

Winning Performers

These two Colorado City girls have had fine success in West Texas rodeo performances during the summer. Left is Maxine Rogers, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corley Rogers, who was named all-around champion cowgirl under 12 years at Post and Buffalo Gap rodeos in addition to winning first in senior flag race at Andrews and scoring in barrel and pole races in Crane, Ozona and Las Cruces, N. M. Carol Ann Jackson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jackson, last week won the junior barrel racing championship at Bollinger after missing first place by only one tenth of a second the week before in Big Spring Junior Rodeo.

FIRST OF A SERIES

Damage Curb, Records Plan in Herbicide Law

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles pointing out provisions of the Texas county option law regulating sale and use of hormone type herbicides.)

Instances are increasing when farmers complain their cotton is being damaged by hormone type herbicides applied by spray especially to kill mesquite in neighboring areas.

And because of lack of technical knowledge and chemical data, confusion is not uncommon.

In fact, here in Mitchell County governmental agency staffs, the county agent's staff and others have been asked at times to serve as sort of unofficial referees in disputes arising with the claim of crop damage.

The confusion has been enough that farmers and ranchers have been making inquiry about the state law governing sale and use of these herbicides. The law, although state enacted, has a local option provision that applies it to a county only upon the request of the county after public hearing.

Commissioners Court, in face of this growing interest in law, recently called in Charlie Chapman of Austin to discuss the law with the commissioners and representatives of governmental agricultural agencies here. Chapman is chief of the Division of Plant Quarantine, State Department of Agriculture.

Chapman, who emphasized he was not trying to "sell" the law to Mitchell County, took the commissioners step-by-step through the law to explain its regulations and operation.

And one of the first facts he related to the commissioners was that the local option feature goes even beyond the application of the law to a county only on that county's request. Special appraisal and application also is available for those counties — included under the law by request — when individual conditions require special provisions.

Under the law, the term "herbicide" means all hormone type herbicides, which is any substance producing a physiological change in plant tissue without burning, including 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T and all other hormone-type herbicides.

The law, according to Chapman, was designed to provide a manner and method for sale and use of herbicides that will minimize possibility of crop damage and, at the same time, set up a system of records and data for determining where responsibility lies when there is a damage claim.

To do this, the law sets up certain general requirements, regulations for permits and licenses in the sale and use of the hormone-type herbicides, specifications for spraying equipment, requirements for spray operations, rules for all dealers, regulations for applicators, provisions for licensing, bonding and registration of applicators; special provisions for persons spraying their own land or crops, and the requirement of permits for all spraying.

Specifically prohibited by the law is the application of hormone-type herbicides in dust form.

Exempted from the requirements of obtaining a permit, paying a permit fee and keeping records are the applications of hormone-type herbicides by brush or mop.

Certain general requirements of the law include:

1. Making the applicator (or crop owner) and the custom applicator jointly responsible to supervise the application of herbicides in compliance with rules and regulations as set by the Commissioner of Agriculture.

2. When herbicide application equipment is leased, rented or loaned to another person, then the equipment owner must file a notarized statement signed by the lessor and lessee or be liable for respon-

TUESDAY IN CITY

1 Person Injured In 2 Collisions

One person was injured in two automobile collisions on city streets Tuesday.

Treated overnight in Root Memorial Hospital was Mrs. Buster Baker, 344 W. 7th.

She was driver of car which was in collision with a sedan driven by Miss Opal Irene Norman, 18, 128 W. 10th St., at intersection of Elm and Seventh St.

Mrs. Baker was driving a 1957 2-door Plymouth and traveling west on Seventh St. Miss Norman was traveling south on Elm.

In the accident at 7:20 p. m. the two cars collided in the intersection, then Mrs. Baker's auto smashed into a utility pole at the southwest corner of the intersection.

Patrolman Truman Henderson, who investigated the accident, reported damage to the two cars was more than $650. The same day at 10:30 a. m. approximately $400 in damages was caused when automobiles collided at Second St. and Walnut.

Driving the cars were Bob by D. Compton, 24, of 836 Chestnut and Ether Barber, 77, of Route 2. Both cars were traveling in the same direction. Impact of the collision damaged the rear of the Barber car and the front of the Compton vehicle, police reported.

Early Saturday morning Sanford Lewis Cooper and Charles L. Cooper, both of Kennedale, escaped injury when their 1955 Chevrolet ran off the pavement on U. S. Highway 80 West (to Big Spring) and careened into the Col-Tex Refinery fence.

Police said the car, driven by Sanford Cooper, 16, skidded 300 feet before striking the fence.

Band Members Turn 'Salesmen' For Cash

Colorado High's Wolf Band is starting to work early this season to raise money for special trips and educational features.

Larmer Is Speaker For Short Course

Ernie Larmer, local Chamber of Commerce manager, will be a speaker at annual short course of West Texas Chamber of Commerce community services committee.

The short course will be combined Friday and Saturday with Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas convention in Lubbock.

Larmer will speak on "Program of Work Development and Use."

He and Mrs. Larmer left Thursday afternoon for Lubbock in time for him to participate in a meeting of the managers association's board of directors.

The band members are selling subscriptions to the Colorado City Record.

And local residents not only give a boost to the band program, but also save $5.30 with the purchase of each $5 one-year Record subscription. The $5.30 saving is the difference between the subscription price and the cost of buying Records at the newsstand for 12 months.

With each new $5 subscription purchased from a band member, the band will receive a special $2 cash commission. That's twice as much as commissions earned by the band in previous Record subscription sales.

Band members, as they call at residences throughout the city, also will offer renewals to Record subscribers — advancing from the date of the present subscription's expiration date.

FIRST COUNTY BALE GINNED AT W'BROOK

First bale of Mitchell County's 1959 cotton crop went through the gin Tuesday.

Ginning on the 450 pound bale was finished at Westbrook at 1 p. m., according to Albert L. Young, manager of the Westbrook gin.

The cotton was produced by Wayne Newton, who is farming the Sam Bullock acreage about two miles south of Westbrook. He delivered 2,000 pounds of burr cotton to the gin for the season's first bale.

Newton gathered the cotton from approximately eight acres.

"The cotton was green," reported Young, "but it ginned a good middling 31-32 bale of cotton."

More cotton moved to the Westbrook gin Wednesday.

Last year the county's first bale was produced by J. J. Land on the Frank Crownover farm, one mile west of Loraine. It was ginned Aug. 14 and came from 1,800 pounds of burr cotton taken from 14 acres.

Colorado City's first ginning in 1958 was a 404 pound bale from 1,800 pounds of burr cotton produced by Tex Keel.

The 1959 cotton crop received a boost in spotted areas of the county Sunday and Monday from rain showers. Most moisture reported was in the Rogers school area where as much as two inches of rain was reported over a two-day period.

Rainfall in the Colorado City area ranged from about .70 to approximately one inch.

This week's rainbelt was mostly in the upper half of the county. Missed by the moisture were drying crop areas south of Colorado City.

WHILE LINE REPAIRED

Thirsty? Not by A Big Tank Full!

Break in the city's main line between Lake Colorado City and the municipal water treatment plant shut off the city's water supply for 12 hours Saturday.

But water pressure in residences, business firms and most industries continued without effect.

However, city water to Col-Tex Refinery was interrupted for the 12 hours.

The 16-inch line connecting the treatment plant and the city's intake pumps at the lake developed a break between 7 and 8 a. m. Saturday. Point of trouble was approximately 100 yards from the lake shore.

Since the break was in easily accessible dry land area, crews were able to repair the line by 8 p. m. Saturday.

And the city, with 1,800,000 gallons of water in overhead reserve tanks was able to get by without curtailment in usual water service. However, the situation neared the critical stage with only about 250,000 gallons more of water remaining in reserve when the line was put back into service.

Contract for the city to furnish industrial water to Col-Tex also requires that the refinery maintain a day's supply of water in reserve.

City Manager Rollin K. Snelson recently reported to City Council that the city could face a serious problem in an emergency with only one supply line to the lake and connecting the city with the treatment plant.

Lack of additional supply line between the city and its water source also results in 2 cents additional fire insurance premium on $100 coverage.

"We were able to repair this break with speed," the city manager said, "but if a break should develop in a location which would handicap repair, then the repair work might require two or more days."

"And, then, a critical situation could exist especially in event of a serious fire," the manager explained.

Contest for Queen Due Record List

Preparation moved quickly this week for 1959 edition of Mitchell County Fair here Sept. 10, 11 and 12.

Fair officials reported prospects for a record field of entries in the contest for 1959 fair queen.

At the same time a planning session moved into high gear preparation for the women's division of the fair program.

And both out of town and local firms still were continuing to sign for commercial exhibit space.

Women's clubs, civic organizations, school groups and other organizations are being contacted to sponsor candidates for the queen competition.

Ernie Larmer, Chamber of Commerce manager, said early response of clubs indicates the number of contestants will be more than the field of 12 young women who sought the honor last fall.

The fair will award first, second and third prizes in the queen contest and winner will reign as royalty of the three-day fair program.

"Every organization within Mitchell County is invited to sponsor a queen contestant," Larmer said, "and there is no entry fee."

Judging in the contest, which will be scheduled either first or second night of the fair, will be by out of town persons. Deadline for entries is Sept. 5.

Winning the crown of queen last fall before a large crowd in front of Civic House was Miss Charla Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brady (Pete) Warren.

Conferring at Chamber of Commerce office this week in regard to the women's division of the fair were Mrs. Curtis Erwin, general chairman of the women's division; Mrs. Crickett B. Taylor, county home demonstration agent; Raymond Perdue, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee, which is the overall sponsor of the fair program; and Larmer.

Committee personnel for all phases of the women's division are being contacted this week. These committees and various judging classes within the division will be announced within a few days.

Lions Film to Show Postal Developments

New developments in the Post Office Department will be shown in a film for Lions Friday noon in Civic House.

Postmaster Arlene Morris has arranged for the film's showing.

Speaker for last week's Lions program was Mrs. D. M. Parmelee, who related historical data concerning Colorado City and Mitchell County. She was introduced by R. H. (Harry) Ratliff, temporary chairman of Colorado Museum Association.

SUCCEEDS DIXON

New Manager on Job for Theaters

Bill Duckett, whose theater career dates back 35 years, has assumed management of Rowley United theaters in Colorado City.

The former Dallas resident succeeds Elliott Dixon, who after nine years as manager has become engineering supervisor for Rowley United theaters in 18 Texas cities.

Duckett temporarily is commuting between Colorado City and San Angelo, where he also is managing a theater while the regular manager is on vacation. However, he will be on permanent assignment here, starting this weekend, and will reside in an upstairs apartment in Palace Theater building.

Under Duckett's management here will be Rowley United's Palace, Ritz, and Lone Wolf Drive-in theaters.

The new manager has been press agent for Rowley United with headquarters in Dallas, where he also has served as a theater manager.

"We will continue to seek the best movie entertainment for Colorado City and this area," Duckett said Thursday, "and your local theaters will continue its policy of good citizenship for the community."

"We expect to cooperate with civic and business groups in every way possible, just as the theaters have through the years under Mr. Dixon's management."

Ending 31 Years

Elliott Dixon, center, receives farewells from Palace Theater employee Troy Scarborough, left, and Mrs. Ross Dixon Sr. as he prepared to depart on a new assignment as engineering supervisor for Rowley United theaters in 24 Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas cities. Dixon, who started his career with local theaters 31 years ago in 1928, has been manager of Palace, Ritz and Lone Wolf Drive-in theaters the last nine years.

Manish Photo provided the spotlight for the entertainment hour. KVMC furnished the public address system, and the arch was from Mary's Flowers.

FOR SPACE AT FAIR

21 Concessions, Exhibits Signed

Twenty-one firms and organizations already have been approved for commercial exhibits and entertainment concessions at Mitchell County Fair next month.

These were the total in the opening phase of the sign-up for exhibit and concession space at the three-day fair.

Ernie Larmer, Chamber of Commerce manager, said commercial exhibit space still is available even though 11 business firms and industries have been allotted space.

Out of town firms are among those commercial exhibitors requesting space for the 1959 fair, he said.

The requests for commercial space are for both indoor and outdoor areas, Larmer said. And indications are the commercial show at the fair will be larger than in 1958.

Clubs and other organizations are showing early enthusiasm for entertainment and food concessions at the fair, the chamber manager reported.

ONLY 12 SENIORS

45 Candidates Report to Holladay for Workouts

Forty-five football hopefuls—with a spirit Coach Otis Holladay is quick to applaud—opened workouts this week in preparation for Colorado City High's 10-game fall schedule.

Ten returning lettermen are in the squad which moved quickly through two-day drills, shedding t-shirts and shorts for pads and headgear in their fourth workout Tuesday afternoon.

Light scrimmage showed up on the practice schedule Wednesday as Holladay and his assistants discovered the squad in better shape than they had expected.

Experience isn't a main credential of the 1959 squad tutored by the new head mentor who last season coached White Deer to the Class A schoolboy championship of Texas. The fact that only 10 of 21 lettermen are returning from the 1958 squad, which won 1 game, tied 1 and lost 8, doesn't testify to experience.

Six of the returning lettermen are among 12 seniors reporting for the pre-school workouts.

Four lettermen are in the list of 18 juniors striving for team positions.

Fifteen sophomores are on the squad.

Lettermen are linemen Philip Bates, Larry Hardcastle, Rinaldo Lujan, Mike Wheeler and backs Dickie Richardson and Jay Shimer, all seniors; linemen Alex Campbell and Bobby (Red) Lemmons, and backs Jerry McKay and Don Vest, all juniors.

Making bids for starting positions are a group of juniors led by sturdy youths up from the 1958 B team. These include Rusty Whitaker, Marvin Dobbs, Joe Weaver, Jimmy Palmer and Lonnie Robertson.

More competition is coming, too, from newcomer Bill Davis, 195-pound junior; Jerry Whitaker, 211 pounds; Luke Harrison, 173 pounds; Larry Oliver, 172 pounds; John W. Theis, 173 pounds, and others in the list of sophomores.

Holladay, who has been shuttling his grid candidates in small groups between the commented Holladay. "They seven mentors for fundamen- have the spirit and willingness in Brownfield against Brownfield High Cubs.

Then they will have an open date, allowing two more weeks before another conference tilt against Ballinger here in Colorado City.

smoothest ride!

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is, just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR† Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.‡ Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

FALL GRID FARE

Hefty Opponents On Tech Schedule

Still a year away as far as official Southwest Conference title play is concerned, Texas Tech's Red Raiders face a schedule that would do credit to any of the other members this fall.

Texas Tech meets all but two of the conference members—Rice and Texas. In addition, Coach DeWitt Weaver's Raiders engage a West Coast independent, Oregon State, two Missouri Valley teams, Tulsa and Houston, Southeastern Conference foe Tulane, and Border Conference member Arizona.

Oregon State, being met for the first time in history, will be played in Jones Stadium at 8 p. m. Sept. 26. Other home games will be with Tulsa Oct. 3, Texas Christian Oct. 10, and Houston Nov. 14. The Houston contest is at homecoming. Road games will be with Texas A&M, Baylor, Southern Methodist, Tulane, Arizona and Arkansas. Although the majority of games are away, the Raiders will play half or more of their future contests in Lubbock. In 1960, the expanded Jones Stadium will have six games.

Texas Tech this fall will feature a wide-open attack, including a multiple wing, slot, and spread single wing.

along with some split-T. Season tickets—for four home games—are available at the Texas Tech Athletic Office for $16. Individual game orders are being taken at $4 each. Checks or money orders, including a 25-cent mailing fee, are acceptable, according to Jimmie Wilson, business manager of athletics.

Herbicide Law Deserves Local Study

All agricultural producers, not just cotton growers, should be interested in the move by Commissioners Court for information pertaining to Texas Herbicide Law. The action reaches for data and assistance in a problem already causing confusion in Mitchell County and sure to increase as more farmers and ranchers use hormone type herbicides for brush and weed control.

Those who heard Charlie Chapman of Austin, the chief of Texas Department of Agriculture's Division of Plant Quarantine, explain the intent of the law to commissioners were impressed with the state's attitude in the matter. The law is a county option control measure, applying only to those counties who request its legalities following public hearings on the local level. And Chapman told the commissioners in unguarded words that he wasn't drumming up business for his Division of Plant Quarantine by trying to "sell" the law to individual counties.

The Record, in this edition, begins a series of articles pertaining entirely to the provisions of the law as these legalities affect the sale and use of hormone type herbicides. Like Mr. Chapman, the Record is not seeking to build up administrative business for his division. Neither is it trying to tell Mr. Farmer or Mr. Rancher, right now anyway, that the law is a must or a must not for him in Mitchell County.

However, use of hormone-type herbicides is becoming more common. In view of this fact and the knowledge that these chemicals can cause severe damage to crops like cotton, the best consideration and caution must be given to their preparation and application. So, the action by Commissioners Court in seeking first-hand information about the law which can govern the sale and use of these hormone type herbicides in Mitchell County is a wise move.

Farmers and ranchers within the county should follow the leader, so to speak. They need to study the law, too, and search its various sections for the facts. And, most of all, they should let the Commissioners Court know how they think about the matter. Then, the court can determine whether further action is needed.

Participation Boosts Rec Program

There are instances when figures can be utilized to prove more than one point. For that reason, there are those persons who are skeptics about statistics. But there is nothing hidden, covered or misleading about the report of City Recreation Department's 1959 summer program.

The report spells out only one thing: participation. And that's exactly what the program is for in the first place.

Recreation Director Winn Talley reported an aggregate attendance of 6,851 persons at eight summer recreation activity locations during the summer program's run—from June to mid August. Naturally, this aggregate total does not mean that 6,851 different persons participated.

But it does mean that the number of persons participating each day in the special activities added up to 6,851 — which, incidentally, averages well over 100 participants daily. Emphasizing the program's success even more is the fact that these attendance figures are for playground type programs at three schools, learn to swim classes, wading pool, crafts and arts and Recreation Center entertainment. Neither the aggregate total nor daily average needed a boost from the many thousands of youths and adults who paid for swimming in Ruddick Park Municipal Pool.

Jaycee Drive

Jaycees are not the least bashful about their projects. Right now they are strating a membership drive and the Jaycee who doesn't recruit a new member is destined to keep house for a goat. We don't know much about goats. But Colorado City Jaycees have a splendid record of community service. A young man couldn't ask for a better civic group.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Population Adds To World Puzzle

By CLINTON DAVIDSON

Special Correspondent

There will be almost half a million more people in the world tomorrow than there are today and the world population will at least double what it is now in the next 41 years.

Those are startling figures when you consider what it means in terms of needs for food, clothing, housing, schools, jobs and all the other things people expect from modern civilization.

The authority for these forecasts is a survey made by the United Nations. It says the report, the birth rate continues at present levels, and the death rate continues to decline. The world population will be nearly seven billion by the year 2000.

That is only as far in the future as 1918 is in the past. There were about two billion people 41 years ago. Today the world population is estimated at 2.8 billion, and growing at the rate of more than 100 million a year.

Although the birth rate is increasing in nearly all parts of the world by far the biggest portion of the increase in population will be the result of people living longer.

The average number of years of life has almost doubled in the underdeveloped areas of Asia and Africa during this century. The birth rate, meanwhile, has increased.

Even in the United States the average length of life has increased by almost 50% during the past 59 years. In 1900 the average man lived to be only 46 years old. Today his average life expectancy is 67 years. For women, the increase is from 48 to 73 years.

The rate of population growth in the underdeveloped Asian and African nations is considerably more rapid than in Europe and North America. Today only a little more than half of the people in the world live in Asia (excluding the USSR). By the year 2000, says the U.N. report, three out of every five will live there.

In China, which already has a population of 650 million, twice as many people are born each year as die. The birth rate per 1,000, says the U. N., is between 37 and 42, but the death rate is only 17 to 21.

In the United States and most European countries the birth rate ranges from 23 to 28 per 1,000, and the death rate from 12 to 15.

By the close of this century, the report predicts, Asia's proportion of the earth's population will increase from 55.2% to 61.8%. Latin America's from 6.5% to 9.4%, Africa's from 8% to 12.2%, while North America's will decline from 6.7% to 5% and Europe's including the USSR, will drop from 23% to 15.1%.

The world has not begun to feed, house, clothe and educate its present 2.8 billion people properly. Yet, unless that can be accomplished, there is little hope of building a peaceful world.

It is of vital importance to the Free World that the great increase in population is occurring in areas where Communists are most active and causing the greatest unrest. This "explosion" of population growth, notes the U. N., is "at the very heart of the problem of our existence."

NEW LAWS GO INTO EFFECT

4th Special Session Likely For Cash Raising Hangover

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association

None of the money-raising bills that failed to pass the Legislature during the past seven months were put away to gather dust.

They'll be on parade again if a fourth special session is held to raise money to increase public school teachers' salaries.

Gov. Price Daniel has said he will call the session if the public demands it. Texas State Teachers' Association has its campaign rolling to create this demand.

TSTA's goal is a program that would cost $63,000,000 over a two-year period. Of this, $56,000,000 would go for a $405 increase in annual base pay for teachers.

This would bring teachers' base pay up to $3,610 a year. Hale-Aikin Committee recommended a minimum of $3,800 a year plus a number of other school improvements that would have totaled some $200,000,000 for a two-year period. But TSTA decided that getting that big a tax bill would be too tough. For the time being, the 70,000-member teacher lobby will settle for a package one-third this size with emphasis on the item it wants most—pay raises.

Time most discussed for the new special session is the politically crucial month of January. This will give the teachers, scattered in summer, time to get organized. It also is the month for poll tax paying, with Jan. 31 as the deadline. (Governor Daniel said, "January or February would be the time.")

Next year, for the first time, January will be the month for candidates for office to make their announcements. New law makes Feb. 1 the deadline for filing for state primaries.

There's talk that Governor Daniel will announce for a third term if teacher raises are turned down. On this the governor says, "I'm not closing any doors."

Privately, many legislators are glum at the prospect of being boxed in by another round of tax-and-spend pressures, particularly right before their campaigns begin. They expect to get a lot of static anyway, from the tax measures they've already voted.

But few will oppose teachers openly. As one said, "If you're against teacher raises, they'll say you're against good schools and little kids and motherhood — it's suicide."

WATCH NEW LAWS — Scores of new laws passed during the regular Legislative session ending in May go into effect this month.

From here on, anyone convicted of four moving traffic violations within 12 months will be classed a "habitual violator," subject to drivers license suspension for any period up to a year. Same rule applies to anyone convicted of 7 or more violations committed within a 24-hour period.

New, tightened laws are in effect on the waterways, too. Now against the law are: operating a boat or skiff while under the influence of liquor, skiing at night and "reckless or negligent" boating and skiing.

Now required by law are: a life preserver for every passenger on a boat and a lighted system, according to size, for every boat. Boat registration fees will not be required until next April.

State Capital NEWS

Another new law makes taking a ride in someone else's car without his permission a felony offense. Previously, it was hard to get more than a misdemeanor conviction for car stealing.

Ranchers and farmers will be required to fence land along state and U. S. highways to prevent cattle from roaming on the road. Law does not apply to farm-to-market roads.

Retail merchants no longer may advertise goods at "wholesale" prices. Only firms that sell only to retailers may claim wholesale selling.

Other new laws won't be noticed until later. For example, the new "stick with the party" law requires that a poll tax holder have his receipt stamped "Republican" or "Democrat" the first time he participates in a primary or convention. From then on, in effect, he's stuck with the party stamped on his tax receipt—until he gets a new poll tax.

A new program to inspect for cattle disease at live stock auctions was authorized, but is expected to be very small scale for the first two years, at least. It was given only a fraction of the money supporters said was necessary.

WOULD-BE SPEAKERS—

One of next year's campaigns is already going strong with two of the candidates claiming victory.

Rep. Wade Spillman of McAllen declares he has "more than a majority" of the present House members pledged to elect him as next speaker. Rep. James Turman of Gober claimed enough pledges "to practically assure my election."

Victory statements are a common campaign technique for speaker candidates since House members are prone to join a winner's bandwagon to get good committee assignments.

Actually, the speaker can't be officially elected until January, 1961, when the 57th Legislature convenes. A large turnover of House members in the primaries could upset the apple cart by removing many of the speaker candidates' pledged supporters from office.

Other candidates are Reps. L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi and Frank McGregor of Waco. Reps. Jerry Sadler of Pecos and W. T. Oliver of Port Neches are regarded as possible candidates.

WATER BONDS — First $10,000,000 in bonds to raise money for local water projects has been sold by the State Water Development Board.

Lower Nueces River Water Supply District of Corpus Christi may be the first beneficiary of the new program. Water Board has tentatively approved a $3,000,000 loan to the district to complete the $21,000,000 Wesley E. Seal Dam and Reservoir.

State will pay slightly more than 3.5 per cent interest on the bonds and charge the borrower slightly more than 4 per cent.

PHILOSOPHER SAYS

Ike Has Correct Slant on Nikita

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flat Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek thinks he has discovered a similarity in his and the President's thinking. His letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: I guess I'm just as human as the next man and I don't mind admitting it makes me feel good to see the President of the United States backing me up in one of my viewpoints.

Some thinker in Washington—probably the one who sent that refrigerator that scoots around the kitchen floor at the touch of a push-button to the American exhibit in Russia, pretending it'd be representative of America—came out with the idea that President Eisenhower ought to end the steel strike before Premier Khrushchev gets here for his visit. Said he wanted everything functioning smoothly when the Russian big shot gets here.

President Eisenhower scoffed at the idea, saying what would it hurt if Khrushchev saw a strike? Why pretend to something we're not? Besides, it might do the dictator good to see American workers can strike if they want to, it's something Russian workers can't do.

This is exactly what I've been saying for years.

though not about visitors from foreign countries. I've been saying it about visitors from around here.

Why should I cut the weeds in my front yard just because some in-law who has managed for the downpayment on a new car is coming out Sunday to sponge a free meal off of me?

Me and President Eisenhower see eye to eye on this thing. That is, I'm not saying his farm at Gettysburg has weeds in the front yard, he may have more time for chopping weeds than I have, but we both agree that we've got nothing to hide in this country.

If my front yard suits me from Monday through Saturday, why spruce it up for visitors coming Sunday? If a man's kids aren't already pretty well behaved, combing their hair's not going to fool anybody.

Let old Khrushchev come on over and see us like we are. I don't know why he's coming. Some experts figure he has a deep, dark, sinister motive in coming, and maybe he has. But on the other hand, he may be just coming for the trip.

A man can get bored with enslaving small countries and sending your fellow-countrymen to Siberia. If I lived in Russia, I'd like to get out as often as I could too.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

BIBLE COMMENT

Bible Speaks on Human Relations

The Bible has a great deal to say about living with friends and foes.

To live with friends would not seem to present any problem, though there is an art of friendship which is not always cultivated or which may be onended only. Friendship depends upon mutual confidence and regard.

To live with enemies, real or imagined, is not so easy. If no real dangers are involved, there may be upsetting disquiet and disturbances of mind.

But if you had been a Jew in Hitler's Germany, or if you were a Roman Catholic or Protestant in today's Communist China, there would be nothing imaginary about your enemies, or the dangers confronting you. There are many references to enemies in both the Old and the New Testaments. Over 300 enemies are listed from Genesis to Revelation. Many of these enemies undoubtedly were of the same sort that have beset others in later times.

The unyielding attitude of those whose religion enforces an implacable attitude toward "enemies" undoubtedly makes onended concession. The great hope seems to be that world sentiment may bring more tolerant and placable action to bear.

It is possible that much of the Biblical counsel concerning enemies as more personal than national or communal reference.

"Agree with thine adversary quickly," or "A soft answer turneth away wrath" may be wise counsels for daily living and peace of mind.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Customers Come With Consistency

By ROY V. FOX

Record Co-Publisher

Successful retailing is marked by two outstanding elements — consistent advertising and showmanship. This is the opinion of Budd Gore, an advertising man who has attained national fame for his articles and speeches on retail selling.

Mr. Gore warns retailers that there is no resting period for promotion.

"No retailer ever grew in size profitably without a steady drum-fire of efforts that persuade prospects to convert themselves into customers," he asserts.

Consistent advertising is becoming of greater importance to the retailer each year. Modern living is so complex and the consumer is so frequently interrupted that he is not likely to absorb fully any advertising message from a single exposure.

"Consistency may be boring to the advertiser but it never is to the prospective customer," Mr. Gore said.

Although, as Mr. Gore suggests, a retailer may become bored with repeated efforts to attract customers, we suspect that another big obstacle to consistent advertising is vanity on the part of some retailers.

Too often a small retailer who has attained a certain degree of success begins to feel that his position is so well established that no further advertising is needed. He may feel that everyone in the community has become thoroughly familiar with his offering. When this happens, rather than cruising on the plateau of success, the retailer is actually approaching the brink of disaster.

The consumer does not carry a mental file on any place of business. There is no reason why he should. It is more convenient for him when he is ready to make a particular purchase. It is traditional, logical, and economical for him to begin his investigation in the advertising columns of his newspaper.

Civil War Story, 'Horse Soldiers'

April 17, 1863, a Union Cavalry Brigade set out on a sixteen-day, 600-mile raid through the Southern lines. It was one of the most daring and remarkable episodes of the war, and according to historians, helped shorten the conflict by as much as a full year.

The cost to the United States was $1200 (the average daily pay of an officer was 28 cents).

"The Horse Soldiers," a new film centering around Grierson's famous raid, cost over six million dollars to produce. It required sixty days to film. John Wayne, William Holden and Constance Towers are starred in "The Horse Soldiers," which opens Sunday at the Palace Theatre through United Artists release with DeLuxe color.

The bold and almost incredible ride of Col. Grierson and his Union Calvarymen was the brainchild of Ulysses S. Grant. For a year, Grant had tried, without success, to take the river city of Vicksburg, from which could be launched a drive to overwhelm the Confederacy. In his desperation, Grant conceived the simple, but seemingly impossible, scheme of sending a brigade of cavalry three-hundred miles through Rebel territory to attempt to destroy Newton Station, that all-important supply center for Vicksburg.

Grierson's column was to "horse ride" from La Grange, Tenn., on the Mississippi border, through 300 miles of hostile territory, until (or rather, if) it reached its objective. Then, if anything was left of it, it was up to Grierson to decide to attempt to horse ride another 300 miles to safety at Baton Rouge, held by Union Forces.

Sixteen days after he set out from La Grange, with vital Newton Center destroyed, Grierson reported himself to the surprised Union general commanding at Baton Rouge, with the dirty, bloody, flight-weary remnants of his unit.

Every time you spend a dollar in this community for goods and services, a substantial part of that dollar automatically becomes an investment in an enriched social and business life for YOU and your family and friends.

It's an investment you can draw on every day of your life... an investment that pays big dividends in happiness and prosperity, as it strengthens and builds up the vitality of this area in which you live... and in which YOU are important.

Contrast this with what the community-building and supporting part of your dollar does for you when you spend it away from home, send it to some mail order house, or surrender it to some migratory peddler.

It's gone. To support some other area... to build up wealth that YOU can never draw on... and to strengthen those who aggressively drain off the trade of your community... to weaken your business, your schools and churches, to eliminate your job, and devalue your property.

Surprisingly, that gentle little old lady who never drove over 30 miles an hour was really tough on her car's motor. The fact is that start-and-stop driving at low speeds means the motor doesn't warm up enough for its own good. Sludge forms in the motor oil. Damage to the engine will result.

Most of us do a lot of start-and-stop driving these days, and that's why it's wise to protect with Phillips 66 Trop-Artic Motor Oil. It flows quickly in a cold engine... resists sludge formation... then keeps on protecting your motor on long, hot drives.

WESTBROOK—A fall from a swing Friday night sent Junior Oden, son of Mrs. Sam Oden, to the hospital with a broken arm.

The boy was playing on a swing in a neighbor's yard when the accident happened. His parents moved him to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene Friday night. And he remained in the hospital until Monday evening.

The fall caused three fractures in the elbow and a fourth fracture just above the wrist in his left arm.

Mrs. Altis Clemmer and son, Richard, visited Saturday in the Abilene hospital with Junior Oden.

Catfishing is a democratic outdoors sport. A catfish doesn't care whether you use a drop line, trotline, cane pole or casting rod, just so there is something to eat at the end of the line. And he doesn't care a fin-wiggle what that something is. But, don't get the idea that Old Whiskers is a dumb fish. He isn't. It takes experience to become a good catfisherman. It helps too, if you know something about the catfish's eating and living habits. For instance, the catfish is a bottom feeder. So, if you want to land a cat, let your bait sink down near where he is. Also it's good to know the peculiarities of the various species of catfish. So let's divide the catfish tribe into three broad families and discuss how best to take each of the species.

CHANNEL CAT: Probably the most sporting of the catfish. The channel cat, however, is no more choosy a feeder than his cousins. He is available to fishermen using the usual catfish bait. This includes insects, crayfish, worms, frogs, various fishes such as perch, minnows etc. Also "stink bait," commercially prepared, or made from the most evil-smelling concoction you can invent. Here a popular stink bait formula: Place cut-up shad or sunfish in a jar of water and forget about it until it becomes nice and ripe. Mix this with some adhesive "body" such as dough or cotton. Then mold into balls and place on the hook. Channel cats generally are found around fast-flowing water. However, many factors enter into their choice of lurking places. As an old-timer put it:

"You gotta fish in the place where fish are at."

During the day, channel cats are more often found in deep water, near logs or underbrush. Knowledge of their probable whereabouts can come only from experience. Time of year and time of day often determine their location, and this varies in different localities. Angling for this tasty meated fish is an art in itself. Daylight fishing especially requires shrewd figuring on the fish's hiding place, whether you are at casting or pole fishing. On your rod, or pole, use 30 lb. test line and be sure your rod or pole is stout. Attach a sinker just above a 1/2-inch hook (catfish have big mouths) for a weighted bait carried along the bottom appears more natural to a channel cat than bait hanging from a float. Rod and pole angling can be done from bridges, piers or

Utah Couple Returns for Loraine Visit

LORAIN — Mr. and Mrs. Homer Derryberry of Salt Lake City, Utah, visited friends Saturday in Loraine. They were here with Mr. Derryberry's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Barkley Derryberry, of Rotan. Mr. Derryberry was a rural mail carrier at Loraine for many years before moving to Abilene Post Office. After retirement he and Mrs. Derryberry moved to Salt Lake to be near their only daughter who is married to a major in military service.

Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Taylor returned home last week after a visit of several days in Dallas. Among their entertainment fare was "High Button Shoes," State Fair musical featuring Bob Crosby and Janis Paige.

Gordon Mahon returned to Midland this week to resume his job with Shell Oil Company. He has been on leave of absence for the last two months necessitated by back surgery in Dallas and recuperation here at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mahon.

Return from Duncan Mrs. T. J. Green Jr. and children, Marsha and Tommy, returned to Loraine Sunday from Duncan, Okla., where they had visited several days with her sister, Mrs. N. F. McNaughton, and children.

banks. But best results come from wading or walking the shoreline, plunking your offering toward any spot that looks likely, such as logs, brush, holes, pilings, etc. Channel cats are caught on trotlines occasionally, but the trotline method is more often used for the blue and yellow cats. Drop lines are more effective for channel cat. To fix a good drop line, take the necessary length of stout trotline, tie to an overhanging tree branch and attach your weighted hook and bait to the lower end. Let the line dangle several feet under water so that the movement of the branch will move line and bait up and down. For bait, use small live perch, shrimp or stink bait.

BLUE CAT: The largest of the Texas catfish, with a maximum weight of 150 pounds. Blue cats are found all over Texas in various sub-species. Mostly they inhabit large lakes and streams. Usually they are taken by trotline fishermen using whole shad, sunfish, suckers, carp, or bait cut from these fishes. However, smaller blues often are caught with rod and reel, cane poles, and drop lines. If you intend to use a trotline, be sure it complies with local regulations. An average trotline has from ten to thirty hooks, set three or four feet apart, attached to the main line by stagings, or leaders, each about two or three feet long. Where possible, stagings should be attached to the trotline by swivels, to prevent the fish from twisting off. Use a 75-lb. to 100-lb. test for your main line, and also for the leaders, or stagings. Weight your stagings and attach to each at 1 1/2" to 2" hook. Allow ten or more feet free of staging at each end of the trotline. Tie one end of the trotline to a tree or stake on shore. Tie the other end to a snag, rock, or stake, out to whatever distance you determine best for your particular body of water. Weight the main line in the middle with rocks or iron. Bait the hooks with your predetermined lure, then attach a turkey bell to the shore end of the line. Now all you have to do is sit back and wait for the ringing bell to tell you that there is a fish somewhere out yonder on your line.

YELLOW CAT: Also known as mud cat, flathead, etc. Maximum size over 100 pounds, sometimes over 5 feet in length. This catfish lives and feeds on the bottom, so set your trotline low to get results. Yellows hide under cutbanks, rocks and hollow logs. Bait your hooks with three or four inch sunfish, or a good stink bait. Otherwise proceed as you do with blues, only be sure your stagings drag the bottom. Catfishing takes savvy, just as do all other forms of fishing. But if you'll use these tips and plain "hoss sense," before long you'll be catching catfish as large as are caught by the oldtimers in the next boat.
