Coach Don Beck Praises Mustangs

Denver City may be the South Plains Class AA football champion, after defeating the Olton Mustangs 26-0 Friday night, but Don Beck, Olton coach, is still proud of his boys, "because they had a wonderful season."

"There are not many teams in the state that went 10-0 through the regular season, and not very many in the history of Olton High School that went 10-0," declared Beck.

"We felt like our boys played just about as well as they could against Denver City, and feel like we got beat by a terrifically fine football team which could possibly win the state campionship," Beck added.

Beck felt at the half that his team was going to win the ball game. "But their defense was so tough that we just couldn't move the ball," explained the Olton coach. "It wasn't that our boys didn't try; it was just that our opponent was too strong for us."

"We played good defense until the fourth quarter when we made some defensive mistakes", said Beck. "We either failed to perform our duty or went to sleep mentally, and this is the reason that they were able to score their last two touchdowns."

The local coach said, "But it was a real pleasure and honor to coach the fine group of young men that we had the opportunity of coaching. Even though Denver City beat us 26-0 the Olton Mustangs are still a football team that I am very proud to be associated with."

Beck expressed regret at loosing ten senior players from the team, but is looking forward to having a fine group back and "some good young kids coming up".

"I feel that with luck and superior effort we may get another shot at Denver City next year at this same time," commented Beck.

No school representative can vote on his own boys. Honorable mention in schools other than Olton are not named in this story.

Mrs. L. D. Smith Injured In Mishap

An Olton woman, Mrs. L. D. Smith, 68, and her brother-in-law, Joe Smith, 59, of Petersburg, were injured in a two-car collision about 12 miles east of Shamrock on Interstate 40 at 12:30 p. m. Sunday.

Both were listed in serious condition Monday at Shamrock General Hospital. Mrs. Smith suffered a punctured lung, broken ribs, and facial cuts. Mr. Smith received facial lacerations and has a broken leg and broken ribs.

Lonnie Smith went to Shamrock to be with his mother after the accident and reported to friends back in Olton that she and his uncle were both in pretty good spirits.

The Rev A. J. Williams, 65, pastor of the Shamrock Assembly of God Church, and his wife, Mary, 64, were both dead on arrival at the Shamrock Hospital. They had been enroute to Shamrock from Erick, Okla. where the Rev. Williams taught a Sunday school class.

John Thompson of the Texas Department of Public Safety said the Smith vehicle was traveling east on I-40 and the Williams car was traveling north on a cross road when the accident occurred.

Herman Frazier Studying At Austin School For Deaf

Because somebody cares, smiling little Herman Frazier, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Loretta Spraglin of Sunnyside, is receiving valuable training at the State School for the Deaf in Austin.

Herman was born deaf and is unable to talk. He attended special education classes in Olton School where he became the "pet" of faculty and classmates alike. The Olton Lions Club provided him with a hearing aid while he was in the local school.

HERMAN FRAZIER

Miss Leta Bell, Olton school nurse, was instrumental in getting him into the State School for the Deaf last year. Herman's mother was unable to get him back in when she took him to Austin to enroll him for the nine-months term. When the school did not hear from Mrs. Spraglin, who received no communication because she had moved, Herman's place was filled, but later when someone else dropped out, the school notified Miss Bell that he would be accepted again..

More friends entered the picture then in the form of Miss LaWana Long, Olton first grade teacher, and her mother, Mrs. Garland Long, who volunteered to take Herman to Austin to re-enter the school when they went to Austin to visit a brother and son

Employees of the school lunchroom contributed money for some of Herman's expenses at the state school.

The pleasant, nice-looking little boy has adjusted well to the state school and seems to love it. "He tries real hard", said Miss Bell, and added that he will benefit greatly from two or three more years in the school.

Rep. Bill Clayton Asks Connally To End Texas DST

Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake asked Governor Connally in a letter this week to include a Bill to exempt Texas from Daylight-Saving Time in the upcoming special session of the legislature.

Clayton stated that the people of Texas having tried D. S. T. for one year disapprove of the advanced time. A Belton poll shows a general disapproval all across the State and several polls taken in this area indicates a great majority of the people here do not like Daylight-Saving Time. Rep. Clayton stated that after a fair trial of D. S. T. and after having an expression from the people in the District by polls and by personal contact that he would support any action to exempt Texas from the Time Change.

4300 Bales Ginned; Quality Is Good

With a total of 4300 bales of cotton ginned in the 1967 cotton harvest, managers of four area gins make the common comment that the season's business is slow.

This figure falls far short of the Nov. 24, 1966 total of 17,630 bales weighed in by six gins in the Olton area. This fall's ginning, however, is almost as much as was reported by area gins in 1965 when 4,500 bales had been ginned by November 24. In 1964 at this time, 8,000 bales had gone over the scales.

The present amount grew from a slow beginning of 314 bales ginned by November 8. Last week's total was 1,287 by November 15.

Lloyd Graham of Olton Co-Op Gin says that grades and quality continue to be good. Others were unavailable for further expressions about the cotton crop.

Gins reporting their total bales were Farmers Gin, Inc., Olton Co-Op, Circle Gin, and Jack Straw Gin.

R. L. Lyon Takes Lead Over Lee In Contest

R. L. Lyon, Route 1, Olton, with 122 points, forged ahead of Steve Lee, with 121, to take the lead in the Olton Enterprise football guessing contest this week, with the trip to the Cotton Bowl in close view.

Gerald Nixon was first place winner in the weekly competition. He missed two games and had a tie-breaker of Denver City 21-Olton 14. Running second, also with two games wrong but 38 points off in his tie-breaker, was Wilton Bodkin. Third place winner, Delia Fuller, picked three games wrong but nosed out 12 other contestants with the same number missed because her tie-breaker span of 9 points was less than theirs.

The overall contest has a number of entrants close on the heels of the two top contenders including Joe Hall and Truitt Sides who each have 120 points. Howard Hall, Martell Leveque and A. A. Smith each have 119, and Mrs. Don Beck, Charles Didway, Delia Fuller, Lois Smith and Joe Turner, 118.

Coming in next with 117 points each are Ken Splawn and Buddy Sharp, and with 116, Joe Dale Chitwood, J. E. Fuller and Ronnie Parsons. Mrs. V. J. Trusty and David Turner hold 115 points and Tom Sluder, 114. Not far behind are Bob Allford, Judy Parsons and T. J. Roberson with 113 points.

James R. Hyatt and Jack Williamson each rate 111 points, and Wilton Bodkin and C. H. McClure, 110. Rounding the home stretch with 109 points are Garner Ball, Darryl Dennis, Ruby Lee Sherman and Carol Scribner. Following, with 108 units each are D'Lynne Hall, Sandra Meadows, P. A. Nafzger and Joe Schultz.

Trailing the contest are Cecil Oursbourn and Norris Sampler with 107 points each; James Cross, Gerald Nixon and Mike Trotter, with 104; Bailey Hair and Chris McClure, 103; J. W. Dear, 101; and Bobby Turner, 100.

The 12 persons missing only three games in the weekly race were Mrs. V. J. Trusty, Terry Hooper, Elbert Hooper, Lois Smith, Bailey Hair, R. L. Lyon, Ruby Lee Sherman, Darryl Dennis, Martell Leveque, Cecil Oursbourn, Rt. 2, Hart, Bonnie Lunsford and Garner Ball.

Nearing the end of the contest, Enterprise readers apparently had an upsurge of interest as 16 persons picked four wrong; 19 had five bad picks; five had six missed; five marked seven games wrong, two, ten wrong, and one person had hard luck in choosing ten incorrect games.

Let's Celebrate Thanksgiving

When George Washington proclaimed the first official Thanksgiving day in 1789, Sarah Josepha Hale was one year old.

The harvest festival was always occasion for celebration in the village of Newport, New Hampshire, where Sarah Josepha Hale was born, Little Sarah loved the gathering of family and friends who came to give thanks and enjoy the bounties of the season.

When she grew up, she wrote over thirty books and thousands of poems. The amazing thing about Sarah Josepha Hale is that she did not start a woman's club, for she was a crusader at heart. But what did she do? She was the editor of GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK, the first magazine for women.

But she could not forget the beautiful colors of autumn in New Hampshire, nor the kitchen with its never-to-be-forgotten smells of roasting turkey and the trimmings. Her heart swelled with gratitude to God and in that moment she had a vision.

"Just think if every home in America would give thanks to God for their many blessings all on the same day," she mused.

In an editorial she wrote, "Our Thanksgiving Day should be hallowed and exalted and made the day of generous deeds and innocent enjoyments." For over 20 years Sarah Josepha Hale crusaded, begged and cajoled the Presidents of the United States and every Representative and Senator to proclaim a national Thanksgiving Day.

She won! In 1863 President Abraham Lincoln urged "all Americans to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November as a day of thanksgiving and priase to our Beneficient Father." Sarah Josepha Hale had reached the age of 75 when Abraham Lincoln, in the midst of a War, made the proclamation.

With a prayer in her heart, she wrote "Throughout the length and breadth of our great Republic, let Thanksgiving give us the love of home and of country, of thankfulness to God, and peace between brethren."

Medical Folklore Obsolete

While much of medical folklore is now obsolete and largely forgotten, there are still many completely erroneous beliefs about their health held by sizeable numbers of people in our so-called age of enlightenment.

TODAY'S HEALTH GUIDE, the American Medical Association's manual of health information for the American family, points out that grandma is not always wrong in her concepts of health. But she often is wrong.

The book lists some of the common misconceptions about health-

* Eating between meals is always harmful (untrue.)
* Bad breath means disease (not so).
* Milk should not be taken at the same time as sour fruits (not so).
* Proteins and carbohydrates should not be eaten at the same meal (incorrect).
* Daily bowel movements are necessary for health (untrue).
* Pain in the back must indicate kidney disease (incorrect).
* Pain in the abdomen means an overloaded stomach (wrong).
* A laxative is good for abdominal pain (it is sometimes dangerous).
* Food kept in an open tin can is necessarily poisonous (not if properly refrigerated).
* Scales from scarlet fever and measles spread the disease (nose and throat secretions actually do).
* Sewer gas makes people sick (no-it's just unpleasant).
* Pimples and boils indicate bad blood (they are due to infections).
* Boric acid strengthens the eyes (it does not).
* Fried and highly seasoned foods are harmful (not in moderation).
* A cold can be broken up or cured (it cannot).
* You feed a cold and starve a fever (no).
* Eye muscle exercises will eliminate the need for glasses (a dangerous fallacy).
* Vegetarianism is good for health (it simply makes good nutrition more difficult).

Water Loan Made By County FHA

The Lamb County Office of the FHA made one loan for construction or improvement of water supply systems in fiscal 1967, according to Truman J. Jones, county supervisor.

About 75,000 Texas farm and other rural people benefited from such loans and grants last year estimates Jones.

Texas led the nation in total activity, advancing, $23,275,870 in loans and grants to develop or improve 139 water or waste disposal systems during 1967.

The Texas projects, which are spread throughout 97 counties, were financed with $22,304,600 in loans and more than $971,270 in grants.

The rural water and waste disposal systems are organized through local initiative by town governments, other public bodies, or private nonprofit associations formed by prospective users in communities of less than 5,500 population. The loans are repaid from the earnings of the systems during periods of up to 40 years at 5 per cent interest.

"These systems are becoming a major force in bringing rural living conditions and economic opportunities up to national standards", Jones explained. "Differences will continue to be less noticeable as rural communities offer the same facilities as cities."

Many of the communities helped by FHA were dependent upon wells, cisterns, springs, and water hauled in by truck as their only source of water, and on aged, inadequate septic tanks until FHA made available their financial assistance.

Construction of the water or waste disposal systems provoides work situations for engineers, well drillers, heavy equipment operators, surveyors, and day laborers which in tern causes payrolls and the community economic conditions to rise.

Texas Safety Association Urges Use Of Seat Belts

Inspection station operators report they are getting some "blank stares" when they discuss the term "lash" in connection with the steering inspection. Lash, or "play," as it is called by most motorists, is the distance the steering control can be turned without front wheel motion.

Vehicles are being rejected if the steering wheel has more than two inches of play, as excess play can be very dangerous.

It must also be possible to turn the automobile wheels from full right to full left without jamming, or binding, or the vehicle will be rejected.

Too much play or any jamming in turning the wheels indicates that some vital part of the automobile steering mechanism is worn. Mechanics say it could mean one of several problems, such as worn gears or tie rods.

Both conditions, excess wheel play or jamming, reduces the amount of positive control over the steering and is hazardous, especially at high speeds.

Vehicles with power steering must be checked with the power on. If the fluid in the power steering is below the recommended level, the vehicle will not pass inspection.

Wheels with defective or bent rim flanges, or those with loose or missing bolts, nuts or lugs will be rejected. Rims having defects and cracks are cause for rejection if they might impair the safe mounting and proper retention of tires.

The DPS is urging owners to have their vehicles inspected during routine visits to garages and stations to insure that the vehicle meets the new requirements and that is mechanically safe to operate over the streets and highways at all times.

The Texas Safety Association is further urging all drivers to get seat belts installed, and use them.

The 1968 inspections will continue until next April 15. The cost of this greatly expanded vehicle inspection is $1.75.

There are approximately 5,500 vehicle inspection stations in Texas, each displaying the official vehicle inspection station sign.

MORE MIGRANT AID SOUGHT--State Board of Education has boosted a federal aid request for seven migrant worker programs to more than $3,900,000.

Earlier reuest for migrant children programs was increased to $2,700,000 to expand assistance to 41 participating districts, launch new projects at Dimmitt, Georgetown, El Paso and Lamesa and help Hurricane Beulah victims with clothes and school supplies.

New funds would go to McAllen migrant demonstration school, pre-school work in 20 districts; salaries and travel for migrant teachers; and summer institutes at Pan American College, Edinburg, and Texas A&I University, Kingsville, for teachers, teacher aides and administrators working with migrant children. Increases were sought for the special migrant compensatory education program in Rio Grande City and Laredo for children over 14.

Bumper Crop Of Food Fantasies

Naturally, the interest of all of us in food gives rise to numerous food superstitions and misconceptions, says Today's Health Guide, the American Medical Association's manual of health information for the American family.

Some tabulations list more than 200 common modern-day misconceptions about food.

Here are a few of the more common fallacies. They're all erroneous-

If a few vitamins are good, more must be better. (not correct.)

Never give milk to a patient with fever. (The milk won't affect the fever at all.)

Parsnips should be eaten often to cleanse the kidneys. (They don't).

Beets build blood. (They don't.)

Pork is indigestible. (It is no more indigestible than other meats.)

Sour foods, such as lemon juice or sauerkraut, can cure diabetes . (They can't.)

For treatment of arthritis, grape juice, honey, dried poke berries, carrot juice and tomatoes are helpful. (They're not.)

Cooked cereals heat the blood. (They don't.)

Warm bread may cause a stroke. (It won't.)

Putting cream in coffee makes the coffee more harmful. (No.)

Ice water causes heart trouble. (It doesn't.)

Raw vegetable juice contains life-giving properties, but cooked foods are "dead." (Not so.)

Sue's Views

Growing Old

BY SUE CANNON

The tide has turned and now I have the last laugh on the "soc" editor!

We were busy getting the paper out early this week so that we might spend Thanksgiving Day with our families and you know who came up at 10:30 p. m. Tuesday night without a column.

So, the dear soc editor had one she had intended to use several months ago and presto, it just fits the space for mine! (Surprise, Surprise.)

By Phyllis Battelle

Let us pray:
"Dearest, most kindly, most all-seeing Lord,
Help me to grow old without growing bored.
Teach me tohideall my crowsfeet and crinkles
In curtains of smiles, and laughs full of tinkles.
Train me to snuff out, O Confidence Giver,
The urge to discuss my new bridgework, my liver,
My bifocals, hearing aids, backaches, travails- (At least close my mouth to their gruesome details.)
Thou knowest full well I cannot remain mute
When people I chat with begin to dispute;
But bid me not force on them ALL that I know;
Seal my lips lest I tell them just where they can go!
As the years hurry by, give me grace to resist
The urge to cross hippies and kooks off my list.
Instead, make me open my ears and my eyes
To the ideals behind their sad, long-haired disguise
I'll still stay a "square" - I'm too old to start booing
My country, regardless of what she is doing in lands far away; but make me recall
That youth has its rights. And I can't win 'em all.
Teach me, O Lord, that someday I'll be old.
But don't let it frighten me. Make me more bold;
Help me to store up whole booksful of wit,
And mix them with wisdom and stir them with grit.
And when I've concocted this marvelous brew,
Inspire me to share it, as you, God, would do-
To help where I'm wanted (shut up where I'm not)
To convince folks the world's really not gone to pot.
Keep me sweet but not too sweet because, what the heck,
A Saccharine woman's a pain in the neck.
Grant me a laugh so sincere, so contagious,
That children will think I am slightly outrageous
And plead with their parents on bended skinned knee
To let them spend Saturdays visiting me!
Teach me to live in the now, not the then-
To tell a joke once, and then never again.
If I wake up cranky (as old ladies do),
May I please spare my friends, and bawl up to you?
(I know you; you'd look down and smile at my gab.
Whereas folks here might say, "She's a windy old crab".)
I notice, Dear Lord, that with each passing day
It is harder to listen to what others say
Without getting wordy, and giving advice;
Remind me this habit is not at all nice.
Teach me to hold my advice in my head
Lest I should be dropped (if but verbally) dead.
Grant me the grace to stay calm and soigne
When someone says, "My, you look tired today."
Keep me becalmed when a friend says how great
I look since I've "taken on all of that weight."
Keep me moving, and searching out fun, loving Father,
So people I like never think I'm a bother.
Help me keep vital, at work and at play.
And when I come home at the end of the day
To take out my bridgework, to peel off my girdle,
Please let me not look on that day as a hurdle
As some women do, let me color life pink;
Let me grin, even chuckle a bit, as I think.
And when the jig's up, let the papers record-
PHENOMENON DIES: CLAIMS SHE NEVER WAS BORED!

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Goodness! Only 28 shopping days until Christmas! Do you have yours completed? Or at least begun? I don't. I'm one of those believers in waiting until the afternoon of Christmas eve. Really, I don't intend to be that late - it just HAPPENS.

I drool over the "pretties" in magazines that "you can make yourself in just minutes" and I get the AWFULLEST URGE to be creative and make different ones - and you know what happens? I'm STILL working on a simple "Kissing ball" that I started two years ago!

Do you have your Christmas cards ready to mail? Did you put zip codes on them? Please do. (I am NOT on the pay roll of the post office department.)

When I first heard of zip codes I thought they were just something else the government had come up with the annoy Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Citizen. But they aren't. They're for our good. (My, how we hate to be told that - remember being told that cod liver oil was GOOD FOR YOU?)

Stop and think about it. My feeble little brain can scarcely imagine how many "hundreds of thousands" pieces of mail is but it is a "right smart". Now imagine that you're a postal clerk having to sort those hundreds of thousands of pieces. You'll have letters addressed to Lubbock, Tex - Oklahoma City, Okla. - Salt Lake City, Utah - Cincinnati, Ohio - THESE YOU'VE HEARD OF. Now, what about those to Inyokern, Calif. - Oquawka, Ill. - Paw Paw, Mich. - Wounded Knee, S. D. - Startup, Wash.? Going to know what bag to put those in.

With each letter zip coded it's a simple matter to direct it into the right bag - whether it's done by mail clerk or by marvel machine.

If we want the best service possible from the postal department we have to go part of the way. Mailing letters without zip codes is sort of like getting rid of a headache without aspirin. It'll finally go away if we don't take aspirin but it'll go faster if we do. Our letters will go without zip codes but they'll go faster with them. So, how about it, won't you put zip in your mail?

Olton High School will be host for next year's district convention. Julia Vaughn of Shallowater was selected to represent the district at the state convention in Dallas next spring.

Dr. Neil Record, assistant to the president of Wayland Baptist College, spoke on the topic "Anyone Can Teach".

Members of the Olton FTA conducted a workshop on special projects at the meeting.

Dr. Neil Record, assistant to the president of Wayland Baptist College, spoke on the topic "Anyone Can Teach", and brought in the convention theme of "Invest, Innovate and Improve".

He said, "Genuine dedication applies to the art of teaching. A teacher must be willing to move in. He must want to invest his life, time, talent, and money. A banker takes his money from a safe, and invests it in bonds and securities; therefore, the money increases in value. A teacher must do the same with his knowledge.

"A teacher must be willing to move out. In our world today, things are continually changing and new methods are developing. A teacher must be flexible, not unwilling to change his patterns. He must be willing to use the best methods and equipment. These changes are to help improve society. Things have changed in the past, they are changing now, and they will continue to change in the future; teachers must be willing to change, too.

A teacher must be willing to move up. Demands are great for teachers and this is the way it should be. There is not a stopping place. Our nation is constantly improving which requires continual studying. What is new today may be obsolete tomorrow. Dr. Record expressed this idea in conclusion, "Still water can stagnate."

PTA Takes Unrealistic View Of Federal Money

A national PTA vice president told more than 3,000 delegates to the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers Wednesday morning, Nov. 15, at Fort Worth that the PTA is being too idealistic and not realistic enough in its use of federal aid.

The speaker, Dr. Milton R. Litterst of Peoria, Ill. said: "The PTA has felt that federal funds are essential to the supporting and strengthening of free public schools in the United States. But it insists that maximum state and local control be assured in any legislation providing federal support.

"While our legislation programs support federal aid to schools, the PTA has supported but few recent congressional bills that make provisions for federal aid to education."

Attending the state meeting from Olton were Mrs. Virginia Moss, president of the local association, and two delegates, Mrs. Doris McGill and Mrs. Pat Meinecke.

Robert H. McKay, assistant superintendent of Dallas Independent School District and first vice president of the Texas PTA, responded to greetings at the opening session in Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. L. L. Ledger of Copperas Cove, president of the Texas PTA, discussed "The Expanding PTA". Her theme for the convention was "Our Changing Neighborhoods".

Panelists responding to her Speech Wednesday afternoon were Dr. John McFarland, chairman of the state leadership seminar; Marshel Ashley, superintendent of Del Valle Independent Schools; Mrs. Bertha M. Bailey, instructor at the McKinney Job Corps for Women and secretary of the National Congress of Colored parents and Teachers; Dr. William B. Helton, director of research and psychological services, Dallas Independent Schools and Mrs. Raul Pompa, coordinator and translator for the Spanish-speaking units of San Antonio's City Council PTA.

Tom C. Clark, retired associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, Washington, D. C. addressed the 7 p. m. Wednesday session on "Law and Freedom".

The time is fast approaching when public school children will spend more months of the year in class, predicted A. E. Wells, state chairman of audio-visual services. He was one of five educators and PTA officials speaking in a Thursday afternoon conference on "Educational Innovation" in Hotel Texas.

"I think you'll see an extended school year-- and I also think it will be rough on the boys and girls", he said.

Wells added that he feels school children also will be beginning school at earlier ages and graduating later than presently.

Wells also charged that schools are making "nervous wrecks" of children by giving them more "busywork" than they can do. He also blamed parents who enroll their children in rigorous schedules of activities outside the classroom.

Convention guest sapeaker Mrs. Bernice Brown McCullar of Decatur, Ga., said Thursday night "Education is the one thing that can guarantee our survival . . . It must be creative and imaginative."

OLTON GRAIN CO-OP

High Plains Foundation Doing Castor Research

Castors, as a money crop in the irrigated Texas High Plains, have the potential of increased profits to the farmer, especially since the recently announced price increase. However, as with most others, this oil-seed crop is not without problems. One of the most severe of these is the probability of live seed left on the ground after harvest, germinating during the next season, creating a threat to the following crop.

In realizing the potential, and the problems involved, the Texas Department of Agriculture has allocated State funds to do research on controlling volunteer castors. This came about largely through the efforts of Representative Ralph Wayne of Plainview.

The State Legislature appropriated the funds for research on a contract basis, under the direction of the Department of Agriculture and Commissioner John White. White appointed a committee to determine exactly what studies were needed and where the research was to be done. The members of this committee are: Roy Davis, Plains Co-op Oil Mill; Dr. Wayne Domingo, Baker Castor Oil Company; and Don Marble, area Castor producer.

The committee, knowing that the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway had been conducting research on castors for the past 10 years, selected this organization to undertake the project.

Dr. Tom Longneker, Executive Vice-President and Director of the Foundation, expressed his appreciation to Representative Ralph Wayne, House Speaker Ben Barnes, Appropriations Committee Chairman Bill Heatly, The Texas Department of Agriculture, Members of the Committee, and all others involved, for their confidence in the Research Foundation.

Because of the poisonous nature of the seed, crops such as cotton, grain sorghum, and soybeans are endangered by volunteer plants. Hand hoeing has been the most commonly used practice to control this problem, but has discouraged farmers from growing the crop because of the expense.

The first step in the investigation procedure for eliminating volunteer castor plants will be to determine the source of the volunteer castor seed. Three possibilities exist: preharvest shattering, harvest shattering, combine carryover, or any combination of the three. Different varieties may have different sources.

Cultural procedures on castor stubble will be studied. Depth of tillage may be a factor, so land will be deep-broken to a depth of 12 inches contrasted to a disk and chisel operation. Time of seed-bed preparation will be varied to determine it's effect, and an irrigation will be applied immediately after harvest in conjunction with the various seed-bed preparations. In order to attempt to destroy the viability of seed, both on the surface and underground, heat and chemicals will be applied before the next crop is planted.

After the following crop is planted, herbicides will be screened to determine their value as control measures. A total of 10 pre-emerge and 6 post-emerge herbicides will be applied to cotton. On grain sorghum, 11 pre-emerge and 8 post-emerge products will be tried, while soybeans will receive applications of 14 pre-emerge and 4 post-emerge herbicides.

In order to insure a uniform distribution of castor seed over the test area, an area free of castors will be seeded uniformly with castor seed. Castors will be seeded broadcast in the soil surface, immediately after harvest-time, so conditions will approximate regular harvest except that seeding will be uniform. Without this uniform seeding, it would be impossible to statistically compare numbers of volunteer castors remaining after different treatments.

A portion of the research projects will be conducted on the Headquarters farm at Halfway, and the remainder on the Martin Schur farm in Hale County, where several varieties of castors have been grown in 1967. The entire program will be under the direction of Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist, and he will be assisted by Dennis Mooney and Don Staggs.

Spotlight On Senior Citizens

MRS. JOHN L. CARSON

Made Sagebrush Needles

At age eight she was knitting her own stockings, mittens and gloves with needles made from sagebrush--this Tennessee girl named Verna Bowden! Now at 80, the lovely woman into which the little girl grew, Mrs. John L. Carson, Sr., still has nimble fingers that fly over crocheting.

She was refused knitting needles when she was a child because a neighbor girl had died when a knitting needle had accidentally hit her through the ear, so Verna made her own and learned to knit without any instructions.

A resident of Olton since 1929, Mrs. Carson has beautiful, bright colored afghans, chair protectors, and pillow tops to show for her later efforts. Her afghans range from dainty white baby ones to her latest large one in the shell stitch. She has made eight in the ripple design, one for each of her children. The one known as the "granny" afghan was the first one she made.

But her activities are not confined to crocheting, as she still does all of her own housework, except for what a cleaning woman does once every two weeks; reads the Olton Enterprise, despite eyesight that is not quite as good as it used to be; plays the piano by ear; and goes regularly to services at the First Baptist Church of which she is a member and formerly served as substitute Sunday School teacher.

A former Garden Club member, she loves flowers but is not able to dig much in the yard any more to raise them.

Verna Bowden was born in Fentress County, near Jamestown, Tenn. March 27, 1887. Of the three brothers and two sisters she had then, only one sister, Mrs. Nora Ellen Shumard of Holdenville, Okla. is left, but there are three half-sisters in Livingston, Tenn.

Her face lights up when she speaks of her father who was a farmer and worked in the timberlands. She recalls how he felled the trees, rolled the logs down the mountain sides and made rafts from them. He and his helpers would then ride the rafts down the river to Nashville, Tenn. to sell them.

In her childhood memories she still sees her grandfather's old fashioned grist mill and millpond. "I used to wade out in the pond until my feet began to feel light and then I went back", said Mrs. Carson, admitting that she was afraid of the water.

Because her mother's health was bad, Verna and her sisters had to share in the work at home. Although given an opportunity to continue her education that began in the one-room, two-teacher schoolhouse with its little inkwell desks, Verna chose instead to marry Mr. Carson on January 14, 1904 in Livingston, Tenn.

When the couple moved to the Indian Territory in Oklahoma after their marriage, it was the first time that Mrs. Carson had been away from home except for a week she spent with a cousin, Albert H. Roberts, who was governor of Tennessee at one time. He was defeated his second term because he believed in woman suffrage.

The new bride had her first and only Indian scare one day when she was ironing and big Indian came to her door mumbling unintelligible words.

"He nearly scared me to death," she exclaimed. "I could not understand him, but he didn't hurt me and soon left. He probably only wanted some water or something similar."

Pastimes in the Indian Territory, which became a state in 1908, included picnics on the 4th of July and fishing in the nearby creek. Although the Territory was quite a change from green, fertile Tennessee, the Carsons soon became adjusted. Good neighbors nearby helped them to like living there.

The Carson's first child, Gertrude, was born in the Indian Territory. She is Mrs. A. H. Bilbrey of Graham. Other children are sons, Herschel Bowden Carson, Leslie (Lec) Carson, Raymon Carson, and Harold Dean Carson, all of Olton, and Houston Carson of Sunnyside; and daughters, Mrs. Jim (Adeline) Kemp and Mrs. J. C. (Pauline) Hamby, both of Olton. Mrs. Carson has 23 grandchildren and 37 great-grandchildren. The newest addition to the family is Troy Don Allcorn, now two and one-half months, of Olton.

Mr. Carson, who was a farmer, passed away December 4, 1954.

Son Harold Dean Carson, who teaches private music lessons, lives with his mother. Their home is decorated with some of his paintings. Prized furnishings are two antique pieces, a china cupboard filled with beautiful china, and a desk.

Lubbock Theater Announces Play

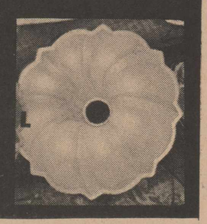

"Dear Me, The Sky Is Falling," the current play at Lubbock Theater Center, will open Nov. 30 for its run Dec. 1 and 2 through Dec. 8 and 9. Reservations can be made by calling the LTC Box Office, Sh4-3681. Box Office hours are:

This comedy is a warm, folksy, chuckling story of family life revealing a wife and mother who manages to get her own way without raising her voice -- arranging a wedding for her daughter and interfering with her husband's plans to retire in Florida. She gets her way, that is, until the daughter submits herself to psychoanalysis and decides that she'd rather go off with an old boy friend than marry a nice, successful steady type like the guy she's engaged to. And her husband decides he'd like to go away somewhere, alone.

Chit Chat

BY SANDEE GREGORY
AND JANE ANN DUNCAN

Our Mustangs met with their first defeat Friday night against Denver City. The boys have displayed good sportsmanship, good teamwork, and a good attitude throughout this football season, and in the game against the red horses they were no different! Our defense held those reds until the last quarter when Denver City broke loose and scored three times. Our offensive kept trying to break that Denver City iron-defensive but were unable to. We are proud of the great job our coaches, Mustangs and OHS students have done during this season.

R. L. Copeland was the lone Stallion and outstanding Offensive Mustang for the D. C. game, while Charles A. Mc Clain and Kenneth Johnson were outstanding Defensive players. There were five Head Hunters and they were Kenneth Johnson, Charles A. McClain, Sel Sanchez, Benny Akin and Eddie Hooper.

Due to a limited amount of time this week, we will give you the final statistics on the freshmen, Junior Varsity and Varsity at a later date.

The Spirit Jug went to the OHS Student Body for their support and spirit for the Mustang team. They have helped the cheerleaders, Mustangs, and coaches in many ways.

Basketball season is really under way and our varsity and junior varsity girls have been preparing themselves for about two weeks by playing a few scrimmages and games.

Our boys started their work-outs Monday and will begin real action next week.

We are going to need real spirit for basketball like we had for football, so our Fillies and Mustangs will have a successful year, also.

GO GET 'EM
FILLIES AND MUSTANGS!

Seven of eleven Olton High School competitors for All-Regional Choir made it. Of this seven, there were two to make All-State Tryouts, one as an alternate. Those representing OHS in this event are as follows: Jackie Harrod, Saprano II and alternate for All-State Tryouts; Janie Jones, alternate Saprano II; Cheri Dorris, Alto I; Leslie Holladay, Alto II and All-State Tryouts; Donnie Fancher, Tenor; Phil Cox, Bass II; and Barry Cowart, Bass II.

The All-Regional Choir concert will be Saturday night, Dec. 9. Everyone is invited to attend.

This wasn't the week of six weeks' test--it was the week of seven weeks' test!!??!

* * * * * *

Twenty-five FTA'ers and sponsor, Mrs. Linnie Campbell, attended the District XIII Convention in Lubbock last Saturday. The weary students rose out of bed and left from the school at approximately 7 o' clock. This was probably the hardest feat of the whole day!

Leslie Holladay was elected as Vice-President of the District and Olton was chosen for the site of the District Convention next year. Another activity in which the Olton chapter participated was a workshop on special projects.

It seemed to be Olton's lucky day as far as school activities went. What with the Regional Choir and the FTA Convention, OHS was well represented everywhere!

Those attending the FTA convention were as follows: Letha Estes, Jeanie Gardner, Leslie Holladay, Sue Church, Barry Thompson, Jimmy Gallaway, Pam Holt, Lajuana Burleson, Brenda Leonard, Randy Watson, Dale Gabehart, Jane Ann Duncan, Carol Hicks, Shirley Johnson, Lana Myers, Connie Brown, Barbara Gallaway, Susan Cannon, Margaret Gallaway, Maria Leyva, Elma Garcia, Mary Vasquez, Angie Vera, Robbie Langford, and Lannie McClain.

Beginning Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 and ending Monday morning at 8:30, each student has a 114-hour holiday. This will be quite a treat, especially for those who are rundown, beat, exhausted, or just plain ole' lazy.

By the time you read this, many OHS students will be on the road going to visit with relatives and trying desperately to arrive before the turkey and dressing is served.

Yes, everyone or, at least, most everyone, will have something to do during the holidays.

If nothing else, one can always attend the Denver City-Phillips game at Plainview this Friday night. But there seems to be a question, here, in to be a question, here, in whether we want Denver City to win or lose--just to play it safe, no more comments.

REMINDER: All-Regional Band tryouts will be Dec. 9 and the concert will be Saturday night, Dec. 16.

Samuel F. B. Norse was a well-known painter before he invented telegraphy. He once painted a picture showing a man in the agonies of death, and asked a doctor friend of his to look at it.

"Well?" said Morse after the doctor had looked at it very, very carefully. "What's your opinion?"

The doctor straightened up and said firmly. "There's no doubt about it, Malaria!"

Benny Akin: "That means fight where I come from."

Stacy Pendergrass: "Well, why don't you fight?"

Benny: "Because I ain't where I come from."

One day Dr. Fite dropped in to watch a football scrimmage, Coach Beck pointed out the players and then said, "My best man is on the bench, because he's limping badly. He sprained his ankle at our last game. What would you do, doctor, in his case?"

"I'd limp, too," decided Dr. Fite.

A Heartbreaking Finale

DENVER CITY NIPS OLTON

Olton's gallant Mustangs will have to "wait til next year," but their fans won't soon forget the 1967 season.

The Big Blue's unbeaten trail came to an end in bi-district play Friday night at Denver City, as the Olton Ponies fell to a furious fourth quarter onslaught by the Big Red.

The final tally was 26-0, but Olton was tremendous for three quarters as Denver City managed only a 6-0 lead on the strength of a 34-yard scoring pass.

Denver City, raising its record to 10-1 for the year, will meet the Phillips Blackhawks Friday at 8 p. m. in Plainview for the regional crown.

The Big Red was in command all the way, but DC found the Olton eleven a stubborn, tenacious defensive crew.

Denver City moved the ball well most of the game, rolling up more than 400 yards total offense, but for three quarters the Olton defense rose to the occasion each time the Ponies' goal line was threatened.

The lone tally of the first three periods was a pass from HB Biff Hatfield to End Marshal Dolloff, covering 34 yards. It came with 6:05 left in the first quarter and when the extra point attempt sailed wide, it was 6-0, Denver City.

Olton's offense could never get going against the fine Denver City line, and the Mustangs managed only four first downs and 93 yards total offense against the gang tackling Big Red.

Even though Denver City was rolling up a comfortable margin in the statistics, Olton was still in the ball game for three quarters and making mild threats to get on the scoreboard three different times.

After fine defensive stand at the Olton eight-yard line near the end of the first quarter, the Ponies got a drive rolling early in the second period.

Charles A. McClain ran a punt back 14 yards to the Olton 42, but two plays later a 15-yard clipping penalty moved the ball back to the 35.

A moment later, officials ruled pass interference against DC and Olton had a first down at the Olton 49.

End R. L. Copeland then galloped 21 yards on an end-around, giving the Ponies a first at the DC 30.

HB Benny Akin, who led Olton ball carriers with 26 yards on 12 carries, drove down to the 27, but a penalty rubbed it out and the Olton eleven gave up the ball four plays later at the DC 34.

Late in the second quarter, the Mustangs' Eddie Hooper recovered a DC fumble at the DC 24, but the Big Red took over on the next play when Gene Richardson intercepted a Johnny Lewis pass.

Olton almost got on the scoreboard on the second half kickoff. Bobby Turner, who shined in the punting department with a 43-yard average for the game, boomed the kick-off into the end zone.

The ball stayed there and Olton had men bearing down on it until, at the last moment, a Denver Citian fell on it, just ahead of a dive by an Olton defender.

That near-miss turned out to be Olton's last chance of the night, because the Denver City defense limited the Ponies to only 30 yards in the final half, all on the ground.

Denver City drove 53 yards in 11 plays to go ahead 12-0 with 10:46 left in the game. The TD was counted by QB Richardson from the 2-yard line.

About three minutes later, the Big Red went 83 yards in five plays, with Gary Hatfield scoring on a 26-yard run. QB Robert Kizer threw to HB Robert Hernandez for the extras and DC had a 20-0 lead.

With five minutes left, an Olton fourth down gamble failed and the Big Red took over at the Olton 40. A penalty moved the ball to the 25 and five plays later, at the same distance, QB Kizer passed to Hernandez for the final score.

Lloyd Bingham, 205-pound tackle, and Dwayne Young, 180-pound guard, led the DC defense.

For Olton, Kenneth Johnson and Eddie Hooper were defensive standouts.

Johnson was in on 12 tackles and Hooper, despite just getting up from the sick bed early this week, was in on 10.

Danny Dial and Sel Sanchez were credited with 8 apiece, while Akin had seven and Charles McClain and Stacy Pendergrass got six each. Steve Burleson and Rickey Smith were credited with five tackles apiece.

A DENVER CITY ball carrier is covered up with Olton Mustangs, including Steve Burleson (72) and Jason Latimer (50). The Olton team was stubborn defensively for three periods, trailing only 6-0 until Denver City got three TD's in the final quarter.

BOBBY TURNER, 12, carrying the ball is downed by several Red Mustangs during action between Denver City and Olton Friday Night.

CHARLES A. McCLAIN, 11, gets it right in the breadbasket it appears as Denver City's number 33 tackles him during tough play Friday night during the Bi-District Tilt.

Girl Scout Fund Drive To Begin Here Monday

Olton Girl Scout adult workers will conduct the annual fund drive beginning Monday, Nov. 27 at 9 a. m. when all leaders and mothers will meet at the Ideal Cafe for instructions.

This year nearly THREE MILLION GIRLS in the U. S. belong to the Girl Scouts.

Approximately one of every seven girls of ages 7 through 17 belongs.

More than 600,000 adult volunteers serve at all levels.

Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. is the largest organization of its kind for girls anywhere in the world.

Founded in March 1912 by Juliette Gordon Lowe, Girl Scouting has become an important part of growing up in the United States.

In Scouting, girls of all races and creeds obtain practical experience in working together for the common good. Girl Scouting teaches girls to get along with one another, to become better citizens, to be of service to their communities, and to accept responsibility.

Girls who grow up in Scouting grow up with a code of friendship, loyalty, service and honor. Their years as Girl Scouts serve them well in their future years as mothers and homemakers -- or as career women, meeting challenges in such important fields as education, medicine and science.

THANKSGIVING

Our pilgrim forefathers conceived Thanksgiving as a day to stop and take stock of all good things in life.

They had, as we do today, a constant threat of upheaval. They too were beset by problems--economic, political--big and small, but they found time, once a year to thank God and thank each other for all the good things they enjoyed.

We are indeed grateful for the tradition of this day and for the opportunity we have of carrying on this tradition.

We are thankful that we are a part of a thriving community and for the people we are privileged to serve. We pledge our continued efforts to be worthy of your patronage.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

The teams that are playing in this week's contest games are listed in each of the ads on this page. Each team is numbered, 1 through 26.

Use the handy entry form at the lower right hand corner of the page and circle the numbers of the teams you predict to win. Print the scores you predict in the tiebreaker game in the spaces provided.

Each week's entry must be turned in to one of the merchants sponsoring the contest. Contestants are given a week to prepare and turn in their entries.

Sponsoring merchants may accept mailed entries. All late entries will be discarded.

In case of ties, a coin will be flipped to determine the winners.

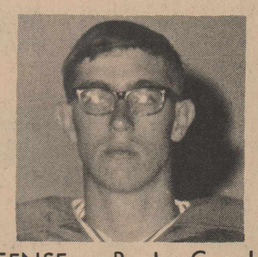

Each week the number of games predicted correctly will count toward each contestant's season total. The person picking the most games correctly for the entire season will receive the grand prize. The person with the second highest total will receive the second grand prize. In the event of a tie on the season total, a coin will be flipped to determine the winner.

The weekly prizes will be given to the persons picking the most number of games for that week. The tie-breaker will count as one of the games picked, and the predicted scores will be used to determine the top three places in that week's contest, if necessary.

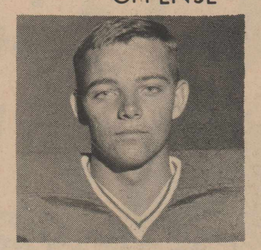

Only one entry per person is allowed.
