next one.

This gets me around to Presidents and inflation. Presidents have got to figure out some way, not how to cure inflation — nobody apparently can do that — but some way to stop being identified with it.

Editor's note: When the Texas legislature convenes for its next session, state lawmakers will be looking at an eight-part Anti-Crime Package. The Pilot is supporting this eight-bill package and in the following weeks will be carrying an analysis of the proposed legislation. The following is an analysis of the first bill in the package, regulating bail bonds.

—Background Information
The current law creating County Bail Bond Boards for the regulation of the bail authority is not working satisfactorily nor does it provide the necessary authority for the County Bail Bond Boards to properly regulate the bail bond business.

In too many instances, rules promulgated by the County Bail Bond Board have been thrown out in a court proceeding because they exceed the statutory authority granted the County Bail Bond Board. As a result, there are many instances where bail bond forfeitures remain uncollected and unpaid by bondsmen.

The collection of bond forfeitures has been thwarted and as a result, the bondsmen does not make the defendant show up in court because he knows nothing will be done.

The current law does not provide adequate information on the financial background of the person applying to be licensed as a bail bondsman, nor does it provide an adequate amount of cash or property surety for the writing of bail bonds in a particular county or adequate information on his agents.

Further, there are no procedures for the suspension or termination of the bail bond license when there is an excessive amount of bonds being written and an excessive amount of forfeitures being taken by the courts.

There is a need to strengthen the authority of the County Bail Bond Boards so they may properly regulate the bail bond business.

—Purpose
The purpose of this bill is to clearly set out the records which must be maintained by a bail bondsman; the financial and other information required to be submitted to the County Bail Bond Board for an application; the security deposits which must be maintained by bail bondsmen in a specified ratio to the bail bonds in force; the manner in which a license may be refused, suspended, revoked, or cancelled; to provide for an appellate review; the manner in which a surety on a bail bond may have himself removed from that bond; to provide clarification and certainty in the bail bond forfeiture procedure; and to provide specific penalties for the violation of the act.

W. P. Sayles, C P & L president and chief executive officer, said the grant to the H. E. Butt Foundation was made to serve "special people" in the Company's South Texas service territory as well as from the entire state.

Echo Valley, a 208-camp capacity facility and the largest of six camps on the H. E. Butt Foundation property, will be updated from the grant. Hand rails, ramps, shower and bathroom safety equipment will be added to the camp's 14 buildings and a central meeting room will be extended for recreation.

Receiving the grant, Howard Butt Jr. said that mental health therapy camping was pioneered at the Foundation Camp 24 years ago. Since then special need groups including the mentally ill, blind, handicapped and older citizens have used the camp without cost. From the 229 groups and more than 16,000 persons using the camp last year, 19 percent were special need persons.

A plaque recognizing CP&L's contribution will be placed in the Echo Valley Camp, located on the Frio River.

H. E. Butt Foundation Camps have been made available, without cost, to community, health, education, religious and other groups since 1954.

There's an old saying that "blue eyes belong to leaders and brown eyes to dreamers..." We can't tell the color of this child's eyes from her picture, but they look a great deal like the eyes of rich wisdom.

Wisdom comes to most of us only after many years of struggle and growth. And even when we feel a bit wiser, we soon realize that there is always much more to learn — that, in truth, learning is a life-long process.

But whatever age and degree of wisdom we may attain, our need for a changeless source of inspiration remains the same. Within your place of worship you will find a power of truth founded on eternal love and maintained by divine wisdom. On such, character is built and wisdom enhanced.

Draw new courage and hope from the wellspring of knowledge that makes men free. Worship this week!

THE GOFORTHS

By Jim Campbell[s]

When Libby gets mad at me, she tells all our friends that I have ring around my collar!

The Shepherd's Staff

By the Rev. Walter Clark Jr.
St. Peter's Episcopal Church

Recently a friend of mine, a doctor, made an arresting statement. He said that the majority of Americans have lost sight of a caring God who delights in forgiving, and whose judgment is supportive of anyone who does his level best in his relationships with others.

One result of this twentieth century malaise, he added, is our inability to supervise our moral conduct through a system of internal restraints upon our behavior. If we no longer perceive God as caring, why should we bother to care about the effects our behavior has on others or ourselves?

At the same time, however, in order to prevent social anarchy some controls must be placed on our treatment of each other. Since internal moral supervision inspired by creative religious conviction is no longer effective, we have turned to legislation to provide what we have surrendered. Increasingly the intent seems to be that by statute we can bring our moral disorder under control. Witness, for example, the raging controversy over "legalizing" abortion.

Now history teaches that all attempts to legislate morality are doomed to failure. The Jewish people, among others, tried it some two thousand years ago and for their efforts lost their homeland. Hitler tried it and lost everything. Both the Russians and the Chinese are slowly discovering at great cost to their people that it does not work.

What does work is the realization within every heart and mind that certain behaviors are just plain destructive, and that one does not have to set out to prove the situation otherwise before one can believe what common sense, history, and the wisdom of the ages make abundantly clear.

The forgotten fact is that God cares, and that in his caring he holds us responsible for our behavior. He expects us to say No to destructive behaviors simply because not to say No is insane, and no insane society lasts for long. This does not mean, however, that God no longer forgives when we run amuck. Everyone makes mistakes — very bad ones at times — even with the best intention in the world. God forgives anyone who uses heart and mind in reaching and acting upon a decision which later turns out to be a disaster. But God will not abide any kind of totally irresponsible, careless behavior which brings calamity upon us and others simply because we did not bother to think the consequences through or weigh the alternatives in the light of the information available. Such behavior is akin to slandering the Holy Spirit and cannot be forgiven until we are willing to be held accountable for our actions.

Finally, God says No to any attempt to legislate morality because he expects us to develop an internal moral code which will promote responsible ethical conduct.

The purpose of religion, then, and of Christianity in particular, is to awaken in us a lively sense of what goes on in our relations with others. Society is healthy and safe only when we take religion seriously in our daily life as something which promotes authentic freedom rather than restricts it by lots of "don'ts" and dire predictions of what will happen if we don't conform. For when we, who are created religious beings, practice our religion creatively, then there is no need to legislate morality from without.

Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition

By Jean Glowka

Healthful Hints

Q. My sister-in-law called me last night to say that she has an unusual problem with her eyes. It seems that her tear ducts have collapsed. She's under a doctor's care, but what can she do from a nutritional approach in addition?

A. That's difficult to answer in detail without knowing more about the condition. However, it is known that paralysis of muscles both inside and behind the eyes has been corrected by taking the B-complex vitamins, especially B-1; weakness in these muscles have been alleviated by taking vitamin E and liver or yeast.

Q. I think I need more potassium in my diet. What are some of the symptoms of potassium deficiency and some of the natural sources?

A. A deficiency of the essential mineral, potassium, may cause nervous disorders, insomnia, constipation, slow and irregular heartbeat, and muscle damage.

When glucose metabolism is impaired by potassium deficiency, energy is no longer available to the muscle, and they become more or less paralyzed.

Some early symptoms of potassium deficiency are general weakness and impairment of neuromuscular function, soft, sagging muscles and poor reflexes. In older people, dry skin can result; in adolescents, acne may occur.

Natural sources of potassium include all vegetables, whole grains, oranges, sunflower seeds, nuts, milk and mint leaves. Potatoes (especially the peelings) and bananas are superior sources.

Until next week, folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

HAVE FUN!
By LEE BRYAN

The current psychiatrist story is of the distraught wife who reported that her husband thinks he's a cow. "All day long," she said, "he stands in the back yard, eating grass." The psychiatrist explained that this probably was a temporary eccentricity.

and there really was nothing to worry about. The woman, convinced, asked for the bill. "That'll be $60," said the doctor. "I can't afford that much," said the wife. "How about $30 in cash and 100 quarts of milk?"

Two strangers stood on a Bucharest street corner admiring an automobile parked at the curb. "My, that's handsome," said the first. "The Russians certainly know how to make an automobile."

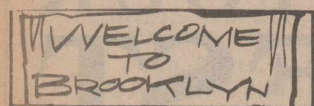

"That's not Russian," the second man answered, "don't you recognize an American car when you see one?"

"Of course I do; I knew it was an American car, but I had no idea who you were!"

The young bride hadn't done too well in her first encounter with the cookbook and gas stove. Telephoning her mother, she sobbed "The cookbook says, 'Bring to a boil on a brisk fire stirring for 2 minutes, then beat it for 10 minutes, and when I came back it was burned to a cinder.'"

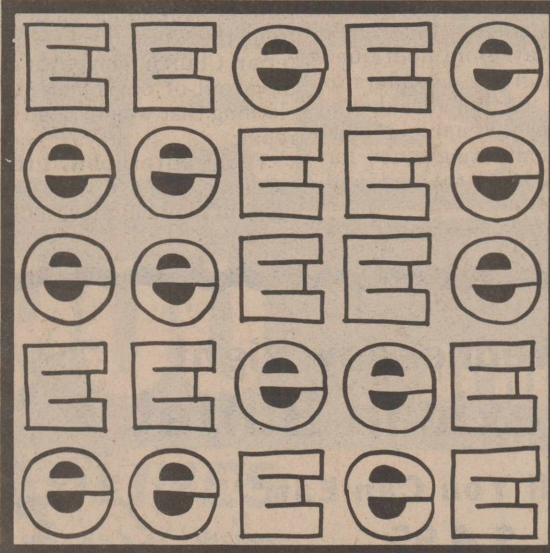

"Let's try something different—let's split a case of beer!"

If Brooklyn was not one of the five boroughs of New York City it would be the third largest city in the United States.

Put peace and harmony into your life with meditation!

There's only one reason not to review your will.

If nothing's changed.

But that's not very likely.

Just take a look at your home's appreciation. Or how much your other property is now worth.

There are other considerations, too. Perhaps you have more valuables. Or maybe the number of members in your family has changed.

Even new tax laws can affect your estate. And the ones passed in just the last few years can really make a difference.

Well, changes like these can certainly shake your financial peace of mind.

So why not trust the Parkdale People to shine for you. Let our estate planning professionals review your will to make sure it still meets your objectives.

Just fill out the coupon and drop it in the mail.

Or call Gene Koch, Senior Vice President & Trust Officer, at (512) 993-0300.

Unless you're sure there's no reason to review your will.

Dear Gene,

I've got some reasons to have you review my will. I understand there's no obligation.

Lady Pirates Win

By Bob Crawford

Tuloso-Midway put on a full court press and forced the Lady Pirates of Rockport-Fulton into numerous turnovers, and then converted the mistakes into baskets in the 62-30 win for the Cherokees.

The Cherokees are an annual power in class 4-A, and this year as the second round of district play opens, the team seems ready to challenge Flour Bluff and Calallen for the second half title.

Rockport played well in sports, but could never get any sustained momentum going because of the Tuloso pressure on the ball.

Genny Mundine popped for 12 points to lead the Pirates. By the end of the first quarter with the score 16-4, the Lady Pirates were forced to play catch-up.

Tuloso had no mercy on the Lady Pirate JV, thrashing the JV with a pressure defense which gave the Lady Pirates only 17 points in the game.

Diana Herman and Alma Dickerson each had six points in the 43-17 loss.

The Freshmen Lady Pirates ran into a similar problem as they came home with a 61-27 loss to the Cherokees.

Falling behind 13-3, the Ladies could never fight their way back. Lee Anna Cassel led the Pirates with eight points.

Brown Takes Oath As Coast's First Republican Senator In 107 Years

AUSTIN—Before a tumultuous crowd of relatives, well-wishers, friends and supporters, Buster Brown of Lake Jackson became a member of the Texas Senate on January 13.

Brown—who defeated one of the State's most durable politicians, A.R. Schwartz of Galveston to take the District 17 seat—received the oath of office along with other members of the 1981 class from State Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill.

A former school teacher and Brazoria County Prosecutor, Brown is the first Republican Senator to be elected from the Texas Coast in 107 years. He represents District 17 which stretches from the Bolivar Peninsula in Galveston County to Rockport in Aransas.

More than 100 citizens from Brown's home district attended his swearing in.

Brown wasted no time in his pledge to tackle the area's thorniest problems with high level meetings on Flood Control and Beach Problems in his first hours of service.

United Fund Close To Goal

The United Fund campaign needs less than $900 to achieve the goal set at $20,103 for 1980. The money, however, is needed before January 31.

The total now in hand is $17,758.68 with $1500 in pledges promised. Anyone intending to donate who has not already done so is urged to mail a check to Live Oak State Bank, First National Bank or to Post Office Box 541, Rockport, Texas 78382.

Checks should be made out to the Aransas County United Fund.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

Black Mouth -- Vicious Dog?

Dear Dr. Lutz,

I have a two-year-old male police dog. I have noticed the inside of his mouth is black. I have heard this makes him more vicious than a dog with a pink mouth.

I also have a friend who has a dog with a black spot on the tongue. He states a dog with a black spot on his tongue is more intelligent.

Is there any truth to any of these statements?—J.R.

Dear J.R.,

The color of a dog's mouth has nothing to do with his temperament, and the black spot on the tongue is not an indication of intelligence. These are just "old wives tales."

Bird imports banned

Canada has banned the importation of all parrots and songbirds from Canada to protect itself against velogenic Newcastle disease, a deadly ailment that affects birds' nervous and respiratory systems.

Texas, made poor trip catches of 100-300 pounds per 12 hours dragging. Only spotted higher catches of white shrimp adjacent to major passes kept many vessels at the break-even level.

The average price of shrimp dropped from $3.46 per pound in November 1979 to $2.68 in November 1980, adding to the difficulty in keeping vessels working. Fisheries Service officials said.

Trawl vessels working longline and pole and line gear caught 200 thousand pounds of fish in November — most was blackfin tuna taken incidental with pole and line on trips directed to shrimp trawling.

Vessel crews report schools of blackfin in waters from 17-50 fathoms from south of Morgan City, Louisiana to east of Aransas Pass. Vessels received about $900.00 per ton for blackfin and most fish were 18-20 pound class.

Swordfish were back in the Gulf (if they left) at the close of November. Vessels will intensify longline efforts in December and into 1981.

Fuel supplies were adequate at .96 cents up. This represents a four to six cent increase over October 1980, which was the kickoff for much worse to come in the upward spiral of fuel costs.

Sports fishing made an upswing in November as water temperatures cooled for the season; however, sports catching did not keep pace with sports fishing. Reports of spotted catches of trout, redfish, and flounders were received from most coastal areas.

The catch per fisherman hour continues to decline as the number of units increase. Live bait was available most of the month.

Coast Guard.

The American shrimpers contend that several Vietnamese vessels — including all 11 new boats being built — are five tons and in violation of the law because they are not documented.

The Vietnamese fishermen contend that they did not know of the documentation requirements and that they have received "no guidance" on laws or local customs in the shrimping industry.

Raymond James, another shrimper, said he would amek a boat inventory of American and Vietnamese boats — along with Doug Van representing the Vietnamese shrimpers. He also suggested getting population figures on the number of Vietnamese and Americans involved in shrimping in the area.

Shrimper Raymond James told those at Thursday's meeting that local shrimpers are trying to get a limited entry bill before the 67th Texas legislature going into session this year.

"If we can get limited entry," James said, "that will take care of it (the crowding of bays) up and down the coast. But if we don't do something this year, it will be two more years before we can do it again."
