Game To Decide Section Champs Here Friday Night

Cyclone Will Invade Powell Field in Most Colorful Game of Season

Record Crowds

Officials Prepare for Largest Crowd in History of Wellington Football

With the largest crowd to ever witness a football game in Wellington expected, the Wellington Skyrockets will Friday night meet the Memphis Cyclone in a game which is expected to virtually decide the championship of Section 1, District 4, in Class B football.

Skyrockets Undefeated

Wellington is still undefeated, while Memphis lost an early game to the strong Childress first string team for their only defeat of the season. The game is generally considered to be a "toss-up"—but either side is calculated to have the power to run up a big score in case of an up-set.

The Wellington boys have been undergoing training for the breaking up of passes, which is expected to be Memphis' chief contribution toward scoring. On the other hand, Memphis scouts took down Wellington plays last Friday night and Memphis is reported to be practicing defensive measures to the strong Skyrocket ground plays.

Rumors also indicate that Memphis has a series of plays which have never been openly used this season which they expect to turn loose on the Skyrockets. The game is attracting wide interest over the entire Panhandle and practically every rural community in Collingsworth County is also disclosing interest in the game which will decide the sectional champions.

Both Take Easy Game

Both Wellington and Memphis have taken easy victories over Turkey and Quitaque, the other two sectional opponents.

The Skyrockets, with one of the best drilled teams in several seasons, have been pointing since the

County Farmers Pool 7,500 Bales

Stressing the fact that November 10 is the last day in which holders of exemption certificates may enter them in the national pool, John O. Stovall, county agent, today said that 3,600,000 pounds of lint or nearly 7,500 bales pooled in this county.

Mr. Stovall also said that indications pointed to the fact that a large amount of the cotton entered in the pool should be sold—and should mean a large amount of money to the farmers of this county, since it is estimated the certificates will net the producer about $19 for each 500 pounds entered.

"The pooling of tax-exemption certificates has been very light the past week since the demand has been so great by the pool," Mr. Stovall said, "It was thought that the producers would respond more

Large Crowd Sees Home Talent Play Thursday Night

Special Numbers Also Attract Interest and Favorable Comment

With an exceptionally large attendance a three-act play, "Sky High," sponsored by the Musicians Club, was presented Thursday night, October 25 in the High School Auditorium.

Gene Wright as the hero of the play portrayed his part well and in the final stages won the air race, around which the plot of the play was hinged. Mrs. Gene Wright, as the heroine, also furnished a major role emerging from the post of secretary to entrance the hero.

W. H. Scoggins as the grouchy uncle of the hero, intensified things by tightening up on his purse strings, and also furnished a large portion of the comedy during the play.

Mrs. L. J. Campbell, as mother of the hero, portrayed an Irish character and also furnished a major portion of the comedy for the play.

Cecil Wilson, chum of the hero, also found favor with the crowd as promoter of air races.

Vernon Morris, pilot of the plane, was drugged by a jealous rival of the hero, Claudia Elliott Benge, thus forcing the hero to pilot his own plane in the big race.

June Marion Alley as the gypsy fortune-teller, foretold the pilot of the evil intentions of the jealous air club hostess.

Richard Carter, negro porter, also furnished comedy for the plot—and bought the house down by offering his services as pilot when

Dodsonville Church To Hold Conference Session Sunday

Listing Sunday, November 4, as the occasion for the Fourth Quarterly Conferences for the Dodsonville Methodist church, Rev. W. H. Strong, pastor, today said that Rev. M. M. Bevers, presiding elder, would meet with the church and deliver the sermon Sunday morning.

"Dinner will be served at the church," Rev. Strong said, "and the conference meeting will be served following dinner. At the conference meeting officials of the church will be elected for another year and plans will be discussed. Let all our people be present."

Junior Fair Delayed Until March

That the Junior Fair will be delayed until next March was announced today by Miss Annie Mae Donaghey, H. D. Agent. The fair was originally set for November 16-17, but since only four schools were operating in the entire county, it will be delayed.

"We expect to have a much more interesting and better fair in March," Miss Donaghey said. "The same list of prizes, with several additions, will be featured at the March exhibit."

County Is Listed With 2,908 Bales

Increase of 2,097 Bales Is Seen Here During Past Ten Days' Ginnings

Listing Collingsworth County with 2,908 bales on October 18, U. S. Government reports today showed a substantial increase in county ginnings during the past week.

On October 8, the government report showed this county with only 901 bales and on September 16, the government report listed the county with 107 bales. The report of October 18 gives the county an increase of 2,097 bales during the past 10 days, according to the government tabulations.

The county is still far below the ginning record for the same period in 1933, however, a total of 16,313 bales having been listed on October 18, last year, in comparison with the 2,908 bales for this season.

Canning Kitchen Fills 20,000 Cans

That the poor grade of sweet potatoes being presented at the County Canning Kitchen will undoubtedly result in a poor toll yield because of waste was indicated here today by Miss Annie Mae Donaghey, County H. D. agent.

Miss Donaghey also indicated that it would probably be better to allow the sweet potatoes to cure before canning them and stated that the plant would take turnip greens as long as they lasted, urging persons to can their greens now and wait until the sweet potatoes were cured.

The first month of operation gave the canning plant a total output of approximately 20,000 cans.

K. Of P. Lodge To Hold Special Meet October 31

Members of the Knights of Pythies lodge wree today urged to attend a special call meeting of the local lodge Wednesday night, October 31.

Theo. Yarbrough, grand keeper of records of seals, will be the honor guest of the meeting, which is to be held in the lodge hall. An effort will be made to create more interest in the local lodge, members said.

New Rule Allows Contract Signers To Buy Feeders

Second Payment on Corn-Hog Contracts Expected Here Soon

The compliance on the Corn-Hog contracts for Collingsworth County were completed last week, and checked by V. E. Hafner, District Compliance Supervisor. The first certification of compliance was sent in on all contracts for the county which puts them in line for the second payment on these contracts, accoring to John O. Stovall, county agent.

The latest ruling on the Corn-Hog program permits the contract signer to buy all the feeder hogs he wants, from August 1 to November 31, 1934, and these hogs do not have to be bought from contract signers.

The only restriction on this ruling is that the producer must keep a record of all hogs bought, from whom bought, date of purchase and average weight of hogs. This record must be turned in to Miss Langley, secretary of the Collingsworth County Corn-Hog Association at the County Agent's office within ten days after the hogs are bought. We wish to emphasize the importance of keeping this record and of turning same in to the secretary, as failure to do so will cause the contract to be held up for non-compliance and delay the payments on the contract.

Rural Schools To Secure State Aid

Following the completion of state aid inspections in this county Friday, J. D. Wilson said that each of the 36 rural schools in this county would receive the full state aid allotment allowed by the law.

The announcement followed the inspection tour which carried Mr. Wilson and Deputy State Supt. Bryan Dickson to every rural school in the entire county. Mr. Wilson also expressed his approval of the nice showing made by the schools and the interest taken by patrons in each of the districts.

B. & M. Grocery Observes Tenth Anniversary Here

The B. and M. Grocery, operated by C. R. Brooks and Frank Mitchell, will November 1 celebrate ten years of business in Wellington, and upon the occasion of their tenth anniversary expressed their appreciation to those who have made possible their continued progress for the past decade.

On November 1, 1924, Mr. Brooks and Mr. Mitchell closed the deal for the store, purchasing the grocery division from G. M. Bills and the market from Moulton and Burden.

Since that time there have been many changes, the owners said, but stated that they had always stuck to their original policy of treating their customers with honesty, fairness and showing them every possible courtesy.

Mr. Brooks has been in the grocery business all of his life, starting in as a boy. Previous to his ten years here he was with the B. & O. store at Leedy, Oklahoma,

Farmers Favor Bankhead Law In Straw Vote

Three-To-One Vote Cast In Favor of Continuation as Ballot Ends

Farmer Ballot

Only Farmers Allowed to Vote in Contest Sponsored by Leader

With the final vote cast in The Leader's straw vote on the Bankhead bill, the affirmative led by over 3 to 1. Only eleven votes came in during the final week and all of them were cast in favor of continuing the Bankhead law in 1935, The final vote is 165 for continuing the law and 54 against. While the total vote is much less than the Leader would have liked to have had, the 219 votes represent approximately one sixth of the cotton farmers of the county and can be considered fairly representative of the sentiment of the 1,500 cotton producers of the county.

Only farmers were allowed to vote in the poll and the ballots with each farmer's name signed to it have been preserved in case any question come up regarding the accuracy of the poll.

The poll is significant in that the farmers will soon be required to vote in the Government poll to determine whether or not the bill will be continued in 1935. If a full vote is registered for the county on the same basis as the Leader's straw vote there will be over 1,100 vote for continuing the bill and slightly less than 400 vote against it. However, it is doubtful if a thousand farmers will vote in the Government poll. In the corn-hog balloting many communities did not register over a 50 per cent vote.

Otis Melton Is Named Postmaster In Quail Office

That Otis M. Melton has been ing as acting postmaster for some announced this week through a special dispatch from Washington.

Mr. Melton, who has been serving as alting postmaster fo rsome time, took over the job when former Postmaster James B. Parker resigned. He has lived in this county for the past 27 years, practically all of his life, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Melton, also of Quail.

Friends of Mr. Melton have been congratulating him upon the appointment and feel that he will capably fill the position in which he has already proven his ability.

Plan Three-Day Mattress School

A Mattress Training School will be conducted in the Home Demonstration office in the courthouse November 12, 13, 14, according to Miss Annie Mae Donaghey, agent.

"Everyone is invited to attend this school," Miss Donaghey said, "and the course will include the making and renovating of mattresses. One mattress will be made each day and the three mattresses will be given as prizes next spring. The County Council is furnishing the ticking and next spring one of the mattresses will be given as a

Duck Hunters Buy Thirty-Two Stamps In This County

With the opening of the season October 26, local duck hunters showed interest in the sport to the extent of buying 32 duck stamps, at the rate of $1 per stamp. Only four stamps had been purchased on October 4.

According to the new law duck hunters may shoot only on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, between the hours of sunrise and sunset.

Union Service To Mark Armistice Day Rites Here

Rev. W. C. Hankins To Deliver Sermon at Methodist Church Nov. 11

Plans for Armistice Day services to be held at the Methodist Church were announced today by John Forbis, American Legion committeeman. Rev. W. Clyde Hankins will deliver the Armistice sermon at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, November 11.

"All churches have been invited to cooperate in the Armistice Day program," Mr. Forbis said, "and everyone in the entire county is invited to attend the union service meeting."

In addition to the Armistice sermon the choir for the occasion will be composed of members of the choirs of different churches.

Ex-service men will meet at the Legion Hall previous to the services and will march to the church for the services. Special seats will be reserved for the ex-service men.

Wellington Trio Tours Ten States In Recent Visit

Mrs. Joe Hardy, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Davis Robinson, returned here Monday after a visit which carried them through ten states.

The trio left here October 1 and went to Kentucky where they visited Mrs. Hardy's mother, Mrs. J. H. Monroe of Olmstead, Kentucky, which is also in the same county where Mrs. Hardy was reared. After a short visit in Olmstead Mr. and Mrs. Robinson also visited Louisville, Harrodsburg, Lexington, and Bardstown, including in the trip excursions to Muscle Shoals and Mammoth Cave. The ten states visited were: Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, and Texas.

Quilt Show Will Be Held Here On Friday, Saturday

Ladies' Fair Expected to Attract Attention of Entire County

Other Entries

Linen Display and Canned Products Also Important in Ladies' Fair

Featuring a quilt show and several other types of displays the club ladies of Collingsworth County will hold a Ladies Fair in the American Legion hall Friday and Saturday, November 2 and 3, according to Miss Annie Mae Donaghey, county home demonstration agent, today.

Miss Jones, Wheeler County agent, has agreed to judge the quilts, Miss Donaghey said, and all ladies who wish to enter quilts in the display are to bring them to the Legion hall at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Prizes on Quilts

Prizes will be given on three divisions of quilts, includng the oldest quilts, patchwork quilts, and pieced quilts. Prizes will consist of a lining as first; cotton bat as second, thread as third. These prizes will be awarded to each of the division winners. All persons entering quilts in the display are expected to lable their entry with a small domestic strip 2½ x 1½ inches, giving their name, club and the county where the quilt is in the old quilt contest, the age is to also be placed on the label.

In addition to the quilt show the Ladies Fair will include a display of canned products, soaps, both cold and cooked. Lnens are also to hold a major part of the display and the linen displays will include pillow cases, dresser scarfs, guest towels, etc.

Further activities will include the sale of quilts and canned foods at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Quilts will be sold by the North Wellington, Quail Aberdeen and

District Scout Leaders Named

Stating that a meeting would be called next week to perfect plans for the recently created Wellington Boy Scout district, John Bonner, district chairman, today announced the committee chairmen for the new district.

Those listed were: J. D. Wilson, court of honor; John Forbis, troop organization; Austin O'Neil, camping; Rev. T. M. Johnston, training; Roy Horn, civic service; H. M. Dudley, education and publicity; Dr. J. W. Harper, health and safety; R. F. Newman, reading; Claude McKinney, rural scouting; Ernest Lewis, sea scouting; Ben Hurst, cubbing; Bennett Bond, national representative.

Plans will be discussed at the meeting for extending the Scout work into surrounding towns and counties and the duties of each of the committee chairmen will be informed on his specific duties, Mr. Bonner said.

District Assembly of Nazarenes Is Expected to Draw 500 Visitors Here

For the first time in four years the Wellington Church of the Nazarene will be hosts to the annual Abilene District meeting next week. A crowd of more than 500 persons is expected to attend the session, according to Rev. S. L. Wood, pastor, who estimated that outstanding persons from at least six different states will attend the conference meeting.

Next Sunday is "Rally Day" in the Nazarene Sunday School, and many out of town visitors and ministers are expected to attend. A warm welcome awaits one and all at 9:45 a. m., Rev. Wood said.

"On Monday, November 5, at 7:30 p. m. we have a great Missionary Rally and a very interesting program. Among other special numbers we expect Mrs. J. H. Hart, second vice president of District W. M. S. of Wichita Falls to sing. Mrs. S. N. Fitkin, General W. M. S. President from Allenhurst, New Jersey, will speak to us. Mrs. Fitkin has traveled widely in the interest of missions.

District Leaders to Explain Bankhead Referendum at Meeting Here Friday

District Agent Parker D. Hanna, and Andy Bourland of the State Allotment Board, will be in Wellington on Friday, November 9, to discuss with the farmers of this county the "Bankhead Referendum" which will be of interest to all cotton producers; and all interested parties are urged to attend. The meeting will be held at the Ritz Theatre, Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

County Agent John O. Stovall, wants everyone possible to attend this meeting. The agent's office intends to give the meeting wide publicity, and believes that there will be a good representative crowd of cotton producers. All committeemen in their respective communities are requested to contact their farmers and urge them to attend this meeting. Mr. Hanna and Mr. Bourland are well known in this territory, and are well qualified gentlemen on the subject to be discussed.

"Mr. Hanna is a man familiar with the needs of this territory,

THE EARTH'S AGE

While Austria was in a turmoil over the assassination of Dictator Dolfuss some weeks ago, a patient scientist, Miss Edith Kroupa of the University of Vienna, was examining and analyzing a tiny bit of mineral, seeking further knowledge of the antoquity of the earth.

The mineral she studied with painstaking care was a mere speck, about one-hundredth of an ounce of a substance known to geologists as monazite, sent from Canada, where it had been found to possess peculiar radioactive properties, somewhat similar to those of radium.

By methods well known to scientists, radioactive substances have been employed to determine the age of the earth through observing their rate of disintegration. Using radium, it has been computed that our planet must be not less than 1,850,000,000 years old. Miss Groupa's studies suggested an age of about 1,725,000,000 years.

Without quibbling over a discrepancy of only a hundred million or so years, it is now quite generally accepted that the earth has been spinning in space between one and a half and two billion years and perhaps longer.

This great age, as determined by modern science, is in marked contrast with that computed by Archbishop Ussher, the eminent Irish divine, who 300 years ago placed the date of the creation at 4004 B. C.

PERILS OF KISSING

Every so often some learned doctor—whose best friends, we suspect, won't tell him what his trouble is—has his fling at taking the joy out of life by issuing solemn warnings against the perils of kissing.

Now comes one Dr. O'Leary of Minnesota, who declares, as many have done before him, that kissing is likely to spread a wide variety of disease germs, ranging from tuberculosis to housemaid's knee. Says he: "Even the healthiest are liable to disease from germ infection through careless asculation."

But, like others of the killjoy tribe, the good doctor doesn't know just what can be done about it. In spite of all warnings, the ancient art of kissing still flourishes. It is even suspected that in certain quarters it is on the increase.

Yet a few will deny that kissing has its dangers. One of which, in certain cases, is that of getting caught.

SAFETY PLEDGE

Safety organizations throughout the county have long made appeals to motorists in an effort to promote the habit of careful driving, to the end that the appalling loss of life through preventable accidents may be reduced.

Unfortunately, these appeals seem to fall upon deaf ears, as the 1934 record of fatalities and injuries in automobile accidents seems destined to reach new high figures. Still, the effort for safety must go on, in the hope that some good may result.

A recent safety pamphlet contains this pledge, to which every motorist might well subscribe:

1. I will obey all of the rules of safe driving all of the time.
2. I will deny the use of my car to anyone who forgets even part of those rules a part of the time.
3. I will set an example of highway courtesy.
4. I will uphold the authorities as they endeavor to protect life and property from the incompetent and careless.
5. I will aid in arousing public opinion to the point where it will insist that something effective be done immedately to stop this slaughter on our streets and highways.

PAYING RANSOM MONEY

When a person is kidnapped, it is only natural that relatives should be willing to pay any amount they are able to raise in order that the loved one might be returned to them. Kidnapers know this, and that is why they ply their nefarious trade.

If it were made unlawful to make ransom payments, and the making of them construed as "compounding a felony," it would remove the incentive to kidnapping. In a recent Canadian case the authorities stepped in and forbade the payment of ransom by the victim's relatives. When the criminal found that no money was forthcoming they returned the man loose, not desiring to add the crime of murder when they knew there would be no profit in it.

At first glance it may appear a harsh procedure to prevent the payment of ransom to obtain the release of the person held. But it seems to be the only way in which this meanest of crimes can be stamped out.

Each payment of ransom encourages further kidnapings, because desperate criminals will always take a chance at beating the law when there is a probability of obtaining large sums of money as rewards for their crimes.

Honesty is the best policy, but it is a terrible handicap to a golfer.

We can always see both sides of a question that doesn't concern us.

A London man simplified matters by leaving his estate to his lawyer in the first place.

A child born in Spain is said to have five arms. What equipment for a hitch-hiker.

Politicians must be acrobats, able to straddle a fence and keep an ear to the ground at the same time.

English law forbids marrying one's mother-in-law. Even Americans might respect a law like that.

Another paradox is that the more reckless you are with your car the more likely it is to last you a lifetime.

One advantage of being a bachelor is that he doesn't have to pay for his own birthday and Christmas presents.

At the rate they are being killed off, before long there won't be enough of Dillinger's pals left to hold a gang reunion.

Many who attempt to speak in public don't know what to do with their hands. And a lot of bridge players are like that, too.

The Story Of The Bible Told In Pictures

DELILAH AND SAMSON.—Corrupted by the Philistines, Delilah sought the source of Samson's strength. Wearied at last with her questioning, he told her: "If I be shaven, then my strength will go from me, and I shall become weak, and be like any other man."—Judges 16:16-17. Delilah then made Samson sleep, and cut off his hair. The Philistines put out his eyes and imprisoned him. Samson's hair began to grow again, however, and one day when the Philistines gathered to make sacrifices to their god, Samson was called in to make sport for them. Samson asked to be led to the pillars which supported the house, and took hold of them. "And Sampson said, Let me die with the Philistines. And he bowed himself with all his might, and the house fell in upon the people therein. So the dead which he slew at his death were more than they which he slew in his life."—Judges, 16:30. In the right foreground Merian, Seventeenth century engraver, shows Sampson being taken by the Philistines, and in the left background he shows the destruction of the house and the death of Samson.

OUR PAST

By C. C. BISHOP

The story of the first native born Texan, Helena Dill, born at Fort Nacogdoches in 1804.

The life story of the woman who was said to be the first white born in Texas, was Helena Dill of Nacogdoches, has been added to the Texas history chapters.

This story was given by Mrs. Emma Berryman Towell of Alto, a direct descendant of the first native born Texan.

Helena Dill was the daughter of James Dill who was sent to Texas by the United States to trade with the Mexicans.

Young Capt. James Dill was stationed at an old stone fort at Nacogdoches in 1800 to carry on his trade. Four years later a daughter whom they named Helena was born to him and his wife.

At the age of 19 Helena moved with her mother to Fort Jessup, La., in order that she might enter the school established there for officers' children.

Here she met Capt. Henry Berryman, a young Virginia officer and graduate of West Point, whom she married not long afterward.

They moved to Westmoreland county, Virginia, to make their home at White Hall, ancestral home of the Berryman family, settlers in Virginia in the 17th century.

In 1847 they returned to Texas after Berryman had resigned from the army because of ill health.

They built a log house in Cherokee county intending later to construct a replica of White Hall, which had been destroyed by fire.

These plans were never consummated. The log house, rustic in appearance, remains as it was when first inhabited by its builders.

With the many-paned windows, massive logs, and tall rock chimneys, it is a historic land mark of East Texas.

The huge fireplaces and heavy beamed ceilings were reminiscent of a period of lavish ante-bellum hospitality when Captain and Mrs. Berryman had among their guests Gen. Zachary Taylor, Dr. Rufus C. Burleson, Gen. Joseph L. Hogg and R. C. Buckner.

Among the heirlooms preserved in the old home are Captain Berryman's gun, his army commission signed by President Monroe, an elaborately carved sword presented him by the Mexican government in appreciation of commercial dealings, a surgeon's saw used 200 years ago, a hunting horn made in 1865, a silver cup engraved with the family coat of arms, brought from England and said to have been in the family for more than 500 years.

Although he has been armless since birth, Raymond Myers of Vintage, Pa., sa nplay a piano, guitar, trombone and harmonica.

Ruth Wetson of Vernon, N. Y., entered high school when she was only nine years old.

Aiming to complete the first transcontinental jaunt on roller skates, Robert Jackson, a 19-year-old Seattle, Wash., adventurer, recently arrived in Chicago.

Development of a Christian

CHRISTIAN— SS LESSON — *
Text: Luke 2:42-52; II Peter 1:5-8
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 4.

The first part of our lesson, dealing with the normal development of Jesus, is of great value to us. It explodes that belief of most of us that the life of Jesus was lived under miraculous circumstances. Instead, it teaches us the miraculous thing about his life that during His normal career from babyhood to manhood, He revealed the glory of the Divine.

A lesson like this brings home to us very vividly the sense of this divine life manifesting itself in the earthly environment of a boy's daily growth and progress.

He does not come in one burst into the glory of the things that He has come to reveal, but the record is that, in this earthly life, He "increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man."

Too little stress is laid upon the normal side of religious growth and progress. We have rightly thought of the power of the Gospel and its transformation of evil lives into good lives.

We have laid great stress upon conversion, and quite properly so; but in our emphasis upon the crucial experience though which a mans life is changed and the great experiences through which stages of progress are often marked, we have tended to neglect the growth that occurs in character and Christian experience when normal conditions are fulfilled.

Two things stand forth very vividly in this experience of Jesus in the Temple, as a boy of 12, discussing religious matters with the Doctors of Divinity of His time. One is the emphasis upon the fact that we have not an abnormal boy—a sort of infant prodigy— but that we have a boy whose growth has been orderly and normal, and whose distinction is in the simplicity with which he sees and states his religious ideas.

The second thing is this way in which Jesus learned. He gives us the secret of it in later life when He assures His disciples that they must be as little children if they would know the truth.

That has been about the hardest thing for men everywhere to learn. The problems of unlearning and freeing our minds from prejudices and wrong ideas, of getting right viewpoints instead of wrong viewpoints, is the chief problem of learning.

Once we can get open minds and open hearts, there is the possibility of facts penetrating and of being understood. This seems to have been the means by which Jesus had a wisdom even in early life that doctors had not found.

In the second portion of our lesson, the verse quoted from II Peter,, we are reminded that the process of growth that was normal in Christ can go on in us. We can give diligence and can add virtue to our faith, and to virtue knowledge, and keep on in this virtuous addition until all the graces of Christian living are manifest in our lives.

It is these things that make it evident that we have learned of Jesus and that we are not unfruitful in the knowledge of Him — faith, virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, godliness, brotherly kindness, purity. What treasures for any man to bring into his life and to have increased!

Wellington Boys Showing Good At Altus Jr. College

J. N. Cook, Son Strong, and Conrad Bonner See Action

ALTUS, Okla.—(Special—J. N. Cook, Wellington, was the defensive star for the Altus Junior College Pirates when they met the Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Okla., at Lawton Thursday, October 25. Although Altus fell before the experienced Lawton team by the score of 24-0, Cook was by far the most outstanding defense man on both teams.

Leading by eight points at the end of the third quarter, Cameron started a touchdown spree in the final period to run the score to 24. Cook raced across field time and again in that fourth quarter to drop Lawton ball carriers as they neared the goal line. Cook was also a constant threat on the offense, making nice gains through the line for the Altus team.

Homer Willoughby at center, Conrad Bonner at end and Son Strong at half back, all of Wellington, also saw service in the game. Bonner was outstanding in the line for Altus as he rushed down field on punts and was ready for the Cameron safety as soon as he took the ball.

Strong, Pirate star passer has been out of the last three games with a sprained right hand. Willoughby has been playing nice ball at his regular center berth all year.

Mrs. W. W. Henderson Entertains Sunday School Class

Hallowe'en costumes and games added to the fun had by the members of the Cross Roads Sunday School class at the home of their teacher, Mrs. W. W. Henderson, last Monday evening. Pop corn, apples and the usual Hallowe'en decorations completed the arrangements for the party. A feature of the entertainment was fortune telling which created an unusual amount of interest.

Those enjoying the party were: Bob Barton, Morris Barton, Gus Barton, Clyde Van Sickle, Wendel Van Sickle, Harold Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wells, Harold Keller, Aubert Keller, Amburn Keller. Eleene Keller, Tiny Keller, Vera Nell Keller, Floyd Jackson. Orval Jackson, Anna Burt Henderson and hosts Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Henderson.

Dodsonville Sends Delegation to Dallas State Fair

By FLOY WYNN

How very astonishing it is at the variety of the power in expression and impersonation both colored and colorless and at the vocal ability revealed in a crowd of motorists such as the twenty-three Future Farmer boys, Home Economic girls, Parent Teacher workers, school board members, bus drivers and school teachers who were listed among the Dodsonville school and Dodsonville community representatives to the State Fair in Dallas the last three days of the fair.

This three days' jaunt through various towns, through the State Fair park in Dallas, through the traffic and among the many roadhogs, was made possible by Frank Deupree, vocational teacher here, and Jerry Martin, driver of school bus No. 3 here.

Should there be any possible doubt whatsoever that Dodsonville was represented at the State Fair in Dallas—merely write the State Fair commission, or better still, inquire at any town between Dodsonville and Dallas. Ask Billy Gus Branum, Bill Wever, jr., or Alta Kesler, who declares she saw every pumpkin and every pea on exhibit in Dallas trying to keep up with Mrs. Burke Martin and Mrs. J. C. Howell. And as to the power of expression and variety of vocal ability, ask La Vella Vaughn who spent the entire trip home trying to sleep a merry-go-round, Ferris wheel and scenic railway headache off.

Starting out Friday morning from the school building at 10 o'clock, arriving at Dallas at 5:30 and receiving reservation to the Fair grounds at 9 o'clock, this group of representatives were worn out—but not too tired to explore the entire grounds before turning in for the night—or for the few wee hours of the morning left.

Among those listed on this motor trip were: Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Burke Martin, Mrs. J. C. Howell, Miss Floy Wynn, Miss LaVella Vaughn, Miss Alta Kesler, Miss Virginia Martin, Gilbert Hunt, Frank Dupree, M. L. Johnson, Weldon Easter, Elba Hunt, Howard Hunt, Bill Wever, Jr., Dennis Holland, Dale Sharfer, Billy Gus Branum, Elbert Sledge, LeRoy Hays, Aubrey Neal, and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Johnson, returning from a few weeks' visit to Dallas.

Interseting Talks On Mexico To Be Made At Federation

Members of the City Federation are to be guests at an open house meeting Friday, November 2, at the home of Mrs. Paul Starr. A change in the regular meeting time has been made and the meeting has been called for 3:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be on time so that the business meeting will be finished by 4:00 o'clock.

Members of the Domestic Science Club and the Excelsior Club will act as hostesses.

A very interesting program is in store for the members with the following taking part: Mrs. Jack Deahl—piano solo; Miss Louise Harle — "Interesting Places in Mexico City"; Miss Opal Bratton —"Interesting Customs in Mexico City"; Ladies' Quartet—Mrs. Richard Cocke, Mrs. A. L. Cochran, Mrs. Aubrey Dobbs and Mrs. Pauline Chaudoin.

Negro Minstrel Draws Large Crowd at Carnival

Members of the Cross Roads P. T. A. presented a negro minstrel at the P. T. A. carnival last Saturday which proved to be one of the outstanding side-shows of the entire carnival. According to Mrs. Veryl Clark the show cleared slightly over fifteen dollars during the day and evening.

After taking part in the parade and performing all day and evening, the minstrel was again presented at the preview at the Ritz Theatre. Everyone who saw the performence complimented their efforts.

Those taking part were: Ellene Keller, Mrs. J. W. Aaron, Mrs. J. V. Clark, Mrs. W. W. Henderson, Mrs. W. E. Leach, Mrs. C. M. Aaron, Miss Vera Nell Keller, Mrs. E. W. Carter, Miss Mamie Ruth Clark, and Tiny Keller.

Mrs. J. V. Clark made the introductions, acting as middleman with the rest of the cast supporting her with jokes, special songs and dances.

Mrs. Ira Morgan Hostess To Quail H. D. Club

The Quail Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. Ira Morgan on Wednesday, October 17, at 3 o'clock. Reports from each of the committees, previously appointed, were heard. New committees were appointed to make the menu cards for the Fair, the survey, and the scrapbook. Mrs. Walter Starr reported on the proceedings of the Council which had met in Wellington on Saturday, October 13. Arrangements to make and sell a quilt were completed. A committee to construct the club's booth and arrange the exhibit for the Fair, and bedroom and wardrobe demonstrations for the year were appointed.

Mrs. J. D. Harper, Mrs. Jack Scott, and Mrs. R. B. Smith were accepted as new members of the club. Mrs. Elmer Hiett extended an invitation for the club to meet with her to quilt the quilt and to hold the next meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 7.

After working on the quilt for an hour or more, the following ladies were served delicious refreshments: Mrs. Melton Aycock, Mrs. Lawrence Brisbin, Mrs. Fred Brown, Mrs. Tom Crabtree, Mrs. O. E. Dodson, Mrs. Jess Forrester, Mrs. Gilbert Guthrie, Mrs. E. P. Hammitt, Ms. J. D. Harper, Mrs. Elmer Hiett, Mrs. Jack Scott, Mrs. Walter Starr, Mrs. J. S. Stewart, Mrs. R. B. Sweatt, and the hostess, Mrs. Ira Morgan.

Round Dozen Club Meets With Mrs. Sandy Parsons

Mrs. Sandy Parsons, Jr., was hostess last Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Round Dozen Bridge Club at her home. In the games high scores were held by Mrs. J. B. Hauter and Mrs. Johnnie French.

Dainty refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. J. N. Wallace, Mrs. J. B. Hauter, Mrs. N. R. Cocke, Mrs. Tom Campbell, Mrs. Ray Goodson, Mrs. L. A. Manzer, Mrs. Vernon Morris, Mrs. Johnnie French, Mrs. Ansel McDowell, Mrs. Richard Cocke, Mrs. Aubrey Dobbs, Miss Bess Royal and hostess, Mrs. Sandy Parsons, Jr.

Those present on this occasion were: Frances Stevenson, Patricia Sullivan, Mary Jean Stall, Erma Lea Clifton, Irene Ball, Juanita Fulton, Florence Faye Langford, Edna Joyce Gribble, Joe Horn, L. E. Gribble, Jr., A. J. Fires, John Calvin Harper, Jimmie Cochran, Aaron Hurst, Denzil Bevers, Pat Templeton, James Coe Phillips, Misses Kathleen and Margaret Boston and Mrs. L. E. Gribble.

Hallowe'en Party Given For Senior Class

Ghost stories, room of horrors, fortune telling and Hallowe'en games were features of the entertainment at the Hallowe'en Party given for the members of the Senior Class last Monday evening.

The party was held in the basement of the Methodist church, which was decorated with black and orange crepe paper, pumpkins and cut-out figures of cats, witches and ghosts. Miss Helen Hudson, Maurine Hunt, Dona Mae Koen, Virginia Lee Fortenberry and Kathleen Leggitt were members of the decoration committee.

Miss Mildred Hulsey, senior sponsor, and class mothers, Mrs. E. W. Alley, Mrs. L. Z. Cone and Mrs. E. L. Winn prepared the refreshments for the group. Mrs. M. M. Kern assisted in serving the refreshments, which were served in two courses.

Noise makers and favors were passed to the following guests: Anna Lee Graham, Maurine Hunt, Claudia Wilson, Florence Tucker, John Russell, Sunday Smith, Chester Morris, Clifton Morris, T. P. Walter Bradley Says Sandstorm Blew Beans from Plates

In History, Growth of Plymouth Section

By MRS. C. W. FRITTS

Plymouth was a cattle country when settled by W. H. Bradley, known as Bradley Flat, and later as Lake Creek. Mr. Bradley and wife and six children came out here November 14, 1890, and filed on three sections of land now owned by A. J. Laycock, Claud Whitfield, G. W. DeBord and Mrs. J. P. Coleman. Their house was the only house north of the river except at Aberdeen and Dozier. Their first home was a dugout, and lumber for the house was freighted from Memphis. Mr. Buerger, father of Otto Buerger built it, walking the distance from Pearl to this settlement, and carrying his tools. This three room house still stands today.

Blew Beans From Plates

Walter Bradley has lived here longer than any other person in the community, having come here at the age of six years and been here 44 years. He remembers the trip here from Johnson County in wagons and many incidents that happened the first year. He says that the first day they were here they were iniated with a real sandstorm—the wind actually blowing the beans out of their plates as they tried to eat. He also saw his first antelope—his older brother, Andrew, killed one. There were many deer, wild turkey and antelope for several years.

The first year the Bradley children attended school in a half dugout about a mile north and a half-mile east of the present Lutie school house. Tom Small, uncle of Clint Small, was their first teacher. The second was either Mrs. L. T. Alexander or Mrs. T. T. Fain, one of the Winney girls.

School In Dugout

The third school was at Indian Creek where a small school had been erected. About the next year, school was held in a half dugout on Tom Starkey's section where he had settled in the meantime. Then the old Lake Creek school house was built on the northeast corner of the Starkey scteion where Oscar Reasoner now lives, better known as the J. W. Oldham farm.

W. H. Bradley's eldest sons filed on land about this time. John Bradley settled the quarter now owned by Walter Fritts and mother. Andrew Bradley filed on Section 26, block 16 and lived in a dugout three years as a bachelor. In December of 1896, he married Miss Della Alexander of Hall County.

The Bradleys had their cattle and began farming on a small scale. They raised feed stuff, maize and oats and some corn, later wheat, but no cotton until 1902. Oats made 100 bushels to the acre the first several years, and 50 bushels per acre for many years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bradley have passed away many years ago, also Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bradley. The only ones left in this community of the first family are Walter Bradley and family and Charles Bradley, oldest son of Andrew, who lives on the old home place, and Harry and Johnnie Mae Morgan, grandchildren of Andrew Bradley. It would take many pages to tell of the many thing that this family did in building this community. They were interested in all phases of development, the churches, schools, and agricultural progress.

Tom Starkey Settled 1891

The next family to settle here was that of Tom Starkey, coming from Montague County, February, 1891, and filing on section 8, block 1[illegible] the farm now owned by A. A. Neely and where Paul Neely lives, is the old Tom Starkey farm. Tom Starkey's father and family came here a few years later and settled on the Barney Walker farm. Grandpa Starkey died here in 1908. Mr. Starkey was a stock raiser and farmer, and a community builder. He was a staunch Baptist, was Sunday School superintendent at Lake Creek where church services of all denominations were held. Everybody came for miles in wagons to attend services there. Uncle John Brown and family, an early settler of Salt Fork, came to Lake Creek many years to church. Finally as more people settled on the flat, Lake Creek was not in the district, so a new two room building was erected on the present Plymouth site in about 1908, being called Plymouth as the Post was then called. The present Church of Christ is the old school building. The present Plymouth School District was laid off about 1912.

Settlers In 1892

In about 1892, the settlers came in faster. Grandma Beasley and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Gambrell settled on the farm where Mr. Gambrell and son Richard and family now reside. Both Grandma Beasley and Mrs. Gambrell passed away several years ago. Joe Beasley settled the farm now owned by Sam Turner.

About the next settlers were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Leggitt who settled here in 1901 on section 94, block 15, which he bought from Rusk Griswald with 40 acres under plow. Mr. Leggitt was a progressive farmer and business man. He was also interested in church and school affairs and did his part in improving the community. The first Post Office was establshed in the Leggitt home in about 1902 with Mrs. Leggitt as postmistress. Plymouth got its name by Mrs. Leggitt sending in many names and as there was no post office in Texas by that name, this community was named Plymouth.

Early Postmistress

Mrs. Leggitt was a most busy lady in these early days. Besides being the post mistress, she ran the first telephone system and also boarded the first school teachers, and the early doctor. Besides her own family of six children, her mother and Mr. Leggitt's father made their homes with them. Mr. Leggitt sold the telephone exchange to Walter Fritts and his father, C. C. Fritts, in October of 1913. They owned it until Walter had to sell it to go to war in October of 1917. Jim Callahan bought it and sold in 1919 to A. J. Vernon. After his death Miss Vernon sold it to W. H. Montgomery in 1921. Oscar Payne, present owner, bought the exchange in 1923.

W. H. Montgomery and family settled here in 1903 on his present home. He has been a progressive farmer and cattle raiser, community builder, and has had his share in helping the churches and schools.

Early Texas Ranger

A. A. Neely, better known as Uncle Dock, settled on his present home in about 1898. He and Mrs Neely both filed on land and have lived here ever since, raising their family of 3 boys and 3 girls to be grown and married. Uncle Dock and Mrs. Neely have done their part to build this community. They, as well as the old settlers, went through many hardships. Mrs. Neeley, who was before her marriage Miss Emma Davis, was one of the first school teachers at Pearl and Aberdeen. Many of her former students have made famous men and women, among them Sen. Clint Small, who went to his first school to her at Aberdeen. Mrs. Neely passed away in July, 1934. Uncle Dock served as a Texas Ranger when a young man and can tell of many narrow escapes with the Indians and outlaws of the early days. Uncle Dock and Grandpa Balkman are the oldest persons in the community. Both are 80 years of age.

In 1906 Mrs. S. J. Glazner and family settled on her present home here from Montague county. It would not seem right to attend Sunday School at the Plymouth Baptist church and not see Mrs. Glazner as teacher of the young men's class, which she has taught for the past 28 years. She was the first teacher of the class at Old Lake Creek school house. Her influence as a Christian woman will be in the lives of many young men in the year to come.

In the fall of 1906 the L. M. Montgomery family settled the home where Mrs. Montgomery and son Albert and children now reside. Uncle Briggs, as L. M. was better known, passed to his reward several years ago.

Other Settlers 1906

It was in March of 1906, C. C. Fritts and Edd Westfalls settled here, coming from Oklahoma. They filed on a quarter near their friends who had previously settled here. Mrs. C. C. Fritts and son Vernon and family now live on the farm they settled and improved.

Edd Westfall settled the farm now owned by Castleberry and Kern, where J. P. Sullivon lives. Both Mr. Fritts and Mr. Westfall were community builders and active workers in the Church of Christ.

J. H. Balkman and family settled here in 1907 and rented land for several years. He has owned what is known to old timers as the old Winney farm. Grandma Balkman passed away in 1933.

Old settlers who should have a mention in this story for their interest and hardships in these early days are: S. W. Norwood and family, H. S. Cook and family; L. R. Alexander, Russ and Arthur Griswold, Winneys, Dave Worley, John Ross and family, J. H. Walker, W. H. Riley, J. C. and Elick Montgomery and many others. Some of these have died, others moved away and several still live here.

Plymouth Community

Plymouth has one general merchandise store owned by M. A. Tennison and Cecil Brown, three church denominations, two church buildings, a four teacher school building. The present Baptist church was built in 1911 and was called Lake Creek until recent years. Some of the old time charter members as recalled by T. B. Starkey were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. George Caperton, J. H. Winney, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Nelly, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Starkey, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Balkman. The present pastor is Rev. Robert Mathis of Twitty.

The cemetery was bought by the entire community in 1911. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Starkey and the crippled son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Salt Fork were the first two persons to be buried here. Now the cemetery is the resting place for many old timers.

The present Church of Christ was bought from the school, when the school building was erected in 1917. These people also worshipped at Lake Creek school before this. Some of the old timers of that church were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fritts, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Westfall and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Riley, A. J. Shield and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Leggitt, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bell. One of the first ministers was Minister Lee Jefferies, who lived at Marella. Minister E. W. Miller of Aberdeen preaches here each fourth Sunday now.

The First Methodist Church was organized about 1908, called Lee's Chapel. It was near the W. H. Montgomery farm on the old A. J. Bradley farm. Along some of the early members were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Montgomery, Eula Montgomery, now Mrs. Barney Walker, the H. S. Cook family, Will Copper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hodge. In 1921 the church was disbanded at Lee Chapel and the membership moved to Dozier and the building sold. There was no Methodist preaching at Plymouth for several years. Rev. G. W. Williams of Dozier preached at the school house several months, then in the summer of 1933 Rev. C. D. Damron of Wellington Circuit organized at the Baptist church with preaching every fourth Sunday evening.

We have a two teacher school at present, teaching up to and including the seventh grade with an enrollment of 58 pupils. The high school students are attending the Samnorwood Rural High School.

I am indebted to the following persons for the information concerning the history of Plymouth: Walter Bradley, Mrs. S. J. Glazner, and Walter Fritts; Mrs. Jack Tinkle for the use of a book belonging to her father, W. H. Montgomeny, and to T. B. Starkey of Wellington.

Mrs. Jane Webb of Hanbury, Eng., celebrated her 100th birthday in the same house where she was born.

963,000 Miles of Road Tests followed by the Indianapolis Destruction Test to Prove Greater Motor Protection and Lower Oil Consumption!

What would you have us do that has not been done to establish New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil?

Hundreds of cars, trucks and tractors were used. A road test of 963,000 miles was made. Equipment from a single to a sixteen-cylinder unit was employed in this test.

Don't you think this was exhaustive? Don't we have a license to say that you know you can get greater motor protection? An unbiased Destruction Test was run on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway under the sanction and supervision of the AAA Contest Board (Sanction No. 3001).

New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil competed with five nationally-known oils. We wanted you to know the truth of our claims, so we drove six identical stock motors to destruction at the rate of 50 miles per hour.

The car containing New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil out-distanced its nearest competitor by 1,410.2 miles. It traveled 3,015.8 miles farther than the first oil to fail.

Over half a century of serving the public with motor oils and gasoline has given us a wealth of experience and information to fortify the unusual results we are now offering to you.

Parent-Teacher Carnival Nets $125 Saturday

Organization Expresses Appreciation for General Cooperation

Parade Feature

Weather Causes Removal from Square to American Legion Hall

Despite unfavorable weather conditions the Parent-Teacher Association reported a profit of $125 from the annual carnival held here Saturday, October 28.

Plans to hold the carnival in town were discarded with the blowing up of a sandstorm and the whole setup was moved to the American Legion Hall in order that the booths might be sheltered,

Outstanding Booths

Two of the most entertaining and profitable booths in the carnival were the Cross Roads negro minstrel and the Wellington High School Hollywood Follies. Sandwiches, candy sales and amusement booths accounted for the general portion of the profits shown through the carnival.

The parade was held Saturday morning featuring floats from the different schools and business houses. No prizes were awarded in the parade, but special mention was given the float entered by the Glee Club girls.

Mrs. Esdell Bartlett, general chairman of the annual carnival events, expressed her appreciation on behalf of the P. T. A. for the generous cooperation shown in the 1934 carnival. The P. T. A. especially wished to thank the rural communities which took part, the business men of Wellington, those who took part in the parade, the newspapers, the fire boys and the American Legion for the use of the hall.

The proceeds from the carnival will be used to defray expenses in carrying out the 1934 P. T. A. program, which is conducted each year by the organization.

Dodsonville To Elect School Queen Saturday

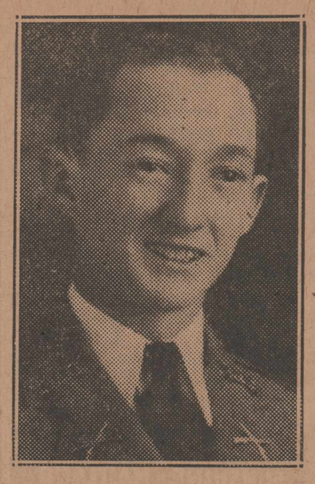

By FLOY WYNN

Members of the executive committee for the local Parent-Teachers Association met Monday afternoon in the home economics room at the school building for the second of the series of regular monthly business meetings called every Monday afternoon preceding the first Friday night in every month, Friday night being the regular time for the monthly public meetings of the association.

All business matters were disposed of and plans were completed for the "Queen of School" campaign which is to begin Saturday during which time a quilt is to be given in the contest. During the afternoon Mrs. May Lewis was elected artist for the local P. T. A. Mrs. Lewis is very talented and will take care of all poster and display work for the year.

Attending this meeting were: Mrs. Jerry Martin, president; Mrs. O. D. Hill, Mrs. W. F. Roberts, Mrs. Clifford White, Mrs. Hilliard P. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Swinburn, Miss Floy Kesler, Miss Oleta Camp and Miss Floy Wynn.

Married

Marriage of A. W. Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Arnold of this city, with Miss Margaret Booth of Terrell, was announced here this week.

Wellington Boy Marries Terrell Girl October 13

Wellington friends will learn with interest of the recent marriage of A. W. Arnold, son of Postmaster and Mrs. A. W. Arnold, to Miss Margaret Booth, daughter of E. S. Booth of Terrell, the happy event taking place at Dallas on October 13, with he Rev. Henry May officiating. Both the contracting parties are students at Texas Military College and members of both city and college musical organizations, where the romance had its beginning.

Mr. Arnold is a graduate of Wellington High School and for the past two sessions has been a student at Texas Military College, being a member of the College Band and taking part in other student activities. He was reared in Wellington and is held in highest esteem by all those who know him.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of Prof. E. S. Booth, director of the College and Municipal Bands, and is a most estimable young lady and quite popular in both church and college activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold will continue their school work at T. M. C. and will graduate this term. Friends of the family in Wellington will join-in wishing all the joys of a happy married life to the newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Arnold drove to Terrell last Friday to welcome their new daughter to the household.

John Anderson To Run West Avenue Hotel In City

Announcement was made this week that John Anderson has opened the old Wilkerson Hotel, one block south of the M. K. T. depot, and will run it in the future under the name of the West Avenue Hotel.

Mr. Anderson, who is well known over this county, stated that the building has been remodelled throughout with new mattresses and linens in every room.

Early Cowboys Rode Cultivators Wearing Their Boots and Spurs

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 31—(Special)—The great open cattle ranges of Texas are no more. Barb-wire fence doomed the open range sixty-three years ago. The colorful era of the "big pastures" has passed, too, in accord with economic demands, and visitors to Texas 'Centennial celebrations to be held in 1936 at San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston, Dallas and other cities, will find only a few of the original ranch houses standing on their shrunken domains.

Although barb-wire fence had been on the market for some time, Texas cattle men had refused to believe that a few prickly wires could hold penned their wild Longhorn cattle until 1871. In that year, John W. Gates—later known as "Bet-a-Million Gates" of the New York Stock Exchange—bought up a discouraged barb-wire agency in San Antonio, fenced off a plaza in the city, secured a hundred Longhorns, hired some vaqueros, and with much ballyhoo announced a public demonstration.

The cattlemen turned out in full force. Again and again Gates' vaqueros, whooping and yelling, drove the wild rangy steers against the barb-wire. It always turned them back. The demonstration was dramatically convincing; yet many of the cattlemen maligned the new-fangled fence and fought obstinately for the open range.

In those days men ran for office on a free-grass platform. But barb-wire had started its relentless march across the plains, checkering off into ranches the wild prairies and grass lands. In time, the "big pastures" succumbed; cotton went up and cattle went down, and cowboys rode cultivators with their boots and spurs on.

IN MEMORY

By LOYCE FIKE

On August 27, 1934, the death angel visited Salt Fork community and took from us a devout Christian, Mrs. J. B. Pearson. She was 79 years, eleven months and 27 days old, having been born in Baxter County, Arkansas, August 31, 1954. She was married to J. B. Pearson, July 21, 1873, in Arkansas. To this union were born seven children, four having preceded her in death.

Her husband died in March, 1905. Since then she has made her home in Wellington where she has made many friends by her willingness and kindness in every hour of need until her ill health prevented her.

She was converted at the age of fourteen years and united with the Methodist Church. She stood up for Jesus and was always faithful and loyal to her church. Grandma Pearson was a woman of judgment and courage, a provider of the essentials of a Christian home. Her life and her death are a challenge to the living. Living is the greatest of romantic adventures, but no person can expect to live long enough to do all he would like to do.

She leaves a host of loved ones and friends to mourn her death. Surviving Mrs. Pearson are three children, 14 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren. The children are: Mrs. Lula Rily, Lillie; Walter Pearson, Salt Fork; Joe Pearson, Wellington. Three sisters, Mrs. Bill Gipson, Wellington; Mrs. J. H. Young, Lutie; Mrs. Sarah Scott, Reed, Oklahoma; two brothers, A. P. Messick, Wellington, and R. J. Young, Paradise.

The funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Church in Wellington by Rev. C. D. Damron, assisted by Rev. T. M. Johnston.

There's one who's been called
To that beautiful home,
Whree she'll be with our Saviour
And never more roam,
O'er the rugged ways of life
Or walk in this
World of sin and strife.
She was loyal, sweet and kind
And will be missed by her friends
Who are left behind.
Her life was a Godly example
Of a Christian who's faithful and true.
Tho' she's gone from our midst,
We will meet her in that home
Beyond the blue.
It's sad to be parted,
But the death angel will not wait
So let's all be prepared to die
And meet Grandmother at the Golden Gate.

As a part of their clothing work 250 home demonstration club women in Cherokee county report that they have made 165 foundation patterns and by them made 225 dresses and slips; built 25 new clothes closets and remodeled 100; made four sleeve pressing boards and two shoe racks.

Pooling and planting more than 100 acres of cabbage for carlot shipment, 114 members of the Galveston County Truck Growers' Association are doing their bit to supply the country with green food this winter. Copenhagen Market and Golden Acre are the varieties being planted. A Kansas City firm has bargained for the output.

Deck's DIDACTICS

By H. D. W.

Mrs. Joe Hardy returned from Kentucky this week. She brought back an extra large and lucsious pear for her husband. The pear was gathered from the same tree from which Joe Hardy and his wife had gathered fruit thirty-four years ago, when they were first married. All of this is by way of introduction to a train of thought. As a rule fruit trees live much shorter lives than walnut, pecan, oak, and a number of other trees. It is remarkable to think that a tree that was flowering and bearing fruit when a couple were young, still providing them with the same tasty edible after thirty-four years. It is even more awe inspiring to contemplate the life of the more hardy varieties. There is something in the enduring qualities of a tree, which makes mans activities and ambitions seem trivial. It is more than the fact that the tree will outlive the man. The quiet strength of a tree flourishes and grows from one of man's generations to another. It's shade protects the grandchildren of the man who set its roots in the moist and welcoming soil.

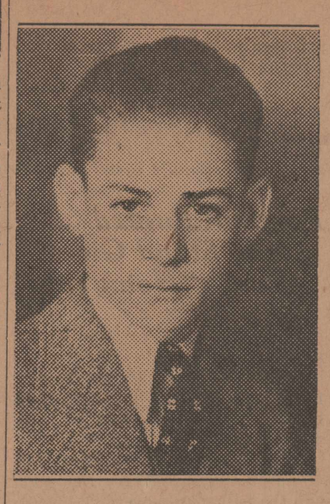

I think I know something of how a person can feel about a tree. Every time I go over to my Mother's I look at some of the trees. Each one was set out by my father with his own hands. The old elms, the bois d'arc and the pine—the planting of all these are still vivid in my memory. They continue to grow and provide their shade, but the man who gave them their present lease on life has been dead for sixteen years. It is possible that they will still be flourishing when I am gone. Some day my own daughter may look at those same trees and recall that her father watered them when they were young, but the trees will go on living out their natural span unmindful of the vexations and the uncertainties of the human spirit. There is peace and strength and abiding faith in a tree.

Last Saturday Benny Joe Bridges left his overcoat in the theatre. When he went back, it had been carried out. Mrs. Bridges noticed a group of boys playing on the court-house lawn. She told them of her plight and asked their assistance. The boys got busy, and after a time they located the coat and persuaded its possessor to turn it over to them. What means they used is not known. Anyway they brought the coat back to Mrs. Wiles, and she was going to pay them a reward. They informed her that they were Junior Scouts and would not take a reward. Ben Hurst ought to feel proud of his cubs, for they demonstrated that they were real scouts, and a real scout is simply a good citizen of the future.

Only eleven votes came in on the Bankhead straw vote this week, and all of them were in favor of continuing it. It looks like those that were against it gave up and quit. At least not a single negative vote came in. If all counties were in favor of continuance as much as Collingsworth there would be no question about the bill remaining on next year. However, it is understood that some sections are not so heartily in favor of the tax feature for another year as are the communities where the crop was short. I personally am of the opinion that a number of farmers will wish they had voted on the other side if this county makes a big crop in 1935, but I am a good Democrat, and I believe in letting the majority rule. If they want to continue the bill, then I will do everything in my power to let it be known that this county is overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the Bankhead bill next year. The law has certainly helped Collingsworth County this year, and there is a possibility that it might be a life-saver next year, for here is no way of knowing what the future will bring. At least I am convinced that the farmers does not it. Hurrah for the Bankhead in 1935.

Friday night on Powell Field there will be played what promises to be the most exciting football game ever played between high school teams in Wellington. Upon the outcome of the game will depend the championship of this district, and both Wellington and Memphis will put up a battle in their effort to gain the coveted prize. It will be exciting, because both teams are strong offensive teams. Either one is liable to score at any time. On paper Wellington has the strongest defensive team and Menphis has the strongest passing team, but the paper dope does not mean much when the game actually starts. The inspiration and determination of the players means more than all the statistics that can be compiled, and there is no way of knowing what the team spirit is until you actually see them in action. Wellington has plenty of reasons for wanting to beat Memphis. As far as I can remember, Wellington has defeated Memphis twice in the last ten years. One of those was won by the team on which Raymond Powell, Red McInnis, Paul Williams, and Bill Leggitt played. The other one was the team on which Irving Gilbreath, John Williams, Cece Small and John Stout played. In all the other years Memphis has taken the honors, and while Memphis does not have the best team this year, the record gives them plenty of hope. It is going to be a game packed with plenty of thrills and lots of dynamite.

Make Trip to California

Paul Coe and Harris Phillips returned Monday to Lubbock after a five day trip to California, where they accompanied the Texas Tech football team. Both Paul and Harris were chosen in the group of 40 band members to make the trip. The trip was made by special train and the boys' expenses were paid by the college. Forty band boys were selected from 100 candidates to make the trip. Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Coe and Harris the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Phillips. The trip terminated at San Francisco, where Tech played Loyola University.

Skyrockets Win Second Conference Game Here Friday, 33 to 6

Skyrockets Win Over Quitaque By 33-6 Margin

Wellington Has Total of 191 Points for Season; Opponents Have 12

Amassing a total of 20 first downs to their opponents seven and penetrating the Quitaque 20-yard line seven times while the Kittens penetrated only twice, the Wellington Skyrockets clicked off a total of 33 points to Quitaques 6 points in the game here Friday night.

This gives the undefeated Rockets a total of 191 points to their opponents 12 points. Wellington beat Childress 25 to 0, won over Groom 19 to 0; trounced Turkey 34 to 0, beat Amarillo Yannigans 6 to 0, Chillicothe 20 to 6, and Quitaque 33 to 6.

The tangle gives the Rockets their second conference victory. With 12 minutes gone out of the first quarter Parker broke through left guard and raced 38 yads for a touchdown. The line made an enormous hole and Parker performed a nice bit of broken-field running for the initial counter. Travis Williams' boot was good for the extra point.

In the second quarter Parker again got loose through left guard for a 28 yard gain and then after several plays went over for the second counter with Williams again booting for the extra point. Late in the second period the Kittens lost the ball on downs on their 25 yard line and after a series of downs Woody Wood made another touchdown. The try for point failed, however, and the half ended with Wellington on the long end of a 20 to 0 score.

Early in the third quarter with the second string showing up nicely a long pass from the hands of Sachse found its mark in the arms of Persons who made the lone Quitaque touchdown. Then in the third period Wood went over for another touchdown after the ball was advanced by a series of plays by Parker, Wood and Kennedy. Williams failed for the point.

In the fourth quarter Gene Glenn carried the burden of the attack, making brilliant runs from punt formation and advancing the ball within scoring distance. Parker plunged it over for the six points and Glenn drop-kicked for the extra counter, bringing the total score up to 33 points.

Trying to duplicate a vaudeville stunt of shooting ashes off a cigar held in another's mouth, Clyde Hicks of Dallas, Tex., shot out several teeth of his friend, Johnny Sandel.

Parker then plunged over for a touchdown and Trav Williams converted for the extra point. Only 3½ minutes were gone in the second quarter. Trav Williams kicked off to the Quitaque 35 yard line and the ball was returned to the Quitaque 29 yard line with Kelly making the tackle. A Kitten pass was incomplete; pass Sachse to Persons was good for 35 yards. Bailey lost 2 yards; Sachse his right tackle for 5 yards and Persons was good for six yards. Persons failed to gain and the ball went over to the Rockets on downs on their own 27 yard line. Glenn went off right tackle for 4 yards; Wood made 3 yards at right end; Parker went through Center for 6 yards and a first down. Kennedy went around left end for no gain; Glenn reversed at right end for 5 yards; Parker on a fake reverse spun through left guerd for 9 yards and a first down. Pass, Wood to Riley was incomplete; Kennedy picked up 4 yards on a reverse at left end. Glenn hit right tackle on a spinner for 21 yards and a first down. Parker on a fake reverse went through left guard for 7 yards, then hit right tackle for 6 yards and a first down. Wood on a double reverse around right end fumbled and the Kittens recovered on their own 10 yard stripe. Sachse on fake kicks failed to gain; on the net play Wood intercepted on the Quitaque 35 yard line and returned to their 26 yard line. Kennedy on a reverse at left tackle was good for 3 yards; pass, Wood to Glenn, was good for 6 yards; Parker hit left tackle for 5 yards; Parker hit center for 7 yards; Wood hit center for 4 yards and a first down, putting the ball on the Quitaque 1 yard line. Wood went over for a touchdown on the next play. Williams' attempt to kick was blocked. Williams kicked off for 39 yards and the Kittens returned for 11 yards placing the ball on the Kitten 32 yard line as the half ended. Wellington 20, Quitaque 0.

Third Quarter

Anders kicked off to the Quitaque 24 yard line and Sachse returned to the Kitten 38 yard line where he was downed. Persons on a double reverse went around right end but lost 1 yard with Elliott making the tackle. Pass was good for 3 yards with Ford making the tackle. The next pass was incomplete, as Elliott broke through and blocked. Sachse kicked and Poteet took the ball on his own 21 yard line and returned 4 yards; Poteet hit center for 4 yards; Anderson kick was slowed down, but rolled to the 40 yard line with the Kittens returning to the Wellington 35 yard stripe. Sachse circled right end for 5 yards; Sachse went through right tackle for 13 yards and a first down. Sachse went over right tackle for 6 yards; Sachse failed to gain. Riley broke through and tackled Sachse for 10 yard loss, but Sachse threw a lateral pass to Person and Wooldridge downed Person for the same 10 yard loss. Pass, Sachse to Persons was good for 15 yards, then Persons fumbled and recovered for the Quitaque lone touchdown with only 7 minutes gone in the quarter. Quitaque kicked off 40 yards and Glenn returned 21 yards where he was downed on the Wellington 41 yard line. Quitaque drew a 10 yard penalty for clipping. Arrowheads Give Clue to Lost Race

ONEAL, Ark.—A clue to an ancient civilization which existed here hundreds of year before white men stepped on the American continent, has been placed in the Rearich collection of artifacts at Santa Rosa, N. M.

It is an arrowhead, of greenish white rock, found under a layer of sandstone. R. S. Rearich, who discovered the implement, said it was in a layer of ashes along with bits of bone and other refuse.

Paleontologists to whom Rearich described his kitchen-midden relic, said the arrowhead must have been fashioned thousands of years ago, inasmuch as it was found beneath an unbroken sandstone stratum than requir)l an age to form.

Man With Knife Blade In Brain Lives And Laughs

NEW YORK—A knife with a four-inch blade was driven up to the hilt straight into the forehead of James Fatigate, 25, Welfare Island penitentiary inmate.

That was 24 hours ago.

Today not only did he live, but doctors predicted he would continue to live. They termed his survival "amazing."

The blade passed through the frontal bone and took a downward course into the brain. Fatigate did not lose consciousness, but joked and smoked cigarets while doctors worked on him. Expecting him to die momentarily, the physicians first were afraid to remove the blade.

Then, when it became apparent he was not going to die immediately, they tried to pull it out, but succeeded only in breaking off the handle.

Several hours after this attempt, the blade finally was pulled out. Doctors agreed that the delay probably permitted the blood around the wound to congeal, preventing a hemorrhage when the knife was pulled out.

Fatigate was stabbed by another prisoner during the exercise period First guards knew of the affray was when he ran to them screaming, the knife hilt projecting at a 45-degree angle from his forehead. He refused to name his assailant, and prison officials found no clues.

Football Punted Into Stand Gives Youth "Home Run"

LOS ANGELES — One of the proudest kids in Los Angeles is the youth who made the longest run of the football game between Santa Clara and Loyola of Los Angeles.

It all happened when Bosshardt, of Santa Clara, kicked a field goal and the ball soared over the pleachers right into the youngster's hands. With rare presence of mind, the boy went into a double wingback formation, pulled the hidden ball trick by tucking it under his shirt, and performed some flashy open field running through a flock of would-be tacklers composed of ushers and police.

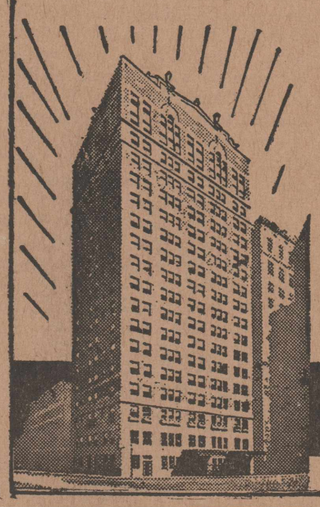

He successfully made the nearest gate, and it was several minutes before officials could dig up another ball.

Skyrocket Review

Wellington Boys Preparing For Memphis Game Here Friday

The Skyrockets chalked up another conference victory as they ran rough-shod over the Quitaque Kittens Friday night. The Skyrockets made 20 first downs to seven for their opponents—and looked mighty good in several instances.

Two Memphis men stood on the east side of the field and jotted down every play the 'Rockets made. That Cyclone bunch is sure trying for a victory and will put up a real fight, but if the Skyrockets get going their best there is no telling what might happen. On the other hand if they get a sluggish streak there is no telling what Memphis might do.

In the Friday game the fans witnessed several new ground gaining formations which paid rich dirt for the Rocket boys.

A victory over both Memphis and Shamrock is going to require some mighty hard playing— but then, Wellington has some mighty hard players. The Quitaque game showed that. It is understood that Memphis is rating their boys two touchdowns under the Wellington team, but that may be just propaganda to get the Skyrockets feeling overconfident and overconfidence has lost plenty of games. At best the tangle can be no more that a toss-up from the first whistle. It is just a matter of who fights the longest and hardest.

Friday night the boys looked good. Capt. Gene Glenn is one man on the team who puts everything he has into every game. Gene calls a good game from quarter. He outkicks the opposing punts. He makes yardage. And how he tackles. Gene is one of the hardest on the team. He has the stuff.

Undoubtedly Woody Wood is slated to follow in the footsteps of Irvin Gilbreath if he just keeps on playing his same dashing style of running attacks. Woody is a ground gaining demon and indicated his speed as he broke loose Friday night and led the whole flock of Eagles in a 74-yard race which terminated on the other side of the Chillicothe goal line.

Undoubtedly Wellington has two of the best ends ever featured in a Class B football squad. They just simply cannot be beaten in their class for fleetness, tackling on punts and unerring accuracy. Ed Riley and Travis Williams are two men upon whom Wellington can depend when they meet Memphis and the Shamrock Irishmen.

M. V. Vandiver made some sweeping tackles Friday night. That boy tackles 'em hard, too. Elliott and Peeples also jarred up several Eagles craws with strong tackles.

Bill Parker came back with double strength and again carried a blunt of Wellington plunges. Poteet was also right in there during his part of the game and accounted for yardage. Both of those boys are setting up a record at fullback and will probably see plenty of action in the two critical games.

Much has been said about Grant Wooldridge and much more may also be said about this youngster, who is showing everyone that he is out to equal the record made by his big brother, Lloyd. Duncan, who held down the right tackle wing, also played a nice game and Clois is playing some real ball.

Few people realized that Kelly could tackle so hard until the Friday game. Ford also played a good game while Kennedy and C. Williams did some good blocking. All three of the boys are excellent blockers and you can see them carrying out the opposition players right down the field. Roady, Miller and Stall also saw action and looked plenty good.

Wellington also saw its second string in action at various intervals. In the second quarter the game started with Ward, Wilson, Ford, Chas. Williams, Elliott, Kelly, Peeples, Shields, McCauley, Anders, and Poteet. All of these boys looked good, but got a tough break early in the quarter.

In the final period Holly, Clement and Rayle saw action and did some good work.

The biggest crowd in the history of a Wellington football team is expected Friday night when the Skyrockets meet the Memphis eleven. Everyone is behind the Wellington boys 100 per cent, and it should be a real game.

Higher Prices Are Seen for Products From U. S. Farms

Increased Activity Predicted in Many Industries for Rest of Year

WASHINGTON.—Higher prices for most farm products and increased activity in many industries during the fall months were predicted today by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in its October price situation report.

An increase in the general level of wholesale prices during the past year from 104 per cent of the 1910-1914 average to about 112 per cent was attributed to advances in prices of farm products and foods since prices of non-agricultural products remained practically unchanged.

Marked Advance

"Despite this marked advance from the depression low, farm products in percentage of the pre-war average are still about the lowest of any specified group of products whereas building materials, house furnishing goods, fuel and lighting products are the highest," the bureau said.

Increased activity during the latter half of September indicated, the report added, that the seasonal autumn recovery in business was beginning.

The bureau analyzed farm price probabilities for the fall as follows:

Further Recovery

Wheat prospects point toward "some further recovery" rather than a decline, depending on the condition of the Southern Hemisphere crop and the amount of grain fed to poultry and livestock in this country.

Corn prices "may be expected to remain at relatively high levels throughout the coming year," with the present shortage of grain indicating somewhat higher prices by December or January.

Prices of better grades of cattle "are expected to be fairly well maintained" during the coming two months, although declines are forecast in the lower grades if the government ceases to purchase cattle and adverse weather sets in.

Colds Dangerous, States Physician

AUSTIN, Tex.—"While the common cold is no respector of seasons, increased prevalence is decidedly marked in the winter months. Unfortunately, familiarity with this condition has bred contempt for it. This is plainly indicated by the usual rejoinder, "Oh, I've just got a cold"; the inference, of course, being that while a cold is an annoying matter, after all it is an insignificant affliction. This attitude undoubtedly has been the cause of many needless deaths, to say nothing of prolonged and expensive illnesses," states Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer.

"One's resistance to many diseases, including colds, can be raised by increasing one's vitality by observing the fundamental living rules, namely: plenty of fresh air, good wholesome food, neither too much nor too little, sufficient rest, and the avoidance of habitual over-indulgence of devitalizing stimulants, including tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol.

"If, however, in spite of ordinary precautions, a cold is contracted, it will pay to consider it seriously. Every cold should be viewed as the possible beginning of a serious illness. That means promptly seeking a physician's advice and explicitly following his directions. If he orders bed, then bed it should be. Incidentally, complete rest is one of the finest ways to overcome a cold in short order."

Women Of Spain, England Possess Rights With Men

LONDON,— Feminism in England, has shoved the ball across the goal line.

The campaign for womens rights is a movement which has achieved most of its objectives. So feminism, as an issue stirring a crusading zeal in women, is petering out.

A mop-up squad of alert women is still active ironing out some slight inequalities. An effort is being made to win for women the right to enter Great Britain's diplomatic service. On another front women are campaigning for abolition of the present law under which English women who marry foreigners lose their nationality.

Women may, and do, sit in the House of Commons. One woman has served in the cabinet. The House of Lords still sticks to the ancient tradition of being a man's institution.

MADRID. — The advent of the second republic three years ago opened a new era for Spanish women. Today women sit in Congress, and a few have even become bull fighters.

Spanish women have won the vote, and their independent use of it is credited with being the chief reason for decisive victories of the Conservatives last November.

Divorce has been legalized. Modern Spanish laws strike less severely at women whose children are born out of wedlock. Spanish women are showing an aptitude for the professions.

Memphis Rodeo to Include Array of Riders & Ropers

Legion Post Sponsors 2-Day Event at Hall County Fair Ground

MEMPHIS — With three performances, offering many of the best known riders and ropers in the Southwest and many bucking broncs, Brahma steers and wild cows, the American Legion here is sponsoring a two-day rodeo on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 10 and 11, at the Hall County Fair grounds.

An added attraction will be the night performance Saturday, Nov. 10, under the floodlights of the Fair Park athletic stadium.

The rodeo is to be staged by Roy Mayes, former world champion bronc rider and veteran rodeo promoter, who staged one of the largest events of this nature in this territory here in 1922.

At work long in advance, Mayes already has secured over 100 head of animals for the event, and some of the outstanding cowboys in the Southwest have entered.

The list of riders includes such rodeo characters as Jonas de Arman, Sayre, Okla., present all-around world champion and winner of many events from Fort Worth to Burwell, Neb., and from Cheyenne to Madison Square Garden, New York.

Odell Betsill, Odell, also winner of numerous bronc riding and bulldogging titles; Buck Standifer, Olton, winner of the calf-roping contest last year at the Roswell, New Mexico, State Cotton Carnival.

Odus Riddle, Odell, a member of Tex Austin's wester troupe that recently staged a rodeo in London; "Tuffy" Maddox, pushed forward by the city of Childress as the toughest bulldogger in the territory; "Sex" Harrison, Bailey, Okla.; Buddy Ellison, San Jon, N. M.; Hal Cooper, Woodward, Okla., and numerous others, including entrants from the JA and Buckle L ranches.

Heading a score of bucking horses will be Northern Star, hard-bucking, savage mustang from the Matador ranch, one of the best known rider-busters in this section of the country.

More than 20 Brahma steers are to be brought here from South Texas for this phase of the entertainment, and nearly 50 wild cows and calves have already been secured for the wild cow milking and calf roping contests.

There will be five different contest events at each performance, in addition to clowns, trick riding and roping exhibitions, kids' pony races and cowboys' relay races.

The afternoon shows will start at 2 o'clock and run between two and two and one-half hours. The night performance is to be staged at 8 o'clock under the football floodlights.

Admission at each performance will be 25 and 50 cents.

For the entrants there will be plenty of keen competition, with from 15 to 25 contestants in each event, and also $500 in prizes for the winners.

Sport Scribe Says Memphis Team To Depend On Passes

Memphis Hopes For Victory Over Skyrockets Fri.

Cyclone Has Piled Up Total of 252 Points During Season

By ADRIAN ODOM
Memphis Democrat

MEMPHIS, Oct. 31— Prepared to battle to the last ditch in their bid for sectional grid honors, the Memphis Cyclone is ready to invade Wellington Friday night for the deciding game with the strong Skyrockets.

Dope in several ways points to a Wellington victory, but nevertheless the Cyclone promises to make it a battle, and the boys are going to pull everything in their bag of tricks to turn the table against the calculations of the dopesters.

The Cyclone has as versatile an attack as any Class B ball club in the country, but if its offense is strong enough to win, its defense is weak enough to lose. This fact makes for wide-open football, for the Cyclone must out-score any opponent that is actually as strong in order to win.

The attack consists of an exceedingly strong overhead charge, with Jack Norman considered as heady as any pass tosser in the country and as accurate. A host of expert receivers includes Chester Grimes, Norman Deason, Ross Springer and G. C. Baskerville.

The combinations of Norman to any of these receivers have scored touchdown after touchdown in every game, except at Childress, where the locals failed to tally. In addition, the running attack is considered above the average for Class B ball clubs.

The worry of the Cyclone, however, is the touted Wellington defense. Whether its running and aerial attack will have an opportunity to function against the Skyricket machine as causing fans here no little worry.

The Cyclone has piled up a total of 252 points in six games, winning five consecutive tilts here but losing to the Class A Childress Bobcats. However, although they have met only two teams considered practically as strong or stronger than themselves, they have allowed their opponents 77 points, scored in four of the six games.

This includes a 39 to 13 victory over the Turkey Turks, turned in last Friday—a club the Rockets defeated 34 to 0.

Fans here consider this score important since the Cyclone allowed Turkey two counters while Wellington held them scoreless, but at the same time scored more points against the club than did the Rockets.

The other games in which the Cyclone was scored against were a 32 to 0 defeat at Childress—the game that "made" the Cyclone a championship contender—for after that loss the team started the work that produced the powerful attack. The Cyclone defeated Estelline, 59 to 7, and Miami, 39 to 25, in one of the wildest games ever played here.

Talking Dog Dies

WATERVILLE, Me.— Princess Jacquline, the pedigreed French bulldog which liked nothing better than to sit down and have a good, long chat, is dead.

Believed to be the only talking dog in the world, she succombed to pneumonia at the age of 10 at the home of her mistress, Mrs. Mabel A. Robinson.

Princess Jacqueline was reputed to have a vocabulary of more than 20 words and to have used them all correctly. Dr. Knight Dunlap of Johns Hopkins University, once said she possessed a double voice capacity unique among canines of the world.

The Johns Hopkins examiners discovered the dog possessed vocal cords similar to those of human beings.

Her first vocal effort was a terse request to be permitted to go out. Her first complete sentence was "I will," but occasionally, in perverse moods, she said "I wont." Nothing delighted Princess Jacqueline more than to explain that the device in which she was accustomed to ride up and down in Bangor was an "elevator." "Bangor" and "ball" were a couple of words the Princess would utter trippingly from the tongue at times of extreme volubility.

Possessed of highly cultivated social instincts, she invariably greeted visitors with a demure "hello," and sped them on their way with "goodbye" or "come again."

Princess Jacqueline's vocal versatility led to a vaudeville contract which earned her $100 a performance during a series of appearances in "big time."

Egypt Praised for Aviation Activity In Recent Years

Sight of Airplanes Over Pyramids Said to Be Familiar in Egypt

NEW YORK. — The progress of aviation in Egypt was praised by Guirgis Awadalla, Secretary of the Department of Aviation, a branch of the Ministry of Communications of the Egyptian Government upon his arrival here for the International Aeronautical Conference at Washington.

"Egypt is truly air-minded," said Secretary of Aviation Awadalla. "The sight of airplanes passing above the Pyramids and ruins of antiquity is a familiar one. Egypt not only is a chief transfer point, i nthe world, but it has originated its own very successful air transport for internal communications in Egypt and to Palestine.

Comfortable Travel

"Visitors have now found that they can travel comfortably from Cairo to Jerusalem in less than three hours traversing a considerable part of the journey accomplished by the Israelites in their 40 years of wandering. This new service has made possible a quick trip of Palestine and Egypt combined."

Secretary of Aviation Awadalla will visit the principal airports in the United States to study air routes, air transport companied and air lines in general during his visit in the United States.

"Egypt is deeply interested in aviation," said Awadalla. "By reason of its geopraphical position Egypt has become an international air center linking the world's air communications between the various countries of Europe and Palestine, Irac, Persia, India and the Far East, also the Sudan, Kenia, Tanganyika, North and South Rhodesia and Capetown.

Regular Air Lines

There are regular air lines between Europe and Egypt. Imperial Airways operate a bi-weekly service between London and Egypt. The journey is made in two days with multi-engined air craft. The section of the route between Brindisi, Italy and Alexandria, and Cairo is operated by flying boats. The journey requires only 10 hours. Flying boats land on the Nile in Cairo just in front of the Semiramis Hotel."

Farmers Applying For Credit With Federal Divisions

Loan Head Urges Farmers to Make Arrangements in Advance

Foresighted farmers in all parts of Texas are anticipating their credit needs for the coming growing season and already are making arrangements with their local production credit associations for loans in 1935, according to reports received by Tully C. Garner, president of the Production Credit Corporation of Houston. The practice of making credit arrangements before the money actually is needed has many advantages to recommend it, Mr. Garner pointed out, and the associations would like as many farmers as possible to make their applications prior to the crop production season.

Before making application to a production credit association, the prospective borrower should analyze his 1935 plans carefully; how many acres are to be planted in cotton, how many to feed and other crops, how much labor will be necessary and how much money will be needed for tractor costs or feed for workstock. After he has done this, he should be able to estimate accurately just how much money will be required and when he will need each of the installments of his loan.

By following this procedure, the applicant has no worry about where operating expenses ore coming from or when he will get them. When he is ready to begin operations, his loan has been arranged and all details attended to and all he has to do is ask for his check. By budgeting his loan, the borrower effects interest savings that are sometimes surprising to those who have not used production credit before. Interest, which now is five per cent, is paid on each installment only for the time the borrower has use of the money, making a whole season's financing available at very low cost.

Mother Killed By Lightning, But Babe In Her Arms Goes Unhurt

LONGVIEW, Texas—Struck by a bolt of lightning while she rocked in a chair with her infant child in her lap in the little community of Joy during a recent storm, Mrs. Otis Breedlove was instantly killed but the baby escaped with no semblance of injury.

Her husband, however, who sat within a few feet of her in the same room of their home, was critically injured and is near death in a hospital in Tyler.

Joy is six miles south of Gladewater, just over the Smith county line.

Reports were that a second child of the couple, who was also in the same room, was not harmed by the bolt that launched out of the sky to find the family entirely unmindful of any danger.

Breedlove is a farmer in the Joy community, where the family has made its home for a long while.

Funeral plans for Mrs. Breedlove have not been announced.

No other reports of fatality from Wednesday night's blustery weather have been received.

Texas Gives Corn Hog Program Big Affirmative Vote

Contract Signers Favor Continuation by Majority of More than 10 to 1

COLLEGE STATION — Texas corn-hog contract signers voted more than ten to one in favor of a corn-hog program for 1935 and more than three to one in favor of a one-contract-per-farm program for 1936 according to the final figures in the Texas referendum compiled by E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine husbandman. The actual vote was 16,343 in favor of the 1935 program and 1,577 against it, while 13,106 favored the one-contract-per-farm and 4,055 opposed it.

Of the non-signers, 787 voted in favor of the 1935 program and 266 voted against it. This was nearly three to one. On question two 736 non-signers voted for it, and 327 voted against it.

In direct contrast with the Texas vote of approval is the vote recorded in Kansas. Fifty-nine counties there favored a 1935 program, but it was vetoed by a heavy negative vote in the eastern one-third of the state. Final results showed 17,429 signers voting in favor of it while 19,985 voted against it. Among the non-signers voting in approximately one-half of the counties, the count was 1,117 for and 4,130 against the program. It is estimated that not more than 30 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots in the referendum.

The proposed one-contract-per-farm program was refused by a margin of 23,629 to 11,607 among signers, and 4,008 to 408 among non-signers.

Youngster Saved From Okla. Well

LAWTON, Okla.— A drama of life and death with a happy ending was enacted here recently.

Little Richard Leon Toombs, 2½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Toombs, plunged down a narrow well, 20 feet deep, while playing.

Standing in shallow water, Richard was unable to move but slightly in the dark, slimy hole, ten inches in width.

After three long, terrifying hours, during which his mother sobbed at the wells' mouth and hundreds of men gathered to aid in digging a parallel well to extricate the child, a noose finally was dropped over his shoulders and he was lifted out. His father, unemployed, pulled him up.

"Oh, Richard, are you all right?" his mother cried, clasping the baby in her arms.

He nodded a tear-stained, dirt-smeared head and ceased crying.

Germany Wages War on Waste To End Crisis

Economists Direct Fight Against Adverse Trade Balance

BERLIN.—As if for war, Germany is mobilized in a 100-day campaign against waste.

And to German industrialists and economists it is a war—a fight against an adverse trade balance, an untoward foreign exchange situation, want this winter, and unpreparedness should international peace be disturbed.

"Enemies" in the battle have been variously designated by Nazi leaders. Some mention foreign press predictions of Germany's economic collapse; others point to "Jewish manipulation of credit and finance."

Engineers Save Oil

Commissioner Puppe, head of the economic ministry's raw materials division, summed up the object of the campaign thus:

"Saving means a lessening of expense and an increase in our capacity for accomplishment."

State railway engineers have estimated that one drop of oil saved each day by all their locomotives will run a train 400 yards; chemists work night and day to find substitutes for things the nation must import; women are told trains on dresses waste precious cloth and therefore are unpatriotic.

Shopkeepers are warned that twine is made of material better used in other articles. Garbage is carefully inspected by city employees to see nothing is discarded that can be used again—stuff otherwise useless becomes fertilizer.

Paper and foil are hoarded. Housewives are reminded that a chicory preparation will save coffee.

Wool Suits at Premium

Stocks of foreign goods on store shelves are dwindling, and apparently are not being replaced. Berliners, wondering if they will be able to get clear woolen cloth for suits this winter, are buying as much as they can now.

Children no less than adults are marshalled in this drive, which is called a "kampf" and thereby ranked in importance with Fuehrer Hitler's "kampf" for German equality with other countries, and for the return of the Saar.

Germans by training and nature are frugal. It's a habit with them to have their packages wrapped in newspapers, to count their pennies, and to see cheaper ways of doing things. This current campaign seems to a non-German, therefore, like carrying coals to Newcastle.

Drive Against Imports

Pieces of metal, bits of string, slivers of soap, odds and ends of wood and rubber, leather, and — above all—potatoes and wheatstuffs—all the public is told repeatedly, have a place in determining Germany's financial future.

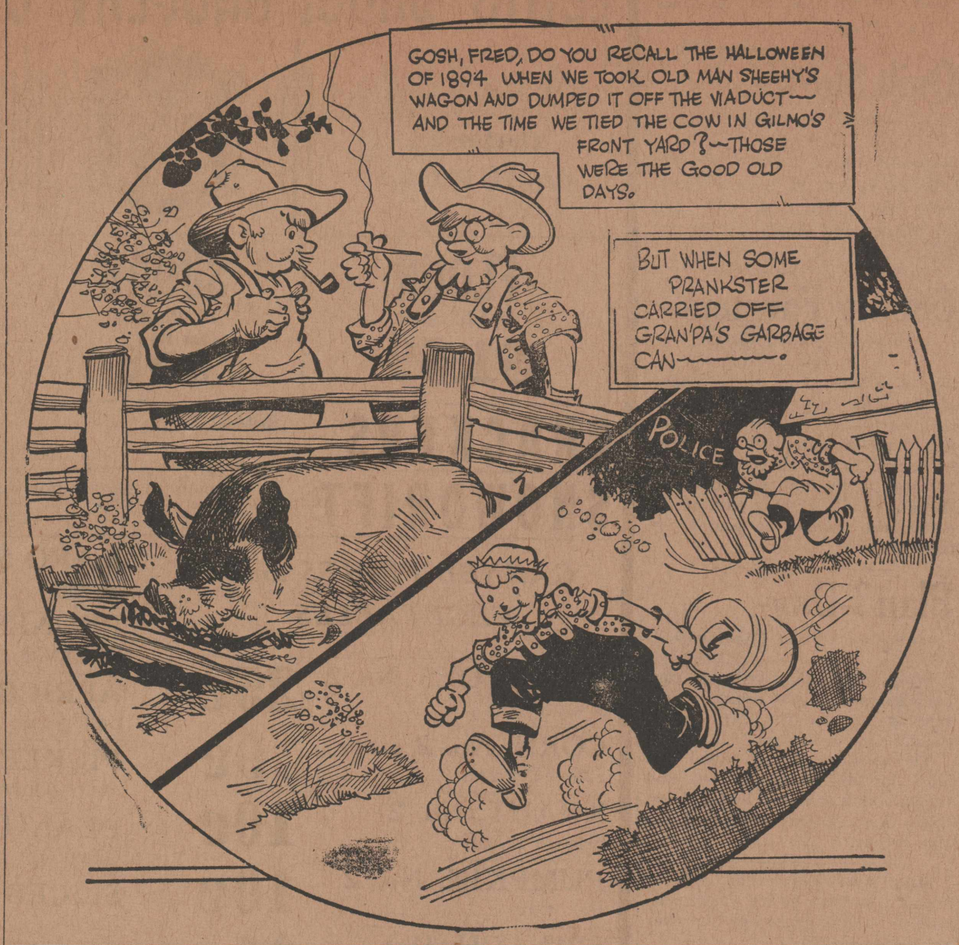

The battle began August 15.

The beginning of the campaign was attended by little of the careful advertising and propaganda associated with the Nazi government's embarking on a new scheme. It was quickly felt, however.

Members of the American colony, for example, who have been accustomed to buy certain American prepared children's cereals, discovered that the supply of this and that merchant ran out and would not be replaced, and that the range of such German articles is strictly limited.

They discovered also that articles like matches seemed to be of poorer quality and that shop signs reading "real silk" or "genuine wool" became fewer.

County H. D. Agent

The Canning kitchen toll is set by the relief board at Austin and changes cannot be made on the toll locally. Chili may now be canned at the kitchen providing the producer furnishes the seasoning. The toll on chili wil lbe 60-40 with the producer receiving 60 per cent. and the kitchen retaining their part in the form of meat to be used in rost, stews, or hamburger meat.

Chili Recipes

Chili will be canned according to the following recipe: 15 pounds coarse meat; 7c. fine onions; 3¾c. chili powder; ½c. fine garlic; pepper pulp; 4c fat, ½c. salt; 4 tsp. comino seed; 4-6 quarts water; melt fat and fry onion and garlic until a golden grown; add meat and sear until white, then add chili blend, salt, comino seed, and water; cook until consistency to serve. Fill cans within ½ inch of top and seal while hot. Process under 15 pounds pressure. No. 1 can and ½ pint jars 40 minutes; No. 2 cans and pint jars 45-50 minutes.

Marmalade Demonstration

Mrs. Henserling will give a demonstration on the making of marmalades, conserves, preserves and jellies in the Home Demonstration office November 5 at 2:30 o'clock.

In agricultural associations we are trying to encourage state-wide organization. They will meet in Dallas from December 3 to 5. Collingsworth county is entitled to send three delegates. The selection of these delegates will be based upon the accomplishment of definite goals which grow out of the work they have been doing in the association. All candidates must have a hot-bed adequate to meet the needs of their families. Five hundred feet of tile and to have improved storage space for canned products. Transportation will be paid.

Bedroom and Wardrobes

The bedroom work is a county contest which we hope will result in better bedding. Every effort is being concentrated on this work. In August when the work is completed it will not be necessary to retrace this work in the next two years. There will be a prize for the best improved bedroom in the county. This prize will be a 50 pound mattress. Ladies and girls both are to receive prizes. In September of 1935 there will be a canvass to inspect bedroom improvements.

Cleanliness In Canning

Cleanliness of the canning kitchen is imperative and we are anxious to have a good quality of meat, but unless more care is taken in butchering the quality will be poor. The meat is dark in appearance, showing that the animal has not been properly bled. Thorough bleeding is necessary for good meat. Dress the beef away from dirt and trash, wrap it in clean cloths while transporting it to cold storage. Clean all blood stains off the meat before placing it in storage. Some of the meat brought to the kitchen is good in quality, while other is unusually poor. Unless some of it is improved we will not be able to accept it. Beef killed by the government cannot be accepted by the kitchen.

Sugar Sacks In Linen Closet

Mrs. E. W. Reynolds of the Fresno Home Demonstration Club has made pillow slips out of sugar sacks. The pillow slips were not trimmed other than the hem which was stitched in on the machine.

Mrs. Reynolds says that she likes these sacks for pillow cases since they are soft and wear so well.

Hot Beds Built

As a result of the work of the Agricultural Association three hot beds have been built in the Nicholson community by Stanley Whitson, president of the Agricultural Association, Bill Knoll and Allen Smith. Mr. Whitson says that other people will build hot beds later so that they may have fresh vegetables during the winter months.

Mrs. J. L. Black of the Fresno Home Demonstration Club has realized a profit of twenty-six dollars and thirty-five cents from her fall garden which has only been bearing for a short time.

Mrs. Black says that anyone could have had a fall garden this year if they had tried, for in spite of the sand and hail storm she is enjoying fresh vegetables.

Mrs. Black has planted a big variety of vegetables, beans, peas, squash, greens, radishes, beets, carrots, lettuce, onions and cucumbers so that her family may have an adequate diet during the winter months, when they do not have excess to the garden.

Pioneers Recall Wild Texan Who Branded Indian

FORT WORTH—History sometimes neglects a minor detail here and there, with the results that events often are chronicled without the names of those who played the principal roles.

Many such events, however, retain their interest even without the names of the chief actors. Such is the case of a Panhandle cowboy who rode range on the banks of the South Canadian.

This cowboy, so old-timers tell it, was branding cattle back in the '70's. His branding iron was still hot as he threw a leg over the saddle and prepared to start out after another calf.

As he did so, he froze in his seat. There, behind a tree, stood a Comanche Indian, his rifle to his shoulder. The cowbow waited, wondering just where the bullet would strike him.

The Indian pulled the trigger and the bullet whizded by the cow boy's ear. And then happened the strange lore of the Panhandle.

With this momentary advantage the cowboy put the spurs to his horse, raised his lariat and roped the comanche. Then he dragged the Indian back to the still glowing fire and reheated the branding iron.

The cowboy applied the iron to the Indian's hips, despite the yells of protest, then be brought out his knife and cropped the Indian's ears with the same mark used on his herd.

"After this don't ever let anyone tell you you're a maverick, you're carrying one of the best brands in the Panhandle," the cowboy told the Indian. "And if I ever catch you down this way again I'll come up to the Territory (Oklahoma Territory) and put the iron on the whole tribe."

Cotton Pickers Get Ten Cents Mile For Work

QUANAH—A Hardeman county rmer has supplied a new wrinkle the subject of cotton picking. He hires pickers at the rate of cents a mile—pounds notwithanding.

His offer has been rejected by many cotton pickers, but even so, he has plenty of takers. His crop, sparse because of the drought, is moving rapidly from the field to the gin.

From Kentucky comes the report of a man who in a recent contest made his shout heard eight miles away.

"On Tuesday, November 6, the business meeting of District W. M. S. begins at 9 a. m. Then follows the great District annual assembly, come and enjoy all the services."

Following the two days of preliminaries the district assembly formally opens Wednesday, November 7. Interested parties from Arkansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas and several other states have already signified their intention of attending the meeting, according to Rev. Wood.

In expression of his appreciation for the cooperation shown by the people of Wellington in helping with the meeting, Rev. Wood said:

"We appreciate so much the response the good people of Wellington have given in opening their homes to entertain the visitors. We still need more rooms for them to sleep. We wanted to prepare for about 500. The good people of the First Christian church have kindly tendered us the basement of their nice church to feed them in. We appreciate the generous hospitality of all our friends and townspeople very much. God bless you. Come and enjoy all these services."

Before being made district agent, Mr. Hanna had considerable experience in county agents' work, and we feel sure that he will have an interesting paper on the Bankhead Act. Mr. Bourland is a well known man to this section of the country; was at one time president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and has been in this county to different meetings several times. Game To-season opened for a district championship and if they successfully rid the field of Memphis, it will mean much to the 'Rocket eleven.

Wellington has played five games and now has a total of 191 points to 12 for their opponents. Chillicothe and Quitaque each having scored one touchdown — and both counters having been made by way of the aerial route. For this reason, many Memphis fans have hopes of victory with their sensational passes, since Memphis is by far the strongest passing team the Skyrockets are expected to encounter during the season.

Strong Ground Attack

The Skyrockets, however, have an unusually strong ground attack for a class B team and have made the most of it in amassing their startling total of 191 points in five games. The Amarillo Yannigans, and the Chillicothe eleven are calculated to have about as good defensive teams as the Cyclone—and for this reason Wellington rates about even from the offensive standpoint.

The fact that the five opposing teams have scored only 12 points speaks for itself in the form of Wellington's defensive material. It is to be considered, however, that the Skyrockets have met some pretty weak offensive squads.

Dopesters generally conclude that if the Rockets can stop the Memphis passing wave the Skyrockets will be slight favorites, but stopping passes when they come from the capable hands of Norman is something of a difficult assignment, since Norman is reputed to be one of the most accurate passers in this section—and when one of his passes goes astray it is said to be because it is knocked down or because the receiver is not in position, because Norman passes to the exact spot he desires. Ross Springer, Memphis left end, has also gained a reputation for catching those passes, while Baskerville is another threat.

Facing such air-minded opponents the Skyrockets may also take to the air for some substantial gains according to assumptions, but the chief portion of Wellington's attack will naturally fall to those hard, ground gaining plays which make them a threat to almost any high school team.

In conclusion there is no better calculation than that first advanced. The Wellington-Memphis game now stands a toss-up, but a scoring spree or a break could give an overwhelming victory to either side.

Mr. Mitchell also started in the grocery business as a boy, but later went into the banking business and for several years was cashier of the First State Bank at Leedy. Then he went into the dry goods business and became associated in the grocery business again when the couple came to Wellington.

The B. and M. store, which has the reputation of being one of the most modern and complete in this county, carries exceptional stocks of quality merchandise and the two managers are proud of the fact that they live in Wellington. Both men are tax payers and operate their business as independent and home owned.
