TROOPERS JOIN HUNT

Pair Arrested in Wagon Home Near Scene of Slaying

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 11. (AP)—Physicians at the University of Michigan Medical school reported tonight at completion of an autopsy that they had found a .38 calibre bullet in the body of Harry Lore, 16, Ypsilanti, one of the four young victims of an early morning assassin, whose bodies were found in a burning automobile.

Announcement of discovery of the bullet came after it was said at the medical school that no cause of death other than heat from the flames was found in two other bodies.

Brothers Held

About the same time two brothers, living in a wagon near the scene of the crime on a country road, were taken into custody for questioning.

Police said the men had been washing clothes today and were scraping wooden clubs near their wagon. They reported finding evidence the brothers had been operating a small moonshine still.

The dead were identified by articles in the car and other means as Thomas Wheatley, 16, of near Denton Village; Harry Lore, 16, Ypsilanti; Ann May Harrison, 17, Cleveland, and Vivian Gold, 15, Cleveland.

Struggle Seen

Conditions around the car indicated a struggle had taken place before the four young persons were beaten to insensibility and their bodies placed in the car and burned. The car was parked in a side road.

Robbery was the only motive officers advanced to explain the slaying. Dr. Edwin C. Ganzhorn, Washtenaw county coroner, said "there is no doubt that it was murder," after he viewed the car and charred bodies.

Boys Identified

Harry Wheatley, father of the Wheatley boy and owner of the car, identified his son and Lore by keys which young Wheatley carried and a belt buckle worn by Lore. The girls' bodies could not be

Hope for Cramer Fades As Search Proves Vain

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 11. (US)—Norwegian and Danish naval airplanes and ships searching the North sea for Parker D. Cramer, American aviator, and his radioman reported tonight they had found no traces of the missing airmen. Fliers here believe they have perished.

Cramer and Oliver Pacquette took off from Detroit some time ago to survey a proposed air mail route across Greenland to the Scandinavian countries. They were forced down once short of the Faroe islands, and have not been heard from since shortly after leaving Thorshavn, capital of the Faroes.

Fear for their safety mounted tonight when word was received from the searching planes and vessels that the Cramer plane was still unsighted. The Americans' chances are slim unless they have been picked up by a small fishing boat not equipped with wireless.

American Sportsman Saves Royal Swimmer

CAP D'ANTIBES, France, Aug. 11. (US)—Stephen "Laddy" Sanford, American polo and turf enthusiast, was a hero today. Sanford, fully clothed, leaped from the yacht of Capt. Robert Cunningham Reid to rescue Lady Louis Mountbatten, a cousin of the British royal family, who was seized with a cramp while swimming.

Lady Mountbatten had decided to swim ashore instead of using the yacht's dinghy. Half way to her mark, she cried for help, and Sanford dived from the yacht deck, swam to her and supported her until Captain Reid came up in the dinghy.

Battling Flames in National Forest

This picture shows fire fighters working desperately to check the flames sweeping through Montana's rich forests. With the trees and undergrowth heavily dust-laden, the fire hazard is now beyond that of the holacust year of 1929. Fifteen million acres of national forests already have been closed to travel in Montana, Washington and Idaho.

Electra Greets Panhandle Firemen Assembled for Two-Day Session

100 Northwest Texas Delegates Hear History of Volunteer Service in Opening Meeting

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 11.—Childress, Chillicothe, Memphis, Burkburnett, Iowa Park, Pampa, Archer City, Claude, Wellington, Paducah, Wichita Falls, Vernon, Oklahoma City and Electra fire departments were represented at the formal opening of the third semiannual convention of the Panhandle Firemen's association here Tuesday.

One hundred delegates registered during the morning preceding the parade to the convention hall in the high school building which opened the convention.

F. E. Fitzgerald, Childress, president of the association, opened the meeting by commending Electra warmly for the reception and entertainment planned.

"Firemen need no instructions. They can take care of themselves, and have a good time," were his sentiments.

Guests Welcomed

E. E. Wheeler, Electra mayor, welcomed the guests and announced he was turning the city over to the firemen. E. R. Brown, president of Electra Chamber of Commerce, in welcoming the visitors, traced the development of the volunteer fire department from the "bucket brigade" to the present system. M. G. Ray, Memphis, secretary of the association, gave the response and stated that the firemen would at least give the key back to Electra if nothing else when they left.

"The audience is the largest of any ever present at the opening of any convention of the association," he asserted.

J. C. Serial, secretary of Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, addressed his remarks to the merits of the volunteer fire department. Chief J. L. McClure, Wichita Falls, centered his remarks around incendiary fires.

Court Annuls Marriage That Never Existed

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11. (US)—Arthur P. Willan, San Francisco railway and steamship passenger agent, appeared in court today and asked that a marriage that never existed be declared void. His request was granted.

Willan explained that in Detroit in 1920 he and a woman named Gertrude R. Berger lived together as a "matter of convenience," with the express understanding that no marriage existed between them.

He declared that he has not seen the woman since 1923 and does not know where she is now, but he desired to have the court declare any marriage claims void, under the section of the California code which permits either party to such an arrangement to take such a step.

SILVERTON, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—With the city and telephone company at loggerheads over rates, most of the business telephones in this city have been discontinued. It was expected that the fight might result in a temporary shutdown of the local exchange.

DEBT ACCORD HIKES STOCKS

Securities Ascend With Final Measures

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. (AP)—Coincident with news of final accord on detailed measures making the war debt moratorium effective, bulls gave the stock market its most vigorous boost today since the advances of late June, which were in response to President Hoover's original war debt proposal.

Although Wall street had taken it for granted the committee of experts meeting in London successfully would solve all detailed problems presented by the plan, stock market bulls evidently found the time propitious for an effort to restore some of the confidence lost during the central European financial crisis which the debt plan failed to obviate.

The upturn in stocks, which ranged from $2 to $6 a share for many prominent issues, had a stabilizing effect on the cotton market, after yesterday's collapse to new lows for the century. Net losses at the close amounted to only 25 to 45 cents a bale, as compared to net declines yesterday of $5.45 to $5.70. Prices failed to touch yesterday's extreme low levels.

Financial quarters, too, were encouraged by the manner in which the wheat market accepted the government crop estimate, which placed the crop as of July 1, at 894,000,000 bushels, or ½ per cent larger than last year's. In the Chicago pit, wheat futures recorded temporary gains of about a cent a bushel, in sympathy with Liverpool, then sagged to end the day with losses of ⅛ to ⅜ of a cent, cancelling about half of Monday's gain.

Non-Stop Flight Champs Start for Home Today

MARSEILLES, Aug. 11. (US)—Russell Boardman and John Polando, American holders of the long distance non-stop flight record, are expected to sail for New York with their dismantled plane, the Cape Cod, aboard the S. S. Excalibur, leaving here tomorrow.

Boardman and Polando flew from Brooklyn, N. Y., to Istanbul, Turkey, a distance of 5,011.2 miles, and set a new record. On Sunday, they flew from Istanbul to Marseilles.

Youth Indicted in Choir Girl's Death; Second Suspect Released

SINTON, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—Newton Yarberry, 24, was in jail without bond today after his indictment by the grand jury on a charge of murder for the slaying of Miss Dorothy Doris Symons, 18, choir singer.

Bond of $500 was set for Tom Conner, also charged with murder in connection with the girl's death. He was ordered bound over to the grand jury. His attorney said he would ask for a writ of habeas corpus, and that his petition be heard Thursday.

W. B. Moss, his attorney, said he would try to clear Conner on a writ of habeas corpus tomorrow.

Conner and Yarberry were charged with murder shortly after discovery of Miss Symons' body in a shallow beach grave near the Aransas Pass breakwater Aug. 1. She had been missing since July 30.

Officers announced today no new evidence had been found. Four Texas rangers were called to Aransas Pass last week to aid local officers in their investigation, but their findings had not been made known.

Yarberry's defense countered with a habeas corpus petition in an effort to obtain his release from the San Patricio county jail.

Hearing on the petition was set for 10 a. m. Thursday.

MACHADO ARMY RULES IN CUBA

Government Victorious in Rebel Clashes

HAVANA, Aug. 11. (US)—With martial law in effect today throughout all provinces of Cuba, with government troops victorious in a number of skirmishes with rebels; and with 3,000 soldiers mobilized at Columbia camp ready for any emergency, President Machado's forces tonight are dominating the situation.

While former President Mario Menocal and staff of aides were reported to have entered the province of Oriente to take active charge of the revolt against the government from there, with the aid of the munitions crew of the cruiser Cuba, the battleship during the night returned to Havana where her commander announced loyalty to the government.

Announcement was made that news of the mutiny on the Cuba which was disseminated from Miami, was the work of Machado enemies. The cruiser 24th of February also remains loyal.

Up to yesterday afternoon martial law was proclaimed only in the provinces of Havana and Pinar del Rio, but at 1 o'clock this morning President Machado issued a decree extending military control to the entire island. This action followed on a report that former President Menocal had broadcast a manifesto calling upon all Cubans to join the movement against the Machado regime.

With the army and navy loyal, the government appears to be completely dominating the situation. The insurgents apparently have no other means but guerilla warfare, but doubt prevails that such tactics can have any success as there are few places now where ambushes can be carried out like 35 years ago.

Sudan Grass Growers To Organize in Amarillo

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—A plan for organizing what will be known as the Southwestern Sudan Grass Seed Growers association, with aid promised by the federal farm board, was outlined here today.

Fred W. Mangleadorf of Atchison, Kan., who brought the endorsement of the farm board with him, said he would launch the organization "in time to save farmers of the Panhandle from half a million to a million dollars on this year's crop."

Mangleadorf said 90 per cent of the commercial growth of sudan grass in the United States was in a triangle formed by Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock and Clovis, N. M. and that a cooperative would save the growers millions of dollars annually. He will visit Plainview and Lubbock tomorrow to further plans for the organization.

Arctic Sub Repaired After Powerless Hours

TROMSOE, Norway, Aug. 11. (US)—Sir Hubert Wilkins' polar submarine, Nautilus, which for several hours was afloat without anchor or power in the arctic seas, was repaired tonight and continued its voyage towards Spitzbergen.

Tonight the Nautilus is headed for Skjeruoy where the expedition will drop the pilot who has been aiding Wilkins since the submarine left Tromsoe yesterday.

Shortly after the Nautilus left here its engines broke down and all night the polar boat was at the mercy of high waves which threatened to pile it up on the rocks of some of the islets along the coast.

THREE INJURED IN KNIFE-GUN BATTLE HERE

O. D. Taylor and Son Stabbed in Fight; D. M. Ball Slightly Hurt

COMPLAINTS FILED

Charges From Shotgun Break Glass in Car as Ball Leaves Scene

Three men were in hospitals here Tuesday night, one of them seriously injured, following a quarrel earlier in the afternoon over a borrowed automobile jack. A knife and shotgun were used in the altercation, which took place at a home on Sunset lane, near the city limits.

O. D. Taylor, at whose home the fight occurred, was stabbed in the abdomen with a large pocket knife. He is at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital. The blade passed into the abdominal hollow, but did not penetrate the stomach, according to Dr. Q. B. Lee. His condition is deemed serious, but not critical. Unless local infection sets in he will recover, Doctor Lee said.

Narrow Escape

Merle Taylor, 19, O. D. Taylor's son, is also at the Clinic with a bad chest wound inflicted with the knife. The knife blade entered the chest near the neck, cutting muscles for five or six inches. His injury is not serious, but had the wound been slightly higher, Doctor Lee said, a blood vessel of the neck would have been severed to result in almost instant death.

D. M. Ball, 24, is held in the detention ward at the Wichita General hospital with a two-inch cut on the head and severe body bruises.

A complaint charging assault and attempt to murder was sworn out by A. L. Stubblefield, city detective, and Herbert Pogue, motorcycle officer, against Ball. The complaint was taken by District Attorney Sam B. Spence.

Ball's automobile was badly damaged with loads from a shotgun fired as he drove away from the scene.

Oral statements were made by two witnesses, who gave an account of the fight to members of the district attorney's office. They were N. T. Goote of Fort Worth, who is here on a visit to the Taylor family; and L. D. Ball, 17, D. M. Ball's cousin who is visiting here from Oklahoma.

They said that Ball drove up to the Taylor home to get an automobile jack that Merle Taylor had

Waco Loses Fight for Highway Department

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—The old fight over removal of the state highway department to Waco recurred today. The senate voted 15 to 14 not to erect the new highway building at Waco instead of Austin.

Since construction of the building likely will be started within a few months the fight today probably was the last. Waco offered $200,000 of the $500,000 necessary to construct the building and Senator W. M. Poage of that city moved that the offer be accepted.

Murray's Envoy Asks Sterling To Use His Power To Halt Wells

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—Texas held the key tonight to a tense situation in the oil industry. A storm of economic warfare threatened, should the Texas legislature in the closing hours of its special session, fail to enact laws curbing flush production in the giant new East Texas field.

Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma sent Charles West to Austin during the day to point out that the Texas chief executive had the power to intervene with martial law in the rampant East Texas field. Production there was reported to have increased to an average of 654,246 barrels daily last week, an increase of 56,695 barrels daily over the average for the previous week.

Governor Sterling, however, said he still was hopeful the legislature would pass a satisfactory conservation law before the close of the special session tomorrow night. He said no decision on a declaration of martial law in East Texas would be made until the legislature had acted.

The Texas chief executive added, though, he had received a favorable reaction from his announcement he might declare martial law.

As the seriousness of the situation aroused a storm of protest from independent oil operators and business men throughout Texas and nearby states, it was announced the free conference subcommittee of the senate and house had agreed on a compromise oil bill. The bill was given to the main conference committee for action after which it will be taken to the two houses for consideration with indications of easy sailing if it arrives that far.

East Texans to Meet

The house had approved a conservation measure incorporating Governor Sterling's oil relief program, but the senate had substituted a bill which administration adherents declared would weaken existing conservation statutes.

East Texas operators, meantime, were going ahead with plans for a mass meeting Friday at Tyler, expected to be attended by 4,000 oil

SHIP RESCUES OCEAN FLIER

Honduran Picked Up After Crash in Sea

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 11. (AP)—Capt. Lisandro Garay was rescued from the wave-lashed wreckage of his airplane off North Carolina today nearly 36 hours after he fell into the Atlantic attempting a non-stop flight from New York to Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

His jaw was fractured, his body bruised and cut and he was near exhaustion when the steamer Biboco radioed naval authorities here of finding him 20 miles east of Cape Lookout.

But the plucky flier, who had figured in internal turmoil in his native Honduras before he mysteriously took off from New York Sunday afternoon, soon dispatched a terse message to a friend saying: "Fell into sea Sunday midnight. Picked up by S. S. Biboco noon today. Exhausted. Slightly wounded. Otherwise o. k. Proceeding Savannah, arrive tomorrow night."

Captain Garay made an unexpected start on his 2,000-mile journey at 2:51 p. m., central standard time Sunday. He announced he was merely making a load test and taxied across Floyd Bennett field with Bert Acosta who stepped out of one side of the cabin into a waiting taxicab before Garay wheeled his plane and nosed into the wind. He had Acosta with him because his own license had been revoked on request of Honduran officials here and he would not have been allowed to take his plane off the ground alone if field officials had known what he intended to do.

Yesterday it was learned if Garay did reach Honduras he would face possible court martial there for failure to obey an order to return in connection with an uprising.

He had only 360 gallons of fuel or enough for about 30 hours flying and concern was felt late last night when he was unreported at Tegucigalpa and had not been sighted anywhere along his route.

Lindberghs at Nome After Fight With Fog

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 11. (US)—After a night spent at Shishmaref on the coast north of here, where they were forced down by fog, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here today at 10:25 a. m. (5:25 p. m. eastern daylight time).

They had made the 100 miles from Shihmaref here in one hour and 25 minutes.

The Lindberghs left Point Barrow, Alaska, last night for Nome when the weather which had held them for three days and two nights began to clear. The fog closed in again and Lindbergh landed his plane on the coastal waters as a measure of precaution.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 11. (AP)—The Sheridan Press says Thomas F. Ryan II, grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, New York capitalist and multimillionaire, announced today he has been disinherited by his father, John Barry Ryan, financier.

Difficulties arising over young Ryan's marriage to Mrs. Mayme Masters, young widow, caused the disinheritance, the Press said.

Probe of Farm Board's Cotton Crop Estimate Demanded by Connally

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (US)—A congressional airing of the department of agriculture's crop reporting board's estimate of a 15,584,000 bale 1931 cotton crop was forecast today.

Demand for such an inquiry when congress convenes in December was seen in a telegram received by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde from Senator Connally, Democrat of Texas, requesting that all records on which the crop board bases its estimate be preserved for a "thorough investigation."

The board's estimate, made public last Saturday, of a 1931 crop 700,000 to 2,600,000 bales greater than any of the four years immediately preceding, precipitated a break in the cotton market to below 7 cents a pound, the lowest level in many years.

The board's estimate was about 10.7 per cent higher than that of trade agencies which had estimated this year's crop on the basis of Aug. 1 condition at around 14,000,000 bales, in the face of a 10 per cent reduction in acreage from the 1930 planting.

Comparison of the board's Aug. 1 estimates for four years back, disclosed that the board over-estimated the crop three years and under-estimated it one year.

KILGORE FIELD SURVEYED FOR MARTIAL LAW

Subcommittee Approves Composite Bill for Conservation

BOTH SIDES 'GIVE IN'

New Measure Has Teeth to Enforce Control, Woodward Says

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—Adjutant General William W. Sterling revealed tonight that Assistant Adjutant General Carmichael was in Kilgore, in the East Texas oil fields, making a survey to expedite the occupancy of that section by militiamen, should Gov. Ross Sterling decide to place the region under martial law.

The assistant, General Sterling said, was going carefully over the ground in order to be prepared to move troops into the area with the least possible confusion and difficulty.

SEEKING QUARTERS

KILGORE, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—H. H. Carmichael, assistant adjutant general of Texas, and Ranger Sergeant M. T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzaullas arrived here tonight to make a preliminary survey of quarters for troops in the event Texas oil areas are placed under martial law.

It was understood that Carmichael was looking over quarters sufficient to house between 700 and 1,000 militiamen and two companies of Texas rangers.

The officials said the exact sites of troop quarters would be announced immediately if martial law was declared.

Rangers Aid Survey

Texas rangers at Kilgore had been there some time, General Sterling said, and were being advised with by the assistant only because they were familiar with that territory.

Governor Sterling had threatened yesterday to invoke martial law in the East Texas oil fields if the Texas legislature, which ends its session tomorrow, did not accomplish what he thought it should in legislation to end waste and overproduction of oil.

Gov. Ross Sterling asserted the survey was routine action taken by the adjutant general's office when it seemed possible that troops might be moved into any section of the state. He said the inspection had no particular significance.

The progress of a legislative free conference committee today, however, was believed to have made martial law less imminent, the conferees having about reached agreement on a conservation bill they believed would be satisfactory to the administration and all concerned.

A free conference subcommittee agreed on a composite bill which representatives of both sides said was satisfactory and the composite was submitted to the main committee for action. That body had made progress toward an "unanimous agreement" early tonight, said

HOPE HELD FOR BUFFALO BILL

House Fails to Pass Measure to Save Goodnight Herd

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—Hope still was held tonight that a bill would be passed by the legislature to save the last herd of buffaloes in Texas. A bill to provide for condemnation of the herd by the state was engrossed in the house, 89 to 36, but failed of final passage when the house refused to suspend the rules to put it on third reading. The bill had passed the senate.

The herd, now located on the Goodnight ranch in the Panhandle, probably will be shot or butchered unless taken over by the state.

The house refused to suspend the rule even though informed citizens of the Panhandle have offered to donate 11,000 acres as a permanent preserve for the buffalo. It has been proposed to stock the preserve with longhorn cattle, elk and other forms of wild life fast disappearing in Texas.

The hope for the final passage was kept alive through suspension of the rule that prohibits consideration of anything but free conference committee reports during the last day of the session.

Representative B. F. Vaughan of Greenville vigorously opposed the bill, claiming the buffalo herd had turned into a herd of "white elephants," that would be burdensome and expensive to maintain. He estimated it would cost $100,000 a year to keep the herd on the preserve. "The state doesn't need these buffaloes to remind posterity of the animals that once roamed the ranges. We have herds of buffalo in parks all over the state," Vaughan stated.

"What will the state do with these buffaloes, anyhow?" a member asked.

"Raise some more buffaloes, I suppose," Vaughan replied.

Murray's Envoy Asks Shutdown

operators and business men, to discuss the feasibility of a complete shutdown. Operators attending a committee meeting yesterday at Tyler predicted such a move would be impracticable but expressed belief a cooperative marketing group could be formed to control output in the field.

This operators' committee invited governors of five states affected by present low crude oil prices to attend the meeting. Governor Murray of Oklahoma would not be able to attend, his office said today, as he would be at Weatherford, Texas, Thursday and Friday, and is to speak Saturday night at Dallas.

Woodring Won't Attend

Gov. Harry H. Woodring of Kansas said he did not plan to attend the conference and had made no arrangements to have Kansas represented.

The Kansas Public Service commission yesterday issued an ultimatum to oil purchasers to raise the price of crude to 60 cents a barrel, threatening, if such action was not taken, to call a hearing looking toward a complete shutdown of oil fields in that state.

Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana said he would be unable to address the Tyler meeting but it was considered probable he would be represented by F. Scott Heywood of Jennings, La., appointed as Louisiana's oil conference representative several months ago.

Gov. Harvey Parnell of Arkansas also will be unable to attend the Tyler meeting, it was said at his office, and he was not expected to be represented.

LOUISIANA LEADER APPEALS TO STERLING

LAKE CHARLES, La., Aug. 11. (AP)—W. Scott Heywood, secretary of the oil states advisory committee, has addressed the following open telegram to Gov. Ross S. Sterling of Texas:

"You must know that as the result of curtailing production through proration since the year 1927, production was decreased, and that price of crude also was decreased.

"You must know that the United States production and imports were 50,000,000 barrels short of demand in the year 1930.

"Yet the price of crude oil dropped to 10 cents per barrel.

"You must know that even with East Texas production and imports at the time crude oil is being removed from storage at the rate of 100,000 barrels per day in the United States showing there is no overproduction at this time.

"Knowing all of this, the producers fear your conservation bill would hog-tie them and would not provide for proration to market demand and would not protect them against price manipulation.

"If you want true conservation, why not advocate a bill to regulate production to balance demand and make it unlawful to produce, buy or sell crude oil, under a reasonable price?

"Producers would support such a bill and you should know that reasonable price has as much to do with conseravtion as does preventing overproduction.

"The oil states advisory committee unanimously went on record as favoring price regulation as an important factor in conservation of physical waste and you told me you approved our platform 100 per cent.

"Why have you changed and what reason can you give for forced proration, unless it is to hold production to balance demand and prevent overproduction?

"Why not show you are trying to protect the thousands of independent producers and the state on its royalty, including school land royalty, by advocation of legislation that will force purchasing companies to pay a reasonable price or shut the well in until they do?

"This would prove to independent producers that you are trying to protect them as Governor Murray is. As you well know independent producers and refiners are necessary to prevent monopolistic control of the oil business, but the bill proposed by you would without doubt, in my opinion, eventually exterminate independent producers."

STERLING REPLIES RATHER TERSELY

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling declined extended comment tonight on the statement of W. Scott Heywood, secretary of the oil states advisory committee, urging the Texas official to advocate legislation that will force purchasing companies to pay a reasonable price or shut the well in until they do.

"Mr. Heywood apparently does not understand the situation and what is going on in Texas," Governor Sterling said.

TEXAS OIL MEN PLAN CAMPAIGN

DALLAS, Aug. 11. (AP)—The oil industry's battle lines were drawn tighter here today as representative operators voted to ask Governor Sterling to call on militiamen to enforce curtailment in the event the legislature fails to enact a conservation program.

Plans of the operators today were contingent on what the legislature does with the Wagstaff-Rawlings bill which is to be submitted to both houses tomorrow.

A committee headed by S. A. Gulberson was named to watch proceedings in Austin and appeal to the governor to use the police powers of the state to curtail production in the event legislative action is not satisfactory.

Capt. J. F. Lucey, chairman of the mass meeting which is to be held at Tyler Friday, was chairman of the meeting here today.

"Frankly, we are afraid the legislature, and particularly the members of the senate, will be afraid to go home and face their constituents unless they do something."

After the operators adjourned, Captain Lucey said four things would be considered during the Tyler meeting should the state fail to aid in solving the situation.

J. R. Pearson of Corsicana will make a report on a complete shut down of the field and recommend that action if sufficient support is behind it. The date of the shut down and other details will be worked out. Operators plan to consider a curtailment program if they regard it more suitable.

Operators likewise planned to consider the formation of an oil cooperative marketing association.

Captain Lucey said an invitation probably would be extended Governors Sterling of Texas, Murray of Oklahoma and Woodring of Kansas to join in a conference in an effort to work out some solution of the oil situation in the midcontinent area.

Legitimate Stage Holds To Employment Average

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (US)—The legitimate stage is one of the few fields left where mechanical devices have not cut down employment, it was reported today by the department of labor. Both actors and stage hands have been able to keep their jobs—so long as the show is good.

The films, however, have changed conditions of employment. The talkies have cut down the number of theater musicians from 19,780 to 9,795 in the past two years. They have also superseded vaudeville which has been dropped entirely from many programs and replaced by feature pictures.

On the other hand, sound pictures have doubled the number of licensed operators.

Accidental Shot Fatal To Temple Business Man

TEMPLE, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—H. K. Orgain, 61, real estate man, was found shot to death in his office here today shortly after he entered with a shotgun he was repairing. A verdict of accidental death was returned by Justice T. M. Atkerson.

Orgain formerly served as superintendent of Bell county schools.

Funeral services were planned for 10 a. m. tomorrow.

LORAIN, Ohio, Aug. 11. (AP)—A number of persons were reported injured and numerous summer cottages demolished when a heavy windstorm of near Tornado force struck Sheffield Lake village, five miles east of here on Lake Erie, tonight. Two persons were brought to Lorain hospital, but several ambulances were unable to get through high water caused by a near cloudburst which accompanied the wind.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 11. (AP)—After 16 years as superintendent of the public schools here, M. H. Moore resigned today.

The veteran educator, in a letter to the school board, requested a leave of absence for the next school year and added that when a successor is chosen, the letter be regarded as his resignation.

Deputy Superintendent W. M. Green was advanced to the position of acting superintendent.

AGREEMENT ON OIL BILL NEAR

Subcommittee Reports Composite Measure

members, but the end of its work was not in sight. It was indicated both factions had given considerable ground, but that the bill could not reach the floor before tomorrow.

Sterling Keeps Counsel

Meanwhile, Gov. Ross S. Sterling, who had threatened, inferentially, to invoke martial law in the vast East Texas oil fields unless the legislature took what he considered the necessary action to stop waste and overproduction there, kept his counsel. He said, however, by way of reiteration that any decision on the matter of mustering out the militia would depend on the legislature's action. The session ends tomorrow.

Just what the composite contained could not be ascertained. Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, senate conferee representing the administration views, and Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, whose substitute for the administration bill was passed in the senate, said they believed it would be satisfactory to the main committee.

Woodward Pleased

Senator Woodward, asked directly whether the agreement more nearly approximated the administration house bill, or the sub-senate bill, said "The senate bill took out too many teeth. I think this composite will take care of the situation."

The conferees, working in secret session, had the job of reconciling, at least to some extent, two widely divergent bills. The senate bill had a specific provision against any proration of oil production, and likewise softened considerably the court procedure against conservation violators as set up in the administration bill.

The house and senate, while their representatives were gathered about the council table in executive session, went ahead during the day cleaning up routine matters in preparation for tomorrow's scheduled agreement.

Tenseness Noted

With what emotions they received the governor's ultimatum, no one could say. There were varying privately expressed reactions.

A tenseness was noted in both branches.

The subcommittee was composed of Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman and Representative R. M. Wagstaff of Abilene, representing administration views and Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth and Representative J. C. Duvall of Fort Worth, representing the ideas of the opposition.

The house passed a bill to levy a graduated production tax on oil late in the day but it was generally agreed it could not be acted on in the senate by adjournment. The vote was 67 to 57.

The tax would be levied on the following scale: one cent on production up to five barrels; one and one half cents to 20 barrels; two cents to 40 barrels; three cents to 100 barrels; four cents to 1,000 barrels and six cents above 1,000 barrels.

The tax was hailed as both a conservation and revenue raising measure, argument being made that producers would hold the oil in the ground when the price was low rather than produce it and have to pay the heavy tax.

Only one hope remained for passage of the tax and that was slim. It was suspension of the 24 hour rule that prohibits consideration of bills during the last day of the session.

Dallas Newsboy Missing From Home on Farm

ABILENE, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—Officers here and at Dallas have been asked to aid in the search for J. J. Self Jr., 11-year-old Dallas newsboy, who disappeared Saturday from the farm home of his aunt, Mrs. O. C. Gilbreath at Hawley, near here, where the boy and his mother had been visiting.

The youngster, described as small for his age, dark haired, blue-eyed and freckled, left the Gilbreath home Saturday morning, and was seen by a neighbor in Abilene that afternoon. Since then nothing has been heard of him. He was wearing blue overalls, light blue shirt, and black oxfords. Relatives said they could assign no cause for his disappearance.

Scottish Grouse Fly in Safety As Huntsmen Prove Scarce

INVERNESS, Scotland, Aug. 11. (AP)—Famous Scottish shoots have gone a-begging this year and the opening of the annual grouse shooting season tomorrow will find them with only half so many sportsmen as in some former seasons.

Wealthy Americans might have saved the situation but—perhaps because of the depression—there have not been so many as there used to be in the market for season leases on the grouse ranges. One Scottish landowner with 20 shoots to lease said recently he had been able to dispose of only four.

Of all the sport which Britain affords, grouse shooting probably appeals most to Americans. The partridge and pheasant have yielded to "hand breeding" and prove too tame to provide much excitement to the American brought up on quail, wild ducks and wild turkey.

The grouse, however, has resisted all attempt at domestic breeding and remains as wild in his Scottish and northern England haunts as ever. He can be hunted either by "driving" or behind dogs, the latter from the American point of view, probably is the better sport, but it is driving which is found most often.

Secretary of State Stimson, with his aide, Captain Regnier, will have the only two guns on the shoot near Shibercross, the small farm house taken by Colonel Stimson for August.

Story of Offer to Finance Murray In Presidential Campaign Related

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 11. (AP)—A story of an offer to finance with $250,000 a campaign to make Gov. William H. Murray the Democratic presidential nominee—first hinted when the governor himself said he turned it down—was told today.

C. A. Owens, said the Oklahoma City Times, declared he represented an unnamed principal who proposed last spring to finance the pre-convention campaign and added "neither I nor my principal was to expect anything from Mr. Murray as governor."

Owens, chairman of a committee on oil legislation recommendations to the last Oklahoma legislature, signed a majority report recommending revision of state petroleum statutes.

Relating that the proposed negotiations were never consummated, Owens said "it may have been that the governor was influenced in his analysis by his knowledge of my conviction on the oil question; however, he never so advised me."

Only the other day Murray said he was offered a total of $138,000 campaign funds to run for president by interests which desired to control him on oil proration. Owens, however, said "the estimated budget was $250,000."

A prospectus of the proposed campaign, including a treatise on the governor's abilities and what were regarded as handicaps, submitted by Owens, was published today.

It called for public announcement of the presidential candidacy in December and outlined preliminary work through a "compact, small organization."

The prospectus cited as three requisites to "any attempt to develop natural popularity": native ability, proper conduct—especially in public utterances—and "money to bear the cost of the educational campaign."

"The first," said the prospectus, "we have in abundance. The second can be studiously established. The third is available."

Mrs. John Kelley, the first witness, testified as to the character of Nettles and Zimmerman. Mrs. Ray Cleveland, daughter of Mrs. Zimmerman, and four more witnesses, were used by the state before the prosecution rested.

Raznatevich, it is alleged, had notified Lockett he intended to kill him unless he complied with the terms of an alleged contract. Today he presented himself in the office and repeated his claims. Lockett is said to have told him he was too busy to talk to him.

Raznatevich then struck at Lockett and in the course of the ensuing struggle brought out the revolver.

borrowed from him. An argument ensued between the two in the yard. The father came from the house and interferred in behalf of the youth, it was said, and the stabbing occurred. At that point, it was related, the younger Taylor entered the fray, and he also was stabbed.

Witnesses said that Ball then ran for his automobile, where his cousin was waiting. Meanwhile Merle Taylor ran to the house.

Shot Crash Auto Glass

Ball reached his automobile and started the motor, when he was seized by O. D. Taylor, shouting to his son that he would hold the man until officers arrived. Ball broke away from the injured man, however, and started driving away.

After gaining a short distance, Ball's automobile was struck by shots from a 12-gauge shotgun in the hands of the Taylor youth, the witnesses said. Three shots from the gun were fired, blowing out the rear glass of the automobile. Ball and his cousin, who was standing on the running board of the machine as it moved away, were not struck by the shots.

Goote said that he tried to separate the three fighters, but was unable to do so.

Taylor and his son proceeded to the hospital in their automobile. Ball was arrested shortly after the affray at his home on the Iowa Park road, where he operates a filling station. The arresting officers, Stubblefield and Pogue, brought the men to the district attorney's office, later proceeding with him to the hospital.

Ball told the officers that he did not know how he received the gash on his head

Mr. Stubblefield said that charges in connection with the complaint against Ball would be filed before a justice of the peace Wednesday.

FARM BUREAU RETURNS TO EQUALIZATION FEE PRINCIPLE

GROUP TO URGE AMENDMENTS

Federation Head Declares Legislation Has Failed

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 11. (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation, through its president, Edward A. O'Neal, tonight declared present farm legislation inadequate and announced its return to the principle of the equalization fee.

"For the past two years our organization, desiring to see the marketing act fully tried out, has not insisted upon the enactment of the equalization fee principle," O'Neal told farm bureau leaders from 11 Mid-West states.

More Control Needed

"It now appears all too plain that the present act does not adequately provide for the needed control of surpluses. Consequently, we must renew our demand for enactment of this type of legislation in order to strengthen and preserve the farmer owned and farmer controlled marketing associations that have been established."

O'Neal said he had discussed the equilization fee plan with farmers all over the United States since he became president of the federation last May, succeeding Sam H. Thompson, who resigned when he became a member of the federal farm board.

"Wherever in my travels I have brought up the question of the equalization fee plan it met with hearty approval," he said. "Even in California, with its old and well established cooperatives, it was endorsed. In fact, they tell me out there that their cooperatives are already using the equalization fee principle with the approval of 85 per cent of the farmers.

Problem Unsolved

"Frankly, we must get our heads together and take the leadership in strengthening the market act by securing adoption of an amendment embodying the equalization fee principle. We all realize that the problem of the surplus is unsolved and the market act, as it stands today, is not broad enough to take care of this situation."

The equalization fee plan, as outlined by the federation, would provide for disposal of surpluses outside of the country by a government agency, the loss to be made up by a tax collected on each unit of the entire domestic crop.

"The farmer feels that industry has the advantage of us with its very high tariffs," O'Neal said, "while the price we get for our products is determined by the price of our surplus in the world markets.

High Tariffs Hurt

"The farmers feel, too, that the high industrial tariffs are preventing sale of our exportable agricultural surpluses. . . . They are wondering why there is such vast accumulation of cash in city banks, and no money in the country for capital or for marketing purposes. They feel that the whole agricultural credit system needs overhauling.

"They also approve of regulations controlling grain and cotton exchanges, which will be for the benefit of the producers of these commodities.

"The proposed increase in railroad rates does not, however, meet with the approval of the farmers and we are ready to fight the attempt to raise the rates. Farmers feel that the railroads are making a very poor move."

Farming and Coal Interests Picture Peril of Disaster in Rail Rate Quiz

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—Disaster for farmers and the overseas export coal trade if the railroads increase their freight rates was predicted today before the Interstate Commerce commission.

A. W. Drinkard Jr., director of the Virginia agricultural experiment station, testifying in hearings on the proposed 15 per cent advance in freight charges said agriculture in his state was "in the throes of one of the most disastrous periods of depression in history." Any increased burden would result, he said, in the farmers having a "smaller share in the comforts and necessities of life."

Coal Trade Imperilled

Arthur Hale, chairman of the Coal Exporters' association, said an increase in Tidewater coal rates would wipe out foreign shipments of coal and result in a loss of $4,000,000 a year to the carriers.

Drinkard appeared as a witness for the Virginia corporation commission which is opposing the increase. He followed T. D. Geohegan, traffic expert for the Virginia commission. Geohegan presented exhibits intended to show the principal railroads in the state were not justified in asking an increase.

William T. Coe and A. C. Davies, of New York, and Charles W. Hendley of Baltimore, added their testimony to that of Hale in opposition to export coal rate increases.

J. W. Roberts, of Chicago, a consulting accountant who yesterday testified that 1930 railroad dividends were the largest in history with the exception of one year, was cross examined by railroad attorney at the outset of today's session. He agreed under questioning by Henry Wolf Bikle, railroad attorney, that indicated net operating income for 1930 was little more than half what his figures showed for that year.

Loans Cited

Drinkard said he produced figures to show the Federal Farm Land bank and Joint Stock Land banks had 13,967 loans outstanding to Virginia farm cooperatives and individual farmers totaling $36,453,573 covering 2,145,854 acres out of the 12,249,66 acres operated by farm owners. The Baltimore Farm Land bank, he said, had 145 foreclosures on Virginia farms in 1929 and 196 in 1930 with no figures available for 1931.

As a result of the 1930 drouth the government made 16,459 loans to Virginia farmers amounting to $2,179,028, he said, and also lent $174,125 for rehabilitation while the Red Cross expended $25,000 in charity for farm families.

"The condition is bad and is not improving," he said. "On the contrary the situation is getting worse."

Disaster Feared

"Farm people in general," he continued, "have faced the difficulties of the depression courageously and do not complain about bearing their just share of the burden incident to changed economic conditions. They do feel, however, that placing any additional burden on them in favor of some other group would be disastrous.

"In my judgment, the spirit and fine courage of farm people would be seriously endangered by an addition to their present burdens, for there is a limit to the endurance of any group of people and rural civilization should not be pushed to the breaking point."

'FIGHTING BOB' TO KEEP RADIO

Parson Wins Battle for License Renewal

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—Ellis A. Yost, chief examiner of the radio commission, today recommended renewal of the license of station KGEF, Trinity Methodist church, South, Los Angeles, operated by the Rev. Bob Shuler.

Yost held the public interest would be served by granting Dr. Shuler's renewal application, but expressed the opinion the minister had been "extremely indiscreet in some of his broadcasts."

The commission, in recess until fall, has yet to pass on the examiner's recommendation.

"Evidently broadcasts were made by him before investigation and inquiry to determine the correctness of such broadcasts," Yost said.

Reflections Cast

"The practice of reflecting upon the character of a citizen, based solely on rumors and unverified reports, resulting in injury both to the business and reputation of such citizen, is indefensible.

"Injury or injustice by reason of a radio broadcast may be irreparable. Unjust attacks upon religious denominations increase religious prejudice and arouse community strife and antagonism; unwarranted criticism of the courts and public officials tend to destroy confidence of the people in free government, and are against public interest."

The report pointed out that a broadcasting license "does not confer upon any one the right of privilege to broadcast any false, slanderous or libelous matter," and said any abuse of the privileges conferred by a radio license would weigh heavily against the license upon the question of renewal.

PASTORS REMARKS STIR WRATH

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11. (AP)—Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler, who has won the recommendation of Chief Examiner Ellis A. Yost of the Federal Radio commission that the license for his radio station KGEF be renewed, has been in difficulty several times because of his broadcasting.

He served a short jail term last summer for contempt of court because of statements made over the air. Finally concerted efforts of his opponents brought a hearing here by Commissioner Yost.

For two weeks former City Prosecutor Lloyd Nix, a subject of Mr. Shuler's broadcast attacks, led a fight before the commissioner attempting to show station KGEF was being used improperly. The pastor, with the aid of attorneys, fought to prove his opposition came from political and underworld sources. City, county and state officials testified against him but most of them had been criticized by him in one or another of his broadcasts.

"I'll tell the world the fight has just begun," Mr. Shuler said when informed of the Yost recommendation today.

COST OF LIVING FALLS RAPIDLY

6.5 Per Cent Decrease Shown by U. S. Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—An estimate that the cost of living in the United States is 6.5 per cent cheaper now than at the start of the current year was made today by the department of labor.

Returns from 51 cities on food prices and from 32 cities on clothing, rents, fuel, light, house furnishings and other items were made the basis of the estimate.

During the six months of 1931, it was said, food prices dropped 13.8 per cent, house furnishings 6 per cent, fuel and light, 5.5 per cent, clothing 4.6 per cent and rents 3.1 per cent. Articles in the miscellaneous group dropped only 0.7 per cent.

Tracing prices back to the high peak of June, 1920, the report calculated clothing could be purchased 49.2 per cent cheaper now than then.

The next largest drop was shown in food prices with a reduction of 46 per cent, followed by house furnishings at 39.5 per cent.

The recession in other groups was smaller with fuel and light dropping 3.8 per cent and rents 5.3 per cent.

PARENTS' PROBLEMS

Girls Who Smoke at Home May Do So at Salem College

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Aug. 11. (AP)—Girl students who smoke at home with the consent of their parents are to be permitted to smoke at Salem college.

"Smoking is first a home problem," a statement issued by the board of trustees today said. Students were promised a "square deal" provided they "bring the matter into the open with their parents."

The trustees said they would provide a time and place for smoking when the institution opens its fall session next month.

Salem, a Moravian institution, is one of the oldest colleges in the South.

Heaviest Rain Since '85 Recorded in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. (AP)—Chicago's heaviest rain since 1885 fell last night and early today, flooding basements and viaducts while companion winds tore down light and power lines and felled trees. Temperatures this morning dropped below 60.

The official government weather bureau said the rainfall measured 3.84 inches in 10 hours, 13 minutes, and was also the third heaviest in the city's history.

HOUSE URGES USE OF MULES

Return of Animal Drawn Machinery Asked

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—A plea for the return of animal drawn machinery to the farm was made today in a resolution adopted by the house of the Texas legislature.

The resolution cited large, combines and other modern farm machinery had destroyed the farm labor market the utility of horses and was causing the abandonment of small farm homes. It requested Gov. R. S. Sterling to submit taxation of heavy farm power machinery as a legislative subject in the event he called a special session of the legislature.

Offered by members of the agricultural bloc, the resolution was adopted by a substantial majority.

The tax would be of sufficient magnitude to equalize the differences between horse-drawn machinery and power outfits.

The resolution was introduced by Representative Bowd Farrar of Waxahachie.

After the Farrar resolution was adopted, its opponents sent up a resolution recommending a heavier tax on automobiles and trucks to facilitate the return of horse-drawn vehicles to the public highways.

The resolution cited the automobile and truck had replaced the "hay burning mule" and had abolished the market for animal feed crops. "The one-horse shay has been replaced by the coughing gasoline lizzie and the old corner feed store by the garage," the resolution cited.

BATTLE LAKE, Minn., Aug. 11. (AP)—Arrangements for aid to drouth sufferers in the Northwest probably will be worked out upon the return to Washington of Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, he said today before leaving for Sioux Falls, S. D.

"As soon as I return to Washington, I will take immediate steps to make the funds available and will address myself to perfection of the organization to handle the work," the secretary said.

"As in the South, where similar work has been done, particularly in Arkansas, we will endeavor to work through voluntary committees of business men and other public spirited citizens and will seek the cooperation of any and all extension forces.

"I do not find immediate or pressing distress."

AURORA, Ill., Aug. 11. (INS)—Franz Dunbar, 28, who suddenly appeared at Plano, 20 miles from here, riding a horse and wearing a cowboy outfit after a mysterious absence of three years, continued today to refuse to recognize his wife.

Dunbar had been married only two months to Agnes Olson Dunbar when he disappeared. Yesterday as he was galloping down the road, she saw him from her father's automobile and shouted at him, but he rode on to his father's farm. Later while milking his father's cows, Mrs. Dunbar and her family visited the farm, she ran up to welcome the cowboy, but he went right on milking cows.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas gave away approximately 35,000,000 acres of its public domain as bonuses for securing early railroad construction. The donations about equal the area of 43 counties of the average Texas size (900 square miles).

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

A major item among public improvements in Texas this year is the more than $40,000,000 which will be spent on highway construction. For the six months ending July 1, contracts had been let involving the expenditure of $20,612,129.69, according to statement from Gib Gilchrist, chief engineer of the highway department. This was increased nearly $5,000,000 at the July-August session of the state highway commission, indicating that the estimate of $20,000,000 for the second half of the year is not excessive. Contracts let during the first half of the year involved construction of 1,450.9 miles of highway and 42 bridges. They included grading and drainage structures on 584 miles, gravel surfacing on 11 miles, bituminous surfacing on 160 miles, rock asphalt and macadam on 124 miles and concrete paving on 411 miles. These figures were increased at the recent session by 46.9 miles of concrete and 44.9 miles of grading and drainage structures. At the beginning of 1931 there were 1,747.71 miles of highway construction, meaning that completion of work already under contract will increase Texas' improved highway mileage by more than 3,000 miles.

Long Term Credit

ABOUT a decade ago the automobile industry was in a bad way. The market was dwindling. No one was buying. Every one who could afford to buy an auto had one, and the millions of people who wanted cars had neither cash nor credit to buy them.

The auto makers, thereupon, went out and turned these millions into automobile buyers by adopting a courageous new system of long-term credit. Depression left the industry, to return only when boom times led the manufacturers to oversell even this new and enlarged market.

In the current issue of the Magazine of Wall Street, Charles Benedict proposes that American producers of raw materials take a leaf from the auto industry's book and create new markets for themselves—not at home, this time, but overseas.

He makes a good case for his proposal.

Poland, for example, needs raw cotton badly but lacks the credit with which to buy it; why, he asks, should not an American cotton growers' cooperative group propose to deliver to Poland a year's supply of cotton at the current market price, under terms by which payment could be made in one to 10 or even 20 years?

What is true of Poland is true of China. Mr. Benedict predicts that this action would boost cotton prices, open new markets and bring prosperity back to the cotton grower.

The same thing, he adds, could be done with other raw materials such as wheat, copper and corn. In the end he believes that the risks inherent in such a process would be overcome and the way back to world prosperity would be found.

The whole program seems sound. The most striking thing about the present depression is that it is caused, not by scarcity, but by surpluses. There exist plenty of potential customers for the surplus goods of the earth. The one great problem is to make it possible for them to buy.

Insanity in Crime

TRYING to figure out the degree of mental responsibility possessed by men accused of crime is always a tough job. We have made it a good deal tougher by tackling it wrong end to.

A psychiatrist, addressing the bar association of a large American city the other day, pointed out that the courts, in common with most of the rest of us, have a faulty idea of what insanity really is.

"America," he said, "has put intelligence on a pedestal and has neglected to recognize that the greater part of life is emotional control. It is a misconception to base a knowledge of right or wrong on intelligence. Academically trained persons may be subnormal in emotional control."

When we look for signs of insanity in a criminal, then we look in the wrong place. We ignore the man's emotional processes, and inquire only into his intellectual side. If he seems to have a normal intelligence we at once decide that he is fully accountable for his actions—entirely forgetting that an emotional whirlwind can break down the barriers and turn a highly intelligent man into something very like an out and out lunatic.

Who has not witnessed or read of a criminal trial in which the prosecutor, attempting to prove that the defendant was mentally sound, pointed out that the crime itself was so complicated, so carefully planned, that a man of defective mentality could not possibly have committed it? That plea is a commonplace of the criminal court room; and yet, as this psychiatrist reminds us, how little it means! A man's mental processes may be faultless—but some quirk on the emotional side can transform him into what we call a maniac.

In other words, we are basing our criminal court practices on scientific theories that are a good half century out of date. It is high time that we overhauled the whole system in the light of modern knowledge.

Disarmanent Solution

WHEN Stanley High, editor of the Christian Herald, told the Williamstown Institute of Politics the other night that the cause of disarmament needs people willing to go on the soap box for it, he was giving expression to a simple and obvious truth.

No great cause ever began to make genuine progress until it was able to fire its advocates with a crusading spirit. As long as the arguments are put forward with dignity and moderation from cloistered pulpit and secluded editorial office, nobody pays much attention to them. But when people, as Mr. High says, get so wrought up that they are willing to go out and mount soap boxes—and, occasionally, to be jeered at as fanatics—things start moving.

Proponents of disarmament might ponder on this. You can't expect people to get excited about your ideas if you don't get excited yourself.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

BARNEY OLDFIELD—Though Barney Oldfield, most famous of auto speedway aces, is always photographed with a cigar in his mouth, he smokes a pipe. During speedway trial runs and races a driver is subject to terrific jolting because of the rigidity of the racing cars, and Oldfield used a cigar as a "shock absorber," biting it firmly as he drove to prevent injury to his teeth.

SHELL ROCK MOUNTAIN RESTS ON ICE—Shell Rock mountain, on the Oregon side of the Columbia river, near Collins, Wash., has an elevation of about 2,000 feet and has the greatest thickness of basalt rock seen in the Columbia river gorge. Great trouble was experienced by the early railroad builders around Shell Rock, because of the ever shifting topography of the land, and geologic investigation disclosed that the entire mountain rested on a huge iceberg. Though the exact cause of this phenomenon is unknown, some chroniclers advance the theory that in prehistoric times the river froze solid, causing it to overflow into the crevices around the mountain.

"MARY FAITH" by Beatrice Burton

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Mary Faith, comely, young orphan, gives up her position as secretary to the wealthy Mark Nesbit to marry Kimberly Farrell. Kim, a young, shiftless lawyer lives with his mother. When the latter objects to the marriage, Kim brusquely startles Mary Faith by breaking the engagement. Later, when he sees her with Mark Nesbit in a jewelry store, selecting a ring, his jealousy is aroused. The next morning, he appears at Mary Faith's boarding house and overwhelms her with his protestations of love. She again leaves her position and, after a hasty marriage, they spend an ecstatic two weeks' honeymoon in the house of Kim's aunt in the county. Returning home, Mary Faith moves to the Farrell apartment. Kim's friends, Claire and Jack Maldon, find Mary Faith a dull companion for their jazzy parties. Mary Faith realizes Kim is irritated by her failure to drink and gamble. During the winter, Kim attends the parties alone. Mary Faith takes care of the house but knows nothing of Kim's finances. When he hints at being pinched for money, Mary Faith accedes to his request for $60.

Later, he admits taking the sum from the firm's collections for his own use. The next night, at dinner, he tells Mary Faith he has lost his position. He then persuades her to let him have a thousand dollars to open his own office.

Mary Faith, learning that she is to become a mother joyously visits Kim's office to tell him the good news. She finds him flirting with a girl. Kim is furious. Mary Faith decides not to tell him of the approaching event.

CHAPTER XXI

Mary Faith went into the flat and began to get the dinner ready. There was cold roast beef, left over from Sunday, and a bowl of vegetable salad that she had put on the ice early that afternoon before she started for the doctor's office.

She would make some soda biscuits, she decided. Kim liked them, split and toasted and covered with melting butter.

She had them in the oven and was setting the table when she heard his car drive up in front of the apartment. She knew the sound of its engine and the rattle of its loose mudguard.

His mother came into the flat alone.

"Where's Kim? Putting the car away?" Mary Faith asked her.

His mother shook her head. "No. He said he wasn't going to have dinner with us tonight. He said something about a business engagement that he had to keep."

It was half past nine that night when he came home. He came walking out into the kitchen where his mother and Mary Faith were at work, dampening and folding down the clothes that they had washed that morning.

The little room was filled with the fresh sweet smell of clean linen, and the new Dutch clock above the sink ticked with a cozy, happy sound. The kitchen was a very pleasant and comfortable place these days.

"I was afraid you two would be in bed," Kim said, pulling a chair out from under the table and setting one foot up on its seat. "I want to talk to you."

Mary Faith saw him brace himself to go on. "I've been downtown in my office all evening, thinking things over," he said. "I've spent almost half of the little bit of capital that I had to start with—and I haven't made a cent this whole month. I haven't had a single client—not one."

"Well, I wouldn't be discouraged, Kim." Mary Faith looked up at him over the sheet she was folding. "What's a month? It takes time to succeed."

He went on as if she had not spoken: "And so I've come to the conclusion that we'll have to give up this flat if I'm going to keep the office open. If we don't I'm going to fail that's all. I haven't the money to keep up both places."

"I'm just through," he corrected her. "I'm all through and I'm getting out now while the getting's good—see?"

"Why, you must be crazy!" His mother's voice was a wail. "I've lived in this flat for more years than I've got fingers and toes, Kimberley Farrell! It's my home, and I'm not going to break up my home for anybody! I can't . . . Why, where would I go when I left here?"

She sat down at the table and began to wring her hands.

"Why couldn't you go out to Garrettsville and stay with Aunt Ella for a while?" Kim asked her. "She'd be tickled to death to have you, and you could put your furniture into storage. It would be a rest for you."

"And what about you and Mary Faith? Where would you go?"

Kim shrugged his broad shoulders and the light above his head glinted on his blond hair as he turned to look at Mary Faith.

"Oh, I'd get a cheap room somewhere—and I imagine Mary Faith would go back to Mrs. Puckett's," he said. "You agree with me that this is the best thing for all of us, don't you, Mary Faith? You and I have been married for five months and I don't believe that either one of us thinks that our marriage is a howling success."

Mary Faith caught her breath sharply as if he had dealt her a stunning blow. She put her hands up before her face as if she were trying to protect herself from him.

"You don't mean that you think we ought to separate, Kim? You don't mean that you're tired of me?"

"Well, I think we're pretty tired of each other. We're on each other's nerves—and I know we'd be a lot happier if we didn't see each other for a while."

Mary Faith closed her eyes . . . Happy? Why, she had never been so happy in her life as she had been at 5 o'clock that afternoon, walking along in the sunshine of Spring street on her way to his office!

"Besides, I can't support you," she heard him say. "You know, yourself, that it's going to take every nickel I have to keep myself from starving to death for the next few months—and my advice to you is to go back to your boy friend, Nesbit, and ask him for your old job. He'll probably be more than glad to give it to you when you tell him you've left me."

"Left you?" She stared at him . . . There wasn't a shadow in his eyes or a line of worry in his face. He stood there, calmly breaking their lives to pieces as if he were a willful child knocking over a tower of building blocks.

"The most unlucky thing that ever happened to us was seeing each other in Armbruster's store last Christmas." He was turning now to go out of the kitchen. "If that hadn't happened everything probably would have turned out all

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Early Monday morning we answered our phone to hear a clear, sweet voice say, "Please tell me who should have the morning paper?" It may be the hot weather, but it was so sudden our wits would not work. "Beg your pardon," we murmured questioningly.

"Well it's this way," came the explanation; "when one's husband gets up early and rushes out and gets the morning paper while his wife is preparing breakfast, reads a few headlines and then goes away with the paper in his pocket, what should be done? I'd like to know who should have the morning paper."

What do you think? The correct answer in ordinary times would be to advise having two morning papers. We know one household in the city which does take two, and smiling faces are round the breakfast table there.

We had a letter yesterday from an unknown reader of our column and it was as good as a sermon to us. "You write," it ran, "just like my mother used to talk. You know a man's mother is the best mother in the world to him, therefore I read with interest every word you write because you remind me of her so much.

"I have never seen you that I know of, but I can picture you smiling and with a kind word for every one."

We belong to that almost universal class of women who wish to live up to what is expected of them. But we remember so many times when we had no smiles whatever and we're no exception to the rule. There are times when we might have clawed a table while we talked and it would have expressed our sentiments.

But we would never from our heart try to harm another and our bits of gossip burst forth when we are endeavoring to be funny. We claim two small virtues; we never pass on harmful tales and we never betray a confidence.

We deem it the highest of compliments to be thought "like a mother." That word is the only jewel, save "wife" that we wear. One must be good as possible and deal carefully with the human frailties that live in every person to fit the two words.

The writer goes on to say, "I don't care anything about knowing your age, but if I ever learn when your birthday comes, you need not be surprised to receive a nice box of flowers." But what a pity! He did not sign his name.

There's still enough of the child in us to like "Santa Claus." How can we let him know our age—oh no, no, no,—our birthday, when he is unknown.

But it comes in March. What a long time away! That is for flowers—not for years.

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Aug. 11.—Horse shoe pitching, croquet, dominoes and other outdoor games were enjoyed at the fifth annual picnic of the Oklahoma-Texas Knights of Pythias association held at Coleman park near Iowa Park today. The morning was spent in games and the serving of a picnic lunch at noon. The afternoon was devoted to a business session, presided over by the president, C. W. Gorin, of Wichita Falls, and an interesting program presented by visiting state officials and Knights.

Rabbi S. J. Schwabb of Wichita Falls, the first speaker on the program, told of the friendship and spirit of Pythianism, and of the fine cooperation this fraternal bond represented, and closed with the remark that never did the world need true friendship more than at the present hour.

Home Described

Theo Yarbrough, grand keeper of records and seals, Weatherford, told of the building of the Pythian home for aged members now under construction at Weatherford. Mr. Yarbrough stated that the basement and first floor are now finished and that the concrete is being poured for the second floor. He stated that the building would house 50 or more when complete and that each room would be furnished with single bed with a bath between each room.

Mrs. Elsie Moore, Port Arthur, grand chief of the Pythian Sisters, made an interesting talk on the work of the order during the year and told of the work of the Sunshine girls, a junior organization that was perfected within the past year. Short talks were made by Judge John P. Marrs of Wichita Falls and V. H. McClintock of Paducah.

Among visitors present were Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dutton of Wichita Falls; Mrs. D. A. Spain, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Corder, Mrs. Nina Rippy, district deputy, and Mrs. C. B. Ligon of Electra; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gorin, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lobough, and Mrs. Sam Egger, all of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Adelle O'Connor, grand mistress of records and correspondence, Fort Worth; Ralph Whittington, Weatherford; V. H. McClintock, H. P. Nimmo, and W. R. Maulding, Paducah, and Judge John P. Marrs of Wichita Falls.

Officers Re-elected

The president, C. W. Gorin, keeper of records and seals, Wichita Falls K. of P. lodge, was reelected, as was the vice president, Fred Music, Electra, and A. D. Butcher, Iowa Park, secretary.

It was decided in a voted question to retain the same date, the second Tuesday in August as the time of meeting, and Coleman park as the place of meeting for the next year.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Swimming

If I could have but one exercise, one sport to offer the children I would choose swimming. Every child who attends school or camp, from the oldest to the youngest, boys and girls, can learn to swim. There is no greater delight than that which a good swim sets seeping through every muscle and every hidden corner of your body.

There is the beautiful setting. Water is always lovely. Even when it is closed in a tiled pool it is beautiful, but when it moves on the face of the earth there is nothing lovelier in the garden of this world. The pool at the foot of the old elm tree, golden brown against the gravel bed, the sky patterned by the great lacy boughs, the borders of moss and wildflower, the lilt of the bird nearby—what more gracious invitation to wash and be clean could be offered the dust stained weary body?

The brook slipping through the meadow widens into a pool fringed with willows. It always seemed to me that that was an invitation direct from the sky to all small boys. It says as distinctly as the voice in the willows can say it, "Hang your clothes on this willow limb and dive into the water."

The larger lakes and the ocean say "swim." The first shock of the cool water against the body sends a thrill up and down one's spine and an exhilarating response sets the blood tingling. There comes a feeling of joyous mastery as the arms cleave the water and the body rides through the waves. A feeling of deep sweet satisfaction fills one's mind. I have always thought it was born of the feeling that cleanliness was achieved at last. It is this sense of power and this feeling of cleanliness that makes swimming such a satisfying sport.

Its action is very graceful. There is no prettier picture than the one of a young boy or girl diving into the water and swimming back to shore. Every movement is graceful, every pose a delight. Even the most awkward child is at ease in the water and his awkwardness is washed away in graceful ripples as he makes for shore.

All children can learn to swim. They learn to swim when they learn to walk but they must be taught. If a child fears the water he is to be allowed to get acquainted with it in his own way. Let him sit in his bathing suit and watch the water as long as he wishes to do so. If he does no more than this for months let him alone. The time is coming when he will forget all his fear and strike out into the water. Then you begin teaching him. You do not throw him into the water. You do not swim out to the deep place and leave him to swim back. You let him feel the ground under him as long as he wishes. His training must be as gradual as he indicates. He will make up time when he gains confidence.

Encourage the girls to learn to swim. It is as much fun for a girl as a boy. She will need to know how to handle herself in the water as much as any boy will need the knowledge and the ability. A girl drowns as easily as a boy. A girl can save another child as skilfully as a boy could do it. A girl needs healthy exercise as much as a boy does. A girl needs fun just as much as a boy does. All children ought to learn to swim, the earlier the better.

LIQUID GOLD

Royalty Owner Gets $3 As Share of Tank Of Crude

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—Being an oil royalty owner is not what it used to be in West Texas. J. M. Nutt of San Angelo recently received as his one-eighth royalty on a tank car of Irion county sweet, high gravity crude, $3. It was sold when the price was 15 cents a barrel f. o. b. Mertzon. The producer received $21 for his share of the 160 barrels.

Irion county crude at the time was commanding a premium of 5 cents a barrel over the average West Texas market, and had the oil been sold elsewhere, Nutt's proceeds at a dime a barrel would have been only $2 and the producer's $14.

Tom Green County's Cotton Crop Is Short

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—Cotton production will be cut in Tom Green county by several thousand bales from the 12,000-bale figure predicted, as a result of heavy insect infestation now becoming apparent, according to W. I. Marschall, county agent.

The cotton leaf worm is playing havoc with many fields in the eastern portion of the county while a species of chinch bug is common all over the area. The cotton crop is late by about two weeks in this county and if the ravages of insects are checked the production still will be about the 10,000-bale mark recognized as an average. The county's production last year was 7,500 bales.

HALL HIGHWAY LINK COMPLETE

Memphis-Mulberry La Gets Cement

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Aug. 11.—The laying of cement on the first lap of the Memphis-Mulberry bridge highway was completed at 5 o'clock Monday. This lap consists of five miles, 584 feet. It was completed in five weeks. This is somewhat behind schedule, according to Sam Riza, contractor, but the delay was caused by the lack of sufficient trucks to get the sand and gravel to the mixer.

The machinery was moved today to Lakeview, where the second lap will begin. This will extend from Lakeview to Eli to connect with the first lap, which began there.

Riza used about 100 men on the job with 50 trucks to haul sand and gravel.

Investigation of Court Dockets Is Proposed

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—An investigation of the dockets of Texas district courts to determine whether some might not feasibly be abolished, would be authorized under a concurrent resolution passed today by the senate.

One senator and two representatives would serve on the committee. Their expenditures would be limited to $500 and they would report back not later than the next regular session, with a suggested bill to redistrict the state as to district courts.

Protein a Complex Substance

When you study the food habits of the different races, you will be struck with the fact that those races which have achieved the most are those who have known enough to get plenty of protein foods, and indeed the battle for supremacy has been a real fight to get enough of these valuable tissue building foods. Men knew for centuries that such foods were vitally necessary to build and repair bodily tissues, but it was less than a century ago that a scientist first gave the name "proteid" to a certain food substance. The word "proteid" or "protein" is taken from the Greek root word, "protos," which means first, or to take first place. The meaning is clear that protein was thought to be the most important material found in a living body.

All living things both in the vegetable and animal kingdom contain varying amounts of protein, the plants extracting it from the soil, and animals, including man, obtaining it from both the vegetable and animal kingdom. Proteins supply the principal building materials out of which we make our bodies and, of course, these same elements are necessary to repair worn-out tissues and build the cells anew. It is a food we could live on longest and without which no life could exist.

A protein is a highly complex substance, being composed of about 20 different things. When protein is digested and assimilated it is broken up into its parts and these parts again collect together to form the cells and tissues of the body. The digestion, assimilation and utilization of food is essentially a chemical process, and infinite intelligence has so arranged it that a living human body can build and repair its own structure if the proper food material is available.

Imagine, if you can, a building contractor with a mammoth machine in which he could grind up many small complete buildings already built, then imagine him pouring into the maw of this machine certain chemicals which would further change all of the materials ground up; then imagine this magic machine being able to reassemble all the stones, bricks, lumber, glass and shingles into a magnificent new mansion. From the embryonic stage through childhood and up into maturity our body, often called the house we live in, grows and develops through the body's ability to appropriate and tear down certain completely built up food structures and to again reassemble them to form a perfect human body. The repair of broken down material is accomplished in much the same manner through the constant feeding in of complicated combinations of building materials which are broken up into their parts and are reassembled again in a magical way to repair any of the broken down cells or tissues. If the right material is supplied, it will go to where it is needed without our conscious knowledge of the complicated processes which must take place. It is our duty to see that an adequate supply of the right material is furnished to the body.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tubercular Glands

Question—Mrs. W. C. S. asks: "Will you please give some information about the treatment of tubercular glands in a child?"

Answer—The treatment for tubercular glands consists, first, in creating a healthier condition of all of the glands in the body through a proper dietetic treatment; along with this, certain local treatments may be used over the affected gland. These are given with hot compresses and the application of electrical treatments.

Storing Grapes

Question—M. G. asks: "Is there any way of storing grapes and keeping fresh on the bunch?"

Answer—Sound grapes may be kept in good condition for a long time by wrapping each bunch in waxed paper. After tying the ends they should be kept on some soft material, such as cotton batting, and kept in a cool place. They may also be packed in California redwood sawdust and stored in a cool place. Another method, frequently used in Europe, is to place the stalk of each bunch of grapes in a small bottle of water containing a piece of charcoal; If a temperature of 38° is maintained, they will keep in good condition for a long time.

Dizziness in Insomnia

Question—Mrs. A. M. asks: "Will you please tell me if dizziness at times, and a tired feeling all the time, are signs of high blood pressure. I am 49 years old, and a poor sleeper."

Answer—The only way to know whether or not you have high blood pressure is to have an examination made by the use of the sphygmomanometer, which is an instrument for measuring blood pressure. The dizziness in insomnia may come from high blood pressure, but one with this disorder is seldom bothered by being unusually tired; he generally has plenty of energy, but becomes dizzy upon extreme exertion.

'One-Woman Lobby' In Action Again At Texas Capitol

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—"Senator" Annie Cook walks again.

For more years than any one in the capitol can remember, the elderly Miss Cook has been urging before each session of the legislature a claim for several thousand dollars.

It is her contention, and has been her contention through all the years that the extension school-correspondence method of instruction in use at the University of Texas was her creation, and that she never was paid for it.

A $2,500 appropriation was granted her by the last legislature, but Governor Sterling vetoed it, along with all the other items in the claims and accounts bill.

So, she is back before this legislature, walking silently and alone from corridor to corridor. Always she wears long, flowing dresses. Frequently they are pure white.

Just how her one-woman "lobby" works nobody seems to know. She never appears vehement and rarely is seen talking to any member. She knows and well remembers legislators long gone from these halls.

Her effort for her claim unquestionably is the longest and most persistent in the state's history.

Years ago, the custom grew to call her "Senator Cook." It has been almost universally adopted and now everywhere here she is addressed as "Senator."

Texas Banker's Wife Established in Reno

RENO, Nev., Aug. 11. (AP)—Mrs. B. B. Samuels, wife of the indicted president of the Texas National bank of Fort Worth which failed under his administration, has taken up divorce residence here and is living in seclusion with her small son at the exclusive Riverside hotel.

Mrs. Samuels came here 10 days or more ago, it was learned, and will be eligible to file for divorce some time in September.

Samuel Platt, her counsel, refused to discuss the case today, and said he had instructed Mrs. Samuels to do likewise. It is believed, however, that she will charge "mental cruelty" in her complaint and seek absolute custody of the child.

SENTINEL OAK GOES

SONORA, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—A traffic sentinel centuries old has been removed from the highway between Eldorado and Christoval. A giant oak tree, around which the highway had been routed on both sides, was grubbed out recently by workmen.

INFIELD ERRORS GIVE SPORTS SECOND OVER SPUDS, 5 TO 2

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Come Out, Now!

Milt Steengrafe, a good pitcher, but who had just been in Wichita Falls too long, is with Memphis now, pitching winning baseball. Sunday he defeated the New Orleans Pelicans 2 to 1, allowing four hits.

Scarcely a week passed this or last season that we didn't get letters from fans saying they were staying away from the park because they understood it was Steengrafe's day to pitch.

Well, old Milt is gone now, and we wonder just how many of the anti-Steengrafian fans above mentioned will come on out when the team returns home.

Hitters' Last Chance

One development during the recent home stay was very cheerful. The hitting, to-wit, of Bo Euller, Bear Allday and George Gerken. Neither Euller nor Allday had been at all powerful the entire season, but their stick work during the last home stay was plenty satisfying. Gerken got off to a mediocre start when he first joined the club, but toward the tail end of the home stay he was ripping line drives for extra bases and showing plenty speed in beating out infield knocks.

At least one of the trio shows signs of keeping up the hitting streak on the road trip. That one is Euller. After going all season without a home run, he socked two here in a recent game, and during the double-header with Fort Worth Sunday he drove out another.

Players have every reason to pole out base hits, regardless of whether the club has a chance at the pennant. The fag end of the season always sees the sluggers perking up, for they then become more acutely conscious of their batting averages. Those that have the stuff make a last fight to boost that average. Euller is just a .260 hitter, but if he keeps up his present stride he will be back in the .290 class, where he was last season, or maybe even higher.

Chant Grammatique

I'd share my shirt
With Hidalgo McPhinn
The game over, he never says
"The Spudders win."

At the same time, however, we stand ready to pardon the use of all atrocious grammar, if the Spudders, on the present road trip, give the boys a chance to use it.

With Our Sandlot Friends

Wichita Falls is one of eight cities entering teams in the state amateur championship this year. Other towns seeking the sandlot title are Dallas, Waco, Austin, Fort Worth, Houston, Galveston and San Antonio.

The city champions, to be selected in the coming playoff between the Bailey-Moline and Sullivans grocery teams of the City league, will play the Dallas champions here Aug. 29 and 30, and the winner will meet the winner of the Fort Worth-Waco game.

A guarantee must be made the Dallas team on its trip here, and the sandlot fans of the city address a plea to the fans for cooperation in a letter handed this corner. It follows:

"Dear Fans:

"With a most successful season behind us, we, the amateur players of the City league, make this request of you: that when the Dallas team visits Wichita Falls for the playoff, you help us raise the guarantee. We will be forced to raise $160 in order to get this team to play our city champions. This money will be used to pay the expenses of the club. In order to raise the guarantee we will be forced to charge an admission of 50 cents. All we ask of you is that you come to the playoff games and help us raise the guarantee.

"With the help of a good sports writer, our league president, and an excellent newspaper, we have had a most successful season, and we can truthfully say we believe each team has given you the best they had in baseball playing.

"We thank you from the bottom of our hearts for your attendance throughout the season, and will appreciate your attendance at the playoff with Dallas.

"The Amateur Players of the City League."

'SCOOP' MAKES THREE BOBBLES

Florrid Injured When Hit By Ball

Special to The Record News.

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 11.—Three errors in a row by Scharein in the fourth cost the Spudders their second game with the Sports here tonight. Three tallies were the result of the miscues and they paved the way for a fourth tally. The score was 5 to 2.

Erickson, for the Sports, had only one bad inning, the fourth, when two tallies were made on four hits. Florrid started for Wichita Falls, but retired in the fifth in favor of White. During the warming-up period between the first and second half of the third inning Florrid was hit by a ball thrown by Hungling and was dazed. After a short rest he decided to continue on the hill.

Allday was the batting star for the visitors.

A fast play cut the Spudders off in the opening inning. Gerken walked and Allday singled before a batter was out. Laveque dropped Stanton's high-skier, and the visiting first sacker followed with a roller to Mueller that was converted into a double play. Badgro fanned. Whelan was hit by a pitched ball to start the Sports off. Geygan attempted to bunt and popped to Florrid. Leslie singled to left field. Both runners died on base when Radcliff and Solters went out in order, one on a fly to left field and the other one on strikes.

It was three up and three down for each side in the second and third innings. Whelan obtained a hit but was caught stealing.

Spudders Score

A pair of doubles at the start of the fourth were turned into scores for the Spudders. Allday opened with a double and scored on Stanton's two-bagger. When Erickson missed a throw from Laveque on the pitcher's mound Stanton went to third. Badgro fanned. Hungling singled to left field but Euller rolled out to short.

Scharein had a rough inning, making three errors that allowed the Sports to take the lead. Leslie opened the inning with a two-bagger and when Scharein made a wild peg to first Leslie scored. Solters rolled out to the pitcher. Scharein missed Wight's roller and did the same thing on Mueller's grounder and Radcliff scored. Laveque singled to left field and Wight scored. Laveque went to second on the throw to home. Erickson went out on strikes. Whelan singled to left and Mueller scored. Laveque tried to reach home and was thrown out by Euller who relayed Badgro's throw to the plate.

Geygan Chased Out

The Sports were forced to change their line-up when Geygan was chased in the fifth for protesting a strike. Wight moved over to second and Winegarner went to third. The Sports added to their scoring in the sixth. After one was out Wight doubled down the right field foul line and scored on Mueller's double to left center. Laveque was out on a liner and Erickson walked. Whelan went safe on Euller's error and with the bases loaded, Winegarner fanned.

With two out in the eighth the Spudders threatened to score. Stanton and Badgro hit singles and Stanton stole third just before Hungling flied to left field.

Great fielding by Mueller in the ninth retired the Spudders in order. Shreveport went out in order in the eighth.

Board to Elect New Baylor Head

WACO, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—Trustees of Baylor university, called to meet here tomorrow, came with the expectation of selecting a successor for Dr. S. P. Brooks, president, who died several months ago.

Dean W. S. Allen and T. D. Brooks, Baylor faculty members; Pat M. Neff, member of the state railroad commission, and W. B. Bizzell, president of the University of Oklahoma, have been mentioned as possibilities.

The committee named by the board to investigate the qualifications of men considered for the presidency include: Cullen Thomas of Dallas, Judge W. H. Jenkins of Waco, Dan E. Graves of Gatesville, Rev. Wallace Bassett of Dallas and D. F. Martin of San Antonio.

Dr. Brooks served 29 years as acting president since illness took Dr. Brooks from his duties.

Boulder Dam Workers Await End of Strike

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 11. (AP)—Thirteen hundred men thrown out of employment by the strike and the subsequent suspension of work at Hoover dam by Six Companies, Inc., dam contractors, adopted a policy of watchful waiting today.

The sheriff and United States marshal with 24 deputies, aided by the six regular police officers at Boulder City, the government camp for workmen, searched automobiles entering the disturbed area for firearms and liquor, but there has been no violence.

Two hundred workmen, including the 125 who struck Friday for an increase in wages and better working conditions, idled about their camp, not far from the dam site, hoping something would happen to bring recognition of their demands.

BUFFS NEED ONE VICTORY

First Half Texas League Title at Stake

HOUSTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—Two big right-handers—"Dizzy" Dean of Houston and John Whitlow Wyatt of Beaumont—are slated to oppose each other here tomorrow night in a game that has an important bearing on the first half Texas league championship.

A victory for Houston would make the Buffs first half champions since they hold a two game to nothing lead over Beaumont in the playoff series started last month. A victory for Beaumont would put the Exporters back in the running, and play would be resumed Thursday at Beaumont.

The games have a double significance, counting in the second half race, and also determining the first half title, for which Houston and Beaumont tied at the conclusion of the first half June 30.

Killingsworth of Haskell Defeats Co-Medalist in Tri-County Tourney

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Texas, Aug. 11.—Panny Farmer of Knox City and Bud Roberts of Munday, co-medalists in the annual tri-county golf tournament, met opposite fates today in the first round, Farmer losing his chance at the title in a brilliant upset, while Roberts came through victorious.

Farmer's defeat was administered by Roy Killingsworth of Haskell in the only serious upset of the day, the match being decided on the 19th hole. Killingsworth's victory placed Haskell among the favored towns to win the title.

Roberts bolstered Munday's chances at the title by winning his first round match from Herman Bettis of Haskell, eight up and seven to go.

In the second round Wednesday, Killingsworth will meet Jack Wilson, Knox City, who won today from L. E. Loveless, Munday. Roberts will face A. H. Wair of Haskell who defeated B. M. Whiteker, Haskell, three up and two to go.

Whiteker provided the high-light of the morning session when he defeated J. D. Hrdlicka, Seymour veteran.

R. C. Couch, Haskell, took high honors in the first flight consolation today.

Matches scheduled in the second flight for Wednesday include:

E. J. Roberts, Munday vs. Vincent Lane, Munday.

Davis Montgomery, Haskell vs. Lem Bellows, Seymour.

Giants Get Slugging Outfielder in $75,000 Deal With Indianapolis Club

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP)—The New York Giants struck a blow for 1932 today by announcing a $75,000 deal for Leonard Koenecke, slugging outfielder of the Indianapolis American association team.

The extraordinary feature of the deal was the statement of James J. Tierney, secretary of the Giants, that the Indianapolis club, through its president, N. A. Perry, refused payment in cash for Koenecke and insisted on delivery of players equivalent to the value placed on the outfielder's services.

Koenecke will report to the Giants at Los Angeles next spring, at which time Manager John McGraw will look over his talent and send $75,000 worth to Indianapolis. The number of players to be involved was not specified.

The Giants seemed well satisfied with the deal for Koenecke will come to the club with one of the biggest minor league price tags attached to him since Jimmy O'Connell was purchased from the Pacific Coast league.

Koenecke's performances in hitting .375 in 98 games this season apparently influenced the giants to take prompt action. He plays left field.

Travel Helps Tennis Player's Game, Says Star

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 11. (AP)—Play in the eastern turf court tennis championships having been washed out by rain, Frederick J. Perry, rising young star of the English Davis cup team, was asked the best way to learn to play top flight tennis.

"Travel," said Perry, who started out as a ping pong player and then learned his tennis on the courts of London's public parks.

Perry will meet his first real test of the tournament tomorrow in the third round when he meets Bryan Grant, Atlanta.

The rain today threw the tournament into confusion, disrupting plans to hurry the women through so they might have some rest before the championships beginning Aug. 17.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. (AP)—An early decline in cotton today met considerable covering, with the market later comparatively quiet and irregular.

December, after selling off to 7.08 early, rallied to 7.25 but later broke to 7.04 and finally closed at 7.12, compared with 7.20 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed easy at net declines of 8 to 9 points.

An apparent scarcity of contracts combined with more rain than considered desirable in the eastern belt encouraged some buying for a rally but it was a comparatively narrow market after the early selling had run its course and prices responded to correspondingly small orders. The advance met a renewal of realizing and liquidation which seemed to come largely from New Orleans, Wall street and local sources.

Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay liquidation in that market absorbed by covering in the decline. Port receipts today, 1,959 bales; U. S. port stocks, 2,754,823; exports, 620, making 3,178 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11. (AP)—Cotton eased into a decidedly quiet tone today following the excitement of yesterday. Prices developed no decided trend, although there continued to be more or less covering by satisfied shorts who found contracts far from plentiful.

In the early trading prices declined 7 to 9 points owing to the weakness in foreign markets, but later they rallied 14 to 16 points on shorts covering but eased off to about a level with the previous close shortly after mid-session. The market turned easier in the late trading on some hedge and other selling and made new lows for the day of 17 to 20 points below the early highs, but rallied 5 to 6 points at the end. The close was barely steady, the general market showing net declines for the day of 6 to 7 points.

Manchester cabled that the cloth and yarn markets were unsettled and business much restricted.

Late in the morning shorts started to cover and found contracts scarce and by the time the demand was supplied, October had advanced to 7.01 and December to 7.24, up 14 to 16 points from the lows and 5 to 7 points above the previous close. In the late trading prices eased off to new lows for the day owing to some hedge selling and realizing, October dropping to 6.84 and December to 7.04, down 17 to 20 points from the highs. There was a recovery of 5 to 6 points at the end.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 11. (AP)—Opening business in the futures market of the Liverpool cotton exchange today showed the confidence which marked overnight closing prices.

Cotton remained between 3½ and 3¾ pence a pound but at the opening there was an advance of 3 or 4 points on yesterday's close with more buying and selling.

The business was conducted quietly and there were no reports of heavy individual losses so that it was expected Thursday's settlements would bring no unusual developments.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. (AP)—After a 10-point drop in early trading, cotton recovered the loss, but eased again in the afternoon and closed 5 to 14 points net lower.

Cables were sharply lower than due. Opening prices were 3 to 9 points down. The report of the Textile Merchants association was about a standoff as a market factor.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. (AP)—Cotton goods were quiet and hesitant today, with prices softening in the gray goods division. Wool dress goods mills reported sales for the fall season as ahead of a year ago. Rayon continued steady and the demand for inferior yarns was in excess of the immediate supply. Silk was quiet in the raw material section and there was a moderate amount of business in fall merchandise. Burlaps were steady.

Stock Market Finally Develops Promised Rally With Good Gains

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. (US)—The rally to which the stock market has been pointing for several days finally developed today and represented vigorous recovery in a goodly part of the list.

The upturn occurred with a suddenness which completely surprised the bear element and the fright of the weaker short interest added to the price enhancement.

There was nothing in the news to account for the complete reversal of the price trend, yet it has been apparent from the market's recent action that it had refused to respond any further to the avalanche of bearish news except in the railroad department.

As a matter of fact, today's recovery emerged from a further period of weakness in the railroad shares which had carried them down to new lows, yet when the rally developed leading railroad shares participated equally with industrials and utilities in the upturn.

Commodities maintained their heavy tone, although fluctuations were confined to extremely narrow limits.

Most popular assumption concerning the stock market's turnabout probably will be that the short interest had become unwieldy but this column believes that the character of buying recently has been far more impressive than the selling. The latter has been chiefly, aside from the railroad list which has been subjected to genuine liquidation, by amateur shorts and some frightened holders.

There is no question but that frightened covering by shorts contributed to the vigor of today's rally, but the volume of 1,600,000 shares definitely pointed to more important buying than covering by small shorts.

A too-rapid advance in prices might complicate matters for the constructive interests, yet the spectacle of a sudden and vicious turnabout in prices may very easily convince would-be bears that immediate attack against the market may be unhealthy.

It has been repeatedly and emphatically stated of late here that buying of most impressive character has taken place quietly under cover of weakness in the rail list and among some of the more prominent industrial issues, notably Steel, Can, and American Telephone.

Once having inaugurated the rally, the bullish sponsors for the market were quick to take full advantage of their success. Shorts in some of the highly speculative issues were severely chastised and the rush upward of prices was too rapid to permit orderly retreat by the bears.

Thus, Case Threshing Machine was advanced more than six points, in compliance with the threat against the shorts related here.

American Can, in which the covering was described as being rather impressive the last few days, closed up more than four points. Westinghouse Electric, which also harbored an extensive short account, closed up 3¾ points net. American Telephone, one of the favorite "hedge short sales" of the bears, gained 5½ points.

With the leaders finally showing resistance to pressure, virtually all of the bull pools swung into action and advanced their favorites commensurately with the general market. Radio closed up almost two points net and its chief sponsor was reported exceedingly active throughout the market.

Houdaille-Hershey was again favored by Detroit buying and the report persisted that demand for this stock reflected desire of big automobile interests to obtain control.

All of the issues which have been listed as likely to receive aggressive sponsorship at the first display of general market firmness came in for greater attention. Chrysler moved up ⅞ net, International Telephone 1¾, and others in proportion.

The Burroughs Adding Machine group activity failed to develop, although it was reported that a strong pool has been formed in the issue. American Foreign Power, General Electric, Bethlehem Steel and several others were particularly favored by short covering.

As expected, Consolidated Gas was utilized as a leader of the demonstration. This stock combines the qualifications of a strong bull leader, since it ranks as an investment issue, and also contains elements of speculation. It closed up more than three points.

Together with Steel common, Gas provided the very type of leadership which was desired to effect the beginning of the recovery. Steel finished three points net higher for the day but at its high price for the day sold at 90, up 4⅛ points.

Ability of Steel in the face of all the bearishness on operations in the industry to achieve the highest price since the dividend was lowered proved highly effective in impressing speculative quarters.

Toward the close considerable profit-taking developed but this was absorbed with relatively moderate recessions. It is to be recognized, of course, that the current rally is predicated chiefly on hope for concrete business betterment, but at least it has had a strong technical position as its immediate stimulus.

Throughout the rally there were rumors of important announcement to come from Washington but in this respect the wish was father to the thought.

There was concrete cheer in the reduction of the reichsbank rate to 10 per cent from 15 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. (AP)—As reports went around that the grain futures administration was investigating the recent squeeze in the corn market, corn prices underwent a sudden drop today. Stop loss selling swept the market down in some cases to the bottommost level since 1900. The sharpest loss was on December contracts, official estimates of the new 1931 corn crop being much larger than last season's production although smaller than recent forecasts from private experts. Wheat and other grains reflected corn weakness.

Corn closed nervous, ⅞ to 2 cents lower than yesterday's finish, wheat ⅜@⅞c down, oats at ¼@½c decline and provisions unchanged to 10c off.

Corn fluctuated rapidly and at one stage showed decided strength, but gave the way fast in the late dealings.

Tending to strengthen September corn at times were extraordinarily scanty arrivals, amounting to only nine cars compared with 127 a year ago. This suggested possibilities that a repetition of the July squeeze might develop in September contracts. However, the upturns in the market failed to hold under enlarged selling.

Wheat was bearishly affected by persistent reports that Russia was selling to Great Britain and to European continental countries at low prices. North American export business was slow, and the world's wheat available supply total increased 11,-698,000 bushels.

Provisions were responsive to downturns in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Sept., 48⅞@49, 50⅞@⅞; Dec., 52⅞, 54⅝@⅞; May, 57⅝, 59½. Corn, Sept., 47⅝, 50⅝@⅞; Dec. 38⅝@½, 40¼; May 42⅝@44⅛.

Devol Grain Elevator Destroyed by Fire

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 11.—The elevator at Devol belonging to P. A. Cope of Lawton was burned Friday night, together with between 2,500 and 3,000 bushels of wheat and oats. A couple of box cars on the M. K. & T. siding were also destroyed. The elevator and grain are said to have been insured.

This is the third elevator which has been destroyed by fire in that locality within the past year. Last winter an elevator at Chattanooga belonging to Cope was burned and one at Grandfield belonging to a group of farmers. Both were rebuilt.

West Texas Ranchmen Find Cash Still Available

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—More than a half million dollars was received by ranchmen of this area during July on sales of lambs, goats, wool and mohair, these receipts showing the continued ability of the Southwest to acquire cash in any kind of times.

About 500,000 pounds of wool were sold during July at various points over this and the plains territory at an average of about 18 cents a pound, totaling $90,000. About 100,000 pounds of mohair were sold during July at an average of 22 cents a pound, for a total of $22,000. A total of 126,024 fat lambs which moved out at an average price of $3.20 brought in $390,-674. In addition, some sales of ewes and other classes of sheep to go to those parts of the state which heretofore have not had sheep brought in perhaps another $50,000 to $100,000. Sales of registered sheep and goats at the annual sale of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association convention in San Angelo brought in about $25,000.

There is possibly 75,000 pounds of wool left in the warehouses but just as soon as a warehouse gets an accumulation there are a number of buyers to purchase it. If any mohair is being held, the quantity is negligible. Some few ranchmen are holding very small amounts of wool and mohair on their ranches.

Little cash was brought into West Texas this season through the sale of grain, as only a few thousand bushels of oats were moved. About 10 carloads of wheat went out at 30 to 38 cents a bushel. Most of the farmers are holding their grain to feed and a few have sold to ranchmen for feeding purposes. Many have traded grain for livestock, enabling the farmer to get livestock to feed and the ranchman grain for his livestock.

Maize in the field is bringing $4.50 to $5 a ton headed now, and some farmers are selling their grain in the field to ranchmen for feeding.

West Texans are looking forward to two good cash crops this fall—pecans and turkeys. Indications are for a bumper crop of both. There are plenty of insects supplying good feed for turkeys and ranchmen are hoping the prices do not drop below those of last year.

MARY FAITH

right. You'd have married Nesbit, and I'd have stuck to Janet."

"Janet." Mary Faith had formed the word with dry lips that made no sound. Janet . . . The "loyal little kid" who had left the offices of McIntrae and Westover when they had let Kim out—who had followed him to his own tiny office in the Towers building.

"You're leaving me for that girl, Kim. You think you should have married her instead of me, don't you?"

"I shouldn't have married anybody," he said violently. "And try to hang all the blame on her. Our married life has been a flop all along and you know it as well as I do . . . What do I get out of it, I'd like to know? I sit all day in a two-by-four office, waiting for a lot of clients who never come. I sit all evening in this flat, staring at the four walls. It's a great life for a man, isn't it?"

He swung round and started down the narrow hall that led to the sleeping rooms at the back of the apartment.

Mary Faith followed him. "Kim, you're just discouraged tonight—"

"I'm just through!" he corrected her. "I'm all through. And I'm getting out now while the getting's good. See?"

He pulled his Gladstone bag down from the shelf of his closet and opened it on the bed. Then he began to take his clothes out of the drawers of his dresser—shirt, underwear, socks, handkerchiefs. He went into the bathroom and came back with his tooth brush and his shaving tackle in his hands.

"Kim, you're not going out tonight? You're not going now?"

"I sure am. I'm going to get it all over and done with before I weaken . . . I know it's the thing to do and I'm going to do it. Besides, it's the 28th of the month. You and my mother will have to step lively if you're going to be out of this place by the first. It's only three days off."

He laid a bill on the top of the dresser. "There's fifty dollars," he said. "Make it go as far as you can, will you? When you need more you know my phone number downtown . . . and tomorrow will you pack up the rest of my clothes and send them over to the Maldons'? They're going to let me sleep on their davenport for a few nights until I find a room. I talked to them about it tonight."

He was picking out some ties from the dozens and dozens that hung on the inside of his closet door. Mary Faith watched him from the doorway. She wondered if he remembered that he had worn that plain dark green satin one on their wedding day?

"Kim, don't you remember the day we were married?" she asked him suddenly. "Don't you remember the first supper we cooked down in Aunt Ella's kitchen? And remember how we woke up on New Year's Eve and listened to the bells? You can't say that our married life was a 'flop' then, Kim. We were awfully happy, weren't we?"

His shoulders lifted and fell in a careless shrug. "That wasn't our married life—that was our honeymoon," he said. "And listen to me, Mary Faith, why drag up the past? Why be sentimental? Why be sentimental about something that's all over? We made a mistake. Let's admit it and forget it. Let's wipe it off the slate."

NEGRO SLAYS AGED TEXAN

Prisoner Jailed in Dallas to Avoid Mob

DALLAS, Aug. 11. (AP)—James Williams, 27, negro, whom officers said confessed to fatally shooting Joe S. West, 77, at his home near Royce City, was held in the Dallas county jail tonight for safe keeping.

A murder charge was filed against Williams at Greenville during the day.

West, a Hunt county pioneer, was shot to death early today as he sought to arise from his bed after being aroused by an intruder.

Sheriff L. L. Porter of Hunt county and several deputies escorted the negro to Dallas when they became apprehensive of mob violence.

"I didn't intend to kill him when I broke in his house but I became nervous and shot him after he waked up," Williams told officers tonight.

SUSPECT TELLS OF SLAYING

GREENVILLE, Texas, Aug. 11. (AP)—James Williams, negro, was charged with murder today in connection with the shooting of Joe S. West, 77, a farmer, at Royce City this morning.

Sheriff L. L. Porter immediately moved Williams to another jail for safe keeping.

County Attorney G. C. Harris announced the negro had made a full confession. He obtained a pistol at his father's home in Royce City and went to the West home planning to rob it.

He entered through a window and was ransacking West's trousers when a knife fell to the floor. The noise caused a dog to bark. Mrs. West awoke and called her husband.

As West started to arise from his bed the negro said he shot. He then threatened Mrs. West unless she gave him the key to a trunk in the room. She shouted for help. The negro fled but was arrested by Sheriff Porter while cutting weeds in a Royse City yard. The knife that fell from West's trousers was found in his pocket.

tions of suspicious fires. Most of the present fires, he pointed out, occurred in vacant houses or while people were out of town.

He cited five concrete reasons why the United States has a greater fire loss than any other nation: First, fires are started to cover crime, for revenge, started by the mentaly deranged for excitement, for insurance, the great arson motive and over insurance of property.

Entertainment features between speeches included popular songs by Cloyd Smith and Johnnie Minton; tap dance and songs by Northcutt brothers, Iowa Park; reading, by Johnie Joyce Johns; song, Eula Bell Johns; songs, Katherine Sue Ralston, Iowa Park; popular numbers, Helen Jennings, Belva Hannah; tap dances, Anna Mary and Glenda Bevil, Iowa Park; Doris Jean and Betty Jo Miller; solo, Ed Forbes, piano selection, Ruth Harris; special entertainment by Wilson quartet composed of G. Rivers, pastor, First Baptist church, made the memorial address, touching on the life of VanHoove and Betty Ann VanHoove, 6, only daughter of the deceased, touched the audience very deeply with a reading given in the memory of her father.

Letrice Wofford and Mrs. L. G. McLaughlin sang a special number. Following the service, the firemen left for a trip to the Diversion lake, through the irrigated valley, and to Iowa Park for a watermelon feast sponsored by organizations of Iowa Park.

A fish fry at 8 o'clock at Electra Lions Club park and a dance at 9 concluded the day's entertainment.

Election of officers is scheduled for Wednesday morning to be followed by contests between various departments. A dance and other entertainment will close the convention Wednesday night.

HOOVER'S DEBT PLANS SIGNED

Financial Experts Wind Up Work on Protocols

By ALVIN HALLMAN

LONDON, Aug. 11. (AP)—President Hoover's proposals for a year's war debt and reparations holiday were fitted to the Young plan for reparations payments today after three weeks work by financial experts of the interested nations.

Protocols signed by the experts this evening in the cabinet room of the foreign office provided that the suspended payments shall be repaid in 10 equal annuities over the period from July 1, 1933, to July 1, 1943—in other words, there shall be a year's interim between the expiration of the debt holiday and the beginning of repayments.

The suspended payments shall bear interest at the rate of 3 per cent, the protocols provide, and shall be "absolute obligations involving no option of postponement."

The report of the experts states it would have been much better if the procedure of repayment of suspended payments could have been simply a postponement until 1932 of payments due in 1931, until 1933 of payments due in 1932, and so on.

But, the report says, "a different method was contemplated in the Franco-American agreement of July 6, 1931, and in view of the importance of reaching an agreement without delay, those governments which are not parties to the Franco-American agreement have agreed to adopt the method of repayment contemplated in that agreement."

TWO HELD IN ROAD MURDERS

Four Young People Slain on Michigan Highway

identified directly but Miss Gold and Miss Harrison had been visiting at the Lore home in Ypsilanti and had been missing since last night when they left the house, announcing they were going to a motion picture show.

From condition of the bodies and the interior of the Wheatley car, officers said indications were the bodies were soaked with gasoline before the fire was lighted. A wrench, which officers said might have been used by the assailants, was found between the legs of one of the victims.

Meager Clues

The four attended a Junior league party last night and at its close early this morning had driven to the lonely road where the tragedy occurred.

The few clues that existed indicated that another car, much larger, had driven up and that the two youths had been beaten to death while defending their girl companions. The region has been infested with so-called "petting party" bandits.

In the muddy road where tire marks of the other car which had skidded to a stop and then, later, had turned about and returned in the same direction from which it had come.

A farmer living nearby saw the flames at about 6 this morning, he said.

"I heard the sound of a racing automobile along the road. Then I saw flames rising down by the pasture. I ran down there. A fierce blaze enveloped the automobile.

Troopers Called

"It looked to me as if the bodies and the inside of the car had been soaked with gasoline. The flames spread the way they do when gasoline or kerosene is used. The windows were closed, but the heat shattered them.

"I could see in the mud from last night's rain where the other car had pulled alongside, skidded and then returned in the same direction."

The crime occurred near the Washtenaw-Wayne county line about 20 miles from Detroit. Authorities from both counties cooperated at once in efforts to run down the brutal slayers. Every resource of the two counties was ordered employed in the man-hunt. State troopers also were working on the case tonight.

WIDOW SUES FOR $10,000

Damages Asked in Death of Husband

Suit for $10,000 was filed in district court here Tuesday by Mrs. Maggie Shaw against V. C. Castles, et al., as a result of a traffic accident on April 27 which allegedly caused the death of J. H. (Jake) Shaw.

The plaintiff's action is in not only her own behalf, but that of her son, Alvia Walter Shaw, a minor. The petition sets out that the deceased was struck by an automobile belonging to the Humble Oil & Refining company and driven by its employe, V. C. Castles. The accident occurred just inside the city limits on the Burkburnett highway, the petition recites, when the deceased endeavored to cross the highway.

INSURANCE COMPANY SEEKS TO RECOVER $4,000.

Recovery of $4,000 allegedly paid on a fire insurance policy on a truck is sought by the Universal Casualty company in a suit filed in district court Tuesday against the Phillips Petroleum company.

Action against the oil company is based upon the allegation that a loading rack employe of that concern placed too much gasoline in the tank of the truck in question. While the truck was en route to its destination with its cargo, the petition charges, expansion caused the gasoline to escape around a valve in the top of the tank. The liquid thus released later was ignited by the exhaust pipe, it is charged. Failure of a safety shell or cone on top of the tank to accommodate the expansion is attributed by the plantiff to an excess of gasoline above the tank's declared capacity.

The petition sets out that the truck was destroyed by fire, and that its owners received payment of $4,000 from the insurance company. The plaintiff seeks that amount plus interest as reimbursement.

Distribution of Food to City's Needy Explained in Statement

Plans for an open meeting to be held on the west lawn of the Memorial auditorium Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the interest of laboring classes in this city were being formed Tuesday by a committee headed by O. B. Kelley.

Prosecution of a campaign to provide necessities for needy families in Wichita Falls during the fall and winter is the principal objective of the laboring men's committee and of Wednesday night's meeting, it was announced.

"This meeting is for the public generally," said Mr. Kelley. "We want those who need help, and those who are able to give help, to know that a distributing depot for food and clothing has been established at 605 Austin street. We want them to know that such supplies will be handled honestly and carefully.

"We also should like to emphasize the fact that we are not the Unemployed Council, as some of our citizens probably have thought. We have no political affiliations, no political ambitions. Our one object is to help provide the necessities of life to those who are, or will be, in need."

Extensive supplies of farm produce, wheat and ice are being given already for distribution through the recently established food depot, it was announced.

Members of the committee are Mr. Kelley, Wirt Butcher, J. C. Brown, George Voss and John Terrett.

TILLMAN LAKE SITE SOUGHT

C.-C. Joins County and State in Project

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 11.—Site for a lake to be built with state and county funds was discussed at the noon luncheon of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce Monday when J. L. Newland reported J. W. Williams, commissioner from this district, wanted this body to aid him in the matter. At least three lakes are to be constructed in this county, one in each commissioners' district.

O. C. Ball, commissioner from the first district, has about decided on a site for a large lake near Manitou and Frank Patterson will select sites for smaller lakes near Grandfield, added Newland.

Williams believes the lake for this district should be built southwest of Frederick and would like to see it on the J. M. Shafer farm, where the airport is located, it was stated.

Charles Hubbard said he believed the Frederick Golf club would like to join with the county and state in procuring a place as the lease for the golf links will soon expire. The golf club has funds which could be used for this purpose, said Hubbard.

None of the state funds can be used for purchasing a site, according to Gov. W. H. Murray's plan, as all the state money is to be used for paying labor.

A. G. Davidson, president of the local chamber of commerce, named the following committee to look after a site for a lake: G. E. Kadane, of the Kadane Construction company; L. H. Beaty, county demonstration agent; Luther M. Wagnon, secretary of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce.

Davidson suggested that the committee confer with officers of the Frederick Golf club.
