Russian Infantry Sweeps Across Vistula River

Battle For Florence Flares To New Fury

Rome—(AP)—The battle for Florence, the last big Italian city in German hands south of the Gothic Line, flared to a new fury Thursday with the Eighth Army smashing fierce German counterattacks eight miles from the heart of the historic town.

At the same time indications grew that the ancient city of Pisa would become a major battle ground. The Germans were observed erecting barricades in the main streets north of the Arno River and setting up machine gun posts. It was officially reported the enemy was using the famous leaning tower as well as steeples for observation posts.

U. S. Casualties Now Total More Than 311,000

WASHINGTON — (P) — Fierce fighting in two hemispheres has pushed the battle casualties of the United States past the 311,000 mark, with more than 63,000 dead.

The cost in men in this war now far exceeds the 278,823 total for World War I.

The overall total is a compilation of official Army and Navy files, plus later figures which have been announced from the fighting in Normandy, Saipan and Guam and Present Standing.

Here is how the casualty lists now stand: Army, reported through July 6 and covering casualties up to about three weeks earlier—207,283, of which 37,287 are killed, 89,949 wounded, 40,786 prisoners and 39,311 missing.

Navy, reported up to Thursday and presumably including figures not much later than three weeks ago—50,496, of which 21,433 are killed, 14,933 wounded, 9,655 missing and 4,469 prisoners.

American casualties in Normandy in the period June 6-20, inclusive—24,182, of which 3,032 are killed, 13,121 wounded and 7,959 missing. (This, of course, does not include the recent heavy days of fighting in the St. Lo offensive.)

Sidewalk Cafe, Wartime Style

In a rubble-littered street of La Haye du Puits, France, three imaginative Yanks rig up their own version of the famous Parisian sidewalk cafe. Drinking a toast to "a short war" are, left to right, Sgt. Robert McCurdy of Newark, N. J.; Sgt. Harold Smith, Brush Creek, Tenn., and Sgt. Richard Bennett of Wilkes Barre, Pa.

Reds Drive Onto Level Plains On Road To Warsaw

MOSCOW—(AP)—Russian infantry was reported storming across the Vistula River southeast of Warsaw Thursday in thousands of amphibious trucks covered by massed artillery fire, negotiating the last great natural barrier before German Silesia and gravely threatening the whole German central front on the level plains. Warsaw already could hear the first sounds of approaching battle, the Moscow newspaper Ivestia said, quoting advices from the underground.

The crossing of the 600-foot wide Vistula was in the Deblin-Pulawi region, 57 to 66 miles southeast of the greatest Polish city (which had a peacetime population of 1,265,700). The surge across the stream posed an outflanking threat to the city. The area of the penetration is 355 air-line miles from Berlin on a historic invasion route. It is 140 miles from the border of German Silesia.

Russian Cossacks, tanks, infantry and Cannon reached the east bank of the river Wednesday on a 30-mile front, driving before them the terrified Germans. Nazi rearguards fled to the west bank soon afterwards and were enveloped in a cauldron of massed artillery and mortar fire.

"Polish troops are advancing before the victorious Red Army," Ivestia said. "Deblin is liberated already and the capital of Warsaw listens to the remote detonation of artillery."

There were no indications that the Germans had been able to destroy the permanent bridges at Deblin and Pulawi before falling back across the river. If Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's cavalry moved fast enough—as it did at the Bug River—it was possible that the bridges were in Russian hands.

Meanwhile capture of the Estonian city of Narva and neighboring towns on the south shore of the Gulf of Finland split the North Baltic front wide open, and additional successes were gained in the Stanislawow and Kolomya sectors on the routes to Czechoslovakia. In all, the Moscow communique announced the capture of more than 500 towns.

If the German shift south of Warsaw in an attempt to hold back the Red Army from crossing the Vistula, Stalin may hurl a frontal assault from the east. Gen. Ivan Bagration's quick follow-up of his latest breakthrough in the central Baltic has separated German forces in Estonia and Latvia from those in Lithuania.

Mercury Hits 106 Here But Uvalde Cooked By 111

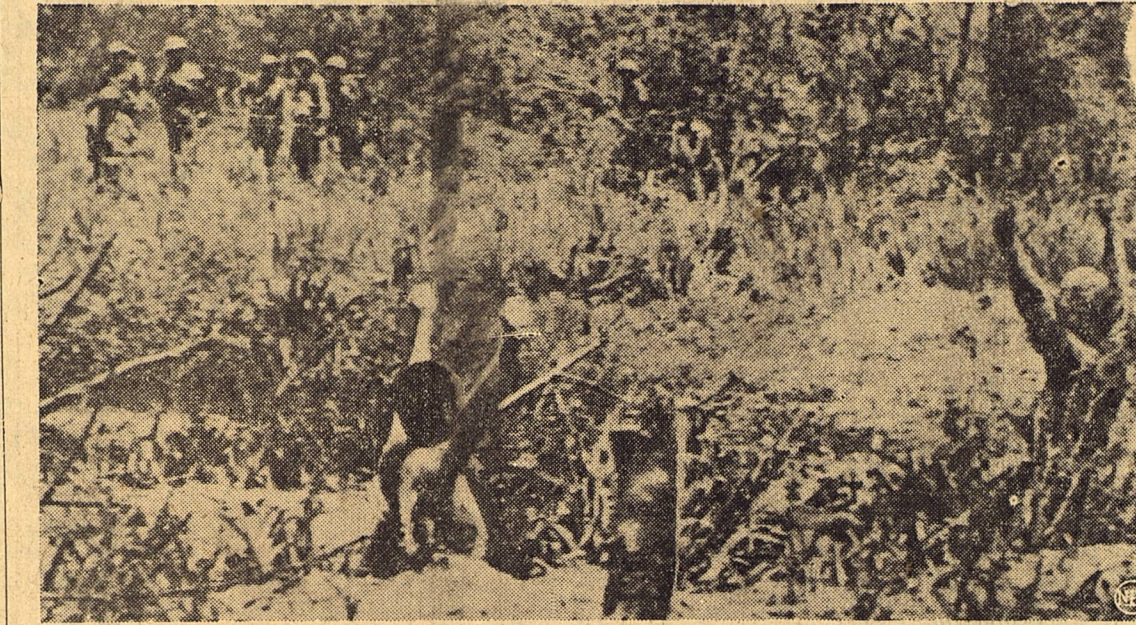

For seven and a half hours Wednesday Midland sweated and sizzled as the thermometer registered over 100 degrees, with a top of 106 degrees being marked up from 5 to 7 p. m.

The mercury hit the 100 mark at 1 p. m., and kept on climbing. It reached 103 at 3 p. m., and by 4 it had climbed to 105. Just one hour later the 106 degree mark was reached. The mercury fell one degree to 105 in the hour between 7 and 8 p. m. At 8 p. m. the mercury began a rather sharp decline to 77 degrees by 8 a. m. Thursday, when it began climbing again.

Uvalde Hottest Uvalde was the hottest city in Texas Wednesday with a temperature of 111 degrees, the 20th consecutive day on which readings have been at least 100.

Right behind Uvalde were Eagle Pass, Del Rio and San Angelo, each with 103-degree temperatures, and Laredo with 108.

They Don't All Fight to the End

Some Japs may have fought with fanatical fury to the bitter end, but not the pair seen in the photo above. Upon the approach of the group of Marines in background, they popped up out of their Saipan Island foxholes, arms aloft in surrender. Marines, being wise to Nip tricks, keep discreet distance until sure surrender's on the up-and-up.

Allied Naval Task Force Hits Sabang Fortress Port Works

By J. B. KRUEGER Associated Press War Editor

Allied warships and planes, suddenly reappearing in the Indian Ocean, have demolished the harbor works at Sabang, key Japanese fortress guarding the rich stolen islands of the Dutch East Indies and Singapore, Southeast Asia Headquarters disclosed Thursday.

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, confirming Wednesday's Tokyo broadcast, said a 35-minute attack Tuesday by battleships, cruisers, destroyers and carrier aircraft silenced shore batteries, sunk a freighter, wrecked two jetties, wrecked workshops and wharves and left the target area aflame. The Japanese had claimed little damage.

Three thousand miles eastward on Guam and Tinian, American warriors—including a grim 5,000 healed of wounds suffered on Saipan—relentlessly closed in on Japanese garrisons bereft of all outside aid. The Marines and doughboys held the northern quarter of Tinian and its 4,500-foot Ushi airfield, rated one of the best in the Pacific.

On Guam to the south they also bid for another airfield from which the U. S. can mount its coming offensives against the Japanese homeland, the Philippines and China's coast. This airfield was on Orote peninsula, on which a trapped force of Japanese battled for its life. The Americans advanced.

2,400,000 Fewer Cars Indicated By Stamp Sales

WASHINGTON — (P) — The 53 annual automobile use tax was paid on nearly 2,400,000 fewer cars in the fiscal year ended June 30 than in the preceding 12 months.

This is among the facts revealed Thursday in the Internal Revenue Bureau's annual breakdown on who paid what to produce record-breaking $40,121,760,232 internal revenue receipts.

The $5 automobile use tax produced $134,325,537 a decline of $11,963,746.

This meant that nearly 2,400,000 motorists either had (1) junked their cars, (2) put them up for the duration, or (3) decided to risk the $25 penalty provided for not having the use sticker.

Gas Tax Drops Gasoline taxes also reflected rationing and tire shortages. This tax brought in $271,216,501, a decline of $17,569,524.

Income and excess profits taxes provided more than three-fourths of the total revenue. Corporation income taxes accounted for $5,284,145,852, an increase of $763,294,142; individual income taxes (exclusive of withholding), $10,437,570,453; up $4,493,653,454; withholding, $7,823,434,977, up $7,187,419,966.

Excess profits taxes amounted to $9,345,198,293, an increase of $4,261,334,679.

German Radio Reveals Names Of Three Bomb Plot Generals

LONDON—(AP)—The German radio asserted Thursday that Infantry General Olbricht, Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck and Col. Gen. Eric Hoepner took part in the bomb plot against Hitler.

Olbricht was shot after court martial, the broadcast said. Beck was said to have committed suicide when arrested.

Hoepner was reported under arrest awaiting trial.

The Berlin account said these were the three mentioned by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels in his speech Wednesday night.

The propaganda minister, without mentioning names, said one general "up to then had been prominent only for sabotaging all decisions in the war."

Conducted Retreat Goebbels said a certain colonel general "had hysterical breakdowns" and that another colonel general conducted a "cowardly retreat" on the Russian front.

Four more German generals have been added to the swiftly lengthening list of Nazi command casualties in 24 hours.

The Russians announced the capture of Lt. Gen. Moser-Hillmann, commander of fallen Lublin. He was their 26th captured general of the summer offensive.

Lt. Gen. Wilhelm Grimm "met with a fatal accident," probably at Munich, the Berlin radio said Wednesday night. American bombs cratered that Nazi shrine city last week.

Col. Gen. Freiherr Geyer von Schweppenburg, commander of a German tank division in Normandy, was reported by the Stockholm Morgon Tidningen to have been shot.

Gen Von Machenfels was arrested in the Hitler plot, the same newspaper said.

Berlin Expects New Allied Landing In Northern Italy LONDON—(P)—Masses of Allied warships, transports and landing craft were reported by the Berlin radio Thursday night to be concentrated with several divisions of troops in the coastal area of the Tyrrhenian Sea for an imminent new landing in Northern Italy around La Spezia and Genoa.

Hitler's Nazi Party Newspaper Accepts Gloomy Outlook STOCKHOLM—(P)—Hitler's own Nazi party newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, said Thursday: "We openly declare that never since the beginning of the war have our nerves and hearts been exposed to heavier trials."

The Berlin newspaper made the comment in remarks on Paul Joseph Goebbels' speech on total mobilization.

Yank Tankmen And Riflemen Drive 3 Miles In 6 Hours

SHAEF—(AP)—American doughboy and tank teams penetrating German defenses south of St. Lo have gained three miles in the last six hours, while advanced patrols reached the road center of Perier.

Fanning out eastward from St. Gilles and Canisy, they began closing a trap on Germans in a bend of the Vire River below St. Lo, capturing Le Mesnil Herman, six miles south of St. Lo and nine miles from their jumpoff point.

The Americans had seized Canisy in this advance and cut the road running south from St. Lo to Percy along the baseline of the Cherbourg peninsula.

To the east, Allied headquarters announced, patrols entered Periers, central stronghold of the German line stretching to the sea, and were at a point 10 miles north of Coutances.

The armored spearhead pushing southwest of St. Lo had driven so deep, however, that it was closer to Coutances than the Periers force. Fanning out westward from Arigny, this force advanced nearly a mile along the St. Lo-Coutances road to within nine miles of Coutances.

To the east, between St. Lo and Caumont, the Americans also scored sharp advances, throwing the Germans back two miles since Wednesday night and capturing Mouffet, five miles west of Caumont, as well as laying firm hold on Beryny to the rear.

This advance severed the Caumont-St. Lo road. Tanks with doughboys riding them, charged past St. Samson-Bonfosse in the southward drive to Le Mesnil Herman, front line dispatches said, and seized the ridge dominating Le Mesnil Herman as well as the town.

Nazi Rear Disorganized Field dispatches said the whole German rear had been disorganized by the rapid smashes into the Nazi lines, and prisoners were being garnered by the hundreds.

General McNair Killed In Action

WASHINGTON — (P) — Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, former commander general of the Army Ground Forces, has been killed in Normandy.

A War Department announcement here said: "The War Department has been notified of the death of Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, General McNair serving the action of our front line units in the recent offensive."

On July 14, the Army announced that McNair had been given an important overseas assignment, the nature of which was not disclosed, and that Lt. Gen. Ben Lear had succeeded him in command of the Army Ground Forces.

McNair, 61, was responsible for the training of the ground forces now in action overseas, and was regarded as one of the Army's most brilliant officers. Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, once called him "the brains of the Army."

Russian Forces Break Into Brest Litovsk LONDON—(P)—The Moscow radio said Thursday night that Russian troops had broken into the great fortress city of Brest Litovsk, a short time after the Germans announced the evacuation of the companion bastion of Bialystok, 110 miles northeast of Warsaw.

War Bulletins

ROME—(AP)—Air battles, such as cost the German air force a record loss of 193 planes in the past three days, raged again Thursday when medium forces of Mediterranean heavy bombers attacked the Manfred Weiss steel works in Budapest, Hungary.

NEW YORK — (AP) — A BBC broadcast said Thursday that Russian troops in one sector are 38 miles from Warsaw.

LONDON—(AP)—The Algiers radio quoted a Stockholm dispatch Thursday as saying that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Reich minister without portfolio, had been shot by the Gestapo.

LONDON—(AP)—Squadrons of Mosquito bombers attacked Hamburg Wednesday night while other planes laid mines in enemy waters, the Air Ministry announced Thursday. One plane was reported lost.

Subversive Literature

Congress in its wisdom has decreed that our soldiers must be protected from the harmful draft of cross-ventilated political opinion found in books. Under strict interpretation of Congress' new law, the War Department has banned such dangerous documents as Charles A. Beard's "The Republic," Catherine Drinker Bowen's biography of Justice Holmes, the Atlantic Monthly and Harper's from the soldiers' reading lists.

This undoubtedly is the spirit of congressional intent. But if the strict interpretation is to continue, the War Department has a hard task ahead. For the threat of political controversy lurks beneath many an innocent book cover. So the whole field of literature must be covered if a thorough job is to be done.

Here, for example, are a few bits of perilous propaganda that come immediately to mind. We pass them along to the War Department with best wishes:

The Collected Works of Horatio Alger Jr.—These, of course, are out-and-out glorifications of free enterprise, a strong Republican selling point in 1944.

The Novels of Charles Dickens—Full of sub-standard wage scales, long hours with no overtime, and other examples of exploitation, many of these book attack capitalists as powerfully as anything Henry Wallace ever wrote.

"Robinson Crusoe"—Unblushing argument for isolationism.

Browning's "Rabbi Ben Ezra"—With its invitation to "Grow old along with me," and its statement that "Youth shows but half," this poem is clearly a pro-Roosevelt rebuttal to changes of an aging administration.

"Jack and the Beanstalk"—A subtle allegory about the triumph of a smaller and younger adversary over a big, tough opponent, strictly pro-Dewey. (David and Goliath will have to go too, of course). And that son, "Fe-fi-fo-fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman," is fiercely anti-British.

"Mother Goose"—These verses are particularly insidious, and must be thoroughly purged. "Old Mother Hubbard" plays up the food shortage; "Little Tommy Tucker," who sang for his supper and fared so badly, is a thinly-veiled prediction that a similar fate awaits Tommy Dewey, one-time baritone; "A Dillar, a Dollar" and "Little Boy Blue" emphasize absenteeism.

This list must be carried on and on if our servicemen are to be insulated completely from all printed political opinion. The only alternative is to change or repeal the law and treat the soldiers as if they were mature, thinking humans who did not lose all power of independent judgment when they put on a uniform.

The Farmer's Jeep

Postwar planning for the jeep has turned into quite a lively discussion. The Department of Commerce has come out with the flat assertion that the little war vehicle will be no good for farming—that its chassis is too low and its gear ratio too high. Others have leaped to its defense as if the jeep were old faithful Dobbin instead of a buggy almost untried in agriculture.

Now comes a definite word from the jeep's manufacturers. They've toned down earlier predictions to the extent of admitting that the military jeep is not the farmer's perfect vehicle, but that there will be a postwar bantam with lower gear ratio which will fill the bill.

And that probably ends the argument. For even if the present jeeps were perfectly fitted for farming, most of them will have taken an awful beating in battle. Having leaped, bumped, slithered and waded over all sorts of terrain and under all conditions, the GI jeep will probably be ready for pasture, and willing to let a new royal relative take over.

Something New

We hope that Vice President Dario Echandia of Colombia has established a precedent in the turbulent history of South American politics. When President Alfonso Lopez was seized and imprisoned by an army group, Dr. Echandia took hold of the government, defied the colonel who proclaimed himself president, and declared a national state of emergency until President Lopez was freed.

This is something new. Heretofore it has been a practice for the next in line in South American revolts to make sure that the incumbent, once seized, was promptly and securely put out of the way. May Dr. Echandia's commendable practice become epidemic!

Not That!

The German radio reports that the Nazi musical production line has turned out a "flying bomb anthem" which workers sing as they launch the missiles against England.

Bad as the robot blitz is, at least Britain has been spared the theme song.

Two City Departments Offer Contrast But Both Give Residents Full Value

By JOHN H. FLEMISTER Reporter-Telegram Staff Writer

In the operation of a city government there can be, and often are, honest differences of opinion as to whether or not certain expenditures are justified, or whether or not they are worth their cost to the taxpayers. These differences of opinion generally arise over expenditures whose value to the taxpayers cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

Of the eight departments of Midland's city government that are supported by the general fund the one that returns the most to Midland property owners in dollars and cents, and costs the least to operate, is the fire department. Cost of operation of the department for the past fiscal year was $4,832.36. In return for spending that $4,832.36 property owners of the city are saved literally thousands of dollars in fire insurance premiums.

In the past fiscal year the department spent $230 for conventions and schools, but because the department sent men to the firemen's training school at Texas A&M the city was given an automatic reduction in fire insurance rates that saved property owners many times the cost of sending firemen to the school.

The department was operated during the fiscal year with an outlay of only $3,842.50 for salaries. Buildings and grounds for the department were maintained for the year at a cost of only $79.75. Equipment maintenance and operation expense ran to $132.93, and remember the department has three fire trucks to maintain. Heating cost $130.20, insurance $139.90, lighting $115.62, supplies $37.93, and telephone and telegraph $95.85.

City officials estimate cost of maintaining the department during the current fiscal year will probably increase by approximately $1,500, principally due to the fact new fire hose must be bought and outlay for operating and maintaining equipment is expected to show an increase.

Hard To Estimate Property owners can quickly see what the fire department is worth to them financially, but there is another department supported by the general fund whose value cannot be estimated from a dollar point of view.

The parks and recreation department was operated for a whole year for $7,663.11. It is doubtful if any citizen who has enjoyed picnics and barbecues at Cloverdale, or seen how the children of Midland enjoy outings at Cloverdale would want to eliminate this department from the budget.

Principal outlay of the parks and recreation program the past fiscal year was for salaries and wages to the extent of $5,122.57. Anyone who has visited Cloverdale and seen the well kept grounds can tell at a glance a lot of man hours of work have gone into maintaining the pleasure spot.

Supplies and repairs cost the department $1,193.96. Upkeep of buildings ran to $310.68. The department's outlay for insurance was $248.28. Office supplies and printing

Fare Play

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — (AP) — A youngster walked into a bus station and asked for a half-fare ticket to Wichita.

The clerk asked the boy's age and was told, "Eleven." "Sorry," said the clerk, "We can't sell a half-fare unless you are accompanied by an adult. And anyway you might get lost in Wichita."

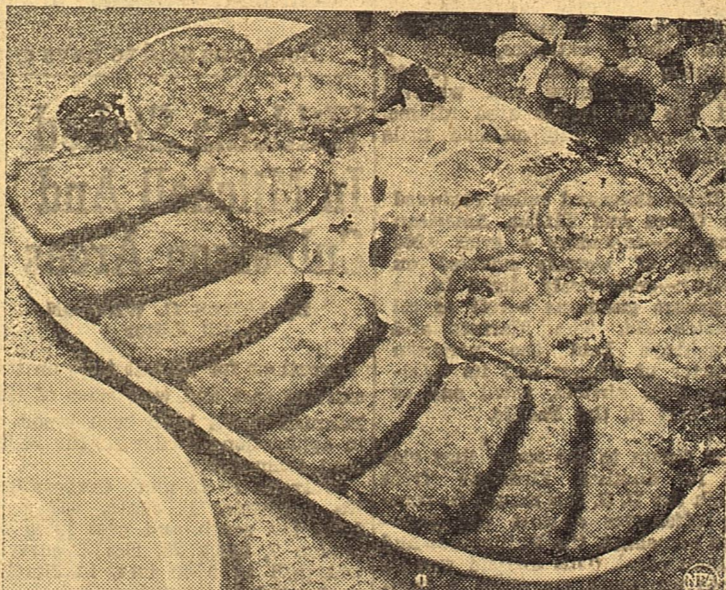

"How could I get lost?" protested the boy. "I have lived there 13 years."

consumed $200.45. Other miscellaneous expenses completed cost of operation of the department for the year.

Incidentally, it might be well to point out that Pagoda swimming pool receipts are more than enough to make it self sustaining. Expenses for operation of the pool are all shown as a cost on the budget, with the receipts going into the general fund.

Is there anyone who doesn't think it is well worth about 50 cents a year per resident to maintain the parks and recreation department?

Cold Cuts Slice Summer Work

Assorted table-ready meats make short work of dinner on hot nights.

By GAYNOR MADDUX NEA Staff Writer

Please buffet supper guests with an appetizing array of colorful table-ready meats. New England cooked specialty meat, ham, liver loaf, pickle and pimiento meat loaf, braunschweiger and bologna, are some of the possibilities.

These cold meats are easy on the budget. Select meats with varied shapes, colors, flavors and textures.

Design your meat tray. Overlap diagonally cut slices of meat loaf to make a V. Achieve a fan-shaped arrangement with square slices. Cut bologna in half for flower petal arrangements.

Cornucopias, made by rolling slices of bologna or meat loaf into cone shapes and fastening with a toothpick, are delicious when filled with cottage cheese, fruit salad, or cole slaw. Potato salad is another favorite filling.

Serve your accompaniments — mustard, pickle relish, or chili sauce — in green pepper shells or cucumber "boats." Stuffed eggs, carrot curls, radish roses or onion rings, are other tray complements.

For individual plate service, place molded fruit salad in the center of a plate, and surround with sections of creamed new potatoes, green vegetables and relishes, alternated with rounds of bologna, salami and liver sausage.

Here's a tempting main course salad for hot weather meals.

Meat Salad (Serves 8)

Buy 1 pound of New England cooked specialty meat, bologna, or pickle and pimiento loaf. Dice. Mix with 1 cup diced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, and 1 cup cooked peas. A few shredded almonds or other nuts add crunchiness and flavor. Blend together with 1/2 to 1 cup salad dressing. Serve on a bed of watercress or shredded lettuce.

Captain Wounded By Wooden Bullet Captured By Germans In Normandy

TEMPLE, TEXAS.—(AP)— Fifteen battle casualties from the Normandy invasion described from McCloskey General Hospital beds details of the Allied push against the Nazis.

One of them said he believed he had been hit by a German wooden bullet.

The wounded men were flown here Wednesday from the East Coast.

Capt. W. Z. Cotham of Jarrell, Texas, told how his unit of the 82nd Airborne Division landed about ten miles inland in Normandy several hours before H-Hour, with a French village as their objective.

"I rounded up 16 men, all I could find, and we had a try at taking the French village which was our objective. It was too strongly held, and we had to pull back until we could find more men," he said.

Located 300 Men

"Soon we found a colonel, a captain and 16 more paratroopers, so that help we attacked the village again. It was still too strongly held for us, but he had a radio and began trying to contact other groups of our men.

"First we got through to an officer who had 90 men, and they came in to us through the Germans. The next night we contacted a group of about 150 C. N. Sullivan, district rent director, said Thursday.

Starting Tuesday, landlords are required to reduce rents to what they were on March 1, 1943, if the rents are higher now than they were on that date.

So that both landlords and tenants can have full information about the workings of rent control The Reporter-Telegram is publishing a series of four articles in question and answer form concerning rent control regulations.

Following is the first of the four articles. The second will appear in Friday's Reporter-Telegram.

(1) Q. What kind of living quarters are to be registered under the regulations?

A. All property rented or offered for rent for dwelling purposes. Rent control does not apply, however, to a dwelling on a farm if the tenant is working on the farm most of his time or to some combination store and dwelling units.

(2) Q. How does the tenant know what the maximum rent is?

A. Under the rent regulation a landlord must file a registration statement with the Area Rent Office, and a copy is sent to the tenant.

(3) Q. I sometimes rent out a room on special occasions. Must I register?

A. Yes.

(4) Q. Can a farm house be rented separately from the land?

A. Yes, and it is then under rent control.

(5) Q. I am a new tenant and have never seen a copy of the registration statement. How can I find out what my rent is and what services it includes?

A. If your landlord does not have a copy of the registration, you may get the information from the Area Rent Office.

(6) Q. Must the landlord register again when he gets a new tenant?

A. No, but he must file with the Area Rent Office a "Notice of Change in Tenancy" and he must secure the tenant's signature on it, because it indicates the maximum rent.

(7) Q. When one tenant moves out, may I charge the next tenant a higher rent?

A. Not if the higher rent is more than the maximum rent.

(8) Q. Upon what grounds may a landlord apply for an increase in rent?

A. The landlord may petition to raise his rent on the following grounds: (1) substantial alterations to the premises, by a major capital improvement, (2) substantial increase in services or furnishings, (3) rent based on percentage or special relationships between the landlord and tenant, where the rent on the maximum rent, date was substantially lower than comparable rents in the area, (4) in some cases where there has been an increase in the number of occupants of the "Germans kept running and walking by, and even jumping my hedge, and all of a sudden I looked up and there was one looking right at me. I stood up and as I did, he shot me.

"It must have been one of their wooden bullets he shot me with, from the way it tore up my arm. We had seen some of these bullets before, and a lot of them had been captured with other German equipment. They tear you up pretty bad and are used for close-range fighting by the Germans.

"Instead of shooting me, they laid me in the road, and after a while a little German medic came by and tried to stop my bleeding.

"Finally they put me in a truck that took me to a German hospital, and on D-12 the Ninth Division came through and recaptured us."

Got Hit By Slug

First Lt. Jack B. Baucom of Mineral Wells, a First Division infantry officer, was wounded on D-Day on the Normandy beaches. An enemy machine-gun slug broke both bones in his right leg.

Major Marion C. L. Baldwin of Abilene was in a cast from his waist down and had his right arm in a brace cast. Leading his infantry battalion in Normandy near the Murderte River on June 16 he was riddled by German machine-gun fire.

Reporter-Telegram Will Offer Few Answers To Rent Control Questions

Although rent control will go into effect in Midland and Ector counties Tuesday, registration of landlords will not get underway until about Aug. 15, C. N. Sullivan, district rent director, said Thursday.

The landlord may petition to raise his rent on the following grounds: (1) substantial alterations to the premises, by a major capital improvement, (2) substantial increase in services or furnishings, (3) rent based on percentage or special relationships between the landlord and tenant, where the rent on the maximum rent, date was substantially lower than comparable rents in the area, (4) in some cases where there has been an increase in the number of occupants of the property, (5) in some cases where special leases call for different monthly rents during the lease, (6) where the terms of the lease in force on the maximum rent date began more than a year before that date and provided rents substantially lower than comparable rents in the area, (7) in some cases where the premises are rented on a seasonal basis, such as resort areas, (8) where the property was temporarily exempt from real estate taxes on the maximum rent date and the landlord passed the benefit of the tax exemption on to the tenant by giving a rent substantially lower than comparable rents in the area.

(9) Q. If a landlord believes his rent is too low, how can he get it raised?

A. If he can qualify under one of the grounds mentioned above, he may petition the Area Rent Office for an increase.

(10) Q. The rent which I am charging for my housing is less than my neighbor charges, and why can't I charge what he does?

A. The rent regulation does not attempt to equalize rents which were collected on the maximum rent date. It attempts to hold them at the levels that were established by landlords themselves in normal times.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

We shouldn't let Allied success in Europe make us overlook the fact that things also go well for us in the Pacific—so well indeed that we likely shall be able soon to launch major operations which will be calculated to win the war in the Orient much sooner than originally expected.

We are closing in on Japan fast. This doesn't mean that we have an easy task before us. On the contrary it bids fair to be a nasty job. Bases Now Available

However, our recent conquests in the Mariana Islands, including the great naval and air base of Saipan, have put a new and rosy complexion on prospects. Uncle Sam's heavy bombers now are within reach of Japan and the Philippines—both only 1,500 miles away. Our Navy now has bases to smash directly at Japan, the Philippines and China.

That's hanging it on the line for the Mikado and his little men to see. And the new Japanese cabinet ministers, who are shouldering the heavy troubles ex-Premier Tojo packed up for them, read the signs and freely admit that things are serious for them.

They're particularly concerned about the Mariana theater, pointing out to the Japanese public that general power will be U. S. fleet task forces are prowling about in these waters which are vital to Nippon's security. They have a right to be worried, for we not only possess Saipan but are getting ahead well with our conquest of the important neighboring islands of Guam and Tinian.

See Other Stories

Tokyo also has noted other hurricane warnings, reporting to the Japanese public that a U. S. task force has bombed Palau Island and that a British force has strafed Sabang in the Dutch East Indies. Sabang has been bombed before, but an attack on Palau is a sensation.

Palau, and its 100 surrounding isles, is one of Japan's most important sea defenses. Moreover, this group is a shield for the Southern Philippines, being only 500 miles east of Mindanao.

Wrong Answer

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Detective John A. Duffy, en route to his commuter train at Pennsylvania Station, saw a man jostle a train-bound passenger.

"Did you get it, boy?" Duffy asked.

"Yeah, I got it, boss," the man replied.

Duffy quickly found the wallet the man had taken. He was charged with grand larceny.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Red Cross Fund Raising Director Visits Midland Office

Robert J. Colton, assistant director of fund-raising, Red Cross area office, St. Louis, Mo., has been in Midland for several days, conferring with Red Cross officials in the interest of the War Fund campaign. From the 1572 chapters in the mid-western area, twenty chapters were selected to make a survey; Midland chapter was one of the twenty. From these twenty chapters, Midland being eighth in the state to raise its quota. Colton is making a survey of the methods and programs used and will incorporate such information so that National Red Cross can make recommendations to other chapters in the 1945 War Fund campaign. Colton praised the War Fund campaign chairman, Mayor Hendrickson, and his committee, for the successful manner in which the campaign was conducted and said it was truly an example of outstanding performance. Midland's quota was $18,000. This quota was exceeded by a large margin. Only one fund-raising campaign is conducted annually. Mr. Colton expects to assemble helpful information and suggestions for national use in the 1945 campaign from the survey he is conducting.

Appetizers Are Gay, Delicious

Serve broiled pork luncheon loaf with grilled tomatoes and cabbage.

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Staff Writer

For Sundays gala dinner, serve chilled tomato juice and zesty party appetizers. Or for your porch party, arrange a tray of dainty tidbits and sandwiches to serve with cool beverages.

Appetizer Suggestions
Alternate 1/2 inch slices of frankfurters or cubes of Thüringer or salami with stuffed olives or pearl onions on colored toothpicks. Cubes of luncheon loaf, alternated with cream cheese balls and bright cherries on toothpicks, is another festive appetizer.

To make pinwheel appetizers shape braunschweiger liver sausage into balls around pimiento olives, sweet pickles, or cheese cubes. Dip in lemon juice and roll in minced parsley. Stick colored wood picks through the ball and insert these "tidbits" into a large red apple or bright yellow grapefruit.

Meat Roll-Ups
Another trick is to spread meat slices with cream cheese flavored with horseradish. Roll and secure with toothpicks. Cut apart and place parsley in the end of each little roll.

Slices of cervelat rolled into cones, filled with pimiento cheese, and held with a toothpick, are tempting and tasty. Cut thin slices of rye bread into rectangles 1 inch by 2 inches. Spread with mustard-flavored butter or margarine. Cut thin slices of cooked salami and thin slices of dill pickles into rectangles 1/2 inch by 2 inches. Place a slice of each on bread. Cut rectangular strips of bread.

Spread with butter and top with strip of dry sausage. Spread outside edges with cream cheese and dip in chopped parsley.

Hot Appetizers
With apple corer, remove center from dill pickle. Cut a pencil-like stick of salami the length of the pickle. Spread with cream cheese. Push into the center of the pickle. Chill and cut into 1/2 inch thick chips to serve.

Clever little "sail boats" can be fashioned from small gherkins, cream cheese and salami. Cut slice lengthwise off small sweet gherkin. Scoop out and fill with cream cheese. Insert "sail" of wedge of salami.

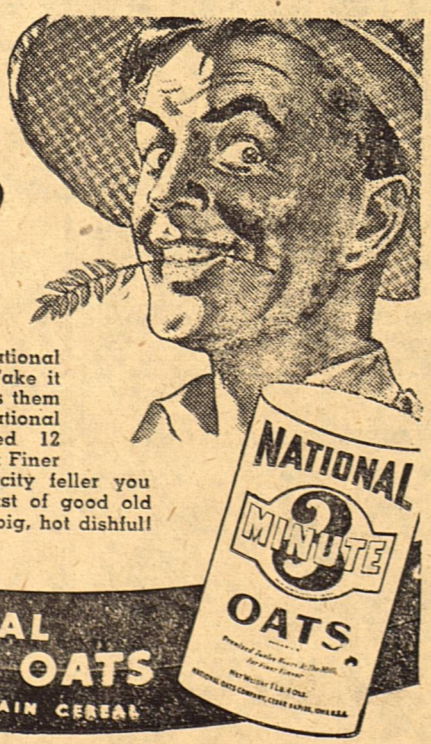

Do FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, soapy, pasty taste or feeling. Launder Girdle Often, Don With Care To Stretch Full Service

By ALICIA HART, NEA Staff Writer
Tubbing a corset frequently—and according to washing instructions provided by its maker—is a summer "must," if you want this guardian of your silhouette to enjoy a longer life span. Nothing knocks out those narrow panels of rubber in a girdle quicker than perspiration and body acids.

Another life preserver is the use of the persuasive method of putting a corset on: stepping in, freeing all hooks or laces, coaxing it past the feet, standing up in good posture to make a liaison between girdle and body, and zipping. When you wriggle out of your corset, ease—don't pry—it off. To stretch out the life span, buy two when you buy a corset. While one is giving you everything it's got, the other can recover from the strain of going all out for you. It's smart to settle for a size that's a bit too large rather than one that all but squeezes the life out of you.

Dewey Promises To End Federal, State Squabbles

ALBANY, N. Y.—(P)—Announcing a 15-point program of action for the Republican governors' conference next week, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey pledged Thursday to end the petty bickering and constant warfare between the various units of the government.

The Republican presidential nominee told a press conference that he and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, the vice presidential nominee, were in full accord on the issues of the campaign. Dewey said the conference in St. Louis beginning Aug. 2 would delve into the field of "conflict" between federal, state and local governments.

Source of Friction "This has been a constant source of friction for 12 years in this country now," Dewey said. "Enough people are spending full time fighting each other over the question of jurisdiction and power between the federal, state and local governments to make up a small army."

Floor Show And Good Dance Band To Open Log Cabin Saturday

The Log Cabin will reopen Saturday night with a floor show and good dance band for the entertainment of its guests. H. W. Donohoo and Paul Houston, proprietors, said the popular dining and dancing place has been remodeled and repainted.

Skipper Hawkins and his popular dance orchestra will be featured at the opening along with an outstanding floor show. Skipper is known as one of the few piano players who doubles on a trumpet. Smokey Joe Harmon will be master of ceremonies. He has gone a long way in tap dancing and as a master of ceremonies.

Popular Vocalist Ruby Ellis is vocalist for the floor show, singing popular songs of the day. Peggy Cleveland, a beautiful dancer, has an exceptional wardrobe. Hawkins, one of the most personable bandleaders of the mid-west, comes here from Kansas City. He is a graduate of the University of Wichita where he organized his band unit in 1936.

Donohoo and Houston endorse the entertainment as the best ever brought to West Texas.

RAF Kiddy-Car Entertains Rotarians

Because they are light, portable and easily delivered in large numbers by air, 'kiddy-cars' like that pictured above are being increasingly used by air force personnel in getting around airfields. Photo shows RAF flyer at Bengal, India, air base.

Rotarians were entertained at their meeting Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer by the Civic Music Club of which Miss Edith Conyers is president. "Liebstraume" and "Ballade," piano numbers, were presented by Mrs. John M. Dyer.

Miss Jacqueline Theis sang "Goin' Home" and "I Got Plenty of Nuttin'." Mrs. Yates Brown was at the piano. "On Wings of Song" and "Rhapsody in Blue," piano selections, were presented by Mrs. Howard Swain. Mrs. Conyers introduced Mrs. Dyer, Miss Theis, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Swain. R. L. Miller was program chairman.

Miss Elaine Hedrick was pianist for the club at the meeting. C. H. Shepard, club president, appointed Mayor A. N. Hendrickson, Percy Mims and James N. Allison members of the program committee for August. Hendrickson will serve as chairman.

Shortage Of Job Counsellors Now Worries WMC

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — When Johnny comes marching home, who's going to tell him where to look for a job or what kind of job fits him best? You?

You're probably not equipped to do it, and do it right.

Johnny, nevertheless is going to get a lot of free curbside advice from his friends and well-wishers who may not be the people to advise him.

Johnny, nevertheless is going to get a lot of free curbside advice from his friends and well-wishers who may not be the people to advise him.

Few Trained Counsellors

A good vocational counsellor needs training. But there are perhaps no more than 6,000 trained counsellors in this country. Probably half of them are only partly trained in the professional sense.

But look at this picture:

Millions of people will be shifting jobs during conversion and after the war millions of men and women will be coming back into civilian life from the armed forces. Those service people who want their old jobs back can get them. But what of those who want a new job and need help in choosing one?

They can go for help, too: Any one of the 1,500 U. S. Employment Service offices or to any one of the 115 Veteran Administration offices.

Few Federal Offices

But there are 17,000 incorporated towns in this country, plus all the other communities against the mere 1,615 government offices to which the veterans can turn for vocational guidance.

Thus it would seem vocational guidance for veterans will be a community job. That's exactly what the bureau of training of the War Manpower Commission says it will have to be.

The bureau has just issued a study—and distributed 13,000 copies—on the need for vocational counsellors, what kind of training they need, how they can pick up some training in a hurry, and what communities should do their vocational guidance.

The bureau says: "The total demand for counsellors will exceed the number now trained. As long as work is plentiful almost any clever interviewer can direct an applicant into the highest paying job near at hand, but when the long pull is involved vocational counsellors of a high order is required."

Has Few Suggestions

But the time is short, knowledge is needed fast, even a little training is better than none, and as one step in the right direction, the bureau suggests:

All communities have schools where some teacher or principal has had some counselling training. It is estimated that of the 25,000 public schools in the United States, not over 2,000 have professionally trained counsellors. So:

"This plan is a singular responsibility upon the community to arrange as promptly as possible additional professional training for the best equipped person available in the field of vocational counselling because the usual counselling responsibilities of a teacher or school administration will be extended to include adults of military and work experience reaching beyond high school years.

"An average-sized community will have from 15 to 20 organizations ready to offer assistance.

"This is all as it should be except that somewhere in the community, whether it be large or small, should be someone who knows and can be entrusted with the complete history of the one who needs counsel and will use it discreetly and wisely in helping him plan his future."

Prairie Lee Women Discuss Topic On Family Relations

Women of the Prairie Lee Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. J. E. Wallace Tuesday for a program on Family Relationship. The topic, "Recreation in the Home," was discussed by various club members, each telling of an inexpensive object that could be made to amuse the younger children. Some members had made tops out of spoons; others used discarded boxes to make toys.

After the club meeting was over, lemonade and cookies were served to the following members: Meses. Troy E. Elland, J. C. Bradley, Leonard Huff, John King Jr., R. L. O'Neal, W. E. Figg, N. D. Staton, J. E. Wallace, E. D. Ward, Mrs. Gentry and Mrs. Dalton B. Hall, county home demonstration agent.

Blasting 'Em Out in France

The remarkable action photo above shows what Yanks were up against in capturing La Haye du Puits, on Cherbourg peninsula, where Nazis were well entrenched. Germans holed up in a chateau are being blasted out. Note front wall crumbling from grenade or shell explosion. Yanks in photo prepare to rush the position, two of them dashing forward under covering fire from their comrades on the ground.

Bulldozer Driver Wipes Out Nazi Machine-Gun Nest

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN THE ST. LO SECTOR—(Delayed)—(AP)—A bulldozer ordinarily is used to dig and smooth the roads, but Pvt. John R. Brewer, 22, of Trenton, Tenn., charged a Nazi machinegun nest with his and buried alive three enemy gunners who had been holding up an American advance.

Brewer saw Germans had pinned down his comrades with rapid-fire weapons and grenades from the safety of a post dug in a hedgerow.

He decided to launch his own attack. Maneuvering his heavy dozer into position he raised the giant scraping blade and ran full force into the hedgerow, tearing out a huge portion which fell on the heads of the entrenched Nazis, burying them.

There was no more firing. When the doughboys climbed into the post a few moments later, Brewer again brought up his dozer and shoved aside the earth to help them recover the bodies of the three Nazis.

A Human Decoy

Staff Sgt. Michael Gaydos, Marblehead, Ohio, and his buddy, Pfc. Forrest (Fuzzy) Jones, Peoria, were in a hedgerow across the way from four Germans who were operating from a snipers' emplacement.

Through his field-glass, Fuzzy noted Germans coming up in regular order to take turns sniping at targets in the American lines. So he called over casually:

"Take a look around, Mike!"

The sergeant raised up and looked.

When one German took a bead on Gaydos, Fuzzy hollered:

"Duck, Mike!"

Mike ducked, and Fuzzy shot the German dead.

Then the sergeant awoke to the role he had been playing in this sniper hunt. He was highly indignant.

"What's wrong, Mike?" asked Fuzzy. "It worked, didn't it?"

Discard The 'Busy' Details On Your Dresses For Chic

MRS. TANSILL: Defines chic.

By ALICIA HART

NEA Staff Writer

Snap off those trimmings from your costume—cluttering up details that make it look "busy"—if you want to be chic.

Mrs. Donald B. Tansill, AVWS worker and socialite winner of this year's "best dressed" citation, says the definition of chic is simplicity. Thinks it's achieved by leaving a perfectly simple dress as is. Believe you wreck a chic appearance when you add anything—flower to your shoulder, veil to your hat—that doesn't belong.

Asked to pick one typical costume which represents her idea of smartness, Mrs. Tansill named these as her choice: an all-black dress or suit, an all-black hat—and if you can't stand all of that inked out business—a touch of white.

Where to lodge the white touch? She said she would make hers a pair of gloves and pearls.

Houston Garbage Truck Workers On Strike

HOUSTON — (AP) — Sixty-one of Houston's 97 garbage truck workers refused to make their regular runs Thursday, announced W. G. Wilson, superintendent of the city garbage department.

Wilson said he did not know the cause of the trouble.

Employees in the street maintenance and cleaning division, which includes the garbage workers, voted last Thursday to strike Wednesday if certain wage demands were refused by the city. Following talks Wednesday with city officials the City-County Union voted to postpone the strike.

The city has 33 garbage trucks manned by 97 men. Wilson said 36 men took 12 trucks out of the city barns this morning to go on their routes.

General, Home From World Tour, Impressed With Care Of Wounded

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Speedy evacuation of the wounded from battle zones to rear hospitals was "the most impressive single activity" which Brig. Gen. Charles R. Glenn says he saw on a recent 60-day, 40,000-mile globe-girdling observation tour of U. S. combat air forces.

General Glenn, surgeon on the staff of Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount's Army Air Force Training Command headquarters, studied the operations of air evacuation units in almost every theater visited, as well as other phases of medical department activity.

Among his primary objectives was that of gathering information which could be used as a basis for the further coordination of medical supply between the Army Ground Forces, Army Service Forces and Army Air Forces.

Hit 'Hot Spots'

His itinerary included Bermuda, the Azores, Casa Blanca, Algiers, Tunis, Italy, Egypt, Iran, Australia, New Guinea, Solomon Islands, Gilbert Islands and Hawaii. He visited the headquarters and, in many cases, lower echelons of the 5th, 7th, 12th, 13th, 14th, and 15th U. S. Army Air Forces; the headquarters of the 20th Bomber Command which operates the B-29 Superfortresses; and world-wide installations of the Air Transport Command.

General Glenn spent an hour with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Australia, and had conferences with Brig. Gen. Frank D. Merrill and Brig. Gen. Haydon C. Boatner of the famed Merrill's Marauders, under Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's command in the China-Burma-India theater.

Sam Amazing Thing

It was with General Stilwell's forces in Burma that General Glenn witnessed what he terms "the most dramatic and amazing demonstration of the work of the air evacuation units."

He rode into the area south Myit-kyina as a passenger on an air evacuation plane which landed on an advance air strip close to the bloody jungle battle fields on which Merrill's Marauders are savagely attacking far behind the Japanese lines.

"None of the wounded remain in there over 48 hours," said the general, "due to the highly efficient air evacuation system. Most of them are brought out within 24 hours after being wounded, and often in less time. Over 15,000 patients have been flown out in 7 1/2 months—most of these Chinese," he said.

Fly 1,200 Miles

It's a 1,200 mile round trip from general hospitals in the rear areas to the firing lines and back, over some of the toughest terrain in the world. "These people go so far forward that the medical personnel is under fire from enemy ground troops."

The general said: "Everything in this war medical supplies and personnel are brought into inaccessible combat zones by air, and wounded are brought in. This requires a complex medical organization in all areas. The achievements of nurses are supreme in all theaters—particularly in the China-Burma-India theater."

Total "airborne" time logged on the trip from Washington, D. C., eastward around the world to Fort Worth, Texas amounted to 212 hours and 15 minutes.

Two Negroes Jailed For Attempted Attack On Angleton Woman

GALVESTON — (AP) — Held in the Angleton jail Thursday were two negroes taken in custody by officers in connection with an attempted attack on Mrs. Jack A. Felton, who was accidentally killed by a neighbor when the latter came to her aid with a shotgun.

According to a report to the Galveston News from its Angleton correspondent, the neighbor heard screams coming from Mrs. Felton's home near Sweeney, Brazoria County, Wednesday night. He rushed to the scene with his gun which he fired in the dark at a form hurtling through a window, the correspondent reported.

Officers found in the Felton home signs of a terrific struggle.

Mrs. Felton's husband was working on the night shift in a refinery near Sweeney and their two children were with her mother at Thorndale.

Convict Sentenced Here Now Faces Death In Chair For Murder

Clay Whittle, 38, who was given a 30-year sentence in the penitentiary in district court here for robbery with fire arms June 30, 1944, is scheduled to die in the electric chair the night of July 30 for the murder of a fellow convict.

Whittle was convicted here on the charge that he robbed two school teachers and stole their car. When arrested and tried here he had already had three convictions for forgery and five for robbery with firearms.

Recess Plans

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — Department Store Manager R. W. Madsen has told his employees they will have the day off when Germany surrenders. If the surrender is at night, they needn't come to work the next day. If it's in the daytime, the doors will be locked immediately and business suspended.

Juveniles Cause City Police Much Trouble

Juveniles are becoming quite a problem for police.

Since Monday 14 juveniles have been detained or questioned at the police station. Twelve of the number were runaways from other towns that were picked up in Midland. Two were Midland boys who were apprehended for stealing a bicycle.

One of the runaway boys, a 14-year-old lad, said he had run away from Dallas County to escape being placed in the detention home, and that he had spent five years in the orphan's home.

Another of the boys said he had run away from a home for feeble minded in Alabama.

No calls on Midland juveniles who had run away have been received.

Donald Jinx Rides Browns And Indians

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Joe McCarthy ever gets those New York Yankees up for a fourth straight American League pennant, Swampy Donald's black magic over Cleveland and St. Louis will come in for a lion's share of the credit.

The lean right-handed screwball artist from Louisiana's swamp lands is just another pitcher against most of the clubs but he has beaten the Indians 12 of 13 starts since hitting the big show and dribbled the Browns 11 of 14 tries.

Tribe Slammed

Although Donald's "hex" against St. Louis has shown signs of weakening in splitting four games with the Browns this year, the evil eye treatment still holds against the Indians. With the help of homers by Snuffy Shivers and Oscar Grimes, Donald topped Cleveland for the third straight time by a 6-3 score before 25,483 pennant-minded Tribe followers. Jim Bagby suffered his first loss.

Six war fund games Wednesday, including the Cleveland night fray and tilts in Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, upped the major league war contribution for 1944 to $445,093.71 with a Cincinnati at Boston doubleheader on Sept. 24 still to be counted.

Browns Outfit But Win

Jack Kramer finally hit the 10-win mark as the Browns shaded Philadelphia 4-2 although outfit 11 to 6. Catcher Red Hayworth's three-run homer in the fourth spelled Luke Hamlin's doom and protected the 3 1/2 game St. Louis lead over New York.

Boston and Detroit were halted by rain in the eighth for a 1-1 tie between Hal Newhouser and Pinky Woods and Chicago staged a two-run spur in the last of the ninth to top Washington, 4-3, as 30,879 customers, including Commissioner K. M. Landis, sat through a 1 hour, 22 minute storm that interrupted play in the second. Johnny Humphries was the winner over Early Wynn whose losing streak mounted to seven.

Pittsburgh took over second place in the National's most exciting race by trimming the New York Giants 6-5 behind Fritz Ostermueller as Cincinnati split with Boston.

Brooklyn took over sole occupancy of the cellar by losing to Chicago's Bill Fleming 4-1 as Boston beat Bucky Walters 9-2 in the first game. Cincinnati grabbed the night cap, from the Braves 8-5 for Harry Gumbert's eighth triumph.

Danny Lithwiler was the hero of St. Louis' 8-6 nod over the Phils by clouting a three-run homer in the eighth and scoring the winning run in the tenth.

Mrs. Dewey And Mrs. Bricker Hold First Press Talks

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey and Mrs. John W. Bricker have divergent opinions on compulsory military training for American youth, but appear, nonetheless, well-teamed as wives of the GOP presidential nominee and his running mate.

Their first joint press conference, held Wednesday on the veranda of New York's executive mansion, had the atmosphere of a casual tea. The Ohio governor's wife and her hostess, Mrs. Dewey, responded with equal poise to a barrage of questions.

Mrs. Bricker, mother of a 13-year-old boy, John, stated flatly, in answer to a question, she "would dislike awfully to see compulsory military training."

Appears Surprised

The New York governor's wife appeared surprised. She said, at first, she had formulated no opinion on the subject, but later decided she had "no objections" to such training as might be required.

"The military very much appeals to my boys," she said, adding that "boys do love to march." (Her sons are Thomas Jr., 11, and John, 5, who, incidentally, have not met the Bricker boy.)

Mrs. Bricker countered with an objection to "such strict control," and said, "I think the year's training proposed would do little or no good."

No Rancor

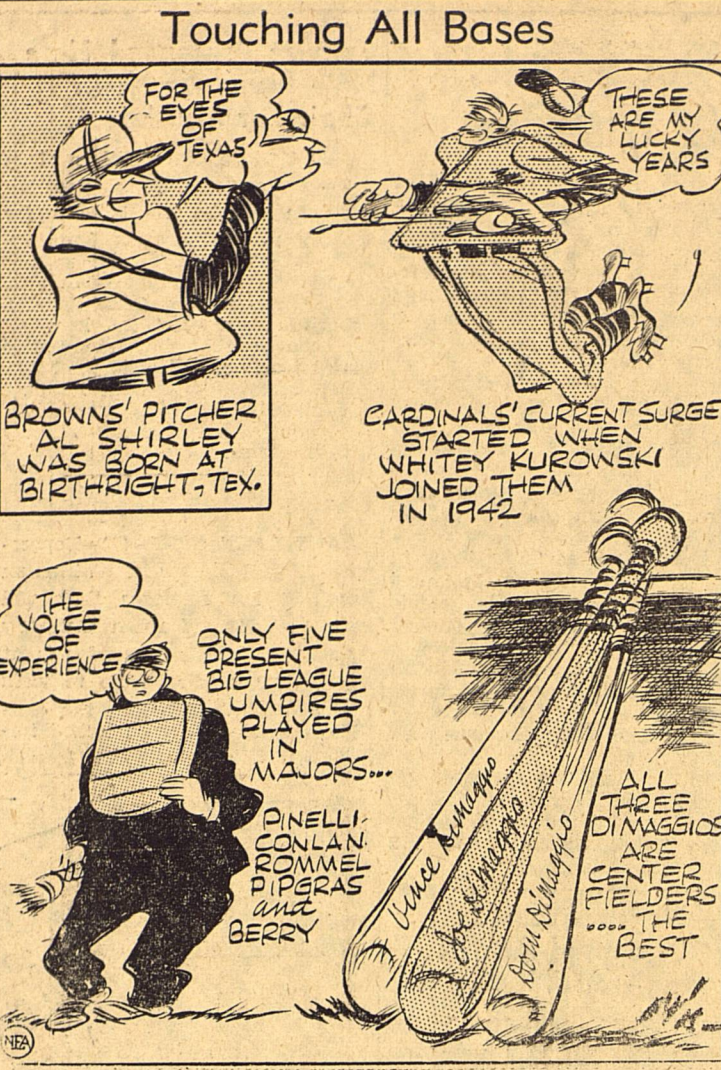

But this short-lived exchange seemed without rancor. As if by mutual understanding, the newly-acquainted mothers shied quickly from further discussion bordering on politics.

Mrs. Bricker, a native of Columbus, Ohio, wore an aquamarine crepe print. The Texas-born Mrs. Dewey wore a pale green silk print.

Seated on a wicker divan, they made a pleasant, summer picture, eagerly discovering many common interests other than their expressed intention to travel with their campaigning husbands without actually becoming politically active.

Both play the piano, both like to cook, both trace their ancestry to early English settlers in Virginia, both "love to travel and meet people," and neither has been abroad.

The two women said they hoped to try some piano duets—a good test of teamwork.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

By FRITZ HOWELL (Punch-Hitting for Hugh Fullerton Jr.)

NEW YORK — (AP) — The armed services are taking pretty good care of the four freedoms. Mr. Fullerton, for whom we're subbing, is enjoying a fifth (vacationing at Freedom, N. H.), and Thursday as the lazy, lazy dog-days approach, we're declaring a sixth freedom—the right to construct a column by clipping quips from our colleagues.

Maybe they'll dub us the thief of "Bag-Gag" for stealing their stuff, but we're too tired to worry. Here are the guest stars and their star jobs:

Tops and Bottoms

John E. Wray, St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Our Browns are seventh in team hitting, sixth in team fielding, and below par in other departments of play. In fact, the only thing they're first in is the American loop.

Baseball Quiz

No. 1—What player won the batting championship in both majors?
No. 2—What player pitched a no-hit game in both majors?
(Answers at end, after our guests leave.)

Fully Equipped

George Herrick, San Diego Tribune-Sun: George Zaharias is all set for his opening pro football game with the Los Angeles Mustangs here for Sept. 3, except... he has no team, no coach, no name for the club, and no place to play.

Bill Harvey, Paterson, N. J., Morning Call: Ray Starr has pitched professionally for 17 different clubs in his 19 years of baseball. The Pirate moundman boasts he gets at least two hits annually... one in the spring before the pitchers get warmed up, and one in the fall after they cool off. He thinks a great hitter is a guy who can hit a bird shot with a buggy whip.

Answers to Quiz

No. 1—Ed Delehanty, 408 in 1899 in National; 376 in 1902 in American.
No. 2—Cy Young, Boston vs. Philadelphia (American), 1904; and Cleveland vs. Cincinnati National, 1897.

Former Midland Contractor Is Killed In Action At Saipan

The Navy Department has notified M. T. Hutchman of Fort Worth that his brother, Johnnie Hutchman, was killed in action at Saipan. Before enlisting in the Seabees, he was a Midland painting contractor.

Lightning Strikes Twice In Same Spot

LIGONIER, PA. — (AP) — Joseph Clark, a Fairfield township farmer, disagrees with the old adage that lightning never strikes twice in the same spot. His barn was struck during a storm on the very spot another barn was destroyed by a thunderbolt 13 years earlier.

Mexican President Asked To Halt Student Riots

MEXICO CITY.—(AP)—The rector of the National University of Mexico has asked President Avila Camacho to take a hand in a school riot that has resulted in the death of two students.

The riot reached its peak Wednesday when veterinary students threatened to turn loose dogs infected with rabies, kept for laboratory experiments. The threat was not carried out.

Dr. Rodolfo Brito Foucher, the rector, in a statement to the faculty and students of the university, blamed the outbreak on "a group of politicians desirous of getting possession of the university."

Cites Acts Of Violence

He said the leaders had the following of "a small group of bad students" who for three months have been carrying on acts of violence.

The rector carried his appeal to the president while students were fighting in university buildings and in the streets.

Police said that besides the two students killed, more than a score were hurt seriously, and some 200 had minor injuries.

The rioting started in protest against professors he had installed as heads of various schools of the university. Ten members of the law faculty resigned Wednesday morning after an anti-Brito faction had taken possession of the law school building and held it all the previous night. When the defenders were dislodged, the battle spread to the veterinary school building.

Bricks and stones were hurled freely during the fighting, and when students assaulted the veterinary building they were met with bottles of blazing gasoline and a threat to turn loose the mad dogs.

Arkansas Politics Take Queer Turn

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—(AP)—By a strange turn of events a discharged president of the University of Arkansas and the governor who ousted him found themselves in the August 8 runoff Thursday for the Arkansas Democratic senatorial nomination.

These two finalists in Tuesday's preferential primary, personable J. W. (Bill) Fulbright, 39-year-old freshman congressman who authored the "lasting peace" resolution, and tall, smiling Gov. Homer M. Adkins, 53, were quick to advance possible issues based upon their theories of government.

Task Force

3,000 yards out onto the peninsula to the outskirts of Sumay town.

The Guam invaders, with 2,800 dead Japanese accounted for, widened their beachhead of 12 miles of Guam's west coast, including the shoreline forming prized Apra harbor.

On Tinian three days of slaughter left 1,958 Japanese dead, including a band of 400 who suicidally threw themselves against the Orote trap.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's men maintained the trap holding thousands of Japanese on Northwest New Guinea. New breakout attempts were repulsed.

In China the U.S. 14th Air Force stung the Japanese trying to take Hengyang, downing or damaging 14 planes in a battle over Yochow. A hope began to glimmer in Chungking stories that the enemy might be forced to abandon his offensive to seize all the Hankow-Canton railway. Hengyang teetered on the verge of capture, but its doughy defenders and General Chennault's fliers were making the price high. In the Yochow battle no Americans were lost.

The British inflicted more losses on the Japanese fleeing India and Chinese-American troops inched deeper into Myitkyina.

The Sabang raid was a repeat performance of the April 19 task force raid. Sabang lies at the northeastern end of the Malacca Strait, the narrow waterway which thrusts between Sumatra and Malaya down to storied Singapore.

Dewey And Bricker May Center Attacks On Border States

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Govs. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and John W. Bricker of Ohio toiled over a Republican version of a political flying bomb Thursday, with indications that first attacks would be aimed at Democratic strongholds on the fringes of Dixie and in the Middle West.

Plattling the curves for a barrage expected to get under way early next month, the Republican presidential and vice presidential nominees were reported in agreement that the GOP ought to carry a vigorous general campaign not only to the so-called border states but should bid strongly for labor support at the same time.

Starts Next Week

Dewey, the No. 1 man, will put a part of this strategy in effect next week when he journeys to politically-doubtful Missouri for a conference with the other 25 Republican governors at St. Louis, where Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, used to be the opposition organization leader.

The Dewey invasion of the home state of Sen. Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, will be the New York governor's first visit to that territory since he spoke for the USO in St. Louis in 1941. He campaigned the state in 1940 before the Republican convention and spoke there later for Wendell L. Willkie, that year's nominee.

Bricker, who scheduled a conference in New York Thursday with National Chairman Herbert Brownell Jr., after an overnight visit at the executive mansion, may carry the brunt of the GOP drive in seven key states where he predicted the Republicans will "put up a good campaign."

Salute to a Lady

By Victoria Wolf

THE SCENE: A U. S. Army hospital in a little native village in the heart of Algeria about the time of the American landings in North Africa.

CHAT WITH YVONNE

XVI
THOUGH Ahmed obviously liked and esteemed Dr. Merrill, he gave full credit for his speedy recovery only to Allah, his God. Inch Allah was a sort of exclamation point after all his not too frequent sentences. Inch Allah: If God wills it.
"Why don't you believe that I respect your religion?" George asked the day before Ahmed left. "I truly do, and I feel sorry that I am misunderstood."
"Our religion is intolerant of European religions," Ahmed replied. "How could yours be tolerant of ours?"
"We are not Europeans. We are Americans!"
"Well, your religion is like European religion. It's all the same to us."
"Then, why do you trust our General Staff?"
"That's politics! Politics exist and religion exists! The same as Hell exists and Heaven exists."
"Why don't you like the French government any more?"
"The French became weak and unjust," Ahmed said rather reluctantly. "After the war we will have big changes over here."
"Do you mean self-government?"
"I don't know, and if I did I couldn't discuss it. But big changes, somehow."
The finality in his tone discouraged further conversation. It was evident that Ahmed felt he had committed himself too much already.

One week after his operation he left in a command car and was brought home for final recovery to his father's house, which in summer was a palatial home, and in winter a desert tent.
ON one of my rounds I had a chat with Yvonne who sat moodily on a chair next to the bedside of an unconscious soldier and complained about the waste of time.
"He is in a coma and rather dull. I wonder why I am condemned to watch him?"
"Because Dr. Merrill trusts you more than the rest of us."
"Do you really think so?"
"Of course, Yvonne; it's an honor and not a condemnation."
Her face suddenly glowed with happiness. "You really mean it, Chary? Do you know how good it is to hear you say that? One has so many doubts. See, he knows I love him. I told him so, remember? And he must feel it, too. But he remains calm and composed and never says the slightest word that might be encouraging. Sometimes he smiles at me, his whole being smiles and I feel it over and over. But that's all."
"A smile is a great deal, Yvonne. Nobody has such a smile for me. No other girl here has such a smile all for herself. You only realize how much a smile can mean when you have lost it."
Like all fanatic lovers, she has no ear for anyone else. She is convinced that she is the first truly loving girl in the world and behaves as if she had patented the secret.
"But dear, it's all so different with me, you see. Nobody can understand how I feel! It is as if he were a missionary and I his new convert. Formerly I was a sinner, now I am a saint. But, I need a word of recognition from my missionary. Shouldn't he give it? Words are made to be spoken, aren't they?"

"That's a bad simile, Yvonne. Smiles rarely do justice to reality. He is just as much a new convert as you are. He, a man of work, suddenly has to face a new problem—love. It takes time till he adjusts his whole personality to such a revolutionary fact. Men are always slower than women. You should know that from experience."
"I don't expect miracles," she said with the stubbornness of a child who doesn't want to grow up. "A nice word from time to time, or his hand . . . it would mean so much . . ." She broke off suddenly, as this very moment the door opened and Dr. Merrill came in.
BLUSHING like a trapped thief, Yvonne reported about her uneventful morning. "Is there anything I should do?" she questioned.
"No, just watch and wait. What temperature?"
"One hundred four and two-tenths degrees."
"No benzdrine this time," Dr. Merrill teased, flashing me a cryptic smile.
"What does that mean?" asked Yvonne with quickly aroused suspicion.
"Just a joke." He gave me another smile of secret understanding, and nodding at Yvonne left the room with long sure strides.
Yvonne gazed after him, and her eyes tried to follow him beyond the closed door. "I love the way he walks," she said. "I love the way he lights a cigaret. I love the way he holds the knife. I love the way he buttons his coat. I cannot bear, Charlotte, that you know something about him I do not know! Tell me this benzdrine story."
"Silly!" I said. "It was just a suggestion I once made."
"Honest to goodness?" she asked.
"Of course, apprehensive," I said, ready to go.
"Come in again on your next round, Charlotte," she implored. "It is somehow comforting to have you around. You seem so detached."

At the Allentown Tournament the defenders of two different events repeated this year. In the women's pair event Mrs. Olive Peterson of Philadelphia and Mrs. P. L. Corson of Plymouth Meeting, Pa., successfully defended their title, while the team-of-four again went to Mrs. Benjamin M. Golder, Charles Solomon and Byron Kaufman of Philadelphia and Miss Frances Jacoby of Wilmington. Mrs. Golder and Solomon also won the mixed pairs.
A very interesting hand came up in the open pair event which was won by Stanley Fenkel of Philadelphia and E. G. Ellenbogen of Reading, Pa. The bidding by which the contract was reached may have been slightly optimistic, but Fenkel played the hand with skill to make the contract. Others who tried to make four went down, while five diamonds by South was defeated only one trick. The opening diamond lead was ruffed by declarer, and a low trump led, South dropping the nine. North won and returned another diamond. Fenkel ruffed, then laid down the ace and king of hearts. When the queen dropped from the South hand, Fenkel led another heart to the nine in dummy, and when South discarded the contract was safe. The trump finesse against the jack was taken, and thereafter declarer lost only two club tricks.

DETAIL FOR TODAY

In Navy and Coast Guard lingo, a BRICK is an unattractive and muscular type of female. Invariably she is a patriotic sort of individual who wants to help make some lonely serviceman forget his loneliness but only succeeds in making him wish all the more that he were back home with his favorite girl or even back out at sea. Sailors who frequent the USO's or social gatherings sometimes find themselves in the middle of a dance floor with a BRICK. In most cases, they were dragged out there before they knew what was going on. Fortunately, BRICKS are not numerous and their good intentions can usually be evaded with a tactful excuse such as, "I was wounded in battle and am looking for a doctor. Do you mind sitting this one out?"

SIDE GLANCES

"We're having more casualties since we're fighting in France, grandma! Here's a wounded soldier who says he can use a slice of angel food cake!"

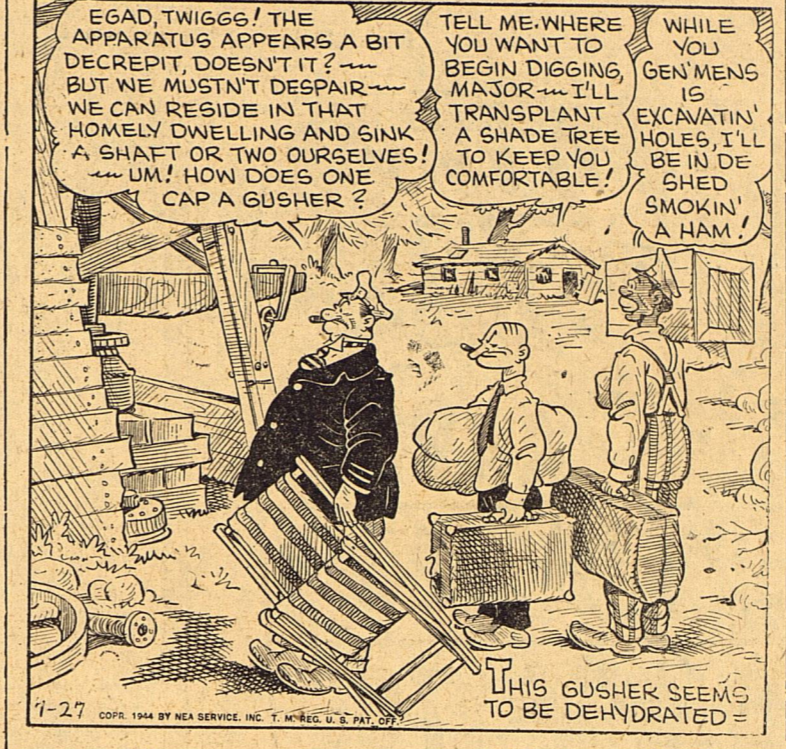

Sister Gives Life To Save Brother

DEXTER, ORE. — (AP) — Eleanor Parker, 7, tugged her 8-year old brother, Stephen, to shore after he slipped into Lost Creek. Playmates swarmed around the rescued boy. Then they turned to thank Eleanor. She was gone. Her father, John Parker, recovered the girl's body from the same deep hole into which her brother had slipped.

Lewis Farm And Feed Store Handles Scientifically Prepared Feeds

The Lewis Feed and Supply Store has been serving farmers and ranchers of this section since 1923. It is located on East Highway and L. E. Lewis is the owner. The store is easily recognized because of its checker colored front.

"As the value of feeding with scientifically prepared and mixed feeds becomes more widely recognized we try to keep step with this advancement in agriculture by handling only those feeds we know to have been prepared according to formulas devised by experts on scientifically balanced feeds," Lewis said.

The store has been handling the Purina line of feeds since August of 1943. Results Satisfactory

"We began handling the Purina line only after we had made thorough investigations of results

Conner's Conoco Service Station at 410 West Wall is shown here. With two driveways more cars can be serviced, which makes it more convenient for customers of the concern. The station offers a complete lubrication service, as well as washing and polishing.

farmers and ranchers had been getting from these feeds. Our investigation showed results of feeding with the Purina line were highly satisfactory," Lewis averred.

By constant experimenting Purina feeds are improved, from time to time and can always be counted on to deliver maximum feed value, Lewis said.

Another line of feeds carried by the store is the Houston Milling Company line. The Houston's feeds have registered a tremendous growth in popularity among feeds of this section since they were introduced here.

Two Popular Lines

With two popular, reliable lines of feeds from which to choose farmers and ranchers are sure of finding the type of feeds that best suits their needs, Lewis pointed out.

Poultry raisers of this section have been calling at the Lewis store in increasing numbers for their poultry equipment. The concern has become headquarters for a large number of poultry raisers when they are seeking feeders, waterers and other equipment.

Insecticides is another often needed item by farmers and ranchers that can be found at the Lewis store.

Seeds sold at the store are carefully selected and growers have found them reliable.

Plenty of Room

Location of the Lewis store is convenient for its customers as there is plenty of parking space where cars and trucks can be loaded with the least amount of trouble.

"It is our desire to sell only the best to our friends and customers, and we greatly appreciate the loyalty they have shown us, especially the number who have been trading with us since this business was started in 1926," Lewis said.

Maffia's Perfect Bank Robbery Foiled By Heavy-Footed Guard

By STANLEY ROSS AP Features

BUENOS AIRES—Argentine authorities have refused a clemency appeal by members of the Maffia, once-dreaded Sicilian crime organization which spread terror throughout the world.

The Argentine Maffia leaders, imprisoned after a sensational nationwide chase four years ago, had applied for a reduction of their sentence from eight to four years.

For many years, Juan Galiffi (known to the organization as "Chico Grande," chief of the Maffia) was a respected and wealthy member of society in Rosario, Argentina's second city. His beautiful daughter, Agata (The Flower of the Maffia), married into a respected family. Juan's position in the Maffia was even less suspected because of his warm personal friendship with Benito Mussolini, sworn enemy of the Maffia and is exterminator in Italy.

Argentine newspaper say the Maffia ran criminal activities throughout Argentina for years, specializing in blackmail, counterfeiting, bank robbery and murder.

Finally, in 1940 Galiffi and his daughter rented a house diagonally across the street from the Bank of the Province of Tucuman. From the cellar of this house the Maffia dug a tunnel 250 feet to the bank and burrowed to a spot directly under the vault. Instead of simply running off with the money, which would expose them as the perpetrators, the Maffia planned to substitute the provincial treasury and the bank's funds with an equal amount of its own counterfeit bills. It was planned that the theft should not be immediately discovered and that when it was, it should look like an "inside" job.

Unfortunately for Galiffi, a big, heavy watchman pounding his beat stepped on a spot directly over the tunnel several nights before the scheduled switch of currency. The tunnel caved in and the plot was discovered.

The Galiffis fled with the police

Torpedo May Be Nazis' New Weapon

LONDON—(AP)—Germany's newest "secret weapon" is a one-man torpedo, according to the International Information Bureau, German news agency.

The agency said in a broadcast that the torpedoes are being used off the mouth of the Orne River, adding: "Successes have been mentioned in recent German communiques."

No details of the weapon were disclosed by the agency, but presumably the torpedo is similar to the British "human" torpedo—constructed on a principle that is neither new nor secret.

'El Diablo' Is Most Hated Of Allied 'Weapons'

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN NORMANDY (Delayed)—(P)—The doughboys' best aerial pal in France is "El Diablo," the little "flying jeep" which once saved an American company from being trapped and which on another occasion called down fire on them so accurately that 150 Germans were wiped out.

"Diablo" is a small observation plane that acts as a spotter for an artillery battalion. Front line German gunners hate it worse than they do a dozen fighters.

Got Two of Four
Piloted by Lt. John Holloman, Livingston, Texas, it circles over the battle area while Lt. Fred (Luke) Madden, Hazard, Ky., directs the artillery fire on the targets behind the German lines.

Once they caught four Nazi trucks trying to sneak supplies forward and with the first volley they called down two were destroyed. The others wheeled to the safety of the rear.

Madden on another occasion called in three battalions to fire on German troops, concentrated in a ravine. The doughboys later found 150 dead Germans there.

"It's fun to direct fire on enemy trucks or tanks, because you can see the results," said Madden. "But we help our own doughboys more by searching out enemy gun positions for our artillery to destroy."

Praised By Men
"Diablo," or any one of the other planes in the group commanded by Major J. Elmore Swenson, Salt Lake City, can call down a whole corps of artillery on a German battery or any other important target.

The work of this group won the personal congratulations of General Eisenhower on July 3, during his Normandy tour. Swenson received the Bronze Star for his planning and leadership. The men thought it was well to be praised by the supreme commander, but even a prouder tribute came from the infantrymen who said:

"Those Cubs are our best friends at the front. We'd rather see a Cub than a Thunderbolt any time."

ICC Places Blame For Train Wreck

WASHINGTON—(P)—A collision between two Santa Fe passenger trains at Hamlet, Colo., June 19, resulting in two deaths and injury to 43 persons, was caused by the westbound train "fouling the main track without authority," the Interstate Commerce Commission said Wednesday.

The collision occurred at 3:44 a.m. when the westbound train moved at four miles an hour from a siding onto the main line track before the eastbound train had completely cleared the switch.

The report said the engineer of the westbound train "misjudged the distance to the clearance point of the west siding-switch, and first became aware of the actual location of the clearance point when their engine entered the turnout, concluding that there was no sign or mark to indicate the clearance point at the west end of the siding. If a distinctive sign had been provided, the engineer of No. 13 (westbound) would have been aware of his location with respect to the clearance point, and this accident would have been avoided."

'Landlords' Must Register Rental Property Here Soon After August 1

Federal rent control for Midland County will be inaugurated August 1, and both landlords and tenants should become familiar with provisions of the rent regulations. C. N. Sullivan, district rent executive for the Office of Price Administration, said Wednesday.

Registration of all rental property will begin as soon after August 1 as an office set-up can be completed.

AP Photographer Killed When Yank Bombs Fall Short

WITH THE AMERICAN FIRST ARMY IN FRANCE—(P)—A bomb from a B-26 Marauder, which fell short of its mark, killed Bede Irvin, Associated Press war photographer, Tuesday shortly after he had taken pictures of the mighty aerial barrage which set off the present Allied drive in Normandy.

The medium bombers were headed toward the nearby German lines. Someone shouted, "Watch out, bombs from the Marauders are falling short."

Irvin, who was sitting in a jeep, was killed by a bomb fragment as he dived for a ditch.

Lee McCordell of the Baltimore Sun, who was with Irvin at the time the Marauders flew over the field, said Irvin "apparently hesitated a split second to pick up his camera before diving for a nearby ditch. He was caught in mid-air by a bomb fragment and killed instantly."

Irvin was found by McCordell crumpled in a ditch with one camera around his neck and the other lying near an outstretched hand.

Rubber Director Says Job Finished, Offers Resignation

WASHINGTON—(P)—The first war agency head to liquidate his own bureau, Rubber Director Bradley Dewey, declared Wednesday that this country's new $750,000,000 synthetic rubber industry will survive into the peacetime era.

Dewey, who Tuesday announced his own resignation and the dissolution of his office on or before September 1, said the industry now was producing at the full rate recommended by the War Relocation Authority nearly two years ago—about 836,000 tons a year. This is some 250,000 tons more than the country's consumption of natural rubber before the war.

May Be Cheaper
"I can not see any capitalist planting rubber trees and waiting seven years for them to grow," said Dewey, "against a future of unknown labor costs—in competition with chemists who have won every battle they ever entered between synthetics and nature."

For a period after the war synthetic rubber probably will be one or two cents cheaper than crude rubber, he said, and thereafter may run a few cents higher than the natural product.

Dewey submitted his resignation Tuesday to James F. Byrnes, director of the Office of War Mobilization, who accepted it with the comment that Dewey had made "a wonderful contribution to the war effort." WPB agreed to carry out Dewey's organizational program.

NOW HE CAN EAT

GREENVILLE, PA.—(P)—Some persons bite their nails when they see an exciting movie, while others tear up handkerchiefs. But one Camp Reynolds soldier was so overcome at a show in the War Department Theater that he lost both his upper and lower false teeth. The dentures were found, unbroken, after the show. An ad in the camp's Daily Bulletin reunited the soldier and his "chow crunchers."

Bountiful Rains Hit Part Of State

AUSTIN—(P)—Bountiful rains fell in the high plains, low rolling plains and numerous North Texas counties in the week ended July 24 but most of the state needed rains for crops.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported the remaining portions of the state would benefit from rain except some Northwest Panhandle counties where the wheat harvest was still in progress and in extreme South Texas where cotton picking, feed and grain sorghum harvests were under way.

The condition of livestock continued good in the Panhandle, high plains, low rolling plains, many North Texas counties and parts of the Trans-Pecos area but some shrinkage of cattle had started elsewhere.

Full Crop Report
The department gave these crop reports:
Cotton—Made satisfactory growth and was fruiting well in most areas.
Grain Sorghum—Made fair to excellent progress in some areas.

Corn—Continued spotty in over most of the state. Parts of South Texas had a fair to good crop mature, development was satisfactory in a few localities in Central Texas and growth in the high plains was good.

Commercial Vegetables—Harvests continued uninterrupted. Cantaloupes and watermelons were available in good volume. The Panhandle potato harvest was active. All fall vegetable crop areas made good progress. Transplanting of eggplant, peppers and tomatoes made good headway in the Laredo and Winter Garden districts.

Italian Newspaper Berates, Praises Allied Armies

By GEORGE BRIA

ROME—(P)—The Allied armies drag behind them an "elephantine bureaucracy," the action party newspaper Italia Libera said Wednesday in an article criticizing both Italians and their liberators.

The article, entitled "The Allies In Italy," said there was:

"A futile waste of means and energy. A show of infallibility where presumptuous ignorance, ingenuousness and fatuousness are evident. Contradictions in the acts of authorities whose powers are not precise and contrasting."

Turning to the Italians, the newspaper said, "We are forced to note much servility contrasting with often unnecessary pride, a vicious tendency to trickery and imbroglione... divisions and jealousies... an excess of beggars not always for poverty but also for ignoble speculation... superiority of judgment and irresponsibility in giving pledges."

Allies Seek Luxury
The newspaper said the Allies considered "modern comfort as the supreme good" and sought luxury, good food and entertainment. It added that the Allies also sought out parties given by the aristocracy where "German lovers and spies of yesterday are not missing."

Allied armies were declared marked by: "An excess of requisitions often unnecessary, an excess of public drunkenness with minor incidents... too much money in the hands of too many people, which results in new grave turmoil in the already tormented imbalance between wages and prices."

The newspaper said, however, that never happens in the history of war was a people ever treated with greater trust and with greater understanding by authorities and by occupying troops.

"The Allies are waging a war when it is to our advantage and they are winning it," it said. "The final result will render very small and unnoticeable the inconveniences of today."

Plans Being Made To Secure Combines For Use In County

Plans are being made to assure enough combines in the county for harvesting what promises to be one of the best crops in years, County Agent I. O. Sturkie said Wednesday.

The 15 combines in the county are not nearly enough to take care of Midland County crops, the county agent pointed out. By means of a four-way arrangement additional combines will be secured when needed.

The Extension Service will have a field man in this section who will know where combines are being used and how many. Midland County farmers will notify Sturkie when they will need combines. Sturkie will notify the Extension Service field man, and he will direct combines to the county as they complete their harvesting wherever they are located at the time.

Farmers will pay the combine owners a flat price per acre for harvesting.

French Patriots Force Nazis To Ride Bicycles

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent

NORMANDY—In February, 1944, the German galleiter for Normandy sent a report to Berlin on the resistance movement in Normandy. "Normans are apathetic people," he said, "interested in eating well and living comfortably. To all intents and purposes there is no resistance movement in Normandy."

His report made delightful reading everywhere—but especially in a chateau in the Norman woods where one copy was received well in advance of its delivery in Berlin. There, Monsieur Reynard, as we must call him for the time being, leader of all resistance—in Normandy, noted with satisfaction that the Germans knew almost nothing about the 2500 men organized under him for action as and when needed.

The Germans have had ample proof of the error of this report and the effectiveness of Reynard's men, since D-Day. Two German divisions, for instance, had to be brought to the battlefield from Brittany on bicycles because of the sabotage of rail and road communications by the "iron-existent" resistance army. Knew Nazi Defenses

In the living room of his chateau Reynard told me the history of the resistance movement in Normandy and how he came to be its leader. Reynard is a well-to-do business man in his middle forties. He's short, stocky, with curly black hair, thick, black-rimmed glasses, and the sort of familiar French face that's bound to remind you of someone you can't quite recall.

His part in the resistance movement began early in 1941, when a friend approached him and asked if he would collect information for the Allies. Reynard hesitated. He didn't quite trust this friend's discretion, a distrust which later proved frighteningly valid because the Gestapo arrested him—and happily invalid because his friend betrayed no-one.

To prove he was trustworthy, the friend gave Reynard a message: "Elise, Your brother is fine. Signed, Jacques." This message, his friend said, would be broadcast during the next few days by BBC. So it was, Reynard started work—as an individual collecting information.

For the first year and a half of its existence, the resistance movement was merely a fact-finding agency. Reynard collected information about the results of Allied bombings, about German fortifications, troop movements, etc. At first his friend would come around on a bicycle every few weeks and collect information, but soon a regular courier service was organized.

As the movement grew, Reynard began to get help. From men working on German constructions, he was able to get complete blueprints of every important fortress the Germans built in the Cherbourg area.

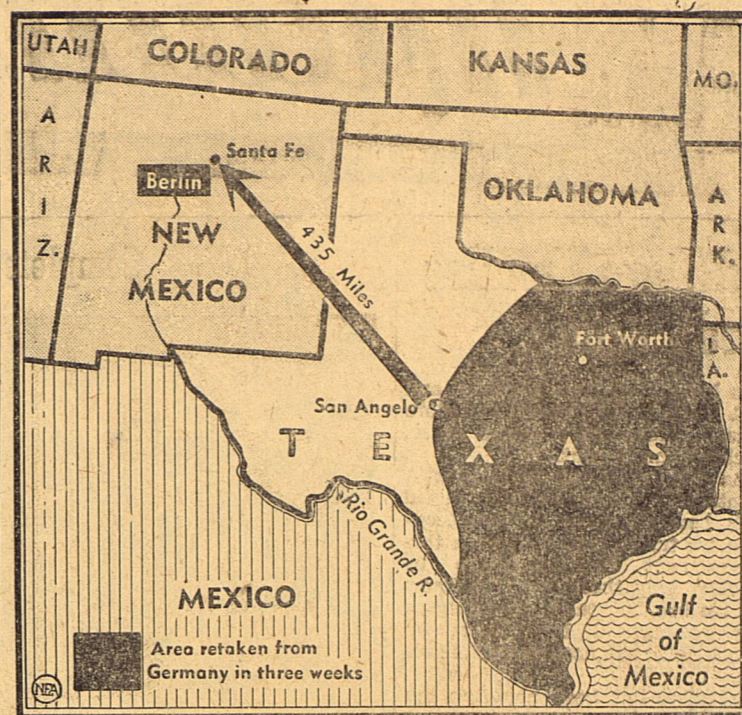

Hiding blueprints presented a problem. Some he hid in a car for which he had made a secret garage out of wood and leaves in the forest behind his house. He traveled to his hideout only at night in his stocking feet, wearing a long black cape. Other hiding places included a dog house and even crows' nests high in the trees of the estate.

As his usefulness to the organization grew, Reynard began occasionally to accompany his friends on bicycle rounds to other members of the resistance movement in the area. And when, early in 1943, the Gestapo arrested his friend, higher headquarters asked Reynard to take over.

Accepted Risk
He took eight days to decide. On one hand, there were his children (who never knew about his work until after D Day). There would be great risks—like the time this spring when German officers marched into his house and requisitioned bullets in rooms where an illegal radio and arms were hidden. On the other hand, there was France. Reynard accepted.

At the end of 1942, the resistance movement had undergone a profound change. What had been until then purely an information service composed of approximately 100 in-

Red Gains Brought Home

Map above translates gains of the Red army in their great summer offensive into terms of U. S. geography. Three weeks after jump-off on June 23, the Russians had recaptured from the Nazis over 116,000 square miles—roughly equal to half of Texas, as indicated on map. Distance of Red spearheads from Berlin approximately equals distance from San Angelo, Tex., to Santa Fe, N. M.

Pawnshops Finding War Brings Boom

PORTLAND, ORE.—(P)—Zooming wartime salaries and increased employment haven't cut down business in Portland's pawnshops. Most of them reported a 50 per cent increase over the pre-war period, with people continuing to pawn everything from luggage to glass eye.

Customers usually part with jewelry first and clothing second.

The action movement was organized geographically—one chief and four sub-chiefs to each canton. No one man knew more than one or two others in the movement, so no one could betray the whole organization if caught by the Gestapo. Even Reynard himself knew only the identity of the leader of the nearest department of France.

Action organizations grew to include some 2500 men. They were given no military training, merely told to hold themselves in readiness.

Only once before D Day did Reynard get any call for action. An agent from outside France, wanting to show the world the strength of French resistance, tried to get Reynard to have his agents destroy all butcher shops in every Norman city and village. Feeling that this foolish bravado would needlessly reveal his hand, Reynard refused. In April, 1944, resistance headquarters in Algiers issued orders to three main resistance groups inside France to consolidate into one unit. Accordingly, unified councils were established in every department of France.

Thus when invasion came, the resistance group was unified and ready. Results of this preparedness are being read on front pages of the world's newspapers daily.

Alabama Anti-New Dealers Form New Political Party

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—(P)—A group of Alabama anti-administration Democrats formed a new political party Tuesday night and voted to call a state convention here Aug. 4 to name presidential electors pledged "to some Democrat other than Mr. Roosevelt."

Fred Rucker of Birmingham, who said he was chairman of the meeting at which the action was taken, declared that the party would be called the American Democratic Party.

Dr. Gleason L. Archer, Boston, chairman of the American Democratic Committee, was quoted in a release as telling the group that the Democratic Party is "nothing but a group of office holders dominated by the CIO Political Action Committee."
