

Great Britain Taking New Steps To Settle Czech Row

Signs Point To A Crisis In Affair

Complete Agreement Or Open Break May Come Immediately

LONDON, Aug. 25—(AP)—A decisive development in the issue between the Czechoslovak government and its Nazi-supported, autonomy-seeking Sudeten German minority appeared imminent today after a hurried conference of British government officials here.

Crisis Reached

Diplomatic observers expressed belief a crisis probably had been reached, pointing either to a complete agreement on a friendly basis or an open break between the Fraba government and the Sudeten Germans.

Speculation was aroused by the hurried return of F. T. A. Ashton-Gwatkin, right hand man of Viscount Runciman, British unofficial mediator in the issue, for conferences with Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, and Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer.

British officials insisted Ashton-Gwatkin flew to London on private business and merely happened to see the cabinet members.

But none would specify the nature of the private business or why he rushed from Praha by airplane.

Also unexplained was why Ashton-Gwatkin wanted to see Lord Halifax late last night and was permitted to postpone his conference with the foreign secretary until today.

No official would acknowledge that the three men even had discussed the Czechoslovak problem but it was said privately, that was their only concern.

Diplomatic quarters heard that Britain may have evolved plans for a first step toward solving Czechoslovakia's minority problem.

One source suggested Great Britain had decided to give France "unmistakable assurance" of support if conflict resulted, and if France were called upon to fulfill treaty obligations to Czechoslovakia.

The French government is obligated to aid the little republic if it is attacked, but Britain has made no such commitment.

The Czechoslovak minority troubles center about demands of the Nazi-endorsed Sudeten German party for autonomy in local government.

ORDER GUARANTEE
BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—Nazi Germany followed up a guaranty of the integrity of Hungarian frontiers today with its greatest post-war military display before Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary.

In an exchange of toasts at a sumptuous state dinner last night, Chancellor Adolf Hitler as a "friend and neighbor" promised the Hungarian ruler that "we as neighbors have found our definite, historic boundaries through historic events (German annexation of Austria on March 13)."

Austin Greet Doug Corrigan

Official State Welcome Accorded The Wrong-Way Flier

AUSTIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—Texas officially opened its arms to smiling Douglas Corrigan today.

Arriving at the capital's municipal airport at 11:40 a. m., he was met by Governor James V. Alfred and welcomed while thousands cheered.

Corrigan flew to Austin from Lufkin, in East Texas. He had spent the night at Shreveport.

He planned to stay about three hours in Austin and leave for San Antonio at 3 p. m.

There was a big traffic jam at the airport but state and city police forced a way through for the simulative aviator and started him in an automobile, behind screaming sirens, for the city's business section.

CONVICT'S MOTHER STRICKEN

Mrs. May Osborne, mother of Harry Osborne, one of the four prisoners found dead in Philadelphia county prison, is supported by her son, John, as she leaves the Philadelphia city morgue after viewing Harry's body. Coroner Charles Hensch said the men died of suffocation.

Kiwanis Chief Gets Few Thoughts Off His Chest Anent Club's Benefit Clash With Rotarians On Monday

Dr. W. B. Hardy, generalissimo of the Kiwanis forces, is not given over to oratory, but Thursday he waded eloquent when discussing the Rotary-Kiwanis benefit softball game Monday evening.

While the Kiwanis president was anxious to aid in raising funds for the high school football camp, he nevertheless thought that "somebody is trying to put the screws on us."

"I understand," drawled Head Man Hardy, "that a few of the Senate Slayers are planning to use their crutches for bats. That won't do, because they know how to handle them too well."

"Of course, it may be none of my business, but I think that the Rotary choice of Bob Piner for water boy is unwise and even tragic. In the first place he has been carrying too many people too long and can't do justice to the pail. In the second place, he is so used to shaking his head he will be overly conservative and might not let his men have water without a lot of collateral."

But the Kiwanis chief did not reach a peak in his forensic forays until he bore down on the choice of Max Jacobs by the Rotary club as scorekeeper.

"Why that guy," moaned Dr. Hardy, "can do more with a pencil than we can possibly do with our bats. He'll have a Rotary score as big as their waistlines."

"The only way out, as I see it, is for them to let us pick some competent officials. Maybe some Texas league umpires would do, but I suspect a crew of G-men would be more appropriate."

Turning to his own team, he said that he would exercise his executive prerogative in vetoing his transfer to the first base to water boy.

"Everybody knows I'm good," he admitted modestly, "and unless I'm pitching there won't be any bigger crowd than at a budget hearing. Besides, someone's got to hit home runs and with me out of the game there wouldn't be a single home run rattled during the evening."

HWY. DEPARTMENT SUE FOR DAMAGES FROM FLOODS

AUSTIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—Another repercussion of Central Texas floods was heard today with the filing of 11 damage suits, totalling $243,778, against the state highway department in 126th district court here.

John Green, assistant attorney general in the department, said the suits referred to the disastrous flood of June, 1935, in connection with which the senate permitted plaintiffs to sue the state.

The suits, filed by farmers in the area around the junction of the San Marcos and Guadalupe rivers near Gonzales, alleged land was ruined or damaged as a result of highway dunes holding back flood waters and washing out arroyos of fertile soil. The dunes named were those on State Highways 114 and 79 south of Gonzales.

Eight Arrests Indicated In Cell Deaths

Coroner Says That Many Implicated In Prison Horror

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25 (AP)—Arrest of at least eight persons in the "baking to death" of four convicts who led a hunger strike at the Philadelphia county prison was predicted today by Coroner Charles A. Hensch.

Two Guards Held
He said the investigation he is conducting with District Attorney John A. Boyle indicated that at least that many would be implicated in the deaths of the men in steam-heated, almost air-tight punishment cells.

Dr. Hensch did not indicate whether the investigation involved employees of the prison or officials. Two guards already have been held as material witnesses.

State prison investigators said they planned to "turn on the heat" and enter the stuffy cells to learn whether the punishment cell block was "a deliberately planned roaster."

Charles L. Engard, secretary of welfare, disclosed that men from his office and two state policemen would make the test. He said they would subject themselves to the same conditions the prisoners faced in the heated cells termed as horrible as the Black Hole of Calcutta.

"They plan to close the windows and ventilators," he said, "just as we understood they were closed Sunday night, and have the steam pressure in the radiators turned on to the same degree they were when the prisoners were in there."

He said he wanted to know if large radiators in the cell block "were really needed just to heat the building in the winter, or if there was something else in mind."

William B. Mills, superintendent of the prison, said if the building was deliberately planned as a "roaster," he was unaware of it.

The coroner said the convicts suffocated in almost air-tight cells, where they were confined during an organized revolt against a "monotonous" diet. Steam radiators were turned on full, he declared, and in two days meaning they (the convicts) literally baked to death. He asserted the "like has not been seen in history."

LABOR BOARD MEMBER OPPOSED BY THE 'FL'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 25 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor will protest to President Roosevelt against reappointment of Donald Wakefield Smith to the National Labor Relations board, it was learned today from A. F. of L. executive council members.

The protest against Smith, whose term expires Saturday, was expected to be the Federation's first move in its announced campaign to bring about changes in the labor act and its administration. The Federation has charged the board has favored the C.I.O. in its decisions and has indicated it would ask the next congress to curtail some of the board's discretionary powers.

Full Data On Dam Project Citizens' Questions Will Be Answered At Sept. 2 Mass Meet

Information, based on factual surveys, will be available as an answer to almost any inquiry by the time the mass meeting on the city's water problem is held Sept. 2 at the municipal auditorium.

Already armed with volumes of material concerning the underground and potential surface water supplies in the county and over this area, the city is pushing for additional information this week in anticipation of the meeting.

Engineers are to run cross sections on another probable dam site on a tributary of the North Concho as a means of saving about 10 miles of pipe line. The dam site, on which Marvin Nichols, Fort Worth hydraulic engineer, reported to the city commission Tuesday evening, is 38 miles distant on the North Concho. Shortening of this distance by about 10 miles would mean an approximate saving of $200,000 in line and installation costs.

To be discussed in the meeting will be a proposed PWA project for erection of an elevated storage tank (already contracted), repairs to present reservoirs, impounding of a surface supply (probably on the river), and revamping of the distributing system.

Construction is to be started by Saturday on an elevated tank on the north side. The 200,000 gallon affair will be a three panel, six post elliptical type, towering 110 feet from the base to the tank cover. The tank barrel is 63 feet from the ground and is itself 28 feet tall.

CUT WEEDS TO KEEP DOWN FIRE HAZARDS

An appeal to residents to rid their premises of weeds was made Thursday by Fire Marshal E. B. Bethell.

Because of the unusually large amount of rain during the summer, weed growth is excessively high this season, Bethell pointed out.

"If these are not cut away from houses and buildings," he warned, "there will be numerous fires when they start to dry out in the autumn. Their rank growth is not only unsightly, but it is unsafe."

Future New Deal Purge To Depend On FD-Farley Talk

MOBSTER STICKS BY HIS STORY ABOUT HINES

HE TALKS

George Weinberg (above) accused James J. Hines, veteran Tammany leader, of accepting $500 a week or more to protect the $20,000,000 New York policy racket of the slain Dutch Schultz. Hines is on trial on charges of being the political buffer for the ring. Weinberg testified he personally paid Hines the money.

Denies Perjury, And That He Stole $300,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—With a slight grin, George Weinberg, 36, ex-gangster testifying for the state in the conspiracy trial of Tammany Leader James J. Hines, acknowledged under cross-examination today that he was "not a very good perjurer."

Through a barrage of questions by Hines' chief defense counsel, Lloyd Paul Stryker, Weinberg denied that he had "cooked up" his story of a politico-racketeer combine in pre-trial conversations with "Big Harry" Schoenhaus and J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, the "kid mouthpiece" of the multi-million dollar Dutch Schultz policy racket.

The witness, a thin-faced, sharp-eyed former lieutenant of the state old age assistance racket, denied that he had committed perjury in the current trial but blandly admitted that he had perjured himself 17 years ago when he was convicted of burglary conspiracy charges.

Weinberg also denied that he had stolen $300,000 from the Schultz "policy empire."

"What happened to that money?" asked Stryker, referring to the $300,000 item.

"Well, Schultz—" Weinberg began.

"You stole it, Weinberg, didn't you?" Stryker rasped. "You stole it, didn't you?"

"No," Weinberg replied calmly. "I did not."

Weinberg maintained his sphinx-like pose in the face of Stryker's accused barrage of questions, which drew repeated objections from District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

As the state's principal witness thus far, Weinberg had testified that the racket syndicate cleared $780,000 during 156 days.

"Then the fix on the race-track numbers went off," Weinberg related, "and our banks were hit for $400,000 in one month's time."

"But the other $300,000—what happened to that?" Stryker persisted.

"Well, Schultz got it," Weinberg said.

"Weinberg," Stryker said, "you wouldn't have any scruples about stealing, would you, you wouldn't mind pilfering that $300,000, would you, Weinberg? Would you steal that money?"

The witness flushed. "I don't know," he said.

"You have stolen, haven't you, and perjured yourself?"

"I never stole," Weinberg said.

O'Daniel Has Precedent For Indorsements

Defends Principle Of Wanting A Cabinet Of Advisers

PORT WORTH, Aug. 25 (AP)—Examples set by Jesus Christ, the United States government and former Governor James Stephen Hogg were cited by W. Lee O'Daniel today as precedents for his indorsement of a slate of candidates for state offices.

The examples were stressed in a radio speech in which the gubernatorial nominee mentioned his favored candidates by name for the first time since his famous indorsement speech of two weeks ago.

O'Daniel also repeated the portion of his indorsement speech relating to two judges, pointing out that he had not claimed they could help in carrying out his legislative program.

Again emphasizing his belief that people should vote as their conscience dictates, O'Daniel appealed for a heavy vote in the Saturday primary.

He used results of the state primary as certified by the state democratic executive committee to prove his contention that thousands of voters had no preference among the candidates in the six state races touched by his indorsements.

These figures showed the difference in the number who voted for governor and the other state races ranged from 75,968 in the attorney general's race, to 178,032

President To Confer With Political Generalissimo, Presumably As To Policy in Other Demo Contests

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt called James A. Farley today for a conference which may result in an intensified administration drive to defeat anti-New Deal democrats in congress.

The Roosevelt-Farley talk, scheduled for sometime today or tomorrow, was considered one of the most politically-important of the president's stay here.

Mr. Roosevelt presumably wanted to talk with his political generalissimo about campaign developments in a half dozen states. Farley's advice was expected to determine in part whether the president will make a personal bid in Maryland for the defeat of Senator Millard Tydings, an aggressive foe of the administration.

Also among probable topics of conversation between the two was the political situation in New York, Idaho, Georgia, South Carolina and Connecticut.

Thus far, Farley has had no part in the president's drive against anti-administration democrats seeking renomination. While the president was traveling westward on his recent campaigning trip Farley was making general political talks on trips through the northwest to Alaska.

There has been general speculation regarding Farley's attitude toward Mr. Roosevelt's proposed "purge" of anti-administration democrats.

The projected conference between the chief executive and his postmaster general was expected to clarify Farley's stand.

Mr. Roosevelt presumably wanted information from Farley as to what the administration might accomplish in states now politically questionable.

The president has had several invitations to speak in Maryland in behalf of Representative David Lewis, administration candidate for the senatorial nomination.

In Idaho, the chief executive's problem is whether to throw administration support behind Senator James P. Pope if the latter, "defeated in the democratic primary, should run for re-election as an independent.

The New York situation involves the question of whether Mr. Roosevelt should support Governor Herbert Lehman for the senate. Lehman opposed the president's supreme court reorganization plan, but has supported most New Deal programs.

Also, the president apparently wanted to talk with Farley about the renomination race of Representative John O'Connor (D-N.Y.), whom Mr. Roosevelt's chief called "one of the most effective obstructionists in the lower house."

The sheriff said the case would be taken directly to the grand jury and that no charges would be filed. The two men are under charges of felony theft in Castro county.

The justice of the peace, J. F. Easter, was wounded in the hand. After the shooting, two men whom he and Sheriff Garland Brown of Castro county had brought to Amarillo in connection with the theft case fled in Brown's car. The car was recovered when the men were arrested.

Evidences Of Business Improvement Cited

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Three federal agents offered today statistical evidence of substantial business improvement in recent weeks.

The federal reserve board calculated that the upswing in steel, textiles, petroleum, shoe and other industries had won back in the last seven weeks all the ground lost in the previous seven months.

At the treasury, a 26 per cent spurt in customs collections indicated to officials that conditions had improved to the point where purchases of foreign raw materials imported by American industry are duty-free, officials regarded the customs gains as particularly significant.

The commerce department reported the first favorable turn in the index of national income in nearly a year. July income declined less than the usual seasonal amount, a nation's income from wages, dividends and other sources was estimated at $35,300,000,000 for the first seven months of the year.

Social Spotlight Is Focused On Beautiful Twilight Garden Tea

Yard Transformed Into Fairyland Of Flowers And Soft Lights By Four Popular Hostesses

One of the loveliest affairs of the summer season was the twilight garden tea party at the Van Gieson home Wednesday evening when Mrs. C. Van Gieson, Mrs. J. B. Young, Mrs. J. H. Greene and Mrs. Joe Pond entertained for their numerous friends.

Greeting the callers were Mrs. Young, Mrs. Van Gieson, Mrs. Pond, Mrs. Greene and Mrs. H. G. Towle of Snyder, sister of Mrs. Greene, Mrs. J. F. Blum, also of Snyder, a niece of Mrs. Greene, and Mrs. Y. D. McMurry of Colorado, sister of Mrs. Van Gieson.

The garden was a veritable fairyland of soft lights, varicolored flowers and attractive lawn furniture. Garden beds tied with pastel ribbons formed baskets to hold sinias, roses and ferns and were hung about the garden along with jardiniere filled with the blossoms.

Crystal Appointments Guests were served from a beautiful appointed table that was laid with a cloth of lace and centered with a low bowl in which floated pastel shaded dahlias. Crystal punch bowls were placed at either end of the table and crystal appointments completed the service.

Mrs. F. W. Malone and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristol served punch during the reception hours. They were assisted by Mrs. Otto Peters, Mrs. E. E. Friend, Mrs. J. D. Biles, Mrs. W. W. Inkman and Mrs. Shine Phillips.

Great List The invitational list included the names of Mrs. Cecil Guthrie, Mrs. H. A. Peeler, Mrs. Jack Rogers, Mrs. Schley Riley, Mrs. Frank Mackey, Mrs. Boyd McDaniels, Mrs. Hugh Dubberly, Mrs. Vernon Logan, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Herbert Whitney, Mrs. Charles Watson, Mrs. A. E. Service, Mrs. Lee Hanson, Mrs. Roy Reeder, Mrs. George Wilke, Mrs. Charles Koberg, Mrs. K. S. Beckett, Mrs. C. O. Nalley, Mrs. C. E. Lancaster, Miss Edith Gay, Miss Vera Whitton.

The business of all the people is more important than that of one single man. These are some of the questions you are called upon to determine in selecting the lawyer for the State of Texas, who acts as a counselor for the State when he becomes Attorney General. When we seek out a competent lawyer to guide us in a complex civilization, should we be prompted by mere emotion or commander for our armies in times of national crisis, would we select a raw recruit or the officer who had been trained under gunfire?

All these questions mark the difference between Walter Woodul, with his matchless career of twenty-one years in the courts of Texas and the success that has crowned his efforts in litigation, and that of his opponent, with a diploma on which the ink is still wet from its recent signature by an eastern college president.

Vote for Walter Woodul for Attorney General, a man who will represent Texas in all of the courts with dignity and honor, and his reputation for honesty, integrity and ability is unquestioned even by his adversaries.

Walter Woodul has the public endorsement heretofore appearing in this paper of the great majority of the Fort Worth lawyers. He is known here, no more than any one man, was responsible for getting for Fort Worth more than $300,000.00 of public funds for advertising Fort Worth and celebrating and depicting our 100 years of progress.

By the same token, would you hire a young inexperienced lawyer to try an important lawsuit?

Would you not show the State of Texas the same consideration as you do your own private business?

Would you, because of your admiration of a boy as a football player, forget the unselfish devotion in the defense of your country during the days of 1917 when the other candidate for Attorney General was fighting, not with pen and plaudit of the fans in the stands, but in the trenches and mud.

Would you vote for a man for an important public office who has had his license little more than four years, during which time he managed a political campaign and then accepted three appointments under that administration in preference to the man who held three elective offices, none of them full time, all of which required knowledge of the law and the problems of Government and which were offices of high honor instead of high salary?

Would you, for personal reasons, vote for a young man who never did anything for Fort Worth and West Texas against the man who, at the request of our chamber of commerce, and in the face of the resignation of members of his commission, demanded and got for Fort Worth and West Texas from his commission $300,000.00 to help our advertising and commemorative program?

More than 275 members of the Fort Worth Bar Association.

Editorially supported by the Fort Worth Press, the Fort Worth Telegram, and the Union Banner.

Supported by all the District Judges of his home county.

Actively supported by former Attorneys General Jewell B. Lightfoot, B. F. Looney, (Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Dallas), Dan Moody, Claude Fillard and others.

Let's elect a man for our next Attorney General who has smelled the smoke of battle and acquired himself with credit a man who, when he appears before the United States and Texas Supreme Courts, will represent us with dignity, poise and honor; a man who has had sufficient experience in life to understand the problems of this high and important office.

READING AND WRITING

"THREE GUINEAS," by Virginia Woolf; (Harcourt, Brace; $3.50). Virginia Woolf has written better books than "Three Guineas," but certainly she never has written more repetitious ones. This is a masterpiece of reiteration, done in the impossible prose for which Mrs. Woolf is known, hung upon a subtly articulated framework and, some will feel, a book less likely to advance the cause it champions than many a brief magazine article. These same carping gentry may even feel that there is just about substance enough in "Three Guineas" to make one excellent long article.

Mrs. Woolf pretends that she has received requests for money from three sources: from the treasurer of a society which wanted to know how Mrs. Woolf would go about preventing war; from the treasurer of a women's college which needed rebuilding; from the treasurer of a society for securing employment to needy professional women. The book is presumably in answer to these requests.

It examines a number of fields—education for women, war and peace, the position of women in the professions, the position of women in the home and so on. It particularly is interested in the life allowed the "educated man's daughter," a class with which Mrs. Woolf appears to identify herself, although with reservations. In the end it concludes that women can best advance the causes dear to them, and their own position as well, by remaining outside the social framework erected (as she feels) exclusively by men.

For all the clever writing and blind reasoning, this reader found himself unable to agree. Mrs. Woolf does not reason with invariable logic. She reasons from positions chosen in advance because they will work out as she wishes, it seems. She does not estimate carefully the fields she touches upon, and one cannot escape feeling at times that this, too, is deliberate—for Mrs. Woolf is a brilliant woman, and except when her gift for plunging her antagonists gets the better of her balance, she is an effective advocate as well as a master of prose.

Wherefore it may be doubted that "Three Guineas" succeeds completely, though in rebuttal it must be said that in England the "conditions" of women may really be as tragic as Mrs. Woolf maintains. One hopes not.

EX-CONVICT FACES CHARGE AT KILGORE

DALLAS, Aug. 26 (AP)—Inspector of Detectives W.H. Fritz said today John Mahan, 34, Oklahoma ex-convict, arrested here yesterday with a red-haired woman companion, probably would be sent to Kilgore.

Texas, for trial on a charge of robbery and assault in murder. The couple was arrested yesterday after an unidentified woman telephoned Deputy Constable Leonard Pack and said: "The man and woman you are looking for in the murder of those two women is Ed Frazz (presumably referring to the slaying of Mrs. Weston G. Frazz and her daughter, Nancy, near Van Horn last March) are in a tourist camp on the Fort Worth pike." Fritz said, however, that so far as he could learn Mahan was in Kilgore the day the Berkeley, Calif., women were slain.

Thirst-Satisfiers Must Be Tangy For These Last Hot Summer Days

By HENRI ALEXANDER GEORGE, Staff Features Service Writer

Don't throw away those juicy lemons left from cans of fruit. You can use them in your summer thirst-quenchers. Every smart hostess is on the lookout for new and tangy fruit-juice combinations. For she will fill the punch bowl with them first and again in the next few weeks.

What juices make the best summer drinks? There are many. Some may be served alone, sweetened a bit and thoroughly chilled. Others are delicious in combinations. Apple, apricot, grape, loganberry, currant, raspberry, strawberry, pineapple, grapefruit—these are a few.

The Tart Touch Bear in mind that tart drinks are the best thirst-satisfiers. Try this Fruit Chilli in your punch bowl: Boil together for two minutes two cups of granulated sugar, and two cups of boiling water. Cool. Add two cups of orange juice, one cup of pineapple juice, one cup of strawberry juice and half a cup of lemon juice. Chill until serving time. Then combine with two parts of chilled ginger ale. Quickly pour into a bowl which contains a large cake of ice.

Have you ever made a smash? FENSACOLA PUNCH (Fills 25 Punch Cups) 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar. 6 cups water. 2 cans grapefruit juice. 1 1/2 cup lemon juice. 2 cups lime juice. Boil sugar and water together for five minutes (to make a simple syrup for sweetening). Add fruit juices and chill thoroughly. Pour over cracked ice in a punch bowl and serve in punch cups. Garnish with canned grapefruit segments, green cherries and fresh mint sprigs.

Any frozen fruit juice added to any fruitade—with or without ginger ale—may be called a smash.

Serve your smash in tall glasses which have been half filled with chopped ice. Top each glass with mint leaves, red cherries and small balls of pineapple or apricot jam. You'll have a regal host-ess. Fruity Ice Cubes Have you ever thought of adding blackberry cubes to plain old-fashioned lemonade? They are delicious and are very easy to freeze. All you have to do is mix two cups of berries with one cup of water and half a cup of sugar. Boil for one minute. Cool and strain. Then pour the juice into a refrigerator tray and freeze it. When you get tired of blackberry cubes try cherry, grape, blueberry or apricot cubes. And experiment with them in other drinks than lemonade. Small fruits, berries and sliced fruits—orange, give a dainty flavor when used to garnish punches. Frozen ginger ale broken into particles is also a delicious addition to punch or chilled drinks served in individual glasses.

ITEMS FROM MOORE

A good crowd assembled for Sunday school at 10 o'clock last Sunday morning. This was the first gathering since reorganization and everyone seemed enthusiastic over meeting again. A cordial invitation is given the community to be present next Sunday.

Misses Billie and Helen Solder spent last week in San Saba. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fryar.

A group from this community enjoyed a fishing trip at the Fowell lake last Sunday. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Phillips and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips and family and Misses Sarah Phillips and Anna Smith.

Farmers of this community continue to keep up an incessant battle against the leaf worms. Poison sprays can be seen going in almost every field. Some farmers in this section are poisoning the fourth time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Payne and Mr. and Mrs. Wendal Leatherwood were visitors in the W. H. Ward home Friday afternoon.

The disease of sleeping sickness among the livestock in this community has caused a good deal of loss to owners. Those who have already suffered loss from this spreading disease are Mr. M. L. Rowland, Mr. T. F. Hill and Mr. Edgar Phillips. Much livestock here has already been vaccinated.

The Moore school will open its 1938-39 session on September 5. The enrollment mark is due to rise because of transfers and new families who have moved into the district since the census was taken in April. Transfers have already come in from Center Point, Fairview, Richland, Coahoma and Elbow. Nine grades will be taught. The five teachers who taught last year will continue their duties this term.

Miss Billie Bob Phillips visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Phillips, last week.

Rev. E. E. Mason was a visitor in this community this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wooten spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hammack and children of Roscoe spent the weekend with Mrs. J. G. Hammack and her son, Carl.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hill carried a girls' quartet composed of Beatrice Peck, Juanita Cook, Clarinda Sanders, and Marie Hamrick, to Colorado Friday night to take part in the amateur hour sponsored by the Big Spring chamber of commerce.

Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Cook and daughter, Barbara, of Lorenzo visited Mr. W. F. Cook Thursday. On Friday they visited Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fryar of Westbrook.

Mrs. J. G. Hammack and son, Carl, left Monday for San Angelo to visit this week with Mrs. Hammack's sister, Mrs. Will Ely and family.

Lloyd Landers, youngest son of

AT ACKERLY

Dr. W. Y. Ford (above) state evangelist for the Baptist Convention of Texas, is conducting a revival campaign at the Ackery Baptist church. The revival opened a week ago with the pastor, Rev. E. E. Cumby, in charge until Wednesday evening, when Dr. Ford arrived. The evangelist will conduct services nightly through Sunday, September 4. He was in Big Spring last fall to hold a meeting for the Fourth Street Baptist church. Rev. Cumby reports the Ackery revival is progressing nicely, there having been four professions to date. The public is invited to attend all services.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Landers, who has been living in California with a sister of Mr. Landers, has returned here for an extended visit with his parents. Lloyd, accompanied by a friend, Mr. Benton, who is spending a few days here.

SOUTH TEXANS NOT WORRIED ABOUT HURRICANES

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 25 (AP)—The lower Rio Grande valley, swept by a devastating hurricane in 1933, no longer is hurricane conscious.

This was demonstrated when a tropical disturbance developed in the Gulf of Mexico recently and at one time appeared to be pointing toward the Texas coast. Warnings issued would have caused half the population to vacate in 1934, but few paid attention to them. With no hurricane in this section in five years, people apparently are forgetting the big blow of 1933.

GAVEL PRESENTATION TO FEATURE REUNION

CHRISTOVAL, Aug. 25 (AP)—Frank C. Van Horn, retired Christoval publisher, will present George DeLong, president of the Tom Green county old settlers' association, with a novel gavel here Aug. 26 at the annual meeting of the association.

The gavel will be cut from a walnut railroad tie used in San Angelo in 1888 when the Santa Fe extended its line from Hallinger. The gavel is to be passed along to presidents as long as the association continues.

Fairview News

Gratifying results are reported from the revival campaign just concluded at the Prairie View Baptist church. There were eight additions during the meeting, and $90 was received into the treasury. On the final day of the meeting, there were 115 in Sunday school classes.

Miss Winnie Fay Gressett of Westbrook, former teacher in the Fairview school, visited in the community last weekend.

Mrs. Jessie Henderson, who resides at the J. W. Wooten farm, was ill this week.

Grandmother Reed has been vacationing in Mason county this summer. Accompanied by her son, Jack, and his wife, she recently went on to Corpus Christi to visit friends.

Mrs. Haskell Grant has been on the sick list for the past week.

There is a noticeable letup of worm infestation in the cotton in this section. Farmers report that rain is needed badly.

Mrs. J. W. Wooten entertained members of her Sunday school class at her home Thursday. Watermelon and ice cream were served to 15.

Miss Erma Nee Wooten plans to leave about September 10 to enter Herdin-Simmons university at Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Langley and daughter, Co'een, visited in Westbrook Sunday.

Mrs. Willis Banum has returned to her home in Greenville after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Johnson, for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Langley and Geneva and Billie were expected to return this week from Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Newton of Midland are visiting friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bailey and Jan spent the weekend in this community.

Mrs. D. Andrews spent Sunday in the J. W. Wooten home.

VETS TO CONVENE

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Former members of Company E, 360th Infantry, 90th Division, are planning to hold their first reunion at Austin late this month at the time of the annual state department convention of the American Legion. Carl E. Weaver of Houston and Joe Lewis of San Angelo are promoting the get-together.

Four former members of the company met at the American Legion convention here last year and recently eight of the ex-soldiers with members of their families held a reunion at Ballinger. At Austin, Lewis said, members will discuss plans for a "last man's club."

Kiwanis Hears Geo. Mahon

Govt. Reforms Must Of Necessity Be Slow, Solon Says

Declaring that important reforms are never achieved overnight, George Mahon, congressman from the 19th district, told Kiwanis club members Thursday that major governmental changes must necessarily be slow.

"There are a lot of things which we do not like," said the congressman, "but they cannot be changed overnight. We must remember that things can never be perfect and there will always be a struggle for improvements and reforms."

Although Hallowe'en is more than two months away, plans were announced at the club meeting by Ben Coles to make the day one of merriment with a club sponsored "Hallowe'en Jubilee." The event, he said, would be held on the parking lot adjoining the Crawford hotel. Money raised through this medium will go to the underprivileged children's fund, and Kiwanians are aiming at $500 for the evening.

George Gentry urged members to "promote" Monday evening's softball game between Rotarians and Kiwanians. Dr. M. H. Bennett, Rotary representative, urged a large attendance since proceeds are to finance a $350 to $400 high school training camp obligation.

"Ladies night" will be observed next Thursday when International President Hatfield of Oklahoma City, District Governor Bob Wilson of Ponca City, Okla., and Lieutenant Governor Paul Pearson of Wichita Falls will be guests.

Guests included Mahon, Dr. Bennett, W. C. Blankenship, John F. Wolcott, Hayes Stripling, Carter Thompson, Boyd McDaniel and Pollard Runnels. Dr. W. B. Hardy presided and Harvey Clay introduced Mahon.

TWO RAILROADERS DIE IN EXPLOSION

DAYTON, O., Aug. 25 (AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad's "Big Louisian" proceeded for five miles down-grade today after a boiler explosion killed its engineer, John Breen, and fireman, R. H. Mitchell.

Railroad officials at Columbus said the combination of escaping steam and a curve near Cedarville apparently stopped the train, which runs between New York and St. Louis.

Both engineers, thrown from the cab, lived in Columbus, O.

Allen-Ogden Date And Nut Bread

This is by Crosse & Blackwell, the company that makes it the best. Date and Nut bread has long held a favorite place among Americans, and the problem has been how to keep it fresh. Crosse & Blackwell perfected the method of packing it in vacuum tins so that it will keep fresh indefinitely.

Date Nut breads preparation involves a great deal of work in the pitting of dates, chopping of nuts and beating of eggs, etc., and to preserve all this freshness it has to be baked in sealed containers and vacuum packed. This method assures that when the bread is opened the bread is as fresh and delicious as if it had been baked within the half hour.

Date and Nut bread makes a delightful base for all kinds of sandwiches with cream cheese, marmalade, jellies and jams, chopped olives, ham, or peanut butter, with jelly, chicken salad, lettuce and tomatoes, raisins and practically any other sandwich filler, or it can be fried in butter and served with eggs and bacon, or steamed and served with sauce it makes an excellent dessert.

Every housewife should keep a can or two in the home, as nothing could be handier or have more uses for a quick and unexpected meal, or better for a regular one.

Thursday night, and Gossett will close Friday night.

Brady F. Gentry of Tyler and young Landley Beasworth of Gilmer were conducting "home county" campaigns to fill the seat left vacant by the defeat of Rep. Morgan Sanders of Canton, veteran member of the house who was defeated for chairmanship of the key ways and means committee.

Both have spoken their complete support of the new deal, and have urged sweeping reforms in social security legislation, especially old age pensions. Both have offered remedies for farm ills, and hit the present federal farm act. Observers believed Beckworth's main strength lay in the counties he represented in the state legislature—Upshur and Camp, while Gentry was especially strong in Van Zandt county, where he was born, and Smith county, where he now lives. Gregg, Fanoia, Rusk and Wood counties were doubtful. Beckworth will close at Gilmer Friday and Gentry at Quitman.

Meanwhile candidates for state office prepared to wind up their campaigning with schedules that will cover many miles of territory.

Gerald C. Mann, aspirant to the attorney generalship, was at Denton, Gainesville, Nacogdoches and Sherman today and tonight broadcasts from Denton. He will close with a hometown rally at Dallas after speaking in Kaufman, Terrell and Rockwall tomorrow.

Mann's opponent, Walter Woodall, was at Rockwall, Commerce and Mount Vernon and winds up his campaign in South Texas tomorrow.

Bascom Giles, candidate for land commissioner, was in Longview and Tyler today, returning to Dallas for broadcasts tonight and tomorrow night.

W. H. McDonald, Giles opponent spoke also at Fort Worth. McDonald was in Temple for an address today. He will close his campaign tomorrow night with a radio speech from San Antonio.

Jerry Sadler, candidate for railroad commissioner, will close his stump speaking at Longview tonight and will be heard over the radio tomorrow night.

His opponent, C. V. Terrell, was in Dallas, Cleburne, Hillsboro, Washburn and Ennis today. Terrell spoke at Athens yesterday.

W. Lee O'Daniel, democratic gubernatorial nominee, will appear at Marine park, Fort Worth, tomorrow night at a rally originally arranged for Terrell. O'Daniel and his hillbilly band will be heard from 8 to 8:15 o'clock (Texas Quality network).

Judge Richard Critz, candidate for associate justice of the state supreme court, has yielded 15 minutes of his time to O'Daniel. He will speak at 8:15. Terrell will follow O'Daniel, his talk to be broadcast over another state-wide hook-up from 8:15 to 8:30.

Woodall has released to O'Daniel the time he was scheduled to use over a network (Texas Quality) tonight from 7 to 7:15 o'clock.

O'Daniel

In the race for judge of the court of criminal appeals.

"It was those who did not vote for those other offices that were interested in knowing who we wanted them to vote for," O'Daniel said.

Citing precedents for his action, O'Daniel said "I will give you three of the highest authorities known to man."

The first, he said, was Jesus Christ. "You will remember," he said, "that Christ had a board of directors called the Apostles, and although perfect, He chose one Apostle who betrayed him."

O'Daniel admitted that he may have erred in naming some of his preferences, but declared that the principle of wanting a cabinet of advisers, and the right to express his preferences were the same in both cases.

He next cited the organization of the federal government, wherein the president is elected by the vote of the people, and then chooses his own cabinet members, and has a voice in the selection of his vice president.

O'Daniel also cited the action of former Governor Hogg in demanding a slate of sympathetic state officers to serve with him, and emphasized the coincidence that the two men Hogg especially wanted elected were the lieutenant governor and attorney general "just as desired by O'Daniel."

PULL FOR CROWDS AT FINAL GAMES

Officials of the Big Spring baseball club said Thursday that they were hopeful of large crowds in the final two games of the season Thursday and Friday evenings.

Large attendance, they said, would be taken as a gesture of support which would impinge the management to bolster the team roster next year to the extent that Big Spring would be in championship light.

Special features and attendance awards for the two nights were being offered to draw a large following for the final games of the season here.

Alliance With Latin American Labor Is Studied By AFL

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 25 (AP)—American Federation of Labor leaders may try to revive alliances with Central and South American labor soon to cope with what they term "extremist groups" in a new Latin-American labor movement.

A convention call to the relatively inactive Pan-American Federation of Labor, President William Green of the A. F. of L. indicated, may be counter-strategy if a movement under way in Mexico succeeds in setting up a Latin-American trade union congress.

A conference of American and foreign labor leaders will be held in Mexico City September 5, to discuss the founding of the new labor congress, uniting in an international organization labor groups in North, South and Central America.

At a press conference here yesterday, the A. F. of L. leader described the Mexico-City conference as a "meeting of extreme leftists and communists."

After conferring with the federation's executive council on questions of policy toward Latin-American labor developments, Green disclosed that he had declined an invitation to attend the Mexico City conference. The invitation, he said, came from Vicente Valsdano, general secretary of the Confederation of Mexican Workers, a rising political power in Mexico.

John L. Lewis' C.I.O. also has been invited and is expected to send a delegation.

JAPAN SAYS PLANE ATTACKED WAS MISTAKEN FOR A BOMBER

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25 (AP)—A Japanese naval spokesman served warning today that any civilian plane flying over what Japan has designated the war area of China is in danger of being shot down.

He declared that the affirmer of the Chinese-American China National Aviation corporation which was forced down and machine-gunned by Japanese warplanes near Canton yesterday was mistaken for a Chinese bomber.

The Japanese spokesman asserted that the airliner, from which at least 12 Chinese passengers or crew members still are missing, was flying over this zone and was assumed by Japanese fliers to be a warplane when it attempted to elude their patrol.

The plane was attacked, he said, before it was identified. Citing rules for international warfare as Japan's guide, he declared similar action was possible in the future.

IS FATALETIES

HONGKONG, Aug. 25 (AP)—Airliner officials said tonight they believed at least 12 persons died inside the Chinese-American airliner which was forced down and machine-gunned by Japanese warplanes yesterday between Canton and Macao.

A spokesman for the China National Aviation corporation, the owners, said the line's reports indicated the plane, riddled by machine-gun bullets, was entirely submerged in the small river on which the American pilot, H. L. Woods of Winfield, Kas., set it down.

Only three survivors who reached Macao were definitely accounted for tonight—Woods, the radio operator, Lee Loh, and a passenger, C. N. Lou—although earlier reports said two wounded Chinese passengers were in a hospital at Shekai, north of Macao. Passenger Lou also was wounded.

Woods, who reached Macao aboard a sampan and was then brought to Hongkong aboard the United States gunboat Mindanao, said he believed all the missing were killed or wounded in the machine-gunning of the plane.

Moreover, he reported he heard bomb explosions while lying in a semi-conscious condition on the river bank. Trying to swim ashore he was caught in the current and reached the bank exhausted.

Major Wells, commanding headquarters squadron of the first pursuit group at Selfridge field, suffered fatal injuries as his plane caught fire. The ships were returning to their base from an air corps gunnery range.

Major Wells resides at (RFD 1) West Middletown, Ohio, and Lieutenant Clark is the son of an army surgeon at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

TO VENEZUELA

Howard Smith, who has been visiting with his mother, Mrs. Eva Smith for the past two months, will leave Friday for Houston en route to his post in Caracas, Venezuela. He will spend two weeks inspecting new equipment before going to South America where he has been for the past three years.

Planes Collide, But Pilots Use Chutes To Leap To Safety

ANOTHER FDR MEETS PRESS

Another Franklin D. Roosevelt—this time the third—appeared for press cameramen, but showed little interest in the event. He is the child of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and is being held by his mother, the former Ethel DuPont at her father's home near Wilmington, Del. It was one of his first appearances before the camera.

HELEN WILLS MOODY GIVEN MORE TIME

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Still hopeful, the United States Lawn Tennis association has given Mrs. Helen Wills Moody through August 30 to file her entry for the national championships starting at Forest Hills Sept. 8.

The court's ailing queen announced the first of the week that an attack of neuritis would prevent her participation, but the badge-wearers were loath to accept this as final. It is estimated Mrs. Moody's participation would make a difference of close to $25,000 in the gate.

BIDS OPENED FOR A DORMITORY AT TECH

FORT WORTH, Aug. 25 (AP)—Texas Technological college board members met in Fort Worth this morning to consider the selection of a president and to open bids for the construction of a boys' dormitory.

The field of persons under consideration for the college presidency, or who are applicants for the post, will be narrowed at the meeting, J. J. Steele of Merita, said. However he added, he doubted the board at the conference will choose a president to succeed the late Dr. Bradford Knapp.

The board was host at luncheon to Governor-nominate W. Lee O'Daniel and to Public Works administration officials.

LAREDO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Major military garrisons at Nuevo Laredo and Matamoros were given new commanders today. Gen. Leopoldo Dorantes, for 18 months commander at Nuevo Laredo, left for Matamoros, across the Rio Grande from Brownsville. He will be succeeded by Gen. Gabriel R. Corvera, until now with the Torreon garrison.

Mexico Tariff To Be Pared

Neighbor Nation Putting Back Old Rate On Many Items

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The commerce department announced today that Mexican tariffs on nearly all products except automobiles will be reduced Saturday to the rates prevailing before the steep increase which became effective in January.

The reductions will affect 180 items. Among them are hides, barley grain, lumber, wooden furniture, lubricating oils, plate glass, manufactured copper, iron and steel products, refrigerators, steel furniture, certain textiles, radios and cameras.

The January tariff increases were the first of two steps by Mexico which complicated her relations with the United States. In March, Mexico expropriated huge American oil properties and the United States retaliated by suspending an agreement to purchase Mexican silver.

Although the agreement never has been reinstated, the United States treasury resumed buying Mexican silver on a smaller scale when the silver was offered on the open market in New York. When the agreement was in effect, Mexico sold the silver directly to the treasury, saving brokerage fees and having advance assurance of the amount it could dispose of each month.

LOYALIST LINES ARE HOLDING FIRM

HENDAYE, France (AP)—Government dispatches reported today main line defenses on the Ebro front in south Catalonia were holding firm against diminishing fury of insurgent attacks.

Although the government troops admitted the insurgents carried some advance posts by storm, they insisted actual battle lines were changed little since they were established a month ago.

On the Tagus river front, about 90 miles southwest of Madrid, the insurgent offensive also came to a near halt in front of government defense lines.

Farther to the south, on the Estremadura front, the government reported its troops had straightened their lines along the Zujar river, forcing insurgents from several front line positions.

Major Fight Looming On Farm Laws

Domestic Allotment Plan Due To Be Offered As Substitute

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Administration farm leaders expect a major fight in the next congress over a proposal to replace the "ever-normal granary" crop control law with domestic allotment and price-fixing regulations.

Declining farm prices and accumulating surpluses have stimulated agitation for revision of the 1938 farm act among cotton and wheat growers.

Secretary Wallace has indicated, however, he will carry his defense of the present law to the farmers before congress convenes.

The proposed domestic allotment program, which had strong support in the last congress, would eliminate the present acreage allotment, marketing control and benefit payment provisions. Farmers would be free to produce as much as they desired, but could sell only a specified share, or allotment, of the domestic market.

For example, if domestic needs were estimated at 650,000,000 bushels of wheat, that amount would be prorated among the growers. The buyer would be required to pay a price fixed by the secretary of agriculture for the allotted shares.

The domestic allotment will in the 1939 congress provide for prices which would assure the grower cost of production. This could be changed to require "parity" prices, the goal of the existing law.

The government would sell the surplus crops in foreign markets at whatever prices it could get. Thus the grower would be guaranteed the "parity" or cost of production price on crops consumed in the country and world prices on the surplus.

BOND ISSUE APPROVED

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Port Arthur independent school district has approved, 532 to 205, a $450,000 bond issue for a PWA-aided project to enlarge five schools, a vote count of yesterday's election revealed. The project will total $816,000.

Japs Take Another Chinese Key Point

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25 (AP)—A final, successful assault on Juchang, a major objective in the Japanese drive toward the provisional capital of Hankow, was reported this afternoon in a Japanese army communique.

The victory, the first notable Japanese advance since the invaders' occupation July 26 of Kukiang, occurred in sweltering heat of 140 degrees.

Japanese observers maintained the fall of the walled city put the invaders in a position to out-flank Chinese divisions deployed along the 90-mile railway between Kukiang and Nanchang.

Chinese military sources reported 30 Japanese warships steamed along Poyang lake, a large body of water lying between Kukiang and Nanchang, and heavily bombarded Chinese shore positions near Wuchang on the west bank.

Japanese airplanes, it was announced, conducted large scale raids over Ichang, important Yangtze river center 170 air miles due west of Hankow.

NEGRO DUE TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 25 (AP)—Preparations were made at state prison today for the electrocution of Sam Cash, negro.

The board of pardons and paroles yesterday refused clemency for the negro.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!—

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

PEACE OFFICERS TO MEET IN AMARILLO

AMARILLO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Peace officers from every branch of law enforcement throughout Texas as well as representatives of the federal law enforcement forces are expected at the 50th annual convention of the Sheriff's Association of Texas here August 31-September 2, inclusive.

Sheriff W. M. Adams of Potter county said invitations had been sent to sheriffs and other peace officers in New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and other border states. One of the features will be a pistol shoot between teams representing the sheriffs, police and highway department, and perhaps the federal branch, in which regular service revolvers will be used. Other shoots open to officers from other states will permit participants to choose their weapons.

Weaver Baker of Junction, chief counsel of the sheriff's association, is expected to open a campaign for legislation establishing four-year office terms for county officials. The question of holding the annual conventions successively in West, North, East and South Texas will be discussed.

Sheriff J. E. Arnold of Bee county is president of the association.

THE SPORTS PARADE

By HANK HART

Big Spring's defeat by the Lubbock Hubbers in Baron park last night coupled with Wink's unexpected victory over Midland just about eliminated the Barons from the WT-NM league running but the Barons still have a fighting chance at fourth place in the standings.

They didn't have their hitting clothes on last night and Jerry Blanchard tamed them, 11-0, gaining his first victory of the year over the Baron outfit.

It should be different tonight, at least from the hitting standpoint. Marvin Grady is scheduled to take over the pitching duties for the Hubbers while Frank Jacot will work for Big Spring.

Lubbock appears to have far and away the best team in the Shattuck playoff at the present time but we're picking the Midland Cardinals to come through and grab off the honors.

Why? You say the Cardinals aren't exhibiting the brand of ball capable of beating either Clovis or Lubbock at the present time.

Maybe not. But look over the season's records. The Red Birds have fought the Hubbers on even terms all the way and, comparing them man to man, there isn't much to choose between them.

The Hubbers may have the better hitting club but Fischer Withers can boast of better pitching. Blanchard stands in a class by himself but on the occasion that we have been privileged to see Frank Nelson, the boy has looked exceptionally well.

Lefty Paris is probably the ace of the Cardinal pitching staff and is backed up by Cliff Neighbors, Jerry Soule, Tommy Warren and Benny Franklin.

The Lubbockites can't rely too strongly on any other member of their corps outside of Blanchard, instead must depend upon their hitting to carry them through.

Jack Miller's hurlers are Ernest Terry, Marvin Grady, Charley Bryan and Pete Fleming.

Turning to the team's offenses, the Hubbs have clearly the better of the argument but the Black Shirts are not lacking in individual hitters.

Midland is stronger behind the See PARADE, Page 2, Col. 6

Alice Marble, Mate To Meet Britons

Pair In Narrow Win Over Henrotin And Andrus

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25 (AP)—Convinced too much idleness rusts Convicted too much idleness rusts Convicted too much idleness rusts

Sideline three days by the Sabbath, a bye and a default, Miss Marble and Mrs. Fabyan were so unsteady and timid when they resumed action yesterday they played tag with defeat much too long for comfort before gaining the semi-finals by barely topping Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France and Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of New York, 6-4, 5-7, 12-10.

With that stiff match behind them, Miss Marble and Mrs. Fabyan were expected to be in form today for their immediate rivals, Kay Stammers and Margot Lumb of England, who had great difficulty gaining a 6-1, 1-6, 11-9 victory over Mrs. Harry Hopman and Dorothy Stevenson of Australia.

The men's field will come to the second last stage today by running off the two remaining quarter-final matches. Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich of Australia will oppose Gardner Mulloy of Miami and George Toley of Los Angeles and another pair of Aussies, Harry Copman and Leonard Schwartz, will take on Yvon Petra and Bernard Destreman of France.

Don Budge and Gene Mako defeated Russell Hobbit of Atlanta and Frank Guernsey of Orlando, Fla., in one third-rounder yesterday, and in the other Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn gained the doubles semi-finals by over-throwing Bobby Riggs and Bryan Grant, 6-1, 8-6, 6-2.

The United States leads the world in the production and consumption of zinc.

Race Feature Of Tonight's Encounter

Jerry Blanchard handcuffed the Baron guns, lining them to just two hits, and shut them out behind the Lubbock Hubbers, 11-0, Wednesday evening as the final series of the year got underway at Baron park. It was the first blanking administered the Big Spring outfit this season and the eccentric left-hander made it look impressive although it could not compare with Johnny Soden's exhibition of the night before when that youngster whitewashed Midland.

Blanchard's two hits were surrendered to Pat Stacey, who singled into left field in the second frame.

An added attraction at the Lubbock Big Spring baseball game at Baron park tonight will be a short race featuring the speediest members of the two squads to determine the fastest man in the WT-NM league. In that it is the first such race arranged this season, officials feel that, should that claim be disputed, a challenge would have to be issued and their "champion" be recognized as such until dethroned.

Running for the Lubbockites will be Al Carr and Bobby Hillin, right and left gardener, respectively. Representing Big Spring will be Billy Capps, third sacker, and Willard H-madell, pitcher.

The race will be run over a 100-yard track with the finish line directly in front of the grandstand. A prize of $5 will be awarded the winner.

and to Bobby Decker, who lashed a base knocker into right field in the third. The Hub left-hander struck out 13 Barons, gave up free passes to seven.

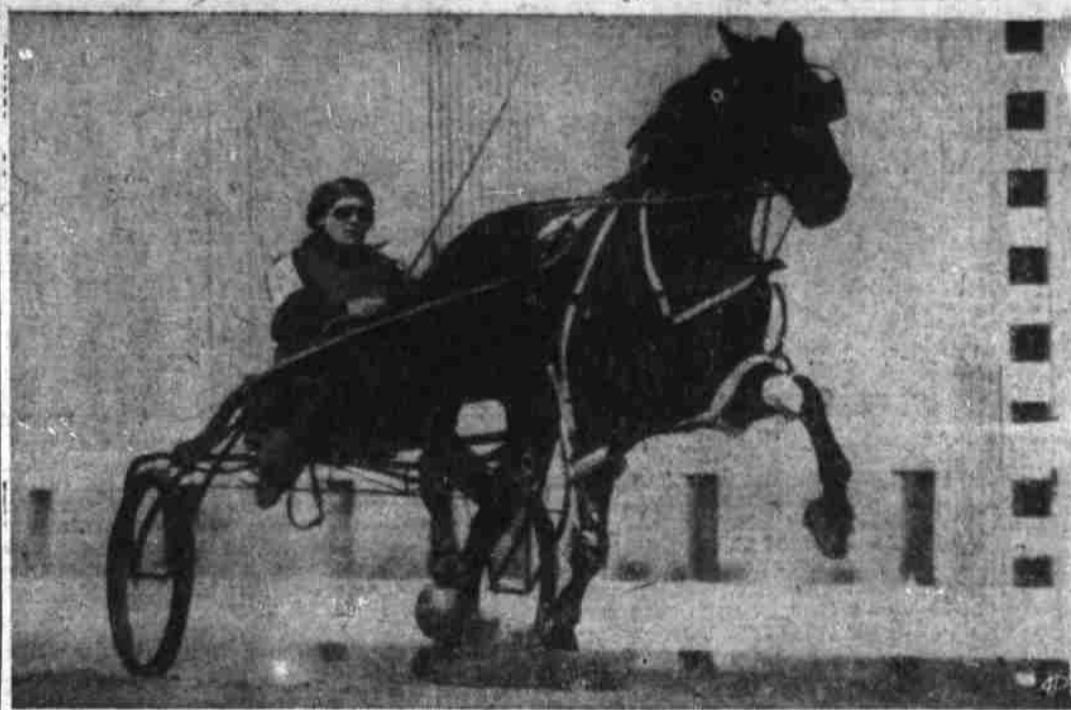

The closest Big Springers got to home plate was in the third frame when Dick Hobson walked, advanced on Decker's lick and went to third on Stiegbert's sacrifice.

Stevens came in from second base to take Stacey's ground ball, however, and catch Hobson at home on a close play.

Runs into Trouble Will Ramsdell, twirling for the arons, did all right until the ninth frame. The first hit he surrendered.

WOMEN WHO PLAY A MAN'S GAME — Queen Of Trotting Horse Racing Show Dust To Best Men Drivers

MRS. E. ROLAND HARRIMAN RACING A FAST HARNESS HORSE

In most sports the records made by men are far superior to those made by women. In recent years, however, women have been stealing more and more of the spotlight. This begins a series of articles about outstanding women in sports—women who play a man's game.

By the AP Feature Service

GOSHEN, N. Y.—Mrs. E. Roland Harriman is unquestionably the "first lady" of the American trotting turf.

She is such a good trotting-horse driver that she defeats men at one of their own games—most of the time.

Her husband, president of the Grand Circuit, and chairman of the Trotting Horse club, governing body of the sport, inherited his interest in harness racing from his father, E. H. Harriman of New York, a railroad empire builder of the last generation.

In 1929, Mrs. Harriman drove Highland Scott, a pacer belonging to her husband, a mile at Goshen in 1:59 1/4. This constituted a new world record and bettered by a quarter of a second any speed which any man had been able to get out of the horse. She has since set a number of other world records.

Mrs. Harriman engages principally in "matinee" races, those events restricted to amateur drivers. Quite often, however, she has won races from professional drivers.

She races against men in about 25 races a year. She defeats the men about 70 per cent of the time. The job of driving a trotter or pacer is to "rate" him properly—that is to conserve his strength and speed until the last quarter mile of the race.

It is at rating that Mrs. Harriman excels.

Dennis Lavender In To Oppose Kenneth Young Today

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25 (AP)—They drubbed Earl Taro and Charles Lind the "babes in the woods" at the National Public Links golf championship today—but the youngsters were far from being lost.

Taro, advancing through yesterday's first and second rounds with easy victories, opposed Lloyd Nordstrom of Davenport, Ia., as third round play opened today.

Nordstrom yesterday eliminated the defending champion, Bruce McCormick of Los Angeles.

Lind's opponent was Ralph Evans, 22-year-old aircraft company employe from Santa Monica. The two youngest players in the tournament may meet, Taro being in the lower bracket and Lind in the upper division.

Other matches (upper bracket): Alton Age, Louisville, Ky., vs. Eddie Beck, Portland, Ore.; Matt Zadalis, Omaha, Neb., vs. Ted Boyer, Portland, Ore.; Neil Whitney, Los Angeles, vs. Louis Cyr, Portland, Ore.

(Lower bracket): Denn Lavender, Dallas, Texas, vs. Kenneth Young, Minneapolis; James Johnson, Detroit, vs. Tommy Bolt, Shreveport, La.; Andrew Swedko, Pittsburgh, vs. Al Leach, East Cleveland, Ohio.

Pirates Have Won Only 13 Of 27 Games

By SID FEDELE Associated Press Sports Writer

The fearsome prospects of having to tangle with those awful Yankees in another world series appears to have the National League's leading citizens scared to death of winning their own pennant.

At last, that's the way the current senior circuit race looks what with the Pirates having a tough time scratching an even .500 average in their last 20 games, the Giants winning just 12 in the last 27, and those Chicago Cubs playing seventh place ball for the past month.

In fact, the way the favorites have been doing their darndest to kick their chances away, only Frank's Frisch's collapsible Cardinals and Will McKechnie's raw Reds appear to have serious designs on the flag.

Defeat Bees

As matters have been progressing, however, the Pirates won't have much chance to sidestep during the closing drive. They trounced the Boston Bees, 6-2, yesterday, largely through Pep Young's triple with the bases loaded. Although that was only their seventh win in 15 times out, it boosted their first-place margin to six full games.

At that rate, it would appear Pie Traynor's crew will get the pennant whether it wants to or not, based on the traditional momentum of 94 victories for a pennant winner, the Bees now are in a spot where they can play less than .500 ball, while their closest rivals must tear along at .750 or better to catch up.

Of course, the Cardinals can't pretty well be counted out now, 18 full games behind the pace-setters. But with Lonnie Warneke's lanky

Breadon Wants Frank Frisch Back; Branch Rickey Against It

By EDDIE BRIETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Old Tony Canzone is working out daily in a gym here and friends are afraid he is going to try to come back.... Charlie Comiskey, 12-year-old son of the White Sox owner, is making the eastern swing with the Sox.... He puts on a uniform, sits on the bench and is having the very devil of a time.... And he was in Jim Braddock's spot at 10:30 last night, Mom.... The Yanks say the reason you don't see more of Red Rolf (he's just one of the two best third sackers in the majors) in the headlines is because Red is strictly a team man.

Tommy Farr isn't booked to fight anybody; he isn't even in training, but his fan mail averages 400 letters per week, most of them asking for photos.... The Cardinal front office (Breadon and Rickey) is said to have a mild feud on as to whether Frankie Frisch will get a new contract.... Breadon is pro and Rickey anti.... Henry Armstrong is the world's welterweight champion, but can't fight over the weight bouts in that division because he can't build up to 145 pounds to save his life.... Note to Ned Harder: Joe DiMaggio says you give him more trouble than any other chucker in the American League.

FAVORITES WIN IN JR. MEET

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Arthur (Buck) Luce of Austin maintained his rating of favorite to repeat as state junior golf champion today as he faced Simon Alexander of Corpus Christi in semi-finals of a tournament sprinkled with extra-hole matches.

Luce was forced to the nineteenth hole yesterday before he defeated Jack Thurmond of San Antonio while Alexander needed an extra hole to down Joe Worthington, Jr. of Kingsville.

Teverson Martin of Fort Worth clinched with Joe Mours, Jr. of San Antonio in the other semi-final match. Martin defeated Jimmie Chasey of San Antonio, 4 and 2, while Moore won over Stanley Hoffman of San Antonio, 4 and 3, in yesterday's quarter-finals.

New Orleans In 7-4 Victory Over Texans

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 25—(AP)—New Orleans eliminated Bessemer, Ala., and Big Spring, Tex., last night from the National Softball tournament held in connection with the National Encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, administering a 10 to 1 defeat to Alabama and besting the Texans, 7 to 4.

The victories gave New Orleans the right to meet Clearwater, Fla., today for the title. Clearwater earlier upset Big Spring 6 to 0.

Eyston Thinks 360 M.P.H. Is Speed Limit

Cobb, However, Says Records Will Go Higher

WENDOVER, Utah, Aug. 25 (AP)—The world's high speed king, Capt. George E. T. Eyston of England feels that at almost 300 miles an hour he virtually has reached the ceiling of speed on land.

His chief rival, John Cobb, aka of London, holds however that there is no limit to the rate of motion man can attain on the ground.

The lank, nerveless Eyston, yesterday was officially timed as 37.16 miles an hour as he rocketed his Thunderbolt automobile through the measured mile on the Bonneville salt flats just east of here.

"I've figured it out scientifically," said Eyston, "and I don't think a speed of much more than 300 miles an hour is possible.

"Racing tires to hold up at great speeds can't be built. At 350 the outside of the tire is traveling at the speed of sound, about 700 miles an hour. If they weren't completely shielded, the wind alone would rip them wide open.

Countered Cobb: "If you can get tires that will hold up, if mechanical engineering continues its remarkable development, and if you can get long enough straightaway courses, I don't think there's any limit to the speed man could travel."

Cobb, who is awaiting use of the salt flats for a record attempt in his turtle-shaped Railton car, and Sir Malcolm Campbell of England are the only other men who have driven a car faster than 300 miles per hour.

Gasoline taxes yielded state governments more than $700,000,000 last year.

LINEUPS FOR GAME REMAIN A SECRET

Starting batteries for both teams in the Kiwanis-Rotarian softball battle scheduled for Monday night in Baron park remained a mystery as managers of both teams pondered over material and lack of material on hand.

Captain George Gentry of the Kiwanians is still offering to "spot" the opposition 10 runs and then defeat them but his offer hasn't been accepted yet.

Admission for the classic has been set at 50 cents. The game gets underway at 8:30 p. m. Funds realized will be donated toward expenses of the local high school gridders' football camp.

Kevoorkian To Play

DALLAS, Aug. 25 (AP)—James H. Stewart, director of the football game here September 5 between the College All-Stars and the professional champion Washington Redskins, announced today he has signed Alex Kevoorkian, 225-pound tackle from Harvard university.

Kevoorkian, the last addition to the all-star squad, is the first "B-Three" player to perform in the "dream game" in its three-year history.

The all-star squad went through its second practice session today.

Houston Mows Down Oilers

Dallas Fades Before Santonic; Cats Are Noised Out

By the Associated Press
The Houston Oilers pounded down the Texas League stretch today in a belated drive that threw the Oilers into the camp of the Tulsa Oilers.

Sweeping a double-header last night to make it three straight wins over the Oilers, the "Little Cardinals" advanced to within three and one-half games of fourth-place Tulsa, battling for a place in the Shaughnessy play-off.

Beaumont, the loop leader, second place San Antonio, and Oklahoma City, the third-place club, were regarded as "in" with the season only a little more than two weeks to go.

Houston beat Tulsa 5-4 in the first game, using six hits better than the Oilers did their ten and John Grodzicki pitched two-hit ball as the Oilers captured the night cap, 6-0.

Beaumont beat the Fort Worth Cats, 8-7, a homer by Mac Fleming with two on in the seventh being the decisive blow.

Shreveport celebrated the presence of Douglas Corrigan, the wrong way flyer, by also doing things in reverse. The Sports lost to Oklahoma City, 3-1.
Dallas couldn't have gotten the San Antonio Missions out with a fire department, the Padres crushing the Herd, 11-4.

Tyler Sweeping Toward Third

By the Associated Press
Just which team will meet leading Marshall in the first round of the Shaughnessy play-off remained undecided today in the East Texas League.

Tyler is now in fourth place and if the Trojans finish there will furnish the Tigers' opposition. However, Henderson is only one-half game ahead of Tyler and if the Trojans move into third place before the season ends Sunday they will face second-place Texarkana with Henderson playing Marshall.

Marshall downed Henderson, 14-0, last night behind Raymond's four-hit pitching while Tyler was losing to Jacksonville, 4-3, in a mound duel between Andy Daise of the Jax and Fred Browning of the Trojans.

Palestine beat Longview, 4-2, in the other game, Kilgore and Texarkana being idle.

The first air mail, Chicago to New York, was in 1919.

Stephen Foster was born July 4, 1826.

arm mowing the other fellows down, and Curt (Bargain Counter) Davis starting to click—as witness that one-hit 5-0 decision he posted against the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday—Onkel Frankie may still get his boys into the money.

The Reds are generally regarded as too young to stand the gaff of the stretch drive, but the fact that no other first division club has as good a record in the past month makes it barely possible they may come through. They chalked up their 17th win in 20 starts yesterday with a 3-1 victory over the futile Phillies.

Vance Page Stars

Since Vance Page, the "old man" rookie, tossed a four-hitter to give the Cubs a 6-1 win over the Giants, this left the Reds just half a game out of second place.

It's just about certain the National League winner will meet up with the Yanks in the extra-curricular clouting. Gehrig and company split with the Chicago White Sox yesterday to climb 12 full games in front in the American League frolics. Jimmy Dykes' three-run homer paced the Sox to an 8-5 opener win, and Tommy Henrich's two-homers gave the Yanks the afterpiece, 11-1.

Three changes in the brackets featured the junior circuit program. Cleveland's Indians climbed into a second-place tie by topping the Boston Red Sox, 5-3, on Bruce Campbell's two homers. Washington regained sole possession of fourth place with a close 6-5 edge over the St. Louis Browns, and the Athletics pulled themselves out of the cellar with a lop-sided double win over Detroit, 10-5, and 11-1.

STATE BOARD MEETS ON SEPTEMBER 7TH

UNIT DOUBLES COSDEN REFINERY'S CAPACITY

The above picture shows the 6,500-barrel Dubbs craking unit at the Cosden refinery in Big Spring, the completion of which recently established the Cosden plant as the most modern of its kind in the nation. It combines the latest improved features of automatic control now known to the petroleum industry.

The unit is part of an $800,000 expansion program completed by Cosden to meet the ever-increasing demand for its Higher Octane gasoline, and to insure still further the uniformity and quality of its production. The new unit practically doubles the output of the refinery and increases the octane of its gasoline to a consistent 72. The major addition, shown in the picture, includes a 6,500-barrel Universal Oil Product, Dubbs craking unit. This unit is of latest design, featuring U. O. P. up-shot cracking furnaces along with the latest design of reaction chamber and fractionating column. The equipment is designed to operate at a high degree of pressure and temperature as is necessary to secure maximum yield of high quality gasoline from crude.

was a home run by Pete Melito. Another run by Stevens in the fourth with Miller added gave Blanchard a comfortable lead that was added to in the fifth when Melito walked and came home on Johnny Taylor's base blow.

The visitors opened up in the ninth to send 11 men to bat and score six runs with Al Carr's three-run homer as the feature blow. Blanchard had plenty of trouble in finding the plate, giving up seven free tickets but he was deadly in the clutch.

Frankie Jacot will probably take over pitching chores in tonight's engagement while Marvin Gramly was set to work for the Hubbers.

WTCC Wanting A Change-In Farm Plan

Domestic Allotment System Urged By Regional Organization

ARLINGTON, Aug. 23—Adoption of the domestic allotment plan to "assure the welfare and development of West Texas agriculture" is being urged by the West Texas chamber of commerce following re-approval of the plan by the WTCC agricultural board.

The plan was first endorsed by the organization at its 1933 convention in Plainview. Its affiliates are being asked to work for enactment of the legislation.

WTCC officials contend that West Texas did not receive just allotments as compared with other agricultural states under government farm control programs in recent years. "The policy of scarcity and the administration of acreage and crop control is discriminatory to West Texas wheat and cotton producers and is stagnating our agricultural welfare," they declared.

Under the old Bankhead bill, West Texas farmers were forced to produce 45 per cent less cotton, while certain states east of the Mississippi were allowed to produce more cotton. It was pointed out that foreign markets are being lost because while cotton acreage is being reduced in this country, it is being increased in other countries, it was said.

Under the domestic allotment plan, a farmer can control his own acres, secure subsidy payments on the portion of this crop domestically consumed and be free to get what he can on the balance of his crop in the foreign market, WTCC officials said.

'JUBILEE FOLLIES' TO BE PRESENTED AT DALLAS FAIR

DALLAS, Aug. 23—The Jubilee Follies, a musical extravaganza with a cast of 125 people, will be presented in the auditorium at the Golden Jubilee celebration of the state fair of Texas for ten days beginning October 8, it has been announced here by Otto Herold, president of the fair.

The Jubilee Follies, starring such radio and stage personalities as Marion Byger, prima donna; Alexander Santos and company in "dances that are different"; Valentin Vox, world famous ventriloquist with "Happy"; Charlie McCarthy's only rival, will be presented at very popular prices for fourteen performances.

Included in the line of 32 precision choristers will be the famous Amley's American Beauties, one of America's great dancing groups, and 16 show girls who have been selected from the four corners of the country for their beauty.

RIFFLE LEADS WAY TO WIN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP)—Little All-American Dick Riffle promises to be a big All-American in the National Professional Football league this year.

The elusive lad from Corning, N. Y., who "burned up" eastern Pennsylvania gridiron while a halfback at Albright college the last three years, made his professional debut in impressive style last night as he sparked the Philadelphia Eagles to a 14 to 7 victory over the Eastern College All-Stars at Temple stadium. "Dashing Dick" personally accounted for the winning touchdown with an 80-yard run in the third period.

Sept. 1 Final Day For Entering WTCC Conservation Event

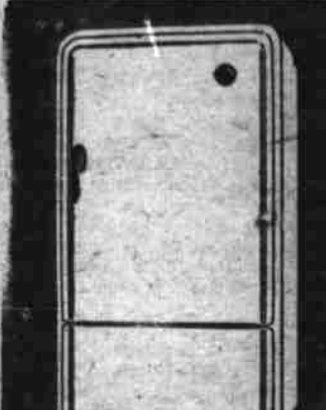

ARLINGTON, Aug. 23—Sept. 1 has been set by the agricultural board as the deadline for entries in the first annual West Texas chamber of commerce soil and water utilization contest. All counties which expect to enter the competition for $1,000 in cash prizes must file official entry blanks by that date.

Seventy-three West Texas counties with farm and ranch land totaling 55,000,000 acres have entered this contest to date. County with the best record in soil and water conservation and utilization work will receive $500 as first prize. Second prize will be $300 and third will be $250.

Winners will be announced at the 1934 convention of the organization. Local committees in the winning counties will administer the prize money in promoting junior agricultural work.

A BIG VOTE IS A GOOD THING

It becomes more apparent that Saturday's runoff primary will bring out a large vote over Texas in spite of the fact that most local races have been decided in many counties. But for one factor, the runoff would have been lacking in fire and the turn-out of voters might have scored a new low.

Four years ago, the first primary brought out more than a million votes for the first time in the state's history. Then the runoff total ran close to 900,000.

Indications are that there will be a big poll in Howard county, where district races in particular are attracting voters' interest.

It is well. Past runoff elections for the most part have found the voters indifferent. But this probably will not be the case this week.

HANDWRITING ON THE WALL?

Good evidence that the present federal crop control program is not functioning altogether satisfactorily in the rash of opposition that is breaking out all over the country.

Even Texas' own commissioner of agriculture is assailing the government plan, proposing the domestic allotment system as a substitute.

In Washington, Marvin Jones of Amurillo, chairman of the house agriculture committee, said that perfecting amendments to the act would be presented.

Whether changes will be made is a matter of conjecture. But the wave of protest to certain phases of the farm program should serve as handwriting on the wall to federal administrators.

Of course, the tremendous surplus of major commodities remains, supporting the farm price structure and threatening any crop program that serves only to limit production.

A classic example is the song of the blackberry woman, who is a native to Louisiana as Creole cooking and just as much a part of Americans as mountain music and the cigar store Indian.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—From a liquor standpoint this country is turning into a legislative Balkans.

State arrays itself against state, enacting first one law and then another to shut out competitive liquor. Already it is down to a point where various states seem to be in need of reciprocal trade treaties.

It all started with the 21st amendment to the Constitution which provides, as a protection to the dry states, that no liquor could be imported into a state in violation of its laws.

In effect it was simply a tariff to protect California beer brewers. Evidently nobody had thought of that possibility arising out of the 21st amendment.

California, with plenty of wine to sell, soon saw a warning light and repealed its law. But the seed was sown. Other states began taking it up.

California, with plenty of wine to sell, soon saw a warning light and repealed its law. But the seed was sown. Other states began taking it up.

The Minnesota law came quickly to the Supreme Court and brought out one of the strangest colloquies the Supreme Court has heard in days.

"Minnesota argues," said the state attorney general in effect, "that it may impose any terms it chooses upon the importation of liquor and it will be constitutional under the 21st amendment."

"Do you mean," asked Chief Justice Hughes in effect, "that if Minnesota says that out-of-state liquor may be imported only by people who wear a certain kind of clothes, such legislation will be valid? Let me put it another way. Do you mean that the state could enact a law permitting importation of liquor only by those who voted a certain way, and it would be valid?"

The state attorney general thought that one over for a long moment, then answered: "Yes."

And what happened? The Supreme Court upheld the Minnesota law.

But the thing has now become even more entangled. Missouri evidently tired of having its liquor shut out of state after state.

Lower federal courts have upheld both the Michigan and Missouri acts and the liquor makers have appealed to the Supreme Court.

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW ORLEANS—One of the most fascinating chores a man might impose on himself would be to compile an anthology of the street cries of New Orleans.

You do not know what street cries really are until you have listened to them in the thoroughfares of this delta metropolis. You may think you do, having kicked around Greenwich Village and the Ghetto in New York, but you don't, not really.

For here they are different. Not one knows their original source, unless it be Voodoo queens and witch doctors. They stop you in your tracks. They fascinate and astound you, for usually they are in crude rhyme. They tell a story. They are melancholy. They are, if you are a part of the public domain, if the public wants them, for no one owns them. They just happen. But only the criers, those who know and understand them.

A classic example is the song of the blackberry woman, who is a native to Louisiana as Creole cooking and just as much a part of Americans as mountain music and the cigar store Indian.

I got black-berries, lady, I got black-berries, lady, I got black-berries, lady, I got black-berries, lady.

How To Torture Your Husband

TEN YEARS OF TALKIES

Third in a Series by ROBBINS COONS. HOLLYWOOD—Sound progressed on the screen as technicians mastered the problem of extraneous noises—and the squawks became talkies.

Look into the one sound stage Hollywood had 10 years ago. With the help of Major Nathan Levinson then and now in charge of the Warner Bros. sound department, we can do this: It's a forbidding hulk of concrete, its inner walls are heavily insulated with rock wool and composition board (cotex) to prevent reverberation and assure soundproofing.

The set where the actors will perform is small. Before it, in glass-front booths each about eight feet square, are imprisoned cameras and cameramen. Nearby, connected with the camera booths by electrical lines, is the sound booth, occupied by the "sound mixer" and his equipment. It too has a glass front, is shut tight against air and sound. These booths are veritable Black Holes of Calcutta, hot and breathless. After each "take" the men rust out, gasping for air.

Suspended from pulleys overhead are several microphones. They cannot be moved because that would distort the recording, create extraneous noise. The actors, ready for the scene, glance apprehensively at the "mixer." ("Mike-fright" was a disease almost everyone had in those days.) All right, they're shooting. In olden times, the actors advanced cautiously. They glance upward to be sure they are under their respective "mikes." Each, in turn, speaks his lines. If he moves away, it's too bad. The scene will have to be done again. The slightest unexpected noise can throw the whole set into confusion.

The sound man is monarch of the set. Everybody—director, star, cameraman—consult him. "Can we do this?" "Is this possible?" In this land of "yes-men," his "No" is a commandment. Sometimes, in this 1938 stage, microphones are planted behind "props" such as a vase of flowers, a row of books, a potted plant, a statue.

Chapter 17 OTTILIE'S STORY

"I knew it," Ottilie said at last, in a flat, expressionless voice. "I've been sure for a long time that something terrible would happen to her. That's why I was scared to ask you. Tell me about it, please."

And so I told her the story of Eve Monet's death, though with certain reservations, for I did not speak of the letter, nor of the startling events of that morning and the part the ubiquitous Mr. Dunning had played in them.

She smiled at that, a pathetic little twist of the lips. "I could tell them the reason right off. There was a man that Melanie liked a lot—I guess she would have married him, only he was killed in an aeroplane crash last year—and you're the living image of him. She was in trouble of some sort, and she felt she could trust you."

She clinched her hands. "You're expecting me to do some weeping," she added, "but I've been steeling myself to face something of this sort, these last three months, and I won't crack up—not yet awhile." She looked from one to the other of us.

"You've been so frank, and so wonderfully kind. I owe you some sort of explanation, and the best way is to tell you just how it happened. My sister, for the past year or so, had been acting as secretary to my uncle, and last February she complained of feeling poorly and arranged to go and stay with a school friend in Santa Barbara. Six weeks passed, and her letters all said what a good time she was having and how she wasn't ready to come home yet awhile—and then one day I had a short note announcing her safe arrival. That was such a queer thing, that I took a plane to California, and when I arrived I found she had never been to Santa Barbara at all. She'd left a lot of letters with her friends to be mailed at regular intervals—only, you see, the first one had got sort of misplaced."

Hugo was eyeing her closely, and even as he called a hovering waiter and ordered champagne cocktails, his gaze never left her face. "And the second?" he prompted. "Finding that your sister was not at Santa Barbara, what did you do then?"

"Why," she said uncertainly, "the obvious thing. I flew back to New York, told my uncle what had happened, and we started to try and find her. In his position it was for him to make private inquiries, and he soon discovered that she had sailed for Plymouth two days after she left home. She was traveling under her own name, and we traced her as far as London, but there—she spread out her hands—"the trail was lost. My uncle asked Scotland Yard to help, and when they drew a blank we appealed to the Surete, but the trouble was we couldn't risk a scandal, with my uncle's position. It all had to be done so secretly."

"Who will be next?" "And just why," said Hugo quietly, "it would be a considerable help if you would explain just why your sister left home and what you know of the three men she was associating with."

For an instant she was silent, obviously fighting for self-control; then she looked up at him calmly. "I don't understand you," she said. "I've told you how it happened. I can't do more."

Hugo stood up abruptly. "In that case," he said, and though his voice was level I could hear that he was very angry, "there's no more to be said. If you will tell me where you left your car, I will bring it round for you. You know, he added reflectively, "you are a very foolish young woman. You have no reason to distrust me. You know who I am, and I have kept very little back from you."

She caught him up quickly. "Then you have kept something back?" "Certainly," he answered gravely. "And I am very glad of it, for I shall now use the something to bargain with you, Miss Willis. We are no disinterested spectators. We are both of us, my friend and I, as deeply involved as you are—because your sister came to him for help, and I because I know your cards on the table, I certainly see no reason why we should tell you the contents of your sister's letter."

Reunion. "Letter!" she cried. "What letter?" "The letter she wrote to Lumsden here, shortly before her death, but which he only received yesterday afternoon. There are some queer items of information in it. She speaks of something 'she' propose to do to a mysterious 'he' on a certain date; she begs Lumsden to warn this unknown 'he' and persuade him to go back home. 'Does that date interest you, Miss Willis, and the other details that I haven't mentioned?'"

She stared up at him, wide-eyed, piteous. "I can't fight any longer," she said wildly. "I must see that letter. I'll tell you everything."

"But not just yet," I put in quickly. From where I sat, I faced the promenade, and at that moment I had seen, threading its way through the pine boles towards us, a squat, podgy figure in white trousers and lavender shirt, "Baron Stahl" on the way to break up the party."

She caught her breath at that, but before she had time to speak, the fat man stood beside our table, a most unpleasant smile creasing his swarthy face. "Miss Willis!" he said, and bowed jerkily. "I am so happy that I find you! My uncle, he is so disturbed! He looks everywhere for you—he not find you nowhere. I ask everyone in the hotel. You come back with me now—no?"

Hugo turned slowly and faced the other. "Baron," he said softly, "you arrive in the nick of time. Miss Willis has just accepted an invitation to have tea with my sister at our villa in Cannes, and we were debating how to let her uncle know her whereabouts. If you will give him a message we shall be most grateful."

Ottilie Willis was very silent as I drove her back to Cannes in her long, white roadster. Hugo kept the Hispano a comfortable twenty yards ahead of us, and from time to time I saw her eyes resting on the back of his head with a curious, reflective scrutiny. "I asked you to take me along," she confided, "because I don't dare to be alone at the moment. Besides, I find that friend of yours a trifle terrifying. He's brilliant, of course, and terribly good-looking, but there's something repellent about him. When we're talking, I feel that I've got to be fighting the whole time to hold my own."

I, too, had the feeling that between her and Hugo a spiritual battle was imminent, the clash of two dominating personalities. The gates of the Chateau stood open. As we crossed the hall the sound of voices, drifted from the living-room, and my heart sank, for that resonant bass could come from only one tanyx that I knew, and I did not fancy that Hugo was at all in the mood for another encounter with Mr. Dunning. Sure enough, as I opened the door, the gentleman himself came into view, reclining as before in Hugo's favorite chair, with Ada, primly upright on her tabouret, beside him. "Well, Mr. Stign," he drawled, in his big, booming voice, "the wanderer has returned as you see."

HAMILTON SAYS GOP AIDED BY NOMINATION OF NEW DEALERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (UP) - Republican Chairman John Hamilton contends that President Roosevelt "must have had his tongue in cheek" when he criticized republican participation in democratic primaries.

Issuing a statement shortly after two democratic senators—Brown of Michigan and Sheppard of Texas—had expressed agreement with the president's comment, Hamilton said last night:

"Taken seriously, Mr. Roosevelt's remarks constitute an indictment of the election laws of a number of sovereign states.

"If republicans have or intend to participate in democratic primaries—and there is no conclusive proof that they have or so intend—it has been and will be in accordance with the provisions of state law.

"Does Mr. Roosevelt now propose to sponsor some kind of federal 'force' law to compel the states to revise their election laws to suit his views?"

As for the republican national committee, Hamilton added:

"It is our desire that republicans keep out of democratic primaries because we confidently believe that republican prospects are enhanced by the nomination of new deal democrats this year."

Chairman Hamilton declared in his statement that Mr. Roosevelt "has not hesitated to take advantage of voters cutting across party lines."

"In 1936," Hamilton said, "he did not engage in talk of political morality when his campaign manager, Jim Farley, went into Minnesota and through a deal brought about the withdrawal of the candidates for governor and senator duly nominated by the democratic party in order that Mr. Roosevelt might have the advantage of Farmer-Labor party support."

Ed Gossett Given Endorsement Of The A. F. Of L.

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 25 (UP) - The American Federation of Labor, through its southwestern representative, W. R. Williams of San Antonio, today was on record with an endorsement of Ed Gossett, Wichita Falls attorney who enters Saturday's second democratic primary against Congressman W. D. McFarlane of Graham.

In a letter to the Wichita Falls Times, Williams writes: "Having fully investigated the records of both Congressman W. D. McFarlane, and the Honorable Ed Gossett, candidates for the democratic nomination for congressman of the 13th district of Texas and fully believing that the interest of the membership of the American Federation of Labor can best be served, I, acting in my official capacity as the representative for the American Federation of Labor for the state of Texas, do hereby give my personal endorsement to the candidacy of the Hon. Ed Gossett, and am urging the membership of the

CHART PATH OF TROPICAL STORM

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 25 (UP) - The weather bureau said today a tropical hurricane was centered at 7 a. m., eastern standard time, about 160 miles southeast of Cozumel Island, Yucatan, and about 100 miles south of extreme western Cuba.

The bureau warned that the hurricane was moving northwestward about 14 to 16 miles an hour and its center probably would pass over the extreme northern part of the Yucatan peninsula or through the western part of the Yucatan channel late this afternoon and tonight.

Meteorologists said the storm was accompanied by winds of hurricane force (75 miles an hour or more) and advised "extreme caution" on the Yucatan peninsula, in the Yucatan channel, on the extreme western tip of Cuba and in the southern Gulf of Mexico during the next 24 to 36 hours.
