THE CHRISTMAS STORY

Reborn on this Holy Day is the blessed spirit of brotherhood, good will, and the eternal wish for the universal peace of man . . . Thus, on His Day, we say unto you — when this Spirit of Christmas enters into your home, may it bring to you our eternal wishes for your health and happiness! It is in genuine appreciation of your friendship and patronage that we extend these hearty wishes that every joy be yours for the coming season.

Letters

I think Ann Burger would like a watch for Christmas too. My daddy wants a flashlight to hang on his belt for changing tubes at night.

Yours truly,
Carolyn Mae Leighnor
Waka, Texas

Dear Santa,
I have been pretty good. I want some games or doll. My little sister wants a doll too. My brother wants a car. And my other three brothers want a car too. My biggest brother hasn't been very good. So don't give him anything big. My mother wants a new car. My daddy wants a new pickup. So good luck to you.

Your friend,
Cheryl Lynn
Waka, Texas

Dear Santa Claus,
I want a canteen and a pellet gun and some games.

Phillip Turner
Waka, Texas

Dear Santa,
Will you bring me some jewelry, clothing and a lot of games. I don't want much for Christmas Santa, but I have a little brother that would like some clothing, a teddy bear, some toys, and one thing for sure a sleepy dog.

Yours truly,
Patricia Turner
Waka, Texas

P. S. I would like a sleepy dog too. Don't forget mother and dad.

Dear Santa,
I have been a good boy. I would like to have a choo-choo, a tool chest and truck that hauls cars. If you are out of these send a record player, big boat or a gun and holster set.

I like you,
Donnie Cudd

Dear Santa,
I am Larry Jines, age 6 years, and have been a good boy all through the year. For Christmas this year I would like to have an Electronic Radio Station, Walt Disney Film Projector, Superman Suit, Roy Rogers Guns, Take apart Helicopter, Calvary Fort, Cowboy Boots, Howdy Doodie Puppet, Roy Rogers Suit, and Roy Rogers White Cowboy Hat.

Please remember all the other little boys and girls in the world.

Sincerely yours,
Larry Jines

Please be sure and remember my brother, Lanny, for he's my pal.

Dear Santa,
I am Lanny Jines, age 5 years and have been a real good boy. I would like for you to bring me a Davy Crockett Suit, Roy Rogers

Range Club Studies Pigs

When raising pigs for the market you need ones that have long bodies, hickory quarters, with lots of red meat and less lard.

stated Delbert Timmons, county agent, at the meeting of the Range 4-H Club which met Tuesday, December 13th with Harold Trew.

"Proper management of pigs requires a well balanced diet and clean dry pens," further stated Timmons. Timmons and the boys studied Harold's pigs that he is feeding for the Fat Stock Show.

Harold Trew was elected delegate to attend the boys 4-H Council.

Livestock Judging and Tractor Maintenance are the subjects that will be studied in 1956.

Those present were: Jerry Phillip, Garland Edwards, Dick Barnes, Gary Smith, Mr. Timmons and Harold.

ade set, a sheriff's office and some new boots. I've been real good. Please don't forget the other little boys and girls and my big sister.

I think of you often,
Larry Swink

Dear Santa Claus,
I want something that I want whatever you want to leave for me. And something for Terry.

Love,
Danny

Dear Santa Claus,
I am a little boy 5 years old and I go to kindergarten. I would like for you to bring me a football helmet and a army helmet. I have been a good boy this year.

Saturday Last Day of Voting

Saturday is the final day for members of the Chamber of Commerce to cast their ballot for new directors of the organization.

A total of 102 postcard ballots had been returned as of Tuesday, and at least twice that many votes are expected.

Nominees for the four places on the board are Phil LaMaster, Bill Fletcher, Tip Collingsworth, T. R. Shirley, Bruce Baumann, C. W. Foote, Garland Redfern and C. G. Grizzle.

Retiring directors are Bob Drake, Harold Malone, Joe Erickson, and Coke Harlow, who has moved to Dumas.

The president and vice president for 1956 will be elected at a meeting of the old and new directors as soon as the election is completed.

The Army-Navy football meeting of Saturday, Nov. 26 will be one of eight Saturday games to be televised nationally this season by NBC.

Local Student In Semifinals Of Scholarship

Larry Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Watson and a senior in Perryton high school is among the 5,000 students across the nation who advanced to the semifinals of the largest private scholarship program in American history.

These semi-finalists will take their second examination on January 14, 1956, in the nationwide talent search currently being conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

At stake this year are at least 425 four-year college scholarships valued at over $2,500,000. Included in the sponsorship are the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Time, Inc., Stewart-Warner Corp., McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., Pittsburgh Plate Glass Foundation, Johnson Motor Lines, the Gillette Co., plus NMSC with its own awards.

The basic Merit Program was established by grants totaling $20,500,000 from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corp. of New York.

These 5,000 winners were high scorers among 60,000 hand-picked students who tried for Merit Scholarships in the preliminary screening test, given on October 26.

About 2,500 of these students will advance to the finals, where as many as 500 Merit Scholars and 2,000 Certificate of Merit winners are to be identified.

Scholarships to the winners range from $100 per year up to complete tuition and living expenses for four years at any college of the student's choice.

Cecil Regier Is Guest Speaker At Lions Club

Cecil Regier, recently returned from Iran as an International Farm Youth Exchange student, was guest speaker at the Perryton Lions Club meeting at noon Tuesday.

He was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Regier and was introduced by county agent Delbert Timmons and W. B. LaMaster, who had the program.

Cecil told of the IFYE program, which started in 1948 and has sent 600 boys and girls to foreign lands to work and live with the people on farms. In return, about 600 foreign students have come to America, like Ramazan Atil, the Turkish lad who visited in Perryton this year.

Cecil and another IFYE from Montana stayed together in Iran, living in villages, and even spending several weeks with a nomadic tribe herding sheep.

They tried their hand at hand threshing of grain, and found they liked machinery best.

While the agricultural economy of Iran is poor, efforts are being made to increase the productivity of the land with more modern methods, Cecil said. A 4-D program, patterned after our 4-H Club program, has been started in an effort to teach youngsters.

Cecil was impressed by the status of women in Iran. "A woman is just above a dog, and a dog is the lowest thing there is—they'll kick a dog when they see one, but they don't kick a woman—that's the only difference."

He plans to return to Iran as an agriculture worker under the Point Four program after he finishes Panhandle A&M College.

Weather or Not

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) —

Ever decide that life can't possibly be as serious as everyone makes it?

An Albuquerque weatherman

apparently did one morning as he announced to the world over his teletype printer: "Here is a weather summary of interest to practically no one." He then told that at some particular hour and date it was 46 degrees in Aberdeen and the skies were clear.

London had fog and 51 degrees and at Kimpo it was 45 degrees and clear.

WISE MEN, SHEPHERDS and Angels combined Monday night to present a Christmas Story. The cast is composed of the more than 140 members of the third grade who portrayed the story of the Christ-child before a big Parent Teacher Association audience Monday night at the school auditorium.

News from PALESTINE

By Leota Kulbiski

Local Student In Semifinals Of Scholarship

Larry Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Watson and a senior in Perryton high school is among the 5,000 students across the nation who advanced to the semifinals of the largest private scholarship program in American history.

These semi-finalists will take their second examination on January 14, 1956, in the nationwide talent search currently being conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

At stake this year are at least 425 four-year college scholarships valued at over $2,500,000. Included in the sponsorship are the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Time, Inc., Stewart-Warner Corp., McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., Pittsburgh Plate Glass Foundation, Johnson Motor Lines, the Gillette Co., plus NMSC with its own awards.

The basic Merit Program was established by grants totaling $20,500,000 from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corp. of New York.

These 5,000 winners were high scorers among 60,000 hand-picked students who tried for Merit Scholarships in the preliminary screening test, given on October 26.

About 2,500 of these students will advance to the finals, where as many as 500 Merit Scholars and 2,000 Certificate of Merit winners are to be identified.

Scholarships to the winners range from $100 per year up to complete tuition and living expenses for four years at any college of the student's choice.

Beauty Is A Bust

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Some said a bathing beauty contest at Whitmore Lake was a bust. One contestant charged that 12 of the 19 other contestants—not she—were falsies.

Richard W. Ryan, an attorney who served as a judge, summed up the situation aptly when he said: "I didn't . . . I suppose I should . . . they . . . great guns!"

Eugene Mori, new president of Hialeah Park, says more than $2 million in purses will be distributed at the Florida track next winter.

Cecil Regier Is Guest Speaker At Lions Club

Cecil Regier, recently returned from Iran as an International Farm Youth Exchange student, was guest speaker at the Perryton Lions Club meeting at noon Tuesday.

He was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Regier and was introduced by county agent Delbert Timmons and W. B. LaMaster, who had the program.

Cecil told of the IFYE program, which started in 1948 and has sent 600 boys and girls to foreign lands to work and live with the people on farms. In return, about 600 foreign students have come to America, like Ramazan Atil, the Turkish lad who visited in Perryton this year.

Cecil and another IFYE from Montana stayed together in Iran, living in villages, and even spending several weeks with a nomadic tribe herding sheep.

They tried their hand at hand threshing of grain, and found they liked machinery best.

While the agricultural economy of Iran is poor, efforts are being made to increase the productivity of the land with more modern methods, Cecil said. A 4-D program, patterned after our 4-H Club program, has been started in an effort to teach youngsters.

Cecil was impressed by the status of women in Iran. "A woman is just above a dog, and a dog is the lowest thing there is—they'll kick a dog when they see one, but they don't kick a woman—that's the only difference."

He plans to return to Iran as an agriculture worker under the Point Four program after he finishes Panhandle A&M College.

News from DOMBEY

By Mrs. J. R. Kulow

Turpin Rebekah lodge sponsored a shower Tuesday honoring Mrs. Leon Smith. The hostesses were Mrs. Charles Antrim, Mrs. Bob Hill, Mrs. Paul Kirton and Mrs. Olen Foster.

The Liberal past Noble grand club of the Rebekah lodge entertained their husbands with a turkey dinner and Christmas party at the IOOF hall recently. The V shaped table was covered with white cloths and decorated by a Christmas tree with blue streamers and silver stars running the length of the table and blue and white lighted candles. The invocation was given by Mrs. Frank Gray. Mrs. W. H. Hibler gave the welcome address and H. D. Krehbiel the response. After the gift exchange various games were enjoyed. Fifty members and guests were present.

Vernon Duerson was a caller at the J. R. Kulow home Thursday morning.

Mrs. Edward Barr has been ill for the past week.

Leonard Barlow of Perryton was a caller at the home of Effie Kulow one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald King and son Donald Jr. are expected this week for a few days vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John King.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kulow, Susan and Terry visited Sunday afternoon at the J. R. Kulow home.

Horne Services Wednesday at Baptist Church

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the First Baptist church for G. I. Horne, long time resident of Perryton and Ochiltree county, who died of a heart attack Monday, Dec. 19.

He had been stricken with the attack Monday afternoon and was taken to the Perryton Hospital where he died at 10 p. m.

Born May 31, 1881, he was 74 years of age.

He came to this country in 1906, where he filed on land in Beaver county and lived there until he moved to a farm at the east edge of Perryton. He continued to make this his home until his death.

Mr. Horne was a long time member of the Baptist church and served as Sunday School superintendent of the First Baptist church in Perryton for many years.

He was united in marriage to Miss Cecil Edna Felible in 1904. His wife preceded him in death in October, 1952.

He was married to Mrs. Thelma Cameron of Perryton on Dec. 8, 1955. He was survived by his wife, Thelma, a son, Leland G. Horne of Seattle, Wash., a sister, Mrs. Clella LaValley of Blackwell, Oklahoma, and a brother.

Oil Producer, Gas Well and Dry Hole Vary Oil News

Announcement of a good oil well, a large gasser, a dry hole and two new locations varied the oil news in Ochiltree county this week.

The oiler is the Union Oil Co. No. 1-3 Buckhaults "B" in Sec. 3, C. Ximenes Survey, which is flowing a steady 30 barrels of 38 gravity oil an hour with no water, for a 720 barrel well.

The production is from 46 feet of the 54 feet of Morrow formation, with perforations between 7,938 and 7,984 feet, after fracturing. Gas volume is small.

The test was drilled to a total depth of 8,060 feet in the lower Morrow and then plugged back. The new well is six miles south of Farnsworth and about a half mile northwest of the same company's discovery, the No. 1 Buckhaults in Sec. 32, Blk. JTM, completed for 352 barrels of 28 gravity oil with perforations at 7,982 to 8,007 feet.

The new well is also one mile south of the Union No. 1, Russell, completed for 183 barrels of 38 gravity oil an hour with water with perforations at 7,958 to 7,966 feet. The biggest gas well in a long time came in on the Paul Harbaugh place 26 miles south of Perryton when the M. A. Machris and Baker-Taylor Drilling Co. No. 1 Harbaugh was completed for 83,500,000 cubic feet of gas from perforations at 8456-74 feet. The well is located in Sec. 147, Blk. 13, T&NO Survey.

The dry hole was the Superior Oil Co. No. 1 Tevis, located about five miles northwest of Perryton, which was drilled to 8,015 feet, but testing failed to produce any showing.

The Texas Co. No. 1 Julius Pshigoda was also reported dry after repeated testing of a shallow Morrow sand failed to produce any shows. The well is located in Sec. 841, H&TC survey, about five miles southeast of Perryton.

One new location is the Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 1 Roy Linn in Sec. 653, Blk. 43, H&TC Survey, 13 miles southeast of the same company's No. 1 Parnell, preparing to set casing at 10,000 feet.

The other new location is the Woodson Oil Co. No. 1 Perry Unit L in Sec. 1011, Blk. 43, H&TC Survey, two miles southeast of Perryton on land owned by Mrs. Ida Garrett.

This well is a mile east of the discovery well, the 1-A, which was completed as an oil well in October.

Thirty-Six On A Honor Roll

Thirty-six students in Perryton high school were named to the A honor roll for the second six weeks period by principal Troy Sullivan.

To be on the A honor roll, a student must have no grade lower than A on his report card that six weeks.

Making the honor roll were Clava Castlebury, Harriet Hale, Ola Sue Johnson, Marilyn Reitz, Charlene Selby, Illegne Miller, Jimmy Todd, Larry Watson, Bob Williams, Kent Apple, Ronny Brown, Lawrence Ellzey, Barbara Flowers, Brenda Foote, Wanda Graves, Dixie McGarrugh, Alfred Moon, Jo Morris, Coleen O'Quin.

Larry Pletcher, Charlotte Pyles, Connie Slaughter, Avis Balzer, Ben Flowers, Glenda McGibson, Carol Thomas, Barry Acker, Lu Nette Castle, Joy Clark, Bonita Dunnahoo, Stacy Ellis, Peggy Flowers, Lynda Harris, Dolores Littau, Janice Schuster, Helen Sealey, Ardith Wilson.

Stores Will Close Earlier Saturday

C. A. Sooter, chairman of the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has announced that Perryton stores will close at 6 p. m. Saturday, Christmas Eve, instead of the usual 8 p. m. closing. However, all stores have agreed to remain open until 7 p. m. on Thursday and Friday, an hour later than the usual 6 p. m. closing. The earlier Christmas Eve closing has been arranged so that store proprietors and employees can enjoy their holiday.

The program committee of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged the program for the annual banquet, scheduled for Friday night, January 13, at the Veterans Memorial Building. Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant of General Motors, and a former school superintendent with a national reputation, will be the principal speaker.

Toastmaster will be Robert D. Lemon.

Rev. A. B. Cockrell, pastor of the First Methodist church, will give the invocation. The Perryton high school chorus, under the direction of Cloy Webb, will sing several numbers.

Aldon B. Bell, a member of the Chamber board, will introduce the out-of-town guests. John Mayfield, manager of the Chamber, will introduce the officers and directors of the organization.

Louis Bryan, who has served this year as president of the Chamber, will make a few remarks, then Gilbert Mize, Perryton school superintendent, will introduce the speaker.

Dr. McFarland was voted America's No. 1 Public Speaker in a nation-wide poll conducted by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He is entertaining, eloquent, and holds the attention of his audience as few public speakers ever do.

Ticket sales for the annual banquet will get under way next week. The officers hope to have 500 persons at the banquet.

Lichens grow more widely over the earth's surface than any other kind of plant.

F. B. Kile Dies Wednesday After Long Illness

Frank Bales Kile, 81, a resident of Ochiltree county since 1925, died at his home, 822 S. Drake, at 6 a. m. Wednesday following a long illness.

He came to Roberts county in 1915, moved to Ochiltree county in 1925, then lived near Hardesty from 1927 to 1935 when he returned to this county.

He and Mrs. Kile, the former Mary Barnes, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on November 6. They had lived in Perryton since 1939.

He was a member of the Methodist church.

Funeral services are to be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the First Methodist church under the direction of Rev. A. B. Cockrell, W. C. Bryan and Rev. Elvis Bishop.

Pallbearers will be Harvey Pletcher, Tommy Pletcher, Harvey Kile, Robert Kile, Howard Marross and Bob McClenathan.

Survivors include two sons, Marvin B. Kile and Robert Kile, both of Perryton; three daughters, Mrs. Paul Pletcher of Pampa, Mrs. Jona Janzen and Mrs. Herman Wagner of Perryton; three sisters, Mrs. Etna Gallagher of Concord, Tenn., Mrs. W. D. Roberts of Trenton, Ga., Mrs. John Kittrell of London, Tenn.; a brother, J. B. Kile of Perryton; 28 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Buckley Rites Held Monday In Perryton

J. W. Buckley, 84, a resident of Ochiltree county for the past 35 years, died Sunday at the Bishop Convalescent Home in Waka after a brief illness.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Fellowship Baptist church with Rev. Clyde Aynes, pastor, in charge, and Rev. Clyde Fry, pastor of the Waka Church of the Brethren, assisting.

Mr. Buckley had been a resident of Ochiltree county since 1926. He served on the city police force for many years as constable, night watchman and special patrolman until he retired in 1948.

Before that time he was a farmer and rancher. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Slavin of Perryton; a step-daughter, Mrs. C. L. Hoskinson of Arvada, Colo., a step-son, Howard Manning of Turpin, three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren; a sister, Mary Ann Hilger of Little Rock, Ark., and two nephews, L. T. Parnell and J. W. Parnell of Perryton.

Pallbearers were W. R. Hext, Ted Slavin, Tee Slavin, Wallace Parnell, Charles Helton, and V. W. Richardson.

Burial was in the Ochiltree cemetery.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia's Selective Service officials have sold approximately 100 tons of draft records for $11.15 per ton. The records filled 1,016 four-drawer office files and covered draft records from 1940 through 1947.

All Stores Will Close Monday

Perryton stores will be closed on Monday, Dec. 26, in observance of Christmas Day, according to general agreement reached by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce earlier in the year. The stores will observe general closing on Monday, January 2, since New Year's Day falls on Sunday this year. All stores except drug stores, cafes and service stations whose closing would result in serious inconvenience to the public, will be closed on these two Mondays.

Man Burned In Oil Rig Accident

Kenneth J. Allsip, 24, derrick man for the Marcum Drilling Co. of Ada, Okla., was seriously injured early Tuesday morning when burned in an accident at the Magnolia well on the Carl Ellis lease about five miles southeast of Perryton.

Allsip's clothes caught fire while he was in the tower, and the grease-soaked clothing burned so fiercely that he was unable to put out the flames or descend from the tower until crew members got him down.

He was brought to town by J. G. Sealy, who took the injured man to the Sanford Hospital at about 7:30 a. m., about fifteen minutes after the accident.

About 45 per cent of Allsip's body suffered second and third degree burns, with the most severe burns about the legs and hands. His boots were nearly burned off.

The injured man is making satisfactory progress, but his condition remains serious according to word received from the hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Allsip has worked for the Marcum Drilling Co. about a month. He is from Berger, but has made his home at 14 N. Colgate in Perryton.

Schools Dismiss Until January 3

The Perryton schools dismissed Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock for the Christmas holidays and the holidays will continue until Tuesday, January 3, giving students and faculty a 12-day holiday.

Christmas Story Presented for PTA Members

A Christmas story was presented by more than 140 pupils of the third grades for guests of the Parent Teacher Association Monday night at the school auditorium. Mrs. Lawrence Ellzey also talked on "The Family Lives by Spiritual Values."

Third graders told the story of the Christ-child in verse, song tableaux directed by Mrs. Vera Keller, elementary music instructor.

Mrs. Fred Zachary, Mrs. Herschel Jamison, Mrs. Esther Kelly and Miss Wilma Kelly.

Mrs. Esther Kelly's room won the room count with 44 persons registering.

Mrs. Ellzey pointed out that "the family is the bed that nourishes the nation, and is still the most influential agent in the world today."

"The family is a true challenge to all mothers, for in the family group the mother can be the one to instruct all members in love for one another," she added.

The Mississippi flood of 1927 inundated 28,000 square miles.

There are about 74 million horses in the world, a 22 per cent since the World War II.

"The Little Town of Bethlehem"

Babies Born This Day Grottoes

By WILTON WYNN

BETHLEHEM, Jordan (AP)—In a rocky hillside between Bethlehem and Jerusalem, two grottoes are being built. Inside the limestone cave, inside the grotto, a woman holds a baby in her arms and the cooks over an open fire.

Lives of these people show Joseph and Mary were not far from Bethlehem. In a cave, not in a barn or in the western type. The grottoes are honeycombed with caves, which local shepherds find convenient shelter for their animals.

Sometimes shepherds will build a stone wall over part of a cave entrance, leaving only a small door which can be closed to protect the animals. The caves have naturally small openings, however, so that the grottoes are used as nature provided.

Refugees Use the Caves

Such a cave the holy family used at the time Christ was born. And in such a cave, Palestine Arab families found shelter in the last years after the Palestine of 1948. These people were forced to leave their homes on the Israeli side to become refugees. Within sight of Jerusalem, these families—shepherds and their goats and sheep—found living in a single grotto in the same cave. Goats and sheep may sound strange to westerners, but to the Palestinians it is a matter of life and death. Milk and cheese from their goats provides a major part of their diet. If the animals are left outside, they may be stolen; if too great to take.

After the long trek from Nazareth in Galilee, the weary Mary and Joseph were turned away from Bethlehem's only inn and a limestone cavern-stable which to sleep. The grotto in which Christ was believed to have been born can be visited by the ancient path of the Nativity in Bethlehem.

Star Marks Birthplace

The floor of the grotto now is paved with tiles, and the cave is decorated with altars, icons, and lamps. But the grotto is still of the same unfinished stone. The grotto is black with soot like all the caves in the area in which humans have lived. This grotto is a vivid picture of Mary and Joseph huddled together, the goats and sheep and a smoky fire just before the birth of Christ.

Under a Greek Orthodox altar on the floor marks the exact place where Christ is said to have been born. On the other side is a platform which undoubtedly once served as a manger. The manger is a wooden box like the one which tradition says the carpenter Joseph used for the infant Jesus.

Although there can be no absolute proof that this cave is the birthplace of Christ, local historians say the site was marked early as the first century of the Christian era. At a time when few Christians lived in Bethlehem, pagans in the town wanted to place the birthplace of Jesus, these historians

Other Famous Grottoes

The Grotto of the Nativity is one of a series of limestone caves beneath the Church of the Nativity. One of these is supposed to be the place in which the angel appeared to Joseph to tell him to take his family to Egypt to escape the wrath of King Herod. Another connecting grotto is said to have been the mass grave of the babies killed by King Herod when he ordered all boys under two years old to be slain.

Down the slopes of Bethlehem toward the east is the second site where the holy family is said to have stopped. Located among the stone terraces of olive groves overlooking the Plain of Boaz is a stone Franciscan chapel known as the "House of Joseph." Traditions say this chapel stands on the natural stone foundations of the house where the holy family lived after moving out of the Grotto of the Nativity.

The Gospel of Luke refers only to the birth scene in the manger, but Matthew relates that the Wise Men from the east "were come into the house" in Bethlehem to visit the Holy Family. Local traditions say the Holy Family moved into a house between the time of Christ's birth and the family's departure for Egypt.

Story of Milk Grotto
Over the hill on the south side of Bethlehem is another grotto connected with the infancy of Christ. Known as the "Milk Grotto," this is the place where the holy family is said to have paused briefly during the flight from Bethlehem to Egypt.

The Milk Grotto has been hewn from soft white rock. Although no biblical reference is made to this site, ancient traditions say a few drops of milk dropped from Mary's breast here and turned the rock white. Peas-

Seven U. S. Communities Have That Famous Name

THERE ARE seven "little towns" of Bethlehem in the United States—one of which is not so little, being the city of Bethlehem, Pa., more than seven times the size of the original Bethlehem in Palestine.

Thousands of Christmas cards and other greetings are sent to the post offices of Bethlehem in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland and New Hampshire, for postmarks.

The star of Bethlehem not only is featured in most of the holiday cachets from these places but also figures prominently in community decorations. In Pennsylvania, a star 100 feet tall is lighted on the top of South Mountain above the city of Bethlehem, from where it is visible 20 miles away.

Some Other Stars

Another star of Bethlehem is mounted annually on the top of the tallest cedar tree in Bethlehem, Md., from where it can be seen for about three miles from that community on the eastern shore of Maryland.

In Indiana, 30 miles upstream along the Ohio river from Louisville, a large silver star, outlined in electric lights, was donated and first erected in 1945 on the tower of the Community Church of Bethlehem by a proud father because his daughter, Ruth Ann Berry, had been born in the town on Christmas Day 1933.

The only public Christmas decoration in Bethlehem, Ga., a hamlet of 240 population, is a star about 8 feet wide, containing 160 lights, which is displayed over the business district.

Because Bethlehem, N. H., is primarily a summer resort, Christmas is observed quietly by its winter population of only 840. A nativity scene is set up on the village square, but house decorations carry out the star of Bethlehem theme.

Name Is Not Exploited

No commercial advantage is claimed for the name of Bethlehem by the postmasters, town clerks or chambers of commerce in these communities. At Bethlehem, Pa., "the city tries to make the Christmas observance as non-commercial as possible."

The naming of these towns naturally was based on strong religious tradition. On Christmas eve in 1741, a small band of Moravian settlers gathered in a crude log cabin on a bank of the Monocacy Creek, near where that stream joins the Lehigh River in Pennsylvania. The singing of an old Moravian hymn, "Not Jerusalem, Lowly Bethlehem," so inspired them and their patron leader, Count Nicholas Zinzendorf, that they decided to name their new world home Bethlehem.

Settlers who migrated farther from Bethlehem, Pa., founded Bethlehem, Ind., in 1812 and named the place after their Pennsylvania home town. Bethlehem, Ky., was originally named Moberly Stand. When the first post office was established in December, 1882, the postmaster, one Jamison Hall, inspired by the nearness of Christmas, changed the name to Bethlehem.

Pioneers Liked Name

Bethlehem, N. H., once was called Loyd's Hill, but in 1799 Bible minded settlers changed the name because they thought the terrain was similar to that of Bethlehem in Judea.

A pioneer settler also named Bethlehem, Ga., but old timers in the Maryland community say that nobody knows exactly how that town was named. It could have been because it is a peaceful and gentle place.

The present postmistress at Bethlehem, Md., has an appropriate name, too. It's Mary Carol. She works each night through the Christmas season until 9 or 10 o'clock and usually has to have extra help to postmark greetings.

A corner room in the home of Mrs. Lee Teyton, postmistress of Bethlehem, Ky., serves as a post office and her husband, daughter and two sons have to pitch in to cancel Christmas mail there. A drawing of the Three Wise Men is used to mark the mail, brought in by people of all over Kentucky.

The heaviest mail burden descends on Bethlehem, Pa., where 250 extra employees are required for the Christmas season.

Unusual Nativity Scenes For Moravian Churches

CHRISTMAS "putzes" are among the most distinctive features of the holiday season in Bethlehem, Pa. "Putz" in the dialect of the 18th Century Saxon meant to decorate—especially to decorate a church. And Christmas in Bethlehem, Pa., is largely a Moravian Christmas.

During the week between Christmas and New Year's Day, the community Christmas Putz is open to the public. It is built annually by the Moravian Service Guild. It is a miniature portrayal of the Nativity in which scenes are grouped under a single Christmas tree or many trees with moss as a base for landscaping.

The designer of the putz uses treasured figures of wood or papier-mache, tiny fences, gnarled stumps, rocks carefully kept from year to year, little trees and other miniatures, so arranged that the Holy Family, represented in a cave or thatched stable, is always the central subject.

Weeks are spent in preparation. As early as October, the pouring of thousands of pure beeswax candles is begun. The candlemaking itself is a hand process using the same methods and types of molds employed by early settlers. The tiny candles, which are used in Moravian churches and homes throughout the nation, are supposed to symbolize the coming of light into the world with the birth of the Christ Child.

Here's hoping that all the joys of this Holiday season will be yours in fullest measure...and that the New Year will be richly rewarding in warm friendships, good health and happiness.

Traveling This Season? Then You Want Luggage

FOR CHRISTMAS TRAVELERS there's no better gift than luggage. This year the luggage manufacturers of America have a number of cute tricks up their sleeves, designed to meet the changing travel customs of the population.

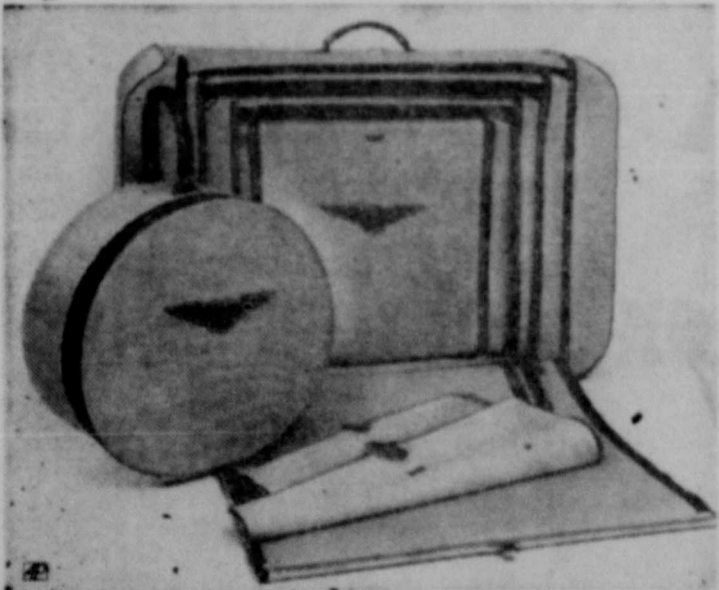

With fashion as the keynote and convenience the necessity, they have come up with a number of brand new ideas to make globe-trotting more fun and less trouble.

For airplane travelers there are a number of varieties of light-weight, almost indestructible luggage that can take the battering of a plane's luggage compartment and come up smiling. One is the new fiberglass luggage, feather-weight and molded in one piece. Recent improvements have added turnbuckle type locks that are tamper-proof, but make keys unnecessary. The color is molded all the way through fiberglass luggage, making scratches and nicks almost invisible. A quick rubbing with steel wool restores its beauty.

Aluminum and plastics that are light but tough also are available in smart new airplane cases.

For the Motorist

For automobile travel, the all-purpose garment bag has been improved greatly with the addition of a sturdy stand-up frame which is removable for storage.

MANY BAGS in one for souvenir collectors who depart with one bag packed and return with several bags loaded.

Umbrella Case Makes Smart Gift

SMART teen-agers start early to cut Christmas expenditures with their home sewing. Instead of having a different gift for Suzie and Jo and Amy, why not give them the same gift only in different colors?

In that way you should be able to do a bang-up job, since it is easier to make five of the same than five different home sewn articles, the first having served as a pattern.

An umbrella case makes a smart and useful gift for your teen-age friends. If you make them in gay colors — orange, blue, red, green, yellow, violet — they will certainly help perk up a dreary winter day.

Here are directions worked out by local sewing center experts, easy enough even for beginner seamstresses.

Measure length of body of umbrella case. Draw a line on the wrong side of the felt to that measurement with tailor's chalk. Now measure the distance around the bottom and top of the body of the umbrella. Add three-eighths of an inch for ease to both of these measurements. Draw these lines one at the top and one at the bottom perpendicular to the length of the umbrella. Connect these two lines. Cut out the case adding one-half inch seam allowance along the length.

Choose a suitable applique either from a pattern or design of your own and apply to your umbrella case using the zigzag disc set for a satin stitch on your automatic sewing machine. The applique can be of contrasting color felt or another material.

To complete the project, start 2 inches from the side end of the umbrella case and on the wrong side seam the case together. Press the seam open and turn to the right side. If you use felt there is no finishing necessary at the top or bottom of the case.

Modern Carpet Bags For the fashion-conscious weekend traveler there are fitted cases of tapestry resembling Civil War carpet bags, except that these are light in weight and easy to carry. There are big duffle bags in smart plaids and stripes, with extra sections for holding bulky accessories. Over-the-arm straps leave the hands free for handbag, magazines and umbrella.

Make Colorful Aprons For Christmas Presents

NOTHING brightens kitchen morale more than a gay, colorful apron, trimmed with rows of rickrack or a brightly contrasting patch pocket.

Since there never was a woman with enough pretty aprons, take a tip from the experts at your local sewing center and stitch a batch of them for Christmas presents.

A popular apron, made from a standard pattern, is ingeniously designed so that the whole thing, including pockets, waistband and ties, can be cut from one yard of cloth. A Simplicity pattern envelope, No. 4858, gives suggestions for different trimmings for four aprons, so each looks different.

The trick here is to prowl the remnant counters of your local department store. You will be able to pick up short lengths of gay fabrics at considerable savings. Even ragbag scraps will yield material for patch pockets or for the useful little oven mitts that are included with the pattern. The ensemble look is important in the kitchen, too, so make the mitts to match the pocket.

If you are making a batch of aprons, adopt an assembly line technique and cut out all of them at once, then do each stitching operation on all the aprons before proceeding to the next step. You'll find it goes faster.

Make the basic aprons first and then decorate each one to suit your fancy or the personality of the recipient. You may use rickrack, braid, bias binding, appliques, contrasting pockets or rows of decorative stitching to vary the effects.

Apron stitching is a good start for a beginning seamstress. Results are quick and satisfying, and there is little tedious detail to quell the enthusiasm of an amateur.

For this reason, aprons are a wonderful solution to a teen-ager's Christmas problems. One bright idea is to make a couple in bright felt to add interest to a basic dress. These should be rimmed with sequins, appliques, autographs in metallic thread or any other individual touch that may occur to the young designer.

Felt Makes Decorations As Easy as Paper Dolls

KINGLY ART like this cut from felt perks up your Christmas gift packages.

FOR CHRISTMAS decorations, gifts and expanding your own wardrobe: try felt. Just like making paper cutouts, felt doesn't need a hem, holds its shape and comes in a bright array of colors.

Easy to make are seamless skirts, pocketbooks and hats, spotted with your own matching or contrasting color designs.

Gifts for the family? How about mitten pot holders, pin cushions, blanket for the baby and even a felt overcoat for the latest in canine fashions.

Decorative are felt stars, small dolls in imaginative costumes, big pandas, fish, clowns, and figures to top off such presents as stationery boxes.

NEW TRAIN THRILLS

An automatic coal loading station can now be added to model electric railroad accessories. A lever controls the tilt of an operating dump car, lifts the hoist bin to overhead position, empties the load and lowers the bin to a rail-side position.

WELL STUFFED — A bright felt perks up your gift packages.

For that college-bound youngster a fringed pillow cover with Alma Mater's letters across the top. And for everyone, the old-fashioned felt stocking, ready and waiting to be well-stuffed.

FOR THE ROAD GANG

Budding highway engineers can get a thrill out of a new toy for grading backyard roads in their sand pile, just like real highways. A combination machinery truck and steam shovel has a crank-operated winch and "motor" under a raisable hood.

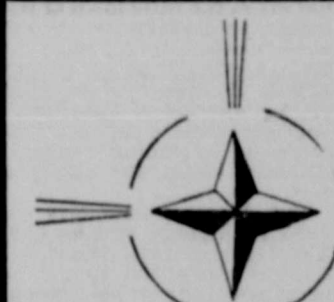

At the close of another year we realize how important your friendship and good will have been to our success. We appreciate the opportunity to say "Thank You" and wish you...

Tinsel and Hay—A Timely Message

Artificiality at Christmas Deplored by Church Leader

By EUGENE CARSON BLAKE, D.D.

President, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

WELL-KNOWN Hollywood actress met a friend a few days before Christmas and gushed, "My dear, I am so thrilled. I have a green Christmas tree this year!"

"Where, where in the world did you find a green Christmas tree?" asked her friend.

"Well, I'll tell you what I did, I bought a white one and had them spray it green."

Though this likely never happened, even in Hollywood, it illustrates very well the artificiality of the Christmas celebration.

The Christmas Spirit

It is not the belief that God revealed Himself in that birth in Bethlehem; that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, forever driving away the fear of God or gods that still plagues the non-Christian world.

Peace and Good Will

First, it is the belief that God revealed Himself in that birth in Bethlehem; that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, forever driving away the fear of God or gods that still plagues the non-Christian world.

Second, it is the response to God's gift of love which overflows from all Christian hearts sufficiently to embrace all men from every race and nation in a brotherhood of good will.

Third, it is a new vision of the wonder of every little child which puts him in the center of the human family and renews in each family circle that love which alone makes life worth the living.

Finally, it is a hope of peace among all nations despite all darkness, despite the cruelties of all Herods, ancient or modern, and despite the selfishness and greed that beset us all.

Let me then suggest three things to do to recapture the true celebration of Christmas in your family, even if to do them you must forego some of the things you have usually done to celebrate the holiday.

Go to Church First

First, plan to go as a family all together to some Christmas service at your church. It may be a choral service or a Holy Communion on Christmas Eve or on the Sunday before the holiday. But whatever it is, be sure to go to church in order to place your whole Christmas in the only setting that can make it real and truly rewarding.

Second, find some needy person or some needy cause to whom you and your family give the very best and most expensive gift you give this year.

And give the best gift to someone from whom there can be no return to you, except your own joy in being truly generous. If there is a lonely person who has no family to join on Christmas day, include him or her in your family circle. A selfish Christmas is a contradiction.

Read St. Luke's Story

Finally, when the family is all together on Christmas Eve or Christmas morning, start the custom in your house of reading aloud Luke 2:1-20. Let father or mother read the Christmas story or perhaps one or more of the older children would read it to the rest. After the reading let all join in a Christmas carol such as "O Little Town of Bethlehem" or "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." If your family can't sing very well, buy a record with the carol on it and play it on your player with all joining in. And at the end let father lead the family in a prayer like this:

O God, father of our Lord Jesus Christ, born in Bethlehem this day, may His spirit rule our hearts and lives today and always. We thank Thee for all Thy good gifts to us and to all men, for our life and love, for our friends and food, for the peace and good will that Thou hast put into the hearts of good men everywhere, and above all, for Thy best gift of Jesus Christ, Thy son, our Lord. In His name, Amen.

Her Biggest Christmas: Curtain Calls at 4 A.M.

By KATHARINE CORNELL

A CHRISTMAS I shall always remember is that exciting and simply fabulous one of 1933. Surely no one in our company of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" will ever forget the Christmas we spent together that year. Nor will it be soon forgotten by the many citizens of Seattle who waited patiently at the Metropolitan Theatre for an opening-night curtain that was five hours late in rising.

Christmas Eve of that year fell on a Sunday and our company was traveling through Montana. With us was my husband, Guthrie McClintic, who had joined our tour in St. Paul for the express purpose of seeing our performances in his home town of Seattle.

All of Sunday as we journeyed across the wide expanse that is Montana, there were prodigious preparations in the dining car for the Christmas dinner which Guthrie and I had arranged for the members of our company. There were some 40 of us including actors, electricians, property men, carpenters, and wardrobe personnel. The dining car had been reserved for us from 8:30 P. M. on.

Trouble Was Brewing

There was immense fun that night and great good will, but even as the last toasts were drunk and the troupe scattered to their berths with much wishing of Merry Christmas and quotations from Tiny Tim, Guthrie and I were growing uneasy because of telegraphed reports that the December rains were slowing up transit through the state of Washington. The following morning we learned of the possibility of trestle washouts as our train eventually reached Spokane.

This was Christmas Day, Monday, and we were scheduled to begin a week's engagement in Seattle that night. We traveled at a snail's pace, and as rain-drenched darkness fell, we were still far from Seattle. Seven o'clock, eight o'clock, nine o'clock passed and by this time we had all given up hope of ever giving a performance that night. But, God bless them, we reckoned without knowledge of the will, the courage and—may I in all modesty add—the affection of the people of Seattle.

Curtain Rose at 1:05

At 11:15 P. M. on Christmas night our exhausted and unhappy troupe finally climbed down on the station platform at Seattle. There to our astonishment we learned from the theatre manager that the entire audience which had assembled for an 8:30 P. M. curtain still awaited us. It was the most glowing tribute I have ever received in my life.

Hauling of our scenery and costumes from the railroad cars to the theatre took even more time. At exactly 1:05 A. M. the house lights went down and the curtain went up with me at my post on the couch. (Miss Barrett was an invalid, confined to a couch).

The final curtain fell at a quarter to four in the morning. And that blessed audience, feeling, perhaps, that it was too late by this time to go to bed at all, stayed to give more curtain calls than our exhausted actors had ever heard.

WALKIE-TALKIE SETS

Toys are realistic this Christmas. They include walkie-talkie sets, portable loud speakers and communication outfits that enable up to five children to talk over their own phone network from five different rooms.

Take Family to Church On Christ's Birthday

CHRISTMAS is a day for family worship at church. Parents who deny juvenile ways should take advantage of the opportunity to encourage youthful devotion on this Holy Day.

Families with the largest Yuletide gifts and largest Yuletide celebrations sometimes are the ones who have lost sight of the true meaning of Christmas. They celebrate Christ's birthday in pagan fashion.

Many families get great satisfaction out of the day, more so because the entire family attends church services together. Early in the morning after the gifts are opened, a Christmas breakfast takes place and the family is off to church—youthfulers prepared to thank the Lord for a new bicycle or doll, the elders praying that perhaps they will find the way clear to meet the bills.

Little tots could be taught early that Christmas is the birthday of Christ, that He was born in a stable on a straw mattress. Every small child should be familiar with this scene and if there is a creche at church, the youngster and family might visit it together before or after services. Little ones will want to know about the Wise Men, a good opportunity to explain that frankincense and myrrh were perhaps the first gifts offered on this holy day.

Time, too, to explain Christmas symbols—how the star represents the one that shone in the East, illuminating shepherd's pastures with its strange, bright light. And how it beckoned them to the stable.

Much confusion originates in children's minds about gifts and Christmas. Many poorly endowed children feel they are cheated. If the spiritual angle is stressed to them, with the beauty of the creche played up, and the loveliness of church flowers and decorations, their will not seem such a hopeless Christmas.

Santa and the Yule Tree Get Nod from the Pulpit

By GEORGE CORNELL

SANTA CLAUS grew up next-door to a church. And he has friends in the pulpit.

Although some critics argue that non-religious features like Santa don't really belong in Christmas, the jolly old fellow gets an approving nod from the Christian ministry.

"He is part of the whole cherished tradition," says Dr. Jesse Stitt, pastor of the Village Presbyterian Church in New York.

And right there in Greenwich Village is where Santa—or St. Nick—got his start in a poem 132 years ago about the "Night before Christmas."

Said Dr. Stitt:

"What may seem to some to be the accessories of Christmas really through the ages have given content to the traditional day of the birth of Christ."

Things like tinsel trees, heaps of wrapped gifts, dangling mistletoe, candy and nuts and big, fragrant dinners may not be specifically religious in nature, but they've become part of the idea.

Symbols of Christmas

"The customs of Christmas are Christmas itself," Dr. Stitt said. "They enhance the story of the star, the manger, the Wise Men from afar and the message of those who sang peace on earth, good will to men."

Through the centuries, Christmas has taken on many adjuncts and customs that weren't part of it at first, and which are themselves not derived from Scripture or church.

"In fact," Dr. Stitt noted, "in the early days of Christianity the first Christians appropriated customs from pre-Christian celebrations and put a Christian interpretation upon them."

Significance of Gifts

Probably the oldest initial Christian practice is that of gift-giving, which goes back to that first Christmas in Bethlehem when the Wise Men brought gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh to the Christ child.

"The love and good will that animates the giving of gifts today," Dr. Stitt said, "is but an outward expression of what Christians through the centuries have felt about the birth of Christ—that it was the great gift to the world."

But what about those decorations? All those glowing lights, colored streamers, peppermint sticks and shining tinsel that festoon the tree and the rooms? Are those truly part of the Christmas spirit?

The Green Tree Idea

Well, the use of green trees to decorate homes first got started back in the Roman Empire as a custom of pagan holidays. But the tradition also has Christian origins in the legend of St. Joseph of Arimathea.

It's said that he planted his staff in the earth, and that thereafter, the staff brought forth leaves and blossomed in beauty every Christmas.

"Things like the Christmas tree help preserve the occasion in our minds," Dr. Stitt said. "They give us memories that last through the years—an image or picture that we can put our finger on."

ORIGIN OF WASSAIL

Henry VII introduced the wassail bowl into England from Scandinavia. It was a bowl containing a mixture of hot ale, spices and toasted apples. A drink of good cheer, it was drunk in token of success for the coming year.

Season's Greetings

To all of our wonderful friends and neighbors... we hope that Santa arrives bearing a sleigh-load of all the good things in life. May the season find you rich in the blessings of Happiness, Peace and Health. The season's best to all.

Dolls Grow Smarter Every Year

DOLLS, unlike people, grow smarter every year. This Christmas the talented dolls who will star in Santa's big show have a bevy of fascinating accomplishments in addition to their now familiar abilities to walk, talk, drink, cry, burp and wet their diapers.

In addition to shedding tears, a new baby doll also needs to have its nose wiped, and will arrive under the Christmas tree well equipped with handkerchiefs.

Another new doll has flexible "muscles" which permit her to bend her knees and assume dozens of other realistic poses. Feature as "prestige toys" selected as outstanding in their class by panels of retailers and educators are dolls and accessories that encourage good grooming.

The technique of rooting synthetic hair permanently in dolls' heads has greatly increased the opportunities for little girls to practice the art of hairdressing. Young beauticians now can give their dolls a shampoo, wave and new hair style with the greatest of ease, and no damage to the dolls.

The new dolls represent every age group of childhood and are designed to give small mothers the satisfaction of caring competently for all the grooming and fashion needs of dolls from infancy through teen-age years.

Emphasis is placed on style-right accessories as well as costumes for every occasion. Little girls this Christmas will be experts on the proper combination

NEW REALISM in doll behavior is provided by this doll with flexible knees. She can kneel, walk and assume a variety of poses.

THIS TALENTED baby doll can blow her nose in addition to shedding tears, sucking from a bottle and requiring diaper changes.

THIS DOLL playmate dances with her partner. Elastic bands attach dancer's feet.

Hand Painted Tiles Make Novel Gifts

HOME decorated tiles make inexpensive Christmas gifts. Any bride would adore a set for hot plates.

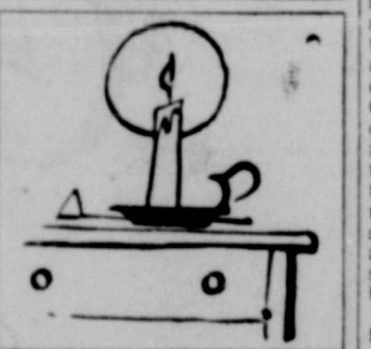

You don't need a kiln to fire the tiles, unless you have access to one. Ordinary tiles, available through clay or ceramic tile contractors in either four-and-a-quarter or six-inch size are perfect for decorating.

Tiles may be decorated with a quick-drying enamel but ceramic glaze offers more permanency.

Make the design simple. You do not need drawing ability as any simple design may be transferred to the tile with carbon paper. Newspaper advertisements and comic strips can give you ideas to copy for your motif. If you cannot draw a straight line perhaps a decal will do the trick.

When planning the design remember that the recipient's name on the tiles will make a big hit. Four or six tiles with a simple name penned on them will make an attractive set of coasters.

Holiday motifs are fun. But remember that tiles are to be used around the calendar. A Christmas tree, Santa Claus or poinsettia is likely to look slightly out of date in July. Felt may be glued to the backs of the tiles to protect the surfaces they will be placed on.

TWO EASY tile designs.

If Mom's a Seamstress Doll Dresses Are Easy

By DOROTHY ROE

CHRISTMAS is no problem if Mom is a seamstress. A doll wardrobe is a sure-fire hit for any little girl, who gets most of her fun in toyland from dressing and undressing her dolls. The more clothes a doll has, the more the play value.

Since the felt skirt craze has been sweeping the juvenile set, from teen-agers down to little sisters, a felt wardrobe is a natural for a Christmas doll. The nice thing about felt is that it's so easy to sew, requires no hems or finishing and comes in such satisfactorily gay colors.

All Mom has to do to be sure of high joy on Christmas morning is to buy a few pieces of felt in different colors and make skirts, jackets and caps for all the dolls in the family. If she wants to add the final flipp, she can make matching skirts for the children who own the dolls.

Here's a Popular Setup

A smart doll ensemble consists of circular skirt, vest, coat and bonnet, all in felt, preferably in contrasting colors, such as red and green or pink and purple, or any other combinations that may appeal to the small fry.

To make the skirt, take a square of felt measuring twice the length you want the skirt to be, plus an inch and a half. For instance, if the doll measures 4 inches from waist to knee, cut a 9½ inch square of felt. Fold in quarters. Cut off the point to make a rounded edge and cut a hole in the corner to fit around the waist. Cut a one-inch slit in back, stitch on a narrow waistband, finish with a hook and eye and trim to suit your fancy with rows of rick-rack or gay appliques.

Making a Pattern

The vest is cut in two pieces. Make a paper pattern to cover the area across the shoulders in back, curving under the arms and extending to the waist. Leave a half-inch seam allowance at shoulder and under-arm seams. Measure the front the same way, cutting a paper pattern. Now fold pattern in half and lay fold on double-thickness of felt, folded edges together. Cut out back section. Then cut out front section, allowing one-inch lap-over allowance at center front. Cut front section down the middle, and cut a V at the neckline. Stitch back and front sections together and put snaps along the front closing, covering stitch marks with tiny pearl buttons.

For the coat, three sections of felt are used. The sleeve is cut all in one with the body of the coat, and the only seams extend from wrist along the shoulder and along the underarm seam down the side of the coat. Cut the coat with a real flare, to fit over the circular skirt. This means that the skirt sections of the coat should be funnel-shaped. The coat may be finished with a wide lap-over, closing with a snap or with a tie belt.

The simplest kind of bonnet is a folded oblong of felt long enough to frame the doll's face and deep enough to cover the back of the head. Stitch up the back seam, apply a tie on each side, and that's that. If you want to exercise your creative powers, you can make a simple beret from a circle of felt gathered around the edge to fit the headsize. Any odd sequins or bits of veil or feathers in your sewing box can be used for trimming, if you like.

Doll clothes, of course, may be made from other materials. For example, cut a kimono from a washcloth, or make a lace-edged petticoat from a handkerchief. A dish towel will make edging from worn-out petticoats will add elegance to doll lingerie, or even make a bridal ensemble. Use the little shoes worn by most dolls as patterns to make bright felt slippers to match the coat or skirt.

How to Decorate House For Yuletide Holidays

By VIVIAN BROWN

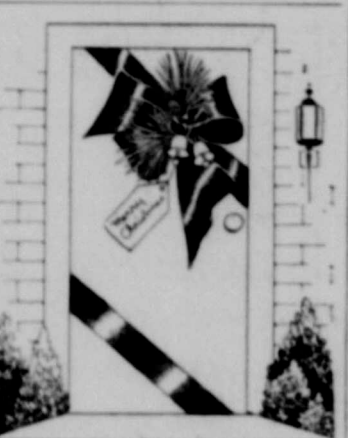

AN EARLY start with Christmas decorations will give you a Yuletide setting in the warm, cozy mood of the season.

Design indoor and outdoor displays. Anything complicated or unusual may be sketched out on paper first. Try some of these suggestions:

The Mantle.—To do justice to the Yule log the mantle should look festive. Garlands of ground pine or other vines may be hung from the fireplace. Two large Christmas candles may be placed at either side of the fireplace with a large green wreath over the center of the fireplace. You can take your choice of candle motifs such as choir boys, Santa Claus, choral singers. Or if your theme is to be religious a small manger may be set up in the center of the fireplace, and religious figures placed around it.

The Table.—Fill a large glass bowl (a fish bowl may be used) with Christmas ornaments or use a Christmas setting such as small trees sprinkled with snow, Santa Claus, a reindeer, etc. Or make a little religious scene with some hay and a babe in the crib. A pretty Christmas candle may be placed in a bowl (a large part of the candle should be above the rim). If the candle is red, tie a wide green bow around the bowl or use a green candle with a red bow.

The Front Door.—One smart idea for a white door is to make it look like a large candy box.

RED RIBBON makes a big candy box of front door.

You can do it with plastic ribbon. Use wide red or green ribbon. Tack the ribbon across two corners just as if you had tied a candy box. Add a huge bow, pine cones and a big Christmas tag.

A large stocking may be tacked to the door with a candy cane and one or two prettily wrapped packages peeping from it. Make your own spray of greens for the door, using Christmas tree branches left over from a too-big tree, pine cones, white pine sprays, mistletoe, holly in any combination you desire. Tie a pretty ribbon to the top of it and tack it to the door.

The Windows.—Small window panes may be enhanced with Christmas silhouettes. Take some dark (red, green or black) mat paper and cut out silhouettes of the Wise Men, shepherds, cross, star, candle, etc. and place them in window panes. These may be made to fit corners of large window panes or to cover small window panes. A small church with a steeple makes a pretty window decoration. Cut the windows of the church out, and paste red paper behind for an unusual effect when the light shines through.

SILHOUETTES turn window into Christmas card.

We extend sincere wishes to all our friends and neighbors for a Christmas that is full of all good things and a heart that is full of happiness.

Candy Makes It Santa Time

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

WHAT'S SANTA-CLAUS TIME without candy? They make some of this Chocolate Fondant for a special treat. You'll find it's wonderful to have in the house for those holiday callers. Pack it into a tin box with a light cover so it will stay fresh.

CHOCOLATE FONDANT

Ingredients: 2 cups sugar, dash of salt, 1 1/4 cups water, 2 tablespoons light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate (melted).

Method: Put sugar, salt, water and corn syrup in a saucepan. Stir constantly over low heat until sugar dissolves and mixture boils. Cover and cook 3 minutes; remove cover and continue boiling without stirring. Occasionally wipe away crystals on sides of pan with a damp cloth wrapped around the handle of a wooden spoon. Cook until a small amount of syrup forms a soft ball in cold water; if candy thermometer is used it should register 238 degrees. Remove from heat; add butter. Pour out on cold wet platter or parchment table top, or on a greased surface. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees). Work with paddle or spatula until white and creamy. Add vanilla and beat until smooth. Shape into a ball; make indentation in top and pour about one-fourth of chocolate into it; knead until chocolate is blended; repeat until all chocolate is used. Store in tightly covered jar to ripen several days. (The ripening will make the fondant pliable.) If fondant begins to dry out, place a damp cloth directly over the fondant and replace cover. (Makes 1 1/2 pounds). After fondant has ripened use in following ways:

CHOCOLATE BALLS: Knead and shape ripened fondant into small balls. Roll in finely chopped nut or coconut.

CHOCOLATE KISSES: Melt ripened fondant in top of double boiler. Pour water in lower part just below boiling point. Mix in 1 cup shredded coconut. Drop from teaspoon onto waxed paper. If mixture is not stiff enough to hold its shape, cool a little before dropping.

CHOCOLATE DOLLARS: Knead 3/4 cup finely cut raisins and 1/4 cup finely cut nuts into ripened fondant and knead. Shape into rolls 1 inch in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and chill. When firm, cut in 1/4-inch slices.

PEPPERMINT ROLLS: Add a few drops of peppermint extract to ripened fondant. Shape into small rolls; press blanched almond half into each.

Small Fry Can Help Mom Make Sweets for the Tree

SMALL FRY can help Mom make Christmas decorations—and get a big bang out of their handiwork. It's such fun to shape a sweet cereal mixture into big balls, tie them with red and green ribbon, and hang on the tree!

KRIS KRINGLE BALLS

Ingredients: 2 1/2 cups sugar-coated rice cereal, 1/4 cup chopped candied cherries, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon baking soda, 1/4 cup dark corn syrup, 1/2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup butter or margarine.

Method: Place cereal and cherries in a large buttered bowl. Put sugar, salt, baking soda, corn syrup and milk in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring to dissolve sugar. Continue boiling, stirring constantly, until a small amount of mixture forms a firm ball in cold water; if a candy thermometer is used it should register 242 degrees. Remove from heat and cool 1 minute. Add vanilla and butter and beat until thick. Pour over cereal and cherries and mix well. Let stand until mixture is cold. Shape into 2-inch balls, buttering hands lightly to prevent mixture from sticking. To make Christmas tree decorations, tie balls with red and green ribbon. Makes 1 dozen balls.

IT'S FUN for children to make Kris Kringle sweets to hang on the Christmas tree.

Here's Easy Way to Make Christmas Gift Cookies

DROP COOKIES add that homemade touch. Press half a cherry or an almond lightly on the tops.

CHRISTMAS Gift Cookies do not have to be a chore to make. Run up batches of these simple but delicious "drop" varieties, package them attractively and you'll have inexpensive offerings for friends who appreciate that homemade touch.

CHRISTMAS BUTTER COOKIES

Ingredients: 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 egg, 1/4 cup undiluted evaporated milk, 1/2 pound (about 36) cherries (cut in half).

Method: Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with evaporated milk. Drop slightly rounded teaspoonfuls of the dough, 1 inch apart, onto a lightly greased baking sheet. Press a cherry half lightly on top of each cookie. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until lightly browned—15 to 20 minutes. Remove with spatula to cooling rack. Makes about 70 cookies.

CHRISTMAS CHOCOLATE COOKIES

Ingredients: 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup cocoa, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 egg, 1/4 cup undiluted evaporated milk, 1/4 pound shelled blanched almonds.

Method: Sift together flour, baking powder, salt; stir in cocoa. Cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with evaporated milk. Drop slightly rounded teaspoonfuls of the dough, 1 inch apart, on lightly greased baking sheet. Place an almond lightly in center of each cookie. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until lightly browned—15 to 20 minutes. Remove with spatula to cooling rack. When cold, cookies may be put together sandwich fashion (nut side out) with Orange Frosting. Makes about 70 single cookies or 35 sandwich cookies.

ORANGE FROSTING

Put 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar in a bowl. Add 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 2 tablespoons undiluted evaporated milk; stir until smooth. Add a few drops milk if needed for good spreading consistency.

Dresses for Holiday Parties

CHRISTMAS is a time for fun, says Helen Lee, designer of children's dresses—and little girls' clothes should be as light-hearted as the season. With this in mind, this good-looking mother of three daughters has turned out a collection of holiday fun dresses which should keep the small girls as merry as Santa himself.

Some of the tricks employed are double skirts which keep dresses crisply flaring, fully lined skirts in contrasting colors, whimsical ruffled petticoats printed with anything from rosebuds to dachshunds, and an array of gay fabrics that stay fresh much longer than any mother would expect.

A special group of "laugh dresses" carry out the theme of holiday merriment. One white chintz dress has fire horses running around the skirt and is called "Where's the Fire?" Another, called "Cross Country," is a bright red dress with a chintz petticoat printed with auto license plates. A black-and-white striped dress has an over-dress of bright red, and a brilliant plaid skirt on a charcoal and plaid dress is called "Crossroads."

Holly Shortage Sparks New Ideas For Yule Decor

(By Newsfeatures)

Now that the major portion of the nation's holly crop has been killed by an early freeze in the Pacific northwest, householders will have to use their ingenuity in holiday decorations.

Christmas trees also probably will be in short supply—at least the ones that are shipped from the West Coast, reports from growers indicate.

Although many other evergreens also have been damaged by the freeze, there are a number of other effects that may be used in Christmas decorations, according to Victor Stein, newly elected president of the association representing a majority of the nation's florists.

"While holly is as traditional as turkey at Christmas, there are other beautiful greens which will be in good supply. According to present indications there will be plenty of poinsettias, boxwood and other foliage grown in areas not hit by the freeze.

"Some florists' designers have done some effective modern designs using gilded branches and leaves such as arbutus and magnolia."

Some other types of red berries which grow along the Atlantic Coast and in New England may substitute for holly this year. And of course there always is the good old standby, rhododendron leaves, to supply an effective arrangement of green in the home. These can be combined with Christmas tree balls for a colorful holiday display.

Although growers report almost a 100 per cent loss in the holly crop in the Northwest, there probably will be a small supply of holly from other regions available, which can be used as a focal point for arrangements of greenery.

Christian Science

Services 11 a. m. each Sunday
Public Cordially Invited

The ever-present power of the Christ, Truth, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Matthew's account of the coming of the Magi to Bethlehem at the time of the nativity of Christ Jesus will be featured in the Responsive Reading. "Christian Science" will be the topic of the Lesson-Sermon.

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following: "To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, to-day is big with blessings. The wakeful shepherd beholds the first faint morning beams, ere cometh the full radiance of a risen day. So shone the pale star to the prophet-shepherds; yet it traversed the night, and came where, in traditio obscurity, lay the Bethlehem babe, the human herald of Christ, Truth, who would make plain to benighted understanding the way of salvation through Christ Jesus, till across a night of error should dawn the morning beams and shine the guiding star of being" (Pref. vii: 1-10).

Veterans Forum

Q. I have just been discharged from the armed forces, and I understand that I have three years from my discharge to begin Korean GI Bill training. However, I plan to reenlist for four years. I will be in uniform when my starting deadline comes along, so my question is will I be able to begin GI training after I complete my four years of active duty?

A. No. Under the law, a veteran must begin GI training within three years from his first discharge. The law makes no exceptions to this rule.

Q. If a veteran allows his GI insurance policy to lapse, is the effective date of lapse the date the last premium was due or is it the last day of his 31-day grace period?

A. The date of the lapse is the date the last premium was due. It is not the last day of the grace period.

Q. As a World War II veteran, I am eligible for a GI loan. However, I returned to active military duty. Am I still eligible for the loan, or must I wait until I am discharged again?

A. As a World War II veteran, you still are eligible for a GI loan, and you have the right to use your loan benefit while you are in the military service.

Q. I understand that disability compensation payments must stop when a veteran returns to active military duty. I am going to college and am a member of ROTC. Is time spent in ROTC drills considered active service?

A. No. Time spent by ROTC members in drills as a part of their activities is not considered to be active military service. Your compensation payments will continue.

This is the 13th in a series of messages written by ministers of this trade area. This week's message was written by J. R. Russell, Pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, Perryton.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."—Luke 2:14.

This song was first heard over the hills near Bethlehem is one day to be heard all over the world. Its sweet melody is to be woven into every language which men have learned to speak. The angels are to hear it in all dialects and tongues. It is to be the choral response of a gladdened world to the birthday joy which was once poured forth over Bethlehem.

What was that song? It was "glory to God . . . the aim of Christmas. In heavenly minds God holds the first place. To a world redeemed, God is the giver of salvation. That song has another phase, "peace on earth" . . . the practice of Christmas. Our Savior himself is the Prince of Peace. His purpose is to bring peace to every man. He offers every kind of peace which man can enjoy—peace of conscience, peace of heart, peace of mind at ease about worldly matters, peace with our fellowmen. The final stanza of the song is "goodwill among men" . . . the result of Christmas. This goodwill means something more than mere love. It signifies that mixture of goodness and kindness and wisdom which tends to good and wise plans. This good will is nothing less than the great and merciful purposes of redemption.

One dark night a young soldier, posted at a sentry box before the barracks, heard the drone of his captain's sleep. He went out quickly and offered his salute, and then stood there like a marble statue until the captain called out: "What good is a salute on a dark night? Open the gate, so I can drive in!" What a lesson for us! Of what use to our Master are all the honors we pay Him at this Christmas season if we do not give him entrance into our hearts? Though Christ a thousand times in Bethlehem be born, if He's not born in thee, thy soul is all forlorn.

More Variety In Presents For Father

By VIVIAN BROWN

TIME was when Dad's Christmas presents were limited to socks, ties, handkerchiefs and garters. A gift from a well-heeled member of the family might be a lounge robe, fancy slippers or silk pajamas.

These days Dad is likely to find his gifts show more imagination, given to promote a hobby or to keep him busy pattering around the house.

Power tools are number one presents today, even for city dwelling husbands. Country squires might even wake up Christmas morning to find a tractor or snow plow in the living room. The laziest husband will have to pretend he is delighted at the gift of a snow shovel, garden rake or saw.

How Times Change

An entirely new concept of living has changed the idea of gift giving. A decade ago a man would have collapsed with laughter at the idea of Mom presenting him with new draperies for his den at Christmas. These days he is overjoyed at receiving a gift of a fabric decorated with his favorite motif. New ones sport gun collections, cigars and tobacco, golf designs, game birds and numbers of other designs to please masculine vanity. He'd also like for his den or study a lamp with a gun or bird base, a fish mounted on the wall, old print of birds, animals.

Old English prints of barristers are just the thing to decorate the room of country or city lawyers. Ditto medical prints for doctors. Mechanics and others with a penchant for motors or sports cars would love a collection of prints depicting old or new cars, suitably framed.

Gourmet dads will enjoy any of the items that add to their glory in the kitchen when company is present. A chef's hat and apron, unusual barbecue tools, asbestos gloves, a French skillet, cooking wines and brandies, pepper mills, and even books on outdoor or casual indoor cookery will please.

For Armchair Gardeners

The man who always has "his head buried in a book" would enjoy some of the latest novels or books that pursue his particular interest, subscriptions to magazines on boating, guns, golf and other sports, perhaps. News and picture magazines make good gifts. Gardeners with a purpose would like books or magazines on a particular specialty like raising roses, raspberries or asparagus.

Even if you are tempted to admit that your man falls in none of these categories because he has no other interest than work and rest, you can still find suitable gifts for him. If the working man takes his lunch, a new deluxe kit with thermos, and sandwich trays and compartments that may keep foods cold will appeal to him. A new brief case for the salesman, father, advertising man or bill collector may be just the thing.

And the man who just likes to relax in the easy chair? Well—why not give him one? Most men complain there are no comfortable chairs in their home, so here's your chance to give him solid comfort.

Card Player or Sunday Driver
Maybe your man is the type who "relaxes over a card game with the boys." In that case how about some new plastic playing cards, perhaps with his initials, a set of beer mugs, poker chips or even a new card table?

If he is a Sunday driver you'll find eye shades, good sun glasses, special driving gloves, back rests, interesting key rings to put under the tree.

Stocking stuffers for any father might include hairbrush, comb, electric razor, toiletries and shoe shine kit.

There's a gift for every man on your list. Ask yourself a few simple questions such as "What does he like?" "What does he enjoy doing?" "What can I give him to help further his main interest in life?"

How You Make a Creche

CUTOUTS FOR A CRECHE—Color these patterns with crayons or water colors and paste them on cardboard. Make your own little stable background out of cardboard with three walls, the widest in the back and two equal sides to fold forward. These cutouts may be used in a shadow box lined with dark velvet for background. Place the creche on mantle or hang on the wall.

YOU can make your own little creche for mantle or table by coloring cutouts of the Child, Mary, Joseph, the Wise Men and the sheep. These may then be pasted to cardboard and placed in a group with a stable background made by folding a piece of cardboard in three parts, the longer part being in the center and end pieces serving as side walls.

Opportunity for Imagination
The stable background can be a challenge to your imagination. Paint it golden brown or make it modern by etching out bricks on it or cover it with wallpaper in a suitable pattern.

Paint or color the little lambs sort of a driftwood grey, the Christ child might be all rosy pink with golden hair. The wise men are very colorful characters and should be painted in the brightest of hues. Try a bright red for one, a deep purplish blue for another, the other wise man might have a varied color design with his ermine cape dotted with ermine tails (make these like exclamation points). Mary could be in a lovely shade of blue or deep magenta. The background color with tabs might be a pale blue.

A Scene That Grows

Once your creche is established you can add to it each year. The outline of the sheep might be traced so that a whole flock could surround the stable. More shepherds might be invited to worship too, and these also may be traced and colored. Ingenious youngsters might put a real straw roof down in the stable, pin a star to the stable background.

Another interesting idea with these cutouts might be recessing them in a deep frame with a velvet background to give depth. Place the Child in the center, the Wise Men to the right and Mary and the sheep to the left to make an attractive grouping. Dark red or deep blue velvet might make a better background than black. Put the velvet over the picture frame backing and be sure to place some of the figures in the foreground to lend depth to your shadow box.

PROGRESS IN DOLLS

Along with style changes in other toys, dolls have progressed from the pretty, dumb stage, through the "Mama" and her diaper-wetting stage to the present dolls that can be fed, take a walk, do a toe dance. There's even one that will open her mouth so her little mother can fix her teeth.

THAT TOUCH OF GREEN

Every home looks prettier at Christmas time if greens are scattered about. Wherever you can find an excuse to put a vase or bowl of evergreen branches, pine cones, holly berries, green vines, etc., take advantage of it.

Now Mother Gets Better Work Savers

MOM'S Christmas presents have taken a new twist on an old theme. It used to be that the lady of the house found an iron, toaster or some such appliance "in her stocking"—something for her chores or that increased the enjoyment of the entire family. She is still in that gift category, except now-days (fortunately for her) new appliances and kitchen gadgets are fun and time savers.

The blender, for instance, now even available with copper base is a joy to the mother who must mash up baby foods and make soups, or for the hostess who loves to entertain with new hors d'oeuvres mixtures. Electric broilers, coffee pots, and cookers please mother, too. If she has been yearning for a pressure cooker, it'll be a gift of sheer delight.

More home entertaining makes Mom crave the unusual in demi tasse cups, hors d'oeuvre servers, drinking glasses, paper, plastic, saw or raffia place mats. A box of company snacks—paté, cocktail frankfurters, crocked cheeses, special crackers, anchovies, meat and fish pastes—is not too far fetched for the average entertaining lady. She'll adore individual salt and pepper shakers or ashtrays for the table or a sequin-decorated company apron.

Green Thumb Gifts

The lady whose hobby is plants or flowers would perhaps like an unusual or different plant. Kalenchoe with its pretty red flowers makes a lovely Christmas plant, goes well with African violet collection. Gardening gloves, pruning shears, flower growth stimulants, a gift certificate at the local nursery for a bush—forsythia, veronica, lilac, andro-medea, weigela—should delight her. Or perhaps she has been pinning for an evergreen screen of hemlocks, or a great big Douglas fir for the front lawn.

Housewives are more active than ever before. There are golf clubs for that would-be lady champion, golf skirts, golf balls, outdoor shirts, hats and innumerable gadgets. Lady fisherman would like new lures or a dandy new rod or reel. Skiers can use anything from wool socks to fancy knitted sweaters and gloves as well as new skis. Lady sailors would enjoy water repellent outfits, sailing trousers or blouses.

All girls want to be beautiful, so cosmetics are always top-tree gifts. Her favorite perfume, cologne or other fragrance are sure-fire hits. A gift certificate for a course of massages, permanent wave or facials might be just her dish of tea. A new compact or carry-all is always a good stocking stuffer.

Wide Range in Fashions

When it comes to fashions, you can shoot the works for the lady fair. New gloves for day or evening, stockings, sweaters, skirts, costume jewelry, hair ornaments, evening purse, French paste earrings or necklace, evening wrap, sweater or stole.

Cooking and sewing are fascinating hobbies of today's woman. Books on cookery, fancy skillet, spices, copper pots and pickings, French pottery, Swedish porcelain ware, cook books for neophytes and collectors, long bread baskets or roll or wine baskets, additions to her silver pattern are all good choices.

Seamstresses would adore some new sewing attachments, chic sewing box, an assortment of thread or even a new sewing machine. New sewing fans would appreciate a course of lessons at local sewing centers.

Working girls would enjoy most anything that contributes to their good grooming on the job and dates. Gifts can run the gamut whether hand bag or hand lotion and please the career girl.

LURE OF THE WEST

The most widely favored toys for boys are the Western toys like guns and holsters, says the Toy Guidance Council.

Warm and Comfortable, It's a Gift for Father

FOR DAD, the newest style of casual jacket is a wool tweed in charcoal brown and black stripes with a brown velvet half collar, four button closing and slant pockets. It has natural shoulder lines and modified raglan sleeves. It's more appropriate than an old-fashioned smoking coat.

Christmas at House

By Y. Whipple M. D.

Christmas is a little different this year. But Christmas is a whole family gains warmth and sharing this spirit can even be into the community.

Well you some of the traditions in our family. A small enough city go out into the country and own tree. No one in ever thinks of buying cutting is so much a part. We get the tree before Christmas.

When the children were little, all bundled up in and tramped the fields and farm, spying out smaller child, the he selected. Finally was made. Dad cut it and some extra evergreen for decorations. The children cut holly, and us and many other gathered around a big had hot cocoa or coffee on our ages, hot other ingredients of a feast.

We got the tree home from Dad and the boys in a corner of the living boxes of ornaments. Ten years back, were down from the attic and started the decorations with many memories as old families were dug from the

Don't Bother to Transplant Yule Tree to Yard

For some things the theory is better than the practice. J. C. Garrett, extension landscape specialist at Oklahoma A&M college, believes one of them is the idea of making the family Christmas one which can later be transplanted into the yard. Even if you do get the evergreen dug up, balled, burlaped and in a tub without severe root damage, you're unlikely still to have a healthy tree when you're ready to put it in the yard," Garrett says.

Exposure to the drying inside atmospheric conditions is hard on a tree whose natural habitat is out-of-doors. Root systems either dry out from lack of water, or are watered too much.

"No matter how good the care you try to give the tree, the situation is an abnormal, off-balance one and the results can't be good for the tree," he explains adding that the entire process represents so much work with so little guarantee of success that he considers it impractical.

mas carols. We sing all the carols we know, and we've found lots of the lesser known ones. We've even made up special Christmas songs of our own. Very often the singing gets beyond all the Christmas songs and we get into all sorts of others. One year we had a French family—and a musical one—who added much spice to our repertoire.

In the early years these Christmas Eve parties ended early because parents had to take young children home to bed.

In the later years tables are turned and the grownups finally give up and go home while the adolescents still dance and sing until the wee small hours.

Next morning, Christmas Day, the presents under the tree are opened—and every year this gets to be a later and later hour!

Last year a note from Jim, now in college, said he just couldn't get home to help Dad cut the tree but he was bringing two boys for Christmas Eve and the rest of the holidays.

We have no young children any more but the traditions are still important to all of us.

Outfielder Gene Woodling, picked up from Baltimore last summer, and his Cleveland manager, were involved in a 1946 deal. Woodling was traded by Cleveland to Pittsburgh for catcher Al Lopez, now Indian pilot.

Here's How to Get Christmas Greenery Now

Greenery can add a lot to the attractiveness of your home during the Christmas season—but where and how you will get it? If you cut branches from the shrubs in your own yard, L. C. Garrett, extension landscape specialist at Oklahoma A&M college, suggests you take precautions to avoid permanent damage to the plants.

Careful pruning should be your motto, he says. Choose branches that will not destroy the shape of the shrub. Indiscriminate hacking or cutting out the top of the plant will make the plant unsightly and may do permanent damage.

If you get your greenery away from home, the same rules apply, Garrett believes. Cutting your decorations from along the highway in areas that may be considered public property is practically the same as cutting it in your own yard. After all, Garrett points out, you're part of the public and have a responsibility for taking care of things that belong to the public.

When you find a farm woods, windbreak planting or evergreens that look good to you but are located on private property, it would be best to get permission before making your selections, he says.

"So often people who go to the country looking for pecans, pecanettes or Christmas greenery think anything out in the open with no house within 50 feet is public property," he explains. "But anything on a farm or land is his property—and this is a particularly good season for remembering to do unto others as you'd have them do unto you."

Make Them a Toybag To Teach Neatness

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The aftermath of Christmas morning will be much easier on Mom if she includes a gay Noah's Ark toybag along with the toys around the tree. Then the small fry will have a place to put their toys away after the first exciting round of opening packages.

The toybag is easy to make from a standard pattern, which also includes patterns and directions for making six stuffed animals. Each toy requires two pieces of contrasting fabric, about 11 by 14 inches. A pound of shredded foam rubber will stuff all six animals, plump and sassy.

Transfer mark the faces and designs, and local sewing center experts recommend doing the embroidery with the automatic zig-zagger on your sewing machine, or using the fashion stitch technique if you are using an older style machine. If you have a new automatic swing needle machine you need no extra attachment for the embroidery.

The toybag itself requires about a yard each of two contrasting fabrics and about a half yard of a third fabric in a different color. It fastens with a 14-inch zipper at the top and four hammer-on snaps at the bottom. It is made to hang on a closet door.

Before you present the toybag, tell the children the story of Noah's Ark, explain how even stuffed animals enjoy a home of their own and you will have taught an important lesson in orderliness. Maybe now you will find no more toy elephants on the stairs.

NOAH'S ARK TOYBAG... Easy to make at home.

Real Program Foiled

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—John W. Williams, giving his appliance store a coat of paint one evening, heard a voice in a grocery next door demand:

"Let's have the money—and don't waste time. This is a stick-up!"

He figured his friend, Grocer Gaylor W. Shiveley, was watching television. Williams, a crime program fan, decided he'd take a break and go next door to watch, too.

At the door he was accosted by a young man holding a handkerchief over his face, making off with the store's receipts.

Realizing he had come face to face with the real thing, Williams jumped the man and with Shiveley's help subdued him. Leonard O'Neal Jr., 21, was charged with assault and robbery.

Historical Events On Christmas Day

Christmas day, the birthday of Christ, also marks the anniversary of a number of historical events, according to library sources at Oklahoma state college.

The proclamation of Charlotte-Mecklenburg as an independent state on Christmas in the year 800, William the Conqueror was crowned Christmas day, 1066, and on the same day in 1492 Columbus ship the Santa Maria was wrecked.

Christmas day, 1776, is remembered as the day Washington crossed the Delaware and it was also on that day in 1862 that Sir Isaac Newton was born. It is also the birthday of Peter Tschajkovsky, 1840, and of Clara Barton, 1812.

The battle of Mier in Mexico was fought on Dec. 25, 1842; Shay's Rebellion started Dec. 25, 1788, and the battle of Okemochee was fought, with the Seminoles, on Christmas in 1837.

Other anniversary dates are the founding of Nashville, 1780; discovery of Christmas Island by Captain Cook in 1777, and the Peace of Dresden, with Austria, Prussia and Saxony participating, was signed on Christmas in 1745.

Gifts for the Camera Fans

THERE'S an unlimited range of items and prices that the field of photography offers that would make ideal Christmas gifts for camera fans. But it cannot be a haphazard selection based on price or type of item alone—you can't say, "Give me something for $3" or "Wrap up a roll of film."

It takes a little thought, a little knowledge and perhaps a little prying to find out what would make a suitable gift for an established fan. You should know the type and size of his camera and the extent of his outfit in order to get him an accessory, a gadget or a piece of equipment that he can really use. Like a shirt, you can always use another, a snapshot doesn't need another light meter, tripod, gadget bag, etc.

It is much easier to start a beginner off on a photo hobby. At the very bottom, you can get a tiny camera for youngsters for just under $2. This import from West Germany is not a toy—it takes pictures.

Some Complete Kits

There are complete outfits that include camera, flash unit, flashbulbs, film and book of instructions in attractive gift packages that start around $12 and range upward. For beginners who have the complete camera outfit, the next step would be a simple but complete darkroom outfit for developing negatives and making contact prints. This phase of photography can be started for $5 up.

All photographers can use extra film, in the proper size, and flashbulbs. An album is a practical gift. A negative file might bring order out of chaos and start the New Year right.

Some accessory thoughts for present darkroom addicts might include a darkroom apron, a new safelight, a tray siphon for washing prints, a magnifying viewer or an electric timer for easier enlarging, a foot switch to keep the hands free, an alarm clock for developing, a paper safe and a print trimmer.

A color slide can could always use another viewer or slide file. If he doesn't have an exposure meter, a beaded screen or a projector, put them at the top of the list. If he does have a projector, perhaps he needs an automatic slide changer—but make sure it fits his particular one.

Movies and Luxuries

A movie camera is probably the most welcome gift in a family in which there are children. To extend the range of picture taking to the indoors, lighting equipment is advisable. The newest light bars are flexible, have a place for the camera in the center, have individual switches to control each of the lights and have a handle or pistol grip for easier holding. An essential accessory is a splicing outfit; coupled with a viewer, it makes a better combination. A movie reel chest is a handy piece of equipment and easy on the budget. If the budget is unlimited, how about a tape recorder to add homemade commentary or mood music to home movie or color slide showings?

While we're in the upper brackets, you might give some thought to the booming field of three dimensional photography. Today, there's a large choice of stereo cameras by reputable manufacturers. Stereo projectors are the newest item but don't forget every viewer must wear polaroid glasses. You can never have too many stereo hand viewers and there are transformers available which permit them to be plugged into electric outlets.

Finally, this being an electronic age, you could include a strobe portable speedlight on your gift list possibilities for some serious camera fan.

Yule Card Origin Is Finally Settled By U. S. Publishers

The question of who originated the printed Christmas card, more than 100 years ago, has been settled by the National Association of Greeting Card publishers.

Since 1941, when a copy of a card was found in the British museum, the originator was designated as William May Egley, 16-year-old apprentice engraver; the time—1842.

New evidence, however, questions Egley's authorship and gives credit to Sir Henry Cole and lithographer John C. Horsley for the first card; the time—1843.

Cards credited to Egley and Cole are similar. Both were etched in black and white; both show drinking, dancing and holiday merriment scenes, and both carry holiday greetings.

Evidence that Egley is not the originator comes from a framed copy of the Egley card, which reportedly carries a note on the back in the apprentice's handwriting. The note says the card was finished Dec. 4, 1848, and is the "second ever published."

Regardless of the Christmas greeting card originator, Americans this year are expected to mail approximately two billion cards to family, friends and business associates.

Lightning Strikes Twice

KENNETT, Mo. (AP)—Lightning, on a playful spree, caused little damage but a lot of confusion in this southeastern Missouri town. One bolt hit a tree, caused a cross the wet grass, up a drain pipe and into and out of Mrs. A. W. Garrett's kitchen.

Another bolt struck the radio at the fire department headquarters and smacked Marcus Williams, the driver, out of his chair. He arrived at the Garrett home still a little groggy. Neither bolt caused fire and neither Mrs. Garrett nor Williams was hurt.

Grow basil in a kitchen window. Basil is, of course, a matzo sauce; it is also in green salads and soups. If you use it, mince it and add it before serving.

Christmas Trees As Symbol Started With St. Boniface

The Christian world owes a debt of thanks to St. Boniface for instituting the evergreen as a symbol of Christmas, according to one legend found in the Oklahoma college library.

When St. Boniface converted the Germanic tribes from the worship of Thor to Christianity, legend says, he sought to substitute a tree dedicated to good deeds and Christian principles for the "Thunder Oak" of human sacrifice.

He saw a young fir, straight, green and pointing toward heaven. "This," he said, "is the living tree with no stain of blood upon it. This shall be the sign of your new faith."

"Let us call it the Christ child's tree. Carry it into your chief-tain's hall. No longer shall you go into the forests to keep your feasts with secret, shameful rites. Now you shall keep them at home, with laughter and love and Christian faith."

St. Boniface, the legend concludes, then predicted that the fir tree would be a symbol of love and laughter at Christmas time in homes throughout the Christian world.

Harvie Ward, a native of Tabor, N. C., is the first southern golfer to win the National Amateur title since 1930 when Bob Jones scored.

Willie Mays tied a record by hitting nine home runs in Ebbets Field during the 1955 season. In 1954 Milwaukee's Joe Adcock hit nine in Brooklyn.

Costly Omission

SALISBURY, Conn. (AP)—Clifford Surdam paid $3 a year in justice court for each of the eight years he testified he operated his car without a driver's license; $3 for telling a policeman he had a license when he didn't; and $3 each for the 3 trips the policeman made to Surdam's house to check the license that didn't exist.

Sweet Smell

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Perfume is potent stuff, especially when it leaks from barrels on a transport truck. Workers in the southside area took advantage of the wind-fall and dipped the perfumed oil from puddles into any sort of containers available.

At $15 a pound, the company which uses it to compound the luscious liquid, figured its loss at about $10,000.

The Chicago Cubs, aided by their early season drive when they were in second place, drew 875,800 home fans this year, an increase of 127,617 over their 1954 figure.

First Flag Winner

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Ted Lyons, after 32 years in baseball, finally became connected with a pennant winner when Memphis took the Southern Assn. flag. Lyons, who had been scouting for the Chicago White Sox, took over late in the season when playing manager Jack Cassini was hit in the face by a pitched ball.

Give a Man Something to Wear

IF YOU want to make a hit with the man in your life, give him something he can wear.

Dad may claim a vast disinterest in clothes, but it's ten to one he'll be pleased as punch if the whole family gets together on refurbishing his wardrobe for Christmas. A good idea for such a project is a coordinated outfit of casual wear.

Psychologists say that a modern business man needs to relax when he comes home from the office, and the best way for him to start is by changing into comfortable, casual clothes. Here are some suggestions:

A handsome sports coat is a must in the wardrobe of today's breadwinner. This fall there are lots of good-looking, husky tweeds available in the popular charcoal colors. Or a lighter weight soft wool jacket could be a good choice, for year-round wear. Black and brown combinations are in high favor this fall—a brown and black herring bone tweed, or a brown flannel with a black fleck. Solid black is new and smart in soft wools or cashmere, and dark blue and gray also are good.

With the sports coat, Dad will appreciate a pair of dark gray flannel slacks, and some handsome casual shirts. Junior members of the family can get in on the act by supplying the smaller accessories such as shirts, socks, belts and ties.

Most men go for a touch of color in a gray vest, especially for holiday wear. Solid colors, plaids or tattersall checks are all available, as are the dressier silk brocades, for a Dad who knows his fashions.

Colorful argyle socks will make a hit with most men, and there's nothing more comfortable for an evening of television watching than some of the leather-soled slipper socks.

If the family goes together on sharing the costs, Dad can be outfitted in the right kind of leisure wear this Christmas.

SPORTSWEAR is the way to a modern man's heart.

Irish Leave Food On Table All Night

In many country areas of Ireland, the peasants hold fast to a traditional Christmas ceremony—the placing of food on the table before bedtime with the cottage door left unlocked.

The good, simple folk say Mary and Joseph might again pass their way and it wouldn't do at all in hospitable Ireland if, once again, there was neither food nor shelter at the inn.

Carol Singing Abused in England

Carol singers still troop the streets of England, but the custom is being used to such an extent for begging by children that there have been annual protests in the press.

One practice, now dying out but still to be found in the West Riding of Yorkshire, is the "milly box" (my lady box) containing figures of the Virgin Mary and the Christ Child which the children carry about while singing carols.

Williams Day

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Dick Williams, ex-Dodger outfielder, had himself a big time the final day of the Texas League season. In the first game his inside the park homer enabled Fort Worth to beat Oklahoma City, 4-3. In the nightcap he played all nine positions, including one hitless inning of pitching.

Expect 204 Violent Deaths During Holidays

AUSTIN—Two hundred and four persons are slated to meet with violent deaths in Texas during the 11-day Christmas-New Year's holidays.

That was the grim prediction issued today by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, based on the estimates of his chief statistician, N. K. Woerner.

According to Woerner, the 11-day period (from 12:01 a. m., December 23 to 11:59 p. m., Jan. 2) will bring 112 motoricides; 39 homicides and suicides; and 53 other accidental deaths, such as fires, drownings, etc.

Last year the DPS Statistician predicted that 108 persons would die in Texas traffic accidents during the Holidays, which also spanned 11 days. The final count was exactly 108.

The number of homicides and suicides and other violent deaths was slightly under the estimated figure at the end of 1954 and Garrison said that, as usual, he is appealing to all motorists and pedestrians in the State to strive toward making Woerner's motoricide estimate "far too high."

"If every used of the streets and highways will observe all the traffic laws and exercise courtesy in driving and walking," Garrison said, "we can prove that Chief Woerner's prediction of motoricides during this Holiday season is far too high and thus assure a substantial number of those 112 tentative traffic victims and their families a really Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

New Method

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP)—Experiments in pear orchards here hint that the oily smudge filling the air on cold nights can be eliminated. Experimenters from Oregon State College tried burning sawdust briquettes and length of waste wood from sawmills to heat the air.

They said the method holds promise, gives clean smoke and the cost is comparable with that of oil.

True Sign

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP)—The Jackson Elks lodge has erected a large sign, reading "Welcome Elks."

It's located across the highway from the state elk refuge.

Two things that make for SAFER driving!

The first and most important thing is you — the driver. The courtesy, care, and common sense you show count more than anything else.

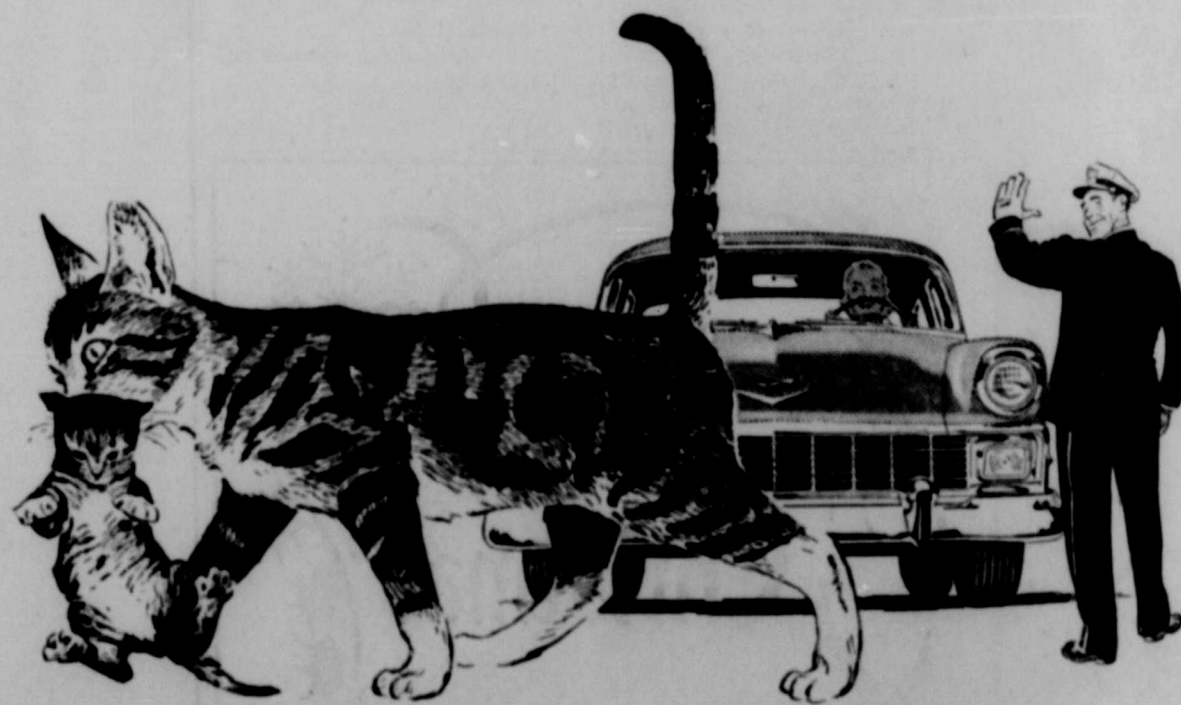

The second thing is the car itself. All cars are safer today. That's shown by the number of accidents in relation to the number of miles passenger cars are driven. The figure's down sharply.

Chevrolet has always made safety a major consideration, introducing many such features as the all-steel top, into its field. And this '56 Chevrolet is the safest one ever built.

Its lively new power means safer passing. Its special Ball-Race steering—oversize brakes with Anti-Dive control—bring easier, surer driving. The Unisteel construction and safety door latches of its Fisher Body—the nailed-to-the-road stability that comes from advanced suspension and better balance — all these things add to your safety.

Seat belts with or without shoulder harness? Instrument panel padding? Of course, they're available at extra cost. As your Chevrolet dealer, we'll be glad to show you the many safety features of the '56 Chevrolet.

Toys May Help Junior's Future

is the erector set. Three high school boys devised a rocket launching platform last year with one. Scientist Willy Ley is said to have called it "superb in its conception." Offshore oil rigs and floating radar stations are inventions of 12-year-olds.

Model trains serve the purpose of mechanical training. Boys with engineering and designing talents form clubs in which elaborate train layouts are assembled and operated on a communal or team basis. One of the largest train set-ups in the country, run entirely by boys, is in Bridgeport, Conn. Boys and adults share in the highly scientific and artistic train layout in Hoboken and Pelham, New York. The hundred foot model platform in Chester, Pa., is the scene of an annual derby.

Little girls may be encouraged in homemaking with cooking sets in which 10 year-olds can bake their very own pies and cakes. Supermarket counter games teach youngsters to study what groceries go into their dinners. A nurse's game may set the mood for that career.

It's up to parents to help their youngsters discover themselves. One man who might have made a good scientist relates that "every year I pleaded for a microscope and chemistry set for Christmas. Each time I was presented with a dictionary. Now I'm just a frustrated businessman."

Fisherman's Christmas

By Newsfeatures

If there's a fisherman in your family, you can make him happy with a handsome case for his fishing rod, identified with his own name in neat braid. You can make it yourself in an hour, for a pin-money investment.

Here are a few tips on how to make this he-man gift on your sewing machine, with use of a couple of simple attachments for a real custom-made finish.

You will need one-third yard of 54-inch cotton gabardine or similar sturdy material, a package of bias binding in a contrasting color, about three yards of yarn (for braiding) in the same color as the binding and a spool of matching thread.

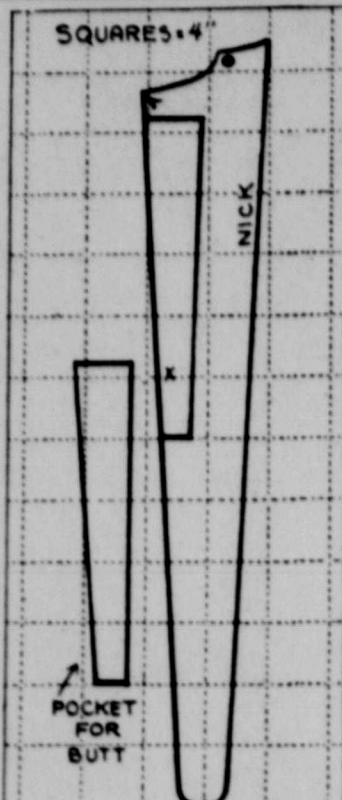

You can make your own pattern from an old case which fits the rod, or follow the diagram sketched, which is for a standard two-part rod measuring 62 inches long, including the 21-inch butt section. Cut the sections of fabric for the butt pocket and for the case itself, following the pattern.

Write the name or initials to be used on a sheet of paper with carbon paper right side up beneath it, or machine pierce the name or initials on the paper with machine needle unthreaded. Place the paper pattern where name is to appear on the case, on the wrong side of the fabric with the wrong side of the name up.

Using the underbraider attachment on the machine, and yarn which has been handbraided for extra thickness,

PERSONALIZED ROD CASE... Easy to make at home from pattern diagram sketched here. Sure to please that fisherman.

stitch the name to the case, following pattern outline.

On the butt pocket section, make a small box pleat at the bottom, taking up 1/4 inch. Baste. Using the multiple-slotted binder on the machine, bind the three inside edges of the pocket section. Stitch this section to the case, with the top edge of the pocket 1 1/2 inches from the top of the case. Also bind the curved top edge. Fold the case in half lengthwise, and stitch with a quarter-inch seam. Using the binder again, enclose this seam with binding.

Now bind the top edge of the case, leaving about 10 inches of binding free at each end to form ties. Stitch about 16 inches of binding for the center tie and attach at point X.

Santa, Here's What Young People Want!

By Newsfeatures

Dear Santa:

Here's hoping all young moderns get a special wink from you this year and that you find enough of what they want to go around. Although rumor has it that young people are developing their own personalities, it seems region by region that they like the same things.

Take that V-neck boy's sweater for instance, so popular with the girls today. Did you know that practically all subdebs have them on their list for Christmas 1955? And did you know that most girls have it planned so they give the boy one that matches? No? Well perhaps you'd be interested in the new fad of matching bright or patterned shirts for two. Bright red, yellow or high-style plaid are popular favorites for young daters.

Another big item on girl and boy lists are record players. Make it hi-fi if you can and load up your sack with some good records such as the popular "Autumn Leaves" and Jerome Kern's song-book.

Sleepwear is an important favorite because slumber parties are high on the list of Christmas musts. Fun pajamas are what all the girls want, it seems and popular ones include those long knitted nightshirts with horizontal stripes in loud colors called "Charlestones." Then there are the fannel pajamas made like football and baseball players' suits with big numbers on the back. The girls are mad for those Earrings and bracelets are in big demand so you'd better get your super jewel box shined up and bond Donder and Blitzen for the big ride. Nylons are wanted by all chic daters and all require light beige, the suntan leg color. Must be seamless, too.

Stationery, another favorite, is more popular with printed name or initials. Evening slippers and "heels" are absolute musts for the era of ladylike daters. "Flats" are still popular but mostly for play, seldom for dating. Bejeweled and embroidered flats may be worn at slumber parties. Ditto those Arabian night slippers.

And, oh yes, Santa, every young miss seems to be engaged in collecting something. You'd better get an extra supply of stuffed animals because that's one of the favorite acquisitions of our busy students. And be prepared for a note from one school ordering seeds of stuffed bull-dogs. It seems the junior class of Low Haywood school in Stamford, Conn. is presenting each senior with a little bulldog, the mascot of the Junior class, or so Junior Judy Lewis tells us.

You can make young people happy with most anything these days because their minds revolve faster than super turbines. So there are girls who wait expectantly for microscopes and chemistry sets, and some boys enjoy knitting (although they are likely to do it secretly).

Girls away at school would enjoy a basket of snacks to take back after their holiday, and students who live at home would like a gift certificate for a case of their favorite soda pop, they tell us.

From where you sit Santa you've probably had to bone up on 1955 tastes so we hope somebody told you this is not the year for reading. If there's anything you can do to encourage the idea though, we're all for it, and perhaps you'll stuff each stocking with some book that will whet junior appetites. Or perhaps the authors are just off the beam. Oh, yes, in case no one has told you, preferred reading for those who still do it are science and travel books.

Thanks for Your Patronage

Racy Sporting Look Scores In Christmas Bike Lineup

By VIVIAN BROWN
By Newsfeatures Writer

Dad can have his souped-up sports car. Junior will compete with his new speedy bicycle. It'll have a paint job as bright and gay as the family car, too, and what's more, new safety factors will reassure any parent.

New American bicycles are lighter and speedier. A middle-weight style combines the best features of real lightweight models with standard models account for more than 40 per cent of American bike sales say manufacturers, a point to keep in mind when Christmas shopping for a two-wheeler.

Pedaling is made easier on the lightweight units with newly-designed tires. It steps down by one-third the amount of pedal pressure required to apply the brake, providing greater safety according to American engineers. A child weighing 34 pounds has the same braking ability with the new type coaster brake as a 50-pound youngster on the same bike with conventional brakes.

New American bikes are said to be less costly to maintain, and replacement parts are easily available.

Points to keep in mind when shopping for a bicycle include these:

1. Foot brakes enable youngsters to make quick stops without releasing one hand from the wheel.

2. Gadgets available include warning devices, horns and bells, sealed-beam headlights, special shock absorbers, chrome guard bars, luggage carriers and speedometers. (Basket, adjustment tools, speedometer and bicycle bags are preferred accessories say manufacturers. Bell, horn, headlight and tail light are basic requirements for safe riding.)

3. The proper size bike is im-

Wedding Vows Read December 18 For Miss Tabb and Frank H. Smith

Wedding vows were read Sunday, December 18, in the Seventh and James Baptist Church in Waco for Miss Elizabeth Winifred Tabb and Frank Hart Smith, both of Waco.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cook Tabb at Waco and Mr. Smith's parents, are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith of Greenwood, Miss.

Reverend Charles Wellborn, pastor, read the double-ring service at 4 p. m. before the altar which was banked with Commadore palms, a profusion of Cathedral tapers and baskets of white chrysanthemums and stock.

Mrs. Jack Henson played a prelude of organ selections and accompanied Miss Jane Long soloist. Mr. and Mrs. George Stokes sang a prayer duet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of ivory taffeta, designed with an elongated bodice with petal collar neckline and long tapering sleeves ending in points at the wrists. The bouffant skirt was shirred at the hipline and swept into a chapel train.

Her veil of French illusion was attached to a cap of reembodyed alencon lace. She carried an imported Bible, inlaid with mother-of-pearl, topped with a cascade of white roses entwined with velvet maidenhair fern and French maline.

Mrs. Herman S. Kelley of Shreveport, La., cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Long, Waco; Miss Patricia Ann Griffin, Waco; Mrs. Jarrel McCracken, Waco and Mrs. Milton B. McGee, Houston.

They wore waltz length dresses of iridescent taffeta in shades of bronze and carried cascade bouquets of yellow and tulle roses, accented with matching French maline.

W. W. Smith, the bridegroom's father, was best man. Groomsmen were Bob Smith of Greenwood, the bridegroom's brother, Guy Davidson, Waco, Hiram Woolsey Jr., Meridian and Grover Andrews, Waco.

Ushers were Don Singleton, Amarillo; Lt. Joe Masone, Tucson, Ariz. and Lt. Tom Wilkie, San Angelo.

Ed Melvin and Bill Melvin both of Austin, lighted the candles.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Drawing Room of Baylor Union Building.

The bride's table was covered with an imported hand embroidered cloth and centered with an antique silver and crystal epergne filled with white roses. Miss Virginia Tabb, aunt of the bride, and Miss Jo Alys Downs presided at the punch service.

Members of the house party included Mrs. Frank Spann of Greenwood, aunt of the bride, groom, and Mrs. C. C. Tabb of Shreveport, aunt of the bride.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans and Shreveport the bride traveled in a dressmaker suit of driftwood color in a French Lesur fabric, with champagne colored beret of panne velvet. Her corsage was pink camellias and she carried a short topper of champagne Borgania.

Correction

The names of Mrs. B. R. Pletcher, Mrs. J. W. Chase, and Mrs. Carl Barrett were omitted from the hostess list in last week's Herald story of the shower honoring Mrs. Kenneth Holdeman.

We are indeed sorry this error was made.

After January 1, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home at 1820 South Eighth street, Waco.

The bride is a graduate of Waco high school, attended Ward Belmont College in Nashville, Tenn. and graduated from Baylor University, where she was a member of Sigma Tau Delta.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenwood high school, Mississippi College, and is working toward his master's degree at Baylor University. He is a member of Sigma Tau Delta and Pi Gamma Mu fraternities. He was a member of the Perryton high school faculty from 1949-51. He is Minister of Activities at Seventh and James Baptist Church, Waco.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Twyla Stone, bride elect of Cullen Neely, was the honoree at a bridal shower, Thursday evening, December 15, in the home of Mrs. Lina Schweitzer, 1121 South Baylor.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Mae Pattison, Mrs. Edith Tucker, Mrs. J. R. Russell, Mrs. Troy Bolerjack and Mrs. Johnny Ferguson.

Alternate hostesses received the guests. Miss Pat Halpain kept the guest register. Miss Halpain and Miss Barbara Ferguson assisted with the gifts.

The serving table was laid with a white lace cloth over pastel green. The centerpiece was a ceramic bride's book, inscribed with the betrothed couples names and the date of the wedding. At either side were pale green tapers tied with white satin ribbons and miniature green wedding bells. Mrs. Marshal Stone, mother of the honoree, presided at the punch service.

Approximately fifty guests called or sent gifts during the evening.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Saunders of Glenco, Okla., will observe their Golden Wedding Anniversary at their home in Glenco on Saturday, December 24. It has been announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders are former members of the Balco community, living on a farm near Balco from 1906 until about five years ago when they moved to Glenco.

They invite their friends to visit them on their anniversary and will appreciate hearing from old friends that day.

Visitors Honored With Dinner

Mrs. H. P. Fuller and Mrs. Calvin Cook were hostesses for a family dinner Monday in the Cook home at 1101 South Drake, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Mel Curtis, Janis and Gary of San Bernardino, Calif., who visited here from Sunday until Tuesday.

Mrs. Curtis will be remembered as Miss Helen Harris of Perryton.

Places were laid for the honored family and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wooster, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Dieball and Debbie, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. George, Gary George, Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, Doug and Jan and Rev. and Mrs. Cook, Cal. Lynn and Claudia.

WEDDING DATE SET . . . Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kiewer of Balco, Okla. announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Cletta Jean Kiewer, to Douglas Hawk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hawk. The wedding will take place on January 14, in the home of the bride's parents.

Foglesong-Allen Wedding Read In Temple City, Calif.

Mrs. Amanda Foglesong of San Gabriel, California and Rupert C. Allen of Perryton, were united in marriage Sunday, December 11 at 2:30 in the afternoon, in Temple City, California in the home of the bride's niece, Mrs. H. C. Leder.

Mrs. Eugene Singer sang "This Precious Moment," which was written by a friend of the bride. Reverend Frank Mathews of the San Gabriel First Methodist Church, officiated at the ceremony before a fireplace banked with chrysanthemums and stock and pink cathedral candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John Higdon, of Cardiff-by-the-Sea, California.

The bride wore a dress of blue lace with matching shoes and a half-hat of white feathers. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift from the bride groom, and an old-cord corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Crane, of Temple City, attended the couple. Mrs. Crane, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a coral lace dress with matching hat.

Candle lighters were Jim Singer and Miss Georgia Ann Crane. Flower girls were Linda Sue Vickers, grand-niece of the bride, and Sandra Molesworth, grand-daughter of the bridegroom.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth, centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with double wedding bells.

After January 1 Mr. and Mrs. Allen will return to Perryton where they will make their home.

Guest for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bray and Dinner Honors Mr. McMillen

Mrs. W. E. McMillen was hostess for a dinner Tuesday, in her home at 322 South Baylor, honoring her husband on his birthday.

A large decorated cake centered the dinner table.

Places were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Roland McMillen, Miss Virginia Lou Wilson, the honoree and Mrs. McMillen.

Mrs. Eudy Is Hostess To U-Deal-Em Club

Mrs. Don Eudy was hostess to members and guests of the U-Deal-Em bridge club December 14, in her home at 1517 South Elton.

Christmas decorations were used on the bridge tables for the dessert course, which preceded bridge play.

Mrs. Harry Stumpf, Mrs. Bob Turner and Mrs. Chellis Gidley were guests of the club.

Members present were Mrs. Harold Gidley, Mrs. Roy Leatherman, Mrs. J. J. Keim Jr., Mrs. Robert Holland, Mrs. Archie Correll and the hostess.

Mrs. Harold Gidley held high score and Mrs. Keim second high.

Waka 4-H Club Meets at School

The Waka 4-H club met December 15 at the school house.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Laura Jane Wiebe.

After the business meeting, Miss Lou Ella Patterson, agent, conducted a contest among the girls on how to identify and spell the names of various shrubbery. She also presented each girl with a Christmas recipe book.

Those present were Patsy Turner, Pat Dunnahoo, Alene and Nadine Wiebe, Vera Jo and Cheryl Scroggs, Laura Jane and Carol Ann Wiebe, Ann Burger, Ann Scroggs, Carolyn Mae Leighnor and their adult leader, Mrs. Dean Leighnor.

Sorority Party Held Dec. 16

Members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority and their husbands enjoyed a Christmas party December 16, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dent Lenderman, 119 southwest Third Avenue. Mrs. Bob Barnett was co-hostess for the party.

Christmas decorations were used throughout the entertaining rooms.

A pot-luck supper was served. The bridge tables were decorated with candles and holly.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dear, Mr. and Mrs. Billie Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Sammie Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lemon, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Good, Mrs. Virgil Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Lenderman and Mr. and Mrs. Barnett.

Pitch was played during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps held high score and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Turner held low.

B & PW Club Will Sponsor Dance

The Perryton Business and Professional Women's Club will sponsor a dance New Years night at 9 p. m. at the Veterans Memorial Building.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Wilson returned home last Friday from a ten day visit in Detroit, Mich. and Indiana. Enroute home they visited in Denver, Colo. and brought their daughter, Miss Virgie Lou Wilson who attends Colorado Women's College, home for the Christmas holidays.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Luther Wade, Mrs. Charles Garrett, Mrs. Bill Fletcher and Mrs. R. L. Smoot.

Centering the serving table was a large white candle encircled with gold and silver ornaments and greenery, sprayed with pink flocking. The smaller tables were laid with Christmas cloths and centered with candles and greenery.

Mrs. Keith McCormick told the Christmas story.

Christmas carols were sung by the group.

A gift exchange was enjoyed.

Those present were Mesdames A. S. Brillhart, H. C. Brillhart, Paul Bowen, Mark Burton, J. W. Chase, H. T. Cutter, Charles Garrett, W. L. Herndon, A. J. Kelly, F. M. One Solitary Life

Editors, writers and ministers have attributed the following tribute to many sources, from Phillips Brooks to O. Henry, but the authorship remains anonymous.

It has appeared many times in sermons and anthologies, has been reprinted in various forms, but still remains one of the distinctive writings of this, or any other generation.

We think it especially appropriate to reprint here in this Christmas season: ONE SOLITARY LIFE

"Here is a young man who was born in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was thirty, and then for three years he was an itinerant preacher.

"He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never owned a home. He never had a family. He never went to college.
He never put his foot inside a big city. He never traveled 200 miles from the place where he was born. He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but himself.

"While he was still a young man, the tide of public opinion turned against him. His friends ran away. He was turned over to his enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. While he was dying, his executioners gambled for the only piece of property he had on earth, and that was his coat.

"When he was dead, he was laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

"Nineteen centuries wide have come and gone, and today he is the central figure of the human race and the leader of the column of progress.

"I am far within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever sailed, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man upon this earth, as has that One Solitary Life."

Pennies Are Scarce

A shortage of pennies in the United States has caused a Vermont bank to offer $1.05 for every 100 pennies presented in a wrapper—and the bank will supply the wrappers.

If Vermonters, a traditionally close people when it comes to money, will do a thing like this there must be a good reason.

We can't believe there is an actual shortage of pennies; however, and it appears that the main thing the Vermont bank stands to gain from this deal is good will.

BAKERS' SUPERETTE

The Bakers

Travis Jim Viola Brook

From the SIDELINE

with HAROLD HUDSON

Christmas week would seem more like Christmas if the weather were a bit more cooperative. Snow is what we need, not only for Christmas spirit, but for the spirits of the wheat farmers. We keep reading of big snows to the north, but we seem to have moved into a temperate belt where the cold weather comes, but no snows.

Basketball is looking up around Perryton high school. The dangerettes captured first place in the Mobeetie tournament against some stiff opposition while the Rangers took third place in the same tournament.
Both clubs are composed principally of juniors and sophomores and perhaps next year will see even more improvement.

Down at Stamford, where they have nearly always fielded good football teams, basketball has been somewhat of an orphan, much more than in schools in this area. The Stamford American commented only last week that it was less than ten years ago when the Stamford players had to turn-ish their own transportation to games, had to buy their own equipment, and pay for their own jackets at the end of the season. We presume they had a paid coach.

Paul Haywood tells a story about a friend of his talking to a wealthy rancher near Midland who lived in a $100,000 home, drove big cars, took trips to Europe, etc. When the rancher was asked how he got so wealthy, he answered "By selling those cal-es too d-n cheap."

Then there was the Texas millionaire who had four limousines—one for each direction.

In looking through our exchange newspapers the last week or so, we have come across several accounts of family Christmas traditions concerning the election of a tree. Seems that many families used to get together and go into the woods where the selection of a tree was a big event. Papa would cut down the tree, take it home, and be family would trim it. We also read this part of childhood Christmas observances, having pent our childhood out here on these bald plains. The earliest I can remember is the find that was shipped in from the northwest, just like now.

The government is figuring on rearranging the typewriter keyboard. Then it will be even harder to make sense out of letters from Wasginhob.

Signs of the times: A few years ago the government was dyeing purple potatoes so that they couldn't be sold as food for human consumption. Today, peelings of potatoes are being colored to give them a "new spring" look so that more potatoes will be sold as food for human consumption.

A custom that seems to have died out around here is the charivari. Reason we know has died out is that the society editor has not been asked how to spell the word in several years now. For the benefit of the uninitiated, a charivari is a quaint custom which usually takes place a few days after the honeymoon. "Friends" of the couple call upon them, and make the husband push his bride down Main street in a wheelbarrow, to the accompaniment of tooting auto horns.
While this is going on, others go into the home and do all sorts of pranks to the house.

And the bridegroom is usually expected to pass out the cigars and look reasonably happy while all this is being done to him in the name of "custom."

Eddy Akridge, now of Hesperia, Calif., has won the national bareback bronc riding championship for the third consecutive year, according to the Rodeo Cowboy's Association.
Akridge, who once lived at Perryton, first listed Beaver as his home town when he started the rodeo game, then listed

REUNITED WITH DOG—Elbert Spencer, 34, hugs his guide dog

thorities "admitted" the dog when he became ill and refused to eat after Spencer had gone to the hospital for treatment of his eyes.

Wolf Creek Philosopher Amazed To Find It's Time Again

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher apparently has the Christmas spirit, which must make it unanimous.)

Dear editor:

It doesn't seem like a month since last Christmas but I see by the calendar another one is almost on us. Unless it's the due-date on a note, nothing comes around faster than Christmas these days, and while some people attribute this to the speed we're going at, it doesn't apply to me, as I'm going at the same rate of speed I've been going at for years. It's hard to vary your speed when you're sitting under a tree in the summer or in a rocking chair by the fire in the winter reading a newspaper. Oh, I'll admit I can read the Herald faster than I can the Daily Oklahoman, but just because a cow can eat a pound of cottonseed cake faster than she can a bale of Johnson grass hay is no sign she's gonna come out any more thoroughly nourished, so you can see speed has nothing to do with it.

However, to tell the truth, I'm not sorry Christmas is here again. I know there are people who claim the day has been made into a racket, but there's nothing original in their thinking. Ole Scrooge claimed the same thing a hundred years ago.

Gruver as home until moving to California.

The Port Lavaca Wave is about to become a family affair. Jim Bray, former Herald advertising manager, bought the Gulf Coast weekly in partnership with Rigby Owen of Conroe, and then Bob Bray, son of the publisher, joined the staff as editor several months ago. Latest addition to the staff is Keith Bray, another son, who quit the advertising department of the Borger News-Herald to become advertising manager of the Wave. All three Brays are capable newspaper men and are doing a splendid job with the Wave.

We notice where the only bakery in Temple, Texas, a town of 32,000 people, is for sale at a sacrifice. Another news item points out that Plainview has no bakery at all. It seems that this is a sign of the times—bakeries can't secure the necessary patronage at home. Here in Perryton we have seen two bakeries go broke, although their products were good and their prices right. People had just rather pay for bread baked half way across the state, saturated with preservatives, wrapped in a fancy wrapper. A few small specialty bakeries exist, but these are in the larger cities.

Four Models in 1956 Rambler Line

COMPACT AND SPACIOUS... Roomier inside, the redesigned and restyled 1956 American Motors Rambler is more compact than before in outside dimensions. Trunk space is increased 25 per cent. New mechanical features include a 120 horsepower overhead valve engine, suspension system utilizing coil springs on all wheels, torque tube drive, power brakes and power steering, and 12-volt electrical system. Window area has been increased 30 per cent. The line includes a sedan, hardtop convertible (shown here), station wagon, and a hardtop convertible station wagon without centerposts, the first such model offered by the industry. The 1956 Rambler models go on display in Hudson and Nash dealer showrooms, December 15.

Social Security Man Scheduled

A representative from the Social Security Office in Amarillo will be in Perryton, Tuesday, Dec. 28, 9:00 a. m. He can be contacted at the Courthouse.

This representative can furnish any information or assistance which would be available at the District Office in Amarillo. He will receive applications for retirement or survivors insurance under the Social Security Act; applications for original, duplicate, or change of name social security cards; and applications for employer identification numbers for new employers or employers recently becoming liable for making social security returns.

Any farm workers or self-employed farmers wishing information on the new provisions of the law applicable to farmers are also invited to contact this representative.

Fascinating Beliefs Connected With Christmas Day

It isn't recommended today, but back in the old, old days it was believed that a thief who stole successfully on Christmas Day could pilfer throughout the remainder of the year and escape unharmed.

This is only one of many fascinating beliefs that tie in with the Yule season, Oklahoma A&M college library, sources reveal. On the gloomy side, someone had better drive carefully if a light goes out in the house during the day—legend has it that someone in the house will soon die.

Just as fantastic but more likely to appeal is the superstition from Scottish folklore that water will turn into wine at midnight Christmas eve.

In Germany the same belief was prevalent, with one exception: the water turned into a more potent beverage Christmas night.

Fruit growers will like this one: a stone placed on each tree Christmas eve will insure a greater yield.

This one is calculated to appeal to news reporters and people who listen in on party lines: Walk into a corn field Christmas eve—you'll hear everything that is going to happen in your town during the next 12 months.

Chicken Alarm

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP)—A Bluffton doctor has invented an alarm clock for chickens. It's a thermostat that warns the farmer when the temperature in his brooder house drops too low or rises too high. Dr. B. W. Travis makes part of the gadget in his home workshop, farms out the rest to shops.

Waka, Texas

Dear Santa,
I am a boy six years old and in the first grade at Balco school. I'd like a 24 inch bicycle and anything else you think I might like.

My little sister, Rita, who is three years old wants a little table and chairs. Please bring

SHRIMP BOWL BELLE—Barbara Erickson, of Galveston, strikes a pretty pose as she waits for the big day when she will compete with 9 other belles for the title of Queen of the Shrimp Bowl game to be played in Galveston. (AP Photo) my little brother, Rex, something too.

Bring something to all the other little boys and girls.

Love,
Teryl Rorabaugh
Balco, Okla.

Dear Santa,
Would you please bring me a doll, stove sink, table and chairs and dishes. I am 5 years old, don't forget all the other little boys and girls, and don't forget my little nephew Terry Calliham. Merry Christmas to you Santa.

Love,
La Johnna Red

Dear Santa,
I think I've been pretty good this year. I would like to have a watch and a hope chest. My brother and my sisters have been pretty good. Bring them what they want. Bring all my friends what they want.

Your Pal,
Nadine Wiebe
Waka, Texas

P. S. We will set out some cookies for you and some milk too.

Dear Santa,
Bring me some spending money. A million dollars will do. I've been a fairly good boy this year. Also bring my daddy a new Ford car. And my mother a new house. Also my brothers and sisters bring them a semi-truck load of toys. I guess that's all for now. Be good now.

Yours truly,
Wilford Scroggs
Waka, Texas

Dear Santa Claus,
My name is Ann Burger and I am 10 years old. I would like for you to bring my sister a doll and some clothes. My big brother would like a wrist radio and a walkie-talkie too. I would like a "Meet the President" game and some sweaters. My little brother would like some cars, a pull toy

Lots of Fireworks In Wrestling Ring Friday

Lots of fireworks were turned loose Friday night in the wrestling events sponsored by the local American Legion and VFW posts at the Veterans Memorial Building.

China Mara, the copper skinned lass from the Philippines, took two falls from Dot Dodson, the blonde from Dallas.

The blonde won the first one, but China came back in a wild finish to pin Dot in three minutes flat after the third fall began. This match was so wild at one time that both contestants were rolling on the scorer's table outside the ring.

Bob Geigel won revenge over Rip Rogers in the main event, taking two straight falls from the golden treasured heavyweight. Geigel won the first fall after the referee disqualified Rogers for choking. The match had got ten so wild that the top rung of the ring came loose, and Rogers had his foe on the mat with the rope around his neck when the referee stopped it.

The next fall was a quick one. Geigel flattened Rogers with a flying mare and pinned Rogers for the count before Rip could catch his breath.

Next wrestling card will be seen Dec. 30.

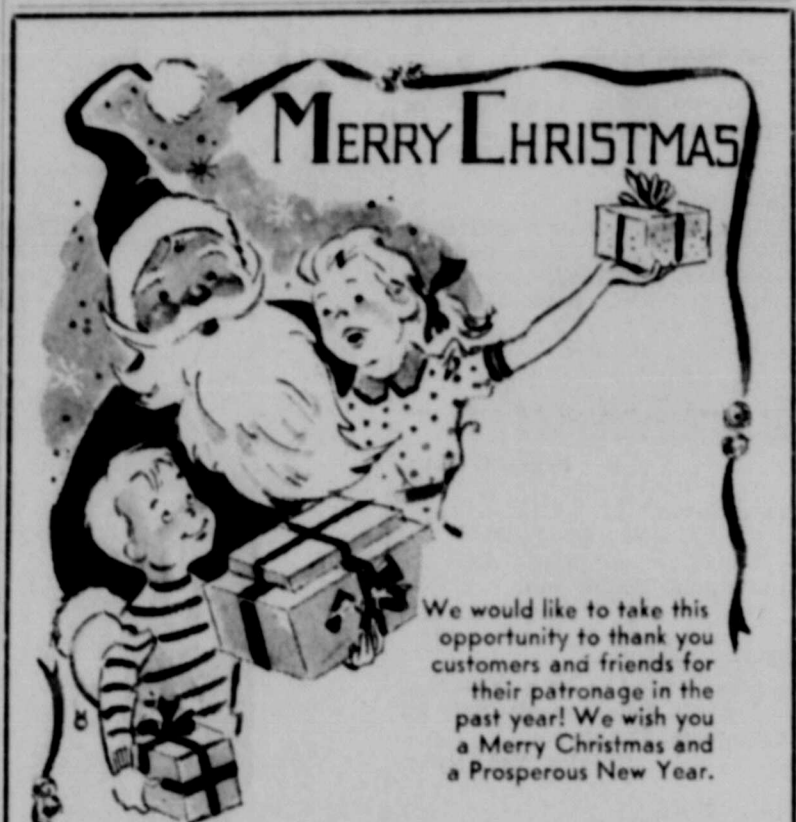

Timely Exit

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Gilbert Diaz, 40, suffered only minor hurts when he was tossed out of his auto in a collision.

But his car went on to jump a curb, smash two chairs on a lawn, barge through a fence, crash through a garage wall and knock a parked car through the opposite side of the garage.

Ancient Refuge

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—One of Austin's original old mansions was being torn down and workmen discovered a secret cellar to be used to hide from Indians. The house was built in 1857.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you customers and friends for their patronage in the past year! We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

Mickey Rooney Big Surprise

Mickey Rooney will surprise motion picture audiences with one of the most unusual and entertaining roles of his career in "The Twinkle In God's Eye," which comes Sunday and Monday to the Ellis Theatre.

The versatile Rooney portrays a young parson who returns to the wild frontier town where his parson father before him built a church and was killed in an Indian attack which destroyed the humble place of worship. His mother was saved by a Bible which caught the impact of an Indian arrow.

The young pastor's simple approach to a sound religious faith works a few miracles and has a taming influence on the wayward frontier outpost, however, not without a series of tense incidents.

dry weather took its toll. However, Kachel says he has never had a total failure and even had some wheat in 1955.

The seven room house was built in the 1920's and has been remodeled several times. It is of frame and stucco construction.

Since Kachel moved on the place, he has added many other improvements including a large hen house, brooder house, machinery shed, barn and other small buildings.

Soil conservation practices on the Kachel farm include listing and chiseling on the contour.

Mr. and Mrs. Kachel are at present subscribers to the Herald as well as two dailies and another weekly newspaper.

Ft. Worth Show To Be Biggest In SW History

FORT WORTH—With livestock space materially increased due to a new building, the greatest steer show in the history of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show is predicted by exposition officials. Stock Show dates are Jan. 27 through Feb. 5.

It is probable that no phase of livestock judging is followed with keener interest than the steer competition, which includes of course the selection of junior and open show champions and the climax, the choosing of the grand champion of the entire show. In addition to the cash awards, banners, ribbons and trophies, there is the reward bestowed through "The Auction of Champions."

Last year's grand champion steer sold for $6,300. If the grand champion steer is a Polled Hereford, there is a special prize of $5,500 awaiting the owner. The American Polled Hereford Association and the National Western Polled Hereford Association jointly offers this prize for the first Polled Hereford chosen grand champion at any one of four designated shows, of which Fort Worth is one. Should the grand champion be a Hereford (and this includes Polled Hereford), $500 will be given by the American Hereford Association. A prize of $250 is offered by the American Shorthorn Breeders Association should the brand champion go to a Shorthorn, and $250 will be given by the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders Association of an Angus is grand champion.

In the junior steer show, if a Hereford is the champion, $250 will be given by the American Hereford Association; if an Angus $100 by the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders Association; if a Shorthorn, $100 by the American Shorthorn Breeders Association; if a Polled Hereford, $135 by the American Polled Hereford Association, this latter award being in addition to the $250 which the American Hereford Association would give.

Of U. S. men over 60 years old, about one in seven is in the hospital some time during any one year.

County Bond Total High

F. B. Sumpter, United States Savings Bonds Chairman for Ochiltree County, announced today that citizens of Ochiltree county purchased $18,546.00 dollars worth of U. S. Savings Bonds during the past eleven months. This amount represents 91 per cent of the 1955 Savings Bonds Quota for Ochiltree County, Sumpter stated.

"Go to your bank now and buy that extra bond. Your purchase will help Ochiltree county to make its 1955 goal," said Sumpter. "When you are buying that extra bond you are helping to keep your dollars stable, you are helping to keep your community strong, and you're investing in a brighter future for yourself and your family with a safe, sure United States Savings Bond," he added.

The other members of the County Committee are: Irvin R. Buchanan, Carl Ellis, Robert R. Gibson, Mrs. Lloyd Phillips and Alton Boxwell.
