Redistricting Public Hearing Set For Lubbock

The Texas Legislature's committees on redistricting will conduct public hearings in Lubbock and Amarillo on March 16 and 17 in preparation for the drawing of new district lines for seats in the U. S. Congress, in the Texas Legislature, and on the State Board of Education.

The legislature is required to redistrict after publication of the 1990 United States census. Districts drawn in 1991 are to be in effect for the next 10 years. The public hearings are to gather information about how districts lines should be drawn.

Redistricting in the past two decades has resulted in significant increases in legislative and congressional seats held by blacks, Hispanics, and Republicans. The 1990 census is expected to reveal the continuation of population trends that have shown increases in the percentage of the state population that is black or Hispanic, as well as a shift in population away from rural East and West Texas and the metropolitan central city areas toward suburban communities.

The public hearings will be conducted jointly by the House Redistricting Committee, chaired by Representative D. R. "Tom" Uher (D-Bay City) and the Senate Select Committee on Legislative Redistricting, chaired by Senator Bob Glasgow (D-Stephenville). Representative Delwin Jones (R-Lubbock) is vice-chair of the house committeen and Senator Gonzalo Barrientos (D-Austin) is vice-chair of the senate committee.

The hearing in Lubbock will be at the Lubbock Civic Center Theater and will begin at 2 p. m. Friday, March 16. The committees will recess at the completion of afternoon testimony and recovene at 7:30 p. m. for additional testimony. The committee chairs will be available to answer questions from the news media during the recess.

The hearing in Amarillo will be at the concert hall theater of the fine arts complex on the Washington Street campus of Amarillo College. The hearing will begin at 10 a. m. Saturday, March 17.

These are the first of 14 joint public hearings to be conducted by the two committees around the state during the next six months.

Do You Remember?

Mr. Curtis Gipson, the city's most successful schoolboy basketball mentor in history who coached from 1971 to 1981 at Dunbar High School and now principal of Alderson Junior High School, told the Southwest Digest the above photo was utilized in the 1990 UIL State Basketball Tournament in Austin.

Gipson also played on Dunbar's first state championship team in the early 1950's and graduated from Dunbar in 1953. He played four years at Butler College in Tyler, Texas, and was captain his senior year.

Mr. Gipson has served as principal of Estacado High School for three years, and is presently serving as principal of Alderson Junior High School.

He hes been in the teaching profession for thirty-three years.

Census Bureau Reports

Black Population Surpasses 30 Million

The nation's Black population (including armed forces in other countries) was estimated at 30.6 million on January 1, 1989, up 462,000 from a year earlier, according to a report released last week by the Commerce Department's Census Bureau.

The total represents a growth of 1.5 percent during the year for Blacks, double the White increase of 0.8 percent. The annual growth rate of Blacks has exceeded that of Whites since 1950.

Most of the gain for both groups came from natural increase, the report says.

Blacks made up 12.3 percent of the 247.6 million national total at the beginning of 1989. Whites comprised 84 percent and other races, which includes Asians, Pacific Islanders, American Indians, Eskimos, and Aleuts, made up 3 percent.

The White population totaled 208.6 million on January 1, 1989, up from 207.1 million a year earlier.

The population of other races reached 8.5 million in 1989, an increase of about 5 percent. Most of the gain for the total population of other races came from immigration.

The number of Hispanics (who may be of any race) rose by 3.4 percent during the year and totaled 20.2 million of 8 percent of the national total on January 1, 1989. The population has grown equally from natural increase and net immigration.

RUBY JAYS CORNER

The New Hope Baptist is located at 2002 Birch Avenue, and the proud pastor is Rev. Billy R. Moton. This is the Church where the people really care. The telephone number is 765-9577.

Last Sunday was Youth Day, and they did a splendid job.

Devotions included a scripture, Ephesians 1:9 by Deacon Swain. The prayer was led by Deacon R. J. Givens. The morning services got underway at 11:00 a. m. with a selection by the Senior Choir and scripture by an appointee. Rev. Harris was responsible for the prayer of the hour, and a very special selection by the Youth Choir. Miss Johnnie Walker is Youth Director.

It was a very beautiful by the Youth Choir.

Members are still looking, hoping and praying for a musician for the Youth Choir.

The Mission & Educational offering was conducted by the Deacons and Ushers.

After another selection by the Senior Choir, Pastor Moton gave his pastoral observations, follwed by another selection.

Pastor Moton's sermon was entitled: "Put Up Or Shut Up." His scripture was Joshua 17:15. It was very good sermon by Pastor Moton.

An invitation to discipleship was extended. One united with the Church.

The welcome to the visitors was offered by a Youth.

Following the tithes and offerings, Little Baby Glenn was christened. Mrs. Glenn's parents were here from Midland, Texas.

$11,000 In Poetry Prizes: Deadline March 31, 1990

The deadline for entering the American Poetry Association's contest is March 31. The contest is open to the public and entry is free.

Prizes worth $11,000 will be awarded to the best 152 poems. The grand prize is $1,000, and the first prize $500.

"Undiscovered poets are the ones we look for," said Robert Nelson, publisher for the association. "We want to give them the recognition they deserve."

Poets may send up to 6 poems, each no more than 20 lines, name and address on each page, to American Poetry Association, Dept. Co-37, 250-A Potrero St., P. O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA 95061. Poems postmarked by March 31 are eligible to win. A new contest opens April 1.

Each poem is also considered for publication in the American Poetry Anthology, a leading collection of contemporary verse.

Every poet receives a copy of the "Poet's Guide to Getting Published," a 4-page booklet of useful information.

In the last 8 years the association has run 36 contests and awarded $180,000 in prizes to 3,300 winning poets.

Mrs. Sophronia Wright

Final rites were held Thursday, March 8, 1990 for Mrs. Sophronia Wright at Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church with Rev. A. L. Dunn, pastor, officiating.

Burial was held in Peaceful Memorial Park under the directions of Curry Funeral Home.

Mrs. Wright was born in Chilton, Texas January 7, 1909 to the union of Martha and Clark Scruggs. She became united with the Church at the age of 12.

She moved to Lubbock, Texas in February, 1940. She united with Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church in September, 1940. She ushered for 30 years. Afterwards, she joined the Ma Jones Missionary Society. She was a frequent student in the Sunday School at Bethel, and always had something to contribute to the lessons.

Pallbearers were S. L. Sanders, A. W. Lincoln, Richard Rollison, Roscoe Howard, Willie Blocker, Dr. Heenan Johnson and T. J. Patterson.

Mrs. Jessie U. Robinson

Final rites were read for Mrs. Jessie U. Robinson Saturday, March 10, 1990, at the United Methodist Church in Centerville, Texas with Bishop W. D. Haynes, pastor of Christ Temple COGIC, officiating.

Rev. Roger Hunter is pastor.

Interment was held in Spring Seat Cemetery in Centerville, Texas under the directions of Curry Funeral Home.

Sister Robinson, the daughter of the late Mr. & Mrs. Genie Robinson, was born February 18, 1901 in Leon County. She was a member of Cedar Chapel until later moving to Lubbock, Texas, and united with Christ Temple COGIC, under the leadership of Bishop W. D. Haynes.

She was married to Jim Robinson, and to that union 10 children were born. Three preceded her in death; 2 daugnters and one son.

Her surivors include: C. D. Robinson, Lubbock, Texas, Zenobia Robinson, Slaton, Texas, Arthur Lee Robinson, Waco, Texas, Dorothy Cleveland, Forreston, Texas, Vireo Palmer, Lubbock, Texas, Lerlene Dixon, Denver, Colorado, and Sylviolene Barnett, Lubbock, Texas; one brother, Slyvester Washington; one sister, Tellie Perkins, both of Waco, Texas; 44 grandchildren, one preceded her in death; 79 great grandchildren, 11 great-great-grandchildren. A host of nieces, nephews, relatives and friends.

Pallbearers were grandsons.

Mr. Clyde T. "Red" Vernon

Memorial services were held for Mr. Clyde T. "Red" Vernon last Friday morning at St. Matthews Baptist Church with Rev. R. S. Stanley, pastor, officiating.

Interment was held Saturday morning at the Samarian Cemetery in Samarian, Texas.

Local arrangements were under the directions of Curry Funeral Home.

Mr. Vernon was born March 19, 1923 in Kerens, Texas. His mother, Janie Allen, preceded him in death. His father, Elex Vernon, also preceded him in death.

He was a self-employed cement contractor, working throughout the Lubbock County, Texas area since 1950.

He departed this life March 2, 1990.

He leaves to mourn his death: one son, Charles F. Vernon, Dallas, Texas; two step-sons, Buford Fulcher and Cecil Trimble of Lansing, Michigan; five daughters: Martha Vernon, Florence Upshaw of California, Mae Frances Walker, Mollie Watkin, and Dorothy Anderson of Corsicana, Texas; one sister, Nellie Colbert, Samarian, Texas; 27 grandchildren, 10 great grandchildren, a host of neices, nephews, relatives and friends.

Teenagers On A Rocky Road

by Shelia Thompson

How well do you know your teenage children? Chances are, not as well as you might think. After all, recalling your own days as a teenager, how well did your parents really understand you?

A few decades ago, the communication barrier between youngsters and their parents was widely talked about as "the generation gap." Back then, this was viewed as a natural thing (even thought it isn't really). An inability to communicate somehow was made to seem an essential ingredient in the ever continuing process of social change.

Today "generation gap" aren't the buzz words they once were. Yet that gap is now freqently more a chasm of no real communication between parents and their children.

"Oh, he (or she) is just going through a phase," parents tell themselves, at least until disaster strikes. Then suddenly -- sometimes too late -- they realize that a stranger has been living under their roof.

One problem is that parents often don't really know the environment today's teenagers think they face. A teens' view of the world, if anything, is perhaps more callous than most adults. In talking with many of these kids, it becomes apparent that many see a future that is uncaring, violent (at least on a personal level) and devastatingly devoid of much real hope.

Nor can this all be put down just to teenage distortion. In the United States, teens are the only group whose death rates have increased since 1960. More and more, the cause of teen deaths is violence: 55 percent killed in accidents, 12 pecent murdered and 11 percent committing suicide.

Teenagers themselves, according to a Gallup poll, consider that the biggest problems confronting their generation are drug abuse, alcohol abuse and teenage pregnancy, in that order. AIDS is also a major concern.

One positive thing that can be done to enhance your teenager's outlook on the world is to improve communication within the family. Communication discoveries made by L. Ron Hubbard, one of the most acclaimed and widely read authors of all time, open the door to better family relationships.

Hubbard found that real communication and understanding were inextricably linked with two other factors, the amount of affinity (linking or closeness) and the amount of reality or agreement entering the equation.

The triangle of affinity, reality and communication, in fact, are the basic components of all understanding. When one corner of the triangle rises, so do the others. By understanding the secret of how these three interrelate, communication within the family -- or for that matter in any situation -- can be vastly improved.

"The second corner of the triangle is Reality," writes Hubbard in his best-seller Scientology: The Fundamentals of Thought. "Reality could be defined as that which appears to be.' Reality is fundamentally agreement. What we agree to be real is real.' "

While there is much to know about the subject of communication, parents could hardly go wrong simply setting out to learn more about the world in which teenagers think they live. This is your children's reality.

Many parents might be a little shocked to discover that a teenager's world is sometimes vastly different from the one adults see.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

'Education That Works'

America's Obligation To Minority Children

Let me state at the outset that I'm one of those who think the last thing we need is another education report. And then let me make an exception. Education That Works: An Action Plan for the Education of Minorities addresses an issue of vital importance to all of us concerned about our nation's schools, our nation's children, and our nation's future.

The report, funded by the Carnegie Corporation, is the result of nearly two years of work by a group of educators and social scientists at MIT. They analyzed programs that are successfully educating minority youth and came up with a plan to make all schools work for minority students.

The recommendations of Education That Works will be familiar to regular readers of this column. As the authors point out, quality schooling for minority children means quality schooling for all children—regardless of race, ethnic group, or gender. What makes this report so important is its focus on a critical issue at a crucial time.

Within the next few weeks, the White House and the National Governors' Association will issue the national goals for education mandated by last fall's education summit. As we discuss ways to reach these goals, we must not for one moment forget the 13 million minority students in our nation's schools.

Providing quality education for these students remains America's unfulfilled obligation. In just ten years, one-third of America's public school students will be members of racial and ethnic minorities. If our schools continue to fail these children, we are writing off one-third of our future leaders, our future workforce, our future citizens.

KEITH GEIGER
President, NEA

Education That Works lays out 10 principles to guide us in averting this national tragedy. These guidelines stress the need to build real bridges between communities, work, and schools in ways that are respectful of the diverse cultures that comprise our nation. All 10 guidelines are important, but I'd like to focus on just two that I believe go to the heart of improving education in America.

The first is that providing quality education for minority students requires a fundamental restructuring of our schools. The report defines restructuring as moving educational decision making to the local level so that teachers and principals can redesign their schools to meet their students' individual needs.

The authors of the report have little patience with the argument that simply allowing parents to choose the schools their children attend is the path to improving education: "We believe this to be unlikely because this proposal puts the cart before the horse. Schools must be restructured before students can have a choice."

The second critical guideline is that we must intervene early if we want all America's children to arrive at school ready to learn. There's no shortage of research documenting the importance of adequate pre-natal and infant nutrition—and the success of programs like Head Start that provide appropriate learning experiences for toddlers and pre-school children. But as the report points out, "We seem to lack the national will to do what is clearly in the children's or the country's best interest."

Education That Works urges us to recognize the power of education: "The door to the future for every child is first and foremost the door to the schoolhouse."

We owe it to ourselves—and to our children—to open that door wide for every youngster. To do any less would be a betrayal of America's children, America's future, and America's ideals.

Health Editorial
Shigellosis

by
Dr. Heenan Johnson, III

The City of Lubbock has recently experienced a rise in the number of shigella cases among elementary age children. According to Sherell Guichard-Thomas, R. S. at the City of Lubbock Health Department, there have been approximately 73 cases of shigella since October, 1989, an increase seven times tht of last year during this time. Shigelosis is an acute communicable disease primarily affecting the large intestine. It is a severe inflammation of the walls of the large intestine which may be caused by several agents. The disease is characterized by diarrhea, which in severe cases may contain blood, mucus, and pus. It is usually accompanied by fever, vomiting, abdominal cramps, and a constant desire to evacuate the bowels, often with painful straining. However, the disease can be passed on by an asymptomatic carrier. This person does not experience any shigellosis symptoms, but does carry the germ in his system.

Shigelosis is one of the most common illnesses in man often occurs in epidemic form under conditions of poor sanitary practices. Food, fingers, flies, and feces are the elements which may combine for the spread of the infectious organism. Typical routes may be:

Shigella -- Feces -- (Fingers - Flies) -- Food -- YOU!!

Infections occur after only a few organisms have been ingested, and symptons appear from one day to seven days later, usually less than four days. Anyone is susceptible to the disease, especially those who are malnourished, very old, or very young. Cases to shigellosis most commonly occur in children below the age of ten. Also, in this group, the larger number of deaths takes place.

Persons with shigelosis who do not wash their hands after using the toilet can spread the infectious agent from their feces to other people either by direct touch of by touching their food. Therefore, spread from person to person can only be prevented by thorough handwashing with soap and running water both after using the toilet and before preparing or handling food. Care should also be taken to wash hands immediately after changing a baby's diaper. Shigella is

St. Matthew Baptist News

Sunday School was called to order at 9:50 a. m. last Sunday morning with the superintendent at his post of duty. The teachers took charge and taught a beautiful lesson. The subject was "Guided By The Spirit of Truth." The text was St. John 16:12-24, with background scripture found in St. John 16:1-33, with the influence being focused on the Spirit leading directing our lives. Rev. R. S. Stanley, pastor, reviewed the lesson.

The morning worship service started out with Jesus breaking down barriers and the Holy Spirit came on in the room. Pastor Stanley spoke on the topic; "Crying Days Will Be Over Afterwhile." His text was found in Revelation 21:1-4. The Pastor stated: "We need to do like John. We need to live the life we sing, talk, preach, and pray about."

During the 3:00 p. m. services, the St. Matthew Church Family opened the celebration of the 41st Church Anniversary with the Mt. Gilead Baptist Church, and the pastor, Rev. G. E. O'Neal, brought the message entitled: "A Time Between The Time." His text was Jeremiah 29:4-7. Our souls were made fat.

Sister Imatha Isaac

Pastor Stanley brought the sermon for the Interdenominational Ministers Fellowship. His topic was "I'll Arise and Go To My Father." His text was Luke 15, and he really did bless our souls.

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

Members of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast met last Saturday morning at 9 a. m. in the lovely home of our vice president, Sister Ardelia Hardrick. Opening devotion was led by Sister Hardrick and Rev. Lee.

The morning scripture lesson was taught by Sister Darlina Lee. She sung a solo, "Touch Throgh Me Holy Spirit." Her scriptures were Gal. 5:1-16; 26; Eph. 4:17; 25; 1-2; Coloss. 3:1-17; Eph. 4:26; and John 15:4-5.

Gal. 5:1 -- "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children, (16) Because the days are evil." Please read these scriptures, they tell you about the fruit of the spirit.

Gal. 5:22 -- "And many other truth." This speaker said: "You should be able to tell a Christian by the fruit they bear. Stop lying, stealing. You must stop! Are you angry with someone now?? The scripture says: "Don't let the sun go down in your raft; stop being mean, bad tempered, be kind tenderhearted, forgiving one another. You belong to Christ. Let there be no sex sin impurity or greed, dirty stories, foul talk and course jokes. Remind each other of God's goodness. Whatever you do or say, it it be representative of the Lord Jesus. For you are dead to the flesh. Mean that we should have little desire of the world as dead men, antidote for materialism, don't become atached to don't become attached to things that are temporary. We must lay aside anything that promotes these desires of the flesh. Christ breaks down all barriers, and accepts all people -- Christians should be in the business of building bridges instead of walks Loving Christians will work together inspite of differences. See what you can do to heal relationships in love as Christians you and I represent Christ at all times wherever we go; whatever we do.

We love you, Sister Lee! Really!

Our guest included: Sister Mocklin, Rev. Henry R. Lee and Sister Darlana Lee.

Thought for today: "Weaknesses are not convinced by the Gospel. There is much power." Think about it!

Breakfast was served by Sister Hardrick. She certainly is a good cook, one of the Best in the West! Come eat with friends -- spiritually and physically. We love you!

Sinful acts are being committed every night on the walls of homes, businesses, with spray paint. Christians, let's not get bitter, but work with much power and love to change the action of the young minds in this community. Prayer power and action will clean this up!

We will go to the Parkway Nursing Center on Saturday at 10:00 a. m. We are expecting the blessing of the Almighty upon that home and its people is our prayer. Let us meet you there. What a blessing. It's located at 114 Cherry Avenue. Meet us there!

You may write to us: P. O. Box 1223, Lubbock, Texas 79408.

Closing prayer was Closing prayer for the sick and depressed by Sister Dorothy Nash.

You can make it Lubbock. We are "winners". Let's stand up and claim the victory over (evil).

Keep smiling and praying for your enemy.

Read II Chronicles 7:14.

Our sick include: Bro. L. H. Mitchell, patient at Methodist Hospital; Sister Iwilla Moore, at home; and everyone who's not feeling well. He healeth all our sicknesses and diseases. Call Him. See if it works.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? You come and see.

FROM THE OF PARSON D. A. SMITH

Arthur McPhee tells the story of a "Man In A Well." After falling down the deep shaft into the slimy, cold water at the bottom of the well, his first thought was to cry for help. But after hoarse calls led only to silence he began to try to climb. Again and again he tried to inch up the slippery alga-covered brick, only to slide back into the water. His nails bloodied from his attempts to get a grip in the cracks. He simply couldn't make it to the top before slipping back. Despairing, he called out again.

A passerby appeared above. "Well, I can't get you out of the well, but I can make it better for you," said the passerby. "Here, have a fifth of whiskey." And so he drank the fifth, and being quite drunk, the well didn't seem so bad. But as sobriety returned, he was still in the well and miserable.

A woman appeared, "Well, I can't get you out of the well, but things could be much worse for you. You must accept your situation and make the best of it." So he tried not feel sorry for himself and to be grateful to be alive, but it didn't work. He was still miserable and alone, and despair maintained its grip upon him.

He started to climb. He had always been able to take care of himself. But bloody, cold, and hungry, now he slid back into the water again. And then another man appeared above. "I can get you out of the well, but you must trust me. Do you?"

The man in the well had never know before his need for another's rescue, and how this man would get him out he didn't know, but he said, "Yes, I'll trust you." And Jesus Christ dropped into that well. Upon his shoulders the man climbed out. Jesus remained in his place.

Your life may be like the man in the story. You may have fallen down the shaft of life and hit rock bottom. Certain experiences and particular people may have created barriers that confuse, depress, and frustrate your ability to rise. If so, accept the moral from the story that no obstacle is without its purpose. Let Jesus come into your life and on his shoulders you can rise up to a new life.

We Thank God For Jesus

"O'Foolish Christians, Who Have Bewitched You???"

Part 1

Revelation 2:7a -- Jesus said, he that hath an ear, let him hear what the spirit saith unto the churches.

Galatians 3:1 -- O'foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the truth, before whose eyes Jesus Christ hath been evidently set forth, crucified among you?

Lord, you've told us when and you told of your time, but many are yet playing 'church' and don't see the signs of times.

When you say, the end of this old world, many don't know its the life of a man, woman, boy or girl. (The Greek word for world is aion: meaning a period of time long or short. It refers to the end of this age, or or one's life.)

Revelation 2:11a -- Jesus said, he that hath an ear, let him hear what the spirit saith unto the churches.

Matthew 24:4a-8 -- Jesus said, take heed that no man receive you. For many shall come in my name, saying, I'm the Christ; and shall deceive many. And ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. For nations shall rise against nations, and kingdoms against kingdoms: and there shall be famines, pestilences, earthquakes, in diver's places. All these are the beginning of sorrows.

Lord, we hear of all the troubles; and it's all over the land, wars and rumours of wars, "it's in the family of brother's man."

We see the family members, killing one another at will, "the love of many has waxed cold; no one wants to forgive."

Revelation 2:17 -- Jesus said, he that hath an ear, let him hear what the spirit saith unto the churches.

Luke 12:51 -- Jesus said, suppose you that i'm come to give peace on the earth? I tell you, nay; but rather division: for from henceforth there shall be five in one house divided, three against two, and two against three. The father shall be divided against the son, and the son against the father; the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother; the mother-in-law against the daughter-in-law, and the daughter-in-law against the mother-in-law.

Lord, You said: "The harvest is ready, but the workers are few," men now use the church as a way "that he may rob you."

Revelation 2:29 -- Jesus said, he that hath an ear, let him hear what the spirit saith unto the churches.

Matthew 21:13 -- Jesus said, it is written, my house shall be called the House of Prayer; but you have made it a den of thieves.

God is not through with us yet; so let's pray for one another always.

Ask Bob Bullock

Dear Bob Bullock:

We own a lawn mower repair shop and charge tax on the labor to sharpen blades and do other repairs. Several of our customers have said we shouldn't be charging tax because they don't pay sales tax on the labor to have their automobiles repaired. Should we?

L.P.
Dallas

Dear L.P.:

Yes, you should. While the sales tax law specifically excludes labor to repair automobiles, most repairs -- including law mower repairs -- are taxable.

°°°°°°°°°°

Dear Bob Bullock:

In an effort to cut our cooling this summer, we're having the windows in our office building tinted. Because this is an energy conservation measure, is the cost tax exempt?

R.P.
Abilene

Dear R. P.:

You will have to pay sales tax on the cost of tinting the windows just as you would if you added awnings or replaced the carpeting. You're remodeling your building, and remodeling non-residential property is taxable.

°°°°°°°°°°

Dear Bob Bullock:

The local independent school district frequently shops with us. I don't quibble about whether or not they ow us sales tax. I know they don't. What concerns me is that they say they don't have to give me an exemption certificate. I want my records to be in order. Should I insist on receiving a certificate?

N.C.
Amarillo

Dear N.C.:

The school district, cities, counties and other political subdivisions don't need to give you an exemption certificate as long as they buy things from you with a purchase voucher. A voucher from a school district is enough proof for our office that no tax was due on the sale.

°°°°°°°°°°

Dear Bob Bullock:

This winter was really hard on my yard, so I'm going to have fertilizer professionally applied to it. Is sales tax due?

E.V.A.
Beeville

Dear E.V.A.:

Yes, tax is due on charges for both landscaping and fertilizer application.
