Jury Ponders Fate Of Covington

Bradley Appeals For Riddance Of Gangsters And Demands The Death Penalty For Defendant

Eight Days Of A Sensational Court Battle Nears End As Jury Deliberates; Retire At 9 Friday Night

See Early Verdict

Star Witness Is Described As "Liar, Viper And Snake" By Defense; Dramatic Pleas Of Attorneys Heard

WITH a prosecution plea that they "rid Lubbock county of a gang that cares nothing for civil law" ringing in their ears, jurors last night pondered the fate of Jess Covington, first of three defendants to be tried for murder, growing out of the shooting of Frank V. Brown.

After eight days of a sensational court battle, the Covington case went to the jury at exactly 6 p. m. Friday. Practically all of the last day's sessions were given over to arguments of counsel before Judge Clark M. Mullican, in 99th district court, as a packed courtroom attended. Stirring demands by state's attorneys that the death penalty be assessed and equally hard fought defense pleas that the jury "remove this stain from the name of poor old Jess Covington' " were given equal attention by the crowd. Members of the families of the defendant and the murdered man were at times moved to tears.

Tired Jurors Go To Bed

Wearied by their long days in the courtroom, the jury deliberated but shortly last night, retiring for well earned sleep at 9 p. m. Court attaches looked forward to a verdict this morning, however, after jurors arise, breakfast and have an opportunity to go over the testimony.

Although attorneys for the state have asked for the death penalty there appeared to be no indication that such would be assessed in the event that Covington, 28-year old Lubbock man, is found guilty.

While testimony was introduced to show that Covington was with the two other men charged in the shooting both before and after the murder, there was no testimony to the effect that he was at the actual

Tech Special Will Run At 9 A. M. Today

That the American Business club's Tech football special would run to Amarillo today, carrying Lubbock fans to the scene of the Texas Tech-Texas A. & M. College game, was a sure thing last night.

Leaving here at 9 o'clock this morning, the train is due to arrive in Amarillo at noon. The return trip will start at 11:30 o'clock tonight, the train arriving home at 2:30 a. m. Sunday.

About 175 tickets, nearly 100 of them to Tech students, had been sold last night. The train was ordered, and it was thought that about fifty tickets would be sold this morning.

Last Goodwill Trip Includes Trio Of Towns

Speeches, Music And Comedy Are Featured As Boosters Extend Invitation To Fair Here Next Week

Supplementing invitations to the 19th annual Panhandle - South Plains fair with speeches, music and comedy, Lubbock citizens in about 15 automobiles Friday shrugged their shoulders at dreary skies and wet highways, and visited Plainview, Abernathy, and Hale Center. It was the third and possibly the last of a series of goodwill trips to advertise the exposition which will open here Monday.

The 35-piece Lubbock High school band, an accordion duo, and a blackface team accompanied the delegation. Road conditions necessitated shortening the itinerary, which originally included Lamb, Floyd, and Crosby county stops also. One car was stuck in mud off the pavement at Abernathy. Truman C. Meinecke was tour chairman. Most of the automobiles returned here by late afternoon.

Plainview Kiwanians were hosts to the trippers at luncheon. G. P. Kuykendall was chairman of Lubbock's part of the luncheon program. E. L. Klett, Lubbock City attorney, spoke. Miss Louise Garrison and Mrs. Willette Merrell played accordion selections. Clarence Miner and Dr. G. H. Ater presented an Amos-and-Andy act at Abernathy and Hale Center, where the trippers assembled at school auditoriums. At Plainview, they divided into five groups, each of which went to a school, from which pupils were dismissed early.

Jap Plane Is Off On Flight

Newspaper Sponsors Ocean Hop From Japan To United States And First Stop Is Scheduled At Nome, Alaska

(By The Associated Press)

SAMUSHIRO, Japan, Sept. 24.—(Saturday)—A good will plane sponsored by the newspaper Hochi Shimbun took off this morning for Nome, Alaska, en route to San Francisco.

The takeoff was at 5:35 a. m. (2:35 p. m. Friday central standard time).

Three hours after its departure from Samushiro, famous trans-Pacific jump off point in northern Japan, the plane was flying steadily northwest toward Nome in good weather.

At 7:20 a. m. the ship passed Cape Erimo, on Yezo or Hokkaido, the northernmost island of Japan. Subsequently it communicated with the Ochiishi radio station asking for the latest weather reports from the Bering sea region.

The plane carried fuel for 40 hours flying and the fliers hoped to cover the 2,670 miles to Nome in a little more than 30 hours.

President Knapp Plans To Change Enrollment System

Texas Technological college's system of enrollment will be speeded up next year, President Bradford Knapp said last night after reporting that about 1,400 students were in process of registration when the offices closed yesterday afternoon.

"The system is too slow, too cumbersome," Doctor Knapp said, "and I expect to speed it up with a new system next year. We are anticipating about the same enrollment we had at the last fall term."

Unconditional Truce Between Two Nations Being Demanded

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. (AP) — A call for immediate, unconditional truce between Boliva and Paraguay in their conflict over the Chaco area, has been dispatched by Francis White, chairman of the neutral nations' peace commission.

He made known today that identical notes were sent last night to the two countries, suggesting unconditional termination of hostilities and negotiations for arbitration of their differences. A delegation will be sent to the Chaco by the commission of neutrals "to verify the effective termination of hostilities."

Emergency Statute To Bar Livestock From City Zone; Students Feel Blow

Fine Of $1 To $100 Will Be Assessed For Violation

KEEPING of livestock in a defined city zone was made illegal by the city commission meting Thursday, and a fine of from $1 to $100 was included in the ordinance to aid in its enforcement.

The zone, in which cows, calves, hogs, pigs, sheep, goats, mules, horses, and buros were prohibited, is:

Zone Is Outlined

Beginning at the intersection of College avenue and Sixth street, thence east with Sixth to its intersection with the P. & N. T. right-of-way; thence southeasterly with the railroad to Avenue F; thence south on F to Nineteenth street; thence west on Nineteenth to Avenue H; thence south on H to Twenty-Third street; thence west on Twenty-Third to Avenue Q; thence south on Q to Twenty-Eighth street; thence west on Twenty-Eighth to the city limits; thence northwesterly with the city limits around to the place of beginning.

Although the ordinance, passed as an emergency measure, is effective now, City Manager W. H. Rodgers said last night enforcement probably will be withheld for "30 or 60 days." The delay will enable owners of cows to sell or move them outside the zone.

Situation Is Emergency

No one last night would hazard a guess on how many cows were in the zone. Probably 150 or more cows are being kept in the prohibited area.

The situation was declared an emergency "because the practice of keeping, grazing, staking and allowing various kinds of livestock mentioned above has increased to the extent that the unsanitary conditions in certain parts of the area have become intolerable, and the public health is jeopardized."

Last school year, 17 Texas Technological college boys brought cows to Lubbock and with the milk and butter produced paid their room and board. Shortly before the spring term ended city officials declared exchange of milk for room and board was illegal unless the cows were kept in accordance with the city milk ordinance. Virtually all the 17 boys could not have financed their college expenses in any

State-Wide Mass Meeting Will Be Held At Dallas Today To Choose Candidate To Fight Mrs. Ferguson

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Sept. 23. — Disaffected Democrats have called a state-wide meeting here tomorrow to consider measures to prevent the election of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as governor.

Among them are the captains of the anti-Smith insurrection of 1928, who recruited sufficient followers to give the state's electoral vote to Hoover. Alvin S. Moody of Houston, chairman, and Carr P. Collins of Dallas, treasurer, who headed the anti-Tammany Democrats, were expected to have a prominent part in tomorrow's proceedings. Former State Senator Thomas B. Love said he had not definitely decided to attend.

Collins said there appeared to be considerable sentiment that the meeting should endorse Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, Republican candidate for governor.

George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth, gubernatorial candidate of the new good government party, also was expected to attend and bid for support.

Trail Of Unconscious And Dying Men Leads Law In A Baffling Search For Peddlers Of Cheap, Venomous Poison

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Peddlers of death by five-cent poison hid today from police somewhere in dim districts that most Manhattanites try to forget.

A jobless seaman dropped dead this morning from drinking wood alcohol. He was the 13th to die since Monday of the same cause and the 50th, police said, to succumb since Aug. 1, after drinking venomous liquor of one kind or another.

On the Bowery — where hotels are flophouses and speakeasies are "shock joints"—and through the murk of the waterfronts, the itinerant peddlers have passed by night, selling to derelicts a gulp of high-powered poison for a panhandled nickel.

Detectives have followed their trail easily—it is a trail of unconscious and dying men—but have been unable to catch any of them. Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney has ordered an intensified search.

Lawyer Given Injunction To Halt Trial In Courts

Three Cases In Courts Hang Fire In City As Result Of Alleged Violation

THE Franklin D. Brown-Corporation Court fracas gained speed Friday, and last night three cases in two courts were hanging fire.

Throwing a monkey wrench into city legal machinery as far as his case is involved for the present, at least, Brown obtained a temporary writ of injunction in county court yesterday restraining the city from trying him for a traffic law violation.

John L. Croft and Eugene Smith, two policemen whom the Lubbock attorney accused of violence after they had arrested him Monday on a capias, made $100 bond each late Friday. Brown had filed charges of aggravated assault in county court against them. The attorney faces a charge of over-running a stop-sign in a complaint filed in corporation court.

Chief of Police Wiley L. Metcalfe, Corporation Judge J. T. Inmon, L. K. Rampy, desk sergeant, Jess C. Levens, city attorney, and Smith were served with the temporary injunction early Friday morning as they were preparing to begin a second trial of Brown. A jury was unable to agree on the case Thursday and was dismissed.

To Respect Injunction

"We would have started the trial but for that injunction, and we are going to respect it," Chief Metcalfe said last night. He had no statement in connection with the charges against Croft and Smith.

Judge E. L. Pitts of county court at 9 o'clock Friday morning granted the writ of injunction, dependent on making of $50 bond by Brown. The bond was effected. Date of a hearing to make the injunction permanent has not been set, Judge Pitts said.

In his petition filed in county court, the attorney alleged that ordinance No. 403, on which the stop-sign violation complaint was made, is void.

He charged: "That some of the defendants have already applied physical violence to this plaintiff in an effort to coerce him into paying a fine for said alleged offense; that if the defendants are permitted to proceed they will probably try this plaintiff and convict him of said purported offense, and assess a fine against him, and will harass and annoy him in an attempt to force him to pay the fine."

Asks Temporary Writ

He asked "that this court issue its temporary writ of injunction, commanding the defendants, and each of them, to cease and desist from trying or attempting to try this

Cars Needed In Clothing Drive For Poor Today

"Every citizen of Lubbock who can possibly do so is requested to have his automobile at the city hall this morning at 9 o'clock to aid the charity clothing drive starting at that hour," Mayor J. J. Clements said last night.

"There is a great demand for clothing in the poorer sections of the city," the Mayor explained. "We hope to cover Lubbock thoroughly on this drive and will detail two Boy scouts with each car to do the actual gathering of the bundles."

The drive is under the auspices of the City-County Welfare association and clothes and shoes for men, women, boys and girls are needed.

Donors are requested to leave their bundles on their front porches, each bundle plainly marked 'old clothes,' so that collecting may be done with the least possible delay.

One Is Killed In Fort Worth Duel

FORT WORTH, Sept. 23. (AP) — In a pistol duel fought in the outer lobby of the R. K. O. Hollywood theater tonight, Floyd L. Kelly was shot to death by Alvin A. Heflin, 40.

Harry Fuller, 20, negro porter was wounded and Harry W. Schlinker, theater manager narrowly missed being struck by a bullet as he stood half way between the box office and the inner lobby. The bullet buried itself in the wall nearby.

The theater audience, hearing the six shots became almost panic stricken before it could be quieted by ushers. Cries that the theater was being robbed were heard before attendants stopped a rush for the exits.

Sterling Assures His Supporters He Has No Idea Of Dropping Vote Fight

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—Governor Sterling issued this statement tonight:

"There seemed to be some doubt a few days ago as to whether the election contest suit would be prosecuted to a conclusion. I am sure that the filing of the new suit yesterday will convince the most skeptical that there never was a thought in my mind that this suit would not be carried through.

"My attorneys are satisfied from their investigation that there is no doubt about final outcome of this contest and the people of Texas will be shocked to know of the many violations of the election laws that were practiced at the last Democratic primary.

"Whatever the outcome may be, I feel that, if I have done nothing more than to bring about the purity of the ballot in Texas, my services have been well worth while.

"The thing most needed at this time is financial assistance and I hope that the friends of good government will continue to send in their contributions."

South Plains Mud-Bound By Steady Rains

Temperatures In Lubbock Fall Below 60 Degrees Friday As Cold Wind Blows Over From Northeast Sections

Roads Are Heavy

Cotton And Feed Crops Badly Damaged; No Prospect For Let Up Today; Forecast Is For More Showers

THE South Plains was becoming mud-bound last night after rain falling steadily Friday made dirt roads almost impassable and damaged grain and cotton crops.

Boosted along by an eight mile-an hour wind from the northeast, the rain dropped temperatures to below 60 degrees. Early last night the mercury stood at 58 degrees at municipal airport.

Section Is Drenched

The entire section was drenched with rains varying from less than an inch to several inches, railroads and the bus terminal reported. In Lubbock precipitation since Thursday totaled 1.1 inch at 6 o'clock last night, the state experiment substation reported.

There is no immediate prospect of sunshine, the forecast for today calling for cloudy skies and intermittent showers for West Texas.

Rainfall was said by observers to be damaging the grade of cotton and perhaps doing more damage to matured feed.

Amarillo Road Bad

The bus terminal reported rain in every section in contact with lines in this vicinity. The Amarillo road was said to be "as bad as it can be," and that only one of three buses scheduled over the route yesterday made the trip. It was nearly seven hours behind time. One bus came in from Big Spring, but none went out. On Clovis, N. M., and Brownfield routes buses were operating behind time. No traffic was reported

Millions Lost By Bankruptcy

Judge Tells Stockholders No Hope For Recovery Of Funds Should Be Held In Collapse Of Insull Interests

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 23. — The spotlights of bankruptcy court, of government and state investigators began today to search out the causes of the failure of Corporation Securities company and Insull Utility Investments, Inc., whose debacle cost their stockholders 300 million dollars.

Adjudging both companies bankrupt today, U. S. District Judge Walter C. Lindley asserted from his Danville, Ill., home he would personally direct the bankruptcy proceedings so far as time permits, appointing no referee.

He told the stockholders to abandon hope of any recovery.

"There is no chance of reorganization," the court stated in memoranda accompanying the decrees. "There is no possibility that assets of sufficient character or amount as to bring the stockholders any return whatsoever will ever be realized. Apparently the most that can be hoped for is a distribution of dividends amongst creditors."

International Rail Bridge At Laredo Reopened Friday

LAREDO, Sept. 23. Woman Shot To Death In Sleep While Husband Is Wounded And Near Death

(By The Associated Press)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 23.—Maria Perez Sandoval, 36, was shot to death in her sleep at her home near here today and her husband, who police said, was responsible for the slaying, shot and critically wounded himself.

The woman claimed to be a direct descendant of Governor Albino Perez who ruled New Mexico 100 years ago.

Physicians said the husband, Frank Sandoval, 48, probably would die. Police said they had been informed that Mrs. Sandoval had been taking treatments from a "witch" doctor and that her husband thought his wife's illness had been transferred to him in some manner.

The couple had 14 children, eight of whom are still living.

Relatives said Sandoval had been complaining of ill health for three years. He was said to have objected to treatments of his wife by the "witch doctor."

Governor Perez, from whom relatives said Mrs. Sandoval was descended, was governor of New Mexico in 1835 under Mexico.

Heart Trouble

A scramble of suitors leaves the eventual marital fate of Olive Belle Hamon, known to the New York stage as Loma Worth, in temporary uncertainty. Miss Hamon, daughter of the colorful Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil magnet, was presumed to be about to wed Pedro Lianuza, the cartoonist. Or so, at least, thought Lianuza until Mama Hamon tossed his ring back at him. But meanwhile a younger suitor, Forrest Cross, was said to have the maternal preference and a wedding license. The young beauty is shown here trying to make up her mind.

Contest Suit Set For Trial On October 3

Ferguson Counsel Will File Answer To Sterling Suit On Or Before Trial Date; Long Delay Predicted

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 27. — Trial of a court suit in which Governor R. S. Sterling will attempt to prove an allegation that Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson received thousands of illegal votes in the August 27 Democratic gubernatorial primary election and was not entitled to the nomination, today was set for October 3 in Travis county district court.

Mrs. Ferguson led Governor Sterling by approximately 4,000 votes out of nearly 1,000,000 votes tabulated. Governor Sterling filed suit to have Mrs. Ferguson ousted as the nominee and himself declared the candidate in her stead on the ground she was not legally nominated because of alleged irregularities and illegalities in the election.

Will File Answer

The case has been set for trial in the court of District Judge W. F. Robertson.

Ocie Speer of Austin and Luther Nickels of Dallas, of counsel for Mrs. Ferguson, said they intended to file an answer to the suit on or before October 3. They conferred here today. Speer said the plans of the defense so far were indefinite and would not be shaped until the bulky petition and exhibits filed by Governor Sterling had been examined.

Speer said there was no desire on the part of Mrs. Ferguson, or her husband, ex-Governor James E. Ferguson, her chief political adviser, to delay the suit in any manner. Ferguson was named a party to the suit.

Citations Are Served

Citations in the suit were served today, District Clerk George H. Templin reported.

Automobiles Badly Damaged In Collision Friday Night

Two automobiles, which collided head-on in the 2100-block of Tenth street Friday night, were badly damaged but the occupants escaped with minor bruises. The drivers were Miss Elva Mae Hunt, 2005 Sixteenth street, and Otis Holly, 1515 College avenue.

A portion of Tenth street, on the south side, is unpaved at the accident scene. The two cars crashed on the paved portion, it was said. Miss Hunt was driving a sedan west and Holly was driving a sedan or a coach east. Two young women in the Hunt automobile also were uninjured.

Woman Is Missing

Two Drown Near Kerrville In Guadalupe; One Claimed At Hunt And Another Succumbs Near Taylor

(By The Associated Press)

KERRVILLE, Sept. 23. — The bodies of three persons drowned in flooded streams of South Central Texas were recovered today and searchers were hunting for that of a woman who apparently perished in the same manner.

High water swept an automobile off a bridge crossing at Johnson fork of the Guadalupe river seven miles from Kerrville, plunging Fred Tullos, 36, and his companion, Miss Cleo McCallum, 23, into the raging torrent.

Woman Not Found

Tullos' body was found today about two miles downstream from the low bridge, but Miss McCallum's had not been located. It was regarded as almost certain that she had lost her life, as she could not swim.

The couple had driven across the bridge early last night on their way to a hotel to dine. In the several hours before their return, the stream rose 12 feet under the impetus of torrential rains on its watershed.

A man who witnessed the accident expressed the belief they did not realize the stream had suddenly reached flood stage. He saw the car run into the swift current rushing across the bridge. Then plunge off. The car was found about half a mile downstream, a battered wreck.

Tullos was a former patient at Legion hospital. He lived formerly at Nashville, Tenn. Miss McCallum was a nurse at Legion.

The body of Miss Ethel New was recovered today from the Guadalupe river near the town of Hunt, where she had been living with her sister. She had been missing since 3 a. m. Her bathrobe was found on the river bank. An inquest was ordered to determine just how she came to drown. She was about 40 years old.

A report from Taylor told of the body of Steven Merka being found in a submerged automobile in Turkey creek, near there. He had been missing since last Saturday. The car had plunged through a bridge rail into the rain-swollen stream.

Virtually All Stations In City Sell Reduced Gasoline

Virtually all filling stations operated by major companies were selling gasoline at reduced prices last night, other companies meeting price slashes started Thursday by Sinclair, Gulf and Continental.

Texas Pacific, Texas company, Phillips, Magnolia and others followed the reduction yesterday. All except Magnolia set the new rate at 12, 16 and 19 cents. Magnolia yesterday morning was notified of a three-cent reduction in a grade of gasoline formerly selling for 19 cents.

Rural Exhibitors Place Many Entries Friday Afternoon; Perishables May Be Taken On Monday

Granted an extension because of the rainy weather, exhibitors in the women's division at the Panhandle-South Plains must have their entries in by one o'clock this afternoon, Mrs. Hub Jones, the director has announced.

The department was scheduled to close at one o'clock Friday.

The extension was made in order to give rural exhibitors a chance to get to the building, muddy roads having made traffic slow. Entries were heavy Friday afternoon, Mrs. Jones said.

Entries were heavier Friday morning than on Thursday, opening day, but many people had sent word that they could not get to the building by one o'clock, because of the rain, Mrs. Jones stated.

Receives Most Entries

The largest number of entries were received Thursday in the Girls and Women's Home Demonstration clubs division, of which Miss Isla Mae Chitwood is director. Several home demonstration agents from this section came in with exhibits from their counties. Floyd county is entering 30 rugs.

After judging is completed, the exhibits will be arranged for the fair opening on Monday morning.

Cakes, breads and cut flowers, perishables, will be received on Monday from 8 until 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, and Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent, arrived Thursday evening and will judge in the culinary, textile and home demonstration divisions.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

IF YOU are reading this notice before nine o'clock, it is a reminder to put your bundle of discarded clothing on the front porch to be collected for the welfare association.

There are a lot of Lubbock children who are not going to be able to remain in school this winter unless clothing is provided by some one. There are plenty of other people who are going to suffer a lot from the cold unless a supply of clothing is furnished them.

There are few families in Lubbock that have not made repeated donations of old clothing within the last few months. Most women have a particular family that they help—the wash woman's children, the family of the man who mows the lawn or some other such family. But, at that, there are a lot of articles not being used that could be donated today.

Shoes are particularly needed. Even in warm weather, a man or woman feels worst if he has no shoes to wear. That is a sort of criterion between abject poverty and mere want. In the winter, shoes become more of an essential thing for wear.

And, if you are reading this after the cars have already passed by, make up your collection, and take it down to charity headquarters. Your contribution will be appreciated there.

As a further warning, put in clean things. It is bad enough to have to take someone's cast-off clothing without having to put up with dirty things. A man likes to drip his own egg down his vest front.

THEY'RE MOVING HERE

THE chances are that you have heard repeatedy these last few months that Lubbock is less hard hit by the depression than many other centers. Now, it may not mean anything, but some support is given to this opinion by some of the things that happen here.

We are having a number of new businesses to open this month. Moreover, this town is one to which people are moving instead of one from which there is a general exodus. There has been hardly a day for weeks that we have not carried personals about families moving back to Lubbock or moving here for the first time. These are families frequently that have come here with businesses and not simply to put their children in school.

In addition to these families, people are coming from all over the country to spend the winter with uncles, aunts, grandparents, or other relatives and attend high school or college. Some of these young people are coming hundreds of miles to spend the winter in this city.

This town may have been as hard hit as other places. However, I'm from Missouri. Too many men have come from other sections to tell us that Lubbock is in good condition. And, too many people are moving here with their businesses.

STYLE NOTES

WHAT you may wear this winter: Metal knick-knacks are replacing buttons as fastenings on many outfits. Copper colored metal bars and slides, narrow shoe string ties tipped with metal points and small metal fastenings resembling clips are used by one house. Another fastens its suits and sports coats with big flat-topped silver safety pins.

Velvet bracelets are a new wrinkle for fall costumes. They are single or double strands of velvet twisted closely together and fastened in a flat knot at the top of the wrist.

The new powder compacts are saucer-sized—about the size of an after-dinner coffee cup saucer. They are as flat as possible.

Braided metal cord belts are used on some new fall gowns. The belts are closely braided of fine cord and are about four inches wide in front and back, tapering to a width of about two inches on the sides.

Small and saucy velvet caps are smart with evening gowns.

Mrs. Coleman Wins Contest

Market Basket To Be Awarded Rural Woman By Farm Women Who Have Market; Contest To Be Repeated

Mrs. J. L. Coleman is to receive a market basket of food today for writing the best five reasons for trading at the Lubbock Woman's Home Demonstration market, according to an announcement made by Miss Isla Mae Chitwood, home demonstration agent. Women who conduct the market have contributed to the basket which contains a can each of okra, crowder peas and tomato relish, fresh butter beans, butter scotch rolls, ice box rolls cake and pie.

Mrs. Coleman's reasons for trading at the market weresas follows: Creates a long needed market for home-grown products saving the surplus heretofore wasted. Brings producer and consumer together; saves the middleman's profit to the farm woman; guarantees an A grade article to the city woman; bridges the social gap. Stimulates greater production, curing and canning of meats, vegetables, fruits, grapes and berries to supply the demand thus created. Builds a remunerative industry for the farm woman, taking her out of the cotton patch. Developing our natural resources; makes for independence; heartens the discouraged farmer; brings greater prosperity generally by keeping the money in the country.

Another such contest is to be conducted soon and ten reasons will be required, Miss Chitwood said.

CONTROLLED ROASTING
PUTS EXCLUSIVE GOODNESS INTO
EVERY CUP OF HILLS BROS COFFEE

No other coffee is roasted by this patented process . . . no other has the same flavor

Roasting "a little at a time," continuously instead of in big batches, is the basis of Controlled Roasting

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . .
a little at a time
. . . so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting — the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . "a little at a time."

Hills Bros. Coffee is a revelation in coffee goodness! It has a flavor no other has. For it is roasted a little at a time, by Hills Bros.' patented Controlled Roasting process. Ordinarily, coffee is roasted in bulk.

Nature gives coffee-berries the elements for a very delightful flavor. But that flavor must be developed by roasting. And if the berries are underdone or overdone, the flavor falls short of perfection.

Under-roasting or over-roasting invariably occurs when coffee is roasted in bulk. But Hills Bros. roast a little at a time . . . as the blend flows through the roasters in an even, continuous stream. Every pound is done to perfection! You always get the true flavor of coffee.

Hills Bros. Coffee is vacuum-packed, and can't go stale. The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can — it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh.

Pour a cup of Hills Bros. Coffee. Taste that famous flavor—rich, smooth, and satisfying—the exclusive goodness that Controlled Roasting makes. Order Hills Bros. today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

Boiling Kettle Of Fraternity Ruckus In Local School Quiet

Annual Controversy In Local System Appears Settled As More Than Score Of Studes Return To Classes

THE lid evidently is back on the Greek letter kettle at Lubbock High school, conditional expulsions of 15 boys and school executives' assertions that they contemplated like discipline of 12 girls having precipitated conferences Thursday between patrons and the board of education, and school executives and students. The problem late Friday seemed to have been settled amicably.

"The goose hangs high" was Supt. M. H. Duncan's exclamation on announcing that the differences had been ironed out. As members of Theta Kappa Omega, national high school fraternity, the boys had been ordered by Principal R. W. Matthews not to return to school until they were willing to sever relations with the fraternity. Some were in school Thursday afternoon, and all were eligible to attend classes Friday morning. The girls, members of Delta Beta Sigma, voluntarily agreed to withdraw. They again signed an anti-secret society pledge, which every student entering the school must accept.

A committee of six patrons, accompanied by a group of students and former students, met Wednesday night with the board of education to discuss the Westerner school's latest Greek letter imbroglio, a recurrence of former episodes. The board did not reveal publicly that the conference had occurred. Thursday afternoon, a group of fathers, with their sons, inquired into the situation.

Patrons, students, and former students were heard at Wednesday night's meeting, and the board of education said it would study the problem. The board three years ago passed a regulation banning secret societies in the high school, Superintendent Duncan said.

Two mothers Thursday morning said the sorority, to which their daughters belonged, had disbanded soon before school opened. The sorority had been formed in the summer, and the girls did not suppose it was subject to school regulations, one mother explained. She added that most of Lubbock High school's championship football team last year was affiliated with Theta Kappa Omega, which bore the brunt of this week's discipline.

One of the mothers questioned the superintendent's statement that the girls would have been subjected to the same discipline as that dealt the boys had the girls not come forward with satisfactory promises before their cases were reached. The girls were not guilty of sorority membership, she maintained.

Local clubs composed of high school students will be permitted, Superintendent Duncan said Friday, if their aims and objects, as submitted to school authorities, are found to be not detrimental to the school. Lubbock school executives have expressed opinions that secret societies lower the morale of the student body, and are harmful to student scholarship, morals and activities.

Young Girls Are Hunted In City

Two young girls, missing since Thursday morning, still had not been located by police last night, although two grls answering the description of the pair, Marguerite and Louise Miller, were reported at a fruit stand at Avenue M and Thirteenth street yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. A. C. Harp of Acuff Tourist camp, 100-block of Avenue H, reported the girls as missing.

Marguerite Miller, 15, was described as five feet six inches tall, 114 pounds in weight, with black hair, gray eyes, dark complexion, and a scar over the right eye, and wearing a black crepe dress, red spring coat, navy blue tam, tan hose, and black slippers; Louise, 13, as four feet tall, 107 pounds in weight, with long light hair, blue eyes, fair complexion, and wearing a red crepe dress, black slippers, and no hose.

Two girls asked for food at the fruit stand, police were informed. A bystander reported that one called the other "Louse," and that they inquired the way to Littlefield.

Matadors Are In High Spirits On Eve Of Aggie Contest

Chattanooga Beats Beaumont; Takes Lead In Series

Entire Squad Gets Trip To Amarillo Game

Game Starts At 3 O'Clock On Butler Field Today; Coach Cawthon Pleased With Show Of Club Before Leaving

The Texas Tech toted their mud shoes with them yesterday when they departed for Amarillo where today they meet the Texas Aggies of College Station in the first game of their "suicide schedule."

Prospects of playing on a field full of moisture lay before the club when it entrained, with little ceremony, at 4 bells yesterday. The sun had refused to shine down them for two rays, which was a point in their favor if the turf of Butler Field actually is wet today. They at least had the benefit of practicing on a sick field, and one today will not be a total stranger.

Entire Squad Goes

Coach Cawthon took along his assistant, Dutchy Smith, manager Bo Williams and a young army of about 45 ambitious cridsters to meet the Aggies in the entertainment feature of the Tri-State fair, raging in Amarillo all this week.

The Matadors concluded their work of preparation yesterday morning with a short and snappy signal drill on Matador Field. In it the Matadors displayed a spirit that the drizzle and heavy field could not dampen. At least it did not dampen the spirit. It was a hilarious crew that trekked to the railroad station for the evening ride to Amarillo.

Aggies There First

Coach Matty Bell's Aggies preceded the Matadors into Amarillo yesterday but judging from the size of the squads everything was in Tech's favor. The big squad of 45 men overshadowed Bell's group of 25 temporarily at least. When eleven men from each side are selected to do battle this afternoon, it may be a different story, but the Matadors, upon leaving here, were filled with hopes of tearing that "thin red line of Aggieland" to shreds and mopping up Butler Field with what was left of the backfield.

Cawthon was not sure yesterday just who would get the call to start the ball game. As heavy as the Matadors are, they'll be outweighed from 4 to 8 pounds per man this afternoon. Cawthon may pick a light team, at that, to go in the mud.

Judging from the way the teams have been running together in practice and from hints dropped by the coaches, the starting team today will resemble the team which went into the game with the Oklahoma Panhandle Aggies last Saturday in the second quarter.

Which means that Speed Moffett will call the signals from quarterback, Harold Crites will do the fullbacking and that Marion Harris and Gwynn Dowell may do the halfbacking. Ed McKeever and Johnny Walker may start at halfback holes.

Line More Definite

The line is more stationary, with one or two exceptions. Price and Hitchcock probably will start at ends. Truett Owen is the probable starter at one tackle and Bennie McWilliams or Elva Baker will get the call at the other side. Captain Ross Ayers and Toby Greer seems to be the guards. Lester Tribble probably will start at center, or it may be Whacker Barton.

The Aggies due to line up against Tech today are as follows: Frenchy Domingue, quarterback; Captain Jimmy Aston and Rue Barfield, halfbacks; Ted Spencer, fullback; Bear Wright and Ray Murray, ends; Charlie Cummings and Stumpie Jordan, tackles; George Lord and Stapp Maxwell, guards and Willis Nolan, center.

Will Outweigh Matadors

This combination will outweigh the above Tech lineup by nearly 20 pounds. There is not so great a difference between the linemen as between the backfield. Texas Tech's backfield will be about 34 pounds lighter than the Aggie backs.

The following squadmen made the trip to Amarillo: Milton Moffett, Johnny Beauchamp, Carl McAdams, Jim Bob Pool and Adrain Clarks, quarterbacks; Aubrey Butts, Ed McKeever, D. M. McElroy, W. N. Fuqua, Demp Cannon, J. McCommis, Gwynn Dowell, Johnny Walker, Lefty Sollis and Harion Harris, halfbacks; Murray Nichols, Harold Crites and Leonard Curfman, fullbacks.

Cards Win To Retain Sixth

World Champions Toil Before Crowd Of 500; Open Final Series Of Season Against Pittsburgh Pirates

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23. (AP) — The World Champion St. Louis Cardinals tightened their hold on sixth place in the National League by smashing out an 8-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today as they opened the final series of the 1932 season.

This victory came on the heels of the Cards' clean sweep of the three-game Cincinnati series earlier in the week, but with pennant hopes long faded, the winning streak failed to arouse much enthusiasm here, as evidenced by only 500 paid admissions for today's contest.

Paul Derringer allowed the Pirates 10 hits, to eight given by two Pittsburgh hurlers, but the Cardinal blows were more timely.

Amarillo Badgers Defeat Cameron Aggies, 6 To 0

AMARILLO, Sept. 23. (AP) — The Amarillo College Badgers avenged their only football defeat by winning, 6 to 0, from the Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Okla., here this afternoon.

The victory ran the Badgers' winning streak to 12 straight and 23 of their 24 games. The loss stopped the Aggies' victories at 21 straight. Cameron won 7-0 last year.

Bill Crass, Badger fullback, plunged over for the counter in the second period, after Larsen, end, had recovered a fumble on the 22-yard line.

Athletics Win To Cinch 2nd Place In Race

Yanks Blank Red Sox; Indians Scalp Pale Hose And Sens Drop To Athletics; Tigers Take Two Over Browns

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23. — Although they couldn't win their fourth straight American League pennant, the Athletics assured themselves of the second-place cut in the World Series proceeds today by defeating the Washington Senators, 8-4, in the first game of their series.

After today's victory, the Athletics were sure to finish at least a game ahead of Washington and get a considerably larger share of the series money, usually something over $1,000 a man for the second place team.

A heavy shower held up the game 47 minutes during the fourth inning and brought about the downfall of Monte Weaver, Washington's star right hander.

Neither of the starting pitchers lasted long. Rube Walberg went out after a burst of wildness in the third to be followed by Roy MaHaffey, the winning hurler, and Lefty Grove. Weaver's successors were Coffman and Brown.

It was the eleventh shutout registered by a Yankee moundsman this year and the 154th of the season for the Yanks without their having been blanked.

Schoolboy Ace Holds Lookout Forces Close

Ninth-Inning Rally Provides Run That Wins Game, 3-2, As Schoolboy Rowe's Weakness Found After 8 Innings

(By The Associated Press)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 23.—Slipping out of the hypnotic spell which giant "Schoolboy" Rowe had held over them for eight innings, the Lookouts slammed their way to victory over the Beaumont Exporters in the ninth inning today with a score of 3 to 2, and took the lead in the Dixie Series by two games to one.

Up until the 8th inning it had been a brilliant pitching duel between Rowe and Leon Pettitt of the Lookouts, with each team growing a run where none should even have sprouted. Opening the 8th, Kingdon robbed Benton of a hit with a spectacular play, flinging himself full length at a hot grounder, knocking it down and throwing while still almost prone on the ground. Tauby, who limped into the game with his injured leg, because Fox was all but on crutches, then doubled into the left field crowd. He took third on a wild pitch but stayed there while Kingdon was throwing Greenberg out. Easterling hit a sizzler to Kingdon's left. The second sacker made another effort for a sensational play but could only knock the ball down and Tauby scored to put Beaumont ahead by 2 to 1. Easterling had previously driven in Beaumont's other run.

McColl Takes Mound

Pettitt went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth and McColl pitched the ninth for Chattanooga. Gill opened the Lookout ninth with a hot single to right center. Reese hit to Benton who forced Gill, but Reese averted a double play by a fast sprint to first, literally running the Lookouts into a ball game. Reese continued his fast base running on a single by Bolton along the left

Texas Aggies Move North As Southwest Conference Teams Open New Grid Season Today

Gala Day For Football Fans; All Southwest Loop Teams Except Baylor In Action; T. C. U. To Baton Rouge

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 23—Tomorrow will be a gala day for football fans who have read and listened to baseball for the last six months, for tomorrow every team except Baylor in the Southwest Conference swings into action. Regular routine practice will be held on the Baylor Campus.

Heading the Southwest program will be the Texas Christian University and Louisiana State game at Baton Rouge, La. Playing on their home ground last year, the Texas Christian Frogs beat Louisiana 3 to 0. It will be the second game for Texas Christian. The Frogs beat the Denton Teachers last week, 14 to 2. Coach Francis Schmidt is expected to start his strongest lineup against Louisiana. All will be seniors except Kitchens at fullback.

Arkansas At Home

The next best bet will be the University of Arkansas and Hendrix College game at Fayetteville. Fans are interested in Coach Fred Thomsen and his crew of Arkansas sophomores. Arkansas walloped Hendrix last year, 19 to 0, with such stars as Ledbetter and Kyle.

Third in importance will be the bow of the Southern Methodist University Mustangs, 1931 conference champions, who will play the Denton North Texas Teachers. For the first time in years, Coach Ray Morrison's S.M.U. aerial circus is without an outstanding star. Denton gave Texas Christian a tough battle and is expected to be just as formidable against the Mustangs.

The "A" team of Texas A and M embarked Thursday afternoon for Amarillo where the Aggies battle Texas Tech tomorrow in a game that is expected to attract a record crowd. Texas Tech is reputed to be strong this season. Coach Madison Bell transported all his regulars to Amarillo for the battle. The Aggies "B" team remained at home to play Southwestern.

Rice against Texas A and I at Houston, and the University of Texas against Daniel Baker at Austin are the other games tomorrow. All are non-conference affairs.

WEATHERFORD, Sept. 23. (AP)—The Weatherford College Coyotes ran up a score of 80 to 0 over the Warner Memorial Stags in the season's first football game here today. The Coyotes play the John Tarleton Plowboys here next Friday.

Forty-Third Texas Senate Is To Be Solidly Democratic At Next Parley

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (AP)—The forty-third Texas senate, convening next January, will be solidly Democratic just as the forty-first and forty-second senates have been. The new house may be solidly Democratic but independents or Republicans are making a strong fight in at least three of the districts and hope to win in the November election.

The house now contains 149 Democrats and one independent. The lone independent is Rep. H. L. Leonard of McAllen, a member of the "good government" party in Hidalgo county. Leonard is opposed for re-election by Josh Ewing of Donna, a Democrat.

Rep. H. C. Weinert of Seguin, Democrat and former state senator, has a Republican opponent, former representative Reno Eickenroht of Seguin. Eickenroht retired from the house two years ago to make an unsuccessful race for the state senate. This year he is campaigning actively in an effort to come back to the house. His district contains many Republicans.

Mat Moss of Llano, Democratic nominee for representative, has an independent opponent who may give him some trouble. The independent is B. Holekamp of Boerne. Moss defeated Rep. Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg for the Democratic nomination. Before Petsch was sent to the house several years ago, the district was represented by an independent.

Julius Real of Kerrville was the last Republican to serve in the senate. He was defeated four years ago by Sen. W. A. Williamson of San Antonio. Senator Williamson this year lost the Democratic nomination to Ernest Pelbaum of San Antonio. The Republicans are making no active fight against Pelbaum or any of the other Democratic nominees for the senate.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: MOSES HONORED IN DEATH
Lesson for Sunday, September 25, 1932
Scripture Lesson: Deuteronomy 32:48-52; 34:5-8

48. And the Lord spake unto Moses that self-same day, saying,

49. Get thee up into this mountain Abarim unto mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, that is over against Jericho; and behold the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel for a possession:

50. And die in the mount whither thou goest up, and be gathered unto thy people; as Aaron thy brother died in mount Hor, and was gathered unto his people:

51. Because ye trespassed against me among the children of Israel at the waters of Meribah-Kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin; because ye sanctified me not in the midst of the children of Israel.

52. Yet thou shalt see the land before thee; but thou shalt not go thither unto the land which I give the children of Israel.

34:5. So Moses the servant of the Lord died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the Lord.

6. And he buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, over against Beth-Peor; but no man knoweth of his sepulchre unto this day.

7. And Moses was an hundred and twenty years old when he died: his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated.

8. And the children of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab thirty days: so the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were ended.

Golden Text: Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints. — Psalm 116:15.

Time: B. C. 1459.

Place: Mount Nebo, in the land of Moab, east of the Dead Sea.

Introduction

"There is coming in your life and mine a time when we, like Moses, shall stand on Pisgah and look back on life as a finished thing. It won't matter then whether our life has been what the world calls a success, whether we have gained money, or rank, or power. No, that won't matter then. But one thing will matter: Have we been true, true to ourselves, true to God?"—W. W. Mackay.

In this, our last lesson from the life of Moses, the Children of Israel are encamped in the plains of Moab, east of the Jordan River. Nearly forty years have passed since the retreat from Kadesh-Barnea to the wilderness. During that long period the Children of Israel wandered in the desert of Paran, and suffered many things. Year by year those grown men who had come to the door of the promised land and had not the courage to go in had died, until now only Moses, Caleb and Joshua, of all that came out of Egypt, will be permitted to enter. Even Moses was debarred, and that because of his sin, as related in Num. 20: 1-13. He and Aaron had alike failed to sanctify Jehovah in the eyes of the host, and for this sin both were excluded from the Promised Land. Aaron died a little afterwards, and now we come to the closing scenes of Moses' life.

The Book Of Deuteronomy

"The Book is made up of three great discourses of Moses, the man of God Chapters one to four, Looking Back chapters five to twenty-six, Looking Up, chapters twenty-seven to thirty-three Looking Out. Reminiscent; Historical Prophetical, and Practical. What better model for preaching, or for practicing!"

The word "Deuteronomy" is from the Greek and means, "the second of repeated law." Deuteronomy is a book of recapitulation and review. It is Moses' farewell to Israel—law codified for the people. It contains fourteen speeches by Moses and two charges by Jehovah — sixteen speeches in all. It is full of urgent exhortations and solemn warnings couched in terms of the utmost tenderness and the greatest severity. It is one long urgent plea for hearty obedience to God, based on the two-fold motive of love and fear. It contains some very remarkable prophecies respecting Christ (Deut. 18), and the future of Israel (Deut. 28, which have been most strikingly fulfilled. It covers a period of one month, the last month but one of the forty years of the wilderness, the last month of all being the thirty days' mourning for Moses."—Rev. Martin Anstey.

"The Land Of Moab" v. 49

The country east of the Dead Sea, north of Edom. East of it is the desert of Arabia, and its northern boundary is the River Arnon. Moab is mostly a plateau about 3,200 feet above sea level. Ruth and Orpah were natives of Moab. The country in Christ's day formed part of the domain of Herod Antipas, who imprisoned John the Baptist there and then executed him. That is over against Jericho." About thirteen miles to the east of that city, which was on the western side of the Jordan. "And behold the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel for a possession." A large part of Canaan might be seen from the summit of Nebo, and of course Moses would be eager to feast his eyes on the promised land, of which he had dreamed forty years, even though he knew that he would not be allowed by Jehovah to enter it. "And die in the mount whither thou goest up." Few of us know definitely, as Moses did, when we are to die, but all of us know that we are to die and may die at any time, so that all should be ready.

The Call To Mt. Nebo, v. 49

Moses' work is done. For forty years he has been the leader of his people. He has led them out of Egypt across the Red Sea, and through the great wilderness. Now the time of his departure has come, and God calls him away from the camp into the mountain apart. He had met God in Mount Sinai, whither he had gone to receive the law for his people, and had returned with shining face. He now goes to Mount Nebo to feast his eyes upon the Promised Land, and to be taken then to be at home with God forever.

In the mount, Moses feasted his eyes upon the land of promise and, no doubt, thanked God for the safe ending of the desert wanderings, and for the happy prospect of his people. We may believe that in the quiet of the mount and the glow of his vision, the soul of Moses was quieted and reassured, as he took the flight to him whose glory would never again fade from his face. The body was laid in a secret place in the valley of Moab; but what little difference that really made appears when, on the Mount of Transfiguration, Moses stood with Elijah who was translated in a chariot of fire.

Moses "The Servant of the Lord" v. 5

The title which Moses earned for himself was "Servant of the Lord." He did many great things and displayed many noble qualities, but they all sprung out of the soil of his consecration. When the writer of the story of his death, therefore, wanted a word that would sum up his whole life, he chose the word "servant". And what nobler tribute could he have deserved? It is used in the Scriptures to describe Jesus, the Son of God. Paul delighted to speak of himself as "the bond-servant (slave) of Jesus Christ," and so have all the great Christians of the ages.

Moses was taught early in his life to revere the God of his fathers, and to believe in God's purpose for his Hebrew people. Paul had his Damascus road; Isaiah had his temple vision; and Moses had his burning bush, Ex. 3:1-10. From that day when the Lord spoke to him, although at the first he made excuse, he was consecrated to the work of God. And there is no higher ground upon which a man may stand; a "Servant of the Lord" is his highest tribute.

Moses, The Lawgiver

Here is Moses' fame among the nations, the great body of laws which bears his name. We have had this quarter two lessons on the Ten Commandments, which set forth the Great moral principles to guide men in their divine and human relationships. After more than 3,000 years, they are still upheld, and their influence in the life of the world is beyond measure. Besides these, we hav from Moses the basis of the civil and ceremonial life of Israel. "A grand personality was required who could accomplish all this; who would strike the imagination of a people, who could win their love and compel their obedience. In addition to all this, the man must be able to organize them as a state, and weld them into oneness and cordial brotherhood."

Special Lessons

"No one has given a more conclusive proof that Moses of what God can do with a human being who surrenders himself to divine guidance and becomes his spokesman."—Hon. William Jennings Bryan.

"To err is human, and Moses erred; but to be rebuked, to be punished, and no resentment, is a rare nobleness. This nobleness the grace of God gave to Moses.—Rev. James Hamilton, D. D., F. L. S.

"Moses was the meekest of men, not perhaps in his being free from sudden accessions of feeling and correspondent action but in the long patient endurance implied in the creation of a free people from a corrupted and sunken population of slaves."—Cunningham Geikie.

"Moses thoroughly believed in the unseen, and this faith was the strongest thing in him. He endured as seeing Him who is invisible."—Prof. W. G. Blaikie.

Lamb County Club Boys Have Interesting Feeding Project

(By Staff Correspondent)

AMHERST, Sept. 23.—One of the largest cooperative feeding projects in Texas for 4-H club boys is that of a group of 42 club boys feeding 94 calves in Lamb county. The calves are furnished by the Halsell Cattle company and the boys were lined up by D. A. Adam, county agent.

The calves averaged in weight when they went into the feeding pens, 456 1-2 pounds, Mr. Adams said. "We are feeding these calves for the Lubbock Calf and Pig show next spring," he added.

A contract was drawn up and signed by the boys. Home grown feed will be used and the boys will give their personal attention to the feeding. The contract calls for payment on a gain basis.

In all, there are more than 50 boys in Lamb county feeding a total of 122 calves this fall and winter.

Johnson Thanks Gov. Roosevelt

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23. (AP)—United States Senator Hiram Johnson, California progressive Republican, commenting today on Governor Roosevelt's reference to him at Sacramento yesterday, said:

"The attitude of Mr. Roosevelt is in sharp contrast with that Mr. Hoover has maintained toward progressivism and progressives of California. For 22 years I have been making the progressive fight here. For the remainder of my years I'll continue making that fight.

"Governor Roosevelt was very gracious and generous in his address at Sacramento. I personally immensely appreciate what he said and I am sure it is equally appreciated by the progressive Republicans of this state."

In his Sacramento speech Governor Roosevelt said:

"I am particularly glad . . . to speak of a man who has done so much to further progressive thought and courageous public action. I refer to your own Senator Hiram Johnson—long a warrior in the ranks of true American progress.

"I rejoice that he said yesterday that a government that thinks only of a favored few and that forgets farmers whose homes are being taken away from them, and toilers whose wages have been decreased to the danger line, is unworthy the name and unfit to govern."

Carbon Black Is Being Tried As An Aid To Wheat Growing

BORGER, Sept. 23. (AP) — Carbon black, of which the Panhandle leads the world in production, may come to be an aid to another of this territory's greatest industries — wheat growing.

E. A. Williams, a wheat farmer near Stinnett, Hutchinson county, is experimenting with the black to learn if it will discourage the activities of wheat worms.

Williams moistens the grain before it is planted, then rolls the kernels in the black. He expressed the belief that it might work in one of two ways: Disguise the grain so the worms will not recognize it, or impart to it a flavor the worms will not like.

DISTRESS AFTER MEALS
Relieved By Black-Draught

"I had sour stomach and gas," writes Mr. Jess Higgins, of Dawsonville, Ga., "and often I would have bilious spells. I read about Thedford's Black-Draught and began to take it. It relieved me of this trouble. I keep it all the time now. I consider it a fine medicine. I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals when I need it. It helps to prevent sick headache and to keep the system in good order."

Druggist Gives New Formula To Stop Headaches

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B.C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B.C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B.C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. —(adv.)

"Pussyfooting" Days Past

WHATEVER else he may have done to distinguish himself, the GOP's Mr. Hoover has established the right to be known as the greatest "pussyfooter" of modern times. Ever since he has been the President, he has relied upon beautifully clouded terms and catchy phrases to muddle the public and to give himself a later opportunity to change horses in the middle of the stream. As a fence rider he has been a huge success.

But now Mr. Hoover finds the "pussyfooting" avenue closed to him by virtue of the offensive launched against him and his party by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. No "pussyfooter" is the Democratic nominee. He speaks right out in church and in the painful silence which follows Mr. Hoover finds it incumbent upon him to speak in defense; to say something and say it quickly.

"Mr. Hoover," his political advisors say, "will take the stump"; and to be brutally frank about it, the exigency is plain enough. Democratic prospects are strengthened by the Maine election and the prevailing interpretations of it. Governor Roosevelt's campaign, in a large part, attacks the President's record from his service in the cabinet as Secretary of Commerce on down to the present time. The average voter, after hearing or reading a Roosevelt address, logically asks himself: "Is Mr. Hoover going to take it lying down? Or will he take it standing up—on the chin, as it were?"

Dignities attend a President in office. But we think there are ways in which a President may with dignity take the stump.

Especially may he speak for himself when no one else can speak for him with effect. Granting an engaging eloquence to Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills does not grant powers over popular assemblages to a man groomed for national service under Andrew Mellon, to an author and the chief collector of the oppressive taxes afflicting the country and to the successor of his father as a Wall Street banker and financier.

Mills will not do; Borah declines to serve; Hughes is Chief Justice of the United States Supreme court. Nowhere else than in the White House do we see the Republican who, toward President Hoover's justification, can command the people's intent and respectful hearing. Then, the challenge from Roosevelt is direct and personal which calls the Hoover prohibition change pussyfoot words and dares the Republican national committee to send the Hoover speech accepting the nomination to every farmer in the United States.

The answer that the President will take the stump is the manly one, exacted by the circumstances. Of course, Hoover has not proved an adept politician. In the nature of things, he is not a statesman. As a man stewing in his own juice though still defiant and fighting, his case can command little sympathy.

But one thing is certain, as the result of the Roosevelt drive and the announcement that the President will take the stump. That is, the "pussyfooting" days are over. Voters this year want facts and clean cut statements. They won't be satisfied with platitudes.

THE MAGIC AIR MAIL

America has attained a dominating position in air transport among the nations of the world mainly through the development of the air mail. It has made commercial transcontinental airways possible.

The air transport system has established a splendid record of safety and scheduled regularity while growing to the point where it is now averaging 125,000 flying miles a day.

Vast as this system has become in a few short years it is still only a skeleton of what it will be eventually. The postoffice and commerce departments and the transport owners dream of a system linking every city in the United States. Even now the government is working on a program with a stated objective of 25,000 miles of trunk lines lighted for night flying.

Public patronage sufficient to pay the cost of the service is assured, while the perfection of a complete airway system, the promotion of aviation as an industry and the building up of a reserve force of planes, pilots and mechanics for any national emergency justify the government in building landing fields and installing beacons.

Back and forth and up and down across the continent stretch blinking chains of powerful beacons blazing the trail of the night mail, a comparatively youthful enterprise, but one which is already an integral part of the nation's transportation system and economic structure.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Praise ye the Lord. O give thanks unto the Lord; for He is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.—Psalm 106:1.

Undernourishment Is Feared

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — To the question, "Is there much actual starvation in the ranks of the unemployed?" the answer is "Yes," or "No," depending on ones definition of "starvation." The question comes up following President Hoovers conference on welfare relief.

Not many folk are collapsing on the street and dying forthwith, unmistakably from lack of food, and no other assignable cause whatever.

There is an occasional case of it, but it creates a sensation.

Chas. P. Stewart

Students of the human aspects of the depression, however, virtually are agreed that slow starvation is widespread among jobless workers and their dependents.

As Dr. O. E. Baker, senior economist of the agriculture department, discussing the effect of prolonged undernourishment upon the future vigor of the nation, remarked to me the other day. "The great danger is that thousands of men even if better times do come, will be broken in health beyond employability. And their children? The damage will not end with our generation."

VIEWING the situation scientifically, it was with the problem as one of years that Dr. Baker chiefly concerned himself.

A survey contained in the latest issue of the magazine "Fortune," predicting an army of 25,000,000 destitute before winter is over and declaring that preparations to care for them are totally inadequate, deals with it as an emergency to be met within the next three months or less.

The Washington consensus is that "Fortune" does not exaggerate greatly, if any.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor already has estimated that the writer's total of unemployed will reach 13,000,000. A. F. of L. spokesmen agree that an allowance of 12,000,000 of dependents upon this number is moderate.

Red Cross investigators at first expressed the opinion that the 25,000,000 figure was high, but, upon consideration, inclined to accept it as reasonable, assuming President Green's calculation to be accurate.

THE REV. DR. JOHN A. RYAN, director of the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare conference, takes the most conservative view of any of the capital's recognized authorities on the subject.

"Most workers who lost their jobs early in the depression must now be completely penniless, but by no means all of today's unemployed have been idle for so long a period," he points out, "and the more recent victims of the crisis probably have some savings left. Besides, unmarried folk have been considerably harder hit than the married, which cuts down the roll of dependents.

"I would not place the likely total of the beginning of the winter's utterly destitute much above 15,000,000, possibly rising to 20,000,000 later."

SURPRISINGLY, perhaps, workers for the Red Cross, which has been quite freely accused of lukewarmth in jointing in relief activities, acquiesce very readily in complaints of national neglect to prepare for the coming winter—though mindful to warn questioners against quoting them in their criticisms.

"The federal relief fund of $300,000,000 for the season will work out," said a member of the organization's staff, "at $12 per person, supposing that 25,000,000 need aid.

"Obviously such a sum, even if doubled or trebled locally, will not feed any man, woman or child through the winter.

"And what about shelter and clothing?"

The worker chanced to be a veteran of pre-war days, when the Red Cross administered famine relief in the Orient.

"Could a Chinese family," I asked, "have survived on what it is proposed to allot here, to last to springtime?"

"Yes, a Chinese family could," conceded the functionary, "but a Chinese family is accustomed to living—if it can be called living—exclusively on a rice diet, and not much of it. I wouldn't like to try to make it do in this country, unless I were willing to start a revolution."

AND IS THERE risk of disorders in the United States if the pinch is too severe?

National Organizer R. B. Ellison of the Khaki Shirts of America, the offspring of the B. E. F.'s stay in Washington, almost seems to hint at it.

Issuing an appeal to governors of the 48 commonwealths to establish state camps to shelter and feed the unemployed while severe weather continues, at least, he adds that otherwise "serious disturbances will, in all probability, ensue."

The Red Cross worker, referred to above, spoke favorably of this plan.

"The government's contributions of wheat," he suggested, "might, for example, have considerable value at a state unemployment camp. Wheat— or flour—is practically wasted in a city. A farm family can use it, but urban dwellers lack facilities to make a raw food product edible.

"At an encampment, cotton also might be serviceable. It has small utility in a city tenement."

AS FOR a permanent solution of unemployment, however, "Not even the surface of the problem," President Green of the A. F. of L., "has been scratched.

"Shortening work hours is the first step toward it.

"Up to 1919 shortening hours kept fairly even pace with reductions in work time through machinery, but between 1919 and 1929 work time needed was shortened three times faster than in the decades before, and the length of the work week was not readjusted.

"We cannot tell exactly what the work week should be when prosperity returns. Certainly it should be no longer than five days of eight hours each; probably shorter.

"Nevertheless, in 1932, 48 hours is actually the average full time work week. In the present emergency the work week can be no longer than 30 hours if all are to have work."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

AN UNCROSSED ARTERY: Market Street, the "Main Street" of San Francisco, is unique in that no street actually crosses it between Church Street, near the hills, and the famous Ferry Building on the Bay. It marks a sharp division in the planning of the other streets. On one side of Market the side streets branch off at various angles, while on the other they branch directly at right angles, but no street runs across it for a distance of about four miles, practically its entire length.

THE OLDEST WOODEN BOX: In August, 1931, when workmen were excavating for the new subway at 8th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, the remains of a remarkably old cypress forest were encountered at a depth of about 60 feet. The forest grew before the Third Glacial Period, about 100,000 years ago, in the days of the extinct mammoth. Identification of the kind and age of wood has been made by the National Museum of Washington, and the Academy of Natural Science in Philadelphia.

The box I illustrated was fashioned from this fossil wood. It is the property of J. W. Keller of Philadelphia, who is donating a duplicate to the Believe It or Not Odditorium in New York City.

EARWALKERS: The acoustic organ of the Acridiid Grasshopper is situated a little over the articulation of the hind leg, very close to the spot where the insect's sound organ is located. The ear, which resembles the human ear in shape, is very delicately attuned to vibrations.

THE 100,000-MILE TIRES: A few years ago the Merchants Biscuit Company of Denver, Colorado, purchased a dual-drive delivery truck equipped with six standard automobile tires, and when the truck was sold recently it still had the original tires, although the speedometer reading was 100,928 miles. In all that distance the driver, Wendell F. Ellsworth, never had to change a tire on the road and only minor shop repairs were made.

Interesting Bits Of News And Comment From Austin

BY R. W. BARRY

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (AP)—Considerable jockeying of possible candidates for congressman from the fifteenth district in event John N. Garner is elected vice-president of the United States is going on.

Robert Lee Bobbitt of Laredo, former attorney general of Texas, is one of the latest probable candidates to be mentioned. Others include Milton West of Brownsville, member of the Texas house of representatives; Hal Brennan of Laredo former state commander of the American Legion; W. R. Montgomery of Edinburg, former member of the Texas house of representatives and Harry Hornsby, editor of Garner's home town Uvalde leader.

Garner has been nominated to succeed himself in congress and if he is not elected with Franklin D. Roosevelt on the Democratic national ticket he will keep on being congressman. In case he is elected he will not resign from congress before inauguration day on next March 4. Until then he would continue to serve as speaker of the national house. A special election would be called by the governors to fill the congressional vacancy.

F. C. Weinert of Seguin, member of the Texas house of representatives and nominated for re-election by the Democratis, is engaged in a contest with his Republican predecessor, Reno Eickenroht, also of Seguin in the general election. Eickenroht lost his place in the house when he became a candidate two years ago in the general election as a Republican for the senate seat left vacant by A. J. Wirtz of his home town and now filled by Senator W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales.

Representative George Coltrin of Mathis was defeated for re-nomination to the Texas house, but he still hopes to be a "member" of the 43rd legislature. He is a candidate for chaplain of the house. Mr. Coltrin not only is a newspaper publisher in his home town, but he is a minister of the Gospel.

While W. T. Savage of Dallas, Cowe Stevenson of Junction and A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs were campaigning during the recent special session with member of the next legislature for speaker of the house, Coltrin was mixing about in the interest of his "praying" candidacy.

An 83-year-old negro driving a broken-down horse was arrested as a "hit-and-run" driver in Dallas, when a wheel of his cart passed over a boy's foot and he failed to stop.

Payment Of Claim Is Vetoed As Passed By Extra Session

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling today vetoed a bill passed by the third special session of the Texas legislature which appropriated $1,023.13 out of the sand, shell and gravel fund of the state in payment of a claim of the city of Texas City. It was house bill number 30.

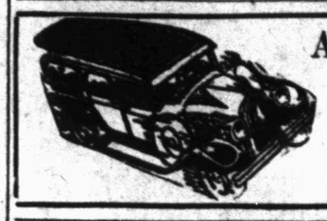

"I refused to submit . . . the claim to the special session of the legislature, and asked that it be not introduced," Governor Sterling said in his veto notation. "Many other members of the legislature made similar requests on like claims which I declined to submit. The . . . claim was nevertheless introduced and put through the legislature.

"In justice and fairness to the other members of the legislature who complied with my request and who did not introduce their respective claims, and in fairness to the holders of the various claims, I hereby veto this bill."

ESCAPED CONVICT

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 23. (AP)—Arrested as a narcotic suspect, Alberto Rodriguez, 31, was identified here today as an escaped convict from the Texas penitentiary. He escaped Aug. 19, 1929.

Cotton Net Declines In Cotton Trading Livestock Cattle Supplies Limited Friday Grain Break In Wheat Prices Is Seen

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23. (AP)—Cotton fluctuated nervously in less active trading today, working lower in the afternoon to show net declines of 10 to 31 points at the close. The bureau report of 9,530 running bales ginned prior to September 16 was not as large as expected but weekly statistics on mill takings were disappointing.

Manchester cabled there was an increased inquiry for cloth and a good business is expected on the final settlement of the mill strike.

Prices rallied on the census ginnings figures and an advance in stocks. December advanced to 7.41 and January to 7.55, 20 to 22 points from the lows and 2 to 4 points above the previous close.

The market turned easier with stocks and grain in the middle of the afternoon and December dropped to 7.32 and January to 7.33, 19 to 20 points under the highs and then fluctuated nervously for the balance of the session within the previous range but near the lows. December finally closed at 7.33, down 18 points net for the day.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 4 to 6 penny points down.

Port receipts 104,849, for week 386,543, for season 3,141,823, last season 882,632. Exports 10,309, for week 131,277, for season 951,477, last season 838,223. Port stock 497,782, last year 2,181,264. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 119,189, last year 76,-97. Spot sales at southern markets 54,-31, last year 82,316.

Stocks Pull Away From Sag In Other Divisions And Close With Bare Gains

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. (AP) — Stocks pulled away from a sag in commodity prices during today's late trading and closed with a fair average gain.

Through most of the session the market was higher, under leadership of rail and steel issues, but nervousness of wheat and cotton had a dampening effect around mid-afternoon and extreme advances of 1 to 3 points were virtually cancelled. However, a strong demonstration by the motor group in the final dealings proved a good tonic and numerous pivotal issues in all groups finished with next advances of a point or slightly more. Turnover dropped to 2,913,790 shares.

Cotton lost about a dollar a bale on the day, being under considerable pressure from hedge sales. Wheat's net decline amounted to minor fractions of a cent.

Strength of rails reflected Wall street's confidence that tomorrow's car loadings report, covering the week ended Sept. 17, would disclose a larger than seasonal gain and brokers estimates, compiled from available returns, placed the probable jump at 80,000 cars or more.

The weekly business reviews continued to write cheerfully of retail and wholesale trade accomplishments and prospects, although the disappointing status of steel operations and some other heavy industries makes less pleasant reading.

C. E. Ackerman of Clovis, a poultry judge, has been selected as judge for the 19th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair September 26-October 1. He will judge the poultry entries.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23. (AP)—Supplies of beef steers and yearlings were very limited in the day's trade and values remained unchanged. Kansas City noted a load of choice 1368 lb. steers up to 9.60, and a few loads around the circuit were included in a spread of 6.50@8.35. Receipts of 230,800 cattle at eleven markets this week marks the largest number of arrivals for the season. Values on choice weighty steers and plain grade grass steers were not altered to an appreciable extent, but in-between grades were punished materially.

Chicago recorded a hog top of 4.60. The majority of desirable fat lambs went at 4.50@4.75 and a few closely sorted kinds at 5.85@6.00. Feeders bulked at 4.25@5.35.

field line, reaching third by an eyelash. Bolton took second on the throw.

The third sacker drew a walk, filling the bases. Boss hoisted to center and Reese hastened home with the tieing run, Bolton squeezed second while this was going on. Then Wilburn sent a long drive to right center. Fritz, who had already made two fast catches against the ropes, made a valiant try but the ball just eluded his finger tips into the crowd. Bolton raced home from second and the game was over.

Tense situations abandoned throughout the contest, opportunity knocking at the door of each team several times, but fast fielding and steady pitching in the pinches shut off the runs.

The assault complaint alleged the officers did "choke, wound, and bruise" the lawyer. A dentist and a medical doctor were among seven state witnesses listed. The case cannot come up for trial before Oct. 3.

Croft and Smith went to the sheriff's office to make bond, it was reported.

mately 55,000 persons who allegedly voted illegally.

Trial of the case was expected to require several weeks. What effect such a delay would have on outcome of the general election was conjectural.

It was believed by some lawyers that the next move on the part of the governor would be application for an injunction restraining Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, from certifying Mrs. Ferguson as the nominee until court action was had on the suit. Under the law, Mrs. McCallum must certify the nominees thirty days before the general election, which will be November 8 this year.

It was possible the general election ballots would be minus a Democratic candidate for governor, should the controversy between Sterling and Mrs. Ferguson still be in progress.

Jury Ponders Fate Of Covington In Murder Trial After Dramatic Pleas Of Defense And State Late Friday

scene of the crime. Further, state witnesses declared that Covington, if he were there, did not shoot but instead told of recognizing the other two defendants, Hugh Walker and 'Barber John' Richardson, at the scene of the murder and ascribed the shooting to them.

Defense Offers Alibi

While prosecution was introducing testimony in an effort to show that Covington was the driver of the 'death car' on the night of May 30, when Brown, 54, was murdered, and that the car belonged to the defendant, the defense introduced testimony of its own in refutation. Covington's lawyers, through defense witnesses, offered an alibi to the effect that Covington was in Lubbock at the time of the killing at Woodrow, about 10 miles south of the city.

Closing for the state late yesterday Durwood H. Bradley, outgoing district attorney, made what lawyers and listeners agreed was the best speech of his legal career. Repeating the state's plea for the death penalty, the prosecutor urged the jury's aid in "riding Lubbock county of outrageous gangsters" as he swung along in summing up the most sensational murder case heard in Lubbock since the Ross-Good trials in 1923.

Calls Trio "Gangsters"

"I want you to help me clean this gang up and get them out of Lubbock county," Bradley shouted to the jury in the closing remarks of his speech. "It tell you it's a gang and they don't care anything about civil law.

"One of the defense attorneys told you he wanted to remove the stain from the Covington name," the district attorney said. "Gentlemen of the jury, I'm here to tell you that I want you to remove the stain from Lubbock county's name."

Bradley's dramatic appeal for conviction came after five hours of argument by other members of the state and defense counsel. During all that time, the courtroom was filled to overflowing with interested spectators. Court attaches said it was one of the largest crowds ever to attend a trial in Lubbock county.

Defense Has Inning

Members of the defense counsel preceeded Bradley and made demands on the jury to acquit the defendant, declaring that outside of the testimony of G. A. Ross, chief prosecution witness, that no evidence had been entered to prove Covington's guilt. Each attorney described Ross as "a liar, a viper and a snake."

"When thieves fall out among themselves, that's when we begin to learn things," Mr. Bradley declared as he admitted that Ross was one of the four men at the scene of the killing. "The state does not take the position that Ross is not guilty," he continued. "I have no more respect for him than you do but I have no apologies to make for his testimony. I want to know by what authority the attorneys of the defense criticize me for doing what the law and the courts allow me to do.

"If Ross' testimony was not admissable, then his honor who sits on the bench would have excluded it," Bradley said in answer to defense argument.

"I'll Look After Ross"

"I hope to suceed by your help in breaking up this gang of hi-jackers and murderers in Lubbock county," he said. "I knew full well when I entered into this agreement with Ross that he would be the man who would be tried by the defense, so remember, gentlemen of the jury, the defendant on trial in this case is Jess Covington. Now you let me handle Ross and you take care of the defendant. There may be some other things that we can tack on to Ross."

Bradley became so heatedly serious in his speech that he took off his coat at this point.

"In this court this defendant has had a fair trial," he continued, "but in the court Frank Brown was tried in, he didn't get a fair trial."

Bradley then reviewed the testimony in the case and declared "we have corroborated with honest men, sons of toil like you, that he (Ross) did tell you the truth" and added, "that's the thing that's hurting them is this corroborative testimony."

Trick Of The Trade

Charging that it was "a trick of the trade and a trick of the profession" for defense attorneys to "poison the minds of jurors" and seek mercy from them for a defendant, Bradley shouted, "Oh, Great God above, wake up these men, show them the light. How long will the juries of this county be deceived?

"Frank Brown is dead and his blood's on the ground out there, unavenged. It's your duty to convict and I ask death to avenge death. You talk about mercy, did they show "Leather Hat" Brown any mercy? We've got these murderers together now, so gentlemen of the jury, let's rid Lubbock county of these outrageous gangsters."

W. F. Schenck, chief defense attorney, preceded Bradley and charged in his argument that the state had made no effort to connect Covington with the crime in testimony and pointed to Ross as the man who committed the actual crime.

"Ross is the man who did it and I believe I can walk up to him and point my finger at him and say that conscientiously," Schenck declared. "And he's the only thing they have in this case.

"We say your man's a liar," he said as he turned to the prosecution. And he then launched upon an attack of Ross and his testimony.

"Who said Jess Covington went to Woodrow? — Ross!" Schenck shouted. "Who said he was driving his car?—Ross! Who said he carried the 30-30 to the scene of the killing?—Ross!"

Gives The Same Answer

And then throughout his speech, he would ask other similar questions and give the same answer.

Schenck charged Ross' statements were contradictory and that "you might as well believe one as the other." He read a portion of two statements made previous to the trial by Ross, who gave different versions of his story of disposal of his 30-30 Winchester. He said he had sold it to "some New Mexico boys" in the two statements.

"He and his New Mexico crowd might have done it" (the murder), Schenck declared. "Ross knows better than anybody and so do his confederates."

He pointed to Ross as the man who did the actual shooting because "he had the blood on his coat." He accused Ross of planting the guns in the lakes and then showing the officers where they were.

Ben Kucera, one of the defense attorneys appointed by the state preceded Schenck.

Defense Is Innocence

He said the "principal defense is not alibi but the defendant's innocence of the crime for which he is charged."

"Let's see what you have by leaving his (Ross) testimony out," Kucera said, launching into an analysis of the state's testimony in which he attempted to show that there was no evidence to connect Covington with the crime.

"No one has attempted to identify Jess Covington as one of the men there that night," Kucera continued. "Now on circumstances of that kind, could you gentlemen connect this defendant up with this crime?"

Attacks Ross' Testimony

"I don't know how you feel on the testimony Ross gave," he added. "I know that without that testimony, you cannot convict this defendant of this crime."

He attacked the testimony of the Hiltons in the trial and said "they took the witness stand, the best coached witnesses I ever saw, and I'm not saying the state coached them. But they talked over their story among themselves."

"I trust that after you have taken all the evidence and applied it to the court's law that you will find the defendant not guilty," he concluded.

R. J. Allen, another appointed defense attorney, had opened the arguments for Covington.

He charged that Ross had planted the guns in the lakes and later had shown the officers where they were "in order to clear himself."

Pointing to Covington's invalid mother, his wife and other relatives, Allen declared that "this family is waiting for you to wipe the stigma of this accusation from the family name."

Allen was followed by A. E. Geppert of Teague, who said he had been employed by Covington's uncle.

Geppert claimed the court's charge "could only be construed as an instructed verdict" for the defendant and that "the court had admirably stated the law."

"Quiver Like a Snake"

Pointing to the defendant, Geppert asked, "Down in his heart, do you think he is a murderer or a hi-jacker? No, he's not like Ross, whose very lips quiver like a snake. And the law has stamped upon himself what he is. He is not worthy of the belief and that's what the court tells you."

Geppert's main contention was that the state had failed to show that the defendant was present at the time of the commission of the crime.

"Who says," he shouted, "outside of that viper Ross that the defendant was acting with others in the commission of the offense? If you believe he was lying (referring to Ross' statement about the men going to collect some money) then you can't afford to believe any of it, you know to be false, at least in part."

Geppert then referred to the district attorney's agreement with Ross and then charged "you gentlemen know he's lying."

Bradley Takes Offense

District Attorney Bradley jumped up at this statement and inquired of Geppert if he was referring to him. Geppert assured him that he wasn't but was talking about Ross.

Geppert admitted the defense move of filing a charge against Ross in the Lindsey robbery case.

"You can't guess a man guilty," Geppert said as he closed, "and remember this, no one has seen Covington out of Lubbock on that day except Ross. When you eliminate that viper's testimony, you only have the defendant riding around town that afternoon with Hugh Walker."

Burks Talks Briefly

Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, made a brief argument for the state, charging that the defense alibi "won't hold water."

"The fact that the defendant was at Robinson's house at 9:45 doesn't show that he wasn't at the Hilton residence at 9 o'clock," Burks said, pointing out that the distance was "only about 10 miles."

Admitting that Ross was an accomplice, Burks asked as did Vickers in his argument, "Isn't it better to convict three murderers and let one go than to let all four go?"

"If there ever was a corroboration in the history of Texas, we have produced it in this case," Vickers declared after tracing step by step testimony in the case. "I believe the hand of Almighty God asserts itself in every murder case. When Frank Brown was shot down like a dog out there that night, he cried out 'My God' as he stumbled and fell dead."

Then, as Vickers traced evidence in the case and cited instances where he said guilt pointed to the defendant he would repeat, "The hand of God, gentlemen of the jury, going and writing across the face of that man (pointing to the defendant) 'murder.'"

"Those fellows out there that night passed the sentence of death on Frank Brown. Gentlemen of the jury, an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and a life for a life," Vickers said. "Common justice asks that the same sentence be assessed in this case."

That the defense attempt to prove an alibi "completed the state's case" was claimed by Vickers, who quoted a statement attributed to Walker about "45 miles in 45 minutes."

"That engineer Covington over there (pointing his finger at the defendant) had put that murder car through with all it had," he shouted. "And like murderers and hi-jackers will, they wanted some liquor . . . Wanted something to brace themselves with." Defense witnesses testified Covington and Walker had gone to the Frank Robinson home for beer.

"I don't blame a dutiful wife," Vickers continued, "for trying to do anything to keep her husband from the electric chair for a damnable crime he committed against himself, his wife, his invalid mother, the state, and the widow and children of the slain man. No wonder she would say she went riding with him from that time until 'around 9 o'clock.'"

As Vickers finished his argument, Mrs. F. V. Brown, widow of the slain man, came to the attorneys' table and shook his hand. Her daughter, Mrs. Billie Harris, was with her.

"In this case the state relies on circumstantial evidence," the court's charge said as it instructed the jury to consider Ross as an accomplice and gave three channels through which the jurors might make their decision.

Choice Listed

They were: confinement for life, or any period of years not less than two, or death if malice aforethought is shown; not less than two years or more than five if malice is not shown and acquittal if the defendant is found not guilty.

The court said the defendant was not required under law to take the stand in his own behalf and instructed the jury as follows: "his failure to testify can not be considered by you as a circumstance tending to show his guilt, and you must not consider for any purpose, allude to, comment on or discuss in your retirement the failure of the defendant to so testify in this case."

The court's charge was read after Walter Price had been put on the stand as the final defense witness.

Price testified he sold Covington a 1932 model Chevrolet car, that it had black wheels and that he (Price) tried to sell it for Covington a few days after the date of Brown's death. He said the car was a dark green with black fenders and top.

On cross-examination, Price said he did not know what kind of wheels the car had the night of May 30.

Curtis Offers Plan Of Party

Republican Campaign Opened In Kentucky By Vice President; Hoover Legislation Is Given Praise

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Sept. 23 (AP)—Opening the Republican campaign in Kentucky here today, vice-president Charles Curtis declared agriculture and manufacturers are mutually dependent on each other and without conflict of interest.

"Agriculture and manufacturers should go hand in hand," he said, "the one enriches the other, the one trades with the other. There is no conflict of interest."

Speaking in part of Kentucky that depends largely on agriculture, tobacco, livestock and farming, as well as stone quarrying and oil, the Republican vice-presidential candidate praised his party's legislation designed to further farm relief, commended its tariff principles, advocated a national co-operative system for farmers and consumers, and told of the Reconstruction finance corporation.

He praised President Hoover's moves to stabilize currency after Great Britain went off the gold standard. He traced the movement of the tariff on farm products, declaring President Wilson vetoed in his last months in office a Republican bill for emergency tariff farm products and that Wilson also vetoed extension of the war finance corporation but the bill later passed over his veto.

Declaring Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt said in his recent Topeka, Kansas, speech that the Fordney-McCumber tariff shut off the normal tide of trade, Curtis asserted American exports under the Fordney-McCumber tariff act were five billion dollars in the year epding in June, 1929, and were two and one-half billion dollars in the last year of the Underwood tariff act.

"I have not commented upon Governor Roosevelt's farm relief plan," Curtis said, "because he has submitted none. He refers to several plans that have been discussed for years and leaves them for further discussion."

WISE EARLY BIRD

NEBRASKA CITY, Nebr.—"The early bird gets the worm," but here's one that gets his pancakes. Every morning a certain redbird taps energetically and persistently at the window of George C. Eicher, until the latter gets up and provides food for him. The cardinal then departs caroling merrily, little suspecting that his meal ticket has only been vacationing, and is soon to depart.

BUT THE PROOF

PETERSBURG, Ind.—This may be a fish story, but John Marshee claims that he caught two catfish on a single hook. The first fish, he explained, took the bait but it slipped through his gill. Catfish No. 2 gulped down the bait and hook as Marshee was pulling up the first one. Each fish weighed five pounds, he said.

FROM CONTENTED COWS

NELSON, B. C.—Most cows are satisfied with hay, but one that relishes federal lettuce caused George Fieldhouse considerable financial embarrassment. Returning home recently, he discovered he had lost his wallet, containing four ten-dollar and two two-dollar bills. Retrieving his steps, he came across a cow contentedly munching his money. He managed to save only one 10-dollar bill and a two-dollar bill.

Hoover Seeks C. Of C. Help

U. S. Chamber Is Asked To Aid In Decreasing Unemployment And Help Business; Better Times Predicted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. (AP) — President Hoover today sought the aid of the United States Chamber of Commerce in the move to decrease unemployment and spread business activity.

Henry I. Harriman, president of the chamber, after a conference at the White House, said Mr. Hoover had suggested any aid his organization might lend the special business and industrial committees in decreasing unemployment, speeding railroad purchases, and aiding business recovery would be appreciated.

Harriman said he had reported to the president that "business is distinctly looking up, and there are signs of improvement in many sections but we are not sure how long this sweep will last."

"The midwest is now the sore spot," Harriman said he told the president. "In New England we have 100,000 textile workers on the job who were not working two months ago. The electric power business is a good indication, and September will show more business there than in the same period last year.

"Texas is happier and Southern California is doing more business than heretofore. For the first time in two years sales of real estate are picking up in Southern California. The mid-west is the sore spot but that will get better, too."

The rubber industry annually uses about 385,000,000 pounds of cotton.

Indictments Made In Harris County

HOUSTON, Sept. 23. (AP)—Indictments returned today by the Harris county grand jury included a murder charge against Dr. Sam Cruse, Cleveland, Texas, dentist, and a robbery by fire arms charge against Ernest Gray, now held in Mobile, Ala., and Ivey Morgan, in connection with the holdup of the the Spring State bank, May 24.

Dr. Cruse, a member of a prominent East Texas family, was named as the slayer of W. E. Sharp, 23, in connection with a fight here Sept. 3. Sharp died Sept. 9 from the effects of a bullet wound.

Gray and Morgan were named by the grand jury as the two bandits who staged the daylight holdup of the bank at Spring May 24, and escaped with $7,380.75.

The indictment against Gray listed numerous aliases, including Roy Norton, Barney Gray, Charles E. Gray, Jack Terry and J. D. Mason.

H. D. Brown, cashier of the bank, and Miss Mavis Sibley, 16 year old bookkeeper, had identified Morgan as one of the bandits, when they were shown pictures of the pair July 26.

Go And Look For What You've Lost

BORGER, Sept. 23. (AP)—If you want to find goods that have been stolen from you, go look for them, advises Mrs. R. F. Beckham of Borger.

Mrs. Beckham went to look at a vacant house that was advertised for rent, and there found quilts, dishes, fancy work and other articles which were stolen from her residence almost a year ago.

Bodies Of Man And Woman Are Recovered From River

KERRVILLE, Sept. 23. (AP) —The bodies of Miss Cleo McCallum and her escort, Fred Tullos, were recovered today from Johnson fork of the Guadalupe river, in which they drowned last night when the car in which they tried to cross a flood-swept bridge seven miles from Kerrville, plunged into the stream.

A man who witnessed the accident expressed the opinion they did not realize the stream had risen dangerously. They had crossed the bridge safely a few hours before and were returning when they lost their lives.

The car was carried downstream nearly half a mile. It was wrecked by the battering it received in the high water.

Contracts for road construction amounting to $2,147,000 were let by the Georgia highway commission as an initial move for unemployment relief.

Seven Hundred Farmers In Lamb Using Acala Cotton

(By Staff Correspondent)

AMHERST, Sept. 23.—Seven hundred Lamb county farmers this year are using Acala cotton exclusively on their farms, according to D. A. Adam, county agent.

This large number is the result of 92 farmers last year planting an experimental plot. So successful were the results of the plots that other farmers decided to use the same type of seed, Mr. Adam explained.

Most of the seed planted this year was one year from state certification. A considerable amount of seed was shipped in by farmers from certified breeders.

Boy Scout Leaders Are To Meet In City On Wednesday

To obtain more concrete information concerning the objectives of a 10-year program launched this year by the national council of the Boy Scouts of America, Boy Scout executives and volunteer leaders will meet at 1:30 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon in the Hilton hotel, W. G. McMillan, South Plains Area council president, has announced.

Minor Huffman, deputy regional executive, is to speak. Dr. Bradford Knapp, Texas Technological college president, possibly will appear on the program. Doctor Knapp is particularly interested in rural scouting, Mr. McMillan said.
