TEXAS WOMEN DEMAND RECOUNT

J. J. Lory, Pioneer Of N. Texas and Wichita Is Dead

Veteran in Business and Civic Circles Passes Away Friday Night At 8 O'Clock.

J. J. Lory, for more than a decade one of the outstanding figures in the commercial, civic and religious life of Wichita county and north Texas, died at 8:10 Friday night after a period of illness that far the last week has been regarded as critical. He passed away quietly at his home, 1302 Tenth street, with his wife, the only immediate survivor, at his bedside. He was 85 years of age.

First stricken some three weeks ago, Mr. Lory had gradually weakened until at the first of the present week it was known that his condition was grave. The weight of advancing years caused his illness to be acute and his friends, from the outset, were concerned as to the outcome.

Had Many Friends.

It is doubtful if any man in Wichita county enjoyed a larger circle of friends or was held in higher esteem than was Mr. Lory. A resident of Wichita Falls since 1898 and prior to that a dominant personage in Cook and Archer counties, he had built up an unusually large acquaintanceship. Likeable, hearty and sincere, his friends were numbered only by those who knew him, and in his long and active life he had come in contact with many who recognized and appreciated his true worth.

Mr. Lory's activities were widely apportioned in the business, civic and religious life of those communities in which he had lived. He was one of the organizers of and was for years active in the direction of the old National Bank of Commerce of Wichita Falls, later merged with the present City National bank. He served as vice president and later as chairman of the board of directors of the former bank, and was also for some time a director of the City National bank. These business connections, with others which he held by reason of his cattle and ranch holdings, brought him into daily dealings with scores of those whose names are linked with the development of this territory.

A Life-Long Baptist.

No less prominent was Mr. Lory as a leader in the religious advancement of Wichita Falls. A life-long Baptist, he early identified himself with the First Baptist church of this city and has been a constant worker in that institution. He was for many years senior deacon of the church and had devoted himself untiringly and without reserve to the advancement of its welfare. Here, too, his labors bore fruit in the building up of additional friendships that have lasted from their inception.

J. J. Lory was born Jan. 3, 1839, in Cornwall, England and made Britain his home until he was 20 years of age. Coming to the United States in 1859 he first settled in Grant county, Wisconsin, where most of his education was obtained in the schools of Platteville and the Platteville academy. At the age of 20 he moved to Pomeroy, Iowa, where he built the first store of that district and established a mercantile business that for eight years was one of the leading establishments of the territory.

Married in 1875.

Mr. Lory and Mrs. Susan Treon were married in 1875 and shortly thereafter came to Texas where they first settled at Gainesville. Later he established a large sheep ranch near St. Jo and remained there until 1879 when he moved to Archer county. He was listed as one of the largest and most successful cattlemen of north Texas during his residence there, which continued up until 1898 when he left the ranch life and came to Wichita Falls.

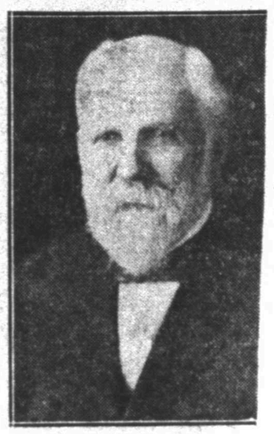

In 1902 Mr. Lory's wife died and in 1912 he remarried, his bride this time being Miss Ella Kirkpatrick of Platteville, Wisconsin. She survives him.

Funeral Today.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the First Baptist church with Rev. O. L. Powers, the pastor, in charge. The remains will be taken to Mr. Lory's old home at Platteville for burial, accompanied by Mrs. Lory and Mrd. A. W. Eichenberger.

Active pall bearers at the services will be W. W. Brown, C. J. Shumake, J. M. Baber, J. W. Robinson, Jr., W. H. Davis, W. A. Freear; honorary pallbearers will be J. A. Kemp, J. C. Ward, R. E. Huff, Leslie Humphrey, Dr. R. C. Smith, W. J. Gardner, J. T. Brooks, I. A. Farris, W. Lee Moore, J. A. Riehelt, G. C. Wood, B. B. Bacon, C. H. Foley, E. E. Fuller, W. C. Brown, W. M. Dainel, Carl Williamson, W. N. Bonner, J. M. Erwin, W. J. Hawthorn, B. A. Stayton, H. J. Anderson, A. C. Bennett, W. N. Barringer, A. F. Kimmell, J. G. Dixon and Bert King.

Rail Stocks Hit 100 Million On Gotham Exchange

ORDERS POUR IN

Place Blame for Loss Of Radical Power In Congress

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Railroad stocks traded in on the New York stock exchange approximated more than $100,000,000 in quoted value today in one of the most remarkable buying demonstrations in recent years. Forty-five carrier stocks soared to new high prices for the year, some of them to the highest prices in history, on net gains that ranged from small fractions to four points.

Buying orders poured into the market from all sections of the country in such great volume that total sales of all stocks exceeded 2,300,000 shares, the first two million share day since April 17, 1922, and probably the most active since the wide-open break of June, 1916, when one day's sales ran above three million shares. There was a total of 511 stocks traded in during the day as compared with the high record of 517 established on Dec. 28, 1923.

While the recent high monthly earnings statements and record-breaking car loading statistics have been favorites in the accumulation of railroad shares, most market observers agreed that the almost unprecedented demand for those stocks at this time was due to the growing belief that the apparent loss of the balance of power by the radical element in congress predicted the probability of adverse railroad legislation in the next few years and left the railroads free to carry out ambitious consolidation and development programs in addition to giving consideration to dividend increases which seem warranted by new earnings.

PRINCESS ARRAIGNED

Indian Soprano in Court Charged With Grand Larceny.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Ida Rider, 26, Indian soprano, who sings under the name of Princess Atalie Unkalunt and who described herself as a daughter of State Senator Thomas Rider of Oklahoma and a niece of Mrs. Richard Croker, widow of the former Tammany leader, was arraigned in Yorkville court today on a grand larceny charge.

The singer is accused of stealing personal property valued at $355 from Mrs. Lucy Benedict, daughter of George H. Ainslie, an art dealer, while a week-end guest at the Ainslie home at Ardsley-On-The-Hudson, New York. Mrs. Benedict is the complainant.

Cold Wave Hits City,

City Awakens Friday Morning To Find Frigid Temperature on Hand.

Wichita Falls shivvered through the coldest day of the winter yesterday when the thermometer, driven steadily downward by a biting wind from the north, reached a low point of 45 degrees. A maximum of 85 was recorded by the observation bureau of the Wichita Falls Electric company.

True to predictions, the expected cold wave rolled in from the north during the early hours of the morning, and those who had gone to bed with sultry and oppressive weather prevailing woke up to find a frigid breeze sweeping in from the north. The day was partly cloudy, but a bright sun helped considerably in warming things up.

Colder weather Friday night, followed by rising temperature was predicted for Saturday.

SOVIET CELEBRATES BIRTH

Russian Reds Observe Seventh Anniversary With Parade

MOSCOW, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Soviet Russia today celebrated the seventh anniversary of October 1917, revolution with huge street parades, military demonstrations, patriotic exercises and speech making. Adoption of the new calendar advanced the date of the revolution to November 7, whereas it actually took place on October 25.

Trotsky, Stalin, Rykoff and Kalenin, standing atop of Lenine's mausoleum in Red Square, reviewed a great military parade of 12,000 sturdy peasant recruits who, before the Lenine shrine took solomn oath to support the red army and uphold the principles of the revolution.

MEXICO PARALLELS RUSSIA

Obregon Says She Seeks Betterment of Common People.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Russia and Mexico are pursuing the same ideal, which is for the betterment of the masses of the common people, said President Obregon today to Stanislau Pestkovsky in answer to an address of the first Russian soviet minister to Mexico on the presentation of his credentials at the formal resumption of diplomatic relations between Mexico and Russia.

The ceremony which took place in the national palace in the presence of President Obregon, members of the cabinet, leading politicians and military officers was featured by the address of M. Pestkovsky.

PIONEERS CAPTURED

Denton Convicts Rounded Up After Breaking From Jail.

DENTON, Texas, Nov. 7.—Five of the ten prisoners who escaped from the county jail here today had been recaptured tonight. Three of the men, including Will Mills, alleged leader, were found hiding under the floor of a church about five blocks from the jail. The other two were found in some brush north of town. Posses were searching for the other five. The prisoners escaped by overpowing the jailer.

BAKING COMPANIES MERGE

Huge Organization To Be Perfected Among Bread Makers

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Incorporation of the Continental Baking corporation, which is expected to be the first step in a huge merger of the United Bakeries corporation, the Ward Baking corporation and other leading organizations in this field, was announced today by Geo. G. Barber, an official of the United Bakeries, who will assume the chairmanship of the new concern.

Forced To Dig Up His Dead Wife

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 7.—Kidnaped from his home in Dublin, Ga., early yesterday morning while his aged father was looking on, and brought to this city by three men unknown to him, E. P. Dominy, 21, according to the story related to police authorities today, was taken to Greenwood cemetary here where his 19 year old wife was buried Thursday and forced to dig from the new grave the coffin containing his wife's body.

At the cemetery, says Dominy more than a score of men, none of whom he could identify, surrounded him and compelled him to open the coffin lid and gaze at the face of his wife. Then followed a severe beating at the hands of the men and finally in a state of collapse Dominy was released. He was seen wandering dazedly about the streets and taken to the city jail where it developed he was wanted on a warrant charging non-support of his child.

He was placed under arrest and not released until this morning when bondsmen appeared and gave the required $500 bond. His trial will be held November 24.

Ft. Worth Klan Rumpus Settled As KK Withdraw

WON'T USE CHURCH

Norris Offers Place For Staging Big Minstrel Show

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 7.—Injunction proceedings brought by the officers of the Euterpean Musical club against the local ku klux klan to restrain them from using the auditorium of the First Baptist church for the holding of its minstrel show tonight was amicably settled before a court order was given late this evening.

At the conclusion of the hearing Julian H. Xyclops, on behalf of the klan asserted that the klan was willing to give up the use of the church auditorium and seek other quarters.

The musical club had a contract for the use of the auditorium tonight. When the klavern in which the klan intended holding the show burned early yesterday morning, the Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church, offered the use of the church auditorium to the klan over all other engagements. The filing of an application for an injunction by the Euterpen club resulted.

FLIERS SAFE IN ILLINOIS.

Lieutenants Smith and Arnold Fly From Dallas In 7 Hours.

BELLEVILLE, Ills., Nov. 7.—Lieutenants Smith and Arnold, army round the world fliers, arrived here at 4 p. m. today from Dallas, Texas, having covered the distance in 6 hours and 50 minutes. They expect to continue their flight to the east next Friday, when they will be joined here by Lieutenants Wade and Nelson, who are on their way to New Orleans.

The two fliers left early in the evening for St. Louis, whence they planned to leave by train for Chicago at midnight. Lieutenant Smith, commander of the fliers, said he expected to return to St. Louis probably next week to meet the other two officers, and that they would then continue their flight together.

FIRST SUGAR SOLD

25,000 Bags of Cuban Cane Brings 4.77, Duty Paid.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The first sale of new crop Cuban sugar to this country occurred today when a cargo of 25,000 bags were sold to a Texas City refiner at three cents cost and freight, equal to 4.77, duty paid.

It will not be shipped until February and is about 3-4 of a cent per pound lower than the present price of old crop Cuba.

FARM INQUIRY BOARD NAMED BY PRESIDENT

He Selects Men to Make Study and Report Of Agriculture

TO WORK AT ONCE

Wyoming Man Selected As Chairman Of Commission

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. — President Coolidge announced today the personnel of the commission which he proposed in his speech accepting the republican nomination for president, should be appointed to inquire into agricultural conditions with a view to determining a program for permanent improvement of the industry through legislation and otherwise.

Robert E. Carey of Carey Hurst, Wyo., a former governor of that state, was named chairman of the voluntary commission which includes seven other farm leaders from various sections of the country. Additional appointments may be made later, it was said. The members announced today are:

Bradfute Selected.

O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation of Chicago; Charles S. Barrett, chairman of the National Board of Farm Organizations, of Union City, Ga.; Louis J. Tabor, master of the National Grange, of Columbus, Ohio.

Ralph P. Merritt of Fresno, Calif., president of the Sunmaid Raisin Growers; R. W. Thatcher, director of the New York Experiment station, of Geneva, N. Y.; W. C. Coffey, dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the experiment station of the University of Minnesota, and Fred H. Bixby, president of the American National Live Stock association of Long Beach, Calif.

Wants No Delay.

It is intended that there shall be no delay in the commission's operation, it being the present plan for the commission to meet in Washington for a conference about the middle of the month.

The men selected are believed at the White House to be representative of farmers generally and well acquainted with agricultural conditions. As a result it is believed a program may be outlined by them without undue delay and probably in time for action upon any proposals requiring legislative action at the short session of the present congress, which will convene next month.

Filipinos Discouraged.

No Hope for Freedom With Coolidge In Saddle, They Say.

MANILA, Nov. 7.—(AP) — The Philippine Herald, owned and operated by Filipinos, comments on the election in the United States as follows:

"The victory of Coolidge has in one respect given a certain definiteness to the Philippine problem. Under his administration the independence of the Philippines is a remote possibility with him in the White House ready with his veto power to kill any legislation granting the islands their freedom. It is therefore for Filipinos to realize the limitations of their political opportunities during the next four years."

WOMAN HOLDS COIN OFF.

Gray Hair With Pistol and Bulldogs Disputes Eviction.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—A gray haired woman armed with a pistol and aided by three bulldogs held at bay for more than an hour a squad of 20 policemen and deputy bailiffs sent to serve an eviction notice on her. In the end, however, she was outmaneuvered by the officers, who made a noisy attack on the front door to draw her attention while a lone officer crept in the back door and pinioned her arms. Shortly before a bailiff had tried to induce a 19-year-old youth to creep in and disarm the woman. She saw him coming and when she threatened to shoot, the frightened youth dived through a window.

MAY POSTPONE HEARINGS.

Investigation of Campaign Expenditures to Be Held Up.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The senate committee investigating campaign expenditures may not resume hearings until after congress convenes, Chairman Borah said today. Three members of the committee are now in their home states and are not expected in Washington until shortly before congress opens.

No Session of Congress After The December Term, Is Coolidge's Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Coolidge does not contemplate, at least for the present, calling the new congress into special session after next March 4, nor does he now expect to present any comprehensive plan of tax reduction to the present congress at the short session which will begin next month.

White House spokesmen in outlining the president's views today indicated that farm legislation and the annual appropriation bills would comprise the principal subjects of congressional action at the approaching short session.

Won't Reopen It.

Insofar as tax reduction is concerned, it was made known that President Coolidge just now does not think it advisable to reopen the whole question of taxation at the short session with a congress which has but recently declared its position on the subject. He has not, however, determined on the recommendations he will submit to the session beginning in December and meanwhile will study the advisability of taxation recommendations along with others.

The president's position on legislative problems was given after a day devoted largely to conference with congressional leaders. Senate spokesmen frankly expressed the hope that the president would not call a special session, declaring the country had shown no desire for immediate additional legislation.

Republicans Gain One More Seat On Latest Returns

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. — The republicans, on the basis of revised election returns, appeared today to have gained an additional seat in the house, bringing their total up to 247, or 29 more than a majority.

The upset in the first Oklahoma district cut the democratic strength to 182 seats, as against 207 in the present house.

On unofficial returns, Wayne Bayless, democrat, was winner by a scant margin in the Oklahoma district but the official tabulation showed him 143 votes behind S. J. Montgomery, his republican opponent.

In the fifth Washington district Representative Hill, democrat, maintained a small lead over his republican opponent, with the count practically complete, while Representative Morrow, democratic representative at large from New Mexico kept to the fore as the tabulation of votes proceeded slowly.

In New Mexico, Senator Bursum, republican, continued to trail Sam G. Bratton, democrat, but President Coolidge maintained a lead over John W. Davis. If final returns show Coolidge a winner in New Mexico, his electoral college total will be 382, as all doubt as to his capturing North Dakota was removed today when the count there was practically completed. Loss of New Mexico would cut the Davis electoral vote to 136, with Senator LaFollette's total at 13.

Wilbur Declines To Reveal Papers In Lease Hearing

HUGHES APPROVES

He Also Says That Evidence Is Confidential

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—A communication from Curtis D. Wilbur secretary of the navy stating that he is not at liberty to furnish the court certain confidential papers subpoenaed by the defense, was introduced in evidence today by the defense in closing its case in the government's suit to cancel leases and contracts held by the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co., in the Elk Hills naval oil reserve.

Answers Subpoena.

The communication was an answer to a subpoena served upon the secretary to produce certain records and secret plans of the navy department to be used in evidence in the suit. Secretary Wilbur's letter said in part:

"All aforesaid papers being found among the official files and records of the department of the navy are of a confidential nature, containing matters of importance to the nation, the disclosures of which would in his (Wilbur's) opinion be injurious to the public interest and would prove prejudicial to the government."

Hughes Approves.

A concurring opinion from Charles E. Hughes, secretary of state also was presented which, in part, stated:

"I concur in the view of the secretary of the navy that the disclosure of the contents of the papers would be incompatible with the public interest."

DAVIS CONGRATULATES "MA"

Demo Leader Wishes Texas Governor Successful Administration

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 7. — Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson today received a telegram from John W. Davis, defeated democratic candidate for president, congratulating her upon her election as governor of Texas. The message, dated Glen Cove, New York, read:

"Permit me to congratulate you on your victory and wish you a successful administration."

Mrs. Ferguson also received a cablegram of congratulations from Elizabeth Bates Dagama, wife of the Brizilian ambassador to England.

"MA" FOR GOVERNOR'S BALL.

"They Can Dance Until Daylight," Says Governor-Elect.

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 7.—The governor's ball, discontinued at the inauguration of Governor W. P. Hobby and Pat M. Neff, will be held when Mrs. Miriam Ferguson is inaugurated, if the people of Austin want it, the governor-elect said here today.

The ball is entirely in the hands of the people of Austin and does not cost the state anything, she said. If the Austin people want to revive it, she said, she will not stand in their way and "they can dance until daylight if they want to."

BROOKHART IN LEAD

Day's Count of Votes Fails to Make Change in Standing

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 7.—With the unofficial returns on Iowa's senatorial contest between Senator Smith W. Brookhart, republican and Daniel F. Steck, democrat, verified and rechecked by county auditors, but making no material change in the small lead of Senator Brookhart, Iowa politicians are looking forward to the official county canvass next week for possible determination of the winner. The unofficial figures placed Brookhart 1,025 votes in the lead.

JAIL BREAKERS CAUGHT

Three Who Broke From Denton Pen Captured Friday.

DENTON, Texas, Nov. 7.—Will Mills, alleged leader in the escape of ten prisoners from the county jail here early today and two others of the escaped men were captured late today. They were found hiding under the floor of a church about five blocks from the jail.

Body of Missing Youth Found In Isolated Grave

Four New York Boys Held for Death Of Companion

CLAIM ACCIDENT

They Say He Was Shot When Gun Went Off On Rabbit Hunt

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The body of Ernest Schwer Jr., 13, who disappeared from his Brooklyn home ten days ago, was found buried in Richmond Hill, Long Island by detectives tonight, who said they were led to the spot by four boys who they allege confessed to the killing of the Schwer boy.

Young Schwer was last seen when he went to attend some muskrat traps with four companions in a swamp near his home. The other boys later told police that Schwer had left them and started for home.

Arthur Megan, 12 years old, told detectives that Schwer was killed by a .22 calibre rifle which was discharged accidentally, and that he, his brother, Harold Megan, 11, Adam Rotunda, 12, and Charles Hirschfield, 14, all of Richmond Hill, became panic stricken and hid the body in the swampy lot bordering Maple Grove cemetery.

The boys, all of whom attend the same public school in Richmond Hill, were rabbit shooting and laid the rifle on the stump of a tree, according to Megan's story. While playing near the stump one of the boys, Megan said, accidentally fell against the gun and discharged it. Schwer was hit by the bullet and dropped dead, Megan declared.

BUILDING BOOM FORESEEN.

Renewed Activity Expected With Election Out of Way.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.— Renewed building activity is inevitable now that all political uneasiness is at an end, according to a review today by the Indiana Limestone Quarrymen's association.

"The anticipated new record for building construction has already been made certain," says the review. "Contracts for the ten-month period including preliminary figures for October has a valuation of approximately $4,750,000,000, which exceeds any previous record.

"Not only should the final 60 days of this year maintain the rapid increase that has been recorded, but there should be a large carrying over into next year. Winter building should be in large volume."

LODGE STILL CRITICAL.

Massachusetts Senator In Grave Condition In Hospital.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 7.—The condition of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who suffered a stroke at the Charles Gates hospital here Wednesday, remained grave here today, according to physicians. After lying for nearly 48 hours in a state of coma, Senator Lodge today regained consciousness and took a little nourishment. Tonight in their bulletin six physicians announced that the periods of consciousness had been more sustained and that he had taken more nourishment since noon.

MRS. MORE RE-ELECTED.

Texas City Woman Again Heads Texas League of Women Voters.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 7.—Re-election of Mrs. Helen M. More of Texas City as president of the Texas League of Women Voters closed the fifth annual convention of the league here today. Mrs. Alice G. Merchant of El Paso was elected first vice president and Mrs. Anna B. Cade of Chester, corresponding secretary. Selection of next years meeting place was left to the executive committee.

CRAWFORD GIVEN BOND

Slayer of Paul O'Day At Liberty In Dallas.

DALLAS, Nov. 7.—W. L. Crawford, slayer of Paul M. O'Day, prominent Dallas attorney, was released from county jail today under $20,000 bond set by the court of criminal appeals. He had been confined since the shooting of O'Day about six weeks ago, local courts having refused to grant bond under an indictment charging Crawford with murder.

VOTERS LEAGUE WANTS REPORTS FROM EACH BOX

Resolution Adopted Says State Has Suffered Humiliation

"COUNT 'EM AS CAST"

They Assert Integrity Of Ballot Box Should Be Upheld

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 7.—The Texas League of Women Voters called upon county election officials in a resolution unanimously adopted at its closing session today, "to demand a complete and accurate accounting from precinct election officials of every ballot cast in the recent election."

The resolution offered by Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, vice president of the National League of Women Voters, declared in the past Texas has "suffered the humiliation of unfavorable national publicity" over the count of election returns.

Is Non-Partisan.

The league is non-partisan and composed of various political parties, the resolution pointed out, but "they are of one mind in believing that the integrity of the ballot boxes should be held sacred and believe in the rights of all citizens to have their ballots counted as cast."

The league re-elected Mrs. Helen Moore of Texas City as its president. The resolution regarding a count of the general election vote was recited:

"The state of Texas has more than once suffered the humiliation of unfavorable national publicity upon its method of conducting its elections, and in one instance, certain senators of the state were convicted in the federal courts for unlawfully tampering with the ballot boxes in which federal officers were elected."

NOT IN IGNORANCE OF LAW.

Republican Campaign Manager Comes Back at Berry.

DALLAS, Nov. 7.—W. E. Talbot, campaign manager of Dr. George C. Butte, republican gubernatorial candidate in Tuesday's election, today made public his answer to E. A. Berry, chairman of the democratic state executive committee, regarding cooperation between the two officials in instructing county officials to preserve the ballots of the election. The statement in part said:

"Our wire to you yesterday was not in ignorance of any statute. We have many letters and telegrams from over the state claiming that votes where George C. Butte's name was written in were not counted. In view of the Ferguson statement that they would welcome an honest count, we took this at its face value and submitted to you a proposition to attempt to carry this into effect."

CHILE ELECTION MAY 10.

President and Congress to Be Chosen by Popular Vote.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Advices from Chile, made public today both by the Chilean embassy and by the state department, state that the extra constitutional junta now in control of the Chilean government has completed plans for a general election May 10, next, at which a president and congress will be elected by direct vote of the people.

The project contemplates early restoration of the constitutional regime in Chile, according to an embassy telegram from Carlos Aldonate, foreign minister in the junta cabinet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A radio wave flashed across the ocean from England last night set off a powder flash, clicked a camera and made a photograph in the Grand Central Palace at a radio exposition.

Major General J. G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America, Helen Keller and Harold Bolster, director of the exposition, were photographed by the unseen radio photographer, who was stationed in Carnarvon, Wales.

State Highway Department Takes Up Work Against Accidents

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A battle with death at grade crossings and on highways was officially started today by the state through the railroad commission with creation of the Texas council of safety.

Railroad men and highway engineers gathered here at a conference called by the railroad commission decided the time had come to open relentless warfare on the carnage which it is said is taking a greater toll than war.

State Association.

The conference decided on the creation of a state-wide association to include every public organization and every agency dealing with the public. This organization will take definite form at a larger meeting to be called at a date to be set later today. It will deal not only with grade crossing accidents, but with other phases of accidents on highways, it was decided.

In a general discussion of the situation H. M. Mayo, safety superintendent of the Southern Pacific, said that bout 76,000 persons are killed annually in grade corssing accidents, 72 per cent of whom are children. He said fully 90 per cent of the accidents are preventable.

Gilchist Talks.

Gibb Gilchrist, highway engineer, reported that 301 of the approximately 10,000 grade crossings in the state had been eliminated since creation of the highway commission, at a cost of $600,000. The figures on the number of crossings were presented by L. A. Gueringer, engineer of the railroad commission.

Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston appealed to the conference to present a complete workable law to the legislature in order to get definite action.

The aims of the organization will be educational, legislative and the securing of a uniform system for crossings, said Clarence E. Gilmore, who called the conference.

U. S. CORRESPONDENT INJURED

Paris Writer For New York Times Hurt in Train Wreck.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Walter Duranty, staff correspondent of the New York Times and recently New York Times correspondent in Russia, was injured when the Paris-Havre express was derailed in a tunnel near Rouen at 10 o'clock last night. Both of his legs were broken.

A freight train coming in the opposite direction struck the express and caused it to leave the track. Two persons were killed, a French resident of Havre and an Englishman living in Paris. Besides Mr. Duranty five other persons were injured.

10 ESCAPE FROM JAIL

Prisoners Gain Freedom at Denton by Overpowering Guards.

DENTON, Texas, Nov. 7.—Ten white prisoners escaped from the Denton county jail early today by overpowering the jailer and at noon none had been captured. Two pistols had been smuggled in and these were used to coerce the jailer. One of the escaped men broke the local jail twice previously.

Irrigation

By A. M. M'PHERSON.

WATER.

Can an Individual Farmer Protect Himself From Waterlogging?

No doubt everyone feels that they can take care of the problem of waterlogging as far as their individual holdings are concerned, and they reason that if this is so, why be alarmed about the matter at all. Let the water hog ruin his place if he wants to; it will be his own loss, not that of the man who uses his water economically.

Perhaps this would be good logic from a purely selfish standpoint if the premises were sound. Unfortunately they are not.

A tract of land on an irrigation project may never have a drop of water used on it and still be ruined by waterloggings from irrigation. In fact, this is a comparatively common occurrence. It is far more common, however, to find some first-class farmer suffering from waterlogging in spite of the fact that he has used his water economically and farmed well.

Water when applied to the surface for irrigation sinks. That is as it should be. Irrigation water must get down where the roots are if any good is to result.

Water which sinks below the surface is not all used by the plants, nor is it all evaporated by wind and sun. Much of it must find its way underground to some outlet. It is this surplus water, which serves no useful purpose, that causes waterlogging.

Surplus water will often travel miles under ground before it will do any damage; then because of some subterranean obstruction its progress is stopped and it proceeds to fill up the soil and waterlogs some good farmer's land.

A man using more water than is required for his crops does not necessarily damage his own farm, but he very often does damage the farm of a neighbor miles away. That is the reason why a man cannot protect his own place from waterlogging by being economical with his water. The waterlogging is caused by excess use of some other farmer over whom he has no control. Surely this is a condition that must be guarded against on our irrigation project.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them no wwith Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the st nach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Pistol Duel Ends Domestic Strife For 2 Frenchmen

They "Shoot It Out" After One Accuses Other Of Coveting His Wife

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—A vacant room in a Forbes street building here was used as a "field of honor" by two Frenchmen today and when the smoke of battle cleared the men lay dead on the floor, each with a bullet in his head.

Pierce Biagolli of French-Italian extraction, was called upon by J. N. Fournaire, a French baker, to explain attentions alleged to have been paid to Fournaire's wife, Georgette, the mother of two children. Fournaire spent the last two months in jail on a serious charge lodged by a 14-year-old girl. He was released on bail yesterday and returning home is said to have heard whisperings concerning his wife and his friend.

Fournaire summoned Biagioli, seeking an explanation and they met this morning, going to the vacant room in the bakery building to settle the argument. Police reports were that Fournaire after killing Biagioli shot himself.

"GUN WOMAN" ARRESTED

20-Year-Old Bobbed-Haired Blonde Aids Brooklyn Thugs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Beautrice Kauffman, 20-year-old bobbed blonde, was arrested in Brooklyn today as the "two-gun" woman confederate of four men bandits who held up the Kings county post aof the veterans of the world war Saturday night and robbed 15 members of jewelry and cash totaling $2,500. Two of the four men also were arrested.

The young woman sat in the bandit's automobile outside the building and prevented interference with the holdup by dispalying two revolvers.

Simms Wildcat, NE Of Graham Flowing From Lime Around 3,925 Ft.

Simms Oil company's No. 1 Willis, about four miles northeast of Graham, central Young county, is reported flowing by heads at a rate of about two an hour, yesterday afternoon, after filling up rapidly with oil from a lime encountered at a reported depth of 3,922 feet and penetrated to 3,925 feet. The well is in the middle of a large untested territory four miles from small producing wells just outside the city limits of Graham to the east.

The well is standing just three feet in the producing lime, and in event of drilling deeper and making a good well will undoubtedly divert some attention from north Young county south. Marland Oil company of Texas has blocked up a large piece of acreage just north of the new producer and will drill soon.

The well is located in TE&LCO survey, 2047, W. M. Willis land, northeast of Graham.

Carter et al, White

Carter-Macon-Phillips have completed their No. 11-E, White, lot 14, block 34, offsetting the Robertson lease to the east for an initial production of about 250 barrels, usual 1,600-foot sand. The rig partially burnt on this well the first part of the week when it was being swabbed, causing a loss of between $700 and $800.

Rig is up for No. 3-C, Carter-Gould, between 1-C and 2-C, south 30 acres of lot 15.

No. 12-E, offsetting Magnolia's No. 6 Parrish, to the north, is drilling below 1,400 feet.

No. 14-E is a derrick, an inside location, 300 feet west of No. 9-E; No. 13-E is spudding, offsetting 2-C to the west.

Texhoma, Burnett

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has completed and placed on the pump their No. 11-B Burnett, south of Fowlkes station, SA&MGRR survey, abstract 271, initial production 75 barrels, sand 1,580-90 feet.

Location has been made for No. 12-B, 50 feet north of No. 11-B, to go to the 1,800-foot sand.

Ray-Massie, Dill

Ray and Massie have encountered a broken sand showing oil at a depth below 1,990 feet in their No. 1, Dill, east of the southwest corner of the northwest forty acres of section 84, H&TCRR block 19, Wilbarger county, and have drilled about twelve feet. It was intended yesterday afternoon to take a little more and then set casing and test.

In event of making a producer here the South Vernon field will have been extended a quarter of a mile north.

Eagle Creek, Beardon

The Eagle Creek Oil company is pulling casing and will abandon their No. 1 Beardon, southeast corner of the Beardon land, BB&CRR survey, abstract 54, north of the Panhandle-Knight-Hines area, south Archer county, after bailing salt water at a reported depth below 1,100 feet.

North of Megargel

Cochran-Cranfill-McElreath - Cranfill are moving on for their No. 1 Wilson and Anderson, northwest corner of block 2479, TE&LCO survey, about four miles north of Megargel.

Bridwell-Heydrick, Stephens

Bridwell and Heydrick have drilled the cement plug out of their gas well, No. 2, Stephens, 600 feet east of No. 1, and have a well estimated as large as the Petroleum Producers gasser (Church well) to the north, with a rock pressure of 500 pounds, some fifteen pounds better than that of the north offset. Reports of an arrangement to furnish Vernon with gas for industrial and domestic use this winter through the medium of operators granted a franchise granted by the Vernon city council were denied last night by Mr. Bridwell.

No. 5, Stephens, south of the No. 1, Stephens is drilling at 680 feet; No. 4, directly east of No. 1, is drilling at 735 feet; No. 6, a location east of the gas well has spudded and is down to 285 feet. The No. 1, Stephens is holding to an output of around 1200 barrels a day.

Panhandle-Knight-Hines

The Panhandle Refining company and Knight and Hines are drilling past 858 feet on their No. 4, Beardon, third location south from the northeast corner of their Beardon lease.

Ragle E-3 Panhandle-Consolidated, is drilling past 523 feet; E-2 past 294 feet; B-6, offsetting the Humble's No. 2 Ragle to the west, is spdded and down to 182 feet; Davis A-4 is a rig.

Humble Pipeline

The Humble Pipeline company yesterday started the stringing of the pipe on their new 52-mile pipeline to Wilbarger county, south Vernon field, working both ways from a point about sixteen miles southwest of Electra, taking six inch pipe toward Swastika where the new unit will connect with the main line to the gulf, and four inch toward south Vernon. About four cars of four-inch and four cars of six-inch were on the ground and other reported unloading at Dundee, near which the line will run.

It is expected that actual laying of pipe will commence in about three or four days, with completion within thirty days afterward if weather permits.

Magnolia, Parrish

The Magnolia Petroleum company has completed their No. 4, Parrish, southeast corner of their forty acres, the northwest of the northwest of section 26, H&TCRR survey, abstract 1107, Parrish-White district, central Archer county, and are placing it one the pump for an estimated 50 barrels well, sand depth given as 1,592-96 feet.

No. 6 in the northwest corner of the same forty acres is drilling at about 1,220 feet; No. 7, a location west of No. 4 is drilling at about 300 feet. No. 8 is rigging up between No's. 2 and 6, a location east of 6.

Magnolia, Portwood

The Magnilia Petroleum company is reported drilling below 600 feet with a Star rig on their No. 2 Portwood, southwest corner of their Portwood lease in block 2412, TE&LCO survey, Baylor county, southwest of Megargel.

Rosa et al, Montague

Ed Rose et al have abandoned their test on the Summerour farm near Sunset, Montague county, after drilling to 2,350 feet. Several sands and gas sands were encountered at various depths down to 2,250 feet, but below that depth there was no regularity of formations.

Wilson, Beardon Heirs

Lee Wilson is starting up on No. 6 Beardon heirs, 300 feet south of No. 4 and the third location from the northeast corner of his Beardon lease, Hopkins survey, south Archer county.

No. 4 is being placed on the pump from the usual lower 1,000 foot sand.

O'Donohoe-Gates, KWFVL

O'Donohoe and Gates have completed their No. 3, Kemp and Allen, block 27, KWFVL, Wichita county, south Electra, and are placing it on the pump for an estimated 50 barrel well, sand given as between 1,172-85 feet.

This well is fifty feet east of the No. 2, making between 54 and 55 barrels at 1,639-47 feet, which in turn is 300 feet south of the No. 1, making about 7or 8 barrels a day, sand 1,643-46 feet.

Rig from the No. 3 is being skidded 300 feet south for No. 4.

Kunkel Well

Shaw-Rathke-Harvey-Taylor et al are starting up again to finish their contract depth of 1,500 feet on their No. 1 Kunkel, Hardaway survey, abstract 164, north of the Panhandle-Knight-Hines pool, south Archer county. Present depts of the hole is given as 1,215 feet, in sand.

Knight-Hines Wildcats

Knight and Hines are moving on two wildcats in north Young county, the No. 1, Logan, between Swastika and the Peter-Kemp area, and on the No. 1, Collie northwest corner of block 242 TE&LCO survey, about 2 miles east of Orth.

Humble, Ragle

The Humble Oil and Refining company is standardizing their No. 1, Ragle, east offset to the Panhandle-Consolidated Ragle B-5, and look like they have a 100-barrel well or better, sand depth approximately at 1,084-1,102 feet.

Bridwell-Heydrick et al

Bridwell and Heydrick and T&P Coal and Oil company are rigging up with cable tools on their No. 1, Waggoner, a little north of the southwest corner of block 104 H&TCRR, block 14, Wilbarger county, west of the south Vernon area.

LITCHFIELD ET AL, CAMPBELL

Special to the Record News.

OLNEY, Nov. 7.—Litchfield et al have about 500 feet of fluid in the hole in their No. 1 Campbell, located near the center of the west line of the Doctor Campbell land, TE&LCO survey, abstract 483, about a mile and a half southeast of the Knight-Hines-Panhandle area, from three feet of sand encountered at a reported depth of 1,040 feet. Bailing today failed to lower the fluid to any appreciable extent and tonight it was reported rising in the hole.

The well seemingly opens a new pool, southeast of the Ragel area, in much the same way that Carey and others obtained their pool northwest of the field. The well looks like 50-75 barrel well in its present state. Surface elevation on Litchfield well is given as 1,270, while a point on the Ragle lease shows only 1,254 feet.

The well could hardly be called an extension of the Ragle area with the old Eagle Creek and Lee Wilson and Shamrock dry holes in between.

ALL ALONE IN HIS GLORY.

Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York will be all alone in his glory in the city of Albany for two years after January 1, 1925. He was the only man on the democratic state ticket who escaped slaughter and he won by a majority of more than 100,000. He is the only man in the history of the empire state ever elected three times.

Coolidge and Dawes swept the state by a majority almost touching the million mark. Smith survived the earthquake. Pitted against him was young Theodore Roosevelt, the son of his father. Roosevelt was born an aristocrat; Smith grew up on the dies walks of New York and has filled every office within the gift of the people of his native city and state.

A defeated candidate for presidential honors he was drafted to make the race for reelection after he had protested that he was a poor man and wished to retire to private life to accumulate a competency for his family.

He had the bitter opposition of the Hearst newspapers, he was the target for the missiles of his personal and political enemies and yet he emerged from the conflict a winner for the third time and this too when all his associates went down in defeat.

Young Theodore Roosevelt had an ambitious program mapped out. He was to walk in the footsteps of his father and hoped to be president some day. He had served a term in the legislature of his native state, he had worn the uniform in France and he resigned the office of assistant secretary of the navy to accept the republican nomination for governor of New York. At 37 he met his Waterloo.

BIG TAX PAYERS

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is the richest man in America. He pays the largest tax on income to the government. Never overlook the house of steel. The income tax paid by the United States Steel corporation for 1923 was $15,930,901, said to be the greatest single tax to be paid by any one industrial corporation and topping by $1,481,229 the 1923 tax payment of the Ford Motor company, which was $14,449,673.

The house of steel is a billion dollar corporation. It has thousands of stockholders. Henry Ford and his son are the owners of the Ford corporation and all the holdings which includes railroads, vast forests of timber and mines and factories. It is owned by two persons and not required to make public its earnings except when it comes to income tax payments.

Henry Ford's automobile company was started 25 years ago with a capitalization of $100,000 of which its backers were able to furnish only $28,000 in actual cash. In 1923 the income tax paid by the Ford family on all their holdings amounted to $18,902,981 or $2,972,080 more than that paid by the house of steel, known as the United States Steel corporation.

It appears to be a merry race between the house of steel and the house of the flivver for first place on the income tax honor roll.

What Today Means to You

SCORPIO.

Today's planetary aspects are, during the early part of the day, negative, and counsel comparative inaction and an attitude of dispassionate calm, and a fighting against impulse and half-baked conclusions. In the early afternoon, the aspects take on a decided turn for the better, although it cannot be said that they are either auspicious or favorable for business. Rather do they stimulate the emotions and encourage the affections. This is a valuable opportunity for seeking contentment and happiness in the home circle, or amongst friends with whom understanding and appreciation are reciprocal.

A child born today will have normal health, although one or more rather serious ailments, during infancy, will inspire fear and will require much care and vigilance. Its character will be pliable, its disposition, emotional, its mentality, abnormal. This child must, at a very early age, be inculcated with a just appreciation of moral values, so that, in its pliancy, it will always lean to the right, and shun the wrong. It must also be taught, whilst not suppressing its emotions, to control them. It will achieve its greatest measure of success along lines of public endeavor.

If today is your birthday, you are more correct in observing forms than in cultivating a spirit of kindness and charity. You are long on outward demonstration and ceremony, but short on internal feelings of sincerity that should predominate. In your religious exercises, you attach too much importance to the outward prescribed requirements, and too little to the depth of belief and conviction that should be the foundation of all sacred rites. In your association with others, you emphasize correct mannerisms, but often, in your actions and thoughts, display an absence of that kindly consideration that should favor all our relationship with others.

It is not so much what you say that counts; it is the thought behind your words that gives them their value. There are forms and conventionalities that have to be observed, in order to satisfy the requirements of social and religious order. Of much more value, however, is the throbbing of the heart, and the response that it makes to emotion and sentiment. 'Tis better to be a diamond in the rough, than an imitation pearl in a valuable setting.

Successful people born on this date are:

More Truth Than Poetry

THE TRUANT

When other youngsters were in school,
He dreamed all day, did Bill,
Beside the blue and shining pool
Above the ruined mill.
He loved to watch the birds and flowers;
With half closed wistful eyes,
He'd lie upon his back for hours
And gaze upon the skies.

He knew the trail the foxes made
Across the mossy glen;
He knew where, in the birch tree's shade
The badger had his den.
He knew each clear and crystal brook
For many miles about,
Where one might drop a baited hook
And catch a gleaming trout.

No other boy in all the town
When came October knew
Where autumn shook the chestnuts down,
Of where the black-haws grew.
And in the new awakened Spring,
Amid the forest dim,
The earliest robin to sing
Its happy song to him.

Bill's hair is grey, his form is bent
And is he, with the lot
That fate has sent him quite content?
No, reader, he is not!
Though still he wanders as in youth
Beside the stream and wood,
To tell the plain and candid truth,
Poor Bill is not much good!

A DEAD CERTAINTY

We don't know, when stocks go down, if they will ever go up again, but we always know that gasoline will.

UP TO THE PRESENT, ANYWAY

The only use ever made of all that power at Muscle Shoals was to get Henry Ford a lot of advertising he didn't need.

SEASONABLE EMPLOYMENT

Now is the time when people are looking over the Christmas presents they got last year to see if any of them will do to give to somebody else.

By Dr. Frank Crane

WE ARE ALL ALIKE.

After all, everybody is alike.

We spend much time and thought on cultivating our differences. Every nation thinks that it is superior to every other nation. Every man thinks that his case is different from that of every other man.

And yet we are all alike in many things.

We share many of the brute characteristics. We are hungry, and sleepy and thirsty, courageous or cowardly, just as the beasts are. Our hair rises and our blood curdles with fear. We have the same sex instincts that they have.

In addition to this all men have the same or similar hopes and fears.

All men want to get on and have the same dread of failure.

The same emotions are instinctively in the Chinese and the Arab, the Japanese and the Europeans, that are found in ourselves.

There is very little in any of us that is very distinctively his own.

We are all born of a woman and sooner or later must lie down in our grave.

During this short interval of time, every bosom is swept by similar ambitions and fears.

Progress is made by the slow accumulation of virtue in the race and is not handed on to us by the individual.

Here and there some man seems to be superior to his fellows, but he, in turn, must lay down his burden and take his place with the silent majority.

The one thing that is uniform and persists on earth without pause, is humanity.

Gradually civilization irons out the differences between men and reduces them to a common level.

That man is the most valuable to humanity who does the most to serve it. A man's final worth is estimated by the value he has been to his race.

"The tallest and the smallest among us," says Thackeray, "are so alike diminutive and pitifully base, it is meanness to cauculate the difference."

WEEKLY LETTER.

Dear Girls:

I wish all of you had been with me yesterday. "The Woman Pays" club, a literary society composed of well-known women writers, gave a luncheon in honor of Beatrix Fairfax and her fiance.

Of course all of you have read the advice given to the Lovelorn by this charming woman, whose real name is Lillian Lauferty.

She is marrying Jack Wolfe, a Russian basso and a member of the Metropoiltan Opera company. He sang two songs for us and has a most gorgeous voice.

The bride-to-be wore an exquisite soft tan suit trimmed with fur, and a large bunch of orchids.

After the luncheon I had quite a chat with her and I told her about you girls and asked her for a message, just for you.

"Tell them," she said, "that for many years I thought a career the only thing worth having—but it is a very lopsided affair, and it is far better to have someone to love and be loved by—someone to share the joys and sorrows of life—and someone to confide in. And add this—that 'love is reflected in love' is the surest and truest motto in the world."

Lots of love,

MIMI.

The Man With The Broken Nose
Or
The Strange Adventure of a Rolls-Royce

By MICHAEL ARLEN.

But Tarlyon was swift, very swift; I panted up just as he was again "intruding himself" on the Armenian.

"You don't seem to realize," breathed Tarlyon, "that you can't enter a house in Brook street, kill a pasha and get away—"

'I don't care if I get away or not," the other broke in fiercely. "Besides, my friend who killed Talaat in Berlin was acquitted. And I cannot believe that your English juries are as thick headed as you would have me think. So will you please me, sir?"

It was marvelous what venom that broken-nosed young man could put into a simple question!

"I've taken rather a fancy to you," murmured Tarlyon, "and I hate to think of your going off murdering Pashas. Come and have a drink instead, there's a good fellow."

"If I tell you," snapped the Armenian, "that there is a girl in that house, and that I must rescue that girl, then you will perhaps see your way to minding your own business."

"Has the Pasha got your girl?" I asked kindly.

"She is my sister, O fool," he said wearily. "And do you think I can allow my little sister to stay in that loathsome old creature's house one night more than I can help?"

"Collar him," said Tarlyon to me, and I grabbed the young man's other arm, though I didn't in the least want to, and again we began hauling him around the square. As I walked close to him I could feel a solid bulky thing in his hip pocket, and I did not like the feeling.

"Now," said Tarlyon, very businesslike, "what's all this about your sister?"

The Armenian almost screamed with impatience.

"Have I not told you all along that if you were in my position you would do exactly what I am going to do? Must I explain to you that my sister was carried away by that old lecher before my eyes? Must I tell you how Zeytoun on the hill was at last shelled to dust by the batteries of two Army Corps under Achmed Jzzit Pasha and how the Turks entered the smoking town and gave no quarter to man, woman or child? Must I, just to satisfy your wanton and asinine curiosity, ravage my heart with retailing how my father and mother were bayoneted before my eyes, and how I escaped only because those Turkish swine twine me already dead. Must I tell you how my little sister was carried away to the harem of Achmed Jzzit Pash, who, on beholding her, swore a mighty swear that he would not rest from disembowelling Christians until he had ravished her? Did she give way? The slaying went on, day by day and night by night, so that a count of the leaves of the trees in your puny but not unattractive Green Park would make but a fraction of the number of the dead bodies that to this day lie rotting in the plain of Mush.

An expert killer was Achmed Jzzit Pasha; and whether or not the natural blood-lust of the illiterate Osmanli was heightened by his oath I do not know, but I do know that there has not been such a tale of dead Christians since Timur passed through the land to meet Bajazet. And that is the man who holds my sister in that house, while you detain me here with vain questions, and idiotic comments peculiar to the high-minded people of your patrician land. I followed him to Paris, but he escaped me. I found him in Bourne-mouth, but fool that I was! But the idea of my head was that I must first get the girl to some place of safety—and then to come back, slay him, and pay whatever the penalty in your country for killing a loathsome animal. But now I have realised that there is no other way of rescuing Anais but by killing him first. Always, wherever he goes, he keeps her locked in a room next to his, and thus it must be in this house. And while the night is dwindling, here I stand satisfying your idle curiosity. You really must excuse me now, gentlemen."

"But hold on!" cried Tarlyon. "Why kill the wretched man at all? Why not rescue your sister with the charming name and let the Pasha go on being Pasha until he dies a horrible death by reason of an unsatisfied lust? He won't dare come after her—and I don't see much more or less at once, Eh, Ralph?"

"Quite right," said I. "Come and have a drink instead."

"This is no time for drink," snapped the Armenian. "The night is dwindling—and how can I desist from killing him when, as I have told you, I cannot get into her room without awakening him? And it stands to reason that as soon as I see him I shall also see red, and kill, as I must, by reason of my vow and by order of the Dashnakists. As I have told you, I would have preferred to have got Anais out of the house first, but that seems impossible—"

Tarlyon opened his mouth and closed it. I knew what was passing in Tarlyon's mind, and I thought I would let it pass, so that he might thing again. But then he re-opened his mouth, and this is what he said:

"My friend and I," he said, "might perhaps consider giving you a little assistance, if in return you gave us a promise—"

"I promise nothing!"

"Drat that boy!" said Tarlyon. "What I wish to point out is that, if my friend and I helped you to get your sister out of that house, you must drop this killing business. We will contrive some way of keeping His Excellency quiet while you rescue your sister—but you must give us your word of honor, or some efficient substitute, that you will not come back and murder the wretched Pasha. Now, I want no back-chat about it—either you will or will not."

"But I am bound to the Dashnakists!" cried the Armenian, rather regretfully, I thought.

"Blast the Dashnakists!" said Tarlyon. "Yes or no?"

"I promise," said the Armenian suddenly.

My native common sense now got the better of me.

"You seem to take it for granted that we just walk into the house. How do we get in?"

"This cuts windows like a knife," said the Armenian, showing us in the palm of his hands a glittering little thing like a toy dagger. "An Argentine invention."

"The matter will be facilitated," said Tarlyon, "by our first getting my car, which is opposite Claridge's, and driving in it to the front door. My reason for this step is that no policeman would dare suspect anything wrong in a house while a Royce-Rolls is standing outside it. Especially, Ralph, when your manly appearance is decorating the driving-seat—"

"I shall be in the house," I said firmly. Not that I wanted to be—but one always says those things, and one always says them firmly.

"Perhaps that would be better," said the Armenian. "It will certainly take two of you to keep His Excellency quiet while I break in the first locked door I see and get Anais. And a Royce-Rolls car is, I understand even more impressive empty than when some on is in it—people make it seem possible."

We got the car and drove bravely to the house. We passed two policemen at the corner of Davis Street, but they were not interested in us. I must say burglary is easy when one has a large and rich car to do it from—

Like all Mayfair houses, this had a trades-man's entrance, through a little gate on the right of the few steps to the front door, down some steps, and into a little area where was the kitchen door and a window.

"Wait in the car," said the dark young man, and vanished down to the area. We heard a very faint scratching, one little wicked word, a little more scratching; and then the lights blazed up through the glass above the front door, and it was opened. The Armenian stood in the lighted doorway as though he owned the house. I admired him.

Tarlyon's first words when we were in the hall of the house were: "Give me your gun, you charmink atrocity."

The Armenian surrendered his revolver without a word; he only sighed. Then he marshalled us.

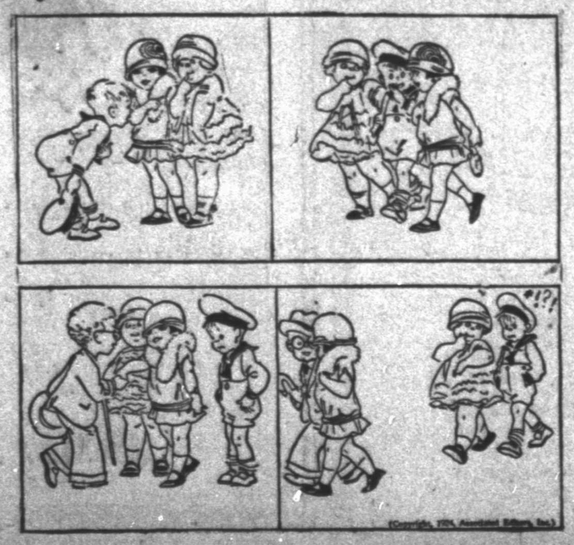

"Very quiet," he whispered. "And very quick. We must try the upstairs rooms, to see which is his bedroom. One touch on the door will rouse him, so you must muffle him at once, else he will rouse the servants. In the meanwhile I will find my sister; then I will take her straight out of the house, and we will await you in the car. I will blow your horn twice, to show that I am waiting you. It will be kind of you, then, to drive us to Mr. Ritze's hotel in Piccadilly, where, perhaps, with your influence, we may get my sister a lodging for the night. But, remember, keep a tight hold on Achmed Jzzit until I blow the horn—muffle him straightway and let him not open his mouth, else he will bring the whole neighborhood down on us. Let us begin."

We began with a bit of luck—or so it seemed. Having tiptoed up to the first landing, the very first door we touched held the lightly sleeping Pasha. We knew he was there by the howl that followed our touching the door-knob—indeed, he was a light sleeper! But we gave him no time to make a real noise; we leaped into the room; I switched on the light, Tarlyon leapt on the bed and Pash, I leapt after Tarlyon, and in a second we held him, making smothered howling noises under the bed-clothes. We had not even had time to see if he was young or old, but the shape of him suggested that he was older than most people. His was, however, an active and restless shape. We were very gentle with him, almost too gentle, for once a distinct howl issued from somewhere under the sheet.

Four Tests for a Girl's Love—How Can a Mother Wishing to Break a Match Wean Her Son Away From the Girl?—Shall She Marry the Dentist or the Minister?

Dear Miss Dix—Something like two months ago I asked a girl to marry me, and she replied that, while she liked me better than the other man she knew, she did not know whether she loved me enough to marry me or not. She still seems unable to decide the question, which is vitally important to me. Can you tell any method by which she may determine her real sentiments concerning me?

J. W.

Answer:

It is unfortunate that the poets and novelists have set an almost impossible idealistic and romantic standard for gauging love. According to them, a lover must be afflicted with chills and thrills, and hectic fevers. He or she must tremble at the sound of an approaching footstep, and be ready to commit suicide at the mere thought of being parted from the beloved one. Now, no really mentally balanced person ever experiences all of these symptoms.

He or she finds placid peace and happiness in another's presence; finds congeniality in another's society, but there is no wild rapture, no especial thrills, and so he and she doubt that it is love that he or she feels, whereas it is in reality the quiet, steadfast love that outlasts a hundred tempests of passion.

There are many ways in which a woman can test her feelings toward a man. One is to determine whether she likes him better present or absent. If she thinks of him more tenderly when he is away than when he is with her, it shows that he is not really sympathetic and congenial, and she likes him more than she loves him. If, on the other hand, she believes herself in love with him when he is with her, and doubts her love when he is away, it indicates that he has a physical fascination for her only. She does not love him with a love that lasts.

Another way a girl can test her love is by trying to determine her own reactions to a man's conversation. Any woman can listen on forever while a man tells her how much he loves her and how wonderful she is, but if she begins to be bored when he switches the conversation to himself and commences to monologue about his own interests, then she merely likes him. It takes love to make a woman want to hear everything a man thinks about himself.

Still another test of love is when a girl begins to feel motherly toward a man, and worried about whether he gets the proper food, and puts on dry shoes when he gets his feet wet. That shows that in her heart she regrds him as her property.

But the acid test of love is when a girl prefers spending an evening at home with a man to having him take her out somewhere. That is indisputable evidence that she has picked him out for a fireside companion for life.

Perhaps these pointers may be of value to your lady love in reading her own heart. After all, the line between liking and loving is a very thin one, and there are no more satisfactory marriages than those in which a perfect friendship exists between a husband and wife. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My son is infatuated with a young girl who is not settled at all in her ways, and when my daughters try to tell her about the seriousness of marriage she throws up her hands and answers that she doesn't want to hear all that. Please advise me the best way to part them before it is too late.

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Answer:

It is a serious matter to break off a marriage, and a mother might well hesitate to interfere unless she has some better reason than merely that a young girl is gay and frivoolus, and doesn't want to regard matrimony from the duty standpoint instead of the romantic.

You see, husband or wife is as absolutely a matter of taste as whether you like onions, or pink is more becoming than blue to you or not. Therefore, the kind of a girl whom mother would pick out for a wife for her son may be the very one who would drive him to drink, while the girl of whom mother disapproves might fill every need of his soul and body.

Nor can any human being tell beforehand what sort of a wife a girl will make. We have all seen flighty flibbety-jibbety hoydens settle down into the most domestic of wives and mothers. We have seen girls who were wildly extravagant with papa's money become tightwads with their own, and we have also seen domestic girls who had got enough domesticity and who refused to go in the kitchen after marriage, and we've seen prim little Puritans turn into flirtatious flapper wives.

So, inasmuch as those who marry have to live together, it is a pretty good idea to leave it to the victims to select their own poison.

As for breaking of a match, the only successful tactics are diplomatic ones, and the use of them depends upon the personality of the individuals. Sometimes absence does its perfect work, and you can break off an engagement by parting a couple. Often giving them overdoses of each other's society will do the trick. A little judicious ridicule is generally effective. But the one sure way to make a match is to forbid a boy and girl to see each other and to keep nagging them about each other. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of nineteen, and am in love with two gentlemen. One is a dental student and the other is a theological student. Which shall I marry. BERTHA.

Answer:

Depends on which you want saved, your teeth or your soul. It is a pity you don't live where polyandry exists, so that you could have both. Surely, Bertha, you do not consider that you are much in love with either when you can't tell which of two men you care for the most, and when you are willing to let their professions decide the matter.

In your particular case, however, I should say that your chances of happiness would be greater with the dentist than the preacher, as you might not care for the obligations imposed upon the wife of a clergyman, whereas the dentist's wife has no handicaps unless she is jealous of the lady patients. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

GIVE THE WILL A LITTLE EXERCISE

A business prospers or fails according to the ability or incapacity of the man who runs it.

If he is alert and determined, and knows what he is doing, the stockholders will prosper.

If he is weak, and undecided, and continually hesitating between policies, he will soon bankrupt the people who have entrusted their money into his keeping.

The business that is done under the style and title of "An individual" has for a general manager, the will.

The capacity of the concern may vary, it may be short or mental assets and strong on physical assets, or the reverse.

But if the will is on the job, it will make a good deal more out of the concern than could possibly be made otherwise.

If the will is generally away on a vacation, there is not much hope for its owner but the poorhouse, or at best a dole from a rich relation.

Every man who has accomplished anything noteworthy in the world has had a powerful will.

There are no exceptions whatever to this.

They have varied as to characteristics—as to their manner of getting done what they had to do.

But as regards will power they have been all alike—Caesar, Washington, Cromwell, Christopher Columbus, Michael Angelo, Lincoln—all of them.

The will is not born fully developed. It is usually weak in children. What we call a willful child is as a rule a spoiled child, who lacks the will power to sacrifice his trifling wants, or the intelligence to see that he never will get his way by whining.

The will must be developed, as the muscles are developed, by exercise, steady and regular.

One of the best exercises is putting the will in charge of the body and giving it an opportunity to overcome and conquer the laziness which is an almost universal heritage.

Another is to put it in the way of checking self-indulgence, and imposing sacrifice.

Another is to place it in charge of the disposition, where it can try to enforce cheerfulness when the owner of the disposition would far prefer to be glum and felancholy.

Will power does not mean the enforcement of your way of doing things on another person, whether you are right or wrong.

It means the power that controls you, and forces you to do what you ought to be doing, whether you like it or not.

When you have tried your will on yourself for a while, you can if it has managed to gain the master hand, try it on others.

The right kind of will power will govern wisely, but it will govern.

The wrong kind will seek to govern tyrannically, and in the end will not govern at all. But no will is worth having which is not developed, and plenty of exercise is the only thing that will develop it.

Have You Been Told?

That four of the twenty European debtors to the United States have fulfilled their obligations and a billion on the war debt has been paid.

That the total amount of indebtedness so funded is in excess of $4,593,000,000 or 38 per cent of the total of $11,888,000,000 of rincipal and interest owed by foreign governments to the United States.

That foreign loans made by Americans abroad for the full twelve months of the year 1924 are likely to reach $1,500,000,000.

That Americans have loaned eight billions in foreign lands in five years and that the holders receive $400,000,000 interest annually from these foreign debtors, which include vast loans to foreign states and cities.

That at the end of 1923 American money invested abroad, exclusive of loans made by the government, amounted to $8,000,000,000 of which $5,500,000,000 was in industrial securities and $2,500,000 was in government obligations.

That before the coming of the world war foreign governments held the obligations of Americans for six billion dollars and that Americans paid more than $500,000,000 interest every year to these foreign creditors.

That America is a great loaning nation now and New York City is the financial center of the civilized world.

That gasoline shipments abroad from the United States in the first nine months of 1924 were 900,940,082 gallons, a gain of 41 per cent more than the same period last year.

That the exports of kerosene and gas and fuel oil exports and all refined products show remarkable increases compared with the same period of 1923.

That American railroads invested $1,600,000,000 in additional cars and locomotives since 1921 and it is predicted that many orders for new rails will be placed with the steel companies in the month of November.

That 24 American railways show a large increase in net earnings and the Anthracite lines are far in the lead.

That Osborne Wood, son of General Leonard Wood, lost $100,000 at a sitting at Monte Carlo and he lost almost a similar amount in Paris in clubs where he has been a well known figure.

That Young Wood, who picked up a fortune in Wall street, is said to be thoroughly disgusted and has expressed his intention to leave Paris.

That now the labor party has been buried in England, the cotton mill owners are predicting tremendous activities in trade and large buying and selling of goods.

That 8 per cent of all retail trade is done by chain stores and there are 60,000 in the United States.

That the department of agriculture says the wheat surplus of the world covers all requirements but the grain dealers do not believe it.

That 177,000 violators have been arrested by drw law agents this year.

That Aaron Sapiro says Henry Ford has been approached on his blind stand by factors opposed to cooperation and "with his conviction that every Jew has a cloven hoof," he concludes "that as I am a Jew and active in the cooperative movement the cause must be wrong because I am in it."

HOW IT STARTED

CALLING IT A "DAISY."

Naturalists will tell you that the daisy is a European plant of the aster family and describe it as having a head with small white rays and a yellow center. But not in any of these facts does one find the origin of the name of this humble, modest flower.

"Daisy" comes to us from the Anglo-Saxon "dneges-eage," which meant literally "day's eye"—the flower which opens with the day. And it was so that it was pronounced in the days when modern English was still in the making.

Who can say that there was lack of imagination in a time that could apply to the white and yellow of this common flower of the field the name "eye of the day."

State Committee Reports Consume Convention Time

WORK PROGRESSING

Various Chairmen In Texas Tell of Their Activities

Reports of state committees took up the entire time of the Friday morning session of the twenty-fifth annual conference of Texas D. A. R., which met at the First Presbyterian church with Mrs. W. D. Garlington, state regent, of Dallas, presiding.

The reports, interesting in detail, gave a remarkable insight into the wide scope of the work done by the D. A. R. in Texas.

A state D. A. R. loan fund was created, following the report of the state loan fund committee by Mrs. B. G. Kilgore, which was read in her absence by Mrs. E. T. Bischoff, and a five-cent per capita allotment over the state was set aside to start the fund so that it can be put into use as quickly as possible. It was decided that the fund would be available for either a boy or girl and that it applied to any of the Texas colleges.

$340 Pledged.

Three hundred forty dollars was pledged toward a $1,000 fund for Tomassee school in the South Carolina mountains following the splendid report of the patriotic education committee by Mrs. J. L. Smith.

In the absence of Mrs. Merrick Davis, the recording secretary read her report on the National Old Trails Road work, and the national need for $8,000 with which to purchase twelve uniform markers to be placed one in each of the twelve states between Washington, D. C., and Los Angeles through which the trail runs. The assembly adopted a ten cents per capita allotment as the share of Texas members. It was voted that Texas D. A. R. stand the upkeep markers that have been erected along Texas old trails.

Mrs. I. L. McFarlane, in the absence of Miss Louise Craig, chairman of committees on preservation of historic spots, and of the LaSalle monument, read reports of both committees, and upon the announcement that the LaSalle marker to be erected at Navasota where three continental highways meet needed $3,000 for erection, it was voted to allot each member $1 as the proper portion for donation. It was announced that the Navasota Kiwanis club had agreed to donate the same amount raised by Texas D. A. R.

Portrait Completed.

Mrs. J. D. Claybrook reported that the Florence A. Clark memorial, a portrait painted by Miss Katherine Carruthers, a Texas girl, had been completed, and was ready to hang in the University of Texas.

Mrs. J. T. Rountree, chairman of Americanization, told of practical work done by the various chapters of the state along this line among foreigners teaching them homemaking, sanitation and the ideal of American citizenship.

Work of the committee on the correct use of the flag was outlined in a report by Mrs. A. D. Potts, read in her absence by the corresponding secretary. It was stated that great quantities of flag etiquette cards had been distributed in the schools of the state.

Mrs. Annie Doom Pickrell, chairman of liquidation and endowment, reported thirteen certificates sold, Mrs. Will Cantrell, chairman of transportation, reported on arrangements made for both national and state conferences, and Mrs. P. S. Tilson, chairman of conservation and thrift, reported on the work being done to teach thrift and establish habits of saving among school children.

In the absence of Mrs. L. A. Suggs, her daughter read her report on the D. A. Magazine, urging chapters to subscribe more widely to the periodical.

Some Absent.

Mrs. A. L. Lane of Dallas, chairman of the revolutionary relics for Continental Memorial hall, read her report, and the reports of other committee chairmen who were not present were read by the corresponding secretary, as follows: Welfare of women and children, Mrs. E. T. Chew chairman; children and sons of the revolution, Mrs. Gertrude Yale chairman; patriotic lecture and lantern slide and movie, Miss Mary Moody chairman; state and national headquarters, Mrs. Sampel Seay chairman.

Mrs. Charles B. Jones, chairman of the manual for immigrants committee, gave a report of the vast demand for the manuals and the work being done by the D. A. R. in naturalization and citizenship training by the manuals.

The resolutions committe reported two resolutions, only one of which was voted upon because of the limited time. It was resolved that all monies and bonds of Texas D. A. R. members be handled through the state treasurer so that the state should receive credit for them.

The session then adjourned to the Wichita club, where delegates and visitors were luncheon guests of the chamber of commerce.

SOCIETY WEDDINGS FAIL.

U. S. Couples Seek Divorce In Courts of Paris.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The latest list of cases filed for hearing in the Paris divorce court contains the names of seven American couples, says the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune. Among the petitioners are Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry of New York, wife of the Rhode Island senator, and Mrs. Alice Erskine Allen of Hempstead, N. Y., wife of Horace Bigelow Allen.

Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry was before her marriage in May, 1910, Miss Mathilde Townsend of Washington and Philadelphia. She is noted for her beauty and has for some time been among the leaders of society in Washington, New York and Newport. Senator Gerry, elected to the senate in 1916, is well known as a society man, polo player, lawyer, scientist and philanthropist.

WOMAN TO DELIVER VOTES.

Washington Sends an Elector to National Capitol.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 7.—Mrs. Samuel G. Cosgrove, widow of Washington's former governor, is to be chosen to take the state's seven electoral votes to Washington, D. C., and cast them for President Coolidge, it was learned here today when the winning electors assured her of their support. She is the first woman in the history of the state selected for this honor.

D.A.R. Visitors Guests of C. of C. At Luncheon

"It's too everything for anything," Mrs. M. H. Turner of Dallas said in a short talk at the luncheon given by the chamber of commerce at the Wichita club Friday at noon, when she expressed her appreciation of the courtesies shown the Daughters of the Revolution who are attending the convention here.

Mrs. I. B. McFarland, regent of the Houston chapter of D. A. R., said, "We daughters have enjoyed so much our being here that we hate to think of saying goodbye. We thank you, men of the chamber of commerce, and you women of Wichita Falls and D. A. R.'s for your very lovely hospitality."

Mrs. E. T. Duff of this city, state treasurer D. A. R., made a brief talk to the assemblage at the club.

P. A. Rogers, member of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce was toastmaster for the occasion. "I shall tell you why the chamber of commerce is your host today," he stated, and he called on several of the visitors to speak.

Mrs. D. G. Whitney, regent of the Major Francis Grice chapter of this city, gave a toast to the host and guests.

MILLS DESTROYED.

MIAMI, Okla., Nov. 7.—The mill at the Manhattan lead and zinc mine, one of the most productive in the tri-state district, was destroyed by fire today with a loss estimated at $75,000.

COTTON MILLS COMBINED.

Big Plants Figure in Carolina Industrial Merger.

CHESTER, S. C., Nov. 7.—Consolidation of the Baldwin cotton mills at Chester, the Glenn Lowry Manufacturing company of Whitmire and the Aragon cotton mills of Rochill as the Aragon-Baldwin mills with a total capitalization of $6,146,000 was announced heret oday.

E. R. Lucas, assistant treasurer-manager of the Baldwin mills, said motives of economy were mainly responsible for the consolidation.

The three plants, which make print cloths, sheetings and yarns, have a total of 126,040 spindles and 3,106 looms.

HE AGREES TO MAKE RAIN.

California Ranchers Willing to Pay to Get It.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Nov. 7.—(AP)—"Rain maker" Hatfield last night closed a contract with the Kern County Catlemen's association and the sheepmen's association whereby he promises to produce one and one-half inches of rain in Kern county between November 20 and December 20. If rain is produced Hatfield is to receive $4,000, the money being guaranteed by the cattle and sheep men's associations.

MAN CONFESSES THEFT.

Son of Minister Admits Taking $4,500 From Bank.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 7.—Robert Gore, son of a local minister, has confessed, according to officers, that he robbed the First National bank here, where he is employed as a clerk, of about $4,500.

Gore in his alleged confession related that while on duty one night he took some late deposits. Checks totaling $3,300 he tossed into the Arkansas river, keeping $1,000 in cash.

Plan Endowment For Fire Guard At College Here

As a result of a resolution passed by the business council of the chamber of commerce at their Friday luncheon, a committee from that body will confer with the school board on the matter of endowing the Junior college building for fire prevention.

Ira L. Cain briefly outlined a plan, explaining that 100 men or women could take out $2,000 ten year endowment life insurance policies, payable to the Junior college, the agents commission amounting to 30 to 40 per cent of the first premium which would be willingly donated in each case, being used to pay premiums on the policies, which might eventually be dropped.

$200,000 in 10 Years

With such a system, Mr. Cain explained, the school could be endowed with at least $200,000 in ten years and with the amount properly placed at interest, the school could be completely equipped and maintained for the proper fire precaution. He further stated that none of the local insurance men would commercialize the project but lend aid for the good of the school.

The suggestion and the resulting action were inspired by the speaker of the day, Franklin H. Wentworth of Boston, Mass., secretary of the National Fire Protection association. A second resolution recommended to chamber of commerce members that a committee or fire cabinet be appointed by the chamber to function with Fire Chief McClure for the prevention of fires in Wichita Falls. Following Mr. Wentworth's address, J. A. Kemp stated that "Wichita Falls wants to be classed among the leading cities of the state, and I think the appointment of a council to function with Chief McClure is appropriate."

Wentworth Speaks

Mr. Wentworth's address on "The Significance of Fire Waste," called to the attention of council members that every person in the country and in Texas is paying his share of the gigantic annual fire loss. He told of the great practical results that were being achieved all over the world by stringent fire protection measures and urged their adoption in this city.

The speaker, and other fire insurance men, guests of the club were introduced by Horrace Robbins at the request of J. T. Gant, chairman of the council.

Hubert Harrison, vice-president and manager of the chamber of commerce, in his weekly report, told of the settlement of a new tax system for the city, of the reduction of water rates according to suggestions from a chamber of commerce committee, and announced that the annual Community Welfare drive would start Monday, November 24 and close Friday, November 29.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Corn Griddle Cakes—This is an excellent way of using up left over cooked corn. Cut or press from the cobs sufficient of the cooked corn pulp to make one cupful and add three tablespoonfuls of melted butter substitute, two lightly beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one and a half cups of milk. Sift into a bowl two and a half cups of flour and add one teaspoon of salt and one and a half tablespoons of baking powder. Gradually combine the corn and liquid with the dry ingredients, beat until very light and add one tablespoon of dark molasses (this browns the cakes.) Fry on a hot greased griddle and serve with butter and shaved maple sugar. This is a recipe obtained from the Maine guides.

Date Sandwiches—Remove pits from one pound of dates, chop lightly and mix with one tablespoon or a little more of cream and one teaspoon pulverized sugar. Slice and butter bread, spread with crisp lettuce leaf, then with date mixture, cover with buttered bread and cut into desired shape. Nuts may Be chopped and used with the dates.

Pot Roast of Beef—Brown meat well on both sides in a little tried out suet; take out and fry a small onion lightly in same fat. Put meat back into pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and add a couple of bay leaves and a little hot water. Cover and cook slowly until tender. About three-quarters of an hour before the meal is to be served add peeled potatoes.

Bachelor A Loser In Business

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—A bachelor at 24 has five per cent more property than a husband of the same age, but thereafter a married man leads the single fellow, according to statistics made public today by County Treasurer P. J. Carr. At 28 the married man is 3 per cent ahead, at 38 his taxable wealth is 17 per cent greater and at 48, twenty per cent ahead of the bachelor, in spite of the expense of large homes, children, larger wardrobes and living costs, according to the figures.

"The married man seems to work harder, save more and is more extensive in developing his business ability," says Mr. Carr.

Take all out, mix two or more tablespoons of flour smooth in a little cold water, add to liquid in pan in which meat was cooked and cook until smooth. If you have browned the meat well in the first place your gravy should be a rich brown. Strain and serve over potatoes.

Cleaning to most of us is not exactly an agreeable task. The satisfaction comes in seeing the improvement made by our work. And it may be made easier if you have the proper supplies at hand to use when wanted. Keep three boxes plainly marked "nickel," "brass" and "silver" polish. Few housekeepers appreciate how easily nickel and brass may be kept bright and shining if the proper materials are used. Let each box contain the entire equipment for doing the work, then it will only take a minute to rub up a nickel casserole or a pair of brass candlesticks.

SUGGESTIONS

Left-over bits of pie crust may be used in these two ways: (1) Roll thin. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Roll up, moistening edge with water to hold roll together. Cut into one-quarter inch slices. Bake. (2) Roll thin, cut in rounds, press into cup cake tins, pricking them with fork. Bake. When cold fill with spoon jam or jelly.

There are many points the shopper should master before buying candlesticks. First of all, quality counts. Cheap candlesticks are extravagant investments. If you cannot afford solid silver candlesticks, good heavy plate is far better than the light plate, which is wood silver covered and before long looks shabby and peels. The weight of the base for the height of the shaft must be considered, also the balanced shape of the shaft in regard to the size and fashion of the cup at the top which holds the candle.

"Ma" Says She'll Take Advice Just "Like Jim Did"

Texas' New Governor Is Eager for Inaugural Day to Come

IS NOT WORRIED

Expects to be Governor "Just Like Any Man," She Declares

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 7.—Advice of her husband will be taken by Mrs. Miriam Amanda Ferguson, governor-elect of Texas, "just as I will take the advice of any citizen of Texas interested in the welfare of the state," she told an interviewer at her home here.

Her happiness unconfined, unflurried by the round of gaieties and congratulatory celebrations of which she has been the center, yet cognizant of the responsibility that will be hers for two years, "Ma" Ferguson is looking forward to her inauguration day.

She's Just One.

To Mrs. Ferguson, wife of former Governor James E. Ferguson, apparently has come the peculiar distinction with Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming of being the first woman elected chief executive of a state. Mrs. Ross, it is understood, will be inaugurated before Mrs. Ferguson, but friends of the Texas governor-elect retain for her the honor of being "first" because her candidacy was carried through three bitter campaigns, while Mrs. Ross was nominated in convention about a month ago.

"I expect to be governor just as any man," Mrs. Ferguson said.

As she talked her drawing room was heavy with the odor of roses emanating from many large bouquets sent by jubilant friends.

"I love flowers from the humblest posy to orchids," she said. "I can't live without them and as I look at them they seem to talk to me, a language more beautiful than anything I know."

She said she would see that there are plenty of flowers around the governor's mansion at Austin.

Her title, she said, would be "just governor, I guess, for no other title would do.

"The title 'madam governor' would be out of place, because one does not say 'mister governor' to a man," she added, then smiling broadly, "you could not call me 'governess' because that means a wholly different thing."

Dorrace to Entertain.

With Mrs. Ferguson will go to Austin her daughter, Dorrace, and her husband.

"I guess Dorrace will be the 'first lady of the state' and will be supervisor of the mansion and Jim will be an interested spectator," Mrs. Ferguson said.

There will be no material change in the family routine, she said. There will be entertaining, but Dorrace will be hostess.

"I know there is a responsibility to be shouldered," said the governor-elect, "for I recall how hard Jim worked when he was governor and the office has its cares and trials, but I am not worried. I expect to take the advice of my husband just as I will take the advice of any citizen of Texas interested in the welfare of the state. No one should be so foolish as to believe that one could tackle such a task alone. Jim took advice while he was governor, just as our presidents have done."

WILL RETAIN OBSERVER.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Although the French government has definitely decided to discontinue its legation at the vatican, says Le Matin, it will retain a semi-official observer. The paper adds that perhaps the holy see will appoint a similar representative in Paris.

DR. F. S. GRONER HERE.

Noted Baptist Leader in Texas Here Sunday.

Dr. F. S. Groner, secretary of the general Baptist convention of Texas, will be heard here in two Sunday addresses. In the morning, 11 o'clock, he will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church, and in the evening, 7:30, he will preach in the Lamar Avenue Baptist church service.

Dr. Groner has appeared many times in this city, where he has many friends and admirers, and his coming Sunday is looked forward to with interest. As leader in the Baptist denominational work in Texas, he occupies a very unique and important plase in the Baptist program. The local churches are cordially inviting the public to attend these services and avail themselves of the opportunity to hear one of Texas' outstanding ministers.

18 Chapters Of D.A.R. Attending Convention Here

City Welcomes Delegates To 25th Annual Meet In the City

OFFICERS SPEAK

Mrs. G. T. Guernsey, Honorary President, Featured At Morning Session

Representatives from eighteen chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution were present at the opening session of the twenty-fifth annual convention of the D. A. R. organization in Texas, which met Thursday morning at the First Presbyterian church with the state regent, Mrs. W. D. Garlington of Dallas presiding.

Among the speakers of the morning was Mrs. George Thatcher Guernesey of Independence, Kansas, honorary president-general. She urged the state chapters to cooperate with the national organization in promoting the aims of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She explained something of the growth of the D. A. R. how it developed from a national organization to state and local, told the state delegates of the importance of the parliamentarian, and said that much of the trouble in chapters concerning organization could be kept down by following the parliamentarin's instructions.

Let Majority Rule.

"If you want to be successful, let the majority rule and abide by their decision," she stated, and made the application not only to the D. A. R., but to the realm of politics as well.

Mrs. W. D. Garlington of Dallas, state regent, in response to the welcomes given the visitors to Wichita Falls expressed her gratitude to Wichitans for the hospitalities accorded the delegates. In speaking of her work as state regent, Mrs. Garlington spoke of the splendid work that chapters of Texas have done during her administration. She thanked them for their cooperation and loyalty.

"We come at this time not merely to elect officers and for the social side of the meeting, but to plan greater progress for the D. A. R. Ours is the task of keeping alive Americanism, and Americanism we must ever hold aloft. We are a living force to build loyalty and righteousness. Let us have clear and serious thoughts. Cooperation is the watchword that we must have as sisters in working for a greater cause."

The meeting was opened with the bugle call with the pages escorting the state officers, honorary state regents, and the local regent to the platform with the march played by Mrs. O. E. Maer at the organ. The call to order was made by Mrs. D. G. Whitney, regent of the Major Grice chapter, and the conference in unison saluted the flag. The invocation was made by Rev. Frank M. Richardson.

Welcomed to City

Mrs. W. P. Bolding, president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, welcomed the delegates to Wichita Falls on behalf of the organization.

Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, president of the auxiliary of the Pat Carrigan Post of the American Legion gave a welcome to the visitors from the auxiliary.

"It is a pleasure and an opportunity to the hostess chapter to entertain the state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution," Mrs. D. G. Whitney, local regent, said in her greeting to the representatives of other chapters. "This is the silver anniversary of D. A. R. in Texas, and going back to the adage that 'speech is silver and silence is golden,' we have this golden opportunity to listen to the silver tongued speakers who will address us during the meeting."

Mrs. C. B. Jones of Greenville, and Mrs. J. T. Roundtree of Paris, responded to the welcomes.

Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the local chamber of commerce, made the address of welcome from the city of Wichita Falls to the D. A. R.'s.

Reports Given.

Reports were given at the morning session by Mrs. Garlington, state regent; Mrs. H. D. Bailiss of Temple, recording secretary; Mrs. M. C. Turner, corresponding secretary of Dallas; Mrs. E. T. Duff, treasurer, Wichita Falls.

Miss Vivian Railey accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff entertained with a violin solo, "Graceful Adroane," by Eithel Allen Nelson.

22 MILK EPIDEMICS

All Have Been Traced to Use of Raw Milk in Household.

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Twenty-two epidemics in the United States, largely typhoid, have been traced to the use of raw milk, according to a nation wide survey for the first half of the year, the results of which were presented by Leslie C. Frank, sanitary engineer, United States public health service, Montgomery, Ala., to the Texas association of sanitation at its meeting here today.

Prevention, the speaker said, lies in the adoption of a standard milk ordinance suggested by the federal public health service, providing for the sale of four grades of milk, the first with a bacterial count of 50,000 to the cubic centimeter.

VETERAN JOURNALIST DIES

Bradley Hogue, Editor Dallas Times-Herald Falls to Rally.

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Bradley B. Hogue, 44, editor of the Dallas Times Herald, died early today in a hospital where he underwent an operation for cancer a few days ago. Mr. Hogue had been associated with the Times Herald for 15 years. When he fist came to dallas he was principal of a grade school and later was connected with the Dallas Railway company. He was former southwestern tennis champion. Mrs. Hogue and a two month old son survive.

BEGIN CELEBRATION

ROME, Nov. 6.—(AP)—As a preliminary to the celebration of the 16th century of the foundation of the basilica of St. John Lateran, the famous painting of Christ, believed traditionally to have been begun by St. Luke and to have been finished supernaturally, was solemnly removed today to the basilica from the Sanuta Sanctorum. This ceremony last took place in 1913 on the occasion of the centenary of the edict of Milam and previously in 1900, the last holy year. It will also be exhibited next year which has been declared a holy year.

Shops Are Showing Many Warm, Handsome Wraps

By MME. LISBETH.

"The north wind both blow and we shall have snow," runs the old song and goes on to say, "what will the robins do then, poor things?" Mr. and Mrs. Redbreast had that little question settled very satisfactorily for them in Mother Nature's scheme of things, but we poor mortals cannot always fly to the "sunny south" when rude winds howl and snow flakes skirl and we must hie us to the shops and provide warm outer garments to keep us warm.

The coat shown on the left of today's illustration would defy the chilliest blasts of old Boreas. It is built on conservatives lines with somewhat more of a flare to the skirt than many of the coats of the season, and is elaborately banded with wide bands of natural fitch.

Another street coat is shown on the right. This time in a wrap around model. It adheres strictly to the straight, slim silhouette, is trimmed with American broadtail with bandings of blue fox at collar, cuffs and bottom of the coat. It, too, is a smart and distinctive model.

A lovely evening wrap is shown in the center. It is fashioned of orchid colored brocade and in place of the expensive fur bandings that usually finish such a wrap it is trimmed most effectively with soft, maribou colored to match the wrap. Two rows band the wide sleeves and also the bottom of the wrap and circle up to the fastening at the waistline, while a single band circles the throat and extends down to meet the skirt trimming. Nothing is more becoming to a woman of any age than this soft, elusive trimming.

Luncheon Given D.A.R. Visitors By Local Chamber

Many Attend Dinner At Kemp Hotel At Noon Thursday

Among the social features in honor of the Daughters of the American Revolution who are the guests of the Major Grice chapter of Wichita Falls was the luncheon given Thursday noon at the Kemp hotel by the chamber of commerce.

Welcome to the guests and the local daughters was made by Judge A. H. Britain, president of the chamber of commerce. "It gozes men great pleasure to welcome men and women of the state and nation to Wichita Falls, and it is indeed a great pleasure to welcome you here. There is much in your organization that is hallowed. Romance is attached to it, but there is more of that perhaps, now, than in the days of the war."

Mrs. Garlington Responds.

In response to Judge Britain's welcome, Mrs. W. D. Garlington, state regent of Dallas, responded. "The men of this city do us honor. We have heard of the great development of Wichita Falls, of the oil, of the industries of Lake Kemp, and since we are here, we are impressed with the greatness of this city, which has been aided by such an organization as your chamber of commerce."

"To be a typical citizen of Wichita Falls, one must have a great deal of faith," Mrs. R. A. Thompson of the Major Grice chapter, though now a resident of Dallas, said in her response. "It is through the efforts of the chamber of commerce in cooperation with others that Wichita Falls it put on the map. The greatness of the city is due largely to the men who stood behind things of progress to make them a success."

Proud of U. S.

Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey, honorary president-general of independence, Kansas, was called to speak. Every mortal should get down on his knees and thank God he lives in the United States of America," she declared, when she told of her trip around the world and mentioned existing conditions in some of the foreign countries. "Our business as women who now have a right to vote should be to know what is going on in our country; we should study the constitution. It behooves every American to study it.

Tables were arranged in the ball room of the hotel with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums used in the decorations. Among features on the program was a group of poems given by Mrs. J. T. Harrell.

Misses Glenor and Josephine Fisk in costume presented a group of popular songs, nursery rhymes and songs from Mexico.

Out of Town Guests.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. W. D. Garlington, Dallas; Mrs. Samuel Seay, state vice regent, from Amarillo; Mrs. Henry Carrol Bailiff, of Beaumont, recording secretary; Mrs. M. C. Turner of Dallas, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. D. Taylor of Westhoff, registrar; Mrs Ward Templeman, Navasota, librarian; Mrs. B. D. Orgain of Bastrop, chaplain; Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey, honorary president-general.

From Amarillo, Esther McCrory chapter, Mrs. B. C. D. Bynum, regent; Mesdames James Lowery Smith and J. G. Mathews, delegates; Mesdames Charles Austin and Grady Nobles, alternates.

From Austin, Thankful Hubbard chapter: Mrs. E. G. Bischoff, regent's alternate.

From Beaumont, Col. George Moffett chapter; Mrs. Grove C. Kennedy, regent; Mesdames B. Rush Norvell and Lipscomb Norvell, delegates, and Mrs. A. B. Marks, alternate.

From Brownwood, Mary Garland chapter; Mrs. N. G. Herblin, delegate.

From Dallas, Jane Douglas chapter; Mrs. E. S. Lammers, regent; Mesdames A. V. Lane, G. W. Moore, E. A. Alderson and W. P. Jackson, delegates.

From Ft. Worth.

From Fort Worth, Fort Worth chapter, Mrs. W. P. Bowdry, delegate; Mrs. James E. Gardner, regent's alternate. From the Mary Isham chapter, Mrs. R. H. McLemore, regent's alternate; Mrs. E. H. Beall, delegate, and Mrs. Walter Victor Monger, alternate.

From Gainesville, Rebecca Crockett chapter, Mrs. J. H. Garnett, delegate.

From Galveston, George Washington chapter, Mrs. A. W. Dunham, regent's alternate.

From Gainesville, Mrs. Lucius L. Bowman, regent; Mrs. Will Cantrell, delegate; Mrs. Charles B. Jones and Miss Margaret Todd, alternates.

From Houston, Alexander Love chapter; Mrs. I. B. McFarland, regent; Mrs. P. S. Wilson, delegate.

From Paris, James Ligon chapter; Mrs. David Ames regent's alternate; Mrs. J. T. Rountree delegate.

From San Antonio, San Antonio de Bexar chapter; Mrs. Stanley Cassin and Mrs. Sterling Robertson, delegates.

From Texarkana, Lone Star chapter; Mrs. N. P. Sanderson, delegate.

From Wichita Falls, Mrs. D. W. Whitney, regent; Mesdames R. A. Thompson, now of Dallas, and Fred Cooper, delegates; Mesdames J. L. Jackson, Elmer De Montrel, J. D. Hyatt, C. W. Beavers, James P. Waggoner, S. Y. Ferguson, J. E. H. Railey, Wilcox, A. R. Bleakley, and E. T. Duff, state treasurer.

Musk Ox Gets Protection.

Although half a century ago large herds of musk oxen could be found in the regions stretching from the Hudson bay to the Arctic, and traces of these herds were visible up to 25 years ago, they have been almost entirely depleted in the last 25 years and the Canadian government is now taking rigorous steps to protect what few are remaining. The musk ox is said to be valuable for other than zoological reasons and is of great social and economic value to the Dominion.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp, that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. T. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.—Adv.

D. A. R. Visitors Are Entertained At Tea In W. M. Priddy Home

Delegates and visitors to the D. A. R. conference were delightfully entertained Thursday following the afternoon session, with a pretty informal tea at which the United Daughters of the Confederacy were hostesses at the home of Mrs. W. M. Priddy, 1012 Harrison street.

The house was lovely with the glow of soft lights revealing tall silver brackets of rosebuds and huge Japanese chrysanthemums in an autumn decoration note.

Greets Guests.

Mrs. Priddy greeted the guests at the door and presented them to Mrs. W. P. Bolding, president of the local U. D. C., Mrs. D. G. Whitney, regent of the local Major Francis Grice chapter of D. A./R., after which they were presented to the following ex-national, ex-state officers who completed the receiving line: Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey, honorary president general of Independence, Kansas; Mrs. W. D. Garlington, state regent, of Dallas, Texas; Mrs. James Lowry Smith, ex-vice president general of Amarillo; Mrs. A. V. Lane, ex-vice president general of Dallas; Mrs. H. C. Bailiff, recording secretary of Temple; M. C. Turner, corresponding secretary of Dallas; Mrs. W. D. Taylor, registrar of Weatherford; Mrs. E. T. Duff, treasurer of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Ward Templeman, librarian, of Navasota, and Mrs. F. S. Davis, parliamentarian, of Dallas.

Officers of the U. D. C. made up the house party, and included, besides Mrs. Bolding, Mesdames Marvin Smith, O. W. Wilson, C. L. Granberry, C. D. Shamburger, P. P. Langford, Leonard Grayson, M. G. Catter, and Fred Barron.

Mrs. Marvin Smith poured punch in the attractive sun room of the Priddy home, assisted by her charming little daughter, Katherine, dressed in a quaint little hoop skirt frock.

Autumn Colors.

The gold tones of autumn invaded the dining room where gorgeous chrysanthemums centered the table, covered with a linen cloth of fine Italian cut work and filet lace. Tall yellow candles in silver sticks furthered the decoratic note.

Little Misses Elizabeth Langford, Mary Virginia Barron, Ninski Britain and Martha Jean Bolding were lovely in white wigs and costumes of Confederate days. They assisted in serving a refreshment plate of brick ice cream in red, white and blue, with individual cakes decorated with tiny flags for the guests.

Pep Rally Friday For Electra Game

A pep rally will be staged at the Junior college grounds Friday evening at 7:30 when enthusiastic plans prior to Saturday's football game with Electra will be divulged. Stunts by the college rooters will be done around the huge bonfire that is to kindled. Following the rally, the students will come to the down town section for a snake dance along the streets. They will carry flaming torches and banners. Mr. Frazee, gymnasium instructor, will conduct the rally, with the pep squad leading.

A committee composed of Jerry Vincent, Lester Prothro, Eddie Kadane, Lemuel Peters, Conan Cantwell are arranging other features for the rally.

A talk will be given by R. O. Jones, at the college, and down town two business men who are interested in the football team and in athletics will address the students, according to the committee.

A pep rally will be hold this morning at 9:30 at the college when yells for the coming game will be practiced.

Undertaker's Place Hit By Bolt

During a thunder storm in Stuttgart, Germany, a lightning bolt hit the undertaking establishment of H. E. Rhodes and burned out all the electric wiring. The building caught fire, but with the aid of the hard rain that accompanied the storm, the blaze was quickly put out.

State Registrar Shows Total of 2,774 Texas Daughters

At the opening of the afternoon session of the state D. A. R. convention here Mrs. Garlington introduced Mrs. F. S. Davis, state parliamentarian, who spoke a few words to the assembly.

Mrs. W. D. Taylor, state registrar, resumed the unfinished reports of the state officers continued from the morning session, by giving her report in which she stated that Texas daughters number 2774, in the 46 chapters.

In the absence of the state historian, Mrs. Early, the recording secretary, Mrs. H. C. Bailiff of Temple, read her report, and the assembly voted to adopt the recommendation therein, that of completing the work in the volume "Pioneer Women of Texas" allowing two years to complete the collecting of material.

Librarian Reports.

Mrs. Ward Templeman, state librarian, read her report telling of various lineage books and valuable papers and volumes which had been contributed by chapters over the state.

Mrs. Joe Crouch and Miss Monterey Lewis, played a violin duet, Dancla's "Concerto IV," accompanied by Mrs. R. E. Strange at the organ. During the number, state officers were presented with corsages from the local chapter.

Scholarship reports were heard from Mrs. R. F. Andrews for the Denton state normal, Mrs. I. B. MacFarlane for the San Houston normal, while the recording secretary read the report of the D. A. R. scholarship, in the absence of Mrs. Neil Carothers, and that of Mrs. C. E. Hudson was read by Mrs. A. V. Lane of Dallas.

Have $50 Surplus

Mrs. Andrews reported a $50 surplus on the interest of the Denton scholarship which she recommended be placed in the D. A. R. loan fund. A motion to this effect was made and carried by the assembly.

Over $400 was pledged during the session for the San Houston scholarship, and $84 was pledged for the Philippine fund after a short talk by Mrs. Guernsey on the work being done by that fund. The resolutions committee was granted an extension of time and gave no report.

Mrs. Jerry Schaefer sang "Over the Waters Blue" with remarkable sweetness, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard. She responded to hearty applause with a light encore.

In the absence of Mrs. Merrick Davis, state director of D. A. R., Mrs. H. C. Bailiff of Temple read her report on the work of the Children of the American Revolution. She stressed the opportunity in this organization of teaching children the importance of their daily actions, and the value of true citizenship, and expressed a desire to establish a regular state organization in Texas for the children.

After the reading of telegrams of greeting from absent officials, and announcements, the body adjourned.

JOHNNY SIMPSON IS VICTOR OVER ROUGHHOUSE SMITH IN 12 ROUNDS

Guest Wins By Technical Knockout From Jennings in Fifth—Snyder Stops Wells

Roughhouse Smith of McAlister, welterweight, started his bout last night in the Legion main event like a rough house type of bird all right, but calmed down toward the latter portion of the 12-round battle and lost the decision to Johnny Simpson of San Antonio.

Smith tore into Simpson in the initial couplet and battered the San Antonio mauler about the ring with a series of vicious body punches. It appeared that Smith would be easily the master of the situation. But before the round was over he backed up and quit mixing it. From there on out the outcome of the bout seemed uncertain until the last several rounds.

For seven rounds neither man scored perceptibly, but devoted the greater part of the time to trying for one-punch knockouts. The result was they lunged together and clinched with neither gaining an advantage during rather latent infighting which always ensued.

Simpson Straight Puncher

Simpson showed himself to be a straight punching battler who can mix them up a bit. Smith had nothing but a hook and an uppercut. He tried repeatedly to clip Simpson with his uppercut, but failed. His hooks after the first round rarely ever landed clean enough to do much harm.

The final three rounds of the scrap Simpson stepped into Smith and completely outclassed him. He was the McAlister boy's master and possibly could have scored a knockout if the bout had gone many rounds further than the 12-round limit.

Before the fight it was announced that the victor would box some boy the fans desired. There were cries for Duke Trammel and Ray Maywood. Trammel seemed to be the favorite, but Maywood had a lusty backing.

Jennings Fat

Battling Jennings of Henrietta took a terrific lacing from Jimmy Guest of Houston for five rounds of a scheduled 10-round affair. The Henrietta boy substituted for Ray Maywood, and was fat and apparently in poor condition.

Jimmy floored Jennings in the first round with a stiff, short right hook just as Jennings started a haymaker. Guest followed up and beat Henrietta to the mat again. Jennings stayed in and fought gamely but was defeated from the start. He rallied enough in the third to earn the round by a margin because of aggressiveness while Guest played a waiting game. But all told, Jennings mingled with the resin eight times, and was in no condition to answer the bell starting the sixth round.

Earl Griffin and Red Raley, two Wichita Falls boys, tore at each other in a slugging bee for four rounds to a draw. The boys fought earnestly (the bout was heralded as grudge battle), and the scrap proved the most popular of the entire card.

Kid Snyder of Burk was too heavy and rugged a battler for Johnny Wells of Fort Worth. The Kid knocked out his smaller opponent in the third of a scheduled six-rounder.

Human Calculator Wins.

M. Inaudi, a French lightning calculator, was recently pitted against 2 of the best types of machines for calculating sums and he came off with all but one honor. Mr. Inaudi easily beat his mechanical competitors in addition, subtraction, division and finding the square of the cube, but in extracting the square root of a number a machine came out first. In the complicated problems the man won easily.

School Book Changes Costly.

School book changes in Kentucky have hit large families in some sections severely, according to Professor L. C. Bosley, superintendent of the Danville city schools. One father has protested the cost which amounted to $9 for one child in the eighth grade. In one instance, the county had to pay $200 where children could not afford the price of the changes which were made in accordance with state regulations.

76-Pound Salmon Trapped

A giant salmon found its way into Puget Sound near Anacortes, Wash., not long ago and was caught in a salmon trap operated by the San Juan company. It measured four feet long. Trollers in the Seattle harbor reported catching many salmon that weighed 50 to 60 pounds each.

Autoists Carry Goat

Goat milk en route was enjoyed by a Colorado motor party recently. The camping party fixed a stall for a milk goat on the running board of their sedium sized auto and consequently had a supply of the milk on their transcontinental trip. The goat would eat leisurely even while the car was in motion.

Auto Using Much Asbestos

The present day highly developed automobile calls for a large use of asbestos and it was recently estimated that the automotive industry uses 50% of the asbestos products made in the county. For break lining alone it is said automobiles use 70,000,000 feet yearly.

A rich field of sapphires has been discovered in Ceylon.

GOLF

As Champions Play It

Do you advocate the "shut face" or the "open face" on the back swing? Why?

Answered by
BILL STRACHAN
Wichita Falls Country Club Golf Professional.

The open face is by far the best and simplest, owing to freedom in the follow through, which can not be got with the shut face. The shut face is not so easy to control, as the right hand must remain under at the finish to insure proper direction, and this brings up the left elbow and has a tendency to make one tighten up.

Very few players can play a shot properly with a shut face. This shot requires an expert, owing to its complications. There is too great a tendency to hook, which, with irons, is less desirable than a fade.

18 Acres Yield 1,134 Bushels

Percy township in Ontario, Canada, claims the record bumper crop of its section, the farm of John Sullivan yielding the heaviest return. He had 18 acres summer fallowed in 1923, which returned 1,134 bushels of fine wheat. This as at the rate of 63 bushels to the acre.

A. Bloemfontein, South Africa, doctor, has figured that in the last 13 years he has traveled 250,000 miles in an automobile that had covered 4,000 miles before he bought it.

Baylor Works Hard For Tilt With Longhorns

Team, Not In Best Of Shape, Looks for Tough Struggle

WACO, Texas, Nov. 6.—The glory of their week-end victory over A. & M. almost forgotten, the Baylor university Bears this week are going through one of the most grueling weeks of practice in the history of athletics here, in preparation for the battle with the University of Texas Longhorns in Austin Saturday.

Crippled and tired from their 15-to-7 victory over the cadets last Saturday, the Bears are being put through a hard schedule of scrimmage and field practice, and evening "skull training," by Coach Frank Bridges.

The Bears did not come out of that grueling melee in the best of physical shape.

Connally, who was struck and injured by a baseball during the last season, never has recovered entirely. An injury just below the shoulder is aggrevated in every football game. He was "out" for a few minutes in last Saturday's game and may find it difficult to whip into playing form by the time the Bears are scheduled to meet the Longhorns.

He has been unable to get into practice work this week, but Coach Bridges hopes to have him in condition by Thursday when the strenuous practice sessions come in their most severe form.

This week Coach Bridges is doctoring his injured players and putting them through rugged practice for Saturday's battle against the Texans. Bridges says the defeat of the Longhorns at the hands of Rice has not helped the Baylor chances in the least.

Crimson And Tiger Meet In Saturday Classic

Teams Rated Even-Stephen For First Big Three Combat

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 6.—Harvard and Princeton football teams, in the same class as far as 1924 records are concerned, meet here Saturday afternoon for the twenty-sixth time. Both Harvard and Princeton have one defeat at least to try and forget, and mean to do it by winning Saturday. There was probably little to choose between Notre Dame and Dartmouth on the same afternoon when they respectively downed the Tigers and the Crimson. Princeton, since Bob Fisher took hold at Harvard, his defeated the Crimson twice, tied the score the same number of times, and lost only last year's game, 5 to 0. In the five contests neither team has scored above 14 points, which makes it reasonable to believe that, unless there are some very bad breaks, the score will be within that number of points.

Quarterback a Question.

Harvard's major problem just now is the selection of a quarterback for the game, and a studied effort has been made to cut down the fumbling habit, which proved so very disastrous in the Dartmouth game. Roper's teams have always been known as ones which not only take 100 per cent advantage of the breaks but force them also.

Jack Stafford, whose showing was the best of the four quarterbacks used against Dartmouth, although that isn't saying a great deal, has been given considerable attention by the coaches this week. Joe McGlone started last fall's game at Princeton, but a bad knee keeps the coaches up in the air over his value to the team. Stafford is bigger than Phil Spalding, who was one of the quarterbacks against the Tigers in 1922 and runs the ball better, and for this reason may start the game. This only may result if Coach Fisher decides that Dolph Cheek is not fitted for quarterback, although the latter has started all the games. Cheek, a regular halfback last autumn, has been used to call signals for the sake of adding strength to the attack, but the experiment so far has not worked out very well. When the coaches went over this shift last summer it looked good, but experience so far hasn't demonstrated its value.

Rest of Backfield Intact.

Erwin Gehrke, Al Miller and Jack Hammond will be the backs against Princeton unless injuries prevent. Gehrke is not kicking up to his 1922 form; in fact, Jack Hammond and even Quarterback Phil Spalding have been doing better in practice. However, the big Cleveland youth is a stanch defensive back, and while used little in rushing is generally good for a short gain when one is needed. Hammond has been running the ball well in recent games, while Miller seems the strongest and most brilliant performer of the three men. Issy Zarakov is good, but hardly heavy and strong enough to do much against a good rush line. Cheek may be moved to the backfield and used as substitute for Miller or Gehrke.

The remainder of the lineup Saturday will be Phil Clusc and either Len Robb or Eddie Bradford, ends; Captain Greenough and either Clem Coady or Carl Lindner, tackles; Heinie Dunker and Leo Daley, guards, and Jack Aide, center.

TEXAS TENNIS TEAM WEAKER THIS SEASON

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 6.—Tennis prospects at the University of Texas are considerably weaker this year than last, according to Dr. D. A. Penick, tennis coach. Two members of the undefeated team of the past year received their degree in June and will not be eligible for the tennis team this year.

Lewis White of Austin, winner of the national intercollegiate tennis double championship with Louis Thalheimer of Dallas in Philadelphia last summer, has already played his three years of collegiate tennis. Marshall Bell, also a member of the university team, did not return this year.

Captain Thalheimer, however, will be eligible as will Edward Mather of Austin, Albert Love of Austin, Ernest Funkhouser of Fort Worth. These men will be the nucleus of the team this year, Dr. Penick said.

Anything Can Happen in Golf —By Murray

A most unusual shot was recorded last year at Crawfordsville, Indiana, when Mrs. Blackford, on the 26th of August, sent her approach shot into a bird's nest in a tree. Mrs. Blackford climbed the tree, took a stance among the branches, and soaked the old pill out and onto the green. Then she took one putt and halved the hole. It certainly should have been a bridle!

Mr. P. M'Gregor, in 1921, on the course at Kirkfield, Ontario, needed to hole a long putt on the home hole to win a match from H. Dowie. His attempt was a good one, but seemed to stop, after rolling around the lip of the cup. Just then a grasshopper landed squarely on the ball, causing it to drop into the hole, and winning the match for brother M'Gregor. Now Mr. Dowie thinks there should be a law abolishing grasshoppers.

This next one sounds like a fish story, but it's true. A Newark golfer (maybe his name was Walton) in May, 1907, smacked his drive into the river. The result was a two-pound trout, which is much better than this golfer could ever do with a line and hook.

DUCKS COMING.

Mallards, great big fellows, and the rest of the duck tribe are headed this way today, came the report last night. Freezing weather in the offing and the feathered game on the wing. Hunters delight! Now's the real time to pull out the old blunderbuss and get prepared.

Sully Montgomery, Fort Worth battler and former Centre college grid star, was given a draw the other night with Quintin Romero in a six-rounder. Seems that Sully really earned the decision. Press reports give it that the Texan won the first three rounds handily, and in the fourth had the Chile champ in a bad way, in fact had him holding on to stave off a knockdown.

"What has become of the East?" asks Al Holden in an editorial in the Big Tex Weekly. "During the last ten years the Middle West is far ahead of the East in intersectional victories. Are western coaches better? Is western football material better? It is a difficult question to answer."

* * *

An interesting theory is advanced by the writer, "One fact stands out clearly," he states. "The prep school athletes of the Middle West are no longer flocking East in swarms as they used to do. The middle western boys are staying at home to go to universities in the Middle West. One year Walter Camp's All-American team, if I remember correctly, had five Illinois boys on it, all playing in the East.

* * *

"Ghee of Dartmouth, Pollard of Brown, Lourie of Princeton, the Horween boys of Harvard, Shiverick of Cornell, Oliphant of West Point, Simmons and Usher of Syracuse are names that flash to our minds in an instant—all middle western boys. There have been hundreds more from the corn belt winning fame on eastern gridirons. But less and less is this condition true. And the effect is being felt down East."

"Don't be surprised if Illinois schedules Notre Dame for a game in the Urbana stadium next season," we are informed. "The Illini need a big attraction for the home field to add to Chicago, Minnesota, Michigan and Nebraska, who are likely to play there, and there's no question that Rochne's outfit will fill every one of the 67,000 seats." Wonder if the Irish can stop Red Grange.

OWLS IN POOR SHAPE

Condition Cause For Worry on Eve of Austin Contest.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 6—As the week wears on, the football coaches out at Rice are beginning to wear worried countenances. The doctor has forbidden Comstock's participation in the Austin college game because of a wrenched join, while Hopkins in in bed ill at his home in Galveston. On top of this Terrell is not at all in good shape to enter a football game and it is highly uncertain whether the coaches will risk him or not. As yet the team has shown no ability to stop Austin college formations; indeed, they are proving hard nuts to solve and whether the coaches will find the correct solution before Friday is with them an open question.

If Terrell does not play at end it is probable that Red Moore or Winston will be tried out in that position. Both have been doing improved work this week. Prafka, who has been with the squad all season, has left college and this leaves it up to the coaches to develop another man.

1925 PUBLIC LINKS TITLE PLAY AT GARDEN CITY

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—The 1925 national public links championship will be played at the Salisbury Country club, Garden City, L. I., some time in August, according to announcement today by James D. Standish, Jr., chairman of the public links committee of the United States Golf association.

Feather Title Tourney Now Is Certainty

Contestants Call Off Other Flights Until After Eliminations

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The weather-weight tournament was made a sizzling fact at the boxing commission meeting.

The managers of five of the men selected by the board to struggle for the featherweight title appeared in person, and Joe Jacobs came to speak for Dahny Kramer in lieu of Boo Boo Hoff, the Philadelphian's sponsor, who was unable to attend and sign for Kramer.

All agreed to the terms of the tournament which is scheduled for Madison Square Garden on the night of Nov. 21.

The names of the men will be dropped in a hat at a meeting in the commission offices Friday and a sports writer will draw the names from a hat, the men to be paired as their names come from Bill Muldoon's kelly.

The men who are eligible to the draw are Bobbie Garcia, Kid Kaplan, Danny Kramer, Jose Lombardo, Milke Dundee and Lew Paulso, Jimmy Bronson talked for Garcia, Scotty Montieth for Kaplan, Joe Jacobs for Kramer, Bob Levey for Lombardo, Dick Curley for Dundee and Leopold Parnell Flynn for Paluso.

The men selected have blue-penciled all their engagements. Three of the men had signed to meet opponents in the near future, but under the conditions of the tournament they must be scot free and have no entanglements until the tournament has been held. Dundee was to have met Joe Ritchie Monday, Kramer was booked to face Eddie Anderson at Milwaukee on November 5, and Bobbie Garcia was scheduled to box Georgia Jay at Hartford today.

These bouts have been called off and if there has been any expense incurred by the different clubs these items will be adjusted. The men are to guarantee that they will go through with their different matches as soon as the tournament is over.

MRS. BENSON RETAINS BEAR OWNERSHIP

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 6.—Mrs. H. J. Benson and Walter Schreiner will retain ownership of the San Antonio (Texas league) baseball club. Mrs. Benson is the widow of the late H. J. Benson, who until his death recently was president of the club.

MATCH FOR DEMPSEY

Want Champion to Meet Tony Fuente, July 4

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 6.—Tony Fuente against Jack Dempsey at Culver City, near here, July 4, 1925, was the proposal made by wire today to Jack Kearns, manager for Dempsey, by Fred Winsor, manager for Fuente, and also manager of the Culver City ring. Winsor sent his telegram to Kearns in New York on the assumption that a state amendment to legalize ten round boxing bouts with decisions and 12 round bouts without decision, had been approved in Tuesday's election as indicated by the incomplete returns.

Fuente is a young Mexican who has won several of his recent fights around Los Angeles by knockouts. He also took a four round decision recently from Floyd Johnson of Iowa.

7 TO 1 CHOICE VICTOR

English Horse Cops Australia's Richest Race.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Australia's riches race, worth $41,000 to the victor, was won yesterday by Backwood, an imported English horse running at 7 to 1 odds.

Standby, the former favorite, wrenched his leg just before the race and was beaten by a head. Spearfelt, which won the Victorian Derby, had been made favorite and finished third.

A sensation was caused before the race when 28 of the horses, being taken to the race course, barely escaped electrocution when overhead electric wires fell on a horse box and set it afire. The flames were quelled and the thoroughbreds escaped.

BEARS PRANCE AT AUSTIN

WACO, Texas, Nov. 6.—The Baylor, Texas game at Austin Saturday will probably find every Baylor student who could hang onto the "Bear special" train present. The "Bear Prance" and formation of the Green and Gold B. U. will likely be staged by the Baylor students in the new Texas stadium. The Baylor band will also make the trip and furnish the music for the "Bear Prance."

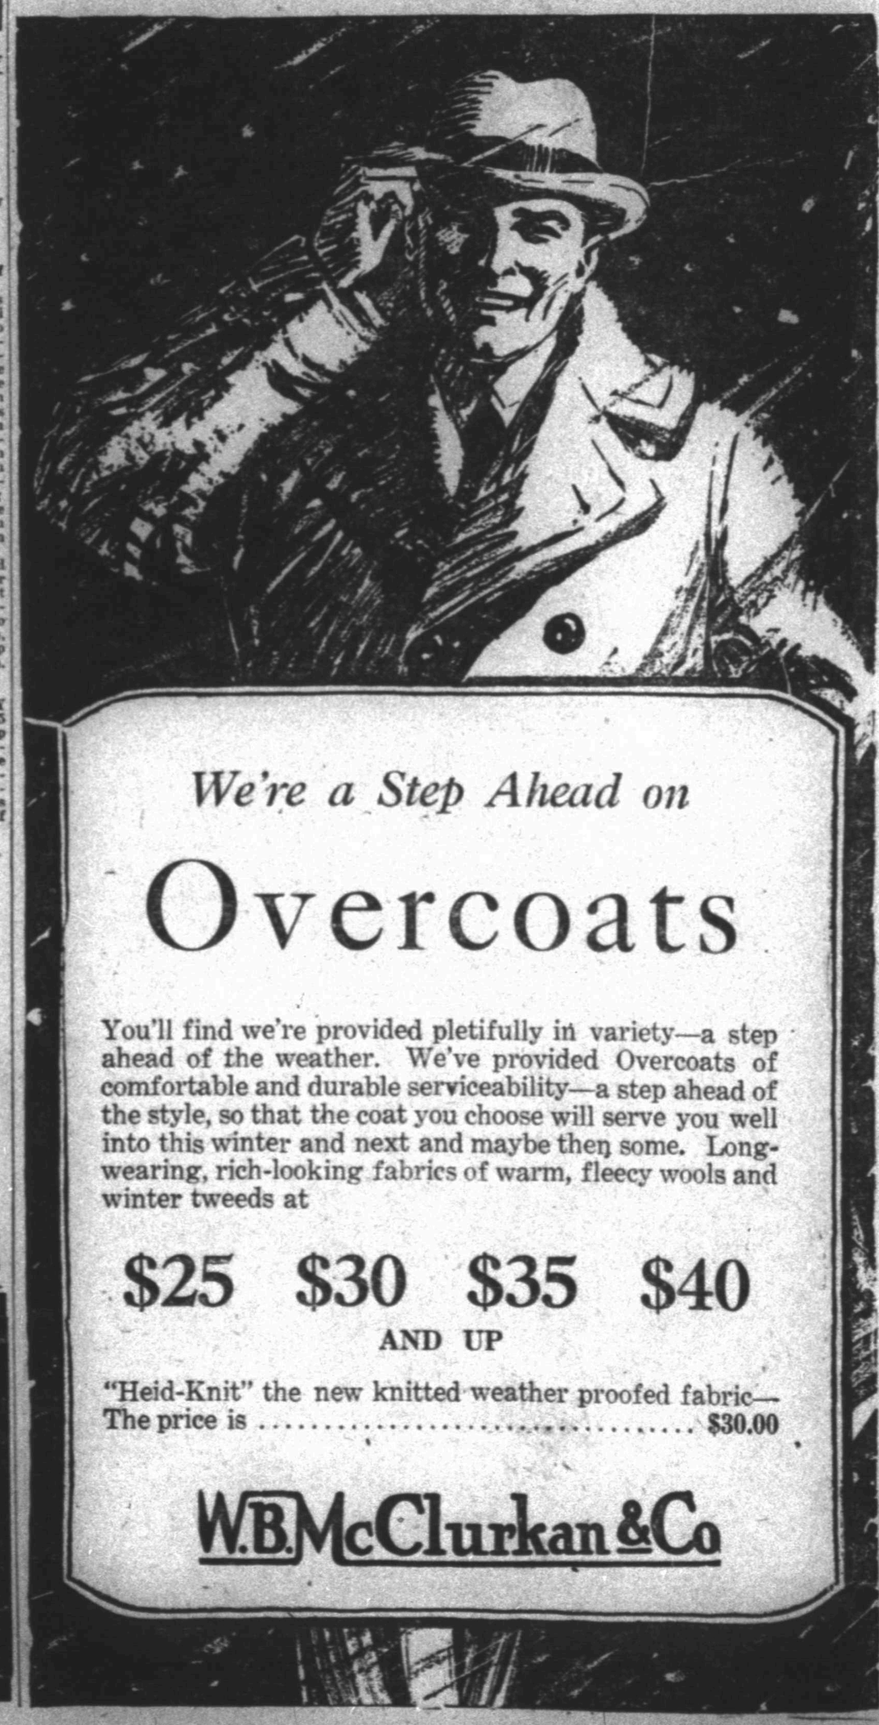

A&M Determined To Stop Horned Frog Rush Today

Both Teams Out to Avenge Their Conference Losses

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 6.—The Texas Aggies are facing the game with T. C. U. Frogs on their local gridiron Friday afternoon with a determination marked with the aspects of grimness. With a feeling of slipping into the abyss of gloom over the brink of southern conference defeat they realize that they must now assert themselves if they are to take any honor from their year of work. To lose another game would be hard to bear and they will take a stand Friday more determined than they have yet entered a game to come out victors. The spirit in practice this week has no appearance of surrender, instead it is charged with hope, expectation and confidence. Besides the recognition of T. C. U. as a strong contender, the Aggies are now looking just beyond this game to the Owl tussle, which will take place here the Friday following the game with the Frogs, and then not far beyond, the Longhorn game, the premier attraction to the Farmers. To annex these three and detract to that extent from their unfortunate contests of previous days is the hope that is cheering the Aggies on to stern application these days.

It is recognized that the Frogs will come to Aggieland no less determined to avenge their own losses. In three games they have been defeated twice by the merest chance, which broke easy advantage to their opponents. They have shown a strong defense.

The Aggies suffered no serious injuries in the Baylor contest but still have on the injured list two of their strongest linemen, who were out of that now memorable battle of last Saturday. These are Norman Dansby, guard, and John Braselton, center. The absence of Braselton from the Baylor game was a serious weakness in the line and his continued absence is a thing of worry this week. He will probably not get back into the game before Thanksgiving. Dieterich may be able to be back at the right tackle place this week. He is in scrimmage and so far has been able to keep fit. The backfield is intact from injuries.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Snub had just fed Button and was going to dress him up with a big, red bow of ribbon for the picture.

"Here, you pup, stand still while I wash your face. I have orders to put you in the washbowl and give you a good scrubbing," saying which, Snub picked up Stubby and going to the washbowl in the corner of the room, he proceeded to lather Stubby all over and scrub him for dear life, regardless of whether or not the soap got in Stubby's eyes.

When he had finished, Stubby really did look cute for his yellow hair was curled tightly over his body until he looked like a little yellow ball of yarn about ten shades lighter than before he was scrubbed.

Stubby and Button both squirmed and fussed all the time they were being bathed, but to no avail. The men held them tightly and proceeded with what they had been told to do, though the perspiration did roll off their noses and chins. At last the dog and cat were fixed to their satisfaction and I must say they did look cute, Stubby with his bright eyes peeping out under his curly hair and Button's coat bright and glossy as a new black shoe button, with the big red bow sticking up behind his ears, which made him look most dressy

"Now you have had a good dinner and been washed and perfumed up like two children about to be taken to the movies. The only difference is that you are to make pictures instead of look at them," said Snub.

A messenger boy knocked at the door and told them that Mr. Dates was ready for the dog and cat to come to play their parts. So Stubby with a sinking heart and Button with wildly blazing eyes were carried to the studio where the play was then in progress. And in a few moments this is what took place.

The scene was a sitting-room with the Painted Lady, as Button called the actress whose pet cat he was supposed to be, to be seen sitting on a soft by a window fondling her cat when her lover enters the room and nearly falls over Stubby as he crosses the room to meet his ladylove. He kicks Stubby, but in trying to regain his balance he falls over a footstool, spins round a rocking chair and at last falls against a center table, upsetting it and sending the things on it all over the room. In the meantime his ladylove has been holding Button close to her breast, looking on with frightened eyes. But when her lover falls to the floor with the table, she runs to his assistance, leaving Button on the sofa.

That would have been Button's time to have escaped, but he was so surprised at what was going on that he sat still and watched instead of running away.

(Tomorrow we will hear more about this wonderful picture and the things that Stubby and Button did.)

Color Cut-Outs

Spain is where this little lady
Makes her home—a sunny land;
There she wears a gay mantilla,
Bears a tambourine in hand.

Make her flowing dress all scarlet,
Scarlet make her mantle, too;
On her shawl so gay and dashing
Paint the figures brightest blue.

Make her cheeks and lips vermillion;
Black as ravens is her hair;
Now behold, so gaily dancing,
You've a Spanish lady fair.

* * *

Betty Cut-out's room at school is giving a show of dolls of all the nations. One of the girls in her room dressed up the Spanish doll you see today. Tomorrow there'll be a cunning little doll from Russia.

Mothers AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Working Costume

One Mother Says:

My small daughter sets the table much more willingly since I made her a little white cap "like the waitress at the hotel wears." She fixes herself before the glass a moment and then flits about laying the silver and napkins like a professional. When I discovered this magical effect of costume I took pains to provide her with dainty ruffled aprons of various colors to wear when she helps me.

* * *

Getting the child to help about the house without making it seem a disagreeable task is one of the mother's biggest problems. Several mothers tell how they solved this, in the booklet "100 Ideas for Mothers," which you can secure by sending 16c in stamps to The Record-News, mother's bureau, room 930, 440 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

Babies Born At Tourist Camp

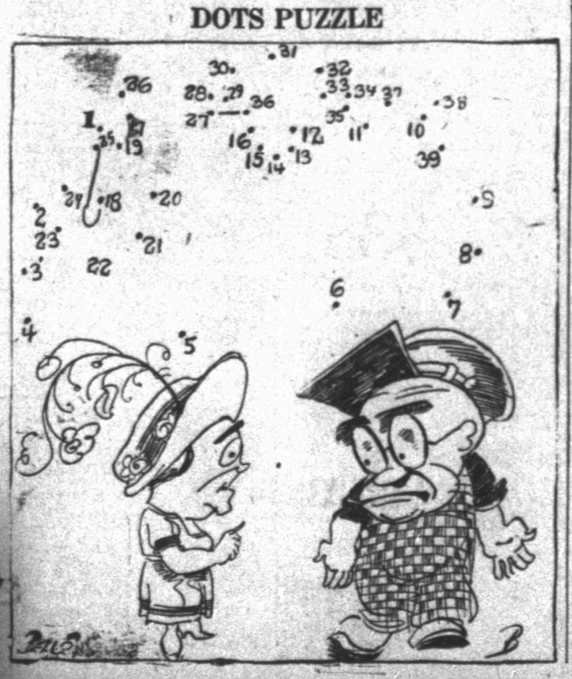

Automobile camps for tourists have become a regular and well regulated institution especially in the west. Three babies were born during the season of 1924 at the motor park camp near Seattle, the mothers all being newcomers from the east, intent upon reaching their settling place before the stork arrived.

London's Busiest Point

Hyde Park is now said to be London's busiest point as traffic tallies have recently been carefully made at the several traffic centers of the great metropolis. At Hyde Park on an average day more than 56,000 vehicles pass and by a succession of counts this point has been given the distinction of being the busiest of all.

Gasoline now sells for 14 cents a gallon in Rumania.

Opening: December 22.92, January 23.05, March 23.44, May 23.60, July blank.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—After opening lower today the cotton market rallied on covering and trade buying, but after advancing from 23.01 to 23.35 for January weakened under a renewal of realising and southern selling. January broke to 22.97 in the late trading and closed at that figure, the general market closing steady at net steady at net declines of 29 to 40 points.

The opening was 7 to 26 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and a private report estimating the crop at 13,000,000 bales. There was some southern selling here, but initial offerings were readily absorbed by covering or trade buying and the market firmed up on reports that ocean freight engagements pointed to large November exports from the southwest and the forecast for a cold wave in the western belt.

Another private crop report pointing to a yield of 12,263,000 bales, with allowance or estimated abandonment of 4.6 per cent in acreage, probably contributed to the mid-day rally. After selling up to 23.21 for December and 23.62 for March, however, the market became very quiet and prices broke sharply in the late trading under liquidation and southern selling. December reacted to 22.80 and March to 23.23 and the market closed at about the lowest prices of the day.

Except for the trade buying reported on the opening decline and the southern selling noted toward the close, business was quiet and attributed largely to evening up accounts in preparation for the government crop report on Saturday. Exports today were 16,567 bales, making 2,192,295 so far this season.

Port receipts 47,608. U. S. port stocks 1,184,622.

May	23.56	23.25	23.25-27	23.50
July	23.31	23.05	23.05	23.32

Opening: December 22.94, January 22.96, March 23.18, May 23.37, July 23.20.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—The cotton market was comparatively narrow today and with trading mainly confined to some hedge selling and evening up for the government reports Saturday. There was no definite trend to prices until near the close when they declined on an estimate of 9,831,000 bales for total ginnings to November 1. All months made lows for the day, the most active showing net losses of 21 to 22 points.

Although Liverpool was fully as good as due the market here opened 8 to 12 points down but later rallied on prospects for unsettled and colder weather in the western belt.

The market was quiet during the most of the morning and during the early afternoon but weakened in the late trading on the large estimate of ginnings, all months making new lows with January down to 22.86 or 35 points below the high point of the day. The close was at the lowest, showing net losses for the day of 21 to 27 points.

The dominating influence was an estimate of 13,000,000 bales issued by a well known authority and this was in some measure responsible for the early decline. About the middle of the morning a well known Texas house issued an estimate of 12,263,000 bales allowing Texas only 4,151,000 bales. This helped to sustain the market until an estimate of the crop by a Memphis authority of 12,978,000 and ginnings to November 1 of 9,831,000 bales broke the market in the late afternoon. Exports for the day totalled 16,567 bales.

LOCAL COTTON

Twenty cents, basis middling, was the price for spot cotton Thursday in Wichita Falls, and other northwest Texas points. The basis was about 5 to 10 points lower, and the demand not so insistent as on Wednesday, but there was nothing to indicate that holders are in any hurry to dispose of their spots at these prices.

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—Spot cotton steady, 15 points down. Sales on the spot 14.08; to arrive 9.50; low middling 20.90; middling 22.90; good middling 23.40; receipts 12,704; stock 291,473.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 6.—Cotton spot better demand, improved business; prices steady. Strictly good middling 14.08; good middling 13.73; strictly middling 13.53; middling 13.33; strictly low middling 13.13; low middling 12.68; strictly good ordinary 12.28; good ordinary 11.68. Sales 5,000 bales, including 2,900 American; receipts 25,000 bales, including 22,400 American.

New York Spot Cotton

New York steady, middling 23.60, 30 off; New Orleans 22.90; Houston 22.95, sales on spots 549; to arrive 6,712, fob 525; Memphis 22.50, sales 3,200, to arrive 2,200; Galveston 23.05, sales 550; to arrive 1,450; Dallas 21.95, sales to arrive 11,308; Fort Worth 22.00, sales 6,250; Savannah 22.95, sales 305; Little Rock 22.50, sales 5,461.

Spot News

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—Basis about 15 points weaker. Somewhat better demand at lower prices. Shipper: bidding 115 to 125 off December New York for all November shipment. Cotton can be bought at about 90 off, though none pressing to sell and offerings are still light. Holding continues.

DALLAS MIDDLING

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—Middling cotton 21.95; Houston 22.95; Galveston 23.05.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—The cotton market was a small dull affair today with prices averaging above yesterday's finals until in the late afternoon they slipped a few points on liquidation, in advance of the bureau. Prediction of rain in the western belt, to be followed by freezing temperature in the northwestern section and an estimate of 12,263,000 from a prominent Texas spot house stimulated covering on the part of yesterday's sellers at the start and gave the market a good tone for quite a while. This firm made allowance for 4.6 per cent abandoned acreage in its estimate, which, like ours, was based largely on the predicted yield per acre. Other estimates issued during the day ranged from 12,900,000 to 13,000,000 and were apparently based on the government's acreage without allowance for abandonment.

Ginning predictions were raised to 9,831,000 by one of the bureas. Spots appear to be holding firm, the outgo in the shape of exports continues to increase and well known authority in the trade predicts consumption of American cotton will run about 12,800,000 bales against 11,241,000.

The outlook is for bad weather in the section that now needs good weather, and the market would probably respond to it with an advance were it not for the uncertainty over the government's estimate due Saturday.

Fenner and Beane to Flowerree and Co.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Notable fresh upturns in the price of wheat today accompanied by seaboard clearances and liberal new buying for shipment to Europe. The wheat market here closed strong, 1¼ to 3⅝c net higher, December 1.47 to 1.47⅛ and May 1.52¼ to 1.52⅜, with corn unchanged to ½c up, oats at 2⅜ to 1¼c gain and provisions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 42c.

Corn and oats averaged higher chiefly as a result of wheat strength.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened most of the provision list.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—News was bullish and market had strong undertone, closing at the best figures of the day. Locals tooks profits on upturns. Commission houses absorbed offerings on dips. Cash basis strong to shade better. Millers reported a much better flour trade and bought 215,000 bushels cash wheat here. Minneapolis reported improved business. Cash basis strong.

Corn: Realizing sales held advances in check, but undertone was strong. Cash basis half cent better relative to futures. Shipper here reported an order to take all offerings here on a certain basis, and his business was restricted only to the amount he could buy. Weather over the belt generally favorable.

Oats: Trade light and market stronger, mostly in sympathy with other grains. Cash trading basis firm to ⅛ better.

Financial

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Vacuum Oil declared an extra dividend of $1 today and the regular disbursement of 50c, both payable December 20 to stockholders of record November 29. Extra dividends of 25 cents was paid in each of the three preceding quarters.

The demand for Gulf Coast crude oil now higher than production, was said to explain the advance of 20 to 25 cents a barrel by the Gulf Oil corporation today, quickly followed by a similar increase by Humble Oil and the Texas Co. The trade considered the advance significant, indicating improvement in prices in other fields shortly it was said. Gulf oil's new price is the first increase since April 1, when Humble Oil advance quotations. The present prices are 50 cents a barrel below the 1924 high for grade "A" and 45 cents lower on grade "B."

Organization of the Gibson Oil corporation, operating in the New Mexico fields was announced today by Frank D. Gibson, president. The company which is capitalized at 200,000 shares of $5 par value stock of which 120,000 shares are outstanding, with no preferred or bonded indebtedness, owns about 13,000 acres of oil lands.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Heavy profit taking checked the early advance in industrial stocks in today's market but the railroad shares continued to forge ahead in response to a sustained investment demand for the high grade carriers and speculative accumulation of several low priced issues. Trading was again on a broad scale, the day's sales aggregating about one half million shares.

Buying of the rails was based in part on the speculative belief that the make-up of the next congress precludes the possibility of any radical railroad legislation in the next two years. Among the 17 rails to soar to new peak prices for the year were New York Central, Frisco common, and the Wabash and Rock Island preferred issues, "Katy" common and preferred, Great Western common and preferred, Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Western Pacific common and preferred and Kansas City Southern. Seaboard Air Line sold at the highest price in eight years.

One of the most significant departments of the session was the increase in public participation. This was particularly apparent in the odd-lot business.

Baldwin sold off more than two points to 119⅛, with a somewhat similar losses in American Sugar Refining, Dupont and General Electric. U. S. Steel common closed ¼ lower at 109½, while American Can showed a net gain of ¼ at 140⅛.

During the early outburst of buying in the industrial group 22 issues mounted to new peak prices for the year, including American Smelting common and preferred, Montgomery Ward, H. R. Mallinson, Corn Products, American Radiator, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Simms Petroleum, American Tobacco "B," Westinghouse Air Brake, Iron Products and Maxwell Motors "B." Early gains in these issues ran from 2 to 3 points but a number of them were materially reduced or wiped out before the close.

Heavy selling of some of the motor issues was predicted on the seasonal decline in retail business, which has been accentuated by recent price cuts. Chandler broke four points to 27½, a new low for the year, and then rallied to 28⅝, while Yellow Cab Manufacturing duplicated its previous low of 37, off 2¼. General Motors closed a point lower at 56¾ announcement of the quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the new stock being withheld until after the market closed.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Why do prices rise and fall?

The stock answer to such a question is that prices rise and fall in accordance with the supply and the demand, prices increasing when the demand is greater than supply and vice-versa.

However, there is possibly a deeper reason. What makes for supply and demand and why should they make prices fluctuate? Principally because our present sources of information are not quick enough or accurate enough to keep supply and demand equaling one another—which case would make for level prices.

It is the object of business research today to try and stabilize prices through more accurate and more quickly broadcast information. This is an attempt to take many of the risk elements out of business, and though it may never be entirely successful, due to psychological factors, it will go a long way toward stabilizing industry and establishing the more perfect relations between producer, consumer and marketing agency.

Neff Sends His Congratulations To Women Victors

Governor Wishes Success For Administration of Mrs. Ferguson and Ross

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—Messages of congratulations were sent today by Governor Pat M. Neff to Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, governor-elect of Texas, and Mrs. William B. Ross, governor-elect of Wyoming. In a letter to Mrs. Ferguson, Governor Neff tendered his active co-operation in making her administration successful and congratulated her on the opportunity to render "worth while service to the people of Texas.' In a telegram to Mrs. Ross, he said:

"I hope you will find in this wide field of service an opportunity to do some great and worthwhile things for the welfare and happiness of the people of your state."

A SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Jap Who Cut Down U. S. Flag Gets Off Lightly.

TOKIO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Rihei Okada, who cut the American flag from the flag staff in the grounds of the destroyed American embassy July 10, last, yesterday was sentenced to six months imprisonment. His two accomplices were sentenced to four and two months, respectively, with a suspension of sentence for two years which means that if they are of good behavior during that period they will go practically unpunished.

The judge in announcing his decision said that the unselfishness of motives prompted the deed justified the suspension of the sentences.

COMMISSION TO MEET

Text Book Board in Session Dec. 11 On Orders of Neff.

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—A meeting of the state text book commission for December 11 was called today by Governer Neff in a proclamation to award contracts for text books expiring on September 1. Contracts will be awarded in 21 subjects, among which are spelling, a graded series of reading books, a course in language lessons, English composition, oral English, English literature, philosophy and civil government.

VISITORS HELP EXPENSES.

Curious Ones Net $25 a Day to State Prison.

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—Curiosity of the public is netting the state penitentiary system an average of $25 a day, according to Mrs. J. E. King, member of the advisory commission. A charge of 25 cents recently was established as an admittance fee for visitors at the Huntsville penitentiary. Visitors are so numerous the prison is making a material profit, Mrs. King said.

COTTON GOODS STEADY.

More Business Reported for Novelty Lines.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Cotton goods were steadier today and more business was reported on percales and ginghams following recent revisions of price. Silk traders reported better demand for novelties, crepes and prints for the spring. Fine dress goods and spot fabrics sold steadily. Burlap markets were firm, but buyers resisted high prices by declining to contract far ahead, most of the business being on spots and for nearby delivery.

CONSULATES CLOSED.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6.—(AP)—All Mexican consulates in Canada and the other British dominions have been ordered closed beginning November 20.

YOUTH KILLED.

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Henry Morris, 13 years old, was killed near here yesterday when a team pulling a wagon loaded with cotton, bolted, throwing the lad under the wheels of the vehicle.

Moore, Baylor County

D. H. Moore's No. 1, Fancher, H&TCRR survey, block 45, section 19, southwest Baylor county, southeast of Bomarton and southwest of Seymour, was spraying salt water with around five million feet of gas at least yesterday and Wednesday afternoon after drilling nine feet in a sand encountered at about 990 feet. This test set casing recently on a sand encountered at 961 feet, which showed little oil and did not make a producer. Drilling deeper without pulling casing developed the gas strata at about 990 feet which showed about 2,000,000 cubic feet until drilled a little deeper, when the stronger gas flow was shown and the salt water spray developed.

Winnipeg, Wilbarger

Winnipeg Oil company was drilling yesterday afternoon below a depth of 1,750 feet on No. 2, Bond-Hawkins-Williams et al, southeast corner of the northwest ten acres of section 100, south Vernon, and was below 1,050 feet on the test No. 3, a location west of the No. 1, and in the northwest corner of the same tract.

Winnipeg Oil company's No. 1, Bond et al, on their lease south of the Ray-Massie lease, northeast corner of the southeast forty acres of the northeast quarter of section 100 has spudded and was drilling yesterday.

South Vernon, Stephens

The South Vernon Oil company's No. 4, Stephens, located directly between the Bridwell-Heydrick No. 1, Stephens and the South Vernon Oil company's No. 1, Stephens, was drilling yesterday afternoon below a last reported depth of 1,010 feet. No. 5, offsetting Ray and Massie, No. 1, Bond et al, to the east was drilling below 844 feet.

Jetter, White

C. B. Jetter has placed his No. 1, White, southwest corner of block 14, section 41, ATNCL, north of the Comet producer on the pump, the initial 24 hours production showing a reported guage of 234 barrels.

No. 2, a location to the north is drilling below 200 feet.

Litchfield, Campbell

Litchfield et al have set casing and expect to bail today on their No. 1, Campbell, TE&LCO survey, block 236, southeast of the Knight-Hines-Panhandle Ragle pool, south Archer county. The test is located just across the county line in Young county. Sand was encountered at a reported depth of 1,040 feet.

Australia's exportable wheat surplus is this year estimated at 35 million bushels.

Dee Bros., White

Dee Brothers No. 1, B, White, southeast corner of lot 10, block 34, ATNCL, is being placed on the pump with an estimated initial production of about 100 barrels, sand given as 1,610-16 feet.

Broken Laws Memorized.

Judge Thomas P. Riley has inaugurated a novel idea in breaking autoists in Malden, Mass., of the habit of violating traffic laws. Upon conviction for certain traffic law offenses, he makes the victim memorize and recite to the court Chapter 90 of the Massachusetts laws for the protection of the public safety. Rocca Candellaro, an Italian offender who was convicted of having inadequate brakes, was sentenced to write out in Italian the whole chapter and then was sentenced to read it to the arresting officer.

Rail Revenues In State Grow 2 Pct. in 8 Months

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 6.—Operating revenues of all Texas railroads increased from $124,301,000 to $136,223,000, or nearly 10 per cent for eight months of 1924 as compared with the same period a year ago, while expenses were increased less than four per cent, according to the consolidated statement of the railroad commission. Operating expenses were $109,278,167, leaving a net from revenues for this year of $27,045,507.

Freight revenues showed a 12 per cent gain, though passenger revenues were nearly 1 per cent less this year than last. The roads collected $102,240,535 on freight up to Aug. 31 of this year.

The Following Taken From THE TEXACO STAR

Published by The Texas Company, Port Arthur, "illustrating real conservation, we send a photograph showing the type of steel gunbarrel tank in use on some of our leases in the North Texas Division.

"The tank is so constructed that from one inch to three inches vacuum is maintained. Vacuums regulator is also shown. We have seven of these tanks in operation, from which we conserve 200,000 cubic feet of gas daily, not conserved previously, which is taken to our Electra gaholine plant.

"This tank and others of like construction pay us good dividends. On the present price of gasoline and residue gas sales, we figure that each three or four months these tanks have earned their investment. Also, they greatly reduce fire hazard on ouh producing properties."

The above tanks are manufactured by the Panhandle Refining Company's Boiler Shop Department. For particulars call the following numbers: Day Phone 7125. Night, 2850 or 2225.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of 10 days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Wichita county, a copy of the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To all persons interested in the estate of G. T. Akers, deceased know ye: That J. A. Tanner and M. B. Cain have filed in the county court of Wichita county, an application for the probate of the last will and testament of said G. T. Akers deceased, filed with said application, and for letters testamentary which will be heard at the next term of said court, commencing on the first Monday in December A. D. 1924, the same being the 1st day of December, A. D. 1924 at the court house thereof, in Wichita Falls, at which time all persons interested in said estate may appear and contest said application, should they desire to do so.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 5th day of November, A. D. 1924.

ALMA Y. MILLER, Clerk,
County court Wichita county, Texas.
(Seal)
By M. F. YEAGER, Deputy.

Historical Night For D.A.R. Given At Wichita Club

Visitors Entertained With Pageant and Music Thursday Night

MANY TAKE PART

Musicians of Wichita Falls Included On Enjoyable Program

Historical evening of the D. A. R. convention was observed last night at the Wichita club with Mrs. Jouette Bonner in charge of the program. The raging storm outside with hail and rain dashing against the windows, and the whistle of the wind was but a contrast to the bright scene in the club room where flowers and music lent charm to the atmosphere.

The meeting was called to order by little Miss Josephine Bell in white costume with scarlet sash who gave the bugle call. At the sound of the march played by Mrs. O. B. Kiel, the pages, Katherine Weeks and Elizabeth Langford, brought in the United States flag with Mrs. D. G. Whitney, regent of the Major Francis Grice chapter, Mrs. W. D. Garlington, state regent of Dallas, and Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey of Independence, Kansas, taking their places on the platform.

Introduces Speaker.

Mrs. Garlington introduced Mrs. Guernsey, the chief speaker of the evening. "The Daughters of the Revolution endeavor to center on patriotic education, and we feel that they have the right to do it," Mrs. Guernsey said. "We want the D. A. R. organization to stay within its scope, teaching the children to be good Americans, to uphold the constitution and to obey the laws." The speaker stressed the importance of teaching patriotism in the homes.

Other features of the entertainment included an ensemble of players, violins, Mesdames Jouette Bonner, O. E. Nichols, Ray Eyssen, Alfred Miller, and Mrs. Harwood Stacy accompanist, who gave Lourens' "Siesta," and "La Pouce Valsante."

Vocal Numbers.

Mrs. Lois Parker accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Katherine Sullivan sang two numbers, "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," Hayden; and "Homing," De Reigo.

Floyd Ard, Jr., gave a piano selection.

"The Song of the Spinning Wheel," a pantomine was given by the following cast: Eileen, the young girl, Miss Adele Ray; the grandmother, Mrs. O. E. Maer; the lover, Jerry Moffett; dancers, little Misses Katherine Weeks and Elizabeth Langford; reader, Mrs. F. H. Gipson, pianist, Mrs. O. B. Kiel.

In a colonial room with the spinning wheel going, the young girl in the costume of long ago sat at work, singing as she went. The blind grandmother was knitting. The lover passed by the window, and then — the girl eloped with him.

WILL PLAN FOR DRIVE

Welfare Board Committee Meets Today to Consider Campaign.

Committees will be appointed and other important matters concerning the community chest drive to begin November 25 will be taken up at a meeting of the advisory committee of the welfare council which meets this morning at 10 o'clock in the chamber of commerce. The meeting is called by Marvin Smith, chairman of the executive committee.

Hubert M. Harrison is in charge of the drive, and hopes to raise the budget of $52,000 with as little overhead expense as possible.

NOT USING SERVICE

Homes Fail to Provide Mail Boxes And Numbers Here

Advantages of free delivery service have not been taken by a number of houses that have failed to provide numbers and mail boxes according to statements Thursday from the postoffice. No deliveries will be made at these houses until they comply with the demands.

A warning was issued previous to the beginning of the free delivery, it was stated, and those who do not meet the requirements will not have the free delivery.

CHILDREN IMPROVING

Kiddies Bitten by Dog Show No Dangerous Symptoms.

Six local children who were bitten by a dog Saturday afternoon are reported to be suffering no ill effects. They have been taking the Pasteur treatment since they were bitten by the dog.

The dog's head was sent to the Pasteur Institute at Austin, but no report had been received Thursday.

The children were playing with the dog Saturday when it bit them, breaking the skin on the hands and legs.

The Old Home Town

Clyde E. Smith of the Chico Crushed Rock company of Dallas has returned after a business trip to Wichita Falls and Electra.

Ten cases were on the city court docket Thursday, most of them being for traffic offenses. In the absence of W. E. George, Joe Hatchitt served as city attorney.

More than 50 scouts are expected to appear before the Boy Scout Court of Honor to undergo tests for merit badges and scout degrees November 14, according to Frank B. Creighton, executive.

"A Life Set Apart Unto God" will be the topic of a special service held this evening at the Yale Avenue Evangelical church with Rev. W. D. Cook in the pulpit. The meeting will be held regardless of weather conditions, it was announced, and is a forerunner of the revival services which start Sundly.

Judge C. M. McFarland of the county court of law dismissed 15 cases from the docket Thursday. Most of the dismissals came about through the lack of sufficient evidence and because witnesses could not be found.

Frank Collier, mayor of Wichita Falls, will probably attend Mayor's day given by the Kiwanis club of Fort Worth in that city November 10. Mayor Collier will announce definitely his plans tonight. More than 300 mayors of Texas are expected at the banquet Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Raley, formerly of this city but now residents of Lubbock announce the birth of an eight pound baby boy. Mr. Raley was connected with the city tax collector's office while here, and is now secretary-treasurer of the Lubbock Building and Loan association.

A Scoutmaster's school for business men with the purpose of teaching them principles of scouting will be begun here December 1, and will continue nightly for eight evenings, according to Scout Executive Frank B. Creighton, Thursday.

An ultimatum issued Thursday by Chief of Police George Hodgins to transfer truck drivers was that they must renew their licenses at the city hall Saturday or they will be forced to discontinue operations.

Licenses on transfer trucks were out October 1, and according to city clerk, W. E. McBeath, only re-fourth of the drivers in the city have renewed them.

KIWANIANS JOIN C. OF C.

Local Organization Affiliates With West Texas Organization

The Kiwanis club of Wichita Falls is set apart as the first civic luncheon club of the city to join the West Texas Chamber of Commerce it was made known Thursday.

Luther Hoffman, chairman of the public affairs committee of the club sent the following to the chamber requesting membership:

"May I take this occasion to assure you that the Kawanis club, composed of 85 business men of Wichita Falls, considers the opportunity of becoming a member of your organization well worth while. The members are greatly interested in the proper development of west and northwest Texas and feel that the work of your organization, in behalf of these sections of the state, merits the full support of every business man whose interests are centered in the sections named."

TO TRY NEW SHRUBS

Park Department to Experiment With Foreign Varieties.

Shrubs of foreign variety, 28 different kinds in all which is hoped will prove suitable for growth in this climate and soil are being sent here by the U. S. department of agriculture and will be set out in the various city parks, C. C. Brunnenberg, local pary superintendent, who is also one of a corps of experimenters appointed by the government in all sections of the country, obtained the shrubs for use here.

Experiments are being carried on by the government to ascertain the kind of shrubs that will grow best in particular climates and it is with this in view that the new varieties will be tried out in Wichita Falls.

TAX STATEMENTS READY

6,500 Ready For Mail; Hyer Asks They Be Presedved.

Approximately 6,500 statements of city and school taxes are ready for mailing, according to an announcement yesterday by City Tax Assessor and Collector Hyer who, with his deputies, have been at work for several weeks in preparing them. The statements will be placed in the mails within the next few weeks. The last one were filled out yesterday afternoon.

In making the announcement, Mr. Hyer urges that the statements be preserved once they are received and that they be brought to the office when tax payments are made. Having them with the remittance saves considerable work in the tax office and with the usual rush at the last minute, a minute saved here and there helps out.

Journalist Is Rotary Speaker; Praises Clubs

H. W. Stanley of Oklahoma City Tells of Value Of Organizations

"The American business man, speaking in a collective sense, is the king of America today," W. H. Stanley, newspaper writer of Oklahoma City, said in his address on "The Influence of Civic Clubs on American Business Life," to the Rotary club Thursday.

"Churches, schools and other interests bow to him, but the greatest of all his activities is in the civic club," he declared. "The civic club has served as the strongest bond in binding the country close together," and he told of the friendships that might be made in such a club, and told how it brought men of different classes together. How civic clubs eliminated jealousies among business men were pointed out by Mr. Stanley.

The speaker showed how the civic club had demonstrated its right to existence by service to the community in which it was established by "teaching not selfishness but selfness, a control of the power given one through ability."

A singsong led by Mr. Shepherd was a part of the entertaining program before the speaker of the day.

One policeman of Folkestone, England, who with 16 years service could not swim six months ago, was recently awarded a medal for life saving.

COMMITTEE MEETS

Educational Directors of First M. E. South Together Thursday.

A meeting of the educational committee of the First M. E. church, south was held Thursday evening, headed by the new pastor, Rev. Walter Johnson. Others present were the new Religious Educational Director, Rayborn Porter, and the following members: W. B. Hamilton, J. D. Bright, J. Truman Stevens, and N. M. Clifford.

The educational situation in the church was presented, and working plans laid down by Mr. Porter were discussed, dealing with both immediate and ultimate problems.

POSTAL RECEIPTS GAIN

October This Year Greater Than That In Last

October postal receipts show a gain of $2,069.41 over October, 1923, according to Assistant Postmaster L. H. Howard. This year the receipts show a total of $21,412, and last year $19,342.59.

Mr. Howard expressed the opinion that postal receipts are increasing and that 1924 receipts would total more than those for any of the last three years.

FORD COUPE BURNS

Machine Owned by Geo. Dashner Damaged by Fire.

A Ford coupe owned by George Dashner was damaged early Thursday night when in some unexplainable manner it caught fire as it was standing in front of a residence at 1907 Tilden street. Mr. Dashner had just parked it and started into the house when it burst into flame.

The loss was placed at $50.

Plenty Of Beds If You Want Them

One was short and the other was long.

Apparently they had traveled far.

The two of them struggled in, tired and lugging a cardboard suitcase apiece.

"Can we get a bed, Mister?"

The man at the desk scratched his head, mused a moment, and then:

"Well, I guess we can fix 'em up can't we, Jess?"

"How much'll she be?" queried the lengthier of the pair.

"Why, son, it won't cost you anything. You're in the police station."

There was a startled look, a sheepish grin, and two pair of feet made hasty exits, cardboard suitcases and all last night from city police headquarters.

COTTON GAINS MILLIONS

Wall Street Estimates That Increase In Value After Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Wall Street statisticians estimate the value in the securities, grain and cotton markets rose $324,000,000, the day after the republican victory at the polls. It was figured that the average advance of 1 1-4 points in shares listed on the stock exchange accounted for a gain of $250,000,000. The advance in bond values was placed at $30,000,000, wheat was given $34,000,000 and about $10,000,000 was added to the value of cotton.

Approximately 45 per cent of the United States' imports of goatskins originate in British India.

Fire Threatens Vernon Offices Early Thursday

$3,000 Loss Sustained By Blaze In Cotton Building

VERNON, Nov. 6.—Prompt action by the local fire department and an ample water supply prevented a serious conflagration this morning when four two story brick buildings were threatened by fire which broke out in the cotton offices of Judd, Scott and Griffiths, in the J. N. Parsley building on north Main street. The fire was kept confined to the Parsley building but the produce company of Zachry & McCaleb in the building just north was damaged by smoke and water.

Firms losing heavily were three firms of cotton buyers; Judd, Scott and Griffiths, Christian, King and Havis and John Reese. Radio supplies stored by Ed Staley were also lost.

The lower part of the building was occupied by Charles Brown cafe. The cafe was nearly ruined by smoke and water.

Sparks blown by a high wind from the south threatened the Empire laundry for a time. Loss is estimated at about $3,000, partially covered by insurance.

"MAIL EARLY" CAMPAIGN

Postal Authorities to Launch Drive to Aid Christmas Rush.

With Christmas less than six weeks in the offing and a few parcels rolling into the office local postal authorities are starting their annual "mail early" campaign in connection with the flood of packages that each holiday season brings.

Literature has already been received from the post office department at Washington and will be posted in a short time.

Stop That Backache!

Is a bad back keeping you upset and miserable? Do you suffer sharp, stabbing pains? Feel so weak, tired and nervous you can seldom enjoy a moment's rest or comfort? Do you wonder what is wrong?

Many times this condition is due to sluggish kidneys that are failing to properly filter body poisons from the blood. The whole system feels the injurious effects of these impurities. Then comes constant backache, rheumatic twinges, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

Don't wait! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Liquor Promotion Scheme Ended In British Courts

American Banking Firm Puts In Protest On Hartwell Shipping Idea

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Sir Broderick Hartwell, whose famous circular inviting the public to participate in a project for the shipment of liquors to a point 20 miles off the American coast caused somewhat of a stir last year, will not issue another invitation of the kind, according to a promise made by his attorneys before a chancery court here today.

The liquor shipping project became the subject of a chancery court case when an American trust company asked an injunction to restrain Sir Broderick from using its name in connection with the suggestion that it was remitting money from America in payment for liquor. The trust company attorneys stated that in view of the fact that the company held deposits of the American government and that a member of its board was an American law officer the broadcasting of a suggestion that it was in any way connected with rum running could not be tolerated.

Sir Broderick's counsel said their client did not wish to repeat his circular or have it thought that the trust company had anything to do with the purchase of liquor. The case ended when Sir Broderick agreed to issue no further circulars.

His Friends Want Recount for Defeated Candidate.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 7.—With the express disapproval of James Lucey, shoemaker and close friend of President Coolidge, who was defeated for state representative Tuesday, friends of Lucey today prepared to ask for a recount of the vote. On the face of the returns James H. O'Dea, democrat, defeated Lucey by 183 votes, but friends of the shoemaker expressed the belief that errors have occurred in the count. Mr. Lucey in opposing the recount said that not only was he not dissatisfied with the outcome, but he was surprised at the strength of the support given to him.

Bear-Steer Clash In Texas Stadium Holds Conference Spotlight Today

LONGHORNS, IMBUED WITH DO OR DIE SPIRIT, MAY PULL SURPRISE AND TURN BACK BAYLOR ATTACK

Mosley's Junior College Indians Square Off With Electra Tigers 3 O'Clock in Spud Park

Conference titles may come and conference titles may go on wending their usual route, whatever that may be, but doubtless no more interest is attached to any moleskin conflict in the southwest than Longhorn followers hold for the Baylor-Texas clash today in the new varsity stadium. Texas, twice defeated this season by conference elevens, is prepared for the victorious Baylor Bears' invasion of the home fort, imbued with that bitterly fighting spirit which none other than Doc Stewart, valsity mentor and supreme grid psychologist of the conference can instill into a football machine.

The Orange and White eleven, sadly and sorrowfully the wiser following a certainly unexpected setback, overwhelming reverse by Rice Institute the past week-end, is keyed to the pitch that brooks no opposition. Not daunted in the least by past defeats, not fearful because the vaunted Bears have trod so roughshod over the Arkansas Razorbacks and Texas Aggies, both sterling conference machines, the Texas team expects to meet an over-confident Baylor eleven this afternoon, turn back the tide of defeat, stop those Bears in their tracks, and "Open That New Stadium With Fight." That's the Longhorn slogan for today.

And which team will carry the victory no dopester can prophecy. The Bears, by virtue of their more or less astounding victories, certainly appear to be the more powerful of the two clubs. And by cold mathematics and statistical prognostication should prove at least a touchdown better organization than Doc Stewart's own.

But never has a varsity eleven been more desperate than the Orange and White of today. And never has a Texas university student body rallied so wholeheartedly behind its team. A quintet of rousing pep meetings with the veteran Stewart himself playing a prominent role was jerked off this week with one thought the theme, "Fight! Fight! Fight!"

And it has been "Fight!" day in and day out all the week until this afternoon the Texas eleven will trot, nay rush out onto the gridiron with the determination to either turn back the Bear rush or be carried from the field of battle on 11 separate stretchers.

The rivalry between Texas and Baylor has reached such a heat that this game rates easily on a par with the annual Farmer-Longhorn embroglios as far as spirit is concerned. There probably will not be as many rabid fans present this afternoon to cheer their respective elevens as will be on hand Thanksgiving day when the Aggies invade Austin, but the intense feeling is there just the same, and possibly some day the Baylor-Texas struggle will be of just as much importance to alumni of the two schools as the Aggie-Steer combats.

The Texas fight this afternoon places the two teams just about even in scoring power, and the breaks of the game should tell the story.

* * * * * * * * *

Real Action at Spudder Park.

Although interest centers on the opening of Big Three hostilities for 1924 when Princeton goes to Cambridge to mix it with Harvard in the leading attraction of the east and Baylor clashes with Texas in the southwest, Wichita Falls fandom will be given is weekly morsel of pigskin warfare at Spudder park with which to bid its time while waiting for returns of the big games. Coach Mosley's Junior college Indians will lock this afternoon with Gilstrap's Electra Tigers at 3 o'clock. The two clubs are just about evenly matched, say the wiseacres. But by past performances the Tigers appear to be the stronger. However, Mosley has developed of late a rather dazzling aerial attack for his eleven which coupled with the plunging ability of Captain Steve West may work havoc with the husky Electra forwards. But regardless of the outcome fans should find the contest a more or less pleasing football menu. The element of the Juniors' overhead game for one point augurs a bit of exhilirating play, and the end running proclivities of the Electra backs, Thomas, Moore and Trammel, may bring the stands to their feet with another scintillating brand of ball.

* * * * * * * * *

Wichita Falls fans owen it to the Junior college to turn out to this game, for the Indians in the face of reverses have, nevertheless, plugged along in training ever looking to the future when some day Wichita Falls can boast again of an eleven of championship caliber. And it is from just such a foundation that real contenders are built.

California's Undefeated Record.

Pennsylvania, eastern grid title claimant, has made it a specialty this season of administering "first defeats." With exception of Virginia, previously bowled over by Harvard, the Red and Blue has given all opponents their first reverse of the 1924 season.

The Ursinus game was the opener for both teams ;therefore the first defeat for the Collegeville boys. Pennsylvania was Drexel's first opponent.

Swarthmore began the campaign by beating Susquehanna and then went to Franklin Field to lose, 25-7. Franklin and Marshall downed Albright and on the following Saturday bowed to Lou Young's athletes.

Columbia trimmed Haverford, St. Lawrence and Wesleyan before it was stopped by the Quakers. Lafayette had not been beaten since the second game of the 1923 season until the Maroon slipped at Franklin Field Saturday.

However, there will be no more "first defeats" this season for Pennsylvania's opponent in the east. Beginning with this afternoon Georgetown, State College and Cornell are to be played, and each has suffered a pair of setbacks. Barring too much overconfidence Penn seems destined to romp through the remainder of the season undefeated.

The Red and Blue may face an unbeaten team in California New Year's day. Andy Smith's proteges have not dropped a contest since Thanksgiving day of 1919. They have traveled through four full seasons without a reverse and but two ties are on the record over that stretch.

Smith's eleven has won all six of its games played todate, but the Bears must face three stiff opponents in Washington this afternoon, and Nevada and Stanford, the latter club coached by the veteran Pop Warner, on successive week-ends before they oppose the Quakers.

* * * * * * * * *

The reverse dealt Marquette, conqueror of the Navy(by Creighton last week leaves California the only big eleven over the nation with an undefeated record which extends for more than one full season.

Junior Coyotes Win Stiff Game From Burk Club

Montgomery's Junior Coyotes defeated the Burk eleven at Burkburnett Friday in a hard-fought gridiron battle, 6 to 3.

All scoring was enacted in the second quarter. The Wichita Falls counter came when after four attempts to make first down on the Juniors' five-yard line Burkburnett fumbled, and Harley Herndon snared the oval and ran 95 yards to the goal line. Shortly after the Wichita Falls score, Pace of Burk dropkicked a field goal for Burkburnett's three points.

Both teams found it possible to advance almost at will through the other club's line when in mid-field, but when within tabulating distance the defenses always tightened.

Burk had the ball within ten yards of the Wichita Falls goal four times with four downs to make it in, but failed when the Juniors pulled in their secondary defense and battled furiously. The work of Chich Chewning and Francis stood out brilliantly in this department.

MAYWOOD BOXES TUCKER TO DRAW ON AMARILLO CARD

Boxing was formally opened in Amarillo again Thursday night by Sam Beatty, former Wichita Falls promoter. In the main event Ray Maywood of this city and Frankie Tucker of Waco fought 12 rounds to a draw. The two battlers stood toe to toe and slugged it out practically all the way.

Henrietta Noses Iowa Park, 7-6

Henrietta defeated Iowa Park Friday by the slim margin of one point, winning 7 to 6.

The teams battled nip and tuck three quarters before scoring. In the final period Cecil Smith blocked a punt, grabbed up the ball and broke on across the goal line for Henrietta's touchdown. Brown kicked goal.

Iowa Park came back a few minutes later and on a forward pass scored, but missed on the try for goal.

Henrietta is scheduled to invade Nocona Tuesday for its next game. Nocona lost to the Henriettans in their last contest 3 to 8, playing Oct. 31 at Henrietta.

Aggies Jump On Frogs For 28-0 Victory

Farmers On Offensive In Three Periods Of Game

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 7.—Texas A. & M. college scored its first southwestern conference victory in two years when it walloped Texas Christian university here today, 28 to 0.

The Aggies were on the offensive throughout the entire first three periods. T. C. U. stiffened its opposition and aroused its offensive in the last period for a few seconds, but was unsuccessful.

In the first period the Aggies started their offensive when they took the ball off their own 35-yard line after the kickoff and rushed it across the field in a series of successive line plunges for a touchdown. Fay Wilson carried the ball over and Dansby kicked goal.

The second touchdown came in the second period, following aggressive line work by the Aggies. Taking the ball on their 50 yard line, they put it over the goal in six plays, Dansby carrying it over and kicking goal.

In the third period the offensive of the Aggies was even more brilliant than in the first. They scored only two touchdowns but it was apparent that they should have made four. Both touchdowns came on faulty punts by Clark of T. C. U. One was blocked by Waugh, who returned it across the goal for the touchdown. The other was picked up after striking the ground only 20 yards from T. C. U.'s goal after Clark had punted from one yard behind his own goal and was returned by Kishi across the goal. Berry made a sensational 15-yard run through the T. C. U. line and crossed the goal, but the ball was brought back when the Aggies were penalized.

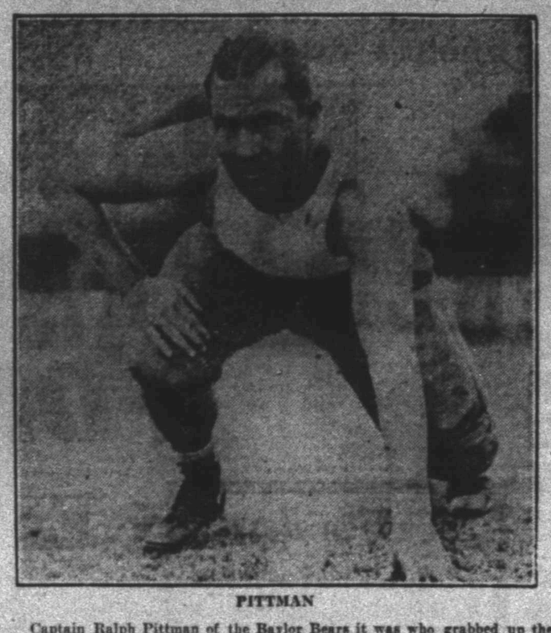

At the beginning of the fourth period, T. C. U. made its only offense, but was stopped on A. & M.'s 20-yard line, never rallying again.

MANDELL BEATS BERNSTEIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. — Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, Ills., won the decision from Jack Bernstein of Yonkers, tonight after a 12-round light weight fight which kept Madison Square Garden in an uproar.

PITTMAN

Captain Ralph Pittman of the Baylor Bears it was who grabbed up the fumble and ran for the deciding touchdown in last week's Bear victory over the Texas Aggies. Pittman plays left halfback, and is one of Baylor's most scintillating wearers of the moleskin.

BREAKS OF THE GAME

By BILL BRUCE

The S. M. U. Mustangs tackle the tough Arkansas Razorbacks today in Fayetteville, and the Texas team, although undefeated since 1921, may find the going quite rough.

Guess there's all kinds of enthusiasm at Austin college today. The victory yesterday by the Kangaroos over Rice institute but two weeks following the defeat of the Baylor Bears by the Austin eleven gives just cause for belief at the little school that its warriors rate just about as the cream of the Southwest.

If the Kangaroos keep up this style of battle it won't be long before Austin college will be barking for admittance to the Southwest conference.

Roughhouse Smith grunted when he took a look at Johnny Simpson before the legion main event Thursday eve. "Huh," he said, "That bird can't fight; he's too pretty." But Roughhouse spoke too quickly, fight fans who saw the bout will tell you. For Johnny gave Smith a neat lacing.

Nick Grundy writes in again seeking a bout with Frankie Fink. But Fink when last heard of was on his way to Mexico for a bit of fistic foray in the land of the Aztecs.

Grundy is tough and a willing scrapper, but legion officials declare they have no boy at hand his weight to put against him since Fink is gone.

Speaking of comparative scores:
Williams 14, Cornell 0.
Columbus 27, Williams 3.
Cornell 14, Columbia 0.

Penn will not play Lafayette in 1925. The Quakers want to mingle with the Notre Dame and Brown elevens, thereby proving they care not how tough they come.

EVEN STEPHEN

The Harvard-Princeton game today offers an abstruse problem for the experts. Each has been beaten once by a high-class team, the Tigers by Notre Dame, Harvard by Dartmouth. Each has shown wonderful fighting strength. Each has developed a new offense. Hammond of Harvard is more than likely to outkick Slagle of Princeton, and that may be the story, provided neither breaks under the strain.

Boston university put up a strong game against Harvard Saturday, but the 13-0 result sheds little light on the development of the crimson team because Coach Fisher kept all of his regulars out of it. They undoubtedly have been working on stuff for the Princeton game throughout the past week.

If Harvard needs anything to stop Yale this year it is strong ends.

Princeton will not give Notre Dame a game next year. Jess Willard ought to come out flatly and say he won't give Dempsey another fight.

Boston university winds up its schedule by playing Dartmouth in Hanover today. It looks like another lost cause for the Terriers.

A year ago a Dartmouth-Princeton game was supposed to be in the air. Can it be that this is what is behind the severing of relations between Princeton and Notre Dame.

Dilweg, Marquette end, is regarded as one of the best prospects in the middle west for the coming all-American team.

126 Pound Elimination Glove Tourney Gets Under Way Nov. 21.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Danny Kramer, of Philadelphia, will meet Mike Dundee, of Rock Island, Ill., Jose Lombardo of Panama will oppose Lou Paluso of Salt Lake City, and Bobby Garcia, of Camp Holabird, Maryland, will box Louis (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., in the three 10-round bouts at Madison Square Garden November 21 serving as the first round of the world's feather weight title tournament.

Open-air political meetings are to be held in England throughout the winter.

St. Ed's Drub Tulsa, 35 to 7

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 7.—A bewildering aerial attack dazzled the Tulsa university eleven today and St. Edwards college conquered the invaders 35 to 7. Captain Stuessy on the throwing end and Durrenberger and O'Connor on the receiving end proved a combination much too good for the heavy Tulsa team which confined its offensive to line plunges. Murphy and Meredith backs, and Ryan and Woeber in the line also starred for the victors.

Kangaroos Nip Rice Eleven In Muddy Contest

Intermittant Showers Slow Up Tilt, Owls Losing 6 to 2

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 7.—Showers which drenched Rice field in the first quarter, making the treading treacherous and the football slippery, were the most potent factors in the 6 to 2 triumph recorded by Austin college Kangaroos over the Owls today. A poor pass by Underwood in the opening stages of the game which Wilford could have easily grabbed but for the water-slicked surface of the ball, gave the Kangaroos an early break. Later in the period, Wilford was unable to pick up a pass when he was attempting to punt on the third down while standing on his five-yard line, and Austin was given another 10-yard gain. The only scoring which the Owls accomplished was the result of a bad pass from Rollins to Allred which bounded over the Austin goal line and which Allred recovered for a safety.

The Owls started as though they were going to march to an immediate touchdown. Wilford ripped two four-yard gains off tackle and Smith cleaved through guard to mid-field after the Owls had received the first kickoff. Then came the bad pass and fumble which Conery recovered and which gave Austin the ball in Rice terytiory. A well placed punt which went outside on Rice's 10-yard line put the ball in a dangerous position for Rice and the Owls could not again gain an even footing until after a well-executed screen pass, Allred to Smith, gave the Kangaroos their touchdown.

Line-up:

Austin College (6)	Position	Rice (2)
Cone	L. E.	Hale
Morgan	L. T.	McVey
Poe (c)	L. G.	Heflin
Rollins	C.	Underwood
Reeves	R. T.	Ray
Rogers	R. G.	Morgan
Smith	R. E.	Terrell
Allred	Q. B.	Hopkins
Dickey	L. H. B.	Wood
Nelson	R. H. B.	Wilford
Parks	F. B.	Smith

Score by periods:

Austin	0	0	0	0	—6
Rice	0	0	2	0	—2

BOBCATS WIN ANOTHER

Hopson Boots Trio of Dropkicks to Beat Daniel Baker.

SAN MARCOS, Texas, Nov. 7.—Three dropkicks booted by Herschel Hopson, star backfield man of the Southwest Texas State Teachers college gave the Bobcats a 9 to 0 victory over the Daniel Baker team here this afternoon. The victory today was the fifth straight this season for the teacher's eleven.

In addition to scoring all his team's points and winning the game almost single handed, Hopson kept his own goal out of danger by spectacular punting throughout the game.

No Delay When This Company Has Claim To Settle

Four claims, including three death claims, were paid last week by the Wichita Home Insurance Company and its accident-death division, known as the Great American Mutual Insurance Company.

In each case the claim was paid within a very few minutes after proof was received. The advantage of dealing with a home company is that all business can be transacted with an absolute minimum of delay and red tape. The Wichita Home Insurance Company operates under the mutual assessment plan, which reduces the cost to the lowest possible figure.

By recently adding its health-accident division, the Great American Mutual Insurance Company, chartered and operated under the insurance laws of Texas, this home organization is able to offer health and accident insurance on the mutual assessment plan, which means adequate, sound protection at the lowest possible cost.

"THE COURTEOUS SERVICE STORE"

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Yesterday the motion picture was being taken with Stubby and Button in it. The actor had fallen over the table, the lady had gone to help him, and Button sat on the sofa watching.

When everything had quieted down and the two lovers were sitting side by side on the sofa, the actress, pretending she was shy, picked up Button and held him up to her face to kiss. Fatal moment for her, for true to his plans, Button planted one claw in her wig and pulled it down over her eyes, while with the other forepaw he scratched her face and clawed her breast with his hind ones. She screamed with fright and threw him from her and then tried to adjust her wig. Seeing what a predicament she was in, her lover jumped up and began to help her, but alas! just then Stubby ran from under the sofa, upsetting him, and he fell on his face, dragging her wig all the way off and leaving her sitting there totally bald. She threw up her hands in horror and rushed off the stage, while her lover tried to kick Stubby who was by now running away.

Stubby and Button met behind the scene where they passed the other actors and actresses who were clapping their hands and shouting, "Well done! Well done! It could not have been better. It was a thousand times better and funnier than the way we had planned to have the scene!"

"Say, you little yellow dog and black cat, you are some performers!" exclaimed the manager of the play.

"Hey there, Nick and Stub!" called Mr. Dates. "Catch that dog and cat or they will run away again! Better lock them in my office until our next scene is set."

But his warning had come too late. Stubby and Button had been left to themselves a minute and like a shot from a gun they had run around the big screen out into a wide hall that led outdoors. Luckily for them the outer door was open and they could hear Snub, Nick and several other persons running after them.

"Did you find them, Nick?" asked Snub as he appeared in the door.

"No, they must have gone further along before they disappeared. We better run ahead and let them other boys what I see coming look around here more careful like for them," and Nick and Snub ran out of the barn and down the alley.

"We're safe, Button," said Stubby, "if that Swede doesn't take it into his head to look for us up here. I'll bite his legs so he can't walk if he comes up."

"And I'll climb up his legs and claw his face so he can't see out of his eyes if he interferes with us," said Button.

But the Swede did not find them, and they stayed there until it was night and pitch dark. Then they crawled out of their hiding place in the hay and jumping upon a window sill, they made a spring to a low shed roof below the window and disappeared in the shadows.

(Maybe we'll hear what Billy was doing all this time in the next story).

Color Cut-Outs

Here's a doll from far-off Russia,
Land of snows and reindeers,
too;
She'll dress warmly for the winter,
As all Russian dollies do.

Color red the gown she's wearing;
Round her neck's a chain of gold;
Color brown the fur-lined footwear—
Fine for keeping out the cold.

Russian bonnets match the dress—
That is quite the nicest style—
Mount your dolly up on cardboard;
Cut her out and play a while.

* * *

If you're cut out the dolls this week you now have six pretty little dolls to join your Cut-out family—and you've learned a lot about how dolls—and the girls who own them—in different nations look.

Next week the Cut-outs will put on a fancy dress play for Children's Book Week at school.

AND THEIR CHILDREN

One Mother Says:

Left-overs may be made into wholesome and tempting dishes for the children's luncheon. Part of yesterday's roast may be diced or minced, a little of the gravy added—and parsley or onion, as the children prefer—and served on rounds of toast. Or it may be cut into thick slices and broiled a few moments so that it is slightly browned.

May	23.67	23.45	23.65-67	23.40

Opening: December 22.93, January 23.02, March 23.30, May 23.46, July blank.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The final evening up of accounts in preparation for tomorrow government report caused irregular fluctuations in the cotton market today, but the close was steady at net advances of 8 to 25 points. After easing off early to 22.95, January rallied to 23.18 and closed at 23.13, compared with 22.97 at the close of the previous day.

The market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 9 points on relatively steady Liverpool cables and prospects for less favorable weather in the south. There were some overnight selling orders from the south and the initial advance attired realizing which eased prices off a few points after the call. These offerings were absorbed with the aid of further trade buying and after the dip to 22.82 for December and 23.34 for March, the market rallied on coverings. Another set back occurred in the early afternoon under realizing or pre-bureau liquidation but demand increased toward the close when there appeared to be buying by local shorts. Wall street and trade interests, probably encouraged by a good tone in the stock market.

December sold at 23.03 and March at 23.45 at the best. Closing prices were within a few points of the top on most positions.

Another private crop report pointed to a yield of 12,805,000 bales. Fifteen private reports, issued in the last few days, show an average estimate of 12,726,000 bales. The average expectation as to the showing of tomorrow's government report as indicated by a canvass of New York cotton exchange members today is 12,792,000 bales.

Private cables said the steady undertone in Liverpool was due to renewed strength in the Egyptian market and light offerings of actual.

Port receipts 59,191. U. S. port stocks, 1,192,786.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Cotton futures closed steady at net advance of 9 to 13 points.

	High	Low	Close	P.Close

May	23.40	23.23	23.38-40	23.25
July	23.18	23.06	23.18	23.05

Opening: December 22.90, January 22.90, March 23.12, May 23.18, July 23.08, bid.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—The cotton market was quiet today, re-bureau market and as commitments had been pretty well evened up earlier in the week, there was little disposition to operate on either side of the account. Doubt as to what the government showing would be, both as to the estimated yield and the total ginnings prior to November 1, served to keep fluctuations within a very narrow range and so restrict business that intervals intervened between trades except during the few moments of activity which characterized the opening and the final few minutes of trading.

At the start prices improved five to eight points in response to better cables than due, but the gain was a poor response to better cables than due, but the gain was a poor response to the cables. The market soon eased off on a large private crop estimate of 12,805,000 bales. December declined to 22.81, January to 22.82 and March to 23.02 or 4 to 5 points under the close of yesterday. Prices improved during the morning owing to the prospects for unsettled and colder weather and rather large mill takings for the week, 380,000 bales against 343,000 last year. During the afternoon prices eased off again and December and January made a new low at 22.80, for both months, or just one point under the earlier low. In the last moments of trading the market rallied well, reaching the early highs on the bear months and making new highs on the more distant months. The close showed net gains for the day of 9 to 13 points.

The movement into sight for the week was large, totalling 679,956 bales, but it was smaller than last week when the total was 717,053 which led many to believe that the peak of the heavy movement had passed. Exports for the week were large totalling 334,770 bales against only 87,388 last year.

LOCAL MARKETS

A lowering in the basis for spot cotton was noted Friday in northwest Texas, and most of the staple that change hands was around 22 cents to 22.10, for middling, or 90 to 100 off December New York, compared with 75 to 85 off, the basis for the pask week. Business was rather light, neither seller nor buyers being aggressive, in face of the government reports, due Saturday at 10 a. m.

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—Spot cotton steady, 5 points up. Sales on the spot 468; to arrive 2105. Low middling 20.95; middling 22.95; good middling 23.45; receipts 14,833; stock 690,542.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—Cotton held remarkably steady today and there was much less liquidation in advance of the bureau than has been witnessed for a long time. The heavy export movement, official announcement that the Russian cotton crop is a total failure, cables higher than and strength of the other markets combined to influence sentiment more to the buying than selling side.

There are apparently a large number of traders who have evened up and are apparently waiting for the bureau to break the market to give them an opportunity to pick up cheap cotton. Hester's spinner's taking were encouraging and the decrease in the movement into sight is accepted as indicating that the peak of the movement has been passed.

The probabilities are that an estimate from the bureau in excess of its last forecast of 12,675,000 or ginning in excess of 9,800,000 will be accepted as bearish and cause a temporary reaction. If, however, the estimate comes under 12,600,000 and the ginnings under 9,600,000 they are likely to stimulate both buying and covering. The trade appears to hold the bulk of the long contracts outstanding and is likely to buy freely on any decline. We believe declines from the present levels will provide good buying opportunities.

Fenner and Beane to Flowerree and Co.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 7.—Cotton spot quiet, prices steady. Strictly good middling 14.00; good middling 13.65; strictly middling 13.45; middling 13.25; strictly low middling 13.05; low middling 12.60; strictly good ordinary 12.20; good ordinary 11.60. Sales 5,000 bales, including 3,000 American; receipts 12,000 bales, including no American.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 7.—Basis about unchanged, and irregular, but very little cotton change in hands. Most shippers will buy only on very sharp basis, most of them bidding 125 off December New York. Middling to strict middling seems to be in best demand. Little new business. Basis seems to be gradually working lower.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—Understand large spot sales here yesterday after the close. Some trade buying.

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 7.—Less demand from Bremen, but better from Liverpool. Fenner and Beane to Flowerree and Co.

SPOT COTTON

New York steady, middling 23.75; New Orleans 22.95; Galveston 23.20, sales 350; Mobile 22.60, sales 20; Savannah 23.10, sales 254; Fort Worth 22.10, sales 7,080; Houston 23.10, sales 429; Dallas 22.10, sales 9430; Memphis 22.75, sales 1850; Little Rock 22.63, sales 2,152; Waco 22.10.

COTTON SEED

DALLAS, Nov. 7.—Cotton seed $38; oil 8⅝ to ½c; meal $38.50; hull $7.50; Linters 3½ to 6c.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Wheat rose rapidly in price today, and reached to within two cents of the season's top record for the May delivery. Buying was on a big scale, owing a good leal to activity of export demand as well as to unfavorable crop conditions both in Argentine and Australia. Closing quotations here on wheat were strong, 1⅛c to 3⅛c net higher, December 1.50 to 1.50⅛ and May 1.55⅛ and 1.55⅜. Corn finished at 1 to 1⅝c gain, oats showing ⅜c to ⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to 27c advance.

Corn and oats derived their upturns chiefly from wheat strength. At first the corn market tended downward on account of cold weather and prospective enlarged receipts.

Provisions advanced with hogs and grain.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Wheat: There was tremendous selling to accept profits and some selling also credited to a Wall street operator said to have covered a short line a few days ago and putting it out again. The market absorbed the offerings and turned strong late on buying encouraged by reports of much stronger cash wheat basis at Duluth, Omaha and the gulf. Export sales for the day estimated one million to one and half million. Weather unsettled with snow over northwest and Canada. Australia complained of excessive rains and Argentine of drouth. Bradstreet's clearances of wheat and flour for the week were 17,670,000 bushels, last year 11,358,000 bushels. Late in the session there was renewed buying of wheat futures on private cables reducing Argentine surplus exportable to above 90,000,000, which is sensational if it is true. The significant factor in the wheat situation has been the reversal of form in the cash markets. Wheat that sold at a discount of one cent under December early in the week CIF Buffalo, sold today at a premium on hard winter wheat and talk of excessive rains in Australia likely to cause damage while cutting is on.

Corn: Rallied late with wheat. Trade comparatively light and market responsive in the absence of important selling pressure. Basis for cash steady to half cent lower, relative to the futures. Shipping sales reported only 20,000 bushels. Weather generally unsettled.

Oats: Moderate trade affected by action of wheat. December bought by shippers which cash interests were willing to sell and get into other position. Country offering to arrive light and firmly held.

Financial

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—An extraordinary demand for railroad shares, 45 of which soared to a new peak price for the year, today gave Wall street one of its most active stock market sessions in recent years, total sales exceeding the two million share mark for the first time since April 17, 1922. Transactions took place in 511 separate stocks, or only 6 below the previous record established December 28, 1923.

Industrials, which had displayed considerable irregularity in the early dealings as a result of further profit-taking, eventually joined in the upswing under the leadership of U. S. Steel common, which touched 112, the highest price since 1919. More than a score of other industrials also attained new 1924 peak prices, including United Drug, American Smelting preferred, Loose-Wiles, Simms Petroleum and Chino Copper.

Buying orders for the rails poured into the market from all sections of the country and embraced both the low priced and high grade shares. The remarkable demand for carrier stocks was due to the unusually favorable dividends and earnings prospects for most of the principal systems, together with the growing speculative belief that the roads are assured of a long period of immunity from radical legislation, permitting them to go ahead with important consolidations and development plans.

New York Central touched 116 the highest price since 1912 and five points above last night's close. Southern Railway sold at 72¼, the highest price in its history. Baltimore and Ohio sold at its highest price since 1917. Other issues to break through their previous peak prices for this year were Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville and Nashville, Frisco common and preferred, Chicago Great Western common and preferred, "Katy" common and preferred and Wabash and Rock Island issues.

Oils which had been lagging behind the rest of the market in reflection of unfavorable trade news this summer, showed signs of strength in belated reflection of the recent increase in Gulf Coast crude prices. Pacific, Associated, General Asphalt, Phillips and several other oils showed net advances of 1, to 2½ points.

Call money renewed at 3 per cent but dropped to 2½ in the afternoon closing at that figure. Time money rates were firmer 60 to 90 days funds being quoted at 3¼ to 3½, instead of 3 to 3¼, with borrowers apparently willing to pay the high rates. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

The foreign exchange market developed several points of strength. Demand sterling touched a new record high for the year above $4.58 and new peak prices also were attained by the Swiss, Dutch and Swedish currencies. Trading started here today in the new German reichs mark which sold at a slight premium above their parity of 23.80 cents.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: "An outpouring of optimistic expression has followed swiftly upon the election, but partly because a good deal of the short time elapsing since then has been devoted to considering its various results and partly because the weather has been too warm for much buying of seasonable goods, the trade done has been mainly of the broken-week variety. Of definite effects, the most notable have been the active dealings at advancing prices in the stock and bond markets and the reported becoming certainties of many hitherto contingent orders for steel.

DRY GOODS IMPROVE

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Wholesale dry goods market showed improvement of a gradual but steady character today. Ginghams sold more freely at lower prices and percales were being ordered. Bleached cottons were firmer. Dress goods and silks sold up to the figures of a year ago. Yarns were quiet and steady. Burlaps were firm.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Resolved: There will be no miscellaneous column in our household account book.

Every penny you spend should contribute definitely toward some angle of living. Find out what your money brings you before you spend. And once you have spent, set the money down in the proper column.

Mrs. Jones paid five dollars to have her kitchen sink raised to a proper height—a raise from the hopeless 30 inches to the comfortable 38 inches she needed. When she attempted to put the money in her account book she was puzzled. Sureyl getting the kitchen sink raised wasn't shelter, and yet it wasn't food. It couldn't be repair, for the sink was good as new—it was only its location that was wrong. It was easy to dismiss the clothing column, for one does not wear a kitchen sink, but the advancement column caused her to ponder for certainly the sink had been advanced if the bank account hadn't. But maybe after all it was a luxury—the feel of Mrs. Jones' rested back after a few days' use of the elevated sink made her quite content to let the item stay in the luxury column. It wasn't until after some months that Mrs. Jones suddenly remembered the upkeep column under shelter and the sink raising item was put where it belonged all the time.

A miscellaneous column allows slovenly thinking about your financial affairs. Think straight about your spending and you will have more money for investment.

AIRPLANE NOT A CARRIER.

Court Holds It Does Not Come Under That Official Ruling.

ANNISTON, Ala., Nov. 7.—An airplane carrying passengers and charging fare for so doing is not a common carrier, according to a decision handed down in United States district court here by Judge W. I. Grubb in a case involving damages from the death of a passenger of a plane. The decision is believed to be the first in the matter of settling the status of passengers in aerial navigation.

The ruling came after hearing of evidence in the case of John W. Brown, administrator of the estate of Hugh D. Brown versus the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company. Brown sought to recover double indemnity on a $7,500 life insurance policy on the ground that the accident occurred on a comman carrier, the policy having a clause providing for double payment if the insured met death while a paid passenger on a common carrier.

MRS. HARDING STILL GAINS

Wife of Former President Shows Continued Improvement.

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of the late President Harding, was improving today in her physical condition, according to her physician, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer.

The following bulletin was issued today by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer:

"Mrs. Harding rested completely last night and is improved this morning. Her strength was greater and she was able to take some nourishment."

MONKS MUST STAND TRIAL.

Natives Who Attacked Americans Face Assault Charges.

RANGOON, Burma, Nov. 7—(AP)—The Buddhist monks accused of complicity in the attack last month on Professor P. R. Gleason, a missionary attached to Judson college, Rangoon, and Mrs. Gleason today were committed for trial before the high court of sessions, charged with having attempted to murder Professor and Mrs. Gleason and with having caused them grievous injuries.

WIEDFELDT TO REMAIN.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, it is announced, will continue in his post as German ambassador in Washington until next spring when he will resume the chairmanship of the directorate of the Krupp company.

Says Coolidge Is Planning Drastic Dry Law Action

Methodist Leader Says He Thinks Prohibition Will Be "a Reality"

PRAISES PRESIDENT

Declares Coolidge Is Fearless In Efforts to Enforce The Laws

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Dr. Clarence Tru Wilson of Washington, D. C., chairman of the board of temperance, prohibition and public welfare of the Methodist Episcopal church, believes prohibition will become "a reality", according to an interview published in the Chicago Daily News today. Dr. Wilson spent an hour with President Coolidge a week ago.

"I came away from the White House thoroughly convinced that President Coolidge, while proceeding cautiously in accordance with his usual practice, is determined that prohibition shall become a 'reality'," Dr. Wilson said, according to the Daily News, and I am willing to predict that the vigorous action which he contemplates, with the energetic support of a dry congress which he is practically sure of receiving will make the United States as a whole, as dry as Kansas ever was in the days when the rest of the nation was dripping wet.

"President Coolidge is an ardent dry and now that he is chief executive of the nation in his own right he will not be slow in taking action."

Mexican General Leaves New Orleans For Mexican Ranch

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7—General Plutarco Elias Calles, president-elect of Mexico returning home from his recent European trip, left here today on the steamship Atlantida for Vera Cruz. From Vera Cruz the general will proceed to his ranch near Mexico City where he will rest before going to the national capital for his inauguration December 1.

With the president-elect were his two daughters who accompanied him through Europe.

GOVERNMENT RESIGNS

Austian Cabinet Quits As Result of Rail Strike.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—(AP) — The government headed by Ignaz Seipel as chancellor, resigned early this morning. The resignation followed a general railroad strike which began at midnight in consequence of the failure of negotiations between the men's organizations and the federal railroad management.

Claude Miller was elected president of the junior class of the high school at the election of officers at the school this week. Other officers include Mary Brown, vice-president; Edmond Coffey, secretary; Wilton Wade, treasurer; Miss Anna Witherspoon, history instructor, was chosen sponsor. Plans were arranged at the meeting to entertain the senior class at the annual junior-senior banquet. The annual beauty contest was also discussed.

At the request of the members of the congregation of the North Side community house, a meeting has been called for Sunday afternoon, 3 o'clock, for the organization of a Sunday school at that place. The community house is located on the Charlie road one block north of the intersection of the Iowa Park and Burkburnett highways.

Dr. F. S. Groner of Dallas, state secretary of missions of the Baptist denomination, will be here Sunday. He will speak at the First Baptist church Sunday morning and at the Lamar Avenue Baptist church Sunday evening. The seventy-five million campaign which the Baptists of the south have been raising for the past five years is closing and his addresses are announced to be on missions.

WAGNER RULING SUSTAIOED

Appelate Court Upholds Martin Act On Cotton Buying

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—The appelate division today sustained the ruling of Justice Robert F. Wagner of the supreme court that the Martin act (section 23 A of the general business laws) does not relate to the buying selling or handling the execution of orders for cotton or cotton futures.

The case just decided was brought by the state attorney general who asked for an injunction restraining Scott, Norris and Co., from buying or selling cotton or handling the execution of orders for cotton futures. He charged the defendants were guilty of "bucketing" and held that he was empowered under the Martin act to bring the proceeding against them.

Justice Wagner denied the injunction and held that "dealing in cotton and cotton futures does not fall within the purview of the (Martin) act."

RECOVER STOLEN JEWELS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Detectives tonight recovered between $150,000 and $170,000 worth of jewels which were stolen in a New Orleans hotel last Tuesday from Henry Agert, a New York salesman and arrested two men, Mortimer Aufses, a pawn broker who is charged with receiving stolen goods, and William Jacobs who is held as a material witness.

Junior College Downtown Rally Holds Up Traffic

Students In Pep Meeting On Eve of Electra Game

Traffic on the principal downtown streets was stopped for a short time last night when more than a thousand yelling Junior college Indians and high school students participated in a pep rally gathering enthusiasm for concentrated rooting in Saturday's game with Electra.

Previous to the snake dance held on Scott and Indiana streets at the intersections of Eighth and Ninth, a rally was held around a huge bonfire at the Junior college when speeches of encouragement to the team were given, and fighting spirit instilled in the student body.

Talbert Talks.

"When the students get behind a team like you are doing, you bring the interest of the city to the boys, and you make a winning team," J. Wilkie Talbert, local business man, said in a fiery talk he made from the platform on a Ford truck before the assembly. He encouraged the students in their pep rallies and told them of similar meetings held in universities and colleges before the crucial games of the season.

"You have the right spirit behind the team," R. O. Jones, college professor, said to the student body, "this rally is more like that of a university or senior college than any I have seen since I left the University of Texas."

Sing Fight Song

Mr. Frazee, gymnasium instructor, gave an encouraging talk to the team and to the rooting section.

Following yell practice led by Lemuel Peters, the Girls club sang an original song, "Fight, Indians, Fight," which was warmly received by the rooters. Miss Mary Tancred, president of the club was leader.

This was the second rally of the day. The other was staged in the college auditorium during the morning.

PLAN ANNUAL BANQUET.

Father and Son Affair to Be Observed Here.

Plans for the annual father and son banquet was discussed at a meeting of the Hi-Y club of the local high school this week at the meeting for reorganization held at the First Methodist church, south.

James E. Lewis, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the chief speaker of the evening.

Officers for 1924-25 include Sam Bashara, president; Clifton Clay, vice-president; Loebert Catter, secretary-treasurer. Meetings will be held each Monday night, it was announced.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER

Mississippi Woman Jailed On Way To Attend Funeral.

SENATOBIA, Miss., Nov. 7.—Just as Mrs. Will Sears boarded a passenger train here Wednesday for Nettleton, Ark., to attend the funeral of her husband who was shot to death at their home in the eastern part of this county, she was arrested by Sheriff W. G. Cocke, and charged with complicity in the murder, it was learned today. Sears was shot to death in the back yard of his home on Tuesday night. Richard Sewell, a neighbor is also held in jail in connection with the killing.

BERRY REPLIES TO TALBOT

HOUSTON, Nov. 7.—E. A. Berry, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, in reply to a message sent him today by W. E. Talbot of Dallas, republican state manager, requesting cooperation in instructing all county officials to preserve the ballots of the recent election, declared that the request "either was not made in good faith or was made in ignorance of the law."

Santry Orchestra Is Headliner On Wichita Stage

Henry Santry and his Cameo Record Orchestra made a big hit at the Wichita theater last night. Twelve musicians and a stage full of instruments produced jazz music that pleased everybody and made it hard for many to sit still in their seats. The act started with a medley of popular pieces and ended with the "Tin Roof Blues," and novelty were also included. The rich baritone voice of Mr. Santry was a good addition to the act.

Harry and Anna Seymour pleased the audience with breezy bits of mirth and melody. Miss Seymour is a charming young lady with a good stage personality, and she is assisted by Harry Seymour who also proves to be exceptionally good.

Miss Dora Maughn is a good looking girl with a good voice. Her snappy songs and clever lines prove to be good entertainment.

Jim Felix in "An Acrobatic Absurdity" introduces some good comedy novelties into an acrobatic act.

BANDITS GET $2,000.

SHAMROCK, Okla., Nov. 7.—Two unmasked bandits locked J. A. Smith, cashier, and Vernon Crouch, assistant cashier, in the vault of the First State bank here late today and escaped in an automobile with approximately $2,000. Posses are scouring the surrounding country.

MAYOR RESIGNS

BASTROP, Texas, Nov. 7.—City funds being low, Bastrop's mayor, P. C. Maynard, has resigned so his salary may be used for public improvements. The office will remain vacant until next election. Councilman W. J. Miller, acting as mayor without salary.

Twenty-two thousand buyers, including many foreigners, attended the Swedish Industrial Fair at Goteborg last summer.

How To Avoid The High Cost Of Cheap Advice

It isn't hard to get advice—about anything. It is one of the cheapest of all commodities—unless you follow it.

The advice and information that you obtain from your banker, when you ask for it, are obtained from unquestioned sources, offered sincerely and impartially.
