Favors Another Vote

GOP Surge Threatens Johnson's Re-Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rolling impact of a midterm Republican breakthrough offered a fresh threat today not only to President Johnson's legislative program but, possibly to his re-election in 1968.

While the GOP was surging to above-average House gains in Tuesday's nonpresidential year balloting, it also was netting from the Democrats eight governors' offices.

This cemented Republican chief executives into political power bases in at least 25 states which will cast 290 electoral votes two years from now—20 in excess of the 270 needed to elect a president.

As final ballot counts stretched out the measuring tape, it became apparent that Johnson and his Democratic administration had suffered a crippling, though not necessarily lasting, defeat in contests where the President had thought Democrats might do very well.

MORE ATTRACTIVE

The fact that Republicans will control at least half of the governorships in the next two years doesn't mean they will be able to maneuver their states into the GOP column in the 1968 presidential contest. Voters have a way of making up their own minds about such matters.

But the mere fact that their party has broadened its base for attack on Johnson's expected re-election bid certainly will make the GOP nomination much more attractive to potential candidates than it has been during the two doleful years since Barry Goldwater's crushing 1964 defeat by Johnson.

Johnson's loss of party strength in Congress was far greater than that sustained by any president two years into his first elective term since GOP

NAILED DOWN

The Republicans nailed down a gain of 47 seats in the House to bring their total to 187. Democrats elected 248 members.

The President, resting at his Texas ranch, had no comment on House and governorship losses. He passed the word through an aide that he was somewhat surprised at the Republican gain of three in the Senate.

While the Democrats retained 64-36 control there, if the Republicans voted as a unit they held a power they lacked before to kill by themselves any filibustered legislation.

Richard M. Nixon, former GOP vice president whom Johnson sharply attacked a few days before the election, said results of Tuesday's voting were "the sharpest rebuff of a president in a generation."

And Goldwater said Republican victories were the result of an "LBJ backlash." While this assessment was discounted in some quarters, there was evidence of what might be called "anti-Johnson" sentiment in areas as widely separated as Florida and California.

Both of these states elected Republican governors staunchly opposed to Johnson's "Great Society" programs.

Actor Ronald Reagan, who furnished the GOP with a glittering victory in the California governor's race, attributed his success largely to discontent over what he called excessive welfare and government costs, as well as the loss of local government responsibility.

In Florida, GOP Gov. elect Claude Kirk Jr.'s victory appeared based on Viet Nam war frustrations, racial disturbances and opposition to Johnson's programs.

Robert F. Kennedy, the New Yorker with the magic name, and Hubert H. Humphrey, the vice president who wants a promotion, suffered home-base setbacks in election day's chain of Democratic losses.

Already billed as rivals for the 1972 nomination to succeed President Johnson, Humphrey and Sen. Kennedy proved Tuesday that a politician doesn't have to be on the ballot to lose.

Johnson had the same problem—and his is more immediate. It begins Jan. 10 on Capitol Hill, when the 90th Congress assembles with a House of Representatives that is virtually certain to put a crimp in his "Great Society" plans.

Humphrey and Kennedy spent the autumn in hectic campaigning, each man out to translate national standing into state votes for Democrats.

Neither achieved notable success.

RIDING HIGH

Kennedy, brother of President John F. Kennedy, rolled into the campaign riding high, with pollsters rating him more popular than President Johnson.

He campaigned for losers in California, Oregon, Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois.

The crowds were big, but the votes were not there for Democrats Tuesday.

Humphrey, campaigning hard, hit many of the same states. And in his home state of Minnesota, Humphrey saw the Democrat-Farmer-Labor party he helped to organize buffeted by a near-sweep for Republicans.

Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag, who won nomination in the primary after the party convention repudiated him, was ousted by Republican Harold Evander.

Democratic Sen. Walter E.

Maddox Glad Legislature Handed Issue

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Republican Howard Callaway, locked in a winless governor's race with Democrat Lester G. Maddox and a write-in candidate, Ellis Arnall, said today he favors another vote by the people to decide the election.

But Maddox said he was glad the issue had been thrown into the Democratic legislature. It also has been taken into federal court with a hearing set Friday on a move to block election by the legislature.

WILL PLAY GAME

Neither nominee managed a required majority in Tuesday's voting because of write-in ballots for Arnall, a former governor backed by a group of moderates and liberals.

Incumbent Gov. Carl E. Sanders, a Democrat, was ineligible to succeed himself.

With almost all of the votes counted, unofficially the totals were: Maddox 438,818, Callaway 436,592, Arnall 55,597.

Callaway's camp still was hopeful the final, official tabulation would give him a slight plurality — obviously some advantage if the election would be decided by the legislature.

Callaway said he would not file a lawsuit. "I will play the game under the rules, whatever the rules are," he said at a news conference.

'STATE ABOVE PARTY'

Any type of popular vote, including a runoff election, would be preferable to legislative decision, Callaway said. But the Republican said he would take his case to the General Assembly if that is required. He said he had not talked to "a single member who didn't say he would put his state above party."

Maddox said at a news conference he believes a federal court suit challenging legislative election of a governor will be thrown out. He declined to predict victory.

But he said: "I am not claiming victory, but I am glad the issue is in the hands of good Democrats who are in a big majority in the legislature. I am hopeful that I will get in."

Technicians checked and rechecked a new autopilot through-out the night and pronounced it in fine working order this morning. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported all launching preparations were progressing smoothly.

PRACTICE

Favorable weather was forecast for launch time Friday.

Meanwhile, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. continued to practice key phases of their four-day flight in a spacecraft simulator and to bone up on their complex flight plan.

The doubleheader Gemini 12 launch is scheduled to start at 2:08 p.m. EST Friday when an Atlas rocket hurls an Agena satellite into orbit as a rendezvous target. Gemini 12 is to set sail at 3:46 p.m.

FRUSTRATED

Lovell and Aldrin were frustrated on two earlier launching dates — Wednesday and today — by troubles with the autopilot system which is needed to steer the Titan 2 on a true course during the vital six minutes the rocket operates.

The problems were associated with a secondary system which would operate automatically if the primary autopilot failed.

Gemini 12 will be the last of the Gemini series, leading to the first earth orbit flight of a three-man Apollo moonship early in 1967.

LOOSE ENDS

Lovell and Aldrin plan to wrap up the loose ends of the Gemini program, with a main goal of learning what problems must be overcome before man can effectively operate outside an orbiting ship.

Aldrin is to spend nearly five hours outside the ship — on a two-hour space walk and two "space stands" during which he'll perform photographic and other tasks with the upper half of his body poked through an open hatch.

The office serves about 40 gins—all of Dawson County's, plus the south half of Lynn, the north one-third of Martin County, all of Borden and three gins in Howard County.

Two days before the balloting, Johnson said most Americans favored the kind of programs Congress had enacted, and pronounced himself confident of the outcome.

Sn. I.C. Gerald Wagger, USN, Navy recruiter; Spec. I.C. Raymond Woolverton, Army recruiter; Sgt. Fred J. Nacias, from the Marine reserve unit at Midland; and S. Sgt. Raymond Torres, from Webb AFB.

Gold Star mothers will be guests of honor. Others who will be seated on the platform are Mayor Arnold Marshall, Col. George Franks and Lt. Col. James Van Pelt of Webb AFB, and commanders of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of World War I.

Mrs. Betty Ray Coffee, of the VA business services office, will preside, and the Big Spring High School band, under direction of Bill Bradley, will play from 10 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. Prayers will be by Rev. R. E. Johnson and Rev. Marvin Roark.

Yanks Don Masks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An ambush patrol of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division was attacked today by Viet Cong using a nonpoisonous type of tear gas, a spokesman said.

He added that this was the first known firing of gas by the Communists in the Viet Nam war. However, South Vietnamese authorities alleged in September, 1965 that the Viet Cong used nausea-inducing gas grenades. The allied forces have used nonlethal types in certain instances for nearly two years.

800 DEAD

The Viet Cong attack came in Tay Ninh Province of War Zone C, a battleground area centered 65 miles northwest of Saigon, where Americans have reported more than 800 enemy dead in a week of hard fighting against the Viet Cong's 9th Division. The patrol had settled into its ambush pattern in matted swamp and jungle five miles northeast of Suoi Dau.

No firefight followed and no injuries were reported. The spokesman said the Americans donned gas masks, which are standard combat equipment, at the explosion of the first grenades. The troops were believed to number about 30.

UNCOVERED

About 1,200 gas grenades were found among 19,000 grenades uncovered by infantrymen sweeping an enemy regimental command and supply complex Wednesday.

Ground action in the area, however, continued to be light.

BLOODY BATTLE

The bloody battle in Tay Ninh Province of Zone C pushed the toll of American dead in the war to nearly double the number the week before, the weekly casualty report revealed.

The U.S. Command announced that 127 Americans were killed last week, 605 were wounded and eight were missing or captured. The week before 66 Americans were killed and 493 were wounded, according to revised figures issued today.

Both South Vietnamese government and enemy casualties were reduced, but the enemy dead did not include the toll in the most recent fighting in Tay Ninh.

WHARF FOLDS

At Cam Ranh Bay, across from the huge American air and supply base President Johnson visited last month, an old French wharf collapsed early today, killing possibly 20 Vietnamese and injuring about 100, a U.S. spokesman reported.

Astros Get Green Light After Frustrating Delays

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — After two frustrating delays because of a faulty autopilot system in the astronauts' Titan 2 rocket, the Gemini 12 mission today received a green light to blast off Friday on the final flight in the Gemini series.

UF Inches Up But Is Short

The United Fund, within sight of the $100,000 mark but still considerably short of its goal, is being poised for a final push.

Receipts today amounted to $459.50, bringing to $96,965.24 the amount so far raised toward a $139,000 goal. The special gifts division turned in $40, employees group $299.50, metropolitan $120.

The record of giving by group so far includes out-of-town division $10,579.50, well over its goal; big gifts $35,632, nearing its goal; special $6,431, considerably short of its target; employees $29,965.76, short of its goal but with some reports yet to be made; Webb AFB $12,186.23, coming within sight of its goal; metropolitan $2,060.75. The area division, which will be launched next week, has only $10 so far. Percentage of total goal is 69.

Dick Ream, UF drive chairman, said that a corps of workers is being organized for a massive, final push next week.

Community Will Honor Its Veterans

Big Spring people, grateful for the sacrifices of those who have served in the armed forces of this nation, will pause Friday morning to pay their respects on Veterans Day.

Ceremonies have been set for 10 a.m. on the lawn in front of the Veterans Administration Hospital, and citizens are asked to pause in their work to come and pay tribute to veterans, especially those like Pfc. Richard Spangler, who only this week gave his life on the field of battle in Viet Nam.

Speaker for the occasion will be Capt. Robert D. Gobble, recently returned from Viet Nam and decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for his services there. Capt. Gobble is an instructor with the 3560th PTS at Webb AFB.

Representatives from the four branches of service will comprise the color guard. They are

South Korea Halts Troops To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea says it won't be sending any additional troops to South Viet Nam.

South Korean diplomats made the decision known Wednesday. They said they didn't think President Johnson was referring to South Korea when he indicated at the Manila conference that South Viet Nam's allies should provide more manpower.

South Korea already has 45,000 troops in South Viet Nam, more than any other ally except the United States and South Viet Nam.

The diplomats said they did not think there was any bad feeling with the U.S. government because of the decision. White House aides said Johnson probably won't ask any other of the allies for troops right now, in view of impending elections in Australia and New Zealand.

Development, Humphrey said in a speech prepared for the cornerstone laying of a building for the new department.

The one time mayor of Minneapolis said that until the department was created, "mayors and local officials of our country have had no place to turn — and at the same time 100 many places to turn — in Washington when they needed help and advice."

Congress provided more than $22 million for a 10-story building to house the new Cabinet department on a redevelopment tract within site of the Capitol.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says you will still file your 1966 income tax return to district directors' offices.

A new law gives the service authority to require filing of returns with regional service centers, but the service said today the new rules will be put into effect over several years time, area by area.

The switch to regional filing will enable the service to speed processing by using automatic data processing equipment installed at the several regional locations.

Thank You, Voters Of Howard County
Thank you 2,317 voters for your faith in my campaign pledge. The issue was actually won when Mr. Bailey announced he too would abolish the office as this was the purpose of my candidacy.
It might be timely to point out to all the voters of Howard County that this race, on an issue, and not between personalities, came as a direct result of the growing strength of the two party system.
Thank you again.

Fresh GOP Senate Faces Might Spark Old Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — With heartened Republican leaders already setting their sights on the White House in 1968, the GOP may find its most valuable image-making gain was the new faces it catapulted into the Senate.

The election of Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, Negro Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts and Robert P. Griffin of Michigan put these young GOP Turks into one of the world's most publicized forums, the Senate of the United States.

FACE LIFTING
Their presence should pump some excitement into the Senate, as well as the GOP, give the old guard something of a face lifting and present Rep-lican Senate leader Everett M. Dirksen, a corps of new talent — as well as a couple of potential presidential candidates — to display.

Not that they will be able to turn the tide or be able to make much of an impact on legislation.

With a built-in edge of 50 seats this year, the Democrats will still command nearly a 2-1 majority when the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10.

All told, the Republicans were able to wrench three seats from Democrats — with Percy, Hatfield and Baker doing the wrenching — out of the 35 that were at stake. Former Congressman Griffin actually was appointed to his seat last May, but had to spend much of his time campaigning in order to win it in his own right Tuesday.

DIRKSEN JUBILANT
Dirksen, who at times seemed in the last Congress to be holding his outmanned lines together mainly with the force of his personality, was jubilant. He hailed the election outcome in the Senate, House and statehouses as a great Republican victory heralding a significant, nationwide shift to the GOP.

"It's going to make a tremendous difference in the next Congress," declared Dirksen, who undoubtedly is pleased at the prospect of having son-in-law Baker joining him on the GOP side of the aisle.

But one problem all the new Republicans may have to wrestle with in making their presence known is the Senate tradition that freshmen should be seen but not heard, at least not too much.

West Coast Style Comes East

It's been the style in some West Coast night clubs for more than a year. But when waitresses like Ruby Diamond, above, appeared topless at a New York salery last night, it was an occasion for male patrons to cast a judging eye. Police had their eyes on the scene, too, and issued summonses saying the topless costumes violated New York's cabaret rules and regulations. (AP WIREPHOTO).

Topless NY Waitresses Double Club Business

NEW YORK (AP) — Topless waitresses made their first public appearance in New York City Wednesday night in what may prove to be a test case against local cabaret laws. Police handed out summonses. Ruby Diamond, 28, who measures 37-26-36, and Mary Rooney who is 24 and 39-24-37, each wore only two black tasseled pasties — about the size of a silver dollar — on their chests as they served patrons in the Crystal Room supper club on the East Side. Each also wore dark tights and short wrap-around aprons.

Former Texas Lawmaker Dies

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Funeral services for former Rep. Brady Gentry, D-Tex., will be held here Friday at 3 p.m.

Gentry, 71, died Wednesday in a Houston hospital after a lengthy illness.

He served in various county offices in his native Van Zandt County, and later moved to Tyler, where he served four terms as Smith County judge.

Still later, Gentry was chairman of the Texas Highway Commission and in 1943 was elected president of the American Association of Highwaymen.

While in Congress, he served on the House Committee on Highways and Roads.

As Smith County judge, he led in the development of an improved system of county roads, and under his leadership on the State Highway Commission the Texas system of farm-to-market roads was developed.

The only election Gentry ever lost was to former Rep. Lindley Beckworth, D-Tex., who later lost to Gentry.

Gentry took an avid interest in the golfing career of Ben Hogan and traveled over the United States for 20 years to follow the Fort Worth links star in tournaments.

Two sisters survive.

TEXANS AT WAR

Captain Praises Medics In Viet

By The Associated Press

Capt. Hal Mann, a Texan at war, came home to a hero's welcome bubbling with praise for the medics and hospital staffs treating the seriously wounded in Viet Nam.

"For anybody wounded over there, a point in their favor is the first class hospital care," said Mann, who spent ten weeks in a recuperative center in Japan, with bullet wounds in his chest and arms.

ATTITUDE GREAT

"It can't be beat. My doctor came in on Sundays and at night just to take a look at us, and his attitude was great."

Mann got a reception few soldiers see on his return to Kermit.

Mayor G. L. McGuire gave Mann a key to the city and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., then campaigning for re-election, addressed Winkler County residents who had gathered for the ceremony.

I WAS HIT

"I was wounded right after I took over a rifle company of about 300 men," said Mann, 30, a career officer.

"It was in Operation Paul Revere near Plei Ku around the Cambodian border and one of our units was pinned down in a firefight by some infiltrators from Cambodia.

"We went to reinforce them but in getting the wounded out landing zone where a helicopter

Reagan Surrounds Himself With Mixed Band Of Republicans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan, California's newly elected Republican governor, has surrounded himself with a mixed band of youthful moderates and middle-aged conservatives for his assumption of power in January.

Among the most influential probably will be the new lieutenant governor, Robert Finch, generally considered a moderate although some right-wingers label him liberal. He is the only political pro in Reagan's ranks. He managed Sen. George Murphy's successful campaign in 1964 and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's unsuccessful ones for president in 1960 and for California governor against Gov. Edmund G. Brown four years ago.

REALIZES VALUE
Reagan realizes Finch's value in government; that his other aides are political amateurs. Reagan's first two actions pointed up the two sides of his team.

As his executive secretary and "strong right arm," Reagan named Philip M. Battaglia, 31, a Los Angeles attorney and a loyal supporter of U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel. Battaglia, Reagan's campaign manager, has argued with conservative Republicans who want to dump Kuchel in 1968.

A.C. Rubel of Los Angeles, a former oil company president associated with conservative causes, was named chairman of a task force to screen prospective appointees.

BANKROLLERS

Reagan noted Wednesday that Rubel had fought in 1968 for a state right-to-work law, a law the governor-elect opposed. Reagan said he didn't think this would cause conflicts or interfere with Rubel's usefulness on the task force.

Rubel and two other Los Angeles businessmen considered conservatives — Henry Salvatori and Holmes Tuttle — provided the money for Reagan's first campaign efforts last year and have been bankrollers since. Salvatori was campaign finance chairman.

Possibly more influential than anyone else was William Roberts, partner in the campaign counseling firm of Spencer-Roberts and Associates of Los Angeles which signed with Reagan in May, 1965.

Roberts has been with Reagan constantly and, along with his partners, fashioned the campaign that defeated Brown.

It all added up to a complex combination of feuding elements of the Republican party. Moderates and conservatives argued angrily behind closed doors during the campaign, but toward the end Battaglia reportedly claimed victory.

New Mexico Race Triggers Journey

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — A Hobbs resident temporarily living in the Middle East said he traveled 12,000 miles to vote in the 1966 general election. "I flew 12,000 miles back to Hobbs to cast my vote in one race," said Jess R. Parker, a drilling expert for Continental Oil Co. at Doha, Qatar, on the Persian Gulf. Parker didn't say which race attracted his interest.

Ski Club To Meet

Members of the Big Spring Ski Club and their guests will gather at the Texas Electric Service Company's Community room at 7:30 o'clock this evening to discuss plans for the coming season and to watch three films relating to the sport. Those desiring to join the club have a special invitation to be on hand, said Roger Brown, member of the organization.

YOUR Horoscope Forecast By Carroll Righter for Tomorrow

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You now can dig deeply into whatever may be of moment and concern to you and are able to find out how to use strategy and deviousness to obtain your aims without upsetting others. In the war games, leaders use spying and many secret maneuvers to gain the information and success they want. ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You are able to clear up whatever has been puzzling to you for some time and if you are honest with partners, you gain their respect. This is true where mate is concerned. Leo pay bills, but check them over first for errors. TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) If he borrows in your name, very definitely check him over in mind, since opposition could mean severance of connections. You may find that they are in the right after all. Handle problems that come up very wisely. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) With all those duties before you, you hardly know where to begin, so better you schedule time and activities early. A coworker wants to waste your time. Be patient and carry through with your work. He, or she, will get the hint. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You need a development means in order to get invitations to coveted affairs, etc. Since the direct approach is very much better. Go through with idea that will make mate happy. Be generous. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Some new idea can relieve pressures at home and bring true understanding with everyone there. Get one in particular to cooperate with you in your plans. Going it alone could prove disastrous. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have such clear, penetrating thoughts now that you can plan the future very intelligently. Be sure to keep all appointments right on time. Avoid spending more than you can really afford, especially for entertainment. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have only to delve right into those monetary matters that bog you and they are quickly solved. Don't take on further big responsibilities. Equalize expenditures so they fall easily within your income. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show others that you are one of those satisfying, staunch persons who does not burden others with your own problems. This is especially true in social life. Be objective in handling varieties of loved one. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You require data that is hard to get unless you do so confidentially and tread it as such. Then use it to your own best friends who can be very helpful in this. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you need about socially, you are able to pick up much information and new ideas inadvertently dropped by others. Be particularly kind to older persons. Show that you are truly devoted to them. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) By listening to "what poverly" individuals have to say, you find the seed of success in many an idea expounded. Be sure to get those public jobs nicely handled. Avoid laboring too fast and making mistakes. PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Although you want to get off to new places and people, you first have to complete work on hand or you get into difficulties. You can get what you desire if you are open-minded, kind, and invulnerable. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he, or she, will be one of those astute and clever youngsters who would not be a good idea to try to fool or give wrong information. Always use the honest, direct approach with him, or her. The research laboratory is the best place for your wise property, whether male or female. Something very useful to the public-at-large could be found during this lifetime of work. Fame is possible here.

Serial Numbers Aid In Identity

Residents were urged today to record the serial numbers of all valuable property having them and keep the numbers in a safe place. Leo Hull, assistant police chief, said in many theft cases the victims do not have serial numbers that would help police identify their property. This is particularly true of guns, radios, and other appliances with numbers. If victims of a theft can furnish a serial number, police can quickly check through places where such items are usually sold and sometimes locate the missing property. Where no number is available, it is often impossible to locate and return stolen property.

Federal Employees Face Late Pay Day

OTTAWA (AP) — An estimated 100,000 federal employees won't be paid for the next few days and scores of government contractors are waiting for overdue payments because of a parliamentary impasse facing Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's minority Liberal government. The opposition Conservatives have balked at approving a $372-million appropriation bill for November until the Liberals agree to immediate committee hearings on their controversial plan to merge the three military services.

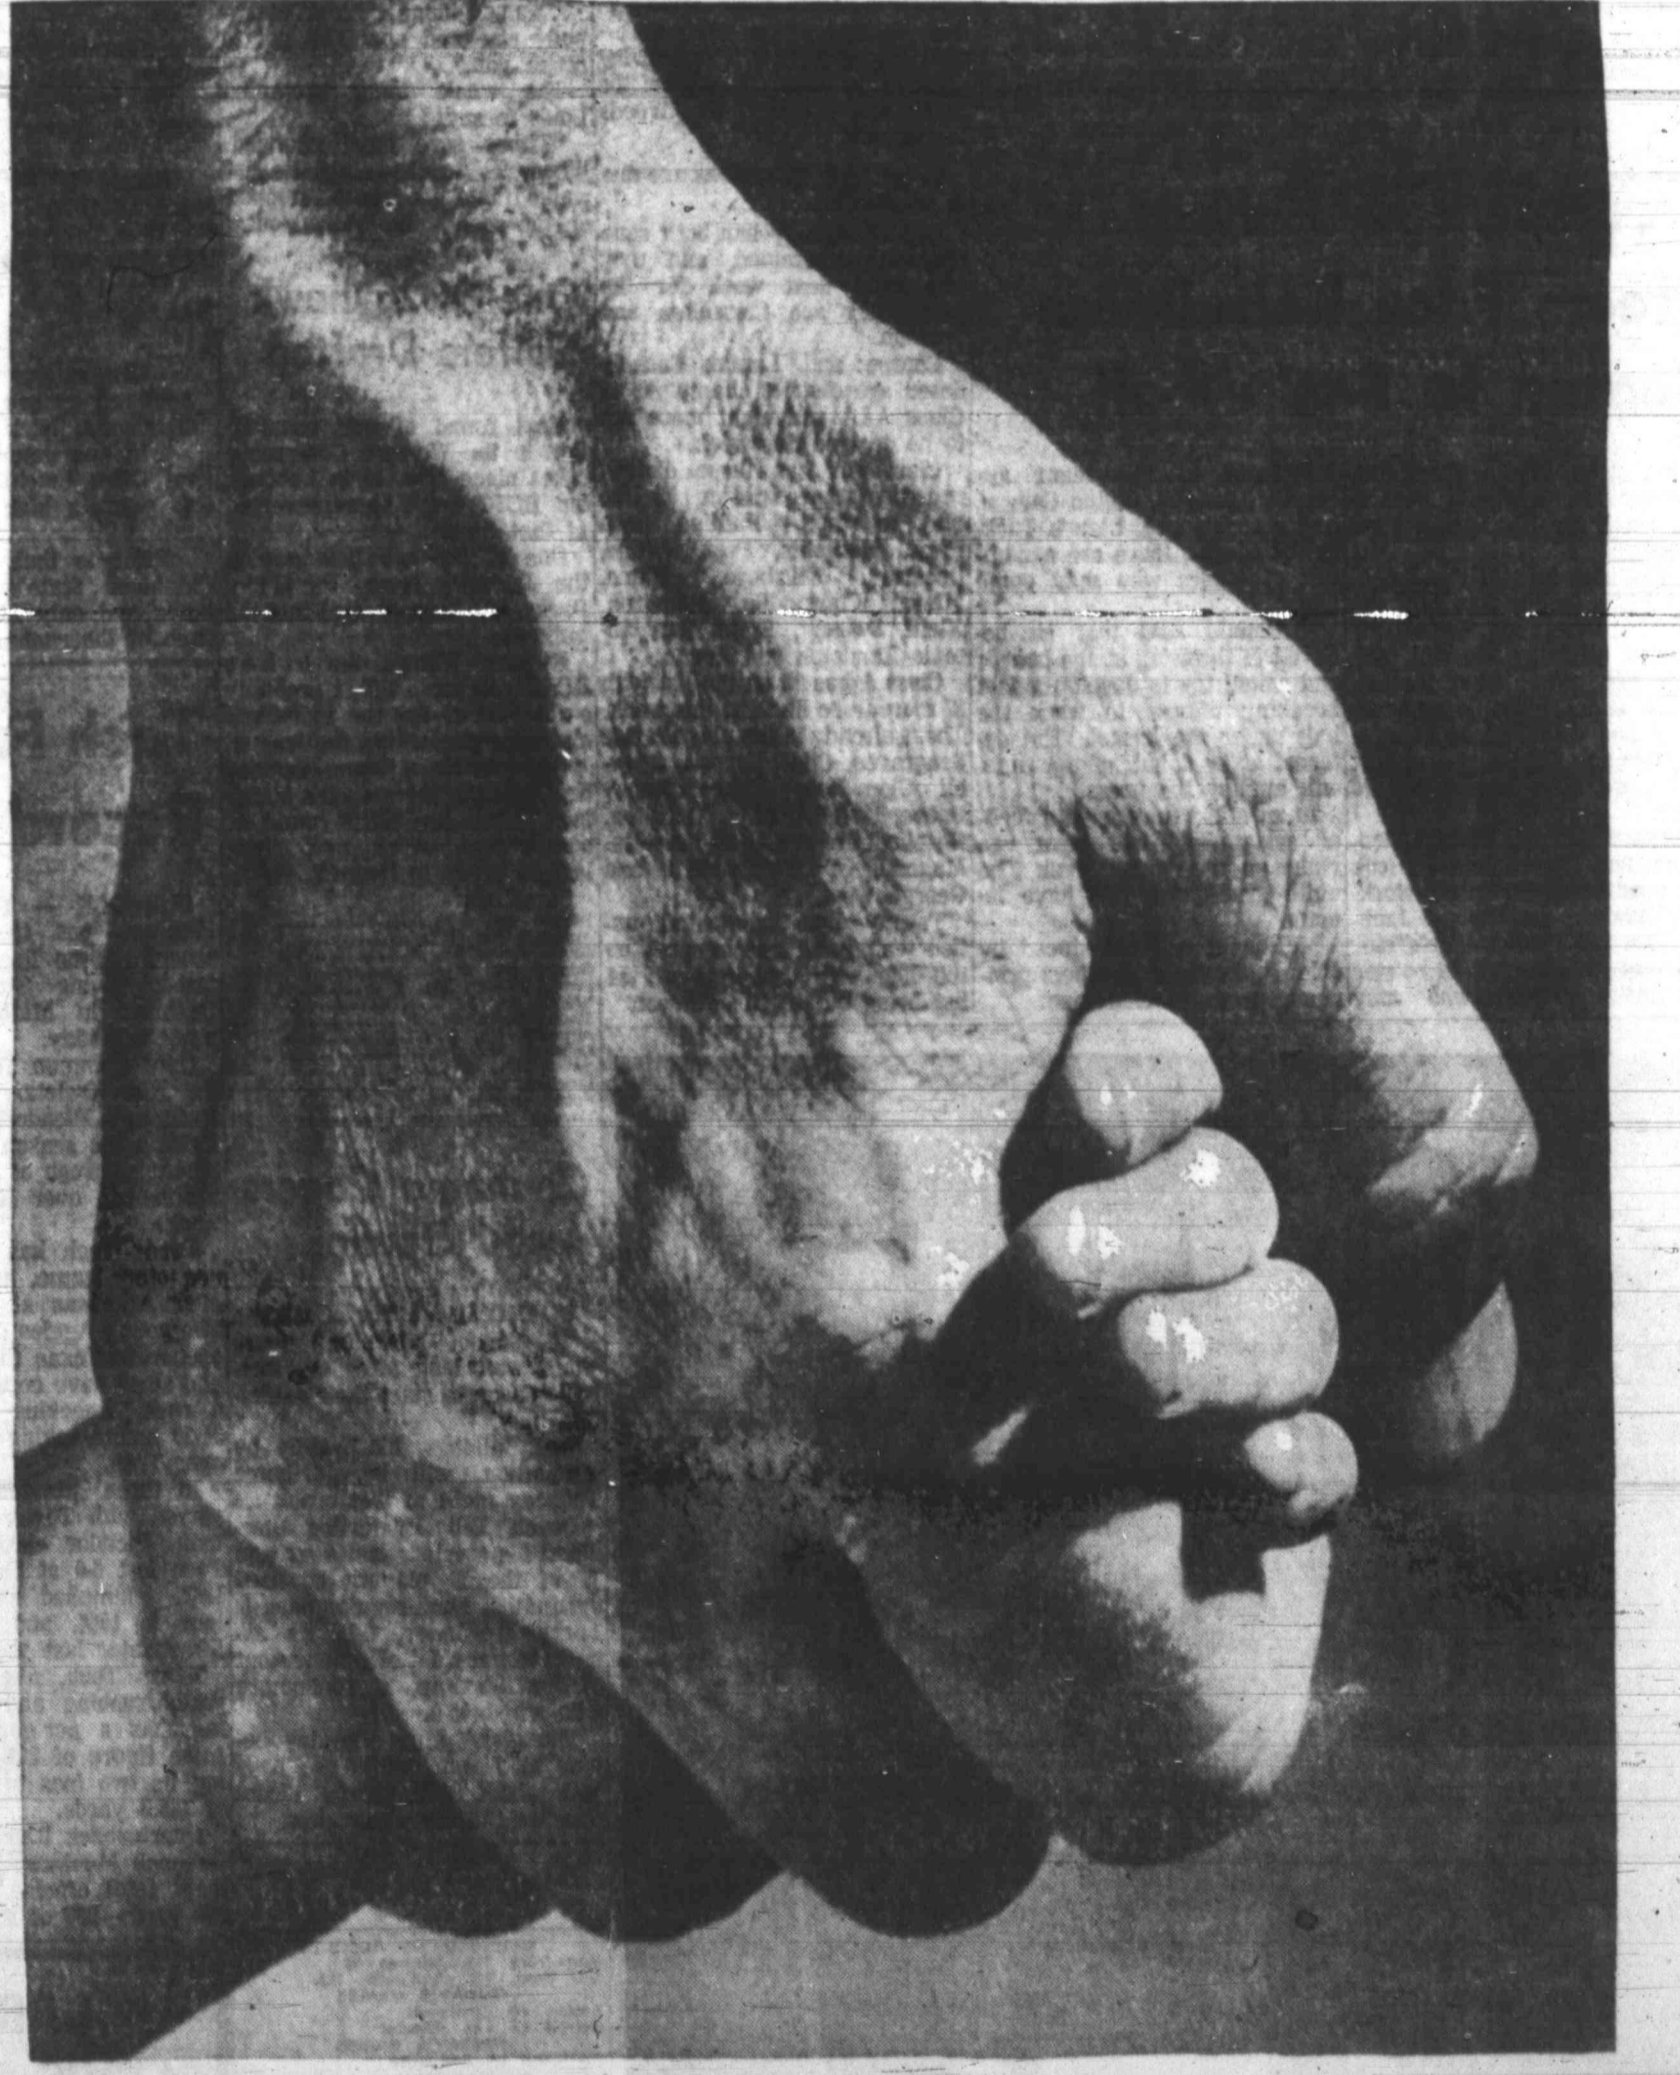

Three Guilty Pleas Heard

Three pleas of guilty have been accepted in Howard County court. Jackie D. Coffman, charged with writing a worthless check, was sentenced to 30 days in county jail and ordered to pay costs in the case. Victor Robles, charged with DWI, and Gregorio Paradez, also charged with DWI, each drew a fine of $50, costs in the case and were placed on four-months probation.

Casualties In Sunday Battle

Bob DeMarco, center for the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL, enjoys the irony as he informs quarterback Charley Johnson, a native Big Spring, that he, too, will undergo surgery for torn ligaments in his right knee. Charley underwent an almost identical operation Tuesday. The two Cardinal stars were injured Sunday in St. Louis' 20-17 victory over the New York Giants. They are now roommates, since DeMarco underwent the knife Wednesday. With Charley is his wife, the former Barbara Shields of Big Spring. Both players are out for the season. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Permian Can Strike Blow For Underdog

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two defending state champions are due to reach the playoffs again Friday night in the last big round of Texas school-boy football.

Class AA King, Plano, already has made it back, and Willis Point, the Class A champion, can do it by beating Edgewood.

Brownwood, the Class AAA defending champion, will have to wait a week before it can sew up its district title—and it might not then because chances are it will have to beat underfeated, untied Vernon to accomplish it.

Odessa Permian, the Class AAAA champion is out of contention for the district title but could strike a blow for the underdogs by beating mighty San Angelo Friday night. San Angelo, the No. 1 team in the state, needs only a victory over Permian to be in the playoffs.

It's a momentous weekend for the schoolboys with 25 of 96 district representatives already named and 43 likely to be decided.

Classes AA and A must finish out their district lineups this week because the playoffs start next week for these divisions.

Classes AAAA and AAA have another week to wind up their district races since each division has only 16 districts. Classes AA and A have 32 apiece.

Class AAAA may determine two championships this week—San Angelo in Dist. 2 and Spring Branch in Dist. 10 where the latter has to beat Spring Woods to make it.

Seven zone champions are due to be decided.

Dist. 7 already has both zone champs determined, and they will meet next week for the title. They are Carrollton and Denison.

Conroe and Lamar Consolidated are district champions of Class AAA and eight more are to be decided this week.

Class AA has these district representatives waiting for the play to start—Phillips, Iowa Park, Memphis, Post, Alpine, Decatur, Hillsboro, Plano, Mexia, Clarksville, Cameron, Klein, Sweeny, Edna, San Antonio Randolph and Hondo.

Class A has 15 on the list with 17 more to be decided this week. Those already in the playoffs are Seagraves, Clint, Sonora, Crowley, Glen Rose, Frisco, Honey Grove, Hallsville, Groveton, Rosebud, Rogers, Hull-Daisetta, Magnolia, Tidenhaven, and George West.

Twenty-seven undefeated, untied teams put their records on the line with prospects of the list being cut to 25 or lower.

Steers Face Rebuilding Season In Basketball

This looks like a rebuilding year for Don McDonald, basketball coach for Big Spring High School.

Wednesday he told the Downtown Lions that he has only one returning letterman now out for practice (although he will pick up a few more when football season ends). The squad already has dwindled to 20 with only one now out being a senior. There are nine juniors and 10 sophomores.

Richard Green, Danny Clendenen, and Wayne Johnson look like good prospects in the workouts thus far, and Robert Jackson, an all-district performer last year, is expected to bolster the lineup. Others who may contribute to the team are Wayne Kennedy, Milton Carver, and a sophomore, Claude Tucker. Of course, there are a number of others who may come along.

McDonald said that he believed in throwing at the boards and would try to develop a fast breaking offense to work the ball under the basket. The defense, at least half of the time, will employ the press.

In an effort to develop a feeder system, he will have two clubs on the junior level. The ninth grade also will have its team.

McDonald was introduced by John F. Smith, high school principal, program chairman.

Benbow Talks Excessively, Says Champ

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Casus Clay says he has found a man who talks too much.

The heavyweight champion was referring to Hugh Benbow, manager of Cleveland Williams, who challenges Clay for the heavyweight title in a scheduled 15-round Monday night in the Astrodome.

"Benbow talks too much, man, and I have to take it out on you when I really want him," Clay told Williams during a preliminary physical examination.

"You don't have to worry about that," Williams answered. "I'll be there."

Clay and Williams were about even in the battle of the mouths until Benbow, a Houston oilman, arrived and took up his fighter's cause.

Benbow hurled insults at the grinning Clay throughout the rest of the ceremonies.

"You're scared to death," Benbow yelled at Clay. "For the first time you're fighting somebody who won't lay down when you tell them to. Old as I am I could whip you in an honest fight."

Clay just smiled and continued to tease Williams.

"I sure am mean and dangerous," he said. "Are you sure you're not afraid of me? Are you sure you'll be there?"

"I'm not afraid, I'll be there," Williams replied. "Or, you name the place, man, and I'll meet you."

Dr. Arthur Moers, state appointed ring physician, examined the two men Wednesday and declared them in top physical condition. The champion weighed 209, and the challenger 214.

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis was on hand and measured the fighters for the tale of the tape.

Rules concerning the fight were to be decided today at a meeting of Texas Boxing Commission officials, the fighters and their managers.

As the Wednesday show broke up, Clay got in a parting shot at Williams.

"Man, I done retired everybody else and now I've got to retire you."

The whole thing prompted Louis to say:

"Times sure have changed. When I weighed in, I just walked into the room, stepped on the scales and walked out."

One Of Jayhawk Golfers Drafted

Next round of golf competition in the Western Conference takes place Nov. 19 in Lubbock but HCJC won't be represented at that time.

One of the two linksters on the Jayhawk team, Phillip Parks, has been drafted into the military.

Richard Waters, the other HCJC player, will probably compete for the individual championship within the league.

Odessa's No. 1 team occupies first place in the season's standings, after the third round of competition, which took place last Saturday in Roswell, N. M.

Coahoma Cagers Await Opener

COAHOMA — The Coahoma High School basketball team won't wait long after the football season to start their exhibition play.

The Bulldogs, hit heavily by graduation, will be at home Tuesday night to Westbrook.

Coach Bill Easterling alternated his starters last year and 11 of the 12 players he used graduated. Lone regular back is Larry McKinney, 6-1. He expects to get a lot of mileage out of Jim Sterling, a sophomore who stands 6-0.

The girls' game Tuesday begins at 7 p.m. while the boys play about 8:30. Grady Tindol coaches the Coahoma girls.

White, Brittenum Are Rated Even

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Senior quarterbacks will vie here Saturday in the big game of Southwest Conference football, when Southern Methodist meets Arkansas, and if they alone are compared, the battle should be rated a tossup.

Mac White leads the charge of the Methodists. Jon Brittenum is the key man for Arkansas.

Both sat out the 1964 season, which makes a comparison of their career records indeed valid.

White's passing figures pale in comparison but his ability as a runner and the payoff of his passing rates him a standoff on comparison of career performance against common opponents.

In 15 games Brittenum has a total offense of 1893 yards to 1870 for White, little more than a yard difference per game. Brittenum has thrown 10 touchdowns and scored four, giving him a touchdown responsibility of 14. White matches that latter figure through five touchdowns on passes and nine scored on his own carries.

In the two times they opposed each other they broke even. Southern Methodist won in 1963, 14-7, with White scoring a touchdown and throwing for a two-point conversion. Brittenum's lone statistic was an incomplete pass.

Arkansas won the 1965 game 24-3 with Brittenum scoring one touchdown and passing for another as he had a total offense of 166 yards on 31 plays. White was limited to 78 yards on 29 plays.

Neither quarterback is impressed with the similarity of their deeds to date nor satisfied with anything short of the championship.

"It's like I told the boys, if we lose this one, forget it," says Brittenum. "We've had our second chance."

The second chance came when Baylor, lone conqueror of Arkansas, met three successive defeats.

As for his personal goal, White says, "I'm like everybody else here. We're just sick and tired of losing. We know we have to rise to the occasion against all of them."

Harold Wilder, who succeeds Nat Gleaton as basketball coach at Abilene High School, will build around six lettermen: 6-4 Don Roberts, 6-3 Tommy Davis, 6-2 Bryan Harper, 6-2 Billy Marshall, 6-0 Richard Mulvey and 6-0 Cary Leech.

The Eagles are the defending champions in District 2-AAAA.

Can anyone in Texas top the record 99-yard punt achieved by one Bill Cutchall, then of Tulsa Classen High, Oklahoma, back in 1937?

In one game that year (against Oklahoma City Capitol Hill), Cutchall booted the ball 13 times and averaged 61 yards a kick.

Prior to their game with Texas Tech the past weekend, Oklahoma State's punters had put the ball into the air 49 times, and only 14 had been returned. The average return on each of the runbacks was only 5.1 yards.

Julio Guerrero, who scored the final touchdown of last year's football game between Big Spring and San Angelo on a fake punt, spent the past summer playing professional baseball for Kennewick, Wash., of the Tri-State League under Duke Snider. He played in 62 games, hit .270.

Cassius Clay, now hard at work for his Nov. 14 championship fight in Houston with Cleveland Williams, charges $1 admission to each of his workouts.

He helps pay his expenses that way, since all the proceeds are divided up among his sparring partners.

Tech Frosh Put Unbeaten Record On Line Tonight

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's Picadors put their unbeaten record on the line against the fast-improving Texas Aggie freshmen in Midland at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Only common foe has been the Rice Owlets. Coach Bert Huffman's Picadors edged Rice 17-14 in the season opener, and the Aggie frosh of J. W. (Jake) Helms ran over Rice 31-3 last week.

Texas Tech has played only one other game, a 17-7 victory over Arkansas at Little Rock. The young Aggies dropped their opener to Texas Christian 35-12 and since have come along with a rush, knocking off Baylor 34-20 before taking the triumph over Rice.

In three previous games played with Texas A&M freshmen, Picador elevens are 1-2. Tech lost 6-0 at San Angelo in 1963, triumphed 23-17 at Midland in 1964, and lost 39-7 at Sweetwater last year.

Texas Tech, averaging 125.5 yards rushing and 137.5 passing, has a per-game total offense figure of 263 while limiting its two foes to an average of 185.5 yards.

Quarterback Randy Bowlin of Lubbock Monterey is the Picadors' total offense leader with finishes with University of Texas 259 yards—236 of it on 20 completions of 34 passes for two touchdowns. Halfback Jim Bennett of Amarillo Tascosa is the top rusher, with 91 on 18 carries for a 5.0 average, and the leading receiver, with six catches for 96 yards and a pair of scores.

Offensively, the Picadors will probably start ends Charlie Evans, 216, Lubbock, and Gary Vaughn, 185, Houston Lamar; tackles Clay Brumley, 230, Dallas Kimball, and Walter Yarbrough, 230, San Antonio MacArthur; guards Ronny Voltz, 190, Texarkana, and Rick Marcum, 205, Roswell, N. M.; center Mike Holladay, 205, Hobbs, N. M.; quarterback Bowlin, 160, halves Bennett, 190, and Kevin Ormes, 175, Dallas Highlands, and fullback Tony Butler, 210, Coahoma.

On defense, the Picadors will begin with ends Evans and Brusse Bevers, 200, Odessa; tackles Holladay and David Fisher, 230, Dallas Adamson; guards Yarbrough and Brumley; linebackers Carroll Sullivan, 201, Crockett, and Dennis Lane, 215, Brady.

Texas Tech concludes its season against North Texas State at Denton Nov. 17. Texas A&M finishes with University of Texas at College Station Nov. 19.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

If Texas Western College's Bobby Dobbs parts company with the El Paso school after this season, he probably won't be returning to the U.S. Military Academy.

Army has notified acting mentor Tom Cahill it will retain him for at least another season. The news will likely break shortly before the Nov. 26 game with Navy.

Cahill has already assured the Army brass of a 500 season.

In event you've lost track of Lee Grosscup, the much-traveled football quarterback who could never bring it off in the pro leagues, he's now a color announcer on TV for the Oakland Raiders.

Between them, Billy Dale of the Odessa Permian football team and Mark Clapham of Odessa High have gained over 1,000 yards this season running at the opposition with the football.

The Big Spring Steers fenced with Dale last week and now must worry about Clapham Friday night. Clapham wasn't available when the Steers crushed Odessa last year, due to illness.

One National Football League player in every four is a Negro.

Tonto Coleman, commissioner of the far-flung Southeastern Conference (who has two brothers here), said recently he thinks the best football coach in the country is probably somewhere in the high school ranks.

Tonto said he was against any movement by the pros to televise any of their games on a Friday night.

Knudson Sets Course Mark

TOKYO (AP) — Effervescent George Knudson of Canada smashed the Yomiuri course record with a sensational 64 today as he led his team into first place in the opening round of the four-day 14th annual Canada Cup competition, golf's biggest international show.

Knudson's 34-30 was eight strokes under par for the hilly, 6,962-yard course, and one better than the links mark set by the home pro, big Hideyo Sugimoto of Japan.

Close on Knudson's heels for individual honors came Sugimoto, Arnold Palmer of the United States and Kel Nagle of Australia, all with 66s.

Knudson's 64, with the 70 of his teammate, Frank Fowler, put Canada ahead, appropriately enough, in the Canada Cup with a low score of 134, followed by the United States, Japan, Australia and Taiwan, all at 135.

Jack Nicklaus, who had trouble on three holes, contributed a 69 to go with Palmer's 68.

Thirty-six teams are competing from as many nations and regions.

The defending champions, Gary Player and Harold Henning of South Africa, stayed in contention by each shooting 69s.

Close behind the leaders came Lu Liang-huan of Taiwan, Roberto Bernardini of Italy and Ben Berna of the Philippines with 67s.

Knudson's 64 was the lowest round ever in the Canada Cup. The previous mark was 65.

The American golfers are favored to win both individual and team honors.

Knudson was overjoyed by his performance.

"My putting was very good, and I believe this was the best round of my life, especially that 30 on the back nine," he said.

STANTON — The Stanton High School girls defeated Iraan in both ends of a basketball doubleheader in Iraan Tuesday.

The A team prevailed, 48-19, after the B team had won, 31-16. In a team action, Kay Harrell scored 28 points for the Buffs. Dixie Garland paced Iraan with 14.

In the B team encounter, Doris Howard had ten points for Stanton.

The bidding:

 Pass 1 ♠ 1 ♠ Pass

 Pass Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♠
 North's holding today does not quite measure up to the requirements for an opening bid, inasmuch as he has only 12 high card points with even distribution and no satisfactory rebid.

After East opened with one club and South overcalled with one spade, North desired to take some strong action to compensate for the impression created by his original pass. He, therefore, jumped to three spades which is not forcing but invites partner to carry on, if he has any additional values. South had ample in reserve and proceeded to four spades.

West opened the seven of clubs, East put up the queen and continued with the king and ace. South ruffed in with the jack of spades on the third round to avert an over-ruff and West discarded a heart.

Declarer drew the trump with three pulls as East parted with a club. South was now at the crucial stage of the deal, for his contract hinges on how he plays the diamonds.

The customary procedure is to cash the ace and king for, if the queen is doubleton, declarer can run the entire suit. Even if the queen doesn't drop, however, South can still win four tricks — provided that the diamonds are divided three-two as is the normal expectation.

Declarer decided to forgo the luxury of trying for an overtrick in the interests of playing safe for his contract. He observed that, if the diamonds were four-one, a precautionary approach would be essential, and he exerted his efforts in that direction.

A small diamond was played to the ace and then South led the three from his hand. West put up the queen to prevent dummy from winning the trick with the jack. A heart was returned and North played the ace. The jack of diamonds was cashed, South ruffed himself in with a heart and pulled the last diamond with the king. Declarer's nine of diamonds scored his 10th trick.

If South had cashed the ace and king of diamonds first, it would have established two tricks in the suit for West.

CBS Plays Trick On Small Fry

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS played a dirty trick on television's small fry viewers Wednesday night. It broadcast Red Skelton's special "Clown Alley" in its 10 p.m. spot—and on a school night, too.

If ever there was a show that the very young ones could enjoy and understand, it was this hour of traditional broad humor. It was short on dialogue but abounded in sight gags, explosions, water fights and a lot of running around and falling down.

Skelton, in his Freddie the Freeloader character, was head man. He was assisted by performers like Martha Raye, Audrey Meadows, Jackie Coogan and Vincent Price, all of whom appeared throughout completely concealed under heavy clown makeup and costumes.

"SKIN DIVING"
 Many of the bits were as old as vaudeville—a dentist chair scene concluding with the extraction of an enormous tooth, a sequence built around a near-sighted sharp shooter, and a bunch of short scenes like a clown in scuba gear being asked what he had been doing.

"Skin diving," he said, pulling something resembling skin from a basket. In addition there was an animal act starring a little plaid elephant named Sabu and a comedy wire walking act by Tony Fossett.

While the show was a gay treat for older people, it should have been seen at an earlier hour since kids enjoy slapstick more than any other kind of humor.

NBC, as anticipated, will drop "The Roger Miller Show" from its Monday-night schedule early in January. It will be replaced by a new comedy series called "Captain Nice."

"MR. TERRIFIC"
 The pending demise of the variety show, caused primarily by competition by two top-rated programs, "The Lucy Show" and "Rat Patrol," has been expected for weeks. Its replacement, while rumored, is a bit of a surprise. The series is still another in a long series of spoofs which, quite frankly, have not done well this season.

"Get Smart's" success last season kicked off this trend. That comedy series is still doing well, but "Batman" has dropped off in the ratings. "The Hero" and "Run, Buddy, Run," two new series in the spoof category, have received cancellation notices.

CBS will also add a comedy series built around the same general idea in the half-hour preceding "Captain Nice" on Monday nights. That will be "Mr. Terrific," another average citizen who turns superhero from time to time. By a marvelous coincidence, both shows will make their debuts on Jan. 9.

Thief Takes Baby On Short Journey

LONDON (AP) — A thief stole Suzanne Cope's car Wednesday night without realizing that her month-old baby was asleep in a crib behind the driver's seat.

Three hours later, after hundreds of police had been alerted and alarms sounded on television, the car was found abandoned six miles away. Baby Bartholomew was gurgling happily in his sleep.

Optimists Honor Club

Doyle Tapp, lieutenant governor of Zone J Optimist International, visited the Big Spring Optimist Club at its Wednesday morning meeting in Coker's Restaurant. He presented to Van Perry, last year's president, the honor club award for filling all of the required goals of Optimist International in the year 65-66. Only a few clubs in this area of the United States were so honored. He also presented the individual members with honor club shields to attach to membership pins. It was announced that Jess Looney will be placed on the board of directors to replace Louis Jones, who was transferred to Franklin, La. Both Big Spring Optimist clubs have decided to go together and operate one Christmas tree lot between them to better serve the people of Big Spring and produce more net revenue for their various boys activities. Sidney Clark, program chairman for the week, presented Jimmy Morehead who showed slides of his recent trip through the New England states.

KS's Sponsoring Harvest Dance

The Knights of Columbus will hold their annual Harvest Dance Saturday from 9 p.m. 'til 1 a.m. in the Settles Hotel ballroom.

Music will be furnished by the Squires, and there will be refreshments available. Tickets, available at the door, are $1.50 per person. There will be a special prize during the evening. The public is invited to share in the fun.

Man-To-Man Meeting

Rev. Carroll Brown, director of lay training at First Methodist Church in Dallas, has a man-to-man chat with a group of boys at a recreation center in a low-income area of the city. Rev. TEXAN IN PROFILE Money, Music, Methodism

DALLAS (AP) — "Money," says Eugene McElvaney, "is the most overrated asset in the world and the least valuable of all man's possessions." Although he has his directorial hand in some 40 business enterprises, including securities, insurance, bank and oil firms, McElvaney doesn't consider the accumulation of money to be his main activity or interest.

A trim, gray-haired man at 68 who wears custom-made shirts and sports a small, neat moustache, he has a passion for music and the Methodist Church.

"This house," he said of his North Dallas home, "was built around the pipe organ." DOESN'T READ MUSIC McElvaney doesn't read music but that does not keep him away from the keys. His complex of organ pipes, controls and accessories takes up fully one-fourth of the space in his 6,000-square-foot residence. "He rocks," comments Phil Baker, organist at the Highland Park Methodist Church.

A civic leader and patron of the arts, McElvaney does things on a majestic scale. He has been a member of the board of trustees of Southern Methodist University since 1929, and board chairman the past six years. Millions of dollars have come to SMU through his efforts.

"LABOR OF LOVE" For 30 years, McElvaney was in charge of oil loans for the First National Bank. It was a pioneering effort which resulted in a financial coup, the then novel idea of accepting oil potential (crude still underground) as collateral. He has remained philosophical about his material success, and uses his position and money to help Dallas and Methodism, especially SMU, "a labor of love to create a university of excellence."

LEADERSHIP He also is chairman of the board of the multi-million-dollar affairs of the Methodist Publishing House.

"He exemplifies the best of lay leadership in higher education in this region," said SMU President Willis Tate. McElvaney began contributing to SMU at the age of 12. Then a member of the Waples Memorial Methodist Church at Denison, he gave $25 to a fund set up to establish SMU.

Now an active member with Mr. McElvaney of the Highland Park Methodist Church, he takes delight in pointing out that the Rev. William K. McElvaney, 38, the younger of his two children, gave up a successful business career to enter the ministry.

THREE MILES DAILY The Rev. Mr. McElvaney is pastor of the St. Stephen Methodist Church at suburban Mesquite. McElvaney points out that his successful though diverse ventures all were undertaken in conjunction with an abiding religious faith, of which he says:

"It can be possessed by the high and the lowly, by millionaire or pauper. From its possession inevitably flows to the inner self an infinite and ceaseless power that gives positive direction and meaningful purpose to every act of daily living."

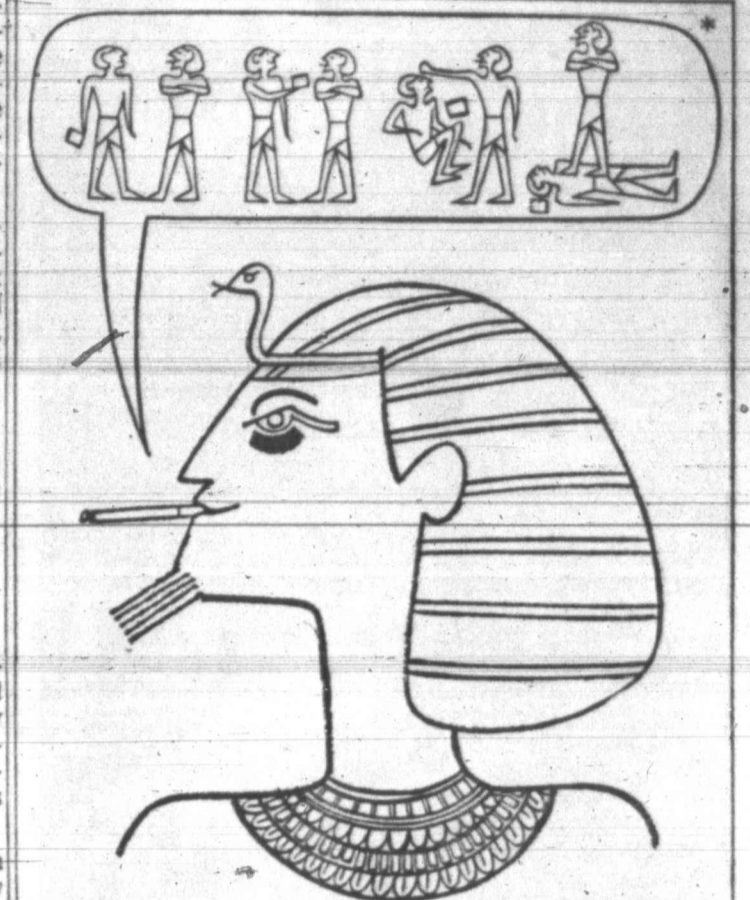

McElvaney is a sprightly, colorful man for his age. He attributes his good health in part to the fact that he has walked three miles a day, every day, rain or shine, for the past 31 years. That's 33,945 miles.

Sues For Damages Result Of Fight

A fight between two men is the basis for a damage suit for $30,352 filed on Wednesday in 118th District Court.

Plaintiff in the case is John Day, and the defendant is T. Willard Neel. Day alleges that he was assaulted by Neel last Aug. 23 and as a result, was forced to enter a hospital for treatment. He lost a week's wages of $100, he alleges, paid out $252 for hospital bills, and was in the hospital from Aug. 23 through Aug. 27. He asks that Neel be forced to repay him the $352 plus $30,000 exemplary damages.

Tiny Republic Crisis Is Over

SAN MARINO (AP) — After a 100-day crisis, the tiny republic of San Marino today got back the same coalition government it has had since 1957.

The alliance of Christian Democrats and Democratic Socialists broke up Aug. 2 after the Socialists joined the Communists and passed a bill abolishing absentee balloting for the nearly 2,000 San Marinese living abroad.

After discussing all sorts of possibilities, the Christian Democrats and Democratic Socialists decided remarriage was the only workable solution. The Communists stormed out of Parliament.

San Marino, the world's oldest and smallest republic, has 17,000 residents and an area of 38 square miles on top of a mountain surrounded by northern Italy.

600,000 Red Guards Rally

TOKYO (AP) — Between 600,000 and a million Red Guards from outlying districts of Communist China rallied in Peking today, Japanese newsmen reported from the Red Chinese capital.

It was the sixth rally held by the militant young supporters of Mao Tse-tung's purge.

The Japanese reports said the Red Guards rode in several thousand trucks and passed a reviewing stand on which were standing Mao; his heir apparent, Marshal Lin Biao; Premier Chou En-lai; President Liu Shao-chi; the party secretary-general, Teng Hsiao Ping, and others.

OPTIMATION SPEED READING COMES TO BIG SPRING

Optimation, the most advanced method known for teaching speed reading, will hold classes in Big Spring.

OPTIMATION EXTENDS its usual invitation to everyone — High School & Jr. High students, teachers, business and professional people.

"Horse and Buggy reading methods are no longer sufficient to keep pace with today's increased reading requirements," says Dr. Cecil Mullins, inventor of Optimation.

The world is moving ahead of every field of endeavor at jet speed in a jet age. Today's industry could not survive by using the same methods used decades ago. It just does not make sense to use antiquated reading methods.

Dr. Mullins, renowned Educational Psychologist, says that the faster you read, the more you comprehend. "Fifteen years ago," he continued, "I became intrigued with the tremendous possibilities of the human mind. I found that by teaching students to read with greater speed and concentration, I was able to make them read books in as little as fifteen minutes with better comprehension than they would ever have been able to in 8 to 10 hours. It didn't matter whether the books were fictional history, or of a technical nature. A doctor, a lawyer, legal matter, etc. at unprecedented and often unbelievable speeds."

Dr. Mullins' methods were so successful that he created the Optimation Speed Reading Course. Taught in 12 two-hour sessions, Optimation Guarantees the student will read at least 1,000 words a minute or a book in an hour or less with good comprehension.

"One of the secrets of our success," said Dr. Mullins, "is that we are firmly committed to the principles that learning proceeds best, only when the students are enjoying themselves. In our classes most of the students have a ball from beginning to end—and along the way, they become the best readers anywhere."

The accomplishments of some of Optimation's previous students sound like something out of science fiction. One 13-year-old lad reads books for his public school assignments in 6 to 10 minutes. The grades have jumped from barely passing to straight A's and B's after taking the course.

Another ex-student, a 35-year-old public school teacher, has made less than average grades in city work. He went back for graduate studies after developing, thru Optimation, the ability to read an average non-fiction book in 10 to 15 minutes. His first semester at Texas University he was awarded straight A's and a chance for a scholarship.

These are just two of many reports from teachers, doctors, lawyers and other business and professional men who find that each day has progressively more reading to be done and fewer minutes to do it.

"I know the results sound incredible," Dr. Mullins said. "But we have a standing offer for anyone who is undecided to come to our first meeting free of any obligation, to see for himself what the course will be like. And our guarantee is absolutely firm."

Growing Economy In 1967 Predicted

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Whenever he visits the East Coast, where bankers are big and their ideas are powerful, Rudolph Peterson is an honored guest. For Peterson represents the biggest bank of them all.

Peterson is president of the Bank of America, which has main offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles, 891 other offices throughout California; 34 overseas branches, and investments in almost every nation of the world.

When the bank's officers speak there are consequences. Not merely because of its size, but because of its tradition.

Oversimplified, Bank of America began with a concept and proved it.

POOREST WORKERS
Back in 1904 a first-generation American, A. P. Giannini formed the Bank of Italy and set about lending money to some of the poorest workers who, he felt, were among the safest risks.

As Peterson related in an interview, the bank took chances with the worker that had seldom been taken before. When dealing with blue-collar people, serious consideration and great delay were banking traditions. The largest banks on the East Coast generally have had a different tradition. Even some most readily identified with consumer rather than business lending began with big money and worked down to the small change.

PROVES POINT
Having proved a point, what does the Bank of America look for in the immediate economic future? Peterson was asked this as he relaxed at a desert resort where he met with Japanese businessmen to discuss trans-Pacific trade.

"There is no reason not to expect, in absolute terms, a consistent economic growth," he replied. "The economy is moving up steadily and it should continue."

be soft spots. "A bit in textiles, in housing of course, and to some extent in the automotive industry," he said. But, he continued, the economy will remain strong.

The worst blight at the moment is indecision and uncertainty, he said. We are uncertain about the course of the war; we have many labor contracts coming up for renewal, we still have not decided for or against a tax increase.

BACK BURNER
As Peterson views it, the erratic course of prices in this year's stock market reflect this uncertainty. Uncertain stockholders reflect the businessman's indecision about committing funds while uncertain about the economy. But it may not be all that bleak.

"When you sit down with the businessman, however, you get the feeling next year will be a good year," he said. "There will be some restraint about spending, but spending for improvement can be remedial, too, in lowering costs."

The end of the war in Viet Nam would be bullish, he feels. "We might have some pockets of temporary recession and unemployment, but it will be minimal."

The reason, as Peterson states it, is that the nation has so much work on the back burner.

In summary: Some soft spots, some dangers, more restraint than this year—but essentially a strong, growing economy in 1967.

Pistol Shots Quiz Closed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Clark County sheriff's office has closed its investigation of comedian Jackie Mason's report that someone tried to kill him by firing three pistol shots into the bed in his hotel room.

Accounts of witnesses were contradictory, a spokesman said Wednesday, and no basis was found for Mason's allegation that someone tried to kill him last weekend.

DEAR ABBY

Declare It Ladies Choice

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I were dating, we went dancing at least twice a week. After eight years and two children, we don't dance much, but when we do, my husband will dance one dance with me and spend the rest of the evening dancing with someone else's wife. Their husbands sit, so I sit, too.

I love to dance and people say I am a very good dancer, but it's getting so that I dread the thought of going where I know there will be dancing. I went to bed last night asking for God's help, and finally crying into my pillow. I couldn't sleep, so I am writing to you. What should I do?

WALLFLOWER

DEAR WALLFLOWER: Don't not be a shrinking violet! The wife who holds back the tears while her husband twists the knife is asking for abuse. Tell your husband that an occasional dance with another while you sit is all right, but if he makes it an all evening practice, you'll declare it "ladies' choice" and YOUR choice is HIM.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and need help. My dad is a long distance truck driver and my mom is going through the menopause cycle. Mom always wanted a Chihuahua dog, so dad stopped off at Fort Worth, Tex., and talked to a lady who ran an ad in the paper selling Chihuahuas.

He was going to surprise mom with a dog, but he said when he got there the lady said she didn't have any males, which is what dad wanted, but a Chihuahua named Tillie was going to have pups any time and she would save a male for him when they arrived.

Well, dad was out of town when a postcard came from this lady and it read, "Tillie had her babies. All females, no males."

Mom called up this lady in Fort Worth and cussed her out, and now she wants a divorce because she claims dad fathered triplets on one of his trips. No one can talk to her. I am ready to leave home. What can I do?

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Ask the lady in Fort Worth to send a picture of "Tillie's triplets."

DEAR ABBY: When my wife wakes up, the first thing she does before she even opens her eyes is light a cigarette. She coughs and hacks and talks about quitting "some day," but she never does. Abby, she is overweight and nervous and I get so upset thinking about what could happen to her I don't know which way to turn. We have small children to raise. I have offered her a reward of money, threatened to sleep on the couch and tried everything, but she still smokes. She claims she smokes only three packs a day, but I know it's closer to four! If you or any of your readers have any ideas on how to get her to quit, I would be ever so grateful. I am OUT OF IDEAS

DEAR OUT: If there is anything more hopeless than trying to help a person who refuses to help himself, I don't know what it is. Your wife is clearly "hooked" on the weed. If she ever "admits" she really wants to quit, ask her doctor to help her to help herself.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Jail Escapee Recaptured

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — An escaped prisoner who hid in a home here with a pair of hostages during a police search was recaptured Wednesday night.

The FBI said Bill Dalton, 34, of Boston, Mass., who broke out of the Bossier City jail Sunday, was seized by two agents who burst into a hotel room with pistols in hand. He was unarmed, lying on the bed and sipping a cold beer.

Marvin Hearn, 65, told officers that Dalton held him and his wife prisoners at their home from noon Sunday until late Tuesday night.

'DEATHLY AFRAID'

Hearn said Dalton arrived at the house with another escapee, John Peters, 23, of Jackson, Miss., a few hours after they got out of jail by posing as trustees.

"My husband and I were deathly afraid of Bill Dalton," said Mrs. Hearn, 47. "So was Peters. One time Peters went out into the yard, got down on his knees and prayed and cried, he was so frightened."

Hearn said he invited the two men in after they stopped at the house and asked permission to "wash up." Mrs. Hearn made coffee.

'WON'T GET HURT'

"At this point," said Hearn, "Dalton spotted my double-barreled shotgun, grabbed it and said, 'Just don't do anything and you won't get hurt.'"

The Hearn said Peters left Monday, saying he would get some money. He surrendered to federal officers in Jackson Tuesday.

Dalton forced the Hearn to drive him to a downtown Shreveport bar Tuesday night, officers said. Before leaving them, he warned them not to call police. They telephoned officers a few hours later and were put under protection.

Fora Looks At School System

The Spoudazio Fora Study Club took note of National Education Week Tuesday evening during a meeting in the Gold Room of Big Spring Country Club where three teachers were guest speakers.

Mrs. Helen Harris introduced Mrs. Roscoe Newell, principal at the Special Education School; Mrs. W. H. Hallmark, vocational office education teacher at Big Spring Senior High School; and Mrs. J. Z. Frey, music teacher at College Heights and Boydston elementary schools.

"All education is special and all pupils are exceptional," said Mrs. Newell. She explained, however, that teachers in all areas of Special Education are specially trained above that of the regular classroom teacher and that special equipment, supplies and materials are provided to aid in the development of the students in this program. In the local school, there are classes for those with speech problems such as stuttering, cleft palate, articulation, substitution and immaturity. Other classes are for mentally retarded, two units at the state hospital are for the emotionally disturbed. The re-

A LOVELIER YOU Can't Top White Kid For Glove Elegance

By MARY SUE MILLER

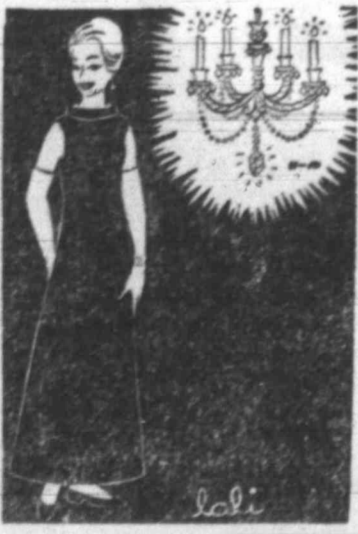

For evening elegance, the white glove kid glove is unsurpassed. Right up there with diamond necklaces and ermine coats!

For wear with sleek little dinner suits and dresses, white kid prevails in the shorter lengths. But in the opera-length goes hand in hand with respectance. And let that be a cue to wear it, splendidly.

The proper way is to smooth on the fingers and arm, so that the seams are die-straight and the buttons close without forcing. You then crush the kid, just a bit, over the wrist. Thereafter fold in the selvage at the top to a depth of about one-half inch. Crushing gives a graceful effect. The turn-in holds your gloves on your arm, and so provides a custom fit and finish.

If a jeweled ring bulges the leather, slide the stone under the finger. A ring must never be worn on the outside of a glove. Bulky bracelets, however, may be slipped on over gloves.

At one time, long gloves were not removed except for dining. They were never carried. In this less formal era, the rules are more relaxed on occasion. Gloves may be carried, but not Big Spring Herald, enclosing a note. They should be folded, large, self-addressed, stamped in half, palms together, and clashed lightly in the hand with their fingers hidden from view. Feminine wiles those, but not to be missed!

GOOD CARRIAGE

For a lovelier figure, walk with the grace that nature intended! To check or improve on your ability, send for "Clues to Good Carriage," my leaflet giving complete instructions on shoes, stockings and walking. They were never carried. In this less formal era, the rules are more relaxed on occasion. Gloves may be carried, but not Big Spring Herald, enclosing a note. Bonner Talks For Potpourri

"A counselor is where you have a one to one relationship in which the trained person aids the other individual to gain some insight within himself and gives him the best available information about himself." Thus, Wayne Bonner, counselor at Howard County Junior College, explained his position at Tuesday's meeting of the Potpourri Club in the home of Mrs. Pete Cook, 1606 Runnels. He was introduced by Mrs. D. E. Travis Jr. and received a gift from the club.

Bonner stressed the importance of counseling at various school levels, saying that the program is fairly new in Texas but was helped in 1958 by the federal government in being able to increase the number of people available to aid students. At the elementary level, he said it was most important that counselors work with parents, at the same time, giving the child a "listening post" that is not an authoritative figure. He stressed that a counselor should not be associated with disciplinary action. On the secondary level, he said social and placement adjustment is the prime concern and that modern young people are more sophisticated than a generation ago.

In conclusion, Bonner noted that force always brings a negative reaction which may show up in some other area. To get response from correction, he advised parents to be in control of their emotions and try the best thing, setting the example.

Mrs. Tippy Anderson Jr. presided as plans were made for a dinner for members' husbands on Nov. 26 at the Spanish Inn. Host couples will be Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie D. Jones. Following dinner, the group will meet at the Smith home for a social hour.

Rape Victim's Wish Granted

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A teenage girl who requested the death penalty for three accused rapists got her wish.

An all-male jury Wednesday night decreed the full penalty—death in the electric chair—for three youths charged with rape. The decision took four hours.

In earlier testimony, the Miami Beach girl told jurors: "They should be fully punished for what they did. I want them to die."

Sentenced to death were John F. Smalley, 19, Samuel Choice, 20, and Robert Gissendanner, 18, all of suburban West Hollywood.

The sentence was automatic as the jury did not recommend mercy.

The pretty, 18-year-old victim said the youths forced her into a car while she was walking down a street the night of Jan. 13. While she screamed and fought, she said, they drove her to an empty house and assaulted her.

ADDS DODGE LINE

McDonald Extends Line Of Service

Cecil D. McDonald figured he was building 10 years ahead when he opened his new building at 1607 E. 3rd in September of 1964. Today he is cutting that estimate by a few years in adding another line of motor cars—the Dodge line.

When he designed, built, and opened his modern new building, he could show customers a complete line of Ramblers and the Jeep. Now he has added the complete line of Dodge cars and trucks.

"Our new line fits in well with the Ramblers," he pointed out this morning. "They don't parallel and give our customers a wider range from which to choose, both in price and in styling and accessories."

AMPLE FACILITIES

"We have plenty of room for three full lines," he pointed out. His main plant contains 16,000 square feet, and he has 2,200 square feet more in auxiliary buildings. His showroom is one of the largest in the city—3,500 square feet—and will amply accommodate a score of cars.

The Ramblers and Dodges bracket the automotive field, from less than $2,000 to about $5,000. McDonald can suit the car to the customer's taste, in any price bracket, and in any model or styling.

The Dodge line of trucks covers 93 per cent of the market, and practically any truck need can be supplied from this full line of power wagons. The Jeep line covers the four-wheel drive market, to give the sportsman the vehicles that will serve all his needs.

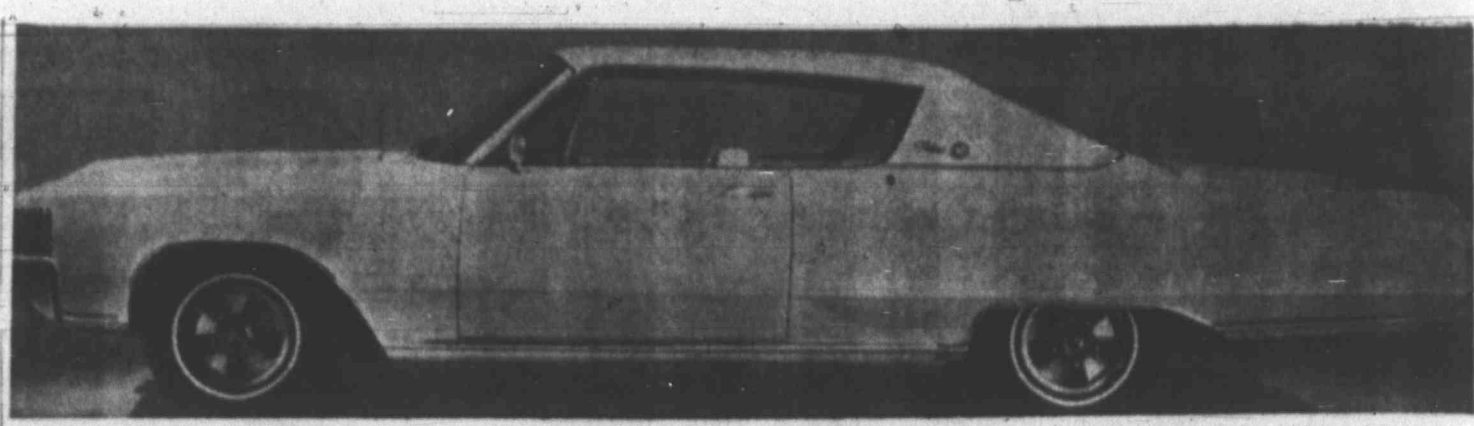

McDonald has been a member of the Downtown Lions and Optimists, served two terms on the Big Spring City Commission, and is on the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church.

He branched out full strength when he built his present building two years ago, taking the Jeep line into his stable. With the Dodge line now, he has one of the more complete offerings in the city today.

"We invite all residents to visit with us and see the new line, as well as the Ramblers and Jeeps," he said.

McDonald has been a Mason since he was 21-years old; was a member of the Downtown Lions and Optimists, served two terms on the Big Spring City Commission, and is on the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church.

In addition to his many other activities, he has been one of the city's larger building contractors. He launched four of the city's major subdivisions, and has built hundreds of houses in them. He has been in the building supply business as

POLARA 500 LEADS THE LINE Offered in nine models; this is 2-door hardtop

Dodge Aims For Bigger Share Of Auto Market

Dodge launched its 1967 line of cars with an eye toward making its 1966 best-seller an even bigger success in the new model year.

Target for the popular Coronet is still the ever-growing family car market, but 1967 holds some surprises for performance and sport car enthusiasts who have claimed the new, high-performance V-8 "440 Magnum." Basic body design on Coronet Deluxe, Coronet 440 and Coronet 500 lines is an evolution of last year's crisp, sculptured theme. Exterior changes include new grilles, and two distinctive rear deck trim and tail light treatments that give the Coronet a fresh, new look.

A top-of-the-line, Coronet 500 is again available as the premium model, complete with bucket seats, fixed center cushion with fold-down arm-rest or floor console and extra inside trim for the driving enthusiast who demands both "show and go" in his car.

Two-door hardtop and convertible versions have an additional body accent in a pair of stylized depressions stamped into the leading edge of the rear quarter panels.

Coronet Deluxe and 440 models carry the distinctively Dodge delta-shaped tail lamps, and the 440 has full-width trunk lid moldings. The 500 series, available in 2- and 4-door hardtops and convertibles, features special full-width trunk lid ornamentation along with extra-wide lower body side moldings and a distinctive grille.

Back again for '67 with exterior changes and extra-plush interiors is the Coronet 500 SE (Special Edition), a 4-door sedan that combines luxury and high style with the handling ease, low cost and economical performance that made it so popular since introduction last spring.

Parking, turn signal and back-up lights are set into front and rear bumpers, and additional safety items have been made standard for driver protection.

Chief among these are a new dual braking system and impact absorbing steering column and wheel. Brakes operate from a double master-cylinder through two independent hydraulic circuits so that if one fails the driver can still stop with the other.

Dodge's new impact absorbing steering column and wheel is designed to "telescope" at a controlled rate on impact. The column is also braced at the instrument panel to keep it from being pushed back toward the driver in a collision.

MORE WAGONS FOR '67 The Coronet station wagon line-up has been broadened to three series for '67. Deluxe and 440 series wagons have the same grille, front-end and side-body ornamentation as their 2-door, 4-door, hardtop, sedan and convertible counterparts; the newcomer, Coronet, has ornamentation and trim reduced for those who desire a full sized, economy station wagon.

Coronet convertibles will feature air-tempered, flexible glass backlights for a more serviceable, effective and durable window than the previously used plastic material.

Chrome-plated steel road wheels with exposed lug bolts are available as an added option on all Coronets.

Other trim options include simulated wood-grain steering wheels, 4-speed manual shift, tachometers for console-equipped models, rally suspension and front-seat headrests for models with bucket seats, and front-wheel disc brakes.

POWER-PLUS ECONOMY The widest range of engine options ever offered by Dodge on a moderate-priced car await the Coronet buyer.

He may choose the standard 225-cu. in. economy-tuned, 145-hp 6-cylinder; a 273-cu. in. V-8 rated at 180-hp with 2-bbl. and 235 with 4-bbl. carburetion; a 318-cu. in. V-8 at 230-hp; a redesigned 383-cu. in. that develops 270-hp with 2-bbl. and 325-hp with 4-bbl. carburetion; a street-tuned version of the famous Hemi-426 racing engine with 425-hp, and the brand-new "440 Magnum" powerplant at 375-hp.

Tennis-Shoe Minister Fears Riots

EDITOR'S NOTE: A young Methodist minister who has spent the past several years working directly with low-income Negroes in Dallas fears only drastic changes by the church and the city as a whole can avert intensified racial problems, including riots, in the larger Texas cities. He instructs volunteers to meet and help distressed Negroes on a "man-to-man" basis. Here is a report.

DALLAS (AP) — "Sure, the government has good intentions. But let's face it: The War on Poverty is barely touching the surface. And the Negroes know it, too."

As an alternative to the bureaucratic approach of the federal government, which by nature tends to be impersonal, the Rev. Carroll Brown of Dallas advocates a "man-to-man" approach to the institutionalized poverty which afflicts many Negroes.

"Social workers and other government officials who come into these neighborhoods wearing suits and ties just don't relate to the mass of Negroes."

"Many can't even speak their language. There's no communication," he said.

'BROTHER'S BROTHER'

The Rev. Mr. Brown, a 29-year-old graduate of Southern Methodist University, is director of lay training at the First Methodist Church of Dallas.

Until recently, he spent many of his working hours talking and eating—and on occasion shooting dice and having a beer—with man-on-the-street Negroes in West and South Dallas.

He's been cursed, threatened and shot at. But more often he's been accepted on the only basis he thinks is important: As a fellow human being.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" he asks.

"No, I'm my brother's brother."

The young minister recently began teaching classes of volunteers at his church in the ways of "reaching" the dispossessed of the American big city.

Some 138 have taken the course and been assigned various tasks in Negro neighborhoods. Assignments include staffing civic and Methodist social agencies and supervising sandlot sports.

LOTS EASIER

"I tell these volunteers to break out of their suits and ties and put on tennis shoes, like I do," he said. "It's a lot easier to relate that way."

He says his many informal conversations with average Negroes have convinced him that Negro sections in metropolitan areas such as Dallas, Houston and other Texas cities are perpetually on the "brink of riot."

"Many of our civic leaders," he says, "would have us believe that Negroes are a contented, happy people."

"But they're not. They're seething. They realize that they've been left out of the mainstream of American life, and are being kept at the bottom of the heap."

"They won't wait forever."

He said Negroes look upon civil rights progress gained in the past few years as merely "small concessions."

MORE JOBS

"They want more jobs and better schools, and they know that only the white community can give that to them."

The Rev. Mr. Brown said in an interview that it would take more than a government-run "war on poverty" to insure orderly progress for the Negro.

He said the problem should be attacked by "the community as a whole," with the church in the vanguard.

Otherwise, he believes, racial turmoil will intensify as it did this summer in Cleveland and Chicago.

Speaking of Negro leadership, he said he has found that the rank-and-file will follow militants such as Stokely Carmichael "if and when the chips are down."

'BETTER WAKE UP'

Carmichael is the leader of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and a leading advocate of "black power."

"Carmichael relates to these people" much more strongly than do other, more conservative Negro leaders, he said.

He said it is not uncommon to be sitting with a group of Negroes and have them start clapping and shouting. "There's our man," when Carmichael's pictures comes on the television screen.

A native of the Sherman area, the Rev. Mr. Brown has lived in Dallas 12 years. Most of the last 10 years has been spent working with Negroes at city recreation centers or church social agencies in Negro neighborhoods.

"It's incredible, but I still hear people say that it's the Negro's own problem, so let the Negro help himself."

"What kind of a Christian attitude is that?" asks the 6-foot-2, 195-pound minister.

"For moral, practical and self-interest reasons, this country had better wake up to the fact that it has a problem on its hands," he said.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Congress Too Slow To Act?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most of the weekly reports which many members of Congress send to constituents have folded with adjournment of the 89th Congress.

Texas congressmen, like others, were in a reflective mood in their final reports. This was true particularly with Rep. Walter Rogers, D. Pampa, who is retiring to practice law here.

"Congress is frequently criticized because, in the view of some, it is too slow to act," he wrote.

"There is nothing new about this kind of criticism; it has been heard throughout our history, through the administrations of both political parties."

"From time to time resolutions have been introduced in Congress to set deadlines for decisions on Presidential recommendations. In my view, it is well that all such proposals have been pigeon-holed."

"To assent to Presidential priorities in legislating would be to further intrude upon the independence and prerogatives of the legislative branch—the people's branch—and to threaten uncontrolled executive domination of Congress."

"When Congress is slow to act on legislation it is usually because there is no clear view as to how the people of the nation feel about the proposal."

Rep. Omar Burleson, D. of Anson, made this observation: "It is a common saying around the halls of Congress that the country would be better off if the last two weeks of any long session were eliminated. The reason is because there are all the things that 'must' be done before shop can be closed and members go home."

"Invariably there is confusion in all the haste, and only cursory study can be given to complicated legislation. The longer each congressional session lasts, the greater is the potential for doing mischief. This is especially true when the Congress is so subservient to the executive branch and largely controlled by it."

Rep. Eligio (Kika) de la Garza, D. of Mission, noted in his final report that 26,566 measures were introduced in the House and Senate in the two sessions of the 89th Congress, with less than 10 per cent becoming law.

"Work goes on," he continued. "The end of the session does not mean, of course, a halt in the work of your congressional office in Washington. The fact of the matter is that the major bills that come before Congress, while tremendously important, are the least time consuming of a Congressman's duties."

Six Persons Nabbed In Bogus Bill Raid

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Secret Service says almost $2 million in counterfeit $20 bills seized here were made within blocks of its office.

Agents said the "pretty fair" bills were made in the printing department of a business in downtown Atlanta.

Six persons were arrested and their baggage seized at the Atlanta airport Tuesday in what agents called the biggest bogus bill crackdown in the South.

Belgian Police Join Pay Strike

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Police joined Belgian municipal workers today in a 24-hour strike for better pay.

The Port of Ghent was paralyzed. Strikers in Antwerp threatened to cut off electricity to the port because some traffic was still in the sea locks.

Spokesmen for the three striking unions — Socialist, Catholic and Liberal — said 95 per cent of the municipal workers had joined the strike.

Wallace Just May Run For President

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — Gov. George Wallace says he may run for president to try to swing one of the major parties into a "more stable position."

After his wife, Lurleen's, victory in the Alabama governor's race, Wallace said Wednesday that if one of the national parties "doesn't give us a clear choice, then we'll be in that race."

Wallace said he has "no burning ambition" to be president, but he may decide to run to end the influence of those who "wave Viet Cong flags and riot in the streets."

"Anyone who raises money, clothes or blood for the Viet Cong is, in my opinion, guilty of treason," Wallace said. "I have more of an ambition to see that those things cease than I do to be president."

Mrs. Wallace claimed 63 per cent of the largest vote ever cast in a general election in Alabama, soundly defeating Republican Rep. James Martin, 512,970 to 251,320.

The blonde 40-year-old mother of four spoke briefly, expressing gratitude.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

White Rhodesians Celebrate Friday

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — "Good old Smithy has got us this far and won't fail us now."

This is a typical reaction of white Rhodesians as they prepare to celebrate Friday the first anniversary of their declaration of independence — an action which Britain regards as illegal.

They refer in admiring terms to Prime Minister Ian Smith, the World War II fighter-pilot whose course threatens to bring his regime into a head-on clash with the United Nations.

WON'T YIELD
Smith has shown no sign of yielding to Britain's "last chance" ultimatum that the country return to constitutional rule before it can gain an independence legal in London's terms. Prime Minister Harold Wilson has said that Britain's honor demands that any settlement must provide "gradual but certain" progress toward rule by the African majority.

Wilson's threat to take the Rhodesian problem to the United Nations unless Smith's regime backs down seems to have hardened Rhodesia's whites in their determination to retain white supremacy.

STUMBLING BLOCK
Main stumbling block in the year-long talks is Britain's insistence that legal independence must be based on the unimpeded progress of Rhodesia's blacks, and ultimate African majority rule. There are 217,000 whites, four million blacks.

Deputy Prime Minister John De Witt says: "Let no one have any doubts, we shall win through no matter what measures the British government applies against Rhodesia. Rhodesians never, never will be slaves to any force — Rhodesians never surrender."

A Devotional For The Day

Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour. (Psalm 8:5)
PRAYER: Heavenly Father, guide us by Thy love and forgiveness into Thy peace. In Jesus' holy name we pray, as He taught us: "Our Father who art in heaven. Amen."

Impressive Sweeps

Republicans staged almost as impressive a sweep in Tuesday's general elections as the Democrats had in their avalanche of 1964. The change of three seats in the U.S. Senate was about as expected by most observers, but the apparent net gain of 47 seats in the House of Representatives is impressive and sounds a warning for the administration during the next two years. Almost as impressive was the weighty margin by which the GOP picked up a net gain of seven governorships. Control of the statehouse won't hurt the Republicans any in future campaign plans, particularly when it is considered that some of these are major states.

Experts will spend the next several weeks, and even months, in analyzing the results, and one deduction may be as good as the next. Traditionally, the party in power loses in off (non-presidential) years. In light of unprecedented gains for the Democrats two years ago, most observers did not actually believe that the GOP would measure up to the median of 40 new seats. The Republicans not only did that; they substantially exceeded it. Clearly, there was a mood for change.

Research, Promotion

Two bits of news, widely separated, have somewhat in common. Rep. Bob Poage, chairman of the house agriculture committee, says that Congress is likely to take the referendum on the per bale assessment for cotton research and promotion as an index of interest. If farmers approve Congress probably will take this as a manifestation of interest and determination on the part of producers; if not, then this may be regarded as a sign to Congress to begin phasing out the cotton program.

Rep. Poage says he thinks that the cotton industry is worth saving and leaves the impression that he hopes the referendum will result in a strong affirmative vote. At the same time, he makes no fight for it, preferring to see what the feeling of those in the industry may be. He does believe that the best chance for recapturing some of the lost portion of the fabric market lies in vastly intensified research and in a hard-hitting promotional program.

The New And The Old

WASHINGTON — Last week we had a chance to see the "new Johnson" and the "old Nixon" all within the period of a few days.

When I turned on my television set to see the President's press conference on Thursday morning, I thought I was going to see the old Johnson — relaxed, sure of himself and above politics. But suddenly in answer to a question about former Vice President Nixon, President Johnson called him a "chronic campaigner" and from there on out, verbally assaulted Nixon in a way that, according to newspapermen on the scene, even made Mrs. Johnson blush.

Billy Graham

As you know, there is a new freedom in America among our young people. With many, the old taboos are meaningless. Don't you believe that "purtanism" encourages immorality, and that, if restrictions are removed that our young people will find their own way?

S.A.O. Parental teaching and discipline are necessary to the development of youth. For example, a four-year-old, in his childish curiosity discovers the attractive noise and excitement of a superhighway, and wanders out on his own. His mother, concerned for his welfare, runs out to rescue him, spansk him, and gives him a lecture about the wrong of crossing the highway because of the harm it may do him. Thus, though the child may be tempted to go out on the highway again, he will feel guilty when he does, and will be inwardly restrained from such action.

Different Kind Of LBJ May Emerge

Bums Victims Of 'Momism'

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping readers now read from the back page to the front—so they can read the bad news last.

One of the big differences between men and women is that men have less fear of looking awkward. A right-handed man will try to pour water from a heavy pitcher held in his left hand, if the pitcher happens to be at his left; a woman rarely, if ever, attempts this.

Get The Gals To Take Hold

You have to hand it to the girls. I'm not sure they did a whole lot of good, but nonetheless, they took off their aprons, painted a few signs, and took the supermarkets to task.

Some of market people even gave lip service to lowering food prices, and perhaps there were some concrete results. But the point is, the girls went out and did something about high prices.

IMAGINE if you will, the other side of the family—the one who does most of the bellyaching, taking up the cudgel against anything. If they eliminate parking in front of his favorite pool hall, he parks farther away and growls and grumps the rest of the day.

If they raise the green fees at his favorite course, he grouches about the rascals at city hall, plunks down the higher fee, and shoots two over his handicap. And so it goes; he finds distavor in many areas, and he delivers the finest orations in protest, but did you ever see him take some concrete action?

THE GIRLS, of course, hear all this and smooth the ruffled feather. They probably have gripes too, but let most of them go by. But enough is enough, and many of them decided spiraling food costs were getting ridiculous. Action was needed—I dare say, it still is—and they provided the marching and vocal protest.

Think what a much better world it would be if we could get the girls interested in some other areas of public interest. With that kind of action, we might even get Scurry Street made passable again, as well as other civic nuisances.

WHO KNOWS, perhaps the girls could get some action on getting the flats area of the North Side cleared and made safe again. There might be a chance of getting more streets paved, if this vast reservoir of strength were tapped, and the list might be lengthened without end.

Perhaps success in one area will encourage them to apply their new muscles in other areas. To some extent, the rest of us have almost thrown in the towel. Maybe they can renew the battle and win new laurels for those of us who sit quietly on the balustrade.

The Agony Of Knowing Too Much

WASHINGTON — Life in the Space Age is going to be mighty uncomfortable. Not physically rugged or deprived, but mentally painful and psychologically disturbing. The American Academy of Arts and Sciences has stated and copyrighted these anticipations in a book called Social Indicators.

It could have been subtitled, "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off." The Space Age scientists aren't going to let us live and learn, but are going to make us think things out—and that's why it will hurt and agitate.

IN SIMPLER days we invented the automobile and thought we were merely going places more conveniently. But the motor car, says Raymond A. Bauer of the Harvard Business School, who edits the book, "changed our leisure life and (allegedly) our sexual mores and practices; spawned suburban living; changed the patterns of home ownership and retail distribution; introduced the use of roadbuilding as a source of patronage; decimated the railroads; and introduced a new holiday pastime of counting death tolls."

IF THE four-wheeler could do so much, what may space communications and travel bring to pass? The social scientists, with cybernetics, feedbacks and merciless cogitation, are determined we should know pretty well in advance where the next set of inventions and innovations will take us. The accent is on anticipation.

BUT HOW we're going to squirm under the thumbscrews of this computerized inquisition! I mean all of us—the politician, the press, the public. For example, as the Space Age truth-beams become effective, a President won't be able to get up and ask for War on Poverty funds on the sole grounds that crime is bred by slums and deprivation. Before his words reach print, somebody will have found a social indicator which shows that prosperity, not poverty, is the chief reason behind many crime statistics. If we didn't have so many valuable possessions, like automobiles, jewels and portable typewriters, there would be less temptation to steal and a much lower level of financial loss.

POLITICIANS, the press and the public would often rather believe the worst than the best, would rather not know that their prosperity is dangerous, and that their once-firm beliefs have become as shaky as a loose tooth. But the space scientists won't let us get away with this sort of thing much longer. With all that investment in space, and with the pressures and demands that the new age is sure to bring upon us, we had better know in advance which way the cat's going to jump and why.

THE ULTIMATE goal of the social scientists would be a perfectly planned society, with a minimum of surprises and miscalculations. Americans aren't going to like it much. We will resent being told what we don't want to hear about the coming consequences. We'd have felt the same way if motor-makers had been wise enough to anticipate some of the side-effects. But we might have been a better people for knowing what to expect.

And Now To Some Pressing Matters

WASHINGTON — Rarely has there been such a deep-seated feeling of relief in the country that a congressional-election campaign has come to an end.

For there are many important questions on which decisions have been purposely put aside. Now at last some action will have to be taken, and the nation will be able to get a clearer idea of what lies ahead not only on the domestic but on the international scene.

IT WILL be possible presently to find out whether the announcement by the secretary of defense that a reduced draft call is planned was made as a pre-election reassurance to anxious parents or whether some new turn in the Viet Nam War may be expected which will bring the adversaries to the peace table.

Most urgent of all are the decisions that have to be made on economic policies. The nation has been riding on the crest of a boom. This usually helps the party in power to keep the opposition vote at low levels, but growing anxiety that the climax—perhaps a recession—may not be far away hasn't been removed.

IN BOTH political camps it was taken for granted that some reduction in Democratic strength would be recorded. A stronger check on the executive was generally conceded because a diminution of the administration's majority was anticipated. The opportunities for a bipartisan coalition of dissenters on specific pieces of legislation are increased when a majority is cut down. This has a considerable effect on the legislative side.

SOMEWHAT the same reasoning can be applied to the "civil rights" issue. Whatever may be the way to measure the so-called "backlash," the chances are that there will not be in the next two years the same support for legislation covering "open housing" or for "guidelines" in desegregating schools and hospitals as was available in 1964 and 1965. The turning point politically has come, and the tendency hereafter will be to draw up more carefully any measures dealing with what now has proved to be not merely a sectional issue.

EVERY election campaign is, however, directly related to the economic well-being of the people. On the whole, conditions have been favorable politically for the Democratic party because the unemployment figures have gone down. The cost of living has been a thorn in the side of the administration, but, with wage rates higher than they have ever been in American history, the pain of inflation has not yet been felt as severely as it may be in the next two years.

While unfavorable developments in the economy are the subject of growing fears, it is possible there will be a turn for the better on the international front. If the administration manages to wiggle out of the Viet Nam War without loss of prestige—as could happen if the United Nations, for instance, took over the whole problem—the political barometer measuring Mr. Johnson's potential strength for 1968 would certainly go upward.

IT IS NOT easy to predict presidential policies over a two-year period in either the domestic or foreign fields, as often factors beyond the control of the incumbent administration suddenly alter the whole picture. But, now that the 1966 election is over, the President can concentrate on the fiscal situation and on the best ways to halt further inflation. A tax increase of a moderate nature has been planned but, with tax revenues showing such substantial increases based on present rates, it may be that the President will find it more advisable to cut down some of the government's own spending.

AFTER the election returns have been fully appraised and each side has issued its statements giving their respective interpretations of the results in various contests, the next two months before Congress reconvenes will be a period of deep deliberation. Plans are in preparation to try to keep the economy from getting far off balance while preserving the kind of "prosperity" which politically makes votes at the polls.

To Blink Or Not This Is Question

HONG KONG (AP)—Hong Kong's famed nightclubs may soon begin blinking if the Legislative Council approves next month a bill to permit occulting neon signs.

The bill has divided public opinion. Some residents believe blinking signs will distract drivers and cause accidents.

What Hath James Bond Wrought?

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What hath James Bond wrought? The return of the series movie, for one thing.

Two and three decades ago, every studio had its series — films with the same characters that could be counted on to bolster the annual product. The most successful was MGM's Hardy family.

The series began in 1937 with "You're Only Young Once," which proved so popular that a sequel was ordered. The Hardy films made millions and helped develop such new stars as Lana Turner, Judy Garland, Donna Reed and Esther Williams. The series ended after the war when twice-married Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy seemed too mature to be getting fatherly advice from the old judge, Lewis Stone.

007 SUCCESSFUL

Series films disappeared from the movie scene in the wake of television. The studios reasoned that audiences saw enough continuing characters on the home screen. But the intrepid 007 changed all that.

The Bond pictures have proved fantastically successful. According to Variety, domestic rental fees to United Artists have risen successively: "Dr. No," $4,655,000; "From Russia With Love," $5,400,000; "Goldfinger," $19,700,000. The returns from "Thunderball" are estimated at $25 million from this country; an equal amount is expected from overseas.

'IN LIKE FLINT'

Naturally other studios sought to cash in on the Bondmania. Fox unleashed James Coburn as "Our Man Flint," and the results were amazing: an estimated $14 to $15 million worldwide gross. "In Like Flint" has now been filmed, and another Flint flick is in the works.

Columbia cast Dean Martin as Matt Helm in "The Silencers" and Martin happily reports a $9 million gross. He recently completed another Helm epic, "Murderer's Row," and a half-dozen more are planned.

Universal has brought back Bulldog Drummond with some modern touches in "Deadlier Than the Male." The movie stars Richard Johnson and may spark a series.

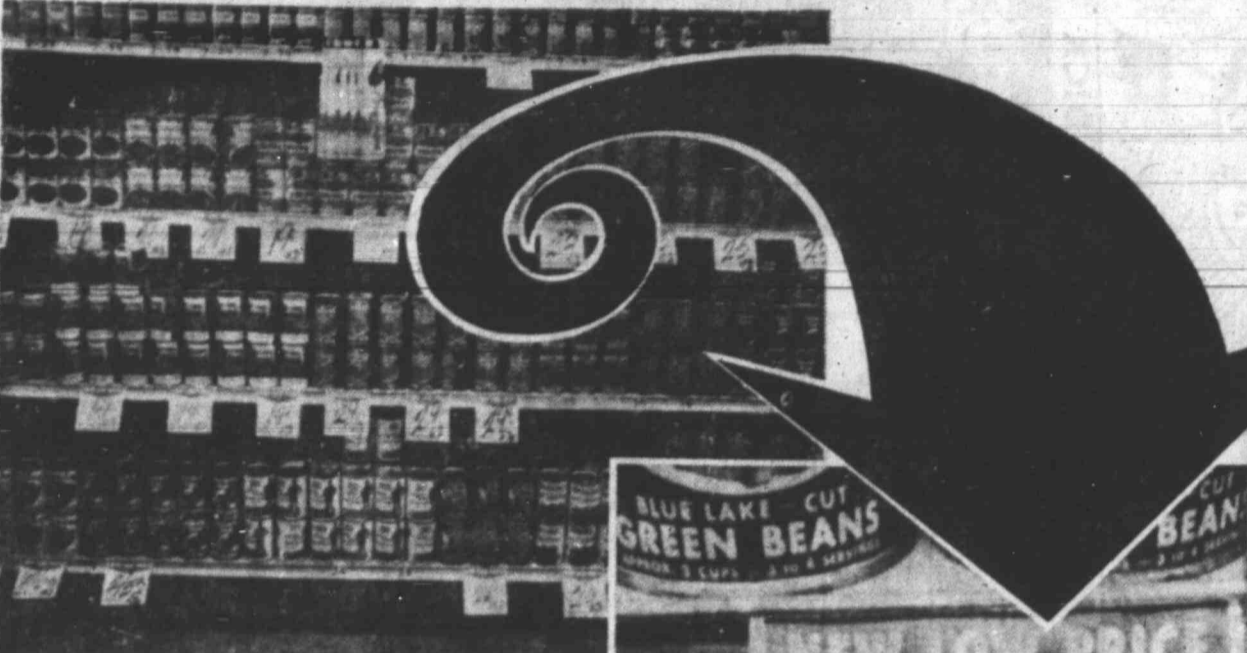

Most of the new series produce only a film a year. It was different in the old days. The most prolific studio of all was Monogram, which poured forth endless numbers of Bowery Boys, Joe Palooka, Maggie and Jiggs and other series.

MEXICAN SPITFIRE

Fox countered MGM's hit series with the Jones family, but the Joneses couldn't keep up with the Hardys. Also from the Fox stable: Charlie Chan, Cisco Kid, Mr. Belvedere. MGM had its Tarzans and pre-television Lassie, Thin Man and Dr. Kildare. RKO had its Mexican Spitfire, Scattergood Baines and the Saint.

Columbia had a whole stable of detectives, including the Crime Doctor, Lone Wolf and Boston Blackie, as well as the highly successful Blondie series. Universal struck it rich with Ma and Pa Kettle, Francis the Talking Mule, the Frankenstein-Dracula-Mummy horror film, Sherlock Holmes, etc. Paramount had the Hope-Crosby-Lamour roads and Hopalong Cassidy, and Warners strung along with Torchy Blane and Philo Vance.

Painting LBJ's Car Costs Duo

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Two brothers were fined a total of $761 today for throwing paint over President Johnson's car during his ride through Melbourne, Oct. 21.
 John N. Langley, 21, a sales representative, and his brother David, 18, a student, had spent 14 days in jail before Magistrate E. J. Danaher passed sentence. Danaher said he was satisfied that the incident during Johnson's motorcade here stemmed from the brothers' views on the Viet Nam war and that there was no organization behind it.

New Ideas Go With Sausages

Is a heavy fall schedule playing havoc with your menus?

Cooked sausages can be the answer to simplifying meal-time preparation and providing some intriguing new menu ideas.

Sausage links are great for main dishes. They can be broiled, boiled, baked, fried or grilled. Or you can slice them for sandwiches, appetizers or snacks. Try dicing them for salads, casseroles and hors d'oeuvres. Use them to add an extra sparkle to scrambled eggs, baked beans, scalloped potatoes or creamed corn.

These sausages are 100 per cent edible. And they can be readied at a moment's notice—perfect for serving unexpected guests.

If the label on the sausage carries the mark of federal meat inspection, you are assured that the sausage you buy is wholesome, safe to eat and truthfully labeled. Even the formulas for the combination of meats and spices used in federally inspected sausage must be approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture before they can be used.

Such advance approval assures you that you can expect the same basic type of sausage when buying those with similar names but of different brands.

Most seasoning formulas are built around salt and pepper, while a list of others might include allspice, cinnamon, caraway seeds, cardamon, celery seeds, cloves, coriander, cumin, ginger, marjoram, mustard seed, nutmeg, paprika, sage and thyme. Condiments such as onion, garlic, lemon juice, pistachio nuts and aged wine are common, too.

Not all sausages are federally inspected, so look for your symbol of protection provided by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Meat Should Be Cooked Slowly

Roasts and steaks are much better tasting if they're cooked by slow, rather than fast, heat penetration. Fast cooking will often char the outside of the meat while the inside remains underdone. Then, if you should want to cook the roast or steak to the proper degree of doneness, the outside will be too overcooked for palatability.

MRS. R. W. HUNTER

Condensed Soups Cut Kitchen Time In Half

By JO ANN PHINIZY

The world of cooking took a turn for the better when condensed soups came on the market. Such is the opinion of Mrs. R. W. Hunter, 28 Albrook.

"On vegetables," she said, "they are better and quicker than a white sauce, and for gravy or seasoning to meats, they're first class life-savers."

The flavor, or kind, of soup used makes no real difference; matter of fact, the dry version has a status all its own.

Mrs. Hunter explained that the idea is bounded only by the cook's imagination and that the soup-diluting agent is usually the natural liquid from whatever it's being cooked with.

"You can take a can of cream of mushroom and add it to a can of string beans, plus a flash of red from chopped pimentos, and you have a brand new vegetable dish," she said.

"Or you can use mushroom soup as a sauce for asparagus, try putting it in a chicken and rice casserole. You can even use it as a roast seasoning and it turns itself into an excellent gravy."

MEAT BALLS
"Cream of tomato soup can be used for meat balls and spaghetti, or as a flavoring to pinto beans. It can be used in tomato aspect, or as a sauce for frankfurters."

Mrs. Hunter says that she is trying to figure out just what sort of soup can be used to flavor Thanksgiving turkey dressing.

For a change of atmosphere in roast cooking, Mrs. Hunter recommends sprinkling the meat with dry onion soup and a dash of wine.

"The roast's natural juices provides liquid for the soup, and, in the end, I have an unusual gravy for family meals or company dinners," she said.

Trying new cooking ways or different seasonings come naturally to Mrs. Hunter. Her grandfather taught her that real cooking comes from understanding flavors.

COOKING WAYS
"He loved cooking," she recalled. "He'd add a bit of this or that and the dish would turn out perfect to everyone but him. He would remember the taste, and the next time he cooked it, he would change the ingredients ever so slightly until he finally created his own recipe."

As a holdover from those days, Mrs. Hunter enjoys experimenting with her own cooking. She has a participating type audience in her family, Capt. Hunter; and children, Roger and Mary Lee.

"It's a good thing they are all soup eaters," Mrs. Hunter said, "or in this current phase, they would lose more weight than they wanted to."

Mrs. Hunter, who is corresponding secretary for the Officers Wives Club, believes that convenience foods should be allowed their due.

"They're time savers," she said. "And it's either use them, or make the days longer."

of mushroom and add it to a can of string beans, plus a flash of red from chopped pimentos, and you have a brand new vegetable dish," she said.

"Or you can use mushroom soup as a sauce for asparagus, try putting it in a chicken and rice casserole. You can even use it as a roast seasoning and it turns itself into an excellent gravy."

Keep Meat Cold For Freshness
When you return home from grocery shopping, remember to refrigerate meat purchases right away. If prepackaged, the meat can be stored in its original wrapper.

Otherwise the meat should be unwrapped and covered loosely to allow some circulation of air. Meat should always be placed in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Kitchen Honors Go To Meat Thermometers

A cook's best friend is her thermometer, say home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, especially when it comes to roasting pork.

Rich in protein, energy, and valuable vitamins, pork needs to be cooked thoroughly before it is served. Use moderate heat to retain the juices.

If you have a thermometer, this means a temperature of 185 degrees at the center of a pork roast, such as a loin, shoulder or fresh ham.

If you don't use a thermometer, then watch the clock and allow plenty of time.

Here's the guide suggested by USDA. For a 5-pound pork loin, allow about 4 hours at 325 degrees F.; for an 8-pound fresh shoulder, allow about 4 hours and for spare ribs about 2 hours.

When the scheduled cooking time has passed, make a small cut next to the bone and look at the color of the pork. If there is any pink showing, the meat needs more cooking. If the meat is done, it will look grayish white.

Pork is the only red meat tagged as plentiful this October by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. Increased marketings of hogs and lower prices promise the best bargain in pork eating in several years.

For a mouth-watering dish, serve spareribs with apple stuffing. How simple it is to prepare. Select two sections of spareribs about the same size. Place the apple stuffing between them and cook at 350 to 375 degrees F. for about an hour and a half.

Make the stuffing from five tart apples, sliced, a cup of soft bread crumbs, plus chopped celery, chopped onion and parsley. For that gourmet touch, sprinkle the stuffing with peanuts or pecans.

Cool Days Call For Bean Plate

What could be more appetizing on a cool fall day than a steaming plate of baked beans?

The delightful taste of beans is made to order for cool-weather eating. You'll find big supplies on hand now, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This year's bean production is expected to total 28 per cent more than last year and 11 per cent more than average. September rains and ideal temperatures throughout many of the bean-producing states improved production.

So it's a good time for bean eating. USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service lists dry beans as plentiful this month. Michigan pea beans are expected to be the leading variety.

Here's one recipe for popular Boston Baked Beans. You'll need 2 cups dry pea beans or Great Northern beans, 1 1/2 quarts water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 pound salt pork, 4 tablespoons molasses and 1/4 teaspoon mustard.

Soak beans in the water, following your usual soaking methods. Add salt and boil gently 45 minutes. Make cuts through the rind of the pork about 1/2 inch apart. Put half of the pork in a bean pot or deep baking dish. Add beans and rest of pork, exposing only the scored rind.

Mix molasses and mustard with the cooking liquid from the beans. Pour over the beans. Cover the baking dish. Bake at 250 degrees F. 6 or 7 hours. Add a little hot water from time to time, if beans seem dry. During the last hour of baking remove the lid to let the beans brown on top. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Vegetables, Pork Blend Together For Meal In One
Meal-in-one main entrees revealing the meat, potatoes and vegetables are wonderfully convenient.

Generally, such dishes fall into the stew category and feature boneless beef or lamb cubes. However, here's something slightly different in stew-like dishes. The meat that braises with the vegetables is pork. The flavor... delightful.

BRAISED PORK AND VEGETABLES
2 lbs. pork shoulder, cut in 1-inch cubes
1/4 cup flour
2 tps. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. sage
3 tps. lard or drippings
1 clove garlic, minced
1 bay leaf
3/4 cup water
2 tps. French dressing
3 medium potatoes, sliced
3 medium carrots, cut in 1/2-inch pieces
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen lima beans

Combine flour, salt pepper and sage. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add garlic, bay leaf, water and French dressing. Cover tightly and cook slowly 20 minutes. Add potatoes and carrots and continue cooking 45 minutes. Add lima beans and continue cooking 25 minutes or until meat is done and vegetables are tender. Discard bay leaf before serving.

Jane Wyatt Has New Holiday Fad

JANE WYATT

Jane Wyatt, perhaps best known for her TV role as Margaret Anderson in "Father Knows Best," the great and honored television series, is the only dramatic actress to have won three Emmy awards for TV excellence. Daughter of a distinguished drama critic and an investment banker, Jane was born to the Special Register. Her parents encouraged her to follow her heart and she entered the theater at the tender age of 19 and for over 30 years has been one of the brightest stars on the perpetually glittering Christmas tree of the arts.

Chances are you've never eaten anything like this famous Cranberry Pot Roast, unless your imagination follows the same fancies as our Jane Wyatt Cranberry, which has been a traditional accompaniment for holiday turkey just about since berries were invented, is also widely known for its affinity to roast beef and baked ham, though hardly anyone ever thought to cook berry and meat together.

When you pause to consider, however, it's a natural. Cranberries have a spicy tartness that is just made for marriage with rich meat. It's sort of like wine cookery without the wine, maybe even better.

JANE WYATT'S CRANBERRY POT ROAST
Take a fine pot roast, about three pounds, wash it and rub with a damp cloth, then with bacon and garlic and salt and pepper.

Dredge it next in flour and saute over a hot fire in two tablespoons of fat and a half cup of chopped onion until it is well browned.

Remove the onion if you like and pour over the meat enough boiling water to reach a depth of half an inch. Turn the heat down, cover the pot and simmer slowly, without boiling, for two or three hours until it is tender.

After the first hour of simmering add two cups of uncooked cranberries and additional water if necessary. You have just discovered an amazing dish, with a sauce that is a pure delight to eat.

Cornmeal Fritters Can Add Something Extra

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The French call them beignets. Americans call them fritters — those small pieces of meat, poultry, fish, vegetables or fruit dipped into a batter and deep-fat fried. French cooks use a flour batter; American cooks have created their own classic variation by adding corn meal.

These vegetable fritters are encased in just such a batter, and they come out of the frying kettle crisp, crunchy and delicious. Of course the deep-fat frying takes time. If you're new at this task, you may want to test your mettle by cutting this recipe in half the first time round.

VEGETABLE CORN MEAL FRITTERS
1 medium (about 1 lb.) egg plant
3 medium (about 1 lb.) firm green tomatoes
1 small head (about 1 lb.) cauliflower
1 cup unsifted regular flour (stir well to aerate before measuring)
2 tps. salt
1/4 tsp. white pepper
1 1/2 tps. onion powder
2 cups enriched white corn meal
2 eggs
2 cups milk
Hot shortening for deep-fat frying
Cheese Sauce, if desired
Pare eggplant; cut into strips about 3 inches long and 1/2 inch wide. Slice tomatoes medium-thick. Separate cauliflower into small flowerets.
In a medium mixing bowl thoroughly stir together the flour, salt, pepper and onion powder. Stir in the corn meal. Add the eggs and milk; beat until smooth.
Dip vegetables into batter and fry a few at a time in hot deep fat (375 degrees) turning as necessary, until golden brown—this will take only a few minutes for each batch; do not crowd frying kettle or temperature of fat will be reduced.
Drain on brown paper or on several thicknesses of paper toweling. Keep batter-fried vegetables warm in a shallow pan in a low oven until all are fried. Serve as a main course for lunch with Cheese Sauce, or as an appetizer without the sauce. Makes 6 servings as a luncheon course or 12 servings as an appetizer.

Open Range Voted Out

GARDEN CITY — Cattle, sheep and goats are no longer to run at large on Glasscock County roads and highways. Horses, hogs and other animals are not restrained—by law, that is.

Voters Tuesday approved a closed range law for the three species listed. The proposed change in the law, which brought an end to open range in Glasscock County, was on the ballot laid before the voters in the general election.

One hundred and 19 voters said that cattle must not be permitted to run at large and 78 voted for the open range to continue. One hundred and 13 voters said that goats and sheep should be barred from running at large; 86 voters said they should have free range.

This was the second attempt to close the roads and highways to stock. An earlier election on the issue was held several years ago and ended in the retention of the open range.

Only property owners were permitted to vote in this particular question.

In the general election Glasscock County gave Gov. John Connally a nearly 3-to-1 vote over his Republican opponent but turned Waggoner Carr, Democratic senatorial candidate, down in favor of Senator John Tower by a vote of 150 to 96.

The election brought out a light vote.

ELECTRONIC WARFARE

Super Snoopers Spot Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Electronic devices that can spot cigarettes and belt buckles from an airplane several thousand feet high are being used nightly in Viet Nam to ferret out the Communists, an American military source said today.

The source said the United States is using the latest heat and metal sensing devices to find Viet Cong and North Vietnamese moving under cover of darkness.

The demilitarized zone, called DMZ, between the two Viet Nams — now a highway for Red troop infiltration southward — is a regular beat for the super snoopers.

MAPS AREA

The heat detection system uses an infrared-type process and can spot a camp fire or even a dozen soldiers taking a smoke break.

"First they fly over and make a map of an area, for instance the DMZ, when there is nobody there. They know what it should look like then," the source said. "Then the next time they come across the area, they use the earlier map as an overlay on the scope."

"They fly along out of small arms range until something shows up on the scope and if it is not on the overlay, bombers are called in."

DOESN'T NEED HEAT

"The metal sensing gear is just as sensitive but doesn't even need heat."

"They do the same thing on it. They fly over and make soundings under normal conditions and then later blast anything that is out of place. If there are half a dozen guys down there with belt buckles or knives or guns or anything made of metal, the plane will know it. In come the bombers and boom! No more belt buckles or people either. It's amazing."

The source said that the detection devices are responsible for some bombing raids that American B52s make in areas where there is no reported U.S. military activity.

Two Mishaps

Three minor accidents were checked by officers, none involving serious damage or injuries. Evelyn Green Anderson, 1314 Sycamore, and Robert Glen Click, Rt. 1, crashed at Seventeenth and Lancaster. Richard C. Scott, 1004 Vines, and Gayle Vernon Schroeder, 2300 Grafa, ran together at Edwards and Gregg. The car that struck the parked car of V. R. Rodriguez, 1504 W. 2nd, at 1408 W. 2nd, left the scene.

ROMNEY FOR PRESIDENT

Draft Machinery Out Of Mothballs

DETROIT (AP) — They're unpacking the leftover presidential campaign literature, buttons and bumper stickers and bringing a presidential draft machine out of mothballs for Republican Gov. George Romney.

Romney is the man who: Won a third term as Michigan governor with the largest plurality in state history, despite the fact that Tuesday's was an off-year election.

Helped U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin defeat former six-term Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who had the blessing of the Kennedys and the heavy backing of labor in this labor-heavy state.

TREND REVERSED
Helped reverse the political makeup of the Michigan congressional delegation from 12-7 Democratic to 12-7 Republican.

Rolled back the 1964 Johnson tide which had given Democrats control of the Michigan legislature for the first time in 30 years.

While Romney was accepting victory in Detroit Tuesday night, a Romney-for-president drive was revived in Dallas, Tex.

NO DECISION
Sparkplug of the movement is George A. Zimmermann, president of a similar group that spread to 29 states before it was rebuffed by Romney in 1964.

Zimmermann, 41, vice president of a manufacturing firm, said in a telephone interview Wednesday, "We have been contacting and reactivating our state groups for the past few months."

At his first post-election news conference, Romney's displayed only slightly more willingness than he has shown in the past to discuss the presidential question.

"I am highly complimented that so many people are thinking of me in this country, but I haven't made a decision. You'll know when I make it," he said.

Why Not Flip Coin?

ELKTON, Ore. (AP) — Elkton voters elected Ariel Hubbard and Wade Henderer unopposed to four-year terms on the city council Tuesday, then learned that Hubbard was not a registered voter, so was ineligible.

Officials then found Katherine Cheever had the most write-in votes, three — but she was not a registered voter, either.

Next were two men with two votes each. But Don Harbaugh was not registered and Charles Eden had not lived in the city the required year.

That took the write-in list down to three who each got one vote.

Officials said maybe they would hold another election.

State Manager For Carr Dies

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—William E. Osborn, 40, state organization manager for Waggoner Carr's U.S. Senate campaign, died of an apparent heart attack Wednesday night.

Osborn had been suffering from an extreme form of virus cold during the latter days of the campaign, friends said.

He was a former member of the Texas House of Representatives from Falls County, serving from 1951 to 1953. He also served as an assistant state attorney general and was legal counsel for the Texas Manufacturers Association.

A graduate of Baylor University, Osborn had practiced law in Houston and Tyler.

His widow, mother, and a daughter survive.

Fallen Vets' Body En Route

Body of Spec. 5 Richard Spangler, 22, killed in action on Nov. 5 in Viet Nam is en route to Big Spring by air and is expected here by the end of the week.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Davis, 631 Caylor, young Spangler was a career Army man. Telegrams received by the Davises since his death have confirmed the date of death in action as Nov. 5.

Services for the young soldier will be at the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park.

Sgt. Gene Spangler, 24, brother of Richard, who was in Italy with the Army at the time of his brother's death, is now in the United States and should arrive in Big Spring soon. The American Red Cross arranged for Gene to come home for the funeral.

Sub-Freezing Weather Chills Panhandle-Plains

By The Associated Press
Sub-freezing weather chilled the Panhandle-Plains and it was nippy over northern areas elsewhere in Texas today. Good rains soaked eastern sections of the state.

Temperatures plunged to 17 degrees at Perryton and 19 at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle. A bit farther south Amarillo recorded 27 and Lubbock 28 in early morning fog which cut visibility to one-eighth mile in places.

Heavy frosted car windshields in Wichita Falls, where the mercury dipped to 34 before dawn.

THUNDERSTORMS

Thunderstorms in East Texas were another product of the cold front which invaded the state Wednesday and rolled on downstate.

Texarkana measured 1.79 inch, Tyler 1.51 and Lufkin .21. The rains fell as turbulence caused the Weather Bureau to issue a severe thunderstorm alert from Longview northeastward into Arkansas. This was cancelled by 3 a.m., however, with no report of damage.

GULF BOUND

Still ahead of the cold air mass, Brownsville on the southern tip of the state had an early morning temperature of 70 and it was 72 at McAllen in the same vicinity.

The front was due to move into the Gulf of Mexico by afternoon.

Clearing skies and another chilly night were in prospect, with the cold spreading over the rest of the state. Forecasts promised overnight marks down to 22 degrees in the Panhandle, 28 in Southwest Texas, 30 in the north central section, 32 in the northeast and 40 elsewhere.

Most areas were expected to start warming Friday, but still another cold front was headed toward the Panhandle and due to arrive by that night.
