Historic House Razed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Urban Renewal Agency's demonlition of a small house in downtown San Antonio - which once bore a state historic medallion - was illegal, a legislator says.

The one-room building was torn down last week to make room for a doctor's office building. Known as the Rivas House, it was built about 1832.

Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio, co-author of the Texas Antiquities Act, accused the Urban Renewal Agency of bulldozing the city's Mexican-American heritage.

"The purpose of that act was to stop this kind of thing," Johnson said. He asked why Winston Martin, local URA director, didn't "reach in there and save that little house."

Martin said the structure was "in the hands of a private owner at the time of demolition." He also questioned its historic value. In recent years, it had housed a cleaners.

Local conservationists should prepare a master list of historical structures for reference by such agencies as URA, "instead of waiting until a crisis like this one," Martin said.

In this and some other cases, he said, "we never heard of anything about the historic value of the structures until the private developers took over and started re-developing the site."

Johnson said the antiquities act specifies that defined historic structures are subject to state review when clearance or alteration is being considered.

A State Historical Survey Committee medallion was placed on the Rivas House in 1962.

"All these buildings are deemed to be properties of the state," Johnson said. "If it's on urban renewal land, it belongs to the state."

Martin said he did not feel the structure's demolition was a violation of the antiquities act.

He also said the URA is an agency of the city, not the state, and that the property had been sold to private developers and did not belong to the state. It was the URA's responsibility to clear the land.

In an interview, Johnson asked: "How can the federal government keep giving San Antonio money to destroy the historic heritage of a minority group? How long is the government going to keep subsidizing rape?"

Martin denied the URA was destroying Mexican-American heritage. In this case, he said, the structure was only part of a house left over from the widening of a street.

"It could not qualify for national recognition and the remnant had none of the architectural character of the original structure," he said.

He noted the URA is restoring the Farmers Market area here into an authentic expression of the city's Mexican background.

Alaska Meeting Symbolizes Union

FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — President Nixon and Japan's 70-year-old Emperor Hirohito stood stiffly at attention as red-jacketed U.S. Marines, heirs to men who fought Japan on dozens of Pacific battlefields in World War II, passed in review.

Nixon and the Emperor - the first reigning Japanese monarch ever to leave his homeland—met for more than an hour on American soil late Sunday night. For those present, it clearly was a moving and historic moment, symbolizing the postwar alliance of onetime enemies.

As Hirohito later boarded his American-made jet - transport for an over-the-pole flight to Copenhagen, the Alaskan night sky was illuminated brilliantly by a spectacular display of the Northern Lights.

Before the Empror's arrival Nixon attended a reception at the anchorage home of Walter J. Hickel, the man he dismissed as interior secretary less than a year ago.

Nixon made an 8,140-mile round trip to Alaska to become the first U.S. president ever to meet with an emperor of Japan.

Their talks were general in nature—a circumstance dictated by the Emperor's position as one whose influence on Japanese policy can be exercised only in subtle ways.

There was no immediate word on the content of any of the talks, however, and no communique was issued at the conclusion of the royal visit.

The President, welcoming Hirohito at Elmendorf Air Force Base, said:

"Your journey to Alaska symbolizes Japan's growing position in world affairs. We meet in ... a place which is approximately the same distance between Tokyo and Washington D.C. This fact reminds us that for the past quarter century that we have built a structure of political, economic and cultural ties which spans the space between our two countries ..."

Nixon said he hoped their meeting would "demonstrate for all the years to come a determination of our two great peoples to work together in friendship for peace and prosperity for the Pacific and for all people in the world."

Hirohito said he was "deeply moved" that the President and Mrs. Nixon had undertaken a long journey to meet the Emperor and Empress Nagako on what was ostensibly a simple refueling stop en route to Europe.

Local Store Burglarized

Burglars forced entry into the Only Store in Town, 1803 Twenty-fourth Street, Sunday night and took five pairs of pants, two pairs of boots, three jackets and 30 pairs of socks, police reported.

City Police also are investigating the theft of two car batteries. One was taken from the 1961 Model Ford of Marvin Clyde Brandstetter, 2101 Twenty-second Street, while his car was parked about two miles out of town on the Colorado City Highway Friday night.

The other one was stolen from the back of a pickup of Kenneth May, 2701 Avenue J, while it was parked at his house Friday night.

Vandals threw a rock through a window on the north side of the Boys' Club, 1500 Twenty-eighth Street, Sunday night.

United Fund Drive To Begin Tuesday

The Scurry County United Fund will kick off its annual campaign tomorrow.

All division chairmen, captains and workers have been invited to a breakfast session at 7 a.m. at the First Baptist Church. The campaign crews will get their campaign materials and final instructions at the breakfast and canvass work in the drive will begin immediately.

The Scurry County United Fund is seeking $43,800 this year to support the operations of 10 participating agencies.

Maurice (Mo) Hodges, athletic director and head football coach at Snyder High School, will be "head chef" for the kickoff breakfast. His staff of cooks will include Tommy Deffebach, Olin Bunch and R. C. Patton.

Ernest Sears and Bill J. Hood are co-chairmen for the United Fund Campaign this year.

Saturday, Oct. 2, has been designated as "United Fund Education Day." The participating agencies will have exhibits set up in the Scurry County Coliseum and the public is invited to inspect them. Refreshments will be served.

Campaign leaders hope to conclude the campaign here promptly. The period of Oct. 4-8 has been designated as United Fund Work Days, and all workers in the campaign will be actively contacting prospective contributors during that period. Workers will be asked to complete their assignments and turn in their cards by Oct. 8.

REALIGNMENT OF CURRENCIES URGED

US Pressured On Surcharge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, put pressure today on the United States for quick removal of its 10 per cent import surcharge.

Schweitzer also called on the major industrialized countries to get a new set of values for their currencies to help resolve the international monetary deadlock.

In his opening address to the opening session of the annual IMF meeting, Schweitzer also urged all nations concerned to contribute to currency realignment.

The United States has been resisting devaluation of the dollar in terms of gold, action which many countries believe should be the United States' contribution to settling the impasse.

"The surcharge can be justified as a means of improving the U.S. balance of payments only until it is possible to supplant it by effective action in the exchange rate field," Schweitzer said. "Let me stress the importance of moving to an agreed solution on these two issues without delay."

The major 10 industrialized non-Communist nations agreed Sunday on a plan to resolve the international crisis by the end of the year, with meetings scheduled in mid-October and late November focusing first on currency realignment and removal of the surcharge.

Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connelly has said that a dollar-devaluing boost in the price of gold would not break the international monetary deadlock.

But, while downplaying the role of gold as the keystone to the world monetary system, Connally left the devaluation issue unsettled, dodging a direct question on whether it is a negotiable item in international discussions.

The gold-price question dominated as delegates to the 118-nation International Monetary Fund gathered today for what may turn out to be its most important meeting in its 27-year history.

President Nixon ripped the foundation from the monetary system by cutting the dollar loose from its tie with gold on Aug. 15. The President also imposed a 10-per-cent import surcharge in an effort to reduce the nation's growing balance-of-payments deficit.

"The United States has no hangup, no fixation, with gold," Connally told newsmen Sunday. "We're not committed to the mythology of gold. We would hope that the role of gold in the IMF would indeed be diminished."

The secretary, however, may find that wishful thinking for the moment. In Europe and Japan, there is almost unanimous pressure for a dollar devaluation through raising the price of gold to help achieve currency realignments.

But the United States appeared to win at least one concession on the gold-price question at a meeting of the Group of Ten."

US Trade In Red

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite President Nixon's import surcharge, the U.S. balance in trade ran in the red for the fifth month in a row in August as Americans imported $259.7 million more in goods than they exported.

The deficit was slightly improved from July, when it ran to $304 million. But the total deficit for 1971 so far stands at $936.1 million, which compares with a $2.2-billion surplus for the same period a year earlier.

Unfavorable trade figures were among the chief reasons for President Nixon's new economic policy announced Aug. 15. The policy includes a 10 per cent added tax on most imports, a tax which the administration is using as a bargaining tool to seek a realignment of international currency rates to help correct the trade deficit.

It had not been expected that August trade figures would show the effects of the surcharge because it was announced in mid-month and did not apply to goods that were in shipment at that time.

The Commerce Department figurs showed exports increased in August for the first time in three months, going up 5.2 per cent to a total of $3.68 billion.

Imports increased by 3.7 per cent to $3.94 billion.

Longbotham Service Held Here Today

Funeral service was set for 1 p.m. today at the Bell-Seale Chapel for Mrs. Connie Longbotham, 80, long-time Snyder resident.

Mrs. Longbotham, who lived at 2112 Thirtieth Street, died at 10:25 p.m. Saturday in Snyder Hospital.

The Rev. Raymond Hall, pastor of First Baptist Church, where Mrs. Longbotham was a member, was to officiate at the funeral service.

Mrs. Longbotham is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Geraldine Bowers of Midland; three sons, Bernard Longbotham Jr. and William B. Longbotham, both of Snyder, and Dr. Jack Henry Longbotham of Abilene; a brother, C. L. Noble of Snyder; 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Her husband, Bernard Longbotham Sr., preceded her in death on Jan. 6, 1962. Two sons, John Robert and Charles Longbotham also preceded her in death.

Burial was to be in Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were to be Orville Taylor, Murray Jackson, Earl Abercrombie, Martin Brooks, Jack Phillips and Lee Smyth.

Panel Shifts Tax Break To Consumer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Congress passes the refashioned tax-revision bill, it will be betting that consumer spending—rather than business investment—is what the economy needs for a quick recovery.

President Nixon's recommendations emphasized swelling business cash flow in the months ahead, on grounds that orders for equipment would create jobs soon and strengthen U.S. plants competitively for the long pull.

The extent to which the House Ways and Means Committee reversed the emphasis is underlined by new figures refining the first rough estimates of what would come of the committee's changes.

Instead of the $1.6-billion tax break on this year's business income that would have come from the Nixon version of the investment credit, business might have a somewhat higher, than present tax bill, resulting from the committee's changes both in the investment credit proposal and the fast-depreciation rules. The estimate is $600 million, above what existing law and rules would provide.

But where Nixon proposed no reduction in individual taxes on 1971 income, the committee wrote in cuts estimated at almost $1.4 billion.

In the years after 1973, business could be better off under the committee bill than under Nixon's. The permanent investment-credit rate would be 2 per cent higher and the restriction on fast depreciation would tend to taper off.

The marked difference comes in the tax treatment of income for 1971 and 1972, regarded as crucial years economically—and politically as well.

For 1972, the committee approved the $2.2-billion one-time individual income tax cut Nixon asked and added provisions reducing low-income taxes $1 billion for that year, more later.

One reason for the committee's favorable treatment of indiduals, especially those at the low end of the income range, is concern about two developments that might pinch consumers' pocketbooks in the early months of 1972—just when it is hoped recovery will be picking up steam.

The Tax withholding tables are out of balance with present incomes and working-couple patterns, the Treasury acknowledged in testimony, and there is no chance of revising them thoroughly until next year.

Moreover, Social Security taxes go up next year even under present law.

For many, the extra tax would more than offset the modest income tax relief Nixon proposed.

Heath Host To Irish Ministers

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Three prime ministers met today in a crucial summit session aimed at dragging Ireland from the jaws of civil war.

Britain's Prime Minister Edward Heath was host in the calm of the English countryside to Northern Ireland's Brian Faulkner and the Irish Republic's Jack Lynch.

Even as they met at Chequers, Heath's country residence, the turmoil ground on in embattled Northern Ireland.

A major riot erupted in Belfast's New Lodge Road as British troops swooped in a search for suspected guerrillas of the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

A hail of gasoline bombs met a bulldozer sent in to tear down barricades. Men of the Duke of Wellington's Regiment opened fire and reported one rioter was shot.

Nine men were arrested in the Belfast swoop. Ten others were taken in a dawn raid at Bellaghy, a village 30 miles northwest of Belfast.

The turmoil in the British province has cost 110 dead and hundreds wounded in the past two years. Those killed include 24 British soldiers sent to Ulster to keep the peace.

The rate of killing—more than 50 in the past two months—has increased drastically as the urban guerrillas of the outlawed Irish Republican Army have stepped up their campaign for a united Ireland.

The guerrillas have sworn that predominantly protestant Northern Ireland must be merged with Lynch's republic, which is 95 per cent Roman Catholic.

Lynch said Sunday he expects nothing spectacular to result, but added he is optimistic.

"What we are looking for," he said, "is some means of opening the way to peace in the north and, I hope, the ultimate unification of Ireland."

He said he would be willing to return for similar talks "even if these talks go against me." Today's session is the first of its kind since 1925, when the border between Northern Ireland and the republic was defined.

Children's fanciful tales can damage reputations

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1971 by Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to the parents of the 10-year-old girl who claimed she was molested by a neighbor was dangerously wrong.

You suggest the parents talk to the man and threaten him with exposure to his wife and/or the authorities unless he submit at once to a psychiatric examination and treatment. All of this due to the quite elaborate and unverified story of a 10-year-old girl.

Many good men have been damaged by fanciful stories told by little girls. In your haste to find the man guilty, you overlook the possibility that the girl could be the one needing psychiatric help. Your advice could be harmful to an innocent man. Sign me DOUBTFUL.

DEAR DOUBTFUL: Thank you for your intelligent letter. You could be right. But what "harm" could be done to an innocent man by insisting that he have a psychiatric examination? If he denied the story, then a confrontation with his young accuser would follow, and soon one or the other would be tripped up in his [or her] lies.

If you think my solution is "harmful," then please suggest a better one.

DEAR ABBY: Some "Worried Parents" wrote in saying their 10-year-old daughter had told them that a neighbor man had shown her some dirty books, tried to "wrestle" with her, and told her some dirty jokes in an attempt to take advantage of her. You advised the parents to talk to the man, calmly, tell him that no healthy-minded man behaves in that manner, and if he didn't voluntarily submit to a psychiatric examination, to threaten to tell his wife and the authorities. Do you realize, Dear Abby, that you are suggesting blackmail?

Did it ever occur to you that the little girl could have made up that story about the man and that he could be innocent? The only thing the parents have to go on is what their 10-year-old daughter told them. And some children have very wild imaginations. INCENSED IN N. Y.

DEAR INCENSED: Yes, it occurred to me that the child could have been lying. That's why I advised the parents to talk to the man and give him a chance to defend himself, if indeed he could. Please read the following letter, received today.

DEAR ABBY: The best advice you ever gave was to the woman whose 10-year-old daughter was approached by a neighbor.

I wish someone had given me that advice when my 13-year-old daughter was taken advantage of by a neighbor. I made the terrible mistake of telling my husband about it. Instead of handling the situation in a calm, logical manner, as you suggested, my half-crazed husband ran over and beat the man, injuring him permanently. This resulted in the imprisonment of my husband.

As a result of the publicity and the trial, my daughter ran away from home at 16, and I haven't seen her for two years. She writes and calls occasionally, but she will never live at home with us again.

I can't help thinking that if I would have received your wise advice our family might still be together today. Keep it up, Abby. LONESOME AND WAITING

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HAD THE SAME EXPERIENCE IN OMAHA": Your letter was one of many from readers who disclosed similar stories which had been locked away in their memories for over 40 years. The case of the 10-year-old girl who reported that a middle-aged neighbor man had taken indecent liberties with her was typical.

Unfortunately, statistics of child molesting are sadly incomplete because many parents would prefer to hush it up and let it go than face the publicity and subject their child to the embarrassment of retelling the details of the ugly incident. It's a fair estimate that 90 per cent of all child molesters have been a member of the child's family, a friend of the family, or a friendly neighbor.

Thousands Rescued In Mexico

AMECAMECA, Mexico (AP) — Several thousand persons were rescued from the lower slopes of the Popocatepetl volcano Sunday where they were stranded after a celebration Saturday, Red Cross officials said.

An estimated 30,000 persons went to the 17,761-foot volcano to honor Mexican revolutionary hero Vicente Guerrero, but most were forced to spend the night on the mountain when the buses which had brought them became trapped on the muddy road.

Red Cross officials said the road, already in poor condition because of seasonal rains, was damaged by the several hundred heavy vehicles that brought people to the ceremony. Heavy afternoon rains made it impossible to move the buses and trucks which blocked the road.

Officials said 512 persons were treated for frostbite and other effects of the cold. Most of those who attended the ceremony had worn only light clothing, thinking they would return to their homes that evening. The temperature on the lower slopes reached freezing at Paso de Cortes where the ceremony was held.

Many of the stranded spent the night in the buses or in tents set up by emergency teams of the Mexican Army.

Radio transmissions from Red Cross Alpine teams monitored Saturday night said that two of the more than 100 persons who climbed to the top of Popo to leave a Mexican flag died when they were stranded in a blizzard.

One reportedly died of a heart attack and the other of appendicitis. Local Red Cross officials said that the bodies of a woman and three children were seen on the lower slopes of the mountain.

None of the deaths could be confirmed.

456,000 Attend Crusade

DALLAS (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham closed his 10-day Greater Southwest Crusades Sunday before an audience of 48,400, bringing the total attendance to about 456,000.

Graham cited the radical scientific and social changes predicted for this world in the book "Future Shocks" by Alvin Toffler.

"The real shock will not be in one produced from science, but one produced by Almighty God and it will strike the hardest to those outside Jesus Christ."

Graham said Toffler forecast no place for family in the world to come and that marriage would be out of date. In the entire sweeping of the future outlook in the book, Graham said, "there is never a reference to God. He is left out of the picture."

"The atomic bomb didn't make me decide not to marry, and man going to the moon didn't change my concept of God," Graham said. "Natural law won't change. It was put there by God. Human longings and yearnings won't change."

Predicting a day in which there is going to be a shock "greater than anything that has ever rocked this world," Graham turned to Bible prophecies of an antichrist, when a "beast" with supernatural power of the devil, will win over the people with his cry of peace, while all the time he's planning war.

"There will come a day of wrath," warned the evangelist. "God isn't going to let the sins of man go on forever. Some day judgement will come upon the earth because of our sins."

Graham shared the platform at the Texas Stadium, new home of the National Football League's Dallas Cowboys, with singers Ethel Waters and Norma Zimmer, Bill Bright, founder and president of Crusades for Christ, and Lt.Gov. and Mrs. Ben Barnes.

Three Youths Are Charged

One of the three youths also was charged with simple assault, and he posted a $25 fine on this charge.

GOOFY AND PLUTO HAVE PLANS — The opening of the Walt Disney World entertainment center near Orlando, Fla., is this week (Oct. 1) and Disney characters such as Goofy (left) and Pluto will be out mixing with the customers. Artic Oil Is Challenge

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — President Nixon said Sunday the marketing of arctic oil is of as high priority as a safe development of the nation's natural resources.

But he made no commitment to support the proposed trans-Alaska pipeline to any oil from the north oil fields on Alaska's North Slope of Prudhoe Bay.

In a statement released on his arrival here, from the Pacific Northwest, Nixon said:

"Based on the information now at hand, I do not believe that the apparent conflict between oil and the environment represents a permanent impasse. Instead it presents a challenge—a challenge to our engineering skills and a challenge to our environmental conscience.

"I believe we can meet that challenge, proving that natural resources in the Arctic or elsewhere—can be developed and transported in a responsible manner with respect to environmental values."

Six Hurt In 2-Car Mishap Here Sunday

Six persons sustained minor injuries in a two-car collision on the east road in Northeast Park at 7:02 p.m. Sunday.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service for treatment of minor injuries were Josephine Silva Vera, 21, 2303½ Twenty-third Street; Mary Perez Silva, 26, 600 College Avenue; Tony Silva, 5 months, and Amelio Silva, 3, both of 2303½ Twenty-third Street; Janie Gutierrez, 17, and Rosie Gutierrez, 6, both of 2303 Avenue N. All of them were released after receiving treatment.

Jospehine Vera was the driver of a 1958 Model Chevrolet. The other driver was Mary Silva. She was operating a 1959 Model Oldsmobile. There was considerable damage to both cars.

Freddy Gutierrez, a passenger in the car driven by Josphine Vera, was not injured.

Another two-car collision occurred on College Avenue at Thirty-first Street at 4:07 p.m. Saturday. Involved were the 1967 Model Ford of Wade Rodgers, 3112 Avenue I, and the 1965 Model Ford of Ruben Gil Becerra, 306 Twentieth Street. Sergeant Ben McNulty investigated the mishap. There was considerable damage.

N-Viets Mount Heavy Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces mounted heavy attacks today along South Vietnam's border with Cambodia for the second day, reportedly inflicting heavy losses on South Vietnamese forces.

Two U.S. aircraft supporting the South Vietnamese were shot down with five Americans wounded, the U.S. Command said.

Field reports said the South Vietnamese lost at least 20 men killed, about 100 wounded and a number of artillery pieces, tanks and armored cars destroyed, some of them apparently by sappers who broke into the government positions hurling satchel charges.

The South Vietnamese Command reported that 92 North Vietnamese troops were killed, many of them by U.S. helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers and artillery.

On the outskirts of Saigon, two Viet Cong sappers were detected attempting to penetrate an ammunition depot near Tan Son Nhut air base, South Vietnamese headquarters said. One of them was killed and the second escaped, a communique said. A series of explosions ripped through a section of the dump a week ago, destroying 300 tons of ammunition.

Viet Cong sappers used a mine to blow up a train traveling from Qui Nhon to Tuy Hoa on the central coast. The Saigon Command said one civilian was killed and six were wounded, adding that the locomotive was destroyed and three cars were damaged.

U.S. officers said the attacks along the Cambodian border and the increase in sapper activity are probably timed to take advantage of political unrest and divisiveness among the South Vietnamese.

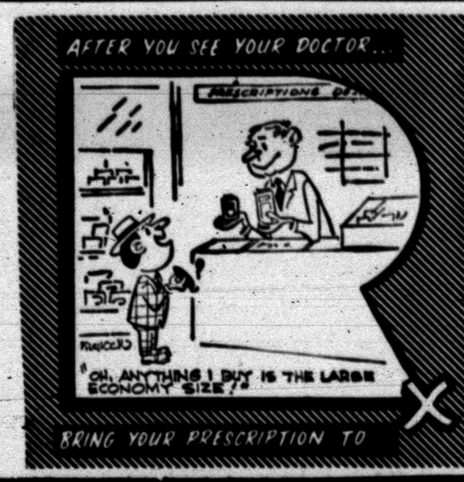

Mutscher Talks With Advisors

AUSTIN (AP) — House Speaker Gus Mutscher talked again with advisors and kept an eye on the Texas Supreme Court today in his search for a course of action following his indictment on bribery charges.

"He's not going to have a statement today," a secretary said.

"It's not necessary for him to make an immediate decision. Frankly we are trying to get advice," said Rush McGinty, a Mutscher aide who was indicted with the speaker by the Travis County grand jury Thursday. The crucial talks over the speakership began immediately and continued throughout the weekend.

Mutscher conferred today with Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, House speaker pro tem, who also was indicted.

Ralph Asks Help On Decision

HOUSTON (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough held up bumper stickers from former campaigns which pushed his desire for the Senate and the governor's seat here Sunday. He then asked local Democrats to help him decide about 1972.

Yarborough told the crowd of 2,000 at the annual Harris County Democrats picnic that he was going to run for something next year, but he wasn't sure what.

The former senator, defeated by U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen in the last Democratic primary, said he will run for either the Senate seat now held by John Tower or the governorship but added that the choice "is the toughest political decision I've every had to make."

He then asked the Democrats at the meeting to write him about what he should do.

Yarborough drew the greatest cheers for his slashing attacks on an old political enemy, Treasury Secretary John Connally.

Connally, Yarborough said, is "out to the right of Nixon, Mitchell, Agnew and some of those fellows."

Another speaker at the picnic, state Rep. Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty who is running for speaker of the House said the recent indictment of present Speaker Gus Mutscher and others for bribery will not "clean up the mess in Austin.

"These indictments, even convictions, are only symptoms of the disease that affects the Texas House of representatives," Daniel said. "The problem must be solved by correcting the system iteself. Democracy must be returned to the House."

Stolen Car Found In Puerto Rico

EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — For a month Herbert Bischoff had been worried about his stolen car, so he was happy when police called to say it had been recovered. But there's a problem: the car is in Puerto Rico.

Police weren't sure how the 1964 car, stolen from in front of Bischoff's home, wound up on the Carribbean island. But they said it was impounded at Puerto Neuvo, and he could pick it up any time.

The chapter has also contributed each year to the ABWA National Scholarship Foundation, as well as making contributions for the Foreign Student Exchange program, or the American Field Service. It was reported that one of the scholarship recipients, Nancy Meador Jones, has passed all tests for receiving her Texas Pharmacist's License.

The Scurry Charter Chapter is one of over 900 chapters in the United States, with national memberships exceeding 55,000.

Looking For New House Goodies Can Be Fun

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If your do-it-yourselfer's enthusiasm has waned you may be able to revive it with some of the new house goodies to be found in building supply shops. It's a good idea for women to browse such places occasionally, and to peruse architectural and building manuals she might find at do-it-yourself counters or in the library.

Home building shows are another source of new items, and women might put some of the new ideas into perspective for their men-folk. For example:

... Swinging windows let you wash both sides of a window by tilting it toward you, a bit less hazardous than sitting on a window sill. In a new addition to a house, you might like something different from the conventional double-hung window. Casement windows appeal to women because they are more romantic looking. Awning-style windows are great for screened porches and breezeways, and may be appropriate in some contemporary-styled houses.

If you are restoring a house you can find the just-right windows for the period. You may even locate old glass, bulls eye panes, leaded windows, if you know where to look. There are removable muntins which provide modern easy-clean conveniences to an old idea.

... Fireplaces can be added as an after-thought even if the mason didn't provide footings. There are all sorts of interesting contemporary fireplaces. Some eliminate the need for masonry walls. These may be installed in the corners of rooms, along walls, or in other suitable areas. Some installations are made simple by chimney kits and pipe ensembles. Franklin stoves that burn wood, coal, charcoal or gas logs are available with all the proper colonial-style accessories.

... In addition to do-it-yourself floor tiles and wall tiles of just about every material, there are now self-adhesive mirror tiles.

... Decorator panels are made to fit standard partition frames and fit easily within pre-grooved frames.

... Raised panel Colonial doors that look hand-crafted can give an 18th century mansion look to a room. The deep beveled door is made of a pine processed into a wood fiber blended with a binder. A pair of such doors might fill in an old-fashioned archway that separates two rooms.

... If you've been yearning for shutters, they now come in easy-care reds, greens, blues, golds, black and white in look-like-wood nylon. They need no paint or repair on gauges.

... To give a front door entrance added character there are pediments and pilasters of plastic. New ones provide architectural embellishments of the Georgian and other periods and they're not supposed to rot, stain, warp, shrink or swell.

... Lightweight materials are making some projects easier for do-it-yourselfers. New aluminum columns may easily be placed on their ends. For example, a 10-foot column, 10 inches wide weighs 36 pounds.

... Ironwork grilles in the New Orleans manner are available but these should be used in a proper framework. Don't gag it up.

... Bi-fold doors may give an entranceway or closet door a handsome look and these may have louvred or grillwork set in a Spanish arch or they may be traditional style with embossed panels. Bright white can be strikingly effective against dark red, green, blue or black walls, especially attractive in halls or at the end of a long room.

Specialization Solving Industries' Problems

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A powerful electronics company, RCA Corp., falls on its face while attempting to become a profitable manufacturer of computers and is forced to leave the business and take a $250-million loss.

Only a year before, the company was reassuring employes that its future was in computers.

Another in a long series of magazines closes its presses. "Look" had become a household word. It had seemed to be a permanent member of the editorial world.

The Penn Central Railroad, the nation's largest, struggles to maintain order along its thousands of miles of tracks and in its vast real estate empire. But it is bankrupt.

A few years ago the men who headed Penn Central were talking about a future they thought was assured. Now they are out of work.

The failure of such big names sometimes gives the impression that things are bad all over, that computers, magazines and railroads just can't make money for anyone these days.

Wrong. At least four manufacturers of computers are profitable; segments of the publishing industry are thriving; and the railroad industry is having one of its best years since the mid-1960s.

Each of these industries, however, is having unusual problems.

—Computer manufacturers operate under the towering shadow of International Business Machines Corp., the nation's fifth-largest industrial concern, which has developed such a lead that it takes more than 70 per cent of sales.

—Magazines are undergoing a unique change brought about largely by television. Competition. Picture magazines especially are finding it difficult to produce original material that won't look like static TV, although they maintain the problem isn't a lack of readers but of ad dollars.

—Rail operators are still adjusting to the competition from airlines and trucks and still haven't found their niche. They argue that all other modes of transportation are, to some extent, federally subsidized.

And in each industry the resolution of problems appears to be in specialization.

—RCA is a diversified company, and computers were a relatively small part of their operation. Same with General Electric, which dropped computers last year, leaving the business to specialists: IBM, Sperry, Burroughs, Control Data.

These companies, all of which have made money in computers, are somewhat diversified themselves. But all have a tradition in office equipment—it has been a specialty—for many years.

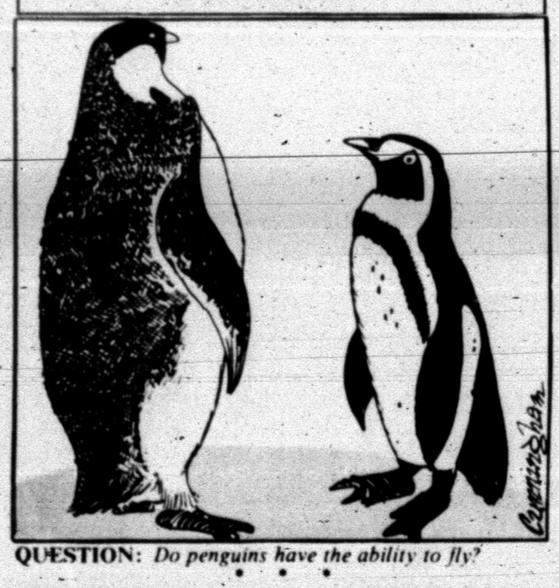

—In ceasing publication, Look joins the Saturday Evening Post and Colliers, to name only two of a dozen that have failed in 15 years. But specialty publications are doing well.

Magazines devoted to specific areas of life: to yachting, golf, dining, business, age groups, city dwellers, scientific specialties, family activities, homemaking and so on are still making money.

—And the railroads, despite problems, also seem to be finding profits in specialization. The most obvious example is the shedding of passenger service for freight, but specialty haulers, of coal for example, also are in the black.

First-half results reported by the Association of American Railroads show industry profits of $216 million on revenues of $6.5 billion in the first half of the year. That means sales are up 10 per cent, and profits from $19 million to $216 million.

Junior Editors Quiz on PENGUINS

QUESTION: Do penguins have the ability to fly?

ANSWER: The penguin is a very interesting bird. It dates back to prehistoric times. In the early days, it was a huge bird about 6 feet tall. There are 17 species of penguins living today. The largest of these, the emperor penguin, stands about 3-1/2 feet tall and weighs about 80 pounds.

Penguins inhabit the Southern hemisphere and lives along the Antarctic continent and islands. They are found as far North as Peru or Southern Brazil, Southwest Africa, New Zealand and Southern Australia.

Penguins have a comical appearance. They stand up straight and are flat-footed. They often walk in files like soldiers. They appear very dignified. Their plumage covers the whole body and they look like a man dressed in formal evening attire with black coat and white shirt. Originally the penguins could fly. Now, its wings are short flippers, of no value in flying. For years it had no reason to fly, since it had no enemies in the remote area of the Antarctic. After many generations of penguins had lived and died without using their wings, those wings became small and stiff. They now use their small wings as paddles in the water. They are excellent swimmers and divers.

Columnist Learns From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Dentists aren't likely to have an unemployment problem soon. Despite the spread of preventive dentistry, Americans still have a billion untreated dental cavities—about five for every person. About one out of eight persons 25 million have lost all their teeth. It wouldn't hurt hippies and teen-agers to heed this advice from wise old Benjamin Franklin: "Eat to please thyself, but dress to please others."

The venomous little black widow spider's poison is more powerful than that of a rattlesnake but is rarely fatal. Only four or five of the 1,000 or more persons bitten annually by these spiders died.

What do the names Eva, Bob Otto have in common. They can be spelled forward or backward with the same result.

Quotable notables: "The worm fattens on the apple, the young goose fattens on the wormy fruit, the man fattens on the young goose, the worm awaits the man."—E. B. White.

Sweet peril: The death rate from diabetes rose dramtically—even tripling in some countries—during a recent 12-year period, according to a World Health Organization study. Physicians cited the rising use of carbohydrates in the diet as a major cause.

Strong medicine: In Russia, some doctors use a mixture of garlic extract and vodka to treat gout and rheumatism and to dissolve kidney stones. Patients find the mixture doesn't do much for the breath but does make them feel better.

Out on a limb: What is the best shade tree? Basing their choices on artistic preferance, disease resistance, and success in planting, a group of landscapers listed these as the top 10 shade trees: pin oak, red maple, honey locust, sugar maple, red oak, linden, ash, Norway maple, sweet gum and birch. Hey, fellows, how about the good old American elm?

It was John Ruskin who observed, "The first test of a truly great man is his humility."

SOLUTION OF SATURDAY'S PUZZLE

Panel Eyes Minimum Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Labor Committee says his panel will start next week to draw up a bill that will boost the minimum wage to $2.25 even though such an increase may run afoul of President Nixon's economic program.

Sen. Harrison AM Williams Jr., D-N.J., said in a statement Sunday the committee "will have to see what impact the President's program will have on our legislation when it is announced.

"But," he said, "we still see a strong need for a higher minimum wage. The present minimum does not even provide a poverty-level income." The present minimum wage is $1.60 an hour.

Congress almost certainly will not complete action on such a bill before the present wage-price freeze expires Nov. 13. But there have been indications Nixon's Phase 2 of the program will include wage stabilization measures.

Under the Williams' bill, the new floor would take effect in two steps, $2 after 60 days and $2.25 one year after that.

Home Pro Teams Have Tough Time

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a bad day to stay home—particularly if you happened to be a National Football League club in Baltimore or Minnesota.

In nine of Sunday's dozen games the home team proved itself the perfect host, offering a victory to the visitor—and no guest was more gracious in accepting the hospitality than Cleveland.

"When the defense gives you the ball that many times, you have to do something with it," Browns quarterback Bill Nelsen observed.

He and running back Leroy Kelly did just enough with it, knocking off the defending champion Baltimore Colts 14-13.

Like the Colts, Minnesota's powerful Vikings had escaped the stunning series of surprises a weekend ago when a spate of favorites fell on opening day.

But young Kent Nix, the 1971 version of ol' George Blanda, came rushing to the rescue for the second week in a row with a pair of fourth-quarter touchdown tosses as the Chicago Bears victimized the Vikes 20-17.

In the other visitor victories, Dallas devastated Philadelphia 42-7, Washington walloped the New York Giants 30-3, Miami mauled Buffalo 29-14, Kansas City clipped Houston 20-16, Detroit dumped New England 34-7, San Francisco slapped New Orleans 38-20 and Oakland silenced San Diego 34-0.

Los Angeles escaped with a last-second 20-20 tie against invading Atlanta and, in the only two home triumphs, Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 21-10 and Green Bay defeated Denver 34-13.

The New York Jets take on the Cardinals in St. Louis in tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EDT) clash.

Baltimore quarterbacks Earl Morrall and Johnny Unitas presented Cleveland's defenders with five passes and the rest of the Colts chipped in with three fumbles as the Browns held the Super Bowlers to just 178 yards on the ground and in the air to maintain their record of having never lost in Baltimore.

"We started the game looking for the run," said defensive tackle Walter Johnson. "Then, after we got the lead and they had to go for the pass, our line could just lay back and blow in 'em."

They got the lead on touchdown runs of one and three yards by Kelly. Two field goals was all the offense the Colts could generate as Don Nottingham scored their only touchdown with a return of a blocked punt.

"We had the opportunities to score several times," Baltimore Coach Don McCafferty reflected, "but it seemed any time we got momentum going the Browns' defense came up with the big play."

Nix, taking over for injured quarterback Jack Concannon with the Bears trailing 17-3, promptly made his first pass a six-pointer, connecting on a 36-yarder to Dick Gordon midway in the fourth quarter.

Then, after Mac Percival's 45-yard field goal cut the Minnesota margin to three points, Nix hit Gordon with the 19-yard winning touchdown just 1:42 from the end of the game.

Moments before, Nix had missed connections on a pass to Gordon. "I had another play called when Dick actually called the touchdown play," he recalled. "He came back to the huddle and said, 'Run it again.'" They did and, as Bears Coach Jim Dooley rejoiced: "It couldn't have been more beautiful!"

The Cowboys intercepted a team-record seven passes and quarterback Craig Morton responded with two touchdown passes and one scoring run. "The interceptions turned the game around," said the Eagles' Pete Liske, victimized six times. Dallas Coach Tom Landry concurred: "If it hadn't been for the turnovers it would have been a very tough game."

Redskins quarterback Billy Kilmer decimated the Giants' pass defense, hitting 23 of 32 attempts for 309 yards and two touchdowns to Charley Taylor, one on a 71-yard first-quarter play that put the Skins ahead to stay.

Garo Yepremian swung the big toe for the Dolphins, booting five field goals while Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick chugged their way to a combined 211 yards against the Bills.

A pair of Blanda field goals gave the Raiders a 6-0 halftime lead, then they ran away from the Chargers as Daryle Lamonica hit fleet Fred Biletnikoff with touchdown tosses of 36 and 13 yards.

Len Dawson passed for 207 yards for the Chiefs—but it was Warren McVea's four-yard scoring scamper late in the final period that enabled them to slip by the Oilers.

Steve Owens plunged over from two yards out and teamed with Greg Landry on a 74-yard touchdown pass play to lead the Lions' romp over the Patriots.

Dan Abramowicz snared three touchdown passes for the Saints—but his teammates' errors paved the way to four of the five 49ers' touchdowns and their eventual victory.

Bill Bell of the Falcons and David Ray each booted a pair of field goals but it was Ray's 47-yarder—his longest ever in the NFL—with one second to go that salvaged the tie for the Rams.

The Steelers held the Bengals' usually potent ground attack to a meager 28 yards.

NICE CATCH — Freda Merritt had good luck in a recent fishing trip to a stock tank north of town. She caught five bass with the biggest one weighing five pounds.

Sweetwater Falls To Lamar 9th

Lamar 9th grade socked Sweetwater 30-8 here Friday night in Tiger Stadium.

The Cubs scored twice in the first period and single touchdowns in the next two frames to take a 30-0 lead. The visitors got their only touchdown in the last quarter against the Lamar reserves.

Ricky Howell blasted across from the two yard line for Lamar's first touchdown with 8:05 remaining in the opening stanza. Sam Harrell passed to Roy Lee Carter for two extra points. The TD drive followed a short punt.

Lamar scored on a 70 yard pass and run play, Harrell to Dennis Young, and Harrell hit Carter for two points on the conversion play as the hosts went ahead 16-0. Young caught the pass at the 45 and raced the remainder of the distance.

Harrell scored on a 10-yard bootleg play to the right early in the second quarter. A pass for bonus points failed to click as the halftime score favored Lamar 22-0. Young intercepted a pass at the Lamar 20 late in the second period and went all the way, but a clipping penalty nullified the touchdown.

Lamar drove 20 yards to pay dirt following a short punt in the third quarter. Harrell set up the TD on a bootleg to the right, then he passed four yards to Young for the score. Harrell hit Gregg Gary in the end zone for two more points as Lamar posted a 30-0 lead.

Sweetwater blocked a punt at the Lamar 33 and drove in the fourth quarter. Kenny Stewart got the touchdown on a seven yard run. Paul Scott ran across for the two extra points.

Carter halted an earlier Sweetwater drive in the fourth period with an interception.

Sweetwater Whips Lamar 8th, 20-6

SWEETWATER — The host Ponies whipped Lamar 8th grade 20-6 here Saturday afternoon.

After a scoreless first quarter, Sweetwater tallied eight points in the second frame to take a lead at halftime.

Each team scored in the third quarter with the hosts holding a 14-6 lead. For Lamar, Phil Robinson connected with Tim Flynn on a 40 yard pass. Gary Neal passed to Randy Gressett on the conversion play, but the pass failed to connect.

Sweetwater added an insurance touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Defensively, Gary Greenlee, Roy Gill and Kelly Grimmett were outstanding for Lamar while Tim Flynn, Gary Neal and Mike Freeman were outstanding on offense.

Air Force senior defensive tackle John Griffith of Oklahoma City is a heavyweight wrestler.

Lee Rally Stops Travis 9th, 27-26

Trailing 26-20 in the fourth quarter, San Angelo Lee came up with the defensive and offensive heroics late in the game to claim a 27-26 decision over a good Travis 9th grade team here Saturday night.

The visitors made a goal line stand early in the fourth quarter after Travis had marched 70 yards to the one yard line. George Willis actually crossed the goal on a 1-yard plunge for Travis, but a 5-yard penalty pushed the ball back to the six, and an incomplete pass on 4th down stopped the drive.

Lee took over and marched 94 yards for the winning touchdown. It came on a fourth down play at the Travis 15 yard line. Melvin Robertson scored on a tricky double reverse, and David Norton kicked the all-important extra point.

Travis had taken a 14-0 lead in the first quarter on runs of 29 and 20 yards by Welton Cobb. Danny Brumley passed to Robert Alderete for a two-point bonus following the second touchdown.

Fielder turned in a 28-yard touchdown run for Lee in the second quarter to cut the margin to 14-6.

Then, Cobb got loose on an 88-yard kickoff return to boost the count to 20-6 in favor of Travis.

Fighting back with determination, Lee drove 35 yards just before halftime with Fielder scoring on a four yard run. Norton kicked extra point as Travis had to settle for a 20-13 halftime lead. Late in the second period, Alderete made an interception to stop another Lee drive.

Cobb ran back another kickoff 90 yards for Travis early in the third quarter. Lee also scored in the same period following a fumble recovery at the Travis 10. Tony Owens traveled the distance on a romp around left end, and Norton's kick made it 26-20.

Then came the last period heroics by Lee.

Twins David and Dennis Kuntz of Colonia, N. J., are on the NYU cross country team.

Coach Ben Martin of the Air Force football team has guided the Falcons to three bowl games, the 1958 Cotton Bowl, 1963 Gator Bowl and the 1971 Sugar Bowl.

Bengals Bombard San Angelo 50-6

Scoring in every period, the Snyder High School Bengals thrashed San Angelo's Sophomore team 50-6 in Tiger Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Five different backs scored touchdowns as the hosts rolled up 446 yards rushing, compared with 142 for San Angelo. The Bengals tallied one touchdown in the first quarter, two in the second, one in the third, and three in the fourth.

After a fumble recovery late in the opening period, the Bengals drove 19 yards for a touchdown in four plays. Tommy Welsh cracked over from the one for the TD. Micky Gonzales' extra point kick was wide left. Welsh, John Boren and V. T. Robertson collected all of the yardage in the first drive.

Snyder traveled 88 yards in four plays on its first possession in the second period with Paul Norred racing 72 yards over right guard. On the extra point play, Tim Jones was thrown for a loss attempting to pass, leaving the score at 12-0.

On its next possession in the same quarter, the Bengals marched 66 yards in seven plays with Norred also getting the touchdown on a one yard plunge over left guard. Hubert Crayton took a pitchout to the left for the two extra points as the hosts had themselves a 20-0 lead at halftime. Crayton and Robertson both contributed nice gainers in this TD march.

The Bengals scored on their first possession in the third stanza.

Robertson turned in a 42 yard touchdown run, but Widgeon Emerson was stopped on a run for bonus points, leaving the score at 26-0.

On the next possession, Welsh raced 16 yards up the middle into the end zone, but a 5-yard penalty nullified the touchdown, and Ricky Fernandez recovered a fumble to halt the Bengals at the 12 yard line.

Late in the third period, the Bengals began a drive at the San Angelo 46 which culminated in the fourth period with a 37 yard touchdown run up the middle by Crayton. Robertson took a pitchout to the left for the two bonus points as the margin soared to 34-0. A pass from Widgeon Emerson, who directed the drive, to Kerry Smith kept the drive in motion.

Snyder also scored on its next two possessions in the fourth quarter. The first TD resulted from an 83-yard drive that required 11 plays but two 15-yard penalties aided the march. Crayton scored the touchdown on an eight yard burst over left guard. Emerson passed to Ralph Lewis for two more points as the margin soared to 42-0. Welsh, Crayton, Smith, Robertson and Wilbert Thompson all contributed yardage in this march.

Randy Golden intercepted two passes for the Bengals late in the game. The first one set up a 55 yard TD gallop around left end by Ivory Greer. Richard Gorman added two more points on a bootleg to the left.

Trailing 50-0, San Angelo got its only touchdown on an 80 yard pass and run play by Bill Yancey and Steve Lupton. Lupton made the catch behind the safety at the Bengal 45 and outran his pursuers.

All of the Bengal reserves got into the game.

Japanese Economist In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — If the United States doesn't lift the import surcharge, Japan and other countries will take measures to correct the international market, a Japanese economics professor says.

Dr. Chuaki Nishiyama of professor of economics at Rikkyo University in Tokyo said that under President Nixon's new economic policy, the United States is asking Japan to accomodate it at Japan's expense.

Americans have failed to understand that international economic readjustment also should be made by other countries than just Japan," Nishiyama said.

He arrived in Dallas Sunday with 24 Japanese industrialists for a two-day visit with Texas businessmen. Their visits coincided with that of Nixon and Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

"Since Japan is ready to revalue the yen, we don't feel that the U. S. should keep the surcharge," he said. The surcharge, as it stands, would "put the world economy in a situation like the 1930s."

Nishiyama said he expects the Japanese government to appreciate the yen about 12.5 per cent. Japan has been in a recession the past year, he said, and if the surcharge is lifted, the value of the yen would still put the Japanese economy in a serious position.

"If the U. S. doesn't lift the surcharge, not only Japan but other countries will take measure to correct the international market," Nishiyama said.

As long as the surcharge remains, the professor said, Japanese policy is not to contract with the U. S. until the value of the yen has been established. Because of this, though, there has been an emergence of bankruptcies in Japan, he noted.

The Japanese are meeting with Texas and Oklahoma executives today and Tuesday. They hope to form an organization, tentatively called the Japan-Texas Association, suggested here by Japanese officials in 1969.

Police In Quebec Walk Out

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (AP) — Scores of Quebec police posts were closed and many others manned only by supervisory personnel early today following a massive walkout by policemen to dramatize a pay dispute with the provincial government.

Hundreds of provincial police men began their walkout late Sunday afternoon to take part in a 24-hour "study session" called during a rally at Drummondville 75 miles northeast of Montreal.

The walkout began at the urging of Guy Magnan, president of the Quebec Provincial Policemen's Association.

A spokesman for the police association said the study sessions "could carry on indefinitely" until a positive settlement is achieved in the group's effort to gain full compensation at time-and-a-half rates for extra shifts worked during last October's kidnap crisis.

The government has offered to pay time-and-a-half for half the extra hours and compensatory time for the rest.

Women Judges Decline Comment On Vacancy

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three women President Nixon has appointed to the federal bench are exercising judicious, if not judicial, discretion, each declining to comment on her chances of becoming the first female Supreme Court justice.

Although no one can be sure of the President's support, Mrs. Nixon told reporters Thursday she was "talking it up" with her husband to appoint a woman to the high court. She mentioned that the President had appointed three women to federal courts—Cornelia G. Kennedy of the U.S. District Court in Michigan and Sylvia Bacon and Normalie Holloway Johnson, both of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia.

In case "they don't get one this time," Mrs. Nixon said, "they're grooming them. They'll be moved up to other courts."

The next day, Mrs. Nixon said the White House is giving careful consideration to the idea of a woman on the court but added: "The trouble is, the best qualified women are too old."

In addition to the three women singled out by Mrs. Nixon, others being mentioned in speculation include Shirley M. Hufstedler, who as a member of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is the nation's highest-ranking woman judge; Rita Hauser, a New York Republican once named by Nixon as a United Nations representative, and Mary Gardner Jones, a member of the Federal Trade Commission.

President Nixon, asked Thursday night about the possibility of appointing a woman, told the Detroit Economic Club that he is more interested in a candidate's judicial philosophy than anything else, and reiterated that he wants nominees who are "strict constructionists" of the Constitution.

Judge Kennedy, 48, of Grosse Point Woods was the first woman in Michigan history appointed to the federal bench. She is regarded by her colleagues as a moderate in her application of the law.

Asked whether she thinks women have been discriminated against in the field of law, Judge Kennedy said: "Sometimes a woman has to be more fully prepared and has to do a lot better than a man, but personally I've been fortunate."

Judges Bacon and Johnson were both appointed to the District of Columbia court a year ago.

Judge Bacon, 40 and Republican, was executive assistant to the U.S. attorney here when she moved to the bench.

She said she is "particularly concerned about the lack of public confidence in the court system, that the courts are bearing the brunt of a certain amount of antiestablishment feeling."

A petite, attractive woman, Judge Bacon said of speculation that she is among those being considered for the high court, "I don't believe in a woman's seat on the Supreme Court or any court, but I do believe they should have an opportunity to serve if legally qualified and I have no doubt there are qualified women."

Judge Johnson, whose chamber is two doors away from Judge Bacon's, was an assistant corporation counsel for the District of Columbia before being appointed to Superior Court.

A Democrat and black, she's 39 and married to Asst. U.S. Atty. Julius A. Johnson.

She refused to comment on any spect of her legal philosophy or on appointment to the Supreme Court.

"At this point," she said, "I'm better off saying nothing."

Admission Centers Helpful

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: My daughter has not made a decision about the college she wants to attend. A friend suggested we look into the ASK US service of the NACAC college admissions clearinghouse. Could you give us particulars on how this service helps students find colleges? – R.A.R., Denver

ASK US is an undergraduate college admissions search service operated by some 1,000 colleges and universities, and 1,200 secondary schools of the National Association of College Admissions Counselors (NACAC).

The service, oldest and largest of its kind, deals with regionally accredited 2- and 4-year colleges and a selected group of unaccredited colleges both in this country and abroad. They include large independent and state universities, small colleges, coed institutions, men's colleges, women's colleges, public and private institutions, junior colleges, nonsectarian colleges and church-related institutions.

ASK US is for anyone seeking help in selecting a college which will admit him or her, and, if necessary, provide him with financial aid. (ASK US provides no financial aid – the colleges do.) The high school student, or graduate, the graduate of a 2-year college or the college transfer, the GI before or after his discharge from service, the student with high grades and test scores, or the student with low grades and test scores – all are eligible for ASK US services.

The advantages of using ASK US (and other admissions centers) include a reduction of time and expense in the college search. The cost of the complete ASK US service is a nonrefundable fee of $20.

NO ESSAYS, recommendations or transcripts, are required; only a simple registration form. Within 3 weeks of receipt of the registration form, ASK US presents the student's credentials to the directors of admission of most of the 1,000 colleges of NACAC. Those who judge that a particular student's qualifications, interests, and preferences indicate possible success at their college will send him college "fact sheets" and other introductory material which can be used for discussion with parents, counselor and others concerned with his college planning.

BECAUSE EACH COLLEGE makes its own admissions decisions, ASK US cannot guarantee college admission, but the registrant may expect to hear directly from those institutions that are interested in him as a candidate for admission.

PRESENTATION of a student is not limited to a particular geographical area, or a college of a certain type or size. Counseling services may be provided to out-of-school students who have no school counselor to guide them.

(There are at least 4 other college admissions clearinghouses mentioned in past columns. Ask for your counselor for information on them.)

FOR MORE INFORMATION – Registration forms can be obtained by sending a postcard to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper. Request "ASK US Registration form."

Crime Prevention Center To Open

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A crime prevention institute will open its doors at the University of Louisville Kentucky next week.

Its dean, John C. Klotter, said he decided to start the institute after visiting eight UMS police departments and finding not one person responsible for crime prevention.

Twenty-seven officers in the first three-week course will study burglar alarms, security systems, architecture (police should be consulted, he believes), lighting, closed-circuit television monitors, race relations and theft insurance.

Klotter, interim dean of the school of police administration at Louisville, announced the new program Sunday at the 87th conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Eleven Western states shot more deer, elk and antelope in 1970 than in any year since 1900, reports the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cubans Have Helped Miami Businessmen

MIAMI (AP) — Fidel Castro is the best thing that ever happened to Miami, says a prominent local businessman.

"Before the Cuban exiles came, the business community was stagnant and in many cases deteriorating. The Cubans, with their willingness to work hard and spend hard, picked it up. They should be publicly thanked."

Not surprisingly, the businessman prefers to remain unidentified.

Statements of praise for the Cuban may draw immediate and heated rebuttal.

A congressional move to eliminate funds for the Cuban refugee airlift just before Castro suspended the flights indefinitely provoked an ever-widening debate over the Cubans, their achievements, their faults and virtues.

With more than 600,000 in this country, there is growing concern in some quarters over their continuing impact on the United States and its people.

Nowhere is this debate stronger than in Miami.

It is the home-away-from-home for almost half of all Cubans who have fled their island since Castro grabbed power from dictator Fulgencio Batista in January, 1959.

The 12-year-old influx of Cubans fleeing Castro's Communist regime created tensions and anxieties in Miami that have not been dissipated. Some of these tensions, in fact, are growing.

There are problems connected with federal assistance, housing, jobs, schools and social conflicts.

There are prejudices, and there are rivalries.

Most of the issues appear to have an economic base. But emotions play a great part in the debate.

One of every four Miami-area residents is of Latin descent—about 325,000 Spanish-speaking residents, and almost 90 per cent are Cuban.

They are involved in virtually every phase of community life and business. In the 28-community complex of metropolitan Miami, which is Dade County, they own homes or businesses in all sections—from fashionable Coral Gables to Hialeah, from Miami Beach to South Miami and beyond.

Their activities range from bank presidents—three to laborers holding down two or three jobs. They are doctors, lawyers, teachers, shopkeepers, mechanics, salesmen, preachers, students—you name it. Professional people are highly respected, and well paid.

Cubans live in luxury, in neat middle-class homes or in substandard housing in areas heavily populated by Negroes and other poor minorities.

The Latin-origin population has a current estimated annual income of $588 million.

Cubans own almost one-third of all businesses and industries in Dade County.

Studies show that most Cuban households in the Miami area have an average monthly income of more than $600. Sixteen per cent have earnings of more than $900 per month, according to these studies, and only 18 per cent earn less than $350 a month.

In a large area of southwest Miami known as "Little Havana" one can be born, live and die in the typical Cuban manner. Only an occasional hand-lettered sign—"English Spoken Here"—testifies to the fact that there are Americans anywhere around.

Miami has become a bilingual city in many respects. Much of the downtown business activity is conducted in Spanish and English or a combination of both.

A Spanish-language daily newspaper, "Diario Las Americas," has been published in Miami since 1953 and circulates in a number of Latin-American countries and in some U.S. cities.

In addition, there are some 12-15 weekly or biweekly tabloids published and circulated free among the Cuban colony by Cuban editors and publishers who were leaders in their field in pre-Castro Cuba.

In television, WTVJ—a CBS affiliate—pioneered in instituting a Spanish-language news program in 1960.

WCIX devotes about one-third of its air time to Spanish-language television, much of it Cuban, Mexican or Argentine-produced soap operas and variety shows. WAJA, a UHF station, is 100 per cent Spanish. There are four all-Spanish radio stations in the area.

Miamians and Miami Beach tourists have discovered the Latin Beat—the dark-haired chorus girl, Afro-Cuban drums and the lavish, pulse-throbbing revues set on palm-covered islands.

Shows such as Cuban empresario Julio Gutierrez' "Ole, Ole," "Fiesta Tropical" and "The Sensuous Woman" have replaced the platinum-haired chorines waving their feathered fans and singing about "gay Paree" on brightly lit Miami Beach night club stages.

Tourism has not been negatively affected by the Cuban, say hotelmen. On the contrary, many of the tourists coming here from the North, particularly in the summer off-season, are Cubans. Hotels welcome them and include special foods and recreation programs for them.

Cuban restaurants and cabarets attract a large percentage of Americans. Typical Cuban foods such as black beans, fried plantains and rice dishes have become almost as popular among some of the native-born as the hot dog, hamburger and apple pie are among the Cubans.

Miami Police Chief Bernard Garmire says Cubans are responsible for only about 6 per cent of crimes in the city, although they represent more than one-fourth of the population.

Baltimore Area Has Poor Record

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — For the second straight year, the Baltimore metropolitan area lead the nation in violent crimes, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported.

The FBI said that one person out of 100 throughout the city and four surrounding counties was either murdered, raped, robbed or assaulted in 1970.

"Steel Driving Man" Memorial To Be Erected

TALCOTT, W.Va. (AP) — More than a hundred years ago the abolition of slavery freed millions of Southern blacks from the cotton fields of the old Confederacy, leaving them without jobs, without homes, and without money. One was a 6-foot, 200-pound Virginian, John Henry.

Among those who took advantage of the surplus labor were the American railroads, whose tracks by the 1870s twisted through the Appalachian mountains.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway planned its route through the West Virginia hills late in the 1860s. But Big Bend mountain stood in the way of the passage between Hilldale and Talcott, W.Va., and the tracks had to go through it. The railroad hired a thousand men and boys, most of them ex-slaves, to chisel a hole through the heap of red spale that stands at a loop of the Greenbrier River in Summers County.

One of those hired, according to legend, was the big ex-slave, John Henry. He was a steel driver, one of the crew who drilled holes for dynamite by driving steel bits into the rock.

Working from each end of the mile-and-a-quarter tunnel, the former slaves met near the center in 1873, more than three years after the project began. But according to some of those whose parents and grandparents were connected with the tunnel's construction, hundreds of workers never lived to see a train roar through the mountain. They died, of disease, which often ran rampant through work camps, or of falling red shale or improperly set dynamite charges.

Among the graves at the east end of the tunnel, says popular legend, is that of John Henry, who beat back industrialization with his twin nine-pound hammers and beat himself to death.

It was one hundred years ago this month, the same historians tell us, that a salesman sauntered up to Big Bend with a new Burleigh steam drill and asked the tunnel's contractor to try it out. The fable says the hundreds of blacks who had sweated and cursed and torn at the mountain resented the intrusion of the mechanical age. John Henry crystalized their anger with a boast he could drive a blasting hole with his steel bit faster and farther than the steam drill.

Some say wagers were placed and the race began under a broiling August sun in 1871.

"Well, they put John Henry on the right side;

"The steam drill was working on the left.

"Said, before I let that steam drill beat me dpwn,

"I'll hammah myself to death, Lord, Lord,

"I'll hammah myself to death."

So goes one of the many verses of the popular ballad.

John Henry beat the steam drill, which was ill-equipped for boring a hole in the soft shale, choking on rock dust and sticking in cracks before boring much of a hole. But says fable, he might as well have dug his grave, for that was the last hole John Henry was ever to drive.

"Then John Henry said to the Captain,

"I've got an awful roaring in my head.

"I beat that old steam drill but I busted my insibes;

"Tomorrow, John Henry will be dead, Lord, Lord,

"Tomorrow, John Henry will be dead."

Most versions of the tale say he made his way back to the work camp where he had often relaxed with his banjo, "the singingest man on the gang." There he died, the "awful roaring" in his head possibly a broken blood vessel or symptoms of a stroke.

Others say he was crushed along with hundreds of others in a massive cave-in of the tunnel shortly before it opened. According to the C&O, records which could prove how John Henry died, or if he was even present on the crew, have been destroyed, burned in a fire at a railroad office in Richmond, Va. in the early 1900s.

Recently, citizens in the towns of Talcott and Hilldale began a movement to erect a memorial to John Henry near the entrance to the Big Bend tunnel. They feel their claim to one of America's greatest folk heroes has been firmly established, thanks to the late professor of English literature at West Virginia University, Louis W. Chappell, who spent decades roaming the southern U.S. and Jamaica compiling evidence of Henry's existence.

The professor established that the legendary steel driver lived, that he probably worked at Big Bend and that he may have died there, perhaps tossed into one of the mass graves at the tunnel's east portal along with the carcasses of dead mules who had dropped under the strain of hauling tons of shale and dirt out of what was for a time to be America's longest railroad tunnel.

Michigan sculptor Charles Cooper has been commissioned to produce a bronze statue of Henry for a proposed park near the eastern entrance to Big Bend. Perhaps before the tunnel's 100th anniversary in 1973, the park will be completed with funds raised by the Talcott-Hilldale Ruritan Club.

Talcott resident James E. Monroe, a past secretary of the club, said recently a site has been prepared on the mountain some 400 feet above the railroad tracks where the contest is said to have taken place. He said the sculptor has promised to deliver the 8-foot work early next summer, but the club still needs some $7,000 to complete the $14,000 project.

When the park is completed, visitors will be able to drive up to the area on West Virginia 3 and park on a moonlit night above the site of those mass graves to listen for the chilling sound of steel smashing against steel, the echo of John Henry's hammer that drive home the history of the beginning of the American industrial empire.

Water Is Returned To Ogallala Formation

LUBBOCK (AP) — Two Texas Tech University petroleum engineers and a crew of student researchers are putting more lake water back into the Ogallala formation than ever before artifically.

Restoring water to the formation to replace irrigation water has been a problem.

From five sites in Lubbock, Crosby and Hockley counties they pumped 65 acre feet of playa lake water into the underground supply this summer at the rate of 1,000 to 1,600 gallons per minute by applying pressure up to 80 pounds per square inch at the well head.

Petroleum engineering Profs. Duane Crawford and Philip Johnson head up the research expanded this summer through the financial support of the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies.

Dr. Frank B. Conselman, director of the center, said the application of pressure at the well head, if as successful as sponsors have reason to hope, could have far-reaching beneficial results.

The research could lead to the successful underground storage of water not only from lakes but also from future projects which may bring water from the Mississippi River or Canada or any other source.

He said it could help in flood modification or abatement and in beneficial draining of lakes on or near airports which attract migrating fowl hazardous to aircraft.

"The most successful site," Crawford said, "is on the Fullingim farm 12 miles north of Lorenzo, where 45 acre feet of water were returned at an average rate of 1,500 gallons per minute to the underground formation during a continuous period of operation."

The Fullingim site has been the best from a research point of view, Crawford and Johnson said, because it is the only one of the sites with adequate water for good testing. At all other sites the entire supplies were pumped into the Ogallala in short periods of time.

"All of the sites have successfully taken water," Johnson said.

This summer's experiments were designed to determine if the principle of applying additional pressure at the well head would increase the rate of return of water into the Ogallala through recharge wells and do it economically and at commercial rates.

The research, expected to continue three to five more years, is sponsored by the center which provided funds, in cooperation with land owners and Texas Tech. The sites were selected to give project investigators a random sampling of the area.
