LAKE THOMAS BEGINNING TO LOOK LIKE LAKE

Mac Blames Truman's Policies For Desertions

Atom Spies Make Final Try To Escape Death In Chair

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — Presidential mercy was sought today by Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, doomed as atomic spies.

Counsel for the New York couple sentenced to die in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair for conspiring to slip atom secrets to Russia filed an appeal for executive clemency with the Justice Department.

The action, climaxing a long and losing series of court battles, meant an automatic stay of execution until five days after the President announces his decision.

The Rosenbergs, a 34-year-old engineer and his 36-year-old wife, coming Wednesday by Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman, who called their crime worse than murder — "exposing millions of their countrymen to danger of death."

In their appeal to the President, the convicted couple again proclaimed their innocence and said they would go to the chair rather than express guilt, penitence or remorse.

Declaring themselves the victims of a corrupt verdict in a "passion-rousing trial," they said:

"We are innocent, as we have proclaimed and maintained from the time of our arrest. This is the whole truth. To forsake this truth is to pay too high a price even for the priceless gift of life—for life thus purchased we could not live out in dignity and self-respect."

They accused accomplices who testified against them of trading "Judas words for a few years of their miserable lives."

Others in the alleged spy plot, including Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, received long prison terms instead of the death sentence.

The case has sparked Communist propaganda around the world. Not in many years has a death sentence in this country kicked up such international furore.

Some non - Communists have joined in the public clamor, and the White House has been picketed all this week by marchers bearing clemency appeals.

President Truman may grant the plea, reject it, or let it ride over into the Eisenhower administration.

A Justice Department official said the Rosenberg appeal will go first to the department's pardon attorneys, who will review the whole case. They will make their recommendations to the attorney general, who will in turn suggest a course of action to the White House.

Coloradoans Wanting Top Federal Jobs

DENVER, Jan. 10 (AP) — Many state Republican leaders, especially early Eisenhower supporters, are expressing growing bitterness over the failure of the President-elect to name a Coloradoan to a top federal job.

They feel they earned it by turning the state's nominating votes from Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. They feel they were assured a reward by national Eisenhower leaders who made frequent trips seeking support here.

Many are saying nothing publicly, hoping appointments still will come for top, second-echelon Washington jobs. But others now are openly resentful.

Arthur C. Sheely of Ft. Collins says he is "bitterly disillusioned." Lawrence C. Phipps Jr. of Denver is reported by friends to have said he is "disgusted." State Sen. Will F. Nicholson of Denver says he is "very disappointed." All were Eisenhower backers.

Gov. Dan Thornton was considered a likely nominee for secretary of the interior. He told Eisenhower, however, that he couldn't take a federal appointment; that he wanted to serve his second term as governor.

Ike Picks Two More To Serve On His Cabinet

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—President - elect Eisenhower chose two more Cabinet undersecretaries today—a long-time friend who held high posts in the Truman administration and another AFL official.

He named Gen. Walter Bedell Smith as undersecretary of state and Lloyd A. Mashburn, California labor commissioner and a member of the AFL Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers union, as undersecretary of labor.

Smith is chief of the Central Intelligence Agency and served for three years as ambassador in Moscow after World War II. He was Eisenhower's chief of staff in Europe during the war.

James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, said he did not know Smith's political affiliation.

Mashburn is a Republican, unlike Martin P. Durkin, secretary of labor - designate, whose appointment was described by Sen. Taft of Ohio as "incredible."

Durkin, a Democrat who supported Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic candidate for president, headed the AFL Plumbers Union.

While two AFL officials have been selected for posts in the Eisenhower administration, none has been chosen at least so far, from the rival CIO.

In the present administration, one AFL official and one CIO official hold assistant secretaryships in the Department of Labor.

In Detroit, Walter Reuther, CIO president, had no immediate comment on the naming of the second AFL man.

In Washington, Joseph Beirne, president of the CIO Communications Workers, said through a spokesman that Mashburn was well qualified for the job and that it was "an excellent appointment."

Smith is 57, and Mashburn 55.

Their designations were announced as Eisenhower spent the morning at his Hotel Commodore headquarters despite his announced intention some weeks ago of keeping away from the office on week ends.

Mac, Papers Cause Awol, Truman Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur said tonight that if there are "excessive" desertions from the American armed forces in Korea the policies of President Truman are responsible for them.

The former Far Eastern commander, who was fired from his post by Truman, assailed what he described as the Chief Executive's "savage methods" and his "obvious spleen against me."

Gen. MacArthur's statement also cited what he termed "the bankruptcy of his (Truman's) policies in the Far East."

Gen. MacArthur's statement was in reply to statements attributed to Mr. Truman by columnist Doris Fleeson of the Bell Syndicate.

In an interview with the President which the White House today described as an accurate one, Miss Fleeson said Truman blames politically-inspired attacks on his Korean War policy for 47,000 military desertions.

Miss Fleeson said the President "points an accusing finger at the Chicago Tribune, the Scripps-Howard and the Hearst newspapers, together with their hero, Gen. MacArthur, whom he calls 'insubordinate.'"

Her column added:

"Gen. MacArthur, 51 years a soldier, has set a bad example, the President said calmly. When he didn't obey and wouldn't report to his commander in chief, the junior officers—lieutenants, captains, majors—began to say, 'Well, if a general can get away with that, I can.'"

Gen. MacArthur's statement, which was released by his aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, follows:

"President Truman has again publicly attacked me, this time with the fantastic and wholly unwarranted charge that in some strange way, although retired from active service for nearly two years, I bear some responsibility for current desertions from the armed forces. If such desertions are indeed excessive, despite the recent denials by the Defense Department, they can more realistically be ascribed to a lack of faith in President Truman's policies of appeasement which forbade victory to our forces committed to battle in Korea when such victory was easily within their grasp 20 months ago and to the growing fear that such policies will inevitably plunge us into another world war.

"No one condemns desertions more strongly than I and no one is more interested in keeping up the morale and discipline of the armed services. Mr. Truman couples me derisively with the 'Chicago Tribune and Scripps-Howard and Hearst newspapers' apparently because these great journals together with others not specifically mentioned by him have not hesitated fearlessly to discuss and criticize public policy and to resist the palpable efforts now being made to prevaricate history.

"The President has at different times given new and wholly unrelated reasons seeking justification for his savage methods employed in my relief from command in the Far East. He now for the first time attributes such action to a failure to obey orders despite the fact that such a charge is completely untrue as shown by the testimony given before the congressional inquiry following my return.

"His querulous complaint of insubordination because I did not call upon him following my return is puerile in view of the circumstances attending my relief. His implication that I sought political office following my retirement from active assignment has no basis whatsoever in fact. It is difficult for me to conceal my indignation at his constant, unfounded and indeed venomous personal attacks and even more difficult for me adequately to reply in my own defense in view of the veneration I feel for the high office of president of the United States which he still continues to occupy.

"The impropriety of a president making such personal attacks upon an officer still subject to his recall at will to active service under him is self-evident. Mr. Truman's obvious spleen against me, given mounting expression since the election, is undoubtedly political, not military. It arises in my opinion from his realization that his unjust and arbitrary actions connected with my relief and related incidents, coupled with the bankruptcy of his policies in the Far East, played a large part in his overwhelming repudiation by the American people at the polls. Perhaps, too, he is animated by pique at the President-elect's interest in ascertaining my views on Korea."

Wade Pipkin

Wade Pipkin Is New Director Of Bank Here

Wade Pipkin, Ford automobile dealer here, was elected to the board of directors of the West Texas State Bank Thursday by stockholders at their annual meeting.

Pipkin replaces M. H. McWhirter of Monahans, who along with associates has sold all stock to local persons here. All present officers in the bank were re-elected by directors to their posts for 1953, and Hugh Taylor, one of the directors, was elected vice-chairman of the board.

The 40 stockholders met in the recently completed director's room on the bank's second floor. Nolan Watson, president made a report to the group. He reported that about 95 per cent of the bank's stock is now owned locally.

Officers of the bank are Wayne Boren, chairman of the board; Taylor, H. W. Cargile, executive vice-president; H. H. Eiland, vice-president; Olian Vinson cashier; Charles Duran, assistant vice-cashier; Riley R. Foster, Jeanelle Glenn, Kenneth Hathaway, and R. T. Davis, assistant cashiers. Davis, elected in Thursday's meeting is formerly of a bank in Abilene.

GOP May Decide To Abolish Controls Before They Expire

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The future of economic controls under the new Republican administration appeared today to rest on this one question only: whether to kill them at once or allow them to die naturally on April 30.

Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott of Michigan, a GOP congressional spokesman on economic matters, indicated the final decision probably would rest with President-elect Eisenhower.

But in no event, Wolcott intimated, it is likely that direct controls over prices, wages and rents will continue beyond the April 30 expiration date of the 1952 Defense Production Act.

Wolcott, chairman of the House Banking Committee which originates controls legislation, told a reporter that as matters now stand "the question has narrowed down to ending controls right away or waiting until April 30."

Eisenhower has appointed a committee to study the question, Wolcott said.

Three alternatives confront the incoming President. Under the law he is empowered (A) to wipe controls off the books by executive order, (B) allow Congress to do it by concurrent action of the Senate and House, or (C) simply wait until the law dies at midnight April 30.

There were indications that Eisenhower may take the initiative, either by executive order or by calling upon Congress to act.

Wolcott told a reporter that "I think I could predict controls would expire by April 30 at least—or before." There is "no necessity for their continuation now," he added.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said he will urge the Senate Banking Committee next week to "ask Eisenhower to suspend wage, price and rent controls on his first day in office."

One of the biggest and noisiest debates of the new Congress is certain to be touched off if and when the issue reaches the floor of Senate or House.

During the presidential campaign, Eisenhower criticized the Truman administration for not holding the price line and advocated indirect controls for more effective economic stabilization.

An indirect control program would be likely to involve increased reserve requirements for federal reserve banks, higher rediscount rates, the question of support of the government bond market, the raising gold reserves against bank deposits and federal reserve bank notes.

Wolcott, in frequent statements to the House, has accused the Truman administration of abandoning these indirect curbs on inflation and embarking on a policy of "studied inflation" for political reasons.

On the other hand, spokesmen for the Truman policies were standing fast for extension of the controls law.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, in a year-end statement, called for no more than selective decontrol, item by item. He said "it would be foolhardy to abandon all controls so long as there remains a threat of Communist aggression."

Most Democrats in Congress feel the same and are sure to put up a noisy argument against anything less if given a chance.

Two Pilots Killed In Air Collision Near Garden City Saturday

The propeller - driven planes crashed on the Cecil Wilkerson ranch about five miles south of this West Texas town. Wreckage was scattered for about a mile and a quarter.

Identification of the cadets was withheld by military authorities.

They were from Webb AFB at Big Spring, about 44 miles north of the spot where they crashed.

Jailed Negro Started Selling Liquor At 9; Serving 4 Years

"I must be the greatest bootlegger in West Texas— I got the greatest penalty," were the words of Anderson Davis, Jr., Snyder Negro who has been convicted of bootlegging numerous times and finally landed in jail two months ago to serve out a four-year sentence.

Davis, telling about his bootlegging career on a New Year's Day interview at the county jail, said he had already served 66 days of his four-year sentence assessed him in county court when the prosecution asked for enhanced punishment—up to four times the maximum jail sentence of one year allowed on a first offense. Davis had appealed his case to higher court, but the lower court's decision was upheld.

The 31-year-old bootlegger has had several cases reversed in higher courts, and he now has one case on appeal that called for a year in jail and $750 fine. Grounds for the appeal are that the special judge in court during his trial was not legally selected.

Widely known here as "Son" Davis, he is a man of varied experience. Besides his more than 12 years in bootlegging, he has been a cook for many years and was a butcher for six and one-half years. It might even be said that he tried his hand at law. In two of his bootlegging cases here, he represented himself. In one of the cases, he questioned several witnesses and presented an oral argument.

"Everybody seemed to like my pleading by the jury," he said, reminding the reporter that the jury did not acquit him after his argument.

Davis' wife is now operating his 11-room Davis Bros. Hotel for him, and he has closed his new Son's Barbeque Parlor for the present. He has permanently closed his Davis Bros. Drive-In, he said.

"Son" calls himself the chief cook at the jail. While he was being interviewed, he was cooking "Hog's head and blackeyed peas" on the small two - burner stove provided in the narrow hallway outside the cells for cooking prisoner meals. While he stirred his concoction, he said, "I think the new sheriff is going to try to fix us some kind of kitchen so we'll have room to cook and can keep it clean."

Born in Ballinger in 1921, "Son" was brought to Snyder by his family soon after he was born. His father farmed for two years before moving into town to work in the old Fuller Cotton Oil Mill, which burned about 12 years ago.

"The first bootlegging I ever did was when I was about nine years old," Davis recalled. "I ran some moonshine for my dad," he said. He added that he first started bootlegging for himself in about 1940. His first conviction came in 1941, he said, adding that he pleaded guilty on all his convictions until last year, when he began to fight them. "In the last three years I've been caught about 93 times," Davis said, estimating that he had probably been caught as many as 200 times in his entire bootlegging career.

"I want everybody to know that I was picked up on Saturday evening about 6 o'clock on Nov. 8 when my mandate came back from appeal court, and they didn't give me no chance to get my business taken care of. I had a lot of meat to spoil, maybe about 75 or 80 pounds, and I didn't have no time to check the cash register or anything else," Davis stated, adding that his wife took care of most of his business "as best she could."

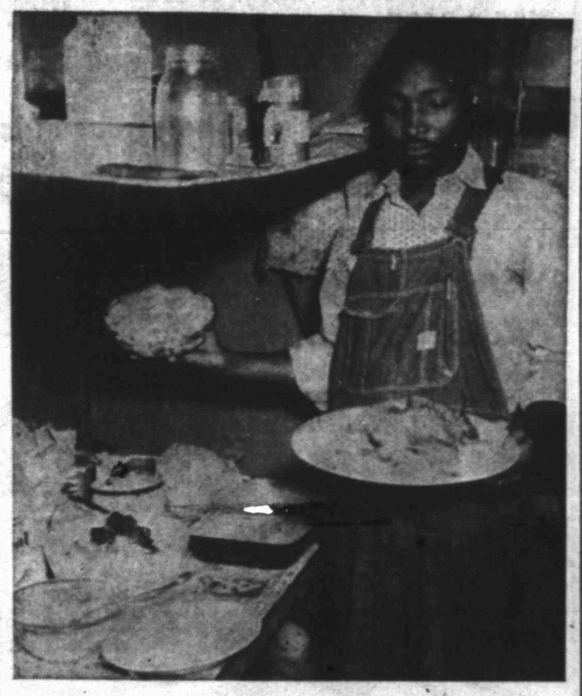

"I know a man here who has bootlegged wide open at least four years," he complained, "and he's been caught as many as three times, and he just got $1,500 fine." He declined to comment whether he thought his father, also convicted many times for bootlegging, will soon join him in the jail. The elder Davis has three cases pending in county court.

Asked why he bootlegged, Davis said he just did it to get a little extra money, "But if I'd been smart I wouldn't have done that," he quickly added. "I just bootlegged when I ran short of money. I gambled most of my money away until about three or four years ago. My wife got onto me and told me she was going to leave me if I didn't quit my gambling, so I quit."

Davis added that he had quit bootlegging two or three times since he first started, once as long as two years. "But it seemed like everybody else was making money at it, so I started back." "Son" doesn't think he will do any more bootlegging when he finally gets out of jail, he said, commenting that he'll be too old to do it by that time.

"Mr. Keith Merrick said in court that if they'd put me here he'd guarantee there wouldn't be any bootlegging from the county jail," he said. Merrick, former county attorney, was prosecutor in Davis' cases.

Davis and his wife have five children, three boys and two girls, and all are attending the Abraham Lincoln School here except a four-year-old daughter. He attended the Dunbar School, which was in the same location as the Lincoln School is now, for seven years.

Davis, who says he is the chief cook at the jail, displays some of his culinary art. The only space provided in the jail for cooking is a two-burner stove in the hall just outside the cells, and one cell is used for storing food. The bootlegger, in addition to peddling intoxicants, ran a cafe and hotel when he was out of jail.

Anderson Davis, Jr., left, Negro bootlegger who is now serving his third month of a four-year sentence, plays a game of poker with Luther (Grip) Tucker, serving a one-year sentence for bootlegging. Davis painted his cell not long after he entered the county jail, and he labeled it "so no other prisoner would be grabbing it."

Ike Is Practically In Solid With South

WASHINGTON, Jan.10 (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower has taken concrete steps toward cementing relationships with the Southern Democrats who may provide the margin for congressional approval of some of his legislative proposals.

In at least one instance, Eisenhower has written a Dixie legislator praising the latter's record and suggesting a conference on general legislative matters after the inauguration.

In this instance, the Congress member involved did not openly support Eisenhower in the election campaign. For Democrats who did—mostly state officials—the reward has been even more concrete, through consultations on patronage.

For members of Congress who backed his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, Eisenhower had a cheery Christmas card, if nothing else.

This sort of activity is regarded here as likely to give the new President-elect some whopping majorities in Congress as long as the honeymoon atmosphere prevails.

The test will be whether he can cement enough Southerners to his cause when Democratic party leaders drop their wait-and-see attitude in the next few months and begin shooting at the Republican President's proposals.

The shooting could begin along about April, when Congress gets down to doing something about the $78,600,000,000 budget President Truman submitted to Congress this week.

Some of the Democrats who regard themselves as liberals already are beginning to organize to point out any mis-steps the Republicans might make.

The Southern Democrats are likely to go along with most economy moves Eisenhower makes and may support many of his other proposals. In fact, Sen. Daniel (D-Tex) has predicted the Dixie lawmakers may be found more often in Eisenhower's corner than some Republicans.

This support could be critical in the Senate, where the Republicans outnumber the Democrats by one vote, with one independent.

In line with the new President's be-kind-to-Southerners policy, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) have suggested that Sen. Byrd (D-Va) stay on as chairman of the Senate-House committee on reduction of non-essential government expenditures.

Byrd, who wields a key vote in the Southern bloc and who announced during the campaign that he couldn't support the Democratic national ticket, also is being wooed on patronage matters.

Rep. Poff and Rep. Broyhill, Virginia Republicans, have said they don't mind if the Republican administration consults Byrd in filling jobs. Byrd himself was offered the post of secretary of the Treasury, but turned it down.

Prefer A-Bomb To Federation

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Nyasaland chiefs—some resplendent in flowing native robes, others dapper in college-cut drapes—told a mass meeting today they'd sooner see their country atom-bombed than federated with Northern and Southern Rhodesia.

The session was a counter to the official four-nation conference which has sought a final federation formula in London since New Year's Day. The all-white official conference is made up of British Colonial Office authorities and government men from Myasaland and Northern and Southern Rhodesia.

Negroes from all three countries of the proposed set-up are boycotting the official sessions.

At today's demonstration, the toughest—and most simply worded—protest came from aging Chief Maganga, wearing a flowing black robe piped with orange and an embroidered white skull-cap. He said through an interpreter:

"Atom-bomb us and then you can federate Nyasaland—but not until then."

Another chief argued it was only recently that Nyasaland people understood the British government was involved in the plan for federation. Previously, he said, Negroes of the country trusted the British to develop Nyasaland toward eventual self-government as a separate entity.

Long-Time Resident Of Scurry County Dies

S. G. Lunsford, 79, long - time resident of Scurry County, died at 8:45 o'clock last night in the Battenfield Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Lunsford had been a resident here about 40 years. He lived west of town.

Funeral arrangements at Bolger Funeral Home were incomplete.

Mrs. R. G. Beard, left, and Mrs. Jack Greenfield, information operators for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here, check new listings not included in the directory. Their load will be lightened soon when the firms releases a new directory next month. In addition to putting out a new directory, the company will begin big operation in installing rural telephones and expanding city service this year.

Telephone Company Points To Rural Expansion During 1953

With one major operation completed and out of the way during 1952, the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here will undertake another major project in 1953.

The 1953 operation will be the installation of about 500 rural dial telephones, at a cost of about $350,000, plus expenditure of about $100,000 on improvements in Snyder.

Truman Black, the firm's manager here, said rural lines will be under construction here as soon as the company can get cable.

During 1952, the firm completed its new $1,750,000 dial system building at the corner of Avenue R and Twenty - seventh Street and changed over to the long - awaited dial.

Installing the rural system will be a huge undertaking here, according to Black, who said the firm already has about 500 applications for rural service as a result of two canvasses made this year. He predicted that cable for the lines will be here in time to start construction by March and possibly finish during 1953. It will require temporary construction crews here in addition to the regular employes.

Even without the major project, rural service has been on the increase here. Black said that 56 rural phones were in service at the end of January, 1952, compared to 148 by the end of November. In addition to these, a few rural lines owned by residents are on the firm's service.

The company's entire service has increased by almost 600 telephones this year. Black said that the firm had a net gain of 531 phones for the year by the end of November, and he estimated that another 65 would have been connected by the end of December.

By the first of December, there were a total of 4,165 telephones in the service of the company's exchange here, compared to 3,634 by the end of 1951. The first 11 months of 1952 saw 2,421 connections and 1,890 disconnections, an average of 220 connections and 172 disconnections a month.

In Snyder, residents are tending to desire private residence lines, Black said, pointing out that he now has about 40 applications for private lines. While a private residence line costs only $4 a month, a two-party line costs $3.50, a four-party cost 3, and a rural line costs $3.25. More private lines will be added as the firm secures the hard-to-get cable for the operation.

The company will have ready for release by Feb. 13 the first new directory in a year, Black said. He added that it will be somewhat larger than the directory now in use.

While the firm's business increased during 1952, its number of employes decreased when the dial system came in. Black said the company now has 70 employes here, considerable less than the number employed under the old manual system. The main decrease in employment was in the traffic department, where operators were no longer needed for local calls.

Long distance calling is on the increase here, and it was especially heavy during the Christmas rush. On Dec. 21, the heavy day for this holiday season, operators completed 1,049 calls, compared to a daily average of about 860 to 875. A total of 536 calls were completed on Christmas day, compared to 452 on the same day in 1951. Black said persons do not make their calls to families as much on Christmas day now as they formerly did because they know most of them will be away from home on that day.

More persons in Snyder had two-party residence lines than any other type lines by the end of November. They numbered 1,110, compared to 713 one-party business lines, 509 one-party residences, 425 four-party residences, 148 eight-party rural lines, and 135 pay telephones.

DWI Guilty Pleas Heard In County Court

Two men have paid fines in county court for driving while intoxicated and have had their driver's licenses suspended for six months. Another man pleaded guilty Friday to a charge of driving while his license was suspended and was fined $48.50, including $23.50 court cost.

Burl Houston Lewis, about 65, route No. 1, paid a fine of $123.50, including cost, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was arrested by highway patrolmen here Dec. 22.

Claude Ewel Weaver, about 40, Snyder was fined $73.50, including cost, on a drunken driving charge. He was arrested by E. E. Norris, deputy sheriff.

Lloyd Winfred Smith, short-time resident of Snyder, was fined when he pleaded guilty to driving while his license was suspended. He was arrested by Bill Zimmerman, highway patrolman, on a minor traffic violation and later told officers his license was suspended because of an offense in another state.

Court Ruling Brings Speed Of Emergency Vehicles Into Focus

Opinion of persons concerned with emergency vehicles here is divided over a recent court ruling in Virginia, which compells all emergency vehicles to obey the traffic laws in towns through which they operate. In some instances there is the exception of not stopping for red lights.

Ambulances, fire trucks, police and highway patrol cars are classed as emergency vehicles.

Although ambulance drivers here declined to comment for publication, they did indicate that they believed obeying traffic laws in Snyder would be costly to them, and might result in death of some of their emergency passengers.

"A few seconds sometimes can mean the difference between life and death of a person who is seriously hurt and bleeding," one of the ambulance drivers said.

On the other side of the argument, many citizens have complained to Walter Suttle, police chief, that they fear death will result from the speed with which emergency vehicles travel through Snyder.

"A leading citizen and business man came to me last week and said that he and six other businessmen here were ready to sign a petition requesting that all emergency vehicles be forced to obey speed laws in Snyder when they were on emergency runs," Suttle said.

"The man complained that he has seen on various occasions, ambulances cross the square at what appeared to be 80 to 90 miles per hour,' Suttle said.'

However Suttle said that he would not recommend that emergency vehicles be forced to obey the 30-mile-per-hour speed limit, nor stop for red lights, because of the possibility of causing death to passengers in the emergency vehicles through delay in getting them to a first aid center.

"But I do think that all emergency vehicles should cut their speed down to not more than 45 miles per hour, in town," Suttle added.

Highway Patrolmen Bill Zimmerman said he would not make any recommendations for changing the laws on emergency vehicles, because of the slower speeds might result in as much loss of life as it would save through wrecks — and there has not been any loss of life from wrecks of emergency vehicles.

The only serious emergency vehicle accident here in the past few years was the collision of a fire truck and a car at the northeast corner of the square early one morning last fall. No one was killed, but Ed Shuler, fireman, is still wearing a brace on his broken back and is still unable to return to his job.

Most of the persons interviewed for opinion on the question stated that the greatest danger here is failure of private citizens to yield right of way to emergency vehicles.

Dashing Scotch Earl Marries English Girl

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Earl of Dalkeith, a dashing Scot who used to run around with Princess Margaret, married a pretty working girl today—with the princess looking in subdued fashion.

The biggest collection of royalty this Scottish capital has seen in years, led by Queen Elizabeth II and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, turned out along with commoners estimated by police to number 50,000.

Reuther Wants To Back Out On Own Pact

DETROIT, Jan. 10 (AP)—Walter Reuther said today that auto industry peace would be threatened unless the predominant five-year labor contracts—only half run out—are brought abreast of inflationary trends within the next two months.

Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, held his first Detroit news conference since he was elected president of the CIO itself last month.

He made it plain that he expects the big auto companies to come to agreement with his union before March 1 as to how the new and revised government price index will be used in figuring the wages of more than a million auto workers. That is the date for the next adjustment of wages under the Bureau of Labor Statistics index.

But Reuther went beyond that. He said the union's recent demands for revisions of all major contracts hitched wages to the cost of living when they were signed in 1950, with no provision for wage reopening before they expire in 1955.

In recent weeks the UAW has asked all the big auto companies to agree voluntarily to revisions of these pacts.

KILL THE TASTE BUD APPETITE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Over four and a half million bottles of Barcentrate have been sold in Texas in nine years. During the past year, the makers of this product have done extensive research work and experimentation toward making an excellent product still better.

We now announce the new improved Barcentrate. The original formula remains the same, except that an additional ingredient has been added.

But in addition to the liquid Barcentrate, we have added tablets which are dissolved on the tongue before eating. These tablets help to lessen the taste bud appetite — to help kill the taste buds which lie on the surface of the tongue. Thus, with the new improved Barcentrate, your stomach appetite is satisfied so that you need not know a hungry moment. And the "fake" appetite created by the taste buds is lessened.

With the new Barcentrate, you will eat all the body requires, but you will eat less and still not know a hungry moment. The liquid Barcentrate eliminates, dehydrates and also helps to satisfy stomach hunger with less food. The new ingredient added to the liquid supplies nourishment and energy.

Just go to your druggist and get the new improved Barcentrate. Pour the contents of the four-ounce bottle into a pint bottle or jar. Add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day as directed on label. Take the tablets as directed on container and presto — watch the fat roll off. If the very first bottle and tablets don't show you the way to reduce simply, easily and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle for your money back.

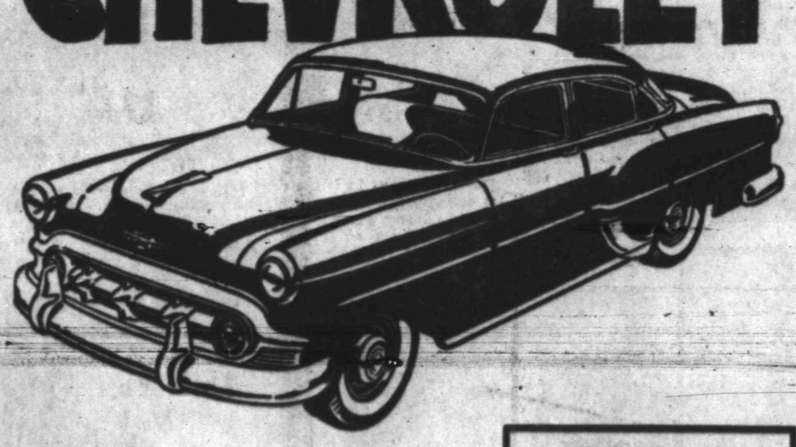

LOST 90 POUNDS

Mrs. Ed Leach, 720 E. Guenther St., San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows: "I take Barcentrate to keep down my fat. I lost about 90 pounds taking this excellent product. I wore size 52 dress when I started. I now wear size 34½."

14 POUNDS LOST

"I have lost 14 pounds taking Barcentrate," writes Mrs. Belle Alexander, 1109 Elmwood, Fort Worth, Texas. "I have found Barcentrate very beneficial in many other ways, other than reducing. Barcentrate left me feeling so much better."

Mrs. R. S. Yorgesen talks to her pet parageet, Chico who was having one of his rare quiet spells. Birds, like persons, are tempermental, Mrs. Yorgeson said. Chico is always kept in the house as any tree bird would attack and kill him on sight. (Dolores Ketchersid Photograph.)

Many Lovers Of Parakeets Here Raise The Companionable Birds

The mocking chatter of the parakeet is fast becoming more prevalent than the high-pitched warble of the perennial canary in the homes of Snyder bird lovers.

One birl fancier, Mrs. R. S. Yorgesen of 3709 Rose Circle, has taught her blue parakeet, which she has had less than three months, a total of 23 words. The average parakeet has a vocabulary of about 30 words, and some have been known to exceed 100.

Mrs. Yorgesen said her parakeet, Chico, learns quickly. It took him only about one month to be tamed and learn his first phrase which was "Come on Chico, talk to me." Later he learned "hello Joe," in about three hours time.

The birds learn better if only one person teaches them, Mrs. Yorgesen said. They usually pick up the speech inflection of the person teaching them, she added. A friend of Mrs. Yorgesen has a parakeet that says his entire vocabulary in a high voice simular to his mistress' but says the two words her husband taught him in a much lower tone.

Occasionally Chico will get his words mixed. Usually he says the phrases in the order in which he learned them, but at times he will get confused, Mrs. Yorgesen said. One of Chico's favorite pastimes is preening before a mirror. He makes love to himself with much relish saying "Kiss me," and "You're so sweet" interspersed with loud smacking noises.

Parakeets require little attention, Mrs. Yorgesen stated. She feeds Chico bird seed, treat, and a small amount of greens such as carrot tops or spinach but not lettuce. She also keeps some coarse gravel especially graded for parakeets on the bottom of the cage.

The Garland Armstrongs of Waymar Apartments have been breeding the birds for about two and one-half years. At present they have about 20 of the birds. Parakeets have few eccentricites, Armstrong said. The females will lay in nothing but a completely empty box, inspecting every inch of it before moving in. The male perches above the box to attack any intruder, Armstrong added.

Dry weather was the biggest menace to the bird industry last summer since without moisture in the air the eggs won't fertilize. Fortunately, the females lay mostly in early spring and fall.

Armstrong said his birds like subdued music and learn more quickly from persons with soft voices. But the bird must be isolated from the other birds when learning to talk, or he will do nothing but chatter, he warned.

Little More Than 1,000 Bales Cotton Gined; Some To Come

Scurry County cotton ginners said they expected to windup activities this month.

Ovid Lawlis, Paymaster Gin increase in the amount of cotton coming in yesterday. He said some farmers were beginning to pull cotton since labor from the South Plains has become available. But he added that the season could probably be closed by the end of this month. Paymaster has turned out 431 bales up to date, he said.

D. V. Merritt, manager of Planter's Gin, stated they had ginned 673 bales and expected to stop activity soon.

Fourteen Scurry County In January Call

Fourteen Scurry County men, most of them from Snyder, were reported by the Selective Service Board at Sweetwater as included on an induction list of 34 men for Jan. 27 and 28.

Those to be inducted included Arthur Ernest Franklin and Jimmy Don Faulkner, both induction volunteers from Snyder; Glenn Martin Hoyle, James Burl Norris, Donald Joe Mobly, Hollis Marion Carleton, Clifford Lewis Green, and Curtis Lysle Corbell, Jr., all of Snyder; Evans Douglas Vineyard, Harrell Dean Henderson, and Bert Wynell Herriey, all of Hermleigh; Christal Coleman Sellars, Jr., and Bobby Gerald James, both of Knapp; and Dalwin Gean Smallwood of Ira.

Five Scurry men have been called for pre-induction physical examinations at Abilene Jan. 16. They are Perry Thomas Smith, G. W. Lewis, Clinton Earl Wallace, and James Erwin Westbrook, all of Snyder, and William Lee Adams of Hermleigh.

Sister Of Scurry Men Dies, Service Friday

Funeral services were held Friday at Richland Springs for Mrs. R. C. Elliott, sister of two Scurry County men, who died Thursday.

Brothers here are Henry Crosson of Snyder and Alvin Crosson of Hermleigh.

Mrs. Elliott, 74, had lived in San Saba County several years.

1,562 Eligible Voters

Poll tax receipts and exemption certificates issued by noon yesterday totaled 1,562. Receipts accounted for 1,115, and 447 persons had obtained exemption certificates. Deadline is Jan. 31.

Army Gives Contracts

TOKYO, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Far East Command reported today that the armed forces have awarded 5,273 contracts totaling $268,837,640 to Japanese and foreign businessmen in the last six months.

New Applicant For Manager Of City Here

The fourth application for the job of city manager here was received by the city manager committee of the city council yesterday, Harry T. Holbrook, mayor, said.

Holbrook said that the committee has not had time to thoroughly check the latest applicant, but that the three men in the commitee did make a trip to a West Texas city to check one of he earlier three applicants.

"All indications from what was learned about the man we checked were highly favorable, and it is possible that he will be selected even if more applications come in," Holbrook stated.

The city manager committee is composed of councilmen Malven K. Stevenson, chairman Eugene Harper, and Dr. Robert H. Hargrove. Holbrook accompanied the committeemen on the out of town check.

An advertisement has been placed in the magazine of the League of Texas Municipalities which will be published Jan. 24, requesting applicants for the job here, Holbrook said.

He said that a decision on selection of the city manager might possibly be made before that magazine is distributed, however.

Pakistan Capitol Quiet Following 3-Day Riot

KARACHI, Pakistan, Jan. 10 (AP)—by police and troops, was quiet with business normal today following three days of rioting which left 11 persons dead and more than 150 injured.

Premier Sir Khwaja Nazimuddin met for two hours with a delegation of students to discuss the recent 45 per cent hike in tuition fees and other grievances which had caused them to touch off the disturbances Wednesday.

Internationalism Increases Importance Of Languages

This is the fifth article in a series by Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools, written in answers to questions submitted to him by the Snyder Daily News.

By Dr. C. L. YARBROUGH
Superintendent of Schools

Fifth question: "Do you believe that study of a foreign language should be required in junior high or elementary schools? In what grade should a foreign language begin as a requirement? In what grade should such begin as an elective? What foreign languages are offered here and in what grades? Is such required here now? Is an expansion of the foreign language program planned? What languages not offered now will be offered later and when will they be included in the program?"

The teaching of foreign language in the modern high school has lost ground steadily for the last ten to fifteen years. There was a time when foreign language was an absolute requirement for graduation from high school and for entrance into a recognized college. Most high schools and colleges now have relaxed their language requirements.

The reasons for this trend away from the teaching of Latin, French, and Spanish in our high schools are not all clear and to some it seems strange for several reasons. We are in a time of international tension when language differences are an important factor in world peace. For the scholar, a knowledge of at least two languages is very helpful in the pursuit of knowledge or an appreciation of good literature. Also, it is generally agreed by teachers and by students that the study of Latin, French and Spanish and even German has great value in an understanding of our own language.

This has been particularly credited to the teaching of Latin, the root language of all the modern Romance languages which include French, Spanish, and English. Most of the words commonly used in the English language have their origin in Latin. The same is true of many words in French and Spanish. Since Latin has served as the parent language to these, it is apparent that a knowledge of any one should be helpful in understanding English.

One purpose mentioned for teaching foreign language has been to promote understanding of other countries and peoples. This goal has not been achieved satisfactorily through the language program. Better results have been achieved through other subjects. Two years in Spanish, for instance, do not necessarily develop within the student a broad understanding of the habits, traditions, and ways of thinking of all Spanish speaking people in the world, in Mexico, in old Spain, South America, etc., much less open the doors of understanding to the French, the Germans, the Asiatics, the Orientals, and all the other nationalities in the world. Time does not permit the average student to achieve such a knowledge of many countries while he is in high school.

Some schools teach languages in the elementary grades. The standards of such course in the elementary schools are not the same and the teaching methods are very different. Emphasis is placed on practical use. For instance, in South Texas, where students have a greater need for Spanish, many schools teach this subject as a practical course in the elementary school. Studies have demonstrated that students learn a speaking knowledge of any language more readily in the elementary than in the high school.

Most Texas high schools of reasonable size offer one or two foreign languages purely on an elective basis. As the school has responded to the pressure of other well recognized needs of children such as citizenship training, vocational training, health, safety education, art, music, public speaking, etc., it has become necessary to place languages on an elective basis. Requiring course of such nature in the average high school involves many problems because of so many other competitive courses. Some students have a greater need and interest in language than others. Some public, private, and parochial schools, which emphasize training for college entrance, have maintained, in addition to the four years of English, a two year minimum requirement for foreign language. A large number of students in public schools, however, cannot or will not master the rudiments of a foreign language in the time available.

The Snyder schools, several years ago, dropped foreign language from its curriculum due to lack of interest on the part of its students. Last year, in reponse to an interest, two classes in first year Spanish were offered and this year, both first and second year Spanish are being taught on an elective basis. Twenty-seven students are enrolled in first year Spanish are being taught on an year Spanish. Other languages, including Latin, are planned for the immediate future if interest can be developed. At present, no foreign language is being offered in the elementary school.

The future of foreign language in the high school and in the elementary school in its present form is uncertain. It may be necessary for the public schools to re-organize present courses, both in the elementary and secondary schools, to more adequately achieve desirable goals in practical education within the limited period of time which can be alloted to this subject. This is one of the many problems which the Snyder and other public schools face as part of the total problem of keeping the school program up to date in helping boys and girls grow into upright honest productive citizens in a modern democratic society. The solution to the foreign language problem is not as easy to discover as some problems.

Incest And Intent To Murder Charges Are Filed Before JP

Felony complaints charging a father with incest and a Negro man with assault with intent to murder were filed Friday afternoon before W. C. Davidson, justice of peace.

Bond was denied Robert Edward Williams, 50, who gave his address as 601 Twentieth Street, when he waived preliminary hearing on a charge of incest. He is held in the county jail.

Williams was arrested by Homer Whisnand, sheriff, and Walter Suttle, chief of police.

Bond was set at $1,000 for Monroe Lurmon Ray, Snyder Negro, when he waived preliminary hearing on a charge of assaulting Ralph Evans with intent to murder with malice aforethought. Evans was stabbed in the back during an arguement with the Negro, whom Evans had fired from his employ.

Evans' condition was still critical late yesterday afternoon, Dr. John O. Broaddus said. Dr. Broaddus said Evans suffered a collapsed lung which had not re-expanded yesterday.

Ray had worked for Evans a short time prior to the stabbing which occurred at Evans & Faver Service Station on East Highway Thursday night. Ray was still in the jail at noon yesterday.

Both cases are to be investigated by the grand jury in its next session.

Sterling Williams, district judge, dismissed the last session of the grand jury for recess Thursday afternoon, ordering them to report to the court again Jan. 19 at 10 o'clock, a.m., unless otherwise notified by the court. The grand jury had returned 12 indictments.

Renal Rosson, district attorney, said today it had been decided the criminal court docket would be called next Wednesday morning. Rosson said it was not yet known what criminal cases might be tried then, however.

Calling of the civil district court docket will be Jan. 19, Judge Williams said.

No criminal district court trial by jury has been held here since November, 1951.

British Colony Visited By Ships, High Brass

HONG KONG, Jan. 10 (AP)—This British crown colony bulged today with warships and high brass — political and military—but government spokesmen said it all was a coincidence and signified nothing.

The Hong Kong Chinese press, however, was hinting at important huddles on global subjects. If there was any such meeting it was a deep secret because none of the customary conference rooms or diplomatic chambers was used.

Even so, political and military observers and correspondents are keeping a sharp watch.

Sixteen warships of five nations were anchored in Hong Kong's roadstead. Visiting here were three admirals, a U. S. major general and Malcolm MacDonald, British high commissioner for Southeast Asia.

Light Damage In Fire

Fire slightly damaged equipment in the James Laundry in the Negro section of town about 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, Ivan Gatlin, fire Gatlin said that the fire was put out soon after the truck arrived, but that some clothing in the laundry was destroyed.

TwoFromSnyderEnroll In TCU For 2nd Term

Two students from Snyder are at Texas Christian University at Fort Worth.

Miss Colleen Soles, daughter of Clairemona Road, is attending Mr. and Mrs. Adam Soles of TCU as a radio and television dramatics student. She is a freshman.

David Lloyd Harlin, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Harlin Sr., is a sophomore biology major. He is a member of the Vigilantes and the Student Congress.

'Little Mo' Is Chosen Female Athlete Of Year By Writers

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, the little brown-eyed blonde package of dynamite who is the world's best woman tennis player, was chosen female "Athlete of the Year" for 1952 today for the second successive year.

As were her tennis successes at Wimbledon and the U. S. Nationals at Forest Hills and elsewhere decisive, the 18-year-old San Diego, Calif., girl registered an overwhelming victory in the 22nd Associated Press yearend poll.

Now in Australia, where she seeks another championship, Little Mo received 109 of the 153 votes from a nation-wide poll of sports writers and sportscasters. On a 3-2-1 point basis, she rolled up 384 points.

DIVER IS SECOND

This was far ahead of Pat McCormick of Los Angeles, U. S. Olympic diving star who won two gold medals last summer in Helsinki for taking the women's springboard title and the women's low board championship. She received six first place votes and 82 points.

Third was Florence Chadwick, only woman ever to swim the English Channel both ways, and who became the only woman to conquer the tricky 21-mile Catalina Channel in the swirling Pacific last September. Miss Chadwick, second to Miss Connolly in the poll last year, had 58 points.

Babe Didrikson Zaharias, a leading professional women's golfer for years and winner of the "female athlete" honor five times, was fourth with 53 points.

BOWLER HIGH

Fifth with 42 points was Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., who last month won the women's all-star bowling championship for the fourth consecutive year. Andrea Mead Lawrence was sixth with 41 points. The Rutland, Vt., skier, holder of the U. S. National Slalom title, captured two gold medals at the 1952 Oslo Winter Olympics, taking the giant slalom and the slalom.

Betsy Rawls, who set the 1952 money winning pace for women's golfers with $14,505 in purses, was seventh with 36 points. Next came Patty Berg, who in winning the Richmond, Calif., open, fired an eight under par 64 on one round, the greatest round of golf ever shot by a woman. She had 22 points.

LOUISE SUGGS 9TH

Another woman golfer, Louise Suggs, was ninth with 21 points. In taking the Women's National Open at Philadelphia, the Atlanta star set a world 72-hole woman's record of 284.

Tenth was Marjorie Jackson, the Australian girl sprinter, with 16 points.

In all, 32 women athletes received votes for either first, second or third.

Aside from Mrs. Zaharias, Miss Connolly is only the third woman to be voted female athlete twice. Patty Berg got it in 1938 and 1949, tennis queen Alice Marble in 1939-1940.

Those receiving first place votes, and points, based on three for first, two for second, one for third (first place votes in brackets):

1. Maureen Connolly, tennis (109), 384.
2. Pat McCormick, diving (6), 82.
3. Florence Chadwick, swimming (6), 58.
4. Babe Zaharias, golf (6), 53.
5. Marion Ladewig, bowling (9), 42.
6. Andrea Mead Lawrence, skiing (2), 41.
7. Betsy Rawls, golf (3), 36.
8. Patty Berg, golf, 22.
9. Louise Suggs, golf, 21.
10. Marjorie Jackson, track (2), 16.

Tie At Top Of Bowling Loop

Goss Car Lot and Newman's 66 Grill, the two teams at the top of the men's bowling league for the past several weeks, tied up for first place again last week.

The Goss team downed Williams Jewelry 2,542 to 2,484, while Newman's dropped Permian Mud 2,660 to 2,484.

Chuck Wagon, gradually moving up in the league and now only two points behind the first place teams, defeated Lewis - Burney Service 2,588 to 2 226.,

Other results were two wins and a loss by Sun Oil No. 1 — over Jackson Motor Sales 2,467 to 2,433, over Sun Pipeline No. 2 2,549 to 2,525, and under Snyder Wholesale 2,480 to 2,452; and three wins by Sun Oil No. 2 — over Sun Pipeline No. 1 2,766 to 2,537, over Sun Pipeline No. 2 2,639 to 2,275, and over Jackson Motor Sales by forfeit.

Victor Dieke of Sun Oil No. 2 rolled high three lines with a score of 621, followed by R. A. Wiggs of Newman's with 579 and Terry Holt of the Goss team with 561.

Tuesday night, Newman's will meet Snyder Wholesale and Sun Pipeline No. 2 will play Goss Car Lot. On Wednesday, Jackson Motor Sales will play Sun Oil No. 2 and Sun Oil No. 1 will clash with Chuck Wagon, while on Thursday, Lewis-Burney will meet Williams Jewelry and Permian Mud will be matched with Sun Pipeline No. 1.

Reagan White paced the Tigers with 12 each.

Plainview dropped Brownfield 53-45 in the other semi - final game, playing close ball until the final minutes, led by Rex Jordan with 22 points. Friday afternoon, they had edged Seminole in the first round 63 - 57.

Levelland took the Brownfield B 74-50 and Seminole took O'Donnell 62-43 in consolation matches. Levelland and Seminole were to meet for consolation finals last night.

Satchel Paige With Browns

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10 (AP) —Leroy (Satchel) Paige, the eternal youth signed his 1953 contract with the St. Louis Browns today midst the usual joshing about his age and some joking about his retirement.

As he has done to eager, restless batters at the plate, Paige kept the Browns waiting. He showed up 45 minutes late—he had trouble parking his car—but then quickly signed his third contract as a Browns pitcher.

Not just any Browns pitcher, but the best they had in 1952. He won 12, lost 10—mostly in relief—for his winningest year since coming to the major leagues in 1948. Browns Owner Bill Veeck was in charge of Cleveland then and Satch helped the Indians to the world championship. When Veeck took over the Browns in mid-51, Satch was one of the first players he signed.

For this new contract Paige reportedly will receive about $25,000 or $30,000. The Browns, more willing to talk than their contemporaries, will tell you "it's in excess of $25,000, but not quite $30,000."

At that rate the Negro righthander is one of the top paid Brownie players.

It appeared to be just another business day for Paige, who drives a Cadillac for pleasure and a Willys station wagon for contract signings. He stretched his long, lean frame and sat back in the boss's plush chair.

"Don't let's start guessing my age again," he began as reporters reached for their pads. "The way you talk you'd think I was the only one who knew."

Actually, Paige probably is the one person who does know. The guesses range from as low as the early 40s to 60.

Much of the talk today concerned Paige's four-week-old son, Veeck's wife, Mary Frances, made a Browns uniform in miniature for the youngster—complete with hose, shirt and rubber-lined rompers with hip pockets. The numeral on the back of the shirt was "No. 70."

"That's the year Satch will retire, 1970," said Veeck. "Then the boy will take over for us."

Tigers Try For Tourney Third

The Snyder Tigers and the Brownfield Cubs were to have played for third place in the Brownfield tourney last night as Denver City and Plainview advanced to the finals.

Denver City, the Class A monster that is hardly ever beaten, edged out the Tigers 60-53 Friday night in the semi-finals after the Tigers had defeated the Brownfield B team in the first round.

The two teams were tied up 15-15 at the end of the first period, but Denver City gradually pulled away, leading 29-26 at the half and 43-40 as the third period ended.

Charles Ward, Eli Casey, and Clarence Reed led the Denver City squad to the win, with Ward taking 17 points and the other two tallying 14 each. Joe Cargile and

"Sergeant" originally meat "foot soldier," but it has come to mean a non-commissioned officer.

Pete Fleming Drops Behind

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 10 (AP)—Punching Pete Fleming, the ex-boxer turned golf professional, couldn't stand the pace after leading the first round of the 54-hole $10,000 Bing Crosby pro-amateur tournament.

The 35-year-old Hot Springs, Ark., native, playing out of St. Andrews, Ill., posted a second score of 74 today aiter his pace-setting six under par 66 yesterday.

Fleming's two round total of 140 put him into a tie among early finishers today with Milon Maurusic of Herkimer, N. Y., who added a good three under par 69 to his first round 71.

Fleming switched to the tougher Cypress Point Course after stroking the Monterey Peninsula Country Club layout yesterday.

He had to scramble today to finish two over par for the round.

Marusic, who scored a hole-in-one in last year's Crosby event, played the par 35-37—72 Monterey Peninsula Country Club course today. He shot 33-36 on the 37-35—72 Cypress Point layout. Yesterday he carded 36-35.

Gene Webb, St. Louis, turned in his second 71 in two days for a 36-hole total of 142. Webb played his second round at Cypress Point

The more than one hundred pro-amateur teams alternated courses over the first two days. The low 60 teams, after today's round, will battle it out in tomorrow's final 18 at Pebble Beach.

Webb, paired with amateur Col. I. F. Wintermute, Hamilton (Calif.) Air Force Base, held the early lead in the pro-amateur competition with a two-day best ball of 61-63—124.

Sammy Baugh Speaker At Hermleigh Banquet

Sammy Baugh, who retired after the football season from professional football, was speaker last night at a Hermleigh football team and pep squad banquet.

Baugh, after retiring from the Washington Redskins, accepted a coaching position at Hardin - Simmons University. His home is in Rotan.

About 80 persons attended the banquet.

Stagg Still Hospitalized

STOCKTON, Calif., Jan. 10 (AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg was to have left Dameron Hospital today, but attaches decided to keep the 90-year-old football coach over the weekend "to let him rest."

NCAA Gives Itself Powers To Enforce Self-made Rules

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The National Collegiate A. A. shined up its still-new policeman's star today by taking on added powers to punish member colleges which stray beyond the bounds of the organization's principles for athletic conduct.

Continuing the movement begun a year ago in Cincinnati to put the NCAA back into the enforcement business, delegates to the 47th annual convention voted to make the NCAA council virtually the prosecutor and jury in handing out punishment, short of suspension or termination of membership.

This wasn't done without some lively objections from a few Southern members and a couple of checks were put on the council's powers. This top policy-making group of the association will be entitled to act only on the recommendations of the membership committee, and its actions will be subject to review by the convention.

They were joined by a few others, but when it came to a vote on the key amendment to the constitution, it was passed by a 135 to 15 margin.

Van Leer objected to the whole philosophy of trying to discipline colleges on a national basis, arguing that the conferences had a hard enough time trying to keep order in much slimmer groups. Heard called the legislation "the old sanity code dressed up in a new suit."

The sanity code, the association's initial effort to formulate and enforce definite rules of conduct, was voted out of existence two years ago. Last year certain enforcement powers were granted to the council and to its enforcement arm, the membership committee. Today's action extended those powers.

This legislation was passed after the convention had turned down a Big Ten effort to increase spring football practice time to 30 sessions; had listened to a special committee's report calling for even shorter seasons and practice periods and had heard the membership committee's warning that if the NCAA didn't police itself, other agencies would step in to do the job. This was a particular reference to the president's committee of the American Council on Education, which drew up a stiff set of rules for athletics last spring and called upon the NCAA and the academic accrediting agencies to take over enforcement.

As a result of the membership committee's work the council already has dealt out punishment to three universities and 10 other cases are under consideration. The convention gave a rubber stamp vote of approval to the actions against the University of Kentucky, Bradley University and Midwestern University.

In the first real contest for the presidency in about a decade, Dean A. B. Moore, head of the University of Alabama law school, was elected to succeed Hugh C. Willett, University of Southern California president, who has served three terms. Moore's opponent was William H. McCarter, Dartmouth athletic director. The NCAA never has had an athletic director as president but the vote this time was a close one, 81-72.

Loraine Rocks Cards For 45-35 Loss Friday

The Hermleigh Cardinals dropped a cage game to the Loraine Bulldogs 45-35 Friday night.

Joe Ed Coldeway paced the Bulldogs with 23 points, while Houston Stahl, Wendell Goodman, and Floyd Hacker each hit eight for Hermleigh.

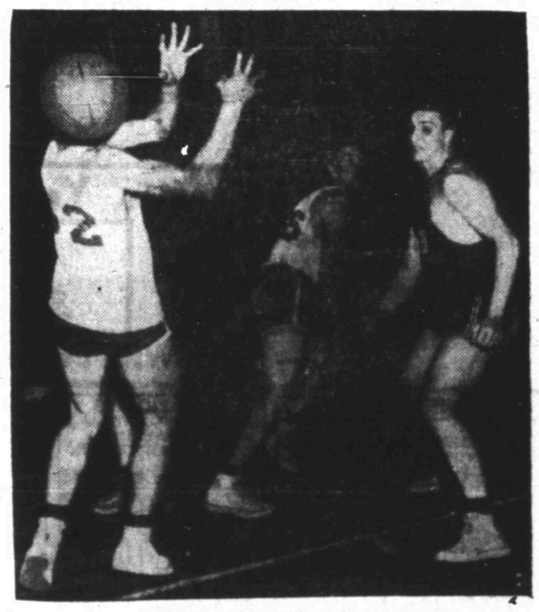

Hermleigh was ahead when the first period ended 12-11, but Loraine was in the lead 20-15 at the half and 30-24 when the third period ended.

Davey Thinks He'll Win Gavilan's Title

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10 (AP)—Chuck Davey, training here for his Tuesday night bout with Johnny Williams, New York welterweight, said today he feels he has an excellent chance to win the welterweight title from Kid Gavilan when they collide in Chicago Feb. 11.

"I figure my speed can beat him," said Davey, "But I agree he also is fast and can take a tremendous punch. Of course it won't be easy, but I'm sure I can whip him."

Davey will go to New York next Thursday to receive Boxing's Progress Award, then to Chicago to begin training at Tam O'Shanter Country Club for the title bout.

BALL GOES TO HEAD

John Hawkins, it appears, has let basketball go to his head, to the surprise of his Belivar High School teammates. Actually, Hawkins, No. 52, missed a pass and the camera caught the action to make it appear that basketball had replaced his head. Malesus High School won the game played at Jackson, Tenn., 55-50.

Trees, Plants, Grass Make Oil Fields Resemble Parks

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10 (AP)—To be good neighbors, some California oil companies are dolling up their producing fields to look like landscaped parks.

Pumping installations have been rendered odorless, noiseless—even invisible. Drilling operations have been soundproofed.

The idea of beautifying oil fields began getting serious condieration after the war when companies decided to tap pools underlying populated areas.

The firms predicted—correctly—that home owners would be hostile toward the clatter and whine of unsightly equipment and the unpleasant aroma of oil fresh from the ground.

IMPROVEMENTS COSTLY

Eliminating these nuisances meant adding thousands of dollars to the cost of each well. But the companies felt the extra dollars would be well spent because they would pay dividends in community good will.

A pioneer in the art of glamorizing oil wells was the Union Oil Co. of California. It has prettied up nearly 100 wells drilled in La Habra Heights, a district of ranches and fine homes east of Los Angeles.

Union says the opposition it met when drilling plans were announced has almost completely disappeared because residents found their fears of gushers, jungles of derricks, fires, dust and odors were groundless.

WELLS HIDDEN

Instead of spacing wells at intervals over the surface, drill sites were located wherever possible behind hills or in canyons. And the wells were clustered in "drilling islands," squares perhaps 200 by 300 feet, then angled outward from the center.

Access roads were surfaced with material that neither grinds into dust nor churns into mud. Truck travel was restricted to daylight hours.

Before drilling began, all noisy equipment was enclosed in soundproof material—fireproofed canvas padded with glass wool. Even the towering derricks were "dressed."

SOME IN CELLARS

After that, sounds that might have carried a mile were barely audible 100 feet away.

When drilling was completed, pumping equipment was also carefully soundproofed. Electric instead of internal combustion motors were used. Machines that vibrated got special padding. Pumps were sealed so odors could not escape.

Some units close to dwellings were installed in underground concrete "cellars," covered with an iron grating for ventilation.

Units on the surface were painted neutral shades so they blended with the landscape. Some were screened with lattice fences, others by rows of trees. Grass and shrubs were planted nearby and sprinkling systems installed.

DRILL ON STUDIO LOT

The art of soundproofing wells has progressed so far that one has won permission from 20th Century-Fox to drill on the studio's company, Universal Consolidated, back lot, less than half a mile from sound stages where movies are made.

However, after receiving complaints from hundreds of nearby residents, the City Planning Commission denied the firm's drilling application. An appeal is now before the City Council.

Universal now faces a public relations job similar to the one Union carried out in La Habra Heights.

Union reports, however, that one La Habra resident, who had watched workers plant a row of trees to hide pumping units from his front porch view, wasn't happy.

He asked that the trees be removed so he could see the pumps. Said the sight of their silent up and down motion intrigued him.

Runnels Producer

G. B. Cree No. 3 H. A. Stephens, lower Fry discovery two miles east of the Cree - Sykes field of Northeast Runnels County, has been completed for a daily flowing potential of 384 barrels of 42.2 - gravity pipeline oil. Gas ratio was 1,226 - 1.

Production was through a 20-64-inch choke and from perforations between 3,782 feet and 3,788 feet in seven-inch casing cemented at 3,847 feet. Plugged back depth is 3,847 feet and total depth is 4,070 feet.

Top of pay was picked at 3,773 feet on elevation of 2,015 feet.

Tubing pressure was 550 pounds with packer on the casing.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of C. A. Parker survey No. 16 and on a 338-acre lease.

Producer In Andrews

The Superior Oil Co. No. 5-11-C University has been completed as the second producer in the Block 11, Southwest - Devonian field of Southwest Andrews County.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 360.45 barrels of 41.7 - gravity oil through an 18-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,066 - 8,037 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 928-1.

Location is 660 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 27, block 11, University Lands survey.

It is a northwest stepout to the discovery well of the field.

Dawson County Wildcat Set East Of Lamesa

Cyprus Mines Corp. and Union Oil Co. of California have located a wildcat in Southeast Dawson County 2 miles southeast of Lamesa.

It is the No. 1 J. O. Goodson, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 44-33-15n-T&P.

Rotary tools will begin by Jan. 20 to drill to 9,000 feet or a test of the Pennsylvanian lime.

Chavez Gas Discovery

Twelve miles southeast of Roswell and in Central Chavez Co., N. M., Kewanee Oil has a gas discovery in project at its No. 1 DeKalb-Federal.

Last gauge reported from the well was 500,000 down to 210,000 cubic feet of gas daily. The flow was based on a 10-hour flow from perforations in five and one-half inch casing at 6,058-6,075 feet opposite the Devonian.

Hole is bottomed at 6,278 feet in the Ellenburger and plugged back to 6,150 feet.

Operator was preparing to acidize the perforaitions. The above gauge was natural.

Location is 735 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 25-11s-28e.

Crude, Refined Imports Cause Concern Among Producers

WASHINGTON, Jan 10 (AP)—Once again imports of foreign oil are causing producers grave concern.

Steadily mounting shipments of both crude and refined products from Venezuela and the Middle East have renewed fears. They had been quieted with the heavy demand that was brought on by outbreak of the Korean War.

Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said the situation would be discussed next week by a meeting of the executive committee of his organization.

Observing that imports now have reached a rate of more than a million barrels of crude per day, Brown said that during the past six months the runs of foreign oils to East Coast refineries have exceeded those of crude from wells on the U. S. mainland.

The Iranian situation further complicates the problem.

Should an agreement be reached between the British and Iran which will permit a reopening of the fields in that part of the world, the output will have to seek a market somewhere. Stepped up production from other parts of the Middle East partially absorbed the loss of production from Iran.

Interior Secretary - Designate Douglas McKay, visiting the Department he will head after Jan. 20, has held his opening conference with officials of the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

He met with PAD executives to learn about the responsibilities and duties that he will assume, at least nominally, as PAD administrator.

The PAD says that production of enough 100-octane gasoline still is a serious problem, notwithstanding the fact that recent inventories appeared to reflect an abundance of the fuel.

The distorted picture resulted when several tankers of aviation gasoline happened to arrive almost simultaneously at the points where stocks were checked, and before they moved on down the distribution channels. Production figures on avgas are kept secret.

Tidelands oil bills dumped in the congressional hoppers at the opening of the new session show a sharp division of opinion among state ownership advocates as to how far they should go in pressing their claims.

The difference, in the opinion of Sen. Holland (D-Fla), could delay passage of legislation.

The Floridian, backed by 39 other senators, reintroduced his bill of last session giving the States clear title to the submerged coastal lands for a distance of three miles out from shore (10½ miles in the case of Texas and the Florida Gulf Coast because of conditions under which they entered the union).

The measure is the same as that which President Truman vetoed last year.

Texas Co. Suit To Be Shepperd's First Case

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (AP)—A multi-million-dollar suit against the Texas Co., first major state case to be handled by new Atty.-Gen. John Ben Shepperd, will go to trial Monday in Corpus Christi.

The case involves more than one million dollars in previous oil income and additional millions in future potential production from more than 40 wells on 4,000 acres in Duval County.

Chief question is whether a conveyance to the Texas Co. made by a surface owner in Duval County was mineral deed or an oil and gas lease.

Shepperd said the early conveyance purported on its face to be a mineral deed. Previous Supreme Court opinions have held such conveyance is unconstitutional.

If the state recovers the funds, the money would go to the permanent school fund.

John Peace, executive assistant attorney general will try the case for the state and will be assisted by former First Assistant Charles D. Mathews.

New Schleicher Site

cation for a 6,500-foot project one-half mile south and slightly east to the discovery well of the Butler-Canyon field of Northeast Schleicher County.

It will be drilled as No. 1-72 T. C. Meador, 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 72, block H, GH&SA survey and 15 miles northeast of Eldorado.

It is on a 321-acre tract. Estimated elevation at drillsite is 2,440 feet. Drilling will start in the near future.

Reeves Wildcat Set

Magnolia Petroleum Co. staked location for a 5,500-foot Delaware wildcat in Northeast Reeves Co. as No. 2 J. Marvin Rape.

The project will be drilled 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south of section 24, block C-12 north of Magnolia No. 1 Rape, 12,500-foo wildcat which had shows for possible commercial production in the Delaware.

No. 1 Rape was bottomed at 5,649 feet running a drillstem test.

Andrews Exploration

Western Drilling Co., Inc., and Tobe Foster of Lubbock No. 1 W. Crenshaw is to be drilled as a Central Andrews County.

Location is 330 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines of section 8, block A-46, psl survey. It is one-half mile south of the Shafter Lake, South - Yakes field which produces at average total depth of 3,100 feet.

No. 1 Crenshaw will test for production in the Glorietta.

Stonewall Try Fails

T. F. Hunter of Wichita Falls No. 1 Mary B. Lopez wildcat in West- Central Stonewall County, has been plugged and abandoned at 6,805 feet.

Location was 660 feet from south and west lines of section 201, block D, H&TC, survey and four and one-half miles west of the Lake Aspermont field.

Fever Takes 20 Lives

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 10 (AP)—The director of Brazil's Health Department announced today an outbreak of jungle yellow fever has claimed 20 lives since it started more than a month ago.

Ector Oiler Completing

Tubing was being run for completion at Texas Texas Gulf No. 1 Headlee, flowing discovery from the Ellenburger in Central - East Ector County two miles west of the Midland County line.

The project, bottomed at corrected total depth of 13,313 feet, has not developed formation water.

Last drillstem test taken, completed late Thursday, was in the interval from 13,256 to 13,313 feet (corrected).

Tool was open four hours. Operator used a 1,530-foot water cushion. Gas surfaced in 55 minutes at the rate of 41,000 cubic feet daily. No oil surfaced. Recovery was 1,530 - foot water cushion cut with oil and 7,000 feet of free oil. No formation water was found.

Open flowing bottomhole pressure ranged from 1,045 to 2,325 pounds and shutin pressure after 30 minutes was 5,910 pounds.

Operator started running tubing Friday morning. Open hole section from 13,106 to 13,313 feet will be washed with mud acid, primarily to clearout lost circulation materials. First swabbing gauge probably will be taken late Friday.

The Ellenburger was topped at 13,076 feet, derrick floor elevation 2,914 feet. Bottom of the hole is 237 feet into the Ellenburger. Drillstem tests taken indicate the full open hole section is productive. Operator believes the section of the Ellenburger section cased off also is productive.

The wildcat had flowed as high as 50 barrels of oil per hour from the open hole section.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 8, block 41, T-2-S, T&P survey. It is three and three-quarters miles northeast of Odessa.

A one-location north offset to Texas Gulf No. 1 Headlee has been staked by the same concern.

It will be drilled as No. 2 E. V. Headlee, at the center of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 8, block 41, T-2-S, T&P survey.

It is slated for a 13,500-foot bottom.

No. 1 Headlee, flowing discovery from the Ellenburger, was not taken to the Ellenburger water table. Operator plans to core No. 2 Headlee to that point.

Midland Completions

Magnolia Petroleum Co. reported potential tests on two more Midland County Spraberry Trend Area wells.

The concern's No. 4-0 TXL was finaled for a daily flowing potential of 322 barrels of 38-gravity and from open hole at 7,096 - 7,310 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 517-1 and tubing pressure 200 pounds.

Pay was fractured with 15,000 gallons.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 43, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Magnolia No. 8 D. T. Bowles was finaled for a daily flowing potential of 409.97 barrels of 38.3-gravity oil through a 24-64-inch choke and from open hole at 7,055-7,265 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 610-1 and tubing pressure ranged from 300 to 325 pounds. Pay was fractured with 15,000 gallons.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 44, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Reports From Area Drilling

Humble No. 1 Coleman, wildcat reporting favorable shows in Northwest Mitchell County, produced 95 barrels of oil plus one per cent basic sediment with no water on a 24-hour pumping test.

The gas volume was too small to measure. Gravity was 27.7.

It is still testing on pump to complete.

Robinson Drilling Co. No. 1 J. H. Taylor, wildcat one mile west of Ira, cemented seven inch casing with 130 sacks at 2,952 feet.

Now on total depth of 3,160 feet in Permian lime, it will move off the rotary and move in cable tools to drill the plug and test the pay in the Permian.

Magnolia No. 2 Martin in the Kelley - Snyder field of Scurry County, recovered 25 feet of lime with no shows on a core at 7,468-493 feet. It is coring deeper.

Texaco No. 2 Fuller, North Scurry wildcat, is drilling at 7,550 feet in lime and shale.

I. Weiner & E. H. Hayward No. 1 Soloman, Northwest Mitchell wildcat, is drilling at 2,212 feet in lime.

Stepout In Andrews

The Texas Co. spotted location for a five-eighths-mile southwest Andrews, Northeast - Demonian field in Northeast Andres County

The project will be drilled as No. 1-AE State, 660 feet from north and 2,004 feet from west lines of section 6, block 8, University Lands survey. It is slated for a 13,500-foot bottom, starting at once.

Texas Still Major Reserve Area For World's Oil Supply

By The Associated Press

New oil fields opened up in other areas but Texas easily retained its status last year as the world's major storehouses of petroleum.

Production passed the billion-barrel mark for the second time in history.

The thick, black liquid from beneath the ground piped an estimated $3,705,000,000 into the state's business arteries.

It flowed fast enough to fill some 2,815,900 barrels a day.

That's about 700,000 barrels daily greater than the rate of the entire Middle East, some 300,000 more than all Western Hemisphere nations outside the U. S.

The total production of 1,168,000,000 barrels during the year was almost half—45 per cent—of U. S. output and more than twice the estimated production of Russia and her satellites.

PRODUCTION INCREASES

These are estimates of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., based on U. S. Bureau of Mines figures.

And the association says there were 139,629 producers at the end of 1952, an increase of 7,162 over 1951. There were 570 more separate fields, bringing the total to 3,241.

An estimated 163,000 Texans made their living in some segment of the oil industry, up 9,900.

But Texas Mid-Continent says other year-end statistics could spell rougher times for Texas oil and gas producers.

Three Wildcats In West Texas Plugged

Three wildcats in West Texas have been plugged and abandoned.

Woodward & Co. of Dallas No. 2 Corbett, North offset to a Clear Fork discovery in Central - South Upton County, was plugged at total depth of 6,220 feet.

Location was 660 feet from north and west lines of southwest quarter of section 11, block B-2, south of Hankin. It was three miles northeast of the Crockett field.

D. E. Vasser of Natchez, Miss., has quit No. 1 Eula Elkins at 8,615 feet. It was in the Adair-Wolfcamp field of Central -South Terry County.

No. 1 Elkins was 660 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 5, block C-37, psl survey and 15 miles south of Brownfield.

Oastrell No-1 Alvin H. Grove, wildcat in North - Central Tom Green County, is bottomed at 2,747 feet in Wichita - Albany and has been plugged and abandoned after encountering sulphur water.

Location was 330 feet from south and 1,650 feet from east lines of tract 61, section 2, GC&SF survey and seven miles north of San Angelo.

Oil Well Completions Less Than Last Year's

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (AP)—Oil well completions totalled 199 this week, two less than for the first week of last year, the Texas Railroad Commission reported today.

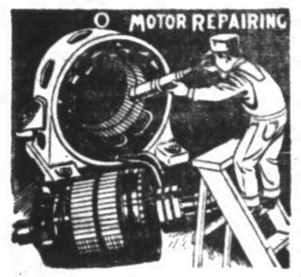

Completed gas wells lagged far behind the year-ago figure, 2 to 21.

There were 167 dry holes, 55 more than the comparable week of 1952.

Wildcat drilling brought in five oil wells, one gasser, 97 dry holes.

Plugs went in 167 dry, 3 gas, and 53 oil wells.

What your city tax dollars are spent for, the theme of this picture story, is partly shown by the new police cars above which were purchased late last year. Income of the department in fines is about $20,000 annually now, about one-half what it was during the big boom years. All fine money goes into the city's general fund and helps pay expenses of the city, including the cost of maintaining police equipment and police salaries.

One of the dead weights of the city tax payers is the fire department, four trucks and the main fire station of which are shown above. Although the fire department has no income, last year the number of fires inside the city and a total amount of insured losses were cut to just about half of what they were for the previous year. In the five-year average on which fire insurance rates are based, this cut in fire losses will be reflected as big income from the fire department, if the losses are kept down. VOL. 3, No. 219 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JANUARY 11, 1953 SECTION TWO

Local Taxes Are Spent To Preserve Health, Peace And Credit Of City

Along about this time each year taxes of all kinds become due and during this month city taxes, like many others, are due and payable.

Although about 75 per cent of the city taxes due now were paid before Jan. 1, 1953, some still must pay them.

Shown here are the things done with each city tax dollar to give some idea of what benefits are derived by the citizens from paying the city taxes.

Of the $165,800 in taxes assessed last year, $122,500 had been paid by the end of December. Since then about $2,550 have been collected, J. D. Scott, assessor - collector, said.

Here's what you get for your tax dollars in Snyder.

A big chunk of the money paid into the city in the form of taxes goes into the interest and sinking fund on bonded indebtedness of the city. To be exact, 30 per cent of all city taxes collected goes into that fund. That is 45 cents of each $1.50 assessed. The tax rate here is $1.50 per $100 valuation.

If 90 per cent of the assessed taxes are collected for a total of $149,270, that amount paid on interest and principal of bonded debts will be $44,781 this year.

Most of the bonds voted by the city have been for visable improvements such as the 157 blocks of city streets paved in the past two years, and extension of water and sewer mains to outlaying residential districts.

Last year 90 per cent of the assessed taxes had been paid by the end of January before any penalty for late payment went into effect.

On Jan. 27, 1951, the voters of Snyder voted "wet" by a 16-1 margin for the first and only time in recent history. But the "wet" vote then was for issuing $600,000 in bonds for construction of a water filtration plant and extension of the water system in Snyder, so that Snyder could take advantage of the water supply offered by the Colorado River Municipal Water District from Lake Thomas in Southwest Scurry County.

Paying a little each year toward retirement of the outstanding bonds issued by the city for improvements the city is now $1,456,000 in debt, but has paid $148,000 of the original total of $1,604,000.

Not all of the amount was issued at once, however. Many of the bonds are nearing retirement, and others are progressing at the anticipated rate of retirement.

Outstanding bonds, the original total issued, amount paid, and the amount still owed are:

Water works and sewer revenue bonds, dated Feb. 1, 1951, and due in 1980, original issue totaled $750,000, $26,000 paid, and $724,000 still owed.

Street improvement bonds, series 1950, original total $200,000. To be paid by 1975, with $8,000 paid and $192,000 still owed.

Permanent improvement bonds, series 1950, $200,000 issued, $10,000 paid, $190,000 still due, and to be retired in 1975.

Water works expansion bonds totaling $150,000, $5,000 paid, and $145,000 still due to be paid by 1981.

Street improvement bonds dated Jan. 1, 1925, $47,000 issued, $25,000 paid, and $22,000 still due.

Water and Sewer refunding bonds dated Feb. 1, 1938 totaling $37,000 with $23,000 paid, and $14,000 still owed, to be paid by 1959.

Refunding bonds issued Jan 1, 1944 in the amount of $70,000, with $36,000 paid and $34,000 due by 1958.

Street improvement bonds issued in 1947 in the amount of $25,000, with $5,000 paid, and $20,000 due by 1971.

Water works improvements bonds totaling $50,000 with $5,000 paid, and $45,000 due to be paid by 1971.

And Sewer system improvement bonds totaling $75,000, with $5,000 paid, and $70,000 due by 1975.

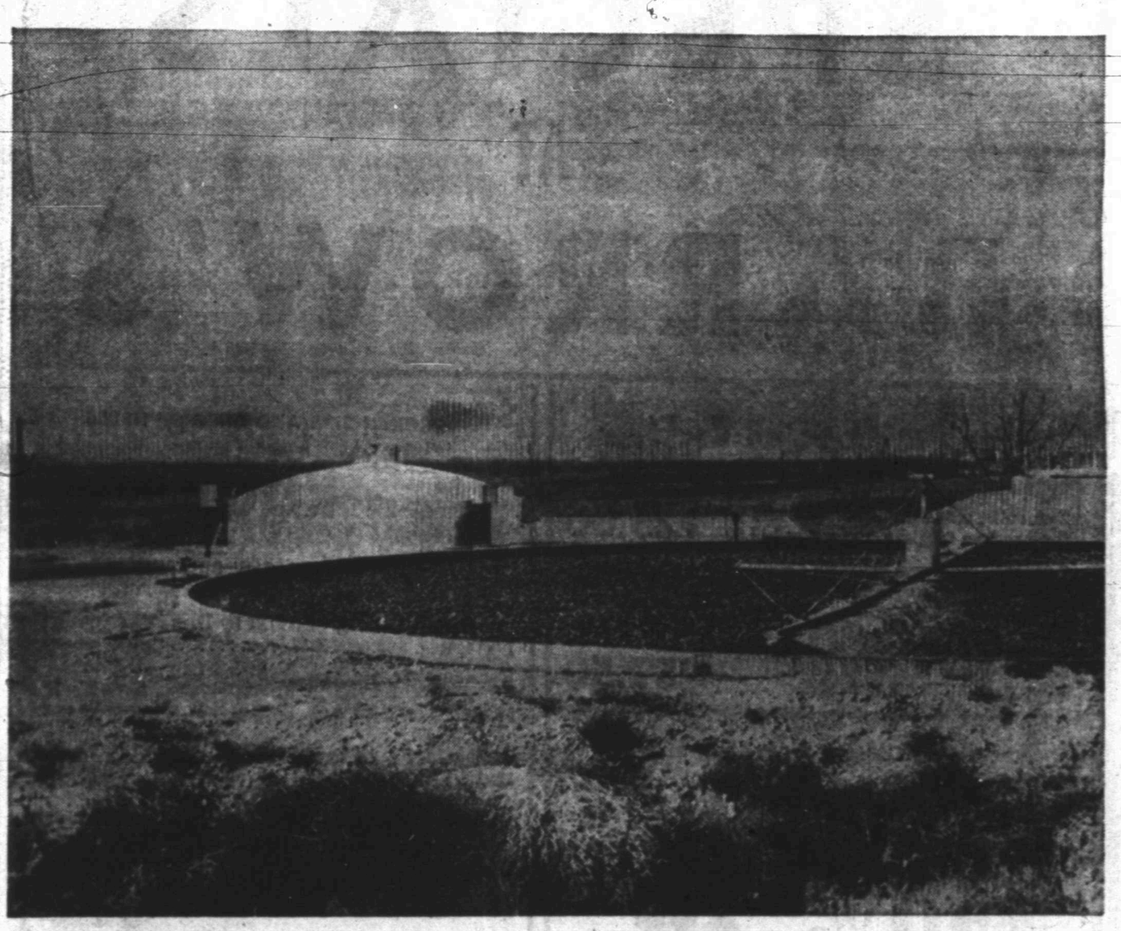

But the bonded indebtedness of the city costs only 30 per cent of the tax dollar.

The other 70 per cent is required for day-to-day operation of the many departments of the city.

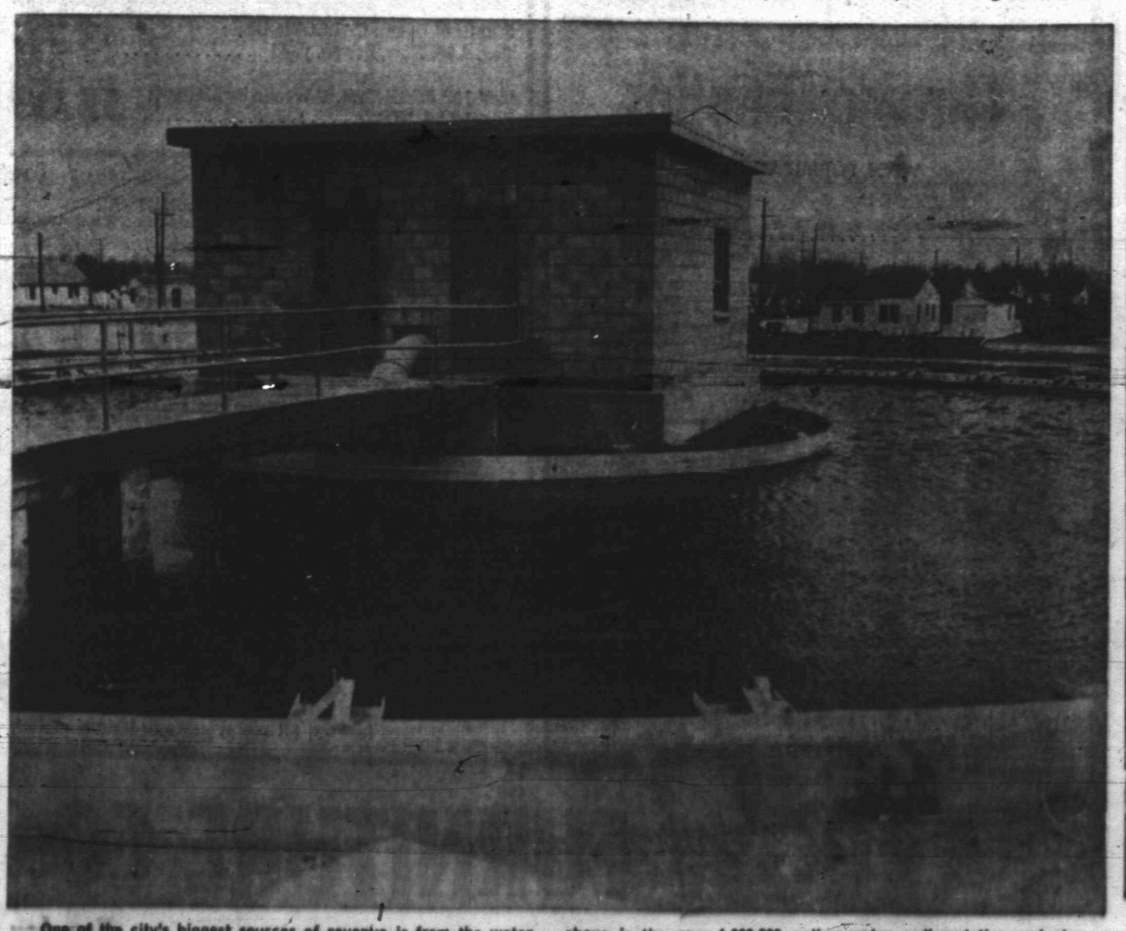

Some of the departments, such as the water and sewer departments, are selfsupporting. Income from the water and sewer departments, including fees for building permits, plumbing permits, and other charges made for services of the departments such as installing meters, and meter deposits for last year totaled $233,565.63.

Much of the money taken in by the water and sewer department was spent for producing water, and for paying the salaries of employes

One of the many conveniences provided by the municipality is the city sewage disposal plant above. Although a sewer charge is made, maintenance of the department sometimes exceeds the income, requiring tax dollars to make up the difference. But the general health of the citizens of the city, as well as everyday convenience, is dependent upon the sewer system to a great extent.

One of the city's biggest sources of revenue is from the water department. Recently loans from the water department to the city general fund were necessary to keep the city in the black. Shown above is the new 1,000,000 gallon water sedimentation and storage tank at Avenue M and Thirty-third Street built to equip the city for use of water from Lake Thomas.

The Caterpillar grader above is a part of the city street maintenance equipment. This department of the city is wholly tax supported, and almost altogether from the city general fund into which all property tax money goes. Only a few automobiles are rendered for city taxes, but many use the streets.. In the past two years almost all of the unpaved streets have been caliched, and 18 blocks of new pavement has been laid by the city.

american designers' patterns

Vincent Monte Sano has designed a cape that can be made in tweed, poodle cloth and fur. The wrap is cut as to allow arms to be covered without actually having sleeves. The back is loose up to the hipline then curves in for a close hug to afford a blouse-like effect. Neck interest centers around turn-back revers and another focal point of attraction is a sleeve band which overlaps and is buttened towards the back. The pattern is available in the designer's own sizes of small, medium, large. If body measurements are bust 33-34 inches and hips 35-36 size small will fit. Medium size is for busts 25-26 and hips 37-38. Large size fits busts 37-38 and hips 39-40. The small cape requires two yards of 54-inch fabric with nap.

Phillip Mangone plus feminine grace in this suit by the way he handles the soft shoulderline flattery and the tiny waistseling accentuated by the tapered double breasted closing and allure in the curve of the padded hip line. The skirt is reed slim, but has a deep kick pleat in back for walking ease. Tweeds are sweeping the country in a panarama of colors and there is no limit to your choice. For color contrast trim the shawl collar in velveteen or linen. Size 12 requires three and three-eighths yards of 54-inch material for the suit and the contrasting collar takes one-fourth yard of 35-inch velveteen. The pattern is available in standard pattern sizes of 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. To order either pattern send $1 to Spadea Syndicate Inc, Dept. 163, Box 535, General Post Office, New York 1, N. Y. For airmail send 25 cents. To order pattern booklet, Volume No. VII, send 15 cents. All patterns delivered within one week.

Joan Leslie Isn't 'Nice' Girl In Movies Anymore

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"If I had it to do over again, I wouldn't do it."

This was Joan Leslie talking about her epic four-year struggle to escape her contract at Warner Brothers. It has been a few years since she won her freedom, and she has had time to evaluate the experience.

You may recall that the actress sued to end her contract with the studio after she passed 21. Part of her reasoning was that she could void a contract entered into while she was a minor. The case was bitterly fought through various courts.

"I wouldn't do it that way again," she admitted. "I would have tried to settle the matter in a friendly way, without the bitterness. As it turned out, I won the case just about a month before my contract would have been over.

"I was able to do only three pictures in those four years. Naturally, that hurt my career. In this business you have to remain before the public or else you suffer."

Miss Lesslie has done well in the job of rebuilding her career. She recently signed a deal for two pictures a year with Republic. The contract permits her to do outside films, and she is currently appearing with John Agar in a movie for the Ford Theater on TV, made by Screen Gems.

In the picture, she has a sequence which is a departure from the things she has usually done. She usually plays a "nice" girl (she hates that adjective when applied to her). But in the TV film, she hangs her clothes on a limb and takes a bath in a lake while the embarrassed Agar stands nearby.

"I've gone as far in this film as I ever have before in pictures," she remarked.

But she added emphatically that she has no desire to follow in the dainty footsteps of Hedy Lamarr and Marilyn Monroe.

"I'll admit I got a little tired of playing so many 'nice' girls at Warners," she commented. "But I have no desire to play bad girls or to get the sexy kind of build-up.

"As for men, they may get a thrill from seeing an exciting kind of woman on the screen. But fundamentally they like the kind of girl they would feel like marrying."

Women Juror Issue Is Due Before State Legislature

By DOLORES KETCHERSID

Most Snyder citizens will probably vote for the right of women to sit on juries if the constitutional amendment gets past the legislature this session.

Miss Marie McCutcheon, Dallas attorney, is chairman of the Texas Citizens' Committee on Jury Service for Women who will ask the lawmakers to pass the amendment. If the legislators approve, it will be submitted to the voters of the state. Only Texas and five other Southern states deny the service to women.

Frank Sentell, newly elected state representative from this district, said he will vote for the amendment unless there is some provision that would make it impractical. Sentell said lack of facilities in courthouses for both men and women who must remain in jury service overnight has been one reason for keeping females out until now.

Sterling Williams, district judge, doesn't object to women sitting on a jury in his court. He said they should have the right whether it is good or bad. Williams pointed out jury service is not only a duty but a privilege.

Mrs. Wade Pipkin of 3705 Highland Drive said, if women are going to get tried by a jury they should certainly have the privilege of sitting on one.

But Gene Dulaney, local lawyer, thinks Texas isn't quite ready for the change. He said women might be too lenient for the criminal. Dulaney recalled a case in a Northern state where this happened when 11 women were serving on a jury.

"If we're going to vote I don't see why we shouldn't sit on a jury too," said Mrs. R. A. Schooling, 1815 Culespan. Nevertheless, Mrs. Schooling said she thought women did let their emotions influence their decisions. "I guess every woman could see her son in the shoes of the criminal," she admitted. She said that could be the reason females have been barred from the jury box up to date.

Pat Beene, attorney, defending the women said he believes they let their emotions influence them no more than men do. He said he would like to see them serve on juries when facilities are available.

"Women take a big interest in everything. They might as well do a little of the work. There's no fun in sitting on a jury," said R. B. Sears, Jr., of 2603 Avenue B. He added that he doubted if the women would be as conscientious as men about performing their public duty.

Mrs. Eunice Weatherbee, district court clerk, said jury duty for women might be impractical since some with children might have to be gone overnight. She thinks they are as capable as men, but said they are more emotional.

TAXES

of the departments. But much more of the income was spent for extending water and sewer mains, as well as for paying interest and principal on water and sewer improvement bonds.

The police department is partially tax supported and partially self supporting. Fines in corporation court go into the city general fund from which city police salaries and other expenses of the department are taken. During the boom years, the fines more than paid cost of operation of the department, but during the last year, fines have paid little more than half the total operating cost of the department.

During the last seven months of last year, fines totaled $12,802.50.

Other operations of the city are solely tax supported. The fire department has no income from fighting fires, and the street, bridge, and street light maintenance departments make no money from their operation.

20th Century Club Elects Officers; Latvia Discussed

Officers were elected by Twentieth Century Club members when Mrs. H. W. Cargile was hostess for the meeting Tuesday.

New officers, who will assume duties in September, are as follows: Mrs. John Hamblen, president; Mrs. Waldo Montgomery, first vice president; Mrs. Ben Weathers, second vice president; Mrs. Stanley Hill, recording secretary; Mrs. W. J. Ely, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Cargile, treasurer. Appointed officers are as follows: Mrs. J. E. LeMond, parliamentarian; Mrs. W.W. Watts, reporter, and Mrs. R. E. Gray, timekeeper.

Latvia was the topic studied with Mrs. E. N. Baker as program leader. Mrs. Watts and Mrs. Weathers told of Latvia as one of the oldest countries in Europe. They said scientists have uncovered evidence which indicates that people may have lived in the country since 3,000 B.C. Many of the present cities were established in the late 1200's, the women said. The Latvian language, a mixture of Latin and Greek, is one of the oldest languages spoken in Europe today, they said.

The nick folklore was discussed, and members were told that the Letts, Baltic peoples, were a hard-working family type. More than half of the Letts were members of Protestant churches. The land, once plentiful, is now an area of poverty and degradation, as Latvian workers are slaves of the Soviet. They told that Latvians have to certify in writing that they do not believe in God, although the underground movement in the Baltic nations is grapevining.

Mrs. Baker told of having a 52-year-old Latvian women, Miss Emma Gellas, as domestic help in her home in Big Spring for seven months. The woman, a displaced person, has since gone to a Philadelphia factory to be among other people of her nationality.

Refreshments were served to 17 members.

'Mother Of the Groom' To Be Reviewed Here

Mrs. M. J. Mayo of Fort Worth will review "Mother of the Groom' by Harriet Fitts Ryan for the Book Review Club which will meet at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Country Club.

A book in the lighter vein was chosen, since previous reviews had been of heavier historical novels, according to an officer. The book is the story of an average mother whose only son is married.

The guest reviewer is a former speech teacher and was formerly president of the Polytechnic Woman's Club in Fort Worth.

Ike Administration Near Ready To Quit Hotel For White House

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—One of the nation's busiest places these days is the sixth floor of a Manhattan hotel, the unofficial "White House" where Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration is coming to life in an orderly rush.

The swift pace there is set by Eisenhower himself, who will take office as president Jan. 20 with a high command all set to move into action.

The shift to Washington from temporary headquarters in New York's Commodore Hotel isn't likely to add many hours to the length of the working days Eisenhower and his staff have been putting in preparing to take over the government.

The hotel headquarters is perhaps unprecedented from the stand point of volume of advance work confronting an incoming administration.

The last time the White House changed party hands was in 1933 when Franklin D. Roosevelt moved in. The government the Democrats took over was much smaller than it is today.

And there probably never before has been anything quite like taking over most of one floor of a big hotel to serve as temporary headquarters for a new administration.

The Eisenhower headquarters has 53 rooms—a few of them on the seventh floor—serving as office space for a staff of 125 persons.

The operation cost reportedly is running between $25,000 and $30,000 a week.

The money is being raised by a special committee set up to solicit contributions from the public.

The government makes no provision for paying the pre-inauguration expenses of a new president.

Eisenhower usually arrives at his headquarters about 8:30 a.m., except on Saturday and Sunday. Accompanying him from his Columbia University home is a group of Secret Service men who took on protection of Eisenhower and his family right after the Nov. 4 election.

An entire wing of the sixth floor of the Commodore houses most of the general's staff. On that floor an elevator nearest the entrance to the wing has been fenced off from the rest of the corridor, and Eisenhower uses that car exclusively.

He almost always steps from the elevator with a cheery greeting for those on hand in the corridor and for the receptionist on duty just inside the fenced off area.

Eisenhower's office is down a long hall to the right of the elevator, and then to the left at the extreme end of another hall.

It's a small office with a simple desk that usually is clear of papers.

The walls are blue-green, the carpet gray and there are a half dozen pictures on the walls, most of them of birds.

On the desk is a marble-based "We like Ike," the gift of friends.

Eisenhower receives most of his callers in the office, but there is an attractive adjoining parlor for large groups.

The general's suite also includes a dining room and a pantry. He rarely goes outside the suite for lunch on a working day, and he usually has guests for the noon-time meal.

Just down the hall from Eisenhower are the offices of Herbert Brownell Jr., attorney general-designate who also is handling job patronage for the general, and Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, top assistant to the next President.

One floor above is the office of John Foster Dulles, who will be secretary of state. The seven other Cabinet members-designate do not have regular quarters at the hotel, but space is reserved for their use when they do call.

Mr. and Mrs. Amon Weaver, 3106 Hill Avenue, have as week - end guests her brother, G. N. Moulton and three children, Johnnie May, Geneva and Jack. Another brother, John R. Moulton, and Mrs. Moulton of Midland are also guests.

Denmark Ambassador Resigns Her Position

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The White House said today Mrs. Eugenie Anderson of Red Wing, Minn., has resigned as U. S. ambassador to Denmark. She has held the post three years.

Mrs. Anderson was the first woman to be an American ambassador.

Women Drivers Collide But Neither In Car

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 10 (AP)—A woman driver slipped into a parking space while another female motorist was maneuvering to back in and both had to be taken to a hospital for emergency treatment.

No, the cars didn't hit. The women did.

Patrolman William Jackson reported yesterday that Mrs. Evelyn Weinman suffered a bitten finger and Mrs. Renee Martin had two front teeth knocked out before spectators separated them.

Two Navy Pilots To Fly Into High 300-MPH Air Currents

PATUXENT, Md. Jan 10 (AP)—Two pilots at the Navy's big air test center here are launching the first systematic hunt for jet streams of air moving at up to 300 miles an hour high in the skies.

Purpose of their hunt is to locate exactly these ghost rivers of air and record scientific data about them.

They are the first men ever assigned to fly into the jet streams five miles up and attempt to tap their secrets.

The two fliers are Lt. Loren C. Whitney, who says his 11 years in the Navy makes it immaterial where he came from, and R. G. Kirschner of Omaha, Neb., one of the Navy's few enlisted pilots. Whitney is 28, Kirschner 29.

They are flying F3D Skyknights, night-fighting jets, on their search missions and their project hides behind one of those alphabetical jumbles which spells out to Air Research Operation Weather Analysis.

What is the mystery they are trying to help solve?

Apparently as old as the earth, it came to man's attention less than a decade ago.

B29 crews bombing Japan in World War II reported they had tangled with something strange at 20,000 to 30,000 feet. They would suddenly seem to hang still in the air. Just as suddenly their ground speed would jump to twice their air speed. The air outside their planes would register tropical warmth and change quickly to arctic cold.

Such reports grew more frequent as planes flew higher and higher. Meterologists started recognizing data on the phenomena in readings from the instruments attached to high-altitude weather balloons.

As evidence mounted, the scientists concluded narrow jet streams of air whip through the skies at speeds twice and three times as great as a hurricane.

Perhaps the jets are caused by warm air from the Equator colliding with frigid air from the polar regions.

It became possible to plot the general location and direction of the jet streams by readings from the high-altitude balloons. Their courses shift from day to day and week to week. Some days only two can be spotted over the entire Northern Hemisphere.

Whitney and Kirschner have the job of finding them, reporting their exact locations and flying through them at right angles.

Nine gauges and meters take measurements as they fly— altitude, temperature, barometric pressure, speed, direction, and so on. Cameras [illegible] dials of the nine instruments record the readings every five seconds.

Whitney and Kirschner call themselves the "drivers on the job." Their films will go to the University of Chicago for study and interpretation, under Dr. Herbert Riehl in the meterology department.

The pilots will cover the area from New England to Florida and the Atlantic west to Chicago in their hunt.

The project calls for flying four or five days a week, depending on the weather. Most of the flights probably will be 600 to 700-mile round trips out of Patuxent and back again. The most persistent jet stream pattern is across the Southern and Middle Atlantic states within easy reach of Patuxent, which is on Chesapeake Bay near the mouth of the Potomac.

Ore Deposits Wasting In UralMountains

MOSCOW, Jan. 10 (AP)—A prominent Russian scientist says Soviet planners are wasting the vast natural resources of the Ural Mountains through inefficient exploitation.

"It is time to change fundamentally the attitude toward the natural resources of the Urals," said Prof. N. Demenev, "to put an end to the lavish utilization of them."

Prof. Demenev is deputy chairman of the Praesidium of the Urals Subsidiary of the Academy of Sciences of the USSR.

The Urals—a low mountain range that roughly separates the European part of the Soviet Union from the Asian part—are one of the world's richest treasure houses of mineral resources.

Iron and manganese ores, coal, oil, asbestos, peat, bauxites, chromites, phosphorites, calcium and magnesia salts, copper, zinc, nickel ores, natural iron, fireproof clays and moulding earth, ceramic materials, glass sands, etc.

The Ural ore deposits are mostly polymetallic. They consist of complex sets of different elements regularly interrelated. Efficient utilization of these ores, requires that all the useful material be extracted.

"Unfortunately," said Demenev, "many business organizations do not take into consideration this elementary requirement of the businesslike approach to the operation of ore deposits. They ignore the necessity of all-round utilization of raw ore deposits."

He said the basic cause of the non-economic treatment of raw material resources, of the disregard for production "waste," is that the executive planning organs still do not take into account the necessity of including in the gross output of the factories all the by-products which can be and must be obtained during the reprocessing of the composite raw materials.

"The volume of lumbering in the Urals," said Demenev, "is extremely considerable now. However, the practical work of lumbering and the processing of wood are extremely unsatisfactory. Less than half the processed wood is used effectively.

"The unforgivable lack of co-ordination and the departmental approach to the utilization of timber resources on the part of the ministry of the timber industry and the ministry of the paper and pulp industry are the prime obstacle to the all round utilization of timber," he said.

Perkins Says GOP Offered No Opposition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — Frances Perkins, about to step out of a Washington career that began in 1933, says the Democrats were handicapped because the Republicans failed to present "a really good opposition" anytime during the Roosevelt-Truman era.

She has prepared her formal resignation as one of the three members of the Civil Service Commission and is already looking forward to resuming her career of social service in some other field. Following the swing of the political pendulum, she and hundreds of other Democratic policy - makers are clearing the way for Eisenhower-appointed successors.

The first woman Cabinet member—she served as secretary of labor from March 1933 to June 1945 — reminisced to a reporter about her eventful and frequently stormy career as one of the inner circle of Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal."

"We Democrats who came into office in 1933 were handicapped all through the period by the lack of a really good opposition," she asserted.

The Republicans' strategy, as she interpreted it, was to mount a last-ditch defense against most Democratic - sponsored measures, not bothering to try to modify them so they would be more acceptable to GOP members of Congress.

Miss Perkins contends a good opposition performs its highest functions when it presses for "constructive" amendments designed to tone down proposals which may seek to go too far too fast.

All such efforts, she says, should have as their aim the development of "a sound American policy."

"By that," she amplified, "I mean a policy which permits the greatest opportunity for a democratic pattern of life and at the same time recognizes the three coordinate branches of our government.

"Any idea — even one that you yourself think is wonderful—must be developed facing the fact that it must obtain the approval of Congress and be in line with what the courts have sanctioned."

Although Miss Perkins celebrated her 70th birthday last April, she has no intention of adopting a rocking-chair way of life.

Cuban Offical Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cuba's consul in Los Angeles, Dr. Juan Manuel de la Puente y Lopez, succumbed to a heart attack yesterday. He was 58.

Dr. Puente Lopez had been inspector general of all Cuban consuls in this hemisphere until 1951, when he was relieved at his own request and given the Los Angeles assignment.

Duke Looking For 50 Horses For Coronation Of The Queen

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Duke of Norfolk wants to borrow 50 horses, but not just any horses.

They must be bays, because they'll have to draw the royal carriages in the coronation procession of Queen Elizabeth II June 2—and only bays are judged strong and docile enough.

When he has found them, the poker-faced, 43-year-old duke can cross one more item off the long list on his desk.

Plenty of items remain on this list, for the duke, as hereditary earl marshal of England, is master of ceremonies for the whole of the coronation ceremony.

His job takes in royal funerals and weddings as well, but these are comparatively minor compared with the glittering pageantry that surrounds the crowning of a new monarch.

For this, the duke must decide who will be invited, what they will wear, where they will sit and check all details of the complicated ceremonial.

All the intricate problems—such as providing horses and coaches for the procession, deciding what troops shall line the route—eventually are referred to him.

He will even have to remember to put chairs and refreshments in the annex at Westminister Abbey so the Queen and her entourage can get through the long ceremony with the minimum of discomfort.

He won't have to bother about the actual religious ceremony—the Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, who performs the actual crowning, arranges that.

Neither will he have to worry about the actual decoration, furnishing, or provision for the public to see the procession. That's job of Minister of Works David Eccles, working under warrant from the duke.

He has plenty of precedent to guide him because he stage-managed the coronation of George VI in 1937. If he runs up against a particularly knotty problem, he probably can find the answer by diving in the family archives. The job has been in the family for nearly 300 years, ever since Charles II gave it to the sixth duke to pass on to his heirs.

But you can't run a modern coronation on a blueprint 300 years old, and the duke has already run against two problems his ancestors never dreamed of.

One—the problem of dress—he has solved to everyone's satisfaction.

Impoverished peers breathed a sigh of relief at the duke's edict that they can wear their robs of parliament and caps of state on the great day if they don't possess the plush coronation robes and coronets.

The other problem has been whether to televise the actual religious ceremony in Westminister Abbey.

The coronation Executive Committee, headed by the duke, drew howls of rage from television owners when it announced TV cameras would be switched off during the ceremony. So great was the outcry that the committee promised to think it over.

After a few weeks of bickering the committee lifted its ban on televising the crowning to permit the first TV coverage of an actual coronation. Only the most religious part of the ceremony—the anointing with holy oil, the communion prayers and the administration of the sacrament—will be barred.

A third problem—the part to be played by the Duke of Edinburgh—may be left for the Queen to solve.

Some Britons feel that the Duke of Norfolk, living the rarified atmosphere of court tradition, is out of touch with reality.

One noble lord—the Marquess of Bath—accused the duke of "singular lack of imagination" when the duke vetoed Lord Bath's proposal to drive up to the abbey for the coronation in his own private coach.

But these criticisms show no sign of disturbing the duke, who has the reputation of talking as little as possible, and keeping strictly to the point when he does.

The duke—a reputed multimillionaire who once remarked that money isn't everything—lives most of the time with his wife and four daughters in historic Arundel Castle in Southern England.

For all the trouble he takes in running the coronation pageantry smoothly, the duke gets 20 pounds ($56) a year—granted earl marshals since the 15th century.

He also is allowed after every coronation to take as his fee "the king's palfrey riding (horse) with harness and also the queen's, used by them at the coronation: the cloth spread behind the king at dinner, the chines (backbones) of all swans and cranes served up, and fines not above three shillings and four pence exacted on the day."

For the last century the earl marshal has left empty-handed. Kings and queens gave up riding to their coronation on palfreys in the 17th century. The state banquet that provided the cloth and the poultry was discontinued at the coronation of Elizabeth I.

Precious Metal Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has tapped Australia again for supplies of uranium, the precious metal of atomic research and development.

The government announced yesterday the signing of an agreement with Australia and the United Kingdom to purchase uranium mined from Australia's "Rum Jungle" near Darwin.

Wholesale Commodities

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Wholesale commodity prices declined slightly this week for the second week in a row—and the grains and cotton group sagged to a new 1952-53 low, according to the Associated Press commodity index.

At 177.45, the index compared with 178.10 last week end and 1937.66 a year ago. The base year of 1926 equals 100 in this weighted index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices.

Nearly $300,000 In Government Funds Come To Scurry Yearly By Direct Means

Scurry County appears to be getting a big hunk of the national tax revenue in salaries to federal employes and in aid to the farmers here.

Just how much of the federal budget comes here might be a wild guess, but heads of the various government offices here gave reports this month concerning pay to employes and amount of money spent here.

There are 48 permanent government employes working out of offices here, and there are at least 91 who could be considered temporary or part-time.

These employes draw salaries totalling at least $200,000—a sum of $183,000 or more to permanent employes, and more than $25,000 to temporary.

There are five federal agencies in this county, all with offices in Snyder. The largest is the post office, which is growing larger each year. Headed by H. D. Moreland, postmaster, it employes 34 permanent workers and about seven part - time workers during the Christmas season.

Permanent postal employes draw about $140,000 a year, while the temporary account for about $1,000.

SOIL CONSERVATION

The next largest in permanent staff is the Soil Conservation Service for Scurry and Borden County. It is led by Jake Hodges and has four permanent conservationists, as well as one trainee. During 1952, the permanent staff was paid about $14,000, while the trainee drew $3,100 during the time he was here.

The Production & Marketing Administration, is next in line with three permanent employes drawing a total of about $7,200 and one temporary at about $1,400 a year, according to Ireland Finley, PMA administrator. The one part-time employe is now working with government hay distribution to farmers and ranchmen here. In addition to that employe, the PMA pays elective county committeemen $8 and community committeemen $6 per day for the days they meet. The county committee meets two or more days a month while the community groups rarely meet.

The PMA is the agency used by the government to give money to farmers for adopting certain conservation programs. During 1952, the government used about $83,000 on PMA practices here, while about $73,700 will be used this year, according to a recent appropriation report.

3 FHA EMPLOYES

The Farmers Home Administration has three employes here for Scurry and Fisher Counties. The agency is headed by Robert Deaton. Employes of that office draw about $10,900 a year.

The National Guard has two permanent employes, WOJG L. B. McCravey, the administrative assistant, and M-Sgt. Acalee Kincaid, armory caretaker and first sergeant of the company. The unit is headed by Lt. Weldon Kincaid, who is not a full-time man.

The permanent staff is paid about $7,500 a year, while the rest of the unit, 82 men who drill about 63 days a year, including summer camp, draw about $20,200.

The smallest government agency here is the Scurry County Vocational School, headed by George Vicary. Both he and Frank Patterson are instructors for the 25 students. Vicary estimated their pay for 1953 will be about $3,600.

MOSTLY CIVIL SERVICE

Practically all the government agencies here are filled with civil service employes, who gained their jobs through examination. All post office employes are required to take examinations except star route carriers, who work by contract; part time workers, who are hired by the hour; and the janitor, who would be required to take an exam for his job if the building were owned by the government. The building used now is leased.

The postmaster is appointed after recommendation of a U. S. representative, but Moreland said he was hired on a promotional basis and had taken a civil service exam.

All Soil Conservation and FHA employes are required to take exams.

The PMA administrator, who is hired by the county committee upon recommendation of a district field representative, is not required to take a civil service exam, nor do his staff members. Office employes are hired by the administrator.

Veterans school instructors are appointed annually, as are regular school teachers, and do not take examinations.

None of the federal agency heads here say they expect changes locally because of the new administration taking over this year. Moreland commented that probably the only methods the Republicans would use to get a new postmaster is to wait until an old one resigns or retires. Finley said the GOP could not affect his job immediately because he is hired by a local committee.

He added that he believed the new administration would have to start at the top in Texas with the new secretary of agriculture appointing a new state PMA committee, who could in turn hire a new field man, who could recommend a Republican for the administrative post here.

CO-OPERATION HERE

The SCS and PMA work hand-in-hand in this area, their leaders say. While the PMA works in the interest of local farmers getting "Their share of the national income," as Finley puts it, the SCS serves as a technical help agency, advising farmers on cropping systems and conservation measures and checking and laying out the PMA practices.

In addition to administering the price support program through the Commodity Credit Corporation, the PMA promotes local practices and helps finance them. They include terrace, water diversion, and stock water dam building, deep-plowing, drilling wells to help provide better distribution of grazing on rangeland, summer legume planting and seeding adapted pasture grass, deferred grazing, control of distructive plants on pasture land, and chemical air spraying of mesquite.

Included in the PMA program this year was aid to the farmers with emergency hay. Until last week, the PMA had received 899 tons of hay for farmers here and had 400 more tons still on order.

The FHA, which does not lend any money to farmers without expecting its return, assists, through government loans, low income farmers who are unable to secure adequate financing from regular lending agencies. Included in their loan program in 1952 and continued for 1953 was emergency loans for farmers affected by the drouth here.

War Of Words Spreading In Philippines

MANILA, Jan. 10 (AP)—A psychological war against communism is being waged in the streets of the small communities in this island republic.

There has been only skirmishing so far. As more ammunition arrives from the Philippines capital and the United States the war will spread to every community where communism lurks.

The weapon is a community center where the uneducated masses of Filipinos will learn the meaning of freedom.

There are but three of these centers now. By the end of 1953 sponsors hope to have 100. They expect to see 50 more finished in 1954.

The program was launched by the National Movement for Free Elections (Namfrel), which helped to promote a clean election in The Philippines in 1951.

Namfrel did so well that it decided to keep the organization alive and try to see what could be done about battling communism. Communist Huks are in armed revolt in The Philippines and the problem is pressing.

Namfrel says it believes the community center idea can become "a pilot project for the whole of Southeast Asia."

The centers, equipped with books, magazines, movies and athletic equipment, will be put up in every area considered vulnerable to Communist infiltration or influence. Most of these soft spots are in the Central Luzon provinces, where the Huks are most active. Each center is expected to serve 30,000 to 50,000 Filipinos.

The movies and lectures will point up the freedom possible under a democratic form of government and the tyranny of communism.

There will be demonstrations on modern agriculture methods and the raising of livestock. There will be instruction in health and sanitation.

Namfrel says it must lean heavily on private U. S. aid now, but it hopes that after two years Filipino citizens will shoulder the entire burden.

A considerable number of stars, which appear to the naked eye to be single bodies, are revealed by telescopes to be two stars.

Stock Market Makes Decline

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The stock market this week whipped into its heaviest decline since the reaction that ended last summer's boom.

The drop was considered quite normal after the sharp and sustained rise that followed the election of Eisenhower.

In fact, the current reaction could progress a considerable distance further on the downside before it would exceed what is considered normal limits for such a movement.

Using The Associated Press average of 60 stocks as a yardstick, you get these figures—from the end of the summer reaction just before Eisenhower's election until last Monday, the average advanced $12.70. This week it lost a little more than 13 per cent of that advance.

Any reaction that retraces one-third to one-half of the previous rise is considered normal. More than that, and a reappraisal of the situation is in order.

Brokers have been expecting a reaction for several days with most believing it would spend itself late in January or early February.

This near-term reaction is looked upon with a steady eye of expectation, and for the long-term most in Wall Street remain bullish.

Selectivity is stressed on all sides.

The general background of market news continues excellent with trader and investor confidence high.

The market Monday reached a new 1952-53 high, and then it ran into troubles. Both Tuesday and Wednesday the market declined.

On Thursday the market rather steadied itself with the railroads displaying enough strength to keep things pointed upward.

Friday's market started mixed and then turned lower.

Columbia Told Goodby By Ike

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—President - elect Eisenhower today said goodbye to Columbia University—with a warm word both to those who supported him and those who supported Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, his democratic opponent, in the presidential campaign.

"All of you who worked so hard on our team of course have my profound gratitude. But I would also like to say a word of thanks to those who so loyally and energetically supported Gov. Stevenson.

"Such sincere patriotic concern and active fulfillment of the obligations of citizenship as were exhibited on both sides speaks well for the training received at this institution. It is also a heartening sign for the vibrant future of our country."

During the campaign, many faculty members, student groups and alumni took highly vocal parts in supporting either Eisenhower or Stevenson.

Eisenhower's message was addressed to the approximately 150,000 living alumni of Columbia and published in the Columbia Alumni News.

EACH A DIFFERENT GENERATION

Five generations of one family are represented in the picture above. In the lower left is Mrs. M. S. Morton, 87, who has lived in Scurry County for 45 years. Directly behind Mrs. Morton is her daughter-in-law, her granddaughter, her great granddaughter and her great, great granddaughter. They are from left to right: Mrs. W. D. Morton, Snyder; Mrs. J. D. Ware, Tuscon, Ariz.; Mrs. Glen Higgins and Cynthia Higgins of San Francisco, Calif. (Wolfe Studio Photograph.)

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Dennis look over one of his latest music scores. Dennis instructs band at Junior high school and she teaches the first through the sixth grades music at East Elementary School. (Delores Ketchersid Photograph.)

Young Couple Brings Snyder Background Fitted To Music

Persons who actively participate in art actually receive most of the benefit of it, according to two of the newest additions to the Snyder culture scene, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Dennis of 3411 Avenue A.

The Civic Music Association has taken the first step toward advancement of art in Snyder, Dennis pointed out. "Persons can not become interested in music until they become familiar with it," he stated. Radio and movies are minor sources, he said, although the value of some shows such as "The Red Shoes" is evident.

Dennis and his wife teach music in Snyder public schools, conduct private lessons, and he arranges for several orchestras. They both hope to see community musical organizations simular to ones in Abilene and Odessa get a foothold in Snyder. Dennis believes the two ways to advance art is by active participation, preferably, or by financial support if time or talent is lacking. "Actually both are needed for an active community group," he said.

Mrs. Dennis who appeared on television shows in Chicago and New York while singing with students from Lon Morris College at Jacksonville said she expects TV to provide a boost to music appreciation. She pointed out that the audience will not only be able to hear the music but their interest will be heightened by seeing the performance.

Dennis who with his wife attended Sam Houston State College taught music at state pentientary at Huntsville. His prison band played for many events including the yearly rodeo. There aren't many first class musicians behind the walls although he said he knew one convict serving a life sentence who he was sure would be among the top guitar players in the free world.

Dennis, who played with Albino Rey's Navy band in 1945, composes by Schillinger system of music and he said he expects it or its outgrowth to provide the basis for study of music within 50 years. The system approaches music for a mathmatical standpoint, using formulas for composition. One of the classic products of the system is Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess", Dennis said. He told how Gershwin brought in one song from the operetta to show Schillinger who suggested turning it upside down and playing it backwards. Dennis said Gershwin made the adjustment to the song, "Summertime", which became the hit of the show.

Dennis' career almost took another turn when he appeared on the radio show "Blind Date," which features amateur talent. Dennis played his coronet and sang an original compostion. One of Paramount's top talent scouts interviewed him but concluded that he wasn't quite what they had in mind, "so that ended my movie career," Dennis laughed.

Besides his regular duties as director of the junior high school band and director of the First Methodist Church choirs, Dennis also writes orchestral arrangements. He has arranged for Sam Donahue, Pat O'Conner, Pat Lockwood and plans to do some for Stan Kenton. Dennis also wrote some original music for the Club Copacabana in New York.

Young Star Is Praised Again

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—For the second time in her youthful career on Broadway, 13-year-old Iris Mann is winning critics' bouquets for her amazing ability to incite a feeling of terror among her admiring audiences.

Miss Mann's forte is causing fright and tragedy among the characters with whom she is playing on stage.

In the case of the hit drama, "The Children's Hour," recently revived at the Coronet Theater, she is such a little monster that audiences sometimes seem in a mood to tear her limb from limb.

In real life Miss Mann is a nice, quiet teen-ager with perfect manners and a great deal of serious common sense in her off-stage life.

"How did I become an actress? Well, it sort of worked up gradually," she said, looking like a schoolgirl who is getting ready to join the Girl Scouts.

"Mother wanted to be an actress herself. She gave up those ambitions when she was married but she never lost interest in the theater. And all the time I was growing up she talked to me about the theater, and I guess I just atmosphere from what she told absorbed appreciation of backstage me.

"Since I've been in the theater, I haven't neglected school. I went to public sctool, but when I played my first role on stage I transferred to the professional children's school.

Williams Death Puts Records Of His Songs In Fast Demand

Immediately upon the death of Hank Williams about two weeks ago, Snyder hillbilly fans bought up all available recordings done by the star.

William's "Jambalaya" and "Settin' the Woods on Fire" are still top favorites with Snyder record collectors. In fact, William's death boosted "Jambalaya" to second place on the local top ten poll. Ironically, William's latest number "I'll Never Get Out of This World Alive" was out only about three weeks before he died. Written in the same vein as most of his earlier numbers, the idea stated by the western ballad is "everything is against me."

The back side, "I Could Never Be Ashamed of You" done in the usual Williams style concerns the gullible cowpoke with his heart on his sleeve. Other Williams' greats that were played on Snyder juke boxes are "Half As Much" (which was recorded by numerous top orchestras), "Lovesick Blues" and "Cold, Cold Heart."

A new disc out by Coral that has already worked its way to the No. 12 position on the national poll is a comparatively unknown Karen Chandler's "Hold Me, Thrill Me, Kiss Me." The Dinah Shore-type warbler is backed by Jack Pleis orchestra which uses a maximum of piano and bass violin. "One Dream" is on the reverse. The band uses muted brass with frequent crescendos. Both numbers would make smooth dancing.

Another new recording is one by Eddy Howard that he did with Mercury. "It's Worth the Price You Pay" is the featured number which has a chorus of mixed voices and more strings than have ever been heard in a Howard band before. The bottom side is a new cutting of an old song, "Kentucky Babe." The atmosphere gets rather heavy with honeysuckle, mint julips and the Confederate flag, but it is an ideal song for listening by the firelight.

"Don't Let the Stars Get In Your Eyes," Slim Willet.

"Jambalaya," Jo Stafford.

"You Win Again", Tommy Edwards.

"Why Don't You Believe Me?" Joni James

"Because You're Mine," Mario Lanza.

"Lady of Spain," Les Paul.

"Til I Waltz Again With You", Teresa Brewer

"I'll Let the Stars Get In My Eyes," Kitty Wells.

"Midnight," Red Foley.

"Keep It a Sercet," Jo Stafford.

'Apricot Sky' Is Good Book For Families

The rather leisurely paced comedy is written with a complete disregard of sophistication, merely telling of folk lore and family life in Scotland.

Cleo, Scottish lassie who had been educated for three years in the United States, returns home to her native highlands in time for her sister's wedding and all the traditions that go with it. The English author, Ruby Ferguson, not only weaves in romance but also tells of the pranks of childhood and brings back with a rush all the things the reader did, or wished he had had nerve to do, at that age.

Miss Ferguson's characters are unbelievably concerned about each other's welfare without the usual number of family squables, but she does insert two completely detestable characters of adult and childhood age groups to balance the story. The reader is not heckled by rough transitions nor triteness in the novel although he occasionally wishes the author could have managed to convey the meaning of some peculiarly Scotch words.

Miss Ferguson based her book on good morals, particularly unselfishness, but managed it so subtly that any Elsie Dinsmore feeling is completely avoided. The novel is one that can be read by the family, and not have to be explained to youngsters of at least 10 years old.

Miss Ferguson resorts to a typical story book ending which could have hardly been avoided in so light - hearted a book, yet does it so suddenly that it is a toss-up as to who is more surprised, the heroine or the reader.

Dolores Ketchersid

Novel Due Out In February

Three new books will be available to Snyder readers next month.

"The Intruder," a novel about a mentally disturbed veteran and a family he visits in Australia will be published by Morrow and Co. The novel is the first one written by Helen Fowler, Australian ex-teacher and wife of a doctor.

Using the idea that world citizenship can become a reality Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, has written "Who Speaks for Man?". The book shows the need, reasonableness and justice of a world organization capable of speaking for all men. One of Cousins' previous books is "The Good Inheritance." His latest writing is a Macmillan Co. publication.

"Horse Trader" is based on memories of Earl Conrad's father, a well-known upstate New York horse trader whose business flourished in the early 1900's. Conrad previously wrote "Scottsboro Boy." Crowell Co. is publishing his newest work.

Gravediggers Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A gravedigger's strike caused 12 sorrowing families to dig graves personally yesterday.

In sleet, snow and mud the families set to work at three Jewish cemeteries using tools supplied by cemetery officials.

The Orthodox jewish religion requires burial before sunset of the day after death unless it is the sabbath or a holiday.

Sound does not travel in a vacuum.

Pureto Rican Girl Reveals Rumba Secret

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (AP)—Rita Moreno, a cute little Puerto Rican, is a girl who could put Arthur Murray out of business.

She argues — and proves to newspapermen, at least — that it takes but one simple trick for bashful men to master the rhumba.

Rita, barely old enough to vote, says nothing burns her up more than to see husbands drag their wives off a dance floor as soon as the band starts shaking the rhumba beat.

"One little trick," she expounds, "and these same men could enjoy the greatest public fun in the world."

The Moreno trick is this:

"Just place your hands on your partner's hips instead of her waist."

The swaying hips are supposed to lead the way.

"Your hands will then tell you which way your partner's hips are going. You make your hips go the same way and you're in business."

She adds that the basic one-two step, common to most any other type of dancing, will take care of your feet.

She demonstrated her theory on a staid, British journalist, who was about as unlikely and as unwilling a guinea pig as she could find at the moment. He was chatting with Miss Moreno at a movie party when the orchestra let loose with a rhumba. The Englishman had never danced a rhumba in his life. In fact, he later admitted that he hadn't danced any kind of a dance in recent years.

"I didn't want to be rude and leave him standing there but I just couldn't do anything but dance when I heard the music," she said.

She grabbed the arm of the protesting Britisher and dragged him onto the floor.

"I just told him to put his hands on my hips and hang on," commented Rita. "He was doing the rhumba before the orchestra had gone through eight bars."

As an interested bystander, I commented that it was evident that the Britisher had gone through a couple of other bars earlier in the evening.

Miss Moreno's dark-eyed beauty has landed her Latin roles in such pictures as "Fort Vengeance" for Allied Artists and "Latin Lovers" for MGM. In the latter she dances a torrid samba with Ricard Montalban.

Board To Hear Plans For Panhandle Water

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (AP)—Authorizing of a water district as a vital step in development of the 85 million dollar Canadian River Dam project comes before the Board of Water Engineers Monday.

Panhandle-Plains groups will ask the board to pass upon the feasibility and desirability of an agency that would be known as the Canadian River Water and Improvement District.

If the board approves the plan, then it would be submitted to voters in the proposed district for approval or disapproval. The hearing Monday and the contemplated submission are essential steps in financing and distribution of waters that would be impounded by the dam near Sanford in Hutchinson County.

A. W. Bakus Into Army

Arthur W. Backus of Snyder was included in a list of eight men who enlisted in the Army at Abilene.

At the same time, eight men were inducted into the Army and three enlisted in the Air Force Friday.
