Wayne B. Lee Steals Show at Airline Hearing

WORTH, Feb. 15—There are a lot of guys in the Air Corps who want to have down commercial airlines after war.

Here's the story of one who done something about it—Lt. Wayne B. Lee from the Texas Panhandle.

Lt. Lee's story unfolded at hearing by Civil Aeronautics officials who are reviewing applications for feeder airlines in Texas and Oklahoma.

Several days, big-time lawyers and commercial airline company executives have held the spotlight at the meetings. They've presented thick, type-written briefs—which cost thousands of dollars to assemble—and have done a lot of technical talking to substantiate their applications.

Then, yesterday, Lieutenant Lee, 20 years old, of Perryton, was called upon to present his case.

He stood up, fumbled with his tie, and started talking. In his hand he held his brief—only nine pages thick.

Would Serve Rich Area

He told the CAB men that the area he wants to serve has poor ground transportation. He said that businessmen in Ochiltree County have subscribed more than $50,000 of the $100,000 he needs to set up his "feeder" airline.

"Perryton now is served by two buses; the same is true of Spearman," he said, naming the towns he wants to put on the air maps.

"My airline would connect the two towns with Amarillo, Liberal, Kansas, Borger and Canadian," Lee continued in a clear, matter-of-fact tone.

He opened his brief and showed the board his nine-page mimeographed plans—figures and charts, maps and written explanations. He put it together himself during the past year while on leaves from his base.

Lee explained the benefits of his proposed commercial line without any high-priced lawyers to help him do the talking.

"Per capita, the area is probably richer than any other similar area in the country," he said. "It's a wheat farming, livestock raising and oil section. The people would be glad to pay the extra cost of air service.

Then he told the group about himself. He said he was 20 and liked to fly. He told them about how he's been thinking about his postwar future. He's learned a lot about handling an airline working in the operations office at the Army Air base in Colorado Springs, Colo. He got a transfer there from the engineering office at Fort Worth, in Victoria, because he wanted to learn operations.

The folks back home like his idea a lot. Enough to promise him more than half the $100,000 he needs to get started if the CAB is O. K.

As a matter of fact, the men who heard Lee's case liked the idea—or at least the youth's initiative.

When he had finished, former Texas Governor James V. Allred turned to the press table and said: "I vote aye."

Seemed like the men at the meeting would have been good prospects to buy some stock in the Wayne B. Lee Airline.

Drive Opens March 1; Expect to Attain Minimum Goal of $6,900 With Personal Solicitations

JUST HERE and THERE

Sgt. Wilbur Holland sends us another copy of "Yank" for our collection. Wilbur is somewhere in the Philippines. The invasion at Leyte was featured in the mag.

Mrs. A. L. Dowers, former Perryton resident and a sister of Sibley Jines, adds three copies of "The PNB Bulletin", published at the U. S. Naval Advance Base Depot, Port Huene, Calif., to our collection. Thanks to you, Bessie!

Just as the word comes to Perryton that Sgt. Carroll McClung is missing in action in Europe, we receive two copies of "The Returnee", published at the Army Ground and Services Redistribution Station, Hot Springs, Ark., from Cpl. Joe H. McClung. Joe is the youngest son of the family of Rev. and Mrs. S. R. McClung, now at Grand Prairie, Tex. Rev. McClung is a former pastor of the Perryton First Baptist Church.

M. T. McLain, recently returned from the ship yards in Oregon, gives us a copy of the "Bo-n's Whistle", published for the 32,000 employees of the Oregon Shipbuilding Corporation.

Thanks to John Franklin Plummer F. L. C. for "The Anchor", published at the U. S. Naval Receiving Station, Boston, Mass.

We want to thank Sgt. Albert N. Thorne for "The Stars and Stripes" and a number of clippings from the same newspaper. Albert wrote us on Jan. 6 as follows: "Received your paper of Nov. 2 today. Was really glad to get some good Panhandle news. It was the first paper received in almost three months. I guess the others are coming by Pony Express. I am still in France, but a lot of people talk German so you really can't tell where you are for sure. Most everything is freeze up pretty solid and it sure is better than the mud. It is pretty cold on the 'old dogs' but maybe we can stick it out until spring. I hope I think the Huns are giving us all they have, and I sure don't know where they all come from, but here is hoping that Hitler will reach in the old bag for another hand full and get a hand full of bottom, real soon. We had some pretty good chow for Christmas and New Years, (several lines censored out). Hope the wheat and cattle and everything in general in the good old Panhandle is doing O.K. Sure do enjoy your paper. Tell all the boys on Wolf Creek hello for me."

It is now more than three years See No. 4, Page 5

Ernie Pyle With the Navy Only a Fool Would Want To Return to Front Writer Is on His Way Back Despite All Arguments

By Ernie Pyle

Ernie Pyle is with the navy in the Pacific. Pending receipt of his dispatches from that theater this newspaper is publishing a few articles he wrote before his takeoff from San Francisco, of which the following is one.

SAN FRANCISCO—Well, here we go again. It has been four months since I wrote my last column, from France. In four months of non-production a writer gets out of the habit. He forgets the rhythm of words; falls into the easy habit of not making himself think or feel in self-expression.

This first column is a man-killer. Your mind automatically resents the task of focusing itself again. Your thoughts are scattered and you can't get them together to put onto paper. Words come hard. You have to think again. You curse the day you ever took up writing to make a living.

So until I'm once more immersed in the routine of daily writing, and transported once more into the one-track world of war, I'm afraid you'll have to be tolerant with me. There's nothing nice about the prospect of going back to war again. Anybody who has been in war and wants to go back is a plain damn fool in my book.

I'm certainly not going because I've got itchy feet again, or because I can't stand America, or because there's any mystic fascination about war that is drawing me back.

I'm going simply because there's a war on and I'm part of it and I've known all the time I was going back. I'm going simply because I've got to—and I hate it.

This time it will be the Pacific. When I left France last fall we thought the war in Europe was about over. I say "we" because I mean almost everybody over there thought so. I felt it was so near the end I could come home and before the time came to go again, that side of the war would be finished, and only the Pacific would be left.

But it didn't turn out that way. Now nobody knows how long the European war will last. Naturally all my friends and associations and sentiments are on that side. I suppose down in my heart I would rather go back to that side. For over in Europe I know the tempo of the battle; I feel at home with it in a way.

And yet I think it's best to stick with the original plan and go on to the Pacific. There are a lot of guys in that war, too. They are the same guys who are fighting on the other side, only with different names, that's all. It is not belittling my friends in Europe to desert them and go to the Pacific for a while.

I'm going with the navy this time, since the navy is so dominant in the Pacific, and since I've done very little in the past on that part of the service. I won't stay with the navy for the duration—probably two or three months, and then back ashore again with my noble souls, the doughboys.

Security forbids telling you just what the plans are. But I can say that I'll fly across the Pacific, and join ship on the other side. Aboard ship I'll be out of touch with the world on long cruises. It may be there will be lapses in the column, simply because it's impossible to transmit these pieces. But we'll do our best to keep them going steadily.

I haven't figured out yet what I'm going to do about seasickness. I'm one of those unfortunates with a terrific stomach on land, but one that turns to whey and jelly when I get aboard ship. I know of nothing that submerges the muse in a man as much as the constant compulsion to throw up. Perhaps I should take along my own oil to spread on the troubled waters.

Friends warn me about all kinds of horrible diseases in the Pacific. About dysentery, and malaria, and fungus that gets in your ears and your intestines, and that horrible swelling disease known as elephantiasis.

Well, all I can say is that I'm God's gift to germs. Those fungi will shout and leap for joy when I show up. Maybe I can play the Pied Piper role—maybe the germs will all follow me when I get there, and leave the rest of the boys free to fight.

So what with disease, Japs, seasickness, and shot and shell—you see I'm not too overwhelmed with relief at starting out again.

But there's one thing in my favor where I'm going: one thing that will undoubtedly this seems to you to be a funny time for a fellow to be quitting the war. It is a funny time. But I'm not leaving because of a whim, or even especially because I'm homesick.

I'm leaving for one reason only—because I have just got to stop. "I've had it," as they say in the army. I have had all I can take for a while.

SAFETY FIRST for you and your car!

WARNING! The traffic toll in winter regularly climbs to a peak fifty per cent higher than the summer accident rate. And this winter, because tires and cars are older, both cars and lives will be wrecked at a rate far faster than ever, unless YOU do something about it! So take every possible precaution. Drive slowly and alertly, because it requires from four to eleven times the usual braking distance to stop a car, without chains, on wet snow or ice. Don't close in on the car ahead. Slow down well before reaching crossings. Watch out for pedestrians picking their way in hazy twilight or darkness. At any other time in our nation's history, there would have been something sacrilegious in discussing the saving of cars in the same breath with the saving of human life. To day, however, the country's war effort and well-being depend on an ever-windling supply of essential transportation. Lives are important, and so are irreplaceable automobiles. Do your humane and patriotic part to save lives. Let your Phillips 66 Service Man do his patriotic part to help you save your car. He has many engineered Tire-Saving and Gas-Saving services. Some are free; some carry a small charge for material and labor. All are a real aid in making your car and your tires last longer and go further. Drive in at the Orange and Blue 66 Shield, the sign of famous Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil. But for safety's sake, drive 1-0-w-1-ly! PHILLIPS PETROLEUM CO., Bartlesville, Okla. Less Government Intervention

Cure of the nation's economic ills by a federal guarantee of 60,000,000 jobs can be achieved only by spending and lending money, but the money can come from only two places—borrowing and taxes. W. Randolph Burgess, president of the American Bankers Association, points out.

Stating that taxes stifle enterprise, which means the government has to employ still more people and interfere still more with business, the bank executive suggested that the first thing to do is for each one of us to do his own job better and lessen the excuse for the government to be called in and take over.

Of course, we can remember away back when 100,000 of anything was big enough to comprehend—when 1,000,000, to say nothing of 100,000,000 was literally "out of this world."

But what with government budgets in the many 000,000,000, these recent years, all of us seem to take a long string of ciphers in our stride without stopping for breath or ratiocination.

Curiously the cipher string has to do with 60,000,000 jobs—or is it 60,000,000? The difference in the two figures is irrelevant. What is relevant is that America's manufacturing industry is eager to build postwar employment—to better the 25 per cent total employment, for which it was responsible before the war—and to help organize our whole economy, whatever the correct amount of ciphers!

Mrs. Fitch Opens Forum
Mrs. Geraldine Townsend Fitch, Long Island, N. Y. was the first speaker on the Institute of International Understanding. Having spent 20 years in China, she understands far eastern affairs, her subject was "The New China in the New Pacific". Shortly after going to China she married George Fitch, distinguished Y. M. C. A. secretary, who is still in China.

She spoke in Perryton last Friday night, February 16. Although the weather prevented many from hearing her, several attended from Booker, Spearman and Gray, Okla.

While in Perryton, while in Canadian, Mrs. Fitch was pleasantly surprised when greeted by one of her former pupils, Mrs. Paul Harbaugh. Neither knew where the other was, and it was an accidental meeting. Mrs. Fitch had taught English in the Albion, Mich. high school, and Mrs. Harbaugh was one of her pupils. Mrs. Harbaugh recognized Mrs. Fitch. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harbaugh and son Junior attended her address in Perryton and took her to their ranch home for the week end. Mrs. Fitch went to Vernon for a Monday lecture.

ago that we were shocked by the outrage of Pearl Harbor. In a burst of enthusiasm, of historic energy, that will always be remembered in history, our country rose to meet that challenge. We felt that our very existence as a free people was dangerously threatened; we knew that if it should be destroyed, our lives would not be worth living.

But it is comparatively easy to meet the crisis of a moment. The real test of character, whether it be national or individual, is the ability to keep up one's courage and enthusiasm over months and years. The great temptation is to feel that we have done enough, that we can do no more, that at last we can sink back into the rut of our own small interest, and wait for others to win the chased $440,000 in capital stock in a campaign during the last year. The balance of the purchase price was financed through a loan from the Houston Bank for Cooperatives. Decision to purchase and operate a refinery cooperatively grew from a discussion at the annual meeting of the stockholders of Consumers Cooperatives Associated held in Amarillo a year ago in which the matter of continued availability of fuel and petroleum products for agricultural purposes was brought up and the matter of maintaining the price of such commodities commensurate with the cost of a farm operation was discussed.

The stockholders voted to instruct the officials of Consumers Cooperatives Associated to open negotiations for the purchase of a refinery which was begun immediately, later resulting in the organization of Consumers Cooperative Refinery Association.

The deal was handled by Mr. Cowden, acting for his board of directors, and the successful stock selling campaign throughout the territory was handled by his local staff, including A. L. Mills and E. V. Mencham, fieldmen; Don H. Wood, manager of the service department; Ted R. Wade, office manager; and Donald W. May, educational director.

Money and man are much alike. The tighter each gets the more it talks.

Before marriage they bill and coo. After marriage the cooling stops and the billing begins in earnest.

12 Reasons Why You Should Select

TAYLOR MADE INSL-COTTON

TRADE MARK

INSULATION FOR YOUR HOME

- 1 Effective in Stopping Heat or Cold. Insl-Cotton is one of the most effective heat and cold stoppers to be offered to the public for insulating homes. The American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers 1944 Guide, page 96, gives cotton insulation the following fine rating—Density pound per cu. ft. 0.875, Mean Temp. Fahr. 72, Conductivity or (K) value 0.24 The lower the (K) value, the better the insulation.
- 2 Light Weight. Insl-Cotton is one of the lightest insulations known. This feature makes it extremely easy to install. It weighs only about 20 pounds for 100 sq. ft., 3 inches thick. It causes no strain on the ceiling or walls.
- 3 Easy to Install. Insl-Cotton is so light and put up in long rolls that it is extremely easy to handle. The installation is usually a one-man job. A tack hammer, tacks and a pair of scissors are all that is required to make an installation. It is soft, fluffy and easy to push in difficult corners.
- 4 Economical. Insl-Cotton is manufactured in the largest Bedding Plant in the world. A plant which received the "E" Award for efficiency where mass production methods are used. Insl-Cotton is manufactured where cotton is grown. It is extremely light, and the freight and storage charges are low. There is no wasted material in Insl-Cotton, it is all insulation.
- 5 Not Harmful. Insl-Cotton contains no shot, no silica, no fine glass or needle-like points to attach themselves to the skin, clog the pores cause irritation, or to be breathed into the lungs. It is clean, wholesome vegetable fibers which have been washed, borated and treated to keep it clean and fresh.
- 6 Moisture Resistant. Cotton possesses a natural oil which causes it to resist moisture infiltration through capillary action. Insl-Cotton will float in water for days. The vapor proof backing on each Insl-Cotton batt has been treated with asphalt, which is famous for its water-resisting qualities.
- 7 Non-Burning. Insl-Cotton itself is non-burning. Exposed to a blow-torch, Insl-Cotton merely chars. Insl-Cotton is flameproofed in accordance with strict Federal specifications and every foot of it is manufactured under supervision of a Federal inspector. It has withstood flame tests up to 1500 degrees Fahrenheit.
- 8 Non-Settling. Insl-Cotton does not sag or settle. Cotton insulation differs in this respect from all other insulations; when heated or when warmed, cotton insulation expands. Have you ever noticed how a cotton mattress fills out when placed in the sunshine? The heat from the room or the warm sunshine during the summer months cause Insl-Cotton to fill in and tighten between the studding or walls.
- 9 Flexible. Insl-Cotton is as flexible as a cotton quilt and can be tucked into difficult places, corners, behind pipes, electrical wiring and hard-to-get-to places.
- 10 Three Widths and Three Thicknesses. Insl-Cotton is made in three standard thicknesses, 1, 2, and 3 inches. In most instances we recommend the 3-inch thickness which is equivalent to wall-thick rock wool. It is made in 3 standard widths, 15, 20 and 24 in. It is also made in special sizes to order, to fit unusual requirements.
- 11 Government Inspected. All Insl-Cotton is made strictly according to the specifications of the United States Department of Agriculture. A federal inspector stationed at the factory tests each lot and ok's the finished product.
- 12 Vermin Resistant. Insl-Cotton has been chemically treated to repel vermin and is not subject to the attack of rodents or insects.

You Are Paying for Insulation Whether You Have It or Not!

Insulation keeps your home COOL in the Summer . . . WARM in the Winter. Saves up to 30% Fuel costs.

The lady who has won first in our hearts is Miss Jan Rod. She can be quickly recognized by her gray eyes, brown hair, light complexion and flashing smile. She is a student of T. S. C. What Did You Do To Help Save This Boy's Life?

He stopped an enemy bullet... bled white before he was found. But now he is found... and is having a life-saving transfusion of Red Cross blood plasma. The collection of millions of pints of blood from donors all over the country is just one phase of the many Red Cross activities... increased tremendously during war time. That's why the American Red Cross must raise at least $200,000,000 during the Red Cross War Fund Drive.

The Ochiltree Red Cross Chapter has been given a minimum goal of $6,900. The drive starts March 1. For the sake of all our boys, on all our far-flung battle lines, give every dollar you possibly can. You may be saving your own boy's life!

Last Sunday Afternoon At the Movies

Dear Reader:
 Last Sunday afternoon I saw the best movie! William Powell and Myrna Loy were co-starred in "The Thin Man Goes Home." The only criticism that I could possibly offer was that just as "Crazy Mary" was about to hash out Nick Charles' brains with an ash tray, I lost consciousness as a result of a kick in the head given me by some dear, sweet child sitting behind me. Later, after I had regained consciousness and "Crazy Mary" cried but would not confess to the crime, the kindergarten student became angry and again I suffered—this time only a box of popcorn was poured over my aching head. A minor detail is the fact that I had just had my hair shampooed the day before. When I finally managed to pull my hair back together and get my run-away emotions under control, I decided that surely nothing more could happen to me and put down my guard. That "cute kid" couldn't stand that so she got very generous with her gum. To be truthful, she was much too generous and she gave it to me all over. While trying to get the gum off me, I tried to figure out why such things should happen to me, an innocent bystander, and how I could avoid such things happening again. Not having arrived at a very good answer, I'm asking you, dear reader, to please send all your ideas in the way of a peaceful conclusion to such happenings to the hospital. I thought of rescuer, and as a result I'm trying to recover or recuperate.

El Toro

Bill Stephenson, the newest romeo of P. H. S., was seen borrowing money to buy Veve Jo Mitchell a coke Sunday. Girls aren't really so expensive, Bill.

Delos Pugh and Patsy Barlow had a little misunderstanding (with red hair) at the Panhandle tournament, Friday. How did you ever patch that up, Stinky?

J. C. Jones and Pat Adams were seen together at the preview Saturday night. Could this be the real thing?

Nettie Mae Brillhart and Paul Downers seem to enjoy the very same things as Don Eddy and Mary Lou Ruppert. What a coincidence.

Don Stephenson stepped out with that sweet little bundle Ruth Wade the other night after a Sophomore party. Was that the reason Rita Ann broke her date with you for Saturday night, Don? Could be!

Squirt Hoy received a cold shoulder Saturday night, so he went home and got some blankets with which to keep warm. A very sensible act, my boy.

Autry Trooper, Jack Hurter and Leland Wilson paid a little visit to Follett over the week-end. Did you boys have a successful mission?

Lennis Fern Wright, the belle of Junior High, can't seem to make up her mind between Duwayne Thurman and Edward Dear. Which is it going to be—your man hoarder.

Claudine Carmichael and Billy Jones seem to have replenished the flame of an old romance. Is Chester going to like this, Claudine?

Billy Tregallas and Pat Arnold were seen together again Saturday night. Beth, are you going to change your mind before it's too late?

Clara Revis must be slipping, or is there a third party in her little romance? E. R. Bell and Squeaky Walker should get together, or should they?

Russell, you had better watch Shannon. She seems to have her roving eyes on a certain preacher's son. What about that, Shannon?

Jim Bill Dodson has been trying for the longest time to get up enough courage to ask Gwen P. for a date, but just doesn't get it done somehow. Why don't you help him a little, Gwen?

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Beck and children, Fae Marie, Lois and Bob, and Mr. Beck's mother, Mrs. J. L. Beck, spent the day Sunday with Mrs. Beck's sister, Mrs. Glen Myers, and Mr. Myers and their children, of Boyd, Okla.

Interviews

Mrs. William Pearson

With the background of the white and blue kitchen coming through the doorway and the cheery warm fire crackling in the corner of the living room, Mrs. William Pearson sat back in her comfortable rocking chair and began to tell me amusing incidents of her life.

She was born in Tennessee where her father was postmaster and owner of a store in McMenville.

Mrs. Pearson remarked, "I don't remember it, but I have heard my mother tell of the Northern soldiers of the Civil War who took possession of our kitchen, and after using everything they wanted, gave the remains to us."

Her father died while she was a very small girl, and a few years later her mother brought the family to Texas. The family took a stage coach to the Mississippi River where they boarded the "Mary Concord," and traveled down the river to Shreveport where they again took a boat up the Red River. From there they took another stage coach to Dallas where she spent most of her girlhood.

Mrs. Pearson stated "I taught school six years before I married. During my last year in school I studied history at noon, and in a public examination I was tested for an hour and only missed one question." She chuckled and continued "I remember that a boy in my class sang his geography lessons each day. Their home burned one night, and with the house the family Bible perished. In it were the birthdays, deaths, etc., but to the small girl the most prized of her possessions had been taken, her "Little Blue Spell-er."

"I remember the time the river overflowed and the family down the road lived in a tree for a day and night; and the night when I was a small girl asleep at the foot of the bed, when I felt a hand on my face. It was a negro searching for money in the clothes that hung on the chair near the bed, and his hand had accidentally touched my face. We were living in a picket house with a board door, and suddenly something pilled a board from the door. Very much to our surprise and fear we found it to be a lion."

One might say that Mrs. Pearson had a sixth sense for she dreamed of a snake in the cellar, and upon going to the basement says she found curled up on the second step, one of the biggest snakes she had ever seen. Another time she woke in the morning and found herself dressed.

In their yard they had a big pecan tree where she and her brother would gather nuts, and at night she could hear the wild turkeys come to the tree to roost. In the early dawn her brother would steal to the tree and kill a turkey for breakfast.

She married Dr. William Pearson when she was about 30. Dr. Pearson, as a boy, had to stay at home and take care of the family, but at the age of 18 he started to school. In spite of hardships he became a successful physician who was well known for his kind consideration of patients, and his never ending faith in God.

I left this kind, gentle woman with a far away look in her eyes and with the dreams of yesterday passing slowly through her mind.

El Juego

This week ended the basketball season for 1944-45. The Rangers hit a streak of bad luck in their conference games this year held at Panhandle. The games were played in the "round robin" fashion, each team playing five games.

The Rangers first game was with the Canadian Wildcats, Tuesday night, February 13 at Canadian. The Rangers played a hard game, but came up on the short end of 37-42.

Thursday afternoon at Panhandle the Rangers met the Whitedeer Bucks with determination, but again were defeated 40-29.

Thursday night in the second series of the day, Perryton challenged the Phillips Blackhawks. The Rangers were battling hard when the final whistle blew with the score 31-50 in favor of Phillips.

Friday, the Rangers defeated Panhandle to the tune of 47-26.

Friday night they again came thru with a victory over LeFors, the final score being 52-26.

Canadian and Phillips tied for the honor of first place in the district with Whitedeer third. Perryton took fourth place, and then Panhandle and LeFors respectively. The tie for first place will be played off at a later date.

Cecil Bartel, Ranger center, received honors by being elected to the all star team.

The Noon Rush

The time is 12:14 p. m. on any school day. The place is Perryton High School. All is quiet and serene and as far as any stranger can see, each and every student is striving for knowledge, but really, everyone is preparing himself for the mad rush from the high school building to the cafeteria. Yes, there's Jack Hurter and Billy Tregallas in Study Hall with their feet out in the aisle like they're ready to pounce on their victim. And all three librarians are crowded up as close to the door as possible, while Mr. Henry sits there, ready to pull his hair out by the roots.

Then the scene changes with just the tinkle of a little bell. Boy, does it change! From quiet and peace to one of commotion where every fellow's for himself. Doors are crashed open, and Miss Moore practically gets trampled when those sophomores are turned loose. Locker doors slam shut, and as usual, Don Elledge falls down the stairs and gets kicked half way to the cafeteria. (Now we know why he's always first in line). What was that? A cyclone or something? No, it was just Merl Cudd, Kenneth Fuller, Floyd Enterline, Ray Osborne and Robert Slaughter whizzing by, but what was that trailing along behind? It must have been Jimmy Key ginning along at that snail's pace of his. Well, pick up your feet, "Dick!"

No one can understand it. There isn't a line all the way down the hall. Oh, well, maybe Junior High isn't out yet. What a dream! It can't be possible. The next thing we see is the beaming face of Mr. Anderson "pinchhitting" for Mr. Graves as he monotonously punches food tickets at the door. Then we realize where Junior High is. They're lined up all around the wall so we meekly line up behind them. (Turned out early again. It's a gyp.) Helen Marie, Yvonne and Nettie Mae Brillhart flash us one of those victorious smiles as they leave. Dear children! Can't understand how they get down here so fast unless it's because they pretend to work on the annual third period.

And then it hits us. That aroma of "spuds" and beans. But that can't be! We've only had them the last four days but it's true, nevertheless, Beans again!

The line slowly dwindles, and then you can at least see light and smell the smoke from the burned carrots. Lois Burger and Oletta Newman are of course at the end of the line but then, they're dignified.

After a meal that leaves you about as famished as before you began, you proceed to find a way to sneak upstairs and through the building before Mr. Elrod sees you. And because you were really fast today, you have about 3 spare minutes left before the bell so you begin to repair any damages done in the rush.

At 12:55, the bell rings again, but this time it's a scramble to get to 4th period class on time. At 12:58, all is quiet once more, and each and everyone goes back to the job again, just hoping and praying you won't get your neck broke tomorrow.

AMERICA'S FIGHTING MAN

Who is America's fighting man? Yes, I know he's the kid next door, the man on the corner who has a family to support, and the guy who farms the land out east of town. He's more than that. He has a past and he's fighting so that we may have a future. He's the fellow who left his hammer on the bench and his plow in the furrow and marched 'o die or be free.' He's the guy who left the plains to ride a higher range, who stepped from behind the counter to step before a Jap. He is the kid in school, who just a year ago, said goodbye to mom and dad, little sister, and the "gang." He had a funny feeling that day, almost as if he were alone for the first time, a feeling that he was no longer a boy, but a man with a responsibility. The "gang" used to call him "baby face." Look at him now. His gun is helping blaze the eastern front, pointing toward Berlin. He's watched his comrades fall, watched them fall beside the road, overcome by fatigue. He's fighting with the rest, side by side, for the same cause, all races, all creeds, America's "melting pot," fighting for the purpose of reassuring belief in a firm, powerful democracy.

He's the common fighting man, our neighbor, our son, brother, father, our husband, fighting for a common cause.

More Than a Policy Your Peace of Mind

A Boxwell Bros. Burial Association burial policy is more than just the funeral service policy sold. It is peace of mind. It assures you and your family of help in your hour of need—of kindly service and consideration—of every facility.

The Desire for — a decent and adequate burial is as old as history itself. Thus the idea of burial protection is not new. Burial insurance is as natural as humanity itself.

What is More Natural — more practical or sensible than to prepare for an eventuality—that of mortality, from which there is no alternative and nothing in life is more certain?

Do not delay! Come in and let us explain how you can have this protection for your entire family for a few cents per month.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
When Did Jesus First Realize His Divine Mission?
 The International Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 25
 Text: Matthew's Gospel, Chapters 16 and 17

THE New Testament is clear and specific in its claims and teaching concerning the divine character of Jesus of Nazareth. An entire Gospel, the Gospel of John, is devoted to evidence concerning that divinity.

The outstanding passage is Peter's great confession in Matthew 16:16, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."

Jesus himself claimed to be the Messiah, asserting His unique relationship to God the Father, and His earthly mission to make known the Father.

Just when did the consciousness of this divine nature and mission come to Jesus? We do not know. In what glimpses we have of His life before He began His ministry we see a boy and young man growing up in Nazareth normally, increasing "in wisdom, and in stature, and in favor with God and man." Jesus himself emphasizes the normal nature of His life, "The Son of Man came eating and drinking." He is subject to temptation. He needs rest and sleep.

What the Bible teaches is that as a man, and in the framework of human life and experience, Jesus embodied the divine nature and character of God.

Thus, in Jesus, God and man meet. God comes down to man, and man is lifted up toward God.

Christian Science

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 25.

The Golden Text is: "There is a spirit in man; and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding." (Job 32:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Romans 12:2).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil" (page 371).

Imagine The Horrors Of This War If There Were No Red Cross

Suppose there were no blood plasma.

Suppose there were no food packages to send to prisoners of war.

Suppose there were no one to cheer your lonely lad overseas; no one to help help him make emergency contact with home.

Your Red Cross is your link with your boy—helping solve personal problems both of you may have. But your Red Cross has no private funds of its own. It must depend solely on your contributions.

IS AT HIS SIDE AND THE RED CROSS IS YOU

Red Cross Chairman Basil O'Connor Reports to the Nation:

"The American people have a difficult year ahead of them in 1945—let there be no mistake about that—and those who anticipate quick victory, with a slackening of need for our efforts here at home, are deluding themselves and making the total job more difficult.

"I have just returned from a personal inspection of Red Cross installations in England, France and Italy. I have conferred at length with Generals Eisenhower, Bradley, Patton and Clark, and from our conversations I foresee a demand for increased Red Cross services in 1945 rather than a decrease.

"The same applies to the Pacific, where we have by no means reached the peak of our needs.

"Here at home we must redouble our efforts—there can be no easing of our responsibilities."

Black Club

Are you interested in sewing? If so, the secret of beautifully made clothes is "a perfect fit and good workmanship."

The Black Home Demonstration Club learned the first part of this secret Friday, Feb. 16, at an all day meeting in the home of Mrs. C. F. Moses.

The agent gave a demonstration on marking and fitting foundation patterns. By placing these perfectly fitting foundation patterns over the commercial patterns and adjusting accordingly, one can't miss a perfect fit.

Lone Tree H. D. Club

Do you sew a great deal? Are you hard to fit? If so, you need a foundation pattern in order to have a good fitting garment. These were the subjects discussed at the meeting of the Lone Tree Club last Wednesday, February 14, in the home of Mrs. Robert Barlow.

Mrs. Virgie Wheeler, demonstrator, gave a consumer's lesson on style and fabrics desirable in slips, and the different weights of hosiery. Mrs. Julius Pshigoda read a poem on the thoughts of a soldier. There was a Valentine gift box before refreshments were served.

Those present were Mesdames J. A. Depew, Chas. Selby, Julius Pshigoda, B. H. Murphy, C. O. Peterson, Harold Holdeman, Virgie P. Wheeler, Robert Barlow and one visitor, Mrs. Justine Barlow and ten children.

Raymond Bennett in Luxembourg Battle

In response to a request from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bennett, to know how he received his wounds, Sergeant Raymond Bennett, who has been in a hospital in England since Jan. 1, sent the following article from the service paper, Stars and Stripes. The article describes the fighting that took place at the very beginning of the German breakthrough in December.

"For ten days 9th Armored Division's Combat Command A held the elbow of the German bulge in Luxembourg and barred the way to Luxembourg City until the 5th Infantry Division came up to relieve them.

"Some of the events of those ten wild days, when sleep was compounded of benzadrine sulphate tablets, were described in Paris yesterday by three of the division's officers, Lt. Col. George Ruhlben, Maj. Ben J. Cochran and Maj. Henry T. Mortimer.

"Nobody told the doughs of the 60th Armored Infantry Battalion to pull out, so the doughs stayed and fought until word finally got thru to them. A few days later they showed up in their own lines in German helmets with blankets draped over their shoulders, their rifles slung with bayonets fixed. "They walked through German lines that way. In the dark it was hard to tell the identity of a group of doughs who marched in formation through the town of Beaufort where a regiment of Jerris was celebrating the capture of the town. "A German sentry challenged the shadowy forms. A dough said, 'Hell Hitler,' and they kept right on going until they reached U. S. lines. After that, they fought some more.

"The way the 9th got replacements is not exactly in the book. They looked over the chow line every morning, and if they found a new face he was the replacement.

Once a captain showed up from another unit with 20 men and everybody was hungry. The group was fed, then sent up to hold the line for three days. Nobody knew exactly who they were, but from all reports they did a good job. "It was that way practically every day."

SHADES with LIGHT LININGS

REFLECT UP TO 30 to 50% More Light

If your lamp shades are not white or very light-colored on the inside, you're losing a lot of valuable light. Dark linings soak up light like a sponge—in some cases as much as 30 to 50% of the light is lost. Clean your lamp shades regularly, or if they're too dark or discolored with age, replace them with clean white-lined shades that reflect light instead of absorbing it. You'll find you'll get a lot more light from the same bulbs.

HOW TO CLEAN LAMP SHADES

Parchment paper shades should be dusted with a clean cloth. Silk shades with fancy trimmings such as applied ornaments, and shades of shrinkable material should be dry cleaned. Plain silk or rayon shades can often (but not always) be washed successfully provided they are stretched to frame and not glued. To wash, first remove all surface dirt with soft brush; then hold by wire frame at top and dip up and down repeatedly in lukewarm suds made from mild soap flakes. Rinse through three or four lukewarm rinses using same up and down dipping motion. Dry very fast, hanging in shade outdoors in warm, breezy weather, or suspending over radiator or stove, using fan to accelerate drying, in inclement weather.

GOOD YEAR THE GREATEST TRACTOR TIRE BUILT

SURE-GRIP

The Tire With The O-P-E-N-C-E-N-T-E-R TREAD

For more "honest day's work," over more years, you need the extra pulling power that's built into long-wearing, hard-working Goodyears. Unlike other tractor tires that may lose pulling power and traction due to smooth, slippery packs of mud between lug bars, Goodyears with the famous O-P-E-N-C-E-N-T-E-R Tread clean themselves as they roll, allow plenty of grip rubber to stand out and bite deep into the ground with every turn of the wheel. These big, self-cleaning, evenly spaced lugs are fortified against tearing with an extra strong buttressed base that resists ripping under the toughest working conditions. See us for help with your tractor tire application... and when you "see" a certificate, see us for a Goodyear... The greatest tractor tire made.
