Americans Fleeing Angola

By REG SHAY

LUANDA, Angola AP - Americans and Europeans continued to flee from embattled Angola today as rival nationalist armies vied for control of the southwest African territory.

No immediate plans to close the U.S. Consulate were announced, but the British Consulate was shut down on Sunday and the staff flew to London today.

The British consul general in Launda, Stanley Croft, said in London that there were reports of "massacres of blacks by blacks" and although there had been no moves against whites the situation in Luanda as becoming increasingly dangerous.

Croft said he had heard reports that up to 14,000 troops of the Peking-backed National front for the Liberation of Angola FNLA were marching on Luanda from the north to try to take control from the rival MPLA.

Croft said some Britons, mainly directors of large business concerns, chose not to evaucate because they had no time to make arrangements for their businesses to continue.

"They have taken a calculated risk but individuals can look after themselves," he said.

About 20 Americans and 85 Britons and other Europeans left Luanda on Sunday as mortar rounds exploded in Luanda's surrounding shanty-towns and the sky was darkened by smoke from blazing oil tanks on Luanda Bay.

Ten Americans who boarded an oil rig service boat belonging to the Texaco Oil Co. were expected to reach Gabon, further north on the Atlantic coast, later today.

Texaco said a second boat would be availalbe for more Americans wanting to leave.

About 170 Americans were reported to be living in the territory before the evacuation from Angola, which is to become independent from Portugal in November.

Angry Portuguese troops on Sunday attacked on a crowd of Africans outside the suburban headquarters of the Moscow-backed Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola MPLA, which currently controls the city.

Witnesses said at least 20 persons were killed and another 20 were wounded by the Portuguese troops.

The witnesses said the Portuguese apparently had been angered by the wounding of a Portuguese lieutenant Saturday night and by the resistance they encountered in trying to arrest the alleged assailants.

The Portuguese troops are under orders to remain strictly neutral in the power struggle between the rival Agnolan forces.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, July 28, the 209th day of 1975. There are 156 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1914, Austria declared war on Serbia. It was the beginning of World War I.

On this date-

In 1821, Peru proclaimed independence from Spain.

In 1829, a steam carriage invented by Sir Goldsworth Gurney traveled from London to Bath, England, and back at 15 miles an hour.

In 1896, Miami, Fla., was incorporated. The population: 260.

In 1943, during World War II, U.S. forces were winning victories on the island of Sicily.

In 1945, 13 persons were killed as a U.S. military plane crashed into the Empire State Building in New York City.

In 1960, Vice President Richard Nixon went before a Republican National Convention in Chicago and accepted the GOP nomination for President.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson announced that U.S. military strength in South Vietnam would be increased from 75,000 to 125,000.

Five years ago: Egypt banned broadcasts by Arab guerrilla groups in Cairo as the U.S. worked for Arab-Israeli peace.

One year ago: Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon arrived in Washington to begin a month of intensive discussions with American and Arab leaders on a Middle East settlement.

Bicentennial Project Has Approval

Scurry County Commissioners this morning expressed approval of plans for a Bicentennial project on the Scurry County Coliseum grounds.

Delbert Downing, Bicentennial and Centennial general chairman, and John Jarrell, Bicentennial Heritage chairman, presented plans for the project at the coliseum grounds. This is envisioned as a possible permanent installation, with an outline of all states in the Union in an appropriate setting, with exhibits of various types of equipment associated with development of this area. Also proposed are a fountain, lighting equipment and a Bicentennial emblem in flowers.

Commissioners all expressed interest in the project and asked for cost estimates on the fountain, lighting system and for future maintenance.

Downing also reminded that the community's official Bicentennial Flag will be presented on the evening of Aug. 21 on the east side of the courthouse. A ceremony is set for 6:30 p.m. on that date.

Bids were opened for the purchase of two trucks and two pickups for Precinct No. 4. The bid of Mal Donelson Chevrolet Co., the lowest of three proposals received, was accepted. Donelson had a bid of $13,112.56 for the two trucks and $4,081.55 for the two pickups.

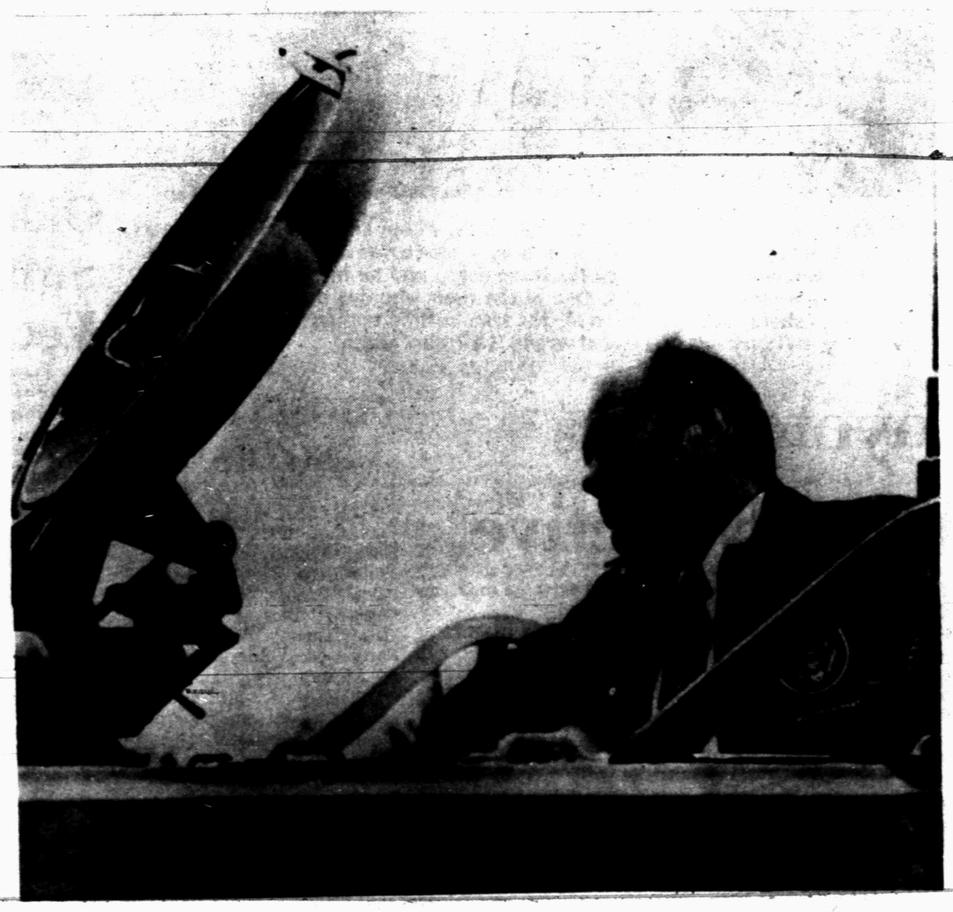

The commissioners court was to confer with Arthur H. Dimney of Chevron Oil Co. this afternoon on the county's plans to change its annual budget period from the calendar year to a fiscal year.

Blanche Is Weakening

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — Hurricane Blanche was weakening quickly today and began to lose its punch while moving across southwestern Nova Scotia.

Winds and heavy rainfall warnings were canceled.

Some local power failures were reported as tree branches fell across lines and ferry service between Prince Edward Island and the mainland were canceled because of heavy winds.

Federal Consolidation Of Ailing Railroads Proposed

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal planning agency recommended today that the government consolidate seven financially ailing northeastern railroads into one 15,000-mile system in the biggest corporate reorganization in American history.

For the traveling public, the plan also called for the creation of an all-passenger railroad line between New York City and Washington and for improved passenger train service on 16 other routes.

In the report, the U.S. Railway Association told Congress that 5,700 miles of lightly used track now owned by the railroads in the 17 states they serve should be abandoned or subsidized with federal-state funds. That track carries about 2 per cent of all traffic on the seven railroads.

The plan also recommended that the remaining 2,000-plus miles of track to be sold to privately owned railroads to allow those carriers to extend their lines and create competition for the proposed new railroad in all major cities in the affected region.

The USRA program was developed after months of public hearings, preliminary reports and recommendations by various government agencies. Congress has 60 working days to accept or reject the plan. If Congress does nothing, the program automatically goes into effect.

The backbone of the proposed new railroad, known as Con-Rail, would be the Penn Central. Other railroads to be included in the reorganization are the Erie Lackawanna, the Reading, the Central of New Jersey, the Lehigh Valley, the Lehigh and Hudson River and the Ann Arbor.

If approved by Congress, the USRA plan would set up a rail system extending across Ameria's manufacturing heartland from the Atlantic Ocean to the Mississippi River. The 17 states directly affected by the plan contain 55 per cent of all manufacturing plants in the country and they also are major producers of coal and manufacturers of steel.

The reorganization would be the largest in history, USRA said. It would exceed even the 1911 government-ordered reshuffling of the Standard Oil conglomerate.

If the plan is rejected, USRA, the Department of Transportation and the Rail Services Planning Office of the Interstate Commerce Commission will confer and make necessary changes. The plan then would be resubmitted to Congress for a second look.

FBI Telephone Book Is Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the FBI's best-kept secrets is its telephone directory.

Hardly anyone outside the FBI has one and not even the attorney general has one, although his aides say he doesn't really need it.

Reporters and other private citizens cannot get one, not even by petitioning for it under the Freedom of Information Act which is supposed to, and sometimes does, open all sorts of government files to public view.

This reporter tried that route but only gained one page of the directory after Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi overruled the FBI. That page lists the numbers for FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley's office and for the offices of 10 of the 13 FBI divisions. The phone numbers for Kelley and all 13 divisions long have been listed in the Justice Department directory which is routinely provided to reporters.

The page that Levi released also includes the numbers for the FBI gymnasium, the guard captain, and the cafeteria. A reporter might cover the FBI for 30 years and never need those numbers.

Reporters who occasionally have glimpsed one of the secret directories believe it contains an alphabetical list of the thousands of headquarters employes, their division assignment, room numbers and telephone numbers.

Levi and Kelley argued that a reporter doesn't need a phone book because the main switchboard operator will put through calls to any FBI employe. That sometimes works and sometimes doesn't.

This exercise began last Feb. 21, in an effort to obtain a necessary tool of reporting. On March 14, Kelley denied the request, citing the sections of the FBI Act exempting certain internal records and personnel files from public disclosure. And he wrote in a letter:

"I am aware that the information you requested would be vital to certain foreign intelligence services intent upon disrupting or otherwise thwarting our activities. I am therefore concerned that public disclosure of this information could impede our ability to carry out our investigative responsibilities."

Besides, he said, reporters already have the names and telephone numbers for the agents designated to respond to press inquiries. The spokesmen deliver only the agency's official response and they often don't have the requested data or take hours or days to provide it.

Kelley's decision was appealed to Levi who replied on July 17, "I have decided to affirm the action of Director Kelley in this case with a single modification" — the page he ordered released.

"Failure to have access to this directory affects the public not at all," Levi wrote. He said the FBI switchboard will connect any caller with the individual he requests or with "the appropriate office to deal with the caller's problem."

The attorney general said he was acting to protect the privacy of FBI employes.

Few Clues In Safe Job

Police were working with few clues today on a burglary and safe job at the Snyder Piggly Wiggly Store.

Store Manager Tony Wright said entry was gained through the back of the store sometime between 8 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday.

The safe was opened and an undetermined amount of cash was taken. No merchandise was missing and there was no damage to the safe, which officers said could indicate that the job was executed by experienced professionals.

The burglary was discovered when personnel opened the store for business Sunday morning.

Astronauts Face Semi-Isolation

HONOLULU (AP) — The three Apollo astronauts, their lungs still congested from inhaling rocket fuel fumes, face a 10-day period of seclusion here because they are vulnerable to infections.

Doctors said Sunday they plan to release Thomas Stafford, Donald Slayton and Vance Brand from Tripler Army Hospital on Tuesday, then place them in "semi-isolation." Their wives were to fly here from the Houston area after it was decided exactly where the astronauts would be kept.

The isolation period — which had not been mentioned by the doctors until Sunday — is intended to keep the astronauts away from other people, who might expose them to germs that would not harm a healthy person.

Dr. Peter Bartelloni, chief of medicine at the hospital, said the toxic gas the crewmen breathed last Thursday has disabled lung cells that normally fight infections.

Originally, the men were to have been flown home as soon as they were discharged. It was decided to keep them in Hawaii, said Bartelloni, for several reasons: so that treatment can be continued by the same doctors; to avoid the long, tiring flight to Houston, and because seclusion would be easier to arrange here.

Bartelloni and Apollo crew surgeon Dr. Arnauld Nicogossian seemed slightly less satisfied than the previous day about the crewmen's response to treatment. Although the irritation in Slayton's lungs has been progessively clearing, the improvement in the lungs of the other two has practically stopped, Bartelloni said.

They still cough when asked to breathe deeply, he said. And although the men feel very well, "they could be feeling better than they actually are" because of the steroid drugs they are taking, he added.

Asked if he was confident of their complete recovery, Bartelloni replied: "There is nothing to lead me to believe otherwise. I am optimistic. I can't go any farther than that."

Parr Bond Hearing Delayed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Ousted Duval County Judge Archer Parr went back to his cell at the Bexar County jail today after a bond hearing was delayed until Aug. 7.

Parr, controversial heir to the South Texas political machine of his late uncle, George B. Parr, was jailed Friday when the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld his conviction on perjury charges.

He had been free under a cash bond.

When the case was called today, Parr's lawyer, James B. Gillespie, U.S. Atty. John Clark, and Manges' lawyer, Jan Fox, conferred in Suttle's office for about 10 minutes, then mutually agreed to delay the hearing.

For First Of Meetings

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — President Ford flew to Poland today for a two-day official visit, the first in a series of meetings with East European Communist leaders.

The President was greeted at Warsaw's military airport by Polish Communist party leader Edward Gierek, President Henryk Jablonski and Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz.

After a welcoming ceremony, Ford and Gierek left the airport in an open limousine and drove through streets lined with cheering Poles to Ford's guest residence in the Royal Wilanow Palace just outside the capital.

Ford arrived in Warsaw after talks with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt in Bonn that focused chiefly on Western economic ills, and a symbolic visit to American and German troops at a remote outpost known to those stationed there as "the Rock."

Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a final session with Schmidt and German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher over breakfast today at Gymnich Castle.

The breakfast was considerably delayed, however, when Schmidt's helicopter had to turn back halfway between Bonn and Gymnich because of thick fog. His party waited for limousines to pick them up before continuing on their way to meet Ford.

The presidential visit to West Germany was capped Sunday night by a three-hour state dinner aboard a Rhine cruise ship that passed the peak where, according to legend, Siegfried slew the dragon — a local tale like that of David and Goliath.

Hardly noted, with overcast skies almost obscuring a nearly full moon, were the pilings of the destroyed bridge at Remagen, a strategic objective that American forces seized from Hitler's legions near the end of World War II.

Ironically, one stop scheduled for the President and Mrs. Ford in Warsaw was the reconstructed Old Town section destroyed principally by the Nazis in that same war.

Wars past did not figure in Ford's two-night stay in Bonn, however. He and Schmidt and advisors, including Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, talked chiefly about cooperation to end a deep economic slump embracing virtually all the non-Communist developed countries.

Following a meeting that ran 30 minutes beyond the time allotted, Ford told newsmen: "The chancellor and I agreed that it was vitally important that the economic policies of Germany and the European community be integrated with our own economic policies."

Voting Rights Act To Ford

WASHINGTON (AP)—Extension of the 1965 Voting Rights Act for seven more years and expansion of it to cover Mexican-Americans and other minorities in some areas was approved by the House today and sent to President Ford.

A bill extending the act until 1982 keeps seven Southern states under federal electoral supervision until Aug. 6, 1982.

It also extends coverage for the first time to areas in which five per cent or more of the population consists of Mexican-Americans, Alaskan natives, American Indians or people of Asian ancestry where there is a history of low voter registration and discrimination.

The House originally had voted to extend the act for 10 years, but accepted a Senate bill extending it for seven and sent it to President Ford.

Rep. Robert P. McClory of Illinois, ranking Republican of the House Judiciary Committee which originated the bill, told the House he still objects to including "Eskimos and Indians," which he said would require costly language training for voting officials, but he said he would approve the bill.

Turkish Move Into US Bases

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkish units began moving into U.S. military installations scattered around Turkey today, officials of the Foreign Ministry said.

They said the troops were acting to take control of the bases but declined to give further details. No reports were available from the sites to confirm the official annoucement.

Officials denied press reports that the United States had already closed down some of the key bases.

"There is no question of closing down the bases or sending the personnel away. But operations are being suspended gradually since Saturday in accordance with the Turkish government's decision," the officials said.

LCRA Awarded A Judgment

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — District Court Judge W.C. Davis today awarded a $25.2 million judgment to the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA) in a suit brought against by Coastal States Gas Producing Co.

The LCRA in its 11-week court case attempted to have Coastal States held to a 1962 contract to deliver natural gas to the electric cooperative at the contract price.

Davis ruled Coastal must pay LCRA the cost of gas above the contract price up to June 24, 1975 since, according to Davis, LCRA has passed on all damages to its customers and has suffered no damages due to the interim rate. The judge ordered that execution of the judgment be stayed until "all appeals from the judgment are filed."

The judge denied all other motions for judgment.

Close Votes Are Seen In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some very close votes are being predicted in Congress this week as the legislators confront the energy problem with oil price controls scheduled to expire Aug. 31.

The majority leaders of both houses indicated they expect some movement in Congress to cope with the scheduled expiration, which would lead to a relatively fast increase in the price of gasoline and other petroleum products.

Speaker Carl Albert told reporters today the prospects for work on energy legislation this week are "lots of headaches and effort and hopefully some results."

The House will consider a resolution to disapprove President Ford's proffered compromise and also may try to write some form of compromise on oil prices and decontrol into the energy bill it is considering.

Speaker Albert said additional compromise efforts are possible.

The House also will vote Tuesday on President Ford's veto of a $2 billion health program authorization bill.

The Senate voted 67 to 15 Saturday to override. For a bill to be enacted into law despite a presidential veto, each house must re-pass it by at least two-thirds majority.

Soon after Albert told newsmen of the plan for a veto vote, Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., appealed to the House to override.

"President Ford's vetoes now go across the board," O'Neill said. "He has said no to jobs, no to housing, no to energy, no to education and health. You name it, he's vetoed it ..."

O'Neill said Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation" that he thinks Congress will reject Ford energy compromise proposal and adopt its own similar measures.

O'Neill said an amendment similar to what the President has suggested will be proposed this week and he expects it to win approval. And, he said he anticipates that with such an amendment, Ford will agree to a temporary extension of current controls.

It will be very close, whether the amendment is passed, O'Neill said.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said on NBC's "Meet the Press" that he thinks there is a "50-50 chance" that Congress will accept President Ford's compromise proposal to remove controls over 39 months.

Congress must consider Ford's plan this week. If Congress does nothing by Friday, the administration's program goes into effect automatically.

If nothing is done, "then it means controls will go off ... and prices for gasoline will skyrocket," Mansfield said.

Racial Clash On Beach

BOSTON (AP) — About 100 whites attacked six black traveling salesmen on Carson Beach in South Boston, injuring one of the men, police said.

"We had been working all week and just wanted to come to the beach and enjoy ourselves," said James Barrowright of South Carolina. "Next thing we know, all we see is white faces calling us niggers and telling us to get out of here."

The six men said they ran when the whites began beating them Sunday with sticks and pipes, but one of them, Robert Jackson, 31, of Cambria, N.Y., was caught by the crowd, knocked to the ground and beaten, police said.

Police said they rescued Jackson and took him to City Hospital for treatment of head, rib and leg injuries.

A few blocks away, police broke up another clash of blacks and whites. This time a white man, not immediately identified, was severely hurt and taken to City Hospital, where his name was placed on the danger list, officials said.

Two white men arrested during that clash were charged with assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, police said.

Major Lawson, one of the blacks involved in the Carson Beach incident, said he and his companions were traveling the country selling religious articles. He said they were unaware that they had strayed into a predominately white neighborhood, the scene of several clashes during the desegregation of Boston's public schools over the past 10 months.

Lawson said, "Right now, we're just waiting for our man to get out of the hospital and then we're going to get the hell out of here. There's a much more serious problem here than I thought."

TIMBERRR!—It was a bad day for Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Schenck of Mercer Island, Wash., whose house was cut in two by a 100-foot-tall Douglas Fir Tree. The tree had been worrying Schenck for some time, and he thought he'd have it cut down before a storm toppled it. One of the men who cut the tree had to be treated for mild shock. A spokesman for the tree-cutting company said the firm was still trying to figure out what went wrong. (AP Wirephoto)

Coyote Tests More Effective

CHENEY, Wash. (AP) — An Eastern Washington State College researcher who is working on techniques to condition coyotes to avoid sheep says his experiments have been more effective than trapping or poisoning in protecting flocks.

Dr. Carl R. Gustavson, a professor of psychology at Eastern, has been field testing taste-aversion conditioning methods on wild coyotes at a Benge, Wash., sheep ranch the past spring. He said the experiments apparently have reduced losses to coyotes by a minimum of 30 per cent—compared to no proved reduction by use of the traditional methods of shooting, trapping and poisoning.

Gustavson laces sheep meat patties with lithium choloride, which mades cogotes ill, but even in fairly large doses does not injure them permanently. Coyotes which eat the dosed meat are conditioned not to like sheep meat.

Gustavson said it generally takes two such baits to condition coyotes for a long period of time.

The conditioning is automatic and occurs without the animal having any conscious control over his response.

"I'm encouraged," Gustavson said. "We know (conditioning) reduces losses. And we know that wild coyotes will take the bait."

Researchers in the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and others have criticized Gustavson's experiments, contending that the conditioning would never work in the field. But Gustavson said that the service has received large amounts of federal aid for research into eradicating coyotes, and they have not been successful. He said that his own work might threaten their continued work.

"That's been a continuing thorn in my side," he said. "All they have to do is prove their methods kill. I have to prove that I can reduce losses."

President Ford recently eased the ban on 1080, a poison that is shot into a coyote's mouth when the animal tugs on a carcass. But Gustavson said that nearly 22 per cent of the animals killed by the poison are not coyotes—they are cougars, bears and some species of hawks, which are nearly extinct.

Gustavson said that since 1080 was introduced 20 years ago in Montana, the coyote population dropped 60 per cent, but predator losses climbed by 20 per cent.

"When you kill a coyote, another coyote just comes in and takes his place," he said.

Texas Violent Death Toll Up

By The Associated Press

Violent deaths soared to unusually high levels over the weekend in Texas, accented by two incidents of asphyxiation in which six persons died.

The Associated Press started its regular weekend tabulation of violent deaths from all causes at 6 p.m. Friday and maintained the tally until midnight Sunday.

At end of the period, the death count stood at 40 with 17 persons dead in traffic accidents.

These were among the victims:

Donald Gene Renfro, 33, of Houston drowned Sunday afternoon when a boat overturned on Lake Livingston about 11 miles west of Livingston. Two other persons in the boat swam to safety.

A two-car collision about a mile east of Rosenberg on U.S. 59 killed two men Sunday. The victims were Claude Nance, 50, of Rosenberg and Clemente Lopez, 76, of Donna. They were in different cars.

Kevin Johnson, 11, of Lufkin drowned Sunday afternoon while swimming at a municipal pool in Lufkin. Witnesses said he had been diving. He was the son of Vernon Johnson.

Robert Charles McGill, 25, a Houston cab driver, was found dead Sunday in a weedy area in Northeast Houston. Police said he was shot in the head with a .38 caliber pistol about midnight Saturday. No arrest was made.

The body of A. D. Evans, 59, was recovered from Taylor Lake near the Johnson Space Center southeast of Houston Sunday. Officers said he fell off a pier into about 12 feet of water.

Alvardo Martinez, 26, of Houston, was struck and killed Sunday by a car. A witness said the vehicle carried him up the street on the hood. Police said a motorist turned himself in later.

Theofilos A. Perdikaris, 51, of Pasadena was killed Sunday when the car he was driving struck a telephone pole.

J. D. Chandler, 57, of Houston, was killed Saturday night when a car hit a stalled automobile on which Chandler was working. Police sought the driver of the car, which witnesses said did not stop.

Three persons were killed near Florence in Central Texas Sunday when their cars collided head-on on a farm road. Officers identified them as Benny Signs, 19, and Ruben L. Miravel, 20, both of Ft. Hood, and Edith Craft, 38, of Killeen.

Steve Goldwater, 21, drowned Sunday night while swimming with friends at Lake Tyler.

Rusk County deputies said they shot to death Henry Williams of MtEnterprise when he attacked a liquor agent with a knife during an arrest early Sunday at a care near Mt. Enterprise. The agent was hospitalized.

Oklahoma Suffering Vet Drain

By The Associated Press

Oklahoma is suffering from a vet drain.

Only a dozen of the 52 persons who graduated last spring from Oklahoma State University's Veterinary College have set up practice in Oklahoma. The rest have left, primarily for higher pay.

One who decided to stay is Dr. David Helms, an honors graduate who has settled in Tulsa. He said He was content with his job offers, which ranged from $1,000 to $1,500 a month.

Jobs aren't plentiful in Oklahoma as they are out of state but Helms believes it was a waste of taxpayers' money for graduates to leave the state.

"It's real bad for the state. Oklahoma puts so much taxpayers' money into their education. When they leave, the state just loses that much money," he said.

Dr. Robert Hughes, who settled in Wagoner, noted that Oklahoma vets charge less than in most parts of the country. He added, however, that money wasn't his prime motive in where he worked.

"I stayed here because I wanted to be my own boss," he said. "I wanted to open up mixed practice in this part of the state instead of working for someone else."

Paris Revolt Launched By Oldest Profession

PARIS—(NEA)—By seeking sanctuary in the churches of several cities recently, prostitutes ("filles de joie" or joy girls, as they are known to the French) resorted to a medieval custom.

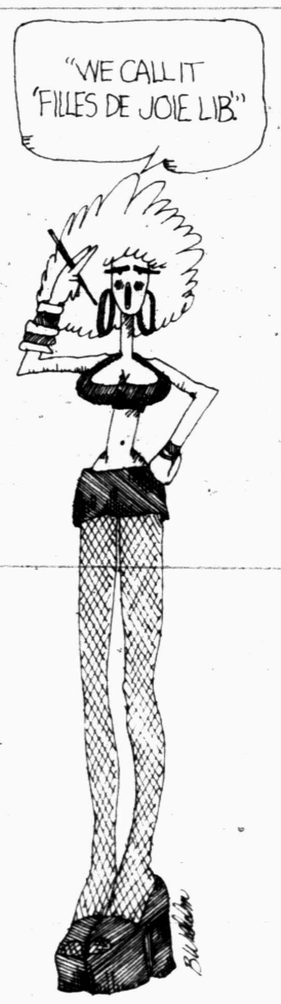

One of the last minorities to raise the red flag of revolution is the oldest profession. They have also raised a problem for which there seems to be no solution. The closing of brothels in France back in 1946 certainly has not prevented prostitutes from pursuing business as usual. They have only become more evident. Illogically, prostitution is legal in France but soliciting and pimping are not.

Ulla, the "Passionaria" of Lyons where the revolt against police authority began, stated very clearly what she and her sisters were fighting for. All want to be considered as exercising a profession as any other. The re-opening of brothels? "No," declared Ulla, "no brothels, no Eros Centers, as in some European countries. We want to put an end to the hypocritical attitude of the world around us."

That a prostitute should aspire to these things may seem abnormal to conventional thinking. But the "profession" remains a problem. And while sociologists point out that the majority have freely adopted this profession, it is all a question of money. Barbara, a handsome brunette, explained: "Me, with the money I make I buy respectability. My two children are brought up like any other middle class children. It's nobody's business how I earn it."

The number of "professionals" in France is variously estimated at 13,000 to 16,000, with 5,000 in Paris. According to police records, there are around 700 newcomers every year with the same number of dropouts, Two factors are responsible for this: a more active police force and the evolution of the permissive society. Added to which must be considered the "occasional" prostitutes, part-time operators out for money to pay the rent or buy a fur coat.

In fact, what all prostitutes are seeking is a kind of emancipation and the right to live like other women. They are ready to accept certain reforms. Tonie (short for Antoinette), another active militant in Paris, declares: "We are not against being registered and given a working permit. On the contrary. This would also simplify police records. We would also undertake to produce the working permits or salary slips of our husband or boy friend. It would thus be easy to smoke out the pimps and the women who work for them." According to Tonie, 80 percent of professional prostitutes are completely free.

Still another important factor for Tonie and her friends is the health problem. They are in favor of strict regulations: regular medical control for all and penalties for those who default. This, they believe, would be one way to stem the wave of venereal disease which has increased in recent years.

The re-opening of brothels does not find favor with most prostitutes. This corresponds to a form of slavery and complete objection, they say. "We want to be free to organize our life as we think fit. We should be allowed to work in studio apartments (right now a renter can be arrested for pimping if we are caught) or else authorize a list of hotels where we would be assured of the maximum of security."

There are also the fines and prison terms which the "joy girls" would like to see abolished. Some pay as much as $100 a day. As for prison, they point out that every citizen is free to use his or her body as he or she wishes and that they have neither stolen or killed. They are even ready to pay income tax on their earnings, like any wage earner. They do not ask for special favors. Only the right to be considered honorable citizens.

In quite another strata are the call girls described in a biography just published on Madame Claude, the most famous madam in Paris. She believes that while her activities are held to be immoral, there was no hypocrisy and her callgirl business probably saved many marriages if only because an occasional egobuilding fling is much less dangerous than keeping a mistress.

Today's loose moral standards rather shock Madame Claude who claims her establishment was patronized by all the Parisian elite. But she thinks today's permissive society is a threat to the oldest profession "Soon prostitution will be killed by the pill," she says, "And when you put sex on the front page and make pornographic films readily available, it is stupid and sad.

"The language of love has become ugly and gross," concludes Madame Claude.

Women Priests Seeking Ecclesiastical Trials

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the women who defied Episcopal tradition by being ordained priests hope to be brought to ecclesiastical trial, says the priest who allowed some of them to celebrate Holy Communion at his church.

Six of the 11 women ordained in a disputed ceremony last year in Philadelphia marked the first anniversary of the event in a joint celebration Sunday at St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church. Five of the women celebrated Holy Communion and one performed a baptism.

"Hopefully, a presentment could be made against the women," the Rev. William A. Wendt, rector of St. Stephen, said in an interview Sunday night. "They have been ignored. They should have been on trial all along but the Church and the bishops stepped around that one very carefully. If they came to trial, it could all hang out. They want to go to trial. Their lawyers want to go to trial," he said.

But, he added, "I doubt if the bishops and clergy will ever let them come to trial. Then they'd have to recognize them."

The Rev. Mr. Wendt was found guilty last month by a special ecclesiastical court of disobeying his bishop by permitting one of the women, the Rev. Allison Cheek of Annandale, Va., to celebrate Holy Communion in his church.

The Rev. Mr. Wendt was reprimanded and is appealing the decision. He said he does not know if Sunday's service will bring any further disciplinary action against him or the women.

When he allowed the Rev. Cheek to celebrate Holy Communion last November, the Rev. Mr. Wendt did so in defiance of a directive from his bishop, the Rt. Rev. William Creighton of Washington. The bishop, who is vacationing in Maine, was informed before Sunday's ceremony, but he made no response, the Rev. Mr. Wendt said. The bishop could not be located later for comment.

Episcopal law does not expressly forbid women to be priests, but the church's governing body has not approved it. Opponents have balked at allowing female ordinations basically because Jesus and all his apostles were men.

At Sunday's ceremony, a congregation of about 400, mostly women, surrounded a patchwork-covered communion table and received bread and wine from five of the female priests, dressed in brightly colored vestments.

Celebrating communion along with the Rev. Cheek were the Revs. Merrill Bittner of Rochester, N.Y.; Carter Heywood of New York City; Suzanne Hiatt of Philadelphia and Jeanette Piccard of Minneapolis.

The Rev. Betty Scheiss of Syracuse, N.Y., performed a baptism during the service but did not celebrate Holy Communion, saying she preferred to do it first in her own church.

Microwave Oven Best For A Few

COLLEGE STATION—Microwave ovens can add energy conservation to their "plus" lists—but only if they cook for five people or fewer, one authority says.

"The microwave oven cooks most foods in about one-fourth the time of conventional ovens—and that means a significant cut in total energy consumption," Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, family resource management specialist reported this week.

Translating that into numbers, this makes an average energy savings of 60-65 per cent for a family of four, the specialist added.

Mrs. Chenoweth, a Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, specialist, also said that microwave cooking most food quantities for a four-member family actually saves from 50-70 per cent energy.

"Smaller portion sizes (cooking for one or two persons) makes the microwave oven an even greater energy saver.

"By contrast, for larger portions, the savings are less.

"In fact, for portions of six or more, the microwave oven offers little energy consumption advantage," she admitted.

Tiny Tots Visit Senior Citizens

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — For weeks the tiny tots attending the Tamalpais Nursery school watched their somewhat senior neighbors in the Redwoods Retirement Home across the street. Many of the seniors were confined to wheel chairs; others walked with canes.

Then one of the tiny tots made a suggestion: "Let's visit those old ladies across the street."

The nursery school teacher thought it would be a good idea and it was arranged.

Now, once a week the little ones bring smiles and happiness to the faces of the older ones.

British Author Files Suit

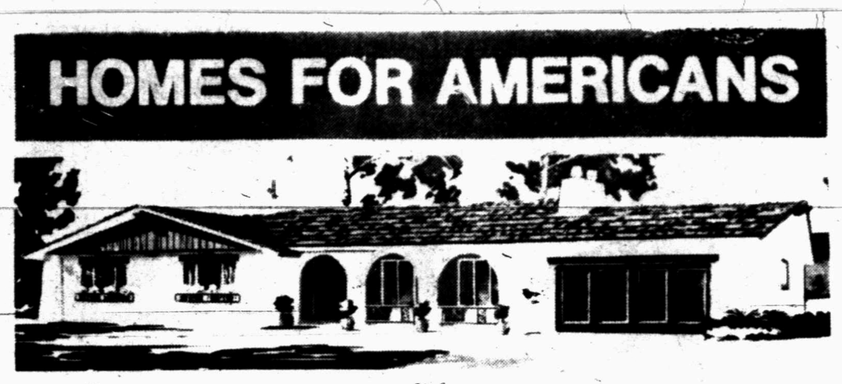

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Alex Comfort, author of "The Joy of Sex," has filed a $406,000 breach-of-contract suit against the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

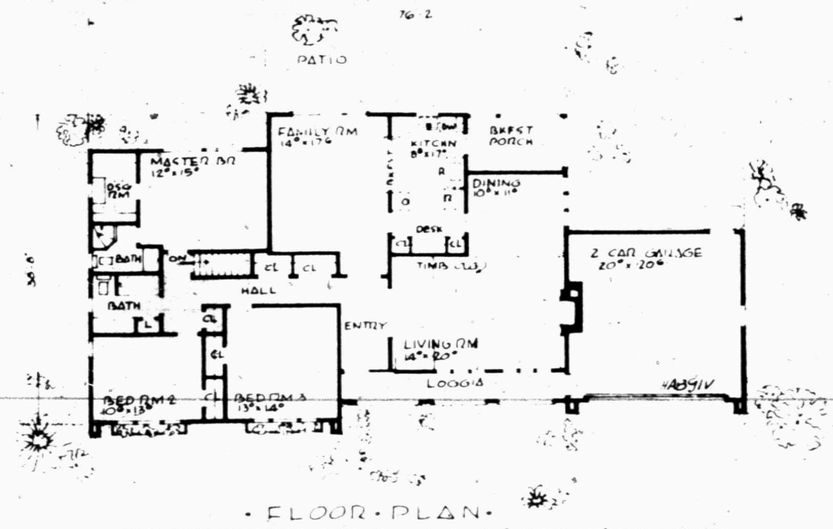

Comfort, a British writer, biologist and internationally known expert on aging, was a senior fellow at the Santa Barbara center.

His federal court suit maintains that his contracts with the center were terminated when it was reorganized in May and that agreements concerning royalties and other payments were broken. Comfort says he is due $93,000 in royalties and $63,000 in back pay. He also asks $250,000 in damages.

Peter Tagger, secretary and treasurer for the center, said Friday he had not seen the court papers and declined to comment on the suit. Under an agreement between Comfort and the center, Tagger said the center received all royalties from Comfort's books "and retained 20 per cent for our own use and paid the rest to him in installments over a period of four years."

Be Sure Jar Tops Seal

COLLEGE STATION—If you preserved foods in "loud mouth" jars that keep "talking" all year on the pantry shelf, help is at hand to prevent it happening again.

Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, pointed out these "talking" jars often spell spoilage.

She cited reasons jars don't seal and suggested some solutions.

—Small particles of food left on rim of jar.

Remedy: Wipe off top of jar with clean damp cloth before placing lid on jar.

—Sealing compound or lid doesn't seal.

Remedy: Lids may be old. Usually, they last five years. Some may have a year date on them, such as 1-75, to indicate the lid was manufactured in the first quarter of 1975 and should be used before the end of the first quarter of 1980. It's a good idea to mark date of purchase on the box of lids.

—Bent or rusty rings.

Remedy: Bent or rusty rings can cause the lids not to seal properly. Always remove rings when jars have cooled thoroughly and seals are tested.

Rings are necessary for the processing, but are not needed after the seal is made. Rings left on can rust and become difficult to remove—so store them in a dry place in a container that prevents them from being bent out of shape.

Examine rings before the start of each canning season and discard rusty or bent ones. Never use lids more than once, because they are designed for a one-time seal.

—Rings screwed on "too tight" or "too loose."

Remedy: Rings which are screwed too tightly on the jar do not allow space for venting (escape of air from the jar). This makes pressure build up in the jar, causing the lid—and sometimes even the top of the ring—to buckle.

Rings not screwed on tightly enough will not seal, because the compound is not pressed firmly enough against the top of the jar.

This specialist said that the main point to remember is to follow manufacture's directions. Do not use lid tighteners recommended for zinc caps. Two-piece lids don't require tighteners, she said.

Cars Borrow From Plane Design

NEW YORK (AP) — Automobile manufacturers are increasingly turning to principles and materials of aerospace design in the search for lighter vehicles which will use less gasoline and cost less to produce. The next such development may be in the use of carbon yarn.

Curry E. Ford, vice president of Union Carbide Corp., says carbon fibers have unique light weight, strength and stiffness which give designers the means to make much lighter structures without reducing strength.

Carbon yarn has been used by the aerospace industry for 15 years to reinforce plastic and metal structures, says Ford, who adds he expects to see it used in cars in the near future.

Tonis Won't Part With Model T

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — It has been driven 700,000 miles and is still going strong. That's the Model T Ford owned by Mike Tonis, 81.

Every day people stop him and want to buy the car.

"Never," he says. "I'll drive it forever."

He has been driving the navy blue car for 41 years and got it for $5 during the Depression years.

He says he has been offered $3,000 and a 1948 Cadillac.

He drives the Model T regularly. It runs fine and rarely gives Tonis any trouble.

Punjabs Settling In Fresno County

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Fresno County, spiced by the languages, customs and cultures of many nations, is getting an added dash of curry-flavored piquancy from a minor wave of immigration from the Punjab region of India.

An estimated 300 Punjabs, most of them immigrants within the past three or four years, live in the Cantua Creek and San Joaquin communities. They have been arriving at the rate of about 60 a year.

They follow the Sikh religion and most were mainly land owners in India. Many are well-educated. With few exceptions, however, they are working as farm laborers on the county's west side.

FED UP WITH RISING TAXES

Taxpayers Are Rejecting Proposed School Budgets

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Americans fed up with rising taxes have rejected proposed school budgets at a record rate this year, defeating spending plans requiring increased levies on property and other items.

An Associated Press spot check showed the mood of discontent seemed strongest on the East and West Coasts, although there were signs of rebellion elsewhere.

New York State officials said 622 school district budgets were submitted to voters during May and June. They said a record 155 or 23.4 per cent were rejected. The previous high rate of defeat was in 1969 when just under 20 per cent of the budgets were rejected.

The biggest setbacks came in suburban areas where property taxes already are high. Some of the proposed tax increases ranged up to 20 per cent, with local authorities claiming they needed the money because state aid to education is not keeping pace with inflation.

The trade publication, the Nation's Schools & Colleges, estimated recently that it cost almost $1,170 to educate the average public school student in the academic year that ended last month. That was 14.4 per cent higher than a year earlier and school officials say next year's costs are rising even faster.

The biggest expense for most districts — ranging up to 80 per cent in some areas — is salaries, with fuel costs running second on the list of problems.

Local taxes on real estate and personal property provide the largest chunk of school funding in many areas and the voter rejections of levy increases have forced authorities to reshuffle budgets and cut spending to keep within existing revenues.

Maynard Mathison, a spokesman for the superintendent of public instruction in the state of Washington, said about 2,000 teachers are losing their jobs as a result of the cutbacks.

Washington officials said voters in 67 of the 275 school districts that had elections this spring turned down spending proposals, for a rejection rate of 24 per cent. In contrast, only 9 per cent of the tax plans submitted to the voters last year were defeated.

The turndowns — including one in Seattle where voters rejected the proposed budget in two separate elections — affected about 300,000 of the state's 750,000 pupils. Only $205 million or 53 per cent of the $390 million requested was approved. The same districts requested about $319 million last year and got all but $20 million.

Pull Tabs Are Often Swallowed

By C.G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — It's not a good idea to drop pull tabs from soda and beer cans into the can until after the beverage has been drunk, say two Chicago physicians reporting on patients who consumed the tabs along with the liquid.

Two patients swallowed the tabs and another tab ended up in an air passageway to the lungs and had to be removed by surgery, they report in the July 28 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The physicians, Dr. Lee F. Rogers, a Northwestern University radiologist, and Dr. John P. Igini, a Loyola University surgeon, note that:

"Environmentalists have suggested that immediately after a tab on a beverage can is pulled, the metal ring should be dropped through the slot before drinking the contents."

This is intended to reduce litter an protect wildlife. But the practice can be hazardous, the physicians warn.

Rogers and Igini suggest the tab be placed on a finger or in a pocket until the beverage is consumed, unless a waste receptacle is immediately available.

It is sometimes difficult for physicians to determine if a pull tab has been swallowed, or, if it has, where it is lodged.

This is because the tabs are made of aluminum, which shows up only faintly on X-ray pictures, the doctors point out.

In the cases they describe, one of the tabs was retrieved with an instrument inserted into the esophagus. Another passed through the digestive tract.

Economists Turn Attention To Recovery

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The recession is being declared over by numerous private and government economists who rapidly are turning their attention to what they confidently declare is the coming recovery.

Meanwhile, the latest jobless rate was 8.9 per cent of the civilian labor force. Some private analysts, who include long-term dropouts from the labor force, put the figure at closer to 11 per cent.

The Commerce Department announced that another 1.3 million Americans were added to the nation's list of poor last year, bringing the total of poor to 24.3 million, or 12 per cent of the entire population.

Median family income—that is, the midpoint of all incomes—was set at $12,840 for 1974, which means that, adjusted for price increases, it was down 4 per cent from 1973.

Interest rates are rising, and that includes rates on home mortgages. Prices are rising, especially for food. All predictions include more price increases and only a slow reduction of unemployment.

At present prices, many families would have to work six months in order to pay for a new automobile that might break down in three years. At present prices, many families cannot even dream of owning a new house.

No wonder then that ordinary Americans sometimes ask if they are living in the same world as the bankers and economists and politicians who peruse their favorite sets of statistics and issue their opinions.

Somewhere along the line a good many of the nation's leaders seem to have forgotten that statistics might look like numbers but really they are human beings. They aren't averages or indicators, but people.

There are statistics that do indeed indicate the economy's momentum is beginning to pick up. Output is rising. Iventories have been worked off. Some retail sales are beginning to rise. These are a few.

Continued over a period of weeks and months, such figures are accurate indicators of the economy's direction. It can't very well be denied that if economic activity is picking up then we are coming out of recession.

Doctor Warns Parents: Keep Chemicals From Kids

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a physician. About 72 hours ago, a previously healthy, beautiful, 16-month-old child was brought to our department with obvious burns around his lips and mouth.

Only a few hours before, while visiting his grandparents, he discovered a bottle of lye and injested only one mouthful. Fourteen doctors, and dozens of nurses and operating personnel have been involved in the three operations that this child has already undergone.

The boy is now in our intensive-care unit, his eyes held shut with plastic tape, his breathing controlled by a machine and his life supported by tubes placed in his neck, chest, abdomen, penis, arms and legs. All of his esophagus and most of his stomach were destroyed by the lye and had to be surgically removed. If he lives, he will have to be fed through a hole in his abdomen for months.

Abby, please, ask your readers to inspect their kitchens, bathrooms, basements and garages, and to place all dangerous chemicals outside the reach of small children. And ask them to pass the word on to their friends and neighbors who may not have children but who occasionally have young visitors.

This type of needless suffering and death to small children can be stopped today without spending one penny for research or donations.

I hope you will consider this worthy of your column, which is probably read by more people than any other.

ARNOLD E. KATZ, M.D.
IOWA CITY, IOWA

DEAR DR. KATZ: Worthy? If only one letter makes my column today, this will be it.

Readers, please place all detergents, bleaches, cleaning fluid, paint, polish, rat poison, drain cleaner and pills (including aspirin and iodine) under lock and key today!

DEAR ABBY: In 1926, we were married. Four years later, we got divorced. Neither of us married anybody else.

Seven years later we got married again. Next year will be 50 years since our first marriage. Do we have the right to celebrate our 50th wedding anniversary? Or do we have to wait another seven years to make up for the time we were divorced?

EAST OF EDEN

DEAR EAST: Go ahead and celebrate your 50th. Who's counting?

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANYONE WHO IS INTERESTED IN MONEY: If you're looking for ways to budget your money, save it, spend it wisely, invest it, leave it to your family or take it with you—I recommend Sylvia Porter's new "MONEY BOOK." It's not cheap, but it's worth the money!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

At Last, Tom Beats Jack

ILE B ZARD, Que. (AP) — There was an air of deep, intense satisfaction, almost retribution, in Tom Weiskopf's attitude.

He'd just conquered Jack Nicklaus in a sudden death playoff Sunday for the Canadian Open Golf Championship.

And Weiskopf's thoughts drifted back to the spring of the year and "the greatest disappointment of my life," at Augusta, Ga. and the Masters.

He lost that tournament by a stroke to Nicklaus, a record fourth time he's been second there.

"I thought I got over it in a couple of weeks," he said. "But I didn't. It really took it out of me. I haven't played much since then and I haven't played very well. The disappointment is the reason.

"It's a great thrill, it means a lot to win a national championship."

Weiskopf, who scored a dramatic birdie on the first extra hole, benefitted from two Nicklaus' lapses and a little putting lesson Jack gave him early in the week.

Nicklaus, playing well in front of Weiskopf, appeared to have his first Canadian national championship in his pocket when he stood on the 18th tee. But, not knowing that Weiskopf was in trouble and on his way to a bogey on the 16th, Jack pull-hooked his drive into a lake on the left of the 18th and eventually made bogey. That cut his lead to a single stroke.

Weiskopf, a close friend who will play as Nicklaus' partner in the National Team championship later in the year, rammed in an 18-foot birdie putt on the 17th to tie and chipped up close to make par on the 18th, setting up the playoff.

They finished the regulation 72 holes in a drizzling rain tied at 274, six-under-par on the 6,628 yard Royal Montreal Golf Club course. Nicklaus, who had shared the lead at the end of the first three rounds, had a closing 68, two under par. Weiskopf shot 67.

On the first playoff hole, Weiskopf lofted his seven iron approach shot over water to within two feet of the cup. Nicklaus responded with a seven iron to about 6-8 feet. Both had distinct birdie possibilities.

But Jack missed.

Nicklaus earned $22,800 for second, which boosted his money-winnings for the year to $203,599, well in front of Johnny Miller, now second at $183,170.

Gay Brewer, a gray-haired, 43-year-old veteran who scored his last victory in this tournament three years ago, missed the playoff by a single stroke with a closing 69 and a 275 total. He'd shared the lead with Nicklaus at the end of the second and third rounds and was in a three-way tie for the top as late as the 15th hole of the last round.

Arnold Palmer, who scored his first pro victory in the Canadian Open 20 years ago, birdied his last hole for a 67 and fourth at 277.

Bruce Crampton of Australia was next with a 69 and 278. J.C. Snead was the only other man under par with a 279 total that included the best score of the final round, a 66.

Gary Player of South Africa and Lee Trevino were at 280.

LL Playoff Here Tonight

The Snyder Little League field in Towle Memorial Park will be the scene of a playoff game between Abilene and Lubbock teams tonight.

The Abilene Dixie League team will meet the Lubbock Northwest team in a battle for a berth in the state Little League tournament. The game will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Abilene Dixie won its district title by taking a 7-5 decision from Ballinger, while Lubbock Northwest blanked Lubbock Southwest, 1-0, for its district title.

Top Teams Are In Tournament

Some of the top baseball teams in this part of the country will be in Snyder for the West Texas Championship Tournament scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Tournament games will be played at Moffett Field in Towle Memorial Park and at the North Park field.

Such teams as the Amarillo A's and the Abilene Bulls, along with the Snyder All-Stars and others, will be in the competition.

The host Snyder A–Stars not only represent the host city in the tournament, but also will be favored as contenders for the West Texas Crown.

The local entry will send Tim Holder to the mound to start its opening game in the tournament. Other pitchers available for duty include Ronnie Lewis, Perry Turnbow and Robert Alderette.

The Snyder All-Stars also have power hitting in their line-up, featuring Larry Wall, Terry Holt, Hulen Malone, Eddie Bane, Larry Brazil and Ronnie Lewis.

The Snyder All-Stars have represented the city in several other cities during the season, and they are expected to have strong support by local fans for the tournament this weekend.

American Tankers Triumph

CALI, Colombia (AP) — They pulled the plug on the second World Aquatics Championships and when it was all over, only the United States and East Germany could hold their heads above water.

The powerful American and East German contingents overwhelmed the field and their only competition was against each other.

The United States Sunday claimed its second straight World Aquatics Championships team victory, finishing with 16 gold medals, 11 silver and 10 bronze. East Germany totalled 11 gold, seven silver and five bronze.

But the Americans' team total includes three gold medals won in synchronized swimming and two in diving. Without those medals, the two swimming powers each finished with 11 gold, almost exactly where they left off in Belgrade two years ago at the first Aquatic Games.

In Belgrade, tiny East Germany, which had won only two swimming gold medals the year before at the Munich Olympics, shocked the Americans by producing a fleet of flying frauleins who won 10 gold medals in 14 women's swimming events. The American women won only three gold but were rescued by the men, who swam to eight victories in 15 events. The East German men swimmers chipped in with two gold and at the finish line, the East Germans had beaten the powerful American swimmers 12-11 in gold nuggets.

This time, the Americans were ready for the East German females, and although they have closed the gap somewhat, it still exists.

"We have come back and I think we have proven this," said Flip Darr, coach of the American women swimmers who won three gold, five silver and five bronze." Belgrade was the stimulus.

"Our situation after the Olympics was not a shortage of talent. We had many young girls who had done great, but the older experienced girls who retired hurt us a bit and we didn't realize it in time. The younger girls rode on the laurels of the Olympics and we got beat."

Overconfidence, however, is not the reason why the American women lose to swimmers like Kornelia Ender. Miss Ender just happens to be the best female swimmer anywhere and she is part of the reason why the American women are still trailing in the wake of the East Germans.

Sunday night, on the ninth and last day of these aquatic games, which brought together more than 700 competitors from 39 countries, Miss Ender methodically and inevitably pulled away from the field to win the women's 100 meters freestyle for her second individual gold medal. Miss Ender had won the 100 butterfly Thursday night and triggered East Germany Saturday night to a world record in the women's 4 by 100 meter freestyle with a world record of her own, a 56.22 clocking in the 100 freestyle.

Carol Says 15th Key To Victory

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I knew I had to pull myself up by the scuff of the neck," said Carol Mann.

That isn't exacly an easy trick for a 6-foot-3 gal like Miss Mann, but she did the trick.

After bogeying the first hole Sunday, she rolled in three birdie putts, and didn't falter again until she had the $40,000 George Washington Classic locked up with a final round 70 for a 210.

Another three strokes back at 213 were Jo Ann Prentice and Miss Whitworth, both recent Women's Golf Hall of Fame inductee. Miss Prentice finished with a 71, and Miss Whitworth a 74.

Miss Mann said the key to her victory was at the 15th hole, where she was in a bunker on the second shot, and her closest competitor, Miss McAllister, was on the green 18 feet from a birdie on the par four hole.

Miss McAllister's putt however, was two feet right of the hole, and she pushed it in for par. Miss Mann came out of the bunker and holed a 15-footer for par.

"If I bogey and she birdies there, it would have been a swing of two strokes, and I'd of been three ahead with three to go," Miss Mann explained. "Instead it was a swing or nothing. I still led by five."

JoAnn Washam finished fifth with a final round par 72, for a three round total of 214. Kathy Ahern carded a 75 Sunday for a 215, while defending champion Sandra Haynie, rookie Bonnie Lauer, and Stacy Hollis deadlocked at 216. Miss Haney finished with a 72, and Miss Lauer and Miss Hollis, each 74. Donna Young, who shared the first round lead with a five under par 68, faded with a 77 to 217.

Sandra Palmer, recently crowned open champion, had rounds of 74-75-71 for a 220.

JUMBO CATFISH—Edgar Roberts, left, and Jack Huddleston needed help in landing these two yellow catfish which they caught on a trotline at a tank north of Vincent. The larger fish weighed 50 pounds, while the little fellow tipped the scales at a mere 35 pounds.

Jack Ford Bags Four Wild Boar

BONN, West Germany (AP) — President Ford's 23-year-old son Jack bagged four wild boar here during a predawn hunt at a game preserve.

CHUCK NOLL HAPPY

Bradshaw Takes Charge

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — Terry Bradshaw emerged as a cool, confident quarterback in the Pittsburgh Steelers' 1974 Super Bowl drive. And the feeling in the Steeler training camp is that it was nothing more than a prelude for the best Bradshaw has to offer.

"He walked into this training camp and took over the offense like he never has before," said Coach Chuck Noll. "Everything he does now, he does with total confidence. He gets better by the day."

Bradshaw, the first player chosen in the 1970 National Football League draft, agrees that he's gained confidence—but to him that earns the confidence of his teammates.

"I always believed in myself, but I needed others to believe in me as much as I did," he said before a recent workout. "I had to earn that, and it wasn't until the playoffs last year that I did.

"Now I know what I have to do, and my teammates know I can do it, too. I'm ready to make up for some of the leadership that I haven't provided before."

Bradshaw has always been known for his strong passing arm. However, it was his playcalling and use of the running game that made him especially effective last season in playoff victories over Buffalo, Oakland and Minnesota.

"Now, if I find myself throwing the ball more than 20-25 times a game I'll say, 'Hey, wait a minute. Something is wrong here.'

"It took me a long time to understand the running game and appreciate its value. But now I do," he said.

Bradshaw augments the Steeler running game with his own ball-carrying. He ran 20 yards for a touchdown for the only score of a Steeler scrimmage Saturday.

He averaged 7.6 yards per carry in last season's playoffs, and he ran for several key first downs. He figures he'll run even better this season because he's reduced his weight to 204 pounds from the 225 he weighed a year ago.

"I just felt sloppy at 225," he said, "and there is no room in this league for being sloppy. I feel stronger and quicker, now than I have in years."

Bradshaw rode the bench for the first six games of last season while Joe Gilliam played quarterback, and prior to last season Bradshaw had dueled Terry Hanratty for the job.

However, Bradshaw has undisputed control of the starting job at this time.

"I think I've earned it, and apparently others do too," he said. "Now, I have to prove we were all right."

Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds is aiming to become the youngest player to win the National League runs-batted-in title four times. He's 27.

Confident Red Sox Roll Merrily Toward Playoff

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Break up the Red Sox!!!!.

The boys from Boston are running away with the American League East and they don't expect to be caught from behind.

"I don't think we can blow it," said Manager Darrell Johnson. "These boys just love to play baseball and they play the hell out of it."

"Lose? No chance," said rookie outfielder Fred Lynn. "Well...there's always a possibility but the chances are really slim."

"If we stay healthy, no one is going to catch us," added pitcher Bill Lee. "We have the best ballclub."

The reason for all the optimism was a 1-0, 6-0 sweep of the New York Yankees Sunday, a twin-killing that lifted the Red Sox games ahead of second-place Baltimore in the East Division. Lee and Roger Moret pitched six-hitters as Boston won for the 17th time in the last 20 games.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland swept a doubleheader from Chicago 10-1, 71, Baltimore took two games from Milwaukee 7-4 and 11-6 in 10 innings, California coasted by Minnesota 6-1, Kansas City shaded Texas 2-1 and Detroit split with Cleveland, winning 87 and losing 7-2.

Lee, 13-6, outdueled Catfish Hunter, 13-10, in the first game. Lynn reached first on an error by shortstop Jim Mason in the ninth inning, stole second and scored on Rick Miller's single for the game's only run.

Boston had an easier time of it in the nightcap as Jim Rice rapped four hits and drove in two runs, and Carl Yastrzemski hit his 12th home run of the year.

A's 10-7, White Sox 1-1

Vida Blue, 14-8, and Stan Bahnsen, 7-8, pitched eight-hitters and Reggie Jackson and Joe Rudi homered in each game as Oakland upped its lead in the AL West to 9½ games.

Orioles 7-11, Brewers 4-6

Baltimore rallied for six runs in the ninth to tie the second game and five more in the 10th to win it. Doug DeCinces' two-run triple and Al Bumbry's two-run homer keyed the rally in the ninth while Tommie Davis hit a grand slam homer in the 10th.

Angels 7, Twins 6

Dick Lange, 4-3, posted his first complete game victory of the season and had a shutout until Tony Olvia homered in the ninth.

Royals 2, Rangers 1

Steve Busby, 13-8, bested Gaylord Perry, 9-15, as Kansas City won its fifth straight game, four of them under new manager Whitey Herzog.

Tigers 8-2, Indians 7-8

Detroit rallied from a 7-2 deficit to take the opener on Aurelio Rodriguez' tie-breaking triple in the eighth inning.

Cleveland came back in the nightcap behind Fritz Peterson, 5-7, who won for the first time in two months.

U. S., Canada Share Honors

MONTREAL (AP) — The United States and Canada each took 11 medals at the International Competitions 1975 track and field meet during the weekend, but the United States was a clear winner over the host country in the unofficial medal standings.

The U.S. total sparkled with five golds to go with two silvers and four bronze, while Canada managed three golds, three silvers and five bronze.

Belgium was second to the U.S. team with four golds, a silver and two bronze, followed by Poland with three golds, five silvers and one bronze. Canada's showing earned fourth place.

A small contingent from the Soviet Union, expected to do far better in the 1975 Olympic Games to which the meet was a prelude, had one gold and a bronze, trailing such countries as France, which took seven medals, and Ethiopia, with three.

The only U.S. gold Sunday came in the women's 200 meters when Pam Giles was timed in 23.72 seconds to nip Belgium's Lea Alaerts in 23.75.

Two Canadian open records were cracked Sunday for a total of 12 in the three-day meet.

Maria Vergova of Bulgaria hurled the discus 217 feet, 2 inches for a women's mark and, among the men, Aimo Aho of Finland threw the javelin 278-8.

Parachutist Cuts Off The Power

SPRINGFIELD, Ore. (AP) — Ken Paschall, 21, says "parachuting is not a dangerous sport, it's just that obstacles get in the way."

On a recent jump his 'chute missed its mark by a half mile and caused a power outage on the west end of town. Power lines trapped the canopy of Paschall's 'chute as he steered toward a landing on Rock Creek Road.

Paschall landed, uninjured but embarrassed, in a nearby ditch.

Pitcher Karl Bass, who compiled a 34-3 career record with Bobby Richardson's South Carolina baseball team, has signed a bonus contract with the St. Louis Cardinals.

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Two years ago, a landmark Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act was passed by the Legislature after months of work with the sponsors by the Attorney General's Office, the Texas Consumer Association, the Texas Retail Federation, the Texas AFL-CIO, and the State Junior Bar.

That law made Texans one of the best-protected groups of consumers in the country.

Again this past legislative session, our Attorney General's Office, in cooperation with the same groups, worked to help pass certain amendments to the basic law that would clarify parts of it in order to provide even better protection against fraud for consumers.

The basic premise of the 1973 law was, and still remains, that every citizen is a consumer—this includes businesses— and that consumers are entitled to protection from false, misleading, or deceptive practices in their business dealings.

The changes passed during the last session further specify that "consumer" means "an individual, partnership, or corporation who seeks or acquires by purchase or lease, any goods or services."

For example, if an insurance corporation bought 100 new typewriters and later found out they had been sold not new but "reconditioned" machines, they might take action under the law.

Another important change is that real estate transactions are now covered by the Act. So, if you buy a house thinking you're getting 10 acres of land with it, and it turns out that you actually got only 9.6, you might file a consumer complaint.

Or, if someone sells you a lot and house in the country with a septic tank installed and "in good working order," and you later find out the septic tank is installed but has never worked properly, the new law clearly protects you.

Another change in the law clarifies a consumer's right to protection from fraud in goods or services purchased or leased for use, including services furnished in connection with the sale or repair of goods. For example, this provision would protect a consumer from misrepresentation if he leased an automobile for a period of time. The Legislature has, however, limited protection on purchase or lease of services to uses other than commercial or business.

Another consumer law passed in the recent legislative session brings the Texas Home Solicitation Act in conformance with a similar federal law. Sales in the consumer's home may now be cancelled by the consumer within three days if the amount of the sale exceeds $25.00. Sales involving real estate may be cancelled if they are for amounts over $100. The seller must include disclosure of Home Soliciation Act provisions on contracts for all goods under $200, unless a 100 percent written guarantee is offered.

And, finally, a significant service to consumers was authorized by the Legislature when provision was made for our Attorney General's Office to open a sixth regional office to serve the Lower Rio Grande Valley. This office will operate in conjunction with our regional offices in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Lubbock, and El Paso, and our main office in Austin will make consumer law enforcement activities much more accessible to residents of the Valley.

Reagan Pleased With Response

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he won't "just jump off of a cliff with the flag flying" and enter the race for president if the odds are too great against him.

But the 64-year-old former California governor said he is encouraged by the response of audiences and local Republican leaders to his most recent national speaking tour.

Reagan, who finished a six-state, 8,500-mile tour Saturday, said he still didn't know enough about the extent of his support to decide whether to run against President Ford for the GOP nomination in 1976.

But he said he was pleased with last week's trip, which was climaxed with hundreds of "Reagan-for-President" signs and a cheering, enthusiastic crowd at a Raleigh, N.C., rally.

He also spoke at fund-raising events in Tacoma, Wash., Montana, North and South Dakota and Virginia.

Even in the most remote stops the response seemed uniformly friendly.

"You have to feel it was successful," Reagan said. "In most places we were told it was the biggest turnout they ever had. And obviously, my ramarks were well received. So you feel good about it."

But Reagan said he will rely heavily on the newly formed "Citizens for Reagan" presidential committee to give him an objective and realistic appraisal of his chances of defeating Ford.

"To me, one of the reassuring things about the committee is these are knowledgable people who, like me, don't want to just jump off of a cliff with the flag flying," Reagan said.

Baylor To Have Flight Program

DALLAS (AP) — A program to train commercial airline pilots and flight engineers through a non-military curriculum will be launched jointly this fall by Baylor University and American Airlines, American has announced.

The program will be one of the first flight academies in the world designed to give high school graduates the education needed to move into the airlines industry.

The program is being established because the airlines industry can no longer depend on the military to train and produce flight personnel, said M. C. Thomas, director of flight contract training for American Airlines.

The two-stage AVA Flight Academy program will consist first of a four-year degree program in aviation sciences at Baylor, after which graduates will move on to the American Airlines Flight Academy at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

John Gibson, AVA Flight Academy program director, said the introduction of highly sophisticated equipment in today's airlines industry "has added new dimensions to the job of the pilot in the cockpit."

The program was announced Saturday after a three-day, top-level flight training seminar for 40 delegates from approximately a dozen Arab nations and Iran. The dignitaries met under tight security last week in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and news coverage was blacked out until their departure, an American Airlines spokesman said.

The seminar was an effort by American Airlines to capture and serve the flight training needs of the rapidly expanding Middle Eastern airlines at American's multi-million dollar flight academy.

Demo Telethon Surpasses Goal

DALLAS (AP) — Texans surpassed their Democratic party telethon goal of $300,000 with a total of $367,303 promised from the state during the 22-hour national fund-raising event, state party officials report.

After subtracting expenses involved, the state party and the national party will split net amount collected on a 50-50 basis, a state party spokesman said at the end of the event Sunday evening.

Nationally, just over $4 million was pledged, and the state spokesman said Texas would rank either second or third among all states when the final pledges are tabulated.

The telethon, which ran from 8 p.m. Saturday until 6 p.m. Sunday, was carried on 16 Texas television stations and the state party had telephone banks in 19 cities.

Headquarters for the Texas proceedings was in Dallas.

CELEBRITIES ON THE COUCH

By Dick Maurice

Interview: GAIL STRICKLAND

"Casting people have no imagination."

Gail Strickland was born in Birmingham, Ala., on May 18, 1945. Neither her mother, father, nor any other relative was in show business. Gail always wanted to be an actress. The slim, auburn-haired, hazel-eyed beauty was undaunted when, at Brooke Hill School for Girls, her height–she is now five-foot-six–led toher being assigned only the male roles. At summer camp, she excelled at sports–including swimming and diving, archery, tennis and gymnastics. It was not until her junior year at college that she devoted most of her time to the theatre. She joined the school's dramatic club and soon was appearing and receiving college credits for her work. Gail made her motion picture debut with a big splash. She is held captive with Paul Newman in the harrowing "drowning pool" scene of the new Warner Bros. film that is appropriately titled, "The Drowning Pool."

MAURICE: Critics have been very kind to you. Haven't they?

STRICKLAND: I can't complain. I fared very well. I don't like to view myself through a critic's eyes. We are all open to criticism but it's a little frightening to think that some person out there who has been given this power will now tell you whether or not you have done your job. I don't hold with that really.

MAURICE: Why is it that you have to get all dressed up and look like the part you are auditioning for in order to get the role?

STRICKLAND: You want me to tell you? Casting people have no imagination. That's not so true in New York. Generally in the theatre you can walk on the stage just like you are. In fact kids usually wear blue jeans and tee shirts and they audition. You don't have to dress the part. In California it is really different - in television anyway. My agent tells me when to wear my padded bra, my hair gets parted in the middle and you wear the little puff sleeves. If you don't walk in looking like the part, they don't think you can do it.

MAURICE: Who are some of the stars you've admired?

STRICKLAND: People like Mae West, Jane Fonda, Marsha Mason from "Cinderella Liberty, Clark Gable, Bogart, Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward.

MAURICE: Has anyone ever told you that you look like the actress Sandy Dennis?

STRICKLAND: I have been told that I look like Sandy Dennis, Faye Dunaway, and like Leslie Caron. And I was even told once that I looked like Michelle Phillips.

MAURICE: You once stated that you wanted to be a very big star. Do you feel that in today's industry you have to walk over many people in order to reach stardom?

STRICKLAND: I think you have to avoid walking over people. Being a big star is really a matter of picking your parts very carefully. The fate of your career is so much in your hands that every move you make is critical. When I said I wanted to be a big star I meant it, but I also meant I wanted to be the best at what I do.

MAURICE: How does it feel to see yourself on the screen?

STRICKLAND: [illegible] very distorting at first. It was difficult getting used to seeing myself 20 feet high on the screen.

MAURICE: If you had one wish, what would you wish for?

STRICKLAND: Funny you should say that. I want it all. I want a home that I can count on and come back to and I want to work. And I don't want to hustle so hard. I want to work and do good things with good people. I couldn't have had a better experience on my first film. I've never been with such generous, creative people.

King Makes Farewell Sermon

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "I still have music in my throat," said Dr. Martin Luther King Sr. in an emotional farewell sermon at historic Ebenezer Baptist Church, which he pastored for 44 years.

Known to almost everyone as "Daddy King," he told an overflowing congregation of more than 1,500 persons Sunday "I hear bells ringing every now and then."

Clad in a white robe and standing at the same pulpit where his famed son preached his doctrine of peaceful dissent, King said:

"I'm like a well-trained horse .. every once in a while I hear that bell ringing and it makes me want to trot bad.

"I still have music in my throat, I'm 75 years old and still have music in my throat," said the stocky, grey-haired minister.

As his official last sermon, King preached on God's call to Abraham to offer his son, Isaac, as a sacrifice.

"None of us could do that," said King. "But I think I've faced that." Then, his voice rising dramatically, he said, "I've lived to see my son ... one of my sons at least ... give his life to his people."

Dr. Lamb

How to get daily calcium

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—You often mention the necessity for adults to drink the equivalent of a quart of milk a day. Please tell me how cottage cheese and cheddar cheese compare in terms of ounces to milk for nutritional value. Also, can calcium pills serve the same purpose?

DEAR READER—That remark is in reference to the calcium content of milk. A quart of whole milk contains about a gram of calcium. Fortified low fat and fortified skim milk contain even more calcium. I think most adults need at least a gram of calcium a day.

You can use an equivalent amount of buttermilk or yogurt to get the calcium. A quart of milk is about two pounds. Remember the old adage, "a pint's a pound the world around." In general a pound of cheese; creamed or uncreamed cottage cheese, cheddar cheese, Swiss cheese or American cheese, contains about the same amount of calcium as a pound (pint) of milk.

Since there are many studies suggesting that too much saturated fat can increase your cholesterol and lead to heart disease, it is wise to use fortified skim milk (has more calcium and protein anyway than whole milk), buttermilk or uncreamed cottage cheese. Cheddar, American and similar cheeses are very high in fat and consequently loaded with calories. About half of the fat is saturated fat, so it is not a good choice for a source of calcium if you want to restrict your calories, your fat intake or your saturated fat intake.

Another good source of calcium is canned salmon. A seven-ounce can of salmon, solids and liquids, contains about a half gram of calcium (half of your daily needs). You should eat the bones in the salmon as canned. Sardines with bones contain almost twice as much calcium per ounce. A three-an-a-half-ounce serving will meet about half of the daily one gram recommendation.

Mature bean seeds are a fairly good source. One cup cooked and drained (about 7 ounces) contains nearly a tenth of a gram of calcium.

You don't need to drink all your milk to benefit from its calcium value. You can use milk in food preparation. Milk gravy, puddings and even the milk in bread all count toward meeting the daily calcium needs. And, if you use the nonfat dry milk powder you can add more than the amount called for to reconstitute milk. The added milk powder will increase the calcium and protein in the prepared food without significantly increasing fat or cholesterol. Don't downgrade desserts as all bad. It depends on how they are made, and they are one vehicle that can be used for calcium and protein.

You can get your calcium from tablets. How many tablets you need depends on the type of calcium tablet used. Short of using calcium tablets, milk and milk products remain the main source of calcium for most people. Those who can't use milk for any reason are really handicapped in obtaining their daily calcium needs.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. For information on daily dietary requirements, send 50 cents and a long, self addressed stamped envelope and ask for The Health Letter number 4-6, Balanced Diet, Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances (RDA).

AFL-CIO Opposes 2 Sections

DALLAS (AP) — Texas AFL-CIO has agreed to back all but two sections of the proposed new state constitution which voters will consider in a Nov. 4 election.

The state labor organization said it would oppose the judicial section because it gives prosecutors the right to appeal in criminal cases.

The organization also said it opposed the local government section because it would allow continued "proliferation" of special tax districts.

State President Harry Hubbard praised Gov. Dolph Briscoe but at the same time expressed a lack of confidence in the Democratic Party to achieve labor objectives.

Hubbard, elected without opposition to a second term as president of the labor organization as its four-day convention ended Saturday, said his No. 1 priority is to defeat Republicans in the 1976 elections.

"It is time to clean house and I'm talking about the White House," Hubbard said in his annual report. "It will not be easy to elect a new president in 1976. But it should and must be done."

Hubbard said Briscoe had done well as governor from labor's viewpoint, but said organized labor cannot depend on the state party "to provide leadership or the mechanism for a general election campaign"

In other action, the AFL-CIO's legislative and political committee called for property tax reform, "right to contract" legislation (agency shops).

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Though you'll try to be a nice guy, it will prove extremely difficult to please certain members of your family today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't bank too heavily on your hunches today, or read things into what others say. Be a good listener. Ask questions to clarify things.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you're careless you'll spend a bit more than intended on pursuit of pleasure. Try not to cater to expensive fancies.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have to put forth extra effort again today if you expect to reach your goals. Take your setbacks in stride. Keep going.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's not like you to do things out of spite, but today one you'll be dealing with may tempt you to. If you do, both will suffer.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be very wary in business dealings today, especially with anything you're a bit suspicous of. Get receipts, guarantees in writing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't look for easy answers to tough problems today. If a situation has some rough spots, appraise it realistically.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Before starting new projects at this time be sure you know what you're getting into. You could be opening Pandora's box.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're likely to take risks or buck odds today that you normally wouldn't. Play only sure things.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Though you may want to do something now that you feel is for the family's good, it's best to wait till your mate is in full accord.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Make it a point today to tell it like it is even though you may ruffle feathers in doing so. Honest answers are needed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're still a bit too extravagant today for your own good. Let everyone pick up their own check.
