Soviets Arrest Agent

MOSCOW (AP)-The Soviet government arrested an American businessman in Moscow a few hours after it charged a woman CIA agent formerly attached to the American Embassy with espionage and complicity in murder by-poison.

An embassy spokesman said P. Jay Crawford, a Moscow representative of International Harvester, was arrested by police Monday night while driving in downtown Moscow with his American fiancee, a member of the embassy staff. It was not known where he was being held.

Horses Lose By Nose

AUSTIN (AP)-The State Democratic Executive Committee certified today that the horse-race betting issue was defeated May 6 by a scant 32,000 votes.

The voice vote of approval came after a brief argument over separating the pari-mutuel betting vote from other canvass results.

"This move could split the whole state Democratic party," argued committee member Ben Bock of New Braunfels.

Fighting In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)-Rival Christian factions clashed in bloody fighting today in northern Lebanon that killed the son of Former President Suleiman Franjieh and at least 39 others, police said. The battle erupted as Israel began withdrawing the last of its invasion force from southern Lebanon.

The clash between 800 Phalange Party militiamen and units of Franjieh's Giants Brigade - allies in the Lebanese civil war - was the worst inter-Christian explosion since a Syrian dominated Arab peace force crushed the national rebellion 19 months ago.

Carter On TV

WASHINGTON (AP)-Two television networks say they will broadcast President Carter's Wednesday news conference scheduled for 3 p.m. Spokesmen for NBC and CBS said Monday their networks will carry the session live. A spokesman for ABC said the network had not yet decided.

Equal rights for women is a familiar topic these days, and after watching television for a couple of hours Sunday afternoon, we decided that the professional women golfers have just about arrived at the point of equality on the course.

We were all set to doze a while and lament the fact there was no professional football, basketball or baseball to watch on the tube. Then, for some unexplained reason, possibly intuition, we turned on the television set.

But we were still prepared to doze in our chair. However, by the time we stretched out, one of those gals had holed a putt the likes of which we had not seen in months and months on the men's circuit.

And then this girl from New Mexico, Nancy Lopez, came into the picture. If ever a show was staged by the Ladies Professional Golf Association, it took place Sunday up there in Ohio on Jack Nickaus' own course. Miss Lopez was the star, of course, but she had plenty of help. They continued to drop in those long putts, and it appeared to us that the remainder of their game was highly presentable, also.

Anyway, it looks as if the LPGA has its own super star now in the 21-year-old girl from New Mexico. We didn't even change channels and watch the men at Memphis after the LPGA had finished its tournament.

Some people in ancient times believed that precious stones were dewdrops hardened by the sun.

The most overworked word in the English language is possibly the word "set" which has 58 noun uses, 126 verbal uses and 10 uses as an adjective. In pronouns, the "I's" probably have it by a big margin.

FIRE DAMAGE - Most of the damage from an early-morning fire at the Smorgasbord occured in the private dining room. Some of the damage resulted from ripped booths and furnishings which had been soaked in gasoline. (SDN Staff Photo)

Seek Arsonist In Restaurant Blaze

A suspected arsonist is being sought in a fire that struck the Smorgasbord either late last night or early this morning, police investigators reported.

The investigators declined to elaborate further, but an on-the-scene observation this morning at the Smorgasbord indicated that carpets at the East Highway restaurant had been soaked with gasoline and set afire.

Police investigators did, however, speculate that the fire may have burned itself out because of a lack of oxygen. The fire was centered in the Smorgasbord's rear dining room.

Employees of the restaurant reported this morning that there was no evidence of forced entry. The locks, they said, had been changed about three weeks ago after the meat lockers were found open one morning with a small amount of meat missing.

The only thing initially thought to be missing was

County's Oil Values Decline

Scurry County oil values will decrease by some $67,383,000, it was announced this morning at the opening session of the county's board of tax equalization.

Some other industrial values are due to be up slightly to account for a net loss of oil and industrial values of around $65 million, accounting for an over-all oil and industrial value of $326,366,000. Local values are expected to amount to around $40 million.

The county commissioners court, sitting as the board of equalization, opened the session this morning in the county courtroom, and then, following a brief discussion, moved to the commissioners courtroom to begin conferences with individuals.

Few questions were raised at the opening session, which was attended mostly by representatives of oil companies and oil-related businesses.

In response to a question, Jay Massingill, county auditor, said it appeared that the county would have a tax rate increase of 65 to 70 cents. However, work has not been completed on the county budget for the coming year.

The Scurry County Junior College District, which uses county values and contracts with the county for collection of its taxes, approved its new budget last night along with a 10-cent tax rate increase.

The county this year will make an assessment to pay on a $4 million hospital bond issue which was voted last year and issued this spring. It is expected to require about 19 cents of the county rate. The bonds are to be retired over the next seven years.

Ask Us

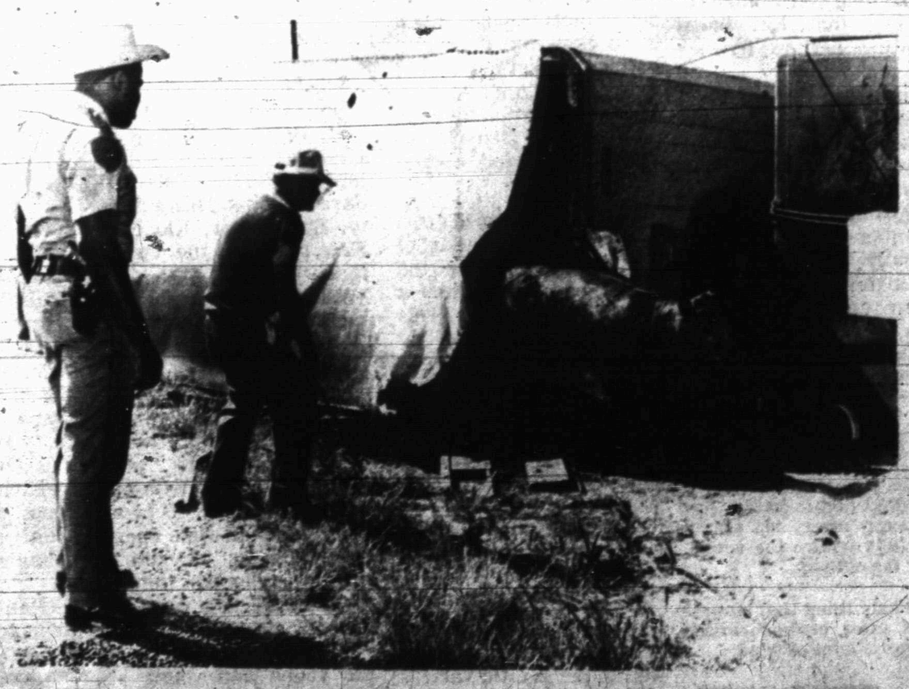

Q - What can be done about people who put tree limbs and other large articles around the dumpster? If these articles are not picked up when the dumpster is emptied, shouldn't they be hauled to the dump instead of just being left to inconvenience the other people who share the same dumpster and alley?

A - The city recommends that big accumulations of prunings from trees, etc., be fed into dumpsters over a period of several days until all are removed. Items too large for the container should either be hauled away by the resident, or the city should be called so that special arrangements can be made to pick it up.

OVERTURNED CATTLE TRUCK — A fully loaded cattletruck overturned about 3:50 p.m. Monday, approximately 4.6 miles north of Snyder on U.S. Highway 84. Although uncertain of the exact number of steers the truck was carrying, it was rumored to be about 65. Above, highway patrolman Earl Pearson and an unidentified man are show assisting in the hearding of the steers. Only one animal was known to have been killed. NCI Will Expand Nutrition Research

WASHINGTON (AP)-The director of the National Cancer Institute, under congressional attack for spending too little on research into links between diet and cancer, said today that nutrition research will expand.

"I would confidently expect that the level of support for nutrition research will increase," Dr. Arthur C. Upton, NCI director, said.

He made the statement under questioning by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., chairman of the Senate nutrition subcommittee.

McGovern questioned why only 1 percent of the NCI budget is spent on research into the relationship between diet and cancer although about half of all cancers may be diet-related.

The NCI director said only about 1 percent of the grant applications to NCI are for nutrition research. "I think that is changing," he added.

On Monday Dr. George L. Blackburn, of the Harvard Medical School faculty, said many people with cancer die of malnutrition before the ailment becomes fatal because treatment for the disease kills the appetite. He did not offer any statistics.

"No better example exists than that of the late and distinguished senator Hubert Humphrey, whose changed physical appearance dramatically reflected a deteriorated nutritional status which all too frequently accompanies the disease process in cancer patients," Blackburn said.

Humphrey died Jan. 13 after a long struggle with cancer of the pelvis. Although his physical appearance deteriorated noticeably in the final months of his life, he continued to display an exuberant personality and zest for politics.

Blackburn said Humphrey's "determined struggle to maintain a relatively normal life style is an unusual exception to the pattern observed in most terminally-ill cancer patients in whom weight loss, weakness and depression produce a lingering, bed-bedridden illness."

He said that more than half the weight loss that occurs in cancer patients can be prevented through recently developed feeding techniques. "Most feeding therapies are extremely simple if physicians will but recognize their importance and become familiar with the methods," he said.

School Hour Change Up For Consideration

Snyder School Trustees will consider a change in school day hours at their meeting tonight in the administration building. The meeting is set for 8 p.m.

A change in classroom hours from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to a schedule of 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. is being proposed.

Also up for consideration will be installation of an elevator at the senior high school, renewal of the agreement for participation in the Region XIV Education Service Center's services and several personnel resignations, reassignments and new applications.

College Budget Of $2.8 Million OK'd

Scurry County Junior College District Trustees last night approved a $2,798,012 budget for 1978-79, an increase of a little over 3½ percent over the 1977-78 total of $2,697,695.

The action was taken following a public hearing attended by three representatives of oil companies with production in the county and representatives of the news media.

The new budget will require a tax rate of 51 cents per $100 valuation (35 cents for operation and 16 cents for bond requirements). The tax rate the past year totaled 41 cents, with 27½ going for operations and 13½ cents for bond retirement.

Declining oil values are responsible for the increased rate requirement, it was noted.

In the brief public hearing, Arthur H. Dimney, representing Chevron U.S.A., operator of the SACROC unit, said he had no quarrel with the budget. He said his company would not question a budget in which funds were spent wisely, and that the company wants the college to maintain a quality program.

Carlton Meredith, representing a group of independent producers, and John O'Neill, representing Texaco, were present for the hearing, and neither raised any protest concerning the budget.

The oil company representatives agreed that an increase of around 3½ per cent was commendable in view of inflationary pressures.

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, Western Texas College president, said the college had made some consolidations in its faculty following some resignations in the past year and that these reductions were reflected in the budget. He said the college had not sacrificed quality in its program, however. Greater use of part-time personnel will enable the college to handle peak situations more economically, he said.

The budget includes a cost-of-living salary hike

3 Promotions OK'd At WTC

Three promotions in rank were approved and a bid for the purchase of additional computer equipment was accepted by Scurry County Junior College District Trustees at their regular meeting last night.

Jerry Dennis was promoted from the rank of instructor to assistant professor in the division of occupational education and technology, Kent Mills was promoted from instructor to assistant professor in the agriculture department and Ray Robbins was promoted from assistant professor to associate professor in law enforcement.

The board accepted with regret the resignations of Dr. Toni Turk, associate professor of history and government, and Alice Gray, bookstore manager.

Dr. Turk was a member of the original faculty of WTC. He has accepted the position of principal of San Juan High School in Blanding, Utah, effective July 1.

Joe Carter, associate professor in science was granted a one-year leave of absence for advanced study, and Mike Otto, a teacher in Ira Public School, was employed as an instructor in science.

A bid of $16,863.41 submitted by NCR Corp. was accepted for the purchase of additional memory banks for the WTC computer. It was the only bid received.

Greyhound Food Management, Inc., was granted an increase in the boarding rate at the WTC cafeteria from $3.30 per day to $3.50 per day.

A bid of $10,715 submitted by James D. Goode Construction Co. was accepted for installation of a sewer line to the site of an apartment complex planned on the southeast corner of the WTC campus. It was the lowest of five bids received.

Consideration of bids for the purchase of a golf course utility cart was postponed.

The regular business meeting followed the public hearing on the 1978-79 budget for WTC. The board went into a brief executive session between the budget hearing and the regular meeting. It was announced that a personnel matter was discussed, but no action was taken following the 10-minute closed session.

uncle too generous

A nationally circulated business magazine in a recent issue addressed a question to five members of Congress who are not seeking re-election. The group was made up of one Senator and four Representatives, which is about the ratio in membership of the two branches of the nation's lawmaking body. Actual numbers are 435 Representatives and 100 Senators.

The question: "Is Congress getting better, or worse?" The composite response was that in the opinion of the persons questioned the nation's lawmakers are of about the same level of integrity and ability at this time as their predecessors in former years.

Tenure of the five respondents ranged from six to 26 years. Veteran members of the panel say Congress has changed in several ways in the last decade and a half because conditions have changed.

Public programs adopted in the last quarter of a century affect at least 85 percent of all persons of voting age. Members of Congress are called on for services that weren't in existence as recently as 10 years ago. Inquiries and requests from constituents by the ton reach Washington every hour of the 24 in each day.

Answers are expected. Office staffs on Capitol Hill constitute a major part of the burgeoning population of the city of Washington and its suburbs.

In addition to directing operations of personal headquarters lawmakers are expected to attend committee meetings, be present at public sessions of House or Senate, meet delegations making the rounds in support of special legislation and find time somehow to bone up on pending legislation.

Congress is in session usually between eight and ten months of each year. Roll call votes in each branch range into the hundreds in that length of time. One opinion was held by all five lawmakers questioned by the magazine. It was that there aren't a sufficient number of hours in each day for a member to make a study of bills and resolutions scheduled for attention at every session.

Of necessity he must rely on members of his personal staff and colleagues whose judgment he respects for guidance. It was also agreed that the Federal Government is trying to render too many services for too many people.

Is there possibility of change for the better? All answered in the negative. That's why they are quitting.

transportation woes

The news isn't so good in the nation's transportation system.

While attention has focused on the problems and future of rail service, the bus lines too have been running into trouble.

A sharp decline in passengers - off nearly 20 percent in the past 10 years - and sharply increased expenses have brought intercity service to a point the Interstate Commerce Commission recently reported "must be viewed with concern."

Buses have been losing ground to private cars, planes and to trains - the last particularly rankling. Bus operators note that one consequence of heavy federal subsidization of rail passenger service has been to undercut their business, which receives no such assistance.

One industry spokesman, J. Kevin Murphy, president of Trailways, Inc., thinks some attention and remedial action should be forthcoming from Washington.

Not in the form of direct subsidies, however, but as grants to communities to finance new "transportation centers." The proposed centers - replacements for deteriorating terminals that Murphy says in some case are enough to scare off potential passengers - would bring together bus facilities, limousine service to airports, commuter parking and retail services for the traveling public.

How effective such centers might be in countering the decline may be questioned, but not the overall importance of buses to the national transportation network. Where airlines serve 670 communities and trains some 500, Murphy notes, intercity buses link 15,000. And in terms of passengers, trains currently carry some 20 million annually and airlines 209 million. But buses are still far ahead with 350 million.

In such numbers there is a strong argument for public attention and action.

unbecoming conduct

PATCO is the union of air traffic controllers - Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization.

You guys have not been acting very "professional."

President John Leyden, who is head man of the "sky cops," says they may "unofficially" start a slowdown "today, tomorrow, any time."

Well, let's talk about that.

These are the men who direct air traffic from the ground. Theirs is a highly responsible profession and has earned increasing respect.

It is these "men in the tower" who separate traffic and coordinate takeoffs and landings and otherwise facilitate the safe movement of aircraft through an ever more crowded sky.

One U.S. airport - Chicago's O'Hare - handles more flights daily than do all the airports in Britain.

It could not be done without the skill and dedication of the men of PATCO.

That said - this also needs to be explained.

Recently new sophisticated on-board computerized equipment has made the men in the cockpit increasingly independent of the men on the ground. To the men and women of PATCO, that has been deflating; perhaps irritating.

Members of PATCO have learned over the years to work closely with the air crews. Their representatives sit in on meetings of the Airline Pilots Assn.

Members of PATCO periodically fly in the jump seat in the cockpit to study radio communication from "the other end."

This cooperation has resulted in a better understanding of and respect for communication blackout areas, diverse hydroplane speeds; informally, these communicators have thus standardized the jargon essential to their work.

The periodic cockpit ride has been useful, still is.

But the unlimited availability of this privilege has encouraged some tower men to misuse the jump seat for frequent overseas vacations.

Where most airlines have happily allowed up to eight domestic and one international flight per year, requests for the overseas "familiarization flights" have been running hundreds a month.

So the three airlines with overseas operations have sometimes bumped PATCO men off their flights in favor of other personnel.

At their Las Vegas convention the members of PATCO decided to make a big issue of this - last Memorial Day weekend they did initiate slowdowns at some airports.

Now slowdowns, nuisance vectors, taxi delays, in addition to the traffic snafu which results, also cost more than any of us can afford in wasted fuel.

President Leyden said, "they can allow us a free seat or they can spend some money burning fuel."

Well, now, the conspicuous selfishness in this instance - the dubious grievance and the callous attitude toward wasted fuel - is most unprofessional.

Perhaps there was a time when you guys had to dramatize yourselves to get public recognition and respect, which you did: don't undo all that with unbecoming schoolboy petulance.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The first indication of trouble came in mid-April, when Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., called Stuart E. Eizenstat, President Carter's senior aide in charge of domestic policy.

Eastland, one of the most powerful members of the Senate, was seeking a meeting on behalf of friends in the cotton industry who were upset about a new government program aimed at reducing a disease known as byssinosis or "brown lung."

The timing of the senator's call was unusual because it came very late in a prolonged regulatory proceeding that began in September 1974, more than three and one-half years earlier.

By December 1976, the Labor Department's Occupational Health and Safety Administration (OSHA) had published proposed new standards in its campaign to reduce byssinosis, a crippling disease unique to cotton industry workers.

The affliction is caused by the inhalation of cotton dust, and its most acute form leaves men and women wheezing, choking, coughing and gasping for breath because of permanent, dust-induced deterioration of their lungs.

Last spring, OSHA conducted more than 30 days of public hearings in Washington, Greenville, Miss., and Lubbock, Tex., to give both employees and industry officials an opportunity to comment on the proposed regulations.

The official hearing record was closed many months ago but, at Eizenstat's suggestion, Eastland took his last-minute appeal to the Labor Department. On May 4, representatives of the National Cotton Council were granted a special meeting with Labor Secretary Ray Marshall and OSHA Administrator Eula Bingham.

Two days earlier, on May 2, Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, wrote a memo acknowledging that 11th-hour intervention in the cotton dust issue was contrary to "normal procedures" because the final regulations were about to be issued.

Nevertheless, Schultze called for a full-scale review of the proposed OSHA standards "as part of the president's anti-inflation program."

On May 17, Barry Bosworth, head of the president's Council on Wage and Price Stability, wrote a memo acknowledging that "byssinosis is a definite health problem" but arguing that the OSHA program should be scaled down.

Marshall and Bingham stood by their proposal. They planned to begin briefing industry officials about their decision on May 24 and to formally issue the final standards on May 31.

On the evening of May 22, only two days before the briefings were to begin, Schultze, Eizenstat and Robert S. Strauss, in charge of Carter's anti-inflation program, met privately to discuss the issue.

Immediately after that meeting, Eizenstat called Marshall and asked for an indefinite postponement of the briefings and regulations. For the first time in OSHA's seven-year history, the White House had directly intervened in agency policy-making.

The political senstivity of the brown lung issue is best illustrated by a confidential 1972 memo written by then-OSHA administrator George C. Guenther, appointed by President Richar M. Nixon.

"No highly controversial standards (i.e. cotton dust, etc.) will be proposed by OSHA" prior to the 1972 presidential election, Guenther promised. The memo then noted the "great potential of OSHA as a sales point for fund-raising and general support by employees" on Nixon's behalf.

Carter has designated Vice President Walter F. Mondale to resolve the mushrooming controversy, and there is no evidence of similar political motivation behind the last-minute meddling by the White House this year.

"But the National Cotton Council already has sent a letter to the president," says one industry insider. "It warns that he's politically dead in the South in 1980 if the regulations are issued in their current form."

my turn

by wanda rushing

Have you noticed that this nation is facing another money problem?

Not only is the American dollar not buying much these days, but it is dull, boring, unexciting and a most unimaginative currency for a nation that has produced a Disneyland, "Star Wars" and walked on the moon.

But we are about to get a chance to eliminate part of this boredom, since the U.S. Treasury will mint a new, smaller $1 coin. This will eliminate the old tradition of Lincolns, Washingtons, Jeffersons and Franklins.

It appears that a very stern image of Susan B. Anthony, a leader of the Women's Movement, is leading the field of some 54 rivals, to have her image on the coin.

Instead of slapping a picture of Ms. Anthony's face on the new coin it might be well to put a little variety into our dollar.

Since sex appeal is used in almost everything on the market today, maybe it would be well to use it on the dollar coin. Maybe something that would not make it only fun to spend, but fun to save too.

Perhaps we could use the faces of 100 different people on the new coin and maybe collect a prize by saving one of each.

Among the faces nominated for this honor are Miss Keller, Mrs. Roosevelt, Betsy Ross, Amelia Earhart, Martha Washington, Harriet Tubman, Jane Addams, Miss Liberty, Belle Starr, Klondike Kate and even the Virgin Mary.

Well I have a few suggestions of my own to add.

—Jack Benny ... These you'd have to save, or else weight down Benny's final resting place to keep him from rolling in his grave.

—Little Richard ... preferably in a pose with his hair piled high on his head and his mouth wide open. (Because it's absolutely the most ridiculous thing I can think of, so it must be appropriate.)

—Cookie Monster ... for the young and young at heart. Might as well get the kids involved too!

—The United States Postal Service emblem ... because the way postal rates keep soaring, it's going to cost a dollar to mail a letter before the end of the decade.

—Jimmy Carter ... Because he can, if necessary, pass the buck.

—Drew Pearson ... With all those bucks flying around you'll have to have someone with fast hands.

—Farrah Fawcett (especially for the men) ... because it would be certainly boost savings. If they were carrying around her picture they won't spend them, they would just stare a lot. This might also work just as well with Elizabeth Taylor, Raquel Welch, etc.

—Phyllis Diller - for the reverse of everything contained in the above paragraph. Who would want to carry her picture around, thus it would aid spending.

—Elvis Presley (for the young girls) ... what girl could possible spend a dollar with his picture on it.

—Paul Newman, Burt Reynolds, Rock Hudson or Robert Redford ... for the same reason as above but for the older women.

Why couldn't we have a $1 coin with any number of persons on it? This would please more people and that's the only satisfaction we can hope to have on the dollar today as we continue to see it's value decline.

john cunniff

us measures poorly

NEW YORK (AP)-Want to reduce inflation, raise the quality of life, lower the foreign payments deficit, improve the cities, solve pressing social problems, create jobs, extend leisure time?

You do, of course, so it follows that you are also for greater productivity, which is a measure of how efficiently we use manpower, materials, machinery and money. We've measured poorly of late.

At hearings scheduled today, members of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress were due to hear again from the experts that our recent poor record is a problem that no longer can be ignored.

That's what they heard years ago too. Meanwhile, the record has worsened. Vital it is, improved productivity seems to be one of those issues always postponed, if not totally ignored.

During the years since World War Two the rate of improvement has been 3.2 percent a year, but during the past decade it has fallen to just 1.5 percent, and isn't likely to get back to 3.2 before 1990 at least.

While the United States, whose industrial superiority was built by rapid productivity increases, chugs along somewhat wearily, the rates for Japan, West Germany and some other trading partners race ahead.

A report just issued by the nation's productivity center indicates rates in those two countries might average between 4 and 6 percent a year through 1990, while that for the United States lags under 3.

In other words, one could argue, the competitive position of American-made goods can be maintained only by taking a smaller profit or by assistance from the federal government that is, protectionism.

In the sense that this is a semi-capitalist country, such a turn would bring the end in sight. The spirit of free enterprise that helped spur a productivity surge in the past century might be suffocated.

The alternative-licking the problem and restoring greater productivity would on the other hand shower the populace with such benefits that one wonders how it can be ignored, as sometimes it is.

George H. Kuper, executive director of the National Center for Productivity and Quality of Work Life, tried to underscore this point in his report, "The Future of Productivity."

If it had merely increased over the past 10 years at the same 3.2 percent rate of the previous two decade, he said, "the difference would have meant an additional $100 billion in real GNP."

GNP is Gross National Product, the total of goods and services, of steel and bicycles and food and vacations and houses and nursing care and day-camps and security and technology and clean air and water.

In addition, productivity increases would have meant more general tax funds, and perhaps enabled us to obtain the tax relief that so many Americans now want but cannot have without a reduction of services.

The ingredients of productivity are perhaps better known to Americans than to any others, because for decades Americans were, after all, the greatest innovaters, the smartest managers, the most daring investors.

Girl Scout's Day Camp Full Of Activities

Special Programs Highlight Week At Camp

Snyder Girl Scouts held their annual Day Camp June 5-9 at Towle Park. Each day began with a flag ceremony with every unit taking their turn in posting and retiring the Colors.

The rains forced the scouts and their leaders to shelter in the Armory on the second day of camp where they resumed their activities.

Their outdoor activities included hiking, studying nature, learning new songs and working on outdoor skills such as lashing, pitching a tent and using a jackknife.

Some highlights of their activities were cake decorating taught by Judy Gann, slides of nature by Erwin Pavlik, slides of wider opportunities and Camp Booth Oaks by Lou Voss, and a program on being a horsewoman by champion all-round cowgirl in 13-15 age bracket in the AJRA, Sandy Sewell. Also a lesson in horseshoeing by Rusty Teague. A bubble gum contest was entered by girls and their leaders. The week's activities ended with a dinosaur egg hunt led by Glen Polk.

Carol Evey of Big Spring, representative for West Texas Girl Scout Council, visited the camp Thursday.

Everyone attending the camp received a camp patch. Peggy Vernon was camp director. She was assisted by Margaret White. Billy Teague served as registrar. Millie Tutor, LVN, was camp nurse and was assisted by June Muerer, LMA.

Unit troop leaders and helpers were Frieda Dever, Brenda Ingram, Unit 1; Alice McCauley, Kay Mauldin, Sherry Burdett, Unit 2A; Jeannie Pilgrim, Robyna Scarber, Unit 2B; Debra Rodgers, Nova Olsen, Judy Gann, Unit 3; Carol Tucker, Eloise Gunset, Unit 4A; Judy Barkowsky, Doris Defreese, Unit 4B; and Margaret White, Nancy LaRoux, Unit 5. Program aides were Elke Goodson, Carmen Trice and Richard Trice. Leaders of the papoose unit were Jane Doneldson and Reta Baldwin, and the cowboy unit was lead by Thelma Deere and Cyd Hariman.

The Cadette Troop also assisted as aides to the younger troops.

Hermleigh 4-H Meets

The Hermleigh 4-H Club met June 8. The group opened the meeting by repeating the motto, pledge and prayer. Josie Castillo presided over the business meeting.

A group discussion was held concerning up coming events. Plans were made for the July 4th concession stand and a dress review. Members worked on pillow tops and plaques.

Those attending were Alex Castillo, Josie Castillo, Gerald Johnston, Wayne Choate, Gregory Glass, Junior Castillo, Melinda Castillo, Danny Arellano and Mrs. Walter C. Stirl.

New Scout Uniform

NEW YORK (AP)-American designer Halston has designed a new adult uniform for the Girls Scouts of the U.S.A. The jacket, vest, skirt, pants, beret and visor in a sage green texturized gabardine-type fabric are teamed with an ivory color blouse with a self-fabric oblong scarf that doubles as an ascot or sash.

Snyderites To Attend State Convention

A. Lindbergh Working On Book

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Anne Morrow Lindbergh spends all her time working on her book, "Diaries and Letters," because, she says, "After 70, one does not know how much time one will have left to complete one's unfinished tasks."

Mrs. Lindbergh, 72, sent that message as her reason for missing a luncheon here Monday to mark issuance of an envelope recalling the pioneer 1927 trans-Atlantic flight by her late husband, Charles Lindbergh. The first-day cover was meant for stamp collectors to use with new U.N. commemorative stamps honoring the International Civil Aviation Organization.

"How was I to know?" lamented West.

"Any crocodile would have known," replied East. "So would most really good bridge players."

South had taken dummy's ace of spades, played three rounds of trumps, led a low diamond and let West hold the trick with his 10. West had shifted to a club and East's 10 had lost to South's king.

Then came the key play. South had led another low diamond. West had played the jack and after dummy ducked, East was forced to win with the queen. He could do nothing better than to take his ace of clubs and hold declarer to 10 tricks.

If West had played the king of diamonds, he would have been sure to get the lead and could have set the hand by leading another club.

West really should have made that difficult play. It was a cinch that if South held the queen of diamonds, he would have led toward it from dummy, instead of away from it.

Ask the Experts

A Texas reader asks what we would bid with:

The bidding has proceeded one diamond-double-pass.

We would bid two diamonds. Then we would raise either major suit that partner would bid in response to our cue bid.

Susie Lee, whose home run and double led the Bomber hitting, nabbed a line drive from her third base position for one out then tagged third base for the second out and threw over to second baseman Paula Beuerlein for the third out to choke a would-be Pacesetter run-streak in the first inning.

Teammate Beuerlein knocked a double and a single and Jackie Parham added a double as the Bombers grabbed 10 hits. Lisa Rosas, Lori Allen, Kina Scott, Dru Blackard and Valorie Cain added singles.

Beniquez Suffers Broken Hand...

Rangers Slip Past Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)-Even-tempered Al Oliver got mad Monday night and won a baseball game for the Texas Rangers.

In the seventh, with his friend and teammate Ferguson Jenkins trying desperately to hold a lead over the Kansas City Royals, Oliver fielded Clint Hurdle's single in left field and threw to the plate.

The runner could have waltzed home. Oliver's throw sailed high and wide, so far off target that Hurdle easily made it to second and considered taking third.

Before the inning was over, Jenkins was in the clubhouse and the Royals had pushed across four runs to knot the game at 5-5.

Oliver, leading off the next inning, was seething. The first offering from reliever Steve Mingori brushed him back off the plate. The next, a high, inside fastball, wound up in the right field bleachers 375 feet away. And with Paul Lindblad closing down a Royals' threat in the eighth, the Rangers left the park with a 6-5 victory over their bitter American League West rivals.

"My wife tells me I'm a better hitter when I get mad, and I guess I proved her right tonight," Oliver said. "what a terrible throw that was. If I'd been able to get my footing, that ball might have gone into the press box. I was especially mad because Fergie had been pitching a good game up until then and my bad throw contributed to him being taken out of the game."

Bobby Bonds drove in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a two-run homer in the third for the Rangers, who took a 5-1 lead into the seventh. Then the Royals chased Jenkins with doubles by Darrell Porter, Frank White and Tom Poquette, plus Hurdle's single.

In the Royals' eighth, Porter led off with a double and went to third on a wild pitch. Al Cowens then drew a walk, bringing up John Wathan with none out. But third baseman Toby Harrah made a stabbing stop of his line drive at the bag, tagged out Porter and threw to first for the double play. The Royals, who have now lost eight of their last 10, went meekly afterward.

"They give us a run and we hit it right at the third baseman," said Royals Manager Whitey Herzog in disgust. "A ground ball to second or short and we've got a tie game, but that's the way it's been going."

Mingori, 1-1, was the loser while Steve Comer, 3-1, was the winner in relief of Jenkins.

The victory was a costly one for the Rangers. Centerfielder Juan Beniquez suffered a broken left hand when struck by a pitch from starter Doug Bird. The hand was placed in a cast and Rangers spokesmen said he would be sidelined indefinitely.

Known primarily as an outstanding defensive specialist, Beniquez has been enjoying one of his most productive seasons at the plate, batting .265.

Burkburnett Claims Two On All State Tourney Team

AUSTIN (AP)-Champions Houston Bellaire in Class 4A and Mount Pleasant in 3A dominated the all-state tournament schoolboy baseball teams, which were announced Monday. Burkburnett noted two.

On Friday, Bellaire defeated Lubbock Monterey, 6-4, for the 4A title, and Mount Pleasant defeated Burkburnett, 5-2, in 3A.

Bellaire garnered six of the 11 places on the 4A all-star squad, and Mount Pleasant captured six of the 12 spots on the 3A team.

Each team had two pitchers, but Class 3A had an extra player because two players tied for honors as the all-tournament shortstop in that division.

Here is the 4A team:

1B-Buddy Logan, Corpus Christi Moody.

2B-Scott Netherly, Bellaire.

3B-Scott Wolf, Duncanville.

SS-Mike Wooten, Lubbock Monterey.

OF-Kurt Urbanek and Tom McMurtrey, Bellaire; and Dana Rieger, Monterey.

P-John Moses, Bellaire, and Ron Reeves, Monterey.

Dallas Still Waits On Brown Move

DALLAS (AP)-John Y. Brown doesn't understand Dallas Mayor Bob Folsom sometimes.

"He wants an affair on the first date," said Brown Monday about the possibility of moving the Buffalo Brave National Basketball Association franchise to Dallas. "You have a persistent, aggressive mayor."

And sometimes Folsom doesn't think he understands John Y. Brown.

"You can't pin him down...he worries about so many small things...like where are the players going to park? Does the press have to pay to park?"

Asked why his decision whether to move to Dallas or six other cities had taken so long, Brown said Monday: "We're gonna be married a long time. We want it to be the right decision."

The Advisory Board Committee of the National Basketball Association gets the word in San Diego today on Buffalo's plans and Brown was playing it mum in a last-ditch visit to Dallas Monday.

Brown, admitting he was "worn out" shopping for a new location for the Braves, said "I can't say in good faith a move to Dallas is imminent."

"I would say it's 50-50 we will make a recommendation to the committee," said Brown after another long session with a smiling Folsom.

Once the committee gets a recommendation then it will pass on the facts to the NBA Board of Governors.

"It could be 10 days to possibly two weeks before the Board of Governors' act," said Brown.

Folsom said "I'm encouraged. Maybe it is a false feeling but I think we accomplished a lot. We made some slight changes on our lease."

Brown said he still didn't get the parking and concession arrangements he wanted but concluded "It's something we can live with."

Redlegs Cop Two Wins

The Snyder Redlegs whipped Crane Cubs in double-header action Sunday.

Ramon Valadez took the opening victory, 6-4. Lupe Lopez manned the hill for the Redlegs' second victory, 3-1.

The Redlegs will play Wednesday night at 8:30 against the Snyder All-Stars, a team composed of former SHS Tiger members.

Astros Falter, Win Anyway

HOUSTON (AP)-When a team commits a club record seven errors, allows 12 hits and fails to score a run through the first seven innings, it is not supposed to win. But the way the Houston Astros have been playing lately, manager Bill Virdon will take almost anything.

"It is a God send," Virdon said, following Houston's come from behind 6-5 victory over Pittsburg Monday night. "I can't ever remember being with a club that made seven errors in a game, let alone win it," Virdon said. "I am going to try to forget this one and worry about the next one."

Ceasar Cedano's three-run infield single kept a six-run Astro rally going in the eighth inning as Houston rallied to take its third victory in its last four games.

Orioles 5, Mariners 4

Larry Harlow singled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning to lead Baltimore over Seattle for the Orioles' 11th straight victory. Billy Smith opened the seventh with a single, finishing Seattle starter Jim Colburn. Smith was sacrificed to second and, following a walk to Mark Belanger, scored on Harlow's hit off reliever Enrique Romo.

Giants 1, Expos 0

Right-hander Ed Halicki pitched a one-hitter and teammate Jack Clark rapped a run-scoring double in the sixth inning to give San Francisco its victory over Montreal and hard-luck pitcher Steve Rogers.

The only Montreal hit off Halicki was Ellis Valentine's single leading off the second inning.

Braves 2, Cardinals 1

Jeff Burroughs' sixth-inning home run broke a 1-1 tie and Mickey Mahler fired his first career complete game, a seven-hitter, as Atlanta edged St. Louis.

Burroughs' homer was his seventh of the season, while Mahler fanned nine and didn't walk a batter.

'Slugger' Jr. Grabs Long Drive Contest

RICHARDSON (AP)-Mickey Mantle Jr., who only last week quit organized baseball, captured the Northern Texas PGA Sectional long-driving contest Monday with a prodigious belt of 319-yards, 4-inches at Sherrill Golf Course here.

He outslugged his famous father, Mickey Mantle Sr., former slugger for the New York Yankees, who hit the ball 302-yards.

The national championship will be held Aug. 2 at Oakmont Country Club.

Other qualifiers who will move to Pecan Valley in San Antonio July 9th included Lou Jan, Missouri City, Texas, 317-15, Jim Little, Plano, 315-10, Jim HendLindale, 315-2, Terry Brown, Tyler, 313-16, Mark Witt, Dallas, 312-27, David Nelson, Dallas, 309-6.

Austin Drills U.S.'s Smith

CHICHESTER, England-Tracy Austin beat Paula Smith of the United States 6-4, 6-4 and fellow 15-year-old American Pam Shriver lost to Marjorie Blackwood of Canada 7-6, 6-4 in a tennis warmup for Wimbledon.

The University of Oklahoma will have twin brothers playing on its 1978 football team. Paul Tabor is a first-string offensive center and Phil Tabor is a starter at defensive tackle.

College Budget Okayed

of about eight percent for all personnel at WTC. Part of this raise involves fringe benefits as recommended by the WTC Faculty Association. The college will pay for the employee's health and life insurance and will consider a dental insurance plan. All professional personnel will receive 50 percent of their dependents' insurance paid in lieu of that amount being added to the salary scale.

In all, the salary outlay will increase by around $90,700 to a total of $1,436,338.

The overall budget shows that 43.35 per cent will come from state funds, 2.43 percent from federal funds, 42.89 percent from local maintenance tax funds, and 11.33 percent from other local funds.

Salary scales for maintenance personnel technicians and clerical personnel range from $509 per month beginning to $937 per month in grade 42 after 20 years of service.

Salary scale for professional personnel ranges from $10,292 for a beginning instructor with a bachelors degree to $18,562 for a professor with a doctorate and 11 years of service.

In administrative salaries at WTC, the president draws $32,500, the vice president $29,000, deans range from $19,000 to $23,000 and department heads range from $16,000 to $20,000, depending on their professional degrees and length of service.

It was noted that WTC now ranks 29th among the 47 junior colleges in the state in salary scale.

Drama Students Seek Trip Funds

A group of Snyder High School drama students and ex-Snyder High School drama students came to the rescue of a hard-pressed entertainment program committee Saturday night at a family motor coach rally.

The coach rally was held at the Scurry County Coliseum, but a mix-up of dates led to a group of young people having to improvise a theatrical production for the town's guests at the rally.

Pitching in to put together a drama production for the crowd were Nell Sears, Becky Pierce, Sherilyn Campbell, Donna Browning, Karen Sears, Steve Snider, Neely Wright, and Scott Marlar.

Monday night, members of the cast went to the board of directors' meeting of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce and sought the group's sponsorship of a trip they are planning to go to in New Orleans.

The group said the convention it plans to attend is a meeting of the American Theater Association. It will be held in New Orleans Aug. 13-16.

Representatives of the group said, however, they are in need of funds. A painting donated by LaVerta Lovell, administrative assistant at the chamber of commerce, sold for $160 at the coach rally. That money, plus another $100, in contributions, has so far been raised.

The representatives said, though, that more money will be needed. Ms. Lovell said that donations will be accepted at the chamber for the group.

Tentatively planning on going to New Orleans are Kim Massingill, Ronny Hester, Greg Pavlik, Jerry Martin, Debbie Smithee, Paula Wolfe, Sarah Sullivan, Sherri Bullard, Laurie Bethel, Jeanne McCormick, Marca Parham, Nell Sears, Bryan Lewallan, Perry Robertson, Robby Moore, John Hopkins, David Flemming, Mickey Robinson, and Scott Marlar.

Rattlesnakes Are On Prowl In This Area

Several reports of rattlesnakes in yards and in buildings indicate residents should be on special watch for the poisonous serpents.

Last week a young boy was bitten near the carport of his Fluvanna home. Also last week a snake was killed in the front yard of another Fluvanna resident and this morning a small snake was discovered in the Administration Building of Western Texas College.

Two other rattlesnakes were said to have been found on the campus in recent weeks but Dr. Robert Clinton, President of WTC, said he could not confirm this since they had not been reported to him.

Recent rains may have flooded dens and be prompting the snake to look for higher ground.

The child that was bitten last week in Fluvanna is reported doing well in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Chamber Set To Greet New Manager June 26

The new executive director of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, Bill Warner, will take over his duties June 26, it was reported Monday night at a meeting of the chamber's board of directors.

Warner was hired to replace Bill Henry, who resigned effective June 1. Warner resigned his post as director of industrial development of the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce to come here.

A get-acquainted coffee and reception will be held for Warner June 30 at the chamber.

In other business, Dalton Walton was chosen to replace Ray Engelhardt as president-elect of the Snyder chamber. Engelhardt, the former manager of the American Magnesium plant, recently moved to Liberty.

Other discussions and reports at last night's board of directors' meeting dealt with the Fourth of July celebration.

This year's tractor pull, like last year's, will be held at the rodeo grounds on west 30th St., it was reported. Approximately $3,700, plus entry fees, will be awarded to the winners.

Each contestant in the tractor pull will be charged an entry fee tentatively set at $25. Spectators to the event will be charged an admission fee. The board also voted to allow the Jaycees to operate a concession stand.

The tractor pull will be held the nights of July 2 and July 3. The competition July 2 is expected to begin at 8 p.m., and at 7:30 p.m. on July 3.

There will also be a queen's contest at this year's tractor pull. The winner will be determined by the greatest number of chamber donations sold. Contestants must be sponsored by local civic clubs.

One difference between this year's and last year's July 4 celebrations is in cash certificates. Instead of having one winner receiving a jackpot prize of $500, as in last year's July 4 celebration, there will be four winners this year, with the $500 being divided among them.

The board members also discussed industrial prospects that may someday locate in Snyder. No recent developments were reported, however.

Plans are still "go" for the national finals of the American Junior Rodeo Association to be held here Aug. 8-13.

Plat Of New Addition Up For Action

The Snyder City Council is scheduled to consider approval of a plat for Eastridge Addition and a rate increase for Texas Electric Service Co. at its meeting tonight.

The meeting is set for 6:30 p.m. in the council room at city hall.

Texas Electric submitted its rate request to cities it serves and to the State Public Utilities Commission on May 26. It seeks an increase in revenue of 24.4 per cent.

Also up for consideration will be a request by Par Producing Co. for a permit to drill an oilwell inside the city, a proposal for the city to contract with the Chamber of Commerce to provide certain promotional and development activities for the city, and request from the Snyder Motel Association for an appropriation from motel tax funds to rent a billboard on Interstate Highway 20 near its intersection with U.S. 84.

Bids will be considered for the sale of some used radio equipment, and for installation of water and sewer lines for some new developments.

Some budget study information also will be presented at tonight's session.

Three Mishaps Are Reported

Three traffic accidents have been reported to police.

The city's first mishap was reported at 2:18 p.m. Monday and occurred at the Busy Bee Drive-In at the intersection of Ave. E and East Highway.

Involved in it were a 1973 Ford driven by Debra Hafner and a 1969 Ford driven by Mike Cannon. Only minor damages were reported.

The next mishap took place at the intersection of 18th St. and Ave. R and involved a 1971 Ford driven by Beatriz Puente and a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Moreline Thompson. That minor mishap was reported at 12:35 a.m. today.

A June 10 traffic accident was also reported to police yesterday. That mishap was reported as a hit and run and involved a 1972 Chevrolet owned by Howard Crenshaw and another vehicle which is alleged to have left the scene of the accident.

The collision occurred in the 2600 block of College Ave.

The business' cash register was full of gasoline, they added, and one booth was slashed and also soaked with gasoline.

Police said they believe the fire may have been started between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m.

"Try 78° this summer. You'll save on your electric bill."

"For saving money on energy bills this summer, Texas Electric recommends a temperature setting of no lower than 78°. This may be higher than you're used to. But when it's 90° or more outside, you'll find that 78° is pretty comfortable after all.

There are a lot of other ways you can help cut down on the amount of electricity you use this summer. For our free tips booklet on ways to lower your bill, call Texas Electric, or request the booklet on the comment section of your electric bill.

And give 78° a try. We think you'll find it comfortable, and you'll sure notice the difference on your electric bill."

Ball Construction Co. Is New Firm With Good Track Record

There is a new construction company in town that already has a good track record. Ball Construction Company with owners Nolan Ball and Troy Botts has established itself in Snyder by constructing several buildings in recent months.

These buildings show the quality of work and completeness of the new company and after meeting with Ball or Botts it is easy to see why they were selected for the jobs.

Whether you need an engineered metal building, portable or storage building, carport or to add-on to an existing building, you should consider Ball Construction Co.

They can build any size building and have storage buildings available for inspection now. They can help you plan the type building you need and have crews available now for the job. Their buildings can either be turn-key jobs or any amount of work you need on a new building.

Ball Construction Co. is located on the Clairemont Road at Keller St. Or phone 573-0731 or write Box 1207.

Ball Construction Company is available to you and your project five days a week from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

They can build for commercial, industrial, farm or ranch.

Central Tire Can Put Car Air Conditioners In Top Order

Thanks to modern day techniques, there is almost no reason people should have to travel or drive around town in a hot, stuffy car. Automobile manufactures have continued to improve their air conditioners to the point that in most cases it is a pleasure to travel during the summer.

It is also unreasonable to have to travel in a car with an air conditioner that isn't working or needs servicing.

This is where Central Tire and Service can help you. They have trained, experienced men that can put your car air conditioning system in top working order. If you feel it is not cooling enough then there is probably a reason and Central Tire and Service can find that reason and correct it.

In most cases it is a simple matter to fix an air conditioner. It may just need freon or have a leak. New hoses or belts sometimes correct the problem. New or re-built compressors could put your system back in proper working condition and last for years.

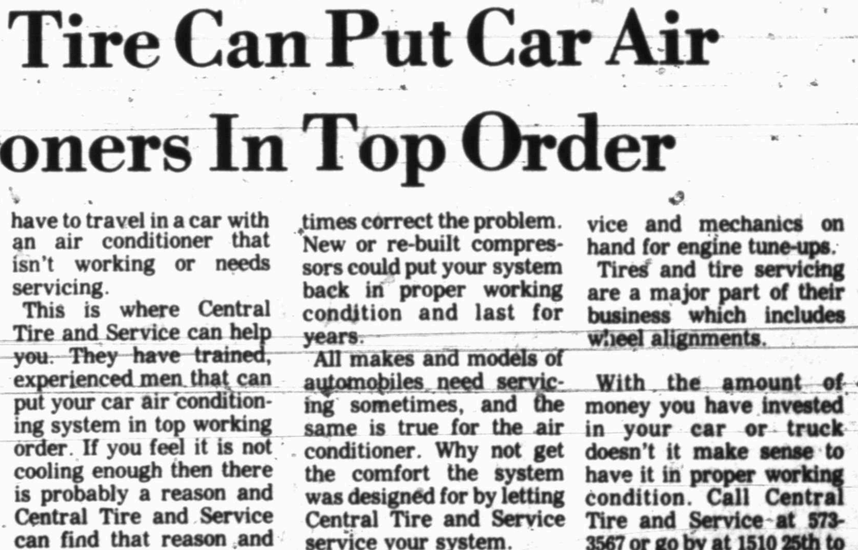

All makes and models of automobiles need servicing sometimes, and the same is true for the air conditioner. Why not get the comfort the system was designed for by letting Central Tire and Service service your system.

The same expert work can be seen in several areas at Central Tire. They have a complete exhaust system repair service and mechanics on hand for engine tune-ups.

Tires and tire servicing are a major part of their business which includes wheel alignments.

With the amount of money you have invested in your car or truck doesn't it make sense to have it in proper working condition. Call Central Tire and Service at 573-3567 or go by at 1510 25th to put your car back in good condition.

They are open from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 each week day and from 7:30 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

DESIGNED FOR COMFORT — It does not take long for Dennis Lowe of Central Tire and Service, 1510 25th, to have your air conditioner in top working condition and with this weather why keep putting it off. (SDN Photo)

Mother No's Ring-in-Nose

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N Y News Synd. Inc

DEAR ABBY: My mother won't let me get my nose pierced. It's really not dangerous—it's no more dangerous than piercing your ears. All my girlfriends are doing it and I think it looks neat. Some of the guys have even done it.

Nose piercing has been done for hundreds, maybe thousands of years in Egypt and Africa. You wear a little gold ring through the hole.

How can I get my mother to let me get my nose pierced? I know a lady who will do it for $5, but you have to have your mother's permission.

WANTS NOSE PIERCED

DEAR WANTS: Sorry, I can't help you do something I think you'd regret. If you want to wear a ring through your nose, get the type that clips on, but you don't need another hole in your head. (P.S. When girls got bored, back in the Stone Age when I was young, we used to make fudge.)

DEAR ABBY: Last year, the manager of our son's Little League baseball team screamed, yelled, jumped up and down on his cap and turned purple in the face every time one of the boys made a mistake. I've seen him get so worked up I was afraid he'd have a heart attack. He constantly belittled the boys, and I've seen him humiliate some to the point of tears. Most of the kids are afraid to get near him when he's angry.

I don't think 8- and 9-year-olds should be subjected to this kind of tension and abuse, do you?

I told my husband that I didn't want our son to play in Little League with that manager anymore. My husband says there is good and bad in all sports, and since we can't change the manager's disposition, we should accept it and let our boy play.

How do you (and others) feel about this?

INDIANA MOM

DEAR MOM: I think you should have a meeting with the parents of the other boys in Little League and discuss it. You may not be able to change the manager's disposition, but you can change managers.

DEAR ABBY: I am marrying a man who has three daughters (5, 7 and 9) by a previous marriage. My fiance wants his daughters to attend our wedding, and I don't think they should. The girls live with their mother, who will not be at my wedding, so my fiance will have to look after them during the ceremony. Perhaps I should mention that his daughters are ill-mannered and boisterous; they fight among themselves and don't obey their father, and I'm afraid they might disrupt the ceremony. This is my first wedding and I want it to go smoothly, Abby.

Also I don't know whether the girls' mother has poisoned their minds against me, but they don't seem to like me very much, which makes me uncomfortable.

Please don't use my name, initials or town, just tell me how to handle this. Thanks.

GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: In order for a marriage to succeed, candor and communication are essential. Start now by telling your fiance exactly how you feel about his daughters attending your wedding. If you can't be completely honest with him now, prepare for some very difficult times ahead.

Are your problems too heavy to handle alone? Let Abby help you. For a personal, unpublished reply, write: Abby: Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Relief Operations Continue In Japan

TOKYO (AP)-Eight thousand troops and policemen carried on relief operations today along Japan's northeast coast where a powerful earthquake killed 21 persons and injured nearly 500.

The quake destroyed several hundred houses, most of them in Sendai, 180 miles north of Tokyo, leaving nearly 2,000 persons homeless, police said. It hit at 5:14 p.m. Monday and registered 7.5 on the Richter scale.

Supermarkets and grocery stores in Sendai were jammed today by residents rushing to buy up instant and ready-cooked food because gas was still cut off in most of the area.

Trains, buses and auto traffic remained paralyzed in the quake region, with national highways closed at 15 places in Miyagi Prefecture state. Rail lines were wrecked in 38 places, 21 bridges were destroyed or damaged, and one small fishing boat was sunk.

Five thermal power plants on the coast of Miyagi were shut down because of damage. The quake also caused more than 140 landslides and three fires in Miyagi.

Except for gas, 50 to 70 percent of the public utilities had been restored, officials said. However, 8,000 homes were still without water, and all schools were closed.

The epicenter of the quake was located beneath the Pacific about 80 miles off Sendai.

More Counties Eligible For Aid

AUSTIN (AP) - Four more Texas counties should be added to those eligible to receive emergency loans from federal agencies, Gov. Dolph Briscoe said Monday.

Briscoe asked that Camp, Real, Upshur and Zavala counties be made disaster areas to cover physical and production losses caused by drought from April 1, 1977, through May 31, 1978.

He asked the Small Business Administration to declare Real and Zavala counties under the disaster loan program.

Suspect In Holt Slayings Is Questioned

A Slidell, La., police lieutenant said this morning that officers of the department are in Colorado questioning a suspect in the murders of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Holt.

The bodies of the Holt couple were found in their Slidell home May 31 by their 14-year-old son. The couple had reportedly been beaten and murdered. He was the brother of Wayland G. Holt of Snyder, the 132nd District Court Judge, and son of Mrs. W.A. Holt Sr. of Snyder.

"Our chief of police and detective are in Colorado questioning a suspect that was arrested there by state troopers," said Lt. Al Lewis. The suspect, Lt. Lewis added, was arrested Friday night when he was found driving a 1978 Monte Carlo that had been missing since the murders. The car had been rented by Jim Holt.

Lt. Lewis said the suspect was arrested in a town northeast of Denver after the car was involved in a minor mishap. It is believed he was referring to Fort Collins, Colo.

When asked if the Slidell Police Department was still investigating the possibility that the Holts may have been murdered by a hitchhiker they are believed to have picked up, Lt. Lewis said, "Yes, we are."

Recovery from heart attack

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About four months ago I had an attack of chest pain and was hospitalized for 10 days. The blood tests were OK, but the electrocardiogram showed that I had a myocardial infarction. About six weeks later I went back to the hospital and had enzyme tests that showed I'd had some more heart muscle damage and so I was hospitalized. After I got out of the hospital that time I didn't have any more chest pains. I take Inderal four times a day and walk about one mile a day for exercise.

Now I'm getting some tightness across my chest when I take my walking exercises. I can relieve this with nitroglycerin. Do you feel that all these attacks were coming from the same artery that was closing off? How long will I have this soreness and discomfort in my left chest? Will I have to take the Inderal the rest of my life? I am 54 years old and was in good health before my attack although I was a heavy smoker. I have completely quit smoking and my weight is about normal. Should I expect to return to work and lead a normal life? My personal doctor expects me to be off from work six months.

DEAR READER — It's impossible to know which or how many arteries were involved in causing you to have heart problems without special X-ray dye studies that outline the coronary arteries themselves. It is probably true that the major difficulty that caused the heart muscle damage (myocardial infarction) was caused by the progressive blockage of one coronary artery, but that doesn't mean that you couldn't also have disease in the other major arteries to the heart.

The key to deciding what should be done to evaluate you further and what you should do in the future depends on how well you recover at this point. The chest discomfort that you are experiencing with exertion suggests that you still have some problem of providing sufficient circulation to your heart muscle. This is probably due to the blockage of your coronary arteries that caused the heart attack in the first place. The tightness or squeezing across the chest is a frequent way that inadequate circulation to the heart muscle causes discomfort.

I'm glad you have quit smoking because that should help a great deal. In addition you should make every effort possible to decrease your weight to the point that there is no evidence of any significant fat deposits under your skin, regardless of what the bathroom scales read. The thinner you are and the longer you stay that way the better chance you may have of cleaning out some of the fatty-cholesterol blockage in the arteries of your body.

There have been some good experiments done on monkeys that demonstrate reversal of fatty-cholesterol deposits when the diet is completely changed. You should also be on a very low-fat, particularly low saturated fat, and a low-cholesterol diet and limit your salt.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-12, After the Heart Attack. It will provide you information on what kind of program a person should follow after they have recovered from heart attack. Primarily it's the same kind of program we wish everyone would follow before they had one. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
