Brazil Leaders Seek Settlement Of Crisis

By TOM MASTERSON
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Military and political leaders sought today to settle Brazil's potentially explosive crisis, produced by the resignation of President Janio Quadros.

Led by Gen. Odysseu Denys, the war minister, military leaders were reported steadfastly opposing any takeover of the government by Vice President Joao Goulart, the leftist who constitutionally has the right to succeed Quadros.

Goulart en route from a visit to Red China and other countries waited in Paris for word to fly home and assume the presidency.

Police and troops patrolled strategic points throughout the country apparently determined to prevent any disorder. But there was little open display of force.

Censorship was imposed on outgoing news dispatches and on local newspapers and radio stations.

Labor unions in Rio de Janeiro and in Sao Paulo the nation's second city, declared a general strike in support of Goulart, but so far little interruption in business has materialized. Labor leaders at the coffee port of Santos announced plans to walk out tonight.

Marshal Henrique Teixeira Lott, former war minister, five army colonels and a major were detained by military authorities. Another major was being sought.

Marshal Lott, Goulart's running mate who was defeated for president by Quadros at the last national election, was picked up at his apartment after issuing an explosive statement in which he declared Goulart planned Goulart's arrest if he returned to abide by the constitution. The five army colonels and a major were picked up at Lott's place.

Brazil's sprawling giant of 67 million people was thrown into turmoil suddenly Friday when Quadros resigned after seven months in office. He declared he had been overwhelmed by opponents Brazilian and foreign of his strict economic and independent foreign policies.

His foreign policies had included talks on restoring foreign relations with the Soviet Union and refusal to take sides against Fidel Castro of Cuba. Officials promptly suspended negotiations on restoring relations with Moscow when Quadros resigned.

Technician Tells Of 'Cheat' Device

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Florida electronics technician testified today he invented a device which has been used by some gamblers to cheat police wire taps and cheat telephone companies on long distance tolls.

The technician, Walter Shaw, testified before a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee that the device was intended for that purpose. He said it could have been modified by someone else.

Testifying before the Senate Investigations subcommittee Shaw said he is under indictment in Florida and "100 per cent sorry" he ever got mixed up with the invention.

He first invoked the Fifth Amendment on questions about the device known variously as a "cheese box" and an "automatic dialing transfer equipment device."

When used he said the device registers a busy signal at the telephone office, but actually transfers the call to a different preselected telephone number.

He refused to say whether Archie John Giamuzio of Mamaroneck, N.Y., paid him to produce the device as was alleged in testimony last week. Giamuzio also had invoked the Fifth Amendment on this.

Shaw insisted the device were in an incomplete stage of production the last time he saw them at a Mamaroneck address previously identified in the hearings as the home of Giamuzio.

He denied he had installed any of them and swore he does not know who now possesses 75 of them the police believe are in the hands of racketeers of electronic race wire news service operators.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-N.J., told Shaw he had been asked some questions about the device.

ing the Fifth on others forfeited his right to invoke the constitutional protection but that the subcommittee would be lenient because of his pending indictment.

The subcommittee has been informed that Shaw and others are awaiting indictments in Florida on charges of unauthorized interception of wire communications on telephone company property.

The subcommittee also subpoenaed officials and employees of the Delaware Sports Service of Wilmington, Del., for questioning about race wire information services.

Hearings later this week will switch to gambling in Chicago.

Algerian Rebels Set Action

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—The new Algerian rebel leadership asserted today it will bolster military action against French rule in Algeria, but at the same time reaffirmed that a negotiated solution to the rebellion is still possible.

The statement followed Sunday's announcement of a shuffle in the rebel provisional government, shelving moderate Premier Ferhat Abbas, 62, and replacing him with Ben Youssef Ben Khedda, 41. Ben Khedda, virtually unknown outside rebel circles, is farther to the left than Abbas and favors a tougher approach in the war against the French.

The shuffle took place at a meeting of the National Council of the Algerian Revolution (CNRA), a sort of parliamentary body in Tripoli, Libya.

A communique issued at the headquarters here, said the decision was the CNRA's response to the French government's refusal to accept the Algerian Revolution.

of the action of the national liberation army and the mobilization of the Algerian masses.

The CNRA "reaffirmed that a solution is possible within the fundamental principles safeguarding the territorial integrity of the Algerian territory, including the Sahara."

Recent peace talks with the French broke down largely on French insistence that the oil-rich Sahara is not part of Algeria.

The rebel statement today "underscored the importance of the material, political and diplomatic support from the Socialist countries and the countries of Africa, Asia and Latin America."

Named as foreign minister in the reshuffle was Said Dahleb, 42, who took part in the unsuccessful negotiations with France.

Belkacem Krim, veteran revolutionary and leading exponent of the tough line, kept on as deputy premier and interior minister.

The government's Tunis headquarters announced the reshuffle in a communique which said Ben Khedda would go as premier to Cairo for a meeting of chiefs of state of the Casablanca group of African countries, then head Algeria's delegation to the conference of nonaligned countries at Belgrade beginning Friday.

The communique made no mention of Abbas. Observers believe he was dumped because his policy of compromise with the Soviet and Red Chinese penetration, Ben Khedda was a militant member of the early nationalist movements in Algeria before World War II. At that time he often spoke at meetings of the Algerian Communist party.

The French imprisoned him briefly in 1954 for anti-state activities. After his release, he was presumed to be open to Soviet and Red Chinese penetration in 1957 fighting as a rebel guerrilla. He had been minister for several years.

Foreign Officers Are Cleared From Katanga

By JOHN LATZ
ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—U.N. troops put Elisabethville under a virtual state of siege and arrested various foreigners today in a move apparently aimed at swinging secessionist Katanga province into the Congo government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Armored cars patrolled the streets.

U.N. detachments seized several key points in President Moise Tshombe's capital, took over the residence of the white men on the Katanga payroll and officers of the army—Belgian, French, British, Italian and South African.

There was no interference with press dispatches to foreign cities, but other communication with the outside world was halted.

The U.N. troops put Godefroid Munongo, Katanga's strong man and minister of interior, under house arrest by surrounding his residence, but Tshombe died through the U.N. cordons later and left with his wife, Tshombe, to his own residence, Elisabethville, to avoid acclaim.

U.N. officials acted under a central government's decree requiring immediate removal of all foreign military personnel who had not signed contracts with the Leopoldville regime. This includes about 300 Belgians, French, British, South African and Italians in the Katanga forces.

U.N. spokesman Michel Tombalaine said his organization acted to preserve internal security after Congo President Joseph Kasavubu called on it to get rid of some 300 foreign officers serving in the secessionist province's army in defiance of a long-standing U.N. Security Council resolution.

Kasavubu's move appeared to be a prelude to an attempt to take over the province and end Tshombe's long defiance of the central government at Leopoldville.

UAW Pressure On Big Three Today

DETROIT (AP)—Armed with a profit-sharing settlement at American Motors and with strike authorization, the United Auto Workers Union applied home-stretch pressure today on General Motors, Ford and Chrysler for new contracts.

Unless something gives by Thursday midnight, when current three-year contracts run out, UAW President Walter P. Reuther says there will be a strike against one of the Big Three. Workers have rallied up overwhelming majorities to back up demands with walkouts, if necessary.

Reuther said there still is time for agreement if there is good will on both sides. He pointed out the AMCAUAW pact was put together between Tuesday and Saturday.

Reuther says the new American Motors agreement "ought to lay the basis for economic settlement" with other automakers, but if any of the Big Three knows a better way "to answer pressing human needs" he's willing to follow that route.

The Big Three have said they have no intention of following a profit-sharing pact. They insist production workers have shared in industry progress over the years through wage increases that have brought the average wage to $10 an hour and 40 hours a week.

Hoffa Discounts Claims Of National Trend To Oust Him

By JAMES KAGILASKI
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, pool-poaching the possibility of any national trend to oust him, flew in here Sunday and confronted the leader of a rebel faction who says Hoffa is using the union to gain personal wealth and power.

The Teamsters chief came face to face with James Lukan, who had led four Cincinnati locals to both the Hoffa regime and declare intentions of joining the AFL-CIO.

Hoffa did not shake hands. They sat on opposite sides of a hotel room as they answered questions and explained their positions during a joint news conference.

Hoffa, later addressed a crowd estimated at 1,200 at Cincinnati's Music Hall and said: "The reason you joined a union was for gaining effectively. Splitting this union can only satisfy the bosses and lead to more anti-labor legislation."

Then he asked:

"Can all its million members of our international be wrong? Or is there someone behind this man (Lukan) who is urging you to destroy collective bargaining, to rob a basis of solidarity in Cincinnati?"

Then he asked:

"Can a brass band be playing in the Music Hall right to Hoffa's arrival. Lukan, president of the 226-member Dairy Drivers Local, was not in television. He told his audience that he and his associates had decided to revolt after giving up all hope of reform within the Teamsters Union."

Lukan, however, said that Hoffa, one man, through money, power and press-agent magic, could capture in a national union and represent it in his own private innumerable for personal wealth and power. Lukan said:

"We could not believe that the efforts of underworld characters to dominate large segments of the union could be successful."

Lukan, who led the 4,000-member Teamsters Local 1000, said Hoffa was a "big-time racketeer" and a "big-time racketeer."

Macmillan threw out the remark that aroused the editors during an impromptu chat with newsmen on the 10th hole at Glen Eagles, the Scottish resort where the prime minister is on vacation.

To a question about Berlin, he replied: "I think it is all going up by the press. Nobody is going to fight about it."

Commented the right-wing Daily Express: "That really is intolerable. Does Mr. Macmillan really know what is going on in Berlin?"

Is Mr. Macmillan living in the same world as other people? The pro-labor Daily Mirror asked: "Everybody else knows there is a Berlin crisis."

But the Mirror drew some satisfaction from the news conference and said: "Perhaps the prime minister was seeing things more clearly after a good night's sleep."

The laborite Daily Herald said Macmillan was right, but added: "Coolness is no substitute for leadership. What is now needed is a 'positive move to bring about negotiations with the Russians.'"

The Herald said Macmillan should try to persuade President Kennedy of the need for prompt negotiations with the Communists.

Macmillan, who does not have a public and calm acceptance of the Berlin problem, the Herald said. The conservative Daily Mail said Macmillan's "unfamiliarity" can be carried too far.

The press and some members of Parliament have criticized Macmillan and Lord Home for taking a vacation during the new Berlin crisis.

Home is on holiday at Glen Eagles, Scotland. He drove to Glasgow Sunday for a three-hour audience with Macmillan and other advisers to the prime minister.

Cuba Says It Has No Censorship

OTTAWA (AP) — The Cuban government has no official press censors and asserts there is no censorship of press dispatches sent out of the country. But it contends that members of the Cuban Telecommunications Syndicate, who transmit the copy, have authority to decide whether dispatches are based on truth and may delete or alter copy accordingly.

Wilson Says Railroad Land Held Illegally

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson asked the Texas Railroad Commission to get rid of 7,700 acres of land. The land is seven West Texas counties has been illegally held for more than 40 years. Wilson asserted in a letter to Clark Land Royalty Inc., which is holding the land for the railroad.

Wilson said the 17 tracts in Menard, Brown, Hardeman, Wilbarger, Kimble, McCulloch and Sutton counties were used in the early 1900s as "railroad traps" — points where cattle were gathered for shipment by rail. The land has been under grazing lease since the 1920s.

Wilson said that under the Texas Constitution all lands acquired by railroads must be disposed of in not less than 12 years after they are no longer used for railroad operations. Failure to comply with this requirement can result in forfeiture. Texas law gives the attorney general authority to file suit to force the sale of such property.

The tracts were purchased about 1902 when Brownwood was the nearest rail shipping point for the area south to the Rio Grande. The tracts were located near to the main cattle trails leading to Brownwood and were so situated along these trails as to afford a convenient spot to turn a trail herd into at night, said Wilson. "Commonly referred to as 'railroad traps,' these tracts were about a day's drive apart and were used by the cattle drivers en route to the rail shipping point until the early 1920s."

The spur line from Fort Worth to Brownwood originally was built by the defunct Fort Worth and Rio Grande Railroad. The Santa Fe Railway bought the line in 1937 but the land in question was transferred to the Frisco Railroad, Wilson said.

Ford Will Offer Its Widest Choice

DALLAS — Ford customers in 1962 will have their widest choice of cars in history, a Ford executive said here while predicting that auto sales will reach "boom levels" in the fourth quarter and "provide the springboard for near-record car sales in 1962."

M. S. McLaughlin of Detroit, Ford's sales manager, said the Division spoke at a meeting held here to show area newspaper, radio and television representatives the division's 1962 Ford cars and trucks.

McLaughlin said that a highlight of most of the 1962 Ford line will be a "year maintenance" plan. For 1962, Ford will offer four separate lines incorporating 33 models. Ten of the 33 models are new offerings for this year. They are:

McLaughlin said the expanded line will include the Falcon and the Mustang.

Two Killed In Odessa Blast

ODENSA, Wash. (AP) — Two persons were killed and a number of others were injured Sunday when a tank of liquefied gas exploded and flames sprang up at a carnival popcorn stand.

The blast killed Patricia Kelly, 2, of Seattle, Wash., who was riding the stand. Robert Palm, 2, of Odessa, died while being taken to a hospital.

The boy was standing with his mother, Margaret Palmer, 32, and her two-year-old son in front of the stand when the blast occurred.

The explosion occurred at the Odessa Fair, which is being held at the Odessa Fairgrounds.

Farm Boy Admits He Is Sniper

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) — A baby-faced farm boy has admitted he is the mysterious sniper who terrorized his own family and critically wounded two policemen. He couldn't say why he did it.

Robert Oliver Miller, 13, was stunned to learn that Police Chief Keith Judd of Caldwell lay paralyzed in a hospital with a 22-caliber slug in his spine. Doctors said Judd may never recover.

Another officer, Deputy Sheriff Mel States of Boise, was shot in the back. Doctors said he would recuperate.

The officers were wounded Saturday night as they and scores of other policemen fanned out around the farm house of the boy's father, W. K. Miller, looking for a sniper who had been shooting up the area. At dawn Sunday, an Idaho National Guard tank rumbled through every conceivable hiding place on the farm.

Then Sheriff Dale Haile got suspicious because the trajectory of the bullets seemed to come from the house. He searched Bobby's room and found a 22-caliber rifle under the mattress.

The youth, who had been taken with his family to the sheriff's office during the night, broke down and signed a confession. He said he hadn't intended to hit anyone and thought he was firing over the heads of the officers.

He gave no specific reason for the shooting spree, but complained about having to do a lot of irrigating on the farm.

Robert arraigned on a charge of attempted murder, was ordered held under $25,000 bond for a court appearance Tuesday.

The confession of the youngster shocked his parents. "He never seemed to have any trouble with anyone," said his father, W. K. Miller, 43, a part-time house-painter.

Gail Russell Found Dead In Apartment

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Gail Russell, 36, who a year ago declared she had quit drinking because of her "bad luck," was found dead on the floor of her West Los Angeles apartment late Saturday night by two women neighbors.

There were other empty liquor bottles throughout her four-room, $130-a-month quarters.

Police said Miss Russell's death apparently was from natural causes. They said she had been hospitalized in recent years with a serious liver ailment.

She was a former model and had been married to the actor John Garfield. She was also married to the actor John Garfield.

City Forces In Quiet Day

The Snyder Police and Fire Departments had a fairly quiet Sunday after last week's hectic scramble. The Police Dept. was called to a number of calls.

Monica High School, discovery by a Paramount talent scout, election by exhibitors and critics in 1947 as "Star of Tomorrow," stardom in pictures like "Lady in the Dark" and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." Her four-year marriage to star Guy Madison, these were some of her life's highlights.

The two points were a series of drunken driving arrests. In the latest, she was charged with driving a convertible smashed through the front of a coffee shop and hurt a janitor.

Farm Boy Admits He Is Sniper

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) — A baby-faced farm boy has admitted he is the mysterious sniper who terrorized his own family and critically wounded two policemen. He couldn't say why he did it.

Robert Oliver Miller, 13, was stunned to learn that Police Chief Keith Judd of Caldwell lay paralyzed in a hospital with a 22-caliber slug in his spine. Doctors said Judd may never recover.

Another officer, Deputy Sheriff Mel States of Boise, was shot in the back. Doctors said he would recuperate.

The officers were wounded Saturday night as they and scores of other policemen fanned out around the farm house of the boy's father, W. K. Miller, looking for a sniper who had been shooting up the area. At dawn Sunday, an Idaho National Guard tank rumbled through every conceivable hiding place on the farm.

Then Sheriff Dale Haile got suspicious because the trajectory of the bullets seemed to come from the house. He searched Bobby's room and found a 22-caliber rifle under the mattress.

The youth, who had been taken with his family to the sheriff's office during the night, broke down and signed a confession. He said he hadn't intended to hit anyone and thought he was firing over the heads of the officers.

He gave no specific reason for the shooting spree, but complained about having to do a lot of irrigating on the farm.

Robert arraigned on a charge of attempted murder, was ordered held under $25,000 bond for a court appearance Tuesday.

The confession of the youngster shocked his parents. "He never seemed to have any trouble with anyone," said his father, W. K. Miller, 43, a part-time house-painter.

CONVERSATION PIECE are these handsome tapered pants made of pure wool with a hand loomed look. A boyadere design of little "paperdoll" men is separated by fine lines for added effectiveness. Colors are taupe mist - white, kumquat orange - white, teal mist - white and black and white. With them Claudia wears a bulky tweed sweater, also 100 per cent wool, in cordigan style with solid border and zipper closing. The long sleeves and bottom of the sweater are ribbed.

Fall Sportswear Gay, Kookie, Angry, Exciting

Sportswear is more fun than ever this season, gay and often brash in color and design, "way out", "kookie" and "angry", or just imaginatively smart and worthy of note. The sportswear wools are livelier than usual, some referred to as "the angry young wools", "clash and crash" as to both texture and color, "pagans", "primitive". Hand woven effects are paramount, notably in worsted yarns that are crisp and crunchy, in designs inspired by the Congo, Scandinavia, primitives, early America. Wool knits also continue important both individually and as coordinates with woven wools.

The perpendicular, the elongated, the stripe are emphasized, but in not usual manner; diamond patterns are recurrent, sometimes stretched out to take up half a skirt length. Big plaids are important, and equally colorful, some woven to look more like stripes than plaids. Circle and dot designs find favor. Tapestry, damask and other textured weaves are outstanding, also basketweaves, in monochromes and melanges of color for skirts, jackets, suits, and even to look more like stripes than plaids. Circle and dot designs find favor. Tapestry, damask and other textured weaves are outstanding, also basketweaves, in monochromes and melanges of color for skirts, jackets, suits, and even to look more like stripes than plaids.

Colors and color combinations contribute much to the gaiety of the season, among others, emerald, turquoise, blue, and royal blue in plaids and stripes, to look more like stripes than plaids. Circle and dot designs find favor. Tapestry, damask and other textured weaves are outstanding, also basketweaves, in monochromes and melanges of color for skirts, jackets, suits, and even to look more like stripes than plaids.

Stylish, long jackets in plaids, stripes, tweed mixtures over skirts or long, skiny, ankle length pants are popular, often with fringed hemlines and - or pockets. Also important are the many sleeveless jackets, pullovers, tops of many kinds with skirts that are pleated, gored, flared with welled seam detail, equally important over the skiny pants. These come in a variety of shades, from light to three to six inches above the hem of a slim skirt. Long tunics are worn over pants or skirts and now and then, buttoned up one side, over a very slim dress. Long sleeved sweaters or blouses are another item of the ensemble.

Starting young designer does combinations of stripes and dots or other unexpected patterns, perhaps a skirt in huge dots and a long top in dashing diagonal stripes, or combines orange, magenta and two shades of dull green through appliqued bands or insets on a long, figure - skimming tunic dress.

The classic shirt - shift is in the picture, again figure - skimming and to be worn with or without a low - slung self belt. Fringed "cowpoke" scarfs sometimes dress these up.

The Chanel - influenced jacket continues to hold an important place, with the boy jacket and the blazer over full or straighter skirts. Youthful customers like the new width in skirts, the pleats, the flares, bias cuts, low fullness, even half and full circles again. Just about everything is available in coordinated groups which include more pieces than ever - full skirt, slim skirt, jacket, jerkin, tunic, sweater, blouse, the works. The colorfully patterned wools give rise to many matching or companionable outfits. So, there's a good time ahead, making your selections!

Child Too Smart For School

LONDON (AP)—At the age of 5, Verina Greenway is too bright to go to school.

She speaks and reads English, French and Italian. She can spell and write as well as a normal 10-year - old child. Her arithmetic is as good as an 8 year old's.

But Verina is no bookworm. She also swims, skates and plays the piano. And she's so good at dancing that she's won 23 prizes. Her mother, Mrs. Kerra Greenway, a professional dancing teacher, said in an interview that she believes a great many children could be as clever as her daughter.

The mother's rules for raising a bright child: "Have love in the home - lots of it. 'Never ignore your child's questions. Answer them fully.'"

"Don't let grandma or a nurse bring up your child. Do it yourself. Verina's mother knew her child was very smart and sent her to school at the age of 5.

After several months her teacher said, 'She's a genius - and she's too bright for regular school right now.'"

The teacher advised Mrs. Greenway to have an educational psychologist examine Verina and decide what sort of education she should have.

The mother and the child's father, a British doctor, agreed. So they are taking Verina for a two-month vacation in Italy.

"I shall work and go down to the beach every day," said Verina. "I think I shall also take up painting when I'm in Italy."

Homemade Bread From The Gaspe

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor
SOME of the fun of traveling is in tasting new foods. "Drive along Quebec's Gaspe coast," say friends recently returned from a vacation there, "and you see houses after house with its wood - fired oven outdoors."

Near the oven, on a clear warm day, there may be a table full of pans of bread dough rising in the sun. Our friends stopped and bought one of the loaves for a picnic lunch, and describe the bread as hearty and delicious.

According to "The Black Whale Cook Book," the only collection of Gaspe recipes we have ever come across, in baking the bread outdoors, "the firing of the oven is most important." Each Gaspe cook uses her own recipe, and here is one of them - adapted to bake in a regular range.

This rule produces two traditional marmoshead round loaves - although many Gaspe breadmakers do use regular loaf pans - that have a snowy - white inside with a rather soft texture, and a crusty exterior. We like this bread warm from the oven, but that's our personal taste. And we're all in favor of toasting it - this way it's exceptionally crusty and full-flavored. Best of all, this bread is not sweet.

If you try this recipe, you'll have a lot of bread, so you may want to put one loaf in the freezer. Along with fish chowder or split pea soup it will make a fine lunch or supper.

GASPE BREAD

- 2 cups very warm (105 to 115 degrees) water
- 3 packages active dry yeast
- 1 cup lukewarm mashed potatoes
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 7 cups (about) sifted flour

In a mixing bowl, stir water and yeast together until yeast is dissolved. Add lukewarm potatoes, sugar, salt, butter and 2 cups of the flour. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed on electric mixer or 30 vigorous strokes with a spoon. Stir in enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly - floured board and knead until elastic - about 10 minutes. (The dough will be slightly rough and dull looking.) Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease all sides. Cover and let rise in a warm place (80 to 85 degrees), that is free from draft, until doubled in bulk - about 30 minutes.

Punch down dough. Cover and let rise again until doubled - about 30 minutes. Punch dough down and divide in half. Shape each half in to a ball. Press into two greased 8-inch layer - cake pans. Cover and let rise again until doubled in bulk - about 20 minutes. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven about 40 minutes. Remove from pans and let cool on wire racks away from draft.

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON

Who better than the folk who care for one of the most famous collections can tell you how to tend to your lilacs? We're talking about the Rochester, N. Y., Highland Park display of 535 varieties and more than 1,500 shrubs.

The work there with lilacs was begun in 1891 by John Dunbar, who introduced 30 varieties. Lilacs from Rochester parks have gone out to beautify parks and gardens in distant parts of the world.

Lilacs are long - lived and reward good care. Plant them when they do not have to compete with tree roots. Give them sun, fertile, well - drained and non-acid soil. Plant them in spring or fall, just as you would handle other bushes.

Put them in a hole of adequate size in which the roots may be spread out over a layer of humus mixed with top-soil. Press soil around the roots thoroughly to avoid air pockets, and water to settle loose soil.

Any sturdy plant showing more than one stem from the base and bearing fat buds should develop into a good plant. Removing fading flower clusters is recommended. This eases the drain on the plant from seed production, directs summer growth into flower-bud formation and equalizes yearly blooming. Don't cut off the buds right under the flower cluster.

Neglected and overgrown lilacs may be rejuvenated by cutting some old trunks to the ground. This process may be spread over several seasons. When you remove a main stem you may expect many sucker sprouts from the roots. Choose the best and remove the others. Transplanting suckers is not difficult.

Some lilac troubles are: SCALDS - This is a white encrustation that can be scraped off. If you want to control with miscible oil it must be done in spring before the leaf buds open. If you discover it in June, when insects are hatching and moving, spray with nicotine sulfate and soap solution.

BORERS - These pests can cause severe injury to old plants. Check your plants in August for sap - wet spots in the loose bark fibres at the base and along older stems. You probably will find young grubs. Use carbon disulfide. Another control is a July spray with DDT.

LEAF MINER - This one appears as a small grub working between the surfaces of the leaf. Control with nicotine sulfate and soap as soon as noticed. Lindane and malathion also will check leaf miners.

MILDEW - This is an unattractive, surface fungus but experts say not much can be done about it.

There is another 1,500 - plant collection of lilacs of Shubert, Vt., including single and double varieties of white, lilac, purple, mauve, pink, blue and rare red.

Problems That Defy Solution

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—There are some problems in life a man just can't do much about. He simply must put up with them.
High on the list is how to cope with women carrying umbrellas in rainy days.
A pretty woman peering around the rim of a summer parasol in a row garden is one of the loveliest sights on earth.
Hand this same gal a bumblebee on a rainy day in town, however, and she becomes a rampant traffic menace to make life, limb and property down any street she wanders.
You can chart her progress by the straggled line of men passers-by hunched "balding."
"Please, ma'am, may I have my eyelids back?"
To each of them the lady sternly replies:
"Well, what's it doing on my umbrella in the first place?"
And she pauses to inspect her umbrella to be sure it is undamaged. That's an odd thing about women on rainy days. When they bump into a man and impale him on their umbrella, they automatically assume he's a masher trying to strike up an acquaintance with them the hard way.
They don't worry about his wounds. They feel he got what he deserved. All they ask about is whether the umbrella is all right.
No woman would leave home I have ever seen—ever feels it necessary to apologize for stabbing a hole in a man's forehead with her umbrella.
"What if I was on the wrong side of the sidewalk? He should have seen me coming!"
"What do I care if he doesn't have better sense than to ram his silly face into my umbrella? After all, he can't get my husband!"
Anyways, what difference does it make? He's only a man, and one more hole in his head won't hurt him too much.
After more than 40 years of studying the tactics of women umbrellas, I can tell you, I find they can be grouped into several distinct classes:
The kind that won't close their umbrellas until after they board a crowded bus.
The kind that sit next to you on the bus and read the tip of their wet umbrella on your foot so that the water drips off and fills your shoe.
The kind that insists on opening their umbrellas again before getting off the bus, thus giving everybody within a 15-foot range a free cold shower.
The kind of woman who, if she fails to avert a passing man, hurries around the block so she can have a second try at him.
One of the odd things about women who carry umbrellas on rainy days is their feminine civility. It is noblest of them to let them never to wing children or another woman. Only men get the point.
Twenty women with their umbrellas wide open could crowd into a telephone booth and emerge unscathed and unharmed.
But let one lone solitary man come wading down the avenue and eight out of ten women with umbrellas will manage to jab him in the face, neck, ears or ribs—even if he gets down on his hands and knees and tries desperately to scuttle on all fours.
It is his doom. It is his destiny. It is his life.

Boardwalk Proves American's Stomach Never On Vacation

BY INEZ ROBB
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Ever since World War II, I have promised myself a few days in Atlantic City. Now that I am finally here, I can't figure out for the life of me why it has taken 16 years to make the hundred-mile journey from New York.
Surely Atlantic City is the All-American summer resort. Here is the middle-class Riviera, the workman's Southampton and Newport—lively, reckless and full of razzle-dazzle. As the last days of August inexorably slide off the calendar, Americans of all sizes, shapes, colors, creeds and costumes are here by the tens of thousands, trying to wring a little more juice out of summer.

We pack the huge old seaside hotels that have long been a fixture of this resort. We spill out of the postwar motels that are giving the hotels a run for their money, what with parking privileges and salt-water pools. We are wedged into the shabby, old ones, private mansions now turned rooming houses which so often promise "kitchen privileges" on their shingles.
But it really doesn't matter whether one is registered in a luxury hotel or a rooming house, for all one's waking hours are spent trying to get a whiff of salt air, a stroll on the famous boardwalk, a dip in the Atlantic or a sponson of sand on which to sit and sun-bathe.
The costumes for strolling, strolling or swimming are wonderful and fearful. Yet Atlantic City is still sufficiently American and middle class to be rocked to its scuppers a couple of days ago when a pair of pretty sisters appeared in a brace of itchy-bitty French bikinis.

"This is a decent place; this isn't any high society hang-out," snapped an indignant matron in shorts and sweat shirt as the sisters, ankled into the Atlantic Boardwalk opinion appeared to be on her side, although it didn't keep the crowds from ogling.
The boardwalk is an American institution on a par with Niagara Falls and Yellowstone. It is reserved from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. for early birds with bicycles. The number of young fry who can badger parents onto a bicycle at such hours is amazing.
But from 9 a. m. on the boardwalk is strictly for strolling and sitting and strolling. It is only a little sands, trying to wring a little more juice out of summer.

When my husband and I turned in at 1 a. m. two mornings ago, the crowds on the boardwalk were still eating with unabated enthusiasm. If anyone doubts that overweight is one of America's most serious medical problems, let him stroll the boardwalk. It is alarming enough to see so many adult ladies, but the numbers of grossly overweight children and teenagers is really distressing.
It is obvious that an American goes on vacation—but never his stomach.

less crowded at midnight than at noon. And it's not strictly true to say that the boardwalk is strictly for strolling and strolling.

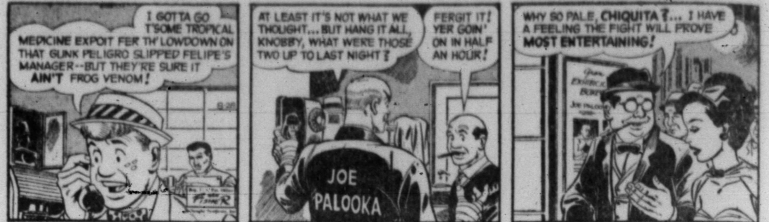

The boardwalk is strictly for hunger. Every man woman and child eats while he strolls and the variety and amounts consumed are awesome. The heart of the boardwalk, a mile throbbing on the landside with a jumble of stores, auction rooms, souvenir shops and open-air stands constitutes the longest open-air restaurant in the world.

The stroller can buy a five-course dinner as he goes and what's more, he does. As he walks he can and does fortify himself with soft drinks in paper cups, pizza pie, salt-water taffy, candy apples, cotton candy, barbecued ribs, hot dogs, dill pickles, popcorn (in three colors), hamburgers, fish and chips, French fries, waffles, brownies, macaroons, ice cream sandwiches, pork rolls, sandwiches in infinite variety, vegetables, juice cocktails and a frozen ice on a stick that whistles as the customer sucks away at its locked-in goodness.

Detroit Fans Rate C-C Boys Equal To Yankee M-M Combo

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Detroit's fans were wondering today why all the fuss over Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

They contend they have a slugging pair just as devastating as the New York Yankees' M and M boys.

"We call 'em the C and C boys," said a happy Tiger follower. "That's Norm Cash and Rocky Colavito."

There's no question that Cash and Colavito have been just as essential to the Tigers as Maris and Mantle have been to the Yankees. The pair collaborated Sunday to lead the Tigers to a 7-4, 10-1 sweep of the American League-leading Yankees.

Detroit gained half a game on the Yankees who nipped Kansas City 8-7 for Whitey Ford's 22nd triumph. Maris and Mantle went homerless and hitless. Colavito smashed four home runs, three in the second game, and batted in seven runs. Cash, Colavito's partner in a doubleheader with Washington, moving the Tigers to within two games of the American League-leading Yankees.

Decker Wins Links Title

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Mrs. J. D. Decker, a brown-eyed bride who teaches history in school and makes it on the golf course, won the 1961 U.S.A. Women's Amateur Golf Championship Saturday by a record 14 and 13 victory over Phyllis Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla.

This is the second time the Seattle teacher has been queen of American golf. As Anne Quast, a student at Stanford University, she won the championship in 1958. She has won numerous tournaments but never was greater than in this one. Her triumph bettered the record 13 and 12 margin by which Glenna Collett beat Virginia Van Wie in 1953.

Mrs. Decker never trailed an opponent and lost only six holes out of the 112 she played. In the final, scheduled for 36 holes, she had an ally she didn't need. Overnight rain dampened the course and Miss Preuss could not find the secret of hitting from the heavy grass. Mrs. Decker, accustomed to the Pacific Northwest's frequent rains, found it no problem.

Her card read 38-35-73 for the first 18 holes and she parred each of the final five. Miss Preuss was 44-42-86 out and two over on the last five.

Cash, whose 31 homers and 107 RBIs are the lowest of the four-Colavito and Cash, Colavito's four homers Sunday gave him a season's total of 38 and an RBI total of 119, second only to Maris' 126. Together with Cash, the duo owns 69 home runs to 97 for Maris (51) and Mantle (46), and 226 runs batted in to the Yankees duo's 232.

Coach Encouraged By Team Progress

Coach Horace Bostick returned his Tiger footballers to the practice field this morning. Encouraged over the outcome of a Saturday night scrimmage session against the Phillips Blackhaws.

The Tiger offense also continued to improve. The locals managed to cross into touchdown land six times during the scrimmage, while Phillips made it across the double stripe on four occasions.

However, the nature of the scrimmage made the touchdown production deceptive. As each team took over on offense it was given an opportunity to advance by first downs, but if it failed to make a first down the ball was moved forward for a new series anyway. Thus, each team had an opportunity to score in four plays from the 10 - yard line each time around.

One more scrimmage session is being set up before the Tigers begin their season at Berger on Sept. 8. They will go to Midland probably Thursday for some more practice head - knocking.

No injuries were logged in the scrimmage with Phillips. "I hope we've had our share of those," Bostick commented.

The Houston Colts enter the National League next season to end 72 years of minor league baseball in Houston. The Colts entered the American Association in 1959, and before that the team was in the Texas League.

Every fan who attends tonight's finale will be given a certificate saying he attended the last scheduled minor league game in the city.

Yogi Berra and Elston Howard supplied the home run punch for the Yankees. Berra's came with two on and Ford needed all those runs. The left-hander lasted just five innings and needed relief help from Roland Sheldon and Luis Arroyo. The A's scored three runs in the ninth and had the tying run on second base before Arroyo fanned Norm Sieber to end the game.

The White Sox used two big innings in one game to tomahawk the Indians twice. Floyd Robinson capped a six-run sixth in the first game with a bases-clearing triple. Al Smith and Roy Sievers homered in the nightcap in which the Sox had a four-run seventh.

Pappas not only pitched a two-hit shutout for the Orioles but rapped two home runs off Pedro Ramos, who has thrown 35 home run balls this season. The Twins' right-hander holds the league record with 43 in 1957.

Little Rocky Bridges rapped three hits and Eli Grba permitted only nine hits as the Angels took undisputed possession of seventh place by handing the Red Sox their 18th loss in the last 20 road games. Don Schwall, Boston's rookie sensation, lost his third. He has won 13.

The Snyder coach was particularly pleased with the showing of his defensive unit against the Blackhaws.

"We stopped everything they ran on the ground," he declared. "They couldn't make more than a yard or so up the middle after we got straightened out, and by the end of the scrimmage we were stopping them on the line of scrimmage."

Hobbs Holds Lead In Playoff Series

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Hobbs held a one-game lead in the Sophomore League playoff today as the Pirates squared off with Albuquerque in the second of the five-game series.

Hobbs beat Albuquerque 5-2 Sunday night, scoring three runs in the eighth without a hit. Three walks, two errors and a wild pitch proved the Ducks' downfall.

Albuquerque won the pennant and three places have been decided for the playoffs but fourth place — the last spot — still is very much up in the air in the hectic Texas League race.

Amarillo clinched the pennant Sunday when it whipped San Antonio 9-3 and a few hours later Victoria knocked over Tulsa 5-0. It left Amarillo with a six-game lead over Victoria, which has a five-game lead over Tulsa.

Perry May Be Baltimore's Best Property From Trades

By MIKE RATHIE

Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe Perry the alltime workhorse of the National Football League may prove to be the most valuable piece of property acquired by the detested Baltimore Colts in a trading program calculated to return them to the top of the heap.

The league's most productive runner — 7,246 yards gained in a record 1451 carries — broke a 7-7 tie with a 1-yard plunge that started the Colts on their way to a 41-7 pasting of the Washington Redskins in an exhibition Saturday night.

Used infrequently last year by the San Francisco 49ers when he picked up only 95 yards in 36 attempts, Perry, 33, was a stand-out against the Redskins along with two other new Colts — built a 14 - 10 lead on Roger Lettler's 29-yard ramble with an interception and a 45-yard aerial from Ed Brown to Johnny Morris.

Charley Conerly started the Giants (2-0-1) off against the Cowboys (1-2) in the first period with a 37-yard scoring pass to Joe Morrison and New York scored once in every period with Alex Webster, Jim Podoley and Phil King picking up TDs on the ground. Dallas' only touchdown came on Don McIlhenny's four-yard burst.

Abe Woodson's 87-yard kickoff return with 13 seconds to go in the first half gave the 49ers (1-2) a 7-3 edge against the Vikings (0-3). C. R. Roberts ran 15 yards in the third period for San Francisco's winning TD before Minnesota finally reached paydirt for the first time, in two games on George Shaw's 12-yard strike to A. D. Williams.

Bobby Layne's 33-yard touchdown toss to Preston Carpenter pulled the Steelers (2-1) out front against the Cardinals (0-2), then Charles Seales scored the clincher in the third period on a four-yard run. The Cards finally unveiled quarterback Sam Elcheverry, who has been sidelined with a sore shoulder. He completed the three passes he attempted.

Jim Taylor's second two-yard touchdown plunge in the fourth quarter brought the Packers from behind against the Bears (1-2), and a six-yard scoring aerial from Bart Starr to Paul Hornung put it out of reach. The Bears had

Indianapolis Hikes Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Versatile Indianapolis got three homers in the first game and two-hit pitching from Johnny Taitour in the nightcap Sunday to sweep Dallas - Fort Worth 7-4 and 4-0 and move 4½ games in front in the American Association race.

The Indians got a helping hand from last place Omaha, which spilled second place Louisville 3-2 in 10 innings.

Pitcher Gordy Seifried drove in two runs and outfielder Purnal Goidy scored all of Denver's tales in a 3-1 victory over Houston. Despite the triumph, Denver slipped 7½ games off the pace, in third.

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: Why did France give America the Statue of Liberty?

ANSWER: To understand the French gift of the Statue of Liberty to America we must go back in thought to the Revolutionary War. France fought on our side against England. The French fleet bottled up the English general Cornwallis, so that he had to surrender at Yorktown. So, when America came to celebrate its first 100 years of independence in 1876, France was eager to express its historic friendship for this country. The French historian Edouard de Laboulaye suggested the building of a statue to symbolize the idea of liberty which was so dear to both the French and American people. His friend Frederic Auguste Bartholdi designed the statue and came to America to look for the right site. Approaching New York by sea he was struck with the idea that his statue could be placed at the entrance to New York harbor. To the millions of people crossing to the new world, he thought, this statue would symbolize the liberty they came here to seek.

FOR YOU TO DO: Some day you must visit the Statue of Liberty, one of the most inspiring of our national monuments. While there, read about it in an encyclopedia.

(Christy Jackson of Chillicothe, Mo., wins $10 for this question. Send yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

Two Planes Haul Baggage

MIAMI Fla. (AP) — Two Pan American World Airways planes brought in 25,000 pounds of excess baggage for Cuban refugees over the weekend, but a third was turned back by Cuban authorities.

A Saturday flight and a Sunday morning flight brought in bags, parcels and trunks left at the Havana airport when refugees boarded planes for the United States.

A second Sunday flight from Miami turned back when advised by radio that Cuban authorities did not wish it to land. No reason was given.

The Cuban government decreed Friday that all baggage must follow its owners within 48 hours.

Pan American operates two flights daily between Miami and Havana, but space out of Havana is so limited that refugees are limited to hand baggage.

Pan American said its flights out of Havana are booked solid through next March.

Attempt To Raise Collapsed Wing

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Workmen will attempt to raise the wing of a four-engine Constellation today that collapsed Sunday, injuring one man and spilling gasoline over a large section of runway.

Officials said the left landing gear of the Wide World Air Service craft collapsed while the plane was being refueled.

John Gaherty 34 helping refuel the plane slipped off the wing when it fell and fractured an ankle.

Say Living Cost Figures Deceptive

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — According to the official figures, the cost of living has moved to a new high and probably will keep rising.

According to many harassed heads of families, making both ends meet is getting harder. But some business and financial spokesmen hold that the cost of living hasn't risen as much as the Labor Department's consumer price index indicates. They say the quality of many items has increased as well as the price and the index isn't adjusted to show that.

Auto labor negotiations talk of a price rise in steel this fall or more and bigger increase in government spending if the Berlin crisis worsens—all these may affect the stock market, but official thinking is, yet.

But the family level, rising costs are a very present problem. Seasonal changes in the cost of food are more or less accepted. But always there is that periodic purchase or fee. The replacement always seems to cost more than the original bought a while back. Or you may be surprised, in spite of all the warnings you had, how much more it will cost you to replace it.

And each year there is something new that your family wants badly if it is to be as happy as the others in the neighborhood or as the families of your fellows at the office or the factory. These wants may be for goods, or, increasingly, they may be for services.

This is known as the rising standard of living and is one of the glories of a prosperous American economy.

But it is also known as the rising cost of living. Prices may go up, but also do the qualities we demand of the goods, services or conveniences we insist on when we can pay for them.

Odessa Fire Being Probed

ODessa (AP) — Officials investigating the fire that swept through one of Odessa's largest churches Saturday night continued today on indications of foul play.

Officials said the possibility of arson in the fire at the Sherwood Baptist Church.

A broken bloodstained window indicated someone broke into the church and several gold-plated plaques were reported missing, investigators said.

They said empty gasoline cans were found in a residence near the church caught fire about the same time of the church blaze.

Violence In State Claims Lives Of 24

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Varied forms of violence in widespread areas of Texas during the weekend claimed 24 lives. Thirteen persons died in traffic mishaps.

A single smashup in El Paso Sunday killed three youths when their car crashed into a parked vehicle, a telephone pole, a fence and a billboard.

The grim Associated Press count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Killed in the early morning crash at El Paso were Jimmy Ray, Solter, 17; Roy Jerry Bennett, 19, and Joseph Schaffino, 19.

A rear-end collision near Crystal City, in South Central Texas, Sunday killed Francisco Lopez of Carrito Springs.

Estaba Andrade, 48, was killed shortly after midnight Saturday when he was struck by an automobile on U. S. Highway 80 just west of Pecos.

Sam Beeler, 35, was shot to death in Dallas Sunday. Police were questioning a 37-year-old man.

A head-on auto crash on U. S. 39 near New Caney, north of Houston, and her daughter Jeanne Lee Gregory, 10, Saturday night.

Minnie Helen Calvert, 20, of Dallas was found, hanged Saturday in a bathroom of her Highland Park apartment. Police said a note left in the apartment was written in shorthand.

A two-car head-on collision two miles west of Henrietta on U. S. 287 Sunday night killed two men.

The victims were William Paul Hodges, Henrietta, the driver of one car, and Eugene P. Sanders Jr., stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., who was riding in a car with two other men from the fort who were hurt.

A W. Talley, 37, of Robstown, died Saturday night following a car-truck accident south of Victoria on U. S. 77.

Cisco Madrigal, 21, of San Antonio, died in a San Antonio hospital Sunday night after being found shot at his home. A rifle was found near his body, officers said.

All these articles are offered at school prices with approximately 29 per cent off list price.

Marcum expressed his gratitude for the patronage he has received in the past, and deeply regrets having to move but due to the expansion of inventory, it was an absolute necessity.

There is plenty of free parking for all, and Marcum invites everyone out to see these items and the Bear Archery Equipment of which he is the authorized dealer here.

Wreckage Is Cleared Away

CLEBURNE (AP) — Workmen began clearing the tangled wreckage of 31 freight cars today that careened off the track near here Sunday, injuring two men.

The men, Lewey Marsh, 46, of Fairfield, Ala., and James Doherty, 35, of Indiana, were riding in a box car loaded with steel when almost half of the 71-car train went away.

Their conditions were reported as fair.

The Fort Worth-to-Houston train carried a tank car filled with high test gasoline which broke open. Sheriff's officers called for a foam truck from Corswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth to stand by.

The conductor of the Missouri Pacific freight, H. C. Weisiger of Mart, said the derailment occurred at a spot where the tracks become too wide — apparently because the heat of the sun caused the rails to expand.

NEW YORK (AP) — A famous stage and screen "vamp" of the Twenties, Vera Michelena, 77, died Sunday at her home in Queens. She retired in 1933.

For 20 years she was a singing and acting star of motion pictures, musical comedy and vaudeville.

She was born in New York of a stage family and went to San Francisco as a girl. She made her first stage appearance there at 11.

She was married in 1910 to Fred Hillbrand. He is her only survivor.

80 Men From One Town Called Up

CARRIZO SPRINGS, Tex. (AP) — This little ranching and farming community has about one month to adjust itself to losing for an indefinite period 80 of its men.

"We are going to miss these boys. We love them all," said Mrs. W. B. Phillips, a cafe owner. She spoke of the 80 members of the 1104th Transportation Co. of the Texas National Guard called to active duty last week. The men report Oct. 1 to Ft. Riley, Kan.

The commander is Capt. Wallace Martin, owner of several farms. After hearing the news of his company's mobilization he went to the farm as usual.

"When we get over the surprise, we will start making plans," said his wife.

The men from this South Central Texas town of 5,000 who will don uniforms for an unknown length of time includes three school teachers, a highway patrolman, two Texas Highway Department engineers, a banker, a grocery store owner, an electrician and a mechanic.

"We didn't think the crisis would become a local problem so quickly," said Mrs. Martin.

Brazil Incident May Tip Pattern

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — In this most savage of centuries, and the most unpredictable, the resignation of Brazil's President Janio Quadros may be only a minor episode or a turning point in the history of the Western Hemisphere.

One thing is sure: Brazil, with 67 million people, is the biggest of all Latin American countries and, whatever direction it takes, it will have an effect on its neighbors.

At this point no one seems sure whether Brazil will turn left — Joao Goulart, the vice president supposed to succeed Quadros is a leftist — or whether a military dictatorship of the right will take over and keep Goulart out.

For that matter, it doesn't seem too clear what direction Quadros might have taken or whether this sudden move of his is part of a plan to come back soon — how he could do it isn't clear, either — with more power than before.

Even Goulart seemed uncertain over the weekend. He had visited Communist China and Cuba in Hong Kong when news of Quadros' resignation reached him. He started flying home but stopped off in Paris.

He seemed to want to make sure what kind of reception to expect when he got home—trouble or open arms.

Brazil is a land of great wealth and enormous poverty. In the northeast Communists had stirred the peasants to revolt. When Quadros became president seven months ago he inherited tremendous problems. Brazil was in bad financial shape.

He himself was regarded as a conservative financially. But from the start he gave Brazil a sense of movement; he investigated government corruption, proposed tax reforms and economies to balance the budget, fired some unneeded government workers.

These were some of his measures and they made enemies for him. When he resigned Friday he said he had wanted Brazil for the Brazilians but that his efforts at reform had been blocked. An opposition Congress had bottled him in.

He called his policy neutral but got huge foreign aid from this country. Yet, he sought to restore relations with Russia, which had been broken off in 1947, and had sent representatives to Communist China.

In 1960, before taking office, he visited Cuba. He called the Castro revolution beautiful but later said he would be the first to condemn a Communist Cuba. In all this he kept the United States guessing.

There wasn't and isn't any doubt that if Brazil went Communist it would be one of the great disasters for this country which has Fidel Castro for a next-door neighbor and which doesn't know what direction British Guiana will take.
