SAYS 'PAPER GOLD' FINANCIAL AID — Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, director of the International Monetary Fund, says approval of a new system of special drawing rights — "paper gold" — would help solve world-wide financial problems. Schweitzer spoke in Washington Saturday before Monday's opening meeting of the governors of the fund and the World Bank.

Negotiations Era Emerges From Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — An "era of negotiation" concept seems to be emerging from private talks here between Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The concept can be summed up this way:

The United States and the Soviet Union will negotiate seriously on issues they think can be negotiated. On hard-core disputes, they will continue to disagree without getting too nasty about it.

President Nixon sounded this theme when he took office in January and again at the United Nations. In dealing with the communist powers, he said, "We move from an era of confrontation to an era of negotiation."

Gromyko responded in the 126-nation General Assembly the day after Nixon's Sept. 18 appearance. "We are in favor of negotiation and of a serious-minded attitude and genuine efforts to settle the international issues facing the U.S.S.R. the U.S.A. and all other states."

Nixon's approach is getting its first such high-level test in the three private Rogers-Gromyko parleys which began last Monday and continue this week.

The Big Two foreign ministers have agreed, U.S. officials said, that their governments ought to carry on their discussions in the spirit of the "era of negotiation."

That is what is supposed to apply to their current meetings on the Middle East and the proposed U.S.-Soviet talks on curbing the nuclear arms race.

But the Washington-Moscow disagreement on some other outstanding issues — such as Vietnam and the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia — is so wide that neither Rogers nor Gromyko is spending much time talking to the other about them.

Go Ahead, Have Picnic

By The Associated Press

Texas — all but some coastal areas—enjoyed clear to partly cloudy skies Saturday with mostly mild temperatures.

A fading September tried its best to beat the storied bright, blue weather of October, but showers spoiled the picture along the Gulf Coast from south of Corpus Christi to Brownsville, which caught 15 of an inch of rain.

Dry air circulating through the state allowed temperatures to rise rapidly as the afternoon progressed, but 95 at Lufkin, 94 at Cotulla and Beaumont and 93 at Texarkana were the only really hot thermometer readings.

The maximum at Alpine was a balmy 83, and Lubbock basked in sunshine and 84-degree temperatures. It was 86 at Abilene, 87 at Amarillo, 91 at Dallas, 92 at Houston, 91 at San Antonio and 92 at Waco.

SIMMONS CASE Defense Lawyer's Dream

FORT WORTH (AP) — Prosecutors faced a dilemma Saturday — how to try ex-convict Paul Wayne Howell on a murder charge when they have two conflicting reports on cause of death. The situation is a defense lawyer's dream.

Howell is charged with murdering Dykes Askew Simmons who called himself the forgotten American because he was in a Mexican prison for 10 years. He complained that the United States diplomats did nothing for him — a charge the diplomats denied.

Simmons made a spectacular escape from the Monterrey, Mexico, jail by walking out in a nun's habit.

The Fort Worth resident had only six months of freedom before he suffered fatal injuries Wednesday in front of a Fort Worth liquor store.

Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

An interesting development on the oil front last week was the completion of a Clear Fork discovery 11 miles northeast of Big Spring, the Texaco No. 1-F Noble Read. It yielded 280 barrels of oil and 70 of water per day from 4,555-631. No. 2-F Read was staked three-quarter miles southwest and No. 2-G Read three-quarter miles northwest. These are in the vicinity of a recent Fusselman discovery. The Hutto (Wolfcamp) area east of Big Spring gained another location.

The war in Vietnam touched home again last week. Word was received of the death of Erich Tidwell, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tidwell. Saturday, taps sounded for Walter Lowe Jr., only child of a widely known Glasscock County ranching couple. Services were held in Graham, and he was laid to a soldier's rest at San Angelo.

The City of Big Spring received welcome news in reports of quarterly sales tax payments by the State of Texas. The second quarterly returns showed $80,651, up $9,077 from the comparable quarter a year ago when the city levy first became effective.

The city also received some sobering news — a preliminary plan for Beal's Creek drainage with a $2 million price tag, half of it the city's. U.S. Engineers proposed a 10,000-foot channel capable of moving 12,500 cubic feet of water per second, compared with the current outflow of about 300 cfs. This also would involve acquisition of right of way. The city has $470,000 in bonds, but that's

FIRST STAGE OF SWEEPING COMMUNIST-ORDERED PURGE Czech Government Resigns

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's ruling Communist party swallowed its 1968 statements condemning the Soviet invasion and reshuffled the federal government Saturday in the first stage of a deep purge of party and state officials left over from the Alexander Dubcek reform era.

The party Central Committee ended shortly before dawn a two-day session of probing into the past. Several hours later Premier Oldrich Cernik's federal cabinet resigned in response to party orders. Cernik himself survived the purge and was asked by President Ludvik Svoboda to form a new cabinet, his third since April, 1968.

POPULAR RESISTANCE

Informed sources said the party instructed Cernik to replace at least four of the 17 former ministers and several of the seven undersecretaries.

In addition to voting a sweeping ouster of government and party officials at its pre-dawn session, the Central Committee repudiated August 1968 party resolutions that had criticized the entrance of Warsaw Pact troops and had praised the historic popular resistance.

Full Details were withheld until Sunday, but Prague radio commentators said the Central Committee had laid the blame for the invasion on the alleged errors of the liberal 1968 regime headed by then party chief Dubcek.

STILL POPULAR

Dubcek, replaced as party leader by Gustav Husak last April but still popular with the public as a champion of more freedom, apparently lost his place on the 11-member party Presidium but remained on the Central Committee, which has about 180 members.

Parliamentary leader Josef Smrkovsky was thought to be among about 15 Communists purged from or forced to resign from the Central Committee.

Removal of Dubcek and Smrkovsky as president and vice president of the federal Parliament became just a matter of time. This will leave President Svoboda and Premier Cernik as the two lone members of the popular "Big Four" of 1968 in high office.

LITTLE EXCITEMENT

Resignation of the government, a major event in a non-Communist country, caused little outward excitement among Czechs and Slovaks who have been despairing for months at the return of orthodox Communist rule.

The survival of Cernik, 48, confirmed reports that he has won the confidence of Husak and of the Soviet Union despite his former close association with Dubcek.

Thieu Says Withdrawal 'Years And Years' Away

Draft Reform Hearings Set By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services committee, in a sudden shift of position, will open hearings Tuesday on President Nixon's proposal for basic reform of the draft law.

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., who had previously shown no interest in speedy action on Nixon's request, announced the hearings in a brief statement Saturday without elaboration. Previously he had talked of hearings later this autumn.

Rivers' action is a victory for Nixon and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, who have been pressing for draft reform since May, when Nixon first sent his proposal to Congress.

In urging draft reform the administration has cited reduced manpower needs and the desire to remove inequities. But it obviously hopes also that changes will help quiet college antiwar protests.

Rivers said the hearings by a special subcommittee will be on a bill that would repeal a provision in existing law that prohibits the President from putting a lottery-type draft system into effect by executive order.

The prohibition was written into the 1967 act after Rivers' committee rejected a lottery system proposed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson on the basis of a study by a panel of experts.

Libyan Army Checks Base

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libya's revolutionary council announced Saturday it has placed two military committees at the Wheelus U.S. air base to check incoming and outgoing air and road traffic.

The announcement released by the official Libyan News Agency said the action was prompted by two smuggling incidents at the base this week. It referred to the alleged smuggling of a Libyan Jew from Wheelus to Malta Sept. 23 and charged a car was seen at the Wheelus gate two days later transporting seven sniper rifles and pistols.

A Tripoli Radio broadcast monitored in Damascus said Libyan troops were searching incoming and outgoing cars at Wheelus and Libyan customs and emigration officials were stationed at the base to make sure no illegal passengers or cargo was on incoming or outgoing planes.

The Libyan government said the committees were placed inside the base following "urgent" contacts with American embassy officials.

Earlier it was erroneously reported that incoming and outgoing planes were being searched. But the broadcast later elaborated, explaining that only cars were being subjected to military search.

Death Gun Traced In Chrisco Trial

By JEAN FANNIN

A Kansas City nightclub entertainer testified to selling the .45 caliber gun identified as the weapon used to kill A. D. Blount, local petshop owner, last December to Rae Bourbon.

The testimony highlighted the murder trial of Bobby Eugene Chrisco, 23, which began Saturday at 9 a.m. in 118th District Court.

Bourbon is under indictment as an accomplice to the murder.

R. H. Hanson, the entertainer, said Bourbon asked where he could get a .38 caliber snub-nosed gun, and Hanson subsequently sold Bourbon the .45 Colt Commander.

Hanson said he traded for the Colt Commander with a Kansas City police detective. Both Hanson and the detective are gun collectors.

Jim Theisen, the detective, testified to trading the gun to Hanson, and also told the court he had seen Chrisco several times in Kansas City nightspots. Theisen placed Bourbon and Bobbie Randal Crain, 22, under arrest Dec. 18, 1968. Crain and Chrisco are under indictment for murder with malice.

Two other Kansas City detectives testified to seeing Bourbon and Crain together in the nightclub in which Bourbon was employed as a comedian. One of the detectives said he had seen Chrisco and Crain together on several occasions.

John T. Arms, a pipefitter from Snyder, told the court he found the gun in a barrow ditch alongside SH 158, which intersects with US 87 a few miles south of the Pet-A-Zoo where Blount was shot.

Arms said he showed the gun to fellow workers and they fired it twice during the day. He said he found the gun between 9:15 and 9:30 a.m. Dec. 10, but did not turn the weapon over to authorities until about 7 p.m., when he heard Howard County Sheriff's officers were searching for a similar gun.

Arms gave the gun and ammunition to Scurry County Deputy Sheriff M. L. Chandler, who handed the gun over to Sheriff A. N. Standard, Howard County.

Standard testified to investigations at the Pet-A-Zoo, and identified a bullet and cartridge shell found at the scene.

Noted Defense Attorney Due To Help Former Commander

SAIGON (AP) — Edward Bennett Williams, the famed Washington criminal lawyer, is due in Saigon Sunday to take charge of the defense of Col. Robert B. Rheault, charged with five other Green Beret officers in the slaying of a suspected Vietnamese double agent.

Word of Williams' impending arrival followed by several hours the Army's release of detailed charges against the Special Forces officers.

The Army documents identified Capt. Robert F. Marasco, 27, of Bloomfield, N.J., as the trigger man in the June 20 shooting of the Vietnamese agent, Thai Khac Chuyen.

In messages to his wife and parents in New Jersey, Marasco said the charges "do not constitute the truth."

Marasco rose through the ranks from private to captain in about three years and went to Vietnam in 1968. Twice he extended his tour of duty over his wife's objections "because he doesn't believe the job has been finished over here," said his military attorney, Capt. Thomas Young.

Marasco, winner of three Bronze Stars, the Gallant Cross and the Combat Air Medal, faces a court-martial Oct. 20 with two fellow Green Beret captains, Budge E. Williams, 27, Athens, Ga., and Leland J. Brumley, 27, Duncan, Okla.

Defense lawyers may press for a delay of the trial but the verdict is expected to be a factor in whether Rheault, 43, Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of all Green Berets in Vietnam; and Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 29, Jefferson, S.C., and David E. Crew, 33, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, face a subsequent court-martial. Army sources have said the charges against Rheault, Middleton and Crew may be dropped if the captains are acquitted.

All six officers are charged with murder and conspiracy, although Rheault, Crew and Middleton had no part in the actual slaying, according to the Army documents released Saturday.

Graves Of 250 Hue Civilians Found In Hills

VUNG TAU, Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu indicated Saturday he would go along with more American troop withdrawals next year but said pullout of all U.S. forces still is "years and years" away.

"Replacement of troops is not a one-year problem, it's a problem of years and years," the South Vietnamese leader said. "Certainly we are not so far improved that we can replace all your heavy artillery, electronic equipment, your powerful aviation, your powerful Navy."

"But I do think it is very reasonable to replace the bulk of your infantry if you provide us enough equipment, funds and material for strengthening and modernizing Vietnamese troops at the present scale, the same rate, this same speed."

Thieu said that, if "President Nixon tells me very plainly that he has very heavy pressure from U.S. opinion and has to replace more troops, I would say: 'All right, all right, Mr. Nixon, you can withdraw. Give me a number . . . and if you help me adequately, all right—you have your pressure to take care of too.'"

Thieu did not say how many American troops he thought could be withdrawn next year. Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said last week 150,000 to 200,000 U.S. troops could be pulled out of the war by the end of 1970. The withdrawals ordered by President Nixon of 6,000 troops by mid-December will cut the authorized ceiling of American forces in Vietnam to 484,000.

Thieu made his remarks at a news conference in the Vung Tau seaside resort 40 miles southeast of Saigon. He came here to address village officials attending a government training school.

Elsewhere, there were these developments:

—The U.S. Command reported that American battlefield deaths so far this year totaled 8,185—a 33 per cent decrease from a corresponding 38-week period in 1968. This is an average of 215 deaths a week. Last year 12,214 Americans were killed during that period, or an average of 321 deaths a week.

—Military spokesmen said the graves of another 250 Hue civilians, massacred during the 1968 Tet offensive, were found a week ago in foothills south of the former imperial capital. Many victims had crushed skulls and others had been shot. Last spring 850 civilian bodies were found in two other mass graves. There are 1,000 more Hue civilians unaccounted for.

—B52 bombers kept up round-the-clock raids on North Vietnamese bases along the Cambodian border, dropping up to 1,200 tons of explosives on supply and staging areas and infiltration routes. Ground action was light.

In his news conference Thieu said he would ask Nixon before the end of the year for a specific figure on proposed U.S. troop reductions for 1970.

United Fund Gains $2,000

The United Fund rose more than $2,000 Friday as the campaign reached a total of $30,463.84. Both Webb AFB and the VA Hospital reported in with big amounts.

A noon meeting has again been scheduled Monday at the Holiday Inn to hear reports from all division chairmen. A similar meeting scheduled for this past Monday had to be cancelled because of the call for jurors for the Chrisco trial.

Division chairmen are Paul Meek (out of town), Roger Brown (big gifts), Morris Robertson (special), Louis McKnight (metropolitan), Ken Perry (employee), Lt. Col. Ernest C. Cutler (Webb AFB), Erven Fisher (state and federal employees), Larson Lloyd (town and country), and Mrs. Garner McAdams and Mrs. Harold Davis (women). Clyde McMahon Jr. is president of the United Fund this year, and Harry Sawyer is campaign chairman.

Urban Affairs Chief Named

HOUSTON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes appointed state Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston Saturday as chairman of the new Urban Affairs Committee authorized by a resolution during the latest legislative session.

Barnes said the "government of the state of Texas must become part of the 20th century. I hope this committee will prevent Texas from making the same mistakes made by cities along the East Coast."

"Any problems affecting urban life should be reviewed by this committee," he said. "When the legislature meets in 1971, the committee should be ready to offer specific suggestions to improve the life of the large majority of Texans who live in cities and to eliminate the problems that make cities ugly and unpleasant."

Barnes said he would appear before a Senate committee in Washington, D.C., to appeal for continuation of the 27½ per cent depletion allowance for the oil and gas industries.

"Any tax reform that alters the depletion allowance will affect the revenue of the state of Texas," said Barnes.

Senator Jordan said committee members would be named next week.

House Probe Panel Picked

AUSTIN (AP)—Speaker Gus Mutscher announced Saturday the appointment of a five-member House General Investigating Committee.

Appointed were Reps. William Braecklein, Dallas; R. H. Cory, Victoria; Grant Jones, Abilene; Charles Jungmichel, La Grange; and Menton J. Murray, Harlingen.

The committee was created by a resolution adopted during the regular session last spring. It has authority to initiate and continue any and all inquiries and hearings into matters pertaining to state government, including its various units and departmental personnel.

Otischalk Post Office Is Being Discontinued

The Otischalk post office is being discontinued effective Sept. 30, and its postmaster, Mrs. Nola F. Story, will become officer in charge of the Forsan post office.

The Forsan office has been in charge of Eddie Engle assigned from the Big Spring post office during the interim that the office has been without a postmaster. Mrs. Story was advised.

1st Lt. PAUL E. MOORE

First Lt. Paul E. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne C. Moore, Sterling City Route, is due to arrive at the William Beaumont Hospital in El Paso in the early part of October.

Lt. Moore was injured in the latter part of August while serving with C Battery of the Fourth Battalion, 60th Artillery, in Vietnam. He was taken to a hospital in Tokyo, Japan, where he received extensive skin grafts on his back and was treated for a broken wrist and shoulder. He will continue treatment and convalescence at El Paso.

Lt. Moore is a graduate of Forsan High School, Howard County Junior College, and Texas Tech College, where he earned a degree in government and history. He entered the Army in August, 1967, and received his commission from Officer Candidate School in Fort Sill, Okla., in July, 1968. He was stationed at Fort Bliss for one year before leaving for Vietnam.

Lt. Moore's wife, the former Carol Sue Duncan, lived in Big Spring before moving to El Paso.

UNDER NEW CODE Juveniles Get Adult Rights

A new Texas juvenile law, passed in May, now makes it mandatory for every young person who goes through formal juvenile court proceedings to be represented by an attorney and afforded all the rights, privileges, and protections that would be given to an adult in court.

Juvenile Officer Keith Jones said the treating of juveniles like adults is a trend all over the nation. He cited revision currently underway in Austin of the Texas juvenile code.

"But," he added, "we are still treating the cases as civil not criminal. We want to remain as informal as possible for the child's sake."

Jones explained that the new law will actually have little effect in Howard County because only about four juvenile cases a year ever go through formal proceedings.

"A formal proceeding is when an actual court petition has been filed. We have little action like that here, Howard County has mostly good kids and good people."

He said the county has done a good job in backing up his contention that a child who has gone astray should be given first the opportunity to reform in his local surroundings. He said he dislikes sending children to a controlled environment in an institution.

He said there are extreme cases which require formal reprimands but very few in the local area.

"Local influence works the best," he said. "I work with and for the kids, not as another parent or guardian."

Wet Texas Fields Trigger Concern

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Wet and soggy fields and cool weather caused concern last week in many Texas farming areas which just recently were crying for rain.

Scattered light to heavy rains over far West Texas have greatly improved dryland crops and ranges. Cotton has been slowed a little. Livestock are in good condition; sheep and goats are being sheared; lambs and calves are being marketed; and ranch labor is short.

Moisture over West Central Texas is now fully adequate in all except Irion and Mason counties. Grains are making good growth and army worms are causing some damage. Peanut prospects declined due to disease and insect damage. Some hay will be harvested before frost. Pastures were in excellent condition with grass growth good. Livestock are in fine shape.

Most of Central Texas has adequate moisture and oat planting is active. Cotton and peanut harvesting have been delayed by showers. Pecan prospects were only fair. Livestock conditions are generally good. Rains in South Texas were heaviest in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Elsewhere in the district, soil moisture ranges from adequate to short. Beets, cabbage, carrots and cucumbers are making good growth. Most ranges are in fair condition and could use more rain. Livestock were in fair to good condition with normal marketings. Farm labor is adequate.

Over-all, Hutchison said, the livestock and range situation shapes up well. With moisture, range plants are making fast recovery, grazing prospects are improving, and livestock are in fair to good condition.

Army worms were a growing threat to early grains and recovering ranges.

District agents at midweek reported these conditions:

Continuing cloudy, wet weather over the South Plains (Lubbock) is delaying cotton maturity and causing some regrowth. Grain sorghum and corn harvests are being delayed. Army worms are reducing stands of early wheat. Ranges improved and considerable grain acreage will be planted in some areas as fields dry.

Rains have been heavy in parts of the Rolling Plains (Vernon) and 19 of the 22 counties have adequate soil moisture. Grain planting is on and army worms infestations are heavy. Boll weevils and bollworms are numerous in at least eight counties.

Texas' Retail Boom Is Slowing Down Bit

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' retail boom is showing signs of slowing down, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

When adjusted for normal seasonal changes, August sales in Texas decreased 2 per cent from July, durable goods sales dropped 4 per cent and nondurable goods held steady.

Nationally, sales increased 1 per cent in August.

Texas sales also were down 1 per cent from August 1968, while nationwide there was no gain.

"Regardless of cause, conservatism seems to be in vogue at the present time," wrote Constance Coode, statistical assistant.

Sales by furniture and household appliance stores dropped 15 per cent; lumber, building material and hardware dealers reported their sales were off 5 per cent, and automotive stores suffered a dip of 2 per cent in August.

The decline in lumber, building material and hardware sales is largely due to decreased sales to contractors "as the tight money policy begins to slow building activity in Texas," the report said.

Compared with August 1968, automotive sales are down 8 per cent, furniture and appliances down 6 per cent and lumber, building material and hardware sales also down 6 per cent.

Tolands Leave Saturday On Long Tour Of Germany

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Toland will leave Saturday on a dream trip that will afford him a closeup of how Volkswagens are put together.

They will be one of 70 couples making the 29th dealer tour to Germany, leaving by chartered flight from Chicago the evening of Oct. 7.

While they will get an extensive tour of Germany, Toland will be briefed at numerous factories for Volkswagen parts and supplies as well as assembly on how the cars are manufactured.

Their first stop will be at Hanover, from whence they go to Wolfsburg factory, thence to Maschegastatten, Berlin East, Berlin, Munich, Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Frankfurt, Cologne, Hamburg, from whence the dealers will depart Oct. 19 for Chicago. There will be numerous side tours, including one on the Rhine at Cologne.

The trip is in keeping with the manufacturer's policy of schooling dealers in the makeup of the product.

"The outlook for the last quarter of 1969 is still doubtful," the bureau said. "The economy did slow in August, but whether this is indicative of performance during the next four months is the question. Continued tight money, extension of the surcharge, high interest rates and the cutback in federal spending for construction are all factors involved in the deflation of the economy. Yet the psychological element in the inflationary period where the consumer is still accustomed to easy credit should not be overlooked as a reverse factor."

TEXAS TAXES-1

New Rates, Old Problems For 'Poor' Working Man

(Editors: Texas taxes are higher Oct. 1. The state revenue increase follows federal and local tax hikes. Federal, state and local debt is more than ever before. Complaints over ever-increasing taxes are louder than ever. Where are we now? Taxpayers: Where are we going? The Associated Press considers these problems in a series of Texas, new taxes and its old tax problems.)

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas taxpayers, grumbling louder than ever, reach deep in their pockets Oct. 1 for a $360 million increase in state and city taxes.

They know this is not the end of new revenue demands. The tax increases—built mostly around expansion of the state sales tax, increased cigarette taxes and a new way of figuring the corporation franchise tax—follow by a few days the anti-climatic announcement that the cost of living is up again. Goods and services that cost Texans $11.37 a year ago cost $12.12 in August.

The state tax hike with a built-in increase for city sales taxes, follows the extension of the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge that hurt so badly when Texans figured their income taxes last April.

There is a good possibility some elements of the Texas economy will have to pay even more federal taxes, next year. The state tax hike follows the decision by many cities and local governmental bodies that property taxes must be increased again and the public credit pledged further in bond issues.

Temperatures have cooled somewhat a few weeks ago the debate over who and what to tap for the new taxes came closer to causing a "taxpayers revolt" than any legislative action since the Texas sales tax began in 1961. WONDER, WORRY Many legislators—particularly the 15 senators who cast one effective vote favoring a sales tax on food—still wonder and worry if the "revolt" will subside before their re-election campaigns in the spring of 1970.

Voters' memories of the bitter legislative wrangling, including several cuss fights and near fistfights, may be revived when they start paying the new taxes. Here's how the new taxes will affect Texans directly Oct. 1:

—Any retail purchase that now has a 3 per cent state sales tax will have a 3.25 per cent sales tax. In areas with a one per cent city sales tax, which includes most of Texas' population, the new combined state-city sales tax will be 4.5 per cent.

—Retail purchases of beer, wine and liquor will be subject to a 3.25 or 4.25 sales tax, paid by the consumer, in addition to the current excise taxes paid by the wholesalers. In private clubs or aboard airlines over Texas, a new 5 cents per serving tax must be paid for each mixed drink, glass of wine or beer.

SMOKERS —Smokers will pay an extra 4.5 cents state cigarette tax, up from 11 to 15.5 cents a pack. Indirectly, all Texans will be paying still other new taxes because of a change in the rate and the way of figuring corporation franchise taxes and an increase in the natural gas production tax.

Contesting senators and representatives, goaded by ambitious state officials, made much during the recent legislative session of the proportion of "business" and "consumer" taxes. At the same time one and all admitted that the consumer ultimately pays for all taxes.

—Corporations don't pay taxes. Individuals pay taxes, was the saying repeated over and over. The franchise tax increase includes an added 50 cents per $1,000 of taxable capital for three years with a permanent increase of 25 cents. A new formula would include sales made to Texas customers from outside the state, not just intrastate sales.

GAS TAX

The natural gas production tax, paid primarily by the pipeline companies that serve city distribution systems who collect from consumer businesses and individuals, would be increased from 7 to 7.5 per cent of value at the well.

All the new taxes, direct and indirect, are expected to furnish $348 million the next two years to balance the state's budget and keep Texas on the pay-as-you-go basis as required by the Constitution. Cities that have adopted the one cent local sales tax expect to benefit by another $12 million, principally by expanding the sales tax to cover beer and liquor.

The Texas Research League estimates the one-quarter per cent increase in the sales tax will mean that a so-called typical Texas family of four, with an income of about $3,000, will have an added state tax cost of $6 a year, or a total of $103 paid for combined state-city sales taxes.

TIPPLERS TACKLE

The privately financed research organization estimates the new beer and liquor taxes will average more than $2 per family—with plenty of steady tipplers to keep up the average for prohibition families.

The family that smokes a pack a day of cigarettes will pay $16 more in state taxes. All of these increases will be added to the federal, state and local tax burden that has increased steadily since World War II, particularly the past decade.

The Texas Foundation Inc., which publishes tax statistics and preaches economy in government, says that each American family has a $3,927 share of the total federal, state and local government taxes paid by all businesses and individuals. But it is not that simple.

Per capita statistics on federal taxes are hard to come by, and depend mostly on the income or profit involved not just the number of taxpayers.

Census reports estimate Texas' 11 million residents paid an average of $131.06 in state taxes per person in 1968. That does not include local taxes, which are made up largely of property taxes.

Comparisons of tax payments by the Southern Regional Education Board indicate the per capita payment of both state and local taxes in Texas was about $229 in 1967, the last available reporting year. This is up 39.6 per cent from the $164 per capita of 1961.

However, the report estimates the ratio of state and local taxes paid per $1,000 personal income was $83 in 1967 which would make that $10,000 annual income family pay a total of $830 in state and local taxes—plus federal levies.

THE OUTLOOK

What's the outlook after Texans get accustomed to the Oct. 1 raises? State officials estimate the 1971 legislature will face a need for $100 million to $200 million in still other new taxes.

Almost every city and county in the state is thinking about a tax increase or a new bond issue. Congress is deep in tax revision debate. When former Gov. John Connally made his last speech to the 1969 legislature that created the Oct. 1 tax increases, he sketched the apparent philosophy of the times.

"The requests for public funds sometimes seem unending," Connally said. "The appetite of government may appear insatiable, and yet the growth in demand for governmental services is the inevitable byproduct of a vibrant and growing state. To give all that is asked is extravagance, but to provide less

Dear Sir,

I just wanted to write you a short note expressing the fact that I have no objection to the astronauts of the future being granted the right to read aloud from the HOLY BIBLE while in the midst of a space mission.

It is my opinion that to deny this privilege would be a direct conflict with our democratic way of life. Rather than continue to negate a means of spiritual inspiration in the area of public life we would hope for the basic freedom for each individual to worship if he chooses.

Thank you for considering this letter.

It's a tossup whether the band or the Steer football team was the sharper Friday night, and that's a credit to both. The band put on its usual massive and impressive half-time show, and the football team did pretty much as it wanted with Ector. The offensive blocking and running was convincing, and at times brilliant; the defensive platoon was stingy and tough. If the Steers' passing game shapes up, they'll have to be reckoned with before the district title is decided.

College Baptist Church has launched its major building project for addition of an educational wing. The work will cost well over $80,000 when all is figured in. Since it was formed as a church in 1955, the church has a record of adding to the plant on the average of once every two years.

Big Spring will host the state meeting of State Hospital Volunteers Council—the first time in several years—here Friday and Saturday. It's important enough that Gov. Preston Smith will come here to address the opening banquet Friday evening.

Autumn came officially Tuesday morning and Wednesday turned in a 59-degree minimum just to nail it down. Those who contend that fall is the best time of the year certainly had some perfect days to prove it.

Our community was privileged to have Garrett Morris, member of the Texas Highway Commission, as speaker at a Texas Highway Week observance. He sounded once anew the need to resist appeals to divert road use taxes from their intended purpose—highway development.

The results of a soil survey of Howard County will be Cosden launched its new safety campaign last week by recognizing those who have worked for the company for 25 years without a lost time accident. It is remarkable that there are 62 qualifying for the company's new Gold Hat, or six out of every seven quarter-century men still active.

Tests from Alamogordo, N.M., are beginning to make our people celestial observers. Thursday night a high-altitude experimental balloon shown brilliantly, and it was still around Friday morning. That rattler killed by Noel Lester last week on is placed north of town should qualify as the grandfather of all rattlers until something bigger comes along. It measured over six feet long, 10 inches around, and had 18 rattlers left after part of the string was blown off by a shotgun charge. The snake killed the family dog, Prissy, which bit. Why, he could have swallowed the dog!

The Moon Was Never Like This

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP) — Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong's face was smeared with lipstick marks as he emerged from a cheering throng of 5,000 employees at the North American Rockwell plant.

Armstrong and fellow Apollo 11 astronaut Michael Collins thanked the employees Friday for building the spacecraft which rocketed them to the moon.

Helbig Joins Bank Staff

Herb Helbig, a former agricultural extension agent in Howard County, has been named a trust officer by the Corpus Christi National Bank of Corpus Christi. He will be connected with the department's farm and ranch division.

Helbig, 37, a native of Uvalde County, was graduated from Texas A&M University in 1954 with a Bachelor of Science degree in animal husbandry. He remained with the university in various capacities until 1969, his most recent assignment having been as an agricultural development advisor to the Dominican Republic. From 1954 to 1966 he was with the university's agricultural extension division as a county agricultural extension agent in Lamb, Coleman and Howard counties. During this period he had a two year leave for military service.

Helbig's service in the Dominican Republic involved agricultural development, both as to supplying technical help and advisory assistance to the national government in field crop and livestock production program.

Lose 10 Lbs. In 10 Days On New Grapefruit Diet

This is the revolutionary new grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S. and Canada. Word of its success has spread like wildfire, because this is the one diet that really seems to work for most overweight people. A well known Toronto columnist recently praised it to the skies. He reported losing 20 pounds quickly and easily long after he despaired of ever getting down to his wartime weight of 145 pounds. All this without cutting out the occasional beer or bite if it is followed exactly the average overweight person should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop five pounds on the fifth day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the tenth day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all there should be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly forbidden. Such as big steaks trimmed with fat, Southern fried chicken, rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobsters swimming in butter, bacon, fats, soups and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you can't possibly eat any more. And still you should lose 10 pounds in the first 10 days, plus 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "Quick weight loss" is not generally known. Fat, it has been theorized, does not form fat. Perhaps fat fights fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet might act as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted foods listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and blood are gone you will cease to lose weight, and your weight will remain controlled. A copy of this new and startling successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $3 to The Unconditional money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost seven pounds in the first seven days, another six pounds in the next seven days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $3 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to begin the trim attractive figure of your youth, while still enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners. Order now before others snap up the limited supply.

Come in and kick my tires. When you bounce your foot off the tires of an American Motors' car, you'll also have a chance to bounce your eyes off the body.

Which is some treat. Especially if it's the new Javelin, the hot sporty car that's high on sex appeal and low on price.

We've got the new Ambassador, too. The SST 4-door sedan comes with standard air-conditioning, and optional velvet velour seats, just like a limousine. Except a lot less expensive.

Maybe the most kickable tires of all are on the Rebel. In fact, the whole Rebel is kickable. It's the family car that dared to cross the treacherous Baja Peninsula—and survived.

Then there's the Rambler. It's the car that made American Motors' reputation as a maker of tight-fisted compacts.

The AMX, though, is the car that's unnaking that reputation. Because, while it is tough and little, it's also one of the flashiest two-seater sports cars around.

All in all, we've got a great line-up of new cars. You can kick our tires all you want, but you won't find anything else to kick about.

This week they will work on Tuesday and Thursday, and the following week, the last of the campaign, they will work on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. They started their job this past Monday.

Another 53 employees at the hospital turned in contributions to the United Fund this past week, which added to the 47

Will Propose New Laws For Consumer Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration will recommend consumer protection laws aimed at some "gray areas" that are now legal but of questionable ethics.

Mrs. Knauer, the President's top aide on consumer matters, didn't go into detail on the proposals. But she said, in a speech prepared for a meeting of the National Federation of Republican Women, "you'll be hearing more later this year" from Nixon on this matter.

She said some of "gray areas" concern what the consumer isn't told. "Here we find tactics which are legal," she explained, "but the question is, are they honest? There is no question on one subject. The individual hurts."

An example, she said, concerns clothing or health aids advertised with the slogan "money back guarantee." She added, "What the ads don't tell you is that you can't get your money back if you wear the items. State law prohibits refunds for items which are worn against the skin."

Super-Rare Gift

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — The Nolan County Museum has received a rare gift from W. E. Kirkpatrick, local American Express agent. It is so rare no one, including Kirkpatrick, knows just what it is.

originally used for Kirkpatrick speculates, however, that it is a portable hitching post which was used to hitch teams at stops along routes.

She said just 33 states have consumer protection offices and "many of these do not have adequate staff or adequate funding. At the request of the National Association of Attorneys General, we are codifying all the state laws so that states can look at what other areas are doing and adopt whatever laws would apply to their local needs."

She said it is hoped that published material will be made available so the poor, aged and undereducated can "know how to protect themselves against the parasites that prey on the unsuspecting."

Mrs. Knauer also said federal court class action by consumers also would be promoted under legislation being drafted by her office, allowing consumers to unite against those who attempt to mislead buyers. She noted some actions and proposals by Nixon aimed at bringing inflation under control.

CHAPLAIN ROBERT T. DEMING

Chaplain Deming Leaves Soon For Thailand Post

After three years and two months as the base's wing chaplain, Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert T. Deming departs Webb Oct. 12 for a similar assignment at Don Muang Royal Thai Air Force Base, Bangkok, Thailand. The soft-spoken, industrious chaplain, who has seen 23 undergraduate pilot training classes receive wings here, has been active on base as well as involved in various community activities.

As wing chaplain, he had over-all responsibility for the religious activities of all faiths. He was on the wing commander's staff and a member of the base-community council.

Chaplain Deming organized the first student weekend conference at Webb, initiated the chaplain's column in the base newspaper, coordinated clergy days, set up community-wide Thanksgiving Day services, and conducted student pilot religious discussion groups. He also was vice president and then president of the Howard County Ministers' Fellowship and was chairman of the Explorer post committee.

So outstanding was the chaplain's work here that the base nominated him for the Robert P. Taylor award in 1968. (The recipient merits the title of most outstanding base chaplain in the Air Force.)

"Webb has been more like a hometown to me and my family than any place we have ever lived both in military and civilian life," Chaplain Deming said.

"In terms of mission and chaplain's relationship to the mission," Chaplain Deming continued, "an undergraduate pilot training center is one of the most challenging and exciting assignments a chaplain can have. The student-pilot is fresh from the university and both open and receptive to the chaplain's ministry."

Chaplain Deming's newest assignment will be with the 831st Combat Support Group at Don Muang, known as the aerial gateway to Thailand.

Prior to Webb, Chaplain Deming served at Athens, Greece, Selfridge AFB, Mich., Lakenheath, England, and Forbes AFB, Kan.

He put in three years as a navigator before entering the chaplaincy 16½ years ago. He is a Presbyterian minister who holds degrees from Princeton University and Princeton Theological Seminary, both in New Jersey.

Chaplain Deming is from Elizabeth, N.J. His wife, the former Alice Webster, is a native of Zanesville, Ohio and once served as a Marine Corps chaplain's assistant. Mrs. Deming and three of the family's five children will accompany the chaplain to Thailand. One son and daughter will remain in the United States to continue studies at Texas universities.

Teller Lauds Water Plan, Says Nuclear Blast May Aid

LUBBOCK — Edward Teller told a West Texas audience Friday that importation of Mississippi water is a "very cheap" solution to the area's water problem, a plan "you can't beat."

He also proposed that the best solution for use of the world's arid and semi-arid lands is to move advanced industry there and to live where it's sunny.

Dr. Teller, one of the world's leading nuclear physicists, shared the opening session of an international symposium with Victor McFarlane of Waite Institute in Adelaide, South Australia, and Peter H. Wyckoff, program director for weather modification of the National Science Foundation.

The two-day Third International Symposium was sponsored by the Texas Tech International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies. President Grover E. Murray of Texas Tech introduced the speakers.

Dr. Teller spoke of water importation costs, of water catchment, reservoirs which nuclear explosions might provide, of desalination processes, and then he said: "I'd rather do research in a sunny place than a place where it rains."

"When energy is cheap, and air conditioning is cheap, the arid areas of the world probably will be best for people to live in."

He said that nuclear energy could help bring this situation about.

Dr. Teller said nuclear explosions could be used for deep underground mining operations, adding that "these deep deposits, I believe, will be found under these arid surfaces."

He said these also could be used for "geographical engineering" or landscaping on a massive scale — to build valleys, passes, and large catchments for water — for big engineering works.

Dr. Teller also said, of desalination, that he preferred the idea of a chemical scheme rather than evaporation schemes — using a chemical process to desalinate water and then "getting rid of the chemical in a second operation."

He also proposed, as not yet feasible but perhaps possible in the future, using an immense nuclear explosion, "deeper than the recent one at Grand Junction, Colo.," at a spot on the earth where there would be great geo-thermal heat. Water might be pumped down and heated under pressure at high temperatures underground and the vapor brought to the surface for desalinated water.

The advantage over surface desalination by evaporation, he said, would be in the automatic breaking of the water bonds.

Teller referred to his lecture at Texas Tech three years ago, referring again to the "Texas size budget" of $10 billion for 500 million acre-feet of water.

"This is very cheap," he said, "for an investment of only $20 to get an acre-foot of water each."

Dr. McFarlane touched on a protein disparity which sees 60-80 grams per day of animal protein in the United States against eight grams per day for Africans. This is a world-wide availability of 26 grams per day, which is sufficient.

Lack of protein is reflected in infant mortality four times higher in South America, Africa, India than in high protein countries. He called for research on more efficient animals such as the camel and gazelle for low-rainfall areas and for governing pasture usage to water availability.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although many people may be determined to have their own way rather than compromise, you should not have that attitude. If you want to get along well, keep your charm. Make your demands with a tactful approach.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You must be careful now. You are planning nothing that could jeopardize your present security. Be sympathetic toward those who do not have your attitude. Try to be helpful.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Try not to force others to do things your way. You can cooperate and still have a good time. Use interesting tactics to win a friend or your side of a discussion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Instead of worrying over your problems, consider those who are in a far worse position and count your blessings. Try to be of assistance if you can. Think objectively tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can't depend on your friend today since his, or her time is devoted to own problems. Although your desires seem unobtainable, they are within reach if you study yourself. Be tactful.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try not to annoy one in charge of your affairs just because you feel out of sorts. Any foolish action today could jeopardize your reputation. Be tactful.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen to the advice of wise elders. Try to understand that the radio's advice is only a suggestion. Do not pick on others just for the fun of it. Be polite.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take care of your responsibilities correctly. Don't give in to the temptation to argue with your mate. You will only feel bad about it later. Take care of your health.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't take up time asking for sympathy. Try to find solutions to do your favors. Discover the way to be independent. Find the right associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to give assistance to a co-worker who may be in some kind of trouble today. Do not pick on others just for the fun of it. Be polite.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) It's time to seek pleasure today, but be careful not to spend too much money. Be friendly and more understanding. Try not to say anything that would make trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Concentrate on the fundamental business of living. Stay on the conservative side. Do the necessary studying to elevate your position in life. Let others know that you have social poise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Plan to see people who, although quite busy, would be delighted to spend a few happy hours together. If you are asked a favor, be tactful. Stick to the point.

MONDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Be honest and correct in all business dealings. Most people who are looking for short cuts to success and financial security will use charm in some situations. Don't argue. Drive carefully.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Stay out of the power struggle or you will lose out with associates and helpers. Keep busy at your own affairs. You can win if you get in fine physical condition.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have gotten yourself into some kind of trouble that keeps you from working efficiently, so resolve it immediately. Put to work a new contact's fine idea.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Clear up those annoying situations instead of doing off on a tangent. Forget new outlets for a moment. You will feel much better after you have paid your bills.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Those who are interested in helping you with a big project should be contacted today. However, your associates are not on good terms with one person. Get set for action and prosperity.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) For a smooth beginning, spend some time with your new partners. Instead of going ahead with your regular work, get information from any new source.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do your self a favor and have some fun. Don't permit yourself to be fooled into earning more money unethically. Avoid the evening before making wise plans.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make sure you don't take the bait and get in an argument with a moody person at home. Show consideration for your family. Make the changes that will increase your position in life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to communicate freely with your partners today. Show your gratitude to one who assists you in your daily routines. Keep this person happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can't make headway today in that new activity, so enjoy a little recreation. Forget finances. Spend a fine evening at home with one you love.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This is one of those days when you will be asked by your boss to do something difficult or confidential. Show your ability. Whatever you do, make you happy tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you want to straighten out that situation at home, change your attitude. Listen to advice from an admirer.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) The suggestion of a good friend can be just what you need. Experts may be grumpy now and cannot be trusted. Go to the party tonight with someone who can be trusted.

SACROC Asks Bigger Flow

A hearing has been set in Austin Oct. 7 on the application of the SACROC repressuring unit in Scurry County for increase in allowable to justify extension expansion of the system.

SACROC is asking for the daily allowable to be increased from 174,210 barrels to 209,124 barrels in order to justify extremely heavy expenditures for expanding the secondary recovery program. Engineers estimate that the step would result in recovery of an additional 156,000,000 barrels of oil from the fields. SACROC also gave notice that it likely would ask for another increase in the second phase of the proposed expansion.

Tentative estimates are that the stepped up operation would call for approximately 1,000,000 gallons more water per day in addition for repressuring.

Udall Says He Erred In Permit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall says he made a serious mistake in following the advice of his scientific advisers and approving oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

Looking back at the oil leak in the channel, Udall said Friday he now believes it would have been wiser to declare the area an oil reserve and ban drilling for the indefinite future.

Nixon's Oil Depletion Stand Botched By Aide

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Friday, "I think they're out to James N. Allison Jr., deputy fire him (Walker) and you can chairman of the national GOP, said Saturday that Treasury undersecretary Charles E. Walker botched the job of making President Nixon's position clear on the oil depletion allowance. But Allison held out little hope that the allowable would be retained at its present 27 1/2 per cent.

Allison returned home for a speech Saturday night in the city where his father, James N. Allison Sr., is president and publisher of the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

Allison said in an interview that Walker "has carried the ball for the Treasury Department on the tax reform bill."

Turning to another topic, Allison said, "If I were guessing, I would say that George Bush will run for the Senate next year."

Allison said he believes Nixon has made "significant initial progress" on the war in Vietnam.

As far as domestic problems go, Allison said, "You can't move too fast when you are a good, hard look at the race."

Allison said he believes newly named Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania will be a good minority leader.

"Although many would have liked to see a younger man in the job, Sen. Scott is a good party man. He has one unique quality — while many senators do not agree with him philosophically, they still will be able to work with him. He is a very easy man to work with."

Allison said a survey commissioned by the party to see how Republican officials around the country feel about Nixon's progress to date shows "the party people seem generally pleased with the President's progress on the major problems such as the war in Vietnam and inflation."

He added that in national polls, President Nixon has consistently shown a 65 per cent favorable rate.

New Cub Pack At Midway Gets Charter

Presentation of the charter highlighted the meeting of Cub Pack 236 Thursday evening at Midway school.

Johnny Wright, neighborhood commissioner, presented the charter to representatives of the Stanton Lions Club at the pack meeting Thursday at Midway school.

Bob Roever, cubmaster, and Kenneth Scott, award chairman, welcomed 14 new boys into the pack and gave them their Bobcat pins and Wolf books.

The pack is sponsoring a Halloween carnival Oct. 28 at 6:30 p.m. at the school. Another activity scheduled is a bicycle outing Oct. 11.

Numerous awards were made at the meeting, including the Bobcat pins to Jeff Christ, Ricky Halmark, Keith Kohank, Clinton Smith, Randy Wallace, Clifford Balzer, Charles Brown, Ronnie Hayes, Carlos Hernandez, Thomas Hernandez, Gary Hulme, Jay Phinney, Jerry Sloan and Jay Shaw.

James Herm, Webelos leader, presented Salvador Hernandez with a Bobcat pin and Webelos book. Kevin Herm received his artist badge and three-year service star. Tommy Scott and Don Hanson received two-year service stars.

Peace Timetable Will Bind GOP?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon appears to be binding the Republican future to a settlement of the war in Vietnam — or a major stride in that direction — within the next 13 months.

That is the impact of the 1970 timetable for peace the President has suggested in rebuttal to rising criticism of his Vietnam policy.

For, in little more than 13 months, Americans will go to the polls to elect 34 senators and a new House of Representatives.

And if the GOP is unable to win Senate control next year, the odds increase that Nixon, throughout his presidency, will face Democratic majorities in Congress.

The reason: simple arithmetic.

In 1970, Democrats put 25 Senate seats up for election, Republicans only nine. A net gain of seven seats would give the GOP effective control of the Senate.

In the succeeding elections, which will shape the Senate through 1976, Republicans will have no such advantage.

Nixon's announced goal of a Vietnam settlement before the end of 1970, or the fiddle of 1971, will begin falling due amid the congressional campaigning next year.

The President declared on May 14 that he intends to keep his pledge to end the war in a fashion that will enhance the chances of lasting peace.

"If I fail to do so, I expect the American people to hold me accountable for that failure," he said.

The President said on June 19 he hopes to have U.S. ground combat troops out of Vietnam before the end of 1970.

Then, on Friday, he sounded this appeal for a united front of support for his current policies:

"Once the enemy recognizes that it is not going to win its objectives by waiting us out, then the enemy will negotiate and we will end this war before the end of 1970."

of 1970." Rejecting suggestions that Congress set a deadline for U.S. withdrawal, Nixon said that "destroys any chance to reach the objective that I am trying to achieve of ending the war before the end of 1970 or before the middle of 1971."

In the Senate some members of both parties are seeking a speedup of U.S. withdrawal.

WE MAY BE OLD FASHIONED, BUT I

We do believe that most people still appreciate that special kind of service that today might be called "old-fashioned." We don't think it is corny to greet a customer with a smile and a friendly word. We don't think it's wrong to help someone select the products they want. We do think of ourselves as a personal pharmacy.

Back in the "old days" the pharmacy was considered a friendly place to shop for health necessities and other needs. We like to feel that this old tradition has not passed by the wayside. Stop in soon and say hello.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

County To Have Large Entry List In State Fair Judging

Texas farm boys and girls will observe the twenty-fourth anniversary of the youth activities program at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas Oct. 4 through 19.

Several youths from Big Spring and Coahoma will enter competition in various events, representing both 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America organizations.

At Big Spring, FFA entries will be determined after the county FFA show Oct. 8 and 9, according to Truett Vines, head of the local organization.

Representing local and area 4-H Clubs will be eleven persons. Entering steers will be Maxwell Barr, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Barr of Coahoma and Jay and John Slaughter, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Slaughter Jr., Knott Rt., Big Spring.

Competing with barrows will be Bill and Phil Parmenter, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parmenter, Garden City Rt. Patty and Johnny Peugh, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peugh, Star Rt., Stanton; Cindy and Summer Shaw, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaw, Garden City Rt.; Birk Posey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Posey, Stanton and Don Tatum, brother of Mrs. Frank Shaw, Garden City Rt.

Represented by these entries will be Big Spring's Lucky Leaf 4-H Club, Lomax 4-H Club, Vincent 4-H Club and Knott 4-H Club.

Gerald Oakes, vocational agricultural teacher and head of the FFA at Coahoma, said the Coahoma FFA will have 25 barrows and five steers entered in competition in Dallas.

He added approximately 100 FFA and Future Homemakers of America will attend the fair on Rural Youth Day, Oct. 4.

From Coahoma three FFA boys will enter both the steer and barrow divisions. These include Earnest Lowe Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Lowe Sr., Vincent Rt., Coahoma; Donny Harrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Skeet Harrington, Vincent Rt., Coahoma and Gaylon Harding, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Harding, Coahoma.

Others entering steers will be Ed Coates, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Coates, Rt. 1, Big Spring and Terry Meeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Darrow, Coahoma.

Others in the barrow division include Randy Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Lowe Jr., Vincent Rt., Coahoma; David and Joe Elmore, sons of Rev. and Mrs. Ray Elmore of Coahoma; J. D. Tatum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tatum, Rt. 1, Big Spring; Rusty Banks, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Banks, Sand Springs; Paul Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Day, Rt. 1, Big Spring; Kenneth Furlong Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Furlong Sr., Coahoma; Toby Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Green, Coahoma; Wacey Cathey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cathey, Rt. 1, Big Spring; Shannon Boyles Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Boyles Sr., Coahoma and Guy James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ovis James, Coahoma.

The Coahoma 4-H Club will be represented at the fair by Donna James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ovis James. She will be entering three hogs into competition.

Approximately 100,000 youngsters from over the state are expected to swarm into Fair Park on Rural Youth Day, Oct. 4, according to Ray W. Wilson, director of the program. Livestock judging will be held Oct. 12-18.

BS Girl Solos At Southwestern

GEORGETOWN — Appearing as soloist in Lois Perkins Chapel on Sept. 25 at Southwestern University was Annette Fitzhugh of Big Spring, a sophomore in the School of Fine Arts.

Miss Fitzhugh sang numbers by Handel for an audience composed of students and faculty.

Majoring in music education, Miss Fitzhugh is studying voice with Mrs. Louise Toth of the department of voice and organ with R. Cochrane Penick, chairman of the department of organ.

Active in campus affairs, Miss Fitzhugh is a member of the acappella choir, Delta Delta Delta sorority (serving as song leader), and other organizations.

Miss Fitzhugh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Fitzhugh, 1404 Johnson, Big Spring.

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years I have been married to a handsome, charming professional man. He is also an incurable philanderer. When we walk into a room filled with strangers, I can pick his victim within 10 minutes.

No one would suspect that he would follow up a cocktail party flirtation, but he does. I have covered up for him many times, and have stayed with him for the sake of the children, hoping each affair would be his last. Everyone thinks we are an ideal couple. They should only know! Abby, does a leopard ever change his spots?

LEOPARD'S WIFE: You have your animals confused. Yours is a wolf. Covering up for a philandering husband is no way to cure him. The wife who raises the roof early in her marriage may not change her leopard's spots, but she can train him before he gets too wild.

DEAR ABBY: My darling wife of over 40 years (I'll call her Bertha) has to have a cigarette in her hand every minute or she's not happy. That's not all, she is too vain to wear glasses all the time, so she is always missing the ash tray, so we have cigarette burns in most of our tables and a couple of her favorite chairs. I have brought home ash trays as big as a fry pan, but she misses those, too.

When we are guests in the homes of friends, the hostess doesn't take her eyes off Bertha for fear she'll burn up something.

Won't you please say something in your column to let my missus know I love her but I wish she'd quit smoking?

LARRY: DEAR LARRY: You've said it all, Larry. Just see that your missus doesn't miss this column.

DEAR ABBY: When someone has lost a member of his family by suicide, what should friends do?

It doesn't seem right to just ignore the situation, yet you can't write and say, "I am sorry to hear that your brother shot himself." (Or should I say, "Shot himself — ACCIDENTALLY." Would that be better?)

A FRIEND: DEAR FRIEND: Offer your condolences, but do not mention the circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I have never heard of a big belly getting in the way of true love. In the 15 years Joey and I have been married, Joey gained 55 pounds, and I gained 40. But if he can stand MY big belly, I can stand HIS. We both want to thank you for a wonderful column.

FAT BUT HAPPY: DEAR FAT: And I want to thank you for a wonderful belly laugh.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DR. CECIL MULLINS Educational Psychologist WHY READ FASTER?

BIG SPRING, TEX. — Dr. Cecil Mullins, renowned Educational Psychologist, states that the faster you read, the more you comprehend.

"Fifteen years ago," he continued, "I became intrigued with the tremendous possibilities of the human mind. I found that by teaching students to read with greater speed and concentration, I was able to make them read books in as little as fifteen minutes with better comprehension than they would ever have been able to in 8 to 10 hours. It didn't matter whether the books were fictional, history, or of a technical nature. A doctor can devour medical books, a lawyer legal matter, etc., at unprecedented and often unbelievable speeds."

Dr. Mullins' methods were so successful that he created the OPTIMIZATION SPEED READING COURSE. Taught in 8 — 3-hour sessions, OPTIMIZATION GUARANTEES the student will read at least 1000 words a minute or a book in an hour or less with good comprehension. You are invited to attend one of a series of FREE INITIAL classes to be held.

Governor's Talk Highlights Volunteers' State Meeting

A speech by Gov. Preston Smith at a Friday night dinner of the annual meeting of the Volunteer Council for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, will be one of many highlights of the two-day state meeting of the organization to be held here.

The meeting is being hosted by the Volunteer Council of the Big Spring State Hospital and approximately 200 persons from over the state are expected to attend.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. Friday with a reception in the foyer of Big Spring Country Club, which will proceed the 8 p.m. dinner at which Gov. Smith will address the council.

Receiving guests at the governor's banquet will be Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jary, state chairman of the Volunteer Council; Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the local hospital; Mrs. Opal Diemer, chairman of the Midland Volunteer Auxiliary, sponsors of the reception; and Gov. Smith.

Several state senators, representatives, judges and state mental health officials are expected to be present for the governor's banquet and the council meeting.

The supply of tickets for the governor's reception and dinner is all but exhausted.

At the dinner, Dr. Harold Smith, chairman of the Big Spring Volunteer Council, will welcome guests. Mayor Arnold Marshall will welcome guests to the city and Jary will recognize honored guests at the dinner.

Entertainment will be provided by Donna Lee Cherry, world acclaimed violinist, who will play immediately before the governor's introduction by Dr. John Kinross-Wright, commissioner of the Texas

GOV. PRESTON SMITH

Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Saturday the state meeting of the Volunteer Services Council will get under way at 9 a.m. in the Alford Auditorium of the hospital. Presiding over the meeting will be Jary.

Dr. Harrison will welcome the group to the hospital and present a birdseye view of what they will hear and see at the meeting.

Speakers at the morning session include Dr. Gary Miller of Austin, deputy commissioner for mental hospitals, who will talk on the outreach programs in mental health and Dr. Charles H. Martin, Austin, deputy commissioner for mental retardation, who will discuss programs in mental retardation.

Saturday morning sectional meetings on mental hospitals, mental retardation and tuberculosis centers will be held, before a business session of the council at 10:45 a.m.

Following lunch, which will be hosted by the Volunteer Council of the San Angelo Center, Dr. Roger Smyth, director of epidemiology, control, Texas State Department of Health, Austin, will speak on what's new in the control of the disease.

Those present Saturday afternoon will hear reports about the Circuit Riders, the Prude Ranch project, the Alcoholic Follow-up Program, the Community House, what the Midland Volunteer Auxiliary is doing to help the community and hospital; and the Work Village, where discharged patients who work for the hospital live in a sheltered environment. A film presentation by Larry Reed, audiovisual specialist, Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, also will be presented showing the improvements which have been made in mental hospitals since 1956.

Saturday evening the Big Spring Jaycees and the local hospital will host a hospitality hour preceding the Chairman's Dinner at the Cosden Country Club at which new state council officers will be installed.

Providing music for a dance, following this dinner, will be a group called "The Living Us" and a vocal group named "The Soutliers."

Tours of the local hospital and the new San Angelo Center have been arranged for Friday afternoon.

Many Assist Entertaining

Thirty-seven organizations and businesses of Big Spring and the area have gone together to help with the Oct. 3 and 4 annual state meeting of the Volunteer Council for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Credits for different parts of the event include: residents of Unit 8 of the Big Spring State Hospital, the occupational therapy department of the state hospital, the hospital's vocational rehabilitation secretarial class, the hospital's community and halfway houses, San Angelo Center staff and residents, First Christian Church Sewing Ladies and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ Sewing Ladies for making favors for the meeting.

Helping with hospitality and welcoming guests will be the Big Spring Ambassadors Club, the Big Spring Home Demonstration Club, the Big Spring Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes, the Schering Corporation and Smith, Kline and French Laboratories of Midland.

DONNA LEE CHERRY

Noted Violinist To Appear At Governor's Banquet

Guests at the Oct. 3 dinner of the annual meeting of the Volunteer Council for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools will have a treat in store as Donna Lee Cherry, widely world acclaimed violinist, will perform for the group Friday night.

The young Texas violinist has played concerts throughout the Southwest, Italy and Mexico, appearing in Austin, Odessa, Midland, San Antonio, Abilene, Denver, Colo., Monterey, Mexico City and Milan and Cremona, Italy. She has been a soloist with the Midland, Odessa, University of Texas and Baylor-Waco Symphony Orchestras.

At the age of 14 she won the Odessa Symphony Youth Contest, and in 1963 was a finalist in the Eric Sorantin Symphony Competition of San Angelo and the Abilene Symphony Competition, as well as winning the Midland-Odessa Young Artist Competition.

In 1968 she was accepted as one of nine persons, selected from 30 auditioners, for a course taught by Riccardo Brengola at the Accademia Chigiana in Siena, Italy. There she served as concertmistress of the chamber orchestra.

Italian music critics of Milan and Cremona, Italy, wrote very highly of Miss Cherry after she was presented in a trio by the Italo-American Association of Cremona at the opening of the September Cremonese, 1968.

After the Cremona concert, Miss Cherry was escorted to the city hall where she was welcomed by the vice mayor and was privileged to play upon the famous "Cremona 1715" of Stradivarius, an honor reserved only for gifted artists.

A music critic at Cremona, Italy wrote, "Donna Lee Cherry, whose hair is identical to the color of her violin is an artist of very strong temperament who succeeds in carry and holding the public with their breath suspended because of the bold and well-defined passages."

A critic in Milan, Italy wrote that she "is a brilliant concert artist who adds to perfect technique a very noteworthy sensibility of interpretation."

Medicare Tab Increasing On January 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aged person covered by medicare who enters a hospital after Jan. 1 will have to pay the first $52 of his bill—an increase of $8.

The announcement Friday by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare came just a day after President Nixon asked Congress to increase Social Security benefits by 10 per cent beginning next April 1.

Instead of the present $44 of a hospital bill that must be paid by a medicare recipient for hospitalization up to 60 days, the patient will have to pay $52 under the increase in the deductible.

From 60 to 90 days, the patient's share will rise from $11 to $13 of daily costs, and over 90 days the patient will pay $26 per day instead of the current $22.

The President also predicted there would be a "substantial increase" in the current $4 per month which beneficiaries must pay for supplementary medical benefits — help pay doctor, ambulance, out-patient and other medical costs. The new supplementary rate must be set by Dec. 31 to go into effect next July 1.

In a year, nearly six million of the 20 million medicare beneficiaries are admitted or readmitted to a hospital. Most are retired and would be eligible for increased Social Security.

The $52 deductible amount is pennies equivalent to the average cost of one day in the hospital, said Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball. The average medicare hospital stay now costs $700.

Re-Enlist In Grade

The U.S. Army recently announced a new policy which makes Army veterans discharged at grades of Staff Sergeant and below eligible to re-enlist without a loss in grade. Further information on this can be obtained from SSG Larry A. West, whose office is located in the Federal Building in Big Spring.

CAN YOU READ?

"That's a stupid question," you say: "of course I can read." Indeed you can. But have you ever thought about how well you read? Some people read so poorly that, by comparison with people who read well, they are practically illiterate. Have you ever thought about how fast you read? How much faster you could read? How much of what you read do you remember? (Most students don't remember more than half of what they read, even right after they have read it.) Can you decide what is worth trying to remember? Do you read charts and tables in a book? The captions for them? What do you do when you first start to read an assignment? What do you do when you finish reading the assignment? How many times do you read an assignment? When? Do you read a textbook the same way you read a novel?

OPTIMIZATION can answer all these questions for you. Now that school has started again, it's time to think about the coming fall and spring months. Don't you agree that if your reading was faster, you would be able to accomplish much more. There are so many assignments that require extra reading you just don't have the time to do it. OPTIMIZATION can help you accomplish tasks you never thought possible. In 2 — 3 hour sessions if guarantees that you will be able to read at least 1000 words a minute or a book per hour with good comprehension or money back. In the past year, hundreds in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi have taken the course with the average student reading about 200 words a minute. TAKING THE OPTIMIZATION SPEED READING COURSE could very well be one of the most important things you will ever do.

TEXAS STOPS TECH — Paul Kristynik (19) of Texas puts the skids on Lane Wade (16) of Texas Tech in the second period of their southwest conference opener at Memorial Stadium in Austin Saturday night. Wade was running back a Texas kickoff after one of their many touchdowns.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' awesome backfield and the ball hawking Campbell twins crushed scrappy Texas Tech 49-7 Saturday night to keep the fourth-ranked Longhorns undefeated in their last 11 games.

The 1969 Cotton Bowl champs, showing off their new artificial turf for the first time, rolled to a 28-0 halftime lead and started playing substitutes a couple of minutes deep in the second half when the score soared again.

The victory gave the Longhorns an early 1-0 lead in the Southwest Conference and avenged losses to Tech the past two years.

The Red Raiders were never in the game after Bill Zapalac, part of Texas' rugged front four, ripped the ball loose from Tech quarterback Joe Matulich and Mike Campbell jumped on it at the Tech 27.

Bullish Steve Worster rammed to the 12 in three plays, and Billy Dale crashed over the end zone flag behind tackle Bobby Wuench's clearing block for Texas' first touchdown.

The only time Tech crossed midfield in the first half was in the final minute when Jerry Watson intercepted James Street's pass and raced to the Longhorn 48 where Forrest Wiegand caught him after Street slowed Watson up.

A pass to David May carried to the Texas 19 as the first half ended.

Mike Campbell scored on a 26-yard run with a pass interception just before halftime, and his twin, Tom, picked off another wayward toss and raced 32 yards to the Tech 2 early in the third quarter. Worster scored on the next play.

Worster scored again, this time from the one, after Ted

Koy sped 42 yards to set it up. Jim Bertelsen, another of the big back in Texas' Wishbone-T offense, dove in from the 5 to climax a 49-yard drive and Dale ran 2 for another touchdown after an interception by linebacker Scott Henderson.

The 24-man field in the Alcan was determined by qualifying tests in various parts of the world.

Trevino, Casper and Sikes came up from the United States PGA tour while Henning represents the African sector.

Kel Nagle, who represents the Australian region, turned in a 73 for the third round. He was penalized 31 strokes after Friday's second round for signing an incorrect score card. Except for the penalty he now would be at 217 instead of 248 and assured of about $4,000 instead of $2,000 he now will get for being last.

Gay Brewer, winner of the previous two Alcan when they were played in Britain, shot a 71 for his third straight round under par but at 216 is four strokes behind Trevino.

Rice Clawed By Bengals

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A bruising Louisiana State ignited a powerful offense Saturday night with a 65-yard punt return by Tommy Casanova while methodically overwhelming the young Rice University Owls 42-0 before an intersectional football crowd of 55,000.

The game had been underway less than five minutes when Casanova, a sophomore, cut loose with his thrilling scoring scamper.

By the time the first quarter was over, the versatile Tiger attack had rolled up a 21-0 lead and coach Charley McLendon was sending in third stringers.

Rice could make no headway against the rugged Tiger defense. The Owls were in LSU territory only three times, all in the second half. Their most serious threat came as they recovered a fumble at the LSU 19 on the second half kickoff.

Three plays netted only a yard, and on fourth down Bill Thompson intercepted a Philip Wood pass at the 18.

The crushing defeat joined Rice hopes that had soared after a 55-0 victory a week ago over Virginia Military Institute had ended a 9-game losing streak.

Casanova faked a handoff after taking a 50-yard punt by Rice's Bucky Allshouse. He quickly picked up three blockers and cut back sharply to sidestep the last Owl defender at the Rice 44.

LSU then jumped to a quick three-touchdown lead by scoring the next two times the Tigers had the ball. Jim West climaxed a 66-yard surge by circling right end for seven yards. Buddy Lee ended a 50-yard drive with a 4-yard pass to Bill Stover.

Gay Brewer, winner of the previous two Alcan when they were played in Britain, shot a 71 for his third straight round under par but at 216 is four strokes behind Trevino.

Mildren Leads OU To 37-8 Win Over Pitt

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Super sophomore Jack Mildren fueled sixth-ranked Oklahoma to a 37-8 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday as the Sooners romped to their second straight top-sided football victory.

Mildren, a red-headed quarterback from Abilene, Tex., scored twice—including a 78-yard third-quarter dash — and totaled 196 yards running and passing in a little more than three quarters.

Mildren directed Oklahoma on a 91-yard, nine-play scoring drive the first time the Sooners had the ball, and it was evident Pitt was headed for its second loss in as many outings.

Pitt broke into the scoring column in the last period when full-back Tony Esposito blasted across from the one and Jim Friedel passed to Jack Wiley for the two extra points.

Mildren, Owens and Derr took care of all the scoring for Oklahoma, except for a third-quarter safety when a Pittsburgh snap from center sailed over punter Joe Spicko's head and out of the end zone.

NEW YORK (AP) — Arts and Letters collared Nodouble about midway through the stretch and went on to win the $106,000 Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park Saturday and all but clinched Horse of the Year honors.

Arts and Letters, the only 3-year-old in the field of four, caught Nodouble just before the eighth pole and got to the wire two lengths in front. Elmdorf's Verbatim was third, a half-length back of Nodouble, and C. V. Whitney's Champion was last.

Braulo Baeza sent the Rokeby Stable star over the 1 1/4 miles in 2:01, a second off the track record set by Kelso in 1961, for his fifth straight stakes victory that put a virtual lock on Horse of the Year honors.

McMurry Shocked By Angelo State

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Angelo State upset McMurry 27-0 here Saturday night, setting two Lone Star Conference records. Kenny Newman, who kicked a field goal to beat Sul Ross last Saturday night in the last 30 seconds last week, booted three field goals from 45, 34, and 43 yards.

Bobby Menchaca returned a punt 85 yards for a touchdown in a big Angelo State third period.

McMurry had a 7-6 halftime lead, scoring its only touchdown on a fumbled punt return by Menchaca. Indian tackle Mike Rosenberg recovered it in the end zone for the only McMurry score.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska shackled tailback Larry Stegeman and his Texas A&M teammates with a rugged defense Saturday, posted a pair of first half touchdowns and made them stand up for a 14-0 intersectional football victory.

Although troubled by fumbles, Nebraska used the passing arms of sophomore quarterbacks Van Brownson and Jerry Tagge and the opportunities provided by pass interceptions to score in each of the first two quarters.

A&M threatened twice after the intermission.

A fumble halted a 65-yard drive to Nebraska's five in the third quarter.

Late in the game Dave Elmdorf of the Aggies returned a punt 55 yards to Nebraska's 25, but Dana Stephenson's goal line interception of quarterback Rocky Self's subsequent pass and a 39-yard runback stopped the effort.

A Memorial Stadium crowd of 66,331 and an ABC-TV regional television audience looked on as Nebraska evened its season at 1-1 while A&M dropped its second straight.

The Aggies were held to two first downs in the first half and finished with a net of 171 yards of total offense, 23 of them on the running of Stegeman, seeing his first game action this year after a hamstring muscle injury.

Dodgers All But Bury Giants' Title Hopes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Len Gabrielson lashed a run-scoring single in the 11th inning Saturday, giving the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over San Francisco that all but buried the Giants' title hopes in the National League West Division struggle.

The loss, coupled with Atlanta's 4-2 victory over San Diego, left the Giants 2 1/2 games behind the first-place Braves with just four to play.

single to right center, scoring Mota to break up the nationally-televased duel.

Bryant, 4-3, relieved Frank Linzy with one out and the bases loaded in the 10th, and fell behind pinch hitter Bill Sudakis 3-0, then got him to tap into an inning ending double play.

Ron Hunt had tagged south-paw Claude Osteen for a one-out homer in the eighth, lifting the Giants into a 1-1 tie.

The Dodgers scored in the third against Mike McCormick when Osteen poked a two-out single and raced home on Maury Willis' double off the wall in left.

Osteen, thwarted for the fourth time in his bid to win 20 games for the first time in his 11-year major league career, was replaced by Jim Brewer at the start of the 10th after yielding six hits. The reliever picked up his seventh victory in 13 decisions.

McCormick limited the Dodgers to three hits before giving way to Linzy in the seventh.

The victory snapped an eight-game losing streak for the Dodgers.

Atlanta (AP) — The streaking Atlanta Braves moved a step closer to the National League's West Division championship Saturday, trimming the San Diego Padres 4-2.

The victory cut the Braves' magic number for clinching the title to two games.

The Padres jumped in front on a two-run single by Nate Colbert in the sixth inning. Atlanta, which had scored an early run on Felix Millan's triple, tied it in the sixth on Rico Carty's 15th homer of the year.

Then the Braves broke the tie with a seventh inning run.

Gil Garrido walked and raced to second on a sacrifice by pitcher Ron Reed. Then Tony Gonzalez punched a single off the handle of his bat along the third base line, scoring Garrido with the tie-breaking run.

Atlanta scored an insurance run in the eighth. Carty opened with a double and Clete Boyer singled the run home.

Pittsburgh (AP) — Pitcher Steve Blass smacked a leadoff triple in the third inning and scored the go-ahead run on a double by Roberto Clemente, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

The Pirates went on to score two more runs in the third on bases - loaded infield single by Manny Sanguillen and an infield out.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Crafty Rex Kern directed Ohio State's devastating attack to a crushing 62-0 victory over Texas Christian Saturday in an inter-sectional football game, handing the Horned Frogs their second worst defeat in history before a record Ohio Stadium crowd of 86,412.

The No. 1 ranked Buckeyes staging an awesome show of power in their 1969 opener, racked up their 15th straight conquest, the nation's longest winning streak.

The huge partisan crowd, unperturbed by a steady rain, roared its approval as the Buckeyes exploded for three touchdowns in the first quarter, and kept up their assault.

After a penalty wiped out a 36-yard pass play, Kern connected on the second play of scrimmage with Bruce Jankowski for a 58-yard bomb for the first score.

Tailback John Brockington punched across for three touchdowns while Kern and battering fullback Jim Otis scored two each.

The outclassed Frogs, beaten by Purdue last week 42-35, never got across midfield as the stingy Buckeye defense kept TCU bottled up.

The Frogs lost to Baylor 52-0 in 1910 for their previous worst setback.

Ohio scored in every period and got two touchdowns in the final quarter with reserves on the field. The final TD came on a 62-yard pass from Kevin Ruskak to Rookie Tom Campana.

It was the biggest score run up by the Bucks since they beat Indiana 56-0 in 1957, and was the most points scored since Ohio walloped Iowa 83-21 in 1950.

Otis, who scored on runs of 2 and 9 yards, led the ground game with 121 yards in 27 trips. Brockington, whose touchdowns came on runs of 2, 5 and 2 yards, gained 79 yards in 13 carries, while Kern picked up 76 yards in 14 chances, scoring on runs of 17 and 5 yards.

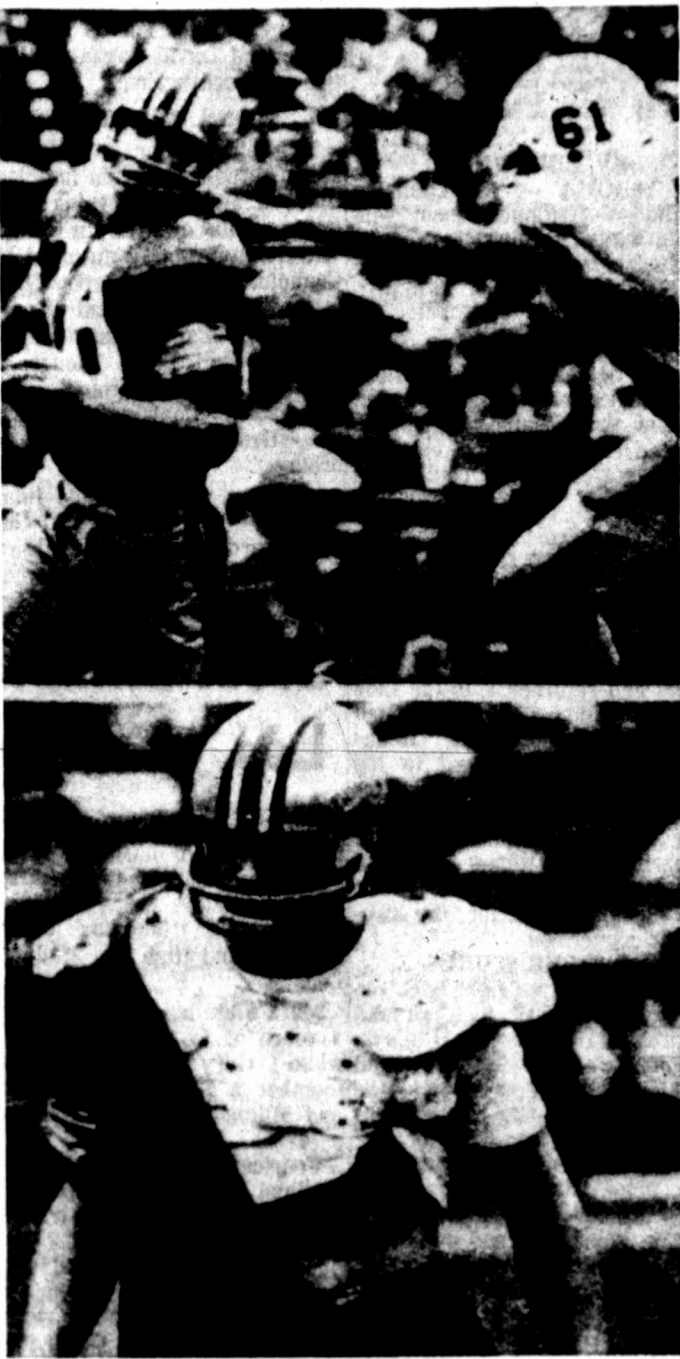

Kern, who did all his passing in the first half, completed 5 of 11 for 110 yards, while third-string quarterback Ruskak hit 3 of 6 passes for 76 yards and gained 63 more with 9 rushes. The record crowd exceeded the 85,371 who watched Ohio blast Michigan 50-14 in last year's windup.

TCU had its best chance to score early in the second half when Bill Sharp, punting for Ohio on fourth down, was nailed on the Buckeye 25. One running play lost two yards and three passes by Steve Judy fell harmlessly to the ground.

The losers had one late drive stopped on the Ohio six by Bob Marting's interception, and in the dying seconds Rusty Underwood hit John Belue on a 30-yard pass to the Ohio 14 as the game ended.

The Buckeyes gained a whopping 565 yards on offense, limiting TCU to 196, most of the yardage in the fourth quarter.

EMBARRASSED QUARTERBACK — Ron Maciejowski (19), Ohio State quarterback (top), tries to get off a pass in the first half, but Chuck Forney (61), Texas Christian, gets a jersey hold and then runs him out of bounds in their non-conference game Saturday in Columbus, Ohio. Maciejowski walks off the field (bottom) with a very torn jersey and seeks a replacement.

Brinkman Leads Senators' Surge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ed Brinkman lashed a two-run triple in the fifth inning and scored on Tim Cullen's sacrifice fly, leading the Washington Senators past Cleveland 3-2 Saturday.

Dal Unser opened the fifth with a triple and pinch hitter Dick Smith drew a walk before Brinkman tripled to center.

Ken Harrelson pulled the Indians within one run in the sixth with his 30th homer, but the Senators hung on behind tight relief pitching by Bo Humphreys.

Purdue Romps To Easy Win Over Irish

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Mike Phipps' passes and thundering defensive line play gave Purdue a surprisingly easy 28-14 victory over ninth-ranked Notre Dame Saturday.

Phipps passed 37 yards to halfback Randy Cooper for the game's first score and set up the other Boilermaker touchdowns with passes to his new set of receivers. The victory gave Phipps a perfect 3-year record in quarterbacking Purdue against the Irish.

Defensive end Bill McKoy, who put pressure on Notre Dame quarterback Joe Theismann throughout the game, set up Purdue's decisive touchdown drive late in the third quarter when he spilled Theismann on the Purdue 48-yard line. The play was on a fourth and six situation from the Purdue 31, with the Boilermakers ahead 14-7.

Theismann passed for both Notre Dame touchdowns but one came in the dying minutes.

Notre Dame's first touchdown was on a drive covering 79 yards late in the second period. Notre Dame 0 7 7 14 Purdue 7 7 7 28

Abilene Ties Bobcats, 7-7

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo and Abilene High Schools battled to a grueling 7-7 football tie in a rugged defensive skirmish here Friday night.

After a scoreless first half, San Angelo moved on top in the third quarter when fullback Thomas Williams trudged over from the one-yard line. Walter Lewis kicked the extra point for a 7-0 Bobcat lead.

In the fourth quarter Abilene tied the favored San Angelo team when Dan Cobb scored a touchdown on a one-yard slam with 6:25 remaining in the game and Danny Edwards kicked a successful point-after-touchdown.

San Angelo tried two fourth quarter field goals to salvage a victory, but both were wide of the goal posts.

The game was marked with miscues. San Angelo lost the ball five times through fumbles while Abilene had four passes intercepted. The Bobcats gained 143 yards rushing and another 111 passing. The Eagles, meanwhile, earned 147 yards rushing and 72 passing.

Jim Ray Ruins Cincy Hopes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Houston's Jim Ray fired a five-hitter Saturday, ending Cincinnati's National League West pennant hopes with a 4-3 victory over the Reds.

The loss, combined with Atlanta's 4-2 victory over San Diego, Cincinnati four games behind the Braves with only three left for each team.

Orlando Martinez tripled home Bob Watson, who had singled, in the fourth and then Norm Miller singled Martinez across for the Astros.

Jesus Alou had clubbed first-inning homer for Houston. The Astros scored their final run in the sixth when Watson

Tors Shellack Slaton, 66-7

SLATON — In a battle of two unbeaten teams, Lamesa High pounded Slaton, 66-7, here Friday night.

The Tornados settled for one first quarter score, on a Bennie Williams 39-yard run and Lynn Bilberry's first of six extra points. However, in the second period, Lamesa erupted for 27 points and four touchdowns.

Aaron Manuel scored twice on one-yard plunges, Cecil Davis recorded one touchdown on a 59-yard gallop, and Floyd Jenkins tallied another on a 35-yard pass from Danny Renner.

In the third quarter, Ron Hester scored from three yards out, Richard Vaughn went 63 yards and Ricky Corley passed 12 yards to Jerry Beatty for Lamesa scores. Corley cashed in again on a 25-yard run and passed 25 yards to Jenkins for the final two Lamesa scores in the fourth quarter.

Slaton's only touchdown came in the fourth period. Quarterback Terry Mosser hit halfback Alan Fondy for a touchdown on a 34-yard pass. Allen Sanders kicked the extra point.

Oklahoma State Burns Houston Club, 24-18

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Quarterback Bob Cutbush threw for two touchdowns and ran for another Saturday as the rejuvenated Oklahoma State University Cowboys upset Houston 24-18 in an inter-sectional football game riddled by penalties.

Cutbush threw touchdown passes of three yards to split end Dick Graham and 60 yards to split end Bobby Cole and sneaked over from a yard away to score six points himself.

Ewe Pruss, OSU's German-born soccer-style place kicking specialist, added a 17-yard field goal early in the first period and all of the extra points, but missed on three other field goal attempts.

But the offensive hero of the game was Houston's All-American candidate, split end Elmo Wright.

Wright broke a school record by catching 12 passes for 200 yards. The previous record, eight passes, was set in 1958 by Bob Borah and tied by Wright last year in Houston's 71-33 rout of Cincinnati.

It was a disappointing loss for the Cougars, stunned 59-34 last week by Florida. O-State lost its opener to Arkansas, 39-0.

Senior quarterback Kent Bailey, third among all-time Cougar passers, failed to complete an aerial until 21 seconds before the half and suffered four interceptions during the day.

Houston was penalized 132 yards, which broke a Cougar single-game penalty record set in 1952 when the Cougars were penalized 118 yards in a 3-7 win over the University of Tulsa.

Bailey connected on two touchdown passes in the third period to slash the Cowboys' 24-0 half-time lead in half.

Seagraves Routs Spur In Third Win
SEAGRAVES — Seagraves the state's number four rated class A powerhouse, rolled to a convincing 42-7 football victory over Spur here Friday night.

The Eagles scored 14 points in the first quarter, added eight more in the second period, then chalked up 20 points in the third quarter to demolish Spur.

En route to victory, Seagraves piled up 440 yards rushing while holding Spur to 100 yards rushing and a lone score late in the fourth quarter when the outcome was already decided.

Alex Johnson hit his 17th of the season in the fifth after Lee Maye had doubled. In the seventh, John Bench walloped his 26th.

Eagles Lose To Bovines
The Goliad Junior High School Longhorns shut out the Goliad Eagles in seventh grade football action Saturday morning on Blankenship Field.

The Longhorns, rolling to its second straight victory, scored in the first, second and fourth quarters. Fullback Ricky Darrow registered the initial touchdown, running 20 yards to paydirt. Quarterback Barry Canning added two more points on a successful end run after the score.

The Longhorns added to its 8-0 lead in the second quarter when fullback Mark Taylor scored on a two-yard plunge, climaxing a 70-yard touchdown march. Halfback Stanley Wallace ran eight yards for the successful two point conversion and a 16-0 Longhorn advantage.

Billy Whittington completed Longhorn scoring in the final period when he scooted 70 yards for a touchdown, breaking four tackles en route.

Singled out for defensive achievement by Longhorn coach Ben Neal were Mark Callahan, James Coffey, Robert Rasmussen, Casey Lovelace and Matt Carl. Darrow, Canning, Taylor, Whittington and Wes Boullion merited offensive praise. Also earning special mention was Wade Franklin for his kicking.

Eagle football players who stood out were Gilbert Pidilla and Will Guthrie.

BLANKS PHILS Tom Seaver Cops 25th Decision
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tom Seaver fired a three-hitter on the way to his 10th consecutive victory and became the major leagues' first 25-game winner as the streaking New York Mets nipped Philadelphia 1-0 Saturday on Bobby Pfeil's run-scoring single in the eighth inning.

It was the seventh straight triumph and third successive shutout for the Mets, who nailed the National League's East Division title Wednesday night with a 6-0 victory over St. Louis on Gary Gentry's four-hitter and blanked the Phillies 5-0 Friday night as Jerry Koosman scattered four hits.

Seaver, 25-7, struck out four and walked two in a duel with Phillies southpaw Grant Jackson, who checked the Mets on four hits until the eighth, then they struck with two out to snap the scoreless deadlock.

Then, Donn Clendenon singled to left center, Ron Swoboda walked and Pfeil, a rookie third baseman, lined a single to center, scoring Clendenon.

Snyder Topples Another Top Foe
SNYDER — The Snyder Tigers, after knocking off defending Class AAA champ Estacado last week, bounced another highly touted foe, Dunbar, 13-10 in football action here Friday night.

Snyder scored all its points in the second quarter on two touchdowns runs by fullback Willie Harrison and one successful point-after-kick. It then staved off the Dunbar offense for the rest of game.

Dunbar tallied its sole touchdown in the second quarter when Ronald Kinmer plunged over the goal line on a one-yard run. A point-after-touchdown kick temporarily tied the score at seven-all. In the third quarter, Dunbar earned three points on a 28-yard field goal by R. B. Young.

Bears Nudge Indiana 11

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Reserve California quarterback Steve Curtis passed to sophomore Ken Adams for a 61-yard touchdown that upset Indiana 17-14 Saturday in the first meeting of the Big Eight and Big Ten teams.

Indiana got off to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter and appeared headed for a runaway.

The Hoosiers' star flanker Jade Butcher caught touchdown passes of 45 yards from John Isenbarger and six yards from Harry Gonso. Don Warner kicked both extra points and a record Indiana crowd of 52,904 sat back in a light rain to enjoy itself.

Then Ken Wiedemann of California picked off a deflected Gonso pass and ran 18 yards for a touchdown late in the first quarter.

California rambled 64 yards in its winning drive. About 35 yards of the winning Curtis-Adams pass play was on the ground.

The Bear defense gave Indiana trouble all the way after its early scores, the second of which was set up when Jay Mathias intercepted a Randy Humphrey pass and California committed a personal foul on the same play. That left Indiana only 28 yards to go and it covered the distance in four p lays.

STANTON — Stanton head football coach, Gerald Loyd, after several weeks of experimentation, finally discovered the proper chemistry for victory here Friday night.

The former Big Spring assistant coach, in his first season as Bulldog grid mentor, whipped together several new elements not listed among the known 103 to produce a 14-6 win over previously unbeaten Rotan.

The victory was Stanton's first of the year and snapped a seven-game losing streak which extended five games into last season.

SOPH DAZZLES

Loyd blended this purely physical matter with atomic number 10; not standing for neon, but for sophomore sensation Glen Ray. A component ingredient which lowered the opposition's scoring was harder to penetrate than lead, iron or cobalt. It was a pass defense composed of Hicks, Gregston and Steve Stallings.

The coach magically shook, rolled and rattled his secret formula together just prior to game time. Before opening the lid, he seasoned his concoction with the perfect natural environment — a home field before an enthusiastic audience.

Then, for 48 minutes, Loyd pranced along the sideline, watching the resulting effect.

The elements did not work well in the first quarter. The offense fumbled the ball away on the first play from scrimmage, minutes later it fumbled on a kickoff. The Stanton offense, additionally, muffed an early scoring opportunity when given the ball in enemy territory.

Even the defense was stodgy for the first 12 minutes. It allowed Yellowhammer fullback Mickey Early to stampee 71 yards for a touchdown with 7:15 left in the first quarter for a 6-0 Rotan lead.

GREW WITH AGE

The elements, with constant interaction, grew stronger with age however. In the second quarter Stallings and Lindsay Jones fell on a Phil Springer fumble at the Rotan 27-yard line. Stanton moved the 27 yards for a touchdown in eight straight running plays, picking up two first downs enroute to the score. Left halfback Gregston capped the drive on a one-yard plunge with 4:20 left in the quarter.

The touchdown knotted the score at six-all. Right halfback Hicks ran across the two-point conversion. He fumbled in the end zone, but Buff center Randy Nichols was there to fall on the ball, giving Stanton an 8-6 lead.

The two teams continued somewhat sluggish play in the first half. Loyd's formula began to bubble late in the second stanza when Stanton took possession of the football at its own 44-yard line.

After a run play, quarterback Ray spotted Stallings alone near the Rotan 20-yard line. Ray lobbed a pass to him, only to have it slip through Stallings' outstretched hands. A successful completion would have meant a sure Stanton score as no Yellowhammer defender was between Stallings and the end zone.

Instead, Stanton had to march to the dressing room at the half with a slim 8-6 lead. The incomplete pass, however, yielded a sign of things to come.

Stanton returned to the gridiron ready for war in the second half. Loyd's elements were boiling now and all systems were go as the Buffaloes dominated second half action.

The first time Stanton had the ball in the third period it moved to the Rotan 37-yard line before McMeans, Hicks and Gregston ran out of gas.

The trio came knocking at the Rotan goal line on Stanton's next series of play. This time the three did not stop running until Gregston had crossed the goal line for a touchdown on a one-yard run. Gregston's second touchdown of the evening climaxed an eight-play, 43-yard march. It came with 2:30 left in the quarter and completed Stanton's scoring for the game.

The key to the drive was Ray's first pass completion of the contest. Ray hit Gregston on a 28-yard pass to move Stanton to the Rotan 15-yard line.

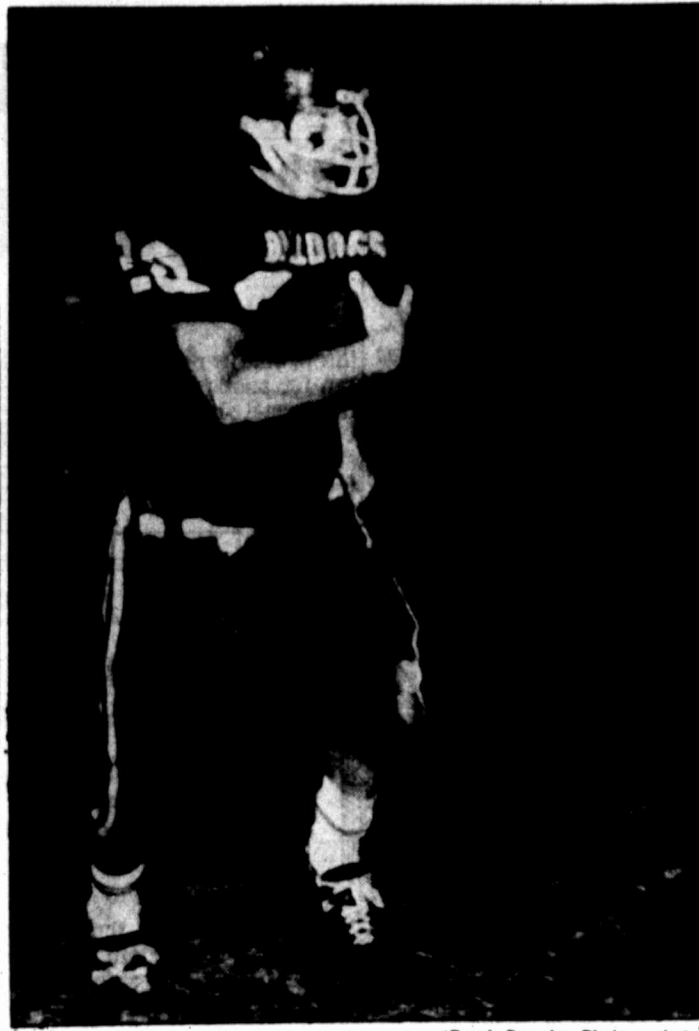

Though the Bison's victory, the narrow eight point victory, the game was much more lopsided in Stanton's favor than the score indicated. The Buffs had three touchdowns bids thwarted which could have brought the margin of victory to at least 32-6.

The Yellowhammers, when they did have the football, generally operated in their own territory. The Buff defense, though not tackling hard, effectively stopped Rotan runners. Rotan quarterbacks threw nine passes during the game, and completed two for 14 yards. The Buff defensive secondary, one of Loyd's special elements, picked off two passes and covered Rotan receivers closely throughout the game.

Another element, sophomore QB Ray, demonstrated poise in engineering the offense during his first full signal-calling assignment. He threw six passes and completed two for 51 yards. His four misconnections were not entirely his fault.

Loyd listed Hicks as his most outstanding halfback. The 150-pound senior switched from quarterback to halfback for the game. He replaced injured Gary Kitchens at the running position and performed creditably in an unaccustomed slot.

Several players earned the coach's praise on defense. The efforts of Steve Fryar, Robbie Dickinson and Randy Nichols, who subbed for injured Larry Pinkston, were cited, along with the performance of Coach Bill Jennings' defensive secondary.

TOUCHDOWN BOUND — Dean Richters, star back for the Coahoma Bulldogs, is shown en route toward a touchdown against Ozona Friday night. The play covered 35 yards. Coahoma won, 28-16, to remain unbeaten. Coahoma goes to Stanton for a neighborhood tussle Friday night.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sophomore passing sensation Charlie Dudish pulled Georgia Tech out of the fire for the second straight week Saturday and gave the Yellow Jackets a 17-10 decision over Baylor in an inter-sectional football game.

With 44 seconds left, the composed Dudish fired a 21-yard scoring pass to halfback Steve Harkey for the winning touchdown.

Until the last-minute aerial barrage by Dudish, it appeared the game would end in a 10-10 tie with Baylor coming from behind on a fantastic, juggling catch by Laney Cook, who until this week had been the Bear's third-team quarterback.

Cook, moved to tailback against Tech, made the amazing catch on a 69-yard scoring play with 13:33 remaining.

Cook speared the SI Southall pass one-handed on the Tech 35, then bounced it between hands more than 10 yards before finally bringing it under control and outdistancing the Tech secondary for the touchdown.

The Baylor score came less than three minutes after the Yellow Jackets moved to a 10-3 lead as Tech defensive halfback Jeff Ford intercepted a Bruin pass on the Bear 16 and romped across for the touchdown.

Before the closing fireworks, it appeared that the touted aerial battle, matching Dudish against Baylor hurlers Southall and Steve Stuart, might never materialize.

In fact, all three quarterbacks had proved ineffective through the first 40 minutes.

Tech jumped into an early 3-0 lead as place kicker Jack Moore booted a 28-yard field goal with 12:34 left in the first period. The three-pointer came after Baylor's Gene Rogers fumbled and Tech's Tash Van Dora recovered on the Bears' 19.

Baylor drove to the Tech 20 early in the third period but settled for a tying 19-yard field goal by Terry Gozby after the Yellow Jacket defense, bolstered by Rock Perdoni, stopped the Bear drive.

Dudish, who hit on six of 13 passes for Tech, duplicated against Baylor his fourth-quarter heroics of a week ago when he pulled the Yellow Jackets to a 24-21 decision over Southern Methodist University.

Always-Tough Miami Is Foe To Houston Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers, tied for first place in the American Football League Eastern Division, met the winless but always tough Miami Dolphins Sunday in the Astrodome.

The Oilers currently are deadlocked with the New York Jets for the lead in the division after dividing a pair of games on the road.

The Dolphins are 0-2 but turned in a fine performance last week in losing in the final seconds to powerful Oakland, 20-17.

Miami always has been tough for Houston. Since the Dolphins came into the league in 1966 Houston has managed only a split in six games, two of the victories coming in Miami.

Quarterback Pete Beathard will guide the Oiler attack. He had one of his best games last week, hitting 10 of 20 passes for 140 yards and one touchdown, as the Oilers whipped Buffalo, 17-3. He suffered no interceptions.

In two games Beathard has completed 24 of 58 passes for 364 yards and two touchdowns. Mac Haik leads Houston receivers with five catches for 109 yards. Alvin Reed has caught six for 76 yards.

Roy Hopkins leads the Oilers' ground gainers with 104 yards on 27 carries. Last week he rushed for 66 yards and caught one pass for 56 yards.

Miami quarterback Bob Griese has completed 28 of 73 passes for 520 yards and one touchdown but has been intercepted five times. Jim Kiick is the leading receiver with seven receptions for 158 yards. Kiick also leads the rushers with 123 yards on 38 carries.

Griese will be trying to complete his passes against a tough Houston secondary of Miller Farr, Ken Houston, W. K. Hicks and Zeke Moore. They have allowed only 94.0 yards per game through the air, the best in the league.

A crowd of about 40,000 is expected for the 3 p.m. (CDT) kickoff.

Abilene Cooper Defeats Midland Lee, 38 To 0

ABILENE — Abilene Cooper romped to a relatively easy 38-0 victory over Midland Lee here Friday night.

Cooper's vaunted defense limited the Rebels to 22 yards rushing and 46 passing.

Richard Mildren completed 10 of 16 aerials for Cooper, two of them for touchdowns. Both went to tight end Bobby White. A 32-yard pass from Chuck Hudson to Dennis Lovell produced another score late in the game for the Cougars.

Mildren counted one touchdown on a one-yard sneak while sophomore Kelvin Caesar roared 76 yards on a punt return for another.

John Villareal booted a 25-yard field goal and kicked five extra points for the winners.

Cooper is now deadlocked with Big Spring for the 3-AAAA lead, each with a 2-0 record.

Lee penetrated into Cooper territory only once.

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs continued their winning ways, keeping their undefeated season going, by trouncing the Ozona Lions 28-16 Friday night.

An aggressive offense and a fierce defense kept the Lions caged most of the night. Though Ozona twice came within one touchdown of catching Coahoma, it never could turn the trick.

Coach Bernie Hagins' Bulldogs jumped off to a quick 14-0 lead, scoring the first two times they had the ball. Toby Green, 140-pound senior end, intercepted an Ozona pass at mid-field and returned it to the Lion 17-yard line. A sweep around left end by halfback James Dunn brought the ball to the five-yard line, where senior Dean Richters carried it into the end zone around right end.

Quarterback Kenny Clanton then passed to senior end Gaylon Harrison for the two-point conversion.

FOUR SCORES

Coahoma came right back the next time it had the ball and marched 76 yards in 11 plays. Johnny Ted Fowler, 163-pound senior fullback, capped the drive by slipping across left tackle from the five for the score. A sweep to the left side by Dunn failed on the conversion attempt.

The Lions, coached by Monty Peltz, finally got themselves on the scoreboard late in the second quarter when, aided by a 15-yard penalty against the Bulldogs, they drove 65 yards in five plays. Quarterback Jim Montgomery threw a thirty-yard bomb to speedy Ruben Tambunga, 150-pound freshman, for the score. The two-back, for the score, the two-point conversion failed, but a penalty against Coahoma gave the Lions another chance. This time Tambunga carried it around left end for the two points.

With a little more than two minutes left in the half, the Bulldogs were not content to sit on their 14-8 lead. It took Clanton a minute and forty seconds to direct the Bulldogs to a 70-yard touchdown march. Using the quarterback option, Clanton pitched out to Richters, who scooted 30 yards around right end for the score. Dunn swept around left end for the two-point conversion, and the score was 22-8 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Coahoma made some costly mistakes, and the momentum seemed to swing to the Lions.

After moving from their own 37 to the Lions 21, the Bulldogs fumbled the ball away. Montgomery, aided by 20 yards in penalties against Coahoma, then led his team on a 68 yard scoring march. Tambunga again carried the ball into paydirt, scoring from 15 yards out on he scooted 13 yards around a run around left end. Montgomery threw a screen pass to junior end David Fagan for the two-point conversion.

LONG RUNBACK

Two plays after it took the kickoff, Coahoma again fumbled the ball away, and Ozona took over on its own 48-yard line. The Lions promptly marched to Coahoma's 24, but Green then intercepted his second Montgomery pass and raced 90 yards into the end zone. Though a clipping penalty brought the ball back to Coahoma's 26-yard line, Ozona's momentum was broken.

Clanton himself put the final six points for Coahoma on the scoreboard, when with less than five minutes left in the game, he scooted 13 yards around right end for the touchdown.

The Lions made one final effort to score, taking the ball after the kickoff from their own 35 to the Bulldog three-yard line. The Coahoma defense stiffened, though, limiting the Lions to two yards in two carries, and forcing a Lion fumble on the third try, which they recovered.

Richters was the big gainer for the Bulldogs, picking up 116 yards in 13 carries. Fowler carried 19 times for 107 yards, and Dunn 13 times for 82 yards. For the Lions, Tambunga gained 70 yards in 14 tries, and junior etc Perez managed 56 yards in 12 carries.

Steer Linksters Defeat Lee, Midland In Meet

Big Spring High School's four-man golf team burned up the Big Spring Country Club course here Thursday, firing a score of 290 in a triangular match with Midland High and Midland Lee.

Mark Slate led the locals with a score of 69, two under par, while Gary Travis pieced together a 73 and Pat Weaver and Milton Jones each counted a 74.

Fourteen strokes back was Midland High, who finished with an aggregate of 304. Lee trailed with a 306.

Members of the Midland High team and their scores included: Tony Logan, 75; Scott Shaeffer, 75; Doug Alexander, 77; and Richard Boker, 77.

Lee entries and their scores included: Bob Kollman, 79; John Hammill, 76; Scott Keegan, 79; and Mike Hochman, 72.

Earlier in the week, young Travis of the Big Spring team had scored the first hole-in-one of his brief career. It came on the 159-yard 12th hole.

Monahans Beats Crane, 19 To 17

CRANE — A brilliant second half effort, in which corner back Billy Phelps made two sparkling defensive plays propelled Monahans to a 19-17 victory over the Crane Golden Cranes here Friday night.

Crane held a 17-9 half-time margin, but Monahans scored 10 points in the second half to emerge the winner. Phelps' game saving heroics came in the fourth quarter. He batted away one Crane aerial which would have gone for a touchdown. On the next series he intercepted another Golden Crane pass, thwarting a Crane touchdown bid on the Lobo 357 yards rushing.

The Sandies scored in every period while en route to their resounding victory.

Lubbock gained 58 yards rushing and 125 yards passing. Amarillo concentrated on a ground game which earned it 357 yards rushing.

Lubbock Loses Amarillo Tilt

AMARILLO — A devastating Amarillo High School ground game was instrumental in walling Lubbock High, 31-2, here Friday night.

The Westerners, who entertain Big Spring at home Saturday night, produced their only score in the second quarter with the football resting on the Amarillo 37-yard line. Lubbock quarterback Pat Kelly threw a pass towards the end zone. Sandy David Krill intercepted at the two-yard line. His momentum carried him into the end zone. Although Krill sprinted to the Amarillo 15-yard line before tackled, a clipping penalty in the end zone nullified the run and earned Lubbock two points on a safety.

ACKERLY — Forsan stopped Sands' running game cold and percolated effectively on offense to defeat the Mustangs, 22-0, before a large turnout here Friday night.

Don Stevens' Buffaloes are now 2-1 on the year. Sands has yet to win in three starts.

Forsan twice stopped Sands inside the five-yard line, from the four and again at the two. On each occasion, the Cayuses had first-and-goal to go. Mike man Alton Callihan was leader of Forsan's fierce defense — Sands had only two yards rushing the ball all evening but moved the ball well in the air.

The Buffaloes scored once in the first, another in the third and their final TD in the fourth. In the first, Leon Hobbs went the final 20 yards around left end at the end of a 55-yard surge. Bobby Davis added the two extra points on a run.

Davis accounted for Forsan's second tally on a 15-yard run at the end of a 55-yard march. Major gains by Davis and Hobbs set up the score.

In the fourth, Callihan, moved to fullback only Thursday, bruised seven yards up the middle for the tally, culminating a 75-yard drive. QB Jeff Williams went to Darrow Cobb with the pass that scored the two extra points.

QB Steve Herm's passing to Ronnie Oaks kept the Forsan defense on edge. A fine defensive play by Lee Doyle Whetsel, who knocked down a pass in the end zone, kept Sands from scoring on one occasion. Sands made good use of the screen play and wound up gaining 150 yards through the air.

Hobbs led all gainers with 143 yards in 17 carries. Davis picked up 110 in 10 lunges.

Open next week, the Forsan team play in Hermleigh the following Friday. All 18 boys Stevens suited out played.

POKES ON ROAD Redskins Visit Browns' Lair

By The Associated Press

The odds against Vince Lombardi making a contender of the Washington Redskins and the chances of the Baltimore Colts to repeat as National Football League champions should be easier to figure after Sunday's action.

Washington, 1-0, a winner over New Orleans on opening day, will go to Cleveland, 1-0, for an important test with the defending Eastern Conference champs. Baltimore, 0-1, beaten by Los Angeles last week, will be at Minnesota, 0-1, the team the Colts had to whip last year for the Western Conference crown.

Los Angeles, 1-0, an early favorite in the West, will bow in at home against Atlanta, 1-0, surprise winner over San Francisco. The Dallas Cowboys, 1-0, a prime contender in the East, will be at New Orleans, 0-1.

HOST 49ERS

Green Bay, winner over Chicago, 17-0, will try to show the Milwaukee customers that the team is really on the way back when it takes on San Francisco which lost its opener and all six exhibitions. Jim Grabowski and Travis Williams are the Packers running backs and Bart Starr is at the controls against John Brodie who was intercepted three times by Atlanta.

The Giants, exciting upset victors in Alex Webster's coaching debut, will face Detroit's tough defensive unit in search of their second straight. The Lions were hot in the preseason schedule but bowed to Pittsburgh last week when Mel Farr caught 10 passes and ran 10 times.

The Bears, embarrassed by the Packers defense, hope to get some offense moving against St. Louis which was only able to score three points in Dallas. Gale Sayers ran for only 36 yards in 10 carries in his first effort. The Cards' best threat at Dallas was Davey Williams who caught six passes for 104 yards.

Warren Bankston, an early goat but a final hero in the Steelers' opening victory, will try to help the Steelers to a second straight victory against the Eagles in Philadelphia. Philadelphia holds the series edge 29-24-1 but Pittsburgh won last year, 6-3.

GIANTS VS. LIONS

In other Sunday NFL games it will be New York, 1-0, at Detroit 0-1, Chicago 0-1, at St. Louis, Pittsburgh, 1-0, at Philadelphia 0-1, and San Francisco 0-1, vs Green Bay 1-0, at Milwaukee.

Lombardi's Redskins showed a little zip in whipping the Saints but will need more of the same against the Browns, despite Cleveland's loss of Leroy Kelly who suffered a pulled hamstring. Ron Johnson, a rookie from Michigan, and Reece Morrison took up the slack in the opener against the Philadelphia Eagles. The Browns have dumped the Redskins 10 straight times since 1962.

John Unitas threw two touchdown passes but was intercepted three times in a defeat by the Rams. The Colts won two bitter struggles with the Vikings in 1968, the second game being for the Western title. Minnesota figures to be in an angry mood after losing to the Giants, 24-23, in the final seconds and their front four should pressure Unitas.

The Rams' defense and special teams played a big part in their opening victory over the Colts while Roman Gabriel threw three touchdown passes and was not intercepted. Atlanta's new-found ground game came up with 229 yards rushing with rookie Paul Gipson and Junior Coffey doing the heavy work. Los Angeles never has lost to Atlanta in five meetings.

Craig Morton is due to return as Dallas quarterback despite the good performance of rookie Roger Staubach against St. Louis but Alvin Hill, the whiz from Yale, is firmly entrenched at a running back job. The Cowboys' defense will be tested by the Saints' Andy Livingston, leading rusher in the league after 142 yards against Washington.

Los Angeles, 1-0, an early favorite in the West, will bow in at home against Atlanta, 1-0, surprise winner over San Francisco. The Dallas Cowboys, 1-0, a prime contender in the East, will be at New Orleans, 0-1.

The Bears, embarrassed by the Packers defense, hope to get some offense moving against St. Louis which was only able to score three points in Dallas. Gale Sayers ran for only 36 yards in 10 carries in his first effort. The Cards' best threat at Dallas was Davey Williams who caught six passes for 104 yards.

Warren Bankston, an early goat but a final hero in the Steelers' opening victory, will try to help the Steelers to a second straight victory against the Eagles in Philadelphia. Philadelphia holds the series edge 29-24-1 but Pittsburgh won last year, 6-3.

The Giants, exciting upset victors in Alex Webster's coaching debut, will face Detroit's tough defensive unit in search of their second straight. The Lions were hot in the preseason schedule but bowed to Pittsburgh last week when Mel Farr caught 10 passes and ran 10 times.

IRMA BOYD WIBC Agent Will Visit

Many questions about rules, procedures and policies of the Woman's International Bowling Congress will be asked of Mrs. Irma Boyd, national field representative of WIBC, when she visits Big Spring Monday.

She will be a guest of the Big Spring Woman's Bowling Association at its forum starting at 8:30 p.m. at the Bowl-A-Rama, East Highway 80.

No association business will be transacted at the forum. Mrs. Boyd will discuss the many services of WIBC to its members, share information about the American Junior Bowling Congress, the collegiate division, the senior program and any new programs.

Field representatives of the WIBC travel thousands of miles annually throughout the United States to offer guidance and counsel to the nearly three million members of the Congress.

The meeting is open to all members of the Big Spring Woman's Bowling Association as well as local area Junior Bowling Association officers.

GARDEN CITY — Hard-luck Garden City dropped its first game of the season here Friday night, yielding to highly regarded Three-Way, 36-18.

The visiting Eagles capitalized on a roughing-the-kicker penalty early in the game, moving on to score the touchdown that put them ahead to stay.

The game was extremely close until the third, when the Three-Way team counted twice. Garden City had a thin edge in the statistics and could have won with a little luck.

A pass from QB Johnny Ferguson to Paul Nemo, good for 30 yards, gave Three-Way its first score. Mike Roberts ran across the all-important two extra points.

Garden City came back to break the scoring ice when Floyd Schwartz roared 40 yards to pay dirt. The Kats couldn't convert, however, and the Eagles carried an 8-6 advantage into Round Two.

Three-Way scored again in the second when Roberts boomed over from the nine after Garden City had been forced to give up the ball on a punt.

With one minute left in the half, the resident Bearkats tallied again when QB Steven Hirt passed 32 yards to Kenneth Chandler at the end of a 69-yard drive. Garden City again failed to convert, however.

Just before the half-time gun, Garden City intercepted a Three-Way pass but time ran out on the Kats in midfield.

Geno Abby got Three-Way started on the right foot in the third by plunging one yard for a TD. The drive had started on the Eagles' 35. The try for point failed.

Later in the round, Garden City had to punt and Three-Way took over on its own 25. On the second play thereafter, Roberts broke 50 yards for a score, then ran across the PAT's to make it 23-12.

In the fourth, Garden City fought back when Schwartz bruised through for two yards. The TD climaxed a drive of 65 yards. Key play was a 41-yard pass from Hirt to Chandler.

Roberts took the following kickoff, however, and raced 70 yards. All the Garden City players had shots at him but he somehow eluded them. Ferguson ran in the two extra points and Three-Way's 25 when the game ended. Earlier, the Kats had intercepted an Eagle toss but Three-Way had held.

Three-Way kept its regulars in all the way but could make only nine yards on offense in Round Four.

Defensively, guards Rudy Halfmann (recently moved to that position) and Kervin Frysak were outstanding for Garden City.

The Bearkats go to Smyer for a game next Friday. Smyer defeated Sterling City Friday, 14-8. Score by quarters:

Garden City 6 6 0 6-18
Three-Way 8 6 14 8-36

Simply cleaner cotton...

NEW HESSTON 24-A

Tractor-mounted, brush-type

with new AIR-LIFT ELEVATOR and LARGE CAPACITY BASKET!

With the new tractor-mounted Hesston 24-A brush cotton harvester, Hesston introduces the Air Elevator...a new technique in cotton handling and green boll separation. With ingenious engineering and one fan, the air elevator replaces a conveyor chute, cleated conveyor belt, and all the moving parts required to operate it. Precise control lets you separate to the degree you prefer. Bigger basket means fewer field stops...keeps high-priced labor moving at top efficiency. From the company that pioneered brush harvesting, the Hesston 24-A is in...and green bolls are OUT!

Game Officials Needed In Gra-Y

With opening games less than a week away, the Gra-Y Football league program is in desperate need of game officials.

Those willing to work would report to the Steer practice field at 9 a.m. Saturdays and work two games.

College and Webb AFB young men have a special invitation to take part in the program. Eddie Trice of the Y stated.

The schedule begins next Saturday.

BIG CATS — Two big yellow catfish caught by Carl Tefer-tiller, Snyder, near Sports-man's Paradise on Lake J. B. Thomas are pictured here. One weighed 45 pounds, the other 28. Carl also reeled in catches of 19 and 27 pounds. He was using goldfish as bait.

CHRYSLER
MOTOR CORPORATION

The two most expensive used cars in the country.

If you're thinking of buying a new car, consider this.

New York Magazine said VW "retains its value better than anything else. A 1956 VW is worth more today than any American sedan built the same year, with the possible exception of a Cadillac."

An inexpensive car when you buy it, an expensive car when you sell it.

Seems almost too good to be true, doesn't it?

MRS. HAROLD T. BOE

"La Boutique"

By JO BRIGHT

The first of anything—be it autumn days or fall fashions—is warmly welcomed by women who stay gay in spirit and young at heart. Ready for tomorrow, and another experience, they accept the new (knowing it means change) and tip their hats to those who make fashions such fun.

"La Boutique de Paris", a showing of fall fashions, will be presented by Swartz Thursday at the Officers Wives Club Luncheon under the sponsorship of the 3560th PTS wives. Shoes will be from Barnes-Pelletier. Mrs. Joe B. Wiser will do the commentary, and music accompaniment will be provided by Mrs. Gail Bonner.

Models will be Mrs. Harry J. Hopper, Mrs. David P. Mott, Mrs. A. Del Hoyo, Mrs. Michael J. Rega, Mrs. William R. Lund, Mrs. Harold T. Boe, Mrs. William W. Cofer, Mrs. Michael Corcoran, Mrs. Larry McLain, Mrs. John S. Kurtak, Mrs. Owen H. Wormser, Mrs. Richard Stanton, Mrs. William Henley, Mrs. D. L. Quillan and Mrs. Julius L. Gresham.

MRS. DAVID P. MOTT

THE GOOD TASTE of understated elegance remains through changing fashions, as shown above by Mrs. Harold T. Boe in a gown of cloud-white crepe. Perfect pleating, which falls from the unadorned yoke, is brought to the waist with a wide belt, rhinestones forming a jewel of a buckle. Finishing touch is white gloves and slippers, and to warm her shoulders, White Fox in a sliver of stole.

THE GLIMMER OF GOLD is like moonlight to the eye when it sparkles to enhance the champagne chiffon gown worn at right by Mrs. Harry J. Hopper. The Empire line forms a mere bit of a bodice with gold bugle beading over braid. Accents are gold mobile ear clips, stretch gloves and lattice-collared slippers.

MAKING THE SCENE in an unmistakably modern manner is Mrs. William Henley with the "wet look" of crushed water-repellent fabric that goes to great lengths to make her burgundy maxi-coat. Military buttons do double time from a trench collar and march beneath a buckled belt. Her high-shine shoes have their own silver lode, and the Apache headband assures happy hunting.

MRS. HARRY J. HOPPER

AN UNCOMMON COAT with the swerve and sweep made for deep fur accents is this winter white warmer shown above by Mrs. David P. Mott. Wool is woven to a diamond design then polished to perfection with a tuxedo touch of Blue Fox. Ready for the next move is a wool-knit jumpsuit, hip-belted with tortoise and zippered to the high-rise collar.

PANTSUITS PUT on party airs when they are rich in black velveteen as worn below by Mrs. William W. Cofer. A soft satin blouse gets uppity by way of a rolled pointed collar tied high with a loop or bow. The longer weskit is anchored with rhinestone balls and chain, and she'll be walking on easy street in her black patent miniboats.

THE DRESS doesn't matter to Mrs. Michael J. Rega at center below, for no one cares, as long as it's topped with this smashing white coat. Blue Fox forms a big shawl collar and slithers down the front to circle the hemline for a happy ending. Incidentally, the dress is a basic white wool, broken with a border of gray.

Couple Marries In New York Ceremony

Fireman Apprentice and Mrs. Ronald Arthur Varley are on a wedding trip to the Allegheny Mountains following their marriage Monday in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Varley in Buffalo, N.Y.

The bride is the former Miss Rejania Ann McKinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McKinney, 3237 Drexel.

The Rev. William Edwards of the United Church of Christ performed the ceremony before an improvised altar adorned with white shasta daisies in a crystal basket flanked by white candles in crystal holders.

Traditional wedding music was played throughout the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a street-length princess dress of white cotton enhanced by flocked daisies with pale yellow centers. Her shoulder-length veil was accented with white lily of the valley, and she carried a large nosegay of white carnations and yellow rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor served as the couple's only attendants.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, where she was a member of the band, and she attended Abilene Christian College. The bridegroom graduated from Cooper High School in Abilene and is presently serving in the Navy.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor at Eggertsville, N.Y. A buffet dinner was served from a table laid with a white cloth and centered with the tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Linda L. Varley, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore a pale pink knit dress. The couple will be at home at Great Lakes, Ill.

Rush Season Begins For Alpha Chi, ESA

"A Trip to Outer Space With ESA" has been chosen as rush theme this fall by Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, according to Mrs. Ruben Reavis, rush chairman.

The schedule of events was announced by Mrs. Reavis Thursday during a meeting in the home of Mrs. C. W. Uley, 905 E. 14th, conducted by Mrs. Jack Price, president. Individual activity themes include "Count Down", "Blast-Off", "Dinner on the Moon", "Securing Gear" and "Splash Down".

Rush will begin Thursday with a get-acquainted party at the home of Mrs. N. R. Holcombe, 1708 Purdue. A model meeting is scheduled Oct. 9 in the Reavis home at 3710 Connally, to be followed by a dinner Oct. 18, with husbands as guests, in the First Federal Community Room. Mrs. B. E. Reagan, 1500 E. 6th, will host a business meeting Oct. 23, and the pledge pin ceremony will be conducted Oct. 30 in the home of Mrs. Robert Rogers, 3609 Tingle.

Mrs. Frank Perry, welfare chairman, announced that the club will serve coffee and cake at the Veterans Administration Hospital the first Monday of each month, beginning Oct. 6 with Mrs. Holcombe and Mrs. R. M. Oliver being the hostesses.

Mrs. J. Holcombe, social chairman, said the annual Christmas dance, open to the public for $5 per couple, will be held Dec. 13 at Big Spring Country Club. Music will be provided by the Red Raiders from Texas Tech. Another social event will be a progressive dinner for members and husbands on Nov. 29.

It was announced that the chapter has purchased a film, "Strangers," for the Big Spring Police Department to show in public schools. The film warns youngsters about the danger of associating with strangers.

The program, "Facts About Christian Religion," was presented by Mrs. J. O. Johansen, Bible instructor at Big Spring High School. The speaker used a map for illustration as she traced the travels of Jesus, noting that since his time, over 250 Christian denominations have developed all over the world.

'Quotable Quotes'

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"It is a waste of taxpayers' money to try to educate a child who is hungry; he's just not alert. I'd like to see the school lunch program made available to every school child in the country."—Helen McGee, president of the American School Food Service Association, in an interview.

"Ernest was a great admirer of President Kennedy. Since he was never affiliated with any university, I could think of no place where he would rather have had his words made available to scholars and students than in the Kennedy collection."

—Mrs. Ernest Hemingway, explaining her decision to give a collection of her late husband's manuscripts and documents to the John F. Kennedy Library at Harvard.

"A man is drowning—grasps a life preserver—does he examine it for flaws? He does not."—Mrs. Haskell Karp, defending the use of a controversial totally mechanical heart in a vain attempt to keep her husband alive.

"We kept thinking we wanted to be married in a way which was out of the ordinary." Marilyn Kent, 20, concerning her marriage on a merry-go-round at Pomona, Calif.

"I didn't think I was so great. I thought Merv Griffin was great, but it's not his show."—Betty Hughes, wife of New Jersey's governor, after the premiere of her TV show, "Betty Hughes and Friends."

"All this fuss about the hair and the clothes—I just can't bear it. We just got so accustomed visually to this crew-cut, gray flannel-suited human being who was a symbol of financial success in this country that we can't change."—Hila Colman, author of novels dealing with teenagers, in an interview.

Couples Go To Ada, Oklahoma

Attends Odessa Dental Meeting

Mrs. Marvin L. Callahan attended the meeting Thursday evening of Permian Basin Dental Assistants Society at Jay's Barn Door in Odessa. Other members attended from Lamesa, Odessa and Midland to hear Joe Suggs of Odessa speak on laboratory procedures. The next meeting will be in Midland.

Optometrist Speaks To Committee

Dr. Harold Smith, a local optometrist, spoke on "Learning Disabilities in Minimal Brain Damaged Children" at Friday's meeting of the Health and Welfare Committee at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Dr. Smith cited the need for diagnosis at an early age for children who have had minimal brain damage. He explained that the child is usually referred to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center where competent people including doctors, nurses, therapists and audiologists, diagnose the case and refer the child to special teachers. Dr. Smith stressed that there are ten local teachers qualified to help a child on a private tutoring basis.

Guests were Mrs. T. A. Hufford, social worker at Big Spring State Hospital; John Barker, administrator of Big Spring Nursing Inn; and Judge and Mrs. W. H. Eysen Jr.

The next meeting will be Oct. 31 at the VA Hospital, with Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent at Big Spring State Hospital, as guest speaker.

Rebekahs To Hold Initiation Service

Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 will give the preamble for the Lamesa lodge in November, it was announced by Mrs. Earl Wilson at Tuesday's meeting in the IOOF Hall. Mrs. J. L. Unger, noble grand, slated initiation for Mrs. C. C. Cunningham and Mrs. Edward E. Burchell at next Tuesday's meeting, when a salad supper will be held. Mrs. Emmett Hull won the friendship gift.

Texas University Tea House Doomed By Changing Times

AUSTIN, Tex. — It's time to say farewell to The University of Texas Tea House.

The rock-and-frame cottage which has been so much a part of UT Austin campus life for the past 30 years, is being razed to make room for the widening of 26th Street.

And while nostalgia may be the order of the day, the change comes naturally, as another chapter in the long history of that tree-shaded lot overlooking Waller Creek.

It was in 1870 that a Missouri named William Garner built a home for his bride there, after striking it rich in the Gold Rush.

Sixty years later Miss Mary Gearing, then chairman of the University Home Economics Department, found the spot with its crumbling house and decided it was suited perfectly to her plan to have a Tea House to use as a laboratory for her students, while at the same time serving the University and the community.

The idea was an innovative one and when it was put into action, The University of Texas became the first in the nation to have such a facility.

It took time for the plan to become a reality. The house was beyond repair, but when it was demolished the usable rock was carefully preserved to be used in the Colonial style rock-and-frame building that was erected. Like the old home, the Tea House nestled among the pecan and willow trees the Garner family had enjoyed.

Tommy Robertses Move To Forsan

FORSAN (SC) — New residents in Forsan are Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Robertses who moved here from Big Spring.

D. E. Scudday is a patient in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring.

Mrs. Vera Harris has returned from a visit with the James Craig family in Robert Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Riffe have moved to Big Spring.

Guests this weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Shoults are Mr. and Mrs. Mack Alexander of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Shoults of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild had as guests their daughter and family, the Larry Digbys of Odessa.

In Seminole the first of the week were Mrs. Mary Archer, Mrs. L. B. McElrath and Mrs. Don Murphy. Jackie Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Willis, is a patient in Parkview Hospital in Midland due to a knee injury received in a recent football game. He had surgery Wednesday. Jackie is a junior student at Forsan.

In September, 1940, Helen Corbitt, nationally recognized food expert, took charge and remained until 1942. Her arrival ushered in the era of her famous potluck delicacies, "stickie buns" and the unforgettable brownie crumble balls.

The history of the early World War II years was reflected in the Tea House one-day-a-week special "Victory" menu, an outgrowth of the Victory Garden project of the Home Economics Department. Then, in 1943, the Tea House was called into "active service" as a mess hall for 300 Navy men stationed on campus.

In September, 1946, having honorably discharged its duty to the nation, the Tea House was reopened to the public, but it was June, 1947, before it again was used as a laboratory for Home Economics Department students.

FACULTY DIET

The immediate postwar years saw the Tea House characteristically reflect the early stages of trends that were eventually to sweep the country. It sponsored (well in advance of the national fixation on all things slimming) a nutritionally sound nine-day diet that helped numbers of faculty and staff shed unwanted poundage, and in 1951 experienced what must have been one of the earliest student protest walkouts. (Faced with a change of policy, some of the student waiters walked out — but the dispute was settled quickly.) As faraway places and strange-sounding names became a part of the public consciousness, the Tea House swung into line with a weekly foreign food night and served, in turn, menus from such countries as Russia, China and Hungary.

It was in 1952 that the Home Economics Department discontinued use of the facilities as a laboratory, and the Housing and Food Service Division assumed its complete management. In September, 1953, the Tea House conformed to the automated, quickened tempo of the times, once again demonstrating its ability to take change in stride. The seated-service dining room was retained, but a cafeteria and soda fountain were installed for those who found such service more convenient.

In 1954 the Tea House was centrally air-conditioned and in 1960 it became a strictly cafeteria operation, which it remained until it closed this summer.

A graceful yielding to the demands of changing times has been a hallmark of the Tea House — and in saying goodbye, one is reminded of the voice from the crowd who is said to have called out to Queen Victoria on the occasion of her Diamond Jubilee: "Go it, old girl. You've done it well."

A LOVELIER YOU

Shades Of Purple Blossom This Fall

By MARY SUE MILLER

Purple moves up into the ranks of leading fashion colors... every nuance from true bright shades to rich aubergine and subtle mauves. The look is right on the autumn scene. And, if you wear the most flattering shade with complementary makeup, you are sure to be a scene stealer.

To make a just-right choice, be guided by your own skin tone. Choose an intense purple for a brunet skin. Wear it with a foundation that pinks your coloring and a lipstick that leaves a see-through crimson stain.

If your skin is fair — on either the alabaster or pink side — elect a medium, bluish mauve or a shade as dark as eggplant. Set off your choice with a tawny foundation. Its earthen tones warm a pale skin and keep the temperature of a ruddy skin from rising. Add lipstick that has the clear rustic richness of port wine.

Now for eyeshadow, and the newest one to wear with purple: it is a transparent winy shade. That may sound far out to you, but you can't know until you try how applications make reflecting pools of the eyes. The effect is fascinating. Better envelope and 25 cents in coin.

NATIONAL RECOGNITION — Mrs. A. W. Moody has received numerous citations for her service to the Veterans Administration Volunteer Service and the American National Red Cross since the death of her son on Jan. 1, 1951, in Korea. Framed along with Sgt. Moody's picture, are a few of her awards.

She Remembers Her Son— And Serves Other Veterans

By JO BRIGHT

"A woman becomes a Gold Star Mother by war — not choice."

Those words spoken long ago by Mrs. A. W. Moody still ring true — but there is a choice she made — to devote much of her life to helping war veterans. In a sense, her work has become a memorial to her son, Sgt. Charles Vernon Moody, who died in Korea Jan. 1, 1951.

"Yes, I started Red Cross work — which I love so much — in memory of my son, but I've continued it because it is one of the most rewarding things I've ever done," said Mrs. Moody.

Rewards and awards are two different things, but both have come to Mrs. Moody. She considers the rewards to be smiles from patients she has made more comfortable, a word from one for whom she writes letters, or the sound of singing as she plays the piano.

The awards are more tangible. Pins, plaques and certificates almost tell the story of her life for the past 15 years.

The first certificate was earned when she has accumulated 100 hours of volunteer service at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Gradually, after countless times of climbing the hospital steps, more certificates were earned, and now, her 5,000 hours of volunteer time has been recognized by the American National Red Cross.

In 1964, the VAVS cited her for suggesting the use of pitcher pads as a convenience for patients. (The pads, which are now made by local clubs, have been used since that time.) In 1965, her name was engraved on the "Honor Roll of Service" plaque, an honor not yet achieved by many persons. More recognition came in 1966, when she was honored with a coffee by fellow volunteers as she left for Washington, D.C., to attend the 20th anniversary meeting of the National Veterans Administration Advisory Committee. She has served since 1958 as the deputy representative for the American Red Cross on the local Veterans Administration Volunteer Service Advisory Committee. She also represented the Red Cross Gray Ladies.

In 1968, VAVS again expressed appreciation for her service "as evidenced by her interest, efforts and compassionate understanding of the needs of patients." The award went on to describe her outstanding contributions, alertness, warmth, and unselfishness, noting that her efforts had resulted in larger recruitment for the organization. This year, the VAVS presented her an award for excellence in leadership for its advisory committee.

Mrs. Moody, who makes her regular rounds dressed in the new Red Cross uniform, a blue and white pin stripe skirt and jacket, which she describes as "less military, but easier to keep." As she visits with patients, Mrs. Moody tries not to be "over concerned." Admittedly, there are times when a sad situation may arouse her emotions.

"You can't show it," mused Mrs. Moody, "for you are there to cheer the other person."

There is a piano on one of the wards Mrs. Moody visits and patients often ask her to play several of the old-time tunes they remember. "I can go back as far as 'Red Wing,'" laughed Mrs. Moody, "so we don't miss many. Of course, I don't play if others are sleeping or not in the mood for music."

Birthdays are celebrated every Tuesday, and on these days, Mrs. Moody adds to her basket of comfort items, a gift for the celebrant. Tuesday is also the day she shops for the Red Cross to be sure volunteers have the items a patient might need. As she makes her rounds, Mrs. Moody often writes letters for patients, and is gratified to meet the distant family when they come to the hospital. She handled correspondence for one patient for over four years, and he always wheeled his chair to the door to wait for her arrival.

CHRISTMAS
Christmas will come to the hospital in a festive fashion this year — and right on time — for Mrs. Moody did her shopping in July, and volunteers are already wrapping gifts for every patient.

Mrs. Moody is the former Martha Deats, born and reared in Big Spring, graduating from high school in 1922. Her father was L. T. Deats, a former mayor of Big Spring who was president of the First State Bank. She is a member of the First United Methodist Church and Philaetha Sunday school class. She taught in the kindergarten for 10 years. Once a month she and Mr. Moody assist ambulatory patients to attend church services at the hospital.

A member of the Gold Star Mothers for many years, she has been its president in the past and is again serving in that capacity. She has held the state offices of historian, parliamentarian and custodian of records.

She belongs to the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, serving as musician, and has been a member of Chapter 67, Order of Eastern Star, since 1923.

FAMILY
The Moody's other son, Alfred Moody, lives in Garden Grove, Calif., where he has an interest in a plumbing business. He is a 32nd degree Mason. Their daughter, Mrs. Fred Stitzell lives in Garland. The Moodys look forward to visits from their seven grandchildren. One of the youngsters, Martha Ann Stitzell, likes to help Mrs. Moody with some of her chores that serve the volunteer program. Not old enough to be a "Candy Stripper," she can still help in other ways.

Mrs. Moody has only one regret concerning her volunteer work — she regrets that she can't stay young enough to do much more.

Sgt. Moody would be just as proud of his mother as she is of him.

Today's pants and matching tops are big fashion news... Mrs. Ginny Hutto wears a beautiful pant set from Thelma's outstanding collection. They are easy care, easy wear antron, nylon fabric, completely washable. Green, berry, blue or grey. They come in tails or regulars.

HD CLUBS Explains Easy Filing Methods For Home

Howard County home demonstration clubs met during the week to learn new methods of keeping personal and business files up-to-date. Some clubs elected new officers, who will not assume duties until January, 1970. Reports were heard from the state convention, and an exhibit was slated in October at First Methodist Church. The public is invited to attend.

CENTER POINT HD CLUB

"Up-Date Your Files," was the topic presented by Mrs. L. J. Davidson and Mrs. J. R. Petty at Tuesday's meeting of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Bob Wren, 700 E. 14th. The speakers stressed that every home-maker should have two sets of files, one for the home and one for business. They should be checked monthly, and all wills, warranties and deeds should be kept in a fire proof box or in the bank. Answered and unanswered mail should be kept in separate files, and checks and bank statements should be filed chronologically by the year. It was stressed that recipe files be kept in alphabetical order in their own container.

Officers elected were Mrs. Petty, president; Mrs. Davidson, vice president; Mrs. Bob Wren, council delegate; and Mrs. Travis Melton, secretary-reporter.

Mrs. Melton, president, announced the crafts luncheon will be held during October in the First Methodist Church. The date will be announced soon. Two guests, Mrs. C. O. Haygood and Mrs. Otto Couch,

COLLEGE PARK HD CLUB

Mrs. Van Brown was welcomed as a new member of the College Park Home Demonstration Club at Tuesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. Gerald Miller, 3220 Auburn. The group re-convened to tour the Big Spring Herald. The next meeting will be Oct. 7 in the home of Mrs. Jerry Phillips, 2402 Alabama.

COAHOMA HD CLUB

Mrs. O. D. Daniel and Mrs. Ray Swann gave a report on the state convention held in Dallas at Wednesday's meeting of the Coahoma Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. O. Daniel also reported on the HD council meeting. Mrs. A. C. Hale gave the program on keeping up your files, discussing the best method of up-dating personal, business and recipe files. Roll call was answered with "My Birthplace."

LEES HD CLUB

Mrs. Lynn Glass was welcomed as a new member of the Lees Home Demonstration Club at Tuesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. E. B. Low. Roll call was answered with "An Idea For A Gift, and a New Fall Fashion."

The announcement was made that a county-wide meeting will be held at 10 a.m., Oct. 14, in the Glasscock County Courthouse. The program, "Aging," will be presented by Miss Minnie Bell from the Texas A&M Extension Service.

Mrs. J. L. Overton and Mrs. Bennie J. Blissard reported on the state THDA meeting held Sept. 17-18 in Dallas. On Oct. 28, Mrs. W. T. Wells of Stanton will present a program on candle making.

Mrs. Blizard will be hostess.

KNOTT HD CLUB

New officers were elected at Tuesday's meeting of the Knott Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. R. J. Shortes was named president, and other officers are Mrs. Glenn Neill, vice president; Mrs. O. B. Gaskin, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Joe Myers, council delegate; Mrs. Dalton Wright, reporter; and Mrs. Mac Gaskin, program chairman.

Mrs. Joe Myers was hostess, and plans were completed for the county HD exhibit to be held Oct. 23 in the First Methodist Church fellowship hall. The public is invited to attend. The next meeting will be Oct. 14 in the home of Mrs. Shortes.

The program, "Up-Date Your Files," was presented by Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskin.

LUTHER HD CLUB

Mrs. Webb Nix and Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein presented a program on home file systems, with each member telling how she kept business and personal papers, at Thursday's meeting of the Luther Home Demonstration Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. Frances Zant where Mrs. Vern Vigar was introduced as a guest. Members were reminded to bring gifts to the next meeting for Christmas presents at Big Spring State Hospital. The hostess gift was won by Mrs. John Couch. The next meeting will be Oct. 9 in the Couch home.

CITY HD CLUB

Mrs. Carl Gumm, president, distributed forms on "Will You Be Able To Adjust To Retirement?" at Friday's meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Marvin Sewell, 407 Washington Blvd. Members filled out the forms and discussed middle age and adjusting to retirement years.

Mrs. J. W. Haynes was welcomed as a guest. Mrs. M. E. Anderson brought the devotion, and Mrs. Alton Underwood reported on the Texas Home Demonstration Association state meeting held in Dallas Sept. 16-18.

Final plans were made for the exhibit to be held Oct. 23 at the First Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Erven Daniels won the attendance prize. The next meeting will be a low-calorie luncheon Oct. 10 in the home of Mrs. Alton Underwood, 601 E. 16th.

LGA LUNCH POSTPONED

Due to a conflict of events, the Ladies Golf Association at Big Spring Country Club will not hold its regular luncheon Oct. 3, according to Mrs. Floyd Mays, president. The luncheon and party bridge have been re-scheduled for Oct. 10. The La Gallina bridge group will not meet again until Oct. 17.

Peggy Grant Installed As Worthy Advisor

Peggy Grant was installed Saturday evening as worthy advisor of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, Big Spring Assembly No. 60. The ceremony was held at the Masonic Temple, 221½ Main.

Miss Grant, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Grant, 209 Circle, dedicated her term to Jane Thompson, a past worthy advisor of the assembly.

The theme for Miss Grant's term is "Walk With Faith in Your Heart," and her chosen color is blue. The scripture is Hebrews 10:22. The song, "Walk With Faith in Your Heart," was sung by David Yater, worthy patron of Chapter No. 67, Order of Eastern Star, accompanied by Mrs. Yater.

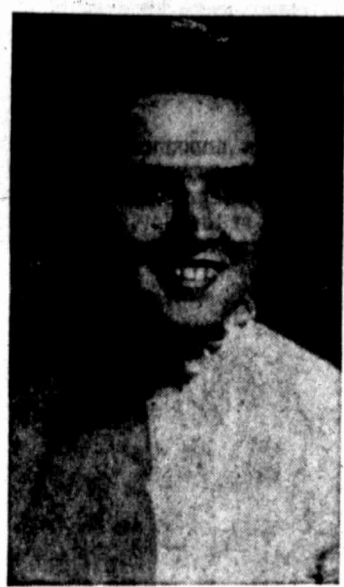

SPEAKER

Rev. Lee Butler, chaplain at Big Spring State Hospital, spoke on the worthy advisor's theme, using her scripture as his text.

Following the invocation, given by Mrs. F. C. Tibbs, the installing officers were introduced by the mother advisor, Mrs. W. B. Grant. The installing officer presiding was Lucetta Drake, assisted by installing marshals, Susan Beal and Susan Beal. Installing recorder, Ayn McClinton; and installing musician, Mrs. F. C. Gambill.

Guests were registered by Sheila Fryar.

Installed were Esther Dennis, worthy associate advisor; Vicki Annen, charity; Sharon An-

Also serving this term are Teresa Johnson, treasurer; Cindy Johnson, recorder; and Mrs. Grant, mother advisor. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond An-draws presented their daughter, Sharon, with the gavel, and Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Webb presented the Rainbow Bible to their daughter, Gayle.

AWARDS

Mary Ellen Hedges was presented the Outstanding Member Award by Mrs. Grant, and Cindy Williams was presented the "Big Sister" award by Jennie Kohanek. The benediction was given by Rev. Elra Phillips, pastor of North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church.

Serving on the paraphernalia committee were Gayle Webb, chairman; Teresa Johnson, Irene Galan, Ann Bell, Brenda Capen, Tonia Carroll, Jennie Kohanek, Pam Wheeler, and Mary Fitzgibbon.

Serving as the telephone committee were Sharon Andrews, chairman; Linda Padgett, Phyllis Jones, Pam Wheeler, Mary Sayers, Brenda Thomas, Rhonda Thompson, Susan Blasingame, Christi Miller, and LaNell Knowles.

Members of the welcoming committee were Brenda Thomas, Debbie Hughes, Becky Goodman, Beverly Pearce, Jo Ann Day, Susan Smith, Dana Whitley, Cindy Engle, Emma Dillard, Rhonda Thompson and Vicki Annen.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a blue lace cloth and appointed with silver and crystal. The centerpiece was blue flowers surrounding a tall, blue candle. A cake decorated with the worthy advisor's emblem, theme, and color was served to over 100 guests.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. A. McWilliams, grandmother of the worthy advisor, Mrs. Andy Shouse, Mrs. Lynn Spencer, Kerry Holland and Ann Spencer.

The custom of the Rainbow Girls is to attend the church of the worthy advisor the Sunday following her installation. Miss Grant attends the North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church, where she serves as pianist for the worship hour.

Church Women To Aid Project

The United Foursquare Women are assisting with the missionary project of providing boys' shirts in the Darien Providence of South America. Mrs. Ray Menges explained the work at Wednesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. John J. Herbert at 1808 E. 17th.

A further study was made on "The Works of the Holy Spirit." Reports were given by Mrs. Sam Kerby, treasurer, concerning the garage sale held recently. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Arlie Knight.

The group is selling Christmas cards and notions as a fund-raising project.

Lakeview PTA

The Lakeview Parent-Teacher Association will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the school library. All parents are invited to attend.

That was pretty good hay that C. R. RHODES showed in the Hunt County Fair in Greenville early this month. His coastal Bermuda hay was good enough to get him a blue ribbon, third place in a entry list of 60. Rhodes has a Black Angus farm in Hunt County, and the samples were taken at random over the pastures by his farm manager.

Even though the ROBERT CLARKS spent their whole two weeks vacation in the Baltimore-Washington, D.C. area they still didn't get to see all of Washington they wanted to visit. They were visiting the ROBBY ALLENS in Baltimore and got back home Thursday night.

MRS. JACK WILLCOX has as her guests her niece, MRS. ART RENFRO, and her small child.

GRANT BOARDMAN'S mother who lives in Morgan City, La., is visiting them at their home.

The R. V. MIDDLETONS are back home after an extended trip that took them 4,300 miles. They went as far north as Helena, Mont., and down through Belleville, Kan., where they visited briefly with the JEWELLS. Mrs. Jewell, who has visited here often, is a sister of MRS. F. H. TALBOTT and PAUL SOLDAN.

STANFORD STEWART, a freshman at Rice University at Houston, will return there today after spending the weekend with his parents, MR. and MRS. MERLE STEWART.

Friendship Tea Set By Chapter

Mrs. Marvin Steen, associate worthy matron, announced Friendship Night will be held during November at Thursday's meeting of the Laura B. Hart Chapter, No. 1019, Order of Eastern Star at Masonic Temple. Plans were made to serve refreshments Friday at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Forum Has Brunch Wednesday

Mrs. Bill Draper was hostess for a brunch Wednesday for the Big Spring Progressive Forum in her home east of the city.

Quartet tables were laid with white linen cloths and centered with arrangements of miniature chrysanthemums and grapes. Silver and china appointments completed the setting.

Mrs. James Owens, president, announced the group will sell pecans as a fund-raising project to provide a scholarship to Howard County Junior College.

Guests welcomed were Mrs. Bill Austin, Mrs. Jaime Garcia and Mrs. Earnest Welch.

The next meeting will be Oct. 23 in the home of Mrs. Max Green, 1902 Main.

Club Gets Report On Convention

STANTON (SC) — The Grady Home Demonstration Club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. C. Standefer with seven members present and one guest, Mrs. Billy Radd.

Roll call was answered with a new fall fashion.

Mrs. James Lueb presided, and Mrs. O. D. Green gave a report on her trip to Dallas for the THDA convention, Sept. 17.

The program, presented by Mrs. Lueb, was on making hats from plastic bleach bottles. A committee appointed to nominate officers for the coming year, include Mrs. Delmar Hamm, Mrs. O. D. Green and Mrs. Lueb. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Mitchell.

Announce Slate For YMCA Units

Mrs. Henry Rimmer, Tri-Hi-Y coordinator, and Leon Miller, Hi-Y coordinator, have announced officers in the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs. Meetings are held in the YMCA.

Hi-Y council officers are Glynn Jones, president; Nicholson, vice president; Denise Bryant, secretary; Sammy Chappell, treasurer; and Raylene Oliver, chaplain.

Coats Are Fluid Shaped For Fall

Fluid shaping plays a prominent role in coats and contributes strongly to the sudden renaissance of black. In each, the line flows from a flattering close-to-the-body top, cut high and narrow, with small bust and shoulders. Some are slim in silhouette with optional belts while others fall in a gentle or a full flare from a narrow bodice. One, a sleek body coat, descends smoothly into a gracefully flaring hip-pleated skirt.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Dudley of Mesquite announce the engagement of their daughter, Judy Elizabeth, to E. Harold W. Dunn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Dunn Sr. of Mabank. The prospective bridegroom is now serving a tour of duty in Vietnam. The couple will marry in December at St. Patrick Episcopal Church in Dallas.

Koffee Kup Club Names New Slate

STANTON (SC) — The Koffee Kup Home Demonstration Club met Thursday in the Texas Electric Reddy Room with Mrs. Tom Johnson as hostess. Mrs. Fred Bowlin presided. Roll call was answered with a new fall fashion idea, by 12 members.

The club will hold a bake sale Oct. 1, beginning at 8:30 a.m. in the Stanton Food Store. Also, plans were made to bring paperback books to the next meeting, for shipment to servicemen in Vietnam.

The nominating committee presented their nominees for officer and the club elected as president, Mrs. Homer Swinson; vice president, Mrs. Harold Henley; secretary, Mrs. Tom Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. Roger Fleckenstein; and council delegates, Mrs. Fred Bowlin and Mrs. Billy Morrow.

Plans were discussed for a Christmas salad luncheon to be held Dec. 11 in the home of Mrs. Bob Cox. Mrs. James Jones gave the program and presented a film on cancer. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. James Doyle.

Salad Luncheon Held By HD Club

STANTON (SC) — The Lakeview Home Demonstration Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. E. P. Madison for a salad luncheon. Six members were present and two guests, Mrs. A. C. Fleming and Mrs. Edgar Standerfer. Mrs. W. J. Harlow, president, presided and Mrs. W. T. Wells gave the program on candle-making. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Bill McIlvain.

Further plans were made for the Big Spring Garden Club Council standard flower show at Wednesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. Garner McAdams, 1313 Dixie.

"Eyes On Texas," portrayed with flowers, will be the theme of the show, slated Nov. 1, at the First Federal Community Room. The show will be held from 3 to 7 p.m. and will be open to the public. There will be no admission charge. One class will be open to non-members and will be classified as "Six Flags Over Texas." Any person interested in entering the show is asked to contact a garden club member.

Mrs. Paul Guy of the Planters Garden Club will serve as chairman of the show, with Mrs. Luke Fortenberry as co-chairman; Mrs. J. W. Trantham, schedule chairman; and Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, co-chairman.

Mrs. J. R. Crane Jr. of the Four O'Clock Garden Club will direct the staging; Mrs. John Edgar, properties; and Mrs. E. D. Campbell, dismantling.

Entries will be under the direction of Mrs. Garner McAdams of the Big Spring Garden Club. Mrs. D. S. Riley will be in charge of classification; and Mrs. J. B. Knox will arrange hospitality and secure judges.

Miss Bessie Love of the After Five Garden Club will be placement chairman, Mrs. Tom Ivey and Bill Sneed will assist Mrs. Jack Little who is in charge of publicity, and Mrs. Delmar Hartin will be awards chairman. Mrs. Ivey will be clerks chairman.

Sneed will serve as conservation chairman from the Big Spring Men's Garden Club; and L. D. Bender will be education chairman.

Entries will be received from be grown out of doors by the exhibitor in Howard County, and potted plants must be in possession of exhibitor for six weeks and have been potted by exhibitor.

Fresh flowers and foliage used in arrangements need not be grown by exhibitor but may not be purchased. Fresh fruits and vegetables may be purchased. No artificial plants or foliage may be used, and no conservation material may be used.

Mrs. Ivey was elected secretary-reporter for the council following the resignation of Miss Love.

The next meeting will be Nov. 19 in the home of Mrs. Guy Cook, 1004 E. 21st.

How sharper than a serpent's tooth is a husband who asks if you are going to the beauty shop the day after you've been!

It was a long time ago when FRED SANDERS worked through Big Spring as a TAP engineer — 1912 in fact — and his son grew up with memories of the family in later years coming through Big Spring and getting off for a walk about the station area. The son was LT. FRED (TEX) SANDERS whose wife is the cousin of MRS. VIVIAN CUTCHER who works at Webb AFB. Lt. Sanders died the past week in Belleville, Ill., of injuries received in his line of duty with the police force.

Lt. Sanders' father always considered himself a MOPAC engineer and lived in San Angelo more than in Big Spring but he always came through here when the family took their annual vacation trip to California and his son remembered the walks about the old station and many tales his father told of early day railroading.

Wonder Material, Enzymes, Boosts Laundry Products

By JANET SHETTLEWORTH
Howard County Ext. Assistant

Treatment of spots, stains, and heavily soiled areas is one of the most important steps in producing successful laundry results. The trend to easy-care fabrics, pushbutton laundering, and tailor-made laundry aids have created the tendency of the homemaker to overlook spot and stain removal as a part of the laundry procedure.

Pre-treatment is still necessary, and frequently when stained garments are tossed untreated into the washer with the rest of the wash load, some stains may be set in forever. Many synthetic fibers and finishes stubbornly retain certain soils which cotton or linen readily give up in a regular wash. Pre-treatment of oily soils on polyester and permanent press items is absolutely essential. Certain protein-type stains can be set by hot water if not treated first in a cool soak, no matter what the fabric. Stubborn stains may need repeated treatment, some may need a long soak.

A routine part of preparation should be the treatment of all spots, stains, and heavily soiled areas before a garment is added to the wash load. There are many stain removal aids available. Correct usage of them will produce excellent results, but a little "know-how" is important. A helpful guide for removing stains from fabrics at home may be obtained at the county home demonstration agent's office.

Enzymes are one of nature's wonder materials, and they are being used in home laundry products to aid in stain removal. Some of the questions you may have about enzymes are answered in a publication from the Cleanliness Bureau, the most common of which are the following:

What are enzymes? Enzymes are chemicals (proteins) that are found in all living matter. Man, plant, animal—all living cells need enzymes to live, breathe, and grow. Enzymes are catalysts, or substances which in very low amounts speed up chemical reactions.

What is the function of enzymes? Enzymes in the body's digestive system break down food materials into smaller, more easily absorbed forms.

Are enzymes alive? No, they are inanimate chemicals, but they are necessary for life!

Why do laundry products contain enzymes? Enzymes provide a new way of breaking down certain soils and stains into simpler forms so that they can be more easily removed by the other detergent ingredients and the washing action.

What soils and stains are removed by enzyme laundry products? The kinds of stains on which they will be particularly effective are body soils, grass, blood, eggs, milk, baby foods, gravy, chocolate, some vegetables and fruits, and many other food stains.

Are enzyme products effective on all types of stains? No, they are not effective on stains like rust, ink or graphite; on fat-based stains like cooking oils, salad dressings, motor grease, or lubricating oils; or on highly pigmented stains such as mustard, or dyes which have bled from one garment to another.

What home laundry products contain enzymes? There are two classes of enzyme products: (1) Pre-soak products, which are to be used in soaking prior to washing and in conjunction with a laundry detergent, and (2) Enzyme detergents, which contain enzymes and are used like any laundry detergent.

What are the most effective water temperatures for enzyme action? For soaking, the most effective water temperature is generally warm water comfortable to the hands. For washing, select the temperatures suitable for the type of clothes load.

Can enzyme laundry products be used with all fabrics? Yes, they may be used with all washable fabrics—cotton, linen, wool, silk, all man-made fibers, such as nylons, acrylics, polyesters, and all durable press, wash-and-wear or stretch garments. For best results, always follow directions on the package.

Do enzymes affect colored fabrics? No, enzymes themselves do not have an effect on fabric dyes.

Will fabrics be hurt by overuse of enzyme laundry products? No, using extra enzyme products will not be harmful.

Do enzyme laundry products replace chlorine bleach? No. Chlorine bleaches will remove some stains and soils that enzymes will not remove and vice versa. Furthermore, chlorine bleaches provide other important functions, such as disinfecting and deodorizing.

Are enzyme products toxic? No. The concentration of enzymes used in pre-soak or all-purpose laundry detergent is completely safe, and these products can be used without risk to the consumer.

Do enzyme laundry products cause skin problems? Home laundry products with enzymes are as harmless to normal skin as are laundry products without enzymes. Thus, enzyme laundry products should cause no problems in ordinary use.

General rules to remember in treating soiled or stained clothes are to treat the soil or stain as soon as possible and to treat the fabric according to fiber content.

Show Fall Fashions At Altrusa Luncheon

The Apparel Mart in Dallas was described by Mrs. Steve Baker of Thelma's Dress Shop when she was speaker for the Altrusa Club luncheon held Thursday at Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. Willard Hendricks introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Baker told of her experiences while at the fashion markets in Dallas which are attended by approximately 50,000 buyers each year. To illustrate the talk, she showed pictures of the mart and its show rooms as well as buyer activities at the various markets. She introduced four models who showed new fashions for fall and winter. Mrs. Martha Welch, showing junior styles for small women, wore a plaid sleeveless jacket with black skirt and blouse. Mrs. Thomas Hutto's sports costume was a flowered blouse in berry, worn with solid color pants. Mrs. Thelma Lewis modeled a gray and blue knit suit imported from Italy, and Mrs. G. C. Broughton Jr., Altrusa president, appeared in an Italian knit black suit. The models were guests for the luncheon, along with Mrs. Melva Buntyn and Mrs. Sol Bledsoe. Scarves were place favors.

Mrs. Broughton presided for the business session when the club agreed to purchase 69 cans of candy to be included in Red Cross ditty bags for servicemen. Two hundred and fifty bags will be shipped from this district on Sept. 30.

It was announced that Mrs. Carol Haverman, a cosmetic company representative, will be a guest at the Nov. 13 luncheon. Stanley at 136-A Dow.

Wives Club Has Cosmetic Showing

Mrs. G. A. Stallings, a cosmetic company representative, gave a demonstration at Thursday's meeting of the British Wives Club in the home of Mrs. Eric Pine, 221-B Langley. Mrs. James Miller served as model.

Mrs. J. L. Skaggs, president, introduced a new member, Mrs. Deland Goodwin. The next meeting will be a coffee, Oct. 3, in the home of Mrs. Marie Bauer, 139-B Dow, and the next business meeting will be Oct. 30 in the home of Mrs. Herman Stanley at 136-A Dow.

Is Buried Wheel Spot Of Historic Crossing?

By JOE PICKLE
A communications engineer, who grew up in Big Spring, has turned a hobby of treasure hunting into a writing career. Moreover, he's something of a historical sleuth, too.

Eugene Anderson's latest find is a wagon buried in the Pecos River bottom at a point he believes to be the authentic Horsehead Crossing of the river rather than the spot that has a historical marker.

Like many of his discoveries, this occurred what would be to others quite by accident. He had gone last week to the point on the river about 1 1/2 miles below where the present-day marker is located northwest of McCamey because his research (confirmed by observation from the air) convinced him that the crossing was downstream. He wanted to get a picture for a story he is preparing to write on Maximilian's legendary gold.

BURIED WAGON
In the late evening sun, his eye fell on a tiny piece of steel in a bar on the west side of the crossing. He scratched enough to satisfy himself it was the rim of an old wagon. Next day he returned with equipment and partially excavated the wheel and found enough parts to substantiate that a wagon had at some early day mired in the near-quick-sand and likely had been abandoned. More importantly, this strengthened his belief that he had located the real crossing used by the Indians on their southward swings to Mexico and later by pioneers and soldiers.

Another of his discoveries is detailed in the current issue of Long John Latham's "True Treasures," a magazine for treasure hunters and amateur archaeologists. Under the title of "Ruins of Massacred Wagon Train Discovered," Anderson told how he was circling at the foot of the Guadalupe Mountains, where he was exploring to develop material for another story.

LOST WAGON TRAIN
"I noticed a rather larger irregular circle described in the

EUGENE ANDERSON DIGS OUT WAGON WHEEL Believes find pegs Horsehead Crossing sand dunes below," he said. "It remained when I actually was one of those rare coincidences when timing and light conditions caused the weathered remnants of the ill-fated train to stand out faintly in the sands." He continued to circle to firmly orient the spot with nearby landmarks, then obtained a four-wheel drive vehicle to go into the rugged area the next day. "Only two hours of daylight report by Dr. John S. Ford, dated June 18, 1849, the presence of the sand dune area which seems all but unknown and is unlisted on maps. Archaeologists are joining in searching out the ruins.

TREASURE CAVE
Also, in the November issue of the "Western Treasures," another magazine he has a story about "The Treasure Cave of Juniper Spring." This is the account of how Jesse Duran, a shepherd, reportedly stumbled in 1930 upon a cave near Juniper Springs in the Guadalupe.

"There in the dim light were the partially clothed skeletal remains of three people. . . . Guns had been left leaning in an apparent ready. . . . All but one of the several small strong-boxes were locked. The one box was open and partially full of gold and silver coins. . . ."

In this same general area, Anderson discovered the buried remnants of burned reeds in a cave which he, and some archaeologists, believe were the fire of a prehistoric man.

NEW TREASURE
Anderson, who grew up here, is the son of Mrs. Ches Anderson, who now spends most of her time at Gilmer, and the late Mr. Anderson. Recently he underwent surgery for removal of a ruptured disc in his back. This has slowed his hobby of treasure hunting and historical research — but not much, as witness his Horsehead Crossing find.

He works at his engineering profession at Willa Point until the treasure bug bites, then he takes to the field. So far, his best treasure has come in checks from writing about it. He has sold a story (awaiting publication) about Ben Sublett's gold and hopes to put down his finding about the legend of buried gold by Maximilian, emperor of Mexico. Somebody may have buried gold in the vicinity of the crossing, but Anderson doesn't think it was Maximilian.

Miss Lomax On Sul Ross Staff For Library

ALPINE — Two librarians have joined the staff of the Bryan Wildenthal Memorial Library at Sul Ross State University. Appointment of Mary Helen Lomax and Jack Melvin Todd as assistant librarians was announced recently by Dr. Norman L. McNeil, president.

Miss Lomax, formerly with the Angelo State University at San Angelo, holds masters degrees from the University of Oklahoma at Norman and Texas Women's University at Denton. She completed a BA and BS at TWU. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lomax, Big Spring.

Miss Lomax also has taught physical education in schools and universities in Texas and New Mexico. She will be the periodicals librarian at Sul Ross.

Elementary Science Pilot Study Begun At Kentwood

Mrs. Sue Ashwood, instructional consultant at West Texas Education Center, is working with the Big Spring Independent School District in a pilot program coordinated by Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction.

The program is a comparative analysis of the A.A.A.S. (American Association for the Advancement of Science) and the ESS (Elementary Science Study) curricula for science in the elementary grades. Kentwood elementary in Big Spring used as a testing station, has two sections of each grade level. Jim Holmes, principal, says that A.A.A.S. materials will be used in one section of each grade level, one through six, and that ESS materials will be used in the other section of each grade level.

The emphasis of the A.A.A.S. program is on the processes necessary to function in the science-centered everyday world. Through the activities in the program, students become active investigators and manipulators of materials. To date, over 12,000 teachers in the state of Texas have been trained to use the process approach, the premise for A.A.A.S. curricula.

Information On Student Tours Due At Meeting

A meeting will be held at 3:40 p.m. Monday in Room 246 of Big Spring High School for students interested in making a tour of European countries next summer.

The meeting, conducted by Mrs. Fred White, English and French teacher, will be to give interested students information about the costs of tours and what will be seen on the tour.

Countries to be visited include England, Switzerland, Germany, France and Italy. A date for the tour will be decided later.

Mrs. White said student rates for the tour are $564 from New York City, which includes transportation, motels and three meals a day.

Adult chaperones will accompany the students and any parents interested in being a chaperone should contact Mrs. White at 391-5392 in Sand Springs.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly."
(John 10:10, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, we praise Thee because we enjoy the blessing of belonging to Thy church. Help us to be instruments in Thy hands that others may come to enjoy the abundant life that now is ours, through Christ, our Savior. Amen.

How Chamber Of Commerce Can Succeed

News has been printed and broadcast on a new program of the Chamber of Commerce to establish a more orderly work program through a system of priorities of various projects. The goal is not to neglect any worthwhile undertaking for city and county improvement, but is to put emphasis where emphasis appears most to be needed.

A listing of desired projects originated with the chamber's 17 working committees, each being primarily concerned with its own area of responsibility.

Now a special task force committee is weighing these to put at least a general priority schedule on various public and civic improvements. Before it is all over with the entire membership of the Chamber of Commerce — and indeed, the whole citizenship — will be asked to join in with suggestions, revisions or expansions, and in turn will be asked to render fuller support to the major community objectives.

In the last analysis, the committees are finding two basic needs: (1) A better public awareness on the part of the public on what the chamber wants to do as a community organization; and (2) stronger financial support for the chamber itself. The two actually go hand in hand.

While many people clamor for many things, they sometimes overlook the fact that adequate financing, as well as personal involvement, must be provided.

Some of the projects being stressed for chamber programming take more money; all of them call for more citizen participation.

The point is that Big Spring and Howard County can go forward just as rapidly and just as effectively as the citizens want them to.

A good work program for the chamber? Yes. Adequate financing in action? Definitely yes.

The C-C is the one organizational vehicle working on all phases of community betterment. It is the vehicle that deserves the push. We trust a better communication, and more interest will come from the new "priorities" effort. If so, the program is a success.

President By Popular Vote?

Congress has made a move toward changing the method of electing a president. The House has passed a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the Electoral College and set up a direct voting method, and the issue will be considered next in the Senate.

While there long has been a heavy campaign to change the electoral system, there is cause to wonder if the House really gave this "reform" any more study than it gave so-called tax "reforms."

Already, there are expressions of misgiving on the popular vote idea, which, in basis, throws the control of elections to the more populous states, makes possible "runoffs" when the first election does not determine a winner, and opens a whole new system of campaigning.

If the proposal passes Congress, three-fourths of the states, through their legislatures, must ratify, and as of now it would appear impossible to get the sanction of that many states. The twelve less populous states — which have an interest in the matter — could block it.

There are changes to be desired in the present system, described as antiquated by many students of voting procedures. But the House acted in haste, rather than with judicious study, and the whole plan ought to be thrown back for further study.

A Move To Cut Construction Costs

WASHINGTON — The federal government is stepping in at last to prevent wage rates from rising more rapidly than is justified by the condition of the economy. While the latest executive order of the President establishes a commission to deal with collective bargaining only in the construction industry, this may produce a pattern that could be followed in other businesses as well.

Because the government is a participant in a large part of the expenditures for construction work, it naturally has a direct interest in rising costs. President Nixon has set up what is called a "construction industry collective bargaining commission." There will be 12 members — four public representatives and an equal number from labor and management.

AS DESCRIBED by Mr. Nixon, the first function of the commission will be to bring together top management and labor representatives from all sections of the industry "to discuss and seek solutions to a wide range of labor-management and manpower problems which directly affect the industry's ability to grow and adapt to changing needs." The second major role of the commission is "to develop voluntary tripartite procedures in settling disputes."

While the procedures are to be "voluntary," the influence of the government unquestionably will be a potent one. The President says that the intent is not to provide for compulsory arbitration or to abrogate rights to strike or lockout, but "to facilitate, through the collective bargaining process, industrial peace and stability in the construction industry."

MR. NIXON is well aware of the problems that confront the construction industry. Secretary Romney told a news conference that both wages and interest costs are "excessive." He referred to recent settlements which called for unprecedented increases in wage rates, and said that there are indications the unions will seek even bigger raises this year.

UNDERSECRETARY of Housing, Richard C. Van Dusen, told a meeting of leaders of the construction unions at Atlantic City this past week that high costs are hurting the industry. He urged that workers join in the fight against inflation, which, he pointed out, is reaching into their pocketbooks, too. A teamsters union survey of the New York City area, for instance, showed that the average gross weekly pay increase of $15.06 from 1965 to 1968 has been offset by a decrease in purchasing power of $9.45 dollars.

Unquestionably high interest rates also have had an impact on construction, and officials here think that the annual rate of housing starts may well drop below the 1,000,000 mark before the end of 1968. This is less than half of the 3,000,000 housing units needed each year.

THE ENTRANCE of the federal government into the field of collective bargaining in the construction field, even though on a "voluntary" basis, is far different from the formula of "guidelines" used by preceding administrations.

The appointment of special commissions to deal with the problems of each of the major industries may turn out to be a logical sequel to the President's designation of such a commission to try to stabilize wage costs in the construction industry.

The Important Man—Consumer—Balks

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumers — saddled with high prices and high taxes — are at long last curbing their free-spending habits.

This has been a goal in the government's efforts to slow the inflationary economy by means of monetary and fiscal restraints.

But progress has been slow because people have shown a preference for digging into savings and going into debt rather than cutting down on their standard of living.

The highly regarded quarterly survey by the University of Michigan's Research Center indicates that consumer sentiment — plans for buying — has sagged sharply. The center's index dropped to 84.1 in the three-month period ended in September from 91.6 three months earlier.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, commented this past week that this development showed the government's efforts to stem inflation were succeeding.

DISINCLINATION

"This is a sharp decline," McCracken said. "And there has been historically a clearly discernible tendency for these swings of consumer sentiment to lead to subsequent shifts in discretionary spending."

"What people spend in our affluent society depends not only on whether they have purchasing power but also on whether they feel inclined to spend it. This deterioration in consumer sentiment — in itself not a welcome development — is additional evidence of a more cautious view about the continuation of overheated economic conditions."

Assessments of economic activity from other sources agree that the consumer is reacting to rising prices and pulling in his horns when it comes to spending.

"Inflated price tags on practical

SIGNS OF SLOWING

- Survey shows consumers cutting back on buying plans
- Retail trade sluggish in wake of resistance, boycotts
- Cost-of-living rise slower, but still at all-time peak
- Outlook for home construction gloomy due to costs
- Automobile sales higher because models are earlier

cally everything these days are bringing a growing chorus of complaints from shoppers," says Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York.

"Merchants in many places report mounting price resistance by consumers which has brought postponement of some purchases. Boycotts and buyers' strikes by housewives have broken out in some neighborhoods — mostly in protest against high meat prices."

RETAIL TRADE SLUGGISH Morgan Guaranty says retail trade has been quite sluggish and that gains above year-ago levels are only in dollar terms rather than in value.

Argus Research Corp., a New York business advisory service which expresses the opinion that a recession began in August, says consumers have "gone on something like a buyers' strike" because of rising prices and taxes and declining overtime and job opportunities.

President Nixon said at a news conference Friday that his Administration's efforts to stem inflation "have begun to work."

He said anyone who bets on a continuation of inflation will be a loser. Again ruling out controls, Nixon said, "I'm not jawboning" business and labor on prices and wages.

The increase in the cost of living slowed somewhat in August but still moved to a record high. The Labor Department's consumer price index advanced 0.4 per cent in August to 128.7 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 128.2 in July. But the August advance on an an-

HOUSING SAGS SADLY

The Nixon administration tackled inflation in the construction industry this past week by setting up an Industry Collective Bargaining Commission composed of top-level representatives of government, labor and industry.

The aim is to develop new voluntary procedures for settling labor disputes and to provide a forum for discussion and study of such industry problems as manpower training and development of employment.

Secretary George Romney of the Housing and Urban Development Department made a gloomy prediction about the outlook for the home construction industry.

He described the situation as critical and said the annual rate of housing starts may fall below one million units by the end of this year. The annual rate last January was 1.9 million.

General Motors Corp. announced a tentative boost averaging $130, or 4.6 per cent, on its 1970 model trucks, but said it wouldn't revise announced increases averaging $125 or passenger cars, in view of the new pricing schedules of other automakers.

American Motors Corp. raised prices an average of $81, or 3 per cent, putting the tags on several key passenger models $1 less than the lowest priced competitor.

Around The Rim

People Don't Like Sonic Booms

The press dispatches say that President Nixon has given his support for the building of a supersonic transport aircraft (SST), one that will carry 300 passengers and fly at 1,800 miles an hour.

The President is quoted as saying that the U.S. must continue to lead the world in air transport, but it also was reported that his decision came after hot arguments in the official family, with some members maintaining that the SST is impractical, too expensive and too noisy.

I WOULDN'T KNOW about the impracticality or the expense, but there are some people who might maintain stoutly that the bird will be too noisy.

These would include a goodly number of the residents of Oklahoma City.

These good burghers were the victims of "sonic boom" tests conducted a number of years ago to determine structural damage and sample public reaction to the noise created by supersonic aircraft.

SOME PERSONAL reports came back on these tests, since the outfit chosen to make the boom runs over Oklahoma City was the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, then stationed at Webb as a tenant organization.

This was a squadron of hot-shot pilots who zipped their supersonic F-104 about the Southwestern skies, got a hand in the Cuban and Dominican crises, and generally protected us from invading foes.

THEY MAY NOT have seen the enemy in Cuba or in the Dominican Republic, but I heard they stirred up some irate citizens in Oklahoma as they made numerous sorties over the populated area at different speeds, levels and pressures, just to see what really would happen.

A lot happened that the public records have never revealed, if one wanted to hear the confidential, informal reports brought back by the 331st boys. It was my good fortune to know several of them rather well, and I listened to their remarks and gabfests were going.

IT TURNED OUT that the sonic booms over Oklahoma City created more problems than most people anticipated. Citizens protested that their hens wouldn't lay, their milks wouldn't mutate. They reported their chimneys were falling in, vases were tumbling off shelves, and their window panes were popping out.

The government maintained a headquarters office to take all comments and complaints. The lads who flew the boom missions later reported that, if you believed the complaints, half the houses in Oklahoma City were ruined beyond repair and the government would have to foot the bill.

A RESIDENT would report that his walls had cracked, and examination would reveal that the cracks probably had been there for two years. All the vases that fell off the shelves were the most expensive antiques. The widow panes that broke must have been imported stained glass.

Anyway, as I got it, the 331st pilots were glad to get out of that hot-spot, since they really didn't want to be an enemy. They were told to make the booms and did. If their reports on the reaction in Oklahoma City is any criterion, Mr. Nixon's new SST is going to shake up the whole country.

Tribute To Walter Lippmann

SEAL HARBOR, Maine — While he has never held public office, except for a few months at the very start of his career, Walter Lippmann has had probably as great an influence on events in his time as any single individual. It is a tribute to his steadfastness and his discernment that he has played a part in this turbulent century, ranking him with statesmen and politicians at the top of the heap.

A FEW of his friends and admirers gathered here at his Maine retreat, to do him honor on his 80th birthday. The career that began following his graduation from Harvard in 1910, when for four months he was executive secretary to the Socialist Mayor of Schenectady, N.Y., has an extraordinary reach. Not only as editor and editorial writer on the New York World and in the hundreds of columns he has written since the demise of the World in 1931 but in his books he has made a deep impress on his time.

"PUBLIC OPINION," published in 1922, reads as though it were a commentary on the press and the difficulties of informing the public on the highly complex issues of today. His first book, "Drift and Mastery," which came out in 1913, leaned toward a Socialist solution of the nation's ills. Lippmann moved steadily away from this position. His "U.S. Foreign Policy: Shield of the Republic" in 1943 had wide influence. Joseph C. Harsch of the Christian Science Monitor wrote: "He was as much as any one other single person the original architect of the Atlantic Alliance."

SINCE 1945 he has consistently argued against the commitment of American land armies in Asia. In his column and in several notable television interviews he pushed the "blue water" thesis. American influence, he contended, should be exercised by sea and air power. Committing American troops to the swamps and jungles of Asia could only be self-defeating. By sea and air America could hold the line, while walking the policeman's beat inland to save Asian peoples from communism was bound to be a dead end.

THIS POSITION was expressed again and again in his criticism of the deepening American involvement in Vietnam. His was a powerful influence in alerting opinion to the perils of an unwinnable war in which American lives were sacrificed in vain. In his column he repeatedly took aim at the illusions of those in official position contending that with only a few more American troops and a little more American air and firepower the war could be brought to a victorious conclusion.

AT THE START of Lyndon Johnson's term in the White House, Lippmann enjoyed a close relationship with the President. Several times a month he and Mrs. Lippmann dined in the upstairs dining room or Johnson came out to the Lippmann house to talk in the privacy of his study. But, as the Johnson commitment to Vietnam deepened, disillusion set in and Lippmann was one of the President's sharpest critics. He supported Richard Nixon in the last presidential campaign.

At 80 he takes a philosophic view, both of the slings and arrows that have come his way and of the praise heaped on him and reflected in the hundreds of telegrams pouring into his Maine retreat. He is content to wait for the verdict of history.

Violence Could Be Taxable

WASHINGTON — My friend McCormick thinks he has an answer to all the violence in movies and on television.

"Tax the hell out of them," he said. "But how?" I asked.

"You sell licenses to producers of movies and television shows. They'd be like a hunting permit. You wouldn't be allowed to kill anyone in a TV program or a film without first buying a license. It would cost you $1,000 to kill one man, $2,000 to kill a woman and $5,000 if you wanted to kill a child."

"Would you have a limit on how many people you could bag?"

"NOT AT THE beginning. I think a producer could kill as many people as he wanted to, providing he had a license for each one."

"What about the method of killing people in movies and TV?"

"We might add a surcharge for unorthodox methods of killing, such as burning, garroting and throwing them off buildings. But I believe shooting or stabbing should be permitted for the straight $1,000 fee."

"McCORMICK, your idea has great merit, but it seems to me it would add tremendous costs to cowboy pictures."

"Exactly. I believe the producers of cowboy films and TV shows would have to be very discriminating in whom they killed. It will stop them from shooting everyone within camera range. If, for example, a producer had only three licenses, he'd have to choose his victims pretty carefully."

"It would certainly save a lot of Indians from being killed," I said.

"AS FAR AS war pictures are concerned, we might make a package deal. For a flat $100,000 the producers would be permitted to wipe out either one World War II German battalion or sink one Japanese aircraft carrier with all personnel on board."

"Would you require licenses for wounding and maiming people on TV and in films?"

"I would propose a rate card starting with knocking out a person in a fist fight, which would cost $10, to causing a severe brain concussion, which would cost the producer $500. Any open wound or display of blood would automatically be taxed an extra $100."

"IT SEEMS to me those prices are pretty high."

"That's the idea. The only way you're going to get anyone to cut down on violence is to hit him where it hurts — in the pocketbook."

"At the same time," McCormick continued, "I believe producers of nonviolent films should be encouraged by receiving tax rebates. If anyone makes a TV show or picture in which no one is either killed or maimed, he certainly deserves all the tax advantages he can get."

"YOU'VE REALLY thought this through," I said.

"It's going to be a tough fight to get it by Congress," McCormick said.

"How's that?"

"The pro-violence lobby in Washington has put out the word that if anyone taxes violence, he'll soon be wearing cement shoes."

Star Gained Experience As TV Show Regular

A young man whose mind and body will never stand still, ranks as one of today's most provocative actors.

His most recent role as the star of "The Gay Deceivers" is, to say the least, controversial. At 21 years old, he had 16 years of acting experience on which to draw.

Not many kids start working full time at six years old. That's what Kevin did when he began his career as a regular star of the CBS-TV series in 1952, a job he was to keep for five years, remaining in New York where he was born.

When the show ended, motion picture roles came frequently. The first was as the juvenile star with Bette Davis in "Storm Center," followed by the now classic film, "The Defiant Ones."

When his acceptance to Northwestern University came in the mail it changed his life.

While there, he refused to take any drama classes, joined a fraternity, and became totally involved.

For the past two years, he has scarcely had an idle moment to fidget. He's guest-starred on every major TV series, one appearance on "The Virginian" may earn him an Emmy Award nomination this year, and this marks his third feature starring role as an adult. "The Gay Deceivers" has preceded by the much talked about "Wild In The Streets" and "The Young Runaways" for MGM.

Heston's Role Is Own Choice

Charlton Heston has a special, personal interest in "Number One." It is the first of his 34 films to originate with Heston himself. The picture opens Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre.

Five years ago, Heston was fascinated by a magazine article called "The Complete Quarterback." He felt the agonizing drama in the decline and fall of a superstar athlete, reflecting the philosophy that "the heroes of society today are often the victims."

Heston took the idea to producer Walter Seltzer, who shared his excitement about the prospect of making, not a "football story" per se, but the emotional exposition of a man who happens to play football for money.

David Moessinger was engaged to write a screenplay and Tom Gries, who wrote and directed the much-praised "Will Penny" with Heston, was signed to direct.

"Number One" is the story of a player past his prime, who is no longer "Number One" in fact but cannot bring himself to quit. Jessica Walter stars with Heston, as the quarterback's wife whose career as a fashion designer clashes with her husband's. Co-starring are Bruce Dern, as the football star's ex-terminator and carousing companion, John Randolph as his coach and Diana Muldaur as the girl to whom he turns while seeking solutions to his conflicts.

Other supporting players include G. D. Spradlin, Richard Elkins, Steve Franken, Bobby Troup, Bart Burns and Forrest Wood.

"Number One" was filmed with cooperation of the New Orleans Saints, the colorful young National Football League expansion team.

All 40 members of the Saints football team appear in the film as themselves, and other roles are played by Saints' owner John Mecom Jr., as a third-string quarterback and the team's general manager Vic Schwenk, duplicating his real-life role. Trumpet star Al Hirt, a part-owner of the Saints, appears as himself in scenes filmed at his Bourbon Street jazz club, and also is seen performing during halftime at Saints games.

STILL NUMBER ONE—Charlton Heston is "Number One," the super star professional football quarterback who has reached his peak but insists on playing one more season. The film starts Wednesday at the Cinema.

Child's Adventures Make Good Story

Author Jean George dedicated her novel, "My Side of the Mountain," to "that gang of youngsters who inhabited the trees and waters of the Potomac River so many years ago, and to the bit of Sam Gribbley in the children and adults around me now."

Any similarity between those early adventures and Jean George and her twin brothers John and Frank is scarcely coincidental. They are three and the same.

The brothers have long since become leading naturalists, and their tomboy sister now has three children aged 16, 14 and 10. She also has a bachelor of arts degree and 17 best-selling novels to her name.

"My Side of the Mountain," a beautifully written and authentically detailed account of a city boy's adventures in a remote country wilderness, first appeared in 1960, to widespread critical acclaim. Now in its 14th edition, it was awarded the Lewis Carroll Award and the Hans Christian Andersen International Prize and was runner-up for the American Library Association's coveted Newbery Medal for the most distinguished contribution to American literature for children.

So convinced was producer Robert B. Radnitz of the book's powerful human appeal, that he leaped at the chance to recreate for the screen, the story of Sam Gribbley, a boy who dreamed of emulating the philosopher Thoreau by living in a kind of poetic exile.

During the location filming of "My Side of the Mountain," opening tonight at the Jet Theatre, Miss George had the stimulating experience of going to Quebec Province, Canada, and watching Sam Gribbley and Bando, the mysterious wandering folksinger who befriends the

"Finian's Rainbow," the joyous musical opening Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, suffuses the motion picture screen with exuberance and enchantment. The musical combines all the enticing fantasy and reality, the comic excitement, and unforgettable music of the great hit from the Broadway stage.

Fred Astaire, Petula Clark and Tommy Steele head the cast of "Finian's Rainbow," which co-stars Don Franks, Keenan Wynn, Al Freeman Jr., and Barbara Hancock.

The stage hit, "Finian's Rainbow," was created by E. Y. Harburg, Fred Saily and Burton Lane. The Broadway production opened Jan. 10, 1947 and closed Oct. 2, 1948—723 performances later. During the two decades since, the play has become the most often produced musical of its time.

Harburg and Saily, who wrote the play's book, have collaborated on the screenplay. Harburg also wrote the lyrics to Lane's music. The score contains all of the musical stage's memorable songs which include "Look to the Rainbow," "Old Devil Moon," "If This Isn't Love," "How Are Things in Glocca Morra?," "This Time of the Year," "Something Sort of Grandish" and "When I'm Not

PETULA CLARK

Near the Girl I Love."

Fred Astaire, an impeccable sleek-as-silk performer, plays the title role of Finian McLonergan, the lovable rogue who swipes a leprechaun's gold to transplant it in the soil near Fort Knox in order "to make it grow."

Petula Clark, British born international singing celebrity makes her debut in American films as Finian's daughter, Sharon, the "Glocca Morra" girl.

Tommy Steele, another formidable British talent equally at home as a singer, dancer or actor, portrays Og, the leprechaun who is becoming mortal.

Barbara Hancock is a 21-year-old dancer from Atlanta, Ga., who is making her motion picture debut in the coveted role of Susan the Silent, the mute beauty who bewitches the leprechaun.

Don Franks portrays Woody Mahoney, the would-be tobacco tycoon and hero of Rainbow Valley, Mississippi. Keenan Wynn plays Judge Billboard Rawkins, whose ideals were formed a century ago. Talented Al Freeman Jr. appears as the young man who is studying for his Ph.D. in botany.

Coach White Is Named For Honor

By PATSY REED

Coach George White was elected teacher for the month. Even though he is new to our school he has quickly won the respect and admiration of everyone.

This week's lineman of the week was Alton Callihan. His performance resulted with 21 tackles and the earning of the fifth star for his helmet. It takes fifteen tackles at least, the recovery of two fumbles, the interception of at least two passes, an interception of a pass and a run back for a touchdown, or the completion of two key blocks in one game to earn a star. If Alton earns another star his helmet will be painted completely black and he will become a member of the "Black Mamba" club. Only two previous players in the history of our school have ever had this honor. Leon Hobbs was the most outstanding back.

Tuesday morning each of the classes met with their sponsors for a meeting. In the junior and senior classes the magazine sales were brought to a close. Drawings were held for the prizes for the one who sold their quota. The senior who won twenty-five dollars for being high-point girl was Wanda Beeson. Tom Bill Kuykendall won forty dollars in the junior class. As an added prize the juniors were also offering besides the mystery money, ten dollars to the person who sold the most magazines. Tom Bill was not only the mystery person but also got an extra ten dollars for selling more than any one else. The sophomores discussed plans for having a bake sale.

Wednesday afternoon the Junior and Seniors Mothers met to plan the concession stands for this year. Officers were elected and committees appointed to take care of the purchasing of food for the concession stands.

The pep rally was held at 3:00 Friday afternoon in the gymnasium. Speeches were given by Dee Higley, Lee Doyle Whetsel, Philip Medlin, and Mr. David Redwine.

Friday night's football game was with the S and S Mustangs at Ackerly. One of our star football players this year, Jack Willis, was injured recently and will not be able to play for an indefinite time.

The Student Council met and discussed whether or not to buy Homecoming Queen crowns yearly or just to buy one. The members have been placing signs throughout the halls to promote the idea of collecting wood for the bonfire. A coke party will be held following each session.

They also elected citizens of the month. They are: Alton Callihan and Wanda Beeson, seniors; Tom Bill Kuykendall, Connie Dunagan, and Harvey Hocker, juniors; and Kay Walraven, sophomore.

The competition carries second and third prizes of $6,000 and $2,000, plus lesser cash prizes staggered down to $750.

Young Piano Artists To Compete For Rich Prize

FORT WORTH (AP) — Eighteen of the world's finest young artists will compete for $21,250 in prizes beginning Monday in the third Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition.

The contest, open to pianists of all nationalities between the ages of 17 and 28, offers a first prize of $10,000.

For the first time, the winner will be engaged by one of the big five American orchestras. The engagement is for the 1970 Robin Hood Dell summer series of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Cliburn, for whom the competition was named in 1962, negotiated the contract personally. He will be on hand for the two-week competition, as will the two previous winners, Ralph Votapek of the United States and Radu Lupu of Rumania.

A jury of performing artists of international recognition will represent six European and Asian countries and America. Conductor Ezra Rachlin of the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra is chairman of the jurors. Twelve semi-finalists will be selected after the first week and will be heard Oct. 6-8. The sessions include chamber music.

The finals will be held Oct. 10 and 11 in the Convention Center. The finalists will be accompanied by the Fort Worth Symphony. The winner will perform a solo concert here Oct. 12.

Among the concerts booked for the winner are appearances with the Oklahoma City Symphony and the Wichita Falls, Texas, Symphony.

The bookings also include a solo recital in Grand Rapids, Mich.; two performances with the Roanoke, Va., Symphony; a video-taped recital for National Educational Television at Michigan State University; two appearances with the National Symphony in Washington, D.C.; and a Carnegie Hall debut next May.

The competition carries second and third prizes of $6,000 and $2,000, plus lesser cash prizes staggered down to $750.

STANTON

Annual Staff Attends Tech Journalism Clinic

By LYN HERZOG

A meeting of the Southwest Council of Student Publications was held in Lubbock, at Texas Tech University, on Saturday, Sept. 20. Representing Stanton for Journalism Day was the 1969-70 annual staff. Those attending were Darla Dowden, Scotty Fisher, Susan Vest, Polly Creech, Danny Saunders, Walt Haislip, Gayle Haggard, and Sandy Chandler. Making the trip with the group were Mrs. Mary Haislip, annual staff sponsor, and Dr. Sue Fisher. The group attended several problem solving sessions in yearbook and photography. An Awards Luncheon was held in the main ballroom of the Student Union Building. Mrs. Evelyn Orr, University High School, Waco, was the guest speaker.

The annual staff has been conducting its advertising sales campaign. This sale of advertising is necessary, as the cost of publication would be prohibitive without it. Annual subscriptions will be available starting Oct. 1.

A meeting of the Future Homemakers of America was held on Tuesday, Sept. 23. A representative for the Perfect-Curtis School Plan spoke to the group and distributed kits for magazine sales. A goal was set to sell $1,000 worth of magazines. Prizes will be awarded to all members selling six or more subscriptions. A victory party will be held if the goal is reached. So far, those selling the most subscriptions are Debbie Linney, Wednesday, the 24th, and Diana Payne, Thursday, the 25th.

The Stanton High School Band, under the direction of George Walker, attended the West Texas Ruffek-Las Vegas football game at Midland Memorial Stadium on Saturday, Sept. 27. The group played in the stands during the game and performed the half-time show on the field.

Individual color pictures were taken on Wednesday, Sept. 24. Black and white duplicates of these pictures will appear in the annual. Senior pictures will be taken on Oct. 3.

In Just 4 Months at Hemphill-Wells
CLINIQUE has changed
a basic trait in women

The Clinique Beauty Prover Kit is our gift for you with your purchase of 5.00 of Clinique cosmetics through October 11th. A special representative from Clinique will be in our store Monday thru Friday to assist you.

In the mere 4 months it's been available at Hemphill-Wells Clinique has changed a buying habit of a lifetime. The cosmetic hopping that was cosmetic shopping is over. And cosmetic fickleness is a thing of the past. In just 4 months, women have formed a new habit that's the healthiest beauty habit a skin can have. The Clinique habit. The women who tried allergy tested, fragrance free Clinique have marvelled at its ease, have been impressed by its speed. But what's really made up their minds, what's really convinced them that Clinique is indeed remarkably different, is the remarkable difference they've seen in their skin. Cleaner, glossier, gleamier skin is what they see . . . and like. Finer, Fresher-looking skin has convinced them that Clinique products are performing products, results-getting products to change the beauty thinking of a lifetime. Change it for good. All of Clinique skincare was born in a clinical lab, conceived and evolved by the very best dermatological brains around. All of Clinique is allergy tested and fragrance free, scientifically sound for you to use. The key to the Clinique system is the Clinique computer — a simple device that types your skin; determines its beauty needs and establishes your best skin care program in 30 seconds. At the heart of the system are three speedy steps — cleansing, clarifying, moisturizing — you do 3 minutes each morning, 3 minutes each night. Like all of Clinique, your Basic Clinique is simple, swift and logical. The proof of the Clinique system is the prettier skin you'll wear within a week. It's skin that will change face care and makeup habits you've always had, skin that will thrive on Clinique and make you a Clinique believer. It's no wonder, in just 4 months, Clinique has changed a basic trait in women and the future of all beauty. OUR BOOKS ARE CLOSED FOR SEPTEMBER.
