No Change In Outlook

BY HENRY HARTZENBUSCH
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Gen. Paul D. Harkins flew here today to size up the new U.S. combat force in Thailand and said there is no basic easing of the crisis in Southeast Asia.

The general, overall commander of the force in Thailand and the U.S. Military Assistance Command in South Viet Nam, planned to visit the Marine out-camping in a rice paddy field only 30 miles south of the Communist aggression from Laos.

Asked whether he thought there still is a serious threat to Thailand from Laos, Harkins said: "The Communists are in a position to do what they did in Nam. The potential is still there for them to do the same again."

He referred to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao's offensive at Nam Thau near the Red Chinese border which swept the Lao royal army out of northwestern Laos.

Another 500 Marines and Army infantrymen began leaving Hawaii at daybreak bound for this Southeast Asian kingdom in jet transports. The infantrymen included the 27th Infantry Regiment, joining a 1,000-man Army battle group and 200 Engineers who remained in Thailand after maneuvers two weeks ago.

At the same time, state police reported the driving rain finally quenched a giant grass fire which had swept across 37,000 acres in the Balintore area. The blaze had burned since Saturday in a canyon where it was impossible to make firefighting attempts.

Blank Check Out, Kennedy Tells DeGaulle

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy warns French President Charles de Gaulle—and other European leaders—to understand that as long as the United States carries the ultimate burden of Western Europe's defense it will participate fully in the great decisions affecting war and peace in Europe.

In effect he told De Gaulle that Europe cannot have a blank check to draw on U.S. defensive power when disaster threatens but bypass this country in the earlier stage of policy decisions.

Administration officials say De Gaulle's policy line at a news conference in Paris Tuesday indicates he wants a decreasing U.S. role in European affairs though Europe would rely on American nuclear power for its ultimate protection.

At the news conference Kennedy challenged De Gaulle's decision to make France an independent nuclear power, saying it would lead to a dangerous situation in the world and would weaken the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He said it now costs the government $1 billion a year to store, transport and finance the crop surpluses. He also said that if the old program were continued, cost to the government over the next four years would be $4 billion more than under his plan.

However, the Defense Department still is aiming for a reorganization which would eliminate some Guard and Reserve divisions while retaining the men in units of other designation.

This present Pentagon attitude on the issue was developed at a hearing by a Senate Appropriations subcommittee Thursday on the $48 billion defense appropriation bill.

Bathroom Decor Goes Simple

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Little dolphin water spouts are no longer "in the swim." Cherubs are far out, eagles are out; fleur-de-lis is waning as bathroom motif. So says Marion Wieder, well-known interior designer who specializes in bathrooms.

"Classical lines are in Greek key, egg and dart, red and ribbon are the simple designs that people want as they weed out ornateness," she says.

Time was when nobody paid attention to bathrooms when they rented or bought houses, she says, but now people often come to her with architect's plans before they make the final decision about their home.

"And now there are bath shops everywhere in the country," she points out.

Mrs. Wieder loves to remodel a bathroom completely as she did recently for actor Robert Preston and his wife at their 150-year-old farmhouse in Rye, N.Y.

"The Prestons love the charm of early American so the bathroom was made to look barnlike. We used a flooring of real wood impregnated on vinyl with pegs, off-white leather tiles that resemble Spanish stucco on walls, baseboard of waxy walnut and heavy wood beams across the ceiling. There is a countertop of slate, walnut louvers at the windows and walnut molding around the medicine chest to match the shower enclosure.

All fixtures, including the light, are "dirty" pewter, she says.

Men like earthy colors and wood tones, Mrs. Wieder says. They don't usually like pastels or bright colors like orange. The like Oriental and contemporary design.

However, off-white, deep pink and blue combined with other colors are the most popular bathroom colors, she says.

"A bathroom can be stunning without being white and gold," in the designer's opinion. "Many people display vulgar taste only because they are trying to outdo their neighbors rather than evolve their own simple formula for good taste.

"You don't need to remove fixtures to do a new, lovely bathroom. The right use of carpet, new treatment on a medicine chest door, new paint or paper, complete illumination of a ceiling may be just what a little bathroom needs."

Paint and marbleize baseboards for a different look, she suggests, as an accent for woodfinished formica or a mosaic tile counter. Shiny or gloss enamel is the most practical paint finish for bathrooms where everpresent moisture must be resisted and where surfaces must be cleaned readily. For small cabinets she likes strong "out of the paint can" colors such as bright yellow, cantaloupe, cerise or royal blue used in a white bath-room.

"Special paint effects may be achieved with rollers, stippling with crumpled newspaper or marbelizing if one just wants a change without much of an expenditure," she says.

Mrs. Wieder adds distinctive effects in bathrooms by using old English porcelain jars from washstand sets as waste baskets; pewter, Delft and other decorative water spouts; furniture miniatures instead of shelves on walls.

Spanish miniatures are popular now, she says, although she also uses cabinets made to resemble French hutches with slate tops. A graduate of Pratt Institute, she has been an interior decorator for eight years.

6 tablespoons butter or margarine (soft)
1 egg
1 1/2 cups milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/3 cup sugar
1 cup thawed unsweetened frozen blueberries
Sugar Topping

Stir quickly until blended; fold in blueberries. Turn into a lightly greased baking pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches). Sprinkle very evenly with Sugar Topping. Bake in hot (450 degrees) oven 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out without any unbaked dough adhering to it. Place pan on wire rack to cool coffee cake for about 15 minutes; cut in squares; remove with wide spatula; serve at once. Makes 12 servings.

Sugar Topping: Mix together 1/2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind and 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine.

Grocery Shelves Of 1972 To Be Filled With 'Unknowns'

Grocery shelves a decade from now will be filled with a myriad of food products and packages—half of which do not exist today.

So say food scientists who have surveyed nutritional habits and practices in the United States during the past few decades. They based their predictions on the vast changes in processing and packaging, which have taken place in recent years, and which are continuing at an accelerating pace.

Their predictions can't be far wrong, for a report in the January issue of the Journal of Home Economics points out that almost all the items today on the grocery shelves did not exist at the end of World War II.

Even more startling is the fact that in 1928 there were 86 items in the grocery store from which to choose; today there are over 6,000.

But what about cost? Although it is obvious to any budget-conscious housewife that prices have spiraled in recent years, statistics show that "real prices" of food are less. Incomes have gone up faster than food prices—wage-earners put in one-third less time to earn the amount necessary to fill the market basket today than they did at the end of World War II.

But the nutritional picture of extra buying power, greater variety and vast quantities is clouded by two problems in American food consumption. One is a quantitative problem—over-eating; the other—qualitative—faulty eating.

Much has been said about over-eating and the resultant "fat American." Far less has been reported on those of us who, although the market basket is full, just do not eat enough of the right kinds of food.

Koska bears, Australian teddy bears, rarely drink water. They obtain moisture from eucalyptus leaves.

Chronicle Of War Ranks High

ISLAND OF TERRIBLE FRIENDS By Bill Strutton.

If this were only a novel, it might be described as one of the better pieces of fiction to come out of World War II.

But it is basically a true story with only a few of the minor names changed, and the principal characters—so colorful in these pages—long since have settled into more prosaic civilian occupations.

Essentially it is the story of Maj. James Rickett of the British medical corps, and an island named Vis, a little dot in the Adriatic close to the shore of Yugoslavia.

In the beginning Vis was a lone, precarious toehold of the partisans (real stone-age warriors) and a handful of British commandos, who were to be overrun by the Germans at any moment. At the end, Vis was a moderately strong take-off point that served admirably to distract the Germans from a major campaign, on the mainland.

Rickett's mission was one of those wartime assignments that, characteristically, turns into a combination of farce and heroism. Detached from the regular military, he was sent by the foreign office to be the only medical help of the commandos. Because he was outside the regular military channels, supplies never reached him. He and a few oddball sergeants had to scrounge from two sources: American shipments to the partisans and captured German equipment.

There are grim, shocking adventures in this book, heightened by the calm, ironical attitudes of the uncivilized natives and the civilized fighters who risked their lives side by side. The author hasn't needed any literary tricks. The story is moving enough.

This book with its rather forbidding title could be a quiet "sleeper" among the best chronicles of fighting men. It's memorable and real.

CITIZENS!

An examination of the financial circumstances of Scurry County discloses a present valuation of $119,919,744.00 assessed valuation for a population according to the 1960 census of 20,151 persons. Kent County is constructing a Home for the Aged upon a valuation of $23,481,245.00 (less than one-fifth of Scurry County's valuation) in a county having fewer than 2,000 persons (less than one-tenth the population of Scurry County). It thus appears Scurry County has the resources to afford and the people who need a modern facility for the aged in the community. Schedules prepared by experts familiar with Scurry County financial operations indicate that WITHOUT ANY INCREASE IN TAXES the bonds necessary for a home for the aged can be retired by 1965.

Let's prove by our yeas and works that we are a Christian community by not dishonoring our fathers and mothers in the years of the greatest need.

Happy Solution To Problem Of Annual Bon Voyage Gifts

BY INEZ ROBB

The bon voyage season is upon us, with Americans off and running in a hundred different directions. And now let us consider the troublesome problem of just the right farewell present for Uncle Horace, or Cousin Ella, or the darling couple who live in the apartment across the hall.

Until a few days ago I was convinced that the woman's editor of a New York newspaper had long since ideally solved the problem of the perfect, all-purpose bon voyage gift. Her brilliant suggestion was to get the beloved traveler's itinerary and then give him a packet of the local currency of each nation into which he intended to venture.

"Everyone can use money," she pointed out with irrefutable logic. And, she continued with even more commendable practicality, it is the ideal gift for the air traveler who simply cannot cope with large baskets of fruit, flowers or even champagne.

As you can see, I was overjoyed by the editor's suggestion, and have been living on great expectations ever since. But, truth to tell, although I have been abroad several times in the intervening year, no friend or relative has ever loved me sufficiently to come through with the only indispensable ingredient—other than a passport and a smallpox vaccination—that the traveler needs, i.e., dough.

But now my hopes have been raised—blacks, boosted—again. I am in possession of an advertising brochure that advances the bon voyage gift several notches beyond money.

It is how possible to provide a traveling friend with a prepaid ory in Paris, Rome and—or London. For $30, a thoughtful chum who is stuck in the mud at home can, for example, give his touring friend a "La Dolce Vita Evening" in Rome.

"An exciting foray into the nocturnal pattern of Rome's la vita dolce set," reads the brochure of an outfit named "Be My Guest" that specializes in "gala" restaurant, night-club and theatre packages that any one can buy for a friend who is tramping through Europe this season.

"Famed Mike Stern, colorful was Correspondent on the Roman scene, has fashioned a fabulous evening that your guests won't soon forget," the brochure continues with reference to a foray into la dolce vita. The evening begins with a private car and year, no friend or relative has ever loved me sufficiently to come

Bifocals Are True Friend After 40

By HAL BOYLE
NEW-YORK (AP)—Are you a bifocal fellow? Are you a bifocal gal?

Some people who could best use bifocals disdain them from pride. They think they've learned to do so without recourse to the double view.

But people who don't wear bifocals after 40 don't know what they are missing.

It took me 50 years of living—I'm ~~not~~ wearing bifocals, but now that I have learned to do so I wouldn't trade them for freckles or bad hair.

Many people say they would prefer to stumble and fall down the family laundry chute rather than wear bifocal eyeglasses. Well, all I can say is there is always a certain amount of false pride involved in meeting any situation.

However, there is at least one reason to wear bifocal glasses. That was Benjamin Franklin, who was over 80 at the time.

Earlier, Ben had invented the platform rocker. His further invention of bifocal glasses only proved an old man's right to comfort and a knowledge of what was going on.

Probably he did it to save his arm. He probably got tired of lifting his hand up to whip on or whip off his glasses to read.

One of the first things you notice about wearing bifocal glasses is how tired they make your eyeballs. They aren't used to all that exercise.

Bifocals make a big difference in your life. It isn't only that you can now read a telephone book number without having a friend hold the directory in front of you halfway across the street.

Bifocals make a fellow more responsible—that is, as responsible as a fellow with a spill-level view can be. For they do have this disadvantage: Everything is either too big to be there or too small to be here.

This causes what is known as the "bifocal look"—a lifted chin expression of staring uncertainty. You have a problem of perspective.

A horse in front of you looks like an ordinary horse. But a worm on the rain-wet pavement at the same moment looms up like a sea monster in attack.

These are women who will go almost any extent rather than wear bifocals because they say that this type of glasses gives them a grandmotherly look.

My own feeling is that any woman who wears bifocals probably deserves to look like a grandmother, and ought to look like a grandmother, and what is so terrible about that? Glamorous Marlene Dietrich doesn't mind being a grandma.

Contract Approved For 14-Year-Old Girl

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 14-year-old ballerina who began dancing at 8 has court approval of a $20,000-a-year film contract.

The girl, Claudia Cravey, has starred in London in "The Princess" and appeared with the Chicago Opera Ballet Co.

Her contract, approved Thursday in Superior court, calls for steps to $75,000 a year in seven years. It permits her to dance for Desilu productions and Metro Goldwyn Mayer.

Miss Cravey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cravey, recently came to Hollywood from West Palm Beach, Fla., where her father is in the garden supply business.

Junior Editors Quiz on GEOGRAPHY

QUESTION: What is the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes?

ANSWER: Some people say this valley is the greatest wonder on the earth's surface. It lies in southern Alaska, as shown on our map, and is the result of the explosion of the volcano Mt. Katmai in June, 1912. Entering from between two volcanic mountains, one looks down the flat floor of a wide, broad valley which is covered with thousands of waving plumes of steam. We are used to thinking of the earth's surface as cold and solid—and this sight gives us an overwhelming shock, for it makes us realize how close we are to the boiling rock and hissing steam which churn around inside our planet. This valley is often compared to Yellowstone Park, where there are about 4000 hot springs and a hundred geysers, some shooting steam up to 300 feet. Geysers occur when the underground is not so very hot, so that when water seeps in, it takes some time to boil and shoot up steam, which is why geysers suddenly erupt. But in the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, the ground underneath is so hot that seeping water is always boiling and jets of steam are continually escaping through cracks and holes, some plumes rising up to 8000 feet.

FOR YOU TO DO: You may be thinking, are there really ten thousand smokes? There are many more than that, according to Robert F. Griggs, who discovered and named the valley. Look up and read his fascinating story in the National Geographic Magazine of February, 1918.

Yank Hurlers Get Big Lift

By JIM HACKLEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer
Just when it was needed most, the New York Yankees' hurlers got a big lift from two longshot prospects.

Bob Turley and Marshall Bridges collaborated Thursday as the Yankees squeezed by the Boston Red Sox 2-1 and into a share of the American League lead with Cleveland.

Turley, making his first start since July of last year, allowed only two singles over seven innings and Marshall finished up for the victory. Tossing right-hander Gene Conley lost it.

In the only other AL game scheduled, the Baltimore Orioles beat Bo Belinsky and the Los Angeles Angels 6-4.

In the National League, St. Louis tried San Francisco 1-0. Los Angeles rebounded in the ninth and tenth innings for a 5-4 victory over Houston. Philadelphia ended Cincinnati's winning string at six games, 5-6, and Milwaukee romped over Pittsburgh 7-2. The Mets and the Cubs were idle.

Turley, who fireballed his way to the top after being acquired by the Yankees from Baltimore in 1954, was acclaimed baseball's foremost pitcher in 1958 after a 21-7 season and a brilliant World Series showing.

But he plunged to an 8-11 mark the next year, then really ran into trouble last season as an arm trouble rendered him all but useless and he finished at 3-5.

Definitely a question mark this season, Turley made three brief appearances before drawing a big assignment. Powerful and poised, he faltered only in the second when singles by Jim Pajaroni and Gary Geiger and Carroll Hardy's sacrifice fly produced the lone Boston run.

Second No-Hitter In Little League

The second no-hitter of the young season highlighted Little League play last night—this time in the American League as Kenny Sehested of the White Sox blanked the Yankees without a hit, 5-0.

The Yankees had runners on base in three different innings by virtue of two walks, an error and a hit batsman, but nobody advanced past second base.

White Sox Max Moreland homered for the second time in the third inning to give his mates a 2-run cushion at that stage of the proceedings.

In the National League encounter, the Cubs whacked the Braves, 14-3.

Catcher Sam Head was the offensive star for the Cubs, bashing out four hits in four trips to the plate, including three singles and a double. Ronnie Lewis and Mitchell Rabin had two hits apiece.

Randy Hardee allowed the Braves only two hits while he and his mates were picking up 10 safe blows.

Referee Testifies Today In House Panel Gambling Probe

By ROBERT ROOKER WACO (AP)—Southwest Conference referee O'Dell Preston testified today before the Texas House Investigating Committee probing rumors of point shaving in conference basketball games.

Preston was the first subpoenaed witness called on the second day of the hearing. Several Waco police officers appeared for about an hour before the Waco referee went into the hearing room at 10:15 a.m.

Preston and Bill Johnson of Lorena, another conference referee, waited to testify for almost 12 hours Thursday before the committee ended its first session at 1 a.m.

They were among 18 persons subpoenaed to testify before the committee. Chairman C. H. B. Ballman of Borger said had been subpoenaed to appear.

After Preston there were still 10 witnesses on the subpoena list who were waiting to testify.

Ballman said some witnesses have invoked the 5th Amendment to avoid testifying.

Ballman would not identify the witnesses or expand his statement.

The chairman said that hearing has been "very successful" after it recessed at 12:30 a.m. today. He said much of the Department of Public Safety information has been substantiated by testimony.

The House Investigating Committee is looking into so far publicly unconfirmed reports that Southwest Conference referees have shaved points in basketball games.

BOYS CLUB SEEKS TRACK ENTRIES

Boys interested in competing in the annual Scurry County Boys Club Track Meet here on May 26 are invited to take part in daily workouts.

All boys in Scurry County are eligible to participate, and only one more week of workouts remains before the meet.

The workouts are held at 4 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday, and at 9 a. m. on Saturday.

Ballman said the committee planned to continue executive hearings until all witnesses had been heard.

By The Associated Press Amarillo Gold Sox, mired in the Texas League cellar, are giving the leaders trouble again.

The Gold-Sox beat first place Tulsa the second time in a row Thursday night. This didn't discourage the Oilers from the top but it did Austin, which whipped San Antonio 8-3, move into second place a game and a half back.

Amarillo walloped Tulsa 12-9, jamming 11 runs across in the first four innings. Chuck Buheller and Elvio Jimenez hit home runs in the first inning as Amarillo took a 5-0 lead.

Austin, clouded 10 hit in its assault on San Antonio. Dick Kelley ran his string of scoreless innings to 48 before San Antonio finally pushed over two runs in the seventh.

Albuquerque knocked El Paso out of second place with a 7-4 triumph as Jack O'Donoghue hurled a seven-hitter.

It Will Be A Bad Day At Black Rock

WHEN the tax paying citizens of Scurry County are too conservative to invest a few tax dollars to advance the cause of humanity. Some of us, with fathers and mothers long departed from this earth, will consider it an honor and a privilege to pay our share of taxes that will enable the aged, in the sunset years of life, to enjoy what few and precious years may be left in good wholesome surroundings, where their home will be safe and secure from the economic disturbance of good years and bad.

We are not going to stoop to any comparison of our beloved elders, who have walked down the battlefield of life, of tribulations and sorrows, of sickness and heartbreak, with any material commodities and businesses, such as drugs, service stations, banks, and etc. Almighty God put humanity first and we will stand on his wisdom.

This same old cry was heard by our forefathers, 80 years ago, when they were fighting for mental hospitals, T. B. sanitoriums and orphan homes. We know that some of our beloved elders are victims of circumstances beyond their control, some have no loved ones left on this earth, some are sick and need 24 hour care. We should be glad of this opportunity to advance the cause of humanity.

God's Soil

...and it's time to conserve it... time to save it! It is evident, when we witness the increased destruction of timber lands, national cover crops and wide-spread erosion, America needs a national Save-The-Soil-Week. It is urgent that we treat Mother Earth with greater respect and appreciation. We must give back to her as much as we take away. There's no better time than during National Save-The-Soil-Week, to come to a full realization that "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof." We are stewards, appointed by God, to look after the earth He gave us. It is time to renew your faith in God and the Good Earth.

Episcopal Conference Being Held

The Very Rev. John C. Van Dyk, Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, Oklahoma City, is leading a two-day conference on Evangelism at the Episcopal Diocese of Oklahoma Conference Center, Amarillo, May 17-18, for men and women of the Diocese of Northwest Texas.

Dean Van Dyk, with a Doctor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering from the University of Del., The Netherlands and extensive experience in the chemical industry, was finally elected to the Episcopal Church in this country, and ultimately to the priesthood. Before coming to Oklahoma City he was rector of St. Paul's Church, Morris Plains, N. J. In addition to numerous civic activities, past and present, he is a member of the Joint Commission of Evangelism at the General Convention.

In the conference, which is co-sponsored by the Department of Christian Education, Dean Van Dyk will be speaking and leading discussion on the congregation and the individual's task of winning men and women to Christ through his Church, bringing to bear his insights on an effective evangelism for the current scene. That he has experience from which to speak is evident from the fact that he witnessed the growth of his former parish from 20 communicants to more than 600.

The Diocese Department of Evangelism, headed by the Rev. Custis Fletcher, Jr., Vicar of St. John's Church, Snyder, seeks to aid congregations and individuals in mapping out honest, straight forward, and effective means of witnessing to the Christian Faith and the life of the Church. The lay conference in Evangelism is to serve such a purpose.

Manual Prepared To Clarify Role Of The Minister's Wife

By ARLENE C. LARUE

Syracuse Herald-Journal Reporter SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — There's a move afoot to remind church congregations that their minister's wife is human, even if she can't expect to be as free as sisters outside the parsonage.

A national survey is under way and a theological school plans to publish a manual to guide the wives in their behavior and the congregations in their demands.

Mrs. Hugh F. Miller, a parson's wife, is a member of a 12-woman team that seeks to correct any conception of the clergyman's wife as a harassed, drab woman with a smile etched on her face.

The women are members of the interdenominational advisory committee of a research program on "The Minister's Wife," being conducted by the Boston University School of Theology under a grant from the Lilly Foundation, Inc.

"What we want to establish is a factual rather than a high-falootin' ideal," said Mrs. Miller, the wife of the pastor of the Eastwood Baptist Church.

"As things stand, what most people think a minister's wife should be is enough to scare a girl stiff," Mrs. Miller said.

Manuals given wives of seminary students are just awful, she added.

While the factual ideal will help guide seminary students' wives and fiancées, the researchers hope it also will ease the task of husbands, accused of removing the thinking of the country's congregations.

"It's what the church people expect that shapes the life of the pastor's wife," said Mrs. Miller, who has spent nearly 20 years in various congregations.

But certain restrictions make it difficult for the clergyman's spouse to be herself.

She must think twice before buying a high-fashion gown, or trying an exotic, halter. (Hair coloring is strictly taboo.)

Her children must be models of good behavior; her personal and family plans must be flexible to accommodate the whims of a congregation.

In one church, Mrs. Miller recalled, she was expected to substitute regularly for an organist, without pay.

Mrs. Miller represents the American Baptists on the research group. The committee already has met three times—in Boston, Louisville, Ky., and Berkeley, Calif.

The Rev. William Douglas, D.D., of the Boston University School of Theology is putting the information into a book, to be published next year.

Special instructions relative to the semi-annual assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Abilene, June 1-3, were announced Sunday by J. D. Cook, presiding minister of the local congregation.

"Prepare now for a full weekend of ministerial activity," Cook said. "Bible residents will be expecting us to call at their doors persons to attend the assembly. Our praise to Jehovah's assembly."

Instructions Announced For Assembly

Special instructions relative to the semi-annual assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Abilene, June 1-3, were announced Sunday by J. D. Cook, presiding minister of the local congregation.

"Prepare now for a full weekend of ministerial activity," Cook said. "Bible residents will be expecting us to call at their doors persons to attend the assembly. Our praise to Jehovah's assembly."

Room requests should be sent immediately to insure a place to sleep for the 700 expected delegates from West Texas and New Mexico.

Saturday at 1:30 p.m. a talk on dedication and baptism will be given. Those desiring to be baptized should bring bathing suits and towels.

All work of construction, catering, cleaning and other departments are accomplished by volunteer help.

All in the local congregation are to invite interested God-fearing persons to attend the assembly. It will be held in the Exhibit Building, Taylor County Agricultural Center.

"Who Will Rule The World?" by W. R. Thomas, will be the feature talk on Sunday at 3 p.m. All meetings are open to the public. No collections are taken.

The program is presented at 9:30 a.m. Monday through Friday, over KSSY. It is scheduled by the radio committee of the Snyder-Scurry County Ministerial alliance.

SAYS OIL IMPORTS THREATEN ECONOMY

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON (AP) — The chief spokesman for Texas independent oil operators said today imports threaten to ruin the domestic industry.

"I am convinced the import menace will ruin the domestic producing industry in the foreseeable future if unfair economic advantage in foreign oil is allowed to persist," said James West, president of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association.

In a speech at the opening session of the TIPO's 16th membership meeting, West said he still hopes Congress will put effective limits on oil imports this year.

If the current efforts fail, he said TIPO's imports policy committee should prepare for 1963 by expanding its special study of foreign oil's economic advantages.

"The House Ways and Means Committee was to vote in Washington today on an amendment that would place in President Kennedy's proposed trade expansion act specific limits on oil imports."

"At this time the possibility remains an aroused and militant membership could be successful in getting an amendment to limit oil imports written into the bill," West said.

"To succeed, it is necessary for enough of our friends in Congress to let the President and House leadership know they will vote against the bill if it comes out of the committee without some appropriate amendment."

Eugene Foley, deputy assistant secretary of commerce, told TIPO's executive committee Thursday the trade act needs no amendment. He said the Kennedy proposal includes provisions for continuing the current mandatory program to control oil imports.

Foley said the administration and the independent operators differ only on methods of approach to the problem.

Heiress May Have To Cut Down On Diet

DETROIT (AP) — An heiress who manages to live in luxury, gadding about the continent, on a mere $80 a month, is going to have to cut back on her diet.

She may go without her weekly steak and live on dog food.

The heiress is Nosey, an 8-year-old dog of undetermined ancestry, who appeared before Probate Judge Ernest Boehm Thursday with her keeper.

"You've put on a few pounds since you were here last, Nobby," observed Boehm.

The keeper, Elvin Wall, said Nobby had indeed gained eight pounds, but Wall said he had filled out a bit himself.

Wall accounted for Nobby's $15,000 inheritance from Nobby's late master, Charles C. Long, with a long list of bills for her.

Wall, a retired engineer and bachelor, gets $80 a month to care for Nobby, and when she dies he is to get what's left of the estate.

Wall said Nobby has been dining on steak, rare, once a week. He has taken her to Mexico, Canada, and 25 states. Las Vegas is next on Nobby's agenda.

Boehm adjudged Wall's accounting of the bequest to be in order. When Wall mentioned Nobby's idam-burger sleeping pad, the judge spoke sternly to Nobby.

"You've been leading a man's life," he said.

How often have you parents heard your child complain that you're mean and full of hate, because you punished them. Yet you know that you have done this in love, trying to show them the true way to life. Life can not be lived without discipline. So it is with life with God. Know then that the Lord disciplines you for your own good and encouragement in the faith.

Deuteronomy 8:23 (read verses 1-6)

The Children of Israel thought that as chosen people of God, He would certainly be more gracious to them than to any others. They of all people should be blessed. But when God led them in the wilderness for forty years, and when He later allowed the Israelites to be captured and made into servants, they began to wonder about the goodness of God. But God chastens those whom he loves.

Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"Add you shall remember all the way which the Lord your God has led you these forty years in the wilderness, that he might humble you, testing you to know what was in your heart, whether you would keep his commandments, or not... Know them in your heart, that as a man disciplines his son, the Lord your God disciplines Israel."

Hodges Sees New Surge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said today the resurgence of business activity in the past six weeks points to a recharging of the recovery in the months ahead.

"Business generally is good and should improve well into 1963," Hodges predicted in a speech prepared for a conference of the National Association of Home Builders.

Despite the slowdown of the economy in the January-March quarter, Hodges said, the signs of strength in consumer goods sales and other sectors of the economy "may prove to be enough to bring us within the range of our production target of $570 billion for the year as a whole."

He said the rate of output—as measured in the dollar-value of all goods and services produced—was at an annual rate of $549 billion in the first quarter even though the rate was 2.5 percent below the annual rate at the bottom of the recession a year earlier, Hodges said.

Builders got some good news from Hodges' Commerce Department. It announced that privately owned housing starts increased 3 percent from March to April to an annual rate of 1,542,000 a year.

The April figure was 32 percent above April 1961.

Blood Is Provided For Young Refugee

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Sixteen-month-old Consuelo Caballero, a Cuban refugee, suffers from malignant reticulendotheliosis, a deadly blood disease.

But her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Felix Caballero, have much to be thankful for.

Hundreds of prisoners at Ralston State Prison in north Florida Thursday rolled up their sleeves to donate blood for the stricken child. During the day 336 ounces were qualified and an equal number of pints of blood taken.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:

On Saturday, May 18, 1962, the taxpayers of Scurry County are being asked to vote one-fourth million dollars in bonds to establish a county maintained nursing home in Scurry County.

Since I have at various times represented persons who have owned or operated the existing nursing home, I have a more than ordinary interest in this particular issue. I know something of the work, expense, headaches, and even heartache that have gone into running the present nursing home into being. I might add that this letter was not prompted by any owner or operator of the nursing home, past or present, and that the ideas in this letter are entirely my own.

The whole issue raises some very knotty problems with regard to the place of government in business. We are prone to think of this issue of government in business, which is commonly called "socialism," as a problem involving only the national government. Most thinking persons are alarmed at the tendency toward government movement into more and more areas of private enterprise. We often forget, however, that a local government has the same power and that this power can be exercised with the same cruel effect as encroachment by the Federal Government into the same areas.

With this in mind, we might take a look at the effect of the creation of a nursing home in Scurry County on the existing nursing home, which is a privately owned business, and a payer of federal as well as state and local taxes.

The purpose of creating a new county supported nursing home in Scurry County is evidently in part to put the existing facility out of business. If the proponents did not intend this, or at least were not indifferent as to whether or not it happened, they would have made some attempt to work through the operators of the existing nursing home in this county. When Great Britain nationalized its steel industry, the government paid the owners of the shares in the British steel companies. When the Province of British Columbia recently nationalized the British Columbia Power Company, it agreed to pay the share owners and bond holders for their property. When Mexico took over the oil industry in the late 1930s, they issued their bonds in payment for the properties, and recently paid off the last of these bonds. Even Castro, at the beginning of his career as dictator of Cuba, paid lip service to this notion and said that Cuba would pay the persons whose businesses were taken over.

The procedure that would be followed here in our own County is a refinement of this process. It is proposed not only to set up a public supported non-taxpaying business, but to tax the existing business for the purpose of bringing about its own destruction.

There is little doubt in my mind that our County, with its vast oil wealth to draw on for support, and free from the burden of property taxes or federal income taxes, and regardless of losses, could carry on any business in such grand style that it could kill almost any local private competitor. The thought is repugnant to us all, but that is the fate we are asked to inflict on one local enterprise.

The proposal is obnoxious on other grounds. There is no need, the existing nursing home has space for as many more persons as the proposed County Home would contain and will improve and expand as rapidly as necessary to accommodate them. There is no hope that a county nursing home will be any less expensive to its inmates than the private one. It is proposed to charge them as much as is charged at the present nursing home, and the taxpayers can expect to foot the bill for a large subsidy in the form of a rate rent, interest on the indebtedness, and perhaps other expenses.

There is a further unanswered question. Will the operation be racial, or will we have two or even more nursing homes?

I think that I know most of the people who have taken the lead in bringing about this bond election. They are good people. I believe that, with the best of intentions, they are asking us to do something that they would not want done to their own businesses. I hope that even they will change their minds and vote to defeat this pernicious proposal.

Arthur Blanchard

To The Daily News:

To the many people who have been wanting to write their representatives in office, the Home Ways & Means Committee in Washington regarding the Medical Care For The Aged, yet do not know enough about the proposed bill to express their opinions thereon, it may be of interest to them to listen to the promised radio program on the matter by the noted commentator, Paul Harvey.

If astronaut news does not complicate the situation, his noon radio broadcast on Saturday the 19th (which may be heard over KSEL, among others) may prove most informative.

DeGaulle Lives In Cocoon Of Dreams

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the most unreal exchange between John F. Kennedy and Charles de Gaulle, the American President in effect has told the French president he has more sense than nuclear.

This week at a news conference, where the questions were prepared in advance, De Gaulle said the conditions under which France let the United States for years take responsibility for its protection are past.

For almost 22 years since the Germans smashed them in 1940, the French have been an inadequate military force in the world.

De Gaulle, even though France is a member of the United States is not a member of the NATO alliance, said a France relying primarily on her own defense with her own atomic weapons which she still must build.

After the big war for years they couldn't even cross the Communist in Indochina, fought a half-hearted war, wouldn't send their draftees there, and finally in mortifying defeat had to abandon the colony.

There was unintended sadness in this De Gaulle talk. Always like a man who considered himself the architect of the French future for generations to come, as if his policy would be the lasting policy.

Now they haven't been able to establish peace in Algeria.

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to replace, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

In these years the United States with its bombers and nuclear power—has been for the French, as for the rest of Western Europe, the shield which deterred the Russians.

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to replace, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

De Gaulle, who has always found it unbearable to think of France in a secondary or dependent condition, finds it unpalatable now even if it means abandoning reality and wrapping himself in the cocoon of dreams.

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to replace, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

85-1 Odds Too Great

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Eighty-five young Greek girls, all single, and one lone Greek bachelor arrived in Sydney today on a chartered immigrant flight from Athens.

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to replace, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

"I don't know how it happened that I was the only man on the plane," said George Gnessolis.

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to replace, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

"It was a bachelor's nightmare—3 days 21 hours 40 minutes. Like any bachelor I like girls. But 85 of them was just too much.

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to replace, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

"I only had to look thirty and six of them ran to get me a drink. After we left, I almost asked the captain for a parachute."

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to replace, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

George said he would stay with his brother in Sydney and "I don't want to see another woman for at least a month—and then she'd better not be Greek."

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to replace, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

JUNK ART—Artist Gloria Graves poses with her creation, "Cabinet with Bains," at an art gallery in New York where she is showing 41 works assembled solely with junk. She contends the materials are junk but the results are art. This work is listed at $200 and others in her show are priced from $75 to $750. (AP Wirephoto)

Oregon Has Its Primary Vote Today

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Oregon votes today in a primary election topped by three races, two Democratic and one Republican.

Predictions are that half of the 840,477 registered voters will go to the polls. Democrats outnumber Republicans, 457,224 to 383,253.

Robert Y. Thornton, the state's attorney general, and State Sen. Walter J. Pearson are battling for the gubernatorial nomination.

The campaign got particularly hot in the 3rd Congressional District (Portland), where the county democratic central committee supported Thornton, but the district's U.S. representative, Edith Green, endorsed Pearson. Then the Young Democrats said Pearson was too conservative and they would not support him if he were nominated.

The winner is almost certain to face Gov. Mark O. Hatfield in November. Hatfield's only opponent for the Republican nomination is H. G. Altvater of Portland. He isn't likely to stop Hatfield's drive toward reelection.

In the 4th Congressional District, three Democrats are seeking nomination to the House. They are Robert B. Duncan, speaker of the State House of Representatives; State Sen. Robert W. Straub, and former congressman Charles O. Porter, who was unseated in 1960 by Rep. Edwin R. Durno. Carl O. Fisher, a Eugene radio executive, is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Durno is running for the Republican nomination to oppose Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore.

Russell Describes Longevity As Merely Fluke Of Nature

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Philosopher

Bertrand Russell, celebrating his 80th birthday today, describes his longevity as a fluke.

Lord Russell.

"Every man is concerned with the future," he said. "You have life insurance, don't you? Then you're concerned with the future."

"It's nothing more than a fluke of nature," Russell said in an interview. "However, it must have something to do with the glands. Mine seem to be all right."

"I'm greatly alarmed at this moment over the nuclear testing by Russia and the United States. However, the Berlin situation—another terrifying thing—seems a bit better."

A flippant wit, Russell's conventional opinions have made him a sharp center for half a century. Lord Russell today looks somewhat like a defiant rabbit with his slightly pointed ears, his fluffy white hair, a generous mouth with thin lips that come to a point beneath a long nose.

"How long would you like to live?" he asked.

He answered questions in a clear but squeaky voice.

"I'm concerned over the fact that the governments of East and West are heading for the extermination of the human race," he said, "and as long as I have strength left in my body, I'll fight it and them."

"I'm a smoker," he said, "I smoked a pipe the whole day long, almost without ceasing, for at least 70 years."

"I've been in jail for six days for defying the London police and taking part in a public demonstration."

He fingered one of a pair of pipes resting on a table beside his chair in the living room of his modest London home.

"I've been in jail for six days for defying the London police and taking part in a public demonstration."

A half-empty bottle of whisky stood on a highly polished mahogany desk nearby.

"I've been in jail for six days for defying the London police and taking part in a public demonstration."

"And I like alcohol," he added. "And I use it."

"I've been in jail for six days for defying the London police and taking part in a public demonstration."

Does he feel much different now than at 60, 70 or 80?

"I've been in jail for six days for defying the London police and taking part in a public demonstration."

"No different than at 80, but certainly different than at 60. I used to take long walks. I could do that at 60. Now I get tired."

"I've been in jail for six days for defying the London police and taking part in a public demonstration."

At his age, most men think a great deal about the past. But not

"I've been in jail for six days for defying the London police and taking part in a public demonstration."

Ted To Get Comfort

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has been asked again what "aid and comfort" his administration will give to his brother Edward's campaign in Massachusetts.

With a smile, Kennedy told his news conference Thursday: "I have already commented that I am not becoming involved in this campaign. But I am sympathetic. I like to comfort my brother."

Edward (Ted) Kennedy is seeking the Democratic nomination for the President's old Senate seat. He is opposed by Edward McCormack, nephew of House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass.

The President said that "no member of the White House staff is planning to go to the party's nominating convention, nor will be to the best of my knowledge—Massachusetts between now and the convention."

A million homes in the United States are centrally air conditioned, he said.
