School trustee election set May 4

An upcoming election will fill two expiring positions on the Colorado Independent School District board of trustees.

That election is scheduled for Saturday, May 4, and will concern Place 1, a three-year term currently held by Kathy Bassham; and Place 5, a three-year term currently held by Billy B. Bridgford.

Applications for these trustee places must be filed not less than 45 days prior to the election.

The first day to file will be February 18, 1991, and the last day will be March 20, 1991, by 5 p.m.

Filing must be done at the school business office/tax office at 1132 Hickory Street in Colorado City.

Requirements for the election include the posting of training hours completed by each member.

Those hours, as enumerated at Monday night's meeting, are as follows:

Kathy Bassham: 40 and one half;

Anita Biggers: 37;

Billy B. Bridgford: 46 and three-fourths;

Dwayne Harris: 90 and 75 one-hundredths;

Yolanda Molina: 32 and one-half;

Gary Parker: 35 and one-half;

Floyd Ritchey: 75 and 25 one-hundredths.

All members have exceeded the minimum required number of hours.

Voting for Place 1 will be held at the Civic Center, and for Place 5 at the Wallace School.

Absentee balloting, supervised by Geneva Findley, will begin on April 12 and end on April 30. Hours are between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 1132 Hickory Street, with the offices remaining open on Saturday, April 20.

Absentee voting applications must be received no earlier than March 5, 1991, and applications for ballots by mail must be received no later than April 20.

Geneva Findley was approved as custodian of election records.

The Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department has again donated a group of new tables to the Civic Center. Brian Bassham, left, and Pat McKinney, take one of the tables out of its box. Tables were purchased from proceeds made from VFW Bingo games.

Funds needed for building renovation

Colorado City Industrial Team President Gary Parker announced Friday a campaign to raise $8,000 to help defray costs of minor construction to an existing building in Colorado City for a new business prospect.

Ed Lee's Truck Parts and Service of Sweetwater is in the process of relocating in Colorado City.

The Industrial Team has been instrumental in helping Lee relocate here.

Ed Lee's Truck Parts and Service will employ up to 10 employees.

Donations of any amount are appreciated, but contributions of $100 or more will be made public, unless donors request anonymity.

Donations can be made at First National Bank or City National Bank.

Stenholm announces new program

Seventeenth Congressional District Representative Charles Stenholm had the pleasant task on Thursday night in Snyder of announcing that the Big Country Resource Conservation and Development Area has been approved.

After his announcement, Stenholm said, in a statement to Elmer Martin, president of Mitchell County's Economic Development Committee, "This was certainly a very happy day for all of us in the twelve counties, and I know Mitchell County and those who represent it, all of you here feel the same way that all of us do."

He praised the "tremendous community efforts" of "...everyone that knew in their hearts that we needed to have a way to pull us all together."

There is a story behind the approval of the RC&D, as related by Jimmy Harrison, board member of the Mitchell County Soil and Water District.

In 1971, bylaws were developed and officers were elected to develop an application for the Big Country RC&D Area.

At that time, the counties included in the proposed development area were Mitchell, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Kent, Knox, Nolan, Scurry and Stonewall.

After that application was developed, it was signed by the sponsors and submitted to Washington by the State Soil Conservation Service in 1973, and was accepted.

Recycling campaign begins February 19th

Tuesday, February 19, is a day to circle in red on your calendar.

That is the day Mitchell County first has the opportunity to begin a serious recycling effort.

Texans Against Pollution is the group behind the recycling drive. Thanks to Peggy Maddox, president, and other members of that group, anyone who wishes to participate in this positive and relatively painless method of conservation now has the opportunity to do so.

TAP has coordinated the recycling drive among media, citizens, a recycling center located in Odessa, and the City National Bank, in order to provide Mitchell County residents with a regular means of recycling items which would otherwise contribute to pollution.

On the third Tuesday of every month, beginning this Tuesday, recyclable items will be accepted in the parking lot of City National Bank between the hours of 5 and 7 p.m.

Certain restrictions apply regarding separation of items and acceptability of items, but these are easy to learn and to remember.

Newspapers are not being accepted at this time, according to Ms. Maddox. However she intends to offer a class in composting newspapers at a later date, and hopes that people will save them rather than discarding them. Newspapers, she says, make very good compost.

Here is a list of acceptable items and restricted items. Clip and save it.

Happy Recycling!

Acceptable glass items:
soda bottles
beer bottles juice containers catsup bottles
wine and liquor bottles food containers
(separate clear, brown, and green glass)
(no ceramic tops on beer bottles, no stone, gravel, rock or dirt, no tv tubes, no incinerated or burned glass)

Unacceptable glass items:
no mirrors
no ceramic cups and plates
no clay flower pots
no crystal

Baseball's back in C-City!

Back in 1965, Colorado City went as far as the baseball play-offs would allow them. They were crowned the Regional Champions, which is equivalent to the state title of today. Now, for the first time since then, Colorado High School will have a baseball team which will be represented in District 7-AAA.

The reason for the dropping of the baseball program was not actually due to the problem of money, but rather to a lack of competition.

During the early and mid 1960's, smaller schools were beginning to drop their baseball teams and ladies basketball teams. As Colorado City tried to keep its baseball program alive, the problem of scheduling games became more and more of a problem as the C-City team had to face much larger 4-AAAA and 5-AAAAA schools, due to the loss of almost all 3-AAA schools.

In other words, the baseball program was dropped due to the fact that there was no district action and other competition was hard to find.

Now, as the Wolves have reestablished their program, Coach

Wild West comes alive at Fort Wood

Drive through Texas along Interstate Highway 20, and the one thing you may remember about Colorado City is Fort Wood. The Fort is owned by Billy Joe Wood, his wife Berniece, and their sons Don and Paul.

Billy Joe Wood's father sold real estate in Colorado City, and the son followed in the father's footsteps at first, but gradually got into the shoe and boot business, beginning by selling boots out of the back of a bus he drove from town to town.

He purchased what is now the office of the Colorado City Record, and had a boot store, a real estate office, and a beauty parlor on the premises for a while.

He was responsible for the rustic, western look the Record building sports today. Even then, he knew what he wanted to do.

Wood, his wife Berniece, and their sons Don and Paul, were all born and reared in Colorado City. Paul has since moved to Odessa, where he manages the family's Odessa branch of Wood's Boots, but the rest of the family, including Jeremiah, son of Don and wife Leada, can usually be found at Fort Wood.

Jeremiah helps manage the Trading Post after school.

The Fort has become quite a family tradition in just a few short years. It was built by the Woods in 1986, and one can't help but see it as every West Texas child's fondest dream made true.

Built to resemble a real, live, cowboy town in the tradition of every western movie ever made, Fort Wood has gunfights on Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. It has a livery barn, complete with a set of prize-winning mechanical horses inside.

It has a telegraph office, inside which a visitor will be surprised to find an authentic-looking stage coach which is sure to outrun renegades and outlaws. All the horse power of a Dodge van is concealed beneath the "hood."

Fort Wood has a doctor's office. Dr. U.N. Pane has office hours on Saturday, and, from what we understand, if you aren't in "pane" when you go in, you will be when you leave.

Fans of the television series "Lonesome Dove" will appreciate the fact that Fort Wood even has a Poke Palace.

There is an almost real outhouse, a wishing well, lookout towers, a pavilion, and even a sheriff's office, jail, a gallows, and a boot hill cemetery. It's a law-abiding town, stranger!

The Fort Wood pavilion has been the site of many a square dance, many a birthday party, many a reunion and church picnic. It was the site of last year's Tumbleweed Festival, and will be the site of this year's as well.

Shoppers will find just about anything they are looking for, too. After touring the Fort, surviving a gunfight, and savoring the scrumptious vittles at the Fort Wood Cafe, there are the shops!

The souvenir and gift shopper will find what he seeks right there inside the gates of the Fort at the Trading Post, and might get to meet Jeremiah in the bargain. And the shopper looking for saddles, tack and other cowboy needs can find it at Rafter B. Saddle Shop.

A shopper with a sweet tooth will think she has died and gone to heaven when she walks out of the gates of the Fort and into the first store she comes to along the wooden walkway...Candyland and the Nut Depot.

Clothes, shoes, and boots are in Wood's Boots and Shoes and the Clothing Barn.

Plans are in the works, of course, to build a saloon eventually. What western town is complete without one?

Travellers from all over the country and the state are intrigued by Fort Wood as they drive by, and leave the highway to come see the attractions. Many return time and time again, greeting the Woods like old friends.

It would seem to be an ideal location for a tourism information center, and the Woods say that most tourists seem to expect one when they come in from the Interstate.

They ask for brochures, maps, information about Colorado City's playhouse and museum, about fishing and hunting, and about other tourist attractions in Colorado City and Mitchell County.

The Woods say they try to help as much as they can, but have to explain that the Fort is not a tourism information center, and that much of what the visitors seek can only be found in town at the Civic Center.

A few years ago, according to the Woods, there was a move among the citizens of Colorado City to make Fort Wood a tourism information center. The State Highway Department was even ready to make the appropriate signs.

It never happened, however, although the Woods say they would love to be able to help the community by providing such a service, and are still ready and willing to do whatever is required to add that service to the other attractions of the Fort.

Roger Grimes, a friend and co-worker of the Woods, who has helped build many of the Fort's attractions, has just finished creating its latest attraction. He has made a giant cowboy boot out of tumbleweeds.

The boot, which will be painted in Colorado High School's colors of red and black, is eight feet tall, and was made with three trailer loads of tumbleweeds, plus any extras which happened to be around the Fort.

The tumbleweeds were treated in a boiling saline solution, cooked in 55-gallon oil drums to soften them for molding, and to preserve them after they dried.

The process was the same one used in the early 1960's when Colorado City's Tumbleweed Festival was one of the major events of the year.

The Woods hope to make the Tumbleweed Festival a major event again.

This year's festival will take place in March, but the exact date has not been set at this time. The Woods advise people to look for the largest tumbleweeds they can find, and not to risk burning the possible winner of this year's $300 first prize.

Last year's winner was 42 feet around!

At the festival this year, there will be a continual showing of slides, belonging to Pete Warren, from Tumbleweed Festival parades of 1960, 1961, and 1962.

Floats in those parades were created by Porter Richardson.

The Woods ask anyone who has slides or pictures of those parades, or any of the original fixtures from the floats to bring them for exhibit during this year's Festival, and they ask everyone to come and enjoy the slides, and perhaps help identify some of the participants.

The Record will print more information about this year's upcoming Tumbleweed Festival as it becomes available.

Economic Development Board meets

The Economic Development Committee voted unanimously in its Friday morning meeting to assist Maggie Compton in any way it could, as she continues her attempt to bring a new industry, Texas Yarns and Fibers, to Mitchell County.

Ms. Compton has asked the committee for some assistance with necessary travel expenses incurred in conjunction with her attempts to open the mill. She will present a detailed account of those travel expenses to the committee, which agreed to consider favorably her requests for reimbursement.

Shaw presents program to Garden Club

The Colorado City Garden Club met for its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, February 6 in the home of Mrs. Nadine Gordon with Mrs. Jeanine Bodine as co-hostess.

Refreshments and a time of fellowship preceded the business meeting and program.

Mrs. Dawn Shaw was the program director on the topic of Week End Gardening using the book Week End Gardener-Tips and Shortcuts. This is flower gardening that requires a minimum amount of time and can be done on weekends. It is necessary to plan carefully and choose a plot that is not too large. Seedlings should be set out rather than planting seeds. Planning should include placing plants advantageously in regard to sunshine and availability of water. Plants should be set out at staggered intervals through the year to assure that there will be plants in bloom continuously through the seasons.

Vegetable gardens are not recommended for the week end gardener since they must have daily attention during the harvest season.

Following Mrs. Shaw's presentation other members gave gardening tips that had worked well for them.

The next meeting will be Thursday, March 7 in the Thompson room at 7:00. This will be an open meeting to which the entire community is invited. Mary Buchanan from the Abilene Star Nursery will be featured in a program on Landscaping with Native plants. The Chamber of Commerce will be a co-sponsor as will several other groups and individuals to be announced later. Everyone in the community is encouraged to attend. Garden club members will furnish refreshments and door prizes.

Guests attending were Mrs. Sharon Sarles and Nancy Womack. Members present were Mrs. Erna Lou Burt, Marian Basham, Dorothy Johnson, Jennie Moore, Louise Decovic, Marjorie Kolman, Alice Coloes, Mary Ellis, Elizabeth Connell, Dawn Shaw and the hostesses.

Commissioners call meeting

A called meeting of Commissioners' Court of Mitchell County was held on Friday morning at 9 a.m. for the purpose of approving the payroll for the time period of February 2 through 15.

Payroll in the amount of $45,073.13 was approved.

In other business, members noted that a joint meeting will be held, consisting of commissioners, city council, and representatives from the cities of Westbrook and Loraine, at 5:30 p.m. on Monday, February 25.

The purpose of the meeting, which will be held in the Civic Center, is to discuss the upcoming installation of the 911 service in this area.

Members agreed to another called commissioners' meeting on Friday, February 22, at 9 a.m., for the purpose of approving the payment of bills.

STENHOLM

In 1979, due to fund limitations, plans for the RC&D were put aside, but in April of 1990, the president's Rural Initiative Policy opened up the opportunity for funding new RC&D areas, and the SCS was asked to determine if there was sufficient interest.

Response to queries by SCS were positive. It was evident that strong interest existed in this type of program, wherein a number of groups could become organized to cooperate in meeting community needs.

Counties included in the original plan updated their applications, and other counties expressed the desire to be a part of Big Country.

On June 5, 1990, Big Country RC&D Area was expanded to include Borden, Garza, Glasscock, Howard, Sterling and Taylor Counties.

Haskell, Knox, and Stonewall Counties withdrew and affiliated with another RC&D area.

Following approval by all parties involved, the revised application was presented to Harry W. Oneth, the state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service in Temple.

The application was forwarded to Washington on June 28, 1990.

It was presented to the Secretary of Agriculture in December, 1990, and was approved on February 4, 1991.

Big Country RC&D is supported by the Permian Basin Chapter of the Soil and Water Conservation Society, West Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce, Mitchell County Economic Development Board, Fisher County Economic Development Board, West Central Texas Council of Government, Nolan County Extension Executive Council, TU Electric, City of Sweetwater, Mitchell County Farm Bureau, Texas Employment Commission, Snyder Chamber of Commerce, and several other local organizations.

How it works:

Big Country RC&D is an independent organization, the purpose of which is to receive local input.

Proposals are initiated on a county level and reviewed by the board of directors of the RC&D for inclusion in the area plan.

Big Country RC&D is eligible to receive technical and financial assistance from the USDA. According to a spokesperson from Stenholm's office, Big Country is elegible for up to $110,000 annually.

Many measures are completed through cooperative efforts of private citizens, groups, businesses, agencies, and units of government.

After a measure is adopted, the RC&D board coordinates activities to plan, obtain funds, and implement the planned action.

Nine objectives have been identified by the board to guide long range work:

Establishing job opportunities; developing and maintaining water supplies; developing sewage and solid waste disposal systems; developing adequate health care; controlling erosion and reducing saline problems; developing rural and urban surface drainage systems; developing wildlife and recreation potential; improving low income, minority and senior citizen housing; and improving rural fire departments.

Any individual, group, or unit of government with an idea for improvement will submit measure proposals to the respective County RC&D Committee. Forms are available at all SCS offices.

These proposals will state the purpose of the measures, how they will benefit the public, estimated cost, and assistance that is needed.

The County RC&D Committee will evaluate each measure proposal and determine whether the proposed measure has public benefit, whether it satisfies the goals and objectives of the RC&D area plan, and whether the sponsor of the measure is willing and able to carry out operation and maintenance on the proposal if it is an RC&D funded measure.

The county RC&D will approve, disapprove, or refer the measure proposal for more information before recommending it to the council for addition to the area plan and for assistance.

Members of the RC&D executive council and RC&D staff members will assist the individual or individuals in development of the ideas into measure proposals.

Assistance may be obtained from any Soil Conservation Service office in the RC&D area.

For more information, call Kevin Wright, USDA Soil Conservation Service, 728-3473.

Wolves end season with win

The Colorado High Wolves concluded their 1990-91 basketball season with an impressive victory over the Sonora Mustangs, 72-54.

From the start of the lopsided contest, the mighty Wolves led from the start and never ceased on putting on the pressure as the Pack led by ten at the end of one, 18-8.

One of the determining factors of the contest was due to the consistent shot from the perimeter, mainly the 3-point line. Mark Monroe, Robbie Smith, and Jeremy Strain did all the scorching with the long distance shot. And by the half, Colorado City had a nine point lead, 31-22.

From then on, Sonora felt the Wolves breathing down their necks as the Wolves ran away with the game and the victory to finish the season with a 10-13 season and a 3-7 district mark.

Coach Chuck Claxton was well pleased with this season's club as, "They always played hard and never gave up in any contest. I think this shows a lot of character on their part, and Coach (Jerold) Epperson and I were privileged to coach these young men."

Those Wolves contributing were Mark Monroe, 20; Kevin Green, 11; Robbie Smith, 10; Brandon Raschke, 10; George Ramsey, 6; Jeremy Strain, 5; and Jason Lawson, 2.

The Junior Varsity Wolves also closed out their season with a win as they won rather handily, 61-57.

Scoring in the last basketball game were Jason Blassingame, 21; James Franco, 10; David Castillo, 9; Mark Martinez, 4; Greg Parker, 4; Jason Lynch, 4; Jeff Potter, 2; Doug Conner, 2; Bryan Ritchey, 2; Ryan Galey, 2; and Justin Sullivan, 1.

Jerold Epperson is extremely excited and ready for the challenge. Colorado City is in the familiar district of 7-AAA.

Twenty-two athletes came out to participate in hopes of making a contribution to the team.

This year's classification is pretty evenly matched as seven seniors, four juniors, six sophomores, and five freshmen took part in the try outs.

As the Wolves were in the early stages of readmitting their program, no one was really certain that they would get into a district, but that situation has been resolved, and the Pack will be in district 7-AAA with the likes of Ballinger, Clyde, Merkel, Commanche, Early, and the second ranked Wylie Bulldogs.

Coach Epperson commented on the early season, "I believe our defense and pitching will be our big keys from the start, and after a while, our hitting will come in, and I expected that."

Two big players who will be a major part of the Wolf arsenal will be pitchers, Jason Lawson and Robbie Smith.

"I hope we can finish a little bit better than .500. If we could accomplish this goal, this would be a great season seeing how we have just entered the baseball ranks," said Coach Epperson. "This is going to require a lot of hard work, but we would be real pleased."

The Wolves first baseball game is scheduled for February 26 in Big Lake at 5 p.m.

Briefly

Islamic faith lessons

First United Methodist of Colorado City will be offering a study of the Islamic faith each of the six Sunday evenings of Lent, February 17 through March 24 from 6 until 7 p.m. in the church Fellowship Hall.

The study will be presented by a variety of techniques, including book reports, videos and slides, literature from Arabia, drama and role play, and personal experiences.

The planning team is eager to contact any other citizens of Mitchell County who have had some significant contacts with Muslims which they would be willing to share.

The public is invited, and a nursery will be provided.

Senior citizen dance

The Porky Proctor Band will play for a senior citizen dance on Tuesday, February 19, from 7 until 10 p.m. at the Civic Center.

All area senior citizens are invited to attend.

Lone Wolf 4-H Club

The Lone Wolf 4-H Club will meet at 7 p.m. on Monday, February 18 at the C.C. Thompson Room of City National Bank.
