Talks Fruitless

MOSCOW (AP) - Leonid I. Brezhnev joined arms negotiations with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance today, but U.S. officials said as the three days of talks ended that the Soviet president's participation did not result in any major changes in Moscow's position.

"The secretary feels that the overall tone was good," U.S. spokesman Hodding Carter said after Vance wound up the discussions. "There was no discord or harsh characterizations. There were of course disagreements."

Moro Deadline Passes

ROME (AP) - A terrorist deadline for government action to save Aldo Moro's life passed today without word from his Red Brigade kidnappers. Italian leaders conferred in emergency meetings and Pope Paul VI made a dramatic personal appeal to the terrorists for the release of the former premier.

Brokers Work Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) - Several hundred Wall Street clerks and brokers were called to work Saturday to try to catch up on bookkeeping left in disarray by a record buying spree that saw more than 212 million shares change hands on the New York Stock Exchange this week.

No shares were being bought and sold today as the clerks and brokers recorded sales and settled disputed trades for the world's largest securities market.

Alcohol Too

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) - Former first lady Betty Ford, who has made her personal problems public before, now admits she is addicted not only to a pain-killing drug, but also to alcohol.

The SDN Column

The outlook for our country may be brighter than some of us suspected. We saw a sign of normalcy the other day that had not occurred in our presence in a long time, or at least it had gone unnoticed. While working in our yard, we suddenly became aware of a familiar sound, but one we hadn't heard in a long time. Although it was indeed familiar, it took a moment for us to identify it. And then we didn't believe it until the instigator of this sound suddenly came into view.

A small boy was strolling leisurely down the alley with a common, ordinary stick in his hand. With this stick, he was whacking a small rock on the ground, keeping it in front of him as he proceeded at a slow but steady pace. As he moved along, it was quite evident that he was in deep thought.

We can recall days when such scenes were considered ordinary. A kid with a stick, driving a rock, or even a tin can, along as he walked provided his own entertainment and at the same time he got in some thinking without interruption. Nobody knows how many ideas sprang from such situations.

We don't see many of these anymore. In fact, we don't see many kids walking anymore.

The bids on the Scurry County hospital bonds came in Thursday a bit lower than even the most optimistic projections. Most observers had indicated that an effective interest rate of around 4.5 per cent would be good. So, the low bid of approximately 4.39 per cent was considered excellent.

The good rating given the county by Moody's Investor Service cleared the way for some highly competitive bidding. Moody's gave the county a double-A rating, which is the highest it could have attained, according to Joe Smith of First Southwest Co., who handled the bond issue for the county. Nobody but Dallas, Houston and the State of Texas has a triple-A rating in this region, Smith said, and there are not a great number of double-A ratings.

How did Scurry County merit a double-A rating?

A lot of people think the big tax base provided by the oil industry is the only reason, but more than that is involved, said Smith. He said the oil values are a significant factor but there are others that are closely scrutinized by the rating firms. These include how the county has handled its money in previous years, how it has met its obligations, etc.

"This county is in fine shape," Smith said.

Despite Low Lake Level...

Snyder Assured It Will Have Water

The level of Lake J.B. Thomas is getting mighty low, but Snyder residents are assured that they will have water this summer.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District announced recently that, unless Lake Thomas makes a significant catch this month, oilfield repressuring customers will have their water service from the district suspended on May 1. They were cut back to 50 per cent last November.

However, O.H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, said Saturday that Lake Thomas has enough water to supply Snyder well into the summer without catching any more runoff.

"We usually expect most of our runoff from May 1 through the middle of July," said Ivie. "September and October are the other months that we usually catch water in the lake."

If there is no runoff this spring into Lake Thomas, Ivie said present supplies should take care of Snyder's needs until August. Then, if it becomes necessary, the CRMWD has the capability of bringing water here from Lake E.V. Spence. Lake Spence has 134,000 acre feet of water now, and it also is expected to make some catches during May and June.

"Lake Thomas historically catches about 42,000 acre feet per year," said Ivie. "Our problem now is that last year, the catch was only 4,000 acre feet, or about one-tenth of the historical average."

The situation today is similar to 1971, which existed in May of 1971. Rains at the end of May solved the problem then, and hopefully they will again, even earlier than that.

"We have the most flexible water supply system in the state," said Ivie. "At present we are supplying all of Odessa's needs from well fields in Ward County. Big Spring and Midland are getting most of their water from Lake Spence. Snyder has Lake Thomas to itself, and you are fortunate because Lake Thomas water has the best quality in the district."

If there is no runoff into Lake Thomas during the

Building In City Gets New Boost

Applications for both commercial and residential building permits toward the end of the week gave Snyder construction figures a boost of more than $300,000.

The application for a commercial building came from Allsup's Convenience Stores, a New Mexico firm that announced earlier that it planned a store at College Avenue and 40th Street in Snyder. Construction is now underway.

Applications for permits to construct six new single-family dwellings in Park Place Addition in Southwest Snyder were submitted.

The Park Place project is a development also announced several weeks ago. The developer is Jim Moore of Odessa.

Allsup's plans a 40-foot by 60-foot building on the northwest corner of the College Avenue and 40th Street intersection, which was the site of a Shamrock service station that was

Local Candidates Report Light Campaign Expense

All of the contested political races in Scurry County are marked by two common aspects, judging from public records filed by individual candidates.

All the candidates are Democrats, and all are running without the benefit of supporting campaign committees.

Running for public office in the May 6 primary are Preston Wilson and Bobby Goodwin for county judge; Dan Callaway, Janet Hall and Lesley B. Shelburne for precinct one justice of the peace; Billy Wayne Thompson and Florine Merritt for county trasurer.

Also running are Hassie Sneed, Buck Woolever and Ernest Shifflett for county commissioner of precinct two. The precinct four county commissioner post is being sought by Ted Billingsley, Hollis Ward, Rudolph H. Norwood and Roy Cole.

Candidates seeking a contested political post are required by law to file a report of their campaign--listing among other things--campaign contributions (over $50) and campaign expenses. The information is filed in the county clerk's office.

April 6 was the deadline for filing the reports and all the information in them is dated to that time.

All but two of the candidates filed their reports. Those not filing were county commissioner aspirants Norwood and Cole, both seeking the precinct 4 spot.

In the race for county judge, incumbent Preston Wilson listed expenditures of $1,019.57. The lion's share of that, some $333.68, went to cover advertising expenses. Behind that, the largest expense Wilson listed was his $300 filing fee.

Wilson's opponent, Bobby Goodwin, listed his expenditures as $637.08. His single, greatest expense was his $300 filing fee. Behind that, a $163.18 tab went to American Display Products, Inc. of Dallas for promotional campaign materials.

Callaway's expenditures were $504.84, with $200 of that going to cover his filing fee. The next greatest campaign expense, some $116.60, went for

Snyder Play In State Contest

Snyder High School will get a shot at a third state title in a row in the University Interscholastic League one-act play competition.

The 1978 cast and crew, directed by Jerry Worsham, won a trip to Austin and the state finals in the regional contest Friday evening at Odessa.

Six plays were presented in regional competition at Odessa Junior College, and plays of Snyder High and Canyon High were selected to represent the region in the state contest set for May 5.

Snyder High has had the state 3-A champion for the past two years.

Also repeating in honors at the regional contest was Marca Parham, who was named best actress for her leading role as Miss Moffat in "The Corn Is Green." She had earned a similar award at Odessa last year. Snyder students named to the all-star cast in the regional contest were Nell Sears, Jeanne McCormick and Robby Moore. Honorable mention went to Laurie Bethel, Scott Marlar and Carol Eiland. The judges made a special joint honorable mention award to those who portrayed

The Canyon High play, which also was selected for the state contest, was "Scapion." Perryton High School's presentation of "The Miracle Worker" was named the alternate.

Twenty-one individual awards were presented following the presentation of the six plays in the regional contest, and 11 of them went to Snyder students.

Colorado City Family Settling Into New All-Steel Dream Home

By JOHN DUNNAM

COLORADO CITY - Ron Goebel and his family were settling into their dream home this past week and he has no inclination to put up with high maintenance costs and skyrocketing fuel bills. How does he plan to avoid them? Simple. He built his house out of steel.

The structure, located on the Robert Lee Highway south of the city, is practically maintenance free, says Goebel.

"The paint on the house is guaranteed for 20 years and the steel roof is rust proof and hail proof," he said.

Goebel, who is chief draftsman for Wadleigh Construction Company, Inc., in Snyder, designed the house, did much of the construction work himself and acted as general contractor, subbing out the rest.

The 1,760-square-foot, three bedroom, two bathroom home is bricked on the north and south sides giving it the appearance of a typical brick house. Goebel says it is grounded and actually provides more protection to its occupants against lightning than a conventional home.

To keep inside temperatures moderate, Goebel poured enough insulation in the roof to achieve an R value of 35 and enough in the walls for a 25 R value rating. In this climate R values of 12-20 are common in new homes. The interior walls are also insulated and he used insulated glass in the windows.

Furniture, doors and trim are the only places wood is found in the house, reducing the fire hazard to a minimum. And to further insure many good nights of sound sleep for the Goebels, the house is solid enough to withstand anything less that a direct hit from a tornado.

Goebel said he got the idea for the house a few years ago while working with plans for one of the pre-engineered all-steel structures his company builds. He said he began to suspect that with certain modifications the plans could be used to build a steel residence that would be attractive, comfortable possess unusual durability and be energy efficient.

Goebel took his idea off the drawing board and began making it a reality in July, 1976. He and his wife, Donna Lynn, and their two-year-old son, Justin, began moving about 10 days ago.

Lone Gunman Robs Store

A lone gunman stalked into the Cash Food convenience store at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. L early Saturday morning and asbconded with approximately $150, police said. It is the city's first reported armed robbery of the year.

Twenty-year-old store attendent Shirley Foster told investigating officers that a man armed with a double-barreled shotgun entered the store about 2:29 a.m. Saturday and demanded the cash register's contents.

Given the money, the man reportedly walked around behind the building and disappeared.

The suspect was described as a 20 to 25-year-old blonde, 5 feet-10 inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds.

jawboning technique

Jawboning as practiced by Lyndon Johnson had its uses as at times stunning effective technique of big government.

Honing native skills in negotiation, compromise and arm-twisting to an ultrafine edge over many years in Capitol Hill cloakrooms, Johnson wielded them on a grander scale from the White House in persuading leaders of Congress, business, labor and other power centers to view crucial public issues of his day the LBJ way.

Jimmy Carter has given no indication so far of wanting to be another LBJ. Which right off the bat raises a serious question as to the prospects of his anti-inflation program.

As outlined before the nation's newspaper editors assembled in Washington, the program is essentially a call for volunteers.

The labor force is asked voluntarily to accept a lower rate of wage increase than it feels justified in seeking on the basis of the upward-bounding Consumer Price Index.

Business is asked voluntarily to restrain the urge to keep pace with price increases.

Executives are called upon voluntarily to freeze - or at least keep at an extremely cool level - their own salaries.

Even in those areas where, as chief executive, he says he is prepared to take direct action, some degree of cooperation from Congress will be required.

Holding pay increases for 3.5 million federal workers to 5.5 per cent requires congressional assent.

The president may limit oil imports by administrative action, but at the possible price of antagonizing Congress which still has the final say on the shape of the comprehensive energy legislation he still considers essential.

He may veto the farm bill and any other measure he deems likely to increase the budget deficit, but Congress can override the vetoes.

Quite possibly the only unquestioning cooperation the president may find immediately forthcoming will be from his Cousin Cheap, Hugh Carter, whose anti-inflationary functions include keeping unneeded White House lights switched off and canceling staff limousine privileges. Then again, as they say, even in the first of families...

signs of the season

Poets and natrualists have rhapsodized seasons of the year. William Cullen Bryant wrote of autumn: "The melancholy days are come the saddest of the year." He lived in Massachusetts where winter storms come early and stay late. James Whitcomb Riley, who lived in Indiana, looked upon autumn as the best of seasons. He was moved to write: "When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock, it sets the heart a-tickin' like the tickin' of a clock."

Another writer described spring as the time "when young people's thoughts turn instinctively to love." Most people, even those in the second or third 39-year cycle comedian Jack Benny made famous, are able to get the idea.

Winter and summer, of course, have their fans. Christmas and skiing in winter. Trips to the mountains or seashore in summer.

But no season is quite so productive of unusual ideas as a typical political campaign. People generally regarded as normal say and do things in the heat of a political campaign which would never enter their minds at any other time. Candidates and voters are in the last three weeks of party primary campaigning. Everybody is hopeful and will remain in that state of mind until returns are in from the primaries.

These next 16 or 17 days for many will belong in the William Cullen Bryant category. Others will buy Riley's description of how things look to people who have "everything going their way," to quote a famed lyricist, Oscar Hammerstein II, in the musical "Oklahoma."

We don't have to wait, however, until election in order to witness manifestations of the intoxicating effect of being involved in a political campaign. Two examples appeared in news dispatches and an editorial in an important Texas newspaper in the last few days.

A member of Congress seeking re-election recommends submitting to Texas voters a proposal to withdraw from the Union and become a separate nation. He sees that as the only way to escape the doom that is closing in on the U.S.A.

A candidate for Governor urges calling a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of submitting a constitutional amendment repealing the state property tax. A highly respected metropolitan newspaper approves the idea but doubts the wisdom of convoking a special session to submit the proposal to the people.

Pulling out of the Union was tried once, without success, and the Legislature has power to propose changes in the Constitution only at regular sessions.

Party affiliations of these two reformers is immaterial. They're matched in being silly by members of the other major party.

Red River Crest Moves Into Canada

EAST GRAND FORKS, Minn. (AP) - The crest of the swollen Red River has moved into Canada, and the Red is steady or falling all along the North Dakota-Minnesota border, National Weather Service forecaster Bob Henrick says.

The river caused an estimated $11 million in damages as it spread over thousands of acres of rich farmland. It crested Wednesday at Pembina, N.D., the last city along the river's edge before the international border, Henrick said.

New car loans increased in average size from $2.651 in 1965 to $5,040 in 1976, says the motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association.

big cities on your back

While Americans who work for a living skimp and save to make ends meet; while whole states discipline themselves with legislation requiring them to live within their incomes--the Big Cities become an increasing tax burden on the backs of all of us.

And now the President wants another 8.3 billion of your dollars for them.

In 1957, the city of Detroit was self-supporting, collecting from the federal government less than one percent of its annual budget.

By 1967 Detroit was 11 percent dependent on you.

This year, according to the U.S. Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations (USACIR), federal money--your money--will pay for 43 percent of the upkeep of the city of Detroit.

For every dollar Detroit raises from local taxes it depends on you for another 77 cents.

Other cities place a similar burden on taxpayers living elsewhere.

St. Louis is now 26 percent dependent on outsiders.

Boston 23 percent. Philadelphia 34 percent. Chicago 28 percent. Buffalo 42 percent this year.

Even in the prosperous Sunbelt, the bigger cities are less self-supporting than they used to be.

Dallas, Texas, in 1967 relied on the federal government for only a minute fraction of its total budget; today 15 percent. Houston 10 percent.

These cities will argue that they are still paying more federal taxes than they are collecting--and presently this is true.

But the reliance of cities on the federal government is increasing each year at such a rate that within another year or two it will not be true.

Michael Kilian saw this USACIR report and was properly anxious about the increasing discrimination against taxpayers who do not live in the cities--and about something else.

The federal government offers nothing for nothing.

The cities which are sustained by "government money" are increasingly subject to government interference in their internal affairs.

For a city to secure the most routine federal grant it must forfeit its independence by agreeing to abide by at least 33 federal regulations.

Most of these regulations have been dictated by unelected bureaucrats, but each is enforced by federal courts.

The latest Louis Harris Survey shows that Americans are aware that cities have the worst schools, the most crime, the worst housing, the unfriendliest people--and 83 percent say cities are no place to raise children.

So the people who can leave the big cities will continue to do so but they will not escape paying their upkeep.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "It doesn't do any good to tell people your troubles--half of them aren't interested and the other half are glad you got what you had coming."

The article was brief, but the message was loud and only too clear.

Recently, on the front page of the Wall Street Journal was a one-paragraph story reporting a very significant situation in government.

It seems that the General Accounting Office was viewing with alarm the fact that the current federal budget is some $50 million behind in its spending. The money has been approved and appropriated, but the federal bureaucy is so slow that it simply can not spend the money fast enough. So it is expected that we'll end the fiscal year with budgeted money - unspent....for shame, for shame!

The folks in Washington never cease to amaze us, and for that reason we anticipate the opportunity to vote in the upcoming congressional election. All the candidates have talked about being the most effectiye, but what we're looking for is someone who'll go to Washington and stir the water.

We're looking for a trouble-maker when it comes to the kind of fellow we'd like to send to Washington. We want our representative to get as mad about the federal bureaucy and waste as the boys at Stinson Drug do each morning.

This kind of fella' wouldn't be popular in Washington. He'd have to refuse free shoe shines, dental care, taxpayer subsidized meals in the official dining rooms, over seas junkets and the many other country club benefits of being in Washington.

All the candidates for the job in the 17th district have agreed on one thing--inflation is the biggest concern of the voters in this district.

If that is the case, the person elected May 6 will have one clear mandate--to attack inflation. To do that he must get to the very root of the problem and that is the government itself, which is clearly the biggest contributor to spiraling inflation, unemployment and business failures.

Congress gave away Panama last week. Wonder if we could find anyone who would take the District of Columbia?

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - Like most reforms that could actually have an impact on the way Congress operates, proposed "sunset" legislation seems to attract support that is a mile wide and an inch deep.

A landmark "sunset" bill by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Me., that would force Congress to periodically review and reassess all the federal programs it foists off on the American taxpayers has run into serious trouble on Capitol Hill.

Senate committee chairmen and their staff members, who have a vested interest in programs their panels have helped create over the years, regard the sunset legislation as the moral equivalent of infanticide. They are out to gut it, and may well succeed.

The Muskie bill, S. 2, is the soul of simplicity, notwithstanding efforts by its opponents to confuse matters. What it says in essence is that every single federal program must be reviewed and reauthorized by Congress once every six years or it will automatically terminate.

No longer could Congress blithely ignore the fact that scores, if not hundreds, of existing federal programs simply do not work. No longer could programs attain virtual immortality once adopted by Congress, as is often the case now.

In the past two years, 25 states have enacted sunset legislation covering some or all of their own programs and agencies. Sensing the political population of the sunset concept, which has been heavily promoted by Common Cause, members of Congress initially scurried to jump on the bandwagon.

More than half the Senate cosponsored S. 2, and at least 115 House members have joined Rep. Butler Derrick, D.-S.C., in sponsoring a somewhat different and more complicated version.

But once the Muskie bill actually sailed through the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee last July, power barons on other committees began to get nervous. The measure was shunted off to the Rules Committee, where then-Chairman Howard W. Cannon expressed deep reservations about it - even though he was supposedly a cosponsor.

Instead of sending the bill to the Senate floor by September, as he had promised Muskie he would, Cannon put together a staff group drawn from all Senate committees to study the sunset proposal and its impact on the way Congress operates.

This ad hoc staff is expected to recommend to the Rules Committee that the tough Muskie bill, with its automatic termination threat, be replaced by a toothless Senate resolution.

A public hearing is scheduled for April 19, and Muskie is working furiously to head off evisceration of his sunset bill. He has personally appealed to President Carter for help, arguing that meaningful sunset legislation offers one useful mechanism for cracking down on wasteful and unnecessary government spending that contributes to inflation.

The key to the bill's fate rests with the Rule Committee, which tends to be dominated by senators addicted to the status quo. If they send a resolution to the Senate floor instead of a bill, Muskie and other backers of real reform will be licked before they even step up to bat.

A resolution cannot provide for termination of federal programs, since all are created by law. And without the threat of automatic termination, Senate committees would have no incentive to undertake a serious review of existing programs. Furthermore, under Senate parliamentary procedures, there is no way Muskie could substitute his own, tougher legislative proposal for any resolution which might be approved by the Rules Committee.

"It would be outrageous to let these guys pass something labelled "sunset" reform that doesn't actually do anything, but that's what they're trying to accomplish," said one Muskie staffer.

it's possible

If you were to tell me, "I don't believe in the presence of God," I would argue the point with you. Because you believe in the presence of God more than you realize! Subconsciously your soul assumes that as you speed through life on a whirling planet you are not left to fate or fortune. Deep down inside, you take it for granted that there is an Almighty God at the controls.

I enjoy the story of the people who were on a jet plane. Soon after takeoff this announcement came over the intercom, "Good morning ladies and gentlemen, you are part of a historic flight. This is the first completely automated airplane. No human being is in control. Everything is under automation. We want to assure you that there is absolutely nothing to worry. . . worry. . . worry. . . ."

The crucial question is — why don't more people feel God's presence? Partly because some people would rather argue about the existence of God. But faith is never an argument. Faith is always a decision. And when a person stops arguing and decides to believe, the change is absolutely and beautifully amazing! One great Christian described the overpowering emotional experience of his conversion in these words, "Joy — joy — joy! Oh, the joy! I can hardly stand it!" It's possible for you to become a believer today!

Some months ago, I had an experience that literally changed my eating habits. Since then, I have cut out a number of foods, including desserts. But God has a fantastic sense of humor — I felt impressed at that time with the thought that I could still have a souffle, once in a while, for dessert.

Soon after that experience, I went into a restaurant and ordered a souffle. They had never heard of them. I found out that only French restaurants served souffles, and many of them no longer offer these delicate, delicious desserts. That's why God said to me, "You can have a souffle once in a while" — they are too hard to find!

Recently, my wife and I made a reservation in a French restaurant. We were told that they served exquisite souffles. I could hardly wait for the evening to arrive. We were seated at a quiet, corner table and the waiter handed us the menu. A few minutes later he returned and asked if we were ready to order.

Now, if you are going to order a baked souffle, you have to order it at the beginning of the meal because it takes a long time to bake. So I said to the waiter, "We'll begin by ordering our dessert. We will both have a souffle." "Oh," he exclaimed, "but we don't bake souffles!"

Stunned, I said, "Of course you bake souffles! I'm told that this restaurant makes the best souffles! (I thought I'd appeal to his ego)."

"I'm sorry," he replied, "we don't bake souffles."

By this time the waiter was becoming a little perturbed. But he left only to return and say, "I'm awfully sorry, but they are not making souffles today." "Can I talk to the manager?" I pleaded. "Yes," he answered and left.

The maitre d' was at our table immediately. He was a handsome, charming, debonair Frenchman. "Sir," I explained, "we've come a long way just for a souffle." "I'm sorry, sir," he replied, "we can't make a souffle for you."

Becoming a little impatient now, I said, "Please, may I talk to the executive chef?" The maitre d' threw up his hands like only a Frenchman can and said, "Just a moment."

Pretty soon, into the crowd came striding the executive chef, with his tall white hat and apron. He came right up to our table and suddenly stopped short. His mouth dropped open, his eyes widened and he said, "What a surprise! I never miss you on television! So you're the one who's been asking for a baked souffle!" "Yes," I answered, "like only you can bake it!"

Finally, he said, "I'll make you a good souffle!" Believe it or not we selected our entree and when we finished, we saw our waiter with a huge platter draped with beautiful napkins held high, walking towards us. And the entire restaurant saw the souffles, beautifully rolled two inches above the edge of the pan. They were baked perfectly — and delicious. There is no desert like a baked souffle!

The secret to a good souffle is the same as the secret to a joyous life. What gives life its lift and puff? What causes a person to come to full blossom, where all their possibilities now rise to their crown and glory? Love! Love is the secret ingredient! And just like a souffle doesn't happen by chance, love doesn't happen by chance. Love is always a choice. And when you choose to love those around you, you've discovered the souffle of life! Love is the souffle of life!

next three or four months, the CRMWD would put city wells into production in Snyder. These can provide about 1.4 million gallons per day. Supplies from Lake Spence would be pumped here to supplement the well production sufficiently to supply all of Snyder's needs.

"It's about time we got one of those big rains on the Lake Thomas watershed," Ivie said.

He discounted speculation heard from time to time that soil and water conservation practices on the Lake Thomas watershed have decreased the runoff into the lake appreciably.

"It's just the same as it always has been," Ivie said. "We have to get the good rains in the right places. You had two or three good rains there in Snyder last year that would have put a lot of water into Lake Thomas, but they did not extend far enough west."

blems along the way and I could not spend as much time working on it as I would have liked," said Goebel. But his pioneering effort paid off. He reports that the cost of the house is comparable to that of a conventional home the same size and it has a much longer life span.

However, he does not advocate such a project for the typical do-it-yourselfer. He admits to having inside contacts and first hand knowledge not available to the average home-builder.

Goebel does see more steel homes being built in the future. "If the price of wood continues to rise, steel houses may become very appealing to home builders."

The all-electric home has already attracted the attention of an electric firm from Big Spring. "I don't know what their intentions are but they have been out taking pictures several times."

Goebel says he plans to spend the rest of his life in his steel home. But, if destiny leads him elsewhere, it is fairly certain that he will be leaving his house behind.

In his spare time, Ragland enjoys golf, water skiing, baseball and other sports. He was a Trailhand nominee at WTC this spring.

HEAD SUPERKID EFFORT–Bill Urban and Kitti Richards head the Superkids committees of the Snyder Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes, respectively. The Superkids event is set for May 6.

In ancient times, Afghanistan was called Aryana, and was known as Khorasan in the Middle Ages. It was not called Afghanistan until about the middle of the 18th century.

Superkid Event To Be Repeated

Snyder Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes, in cooperation with the Lung Association, have accepted a challenge again to join the fight against lung disease.

"The challenge is for a fight to the death and quite frankly we're a little in awe of this conflict," a spokesman for the club said.

"You see, the enemy has many forces and yet you can't seem him strike until it is too late.

"Emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma are on the increase nationwide, giving testimony to the seriousness of this threat. It's a very big challenge, but we are ready to renew the fight for our side and we need help.

"We are forming a team of Superkids who will be coming to Snyder on May 6. Young people from Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh will compete again this year in sports events to raise money for lung research and other related health programs, and to demonstrate that healthy bodies are important to all."

Registration forms will be passed out again through the schools. Superkids between the ages of 6-18 are being urged to participate.

NEW EXHIBIT - Lufkin pumps are often seen in West Texas oil fields, and this one will look right at home in the new oil exhibit being prepared in the Scurry County Museum at WTC. Sharon Sutton, museum director, and Paula Lunsford are shown with the pump in the area being readied for the exhibit.

Museum Planning New Oil Exhibit

The Scurry County Museum will unveil a new oil exhibit and a new community exhibit area on May 7 as Museum Appreciation Month gets underway.

Construction on the community exhibits has been underway for several weeks, and many items which have not previously been displayed are being used in the revamped area. The oil exhibit is being planned especially for the museum by Exxon and it will be a complete change from the former oil display.

Members of the Museum Association will get a preview of the new exhibits on the evening of May 5. A buffet supper will be served from 7-9 p.m. and entertainment is also planned. Persons who would like to become members of the Museum Association may pay dues on or before that night and attend the preview.

The first official public showing will be from 1-5 p.m. on May 7. Refreshments will be served by the Scurry County Historical Commission as an activity of History Appreciation Week.

The Diamond M Museum at 911 25th Street will also be open from 2-5 p.m. on May 7.

The Scurry County Museum is on the south side of the Western Texas College campus and visitors may use the West Parking Lot adjacent to the building.

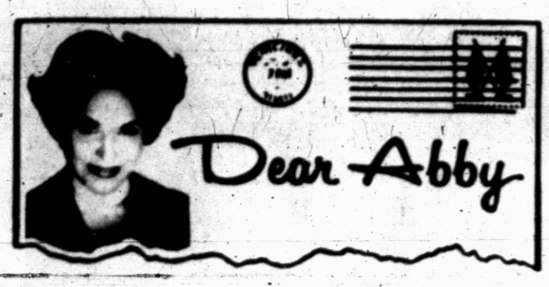
Bowling Hall Up For Grabs

GREENDALE, Wis. (AP)-For the time being at least, Greendale is to bowling what Cooperstown, N.Y., is to baseball and Canton, Ohio, is to football.

Since 1973, the National Bowling Hall of Fame and Museum has been located here.

Now the museum and hall of fame is expected to move. The building has gotten too crowded. In addition to housing bowling memorabilia, it is also headquarters for the nation's 9½-million league bowlers, members of the American Bowling Congress, the Women's International Bowling Congress and the American Junior Bowling Congress.

"We wrote to mayors and chambers of commerce to let people know the hall of fame is sort of up for grabs," said Ed Marcou, manager of the museum and hall of fame.



Thinks Her Parents Would Spoil Party

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old female college senior. The week of graduation, I am giving a party for my friends and instructors in my parents' home. (I live at home.) I am going to serve food and plenty of beer to about 80 guests at my parents' expense.

My problem: How does one tactfully tell her parents when it's time for them to excuse themselves and go upstairs? Please don't get me wrong. I love my parents and want them to meet my friends and teachers, but I'm afraid my guests will be inhibited if my parents hang around all evening. Thank you.

PARTY GIRL

DEAR PARTY GIRL: If there is a "tactful" way to tell one's parents to get lost in their own home (and after footing the bill for a party of 80 yet!), I don't know what it could be. If any of your guests feel "inhibited" with your parents around, that's their problem. Of course, if your parents read this, you'll have no problem. (And possibly no party.)

DEAR ABBY: I am desperate. After 15 years of a very stormy off-again, on-again marriage, my husband has asked me for a divorce. It all started a year ago when, in the middle of a heated argument, I told him that his lovemaking did nothing for me—I had only been putting on an act. It wasn't even the truth. Knowing how proud he is of his masculinity, I said it because I knew it would hurt him. I never realized it would hurt him so much that it would destroy all his feeling for me. He hasn't kissed me or touched me since that terrible argument, and now he says he wants a divorce.

Abby, I'll do anything in the world to get my husband back. I don't want a divorce. Please, please tell me what to do.

RAZOR SHARP-TONGUE

DEAR TONGUE: Unless you can convince your husband that you spoke in anger and didn't mean what you said, there may be no way you can get your husband back. This may not help you much, but it may serve to let others know that one seldom regrets unspoken words.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a grandparent should ever spank a grandchild? What is a grandparent to do when grandchildren, ages 3 and 5, are visiting and both want to sit on the same chair? Or both want to play with the same toy? The older one appears to take advantage of the younger one. I have tried to teach them to share and be kind to each other, but it doesn't seem to mean anything to them.

Spanking always worked with my children, but my son, who is the father of these scrapping youngsters, insists that children should be "talked" to and made to obey without laying a hand on them. These two don't appear to be very well behaved to me. I still think a couple of whacks would straighten them out fast. What do you think?

GRANDPARENT

DEAR GRANDPARENT: When you hit a child, you teach him violence. There are better ways to discipline children.

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Argentine Waters Yield Much Fish

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)-more than 340,000 tons of fish and shellfish were caught in Argentine waters during 1977, a 25 percent jump from the previous year, says the Economy Ministry.

Of the total, 265,000 tons were processed as frozen fish and fillets for export, resulting in 150,000 net tons, for an export value of some $80 million.

Argentina sold 13,000 tons to its principal market, the United States, followed by Spain, France, Italy and Japan.

New Car Tag Deadline Is Near

AUSTIN--The first deadline under the state's new "staggered" motor vehicle registration system is April 30. But the last day motorists can obtain stickers at one of the 254 county tax assessor-collector's offices is April 28.

No county tax offices are expected to be open on Saturday, April 29, or Sunday, April 30.

However, the short-term, one-month license plate validation stickers obtained before the recent April 1 deadline must be replaced by midnight April 30. Motorists driving their vehicles after that date with plates bearing the April stickers may be subject to fine up to $200.

And since motorists exercised the one-month option to renew their registrations they must replace them with full 12-month stickers.

Actually, it is believed that the few motorists who selected the shorter registration period did so because they expected to buy new vehicles within the 30-day period.

Motorists who elected to take short-term registrations--one to six months --will receive no notice of registration deadlines. They must take their last vehicle registration receipt and current auto title to the county tax office to receive a new sticker.

According to fees paid, short-term stickers will expire on the last day of the appropriate month through this September. Beginning with October, renewal notices will be mailed--about September 1 for October stickers and about 60 days prior to the deadline for all subsequent months.

Bob Townsley, director of the Motor Vehicle Division of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, estimates that about 800,000 vehicles will be registered each month under the new system.

Although this is expected to relieve the crushing burden of trying to register 10 million vehicles within a 60-day period, procrastinators may find themselves waiting in line again if they delay until the last minute to obtain their new registration stickers.

Hope Asked To Lay Off Anita Jokes

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)-Comedian Bob Hope has been asked by Texaco to stop making jokes about Anita Bryant and gay liberation.

Hope said Texaco, which sponsors many of his television specials, urged him to "please, please lay off the Anita Bryant jokes" because "customers started tearing up their credit cards and sending them back."

A Texaco spokesman said Frday that the company had received a number of complaints from customers about Hope's Anita Bryant jokes, "and we requested him to refrain from them and he agreed."

Hope also makes commercials for the oil company.

FREE BRUCELLOSIS VACCINATION PROGRAM:

Texas cattlemen may now have their heifer calves vaccinated with Strain 19 brucellosis vaccine free of charge.

The vaccination program is voluntary and will be conducted through participating, accredited veterinarians. These veterinarians will be able to obtain the brucellosis vaccine free and will be reimbursed for their services from state and federal funds on completing a vaccination chart.

Only eligible female calves will be vaccinated and will be identified by an ear tag and tattoo. Female calves of dairy breeds from two through six months of age and beef breeds two through ten months are considered eligible.

If you would like to have this service, call your local veterinarian and schedule a time for the vaccinations. This new vaccination program does not include vaccinating calves at livestock markets.

There are several benefits from the vaccination program including these:

1. Properly immunized heifers will be more resistant to the organism causing brucellosis.

2. Officially vaccinated calves should sell for higher prices if purchased for replacement.

3. The more animals that are vaccinated, the quicker the spread of brucellosis can be controlled, thereby minimizing the threat of quarantine.

To reimburse participating veterinarians, some money has been made available for this vaccination program for fiscal year 1978, and additional funds are expected for the fiscal year beginning September 1. Due to the limited funds, interested producers should contact their veterinarians early.

ONLY FIVE ACRES BETWEEN YOU AND STARVATION

Today there are just over a billion acres of farmland in the United States--an average of about five acres per person. So each of us must depend on those five acres for our food and fiber.

Five acres isn't much--just a little less than five football fields. Furthermore, all of the five acres are not suited to crop production; only 2.2 acres are cropland.

And, since land resources are limited and the population continues to grow each of us will have fewer acres than five to depend on for food and fiber in the years ahead. Fifty years ago, there was an average of more than 10 acres of cropland per person in the U.S. That declined to eight acres 30 years ago and to six-and-a-half acres 15 years ago.

What does all this mean?

It means that our farmers will have to produce more food and fiber from the same amount of land to keep up with the growth in population and demand.

We also need to realize that a vast number of resources go into producing food and fiber on "our" five acres, such as 37 gallons of fuel and 185 kilowatts of electricity each year. Any interruption of this flow of fuel and power can affect our food supply.

So farmers have got to stay in business--they have got to make a living. For if they can no longer produce food and fiber from each of our five-acre plots, we'll go hungry.

More volunteers and more funds will help cure cancer in our lifetime. The American Cancer Society needs both.

New Veterans Bill Studied

Congress is presently considering a new program to furnish disability and death pension benefits to certain wartime veterans and their widows and minor children, E.H. (Dan) Dever, Jr., Scurry County Veterans Service Officer, said.

Both the House and the Senate have passed new pension bills. Because of the differences in the proposals, it will be necessary for a conference committee composed of members from both houses to resolve those differences and work out a bill acceptable to both groups.

The bills now being considered establish a guaranteed annual income at rates substantially higher than those under the present Veterans Administration programs.

Additional information on these pension proposals, as well as other programs for veterans and dependents, may be obtained from Dever's office in the Administration Building at Western Texas College.

Ticket Sales Limited For 'Fun Day' Barbecue

Ticket sales have been good for the barbecue scheuled May 6 as part of Senior Citizens Fun Day.

So good, in fact, that most of the tickets are already gone.

"We thought we were aiming for the moon when we ordered a thousand tickets," Mrs. Gloria Shaw, Senior Center Director, said. "But so many of our Senior Citizens took tickets to sell and sold them that we're almost out.

"We don't feel that we will be able to prepare and serve food for more than the thousand we set as our first goal, so we will have to limit ticket sales to that number.

"I would like to request that every Senior Citizen who has unsold tickets bring them back to the Senior Center on Monday. We need an accurate count on the number of tickets sold and we would appreciate having all the unsold tickets back in the Center right away.

"We want to say 'thank you' again to all the people in Scurry County who have given the Senior Center such great support. It's really wonderful."

George Gann, director of food services at the Western Texas College cafeteria, will be preparing the meal and serving it at cost for the benefit of the Senior Center. Included on the menu will be barbecued beef brisket, potato salad, red beans, cole slaw, bread and iced tea.

Fun Day is being planned in Towle Memorial Park as a fund raising activity for the Senior Center in anticipation of its move to new quarters downtown.

Booths will open and entertainment will begin at 2 p.m. Serving of the barbecue dinner will begin at 4 p.m. and continue until 7 p.m.

Local Senior Citizens organizations are cooperating by providing attractions for Fun Day. These will include a Country Store selling home baked foods and handmade items, White Elephant booth, horseshoe pitching, bingo, a cake walk and refreshment booths. Prizes for the day have been donated by Snyder merchants.

SUPER SALESMAN - Joe Glass, left, hands Mickey Baird her ticket for the Senior Citizens Fun Day barbecue planned for May 6. Glass will be honored as top salesman for the barbecue, having sold more than 400 tickets. Mrs. Baird is Student Activities Director at WTC and her ticket is among the almost 1,000 tickets already sold.

Johnson Aids Bullets In Win Over Spurs

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) - Bob Dandridge and Elvin Hayes, with Charlie Johnson coming off the bench, paced the Washington Bullets to a 118-105 victory over the San Antonio Spurs Friday night to take a 2-1 lead in the Eastern Conference semi-final of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Dandridge threw in 28 points and Hayes 27 as the Bullets build up leads of 20 points in the first half and 21 in the second, despite the powerful offense of the Spurs' Larry Kenon, who had 37, and George Gervin, who had 33.

A key to the victory, however, was the play of Johnson, who scored 10 of his 22 points in the final quarter as the Spurs attempted to make up the difference and closing the game at one time to 12 points.

The fourth game of the best-of-seven series will be played today.

The Bullets' plan going into the game was to try to stop Gervin, who averaged 40.5 points in the first two games, and to try to keep the Spurs from having a big fourth period.

The Bullets, as a matter of fact, worked on only one play to prepare for the game - attempting to stop the Gervin clearout. And, it worked as Gervin got 16 in the first quarter and then was relatively handcuffed by the Bullets bench in the final three quarters.

The Bullets, on the other hand, got early hot shooting hands from Dandridge and Hayes, the "Big E," hitting on eight of eight as the Bullets shot 57.4 per cent from the floor to the Spurs 36.4 per cent in the first half.

The Bullets led at halftime 63-50.

Stripers Abundant At Lake Spence

It was striper week at Lake E.V. Spence. Every fishing party reporting to the concessionaires had at least one striped bass. There were respectable catches of channel cat, white and black bass, and crappie.

Reports from the lake included:

Hillside Grocery--Ronald Dennis, Denver City, three stripers to 11-½, 40 channel cat to 2-½; Wesley Farmer, Lubbock, two stripers to 6-¼; Dick Goucher, Lubbock, a 4-½ striper.

Wesson, Odessa, a 9-½ striper, Joe Dale Price, Odessa, a 9-½ striper, Jack Gober, Odessa, six stripers to 11 pounds and 11 ounces; Susan Awbsly, Midland, a 7 pound and 14 ounce striper; Billy Cantree, Snyder, two stripers to 8-¾; Ronnie, Don and Roy Parsons, 23 black bass to four pounds-10 ounces; Henry Fleming, Bill Parkmer and Cliff Ferguson, Lubbock, 18 white bass and four black bass; Orville and Ruth Smith, Pecos, 30 crappie, eight stripers to 10 pounds (averaging six pounds); Charile Travis, Robert Lee, three stripers to six pounds; and Billie Barrett, Robert Lee, three stripers to six pounds.

Cauthen Off To Slow Start

NEW YORK (AP)-Steve Cauthen went 0-for-5 at Aqueduct race track recently in his first appearance in New York this year.

A year ago, the Kentucky Kid, who hopes to win the Kentucky Derby astride Affirmed on May 6, set records galore at Aqueduct. Twice he rode six winners on a nine-race card, not to mention five-win afternoons, four-a-day, triples and doubles. Being blanked hardly ever happened to him.

By Dec. 14, when he last rode in New York Cauthen, had won a record 433 races at New York tracks, 487 nationally, and a record $6,151,000 in purses. This inspite of losing a month because of a bad spill at Belmont.

"I've matured," said Cauthen, who will mark his 18th birthday on May 1. "Riding in California this past winter was a great experience. I learned a lot out there."

Cauthen, who rode 68 winners at Santa Anita, received a round of applause and some boos during the post parade for the first race. He finished second astride Miss Thurber. Before the afternoon was over, he had finished second again and third three times. Thus, while he didn't win, he was in the money on all five of his mounts.

Softball Sign-Up Monday, Tuesday

VOTE FOR ROY COLE—

COUNTY COMMISSIONER PRECINCT 4

I, Roy Cole, am a candidate for Scurry County Commissioner, Precinct Four. You have asked me my views concerning this position.

First of all, I am basically a conservative. I am not against progress, however, for I want Scurry County to be a healthy, growing county.

I believe in well kept country roads, the quality of education, a variety of recreations and the welfare of our citizens. I lived through 'the good old days' of the depression, and I never want to witness them again.

Here in West Texas, our tax structure is based on black gold for which we are very fortunate to have had for so long. Over fifty percent of our citizens work in oil field and related jobs. Now, the quantity of oil is declining, and we are all feeling larger tax bites on our property. These bites will get more painful if we let our appetites and greed waste our resources.

Productive oil wells tend to become wasted strippers all to soon. This loss of production means loss of jobs, and the loss of jobs mean a large number of families will have to relocate, leaving a larger tax bite for those in Snyder. This need not happen if we have men with common sense in control of our government. I believe I'm qualified to fulfill such a role in Scurry County.

On May 6th, regain control of your local government. Elect Roy Cole Commissioner of Precinct Four.

Richardson To Coach Stars

WACO--Region V Coach of the Year, Nolan Richardson, will direct a selected group of players in the Junior College All-Star Game here April 28 in conjunction with the 13th Annual Texas Basketball Coaches Clinic.

The clinic, scheduled for the 28th and 29th, will be held in McLennan Community College facilities and will feature such college coaches as Johnny Orr, University of Michigan, and Eddie Sutton, University of Arkansas, as guest speakers.

Richardson, who led Western Texas College to conference and regional championships, will coach the Region V group against Region XIV, directed by Navarro Junior College coach Lewis Orr.

Richardson will bring WTC players Julio Gallardo and Jon Moorehead with him, and will direct such other talent as All-American Sam Worthen of McLennan, John Luster of Amarillo and Joe Cooper of Howard County College. Assisting Richardson will be Johnny Carter of McLennan.

Orr, who will have included among his players Alex Middleton of Henderson County and Everett Jefferson and Jeff Smallwood of Navarro, will be assisted by Coach Danny Scott of Temple.

The men's 8 p.m. game will be preceded by a 6 p.m. women's contest. WTC's Cindy Luttrull, All-American, will be featured in the game. Luttrull, who broke seven individual records at the Snyder-based college, will play for the Region V team, coached by Clarendon's David Land.

Mary Otwell of Panola will direct the Region XIV women's squad which includes Rosie Walker, Peggy Pope and Lola Baker off of her NJCAA Championship team.

The coaches clinic, attended by high school, junior college and university coaches, will begin 9 a.m. Friday, and will continue until 5:30 p.m. Saturday's hours are 9-3:30 p.m.

Highlighting the clinic will be the selection of Texas Coaches of the Year. Coach Richardson is among those nominated for Junior College Coach of the Year.

Richardson will also be among the speakers at the banquet. His topic will include instructing speed-up, slow-down basketball at the junior college level; a practice which many consider the key to WTC's success in this, Richardson's first year as a junior college coach.

Other key speakers include Coach Orr, Ms. Otwell, David Land, James Boynton of Abilene High School, Larry Hargett of Cypress Fairbanks, Joe Dean of Converse and Mike Smith, president elect of the TABC.

MARGARET WOMACK

Womack Qualifies For State Meet

ODESSA - Snyder's Margaret Womack, District 3-AAA girls singles champion, has qualified for the state tennis tournament to be held in Austin next month.

Miss Womack defeated Carolyn Jackson of Dumas 6-0, 6-1 in the first round and Sherri Abney of Andrews 6-0, 6-2 in Friday's semi-finals of the Regional Tournament held here. She was to advance to the finals Saturday against upset victor Kim Clark of Borger at 10:30 a.m. Both girls, however, have qualified for the state meet.

Miss Clark upset 1976-77 state qualifier Andie Shoemaker of Pecos, 6-2, 6-3 in the semi-finals.

In girls doubles action Suzie Adams-Joni Russell of Andrews defeated Liz Mousa-D'Ann Swain of Brownfield 6-1, 6-1, and Diane Walters-Kelly O'Banion of Fort Stockton defeated Jami Pirtie-Kim Wilhelm of Borger 6-0, 6-0 in semi-final play.

In other action, Carol Byrd of Rotan fell to Shallowwater's Ronda Phillips in the Class A quarter-finals.

Spinks Busted Again; Not In Ring Either

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Leon Spinks, the 24-year-old World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, has been charged with two narcotics violations after his second arrest here in a month.

In warrants issued Friday, Spinks was accused of possessing one one-hundredth of a gram of cocaine and less than 35 grams of marijuana. The cocaine possession charge is a felony which carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison. The marijuana charge is a misdemeanor, the maximum penalty for which is one year in prison, a $1,000 fine, or both.

Spinks and a 26-year-old woman companion, Sharlean Gunn, were arrested at about 4 a.m. Friday after Spinks drove a rented car into a downtown fast food restaurant parking lot without his headlights on.

Officers said they approached the car and asked Spinks for his driver's license.

"Come on, man, you know who I am. I don't have one," Spinks reportedly told Sgt. Francis Corona and Patrolmen Ronald Strothman and Stanley Mierzejewski.

The officers said a search, began after Gunn began to berate the policeman, turned up a packet of white powder - later analyzed as cocaine - inside Spinks' hat and about four grams of marijuana in a jacket pocket.

"If she (Gunn) hadn't given us a hard time, I imagine we would have simply given Spinks a traffice summons and not even bothered to look in his hat," said Corona. "He certainly gave us no trouble."

Spinks was released on $3,700 bail about four hours after his arrest. Gunn is free on $1,500 bail.

It was the second time in a little more than a month that Spinks has been arrested in his hometown. On March 19 he was arrested for driving without a license and driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

Spinks received court permission to fly to Miami late Friday afternoon where he is to begin a tour of the Caribbean. He was expected to spend the night at a Miami Beach hotel.

Asked about his arrest, Spinks said: "I really don't have any comment at all. It just happened."

Asked if he felt he was treated unjustly, Spinks said: "Yeah, I felt that way, but ain't nothing I can do about it now."

Spinks was recognized as world heavyweight champion by both the World Boxing Council and the World Boxing Association after he defeated Muhammad Ali earlier this year at Las Vegas.

The World Boxing Council subsequently stripped Spinks of the title after he signed to give Ali a rematch. The council gave the title to Ken Norton, whom they said should have been given the first crack at the new champion.

The Spkinks-Ali fight is scheduled for Sept. 16 at the Superdome in New Orleans.

LaGrange Site Of 1981 Open

FAR HILLS, N.J. (AP) - The LaGrange, Ill., Country Club will be the site of the 1981 U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship, the U.S. Golf Association said Friday.

The July 23-26 event will be the 29th women's championship and the second held at LaGrange. Sandra Haynie won the 1974 title there.

O'Day's Westerners Win Third Conference Title

HOBBS, N.M. - Western Texas College has clinched the Western Conference after turning a 301-13 over par in gusty winds here.

The Westerners, who hold a seven point lead with one more conference tournament remaining, finished behind host team New Mexico Junior College (301) in Friday's 6th Western Conference Golf Tournament played at Hobbs Country Club.

WTC has now won three straight WJCAA golf championships, including those in 1975-76, 1976-77 and 1977-78.

Coach Bob O'Day expressed his pleasure at the second place finish. "It clinched the Western Conference title with one tournament remaining. We played well, but the host school played better," he said of Friday's play. "This is the first time for a junior college to clinch the conference with one tournament remaining."

The Westerners, who boast four golfers in the conference's top six, came into the meet with 33½ points. Second place Odessa College had 27½. WTC's second place, 301, finish [illegible] Odessa garnered five points with a 302 third place finish.

Individually for WTC, Ronald Koerth tied for medalist honors with an ever par 72, followed by Chris Brown 75, Miller Scott 76, Terry Kendrick 78 and Mike Waller 79.

Next up for the conference will be the 7th Western Conference Tournament at Roswell, N.M. in conjunction with the Region V golf tournament. The 7th tourney will consist of the first 18 holes of the two-day Region V tournament; April 28-29.

The 54-hole regional tournament will send its top two finishers to the NJCAA National Tournament.

Friday's results, with conference points in parenthesis, include NMJC, 298 (31½); WTC, 301 (39½); Odessa College, 302 (32½); Midland College 305 (27½); Clarendon College 320 (15); Frank Phillips College, 330 (10½); and NMMI, 344 (11½).

Weather conditions at Hobbs Country Club were listed as poor. Warm winds gusting from the southwest at 35 to 45 mph accounted for some of the high scores.

Sanchez Paces C-City Tracksters

BALLINGER - Colorado City's Ricky Sanchez became a double qualifier for the regional tournament during Friday's 6-AA district track and field competition here.

Sanchez swept the hurdle events with times of 40.3 in the 330 intermediates and 14.41 in the 120 highs. Also taking first at the meet were Ruben Garcia and Lewis of Colorado City. Garcia ran a winning time of 4:42.56 in the mile, while Lewis posted a best time of 2:03.04 in the 880 run.

Taking second - which qualifies for regional - were Frank Sanchez with a 53.38 in the 440 dash, Johnson with a 4:50.08 in the mile, and Gary Hulme with a toss of 147-10 in the discus.

The Colorado City mile relay team also qualified with a time of 3:32.9.

Shoemaker Named Man Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) - Willie Shoemaker, who has ridden more than 7,300 mounts to victory in 29 years, has been named Man of the Year by the Jockey Agents' Benevolent Association.

It is the first time the organization has picked a jockey. Shoemaker will be honored at a dinner in Beverly Hills, Calif., June 27.

LET'S BE SENSIBLE....AND REALISTIC.

The campaign for the LEGAL SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES FOR OFF-PREMISE CONSUMPTION in Snyder is gaining headway daily because the voters understand the facts. Progress-minded Snyderites realize a vote "For Legalized Sales" on Monday, May 8, will help bring additional new dollars to the economy while ridding us of dangerous "Bootleg sales.

THE TRUTH IS...
..We're not voting to make Snyder "WET." With 8 private clubs it's already wet.

...We're not voting for legalized consumption, repeal of Prohibition did that.

...We're not voting for forced drinking. Personal preference dictates that.

...We're not voting for "bars" and "honky-tonks," but permanent buildings, jobs and tax revenues.

LEGAL SALES WILL...

....Help keep local money at home while bringing in new trade to be shared by all Snyder merchants.

..Reduce needless and dangerous driving to Big Spring, Sweetwater, Post, and Lubbock.

.....Increase tax revenue to the city, help reduce the rate of tax increase, provide jobs and create a better atmosphere for additional business and industry.

.....Allow beverages to be sold by local, licensed, taxpaying merchants under strict local and state control.

BE SENSIBLE...and vote for LEGAL sale May 8th.
If you will be out of town on May 8th or may not be able to get to the polls, be sure to vote "ABSENTEE" at the County Clerk's office in the Scurry County Courthouse.

Theft Case Under Probe

A reported $400 theft is being investigated by city police.

Jerry Loper told officers that he was missing $400 worth of tools from his 907 24th St. home. The report was made at 2:20 a.m. Saturday.

Three traffic accidents were also investigated.

The first mishap took place at the intersection of 37th St. and Ave. Y Friday at 11:24 a.m. Involved in the mishap were a 1971 Chevrolet driven by Teddy Bigham and a 1976 Chevrolet pickup driven by Jacky Pylant.

The city's next mishap occurred at the intersection of 21st St. and Ave. N at 4:33 p.m. Friday. Reports show that a 1964 Chevrolet driven by Andres Hermosillo was in collision with a 1973 Gremlin driven by Felix Serrano.

The final mishap was reported at 2:25 a.m. at 503 35th St. A parked 1976 Plymouth owned by Leon Vargas III was struck by a vehicle which reportedly fled the scene of the mishap.

Firefighters Called Twice

Two fires were doused Friday by Snyder firefighters.

A grass fire was reported at 5:13 p.m. in the 400 block of 27th St.

The second fire was reported at 6:19 p.m. about four miles north of Snyder on U.S. Highway 84. It was reported that a tar pot on a parker Goodloe Co.-owned truck had caught on fire.

SHERYL BURK

Burk Recital Set In WTC Theatre

Sheryl Diane Burk will be presented in a senior voice recital at 2:30 this afternoon in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College.

The recital is open to the public and there will be no admission charge. Visitors may also see an exhibit of paintings by Ruth Biffle in the lobby of the Fine Arts Building.

Miss Burk, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burk, 2302 40th Street, is presently studying with Mrs. Jane Womack at WTC. She has participated in Snyder school choirs for the past six years under the direction of Bill Lyon and Mrs. Maribeth Vestal.

Since beginning her music study, she has won several awards and honors. She has been selected to the UIL All Region Choir for the past four years and was a member of the All Area Choir for 1977 and 1978. She received superior ratings in UIL solo and ensemble contests for the past five years.

At Snyder High School, she has been first soprano section leader the past two years and has been a member of The Swingers, a singing group selected from the choir, for the past three years. She is also a member of the National Honor Society.

Miss Burk plans to attend Texas Tech University next year with a major in voice, and she is scheduled to audition for a scholarship at the university this month.

Music for the recital will include a variety of art songs with selections by Puccini, Tchaikowsky and Barber.

The original Liberty bell, then called the Province bell, was cast in London to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Rebound marriage

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

In this excerpt from a hotline call, a young, recently divorced woman discussed her plans to remarry. It soon became evident that she was about to enter a "rebound marriage," one based on a sense of personal deficiency rather than personal choice. The emotional distress so common in the post-separation period is not conducive to making rational long-term commitments. Many experts recommend living alone for two or three years before trying again.

HOT LINE

CAROL: I have a big decision to make and I was hoping you could help me. By next week, I have to decide if I want to get married again. Actually, I have only six days. . .

COUNSELOR: Exactly six days?

CAROL: Yes, my boyfriend won't be able to stay in the United States unless we get married. He is a citizen of Argentina. My friends say he is using me, but I don't believe that. We really do love each other.

COUNSELOR: Then why are you having so much trouble making this decision?

CAROL: I don't like being pressured. Those stupid immigration laws make me so angry.

COUNSELOR: How long have you known him?

CAROL: About eight months. I met him in my lawyer's waiting room. I was finishing up some business about my divorce.

COUNSELOR: And what was he doing there?

CAROL: You know, I really don't have the faintest idea! I never asked him.

COUNSELOR: Anyway, you have not been divorced for very long.

CAROL: That's right. In fact, my divorce was final just last month. Even though I love Juan — that's my boyfriend's name — I guess I feel like I am moving too fast from one relationship to another. I had wanted to give myself some time before settling down again.

COUNSELOR: Are you afraid you will lose Juan if you don't marry him now?

CAROL: Yes. He will have to go back to South America — and I may never see him again. But if I marry him now, I know I will feel resentful. I just don't think I should have to hurry with this kind of decision. . .

I just realized something: I am not mad at the immigration laws. I am mad at Juan. He knows how I feel about being pressured into marriage. He knows my first marriage started that way. And yet he hasn't come up with with any alternatives for me.

COUNSELOR: This situation is somewhat like your first marriage?

CAROL: It's not exactly the same. We had to get married because I was pregnant.

COUNSELOR: And you felt resentful about that.

CAROL: Yes. I don't like to be forced into anything. My first husband never gave me any alternatives either.

COUNSELOR: Did you suggest any?

CAROL: No. I was too afraid he would leave me.

COUNSELOR: Maybe you could think about why you depend on the other person to find solutions for these problems. You feel manipulated and controlled, yet you continue to play a passive role in the relationship.

CAROL: That's right. I have always been so afraid of being left. But it hasn't worked out very well. I just end up feeling resentful.

Carol did not marry Juan and he returned to Argentina.

Before he left, they discussed their relationship. She finally asked him why he was in the lawyer's office the day they met, and he revealed he had been in serious trouble with the law.

At that point, she realized she had been in too great a hurry to establish another permanent relationship. Feeling lonely and depressed after her divorce, she had almost made a tragic mistake.

Grand Jury Returns 19 Indictments Here

Nineteen indictments on charges ranging from aggravated sexual abuse to theft were returned late Friday afternoon by a six-man, six-woman grand jury.

The grand jury also no-billed one man in a suspected arson case. The man, sources reported, was never formally arrested or charged, but was suspected of involvement in the March 13 fire behind a residence at 408 30th St. in which a storage shed was burned.

A March 8 fire at 408 30th St. gutted a portion of the interior of the home, and fire officials speculated at the time that the fire may have been caused by an electric blanket. It was only in the shed fire that came five days later that arson was suspected.

Among the indictments issued Friday, Robert Baker was named in an aggravated sexual abuse case.

Baker, 20, is alleged to have forced at knifepoint a 30-year-old man to engage in an act of sodomy. The incident allegedly occurred on a deserted road north of Hermleigh March 21.

Baker's 17-year-old brother Tommy, was indicted on a charge of retaliation. He is alleged to have directed a verbal threat against the complainant in the sex case on March 30.

David Medrano, 20, Manuel Medrano, 23, and Tony Medrano, 18, were all indicted on charges of aggravated assault in connection with the Feb. 26 shooting of Armando Martinez, 26.

Martinez was reportedly wounded in the leg when a shotgun blast was fired through a residence on 24th St. in the incident.

Another aggravated assault indictment was returned against Roy Dale Morris. The 25-year-old Morris is purported to have struck an on-duty police office, Sgt. J.L. Cullar, on March 8. The alleged assault is reported to have occurred while Morris was being booked into the jail on a public intoxication charge.

Two of the indictments returned Friday were on theft charges. Named in them were Nettie Biggers and Edgar Louis Gamble.

Ms. Biggers is alleged to have stolen some jewelry from Claudine Atwood on Aug. 15, 1977.

Gamble, the indictment alleges, appropriated four automobile tires from Bob Glass, the owner of Triple S Tire and Service Center, by issuing a check.

Written for $278, the check was allegedly not backed by sufficient funds. The incident took place March 18.

Eleven of the indictments were issued on charges of driving while intoxicated. Named in those indictments were Reymundo P. Delarosa, Windle Arlie Biddle, Juan Riojas Hernandez, George Marvin Speed Sr., Gregorio S. Gonzales, Felix Reyes Gutierrez Jr., Luis Ray Fuentez, Melvin Odell Greer, Apolonio C. Garza, Pedro Perez Silva, and Mario Alberto Navejar.

Serving on the grand jury were Mrs. Anniece Johnson, R.L. Drum, Mrs. Jimmy Beck, Mrs. R.H. Odom Jr., Buster Anderson, Mrs. Harold Lacik, Fred Cross, Marvin Ray Sorrells, Mrs. Billy Calley, James Lay, Albert Lewis, and Mrs. Cecil Mearse.

Pitti Palace Thieves Choosy

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) - Police speculate the thieves who made off with more than $1 million in art works by Rubens and others from the Pitti Palace were "filling an order."

The choosy burglars bypassed several priceless works by the Renaissance master, Raphael, and two paintings by Titian that were exhibited in nearby halls, investigators said.

They added that the small size of the Rubens' masterpiece, "The Three Graces," and the nine other Flemish works would allow them to be transported or smuggled out of the country.

However, they did not say where the paintings might be headed or who the buyer might be.

Anti-burglar equipment was being installed in the museum, "but it was not yet in operation, unfortunately," lamented a police officer who called the thieves "timely and well-informed."

The Pitti robbers broke into the museum between pre-dawn inspection tours Friday by entering through a skylight and clambering down a rope ladder into the galleries.

Museum director Marco Chiarini called the loss immense.

The most important work taken was "The Three Graces," a 22-by-24-inch painting on wood which portrays the goddesses of pleasure, charm and beauty embracing in the nude.

It was insured for $330,000 when it was shipped to Belgium for an exhibit last year, but "its value, of course, is much higher," Fine Arts Superintendent Luciano Berti said.

The other stolen paintings were four works by Cornelius van Poelenburg, two by Paul Bril, two by Gaspare Vanvitelli and one by Pier Molyn the Elder.

All the works had been acquired by the Medicis, Renaissance rulers of Florence who built the 15th century palace.

The theft was one of the most sensational in a wave of art thefts that has plagued Italy in recent years, many in unguarded museums and churches.

Students Of 11 Schools Participate In Contest

Students from 11 area high schools competed for medals and scholarships in the sixth annual Social Sciences Contests at Western Texas College Friday.

Scholarships this year went to Terry Bennett of Sweetwater and Britt Fuqua of Hermleigh.

Students entering the contests are divided into groups according to enrollment in their schools. Competing in the Class B, Class A and Class AA division were Hermleigh, Hobbs, Merkel, Ira, Coahoma and Crosbyton high schools. Competing in Class AAA and Class AAAA were Lubbock Dunbar, Abilene Cooper, Lamesa, Sweetwater, and Snyder high schools.

About 125 students entered the contests. Students from Hermleigh and Ira prepared their entries on Thursday because of a conflict with UIL activities scheduled for Friday.

Hermleigh received the award for accumulating the greatest number of points in its division, while Sweetwater won the AAA and AAAA total points award.

Events and winners were as follows:

TEXAS HISTORY (Class B-AA) - 1st, Curtis Tate, Hermleigh; 2nd, Everett Simmons, Hobbs; 3rd, Brian Fariello, Merkel.

Class AAA-AAAA - 1st, Terry Bennett, Sweetwater; 2nd, Chris Chamblee, Snyder; 3rd, Jeff Read, Snyder

CURRENT EVENTS (Class B-AA) - 1st, Britt Fuqua, Hermleigh; 2nd, Fred Kesner, Ira; 3rd, Scott Cherry, Crosbyton

Week's Events Prov Dollar, Market Link

By MARTIN MERZER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Which came first: The improvement in the U.S. dollar or the frenzied upswing of the stock market?

Analysts were divided on that question this past week, but they agreed on one thing: The dollars improvement in foreign exchange trading through most of the week and the stock market's surge demonstrated how closely linked the two economic indices really are.

David Palmer, a Bank of America foreign-exchange specialist, was one of those who believed the apparent "bottoming-out" of the dollar sparked the Wall Street rally.

"On a 'chicken-and-egg' basis, you have a situation where the somewhat better sentiment developing in the foreign exchange markets triggered the buying on Wall Street," Palmer said. "But of course after that, the massive buying on Wall Street pushed the dollar higher."

Under the scenario suggested by Palmer and many other analysts, foreign exchange traders - convinced that the dollar was at or near its lowest point - bought the U.S. currency in large amounts and immediately pumped it into the stock market, where prices had been sinking.

"They were looking for a 'double bargain' consisting of the cheap dollar and cheap stocks," Palmer said.

But naturally, as buyers bought dollars and stocks, the prices of both commodities rose. The stock market's boom slowed at mid-week, but an announcement late Wednesday that the U.S. would sell some gold reserves sent the dollar soaring overseas and the stock market followed suit.

In other business-related developments this past week:

The Commerce Department said the nation's economy last winter staggered to its poorest showing since the recession, with economic output falling 0.6 per cent at an annual rate. Officials said the report made it unlikely that the Carter administration's goal for the year of 4.7 per cent economic growth could be reached.

In another important Commerce Department report, government economists said the nation's builders increased new construction by 32 per cent last month as the housing industry recovered from its winter slump. The department also said the combined personal income of Americans increased 1.2 per cent in March, returning to the levels of last year.

The American Petroleum Institute reported that imports of crude oil and oil products, which jumped 18 per cent in 1977 and 20 per cent in 1976, were down a surprising 14 per cent for the first three months of 1978. In addition, other preliminary data indicated that the nation last year significantly reduced its growth of energy use.

Formal Ceremony Weds Couple

First United Methodist Church was the setting for the candlelight services uniting Jessica McMullan and Kelly Burton in marriage Saturday, April at 7 p.m.

Rev. Miller Robinson and Rev. David Robertson officiated the double ring ceremony. The Remembrance Table held a bouquet of pink, blue, yellow and green carnations with a single ivory candle on each side. A heart shaped brass candelabrum holding 20 burning white tapers centered the altar of the church.

Matching brass arched candelabra, two spirals and four 7-branched candelabra holding 90 burning tapers, completed the candle light ceremony. Satin bows of green, blue, pink, and yellow marked the pews.

Organist Gary Huddleston accompanied William Sullenger as he presented "Annie's Song" during the lighting of the candles. Kim Burton, sister of the groom, Pam Lane, niece of the bride, Rachael Everett, and Sidney Kent Brunson, cousin of the bride, were candlelighters. They were dressed in yellow, blue and pink polyester cotton dresses with round collars, edged in matching lace and tied at the waist. The dress bottom had a double row of matching lace trimmed with satin ribbon.

Mrs. Keith Baize of Post and Miss ReGena Bennett registered wedding guests as they entered.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bob McMullan and Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Burton, all of Snyder.

Parents and grandparents were ushered in as Junanne Brock and William Sullenger sang "Sunrise Sunset." Ronal Gladson, brother-in-law of the bride and Sonny Lee ushered guests and family.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. David Thompson. Maid of honor was Vicky Johnson of Lubbock. Bridesmaids were Mrs. LaTrix Gladson, Mrs. Janis Key and Shelley McMullan, all sisters of the bride. Other bridesmaids were Wendy Monroney and Mrs. Greg Crawford. Mrs. Thompson's dress of pink chanessa was formal length with a scoop neckline featuring a wide, softly gathered collar edged with ivory lace that fell to the empire waistline in front, and split on top of the arm falling to a sweeping dip below the back waistline. The skirt was triple flounced with each tier being edged by ivory lace.

Other attendants' dresses were identical to the matron of honor with the exception of the colors of yellow, green and blue. They carried matching colors of single stemmed carnations surrounded with baby's breath. Their ring headpieces were of baby's breath and satin ribbon.

Ricky Beard was best man. Groomsmen were Mark Duke of College Station, Stan Kimbell of Wichita Falls, Kevin Wright of Lubbock, Tim Falls, Danny McCormack and Guy Kerrick, brother of the groom.

Flower girl was Jana Lane, niece of the bride. Her dress of green kodel polyester cotton featured a full flounce skirt edged in rainbow lace, as was the gathered collar and full ruffled sleeves. The dress tied at the waist with a green velvet ribbon.

Ring bearer was Tommy Lane, nephew of the bride.

The bride, presented in marriage by her father, was attired in an ivory formal length princess style gown of silk organza featuring a bishop lace collar and sleeves. The bodice was covered with Chantilly lace accented by seed pearls and tiny flowers that was carried through the full length of the sleeves. The dress featured lace appliques and seed pearls and a wide Chantilly lace gathered ruffle sweeping into a long train. The bride wore a Juliet cap with silk illusion edged in matching lace falling to the fingertip.

She carried two white cymbidium orchids with satin streamers and silk English ivy on a white Bible which belonged to Mrs. Loyd Hatcher, grandmother of the groom. Something new was her dress. Something borrowed was an opal ring belonging to Mrs. Wesley Key, sister of the bride. Something blue was her garter, a gift from Mrs. Peggy English. She wore pennies minted in the years of their birth in her garter. The pennies were a gift from Mrs. Ronal Gladson, sister of the bride.

Following the processional, Sullenger sang the "Wedding Song." After the bride was given away, Miss Brock sang "You Light Up My Life." Closing the ceremony, the couple knelt as the congregation joined them in saying the Lord's Prayer followed by Miss Brock singing "The Lord's Prayer."

Mother of the bride choose a pink Qiana gown with a silver belt. Silver braid surrounded the round neck and long sleeves. Mother of the groom wore a blue crepe polyester gown with a short cape of identical material. They wore white gardenia corsages.

A reception given by the bride's parents following the wedding was held in the church. The bride's table was centered with a brass candelabrum with three tall white tapers and pink carnations and baby's breath. The three tiered white cake held a symbol of Marriage in Christ with pink carnations and baby's breath. Attending the table were Martha Alice Shanklin and Connie Courtney, both of Lubbock.

The groom's table was decorated with a brass candle holder holding a nutmeg candle decorated with ivy and baby's breath. The chocolate cake held a symbol of Marriage in Christ surrounded with carnations and baby's breath. Serving were Joanna Hayes of Stephenville and Sherry Fleming. Individual tables were decorated with brandy snifters holding floating flower-shaped candles of blue, green, and yellow.

A rehearsal dinner, given by the groom's parents, was held at the Country Club Friday evening.

The bride, a 1976 graduate of Snyder High School attended Texas Tech University for two years. Burton, a 1977 graduate of Snyder High is employed by Texaco in Pecos. For a trip to New Orleans, La., the bride chose a three-piece vested navy pant suit with read and white accessories. The couple will return home to 2100 county Club Drive in Pecos.

Out of town guests were from College Station, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Irving, Abilene, Lovington, N.M., Marlow, Okla., and Holly, Colo.

Facts On Crackers

By Gaynor Maddox

We have become a nation of snackers. Perhaps that's what makes the United States one of the world's leaders in cracker consumption.

We crunch on all kinds of crackers: soda biscuits, saltines, oyster crackers, grahams, matzohs and many more.

Industry sources report that two out of three households keep crackers or pretzels on hand. Most shoppers prefer national brands and three out of four like to try new cracker products.

In general, crackers fall into four categories: the soda cracker or saltine, which is often eaten with soup or with cheese dip or spread; the buttery cracker in the familiar round shape; the snack craker, which may be eaten with or without another food, and the sweetened cracker, like graham.

What's in a cracker?

"In a survey of one metropolitan supermarket," reports a spokesman for a major baking corporation, "the ingredient listings on several cracker boxes showed that all were made with whole grain or enriched flour, shortening (often a combination of vegetable oils and lard), leavening and salt."

"Sugar, corn sweeteners, artificial colors, artificial flavors and preservatives were present in some but not others," he added.

Because of these ingredients, many consumers liken crackers to bread. But they should note these important differences:

Substituting crackers for bread increases one's intake of calories, fat and salt. Those are danger signs to dieters, hypertension sufferers and people who must limit their consumption of salt.

A pound of saltines has 54 grams of fat, compared to 17 grams in a pound of enriched white bread.

Those crackers have 1,964 calories a pound, compared to 1,247 for the pound of bread. The sodium (salt) content of the saltines is double that of the bread.

Similar findings result when enriched white or whole wheat bread is compared with buttery round crackers or cheese-flavored snack crackers.

Here are the calorie counts for various kinds of crackers, according to the U.S. Agriculture Department's Consumer and Food Economics Research Division:

Graham (4 small or 2 medium): 55 calories.

Oyster (10): 45 calories.

"Pilot" (1): 75 calories.

Rye wafers (2): 45 calories.

Saltines (2 2-inch squares): 35 calories.

Matzohs (1 6-inch diameter): 80 calories.

Invented Passport

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)-Louis XIV of France invented the modern-day passport, says VISA travel specialist Lea Ann Van Houten. The French monarch devised the passport as a safe-conduct pass for foreign travel that he issued to favored members of the aristocracy.

Long before the 18th century, however, Roman dignitaries carried papers called diplomata which entitled them to ride postal service horses deployed along the empire's road system, Ms. Van Houten says.

Witch Doctors Make House Calls

WASHINGTON (AP)-In Sri Lanka, where witch doctors still practice the ancient art of exorcising demons, spells and maladies from their patients, house calls by the practitioners are routine and can even last up to 30 hours, says National Geographic.

The country has a 2,500-year-old rite called Thovil, which involves drums, dance, mime, chants and fire-eating, which witch doctors from Sri Lanka demonstrated in a recent tour of the United States.

The ancient magical arts are also practiced in the tropical forests of Venezuela and northern Brazil, where shamans try to exorcise all forms of sickness from their patients.

In Bangkok, Thailand, faith healers often throw water on their patients to expel the evil spirits, says Georgraphic.

North should have bid seven notrump. It is really hard to visualize a South hand that would make seven spades and not make seven notrump. With the actual South hand there are 13 tricks at notrump without bothering about low cards.

South led the three of spades to his ace at trick two. Then he cashed a second high spade. West showed out and South had to pause to work out a trump coup.

It wasn't too hard. South started by leading a club to dummy and continuing with high clubs. He discarded his two remaining diamonds while East followed. Then he led a fourth high club and ruffed with his deuce of trumps after East discarded a heart.

Back to dummy with the ace of hearts. South would have lost his slam if East had started with just one heart. But once that hurdle was cleared, South was home.

He didn't risk a second heart play. Instead he cashed the last high diamond and fifth club. East discarded hearts as did South.

Finally, he led a second top heart. East was down to trumps and had to ruff while South was was also down to trumps overruffed and made his grand slam.

New Museum In Latin America

NEW YORK (AP)-The first museum in the southern part of South America to be devoted to Latin American prints and drawings will be opened in Roldanillo, Valle, Colombia, in June.

The Museo Rayo de Dibujo y Grabado Latinoamericanos was planned by the Colombian painter and printmaker, Omar Rayo, to serve as a center for instruction in printmaking and for exhibitions.

The opening exhibit will feature the permanent collection that includes 2,000 works by Rayo, plus 500 works by other Latin American artists.

Fashion And Beauty Tips

If you want to wear a comb in your hair and you've got plenty of curls, use a comb with wide spaces between the teeth.

Always take well worn, comfortable clothes on a trip, be it vacation or business. This is no time to find out if new shoes cause calouses or those new slacks really do itch.

Pleats tend to add rather than detract from the figure, so full hips and waists should beware of them.

When someone you love needs round-the-clock care . . .

Visit with us at your Leisure Lodge Nursing Center.

Bright, clean rooms, planned activities, delicious food, and a dedicated nursing staff that cares, are a few of the reasons you will be glad you came.

Meat is an outstanding nutritious package, because it can be entirely assimilated in the human body.

Research has shown that a diet deficient in animal foods can lead to a vitamin B-12 deficiency, a cause of pernicious anemia. Babies nursed by vegetarian mothers have also suffered from this B-12 deficiency.

Meat provides a high quality protein - including all of the essential amino acids (building blocks of protein). Besides protein, a three ounce serving of meat provides the daily dietary recommended allowances of the B vitamins - thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, B-6, B-12, iron and zinc.

Meat also provides vital phosphorous, potassium, and essential micronutrients, many of which cannot be duplicated. One serving of liver a week provides enough vitamin A for the entire week and is a primary source of vitamin B-12.

Meat is the best dietary source of iron to prevent anemia. Iron is especially necessary for growing children, teen-age males, and females ages 11-52. During pregnancy and lactation, there is an increased need for iron. The dietary recommended allowances of iron ranges from 10-18 milligrams depending on age and sex. A three ounce serving of liver provides 18 milligrams and heart, 5.4 milligrams per serving. The muscle parts of other meats besides beef are also good sources along with oysters, dried beans and dried fruit.

The average adult requires only two (two and one-half to three ounce) servings from the meat group foods daily, along with foods from the other three food groups to provide a nutritious and balanced diet.

SOME CONSUMER ZINGERS:

Home Furnishings - Furniture imports account for approximately five per cent of the market in the U.S. Major contributors of furniture imports are Canada, Japan, Denmark, the United Kingdom and Taiwan. Other significant importers are Korea, Brazil, West Germany and Yugoslavia. Furniture imports are expected to increase and to represent a much larger per cent of the total market.

Family Health - To save money and improve health, reduce sugar consuption. Biggest savings result from cutting back on purchase of candy, sweet baked goods and soft drinks. Costs may also be trimmed by selecting unsweetened rather than presweetened food items.

Family Stability - Infant care and child-rearing is becoming more of a shared responsibility for today's young couples.

Clothing - Unattractive bubbling and blistering of fused interfacings is generally less noticeable when garments are machine washed and drip dried than when machine washing and machine dried.

Foods — Bacon should have clear white fat evenly distributed with lean. Bacon that is too lean will likely lack flavor and have a tendency to be tough.

MRS. DARRELL GLEN RATLIFF

Pair Married In Lubbock

Double ring wedding vows were pledged by Miss Patricia Ann Krejci and Darrell Glen Ratliff of Lubbock in a ceremony Saturday at 2 p.m. in St. John's Methodist Church, Lubbock. Officiating minister was Jo Carr.

Mrs. Linda Null served her sister as matron of honor, and Mike Grusendorf served as best man.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Krejci of 4805 42nd St., Lubbock and the late Mr. Chester D. Ratliff, and Mrs. Lynell Ratliff of 1616B 17th St., Lubbock.

The bride attended Coronado High School. She is employed by Collier and Company. Ratliff attended Eisenhower High School, Rialto, Calif. He is employed as a carpenter. After a wedding trip the couple will reside in Lubbock.

UT Professor Receives Award

HOUSTON (AP)-Dr. Yvonne Clement-Cormier, 29, an assistant professor of pharmacology and neurobiology at the University of Texas Medical School at Houston, has received the 1978 faculty development award from the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association Foundation, Inc.

The prestigious national award carries a $50,000 grant for a two-year period and recognizes her basic investigations in the substance called dopamine, a brain chemical often absent in patients who suffer from the neurological disorder known as Parkinson's disease.

One good Southern cook sometimes adds graham-cracker crumbs, instead of bread crumbs, to her ham loaf.

Financial Disaster Warning Signals

COLLEGE STATION--Financial problems seldom make a sudden or unannounced appearance--there are usually warning signals that potential problems exist, says Dr. Carolyn McKinney, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Answer the following questions--they may reveal warning signals:

(1) Is it difficult to state rather quickly exactly how much money is owed on installment and other long-term debts?

(2) Do annual payments on long-term debts (excluding mortgages) exceed 20 percent of the family's income?

(3) Was it necessary to borrow money to pay fixed expenses such as insurance premiums, tax payments or installment loan payments?

(4) Were small everyday items (such as groceries, cleaning supplies or cosmetics) charged because of too little money to pay for them?

(5) Was a bill recently held over until the next pay period due to lack of funds to pay for it when due?

(6) Are telephone calls or letters from creditors demanding payment of overdue bills?

According to the National Foundation for Consumer Credit, if the answer is "yes" to at least two of the preceding questions, potential financial problems exist.

Three "yes" answers signal that financial trouble does exist, Dr. McKinney cautions.

JUNE WEDDING PLANNED - Mr. and Mrs. Irival E. Ham of 3731 Ave. U announce the engagement and forthcoming marrige of their daughter, Katherine Lynn, to Audie Kyle Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby J. Jones Sr. of 2601 Ave. U. A June wedding is planned.

Consumer Food News

COLLEGE STATION--Turkey parts, eggs, grapefruit and potatoes are among this week's budget buys at Texas grocery markets; according to Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She reports the price and supply situation as follows:

POULTRY--Turkey parts are featured at low price levels in some markets--and so are fryer chickens and parts. Egg supplies are good and prices are low--with large sizes the best values by weight.

FRESH FRUITS--Grapefruit is an excellent choice from a price and quality standpoint.

Apple prices are higher, but quality is good.

In pineapple prices, expect higher levels on best and sweetest pineapple flown from Hawaii. Next less expensive are those from Honduras. Usually the smallest in size and price if pineapple from Mexico.

Strawberries are expected to have lower price levels as supplies increase.

FRESH VEGETABLES--Budget buys include potatoes, cabbage, carrots, broccoli, mustard greens, collards, turnips and green peppers.

BEEF--Beef prices are on the uptrend, and reports say they are likely to continue in that direction.

A price increase appears on most retail cuts--with ground beef and luncheon meats particularly affected, because of the shortage of beef for grinding.

Alongside the price rise, however, beef supplies remain plentiful, although the production rate is slightly below year-earlier levels. also, there is more grain-fed beef being produced and less grass fed.

Look for specials on blade chuck roasts, chuck and round steaks.

Also remember, boneless meats generally yield three-to-four servings per pound, and it's the cost-per-serving that makes or breaks the food budget.

Liver is one of the best budget stretchers in the "meat line."

PORK - Specials on fresh pork cuts are few--primarily on Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, rib and loin-end roasts and liver.

Look for scattered specials on some brands of bacon and frankfurters.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES--Specials appear on peanut butter, canned tomatoes, tuna fish and salmon.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Two economy items today are fish and milk, since they provide little or no waste.

Steve Cauthen — The Whiz Kid of Race Riding

Steve Cauthen with his agent, Lenny Goodman. Steve has become more famous than the horses he rides. This is unusual for a jockey.

Steve Cauthen is an 18-year-old super jockey.

In one year (1977) his horses won more money (over $6,000,000) and he won more races (482) than any jockey in history.

This is an amazing record since he was out of racing for a month. A horse he was riding broke a leg and Cauthen took a spill.

Steve was born into a horse-business family. His father is a racetrack blacksmith. His mother is a horse trainer. The Cauthens live in Walton, Kentucky.

Steve had his own horse by the time he was 8. At the age of 12, he decided to become a jockey.

If he didn't have a horse to ride, he would sit on a bale of hay and practice using a whip.

He watched racing films with his dad.

Steve began his pro jockey career when he was 16.

After winning several races, he and his dad went to New York to try to find an agent.

It would be the agent's job to line up the horses for Steve to ride.

They got one of the best in the business, Lenny Goodman.

Steve started riding at Aqueduct, near New York. This track is one of the best in in the country.

On weekends, Steve flew to California to race at Santa Anita.

The wins and the money piled up.

Right now, Steve is finishing high school by taking a correspondence course. He makes A's and B's.

He spends his free time studying track records, lifting weights, playing gin rummy and ping pong.

Most of all he likes hanging around race tracks.

That's where he does his thing better than anybody else in the world.

Two years ago Steve Cauthen rode his first race as a pro-jockey at Churchill Downs on May 12, 1976. His horse came in last. But that was just the beginning. One week later, at another track, he rode his first winner. He has been winning ever since.

Steve is small for his age. He is 5 feet, 1 inch tall and weighs 95 pounds. He has large hands that help him handle his mounts.

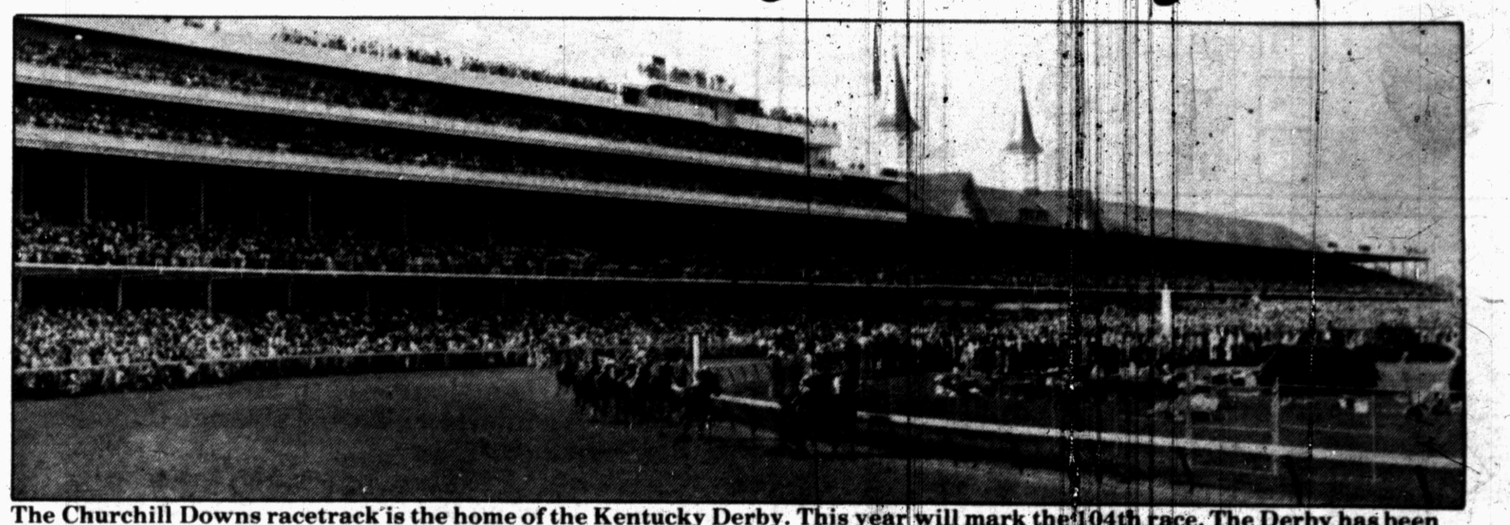
The first Saturday in May

It's Kentucky Derby Time



The Churchill Downs racetrack is the home of the Kentucky Derby. This year will mark the 104th race. The Derby has been run over the same track every year since 1875. Ten thousand people watched the first Derby. Today, over 100,000 will attend. Millions will watch on TV.

About two minutes.

That's about all the time it takes to run the Kentucky Derby.

But it takes years of breeding to get just the right thoroughbred to run it.

It takes months of training to get the horse ready at just the right time . . . the first Saturday in May.

The Derby is a race for three year olds.

These horses are still growing. Their bones are still soft.

During the Derby, they are asked to run one and a quarter miles carrying 126 pounds.

Here are some words that will help you understand Derby watching.

Bandages: The cloth wrapped around a horses legs. They do not mean that he is lame. They are often used in racing for protection and support.
Chalk Horse— The favorite horse in a race.
Colt: A male horse until he is 5 years old.
Dead Heat: When the photo finish camera shows two horses in a tie.
Filly: A female thoroughbred until she is 5 years old. Then she becomes a mare.
Furlong: One eighth of a mile. It is used to mean a "furrow long" or the length of a plowed field.
Handily— A horse working or racing with ease and without urging.
Hot Walker: A stable hand who leads a horse around to cool him down after a race or workout.
Irons— Stirrups.
Paddock: The area at the track where the horses are saddled before the race.
Post: The starting point for a race.
Post Time: The time when the horse must be at the post ready to start.
Scratch— To withdraw from a race.
Triple Crown— A horse that wins the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness Stakes and the Belmont Stakes races is said to win the Triple Crown of horse-racing. Seattle Slew was the last Triple Crown winner.
Silks: The jackets worn by a jockey.

Last Year's Derby winner

Seattle Slew in a picture taken this past winter. Aboard Slew is his exercise boy. His new trainer, Doug Peterson, is shown riding a stable pony.

Seattle Slew was the last Derby Winner. The colt went on to become the 10th Triple Crown winner. He is also the first horse in history to do this with an unbeaten record.

Then things went wrong. Slew lost his only race in a 10-race career.

His trainer, Billy Turner, who guided him to his big wins, is no longer with him.

Slew also came down with a strange infection and nearly died.

Often Triple Crown winners don't race after winning. They go to farms to be used to breed other fine horses.

This Year's Hopefuls

Nobody really knows who will run in the Kentucky Derby until the last minute.

There are two horses that had outstanding records as two-year-olds last year. They are great rivals.

They are the right age to make the Derby.

Last year, Affirmed won $343,477. Alydar won $285,026.

Affirmed is the smaller of the two. He is known for his personality and speed. Steve Cauthen has been one of his riders. Affirmed is owned by Harbor View Farms of Florida.

Photos courtesy Calumet Farms

Alydar is the bigger and stronger of the two. He is from Calumet Farms of Kentucky. He is known for being able to come from behind and win.

Super Stables: Calumet Farms

Photos courtesy Keeneland Library by J.C. Meadows

The Calumet office and stud barn. There are 37 buildings and a race track on the farm. There is also a horse graveyard. Many of the farm's Kentucky Derby winners are buried here. The farm is closed to the public because so many people want to visit it.

Calumet Farms is the biggest name in racing stables.

No other stable can come close to its Kentucky Derby record. Winners have included Whirlaway and Citation.

Calumet has had 8 wins, 3 seconds, 1 third and 2 fourths in 17 starts.

Calumet can be compared to a factory that turns out some of the best-bred horses in the country.

Calumet Farms is in the "bluegrass" country. It is near Lexington, Kentucky. "Bluegrass" got its name from the bluish haze that may be seen over the pastures in the afternoon.

Each racing stable has its own colors. Calumet jockeys wear devil red jackets, with a blue collar and two blue stripes on the sleeve.

It has been many years since Calumet has had a winner on Derby Day.

Maybe this will be their lucky year . . . again.

Cereal sans milk

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For a number of years my wife has had diverticulosis. She now has a large bowl of 40 Percent Bran Flakes each morning. It does wonders for her diverticulosis but the milk causes her to have gas. She has not been able to drink milk for many years because of the gas and the discomfort it causes. Is there anything she can add to the milk or take separately to stop the gas?

DEAR READER — Diverticulosis, commonly known as pockets of the colon, are little sac-like pockets that are blow-outs or ruptures, usually of the colon. They are almost always associated with poor bowel function. Providing adequate bulk, which means particularly cereal fiber as found in bran, helps many people. Using whole wheat bread, and whole wheat grain cereals helps. It can produce gas though in some people.

Milk intolerance can cause gas and diarrhea. This is usually caused from insufficient enzymes in the small intestines to split milk sugar so it can be absorbed. The unsplit milk sugar acts as a laxative and ferments to release gas.

There is a product that you can add to the milk which will split the milk sugar in advance. It is not yet well known and if you go the druggist he may not know about it. It is called Lact-Aid and you can get more information on it from SugarLo, 3540 Atlantic Avenue, Atlantic City, N.J. 08404. Another solution that works for some people is to use one of the milk substitutes for babies made from soybeans. Be sure to read the label though; if it contains lactose it will not help. ProSobee made by Meade Johnson contains no lactose and your wife may be able to use it. You can usually find it in the infant food sections of larger grocery stores.

Some people eat cereal with fruit juice instead of milk. And others mix raw bran with crushed fruit or other foods. I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-6, Diverticulosis and also 7-2, Milk Products: Good and Bad. Others who want either of these can send 50 cents for each with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was in nurse's training way back in the '40s I recall how adamant doctors were about forcing, not just fluids, but water on elderly, debilitated and dehydrated patients. I accepted this and have acted upon "doctor's orders" rather unquestioningly throughout the years.

A recent graduate challenges this theory and I'm wondering if I need to be updated. Where I could find material to either justify or clarify the conflicting instructions of the '40s with those of the '70s?

DEAR READER — Believe it or not, the kidneys and body fluid mechanisms work the same in the '70s as they did in the '40s. The body doesn't change that rapidly.

It is still true that if the body is dehydrated the correct treatment is to replenish the needed water. And if the body needs minerals, such as sodium or potassium, they should be added. It is still true that if a normal person, regardless of age, takes in more water than he needs for normal water balance the kidneys will simply eliminate the excess. Any good modern physiology textbook will give you the basics on water balance and you will be surprised to find how little it has changed.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A very close friend of mine is pregnant. She has Rh negative blood and her husband has Rh positive blood. Her doctor has never said anything to her about it. I thought it was dangerous to have two types of blood mixed. Could you tell if it will hurt the mother or child?

DEAR READER — It is an important consideration and one I am sure her doctor will take care of when her baby is born. The basic concept is that Rh positive blood is the antigen, or a substance capable of causing the mother to develop antibodies against the Rh positive blood factor.

If the baby is an Rh positive baby, during the pregnancy some if its Rh positive red blood cells will leak through the placenta and the mother's blood will start developing antibodies against this foreign substance. The reaction that eventually results is somewhat like a rejection of tissues. The antibodies from the mother act against the Rh positive blood in the baby.

With the first pregnancy the mother usually doesn't develop enough antibodies to seriously harm the baby. And if the baby is Rh positive the doctor will give her a serum that neutralizes the reaction shortly after the baby is born. This helps to prevent the mother from developing an immunity that might harm later pregnancies. This protective serum should also be given to women who have an abortion of an Rh positive fetus that has developed far enough to induce the reaction.

Also, to help prevent such reactions, an Rh negative woman who is a potential mother should never be transfused with Rh positive blood.

If the baby happens to be Rh negative there is nothing in the baby's blood to induce the formation of antibodies in the mother's body. If she already has antibodies they only react against Rh positive blood in the baby. Thus an Rh negative baby will not have any difficulty.

To give you more details about blood types I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-4, Blood Type, Rh Factor and Transfusions. It will also tell you about matching blood types for transfusions. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it advisable from a health standpoint for my wife and me to move from Florida to Colorado where we would reside at an altitude of 7100 feet? We are in our 70s and have lived in low altitude Florida practically all our lives.

We greatly desire to accept our daughter's invitation to come live with her in Colorado but wonder if there are health drawbacks due to altitude and our age.

DEAR READER — Altitude simply decreases the oxygen in your lungs. An altitude of 7000 feet is a bit like increasing your physical activity slightly. If you are in fairly good health already and you have no lung problems it is probably not going to bother you. I would advise you to check with your doctor; he may want to test your lung function. Otherwise, if you go try not to overdo it at first and give your body a chance to acclimatize itself to the new altitude. Being 70 is no barrier to becoming acclimated if you are in good health otherwise.

Fontaine Tells All In Book

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - "I'm the only actress in Hollywood that Howard Hughes pursued and didn't sleep with," says actress Joan Fontaine.

Her autobiography, "No Bed of Roses," will be published by William Morrow this fall and Miss Fontaine says she's "going to tell everything."

"You know, I've had a helluva life. Not just the acting part. I've flown in an international balloon race, I've piloted my own plane, I've ridden to the hounds, I've done a lot of exciting things, and I'll tell you something. What's happened so far is just the prologue."

Bill Approved To Guard Bank Cards

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Banking Committee will take up a subcommittee-approved bill to safeguard bank cards that permit customers to make transactions 24 hours a day.

Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., chairman of the subcommittee that approved the bill 7-to-2 on Tuesday, said if the cards are stolen consumers could lose their life's savings. The bill provides that companies may not mail a debit card to a consumer who has not asked for one. It also limits liability for lost or stolen cards to $50.

GEMINI (May 21-June 22) You may come up with some unusual and clever ideas today. However, if they involve using unfamiliar tools or equipment be sure to consult an expert.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A social situation you'll be involved in has some unique undercurrents that will make it an experience you'll not soon forget.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You can expect to cause disruptions at home today if you're temperamental. Have patience with yourself as well as the family.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Ideas that are original and novel may pop in your head today. Don't be afraid to put them to work. Your concepts will bring about a refreshing change.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Tomorrow will be too late to act upon an unusual opportunity to add to your resources. Responding quickly will be necessary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Spur-of-the-moment activities satisfy you more today than those that are preplanned. Keep your schedule flexible, so you won't feel tied down.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Intuitive flashes you get today will be quite good, but you might have difficulty in listening to yourself and consequently won't take advantage of your instincts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Go somewhere today where you'll have the opportunity to meet new people with different interest. It should prove fun for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try a different approach toward your goals today. If you do, events could take a surprising turn and put victory within your grasp.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A promising idea could start to formulate in your mind today that might fit very neatly into some plans you've already set in motion.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If unpredictable events occur today, guard against reacting impulsively. You'll only cause headaches for yourself.

Your Birthday

April 24, 1978

Several beneficial changes are likely for you this coming year. You may not be the one who instigates them, but they will later work out as if you had.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try not to reawaken an old issue that you and your mate don't see eye-to-eye on. It will spoil a pleasant day. Like to find out more of what lies ahead for you? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're better equipped today to do physical chores than those of a mental nature. Take a break from the brainwork if it's possible.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Socializing in strange places with unfamiliar people could turn out to be costly today. You might feel obligated to spend more than your budget can handle.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Things you'll have to do for those you're repsonsible for will cut into your free time and independence. Don't try to carry the whole load.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Restrictions placed on you today will be the fault of your attitude. Don't paint yourself into a corner with negative thinking.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll only be disappointed if you request favors of friends today. It's not possible for them to grant them at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) One you depended on for assistance to fulfill a goal important to you may let you down today. Overreaction will accomplish nothing for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Use your reasoning abilities for solving problems instead of for finding alibis. Making excuses for lack of performance is futile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Avoid a companion who does not operate openly or you'll face a complicated situation that'll be difficult to extricate yourself from.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're likely to try to dodge an issue because a difficult decision is involved. The easy answer isn't there.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Feeling an urgency about your work today could cause concern to overwhelm you unnecessarily. Try to keep things in perspective.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Improper emotional motiviation could cause you to react in ways that are unproductive. Let your logic, not your feelings, prevail.

Area Needs Stacy Dam Project, Declares Ivy

The area served by the Colorado River Municipal water District is a classic example of a recent newspaper (Associated Press) series on portending water problems in Texas. O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, has pointed out.

The AP series reflected varying degrees of need in the intermediate range, but in the long view, most areas of Texas will be in short supply, particularly in western Texas.

If growth of West Texas were to stagnate at present levels, the CRMWD can supply its area through 1980 provided there is a low per capita use of water, said Ivie, quoting from a report by the district's consulting engineers.

But if the area continues anything like its present rapid growth, or if per capita consumptions should be medium or high, then there will be a deficit supply by that time. This is one reason why the district is pushing now for a permit to develop the Stacy lake site on the Colorado River.

Without Stacy, the area will be in deficit by 12,580 acre feet by the year 1890, according to the engineering report, short by 42,000 acre feet in 1990, and 58,000 acre feet short by the year 2000. These figures, Ivie emphasized, are based on low per capita consumption. If medium use is applied, the deficit by the year 2000 will be 68,000 acre feet, and if high per capita use is projected, the shortage will be 81,000 acre feet per annum.

"Some opponents of the permit for development of Stacy have contended that the water supply is not needed," said Ivie. "This certainly is not the case. Even under normal circumstances, we will have to have additional water, and with ground water on the Plains diminishing, we may find outselves called upon to meet additional demands, and without Stacy, the situation will be critical."

Allen Unhappy About Biography

NEW YORK (AP) - Woody Allen, whose films have brought laughter to millions, isn't smiling about a biography he claims he never authorized.

Allen and Eric Lax, who collaborated with the comedian in earlier works, filed suit Thursday in U.S. District Court here against Drake Publishers Inc., which put out the book "Woody Allen - A Biography" last April 1.

Both claimed the Drake biography was unauthorized and contained copyrighted material lifted by author Lee Guthrie from books Allen and Lax had written previously.

Giuseppangelo Fonzi, an Italian dentist practicing in Paris in the 19th century, introduced individual artificial teeth which were mounted on bases made of platinum and gold.

Teen Scouting ExampleShown

A Thursday afternoon assembly gave Snyder High School students the opportunity to see how the teenage Scouting program called Exploring is functioning in one Lubbock Explorer unit.

In a span of about 8½ minutes, sophisticated electronic gear directed and synchronized six projectors using over 200 slides to create a visual impact and generate some of the excitement experienced by youth of Lubbock's Explorer Post 806.

With a background of music and voices constructing images with often incomplete sentences, Snyder High youth saw young people their own age in canoes, on skis, in sailboats, suspended by ropes on mountainsides, and backpacking in wilderness areas.

Then, John Vandenberg, an adult advisor with Post 806, explained that all of the youth and activities which had just been viewed are part of the program of Lubbock Explorer Post 806. Vandenberg unfolded some of the plans for the near future in Post 806: canoeing in Wisconsin, sailing a tall ship out of Miami with a sidetrip to Disney World, camping in the Colorado wilderness, and more canoeing in Michigan.

With the image of the nationally-known Lubbock program fresh in the imagination, Vandenberg suggested the potential already exists for the same kind of program in Snyder. Under Optimist Club sponsorship a High-adventure Exploring Post is in the organizing stage and an aviation post under study. The projector bulbs were still warm when a new adult advisor was recruited from the audience and youth came forward to ask questions and learn more about Exploring in Snyder.

Violence Gone From Campuses

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) - Former Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy says the violent activism of the 1960s is gone from college campuses, but the nation's students haven't drifted into the apathy of the 1950s.

"In the '50s there was a genuine apathy," said McCarthy, who ran unsuccessfully for president as an opponent of the Vietnam War in 1968. "I don't find that to be true now.

"I think there is a lot of good questioning going on on campus," he said Wednesday before a speech at the University of Georgia. "That's the kind of activism that should be normal to college campuses, not the kind that we had in the '60s.

"I hope it will lead to a clarification, at least, of critical issues and things will be different in the '80s.

Sancap will control the tough broadleaf weeds that escape your preplant.

Preplant herbicides are great for controlling grasses.

But the fact is, they just can't control the stubborn broadleaf weeds that are breaking through cotton here in the South High Plains.

So, if you grow cotton on sandy soils, spray an overlay of Sancap® herbicide at planting.

Because Sancap is strong on broadleaf weeds. Strong enough to stop the tough ones that escape your preplant.
