COMPRESS OPENS THURSDAY P. M.

Parker Recovers Stolen Property

Sheriff B. L. Parker, accompanied by Floyd Snider of the New-moore community, whose house was burglarized several weeks ago, went to Burger Monday and recovered most of the property stolen from the Snider home. Articles recovered were a Zenith radio, a double-barrel shotgun, and 22 target.

It will be remembered that Snider's house and Claude Wells' home seven miles west of Tahoka were each burglarized one Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Parker says that he has evidence which proves to his mind that A. H. Nelson, noted West Texas criminal and escaped convict, is the man who committed these two burglaries. Two suits of clothes stolen from the Wells home were sold, Parker says, at Odessa, while some of the other property taken from the Wells home is hidden with friends there.

Nelson, J. W. Mann, and R. L. Cash, three noted criminals recently captured, made their escape at Buffalo in east central Texas while being transported to the penitentiary Saturday.

D. M. Estes Died In Lubbock Sunday

Funeral services were conducted in the Methodist Church at O'Donnell Monday afternoon for D. M. Estes, 70, a resident of Lynn county for more than 30 years, who died in a Lubbock sanitarium Sunday, following a protracted illness. The services were conducted by Rev. W. K. Horn of Post, a Baptist minister and a close friend of deceased, assisted by Rev. W. H. Crawford and Rev. J. M. Lunsford, the Methodist and Baptist pastors respectively at O'Donnell.

Burial was in the O'Donnell cemetery with Masonic honors.

Mr. Estes had been a member of the Masonic order for nearly fifty years, and he was a Royal Arch Mason at the time for his death, being the oldest Mason in the O'Donnell Blue Lodge. He had been a member of the Methodist Church since boyhood.

Coming to Lynn county in 1908, he helped organize a Sunday school at T-Bar soon after his arrival, and served as superintendent many years.

In 1908 he was married to Mrs. Marie Ferguson of Bisbee, Texas. Among the survivors are the widow and several step-children, one of them being Mrs. Perry Clayton of O'Donnell.

Mr. Estes was well and favorably known throughout this section and had many friends in Tahoka.

New Home, Tahoka Teams To Meet

When two athletic teams of the same county have a contest, the results are Action and More Action.

That's what basketball fans of Tahoka may expect Friday night in the Tahoka gymnasium. The New Home boys and girls include the Bulldogs kennel for two conference games.

Coches Pace and Armstrong are going about their work this week in a confident manner with but one thought in mind, and that of taking the confident New Home bunch into camp Friday night, while out at New Home they will tell you there are only two teams in the county and they both go to school out there.

As a "curtain raiser," the Tahoka faculty will play the New Home teachers in a mixed sport tabbed as basketball.

You ask how much to see all this? 15 cents and 25 cents pays the way. The games will start at 9:00.

Candidate

Freeman Candidate For District Attorney

The News is authorized to announce Alton T. Freeman, of Seminole, as candidate for District Attorney of the 106th Judicial District of Texas, composed of Gaines, Dawson, Lynn, Garza, Terry and Yoakum Counties, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary Election in July.

Mr. Freeman spent his early childhood in Cherokee County at Alto, Texas, and at the age of nine, his family moved to Fisher county where they resided for five years. He then moved with his family to Dawson county in January, 1925, where the family has resided since that time. He is a graduate of the Lamesa High School and after completing his high school work, he attended Cumberland University Law School at Lebanon, Tennessee, where he was graduated in law in June, 1933. He was licensed to practice law in Texas by the Supreme Court in December, 1933 and opened his first law office in Lamesa in January, 1934. In September, 1934, he moved to Seminole, Texas, and became associated with A. L. Duff in the practice of law. He assumed the duties of County Attorney of Gaines County, which office was held by Mr. Duff at that time, and was elected to that office in 1936, and again in 1938, and in now serving his second elected term as County Attorney of Gaines County. He is 29 years old.

Mr. Freeman says that he will make a statement to the voters at a later date.

"Red" Thornbrough & Jack Cox Improving

Jim Wetsel spent Sunday at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, visiting his nephew, Jack Cox, and Red Thornbrough, who are being treated in the Government Hospital there.

He was accompanied from Henrietta to Fort Sill by his mother, Mrs. Pete Wetsel, and his sister, Mrs. R. L. Gray, the latter being Jack's mother and the former his grandmother.

Jim reports that both the boys are gradually improving. Neither is able to sit up yet, each being encased in a plaster cast. It will probably be several weeks and possibly months before they are able to leave the hospital.

The two boys were hurt, it will be remembered, when a car in which they and other young people were riding left the highway, went through a wire fence and somersaulted a time or two out in a field five miles north of Tahoka soon after midnight on the morning of November 26.

Cox sustained a fracture of the bones of the ankle, a fracture of the spine, a possible fracture of the skull, and other severe bruises and contusions on the head and body. Thornbrough sustained a fracture of one leg just below the thigh, a fracture of the skull, and other serious injuries.

Sears Bartley was also seriously hurt in the same wreck. Dan Yandell and two girls in the car were only slightly hurt.

All the seriously injured were first taken to hospitals in Lubbock, but Cox and Thornbrough were lat-

Goad Would Serve Again

P. W. Goad, present county judge of Lynn county, today authorized the Press to announce his candidacy for re-election to the same office.

No formal statement was issued by Judge Goad, but one may be issued later in the campaign. The people of Lynn county, through official and personal relations, are well acquainted with Judge Goad, and no formal introduction should be necessary.

However, a resume of the record compiled by the judge will show a diligent application to the duties pertaining to the office, so his friends believe, and that he has worked faithfully for the benefit of the county as a whole, with no partiality to certain groups is well established, they also point out.

Careful treatment, coupled with understanding, has marked the official acts of Judge Goad in handling a phase of the work which tries the ability of all county judges—juvenile cases. Considerably over 60 juvenile cases, some representing alleged "case-hardened" youngsters, and the record shows that only two failed to appreciate the treatment accorded them, and eventually became reformatory inmates. Other officials, who have also had a hand in correcting young boys and girls, praise Judge Goad's methods, and declare that he, first, will do everything possible to keep a youngster's name off a court record—which might, in later years, do untold harm to a wiser boy or girl.

Handling of the county's business—the biggest business in Lynn county—in co-operation with the various commissioners has been of outstanding merit, according to many citizens who have had dealings with Judge Goad. A policy of a fair deal to everyone, rich or poor, has been pursued.

Judge Goad will present his candidacy before the voters in a more personal manner during the campaign, so far as the duties of the office will permit his being absent, so he also announced this morning. In the meantime, he will appreciate consideration on the part of the voters, and a thorough study of his record since assuming office.

Former Lynn County Pioneer Dies in Lubbock

Terminating a long illness, Death came to O. G. Kershner, 85, at his home in Lubbock late last Friday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted in Lubbock Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Kershner was a well-known resident of Lynn county in the early years of the present century, settling with his family in the Lynn community. Later, the family removed to Lubbock, where he has resided ever since. He leaves the widow and two sons, LaVerne now of Tolar, New Mexico, and V. E. of Rio de Janeiro. Until recently, LaVerne was engaged in the nursery business in Lubbock.

All the old-timers here knew the family well.

er transferred to the Government hospital at Fort Sill by reason of the fact that they were employees in the CCC camp in Lubbock. All were residents of Lynn county.

SESSOM BOXING HERO; CLOE GETS QUICK KNOCKOUT

Proving true the old adage, "The show must go on, Louis Sessom, local school boy, won a fight in the Golden Gloves Tournament last night after breaking his rib in a fall on one of the posts bounding the ring at the high school gymnasium.

Sessom was matched against Billy Kirk of Littlefield CCC camp for the bantamweight fight. He fell when he lost his footing and slipped. Knowing that he was hurt, but not realizing how badly, he went on with the fight, to win by a decision in the third round. After the match he was carried to the office of a local doctor, where the break was discovered.

Gloyd Cloe put his little bit of color to the show by doing a Joe Louis, knocking out George Bussey, CCC welterweight, in 30 seconds. We wonder how many reached for a bottle of pop or a cigarette

WOW! 3rd "Wildcat" in three weeks

Contract was closed Wednesday for the drilling of another wildcat oil well in Lynn county. The new test is to be made at a location five miles west and one mile south of New Home, according to Deen Nowlin, who has assembled a block of leases in that locality.

Mr. Nowlin entered into a contract Wednesday with the H. F. Wilcox Oil & Gas Co. of Tulsa, Oklahoma, for the drilling of a hole 5,500 feet deep at this location, which is 990 feet north and 330 feet east of the southwest corner of section 134, Block 12, E. L. & R. R. R. Co. survey, work to begin not later than March 1. The weather permitting, the drillers will begin moving material to the location next week.

The H. F. Wilcox Company is a strong one, and there can be but little doubt but that the work will proceed with all due dispatch and that a thorough test will be made. Mr. Nowlin is of the opinion that there is going to be quite a bit of activity in the matter of exploring for oil in this county this year.

As stated in these columns two weeks ago, the Honolulu Oil Corporation recently farmed out to R. H. Gill of Midland half of its block of 12,000 acres lying east and southeast of Wilson for a deep test. Mr. Gill has announced that he will begin a test well within a few weeks on the Walter May farm in this block.

Jack Leedy and others interested in the shallow test which is being drilled by Nordyke & Nordyke on a location eight miles south of Tahoka express great confidence in the existence of a shallow pool in that locality.

Nobody knows, of course, what the outcome will be at any of these locations.

Ed N. Watson Ill With Pneumonia

Ed N. Watson, collector for Applewhite Implement Co., was carried to his daughter's home in Amarillo Monday morning suffering from pneumonia. He was stricken Sunday and rushed there immediately.

Aunt Mary McMurry, 87, sister of the late I. P. Preston, who lives in the Preston home just south of town is ill with pneumonia.

UNDERWOOD TO BE HOST TO PUBLIC; MAYOR NOWLIN TO OPEN OPERATIONS

Kidnapped

Stone Kidnappers Caught, Sentenced

The two men who kidnapped Jack O. Stone, South Plains Area boy scout Executive, in Lubbock on Wednesday night of last week, were caught Saturday, indicted Monday, and sentenced to the penitentiary on Wednesday of this week, several hours less than a week after the commission of the crime.

Clay Whittle, 33, was arrested while leaving a small hotel in Plainview early Saturday morning by Hale county officers, and Jimmie Pierson, 38, was arrested in a barn ten miles north of Lubbock, where he was hiding, at noon Saturday, by Lubbock county officers.

Entering pleas of guilty to the count in the indictment charging robbery, the two men were given sentences of 5 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge E. L. Pitts, who heard the cases Wednesday.

Upon being arrested, each of the two men made confessions of a number of other crimes committed by them following the kidnaping and robbery of Stone, naming Lamesa, Andrews, Odessa, Wink, and Hobbs, New Mexico, as the scenes of their criminal operations.

Stone was kidnaped as he was in the act of getting into his car parked near the courthouse in Lubbock on Wednesday night of last week. One man approached on each side of the car and climbed in, one of them exhibiting a pistol. They came south on highway No. 9, and at seven miles north of Tahoka drove down a side-road for a mile, when a black cat ran across the road in front of the car. Being superstitious, the driver turned the car around and came back to the highway. Two miles down the highway they turned down another side-road for a short distance, where they robbed Stone of what money he had, a gasoline courtesy card, and other articles, dumped him out of the car, and made their way back to the highway. They stopped at E. S. Evans' service station at the highway intersection in Tahoka and got the car serviced. Within thirty or forty minutes, Stone had made his way to Wade Holland's residence and been brought to town by Mr. Holland. After notifying officers of the kidnaping he caught a bus back to Lubbock, the robbers having overlooked a dollar in one of his pockets.

But the kidnapers were gone too. They left a trail of crime in their path, however, and were easily traced and captured. Neither offered any resistance when surprised and ordered by officers to surrender.

Mathews' Baby Died Tuesday Morning

Maury Maverick, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mathews of the Grassland community, passed away in a Slaton hospital Tuesday morning, after a futile struggle to survive. The baby was born prematurely at the hospital Monday night, at 6:30, living only 15 hours. He died at 9:30 Tuesday morning. He weighed five pounds, one ounce.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Grassland, interment being made in Grassland cemetery. The deceased was survived by a small brother, his father and mother.

Condition of the mother was reported to be good Wednesday.

Again stormy weather has made it necessary for the Union Compress and Warehouse Co. to postpone its formal opening. It was originally scheduled for January 15, postponed to January 22, and is set for Thursday, January 25, come rain, snow or sleet, Arch Underwood stated yesterday.

The compress has been handling cotton for several months, but the press has not been in operation. Installation is almost complete, and would have been completed if the weather had not intervened. The engines will be fired up and work will begin on the opening date. The public is cordially invited to attend the opening and see how a compress is operated.

Mayor Deen Nowlin will blow the whistle for work to begin, and it is expected that there will be several prominent out-of-town visitors. The plant will be open for inspection from 1 p. m. until 6 p. m., to allow everyone who is interested to be shown through the plant.

For the convenience of his out-of-town guests, Arch Underwood, chief owner, has brought down his private car, WPA No. 1. This car is equipped with a tile bath, lavatory, kitchenette, business office, and dormitory. There are 5 single beds in the dormitory, but it will accommodate 10. Mr. Underwood uses this car when making long inspection trips to his many interests throughout the state.

Also on the track near the compress is WPA No. 2, the engineering crew's car. It is well equipped with bath, bunks for eight, dining room and a well equipped kitchen, which would make any homewife envious. This car is occupied by the traveling crew which builds and repairs the numerous presses. On the walls of this car are hung oil paintings, and the walls and windows of both cars are tastefully decorated.

Arch Underwood himself will be host and will greet the visitors to the press. Tahoka feels singularly honored, as never before has Mr. Underwood held a formal opening at one of his compresses. He is offering the public an unusual opportunity, in that they will be allowed to see a compress actually at work.

Tahoka is justly proud of this, its newest industry, and it is likely that a large crowd will visit the plant Thursday.

W. C. Mathis Carried To Hospital Monday

W. C. Mathis was entered in a Lubbock hospital for treatment Sunday. He had been suffering for many months with ulcerated stomach, having been in the hospital for treatment several weeks soon after moving to Tahoka.

His condition has again become worse, and it was deemed advisable for him to undergo further hospital treatment.

SHEPHERD GOES TO HOBBS

Many friends and former "parishioners" of Rev. B. N. Shepherd heard with interest the past few days that he had recently accepted the call of the Baptist Church at Hobbs, N. M., and had moved to that city.

Brother Shepherd was pastor of the Baptist Church here for about five years, the basement of the present handsome house of worship having been constructed during his ministry.

For the past two or three years he has been stationed at Abilene as district missionary.

MRS. B. J. MAYBERRY SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. B. J. Mayberry of route 4, was stricken with pneumonia Wednesday of last week, which was later complicated by nephritis. She was carried to a Lubbock sanitarium late Sunday, where she is being treated. Her condition is serious.

SOCIETY

MRS. MINNIE F. BURNS WEDS L. N. CONWELL

At the home of Dr. Ann West, 6668 Avalon, Dallas, Mrs. Minnie F. Burns of Tahoka became the bride of Lloyd Newton Conwell of Lubbock on Monday night. Dr. Paul O'Neal of Baylor Hospital performed the ring ceremony in the presence of close friends and relatives.

Before an improvised altar at the mantle, flowers in the bride's chosen colors of pink and blue made a lovely setting for the ceremony.

Miss Mary Grace Little, well-known Dallas organist, played the wedding music. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride entered with her only attendant, Dr. Ann West. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Manuel C. De Busk of Dallas.

The bride was dressed in a navy blue-sheer dress with accessories to match. Her shoulder corsage was of pink orchids. She carried an imported lace handkerchief, the gift of Dr. West. Her hat was of navy straw with a band of pink ribbon. The short veil hung free to the shoulders. For her traveling costume she chose a gold crepe suit with dubonnet accessories.

Following a brief wedding trip to Mineral Wells, the couple returned to Tahoka Wednesday afternoon and will make their home here.

THE WILSON SUN RISES

The first issue of the Wilson Sun, with Frank Fletcher steering its course, came off the press last week. It was a newsy paper, reflecting much credit as well as light, on our good little neighbor town to the north.

It was Joshua, we believe, who commanded the sun to stand still, and it stood, but Frank Fletcher commanded the Southland Sun to move, and it moved—over to Wilson. May he and the people of Wilson cause it to shine for many a day.

LEA'S MOTHER ONE OF OLDEST LIVING WOMEN

We are wondering if there is anybody in Tahoka with a living mother older than W. M. Lee's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Lee of Stephenville, who is 94 years of age. Her picture together with that of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Potetz, 73, appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Monday.

Mrs. Lee is a native of Tennessee but has been a resident of Erath county for 63 years. Our own W. M. is very proud of his mother and goes down to see her two or three times each year.

Jed Rix of Abilene, assistant manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, in company with Tom Garrard, the acting secretary for Tahoka, visited our business men Monday, and the two easily raised Tahoka's quota for the work of this organization.

All of last year's members renewed their membership, they stated, and a few others enlisted, thus increasing Tahoka's contribution.

Plans for the convention to be held in Big Spring in May are already being made, Mr. Rix said, "and a big delegation from Tahoka is expected." He extended a cordial invitation for the Tahoka people to be present. Judge Garrard assured him that many would respond.

Pete Curry's Arm Broken in Mishap

While undertaking to throw a belt back in place while the machinery was running at the Tahoka Coop. Gin here on Thursday of last week, Pete Curry suffered the breaking of an arm.

One of the gloves which he was wearing was caught by the belting, causing the bone of the arm to be suddenly snapped in two.

He was given first aid treatment here and then taken to a Lubbock hospital, where an x-ray examination revealed an almost perfectly smooth fracture. It was necessary to place the arm in a plaster cast, after which Mr. Curry returned to his home here, and apparently the injury is healing satisfactorily.

Tourist Describes Wonders Of The Scenic Northwest

The following story, written by Emory Holland of Midlothian was clipped from The Texas Carrier, which is printed in this office. Mr. Holland had been attending the National Convention of Rural Letter Carriers held in Portland, Oregon, last fall.

Harmonious to the last the convention adjourned about 2 p. m. Friday, and within the hour we were heading up the mighty Columbia river. Even the high lights of the convention could not occupy our minds in the vicinity of such a river. The Columbia is the mightiest and the most beautiful river I have ever beheld. Its broad, smooth, placid expanse flows majestically between high wooded banks, which in some places come so near the water that there is scarce room for the highways and the railroads which parallel it on both sides. Ever so often a roadside sign will tell of a waterfall worth seeing, and they are worth seeing even in that country of beautiful natural scenery. Now and then the bluffs are so close to the river, tunnels had to be cut for traffic. The woods and flowers were just as beautiful as any we had seen. Yet off just a few miles was Mt. Hood, the top of which was covered with snow.

We passed many orchards and now and then would stop for fruits or cider. We passed a government project where they were building a dam and making a way for the fish to pass on up the river as always. Further up we came to shoals and islands in the river and the vegetation began to change. We were climbing and entering a dryer climate, where there was little but ranching, and came at nightfall to The Dalles, or I might call it the city of black rocks. We found a tourist camp in a glade surrounded by these black rocks, and turned in for the night.

At sunrise we climbed out of this glade and the land looked washed and new and fresh. There was the smell of the sage in the air and we remembered the deserts of Arizona, only these were not so completely desert. There was still some dry farming and now and then an irrigation system, where there was plenty of most anything. We found some very fine fruits and melons, and now and then a little cherry cider. (We tried most everything). Up in the morning we crossed the Snake river where the mighty Columbia turns north, and we had to leave it, heading N. E. towards Spokane Wash., and into great wheat fields of Eastern Washington. There is no timber here. Just high rolling hills and plains, and wheat seemed to be about the only crop. We had lunch in Spokane (Spoke-ann) and wished for more time to see the city. We wrote a few cards and scooted on East.

In a few minutes we were in Idaho, and into timber and flowers again, and beauty. We had the car serviced in Coeur d'Alene and I looked around some. One of the most beautiful cities I have ever seen. Plenty of civic pride. On eastward we climbed into the mountains again. More crooked roads and steep grades. Timber and mining. At Wallace, Idaho, we stopped and walked around town some. Plenty of saloons there. Also devices that go with them. Furtive glances from men as we walked about. Somewhat depressing there, but we had a glance into the old west as we did at Las Vegas, Nevada.

Drifting on S. E. in the mountains the main industry seemed to be mining and ranching, and in the afternoon we crossed into Montana, where there were more mining and ranching. Everything typically western. Streams, trees, mines, mountains, and at nightfall we came to Missoula, Montana, and slept. Next day, nearing Helena we ran into the sheep country and there were lots of sheep. More plains and grass, and an occasional mine. Helena is an old town and very hilly. Indications are that they had a boom at some time in the past. We spent only a little time there as we were nearing Yellowstone park and eager to push on. On south towards the park the country and towns are just about the same. Mines and ranches and mountains. The country looks pretty wild.

About four p. m. we arrived at the border town on Gardiner, Mont., and filled the gas tank for the trip through the park. We also found out that gas and cottages were high inside the park, so we rented a cottage at Gardiner for the night, but drove on into the park for a few hours, and got some thrills and memories that will last as long as life. At the first park headquarters we looked through the museum, saw a stack of antlers from animals of that region. The stack was in the form of a small room. About ten feet square and about that high. Saw old stage coaches used for tourist traffic there years ago. An old saddle used by the discoverer of the park, and another of the men who laid out the mountain trails all about. Our first view of the water shooting out of the ground here and there. And in other places mud just boiling continually.

About sundown we went with a party to see the beavers at work. There were about 30 of us in the party besides two government guides. The guides said for us to keep quiet or we would scare the little animals. And although there were several women in the party no talking or noise was heard, and soon the beavers came out and swam around, and pushed small logs around in the water. We saw where they gnawed them down and dragged them into the water and formed dams and ponds. They seemed to eat bark from the Aspen (we called them aspen) trees. Leaving there we went back towards Gardiner and our cabins. We saw a large bunch of antelopes so gentle they hardly moved out of our way. While hunting a place to eat supper in Gardiner all at once some men rushed out of a building talking loud and soon a full sized fist fight was going on on the sidewalk in front of us. The old west again, and Robert and Joe and Frances got a big thrill out of it.

Next morning we went back into the park, and as we were entering we ran into Mr. Mobley and his party from Alabama, whom we met at Boulder Dam. This was probably the most interesting and exciting day of my life, unless it was the day I got married. We were in a new and different world. Freaks of nature were all around us. As we drove around in the park we would see wild animals, moose, bear, antelope, deer, and others, not wild but tamed by years of un-molestation. We have pictures of some of them very close up. Here was boiling white mud, here yellow, here blue. All in a small enclosure. They were on all sides, steam all around us. I had a feeling I did not want to stay there too long. Nature seemed out of tune. Now and then we would seem to be going down hill and meet a swift stream of water coming up. Everything freakish and unreal. At noon we ate at the central cafeteria, and went out to see Old Faithful spout high into the air. We got a fair picture of it. No one can picture this park to you. You just should see it when the opportunity comes your way. Probably the only place in the world where nature cuts up that way.

A feeling of homesickness was beginning to be felt, so along in the afternoon we headed south into the Teton park and on through beautiful woods just about like nature made them. The roads were not so good as they were building new ones and we had one bad detour, but on that we saw some of the wildest country out of doors. Flowers and lakes and snow-capped mountains, and beautiful timber. Some ranch homes like you read about. I have never seen a more wild and beautiful country, and under other circumstances I would have wanted to linger along. Just before sundown we came out of the detour onto the highway and Joe was driving, and pulled up to the roadside store and asked "which way out of here". The man said, "where do you want to go?" Joe said, "I don't care just so we get out of here". We laughed and got ourselves located and sped on into Afton, Wyoming, for the night. We were tired and dirty and hungry but found a fine place to clean up, and eat and sleep and we did justice to them all that night. While we were eating supper a man came in with as fine a string of fish as you ever saw. I thought for awhile we were just going to have to let Joe go fishing next morning. But Joe could see that homesick look on our faces, so at sunrise we lit out for the Great Salt Lake in the Mormon country and the sights of wonderful works of a wonderful people.

But that will have to wait

On the European Front

The war, the authorities say, will remain fairly quiet until spring—no one is expected to start a major offensive while the bad weather holds. And in the spring, it is forecast in some quarters, Hitler will make his bid for victory. Time works with the Allies, and against the Reich. The military men mainly think that Hitler must win this year, or lose.

The Russo-Finnish controversy still holds the spotlight. To quote the military authorities once more, it is felt that the Red Army has been bad—but not as bad as it has appeared to most laymen. The arctic weather has helped the Finns, who know the terrain and are masters of guerrilla tactics. And the Russian troops, at the start at least, comprised third class, not first class divisions. Stalin apparently woefully underestimated the spirit of Russia's little neighbor.

There is considerable speculation as to what will happen once the Finnish business is settled. A Russian drive against India would not startle the experts. And if that should happen, England would be in a tough spot. It would mean that she must divert great quantities of troops, equipment and supplies from the Continent, and thus weaken her support of France on the Western front. England would have to give every effort to beating the Soviet—a successful drive to the east would mean the shattering of the great empire's lifeline.

ODDS AND ENDS

By Eec Eye the Elder

When there is nothing else to write about, one can always fall back on the weather. And we have had some weather since Christmas to write home about, if you ask us. Last week we talked about the beauties of the snow that fell on Christmas day and the ice that encased the trees a week later. That was a master stroke of Nature's deft hand all right, but the after effect was not quite so satisfying. So heavy was the load of ice that collected on the branches and the twigs of the trees that many of the limbs broke under the weight, and the symmetry and beauty of many of the finest trees were almost ruined. It will require considerable time for Nature to repair the damage that she did. The electric light and power lines and the telephone lines also paid heavy penalties for the prank played by Mother Nature. The wires were broken in many places and it was several days before all the damage could be repaired.

In contrast with that marvelous display of beauty, less than a week later Nature brought us one of those drab days. It was worse than a drab day; it was a down-right mean winter day, last Saturday was. It was just such a day as makes one wish he lived in Arkansas, or the Fiji Islands, or Sabine county. The wind came down across these parts at about forty miles per, cold and biting. Tumble weeds came rolling and bouncing along with the speed of the winds; and when they hung up on a wire fence or a mesquite bush or a hedge here in town, many of them were whipped and beaten to a frazzle. And papers hung up on everything that bears a barb or a thorn. We sometimes wonder where so many papers come from. Of course, the Lynn County News puts out a lot of them each week, and while most families put them away carefully for future reference or other domestic purposes, one will get away now and then in such a windstorm as that which raged last Saturday, and when it does pieces of it are sure to get hung up on every mesquite and barbed wire fence between here and the caprock. And maybe a few of these papers we see blossoming out on the bushes are copies of the Avalanche and the Star-Telegram. People do not prize them so highly as they do this great

Betty Crocker KITCHEN CLINIC

AN OLD FAVORITE

Up in Maine they called it "Milk Rising Bread"—or sometimes "Milk Emptin's Bread". But, mostly it's known as Salt Rising Bread. If you've ever heard a man rhapsodize over the Salt Rising Bread his mother or grandmother used to make, you'll never be satisfied until you've sampled a slice of this old-time favorite.

Or, if you have any men in your own family who remember it longingly, you'll have no peace until you've tried your hand at making it.

Of course, it's the long, hard way of making bread that belongs to the days when yeast cakes were not available at every grocery store.

But, if you follow the recipe carefully and see to it that your "starter," "sponge" and "cough" are kept in a warm place (80 to 85° F.) all the time—in a sure you'll feel well rewarded for the time and effort you've spent when you see the satisfaction with which your family will devour it. It will be especially welcomed by those who want bread with "something to it"—not just "stuf". For Salt Rising Bread is substantial and tasty.

Salt Rising Bread

Part I. (Starter)
 2 medium-sized potatoes (1 cup), pared and grated
 2 tbs. white cornmeal
 Mix ingredients in order given and keep in warm place (80 to 85° F.), uncovered, over night or for about 12 hours. Bubbles will form on the liquid and an unmistakable odor will be given off.

Part II. (Sponge)
 2 cups strained liquid from "starter"
 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour

In the morning, strain the "starter". (There will be about 2 cups of liquid.) Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour, soda, sugar and salt together and add to the liquid. Mix thoroughly and beat until smooth. Let stand until full of bubbles (about 1 1/2 hours), uncovered, and in a warm place (80 to 85° F.).

Part III. (Dough)
 3/4 cup milk
 1/2 cup water
 3 tbs. sugar
 1/2 cup shortening
 6 cups all-purpose flour

Combine milk and water and bring to boiling point in saucepan. Remove from heat. Add sugar and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add to "sponge". Sift flour once before measuring. Add flour gradually until firm dough is formed. Turn out on lightly floured board. Knead lightly until very smooth and elastic. Round up and set to rise in a well greased bowl. Cover with damp cloth. Keep dough at 80 to 85° F. Let rise until double in bulk (about 2 hours). Divide dough into two parts for two loaves and round up each piece on lightly floured board. Mold into loaves as follows: Flatten dough into oblong shape, pressing out all the air. Work quickly with closed fists, back of fingers on dough. Fold dough in half and flatten again (pressing out all air). Lift dough by ends and pull, in center of dough on table several times to elongate the dough. Bring the two ends to center, overlap them and seal well with knuckles. Take hold of further edge of long side and fold dough over 1/2 of way toward you and seal well. Fold dough over another 1/2 of way and seal and fold again to edge nearest you. Seal again and roll to tighten. Seal each end. Place in two greased pans 4 1/2 by 8 1/2 inches (2 3/4 inches deep). Top of dough should come up to 1/2 depth of pan. Place in closed cupboard or cover with damp cloth. Let rise until sides of dough have reached top of pan and center is well rounded above top of pan (1 to 1 1/2 hours). Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven, 425° F., then reduce heat to 385° F. quick moderate oven, to finish baking (about 30 minutes).

moral and religious weekly and do not take so much pains to keep them corralled. Hence when a storm like last Saturday's comes along they take to the air.

State Comptroller George Sheppard of Austin was here last Saturday and we'll bet he felt at home. He was born down here somewhere in the south end of Taylor county, room country school of a generation we believe, attended the typical one, and when he got just about grown he put on a pair of shoes and went to town, stood some kind of examination, and got a certificate to teach school. He taught a few years at Hyton, a little country village away down in the sticks in the southeast corner of Nolan county, and those people down there yet will swear that George Sheppard is the greatest man this country has produced since the days of George Washington.

Having made a howling success as a country school teacher, George finally decided that he would like to assess the taxes for Nolan county. He made the race and was elected by an overwhelming majority. Thereafter the people of Nolan county just kept electing him as long as he intimated that he would like to have the office.

Finally he quit, and they ran him for mayor. Again he was elected in a walk and served with much distinction.

By that time Sweetwater had already washed its face and hands, manicured its fingernails, put on a standing collar—which was an evidence in those days that the wearer considered himself "some punkin'"—and was making a bid for a place in the brief list of prosperous West Texas cities. As mayor, George helped it along toward the realization of its dream. We guess George could have held the office of mayor as long as he might have chosen to offer it.

But his friends decided that George was too good a man and too efficient a man to keep out here in West Texas wiping sand out of his eyes. And he had plenty of it to wipe out back in those days, believe us. You remember 1917 and 1918, and along there? The sandstorms were never worse out here on these "baldies" than they were down in the Sweetwater country along in the 'teens of this century. Boy! it just piled up like snowdrifts or Bailey county sand dunes, down there in those days, sometimes covering up the fences. Well, any way George's friends persuaded him to run for state comptroller, and as remarkable as it may seem, a West Texan was elected. George always did have an uncanny way of rolling up the votes on election day, and he rolled 'em up in that first statewide campaign that he ever made. And he has been Comptroller ever since. He has continued to hold the job because he has continued to be honest and frank and efficient. George is not very much for looks. You'd never mistake him for a United States Senator or a Judge of the Supreme Court, but he knows how to get the job done, and people appreciate service.

So, George was out here in that sandstorm last Saturday—stopped in at the office of the assessor and collector and visited briefly with a few other friends; and we say we bet he felt at home watching that real estate float over. And we'll also bet he went back to Austin with plenty of sand in his craw.

There has been many a joke about a man's farm going up into the air and drifting away during one of those sandstorms and his having a brand new farm the next day.

But recently we have heard of a few families who lost their farms, with no joke to it. To us that is one of the saddest disappointments that can come into the life of a man. We guess the keenest sorrow that anyone can experience is the sorrow that comes from the death of a member of the family. Possibly just as keen as that sometimes is the sorrow that comes when a beloved child grows up and turns out to be a criminal. What can be more heart-rending to a doing father or mother? But next to that must be the disappointment that comes to a man when, due to some misfortune or even to his own lack of business ability, he wakes up some fine morning to find his home swept away under the sheriff's hammer. O how deep must be the wound in the heart of the head of a household who had ambition to own a nice home clear of debt and to provide well for his wife and children

WHAT ABOUT SKUNKS?

Every time sportsmen start talking about the skunks the question as to whether they can eject their scent when they are held dangling by the tail with their feet off the ground always come up. Most biologists attest that skunks are not handicapped when hanging in mid-air, but many sportsmen have never known the little striped animal to eject scent while in that position. What is your experience?

DOG ADOPTS FOX LITTER

W. L. Roper, a Texas farmer, was amazed recently when upon going to his barn, he found that his female setter was not only mothering five baby dogs, but a litter of foxes, supposedly left in the barn by a wild mother fox.

Latest reports are that foster mother and children are doing well.

and who finds himself unable to pay off the mortgage and must see his home and all his ambitions rudely swept away! We surely sympathize with such a man even as we sympathize with one who has lost a child in death.

Just a little less unfortunate is the man who has lived as a tenant on the farm of another man for years, given the best years of his life to the making of an honest living for himself and family, rearing his children in the community and coming to feel that he is a very part of it, and then suddenly he is notified by the landlord that he must move on. There has been much moving on the part of tenants the past few years, for many years in fact. Some of these tenants, of course, have not been fair and square with the landlord and hence have no just complaint when compelled to move. But others have been honest and square, industrious and intelligent in the operation of the farm. Their eviction from the farm is due to no fault of their own; it is due to circumstances over which they have no control—the policy of the federal government or the greed of a hard-hearted landlord. We have great sympathy for them. O that every man who tills the soil could find it possible to own a home of his own!

WASTE IN HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

If there is to be no national movement to curb the speed of automobiles the only alternative is to make highways wider, and with additional lanes for travel. This may be costly, but it will be worth all it costs if thousands of lives can be saved. Narrow highways are responsible for more deaths than are curves and other death traps—
Big Spring Weekly News.

In the above editorial, our Big Spring contemporary hits the nail squarely on the head. In another clipping from that paper we learn that a movement has been started to rebuild or "modernize" the Broadway of America that passes east and west through Texas. "Many dangerous curves exist and pavement on most of the highway is too narrow," it is stated.

Probably the highway commission each year for many years—has done the best it could with the money available and with the light it had by which to be guided. But looking back over this series of years now, it becomes obvious that Texas has pursued a short-sighted policy in highway construction. Highways have been constructed merely to meet the needs of the current year.
Much of our highway mileage has been built merely as an experiment.
Not only the Broadway of America but every other highway in Texas built as long as ten years ago has many dangerous curves, and even those being built now are too narrow.

These narrow concrete roads with no hard-surface shoulders of any kind, just soft dirt on each side of the concrete, are particularly dangerous. No. 9 (U.S. Highway No. 83) through Lubbock county, for instance, is at least two feet too narrow. With the broad-top trucks chasing continually up and down our highways, there is scarcely room to pass one of them. By all means hard surface-shoulders should be built along every one of them. With cars running from 50 to 80 miles per hour—and there seems to be no prospect for the speed to be decreased or limited—it is little wonder that there are so many instances of cars side-swiping trucks, resulting in terrific wrecks and "sudden deaths".

By all means, highways hereafter should be built from two to four feet wider than the existing ones, and some kind of hard-surface shoulders two or three feet wide should be built along all existing highways. And all sharp curves, of course, should be eliminated.

Texas has done a lot of very expensive experimenting in the building of her highways.
Still, we wouldn't swap 'em off for anything—just improve 'em.

The Texas Supreme Court on last Saturday observed its one hundredth birthday anniversary. It met for the first time on January 13 1840. Notwithstanding the criticism of the courts that we often hear, we believe that the courts of Texas have reflected more honor upon this state than any other branch of our state's government. As a rule, the supreme court of Texas has been made up of men of the highest probity and of great ability as lawyers and judges.
Almost as much may be said of the various courts of civil appeals and also for the Court of Criminal Appeals, which is supreme in criminal matters. As a rule, district judges have also merited high praise. If the legislative and executive branches of our government, functioned with the same courage, honesty, and efficiency that has characterized our courts, we would have much better government than we have to say the last of it.

In order to show the best growth in the summer time, trees should be watered well through the winter.
Plenty of water in the winter will save a lot of water in the summer. Try it out and see.

It has been assumed ever since the last election, that Col. E. O.
Thompson of the state railroad commission would be a candidate for governor this year. But recent reports are that he may back off and let Highway Commissioner Harry Hines of Wichita Falls have a clear field. Somewhat upsetting Hines' plans, however, is the announcement by Representative Derden of Marlin that he will be a candidate. Derden is one of the 56 members of the House who stood pat against Senate Resolution No. 12. He will make the race for governor on the issue of raising the taxes on sulphur, gas, and other natural resources rather than by levying a sales tax. We don't know much about Derden's ability but he is a fighter, and there will be hot times in Texas next summer.

Recent press reports are to the effect that Spator G. H. Nelson may become a candidate for state railroad commissioner, the position now held by Lon Smith. We do not know how many candidates there will be for this place this year but probably there will be a number of them. Smith has held the position many years, but he seems to have lost much of his popularity the past two or three years. Also, he is aging considerably and the demand for a younger man in the office is growing. Nelson is well equipped for the job.

Our private opinion publicly expressed is that as a statesman Governor O'Daniel is a pretty good Christian gentleman.

LOCAL F. F. A. BOYS PREPARING FOR JUNIOR BEEF SHOW

The F. F. A. boys of the Tahoka High School are getting ready for the Junior Beef Show to be held in Lubbock this Spring. Several of the boys are making great progress with their calves. For the last few weeks some of these calves have been putting on three pounds of weight per day. The boys are hoping to win a number of prizes.
The boys here are also much interested in the work throughout this section.

Teachers will meet in several districts to make plans for joint vocational agriculture with headquarters in the next few days, said O.
T. Ryan, area supervisor of vocational agriculture with headquarters at Texas Technological college.

Loop, Seagraves, Seminole, Sparchburg and Union vocational agriculture and home-making teachers will meet in Seminole at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning, following a poultry judging contest for vocational agriculture students of Seminole district at 9:30 o'clock. Meadow district teachers will meet at Ropes-ville at 5:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon to make similar plans and Crosbyton district teachers will meet at Crosbyton Jan. 24. —E. Mc-Millan, Reporter.

Gas Company
Announces Rate Reductions

West Texas Gas Company announced another reduction in gas rates effective with January gas bills. The reduction in rates will benefit all Domestic and Commercial users of gas.

Under the new rate schedule, the minimum bill of $1.25 per month including two thousand cubic feet remains the same, and the next 48 thousand cubic feet is reduced from 50 cents to 45 cents per thousand.
Each Domestic and Commercial user of gas, using over the minimum bill of $1.25 per month, will save five cents per thousand cubic feet on the next 48 thousand cubic feet.

The present reduction in rates is the third such reduction made by the West Texas Gas Company to Domestic and Commercial consumers of gas in the past four years.
The company commenced the general distribution of gas on its system in the fall of 1927, and just eight years later, in December, 1935, made its first rate reduction. A second rate reduction was made in January, 1937. These reductions have resulted in reducing the minimum bill (which includes the first two thousand cubic feet) from $1.50 to $1.25, and in reducing the cost of the next 48 thousand cubic feet from 67 1-2 cents per thousand to 45 cents per thousand. These three reductions represent a total saving to the company's consumers of approximately $400,000 annually.

The rate reduction now going into effect will mean a saving to gas users each year of approximately $100,000. This rate reduction is in accord with the policy of West Texas Gas Company to lower the cost of gas to its customers as often as its earnings will permit, consistent with present high standards of customer service.

The new rate schedule is as follows:

General Service Rate
First 2,000 cubic feet per month:
$1.25 (minimum bill), next 48,000 cubic feet per month: 45 cents per M cubic feet, next 50,000 cubic feet per month: 30 cents per M cubic feet, next 400,000 cubic feet per month: 25 cents per M cubic feet, and all over 500,000 cubic feet per month: 20 cents per M cubic feet.
Additional charge, one-ninth of bill will be added if not paid within ten days after date rendered.

PETTY 4-H CLUB NEWS

"Many sport or semi-sport garments are not suitable to actual participation in a game; but can be worn by the onlooker during the game," stated Miss Maurine Mc-Natt, home demonstration agent at the meeting of the Petty 4-H club, Wednesday January 10, at the school building.

Most sport dresses are suitable for school wear and some for street and church. A "dressy sport dress" may be appropriate for "informal" party. If a dress is carefully planned for several occasions, for instance a new dress may be used for street, church and informal party wear,
and later worn to school.

All seven members and the sponsor were present.
The next meeting will be January 24, with the sponsor Mrs. J.
W. Lowrey in charge.

MIDWAY 4-H CLUB

"Wear jewelry if appropriate for the costume," said Miss McNatt, to the Midway 4-H Club in the sponsor's home, on January 11.

"Jewelry should never be worn on dresses with large collars or on those highly decorated with out-tons," stated Miss McNatt.

Mary Louise McDonald and Reoa Phillips tied for first place for the "Gold Star Girl" from our club.

Clara Fay Nordyke, Reba Phillips,
Bessie Rainey, Clovis Stephens, Mary
Louise McDonald and Marciens Stephens were present. We were adjourning until our next club meeting on January 25.

Austin—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, after accepting an invitation to the Jackson Day Dinner in Dallas, and sending in his $25, failed to appear, and some ascribed his absence to a statement by Cyclone Davis, the be-whiskered pension agitator, that the old folks would have a committee on hand to meet O'Daniel and demand a special session.

Cheers for both President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner at the two big Jackson Day dinners in Houston and Dallas, and various smaller ones elsewhere, were about equally divided, observers report, indicating a strong following for both men among the Texas who interest themselves in the political on.

LEGISLATIVE RACES WARMING

Interest in the legislative races throughout the State continues to warm up, with a record crop of candidates for House and Senate in sight, according to early announcements. Announcement came this week from Clint Small, dean of the Senate with 12 years' service, that he will seek re-election from the Amarillo district. John Redditt, of Lufkin, his friends report, will not seek re-election, but all the remaining 14 Senators whose terms expire, are expected to stand for re-election. A seventeenth Senatorial contest may be staged in the Palestine district, as Clay Cotten has indicated he will resign, and accept an appointive place with the Railroad Commission, if his health improves.

Because Gov. O'Daniel has placed the blame for failure to deliver on his promises of $30 pensions to the aged on the legislature, the contests for the lower house places are expected to attract many candidates.

"PLANTED" DEER THRIVE

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 18.—Deer transplanted to areas where there once was deer, but where they have been eliminated, or practically so, thrive to the degree allowed by the amount of food and cover available. The latest report of a successful planting received by the executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission is from Erown County. Approximately fifteen bucks and does were trapped and shipped to that county several years ago by the Game Department. The report of the game warden there shows that there are approximately 250 deer in the county at the present time.

One former House member, John A. Long, of Crockett, has announced he will seek a comeback, on a platform including liberal pensions, aid for teachers, children, blind, crippled children, for farmers and "economy ingovernment." His platform is typical of that of many candidates who favor governmental aid for almost every group under the sun, and by some strange political ledgerman, also are in favor of "economy in government."

Landrum Writes A Platform

Lynn Landrum, the militant columnist of The Dallas News, who frequently does some pretty sound thinking out loud that is not always popular, this week brought out a two-point platform which Nobody's Business predicts will not be adopted by any successful office-seeker this year. Landrum proposes to

- (1) - Pension only paupers.
 - (2) - Disfranchise pensioners.
- "If these two things are done, the present pension revenue would almost certainly cover all legitimate pension demands", he adds.

TAKING CREEL CENSUS

The Fort Worth Anglers Club, co-operating with the Texas Game Department in attempting to provide better fishing at Eagle Mountain Lake and Lake Worth, is inaugurating a creel census. Blank cards to be filled out after every fishing trip will be provided members of the club and resort owners along the lakes. Figures on catches will be carefully tabulated and probably will provide the aquatic division of the Game Department considerable valuable data. Other organizations desiring to conduct creel census will be provided the forms for them by the Game Department.

That plaintiffs' petition is endorsed, "This action is brought as well to try the title as for damages"; and plaintiffs pray that upon final hearing that they have judgment against the defendants for, the title and possession of said land and premises, and for writ of possession.

Snoopers' Scrapbook

Everybody seems to be doing it, so we decided it was up to us to ferret out a few Li'l Abners for the local gals, so here goes.

This list was compiled with the aid of several public spirited citizens who don't like to see the ladies mistreated. Most of the glammer boys are 21 or over, some young some not so young, some handsome, and some—well, they're all unattached.

We're putting Clinton Walker at the head of the list, because he informed us recently that his standing answer during leap year is "Yes"—don't crowd, girls the line forms to the right. Maybe that is why the AAA office seems so busy lately.

Then there are the Nevill brothers, Everton, Elwayne, and Ray—on tractors; Ed Sanders, deputy sheriff; Reid Townes, filling station owner—and incidentally, girls, it's not fair hunting a lame rabbit, so give Reid time to get in running shape again. His brother, Charles, post office clerk—that's a good job, with a pension when old age comes. Grady Steele, employed by Gagnat Co. Louie Weathers, at Hamis Furniture. Boots and Bill King, electricians; Oran Ramsey, auto salesman; Don Bradley, Abstractor; Sam Blair, in the FSA

J. L. Holt Decorated In Last World War

Most of the people of Tahoka possibly are not aware of the fact that one of our citizens bears the highest honors awarded soldiers for heroic action in the World War. Jefferson L. Holt, who operates a shoe shop here second door east of the highway intersection, is the proud possessor of the Distinguished Service Cross awarded to him by the War Department for heroic service at Chateau-Thierry in June 1918.

The story of his exploit was published in the Star Telegram in March 1932, which we gladly reproduce below. Holt has been a citizen of Tahoka since July, 1936, and is a member of the Marlon G. Bradley Post of the American Legion here. The Star Telegram story follows.

Like many other soldiers, Jefferson L. Holt, private in the medical detachment of the Second Engineers, Second Division, won distinction in the World War by risking his own life to save others. Holt was decorated for his bravery in that June engagement at Chateau-Thierry which won renown for the whole Second Division and made its two regiments of marines famous throughout France and the United States—and perhaps Germany.

Not only did Holt win a Distinguished Service Cross, but his name and his exploit appear in the Second Division's written history as outstanding in the division's accomplishments. The War Department's citation which accompanies Holt's D. S. C. is as follows:

"For extraordinary heroism in action with the enemy at Lucy-le-Bocage, France, June 2 and 3, 1918. During the day and night of June 2 and 3, Private Holt exposed himself to severe and continuous fire beyond the call of duty in order to bring in wounded engineers and marines, and administer first aid. His conspicuous gallantry and fearless contempt of danger was an inspiration which stimulated all the members of the command.

Chateau-Thierry was not the first time Private Holt saw action; but it came near being the last. His first view of the front was up at Verdun, where his outfit entered the front line trenches on March 18, 1918. There the Second learned about war from actual experience.

Then came the big Spring drive of the Germans, the biggest they had put on in two years. It seemed that even Paris would fall. Every available Allied soldier, including the few Americans with even the slightest front-line experience, were used. The section all around Chateau-Thierry and Bellau Woods was assigned to United States soldiers. How they stopped the German run there is history. They came through their first big test without faltering. Casualties were heavy and Private Holt was sent to a hospital in Bordeaux, a victim of mustard and chlorine gas. But more war was in store for him. He was released from the hospital in time to rejoin his company for the Champagne Drive. He fought through this, and then through the Meuse-Argonne offensive in November.

With the signing of the Armistice Private Holt accompanied the Second into Germany as part of the Army of Occupation. He was stationed at Engers until July, 1919, when, he writes, "We boarded a train for Brest, France, and then the U. S. S. Great Northern for New York, where we got rid of the 'cooties'. From New York he was sent to Camp Travis, Texas, where he was discharged in June, 1920, nearly three years after he enlisted.

Born in Santo, Palo Pinto County, Holt was living in Pecos in July, 1917, when he joined the army. He was sent to Fort Bliss, El Paso, and immediately was assigned to the medical detachment of the Second Engineers. About a month later he was sent to the American University at Washington. He left there in September, bound for France. After two hours in Scotland and a week in England, Holt's outfit finally reached France.

"Our first duty after reaching France was building barracks somewhere in France," he writes. "We shifted to and fro until we landed at the Verdun front."

After his discharge Holt returned to Pecos, where he has been living since. He has spent the most of his working life—not counting the years in the army—as a shoemaker. His well-equipped shop on the main street of Pecos is a favorite gathering place of former soldiers. He is a member of the Richard Briscoe Post of the American Legion at Pecos.

BAPTIST W. M. S.

Twenty-eight women were engaged in Mission study Monday afternoon when the Baptist W. M. S. met in three circles.

In the home of Mrs. H. B. McCord the Lockett Circle, with Mrs. J. H. Felts as teacher, completed "Re-birth of a Nation" with eight present; the Sallee Circle completed "Following in His Train" when ten members met in the home of Mrs. E. I. Hill. Mrs. Hill taught the book in the absence of the teacher, Mrs. J. K. Woosley who was ill.

Mrs. H. P. Caveness taught "From Jerusalem to Jerusalem" to ten members of Walker Circle in the home of Mrs. Carl Owens.

The W. M. S. members are following the Bible Study Outline this year and report much activity in daily Bible readings.

Members attending Monday's meeting included Mmes.: H. B. McCord, J. H. Felts, Garland Pennington, Jim Barleson, W. H. Kerley, K. F. Durham, W. S. Taylor, Coy Fielder, Miss May Seroyer and Mmes.: W. M. Harris, W. O. Robertson, C. F. Greathouse, A. J. Kaddatz, C. C. Barnes, E. N. Weathers, S. H. Holland, C. T. Oliver, E. I. Hill, Carl Owens, H. P. Caveness, J. L. Nevill, A. T. Moore, F. L. Kelley, J. L. Reese, H. M. Snowden, H. D. Henderson, H. B. Howell, and Minnie Pender.

There is still talk of the possibility of a "peace offensive" this year, with the Pope, President Roosevelt and Mussolini taking the leading roles. At the moment, the outlook for peace seems black indeed—but changes can take place fast.—Industrial News Review.

IMPERSONATING WARDEN COSTLY

Falsely impersonating an officer proved costly to George Madlock of Edcouch, recently, according to official records submitted to the executive secretary of the Game Department. Madlock was fined $25 plus court costs amounting to $21.55 at Edcouch. He pleaded guilty to falsely impersonating a game warden. Complaint in the case was filed by a State game warden. The arrest was made after complaints had been received from Hidalgo residents.

GETS DOUBLE FISH CATCH

Wymon O. McInnis of the Cox and McInnis ranch near Brownwood didn't waste a great deal of bait in catching two fish recently. He snagged a 27 pound catfish and saw protruding from its mouth the tail of another fish. It proved to be a one and a half pounder the cat had caught just before it greedily snapped up McInnis' bait.

Texas Fish On Increase

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 18.—Having increased production in its ten hatcheries by nearly 2,000,000 during 1939 the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission is preparing to turnout an even larger crop this year and improvement at four hatcheries which will cost $30,000 are under way or will be started soon. It was announced today by the executive secretary of the Game Department, W. P. A. funds and labor will be used for part of the work.

The biggest project being undertaken by the Game Department is at the Huntsville Hatchery. That hatchery's thirty-two ponds will be augmented by the addition of four more, each of which will be approximately an acre in size. To improve the watering system at Huntsville the drainage ditches will be lined with rock masonry and reinforced concrete. A new filling system to carry water into the ponds is being built, under the direction of the Department's hatcheries' engineer. Most of the present ponds at Huntsville will be deepened. Repair work on the large levee at the Olmito hatchery has already been started.

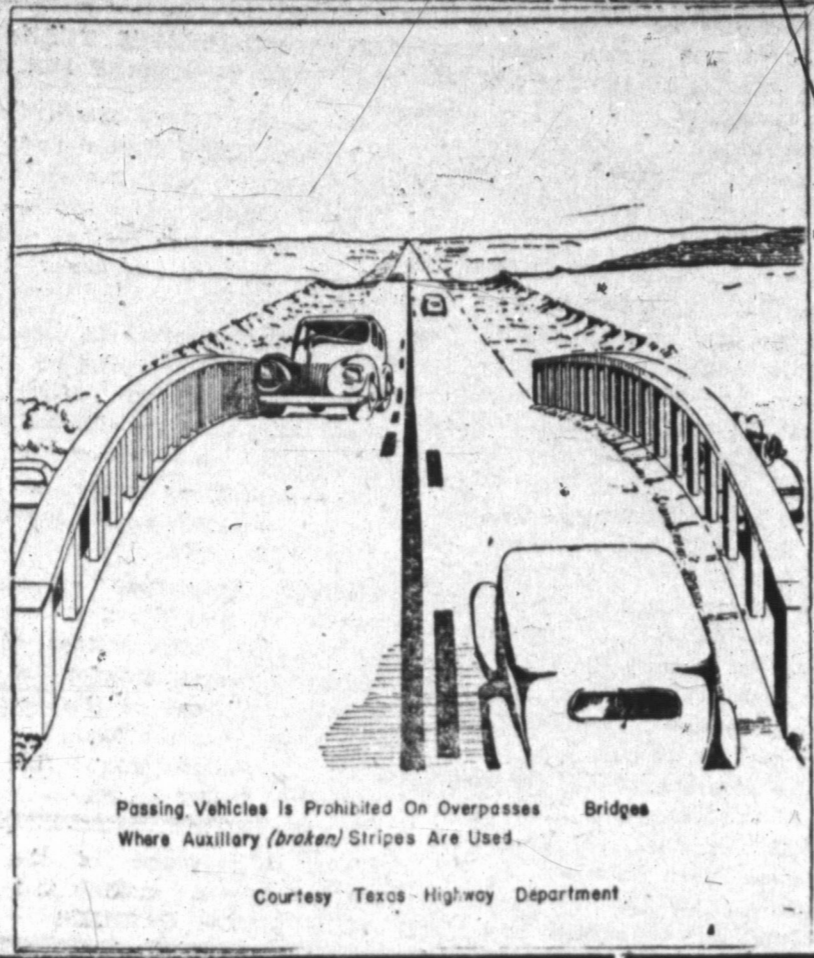

A drag line will be used to deepen the canal through which water enters the San Angelo Hatchery. Work there will start within two weeks.

The finishing touches are being put on the Medina Hatchery near Natalia. That hatchery is the latest addition to the Game Department's list of fish-producing plants. Four ponds were in operation during 1939.

COASTAL PLANE TO THE RESCUE

The spectacular rescue of a man and his wife missing several days in the Gulf coast after the pair was located by the flying game warden for the Game Department, was accomplished recently by C. R. Pope, Seadrift, Texas, fish dealer.

The warden, flying the Game Department's patrol plane, located the couple, named Blakey, in their houseboat, which was grounded on a shell bank of Matagorda Island. He reported their position and Pope's boat made the rescue within two hours. The couple, without food for four days, had been unable to leave their houseboat due to the fact their shiff had broken loose from the houseboat.

Men to Preside at Baptist Church Next Sunday

The men are going to church next Sunday.

At least that is on the menu for the Baptist Church.

More than that, the men are going to run things. They are going to fill up the choir loft jam full, they are going to do the singing, and one of them, even, is going to preside at the piano. And, a man is going to preach.

You see it is this way.

Next Sunday has been designated as Men's Day. A bunch of the men got together last Sunday and did a little framing up. They decided too many men had been playing hooky. They resolved that they themselves would be at church next Sunday and would corral every other man possible and take him to church.

They appointed committees. It is the duty of these committees to gather in the recalcitrants and the excuse-makers from all the highways and the hedges—especially the highways. They will also attempt to gather in all of the wandering sheep—the old hard-headed, fence-breaking rams, and the young, high-headed, high-stepping rams—that have strayed away from the fold and are in danger of being caught by the wolves.

All these are expected to be in the fold and in the church next Sunday. The big bell-weather says that they expect to have at least 125 of them there. If they are not there, it will be just because the committees fell down on the job. And the following Sunday is going to be Women's Day. Just think of it!

NEWS RECEIVES CERTIFICATE OF MERIT

The Lynn County News recently received from the Texas State Police Department of Public Safety a Certificate of Merit "For outstanding contributions to Traffic Safety for the year 1938, and Educational Attainments in making reckless driving unpopular."

We were glad to do what we could to make traffic on the highway safer but we claim no merit whatever for whatever contribution this paper may have made to that end. Nevertheless, we appreciate the Certificate of Merit awarded the paper.

Possibly the most outstanding contribution the editor made to the cause of public safety was by way of setting a "horrible example" when he forgot to look before starting to cross a highway and was struck by a car through no fault of the driver.

Our warning to pedestrians is to "Stop, Look, Listen".

Distinguished Texans in Washington

Congress has just convened in regular session and it is probable that among the many proposed laws which will be considered, there will be some which may vitally affect everybody in the government service. It is therefore interesting for Texas carriers to think of the positions of power and responsibility held by our Texas representatives in Washington.

Vice President John Nance Garner is obviously the first on the list. He was born in north-east Texas, has lived the greater part of his life in south-west Texas, and is equally at home in every other part of our state. Naturally all Texans acclaim him as one of their own. It is recognized throughout America and the whole world that he is the most influential vice president the United States has ever had and his influence, if he cares to exert it, can vitally affect almost any legislation which is proposed.

In the Senate, Hon. Morris Sheppard of Arkansas has been a member since 1913 and is No. 4 on the seniority list of that body. Previous to his Senate service he was a member of the House for about ten years and this combined service gives him seniority rank over every other member of either the House or the Senate. He is chairman of the powerful Committee on Military Affairs which is today considering measures of the utmost importance to the security of our country and he also holds membership on the committees of Commerce, Manufactures and Irrigation and Reclamation. Senator Sheppard is the outstanding foe of the liquor traffic in America and his record shows that he is consistently on the right side of moral questions.

Senator Tom Connolly of Marlin served twelve years in the House before being elected to the Senate in 1926 and is now completing his second term as Senator. He is chairman of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds and holds assignments on the other important committees of Finance, Foreign Relations, Judiciary and Privileges and Elections. There are few members of the Senate who take a more active or influential part in its deliberations than does Senator Connolly and he is recognized throughout the country as one of the most powerful members of that body.

In the House of Representatives, Hon. Sam Rayburn of Bonham as Majority Leader, outranks every other member of that body with the single exception of the Speaker. These two officials, together with the Rules Committee, decide the program of the House from day to day, designate what bills are to be considered and, in general, guide the work of legislation.

The chairman of the different committees in the House have most to do with the work of their bodies and personally handle their bills when being considered on the floor. Texans hold the chairmanship of the following important committees: Agriculture, Hon. Marvin Jones of Amarillo; Judiciary, Hon. Hutton W. Sumners of Dallas; Public Buildings and Grounds, Hon. Fritz Lanham of Fort Worth; Rivers and Harbors, Hon. Joseph J. Mansfield of Columbus; Elections No. 3 Hon. Albert Thomas of Houston. No other state delegation holds so many chairmanships and the Representatives in these key positions give Texas a commanding voice in the greater part of the work of Congress.

Hon. Martin Dies of Orange is a member of the important Rules Committee above mentioned, and is also chairman of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities. The last report of this committee was made to Congress a few days ago and has received as much attention as any Congressional investigation in recent years. It is said that there has been a larger demand for the previous reports of this committee than for any other congressional document. The work of the committee has been outstanding in presenting facts regarding subversive activities of groups working against the interests of our country.

Hon. Wright Patman of Texas is an outstanding member of the Committee on Banking and Currency and has gained national recognition because of his varied activities. Hon. Clyde Garrett, the Texas member of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, is a friend of rural carriers and is in a place where his friendship can be made most effective. Hon. George Mahon of Colorado is a member of the powerful Appropriations Committee which passes on all funds granted the executive departments and is a member of the sub-committee which handles the Post Office Department appropriations, thus being in positions to do much in demonstrating his well-known sympathy and friendship for postal employees.

Hon. Luther Johnson of Corsicana is an active member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs which is of particular importance in the present state of the world. Hon. Richard M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi is on the Agriculture Committee, in position to do much for the farming interests. Hon. R. Ewing Thomasson of El Paso is the ranking majority member of the Military Affairs Committee which handles all matters concerned with the Army and national defense. Hon. Paul Kilday, serving his first term from the San Antonio District, is also very appropriately a member of this committee in view of the presence of Fort Sam Houston and the great air fields in his district. Hon. Charles L. South of Coleman is on the powerful Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. Hon. Lindley Beckworth of Gilmer has a place on the Civil Service Committee where all measures are handled concerning civil service as applied to government employees, including retirement legislation, and he is also a member of the committees on Insular Affairs, Expenditures and Mines and Mining. Hon. Lyndon Johnson of Johnson City, an energetic new member who defeated nine other candidates in his original campaign in 1937, is on the major Naval Affairs Committee which has great responsibilities relating to our national defense.

Hon. Nat Patton of Crockett, (affectionately known as "Cousin Nat" by almost all of his constituents and fellow congressmen) is performing fine service on the Roads Committee in which rural carriers are vitally interested and is also on the committees of Accounts, Pensions and Territories. Hon. Bob Poage of Waco is on the Census Committee, active at present in supervising the taking of the decennial census and also holds membership in the committees on Claims, Flood Control, War Claims and Immigration and Naturalization.

Hon. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, serving his first term, is devoting much of his time to work on the committees on Territories, Elections No. 2, Insular Affairs, Revision of the Laws and Irrigation and Reclamation. Hon. Milton H. West of Brownsville serves on the highest ranking committee of the House, the Ways and Means. This committee handles all revenue and taxation measures and in addition to this important work, it also designates the committee assignments of all the majority party members of the House.

It is very unusual for the congressional delegation from any one state to hold such a commanding position in the government of our country. The Vice President of the United States, ex-officio presiding officer of the Senate, the Majority Leader of the House, the chairman of two major Senate committees and five in the House, together with membership on practically every other major committee in both bodies constitutes an unprecedented record. It is very doubtful if, in the whole history of America, the representatives of any single state have ever before held such responsibilities as are today on the shoulders of the Texans in our national capital. The citizens of Texas selected these men because of their known ability; they have met every test and our citizenship has great

NUN POSTMISTRESS TURNS 70, PREPARES TO RETIRE JAN. 31

St. Josephs, N. Y.—Mother Polycarpa, the United States' first nun postmistress, reached her seventieth birthday Saturday and prepared to retire Jan. 31 when the new federal age limit law for postmasters takes effect.

A Dominican nun, she has been in charge of the postoffice here since 1898, when the office was established in the administration of President McKinley.

The postoffice serves a population ranging from 150 in Winter to 800 in Summer.

Mother Polycarpa, as mother superior, is also principal of the high school, camp mother of two children's camps, director of the sanatorium, head of the convent and manager of the farm.

So retirement won't find her with time on her hands.

Reason to be proud of the fine records they are making and have

General Motors Builds 25-Millionth Unit

Brief ceremonies were held in the Chevrolet assembly plant at Flint, January 11, marking completion of this car, the 25-millionth unit built by General Motors. In behalf of the thousands of workers who had a hand in its manufacture, 75 members of the final assembly line crew handed M. E. Coyle, Chevrolet general manager, a commemorative scroll for presentation to W. S. Knudsen, president of General Motors. Veteran Chevrolet employes, and executives of the Buick and AC Spark Plug divisions, were present as special guests.

T-BAR H. D. CLUB

"The two big reasons why the diets of our Texas farm families are poor are that many of them haven't enough money to spend for food to buy a good diet, and that many lack the ability to choose a good diet no matter how much money is available", stated Miss Maurine McNeill, Home Demonstration agent, at the meeting of the T-Bar Club in the home of Mrs. C. C. Coffee.

Failure to choose the right kind of food when money is available is found to be brought about by such items as 1. Inadequate market supplies and facilities; 2. Faulty food habits that are some times part of the social heritage; and 3 lack of information on the nutritional needs of the family on food values, on methods of producing or buying wisely on efficient preparation processes.

The chairman of the standing committees were announced as follows:

Program, Mrs. C.C. Coffee; Exhibit, Mrs. H. F. Lindley; Finance, Mrs. B. G. Akins; Recreation; Mrs. Frank Sargent; Expression, Mrs. John Earles.

Refreshments were served to the pine members present. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. I. C. Dorman, Jan. 26th. The program will be on parliamentary procedure.

WAYSIDE H. D. CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. BENSON

The Wayside home demonstration club met with Mrs. Ruth Benson on January 11, the first meeting of the new year.

Discussion and plans were made for each individual officer's duty. Committee chairmen were appointed by the president, Mrs. Iver L. Johnson. The chairmen are as follows:

Finance, Mrs. Ruth Benson; Exhibit, Mrs. R. W. Jackson; Mrs. W. A. Darby; Expansion, Mrs. W. B. Morris, Mrs. Busby.

Mrs. Ruth Benson was elected council delegate.

We are planning and hoping for a good club another year. Reporter.

were: Mesdames, B. C. Aycox, J. H. Knight, H. H. Nash, G. B. Sherrod, A. C. Aycox, T. D. Lishman, and the hostess, Mrs. Guion Cobb

The next meeting will be with Mrs. A. C. Aycox on Thursday, January 18, at 2:30.

Boxing Tournament Slated for Next Week

A Preliminary Golden Glove Boxing Tournament is to be staged in the gymnasium here next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, and possibly a final contest on Friday night, according to Coach Leo Jackson. Fighters and fans are expected to be here from various points on the South Plains.

Already there have been 32 entries from the high schools of Lynn county, including Tahoka, O'Donnell, Wilson, New Home, Draw, and possibly other places. Slaton will have 12 boys here, and Mr. Jackson is assured that Lubbock also will be represented.

Deadline for entries has been fixed at 12 o'clock Tuesday. Boys entering will be weighed, beginning at 5:30 in the afternoon, and all entrants will be checked by a physician to determine their physical fitness for the contests. Only boys over sixteen years of age are eligible.

A new regulation ring for the events has been constructed and will be placed in the auditorium. Winners in the tournament here will be sent to the District Golden Glove Boxing Tournament to be staged in Lubbock on February 3-6.

Many Tahoka boxing fans will make it a point to see these contests at the Gym next week.

Rotarians Invited to Post Meet

At the conclusion of the Rotary luncheon here Wednesday, a Post Rotarian invited the members of the club to be the guests of the Post Club at an early date. The invitation was readily accepted. The date will be in February, the exact time to be announced later.

Three members of the Post Club were present Thursday: Homer Thompson, county agent, and T. L. Jones and J. E. Parker, business man. D. J. Bolch of O'Donnell was also a visitor. A number of local citizens were guests of the club members.

One new member was received into the club, W. H. Fulkerson. Calloway Huffaker was the principal speaker Thursday. He ably and entertainingly discussed the importance of every business man or other property owner making a will.

"To celebrate your birthday and mine," wrote Ginger Lucas when she mailed the first birthday greeting card to President Roosevelt in Texas' 1940 March of Dimes. Ginger, attending Hockaday Junior College, in Dallas, will be 17 and the President will be 59 on Tuesday, January 30, when nation-wide celebrations in his honor will wage battle against infantile paralysis. The greeting cards, each to be filled with ten dimes, are being distributed throughout the state. Fifty percent of the contributions mailed to the White House will be returned to local chapters for direct assistance to Texas children crippled by the disease, with the balance going for national research and preventive measures.

Golden Glove Tourney To Be Held in Lubbock

Lubbock, January 18.—Amateur Boxers living outside of Lubbock are challenged, and invited, to defend a record they established last year in not allowing a single Lubbock fighter to capture one of the eight District Golden Gloves championships. The District tournament is scheduled February 5 and 6, and possibly the 7th, depending upon the number of entries, and all amateur fighters 18 years of age and older are cordially invited to compete. The tournaments will be staged at the Merchants Building on the Panhandle-South Plains Fair Grounds, which has been transformed into an arena capable of seating 1,500 spectators.

METHODIST CHURCH
Many meetings of special interest are to be held the latter part of January and February. These will be announced each Sunday preceding the day of meeting. Saturday, January 20, the Young People of Lubbock District will meet in the Methodist church for their quarterly district-wide meeting. The Tahoka church will serve the evening meal at 6 p. m. Officers will begin gathering at 2 P. M. and the meeting will conclude at 10 P. M. The pastor appreciated the presence of a larger number at church Sunday last, but many have been absent since Christmas interfered with our good attendance. Will you not attend one of the S. S. Classes next Sunday and remain for church? Our orchestra will be glad to play to a large Sunday night crowd.—George E. Turrentine.
