Missle Buildup Claimed

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP)—The chief of Israel's military intelligence department claimed today that Egypt and the Soviet Union "have set up one of the most advanced missile systems in the world" along the Suez Canal.

Gen. Aharon Yariv estimated that 500 to 600 missile launchers have had been constructed inside the 30-mile zone just west of the canal in violation of the cease-fire ban on improvement of military positions in this zone.

He said the Soviet missile system in Vietnam was much inferior to the Suez Canal defenses.

In a rare on-the-record news conference with foreign newsmen, Yariv also estimated there are about 3,000 Soviet technicians, advisers and other personnel in the standstill zone.

At the same time he appeared to confirm U. S. newspaper reports that Washington had just sold Israel a large quantity of armor and artillery. In reply to a question, he smilingly admitted that if the reports were accurate, "technically this is an important contribution" toward offsetting Egypt's new missile advantage.

Yariv displayed maps and aerial photographs which he said showed the missile buildup.

Yariv claimed that since the cease-fire took effect Aug. 7, the number of missile batteries had increased from 16 to 40 or 50.

Of these about 40 are inside the standstill zone which extends 18 miles from the western side of the Suez Canal, he added.

He contended that the 500-600 launchers had been placed within these 40 or so batteries in the standstill zone, with the closest being seven miles from the canal.

Yariv added that these missiles had a range of 12 miles inside the Israeli-occupied side of the waterway.

He said he based his information on "various intelligence sources" which he refused to detail.

At the same time, the Egyptians also were moving more artillery into the standstill zone in violation of the agreement, as Soviet arms continued to pour into Egypt, he claimed.

Replying to a question, he said Israel had observed the cease-fire and standstill faithfully.

IN FORCING ISRAELI WITHDRAWAL

Egypt Seeks UN Help

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Egypt sought today to enlist the U.N. General Assembly in its drive to force Israel out of the territory it took from Egypt, Jordan and Syria in the 1967 war.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad was to be the opening speaker in an assembly debate on the situation in the Middle East. Egypt asked for the debate.

Riad said he would demand "real implementation of the resolution" the Security Council adopted Nov. 22, 1967. It calls for Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories and Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist as a nation.

Acting at Egypt's request, a group of other African delegates have drawn up a resolution demanding that Israel resume the indirect talks with Egypt and Jordan which U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring arranged with himself as go-between. The resolution calls for a report to the assembly in two months, in effect giving Israel that length of time to end her boycott.

The resolution accuses the Israelis of obstructing Jarring's efforts, declares the acquisition of territory by force "inadmissible" and says Israel's continued occupation cannot be permitted.

"This proposal, obviously Arab inspired, must be rejected out of hand," said an Israeli official in Jerusalem. Others said the African authors of the resolution should try to get the Soviet-Egyptian missiles removed from the Suez Canal zone "instead of always pointing the finger of blame at us."

Israel has said repeatedly that it will not return to the Jarring talks until Egypt pulls back Soviet antiaircraft missiles which Israel and the United States charge have been moved closer to the Suez Canal in violation of the three-month cease-fire that began Aug. 7.

Indications were given Sunday that the United States is still backing Israel in that position. U.S. sources said: "There are violations, and rectification remains necessary."

For that reason they said, Secretary of State William P. Rogers opposed calling for a specific date for resumption of Jarring's mission in the statement issued after the dinner Secretary-General U Thant gave Friday night for Rogers, Foreign Ministers Andrei A. Gromyko of the Soviet Union and Maurice Schumann of France, and British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Nixon's Health Attitude Deathly, Says Cornely

By C. G. MCDANIEL
AP Science Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "President Nixon's attitude toward health has been deathly," the president of the American Public Health Association said Sunday.

"He hasn't done a thing for health," Dr. Paul B. Cornely averred at a press conference.

Cornely, professor of community health practice at Howard University, Washington, D. C., said voluntary health organizations are going to have to become active politically in order to promote health interests.

Nixon, he said, "has the capability of using words people like to hear and not doing anything about it—words such as 'world harmony' and 'bring us together.'"

"I don't know anytime I've been so disgusted as in the past several years," Cornely said.

The APHA, which opened its 98th annual meeting today has voted to move its national headquarters from New York to Washington in a step to exert more continuous influence on health affairs in the capital. The organization is broadly based and includes workers in all health fields.

Cornely, citing the example and influence of the American Medical Association, urged that voluntary health organizations which depend upon public contributions be more politically and socially active to get government to do "what needs to be done for the health of the people."

He suggested in a prepared speech for Monday's opening session that organizations such as the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association set aside 10 to 20 per cent of the funds they collect for political education.

If these varied health organizations cannot come together in such a common effort, Cornely said," They do not deserve the support of the hundreds of thousands who annually provide their subsistence."

Cornely listed what he said are four major hidden enemies of health in the United States: national addiction to the abundant life; perversion of democracy; pollution of the mind, and racism.

The addiction to the abundant life, he said, "has engulfed all of us" and added that the health professional is no exception.

Nixon Puts Own Prestige On Line

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon believes his kind of campaigning may prove persuasive with vital, undecided voters in the Nov. 3 elections, and he is testing that judgment in 22 states, urging "the great silent majority to stand up and be counted" for Republican candidates.

It is a major political gamble.

The President's late campaign sprint makes his own prestige one of the issues. It puts him out front, as Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had been, as the visible symbol of the GOP.

As Agnew put it, "I'm tremendously vulnerable" to the blame if Republicans fare badly. So, now, is Nixon himself.

White House officials say Nixon decided early in October to plunge actively into the campaign, a role he had assigned Agnew from the beginning.

"I knew he was going to come into the latter part of the campaign," Agnew said.

"The President has only done a light brush across the country," the vice president said. "I've been the virtually full time operator."

Nixon's campaign schedule involves a total of eight days; Agnew has been at it since Sept. 10. The vice president is covering at least 30 states, more than 30,000 miles, with more than 50 major appearances.

While the political risk factor is increased by Nixon's personal campaign, one White House official said the gamble was always there.

As he explained it, whether or not Nixon campaigned personally in closely contested states, the outcome of the congressional elections would be interpreted as victory or defeat for the administration.

There was, therefore, nothing to lose.

"I have never seen as many undecided voters in the polls ...," Nixon said, discussing his campaign in Columbus, Ohio.

S-Viets Launch New Offensive

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Spearheaded by two armored columns and supported by American artillery, 6,000 South Vietnamese troops pushed into the war-ravaged Cambodian town of Snuol today in a new offensive.

Informed sources said the American 175mm and 8-inch artillery guns were firing from bases in Vietnam, and there were no American troops with the advancing Vietnamese.

Action was reported light as the drive began Sunday. Two North Vietnamese and a South Vietnamese were reported killed in a brief clash four miles southeast of Snuol, and another South Vietnamese was wounded.

The new dry season offensive by Saigon's forces nearly doubles their strength in Cambodia to half a dozen task forces totaling 17,500 troops. They are operating along three key highways used by the North Vietnamese as supply and infiltration routes into the southern half of South Vietnam.

South Vietnamese headquarters claimed a total of 139 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed in Cambodia since another operation began Saturday. The offensive is aimed at countering a North Vietnamese threat to Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces, a region from which American forces are being withdrawn rapidly.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese losses so far are three killed and 31 wounded, a kill ratio of 46 enemy to one South Vietnamese.

The South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia are operating in the Fish Hook region 80 miles north of Saigon and in the Parrot's Beak 50 miles west of Saigon.

Informed sources said American observation planes had spotted "considerable activity" in the Mimot area, and other intelligence information indicated up to a regiment of North Vietnamese troops operating around Snuol.

There are indications, the sources said, that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are trying to move back into the base areas from which American and South Vietnamese forces drove them last May and June. A huge stockpile of new war material was uncovered last week in Long An Province 15 miles south of Saigon.

Cambodian troops were poised for two major offensives aimed at recapturing important parts of the nation's heartland lost to enemy forces up to six months ago. A military spokesman in Phnom Penh said the timing of the offensives would depend on local commanders, but he indicated both campaigns would begin within days.

Twenty thousand troops were massed in the Taing Kauk area, 47 miles north of Phnom Penh. The task force began a drive towards the provincial capital of Kompong Thom, 50 miles away, on Sept. 7, but has been bogged down 15 miles north of its jump-off point for nore than a month.

Government troops also continued to inch down Highways 3 and 4 toward the Gulf of Siam in preparation for an attempt to close an important enemy supply route 30 miles south of Phnom Penh and reclaim several hundred square miles of territory.

College Night Event At 7:30

Junior and senior students and their parents are invited to attend the College Night program tonight at Snyder High School. The program will begin with a general assembly at 7:30 p.m. which will be followed by two 40-minute discussion periods.

Thirty-two colleges are due to be represented and each student and his parents will have an opportunity to attend sessions to obtain detailed information about two colleges in which the student is interested.

Members of the junior and senior classes of all area high schools, as well as Snyder High, have been invited to attend.

Deadline For Absentee Votes

Friday is the last day for casting absentee ballots in the general election, according to an announcement by Beverly Ainsworth, county clerk. She said that 23 persons had voted absentee by this morning.

Mrs. Ainsworth reminded local voters that they cannot vote in the election if they move prior to Thursday unless they register the change in address at the county tax office.

BOREN TOP CHAIRMAN

Historical Awards To Scurry, Borden

FREDERICKSBURG—The Scurry County and Borden County Historical Survey Committees won state awards and Hugh Boren, of Scurry County was named the outstanding county chairman at the annual meeting of the Texas State Historical Survey Commettee here Friday and Saturday.

Scurry County won one of the Distinguished Service Awards for the 6th time and Borden County, for the second year in a row, received the first place award for the best county survey committee newsletter. Mrs. Frank Miller is chairman of the Borden County Committee.

Requirements for a committee to earn a Distinguished Service Award include the following: Sponsor at least four official historical markers or spend $600 for markers during the year; present at least six talks on local history to other civic groups; conduct at least three historical tours in the county; publish a pamphlet, brochure, etc., showing sites of local historical interest; sponsor at least one annual history appreciation observance; secure at least $200 in investments in the Texas Historical Foundation (private afilliate of the survey committee), and publish a committee newsletter at least quarterly.

The outstanding chairman's award won by Boren recognizes the individual who has provided the strongest leadership and achieved the most significant success in historical preservation among county survey committees. In addition, the Scurry County Committee received a second-place award for the best county survey committee newsletter. Its newsletter, "Scurryly Speaking," is edited by Mrs. Jess Everett.

HUGH BOREN JR.

The winners of the various county committee competitions were announced at the awards luncheon of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and its private affiliate, the Texas Historical Foundation, both meeting at the Sunday House Motel in Fredericksburg.

Attending the session from Scurry County were Boren, Mrs. Billie von Roder, Mrs. T. D. Cramer and Mrs. Wayne Boren.

They have perfect marriage except . . .

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 40 and well established in the college teaching profession, married and have two children. My wife and I were childhood sweethearts. We are active in church and community affairs. Ours is a truly good marriage except for one thing: Our sex life has gradually come to a standstill. We have talked about it, especially in the light of my being more fit, vigorous and energetic than most men my age. She says she cannot help it—the spark just isn't there anymore. It's not menopause either.

Otherwise we are compatible. We hardly ever argue and we never fight. We still say to each other, "I love you," and we really mean it.

I recently met a woman of beauty and breeding. I am positive that this woman would be my mistress if I asked her to. Why should I not allow such an alliance to develop?

ABOUT TO JUMP

DEAR ABOUT: Because your "solution" would present more problems than the problem itself. You say yours is a truly good marriage—and you "love" each other. Have you insisted that your wife see her doctor to find out what's new in the "spark-reviving" department? [Or are you accepting her indifference in order to justify taking up with someone else?] Also, this woman of "beauty and breeding" must have feelings, which might lead her to becoming emotionally involved with you. Then what?

You boast of being more energetic and vigorous than most men your age. How about showing some real manliness and strength and sticking to your marriage vows? Isn't that what you would expect your wife to do if your batteries went dead?

DEAR ABBY: When we were married, a friend gave us a nice wedding gift. When she discovered it was a duplicate of one we had already received, she offered to take it back and exchange it for something else. She even asked me what I needed, and I told her.

Several months passed and no sign of a gift. Then I ran into this person accidentally, and she immediately remembered that she hadn't replaced the gift. She apologized all over the place saying she had "forgotten." Again she asked me what I needed, and again I told her.

Well, it's been over a year now, and still no gift! I suppose she "forgot" again. Should I remind her?

STILL WAITING

DEAR STILL: No. Look at it this way. You started with no gift from her, and you still have no gift. So you aren't out anything.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old girl who has just learned that I must have dentures. I have already accepted this fact so that isn't my problem. I carry insurance which will pay for my dentures, but my problem is that there is a real big mouth in our insurance department and I am sure she will tell everybody in the office that I am getting false teeth.

I would almost rather pay for them myself. Is there a solution?

FALSIES AT 24

DEAR FALSIES: Oddly enough, some big mouths also have big hearts, so why not "confide" in her and appeal to her sense of honor and kindness? I'll bet she rises to the occasion and keeps her mouth shut. [P. S. If at age 24, I were told I had to have dentures, I would check with the best dentist in town, and maybe two dentists just to be sure. The better the dentist, the harder he will try to save teeth.]

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Consuls To Interview Generals

By JOHN BAUSMAN
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Two U.S. consuls were flying to Soviet Armenia today to interview two American generals held since their light plane crossed the Turkish border five days ago. It was the U.S. government's first contact with the officers.

Soviet authorities granted permission Sunday for Consuls Peter C. Swiers and Richard Stanley to visit Maj. Gen. Edward C.D. Scherrer, chief of the U.S. military mission in Turkey, and Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie Jr., chief of the mission's Army section.

The pilot of the generals' Beechcraft got lost in turbulent weather during a tour of bases in eastern Turkey and landed safely on Wednesday at Leninakan, just inside Soviet territory. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow requested prompt release of the plane, the generals, their American pilot and a Turkish escort officer. The Soviets refused, saying the plane "violated Soviet air space," but the United States said the violation was "clearly accidental."

Under the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty persons may be detained incommunicado for up to four days, and that deadline passed Sunday. Soviet officials remain noncommital on when the plane and its occupants would be released, saying only that the incident was under investigation.

The Soviet press has mentioned the incident only in a short factual story last Friday, possibly indicating that the government does not plan to make an issue of it.

An embassy spokesman said the consuls would determine from the officers and their pilot, Army Maj. James P. Russell, exactly what happened. They also will check on the state of the men and under what conditions they are being detained.

Turkish officials in Ankara have denied speculation that Moscow is trying to trade the Turkish colonel, Cecat Deneli, for two Lithuanians who hijacked a Soviet airliner to Turkey. The Turkish government is holding them pending the outcome of an investigation into their request for asylum.

Breakthrough In Cancer Fight Seen

FORT WORTH–Cancer is the second largest killer in this country, but delegates to the American Cancer Society's 25th Division Annual Meeting here Oct. 21-22 were told the 70s would bring many advances—possibly a breakthrough.

Mrs. Travis Rhoades, president, and Mrs. W. D. Sims, education chairman, represented the Scurry County Unit at the meeting.

Mrs. Rhoades said the society made progress in all program area: Served 10,333 cancer patients with cancer dressings, hospital equipment, gift items and other services; presented education programs to over 1,526,381 people in clubs, schools, colleges and where they work; awarded cancer research grants totalling over $1,289,000.

"We are proud of these accomplishments," Mrs. Rhoades said, "But we are concerned because for every reason the American Cancer Society has to stay in business, we are a tremendous failure....so long as there is one hospital bed in use by a cancer patient, as long as one person smokes cigarettes. We are in business to go out of business."

"We realize research can hasten the victory over cancer, but we have a larger responsibility here in Snyder to increase the informational and educational program—to better serve cancer patients with all the society and community have to offer," said Mrs. Sims. "We need people who care, people who will work now...we need to set our sights toward the extinction of our organization."

Four prominent Texas physicians presented cancer cases and discussed treatment now being used, especially in rehabilitation of certain types of cancer.

Raven Is Up For Grabs

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Leroy, a raven with a habit of lifting wallets and watches, is up for grabs in this coastal city 35 miles south of Los Angeles.

Leroy's owner, Harold Berg, says he is selling his home and is looking for someone who will take the raven.

But Berg cautions any interested party that the bird picks up wallets and watches left lying around and carries them in its beak to its nest on the Berg home's roof.

"If she's got something she thinks you really want," Berg says, "she'll fly to the roof, out of reach, and tear it to pieces."

Escape Easy For Fugitives

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a fugitive seeking refuge abroad, getting out of the United States is "incredibly easy," say government officials.

If his political leaning is acceptable to the nation where he wants to go, passage is practically assured.

"All you've got to do is walk across the border, go to the Cuban embassy and say you want to go to Algeria," said one U.S. official who asked not to be identified.

In recent months, a number of fugitives from American justice have followed that or similar scenarios, among them Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver and LSD advocate Dr. Timothy Leary.

Escape routes are available to radical fugitives through both Mexico and Canada, according to government sources. In most cases the next stop is Cuba; for some, like Cleaver, it is on to Algeria.

Crossing from the United States into Canada or Mexico is perhaps the easiest step in a fugitive's journey, government sources say, because of hundreds of miles of borders guarded by only 1,600 Customs and Immigration officers.

For those on the radical left, the sources say, a sort of informal underground railroad exists. It is believed Cleaver and Leary used such a pipeline.

For fugitives whose political views might not mesh with those in Cuba or Algeria, the going gets a little rougher.

James Earl Ray, who pleaded guilty to the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., obtained a false passport in Canada to get to England where he was caught.

Among fugitives believed to have sought refuge out of the country are four young men sought in last summer's fatal bombing of the Army Mathematics Research Center at the University of Wisconsin.

When the FBI issues a warrant for a fugitive, police in Canada and Mexico are notified. Cooperation by neighboring police is described as good.

Should Canadian or Mexican police pick up a fugitive from the United States, extradition is governed by a series of treaties. Since neither Algeria nor Cuba maintain diplomatic relations with the United States, there is no extradition process.

Slain General's Funeral Planned

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Chilean army planned a big funeral today for its commander-in-chief, Gen. Rene Schneider, as police hunted his assassins among Chile's extreme rightists.

A requiem High Mass was to be sung for the slain general in Santiago's Roman Catholic cathedral. His simple wooden coffin was to be placed in the army mausoleum after a caisson cortege through 12 blocks of the city, eulogies by government and military officials and a rifle salute.

Authorities said their investigation indicated that "persons of the ultra-right" planned the shooting Thursday morning at a downtown intersection. Schneider died Sunday morning, less than 24 hours after Congress decisively chose Marxist Salvador Allende president of the republic.

Allende's supporters claimed that rightist conspirators thought Schneider's assassination would spark an army revolt to prevent the socialist senator from taking office. Allende, 62, won a plurality only in the presidential election on Sept. 4, giving Congress the job of choosing between him and a conservative. The vote Saturday was 153-35.

A state of emergency suspending some civil rights was declared Thursday night to facilitate the search for Schneider's assilants, More than 150 persons have been arrested, but only about a dozen remain in jail. The rest were freed after questioning.

Rumors of plots within the army and outside it to keep Allende out of the presidency have circulated for months, and Schneider was considered the most vocal opponent of a break with the military's long-standing tradition of not interfering in politics.

IN ECONOMICS

Samuelson Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Paul A. Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology was awarded the 1970 Nobel Prize in economics today. The prize committee said he "has done more than any other contemporary economist to raise the level of scientific analysis in economic theory."

Called by a newsman at his home in a Boston suburb, Samuelson said he had "no idea I'd be winning." He said he would go to his office as usual today—"my wife won't let me stay home, not with the phones ringing like this."

The prize committee reportedly chose Samuelson from about 50 nominees, including Prof. Milton Friedman, an adviser to President Nixon, and Prof. Vasily Kantorovich, the Soviet economic mathematician.

The 55-year-old professor was honored for the "scientific work through which he has developed static and dynamic economic theory and actively contributed to raising the level of analysis in economic science," the Royal Swedish Academy of Science said in its citation.

It was the fourth of the six 1970 awards from the fortune left by Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite. The awards, worth $80,000 each, have also gone this year to American agronomist Norman Ernest Borlaug for his contribution to the cause of peace; Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the Russian novelist, for literature; and three scientists—American biochemist Julius Axelrod, British biophysicist Sir Bernard Katz and Swedish physiologist Ulf von Euler—for medicine-physiology.

Still to be announced are the prizes for physics and chemistry.

The economics prize was set up two years ago by the Swedish Central Bank in connection with its 300th anniversary.

The Swedish Academy said Samuelson's "extensive production, covering nearly all areas of economic theory, is characterized by an outstanding ability to derive important new theorems, and to find new applications for existing ones."

His best known work is "Foundations of Economic Analysis," a standard textbook on central economic theory.

The prize committee said that in his books and articles, Samuelson "has rewritten considerable parts of central economic theory, and has in several areas achieved results which now rank among the classical theorems of economics. He has developed and improved several important theorems within the theory of international trade."

A native of Gary, Ind., Dr. Samuelson went to MIT in 1940 and was named institute professor in 1966. He has been a consultant to the Federal Reserve Board since 1967 and has served in many other government advisory positions.

Theft Reports Probed Here

Thieves stole a tool box valued at $200 from the residence of Jimmy Don Everett, 2609 El Paso, between Oct. 21 and Oct. 24, according to a City Police report.

Officers also are investigating the theft of $23.40 from the L&L Service Station, 3812 Avenue S, Saturday. They forced entry into the "coke" machine.

County Court Pleas Heard

Two guilty pleas were entered in county court this morning.

William W. Childress pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and received a 90-day jail term and a $50 fine plus court costs. The jail term portion of the sentence was probated for one year. He was arrested Sunday by Highway Patrolmen.

Clebern Warford pleaded guilty to carrying a prohibited weapon and received a $100 fine plus court costs. He was apprehended Sunday by City Police.

"TOBACCO ROAD" — The first general meeting of the Martha Ann Woman's Club was held Friday, Oct. 23. After a delightful luncheon the group was entertained by the Hayloft Dinner Theater group from Lubbock. They presented a series of skits from the Broadway classic comedy hit "Tobacco Road." The cast of four were (from left) David Greer, portraying Captain Tim, Richard Bailey, as Dude, Virginia Anton, as Ada and Dylan Ross, portraying Jeeter Lester. The performance was enjoyed by the members of the woman's club and their guests and students from the drama class of Snyder High School.

Library Notes

TOTAL LOSS FARM. By Raymond Munro. Dutton. $5.95.

In this odd book there are some glimpses of life among the long hairs. Its oblique revelations may be illuminating to grown-ups and other squares.

Nominally this is a sort of journal. The narrative pattern includes an account of a canoe trip on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers, rather tediously belaboring the point that the rivers have become open sewers, a description of a trip to the West Coast, in which the author and several companions use a driveaway car, hitch-hiking and some scrounging off friends and acquaintances to make their way, and a vague, rambling description of some sort of communal life in a Vermont farmhouse.

The author gives no coherent design to his narrative; the basic facts seep through indirectly; people enter and leave without being fully identified; offhand references to the author's activities are slim clues. Likewise, the writing is full of extravagant impressions, expressed with a very loose regard for grammar.

It appears that Mungo had ben a militant, working in Washington for the Liberation News Service, but had become disillusioned with city life and wanted to get into nature. It also appears, from a note in the back of the book, that the author has "very little emotional stability" and no longer is an adolescent, having been born in 1946.

Mungo specifically describes some of his friends as militants and long hairs, but avoids the use of the cliche "groovy."

This is a puzzling book that includes such quotations as: "It is awfully hard to be nine once you'll never seen nineteen again. I am never quite free of the forces attempting to make me grow up, sign contracts, get an agent, be a man. I have seen what happens to men . . . . I would rather know nothing of the cold cruel world I will someday have to deal with . . . "Some day?

Stone Has Fewer Kisses

DUBLIN (AP) — Fewer tourists kissed the Blarney Stone last year, says Mervyn Johnson, manager of Blarney Castle estate.

The stone, perched high in the battlements of the ancient castle, is reputed to give a new eloquence to those who kiss it.

Every year thousands make a pilgrimage to the castle to kiss the stone, but the weekly attendance has gone down by 20 percent this year, says Johnson.

WAR OF THE WORDS!

Uruguayans Use Sword To Settle Differences

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Uruguayans may have something to offer the world about resolving differences in economic viewpoints that so often involve a nation's best brain in wasteful arguments that never end.

At least it would seem so, judging by the way last week they came right to the point, so to speak, about the merits and deficiencies of the nation's program to cut inflation, which had been as high as 100 per cent a year.

For the moment, let it be said that their point of view showed acute recognition of the futility of further, endless debate, and that they may have supplied a lesson for all nations, the United States especially.

The background: Economists always disagree. If there is anything that is common to that trible, no matter what their politics, it is their capacity to view events differently.

Given the same set of ingredients, 100 economists would bake 100 different cakes. If, by freakish circumstance, they baked 100 identical cakes they would label them differently. And, some critics maintain, most of them would be half-baked anyway.

Economic debate is no different in Uruguay than it is in the United States, it appears, but the solution is much more conclusive. Uruguayans come to the point, quite decisively. And how? By the sword.

Last week, President Jorge Pacheco Areco, who is on an anti-inflation kick like most other presidents around the world, announced additional measures that included a reduction in government expenses.

This angered Sen. Manuel Flores Mora, whose ideas on economic policy differ sharply.

A duel was proposed with the minister of industry and commerce, a fellow by the name of Sanguinetti.

Sanguinetti, whose job is similar to that of Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, brought honor to the administration and defended its policies by cutting Flores Mora on the arm with the tip of his sword.

But Flores Mora's dispute with his economic opponents isn't over. He also disagrees with Jorge Batille Ibanez, a newspaper editor, and another duel is scheduled to take place after the senator's recovery.

The custom may seem strange and barbaric to Americans, but after only slight reflection one may see and appreciate the intrinsic civility of the procedure. Honor is maintained. And although somebody could be killed, nobody ever is. By custom, the first to sustain a cut is the loser.

The method is also quick and decisive, a dignified substitute for all the prattling and backbiting that so often beclouds rather than clarifies issues. The threat of the sword might slice in half the number of irresponsible statements.

Junior Editors Quiz on BEARS

QUESTION: Why do bears have to hibernate?

* * *

ANSWER: Not all bears hibernate. It is a curious fact that the tiny floating creatures of the sea, or plankton, grow in more abundance in colder water than in warmer. Since fish feed on the plankton, fish are also found in great abundance in far Northern waters. This also means that fish-eating seals are very common in Northern seas. Since the great white polar bear has a special fondness for seal meat, this means again that polar bears have an abundant supply of food close to the floating cakes of ice on which they live. Abundant food is necessary to animals which keep active during the winter. Besides his food, the polar bear has perfect insulation from the cold in his heavy, waterproof coat. The female polar bear, however, does look for a cave or hollow in an iceberg; she wants a protected spot in which to bear and nourish her cubs. In contrast, the black bear, the most common American kind, finds his food supply severely cut down in winter. There are no more insects or berries and most small animals are hibernating. So the wise black bear finds a sheltered nook and curls himself up for a long winter's sleep.

Boyle Learns From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One out of 12 Americans suffers from chronic headaches. Doctors find physical causes in only one out of 10 cases. They believe the other nine result from tensions. The best treatment: lead a calmer life, cut down on needless worrying.

Almost anything you can quit worrying about. How long will Niagara Falls last? The falls, which are gradually being worn away, are expected to disappear some 22,800 years from now.

Why do 350,000 U.S. firms go out of business each year? Chiefly to be blamed is management incompetence, says Dun & Bradstreet, not fires, floods or other natural disasters.

Did you think aerial photography was something new? Actually, the first aerial photographs were made over Paris from a balloon in 1858.

Quotable notables: "It annoys many when I talk about blue eyes, but any man who ever amounted to a damn in history had them."—Arthur Brisbane.

Know your language: Ever wonder why "the little red schoolhouse" was red and not some other color? It wasn't for esthetic reasons but because red paint was the cheapest paint. So many school boards painted their schools red to save money that "the little red schoolhouse" became a national symbol of popular education.

For the record: When the idea of an international peacekeeping body was conceived during World War II, it was first called the Associated Powers. It was President Franklin D. Roosevelt who proposed, with Prime Minister Winston Churchill's warm endorsement, that the name be changed to the United Nations.

Long and short of it: Insects have a tremendous range of longevity, depending on their species. Some plant aphids have a life expectancy of only 12 days or less, but a queen termite may rule her wood-consumi subjects for as long as 50 years.

Fat fights back: No matter how hard they try, most overweight people appear unable to lose their excess weight permanently. Dr. Morton B. Glenn, New York obesity expert, says, "Eighty-five per cent of all diets fail, but each failure provides a valuable key to successful weight control."

It was Anatole France who observed, "Human justice is different from God's justice, and generally opposed to it."

Argentina Puts Ban On Beef

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Roberto M. Levingston's government is about to place a ban on beef sales for two or three days a week, official sources say.

The sources said this will be one of the first measures of the new economic team headed by Aldo Ferrer, scheduled to be sworn in today as minister of economy.

The ban will be an effort to reduce costs for beef exporters. Argentina's principal meat-packing plants announced a suspension of activities earlier this week alleging they were no longer in a position to compete in international markets.

Queen Candidate Called 'The Tube'

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — One of the candidates for homecoming queen at Auburn University today goes by the nickname "The Tube" because of midriff bulge.

The candidate has a 41-36-41 figure, brown hair and blue eyes and weighs 180 pounds.

The hopeful is Dick Chambliss of Darien, Ga., first male candidate for the Auburn honor. He says he is making his write-in campaign because the voter turnout for homecoming queen has been too light in recent years.

"I want to put the spirit back in homecoming week," he said. "The hardest part is looking people in the eye,"

Marcos Sends Aid To Moscow

MANILA (AP) — The Manila Daily Mirror said today that President Ferdinand Marcos had dispatched an aide to Moscow to seek Soviet assistance for Filipino rural electrification and oil exploration projects.

Marcos was not available for comment.

The paper said Marcos' executive secretary, Alejandro Melchor, arrived in Moscow on Monday and was scheduled to depart Sunday.

The Phillipines, which has close ties with the United States, does not maintain diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

Muskie Is Not Shedding Tears

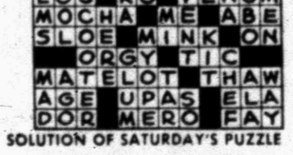

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, says he is shedding no tears these days over his defeat for the vice presidency in 1968.

"As I contemplate the duties of the vice president as they changed in the last two years, I'm rather glad I lost," Muskie said in a night rally boosting New Hampshire Democrats.

TOUCHDOWN RUN — Dunbar's Kenneth Burrows (25) scored on a 5-yard end run against Snyder's Tigers Saturday night in the 3-AAA gridiron thriller in Lubbock. Glen Davis (17) leads the blocking. Tigers in pursuit are Lewis Loyd (62), Bill Wilson (88) and Mike Glasscock (33). The Panthers beat the Tigers 20-6.

END RUN — Snyder's Larry Wall (22) romps for yardage around end during the 3-AAA contest with Lubbock Dunbar Saturday night. Panthers chasing the Tiger back are Albert Evans (73), Jerry Linker (75), Kenneth Burrows (25), Wyatt Ward (19) and Anthony Wilson (80). Snyder's Sandy Land (76) leads the blocking.

Opportunistic Panthers Best Bengals, 20 To 6

LUBBOCK—Lubbock Dunbar turned some Snyder mistakes into touchdowns here Saturday night and won the battle of the cats 20-6.

The Panthers took advantage of a Tiger fumble and a 15-yard penalty to score a touchdown in the first quarter. Then, in the third quarter, the hosts benefitted from a mis-directed pass deflection to score again. Both teams earned a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Midway of the first period, the Panthers took over on the Snyder 43 following a fumble. After tailback Kenneth Burrows gained six yards, the Tigers were socked 15 yards for a face mask penalty and Dunbar was able to drive in the remaining 22 yards. Burrows collected most of the yardage, including the final five yards on a fourth down play. He went wide and stepped into the end zone. Glen Davis' kick for extra point was wide as the hosts led 6-0 with 4:24 remaining in the period.

Another fumble almost cost the Tigers another touchdown a couple of minutes later. This time, the Panthers took over at the 29 in Snyder territory. A couple of runs by Burrows combined with a couple of passes from Davis to wingback Edwin Toines gave the Panthers first and ten at the six. Here, the Bengal defense stiffened. Burrows gained four yards on first down, then Glen January spilled him for a three yard loss on the second. Burrows gained three more on third down, but Bill Wilson made a touchdown-saving tackle and dumped him for a yard loss on fourth down.

The Tigers took over and were able to penetrate Dunbar territory in the second quarter with Larry Wall, David Tyrone and Stewart Sims doing most of the damage. Dunbar held, however, and launched a drove of its own that carried from the 16 to midfield. A later Panther drive was halted when Larry Wall came up with an interception.

Dunbar's third period touchdown march covered 67 yards. Operating from the Snyder 28, Davis lofted a long, high pass into the end zone. Wall deflected the ball, but it fell into the arms of end Anthony Wilson and the Panthers had a 13-0 lead following Davis' extra point kick.

Not to be denied, the Bengals drove 67 yards for a touchdown. The drive began in the third quarter and was culminated in the fourth with Stewart Sims going 23 yards over right guard to pay dirt. Wall's kick for extra point was wide.

Mike Glasscock, Stewart Sims, Wall and Buchanan collected all of the yardage in the touchdown march. Sims turned in a nifty 16-yard run in addition to the touchdown romp.

But, Dunbar took the ensuing kickoff and carried to the goal in a march that spanned 59 yards. Tailback Henry Robinson scored the touchdown on a one yard, fourth down, burst over left guard. Davis' kick accounted for the final 20-6 margin. Big play in the drive was a 30 yard run by Robinson.

Snyder took over at its five following the kickoff and drove 80 yards before relinquishing possession. Sims, Glasscock, Jimmy Don Dyess and Buchanan collected most of the yardage. The drive included an 11-yard pass, Buchanan to Sims, and a 20 yard pass, Tim Holder to Dyess.

Time ran out shortly after Dunbar took over.

The game was much closer than the score indicates. Snyder gave yardage grudgingly and the Panthers had to fight for every yard they got.

Sims was the leading ground gainer, getting 97 yards on 17 carries. Tyrone netted 34 paces on seven rushes. For Dunbar, Robinson gained 69 yards on 9 runs while Burrows gained 50 yards on 12 carries.

Next Friday, the Tigers host Colorado City.

Still Sacks Up Kaiser Cash

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

NAPA, Calif. (AP)—"I never gave up on myself," Ken Still said. "I struggled and fought and had troubles, but I never gave up on myself."

He was talking about the season-long slump that has plagued him, but the irrepressible Still could have been talking about the long, 37-hole wind-up that brought him the $30,000 first prize in the Kaiser International golf tournament Sunday.

Still, a 35-year-old bachelor who came into his own last season with his first two tour victories and a spot on the Ryder Cup team, had to whip tough Lee Trevino and Bert Yancey on the first extra hole of a sudden death playoff.

He had gone into the 36-hole finale—forced when Friday's play was rained out—with a two stroke lead. He took a 71 in the morning round and Trevino closed to within a single stroke.

And in the afternoon, Still lost, regained, then lost the lead again with three-putt bogeys on the 15th and 16th holes. That put him one stroke back of Trevino and Yancey, in the clubhouse with 278s, 10 under par.

He came to the 18th, a par five, needing a birdie to tie. Still chipped to eight feet and dropped the putt for a share.

Then on the first extra hole, Still ripped an iron to within three feet of the hole and made the birdie putt that secured it. Yancey had a par from a trap and Trevino, winner of two playoffs this season, was lying three and had no chance when Still made it.

"I just said to myself, 'Okay, grandma, here we go,'" Still said, and explained his grandmother, Mrs. Mary McCready, died last week and he had dedicated the tournament to her.

"I'd have done the same thing whether it had finished 50th or first," Still said.

"It's tough work," he said. "You have to keep your composure all the way."

He finished with a final 72, Trevino had a 71 and Yancey a 70.

Rookie Jerry Heard, first-round leader Jack Montgomery and stormy Dave Hill tied for fourth at 279, one stroke back. Montgomery had a final 71 and Heard a 67.

Hill took a final 76 despite a triple bogey six on the 11th hole after he and playing partner Chi Chi Rodriquez exchanged some angry words. An official was called to settle their clash and they finished the round in silence.

Phil Rodgers, Tommy Aaron and Gene Littler tied at 280.

Rams Rock A&I 38-21

Texas A&I may be the defending national small college NAIA champions, but you couldn't prove it by Angelo State.

The unheralded Rams took A&I's current No. 4 national ranking last Saturday night and banged them over the head with it in a stunning 38-21 Lone Star Conference upset.

The Javelinas suffered a similar upset last season (to Sul Ross) but came back to share the LSC crown with East Texas and then went on to win the NAIA national championship.

In another upset Saturday, McMurry pounced on Sul Ross 31-21.

Bears Discover How Sweet It Is

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

Baylor and Texas Christian—who have done some spooky things to Texas A&M the past two weekends—get together this Halloween Saturday to see how their upset magic works on each other.

Two weeks ago, TCU broke out of the dumps to smash the favored Aggies. A&M inspired Baylor to a similar 29-24 upset victory last Saturday for the Bear's second victory under head coach Bill Beall.

So, the battle between the two Aggies-beaters should form one of the more interesting pairings on the Southwest Conference chart this weekend that also includes Arkansas at Texas A&M, Texas Tech at Rice and Southern Methodist at Texas.

The bristling Bears are still celebrating their homecoming victory.

"How sweet it is!" Beall said. "We've waited a long time for our first SWC win."

Not since the 1968 finale when the Bears defeated Rice had they won a SWC game. They defeated Army earlier this year for their only other victory since Beall took the helm. The Bears are 2-4 going into Saturday's TCU game.

Beall got the game ball but he was quick to point out the stars of the game. "Davis kept making those circus catches all night," Beall said, referring to receiver Derek Davis who snagged 10 passes for 163 yards.

Beall also might have mentioned punter-defensive back Ed Marsh who intercepted a pass and ran it back 54 yards for a touchdown and picked off another to end an Aggie threat in the final minute.

Baylor quarterback Si Southall, making his first start, said, "We didn't think they would play Derek that loose. With single coverage, Davis will eat you up if you do and that's what he did."

Davis said, "Our curl patterns were open all night. They played me looser than anybody we played."

In other SWC matchups last Saturday, second-ranked Texas overcame the offensive sputters to grind under the Rice Owls 45-21; Texas Tech scored in the final 3:12 to break the SMU homecoming Jinx with a 14-10 victory in Lubbock; and ninth-ranked Arkansas used substitutes to trounce tragedy stricken Wichita State 62-0.

For Texas Tech, it was a do-or-die situation as far as the SWC race was concerned. Tech already has one league defeat, and another would have meant elimination.

The hero for the Raiders was tough Charles Napper, Tech's slick quarterback, who proved he also can throw touchdown passes from the twilight zone.

Shortly before he connected with Johnny Odom for the game's winning touchdown, Napper was knocked dizzy by the stampeding Pony defense.

"He was out cold," said Tech coach Jim Carlen. "We broke a smelling capsule under his nose and it didn't even faze him. But he's a winner. He wouldn't come out of the game."

Texas Coach Darrell Royal and many of the Longhorns themselves felt they played a sloppy game against the Owls. The Horns fumbled three times to halt drives and UT held only a 10-7 advantage at the half.

"That's what I hate about this particular game," said Bill Atessis, "It's frustrating to move the ball all over the field and go in at the half almost behind. But that's what I like about this team. We never let up."

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles played his regulars only seven minutes against the Wichita State Shockers, who were stunned last Oct. 2 by a plane crash that killed head coach and 13 players.

"Our trip to Arkansas was good... except for the score," said Wichita State coach Bob Seaman. "If Broyles had left his first unit there all night, it might have been 150-0," said Seaman. "Someday, I hope we beat somebody 62-0."

CBS Inks Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS television network has signed an exclusive contract for the 1970-71 season with the American Basketball Association. The first broadcast will be the ABA All-Star game from Greensboro, N.C., on Saturday, Jan. 23.

Some regular season Saturday and Sunday games will also be televised, plus at least two playoff games.

Mrs. Jeanene Painter bowled the first 300 of the 1970-71 WIBC season at Pine Bowl here on Sept. 21. Mrs. Painter, who was averaging 166, became the first Idaho woman ever to bowl a sanctioned perfect game.

Fourteen women bowled 300 games last season.

Cowboys Beat Chiefs 27-16

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Stram has been short-changed by the Dallas Cowboys —Duane Thomas and Bob Hayes splitting the difference.

Thomas and Hayes exploded for game-breaking touchdowns in the third quarter Sunday as the Cowboys bounced back from their darkest National Football League hour to whip Stram's Kansas City Chiefs 27-16.

Hayes, making his first start of the season, turned a Craig Morton pass into an 89-yard scoring burst minutes after Thomas, a hard-running rookie, sped 46 yards for a touchdown.

"Those plays were the difference," said Stram, whose Super Bowl champs were jeered by a home crowd of 51,158 as they absorbed their third setback in six games.

The victory gave Dallas a 4-2 mark and a share of first place in the National Conference's Eastern Division—one week after the Cowboys took a 54-13 pounding from Minnesota.

"We didn't do anything different against Kansas City," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry insisted. "We just played football. We didn't play football against Minnesota."

Fran Tarkenton's five touchdown passes led the New York Giants past St. Louis 35-17, dropping the Cardinals into a tie with Dallas for the NFC East lead.

Elsewhere, 43-year-old George Blanda fired Oakland to a 31-14 victory over Pittsburgh; Baltimore drubbed Boston 27-3; Cleveland pounded Miami 28-0; Washington blanked Cincinnati 20-0; Detroit shaded Chicago 16-10; Green Bay topped Philadelphia 30-17; San Francisco edged Denver, 19-14; Atlanta trimmed New Orleans 32-14; Buffalo nipped the New York Jets 10-6 and San Diego played Houston to a 31-31 standoff.

Minnesota entertains Los Angeles tonight in a nationally-televised clash of NFL powerhouses.

The Cowboys, beaten by Kansas City 13-0 in a pre-season exhibition, spotted the Chiefs an early touchdown, then limited them to three Jan Stenerud field goals the rest of the way.

Thomas, shouldering the running load after Calvin Hill went out with a muscle spasm, scored the go-ahead touchdown on a short plunge after Mike Clark booted a pair of field goals.

The 220-pound Thomas tallied the decisive touchdown on a draw play before Hayes took Morton's pass on the Dallas 45 and raced the rest of the way for the wrap-up score.

Tarkenton sent the Giants to their third straight victory, snapping a four-game St. Louis winning streak in the process, with the first five-touchdown spree of his career.

He completed all of his 10 pass attempts in the first half and was 15-for-18 over-all, with two scoring strikes to rookie Bob Tucker and one each to Aaron Thomas, Clifton McNeil and Don Herrmann.

Blanda came off the Oakland bench after Daryle Lamonica was sidelined by a pinched nerve in his back and riddled the Steelers with three touchdown passes. He also booted a field goal and four extra points.

The Colts spilled Joe Kapp seven times for losses and picked off three of his passes while Johnny Unitas split the Patroits' secondary for three scores.

The Colts' fourth straight victory, coupled with Miami's loss to Cleveland sent them into sole possession of first place in the American Conference's Eastern Division.

Bill Nelsen passed for two Cleveland scores and linebacker Dale Lindsey rambled 56 yards with a pass interception for another as the AFC's Central Division leaders battered the Dolphins before a crowd of 75,313—largest ever to see a Miami regular season game.

Washington posted its first shutout victory in six years, stopping the Bengals cold while Sonny Jurgensen and Charlie Taylor combined on a pair of touchdown strikes.

The Lions came from behind at Chicago for their fifth victory in six starts as Errol Mann booted field goals of 49, 43 and 31 yards.

Three field goals by Dale Livingston and a 76-yard interception return by Doug Hart led Green Bay past the winless Eagles.

Bruce Gossett kicked four field goals as San Francisco overcame the Broncos for a 4-1-1 mark.

Tom McCauley scored on a 77-yard punt return, longest in Atlanta history, as the Falcons beat the Saints for the second time.

Wayne Patrick drove three yards for a fourth quarter touchdown after a 40-yard pass from rookie Dennis Shaw to Haven Moses, giving Buffalo its second victory over the skidding Jets, who played without injured Joe Namath for the first time in 78 games.

San Diego gained a tie with the Oilers on an 80-yard scoring pass from Marty Domres.

Four Rated Teams Fall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The top-ranked clubs in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll—Wichita Falls, Ennis, Iowa Park and Poth—are nearing unbeaten seasons but they'd do well to watch for that upset that might be lurking around the corner.

It stung four ranked teams last weekend as the season heads into the downhill slide toward the playoffs.

Corsicana battled fifth ranked Killeen to a 28-28 tie in the only Class AAAA shocker. Top-rated Wichita Falls manhandled Mineral Wells 62-0.

Class AAA leader Ennis Sealy downed Marlin 33-7 but two other teams in the top ten were defeated. Fourth rated Brenham was a 13-3 victim of A&M Consolidated and seventh ranked Lamesa lost to Colorado City 20-10.

Iowa Park showed Breckenridge why it is ranked No. 1 in Class AA with a solid 42-20 victory. But seventh ranked Granbury was upset by Fort Worth Kirkpatrick 30-18.

Fluvanna Rips O'Brien 51-24

O'BRIEN — Fluvanna's Buffaloes ended their 1970 gridiron season Saturday on a happy note, winning 51-24 over O'Brien.

Scoring in every period, the Buffs just had too much offense for O'Brien. The first touchdown was on a 20 yard run by Richard Gill in the first quarter. Randy Gill ran across for the extra point.

Junior Bilano intercepted a pass and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown later in this period and Steve Beaver kicked for two points.

Larry White scored on a 10 yard run and J. W. White scored on a 50 yard run in the first quarter.

Randy Gill shook loose on a 60 yard touchdown run in the second period, and J. W. White added the extra point to give the Buffs a 33-6 cushion at halftime.

Larry White scored on a 20 yard pass from Junior Bilano in the third quarter. Bilano went 70 yards for a touchdown early in the fourth quarter, then he passed 40 yards to Larry White for another touchdown.

O'Brien got its first touchdown in the first quarter on a 30 yard pass. A 25 yard run and a 20 yard pass accounted for two second period scores, and the last touchdown came in the fourth quarter on a 10 yard run.

American colonists, especially the Puritans, frowned on ostentation so much that a man appearing before a Salem, Mass. court in 1652 was charged with "an excess of boots, ribands, gold and silver laces."

Walter Matthau Is A Big Box-Office Lure

EDITOR'S NOTE—He's got that sad puppy-dog look about him. Hardly the romantic screen image. He's 50 years old, hardly a youth-oriented hero. Yet Walter Matthau, perhaps best known for his roles in "The Fortune Cookie" and "The Odd Couple," is a huge box-office lure. What's the attraction?

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A 1967 Walter Matthau movie, "A Guide nor the Married Man," led television audience ratings one evening this fall, topping season premieres of "Bonanza" and "The Bold Ones."

Matthau's comedy with Jack Lemmon, "The Odd Couple," is nearing $25 million in box-office returns. "Plaza Suite," now in production, could be even sweeter for Walter: he'll get 12.5 per cent of the gross after it reaches $20 million.

In this day of youth-oriented films with stars half his age, what's the continuing appeal of this lanky, potato-nosed Oscar winner at 50?

"Plaza Suite" producer Howard W. Koch says: "He's a new kind of leading man—a homely-good-looking guy people can identify with."

The director, Arthur Hiller, says Matthau is "a lovable individual in screen terms, with a puppy-dog quality. Also, of course, he's a first-rate actor."

Matthau himself argues bluntly, in his almost belligerent semibellow: "I have to contradict the youth-oriented-film hogwash. Films have always been for youth. Youth has always been the mainstay of films. When you're young, you don't have to stay home, you can go out and take a girl friend."

And besides: "I don't think audiences are necessarily looking for somebody in an age bracket. I think they're looking for something interesting."

Matthau said he never expected to become a star, and doesn't know when he first wanted to become an actor, although: "I always drifted in that direction. I liked reciting, mimicking, talking, being in plays."

"Brought up in the ghetto, the toughest section of New York, with every conceivable nationality and race, all poor," he earned money as an errand boy and file clerk; he sold candy and ice cream in a settlement house theater and there, at 12, did his first acting—as a 50-cents-a-night extra. His first role was as an old lady in a wedding scene.

In later years came jobs as playground aide and conservation camp laborer. Then summer stock and eventually 21 Broadway plays. In his first movie, "The Kentuckian," in 1954, he played a villain with a bullwhip.

Stardom? With his looks, "it didn't seem in the cards. I never thought the taste of the masses would become so marvelous."

He has been mistaken for truck drivers, store clerks, old Army buddies and, once, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted.

"My first wife thought I looked like Wallace Beery, so I got one with better taste," Walter grinned. "She thinks I'm so handsome I'm beginning to act that way."

Stardom came with "The Fortune Cookie," in which Matthau won an Oscar as a shyster lawyer. Now "politically, socially, morally and spiritually a California resident—New York's a tough place to live"—he has a Spanish-style home overlooking the ocean at Pacific Palisades.

On a recent morning, Matthau sat, in white tie and tails, in his dressing room. In "Plaza Suite" he plays three different characters—a businessman on a second honeymoon, an amorous Hollywood producer and the father of a reluctant bride.

What does he consider his best movie, the one he's proudest to reflect on?

Long, thoughtful pause. His Oscar-winning "Fortune Cookie," perhaps?

"No. I think it was 'The Odd Couple.' It was the assiest, the most artless one. There was a guilelessness about it, an effortlessness that in the final analysis means you achieved a good piece of creative art.

"You didn't represent the character, you WERE the character. You did it simply, easily, with total religious conviction.

"Sometimes that's difficult to do if you don't get a deeply written script. It's hard to take superficial writing and give it a lot of depth."

Matthau continued his theory of acting: "You mustn't see the glue. When you're sitting there and you say, 'Look, isn't she wonderful! Real tears!'—YOU must be crying.

"In 1966 he suffered a heart attack that interrupted "Fortune Cookie" filming for three months. He quit cigars and now takes five-mile daily walks along the beach.

"The doctors say I'm exactly the same as a man who never had a heart attack," said Walter. "I disagree. I think I'm much better off because I've had one. If I can't learn from that, there's something off in the head."

How long would he like to go on acting?

"Till about a week or two after I die."

Pilots Have Special Watches

NEW YORK (AP) — Pilots have special timepieces. It is very likely that the captain of your plane will be wearing a pilot's watch which, the Watchmakers of Switzerland explain, has movable rims that calculate air speed, fuel consumption, altitude, distance and arrival time. None with hijacking alarms yet.

SOMEWHAT BELOW NORMAL

State Violence Claims 30

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic wrecks, shootings and miscellaneous violence claimed an ever mounting number of lives in Texas over the weekend but it appeared the weekend violent death toll was somewhat below normal.

The Associated Press began its regular weekend statewide tabulation at 6 p.m. Friday and continued counting until midnight Sunday.

The death count stood at 30 with 16 persons killed in traffic accidents.

Steve D. Rodriguez, 28, of Dallas was shot to death as he left an east Dallas lounge about 1 a.m. Sunday with a man. His companion said Rodriguez was killed by shots from a passing car.

Jesus Banquette, 39, was killed and his son, Edwardo, 14, was critically injured Sunday night when their car went out of control near Robstown in South Texas and overturned, police said.

Matilda Elizabeth Gordon, 21, of Dallas was shot to death Friday night in an apartment parking lot in the city's Oak Cliff section. Police jailed a male suspect.

Robert Andrews, 42, of Dallas was shot and killed when he struggled with a nightwatchman at an Oak Cliff trailer firm early Sunday.

Garland police said Lonnie Brewer, 31, was shot several times Sunday night in that Dallas suburb following an argument. Officers said they jailed a 42-year-old woman in connection with his death.

At Dallas, Theodore G. Kerns, 23, was killed, police said, when his convertible smashed into the rear of a gravel truck Sunday night.

Gordon Hill, 12, of Houston was killed Sunday when he fell from the hood of an automobile on which he had been riding beneath the wheels of the vehicle. The 15-year-old driver of the car, Michael Joe Thompson, was found hanging by his neck a short while later, a suicide, police said.

Tommy Jones, 23, of Porter was killed Sunday when he was struck as he ran across U.S. 59 in Houston. When hit by the car, police said, Jones was chasing a horse in a northern section of Houston.

Cynthia [illegible], 14, of Huntsville was killed Saturday night when she was struck by a car while attempting to cross a street in Huntsville.

Lupe Martinez Olivas, 35, was shot to death Saturday night in the front yard of his Houston home. A 70-year-old man was arrested.

Alfredo Villegas, 52, of Corpus Christi was killed Sunday when his car overturned on Texas 359 about 12 miles east of Laredo.

Mrs. Florentina Cervantez of San Antonio was killed Sunday night when she was struck by a car as she attempted to cross a street in Kerrville. Police jailed the driver.

Dorice Allen, 23, was shot three times, once to the heart, Sunday night at a [illegible] hamburger stand. Police arrested a 44-year-old man.

Elaine Karen Knight, 23, of Fort Worth was killed Sunday when she lost control of her sports car at a city intersection and crashed into a tree.

Beatrice Martinez, 47, of San Antonio was killed Sunday when she was struck by a Southern Pacific freight train as she walked along the tracks.

Calvin Jackson, 59, of Fort Worth was killed Sunday when his car fell from a jack as he worked beneath the vehicle outside his home.

Robert Edward Dressler, 17, of Wichita Falls was killed and a second Wichita Falls youth injured when their motorcycle skidded out of control in loose gravel. The accident occurred about two miles northeast of Wichita Falls on FM 1740.

Glenda Richards, 26, of Dallas was dead of knife wounds Sunday in Dallas. Police said a man also was taken to the hospital after the fight in serious condition from similar wounds.

A one-car crash in downtown El Paso Saturday night killed Ralph Flores, 23. He was an El Paso resident.

Leadership Aspirants Politicking

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the midst of campaigning for the Nov. 3 election, House Democrats have begun politicking among themselves over a new party floor leader.

Aspirants to the leadership post, object of a wide open contest for the first time in 30 years with the retirement of Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, are already hunting votes. They will step up the pace when Congress returns Nov. 16.

By then, they will know how many and what kinds of Democrats have been elected. A Democratic sweep might shift the existing balance of power within the party and the prospects of various candidates with it.

There is no lack of candidates, either announced or waiting in the wings, for the majority leader post being relinquished by Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma. Albert is unopposed among Democrats for advancement to the speaker's chair.

Among the aspirants are Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the present whip or assistant leader, a Southerner with a voting record not wholly typical of his region; Morris K. Udall of Arizona and James G. O'Hara, both leaders in the liberal Democratic Study Group; Richard Bolling of Missouri, an outspoken critic of present House and party procedures; John E. Moss of California, who also has pushed for changes, and Wayne L. Hays of Ohio, known to his colleagues as something of a maverick with a sharp tongue.

So far, Boggs, has been the most active candidate, at least in the open.

Excluding those who will certainly not be in the next Congress, because of retirement or primary defeat, there are about 70 Southern Democrats generally cast in the traditional mold and about 60 strongly ideological liberals.

This leaves about 100, sometimes called regular Democrats. Most of them are from urban areas with strong party organizations. Most tend to vote on the liberal side on bread and butter issues. Many belong to the Democratic Study Group but are not particularly active in it.

Obviously a leadership candidate cannot win with the support of only one of the three groups. As the least clearly defined of the three, the big-city regular Democrat sector is the indicated ground for a Southern or liberal candidate to go hunting the margin of votes he needs. It is also a likely source for a compromise candidate in case of a deadlock—and some names, such as those of Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois and Edward P. Boland of Massachusetts, have been mentioned.

Boggs has undertaken to build a solid base of support among Southerners. While in the past he has departed from the usual regional line on occasion—for example, by voting for some civil rights legislation—his backers argue there is no one else in the race with whom the Southerners would feel more comfortable.

Dalgleish Due Discharge

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Frank Dalgleish, 27, is expected to be discharged from Townsville North Queensland Hospital within two weeks, doctors reported today.

Dalgleish's air fare home to Australia was paid by McCamay, Tex., residents last August when they heard he had only a few days to live because of a kidney disease.

He was transferred from Brisbane to his hometown of Townsville and underwent kidney surgery there this month.

A hospital spokesman said Dalgleish will continue dialysis treatment at home. He eventually will get a kidney transplant in Brisbane.

Bess Corrects Catering Firms

NEW YORK (AP) — If it's filet mignon, it isn't kosher, says New York's commissioner of consumer affairs.

Commissioner Bess Myerson Grant says kosher catering establishments that offer filet mignon at Jewish weddings and bar mitzvahs "are deceiving the public."

Filet mignon is from the hindquarter of the cow, Mrs. Grant said. And Jewish dietary laws forbid eating meat from the hindquarters of any animal.

She said the caterers may be substituting a cheaper cut of meat.

BUSINESS and INDUSTRIAL NEWS

PREPARE FOOD — George Moore (left), general handy man, and Jesse Villareal (chef) prepare delicious Mexican food for patrons at Carlos' Little Mexico Cafe. Mexican food is especially popular during the cold winter months. The food is prepared fresh and served hot. Jesse has several years experience in cooking all types of Mexican dishes. Turkey and dressing with all the trimmings are served at Carlos on Sundays. The cafe also remains open after football games for the convenience of its patrons. Chili rellenos are cooked every day and hot tamales are prepared every other day during the winter months. All dishes can be ordered "to go."

Little Mexico Cafe Is Popular Place To Dine

With cold, winter weather approaching, Carlos' Little Mexico Cafe, 1703 Avenue S, is becoming one of the most popular places in Snyder to dine. Mexican food always tastes delicious, especially during the winter months.

Carlos has one of the most experienced chefs in the business. Jesse Villareal, through years of experience, knows best how to prepare all types of Mexican dishes. He also is experienced in preparing other types of food, such as turkey. Turkey dinners are a specialty on Sundays at Carlos' Little Mexico Cafe.

Other foods especially popular during cold weather are chili rellenos, which are prepared every day, and hot tamales, which are cooked three times a week.

Carlos has six different dinner plates, and all of them are moderately priced. They range from the Special Mexico dinner, which includes enchiladas, tamales, chili con carne, fried beans, Spanish rice, beef tacos and ice cream or sherbet and coffee or tea to the Tampico, which includes two toastadas topped with beans and cheese, guacamole salad, lettuce and tomato and desert and drink.

The menu at Carlos also includes five different combination plates of enchiladas, tacos, tamales and guacamole tacos. The food is prepared fresh and served hot. A la carta orders of chalupas, tacos, tamales or chili con queso also are popular.

Carlos also has food you would find in any other fine restaurant, such as typical American dishes of chicken, sandwiches or sea food. Five separate steaks also are available at Carlos' Little Mexico Cafe.

When you eat at Carlos,' you can relax in a comfortable atmosphere, happy in the knowledge that the food is prepared by an experienced chef and served by courteous waitresses.

Carlos also has a special banquet room, which can be reserved for wedding parties or civic clubs. Many people who go to the football games have discovered that Carlos' Little Mexico Cafe is open a little bit later on nights of football games. Also, all orders can be prepared "to go."

Lutherans OK Women Ordination

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A potential woman minister says the American Lutheran Church's decision to admit women to the ministry is a step in the right direction toward a broader recognition of women's roles in the church.

Miss Barbara Andrews, 35, of Minneapolis, also says the historic change adopted here is a "sign of the times" in which women are demanding equal rights with men in all areas of life.

Delegates to the fifth general convention of the 2.5-million-member denomination approved a measure allowing the ordination of women in a session here Saturday. The meeting continues through Tuesday, with proposals or organizational changes, social concerns and the budget to be acted on.

One of two women in the denomination fully qualified to enter the ministry, Miss Andrews told an interviewer she felt the major opposition to ordaining women was "tradition—the fear of change."

She said the action taken here represented affirmation of "the fact that the Bible says nothing concerning the role of women and in no way deals with their ordination."

Only last year, Miss Andrews completed the church's four-year study program on ordination. She has since taken an additional year of ministerial studies in counseling.

Asked why women previously were denied ordination if the scriptures say nothing against it, Miss Andrews replied: "I don't think the anti-female attitudes originated with the church itself. I feel more that they were a part of the general social attitude of the day which helped mold our traditional image of women as housewives and nothers."

According to the church's rules, no minister may be ordained unless he is called by a congregation to be its pastor.

For the past six years, Miss Andrews has served as a lay minister with the campus team ministry at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Miss Andrews explained that she felt she needed more theological background to do her work properly, so she began taking courses at Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minn.

She eventually completed the full slate of studies required for pastoral ordination.

A sister denomination, the Lutheran Church in America, approved action allowing the ordination of women earlier this year.

Pedigree-ing Is Profitable

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

Dear Joyce: With a little study and practice a person could make a career of assembling family trees, drafting the tree, putting the names to each branch, and showing the various family lines. Drafting the tree could be interesting and rewarding work, financially and mentally, and could lead to some travel where research is not locally available. Genealogy could make a potential career for the physically handicapped or home-bound citizen as well as the able-bodied. — M.B.S., Wharton, Tex.

Thanks to my friend Don LeFevre for rounding up the pedigree profession story from the experts at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

BY DEFINITION, genealogy is the study of individual or family descent with particular emphasis on names, places, dates and relationships. Genealogical research is the method used to identify individuals by searching records and evaluating evidence.

Interest in one's ancestors is developed for different reasons. Many people do their genealogy for religious reasons. For instance, members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) believe in eternal family relationships and so they find out all they can about their parents, grandparents, great-grandparents, etc., in order to compile a family history. Others pursue genealogy as a livelihood

WHERE TO LOOK? You can search places where the original records were made — churches, cemeteries and courthouses. Other places where records are stored — libraries, archives, historical and genealogical societies and home and family records.

A general procedure in genealogical research would be to start with yourself and establish dates and places of birth and marriage, parentage, spouse, children and other vital information that is of interest to you. You would then proceed to your parents, grandparents, great-grandparents, and so on — establishing the same type of history about each individual on your pedigree or family line.

HOW TO LEARN. Self-training is a common practice. (Check your library for "how-to" books.) Others who desire more professional preparation may register for university course work in the field of genealogical research. Several schools: Brigham Young U.; Ricks College, Rexburgh, Ida.; American U., Washington, D.C.; Samford U., Birmingham, Ala.; and U. of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. Only Brigham Young offers a 4-year degree in genealogical research; other schools offer from one course to a 2-year degree.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES in the field of genealogy would include: private research for individuals and families . . . employment with genealogical societies and libraries (over 100 libraries and societies in the U.S. with major genealogical collections) . . . employment with historical societies, university and public libraries, geographical associations, etc. . . . writing books and articles on research. Probably the greater number of genealogists are self-employed as private researchers. (No set standards for fees.) Clientele may be acquired by advertising in trade magazines, referral through established genealogical organizations or libraries and by personal contacts. Genealogy can be lucrative depending on the initiative of the researcher and the quality of service performed.

Outlets Sought For Oranges

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Citrus growers awash in their own "liquid sunshine" are casting about for orange juice outlets into everything from cancer cures to shampoo.

It may even develop that the stuff is great for gout sufferers, folks with hardening of the arteries and aging practitioners of l'amour. Anyway, that's what the growers hope.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates this season's orange crop at 168 million boxes. That's 23 million boxes above the 1966-67 record high of 145 million boxes, which brought growers only a break-even price of 75 cents a box.

Florida Citrus Mutual, a co-op representing more than 15,000 growers, has decided to seek new uses for the fruit as fast as possible.

"We're in a clutch situation now, and that's an understatement," said Tom Osborne, assistant general manager of Mutual.

"I think the industry is finally beginning to realize we've got to get into markets unrelated to the food category because the prospect of selling oranges through research is unlimited."

The Florida Citrus Research Council, a division of the Florida Department of Citrus, has already given preliminary approval for a study to determine the usefulness of orange juice in combatting cancer.

The tentative okay was given after Dr. J. U. Schlegel of the Tulane University School of Medicine told the group ascorbic acid may have great value as an antioxident in fighting cancer of the bladder. Orange juice is packed with ascorbic acid.

The role of orange juice, rich in vitamin C, in fighting gout, hardening of the arteries, arthritis, rheumatism of the muscles, thickening of the skin and even heart disease already is being probed by doctors.

The possibility of prolonging an aging person's sex activity with orange juice is being researched by a Japanese doctor, M. Higuchi.

"We've even got a guy who's working on a hair conditioner rinse made from orange peel oil," Osborne said.

Air Spraying Usual Practice

NEW YORK (AP) — The spraying of pesticides from airplanes has become common practice among farmers across the United States. The nation's first application of this nature was made by Mississippians in a cotton dusting project near Leland in 1927.

HemisFair Plaza In Red

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The former HemisFair '68 site is still operating at a deficit, but the director of the downtown entertainment center remains optimistic.

HemisFair Plaza, as the former world's fair is now known, drew nearly two million visitors during its six-month summer season, but revenue fell short of operational expenses by $256,068.

Expenses totaled $385,681, compared to revenues of $129,613, city financial statistics showed.

The City Council eliminated admission fees last July in an attempt to attract more visitors.

The move prompted bigger crowds but City Manager Gerald Henckel pointed out: "We knew when the City Council directed us to remove the admission fees that the plaza was going to have to be a subsidized operation."

Plaza Director Jim Gaines says, however, that progress was made in another area-occupants for the vacant buildings that dot the fairgrounds.

After admission fees were dropped, he said, 12 new lease contracts were signed. "We will really get moving in the coming months," he said.

A major factor is expected to be the Nov. 3 election issue on legalizing liquor-by-the-drink on a local option basis. "Once that passes, if it does, we can look for a number of concessionaires soon," Gaines said.

When the City Council eliminated attendance fees, it said it was more interested in turning the plaza into a true "people place."

Improvements such as walkways and landscaping already have been added and plans are being made to spend $200,000 on additional improvements between December and next April.

Shallow Depth Is Attractive

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The relatively shallow depth of most oil pools in Kentucky makes them attractive to drillers. Some deposits are only 40 feet beneath the surface.

All Candidates Predict Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If all of what the candidates said over the weekend comes true, Texas will have two governors and three U.S. senators come Nov. 3.

With just over a week of campaigning left, political candidates sounded increasingly optimistic about the outcome of the Nov. 3 general election but, of course, there will be winners AND losers.

At Houston, Democrat Lloyd Bentsen, who seeks the U. S. Senate post being vacated by Ralph Yarborough, addressed his county campaign workers via a unique statewide telecast and predicted he will beat the Republican candidate, George Bush, despite big outlays of GOP campaign money.

Bentsen said Republicans have "shipped in money by the carload" but it would not deter a weithty Democratic victory.

At the same time in Austin, Bush was predicting victory but said that Bentsen is harrassing him with "nasty little television commercials."

Speaking Sunday on a news panel television show, Bush said that he has fought against red tape involving gun registration.

"One of the things that's wrong with the law as it was passed," he said, "and one of the things I have battled against, is the excessive amount of paper work which really gets fairly close to a registration procedure."

Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for governor, said Saturday at Dallas that Gov. Preston Smith is centering the last stages of his campaign on an attack against citizen participation in state government. Smith has charged that Eggers is the most "inexperienced" man ever to run for statewide office from either party.

Eggers countered that the governor is using the "inexperienced" label as a smokescreen to "hide his poor record. This is natural for a man who has stayed in politics too long. All he knows is how to play cronyism politics trying to protect an old politial machine that badly needs reform."

President Nixon is to swing through Texas Wednesday on a brief campaign tour to bolster GOP chances at the polls. The President has been keenly concerned with the election of Bush to the Senate.

But Bentsen said Bush is "a number. They didn't put him in this race to represent Texas. They didn't put him in this race to represent Texas. They put him in the race to represent the Republican party."

Approximately 80 per cent of U.S. high schools have choral programs.

Gutierrez Speaks In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Mexican-Americans should stay home from the polls but if they don't they should vote against Democrats urged the leader of a third party here Sunday.

Jose Angel Gutierrez, who helped found both the Mexican-American Youth Organization and the third party La Raza Unida said the choice between U.S. senatorial candidates George Bush and Lloyd M. Bentsen was similar to a choice between Mussolini and Hitler.

"The liberals are asking you to choose the lesser of two evils," he said.

Across the state the Democratic party regards Mexican-Americans as a bloc vote for itself, said Gutierrez, who holds a master's degree in political science. He urged Mexican-Americans to "vote against the Democrats" or write in on their ballot in the Nov. 3 general election.

He spoke to about a hundred persons at a meeting at the University of Houston sponsored by MAYO and the forum committee of the school's program council.

Splits Hairs

NEW YORK (AP) — While hair-splitting isn't exactly part of the Swiss watchmaking art, the industry does have a jig-boring machine for one of its most intricate operations which can actually split a hair into 50 equal parts. According to The Watchmakers of Switzerland, this is only one of over 2,000 separate operations that are necessary to make a swiss jeweled-lever watch.
