BANKERS ENJOY CHICKEN BAR-B-Q

BANKERS ASSOCIATION ENTERTAINED WEDNESDAY BY DONLEY MEMBERS

The Greenbelt Bankers Association, from the territory of Collingsworth, Childress, Hall and Donley Counties, gathered at Clarendon Wednesday for their early summer program of recreational entertainment.

Visiting bankers, stockholders and employees were accompanied by their families and a half-holiday was enjoyed by all the banks in the four counties named. Many came early enough for rounds of golf on the Hillcroft course with their Clarendon friends, and all arrived in time for the chicken barbecue, spread at the Clarendon Country Club.

One hundred and fifty Donley County prime fivers had been barbecued under the master eye of Frank Whitlock, local bar-b-queur de luxe, and after several hours of bridge for the ladies, conversation for the men, and miniature golf and bathing for the kiddies, W. H. Patrick called the assemblage "to table" with a brief but fulsome welcome. Accessories to the chicken were spread in abundance; salads, and cakes from the famed kitchens of Clarendon bankers' homes; and ice cream and soft drinks, a la carte.

Some hundred and fifty of the elect and a few guests enjoyed the "feed" and did full justice to its generous offerings.

After the barbecue, came the orchestra, and in the tastefully decorated halls of the club house dancing and good cheer reigned until the visitors felt that they must begin their journey home, if efficient work was to be done Thursday.

DOMINO CHAMPIONSHIP CUP DISPLAYED AT NEWS OFFICE

The Cornwallis Domino Club's championship trophy has been received and is now on display in the offices of The Clarendon News, and may be viewed by those interested at their leisure.

The loving cup is now the possession of G. L. Boykin, winner of the first domino tournament held some three weeks ago. The entry fees were used to purchase the loving cup which will be awarded the winner of each future tourney with it becoming the permanent award of any player winning the tournament three times.

The cup is 18 inches in height, trimmed in green and bears the proper engravings of the Cornwallis Domino Club and will be known as the "Cornwallis Domino Club Trophy." Another tournament will be planned in something like two months. Announcements will be found in The News at a later date.

More Goodwill Trips Announced By C. of C.

Announcement of three more community visits has been issued from the offices of the secretary of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce. These are trips to Goldston, Lelia Lake and Martin.

The Goldston trip will be staged this evening, May 28th.

The city of Lelia Lake will be visited by the Clarendon business men and the trippers on the evening of Tuesday, June 2.

On Tuesday evening, June 9th, the trippers will be guests of the Martin Community.

These are the only trips scheduled at the present time, and are being made upon invitation from the citizens from these places.

MEETING PROGRESSING IN FINE MANNER AT HICKMAN

According to reports reaching The News the revival meeting now in progress at Hickman school house on the Lott Ranch is finding new interest each service, and will in all probability be continued throughout next week. The services are being conducted by Rev. Ingram, local evangelist, and Rev. Treadwell of Memphis. A number of conversions have been reported with much good being accomplished in the community.

Trippers Enjoy Visit To Hedley Last Week

Although the crowd was less than expected the Goodwill trip of the Clarendon business men to the city of Hedley Thursday evening was a success and was enjoyed by all those attending. The Clarendon band made its usual splendid showing with a short concert on the Hedley main street before the start of the program at the school house, and was applauded to a fine extent. Others appearing on the program was Gus B. Stephenson, Robert S. Cope, with a number of short speeches being made by citizens of each of the cities.

The announcement of the Fourth of July program to be staged here was announced and the people of Hedley were officially invited to participate in the entire two-day affair.

The Wifadosis Demonstration Club acted as hosts for the evening and served refreshments to the visitors. The exact amount derived from the sales of the various items is not available at present, but it is thought a neat sum was accounted for.

ELEVEN LIONS GET ATTENDANCE PINS

FIRST INFORMATION ON COST OF TORONTO TRIP PRESENTED TUESDAY

One of the first items coming to the attention of the Lions at the luncheon this week was the presentation of the attendance awards to eleven Lions who had maintained perfect records throughout the thirty-three weeks attendance contest staged in International circles. Lions to receive these awards are: Sam M. Braswell, Sam Braswell, Jr., A. L. Chase, Odos Caraway, Clyde J. Douglas, Holman Kennedy, J. T. Patman, F. W. Rathjen, D. Stalling, Lloyd Stallings, and W. A. Watson. There were many of the Lions who missed securing these mementos by only one luncheon.

Announcement of the coming nominations was made at the luncheon Tuesday, with the ballots being presented and returned at the next meeting of the club.

The resolutions committee composed of Lions Patrick and Braswell reported through Lion Patrick on the work they had done. Their report was received and the committee was discharged.

The initiation of Lion Cub Frank Heath was the next matter to come to the attention of the club. He was duly instructed by Lion O. C. Watson in the manner of handling himself and was called upon for the customary one-minute speech. After covering the Boss Lion with quite a multitude of flowers it was found that he overspoken by quite a time, but the resultant fine was paid by the Boss Lion.

Guests for the day were introduced as Miss Shirley Nored and Arnold Nored, both of Walters, Oklahoma. They gave two vocal and guitar numbers which were much appreciated.

Lion Nored was called to the floor to give a report on the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Lubbock, stating it was one of the best he had attended. Quite some business was attended at this meeting and attendance on the various sessions was better than it has been at previous meetings, where larger crowds and more noise detracted much from the work in hand.

Lion Ira Merchant was introduced to the Lions as the uncrowned king of the Greenbelt Association, stating that his conscience was clear and that he could rest easily. Lion Sam M. Braswell called the attention of the Lions to the fourth paragraph of the Lions Code of Ethics, pointing out that Lion Merchant had acted in accordance with this rule and that he was due a standing vote from the club. The vote was given.

Announcement of the community meeting Thursday evening at Goldston was made by Lion Boykin, he asking that a large attendance make this trip as the 4-H Clubs were needing the assistance to make the annual trip to the Short Course at College Station.

A letter from Lion John G. Farmer of Fort Worth gave the first outline of the route of the Texas Lions special to the Toronto convention. The club was urged to raise a fund to send a delegate to the convention and to take part in the holding of the special train.

Adjournment followed the introduction of Miss Dorothy White as Senorita Clarendon at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce nageant at Lubbock. Miss Lotta Ronland was mentioned as having represented Clarendon Junior College at the same pageant.

Train service over the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway between Dallas and Denver, Colorado, will be speeded one hour by a new schedule to be put into effect this Sunday, according to an announcement issued by the local agent this morning.

Very little difference in the time of the trains will be noticed in Clarendon with only two trains being affected by the change of schedule.

BAND TO GIVE CONCERT THURSDAY EVE. JUNE 4

Last Friday evening a large crowd enjoyed the concert by the local band under the direction of Gus B. Stephenson. Due to conflicting dates with the city twilight baseball league which plays games on Friday evening, the band has decided to change the day of its concerts to Thursday evening in place of Friday which has been the case in the past. From this time forward the concerts by the local organization will not be on every Thursday evening, but will be announced through this newspaper the week previous to the appearance. The first concert under the new schedule will be next Thursday evening, June 4, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock.

Concerts every week have been discontinued indefinitely because of the appearance of the band on the series of trips with the business men of the city to nearby communities. Following the conclusion of these engagements, the every week schedule may possibly be inaugurated again if the interest of the public justifies.

LOCAL LODGE REPRESENT- ED IN PAMPA MEETING

Eimer Palmer and Avis Rodgers are in Pampa today attending the sessions of the Panhandle and are representing the local Certificate Mens' Association, Masonic order.

The Clarendon men are primarily in attendance to present the invitation from the Clarendon group to the Association to meet here for the work school in either July or August, under the direction of Mr. W. L. Tate, Waco, head instructor, of the school.

Clarendon is the only place in the Panhandle where the Masons may receive their certificates of work, and has been recognized as having one of the most excellent schools in Masonry. Plans for entertaining the visitors in the coming meeting are going forward, and a splendid time is assured all the visiting Masons.

TRIPPERS GO TO GOLDSTON TONITE

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED TO MAKE THIRD VISIT OF SEASON THIS EVENING

The business men of the city will visit the community of Goldston this evening in the third of the series of community visits. Plans call for the get-together to begin shortly after eight o'clock and from all indications those who wish to have a seat for the festivities of the evening will do well in getting there ahead of time, as the largest crowd of the year is practically assured for the occasion.

The Clarendon band will furnish the most part of the entertainment, but there is also scheduled for the evening's program a line of varied entertaining numbers ranging from specialty numbers by individual members of the band, solos, announcements to short and interesting talks by various citizens present for the event. If entertainment is what the citizens of Clarendon are looking for they will have their fill tonight.

Plenty of good refreshments are promised those present, and a record crowd is hoped for, because the funds derived from the sale of the various refreshments will go towards paying the expenses of a delegate to the Farmer's Short Course at College Station from the Goldston 4-H Club. Miss Buttrill, county demonstrator, especially asks that a fine delegation be present from Clarendon and help to send this delegate to the worthwhile sessions of the Short Course. The Goldston Club is a young club and deserves the entire support of the citizens, so let's all be out at Goldston tonight, and have a share in making possible this necessary trip to College Station.

The citizenship of Goldston will be officially invited to participate in the two-day Fourth of July celebration to be staged in this city at the meeting this evening, with the program of events also being announced.

The program in detail: Selections by the band; tap-dance, Loyd Stallings; Violin Solo, Mrs. G. L. Boykin, Miss Fray Stallings accompanying; fiddle selections, Mr. Ware; yodeling numbers, Clyde Hudson; and male quartet, G. L. Boykin, P. B. Gentry, Jack Jones and R. S. Cope. On to Goldston!

NEW DEPARTMENT ADDED TO COLLEGE CURRICULUM

Starting with the school term of 1931-32, the Junior College will offer its students for the first time a course of Home Economics. The College authorities have secured the services of Miss Jimmie Morgan, expert economics teachers, for the next year, and feel fortunate indeed that she has accepted the local offer. Miss Morgan holds a B. S. Degree from the North Texas State Teachers College at Denton, and an M. A. Degree from Columbia University. She has been a student in the West Texas State Teachers College and Southern Methodist University at Dallas.

Another new addition to the College faculty is Mr. R. H. Carver, who comes to fill the position of Business Administration professor, vacated by Mr. J. Roy Wells who has accepted a position as head of the same department at Simmons University at Abilene. Mr. Carver received his training and his B. S. Degree from the East Central State Teachers College of Oklahoma, and has taken graduate work in the University of Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hurn and Mrs. O. W. Latsch attended District Missionary Conference at Mobeetie Tuesday.

Mrs. G. C. Armstrong and children of Monroe, Louisiana are here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Tucker. Mrs. Armstrong was formerly Miss Mayme Tucker.

Mrs. Roy Broadway and son, Jessy, from Miami, Texas, visited last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lowe. Miss Agatha Taylor and Mary Lowe accompanied them to Miami Tuesday and will visit a few days before returning to Clarendon.

championship cup is now in the possession of Ira Merchant, 1930, city champion. Merchant will be entered in the play and will make a serious bid for the retention of the trophy another year. Merchant will have plenty of stiff competition from W. A. Wilson, Al Cooke, M. P. Gentry, A. N. Wood, P. B. Gentry and others.

No solicitations of prizes or money will be made, but the club officials will appreciate any donations from citizens or business firms who may wish to help in the local tourney.

Flower Exchange To Be Held This Saturday

Those who have flowers that they wish to exchange are urged to have them on the City Hall grounds as early as possible Saturday morning, and those who wish to secure any of the plants and flowers are requested to secure them as early as is convenient. The reason for making an early exchange is because these flowers which will be available Saturday are for the most part annuals which have come up and if left out in the sun for long periods will wilt rapidly.

The exchange is being sponsored by the Les Beaux Arts Club of this city and is one of the major activities of the organization. In the past these exchanges have become very popular with the women of the county and like interest is expected at the Saturday exchange.

Any one is eligible to receive the flowers who may desire them, no strings being attached to the offer in any manner.

Mrs. V. E. Haggerty visited her husband in Shamrock Sunday.

DRY GOODS CLUB TOPS CITY LEAGUE

GROCERS DOWN GASSERS WITH STEAL HOME IN CLOSE CONTEST.

The Dry Goods team of the city league kept their record clean with a win over the Baptist Babies Tuesday afternoon by a score of 13 to 10. A barrage of base hits in the seventh drove the Grocers' hurler, Blanton, to the showers, and called into service Fitzgerald, pitching ace, who quieted the rally which had mounted to five runs without further damage. The win Tuesday leaves the Dry Goods with a record of four wins against no defeats, while the Grocers in second place boast of three wins against one defeat.

The Baptist Babies offered a stubborn defense behind the fine hurling of Nichols, who held the Dry Goods sluggers to two runs in the first five innings. He was relieved in the sixth by Martin whose wildness helped in handing the opposition five runs. Blanton also weakened in the sixth and three of the Babies crawled past home plate. In the seventh Nichols was touched for a number of hits and with several errors from his defense helping the Dry Goods further advance their lead six tallies before the damage ended. However the Baptist team refused to pat the mat and started right into Blanton's slow curves and counted five times while making two outs. With men on second and third Fitzgerald replaced Blanton and the game ended when Hudson attempted to steal third while Hale occupied the position, forcing him into a chase from which he was finally yanked.

The Grocers returned to their winning ways by handing the revamped Gassers nine 8 to 7 lickings in the Friday game, which proved to be the best played contest of the season. Stephenson and Pierce hooked in a neat hurling duel which was decided when Braswell took advantage of a moments lapse of memory of the Sheriff and catcher McMahon and stole home with the eighth and winning run. Home runs were slugged out by Otto Beach and McMahon of the Gassers.

OPTIMISM IS BASIS OF WHEAT PROSPECT

Tom F. Connally, wheat and grain buyer of many years experience, has nothing save an optimistic frame of mind for the wheat outlook for the present year. He states that for the projected crop of forty million bushels for the Panhandle section is well within the bounds of reason and that that large a crop would only require an average of some fifteen bushels to the acre to produce this amount of wheat.

As to the price, this stands at around 35 cents per bushel on late quotations. Mr. Connally further states that this will probably be increased to some extent unless the two hundred million surplus is dumped on the market by the farm board. Should this occur, anything might happen and a great many things would likely occur.

The condition of the crop is well above the average. A little hail damage has been found in the portion of Moore County, with the dry weather affecting the major part of the wheat country. The eastern edge of Moore County is rather dry and the yield will be cut to some extent although the quality of the product may be increased.

District Meeting Praises Murrell

At the recent meeting of the Clarendon District Conference of the Methodist Church, held in Memphis, a resolution was presented and unanimously adopted, which shows the high regard and esteem in which Presiding Elder W. M. Murrell is held in Clarendon and over the entire district. According to the customary rules of the church, Rev. Murrell will be moved this fall by the conference which meets in Vernon, as he has served his four years. The resolution evidences the feeling that exists in his loss:

"In-as-much as our beloved presiding elder is closing his fourth year upon the District, and will be transferred to other fields of labor at the coming Annual Conference, we therefore desire to express to him our love and appreciation, for his wise and efficient leadership and untiring efforts to lead us to victory in the program of the church. His visits to our homes has been an inspiration, leading us to gather things in our Master's Kingdom. We heartily commend his entire administration. Therefore be it resolved that we in this way express our appreciation, and be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Texas Christian Advocate, and also a copy spread upon the minutes of the District Conference."—Committee.

Clarendon people are going visiting again. They are making regular visits out over the country to enjoy the fellowship of the citizens of our neighboring communities and to apprise them of our great Celebration here on July 3rd and 4th. Go out with the band and the delegation. You will enjoy these trips.

HALF LOAF BETTER THAN NONE

One of the mysteries of the legislature just past is the real reason why it missed the opportunity to pass a drivers license law for Texas, and thus afford protection to the public from incompetent and inebriate operators of motor vehicles. A majority of the states already have such laws and are reaping the benefits from this protection.

However, the legislature did pass a law which has been made effective by the signature of Governor Sterling, which provides that any one found guilty of driving while intoxicated may be prohibited from driving in Texas for a period not more than two years. The discretion is in the hands of the district judge in such cases.

Texas failed to get a model drivers license law, but a half loaf is better than no loaf at all. The new law just cited will help to hold in check drivers of automobiles who become a menace to life and limb by the use of liquor.

Maybe we shall get some protection through this law until the next legislature meets and does what should have been done before. Meanwhile an anxious citizenship will demand that district judges put the screws on under the new law.

INTIMIDATION THAT FAILS

After Tammany and the wet Democracy of the East had worn itself down cursing the voters of the so-called "Bible Belt" in the South for brushing aside party lines to defeat Al Smith and Raskob, a new line of tactics was employed.

First came Hearst's attack on Bishop Cannon and other leaders who were so potent in the Smith defeat and after that had failed then astute wet leaders found willing though weak tools among the rank and file of the churches to try a campaign of intimidation of leaders who voiced their repudiation of liquor and liquor men as party leaders. These tactics also failed.

More recently one disgruntled dyspeptic of the Methodist pastorate in Georgia filed suits against Bishops and others of the church for alleged libel of his character. This, too, fails.

The great Southern Baptist people have already notified the world that they will brook no "wet", nor a non-descript "dry" on a wet platform in the next Democratic convention, and there are millions of other church people of all denominations who feel and will act the same.

Such tactics of intimidation would be comical, were it not for the fact that a tinge of sadness comes when men of the church are weak enough to play into the hands of the liquorites and do foolish things that cause joy only in the wet camps.

Anyway, intimidation fails. If the Democratic party can't remember the lesson of 1928, it can be demonstrated all over again. And on a larger scale.

GAMBLING HURTS ALL SPORTS

In the Greenbelt Golf Tournament held in Clarendon last week the fact that gambling is harmful to all sports was again demonstrated.

In the closing round of the Championship Match of the tournament a most unfortunate incident occurred when an unthoughtful infraction of the rules of the game caused one contestant to lose the last hole after having come from behind by playing better golf than his opponent. A protest was filed before the hole was finished and after the protesting player had lost the match and picked up his opponent's ball, congratulating him on his playing, pressure brought to bear on him by those who stood to lose by his failure to win the match goaded him to urge the trivial protest further. The winner was called back on the course and informed that he must play another hole, with the result that he lost the hole and the decision by reason of this upset when he thought he was champion.

The player and his home club decided to make no protest over the matter, although they have every reason to believe that they would be upheld in their contentions that the match was over at the thirty-sixth hole. This decision was the result of feeling that protests are seldom constructive in sportsmanship or building up an organization. In this they were very wise.

But the point we want to make is this: There would have been no protest had there not been money bet on the outcome of the match. There would have been no protests had men not seen their money slipping from them. And this is the result of all gambling on sports events, and the thing that always hovers like a shadow over any sort of competitive effort.

Gambling makes bad sportsmen out of ordinary fellows. It never makes good sportsmen out of any other sort.

MEMORIAL DAY

The beautiful custom of setting aside one day in the year for the decoration of soldiers' graves is said to have originated in Petersburg, Va., where Memorial Day was observed for the first time on June 9, 1865, in honor of Confederates who were killed in battle there just one year before.

In 1868 the wife of General John A. Logan, then commander of the G. A. R., happened to be in Petersburg on its Memorial Day, and was so impressed with the tributes of flowers and flags with which the graves were decorated that she suggested to the general that this be made a national custom. General Logan accordingly issued an order to the G. A. R. "that every post of the Grand Army should hold suitable exercises and decorate the graves of their dead comrades with flowers," on May 30 of each year.

The idea spread throughout the South, also, and Confederate Memorial Day is observed in various states on the following dates: April 26 in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Florida; May 10 in North and South Carolina; the second Friday in May Tennessee, and June 3 in Louisiana. In the South the national Memorial Day of May 30 is more generally observed since the World War, the exercises being conducted by the American Legion.

At the national cemetery of Arlington, near Washington, the grave of America's Unknown Soldier is decorated with special ceremonies, usually participated in by the President and other high officials, on Memorial Day.

It is highly fitting that all citizens should join in the observance of this most beautiful and sacred of our national holidays.

SAVINGS PROTECTED

From Chicago comes news of success in the co-operation of small investors throughout the United States, in an interesting method to safeguard their interests. Several thousands who held bonds of George M. Forman & Co., internationally known real estate mortgage loan institution, turned them in for bonds and shares of the George M. Forman Realty Trust, of Chicago. This was organized to safeguard the original investments when the depression made it impossible to continue paying interest on the bonds.

Already four large buildings have been brought out of receivership by the new plan worked out by well-known financiers and investment banking authorities under C. S. Tuttle, of Chicago, vice-president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois.

Little investors who feared they would lose all but a small fraction of their funds have been reassured by the proposal to conserve the value of the bonds. Receiverships and foreclosures have been prevented. Financial authorities are hailing the method as the practical, safe solution of such difficulties in the real estate field.

NORRIS OF NEBRASKA

Charles S. Ryckman, editor of the Fremont (Neb.) Tribune, was recently awarded the coveted Pulitzer prize for the best editorial of 1930. It was entitled "The Gentleman from Nebraska," and sought to explain why the people of that state continue to re-elect George W. Norris to the Senate, although they have little regard for his statesmanship.

According to Ryckman, they do it because Norris gives the state a lot of publicity through his innumerable attacks on this and that, which keeps his name and that of Nebraska in the limelight, besides gratifying Nebraska's grouch against the East. Some sentences from the editorial follow:

"By making himself objectionable to eastern interests of every kind, he has afforded Nebraska a chance to vent their wrath."

"And yet, George Norris is not a political power in Nebraska. The people of other states believe he is revered as an idol in his own state. As a matter of fact, he is probably held in lower esteem in Nebraska than in any other state in the union. His endorsement of another candidate is of no real value."

"The people of Nebraska would not let him tell them how to elect a dog catcher in the smallest village in the state, but they have been sending him to the Senate so long it is a habit."

"The summary of it all is that Nebraska derives a great deal of pleasure out of shoving George Norris down the great American throat."

"Nebraska gets the same amusement out of his antics that a small boy gets out of kicking a dog on an alley cat."

MAYORS VISIT FRANCE

In token of Franco-American friendship, the mayors of thirty-six American cities have been invited by France to be its guests this month on the occasion of the Colonial Exposition at Paris. The thirty-six mayors are heads of many cities which welcomed Diemond Costes and Maurice Bellonte last year when the latter made their good-will tour of America, after achieving the first non-stop flight from Paris to New York.

The mayors are arranged to make the trip sailed from New York on May 13 aboard the Ile de France, of the French Line, with their wives, who also are invited. The party will return five weeks later on the same liner. All expenses to and from Paris and in traveling in France will be paid by the French authorities.

During the two days in New York before sailing, the mayors and their wives attended a series of entertainments and social events. In Paris, the Municipal Council will be their host. They will meet the President of the Republic and will be taken on a two weeks tour of France after visiting the Colonial Exposition.

Although he is 89 years old, J. W. Harsh of Sheldon, Mo., walks more than three miles daily delivering newspapers.

MRS. RICHARD WILKERSON PRESENTS PUPILS IN RECITAL

Friday evening, May 17, Mrs. Richard Wilkerson and Miss Gladys Speer, presented their fine arts students of Silverton in a joint recital at the high school auditorium in Silverton. A splendid program was presented by the pupils of the capable teachers, and reports indicate that the event was one of the most pleasing in the social calendar of the Briscoe County capital.

The Briscoe County News, Silverton publication, is very loud in its praise of the work accomplished by Mrs. Wilkerson, and also for her splendid interest in the achievements of the community. The story says, "Mrs. Wilkerson has given her efforts to any good cause she was called upon to promote or help to promote. The community is fortunate to secure teachers who are this interested in the development of the community in which they work."

Transmission Line Service Aids Development

WEST TEXAS is a land rich in natural resources and vital raw materials, and in the near future far-seeing manufacturers will locate their plants in this territory where they will benefit by cheap land, moderate operating expenses, low living costs, an abundance of native-born and intelligent workers, splendid shipping facilities, ideal climatic conditions and an adequate and elastic supply of inexpensive and dependable electric energy.

When these industries survey West Texas for the most attractive factory-sites, first consideration will be given those progressive small cities which offer the constant power supply of a transmission line system serving a wide area from strategically-located main generating stations and further stabilizing its service through interconnection and auxiliary plants.

One hundred and twenty prosperous cities and towns throughout West Texas are interconnected by the 2,500 mile trunk transmission line network of the West Texas Utilities Company. Receiving service from three major generating stations—supplemented by twenty-two auxiliary or standby plants—leading citizens of these towns confidently anticipate the rapid industrial development of this vast empire, truly called the "Land of Opportunity."

LELIA LAKE

Our farmers are busy finishing the planting of their cotton. The recent rains packed the ground in some of the last planting, necessitating scratching, to aid it in getting through the ground. Some have reduced their acreage half, others not planting any at all. Since the war on blackbirds in these parts, more feed is being planted than for several years. We are hoping to harvest a crop of feed this year. The farmers are ready if the birds immigrate about here next fall, they will receive a cool reception. Quit an acreage of Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes form the major truck crops, while beans, peas, okra, peppers, and in fact everything that can be grown here, represent quite an acreage. Of course the usual crops of melons and cantaloupes are also being planted.

W. A. Bullard is cutting a fine crop of alfalfa this week. We wonder why more farmers do not plant this valuable crop.

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

Mrs. S. A. Solomon of New Henry, N. C. lost 47 lbs. in 3 months with Kruschen Salts. She reduced from 217 to 170 lbs. She feels much stronger, years younger and pains in sides and abdomen that bothered her for years are all gone. She says she not only feels better but looks better as all her friends tell her.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Douglas Goldston Drug Co. and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

LESS WORK FOR WOMEN

Woman's work is divided up so thoroughly and effectively among machines there is little left for the efforts of even the most ingenious inventor.

A recent issue of the Brooklyn Eagle says that with so much work of the world done by electricity it was high time the kitchen should receive its share of equipment necessary to make it as efficient as the most up-to-date manufacturing plant.

"An electrotable, the newest kitchen assistant, will be as indispensable to the housewife as her vacuum cleaner," says the New York writer. "In its cabinet are attachments to take the drudgery out of food preparation Meat chopper, fruit-juice reamer, grater and shredder devices, bowls and beaters of various sorts are at hand to work at the turn of a switch. There are places to plug in the waffle iron, percolator, egg cooker, and so on, part of every well-equipped household."

Discussing the invention, the Detroit Times says: "If some day you should find at your back door a maid who said, 'Madam, I want to work for you the rest of my life; I will never need food or a day off, always be available to work at any hour, what would you say?' and leave the answer to the housewife's imagination."

Too much care cannot be taken in passing cars. Recently in Rangoon, Burma, India the following peculiar accident was caused by carelessness:

"Three Anglo-Indian ladies had a narrow escape from being seriously injured when two 'ticca' gharries in which they were traveling collided in Dalhousie Street."

"The gharries were proceeding along Dalhousie Street eastward at a moderate speed. A Citroen car driven by an Anglo-Indian came from behind and overtook one gharri so closely that the gharri driver, seeing that the car was about to collide with his gharri, swerved it to the left. This caused the left and right front wheels of both gharries to lock together, as a result of which one gharri ran upon the pavement in front of Messrs. Rowe and Company. The driver was heavily thrown to the ground and sustained injuries."

"As soon as the collision occurred an empty rickshaw, which was going ahead of the gharries, toppled over and was badly smashed. The Telegu puller was picked up unconscious and later found to have sustained injuries on the head and body. He was next taken to the General Hospital."

"The pony of one of the gharries containing the two ladies took fright and attempted to bolt but the driver controlled the animal after it had gone for some distance. The ladies from both vehicles jumped from the gharries."

It seems as though the land is as full of suckers as the sea is full of sharks. We can never remember whether the glad sufferance of the fools is a vice or a virtue. Perhaps it does not matter.

However the matter may be, no less qualified observers than the newspapers of financial and malpractices of savings, expose scheme after scheme and still the rogue separates the people from their money.

People who live remote from all sharp practices form the opinion that others not so sheltered must become very smart and rouge-proof. Unfortunately, this does not seem to be the case. It sometimes appears, balancing, even in such matters, and that she keeps the rogues and fools in the same way that small fish and small animals are made just sufficiently slow or stupid for the big fish and big animals to seize and eat them.

Every once in a while the newspapers report that some particularly idiotic and antiquated confidence trick has touched ill deserved luck, the victim being one who should have had better sense.

In spite of warnings by the Newspapers—precious little thanks they get for it—there is always somewhere a lot of suckers who dangle themselves as human bait before the sharks and, when they are taken in, weep and wish they had taken warning.

Erwin Craighead, Editor Emeritus of the Mobile (Alabama) Register, Says:

That the continued existence of this great republic depends upon the preservation of its system of dual government. No other country up to this time has had such a population or so varied an one, and at the same time such unity of sentiment among the people vis a vis the government, held together not by force but by common interest.

Ordinarily, in countries so vast there is a central government and seeks to enforce this rule which makes the rule for all parts upon the people. This succeeds as long as there is power available for maintaining the government. Eventually it fails, as Rome failed and as the British empire is now distinguishing into many particularly independent dominions.

With us, on the contrary, we have both the necessary amount of central control and a wise provision of home rule. In this way, the people as far removed as the Californians from the center have their wishes considered in matters local to themselves, while yet bound to obey the general laws, made by the federal congress, in which body they have proportionate representation with the rest of the people.

There is a school of thinkers who say that we need more centralization and more power and authority in the central government, and some even say it would be a good thing to have a dictatorship to rule so great a country. Both are vitally mistaken. No central government and no dictator can be wise enough to rule satisfactorily upon the manifold problems that present themselves locally of all the people harmonize. We cannot get Michiganders and Alabamians to think the same way in all things, especially in regard to their local concerns. As long as both are free to think as they please, they are content, for, even if they think unwisely, they recognize that what results is their own fault, and not that of some distant, dictatorial government.

It is this feeling of fair play that holds the attention and the loyalty of the American People and makes the Union solid without a big standing army to keep it so.

When Mrs. Sophia Roehmer of Buffalo, N. Y., became seriously ill from worry because her pet dog strayed away, 1,100 policemen made a city-wide search for the animal.

When Herman Parson of Norwalk, Conn., was struck by an automobile, he suffered a fractured skull but preserved a dozen eggs unbroken.

Because he led three brides to the altar in three months, John Tucker of Lafayette, Ga., was given a two year jail sentence.

Recently, for the first time in her 101 years of life, Mrs. Ann Stansell of Manfield, Eng., swallowed a dose of medicine.

HARDY NEW ANIMALS

There appears to be no limit to the ambitions of scientists, and the amazing thing is that their ambitions are generally fulfilled in actual results. An instance is the development of a superior type of cow, able to withstand the rigors of far northern climates such as that of Alaska.

Concerning this development, Dr. Evans of the Department of Agriculture, recently gave an interesting statement. Under the supervision of the department, experimental crossing of Galloway cows with the hardy Asiatic yak has produced an animal capable of subsisting on the scanty vegetation of the far north, while preserving desirable meat and milk producing qualities.

Another venture was the crossing of American cows with the Brahma zebu of the Far East, which produced an animal especially fitted to thrive in the hot, dry climates of the Southwestern states. This animal is also able to resist tick infection which is very detrimental to ordinary cattle in those regions.

All this may not be exactly evolution, but it is something closely akin to it.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

To bring out the natural brilliance of table glassware, give a quick polish to each piece while setting the table. Use a soft substance that won't scratch or leave a fuzz. There is a new type of hemstitched square tissue, about the size of a handkerchief, which is ideal for polishing glassware because of its soft but strong texture.

Use needles to pin down the pleats when pressing a pleated skirt. The needles will leave no marks when you remove them.

TIMELY TOPICS

When President Hoover had some teeth pulled recently an enterprising hospital orderly hit upon the idea of selling them as souvenirs. The demand was good, so he gathered up all the pulled teeth he could find around the dental office and peddled them as Hoover's. It is said that about 200 molars, bicuspids, incisors and the like were disposed of before the fake was discovered.

Provisional President Zamora of the new Spanish republic said some nice things about the United States in a recent radio address, including this: "We have before our eyes the example of the great North American Republic. We wish to follow it closely." Cynics will suggest that perhaps the new Spanish president is flattering Uncle Sam as a preliminary to ask for a loan.

China forbids attacks on the government by newspapers, and lays down rigid rules for editors. In fact, certain classes of persons are not permitted to be editors in the United States.

THE KINGDOMS

God has never been without a kingdom. "Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever" (Psa. 45:6). "By me kings reign" (Prov. 8:15). God the almighty ruler, the "Lord of lords and King of kings." Most relative Scriptures allude to God's kingdom in a more limited sense. God established a kingdom among the Israelites. "Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people; for the earth is mine; and ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation" (Ex. 19:5, 6). The children of Israel obeyed not God's voice, and kept not His covenant. They desired an earthly king. God granted their request, but the succession of kings chosen departed from the way of the Lord.

In infinite wisdom and love God promised, through Daniel, another kingdom. "In the day of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed" (Dan. 2:44). John the Baptist preached saying: "The kingdom of heaven is at hand" (Matt. 3:22).

We are told when that kingdom was established. It was when our Lord rose from the grave, and was exalted to God's right hand, "a Prince and a Savior." (See Acts 2:29-42:115). From His throne He poured out His Spirit upon His disciples, "as the Redeemers coronation gift," and Peter filled with the Spirit, preached the first gospel sermon, and announced that Jesus, whom they had crucified, had arisen, and ascended to sit upon the throne prepared for Him from the foundation of the world.

The conditions of entrance into the kingdom are plainly stated. "Except a man be born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God" (John 3:5). "Except ye turn and become as little children, ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven" (Matt. 18:3).

The nature of the kingdom is also defined. "My kingdom is not of this world" (John 18:36). It is composed of those who strive to do the will of God. "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, as it is in heaven, so on earth."

There is yet another kingdom. It is the kingdom of glory, which is the kingdom of grace perfected, men pass into the kingdom of glory, via the kingdom of grace. There is no other road. "At Athens there were two temples—a temple of virtue, and a temple of honor—and there was no going into the temple of honor but through the temple of virtue."

So to enter the heavenly kingdom, we must pass through the kingdom of grace, the Church of the Living God. Yet, strange to say, many aspire after heaven, who shun the kingdom, the church which is composed of those who are striving to do the will of God here on earth. "Not every one that saith unto me: Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." Matt. 7:21-23.

SPORTS SLANTS

By Sam Braswell, Jr.

Sports Slants is this week dedicated to the uncrowned achievement of Ira C. Merchant, who last Thursday proved himself to be the better sportsman and better golfer in the titular match between himself and the Quannah L. S. (City) Walker, for the Green Belt championship. True, the championship trophy is now adorning the mantel of the Walker home in Quannah, but the real champion is enjoying a clear conscience and the recognition of all except possibly three clubs that he is the better golfer and won the 1931 title.

It is most unfortunate indeed that the tournament has left such a bad taste in the entire association's mouth, and had it not been for Ira Merchant's ideals in ultra sportsmanship the Green Belt Association would in all probability have witnessed its last championship tournament. It was Ira's wishes that prevented the club from entering a formal protest, through the Green Belt Association to the U. S. G. A.—a protest which would have undoubtedly been upheld.

Below is a copy of the letter sent to sportswriters, Jerry Malin of the Amarillo Daily News; Fred Thompson of the Wichita Falls Record News, and Amos Melton of the Fort Worth Star Telegram for their fair and just accounts of the tournament.

Dear Sir:

The officers and members of the Hillcroft Golf Club of Clarendon, which this week entertained the Greenbelt Golf Association's Annual Tournament, desires to express their sincere thanks for the generous amount of publicity given the event in the columns of (name of paper) and for the true and correct version you gave the public of the unfortunate incident that marred the championship match.

We feel that your very fair reports of the incident, protest and ruling will serve to clear our membership and Clarendon of any unfair reflections against our sportsmanship, which brings us under special obligation in the matter. In this connection we might say that in official meeting the Hillcroft Club voted to refrain from any protests to the Greenbelt Association or the U. S. G. A. in the matter, even though we all feel that we have every chance of being upheld. We have decided on this course in the interest of better sportsmanship in Panhandle golfing circles, and earnestly hope no succeeding tournament of the Greenbelt or neighboring associations will ever be embarrassed in like manner.

You will ever be a welcome visitor to our city and if we can ever serve you in a personal or professional way, we shall certainly deem it a privilege to show our gratefulness and esteem.

With all good wishes to you and your excellent paper, we are

THE HILLCROFT GOLF CLUB

What the metropolitan papers of this territory have to say about the incident is found in the following:

Wichita Falls Daily Times—(headline)—Quannah Veteran Saves Greenbelt Golf Crown By Protest.

Fort Worth "Star Telegram"—(headline)—"Piece of Paper Decides Golf Match"

Wichita Falls Record News—(headline)—"Violation of 'Buried' Rules Robs Ira Merchant of Greenbelt Golf Title"

Wichita Falls Record News—(headline)—"Clarendon Golfer Fights Uphill To Win But Luck Favors His Foe."

"Ira (County) Merchant of Clarendon late today won the championship of the sixth annual Greenbelt Golf Association tournament, coming up with a great finish to stand one up at the 36th hole, but when, on that fine hole, he stopped and brushed a piece of cardboard from in front of his ball he violated article such and such of the umph umph section of the golf rules and as a result L. S. (City) Walker lifted the crown from his head."—Wichita Falls Record News.

"City Walker of Quannah won the Green Belt Golf Championship by defeating Ira Merchant of Clarendon, one up, in 37 holes. However, the fruits of victory were bitter indeed for walker, as he won the match by a protest on a technicality.

"The decision was very unpopular with the gallery, and goes against the grain of anyone who even pretends to be a sport. Of course, the technicalities must be observed, but such an occurrence leaves a bad taste in one's mouth."—Childress Daily Index.

"L. S. (City) Walker of Quannah won the title, and Merchant is the runner-up after actually defeating Walker, 1 up, in a closely contested match that ended the sixth annual Green Belt meeting."—Amarillo Daily News.

One thing for certain is, that Merchant can look back over the past tournament with a clear conscience, and remember the clippings of the writers who so accurately accounted the happening. On the other hand, we know that Walker, every time he looks at his beautiful cup, his thoughts will become clouded with remorse as his memory brings to mind the unfair advantage he exerted over his younger and less experienced opponent. He will remember Ira willfully conceding him a hole on No. 7, because the local boy unknowingly shot out of turn, when he was already a hole down. He will remember picking up Merchant's ball on the 36th hole and conceding the hole and match at that point, and he will remember congratulating Ira with the following words, "well, I just couldn't beat you, Ira, that's all." He will also remember calling Merchant to play another hole after ample time had been spent to let Ira completely relax from the terrific strain, mentally and physically, he had been under all afternoon. We believe the consolation he receives from his friends who were about to lose and lose heavily and who urged him to carry out his protest to the nth degree, will in no part equal the ever mounting disfavor which his actions have deserved.

This writer doesn't question for one moment the protest as was made, although it was purely technical, that was legal, but to keep it a secret, and concede the putt which defeated himself and then congratulate his opponent and then wait until Merchant had suffered the let down which follows such a strain before letting him know of his actions are the worst sort of alleged gentleman's tactics.

We predict that this year ends Mr. Walker's participation in Green Belt competition, while Ira will be the popular favorite, sharing the spotlight with the ever popular golfer and gentleman, Frank Foxhall of Memphis.

Something else of which Ira can well be proud are the personal letters which he is receiving daily. The contents from an average letter is reprinted below through the courtesy of Mr. Merchant. The letter:

Frederick, Okla., May 24th, 1931
Mr. Ira Merchant
Clarendon, Texas
Dear Sir:

I wish to congratulate you on winning the Green Belt Tournament. I notice by the paper this morning they ruled against you, but I do not even consider it for one minute and to me you won.

I did not get to stay and see the finish but four of our men did.

I can very easily understand just how you feel about the decision against you, for I have had some disappointments myself in life.

Here is hoping that you get the break of good luck in your next efforts in life.

Very respectfully,
F. POLK FRY, SR.
Estelline, Texas
May 25, 1931

Mr. Ira Merchant
Clarendon, Texas
Dear Mr. Merchant:

This letter is to congratulate you on your winning the Green Belt Tournament last Thursday. Although it was taken away from you, it was without a doubt in my mind, your match. You played wonderful golf to come from under a handicap that a few men could have done from Mr. Walker.

The "Piece of paper" technicality is a regrettable thing, and without a doubt comes a direct result of the "Calcutta Pool" gamble. In my mind I'm satisfied that "City" would have never filed a protest of his own free will. He had lots of "outside" pressure brought to bear. His many years of clean sportsmanship with the golfers of this section will not go unchallenged however after the incident of last Thursday.

You have nothing to be sorry for except the loss of the honor that was rightfully yours. After all, when he plays clean and fair he wins although the honor may go to another.

I wish to thank you and the other members of your club for the wonderful hospitality shown us while in Clarendon for the Green Belt meet and express a hope that no regrettable ending will follow another of our meets.

Yours very truly,
Fred Landers
Editor Estelline News

Just a word or two in reply to some uncomplimentary remarks dropped from the Quannah Tribune-Chief in the column headed "Main Street in Quannah." The column fails to bear the signature of the writer—therefore we don't know to whom we are speaking, but here we go.

He says, "One of the incidents that aroused our spleen was the eagerness of the Green Belt president and the president of the Clarendon club to tear away hazards from the path of their favorite and enable him to defeat a star Electra player. Also the gallery furnished needed coaching in etiquette as some of the players needed to study the rule book. Three times when Walker missed putts or dubbed drives in the final match the rooting section exploded with whoops and cheers. Walker's gallery should have turned hand springs when Clarendon's Merchant violated a rule and lost the final hole that could have won the title."

"We offer condolences to Fred Thompson, Wichita Falls sportswriter who apparently was so biased that he has given little credit to Walker for the fight that he waged against golfers that in most instances could defeat him in medal play but not match play. It is difficult for the reader of Wichita papers to have to read a half column to find that Walker and not Merchant won the title; as well as poor reporting of the actual facts concerning the match. It must have been hard to have had to walk away from the last hole with a downed favorite of pet dope. We are paying Al Parker for the Invitation Tournament that will be held in Quannah this summer. The readers in the territory covered by Wichita papers want justice to all whether they win or lose. —Quannah Tribune-Chief.

Well, well, he sure is digging for an alibi, isn't he? But we don't blame him for that—we would sure hate to be in the Quannah writer's position and have to try to smooth the ruffled consciences of the fellow-townsmen over the incident—especially since the big time writers witnessed and wrote the true accounts of the happenings. Yes, we know it was pretty hard to take the story that appeared in the Wichita Falls Record News and the Times—that was pretty bad to have that happen right in your own front door—you have our sympathy on the whole thing.

But the remark you made about the Green Belt President might have been hard if it wasn't for the fact that the same president happened to be a co-owner of Brother (City) Walker in the Calcutta Pool, who wouldn't help too much the chances of an outsider. We happen to know Mr. Greene, the President in question, and wish to state that he is a gentleman through and through and a sportsman in every sense of the word. True the two gentlemen did move a bench in the path of a player, but we deny it had anything to do with the outcome of the match in any way. We do wish to state here that if Mr. Parr had been the same type of sportsman that your city so loudly boasts, he might have protested and had some real grounds for doing so.

Now about the so-called booing and hooting of Walker by the gallery. Only one time in the match did anything of this sort take place, and then the cheering was done by outsiders and small children. We know this to be a fact because we were present and helped to keep such actions from occurring again. Clarendon is very sorry such occurred at all, but we want it understood that the citizenship of the city were in no way responsible for this action. The president and secretary of the Hillcroft club were active in curbing the noises of the huge gallery, especially during the last three holes.

We suggest that the writer should attend the next match in person or have reliable agents present.

Clarendon especially wishes to thank Memphis for their stand taken on the outcome of the match. Yes, we all know Frank would never have won a match like that, nor would Raines. We appreciate the fact that Memphis wished to join with us in making the protest a two club affair, but local officials believe less friction will result from the decision to let matters lay.

Congratulations to Ira Merchant, the real champion of the Green Belt for 1931.

GROCERS TO MAKE LAST STAND AGAINST CLOTHIERS

The Grocery baseball team and the Dry Goods club will meet this Friday afternoon in a game which will just about clinch the title for the first half, or make the twilight league race a real battle from here out. The Clothiers are favored to take the Grocers into camp by a comfortable margin, with their crack right hander, firing his fast ball by the batters, but the Grocers will be by no means out of the running with their pitching ace, Stephenson, on the mound.

The Clothiers have already defeated the Grocery club once this season and one more defeat will just about eliminate them for a chance at the first half of the season's flag. The Grocers are determined to turn the tables in tomorrow's game and a real contest is promised by the managers of both clubs. The largest crowd of the season is assured to be on hand and witness what will probably be the titular game of the league.

BASKETBALL-FOOTBALL TO BE TAUGHT IN TECH SCHOOL

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 27.—Two of the most outstanding basketball coaches in the Southwest have been added to the Wade-Phelan coaching school to be held at the Texas Technological College August 3 to 15, Pete Cawthon, head of the athletic department announced today.

S. D. Burton, coach of the West Texas State Teachers' College at Canyon and Jimmy Kitts of the Athens High School have both been secured to give instructions during the two weeks school for Southwest Coaches.

Kitts has made an equal record in high school basketball. His Athens quintets have won the national championship for high school basketball two years, won the Texas high school championship in 1927, 1929, 1930, and 1931, and won the A. A. U. in 1928.

The caching school here is the only one to be held in the Southwest this summer, and an unusually large attendance is expected. The annual coaching school at S. M. U. will not be held this year and officials of that school have endorsed the school here at the Tech and are helping advertise it.

Football work at the school will be handled by Wallace Wade and Jimmy Phelan.

Wade, now of Duke University and formerly of the University of Alabama, coached the Crimson Tide of "Bama" to three Southern Conference championships at the University of Alabama, tying Pop Warner's Cardinals in 1926.

Phelan, now of the University of Washington, formerly of Purdue University, famous Notre Dame quarterback under Rockne applied the Rockne system at Purdue to win the Big Six championship in 1929.

(By Sam Braswell, Jr.)

"One big family," was the term used by W. P. Cagle, Mayor of the city of Clarendon, in describing the delegation which made up the Amarillo Daily News' special train to Mexico which returned last Friday evening after officially welcoming President Otiz Rubio to open the Tri-State Fair next September. Mayor Cagle was highly enthused over the trip to the historic and beautiful capital of Mexico, and his listeners have all been charmed by the pleasing way he has of telling of his experiences on both the trips to and from the destination city, and the varied entertainments the party enjoyed throughout the week's sojourn to the neighboring Republic.

Leaving here Friday, May 15, the Mayor joined the party at Amarillo and their train started in a special excursion train consisting of eight coaches. From the first few miles out of the city of Amarillo the members of the party were warm friends. Every one was friendly and the delegation was absolutely free from snobs at all times. The fires of friendship kindled even brighter and grew warmer as the train crossed the border bearing the small army of American citizens on their good will trip into foreign soil.

A brief stop was made at the Texas Capital where Governor Ross S. Sterling presented the delegation, his official document, in which he conveyed greetings to the Mexican government and also requested the president to accept the invitation. After a while visiting with the legislators in Austin, the trip continued to San Antonio where sightseeing cars were furnished the party. Trips were made to the Alamo and then through the beautiful grounds and gardens of the marvelous Brackenridge Park.

Lerado and Nuevo Lerado furnished a great deal of pleasure to the trippers, with its quaint buildings and characteristics which have always marked the difference of American and Mexican peoples. Six hours were spent in the city of Monterrey. The municipal band met the train and a national delegation from the national chamber of commerce of Nuevo Leon headed by Manager Antonio L. Rodriguez and was taken in busses to the brewery, glass works, foundry, municipal building, Obispaño. The Mayor expressed himself surprised and delighted with Monterrey in both its size and charming beauty. From this point the train went directly to Mexico City, arriving in the capital Tuesday morning and leaving at midnight Wednesday.

The entire party of 143 excursionists were entertained at the royal palace with President Ortiz Rubio acting as especial host. The president is a genial and very pleasant gentleman of the finest Castilian blood, and was indeed gracious in his relations with the band of Americans. President Rubio seemed impressed with the meeting of Mayor Cagle, and spent a brief period with him, breaking the agreement that he was only to shake hands with the large group. His interest was especially drawn to the Mayor because he had only a short time before received a letter from the City Secretary informing the president of the arrival of Mr. Cagle with the Amarillo delegation, and urging him to accept the invitation to the fair this fall.

The President's palace, according to the Mayor, is much more beautiful than the White House at Washington. The furnishings are of the finest, and the decorations are most remarkable.

Sight seeing trips were the order of the day, these being to the old arena, pyramids, and relics of the ages of Montezuma and Cortez. The famous stone bridge which marked the downfall of the Aztec empire by the army of Cortez was visited and is still used in the main highways. The towering mountains which have beheld all the romance, drama, and adventure of the past centuries still stand in all their majestic mightiness as if to dare the approach of other invading groups. These same beautiful and tragic peaks, now stand a silent guard over the remarkable city of Mexico, keeping a secret forever the terrific struggles of past generations of which there is nothing left at the present time but the mute ruins of the former glamour and power.

A feature of the visit in Mexico City was the dinner given the party at "The Cave" under one of the smaller pyramids. The meal was prepared and served in the ancient Aztec Indian style. After seeing the edibles the Mayor decided to omit one meal, however he did partake of the wine and boiled meat to a good advantage. Music was furnished by the Aztec musicians, in ancient style.

The party left Mexico City after the President accepted the invitation to open the Fair in September and enjoy a three-hour stop in Chihuahua City. It was here that Mayor Cagle enjoyed one of the most interesting experiences of the entire trip. The people of the city met the train wearing large ten-gallon hats, which contrasted with the small yellow hats worn by the delegation, the color for which Amarillo means in Spanish. A humorous incident brought the mayors of Chihuahua and Clarendon together, and these paired together throughout the stay in the city. Mayor Cagle was shown the municipal building and was seated in the Mayor's chair and his photograph made with the Mayor of the host city, Reynaldo Calavera, at his side. The mayor's office is a most remarkable place, much better than that of Governor Sterling's in the State Capital building at Austin, and its furnishings were of the finest obtainable. Mr. Cagle was then escorted by Mayor Calavera to the places of interest in the city, including the villa of the deceased Pancho Villa, noted Mexican desperado statesman and hero.

From Chihuahua the party progressed to Juarez where the Chambers of Commerce of El Paso and Juarez tendered the visitors a wonderful banquet and further sight-seeing trips were arranged.

Mayor Cagle buddied with J. S. Weatherford of Tahoka. Mr. Weatherford is an old time cattleman, and one of the best liked men in this country. He has been in Clarendon a number of times, the first being in 1904 when he was in charge of a herd of cattle driven here and shipped to market. He recalls one of the firms with which he dealt as the Martin-Bennett Grocery Company. His company was most pleasing and added much to the enjoyment of the trip states Mayor Cagle.

One of the most impressive features of the trip was the farming conditions of the Mexican agricultural districts. Only the crudest of implements are used by the farmers passed on the 3,500 mile tour. The most modern cultivation implement seen on the whole trip through the old country was the old-time stick plow pulled by two burros without a yoke of any sort. In harvesting the wheat the old hand scythe method is still used with the methods of hauling the grain consisting of the two wheel cart or the burro altogether.

A letter received this week from President Ortiz Rubio in answer to the one written by Mrs. Mae Shaver is printed below through the courtesy of Mayor Cagle and Mrs. Shaver.

Mrs. Mae Shaver

Clarendon, Texas, U. S. A.
Distinguished Madam:

Permit me the pleasure of answering your esteemed letter, dated the 15th of this month. I received the hand of Mr. W. P. Cagle, Mayor of that city, who has arrived at this capital on board an excursion train.

Sincerely I acknowledge the courtesy of which you have made me the object on extending to me a cordial invitation to be present at the Fair that will take place in the city of Amarillo next September and with entire pleasure I accept it, without this meaning a formal obligation on my part, for as yet I do not know if my official business will give me the opportunity of doing it in person.

I make sincere supplications for the continued prosperity of Clarendon and of you, and taking advantage of the moment, I am repeating with all kindness, your affectionate friend and constant servant.
