Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor;

Just as the farmers of the nation have been warning for the past two years, governmental actions have been taken which have destroyed their economic base.

"Let the market work" has been the cry of the free traders. "Why should agriculture be protected any more by law than any other industry?", parrots those who fail to understand the intricacies of the agriculture markets.

The laws of nature demand that farmers produce a full years supply of their commodities twelve months in advance of the total demand. Consequently, immediately following harvest there is always a twelve months supply available with only a one day demand.

This past year, farmers were told by the government and by the traders that world demand had now surpassed world supply. Farmers were convinced to plant for that demand, for who would deny food to the hungry of the world while we are capable of producing. Crops were planted fence row to fence row. Mother Nature blessed us with good growing conditions, and the harvest was bountiful, bins are now bursting with that production.

The past few years have seen a marketing system develop based on the demands of foreign customers, and especially the Russian market because Russia has been unable to produce for the growing demands of her people.

Russia had one of its worst drouths in history in 1979, harvesting only 175 million tons of wheat, in relation to 224 million tons in 1978. Hallelujah! The time had come for the American farmer to regain his economic losses of the past five years; he produced a bumper crop and has a bumper demand!

During the month of December, news releases from the USDA were programming farmers to be prepared for a better price in 1980 because of this increased demand. Campaign rhetoric by the President was emphasizing that his agriculture policy was working. Wheat prices, at the farm, were slightly above the $4.00 per bushel level, corn prices were slightly above the $5.00 per cwt. level. Of course, what wasn't being said was that in 1974, wheat prices were above the $5.50 per bushel level, and corn prices above the $6.00 per cwt. level, much above the 1979 prices.

BANG! January 5th, 1980, the farmers balloon again was busted! President Carter announced an embargo of all grains to the Soviet Union, because of Soviet actions against Afghanistan. Chaos reigned in the grain markets, markets were closed, and farmers could not sell a grain of their bumper crop at any price! Even the Boards of Trade were closed for the first two days of the following week. Why? Because by the stroke of a pen, markets for 17 million tons of American grains disappeared.

Farmers across the nation, being as patriotic as any other Americans said, "Fine, we aren't too particularly proud of selling grian to our enemies anyway. We only ask that the President implement the protective provisions of our present agriculture laws which were incorporated for just such an emergency as this". That provision states that "in the event of an embargo of grains to any country, the price support loan level will be immediately raised to 90% of parity in order to protect the nations' farmers." This provision was written into the law because history had proven that past embargos had always had an extreme adverse effect on farm commodity prices.

However, because 97% of the nations' voters are non-farmers, and because 1980 is a Presidential election year, the President's advisors, advised him that this provision of the farm law should not be implemented. There was a legal loop-hole which could be used, they said, which would not require him to raise the support level. There are six words which prefaced the embargo amendment. These words are "in the event of a shortage".

And so the nations' farmers once again are left holding the bag. Instead of being able to look forward to increased prices in 1980, most forecasters are predicting that prices now will be much lower than they were in 1979. However, inflation guarantees that production costs will continue to rise at a drastic rate, thus the cost-price squeeze is squeezed tighter and tighter!

I hope that the people in our area who are not farmers can now understand the dilemma faced by our area farmers. I hope that they can also understand why tractors were taken from the fields and driven to the nations' capital last year to try to get Congress to plug up the loop-holes and write better legislation which would protect our nations' most valuable resource, our food producing industry.

Thank you,
Gerald McCathern

Dear Editor:

Members of Cub Scout Pack 220 wish to thank the people of Olton for ticket donations toward the bicycle give-away Dec. 21. We greatly appreciate the whole hearted response of the community.

Dear Mrs. Cannon:

On Mondays and Wednesdays, we are using the newspaper to learn more about reading. Mrs. Gary told us that when we grow up, we probably would read the newspaper more than anything else. So that's one reason we are using the newspaper in two of our classes, Mrs. Rape's and Mrs. Gary's.

It has been fun using the newspaper. We read about the pictures, the want-ads, the advertising, the church directory, the school menu, and many other things. One of our favorite things to read about is the high school column, "The Wizzard of Odds".

We will be using the paper for many of our reading skills: 1. Consonant Blends, 2. Consonant Digraphs, 3. Vowel Digraphs, 4. "Soft" and "Hard" "C", 5. Syllabication, 6. Vocabulary, 7. Long and Short Vowels, 8. Suffixes and Prefixes. We are also learning the parts of a letter and how to write a letter.

We will be using the newspaper for learning more about math, such as money.

Our teachers say there are SO many things to learn from the newspaper.

Thank you for our newspaper, "The Olton Enterprise".

Say What?

Not-So-Important

BY FREDDY STOCKDALE

Recent surveys indicate that TV ratings for new programs on all three major networks have risen sharply. Apparently Americans are finally realizing the importance of knowing what's going on in the world.

If I were to give a test over important facts of current world news events, I have no doubt everyone would do quite well. Of course, it would be difficult not to do well with the way we have been bombarded with news on the recent crisis in Iran and Afghanistan.

But what about unimportant facts? We are getting so wrapped up in important facts that the not-so-important facts are being shoved aside. I mean, knowing that a skunk will not bite and throw its scent at the same time won't get the Russians out of Afghanistan, but its still fun to to take a break from everyday hard news.

So get out a pen or a pencil and get ready to take a test on some not-so-important bits of info. Answers will be given next week. Cheating is allowed.

Good Luck.

1. In what key do most automobile horns honk? (I told you these were not-so-important.)
2. Look in the mirror. See that little indentation between the nose and the upper lip? What is that called?
3. What do the numbers on your social security card signify?
4. What do the letters R.S.V.P. stand for?
5. What nation boasts the world's highest per capita income?
6. Why was Humphrey Bogart familiar to Americans long before he became a film star?
7. Daniel Webster, Abraham Lincoln, John Marshall and Stephen A. Douglas were all famous lawyers. What else do they have in common?
8. What is the shortest term ever served by a U.S. president?
9. What does the "S" in Harry S. Truman stand for?
10. How did the Pittsburgh Pirates get their name?
11. How many people died during the sinking of the "Titanic?"
12. True or False? There are bullfights in Detroit.
13. True or False? Based on the total numbers of people tested since IQ tests were developed, women have a slightly higher average IQ than men.

Clip out these questions. Only the answers will be given next week.

MRS. JIMMIE JENKINS

Recipe Revue

Christine and Jimmie Jenkins know the heartbreak of losing dear ones to the dread disease - cancer. They share the agony of watching their first mates, Frank McNamara and Uleta Jenkins, lose long battles with the killer illness.

Born and reared in Oklahoma, Christine almost did not become a Texan. Her father had come to the Springlake area to work as a ginner and pleaded with Christine to join him. She says it took the third trip before she could accept this country as a place to live.

She and Frank have two sons - Frank Jr., who lives in Nacogdoches, and Lindel, who just moved from Littlefield to near Spade.

Jimmie and Uleta have three sons. Thomas lives in Richardson, Jerry lives here and John Ben at Grandbury.

Crocheting is Christine's favorite pastime although she enjoys almost any handwork. She has never had art lessons but has "dabbled" a bit with paints and loves to "try" that art. She loves to cook but does so by the "pinch" method.

Christine say she has not mastered the art of microwave cooking but finds that appliance great for the person who cooks for just two persons. Leftovers do not taste like leftovers when heated in the microwave.

When she can, Christine helps Jimmie at his business, Olton Paint and Body Shop.

Christine and Jimmie attend Main Street Church of Christ.

NEWS OF HEALTH

*Answers about Health and Medicines from the Proprietary Association.

Q. How much of each health-care dollar goes for nonprescription medicines?

A. About three cents. This compares to seven cents for prescription drugs, 42 cents for hospital services and 12 percent for doctor care. Consumer expenditures for nonprescription medicines are small and steadily declining. The 1977 per person expenditure of $19.75 for nonprescription medicines represented only 30 cents of every $100 of disposable personal income, compared with 48 cents in 1962, a drop of over one-third in 15 years. About 70 percent of all individual treatments today are with nonprescription medicines.
