Two former New Mexico cowboys who had had trouble with the Spikes brothers, one with John and the other with Dick, and the former wife of Henry Hawkins, presented testimony in the libel suit brought by Fred Spikes against J. Evetts Haley and the trustees of the Capitol Reservation Lands asking $200,000 damages because of statements in a book written by Haley for the trustees, in 99th district court today.

a deposition. G. E. Lockhart cross© plaintiff.

Related Incidents

Mrs. Madden in her deposition related incidents that happened in the years 1900, 1901 and 1902 concerning her husband and his association with Dick, John and Fred Spikes. She said she had seen Henry Hawkins with Fred, Dick and John Spikes at different times; "They were at my father's place" she testified. Such occasions were "frequent" as to the visits of the three.

"They came to my father's home and ate meals there," she testified. "I prepared the meals myself." There were with her, her mother, father and brothers. George Cook was occasionally with the Spikes boys and her husband, and also George Massagee, but the latter never ate with the others.

At the time of the death of John and Dick Spikes, Mrs. Hawkins said she did not know where her husband was on that day. She recalled some trouble he had with some officers, including Alex Street, "several days" before when he had a "gun fight" with them.

Said she "Heard Shots"

Mrs. Madden said she "heard shots" from the direction of Mesa Rica and she went outside of the house and saw the trouble. She saw the officers chasing the men in the party, including her husband, George Cook, a man named Potter, Witt Neal and Massagee. Later Neal came by her place, riding a bareback, "got my brother's saddle" and rode off.

"The last time I saw Henry Hawkins was January 23" she testified. "It was at my father's house. Cook, Potter, Witt Neal and Massagee were with him." The men ate a meal, which she prepared and then left.

"I never saw him again," she testified. The last time she saw him he was armed. Charles Crenshaw read the questions and E. L. Klett the replies.

IMPEACHMENT STUDIED

LEGISLATURE ASKED TO CONSIDER AFFAIRS OF TENNESSEE

(By Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 26—The legislature is being asked to investigate its investigators of state affairs and also to consider a resolution for appointment of a committee to determine if Governor Henry H. Horton should be impeached.

The move followed a report of the legislative investigating committee yesterday which charged that Horton had been largely dominated by Col. Luke Lea, newspaper publisher and politician, and Rogers Caldwell, fallen financier. A minority of the committee, however, said the majority had listened only to such facts, hearsays, suspicions and conclusions" that would promote "their plan to compel certain public officials to stand public trial."

Bank Failures Linked

GOVERNOR NOT CERTAIN ON SITUATION

DROP IN CRUDE PRICE BY HUMBLE TODAY IS EXPECTED TO REACT

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, May 26.—Action of the Humble Oil and Refining company today in reducing the price it offers to pay for oil in the East Texas field was regarded by oil men here as likely to bring to a head the long controversy over proration in that section, and as probably setting in motion agitation that might precipitate an immediate special session of the legislature.

The situation, already precarious on account of a claimed disposition on the part of some East Texas operators to ignore the railroad commission's proration orders, was plainly on the verge of important developments, as semi-officially viewed.

Order Not Observed

AUSTIN, May 26 (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling said today he probably would decide within two or three days whether to call a special session of the legislature and on what day it would start if he should deem it necessary. He pointed particularly to the existing crisis in the oil industry, characterizing the oil problem as "extremely vital."

gust of those who were complying. R. D. Parker, chief oil and gas supervisor of the commission, last Saturday predicted that unless better co-operation developed on the part of the recalcitrant operators, the state might as well abandon proration entirely.

Almost simultaneously with Humble's deep slash of 20 cents per barrel official proration figures from the field revealed that production increased there 43,423 barrels daily last week over the pre-

Elder John T. Smith of Broadway Church of Christ was to read the rites. Burial was to be in Lubbock cemetery.

Boy's Condition Unchanged

The condition of W. L. Simpson, 9-year-old son of the woman whom he said pulled him into the pool with her and kept him from swimming, was unchanged, attendants at Lubbock santarium said this morning. Although the boy was suffering chest pains, there evidently was no immediate danger of pulmonary complications, they said.

Pallbearers at the funeral were to be: B. Sherrod, Gus Niblack, O. A. Allen, H. L. Allen, A. D. Chase, and Russell Hopkins.

The Simpson home is at 1921 Eight street. The woman is survived by her widower, the 9-year-old son, a 14-year-old daughter, her parents, four brothers and two sisters.

Climbed Wire Fence

The woman and her small son climbed a wire fence surrounding Tumble-N pool after it had been closed. The boy said his mother had boosted him up on the fence after telling him she saw a pile of money beside the water.

No coroner's investigation was made of the death, and peace officers said they had no information indicating a motive.

The boy was rescued and revived by passersby. His mother's body was not recovered for three quarters of an hour. Efforts to resuscitate her failed.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

MUSIC EDUCATION

All over this country there has been tremendous progress in music education in the public schools. The other evening I attended a concert given by the school band and school orchestra of the high school which my daughter attends. I was proud of what I heard and saw. Soon, at this same auditorium, about a score of high school bands and orchestras will have a contest.

What are some of these developments? In the first place, the hundreds of adolescent students who are trained have a strong motive for learning instrumental music, and parents are slowly realizing that not all music training is limited to piano playing. Boys, as well as girls, are appealed to. They do most of their practice at school, some during school hours, others after school. Knowing they are going to play for the enjoyment of others, and stimulated by team work, the usual practice pangs are missing. Back of the effort is a driving purpose. Furthermore, as one parent remarked the other evening at the concert, "The school band, or orchestra, cultivates good citizenship by fostering team work. There are not many opportunities for individual display. Each performer finds himself a part of the group doing his bit."

These organizations afford a wide outlet for expression of energy to large numbers of pupils who learn to engage in a valuable activity which they know provides enjoyment for others.

This same high school, like many others, is also developing highly talented choruses which, as well as the school band and orchestra, perform at public school functions, at P. T. A. meetings; even at evening church meetings.

Whereas, in your memory, many a high school commencement had to hire an orchestra, as also did a teachers' institute or county or state convention, now one or more musical organizations of the junior or senior high school or elementary grades provides this entertainment, stimulating patriotic pride in the parents attending and a feeling of being worth while and rendering a useful service in the pupils who participate.

Think, too, of what it will mean to all these young folk in later life, whether they go to college or do not. Out of them Sunday schools and civic organizations are developing their own orchestras and choirs. All the while the masses are being educated to appreciate good music, while more opportunities for home pleasures are being cultivated.

Surely we parents ought to be glad of such developments and get back of them, heart and soul.

I shall be glad to answer, in this column, questions addressed to me in care of this paper, provided these questions seem to be of general interest.

If you have a question you would like to have answered personally, write me, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Brilliant Ideas Of Chic Make Sparkling Dresses

You must be brilliant to be truly smart of an evening when formality reigns and competition is keen. Every gown has its sparkle or else you must supply it in the form of gleaming jewels.

Two of the most beautiful and scintillating gowns Paris boasts this summer are shown here. Left: A black marocain evening gown by Maggy Rouff features an original pink crepe satin bodice with all embroidered in twinkling black and silver paillettes. It has a ravishingly slenderizing effect, in addition to its being tremendously flattering.

Embroidered tulle, black and white, fashions the other gown—a dress that has that unmistakably young and simple line that means Louiseboulanger. The straps over the shoulders are semi-precious stones that sparkle no end when you dance or move about. The deep hem of white is tremendously effective.

Know the truth

before accepting substitutes for Kotex

DON'T be confused by the careless expression, "just like Kotex." Perhaps the substitute looks the same. But demand to know more. Where was this substitute made? By whom? How? Who stands back of it? Is it hygienically safe . . . the kind of sanitary pad a hospital would select?

Last year more than 10,000,000 Kotex pads were used in hospitals. This is the pad that meets hospital requirements! You should be equally strict in selecting an accessory so definitely related to health. Insist on Kotex. It's the world's standard. In addition, Kotex is supremely comfortable. Shaped to fit. ROAD OPENED TO CEMETERY

COURT "REAFFIRMS" ACTION ON ROAD; NAME OVERSEER

The County Commissioners court Monday "reaffirmed" as a county road a thoroughfare from state highway No. 7 eastward through Memorial Park cemetery to Lubbock cemetery, County Judge E. L. Pitts said.

Designation of the road as a county thoroughfare to be so maintained echoed a petition signed by more than 600 citizens and presented to the commissioners court April 14 of last year.

Action Deferred

The petition asked that gates at the entrance of Memorial Park cemetery be removed. The court deferred action, announcing that it would ask the Lubbock Cemetery association to consider the proposal and would abide by the association's recommendation.

The road was maintained at county expense until shortly before Memorial Park cemetery was established in the spring of 1929, J. T. Pinkston, commissioner of precinct No. 2, indicated.

Pinkston said he did not know whether the road was maintained officially as a county road, although he had supervised grading of it, "because it went to the cemetery."

Commissioners court records show that the county bought land for a 60-foot road there in 1915, Pinkston said.

The order will take effect immediately and a public road 60 feet wide will be maintained for the length of the thoroughfare, the commissioners decided Monday. F. E. Wheelock, former president of the cemetery association, was appointed overseer.

Estimates on the county jail under construction were allowed by the County Commissioners court at Monday's session.

An estimate of $10,000 was allowed Shell & Co., general contractors, of Lubbock, making the total allowed Shell about $20,000 with a 15 per cent retainage fee, Judge Pitts said.

The only other allowance Monday, he said was $3,471 for Roche Newton & Co., plumbing and heating contractor, of Lubbock, increasing total to about $8,700 with 15 per cent as retainer.

Steel on the grounds here is estimated at $8,000 by the Southern Prison company of San Antonio, and that organization is expected to submit an estimate for allowance at the next meeting of the court, Judge Pitts said.

IDALOU BOYS ARE GIVEN SENTENCES

Pleading guilty to burglary charges Monday in county court, J. L. Yarbrough, jr., and Robert Blakely were sentened to four years each in the state reformatory at Gatesville by Judge E. L. Pitts.

The two youths, each 16 years old, lived at Idalou. They were accused of having robbed the residence of a minister there. Yarbrough and Blakeley are in city jail here.

J. A. Stayton of Lubbock was returned to city jail last Friday in lieu of a fine of $1 and costs dealt him in county court for tampering with and theft from, a motor vehicle.

C. B. Lawrence of Lubbock last Thursday paid a fine of $200 and costs in county court after pleading guilty of adultery.

Trial Of Mineral Wells Men Is Set

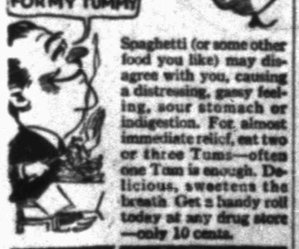

ROBY, May 26. (AP)—Trial of Charlton Brown and T. L. Hemphill, Mineral Wells, was set today for October 19 in 104th district court here. They are under indictment charged with transportation of liquor.

The indictments were returned after an episode of May 13 in which Brown and Hemphill were bruised when their automobile ran into a bar pit on highway 83, in West Roby, while they were en route to Lubbock for the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. They were arrested after a deputy sheriff said he found three and one-half pints of liquor in the car.

McDONALD PROPOSES THAT FARMERS SHOULD USE COTTON FOR MATRESSES

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 26—A proposal that Texas farmers should tear up the bales of their carry over cotton and have the cotton made into mattresses for their own use was made to the state executive committee of Progressive Texans, Inc., here Saturday by J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture. This, he said, would help wipe out a threatened surplus of nearly a year's cotton supply that endangers this year's prices.

Charles R. Tips, Three Rivers, general campaign chairman, announced the finance campaign of Progressive Texans, Inc., is nearing its close, and that the organization will be able to launch its program of advertising in Texas and out of the state for the greater use of Texas manufactured products.

Senator W. K. Hopkins, Gonzales, predicted the statewide drive for increased use of Texas factory products will have lasting effect.

John W. Carpenter, Dallas, presided at the sessions. Charles E. Coombs, retiring West Texas Chamber of Commerce president, urged a favorable advertising program. Dr. N. D. Bule, Martin, addressed a session as president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and as a representative of Governor Ross S. Sterling who was in Houston.

Other speakers included E. L. Tutt Houston, and Sherwood Avery, Dallas, of the United States department of commerce, on research work, and A. B. Cox, director of business research in the University of Texas, and Dean P. C. Bolton of A. & M. engineering school.

Dallas' Public Weigher Leaves On Vacation

DALLAS, May 26 (AP)—The cares of public office had proven too much for the only Republican on the Dallas county payroll.

Miss Helen Ackenhausen, who last year upset a venerable tradition by sweeping into office as public weigher on the Republican ticket, left Sunday for a two months' vacation in Honolulu. She said that the strain of being public weigher, with cotton selling at its present price, had been too much for her; and the prospect of a strenuous campaign next year, not only for herself but also for President Hoover, had convinced her of the necessity for a rest.

Henry Clay was elected Speaker of the federal House of Representatives the first day he was a member.

REPORT GIVEN ON RED CROSS

TOTAL OF $6,970.66 SPENT ON FAMILIES IN COUNTY

Spending $6,970.66, the American Red Cross aided 369 Lubbock county families from early January to mid-May, Frank W. Loeffler, supervising accountant attached to national headquarters at Washington, said.

Citizens of the United States contributed ten million dollars to be used by the Red Cross in drouth stricken areas, and Lubbock county was one of the 87 Texas counties receiving aid, Loeffler explained.

Three Direct Work

H. L. Allen, chairman of the Lubbock county Red Cross chapter, and George E. Benson and L. C. Ellis, directed the work in Lubbock county, Loeffler said.

The national headquarters attache commended the group for its work and the condition of its records, audit of which had been completed and a report of which had been sent to Washington.

Aid Is Outside

Benson is chairman of the emergency relief committee of the Lubbock county chapter. Ellis, chairman of the chapter roll call committee, supervised handling of monies dispensed.

Virtually all of the aid was for families outside of the city of Lubbock, Loeffler said, as United Charities and Salvation Army cared for needy persons here.

All Are Aided

Of the 369 families helped, 350 were white 16 negro and Mexican, and three Indian, the Red Cross attache reported, and the peak of families aided as a single time was 329 near the end of February.

All of those benefitted in this county by Red Cross provisions were farm families, of which 30 represented property owners, 212 renters, 81 share-croppers, and 46 farm laborers, Loeffler said.

Food was given 355 families, clothing 13, fuel 223, feed 104, seed 6, and medical aid 28, he said. Fuel was for heating and cooking, and feed for poultry and livestock.

Loeffler said he would go from here to Crosbyton to examine records of money dispensed through the Red Cross in Crosby county.

WICHITA FALLS FACES LOSS OF SPUDDERS DUE TO ATTENDANCE

Collier Parris

SPYING ON SPORTS

The galley-boy of this department missed the baseball marathon at Merrill Park Sunday afternoon but we understand it was quite a scrap. The teams must have been fairly well balanced to play a dozen innings for a 11-10 score. Shadows were lengthening as the game ended, the shower and extra innings having prolonged the melle.

The game had been history about 24 hours before we learned the real lowdown. Underneath general appearances and the showing of the scorebook kept by an operative there was an undercurrent of dissatisfaction over the outcome of the game. Investigating further we learned that the winning run, scored in the last half of the twelfth inning by Buddy Brothers, was the result of a forced play when Pitcher Gaither hit Lubbock's Catcher Galey on the thumb with a pitched ball.

Now Gaither is an alleged baseball player who has teamed with the Lubbock clubs for the past two seasons. Just why he transferred his allegiance to Amarillo when Amarillo and Lubbock opposed each other is not clear to the writer. But he did it, and he was called on in the twelfth inning Sunday when the second of Amarillo's pitchers for the day was knocked and walked out of the box. The bases were loaded, Brothers and Morgan having singled, according to the operative's scorebook, and Franze drew a pass. Galey was up and Gaither relieved Dillon. It was a bad time to relieve anybody, for Galey is no slouch at the bat nor behind it. But Gaither, who has played at third while Galey caught in previous games, tossed one inside to nip the catcher's appendage. The result was a base, a run and a victory.

Amarillo fans and players might have reason to believe there was something funny about Galey's being hit.

The Hubbers will play at Merrill Park again Wednesday, meeting the Amherst nine in a single stand. Sunday the Hubbers will be home to the Lamesa Loboes again, but it will not be for a double-header as announced at Sunday's contest. Complications have set in which will prevent but one game, the managers announced yesterday.

Harry Wanderling and John J. (Honest John) McCloskey are in town again to promote plans for the Panhandle League They arrived Sunday in time to get in on the game here. What they saw or what they thought of the affair they kept to themselves, but it is likely that at least two Lubbock players will get a try out with the Panhandle League team here, provided such results from pending negotiations.

If night baseball is inaugurated at Lubbock this summer it has a chance to succeed. While the showing Sunday at Merrill Park on the part of fans was encouraging to say the least, some one thousand packing the stands to see the game, we would not dare suggest that any but night baseball be attempted in West Texas. We're not positive enough that night baseball here would go over to the extent of sinking a week's pay check in the deal, but we do believe that, if properly handled, the league will do better than break even. There are several reasons to believe that it will be properly handled, for the men who are behind the proposition are baseball men, having made the game their lifetime business.

Letters pour in daily at the office of Pete Cawthon, Tech coach, regarding the Texas Tech coaching school slated for August 3 to 15. Long since has the school ceased to be publicized as a local or even a state school, coaches from all parts of the country having signified their intentions of being present. Late mails bring a letter from Dana X. Bible, director of athletics at the University of Nebraska, which follows:

Dear Pete:

I have your wire of May 18 and it is nice of you to think of me in connection with your coaching school. I regret very much I cannot be with you. I am to conduct a coaching school at the University of Wyoming in July, then I am leaving for a vacation in the mountains of east Tennessee. I suggest you get Ray Morrison to give the lecture on football rules. He is the representative of the southwest now. I am sure you are going to have a fine school. You certainly are giving the coaches of that section an opportunity to have contact with two of our most outstanding men (Wallace Wade and Jimmy Phelan) and I feel sure that they will take advantage of this opportunity.

With kind personal regards and very best wishes for your continued success, I am, yours very cordially,

D. X. Bible.

MACKS AFTER RECORD

CLUB MAY BE MOVED TO WACO

NEXT FEW DAYS ARE TO DECIDE STATUS OF CITY'S FRANCHISE

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, May 26 (AP)—No baseball franchise can survive without attendance support, and Wichita Falls' remaining baseball status this season may depend on eight games this week and next week against Fort Worth and Dallas.

Doubleheaders are scheduled against Dallas Wednesday and Friday. A possible doubleheader will be played against Fort Worth Sunday, making Monday an idle day. It is the consensus if these games fail to draw Wichita Falls fans, the attendance at Spudder park this season will be a dismal failure and that the status o fthe club finishing the season in Wichita Falls will be the next important problem for President Alvin Gardner to solve.

Night Games Drawing

Dallas and Fort Worth are reputed to be the best drawing cards to play Wichita Falls and these two clubs, playing there this week and next week, might determine the Spudders' baseball future. It might be that the Spudders will finally get night baseball in their park in an attempt to increase attendance, but so far no known plans have been made for the flood lights. In their recent home stay, the Spudders, barring a Sunday attendance of six hundred, reached the attendance peak last Friday when there were 269 paid admission to see them play Beaumont.

Before the current campaign started, there was a rumor that the Wichita Falls franchise would be transferred to Waco, but this was flatly denied by President Gardner as well as the spudder ownership. However, lack of attendance has forced a real problem on the Spdder owners.

Parker Has Comment

Al Parker, writing in the Wichita Falls Daily Times, touched on the attendance situation with:

"Where it will end, unless the situation does improve, none can know. The only thing certain is that the club cannot continue to operate on the kind of support it has received thus far this year. That something will happen if attendance is not improved soon by at least 100 per cent can be seen by just one glance at attendance figures."

Reports from other league cities are to the effect that their attendance figures are satisfactory. Dallas and Fort Worth, with their recently installed lighting systems for night baseball, have played to exceptionally large crowds. Although they are in the cellar, the Shreveport Sports are getting deserving support according to Manager Jake Atz. Manager Claude Robertson, recently in Dallas with his San Antonio Indians, said attendance in the Alamo city could be better, but if it held up as started, he would have no protest.

CATS, BUFFS GO DOWN BEFORE SPUDS, TRIBE

(By Associated Press)

The Beaumont Exporters were the only first division team to win in the Texas league pennant race Monday and at that the Exporters had a close call, but managed to beat Galveston, 2 to 0.

Luke Hamlin, Beaumont's young right-hander, issued three hits to register his shutout. The Exporters bunched hits on Reinhardt in the fifth inning for a pair of runs.

Indians Whip Buffs

At San Antonio, Houston lost a ball game and pennant ground, to the Indians, 5 to 1. Merritt Hubbell, southpaw and brother of Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants, made his bow as a Texas leaguer and limited Houston to a couple of hits. It was San Antonio's fourth consecutive victory

Playing listless baseball, Dallas returned home Monday night and lost to Shreveport 9 to 1. Miller pitched airtight baseball for the Sports, stopping the Steers with four hits. George Murray started for the Steers but lasted only six innings. Murray was hit freely and backed by erratic support.

The pace setting Fort Worth Cats found Lester White's pitching too much for them in a night battle at Fort Worth, Wichita Falls winning, 4 to 1. Leon Chagnon started for Fort Worth and lasted through the seventh when he was replaced for a pinch hitter. Roy Hansen finished for Fort Worth.

Beavers Is Named Coach At Shawnee

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., May 26 (AP)—Garland Beavers, former fullback on the University of Arkansas football team, today was named head director of athletics for Shawnee school at Joiner. Beavers was voted the most valuable player on his team in 1928 and was given the Southwest conference trophy. He coached at Bauxite this year.

LOOP OPENING IS PLANNED

WANDERLING AND JOHN McCLOSKEY HERE TO ASSEMBLE TEAM

Henry Wanderling, who holds the franchise for the organization of a Panhandle League baseball team in Lubbock, returned to Lubbock after a conference last weekend in Amarillo with the other league officials and will remain here until a professional team has been organized or until all hope for baseball in Lubbock has been abandoned.

Wanderling was accompanied to Lubbock by John J. (Honest John) McCloskey, who holds the Amarillo franchise. The men have been looking over the local prospect and report that "everything is favorable for the installation of a league team here." Wanderling will manage the Lubbock team.

Clovis Admitted

Wanderling said this morning that Clovis, N. M. had been admitted to the league to replace Plainview. The league was first organized with teams in Amarillo, Pampa, Plainview and Lubbock, but "because there seemed to be a greater show of interest at Clovis, the Plainview franchise, owned by Frank Mathews of Wichita Falls was transferred.

The league wil play all games at night, each park to be equipped with a first class lighting system, Wanderling said. Work on the local park and the installation of lights will begin as soon as funds have been provided to insure the payment for equipment and for a month's team salary.

Invaders March Off With French Titles

AUTEUIL, France, May 26 (AP)—Invaders have marched off with three titles in the French Hard Court tennis championship and the Tri-Color has small hopes of saving either of the two yet to be decided.

George Lott and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia made a runaway of their match with the South Africans, Virgil Kirby and Norman G. Farquharson, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 yesterday. Last week the women's doubles went to Betty Nuthall and Eileen Bennett Whittingstall of England, and the mixed doubles to Miss Nuthall and P. D. B. Spence of South Africa.

In men's singles, America depends on Lott and Van Ryan and in women's singles on Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Virginia Hilleary of Philadelphia.

Sixteen Positions In Race Unfilled

INDIANAPOLIS, May 26 (AP)—With but two days left in which to qualify for the 500-mile automobile race here Saturday, drivers today speeded up activity in the garages to tune their cars for the ten-mile speed test.

Sixteen positions remained to be filled in the starting field of forty cars. Five drivers qualified yesterday. They were: Jimmy Gleason, Philadelphia, 111.400 miles per hour; Francis Quinn, Los Angeles, 111.321; Frank Farmer, Philadelphia, 108.303; Phil (Red) Shafer, Des Moines, Ia., 105.103; and John Boling, Indianapolis, 102.860.

STRAIGHT WINS CONTINUE TO BE A HABIT

ONLY 3 MORE GAMES NEEDED TO BREAK 25-YEAR MARK

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was another parcel of bad news today for the large but select group awaiting the official "cracking" of the Philadelphia Athletics. About all Connie Mack's young men appear likely to crack this season is the existing American league record for consecutive victories.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

ROGERS HORNSBY, Cubs—Clouted Pirate pitching for pair of doubles, drove in two runs and scored two; EDDIE MORGAN, Indians—Clouted homer with one on to help defeat of White Sox; LEFTY GROVE and ROY MAHAFFEY, Athletics—Held Yankees to 14 hits in double-header as Athletics won twice in stretch winning streak of 17 games in a row.

By defeating the New York Yankees in both ends of yesterday's doubleheader at Shibe park, 4 to 2 and 16 to 4, the champions ran their string to 17 straight and staked themselves to a five-game lead over the field. Idle because of rain at Boston, the Washington Senators eased into second place.

May Tie League Mark

If they win from the Yankees the next two afternoons, the Athletics will tie the American league mark for consecutive triumphs, set by the Chicago White Sox in 1906.

The most significant feature of yesterday's double win was the pitching of Leroy Mahaffey in the nightcap. The young righthander, one of Mack's "second string" moundsmen, held the Yankees to one hit for the first seven innings and fanned five. He had nothing to worry about after his mates fitted him out with a nine-run lead in the first inning. Lefty Grove scored his fifth consecutive victory in the first game.

Ferrell Aids Hudlin

Wes Ferrell had to rush to Willis Hudlin's aid in the ninth inning before the Cleveland Indians could record a 7 to 6 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Eddie Morgan hit his first homer of the year with one on in the sixth.

Rain halted the only other game scheduled in the American.

The Chicago Cubs pounded three pitchers for 11 hits to defeat Pittsburgh, 9 to 6, in the National league's lone encounter. Les Sweetland went the route for the winners and had only two bad innings.

Suitable Rival For Jack Problem After Injunction

LOUGHRAN SAID TO BE UNINTERESTED IN MEETING JACK

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 26—Floored by the federal court's temporary injunction that barred Primo Carnera as an opponent, Jimmy Johnston, boxing promoter, began an intensive search today for a suitable rival for Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight.

Federal Judge John C. Knox yesterday granted the request of the Madison Square Garden of Illinois for an injunction restraining Carnera from meeting Sharkey at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, June 10. The court order barred the ponderous Italian from meeting Sharkey or any other major opponent without the consent of the Illinois corporation which holds a contract on Carnera's services until December 31.

To Appeal Ruling

Johnston declared he would appeal the ruling

"That's just the first round," said Jimmy. "You can't win 'em all. But you never saw me quit just because I got knocked down once. I'm going to appeal the decision at once and hope to promote a Carnera-Sharkey fight later in the year. Meanwhile I'm busy digging up some one else to meet Sharkey on June 10."

The name of Tommy Loughran was suggested but the clever Philadelphian's manager, Joe Smith, said Tommy was not interested in another bout with Sharkey.

"Tommy has fought his way back to the top," said Smith, "and no longer has to beat Sharkey. The match we want is with the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling bout in Cleveland."

With Loughran out, Johnston's next best bet looked to be Mickey Walker, who has been belting heavyweights around in fine style for some months.

Following the games here Wednesday and Sunday the Hubbers will go on the road for a week or more, meeting the Amarillo Aviators in a return game at Amarillo, the Amherst team on the latter's field, and going to Lamesa for a return series with the Loboes.

FINAL "FUN NIGHT" IS HELD AT TECH; ATHLETIC AND MILITARY AWARDS GIVEN

Eight men of the 1931 Texas Tech Matador basketball squad were recognized as letter men and were awarded letter sweaters by Coach W. L. 'Crip' Golightly and the athletic department last night as one of the features on the final college fun-night program of the year. The program, held at the gymnasium and for "men only," was attended by nearly two thousand males of Lubbock and of Texas. A large number of delegates to the Texas Retail Merchants association convention here were present, the program being dedicated to them.

Big George Langford won the campus heavyweight boxing championship last night by winning a decision over Al "Cowboy" Simmons in a three-round affair. The bout, and a free-for-all wrestling and boxing fight, furnished the spice of the program.

Gondray Presents Soldiers

Professor Ben Condray of the military department presented his "awkward squad" in an all-wrong drill and then paraded a group of his prize winning cadets who were awarded medals for superior showing in the college military corps.

Captain Clarence Hodges, Captain-elect Hershel Tadlock, Alvin Crews, Haden Moody, Leon Fisher, Baker, H. F. Darr and Harvey Dunn received varsity sweaters for outstanding work in basketball last season.

W. R. Hudson was awarded a medal as the outstanding corporal in the army corps. Harvey Johnson was recognized as the best drill cadet, and Cadet Private Willie Kuhn was given a medal as the outstanding rifle shot. Rifle shot awards were also given to Cadet Private Bob Rogers, Cadet Major Landrum Chapman, and Cadet Corporal W. R. Hudson.

An oak and silver plaque was given the School of Liberal Arts as the champion intramural athletic department of the college. Floyd Wooldridge, senior coach, received the plaque for the school.

'INTENDS T' WIN UNDAH THE RULES'

NO, SAH! SCHMELING-STRIBLING BOUT NOT TO BE PRIZE FIGHT; DECISION NEXT WEEK

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND May 26.—Whether W. L. "Young" Stribling, who "intends t' win undah the rules, sah" will be allowed to meet Max Schmeling for the heavyweight championship here July 3 will be decided next week by Common Pleas Judge Thomas M. Kennedy.

The judge announced after a hearing yesterday that he would take a few days to consider the injunction suit of Attorney Joseph H. Mellon, who claims the bout is a prize fight and thus prohibited by Ohio law.

Is Last Witness

The drawling Georgia contender, himself the last defense witness, said he had knocked out 127 opponents in 296 bouts and admitted he "proposed to contend" with Schmeling, a "notnish pug' list."

"The fight will exhaust one of you until he will no longer be able to withstand the attack of the other?" asked Mellon.

"Oh, my no," interjected Judge Kennedy. "Why, that would be a prize fight."

"Isn't it a fact, Mr. Stribling, that you may knock out Schmeling in this contest?" pursued Mellon.

"Let's hope so," said the judge. "Oh, I beg your pardon."

Stribling announced his intention of winning, and there the matter rested after Judge Kennedy heard final arguments of Mellon and Assistant City Law Director Henry S. Brainerd, who asserted the fight will be a legal "boxing exhibition."

TRADE DENIED BY CARDINAL PRESIDENT

HACK WILSON DOESN'T SEEM TO BE WANTED BY ST. LOUIS

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—Rumors of a possible deal between the Cardinals and Cubs, involving Chick Hafey and Hack Wilson, erstwhile sluggers now doing bench duty because of failure to hit often and timely enough to satisfy their managers, had the official denial today of Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals.

Told that such rumors were afloat, Breadon said, "we don't want Hack Wilson." He added, "we're satisfied with our ball club and we don't need anybody."

ST. LOUIS, May 26. (AP)—In an effort to improve the Cardinals' attack, Manager Gabby Street has ordered daily morning batting drill, effective today. He said the batting practice would continue "until further notice." The team's batting average today was .260.

Although the Cards returned from their first long trip into the enemy's country with a record of seven victories and five defeats and still holding first place, Street was disappointed with the Redbirds' hitting.

Members of the congregation of the Fort Worth church voted Sunday to issue the call to Reverend White. The church is one of the strong organizations of the denomination in that city and has a large attendance of students of the seminary as well as members of the faculty of Southwestern.

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—Two Evanston policemen became a trifle fascinated watching the weaving style of driving in which Miss Diana Hendrys, 25, a stenographer, was indulging last night.

They ordered her to the curb and began pressing her and her escort, O. W. Nelson, for an explanation.

Miss Hendrys took one look and began unwinding haymakers. In a moment both policemen had eyes that were rapidly closing.

"I'm going for help," said one policeman. "You hold 'er till I get back."

Three other policemen aided in taking her and Nelson to the station where she was booked for driving while intoxicated.

Court May Not Act On Fall's Appeal Until October Term

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The supreme court may have no opportunity to pass on the appeal of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior until after it begins its next term in October. Should action be delayed there is some doubt whether Fall would be able, in the event of adverse action, to report for the one year's imprisonment imposed on him. He has been in poor physical condition for years.

Fall has failed, however, to perfect appeals in time to be submitted to the court today, the last day of this term at which the court will, under its rules, accept such papers for consideration and action at this term.

The supreme court in its practice of expediting criminal cases has broken its rules and acted on cases filed during the last week of its term.

It is understood the Fall appeal will be filed Tuesday or Wednesday.

Should the papers be docketed by the mindel of the week there is a possibility, it is thought, the court may take them up and announce on June 1, when it ends the present session, whether it will review the cases.

Thought For Today

Woe unto you that are rich!—St. Luke 6:24.

Riches, honors and pleasures are the sweets which destroy the mind's appetite for its heavenly food.—Bishop Horne.

Backyard Gardens

The backyard or vacant lot truck garden is going to be an important method of relieving the wants of the unemployed this summer. Fred C. Croxton, vice chairman of the president's Emergency Committee for employment, points out that there has been a huge increase in vegetable gardens in the United States this summer, and says that many part-time or laid-off workers will use them to provide themselves with food.

A number of business concerns which own idle land, such as railroad and mining companies, have encouraged workers whom they have had to lay off to raise vegetables on tracts of company land. In many cities relief committees and civic organizations have taken up the work. And, of course, the jobless man who has a backyard of his own is turning truck-gardner without any prompting.

All of this will not, of course, replace organized relief distribution. But it will help the situation very materially.

A Third Term

The re-election of Kemal Pasha as president of the Republic of Turkey for a third term of four years means that he is satisfactory as a ruler. It also draws attention to the American tradition that a president must not "choose to run" after he has served two terms.

The people in America have been reluctant to see some of our ablest presidents step aside after serving two terms. When they have proved themselves wise, honest and efficient executives it has often been unfortunate to have them leave the presidency. Perhaps in the years to come tradition alone will not decide here; the people may decide they want to keep their "good" presidents more than eight years.

East Meets West

East is East and West is West but in spite of Kipling they met the other day at the bedside of Dan Edwards, a war hero, who has suffered severely from injuries. Two years ago some Japanese soldiers read a story about Edwards. The soldiers receive one-half cent a day for their military services. Out of sympathy for the western soldier they saved $4.20, equivalent to 830 days' pay, which they sent to him. There is just a chance that Tennyson knew what he was talking about when he spoke of "the Parliament of Man and the Federation of the world."

Trouble

DO not make the mistake of under-estimating the gravity of the present disagreement between Germany and France over the Austro-German customs union. It represents a clashing of forces that could very easily, with a little bad luck, plunge Europe into war.

Probably it won't—this time. For all of their hatreds, fears and jealousies, the nations of Europe will think twice before they start another large-scale war. The present quarrel probably will get patched up, somehow, and things will go on as before—until the quarrel finds a new outlet.

The distressing point to the whole thing is the fact that there are present in Europe today rival aims that clash so directly. The seeds of disaster for the whole world are germinating in just such things as this present disagreement. If things go on as they have in the past decade, there will presently be another war that will be infinitely more catastrophic than the last.

THAT police dog 'Blackie'—the on that dragged little Naomi Catherine Jobe from in front of an oncoming motor car here Sunday—is a sure enough hero and, in The Plainsman's opinion, is worthy of an SPCA medal. That dog did something a lot of us might not have the courage to do, when it risked its life to save its two-year-old playmate, and deserves the commendation.

You can go a long way and not find a better friend than a dog, if you treat him right. He'll stick with you, through thick and thin, when fair-weather friends have long forgotten the days that once were. 'Blackie' is a distinguished resident of Lubbock.

And there's usually not much wrong with people who like dogs—big dogs and little dogs; pretty dogs and ugly dogs. They're generally the kind of folks other people can trust to give them a square deal.

AN Englishman had returned to his native heath after a trip around the world, so some of his friends arranged a dinner party in his honor. As the high point of the program, the traveler was called upon to tell of his experiences and he did so, getting along very well until he reached the topic of California.

"Haw, erumph", he said. "Yaas yaas, quaint old California. But they have such a peculiar pronounciation there, you know, that it's hard for a bloomin' blighter to call even the names of their cities.

"For instance", he continued, "how would you pronounce 'Y-o-s-e-m-i-t-e'?"

There was a pause, then the Duke of Sussex hazarded:

"Ahaw, that's easy. You pronounce it 'Yose-might'".

"That's what one would think", the traveler returned, "but in jolly old California they pronounce it 'San Luis Obispo!'"

IT'S mighty fine to be able to ride out as far as the Municipal airport on the new pavement but it is distressing to note that the hard-surfacing is not as wide north of Lubbock as it is south of Lubbock. Perhaps we should be glad to get any kind of pavement but The Plainsman believes that cutting the width of the concrete ribbon from 20 to 18 feet is foolish economy.

The alibi from Austin is that since the Slaton road work was done the state has decreased its specifications from 20 to 18 feet, so therefore the north part of Highway 9 is o. k. Messrs. Ely, Johnson and Martin may be satisfied with an 18-foot roadway but there are many people who are not.

THE Plainsman is one who is ready to argue that the north part of Highway 9 is too narrow for pleasant, comfortable driving. And as far as the future is concerned, the 18-foot width is nothing more or less than 'penny wise, pound foolish'. If you don't agree, drive down to Houston sometime.

This writer is using Houston for an example because he remembers driving into the city where "Eighteen Railroads Meet The Rum Fleet" last fall, when the 18-foot highways were entirely insufficient to carry the traffic well. It was raining and the night was pitch-black. The cotton trucks, by the dozen, were wending their way along, hogging the road, as usual. On top of that, the normal traffic to and from Houston was enough to drive a motorist to distraction—it made him feel like a drunken man with St. Vitus dance, trying to walk a tight-rope over Niagara Falls during a hurricane. Had the road been two feet wider it would have been much easier to drive—and decidedly less dangerous.

To poach on a cigaret advertiser, "What a whale of a difference these two feet make"! Just for fun, try it out next Sunday afternoon by driving first on the Slaton stretch and then on the airport route.

As mentioned a few paragraphs ahead, those 18-foot pavements may suit the Highway commission but they'll come a long way from pleasing a lot of citizens who do the driving on the roads.

Many people supposed to be traveling the matrimonial road seem to seek their fun on the detours.

Pope's Address Expected To Stimulate Interest In U. S. On Fight For Change In National Economic System

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, May 26—Before the Pope spoke, the question of distribution of wealth in this country was shaping up as an issue in which more and more was sure to be heard.

No one can measure the probable effect of a papal message addressed to the entire world, advising that it is "absolutely necessary to reconstruct the whole economic system" and "insure a more equitable distribution of the united proceeds of capital and labor." But it obviously will stimulate interest in the United States, where the Progressives—notably Senator Borah of Idaho and Cousens of Michigan in recent months—have often shouted against the markedly unequal distribution of wealth and income.

Plenty probably will be heard about it in the next presidential campaign and much, certainly, in the next session of Congress as a strong attempt is made to plaster tax increases on millionaires to help meet the treasury's billion dollar deficit.

Facts Can Be Distorted

Maybe you'd like to know the facts about the distribution of wealth in America. Well, so would a lot of other people. As with most other figures, you can do various tricks with those statistics of income published by the treasury every year.

Everyone knows, as the Pope says, that the rich have been piling up immense fortunes and that the poor are very little better off than they used to be. The year 1930 was a banner year for corporation dividends—the big profits of 1929 being distributed—but 6,000,000 persons were unemployed and perhaps 20,000,000 affected by their loss of jobs, other millions worked part time and many others had their wages cut.

Such facts are incontestable, but then you get to such statements as Borah's that "three per cent of the people own 75 per cent of the wealth." Or to be more liberal, he said that four per cent owned 80 per cent. Such a state of affairs would be enough to make most of us sore and Borah attributed the assertion to "economists and students of the subject."

Attack Borah's Figures

But the sharpshooters on the conservative side have gone after Borah about that. It is true that the income statistics for 1929 show that 4,035,000 persons, or only 3.3 per cent of the population, made federal tax returns in 1929. That 75 per cent of the national wealth is owned by less than 4,000,000 wealthiest citizens has also been computed. But it has to be pointed out that nearly all property owners and most income tax payers are heads of families and adults; that you have to count in the rest of the family that the 3.3 per cent who filed income taxes accounted for only an estimated 39 per cent of national income. And so it is argued Borah's figures in effect show 20 per cent of the population owning 75 per cent of the wealth and that the wealthiest 3 per cent have only about 20 per cent of the national income.

What seemed to count most with the Pope—what stands out boldly in recent industrial history—is the increasingly unequal split between capital and labor. The productivity of labor has increased rapidly, but that hasn't meant much to labor.

Wages Fail to Keep Step

Senator Couzens points out that the value of the manufactured products in 1929 was $6,699,000,000 more than in 1927, but that wages paid in 1929 showed an increase of only $573,000,000 over 1927. That sort of thing, Couzens says, "drys up the springs of consumption. The difference is not pure profit, of course. One important development of the last few years has been comparatively stabilized or lower production costs accompanied by greatly increased distribution costs. But concentration of wealth has been speeded on.

An American Federation of Labor official says the value of manufactured products has increased 50 per cent and real wages only 10 per cent.

Julius Barnes says 40,000,000 persons still employed are receiving $46,000,000 this year in wages. If those figures are any good they mean that many millions are making much less than $1,150 a year or $22 a week, which would be the average wage.

Barnes suggested awhile ago that about $5,000,000,000 might be taken from the $46,000,000,000 wage kitty to employ those now unemployed. Meaning of course, wage cuts which would reduce the average national wage a couple of dollars a week.

SNAKE SERUM

DURING the vacation season, anyone who goes fishing or hunting or camping may be the victim of a snake bite. It is worth knowing that a serum has been perfected for snake venom which will prevent the most serious consequences. It has been approved by the United States health service. A tube of the serum in a convenient package for putting in a first-aid kit can be obtained at any drug store.

Dr. Clendening

The serum is prepared much as diphtheria antitoxin is prepared—by collecting venom from the snake and injecting small amounts into a horse until the animal produces an immunizing substance in the blood serum. When this immunity is sufficiently strong some of the horse's blood serum is extracted and put up in vials under aseptic conditions. After being tested for strength, it is marketed in the form described above

The anti-venom serum protects against the bite of all species of our poisonous snakes—the rattlesnake, the moccasin and the copperhead. Each tube will neutralize fifty times the lethal dose of a rattlesnake bite of average severity.

The best time to administer the serum is about three hours after the bite has been received. This allows for time to obtain serum, even if none is handy at the time.

In the meantime emergency treatment consists of putting a tourniquet (or constriction) around the limb—leg or arm—above where the bite is. As most snake bites are either on the leg or arm, this is feasible. It should not be put on too tight or left on too long. The second part of the emergency treatment is to make incisions in the skin all around the site of the bite. This allows the serum which is saturated with snake venom to get out. This should be helped by suction either by the mouth or by a breast pump or rubber bulb of any kind.

Many snakes, especially rattlers, do not have any venom in their fangs. For this reason many snake bites have no consequences at all. The legend has arisen, possibly from this cause, that rattlesnake bites are never fatal. As a matter of fact, they cause death in from 10 to 25 per cent of cases. A pure sign that a snake bite is inflicted from a reptile with active venom is that the bite will begin to sting and pain and ache. Snake venom is very irritating to animal tissue, and causes an enormous outpouring of blood and lymph into the tissue spaces around the deposit of serum. Following the pain, therefore, there is swelling and discoloration.

There are three species of poisonous snake in the United States that are numerous—the rattlesnake, the moccasin and the copperhead. Geographically, the rattlesnake is found in the southwest most abundantly—in Texas and then going north up the Mississippi valley states as far as Wisconsin and west to the Pacific coast. The moccasin is found largely in the southeastern states—Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, etc. The copperhead has a wide geographical ditribution, but is largly in the Allegheny region.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

F. N. R.: "I have a problem about which I would like some advice. I am troubled with asthma and catarrh and I want to know what is recommended as a remedy for each."

Answer: Nasal catarrh and bronchial asthma frequently go together. When the catarrh is cleared up by proper nose and throat treatment, the attacks of asthma are frequently lessened. The treatment of asthma is too complicated to attempt thorough instruction by newspaper articles.

SWAN

In New York With Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, May 26—Notes from a convenient cuff:

Margaret Ayers Barnes, winner of this year's Pulitzer prize for the best novel of the year, did her first writing while propped up in bed following an accident. . . . And the drama critics are calling the Pulitzer play award "the surprize" of the year.

Morton Downey, the radio ballardist, put on "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" after all these years—and the other day received letters from a dozen mothers thanking him, and commenting that their own "wandering boys" had heard it and came home. . . . Whereas, meeting Amos and Andy a few days ago, they told me that after their "sob" sequence about "Ruby Taylor" they had received, among other things, half a dozen floral wreaths "in case she died." . . . These two fabulously popular broadcasters appeared as 'masters of ceremony recently at a party for Leo Carillo, who returned to the screen under the Tiffany independent banner.

And Amos told that good old yarn about the fellow who had been drinking too much prohibition hooch and went to a doctor for an examination. The doctor made a test of his blood, and the patient inquired as to what he had found . . . "Well, I'll tell you," said the medico, "I'd be willing to give you $50 a case for your blood as it now stands."

By the way, Carlilo promises to bring his favorite role in "Lombardi, Ltd." to the screen soon.

And while this may interest nobody outside of New York, there are now said to be 32,000 speakeasies in Manhattan, and something like a billion dollars a year are spent in them. . . . The cost of alleged "protection" is placed at $32,000,000 though I haven't the slightest idea who gets it.

Ran into an odd character the other day. . . . He calls himself "Cornbread Stokes" and he comes from Harlan, Ky. . . . "Cornbread" is the last of the "bonecracker." . . . And if you don't know what that is, well, I had just about forgotten, too. . . . But many of the old minstrel show fans will recall "Mr. Bones" . . . and how he rattled the clappers together.

Well, "Cornbread" Stokes used to sit in the sunshine of his native state and "crack" the bones of cows and horses, drying them in the sun and peddling them to showmen and natives. . . . Rex Cole, the big refrigerator man, heard about him and brought him on to New York to join the Cole hill-billy band.

Variety, the theatrical weekly, reports that no "Tom" shows have taken to the road this season. . . . And without an "Uncle Tom" troupe coming through the town, I'd just as soon live in the big city.

Broadway now has its "quarter-in-the-slot" movie houses, as well as its automatic restaurants. Patrons enter through a turnstile, after dropping their coins in a slot . . . They are known as the Trans-Lux theaters, and are ultra-modernistic. . . . They are to be "little theaters," devoted to news reels, the larger of two seating about 200 persons. . . . Projection on the screen is obtained from back of the screen, rather than from the front via a new device known as "daylight" screens.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The rice cake man was cooking fast so he could make his rice cakes last until the Tinies had their fill. My, how those lads could eat! The Travel Man real shortly said, "I guess 'twas well that you were fed. You either are just nearly starved, or else you've found a treat."

Wee Clowny smiled and said. "You're right. I've eaten here with all my might because I was real hungry and because the cakes are fine. I think I'll have to stop real quick. My tummy will not feel so slick. I rope you all have had your share. I know that I've had mine."

Soon everyone was ready for a hike to see the sights once more. "I think we're going to like Japan, said Scouty, with a grin. "I see some little native boys and gee, but they are making noise. If it's a game they're playing, come on lads, let's break right in."

They walked up to the lads and then were shortly on their way again, 'cause one boy said, in English queer, "We're on our way to school. Won't you lads join us? We'd be glad." But Clowny said, "Nope. It's too bad, but I am sure the teacher'd put me on the dunce stool."

"Oh, goodness," said one naughtot, "You ought to come. You'll learn a lot. Each little lad should go to school. That's what the schools are for." Then Scouty said, "Thanks, just the same, but that's not why we Tinies came to your strange land. We came to see the sights that are in store."

So off the little youngsters ran. Then, shortly, Mister Travel Man exclaimed, "Here comes a flower girl, with a basket on her head. Her flowers look bright beneath the sun and I'll buy one for everyone." The Tinymites looked very pleased at what their friend had said.

(The Tinymites see the Great Bell of Kyoto in the next story.)

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—The stock market made feeble response today to the news that the exchanges committee on business conduct had inaugurated a general inquiry into bearish activity.

After a sag at the opening, the list perked up considerably, only to run into fresh selling toward midday. North American declined 3 points and Allied Chemical lost an early upturn of 2 points and sold moderately under.

U. S. Steel fluctuated uncertainly after recording a new low at 93 1-4 in the first few minutes. Norfolk & Western lost 5 points, and issues off a point or two included General Motors, Radio, Paramount, and Studebaker. American Can, American Telephone and Case partially retained 2 point advances.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—Grains advanced early today after an irregular start. Reports of dust storms in Canada and of wheat crop deterioration in Kansas were largely responsible.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to 1 7-8 cents higher; corn 1-2-7/8 up, oats 1-4-3-8 advance, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 3 cents.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 26 (AP)—Cotton had an easier opening here today. Liverpool came in lower than due following the long Whitsuntide holiday and first trades here showed losses of 7 to 13 points. The market continued to ease off after the start owing to favorable weather in the belt and to a weak opening in stocks. July traded down to 8.82, October to 8.98 and December to 9.17, or 13 to 16 points under yesterday's close, making fresh new lows for the season.

Toward the end of the first hour the market was steadier owing to a rally in stocks and prices recovered 8 to 11 points of the early decline.

Following the early decline, the market improved gradually during the morning owing to less selling pressure and covering by shorts. The stock market rallied somewhat which helped cotton prices. Before mid-session July advanced to 8.73, October to 9.11, and December to 9.32, or 11 to 15 points above the lows.

A prominent authority estimated the world consumption of cotton in April at 995,000 oales, as compared with 1,068,000 in April last year. This was considered fairly bullish. Another private authority estimated the decrease in acreage at 11.1 per cent.

Around mid-session the market was steady and near the top.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Cotton opened easy 9 to 14 points lower and again established new low levels for the season under general selling promoted by weakness abroad where the foreign markets showed a full response to our declines over the Whitsuntide holidays.

The decline attracted a fair amount of trade buying and covering, however, and the market rallied partially from the lowest. Continued favorable weather over practically the entire cotton belt contributed to the weakness and the offtake was comparatively small. July sold down to 8.80 and December to 9.15 representing net losses of 13 to 15 points. At the end of the first hour the market showed rallies of 8 to 10 points from the lowest.

A private estimate indicated a decrease of 11.1 per cent in the new acreage while the New York cotton exchange service estimated April consumption of American cotton at 995,000 bales compared with 973,000 in March and 1,068,000 in April last year.

Liverpool cabled the market there was influenced by general liquidation and uncovering of stop orders.

The market continued to display a steady undertone following the early weakness and prices rallied to a point above the previous close on covering or reactionary buying. The technical position was said to have been improved after the early liquidation and this, combined with the steadier behavior of the stock market, accounted for the firmer tone. July contracts sold up from 8.60 to 8.74 and December from 9.15 to 9.30 and the market around midday was within a point or two of these levels or 1 point net higher to 4 points net lower.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, May 26 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today: July 8.66; Oct. 9.00; Dec. 9.18; Jan. 9.30-bid; March 9.52.

MERCHANTS MEET

pany, was the speaker.

Advertising Great Aid

The credit message of the merchants may be effectively carried to the customers through advertising in newspapers, over the radio and through a direct-by-mail campaign, the speaker said.

"The natural conception of good credit by the average individual is to charge his requirements and pay along at his convenience, feeling assured that so long as he pays the account eventually that all will be well," he said. "When reminded by his creditors that certain requirements are expected of him, although the terms may have been explained at the beginning of the account, he in many instances gets the impression that his creditor is losing faith in him. Collection letters must be worded tactifully."

Mr. Clark then explained the idea of credit advertisements, using as illustrations, copies of advertisements run in Fort Worth papers.

Designed For Public

"We should constantly remind the public that the Retail Merchants association is designed to protect the welfare of the indicidual consumer as well as of the merchant and the old idea that it is a sort of black mail institution is a mistaken one. As a matter of fact every bureau manager should consider it his job to help people improve their credit ratings and he should let the world know he is there for that purpose."

Newspapers, billboards, radio and letters as means for urging the prompt payment of bills were discussed by Mr. Clark.

Mrs. Idalia Young, secretary of the Retail Merchant Association of Breckenridge, told how the secretary was the credit manager of his or her city.

"In the larger cities", many of the firms employ their own credit managers, but in the smaller cities and towns, the Retail Merchants association secretary is the credit manager for the entire town," she said.

Records Discussed

Means of gaining information needed by the merchants association was discussed by the speaker. Business houses, banks and public utility companies furnished the necessary records on most of the resident accounts, she said.

"As credit manager for my city, I have a dual obligation—first, to give the merchant sufficient information about the customer that he may be assured of a fair collection, and second'y, to check enough references to know definitely whether the party is entitled to credit he asks for," she said.

Homer Ladd, manager of Ladd Furniture company, of Fort Worth, read a paper on "Installment Credits".

Vital Part Of American Life

Installment buying has become a vital part of American life and if properly handled is a boon to both the merchant and the consumer, he said. Some of the items purchased on credit were enumerated by Mr. Ladd.

In spite of the business depression only a small increase in the number of automobiles sold on the installment plan over that of 1928, were repossessed in 1930," he said.

A paper on "Credit Cooperation", by H. M. Tobolowskey, credit manager of E. M. Kahn & Company of Dallas, was read before the meeting. Mr. Tobolowskyl was unable to attend the convention.

An open forum discussion was scheduled for the morning by the credit men. Robert Stern of Dallas was to lead the discussions.

In the secretaries' meeting a discussion on a "Increasing Revenues in Small Bureaus" was headed by W. S. Genero, secretary of the Retail Merchants association of Mineral Wells.

Other round table discussions were as follows:

"How to Appoint and Develop State-wide Correspondents", headed by J. E. R. Chilton, jr., secretary of Merchants' Red Book of Dallas.

"Professionalizing Bureau Managership," by Horace C. Barnhart, R. M. A. secretary of Dallas.

Adolf Grasso of San Antonio based his discussion on questions dropped in the "Question Box" Monday and Tuesday mornig.

LIBEL SUIT

Hawkins when she was 14 and he was 23 years of age. "We were married nearly two years later," she said. They lived on the Circle S ranch, with her father, in Arizona and again with her father, after her marriage. On February 22, 1902, daughter Jean was born and in the latter part of 1903 she secured a divorce. She met John Madden, who had lived in that community, during that year and they were married April 20, 1904.

She was told by George Cook she said that Henry Hawkins was dead. "I never heard of John Spikes until after I and Henry Hawkins were married" she testified. She met Dick Spikes, she said, about 1900 and became acquainted with Fred Spikes, she said, adding she did not know Jeff only slightly.

Former Cowboy Testifies

James M. Howell, who worked with the HOW cattle in 1900 and 1901, testified from the stand that he first went to New Mexico in 1889 and from 1890 on had lived there. He now lives at Sedan, N. M., and began working for the HOW people in 1898, staying there until 1911.

Detailing his duties as a cowhand with the ranch, telling of roundups of cattle, etc., he gave a word picture of the cattle business of New Mexico at that time. This led up to his story of his trouble with John Spikes, the only one of the brothers he knew by name very well. He did know Dick and heard of the others.

While working cattle with a partner northeast of Mesa Redonda, he said he saw one of the Spikes boys riding towards him as he worked alone, his partner being some distance away. None of the HOW cowboys carried pistols or firearms. The man, John Spikes, was armed.

Said He "Cussed" Him

"He asked who I was working for and I told him the HOW people" said the witness, relating how John Spikes "cussed" him out for working for that outfit and ordered him to get away. "He told me to get out and stay out," said the witness.

Mr. Howell told of his knowledge of the reputation of the Spikes brothers and that it was "mighty bad." He had heard the "talk" about their activities.

Lockhart in his cross examination sought to get the witness to admit he did not like the Spikes brothers but he said he "did not have anything against them."

Witness named persons who told him the reputation of the Spikes brothers, including Alex Aston, Bill Bates, Frank Gibson, a man named Elliott and others. He admitted that Sam Gholson, Bud Lee, Louis Nace and Cabe Adams also told him.

W. P. Coots who lives on a ranch in New Mexico and who has been in the cattle business for half a century was the closing witness. In 1900, 1901 and 1902 he worked for the "Coots family and Tim Ritter" the stepfather, in New Mexico.

Had Small Outfit

Their ranch, the Circle Bar, branded on the left side, had around 3,000 cattle and was considered a small outfit.

"I had heard of the Spikes boys," he testified, "knew none except Dick and had seen John. I met Dick Spikes in the fall of 1900 when he joined the Circle Bar wagon. I was the wagon boss."

Dick Spikes was armed and one of the wagon orders was all men must put up their arms. Dick did so, and worked "the same as others". He worked about a week or ten days. One day he and three or four other men, including a Mexican went out to get cattle and bring them in. The Mexican came in and said Dick had left some calves in a canyon.

Calves Were Branded

"I rode out to find the cattle," he testified. "I found two cows and big calves by their side. They were branded with the Quarter Circle brand of Florenzo Martini."

Witness said he drove the calves and cattle in "Dick said he could not drive them out of the canyon" witness testified. "I ran him off," he added.

The witness told of arriving at a camp and finding some orders to go and get some calves and drive them to the HOW ranch. This he did, finding 30 to 35 calves, some branded. "They were doggie calves" he said. Some of the calves were branded with a brand he knew as the Spikes brand, he said.

Big cattle men liked to have little cattle men on the open range, he testified. "Any time a big cattle man prosecuted a little cattle man it was because he was stealing" the witness testified.

Coots knew Sam Gholson and Bud Lee and considered their reputation as "good." He knew Condy Carmack and Webb McAdams and their was not so good.

Under cross examination by G. E. Lockhart the witness denied any financial interest in the case other than to get his expenses while here.

After several questions as to his "interest" in the case the witness offered to "tell why I ran Dick off if you really want to know." Lockhart said to confine his answers to those of questions.

He had related finding a dead cow, shot with a gun, and a calf by its side. The cow had the "HOW" brand and the calf was Spikes brand. Lockhart asked him why he had failed to relate this in his deposition, made some time ago. Coots said he had. The two then tangled on the confrence of the witness with attorneys for the defendants. He admitted never having heard of any one in Eastern New Mexico in 1900 to 1902 going to prison for stealing cattle.

Mrs. Garlington's Condition Is "Good"

The condition of Mrs. R. A. Garlington, 70, who suffered a fracture of the left hip Monday night, was "good", attendants at Lubbock sanitarium said shortly before noon today.

Mrs. Garlington was injured in falling on a sidewalk as she walked out of a grocery store here. She is the mother of Mrs. Pat Magee, with whom she lives at 1411 Avenue M.

Because of her age, physicians considered her condition serious. Attendants said she was "resting" this morning.

SPECIAL SESSION

ceding seven days. The total for last week was 300,948 barrels daily, with the railroad commission's allowance having been set at 180,000 barrels daily.

Opposed Measure

During the latter days of the Texas legislature's session it was proposed in a bill that the railroad commission's powers to curb production in the interest of conservation be enlarged and strengthened. Anti-prorationists from East Texas opposed passage of the legislation and two factions developed at Austin as a result. The bill was passed out of committee with a favorable report by a single vote. But it had been proposed too late and the session expired without action.

Hardly had the gavel fallen on the sine die adjournment than Governor Ross S. Sterling, sympathetic with the movement to curb production in East Texas as it had been reduced in other Texas fields under proration, was besieged with widely scattered urgent requests that he immediately invoke an extraordinary session of the legislature to deal with the emergency. Previously, in an executive message to the legislature, he had intimated he would reconvene the legislature within "20 or 30 days," but those apprehensive of the situation continued their importunities that the matter be given immediate attention.

FRANKLIN, BULLINGTON ASK SPECIAL MEET

ARDMORE, Okla., May 26. (AP)—An appeal to Gov. Ross Sterling of Texas to call a special session of the Texas legislature to push through an oil conservation law to control Texas oil production was made today by Wirt Franklin of Ardmore and Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, Texas. A telegram setting forth the views of the two oil men has been sent to Governor Sterling.

ESTES CLAIMS SLUSH FUND BEING RAISED

TYLER, May 26. (AP)—Carl Estes of Tyler, secretary of the East Texas lease, royalty and producers association and a leader in the fight to prevent early imposition of proration in the east Texas oil field, issued a statement today charging that some of the major oil companies had raised a slush fund "running into mountain high sums to be used in 'saying down a collossal barrage of propaganda in behalf of monopolistic legislation."

He termed his statement a "call to arms of every real independent oil operator in Texas."

IMPEACHMENT

000,000 of state funds were on deposit.

The move to investigate the investigators was announced by Representative Grover Charris who said he planned to introduce a resolution to that effect. In a statement he said that "If rumors are true I feel like the conduct of at least some members of committee should be investigated."

The delegation from Shelby county is sponsoring the resolution to appoint a committee to determine whether the house should impeach Horton. It was introduced yesterday with 44 signatures. Fifty votes are necessary for its adoption.

BRUNK'S CASE TO BE BUILT ON EVIDENCE

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 26 (AP)—With little hope of getting direct testimony relative to an alleged conspiracy on the part of Larry Brunk, suspended state treasurer, to defraud the state of interest money and to place securities in state depository banks that were deemed insufficient as collateral, the impeachment managers of the house of representatives today continued to attempt to build up the case on circumstantial evidence.

ONLY ONE-HALF OF HOUSES ON SEVEN STREETS BEAR CORRECT NUMBERS HERE

Only one-half of the houses on the first seven streets canvassed to align numerical addresses in harmony with a city ordinance bore the correct numbers, Marlin R. Smith, city engineer, said.

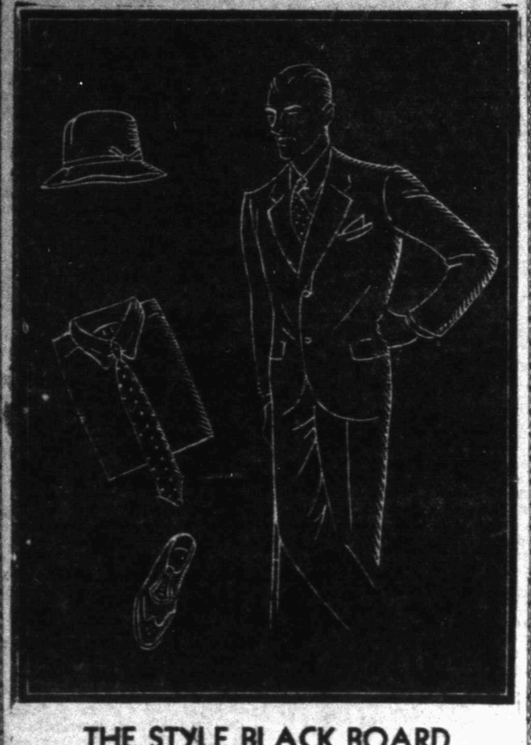

Three members of the engineering department began the survey Friday. Correction and erection of numerals on both residences and business houses is expected to continue six weeks or two months, Smith said.

Canvass of Avenues A, B, C, D, E, F, and G had been completed this morning. Of the 491 houses on the seven avenues, 245 had correct numbers, 120 incorrect numbers, and 126 no numbers. Percentage of houses bearing the wrong numerals was 24.4 and of those having no numbers 25.6.

No difficulty had been encountered in the survey thus far, the city engineer said this morning. Incorrect numerals are removed and correct ones substituted, and numbers posted on houses without them, as the canvas is made.

Plans are to include every business house and residence in Lubbock in the survey, which is expected to facilitate mail and other deliveries.

Gould Heiress Weds

SIX STOUT LADIES GO HOME TO EAT

BUT NOT UNTIL AFTER FIRE DEPARTMENT HAD BEEN CALLED TO UNLOCK DOOR FOR THEM

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—Six stout ladies stood in a reducing gymnasium last night.

They wanted to go home to their dinners but couldn't because between them and the outside was a glass door which the janitor had locked for the night. For some reason, unknown to the ladies, he had missed seeing them.

It was growing late and one of them suggested that if they smiled and waived their hands they might attract the attention of a passerby, who could liberate them.

Several men walked by but merely laughed, and their plan for freedom semed domed until Patrick O'Connor came along. But Pat's hearing isn't so good and he couldn't make out what they wanted until the wrote on a large card:

"We are locked in. Call the police."

Pat did. Policemen David Kenny and Daniel Moriarty responded, but concluded they had no right to break the door, so they called the fire department.

One hook and ladder company came, followed by an engine company, a chemical unit and Battalion Chief James McHale arrived. Six huskie firemen put their shoulders to the door and six stout ladies went home—to dinner.

SIDELIGHTS ON R. M. A. SESSION

TALK OVER "SHOP"

Numerous groups took advantage of the time before the convention session in the morning to do a little exchange of ideas. Around the lobby there were a great many groups of from two to half a dozen, seated or standing, discussing "shop." In addition to the regular program schedules for the exchange of ideas, the retailers have an interchange in informal gatherings.

Secretaries met this morning in room 212 of the Hotel Lubbock for their convention while the retail credit men met in the banquet hall. The secretaries discussed their own problems, with Garnet Reeves of Lubbock, local secretary, extending a welcome to the visitors.

SPUR HAS GOOD RAIN

D. L. Granberry, chamber of commerce and retail credit secretary at Spur, was rejoicing over report of rain at his town Monday. "They needed a rain in the tight land south of Spur," he said. "In the sandy land north it was not needed as much. Our prospects look good and we anticipate a good wheat crop this year. That will help conditions materially."

REGISTRATION SHORT

Registration this morning was 235 as compared with 252 at the New Braunfels convention a year ago. The registration will close late tonight and it was expected that by night the New Braunfels total would be exceeded. Local registration, aside from merchants who are active in the local group, is small. Only a few men who are not connected with the Lubbock retail group have registered.

GLADYS IN CHARGE

Miss Gladys Williams, of the Lubbock R. M. A. force, is in charge of registration headquarters in the lobby of the convention hotel. She is always ready to help visitors get located and settled.

"Palo Duro canyon on the Plains and the Davis Mountains and McKitrick canyon down near El Paso, should be included in the general system."

CITIZENSHIP IS DENIED PAIR

SUPREME COURT RULES OATH TO BEAR ARMS MUST BE MADE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—By a majority of one, the supreme court Monday decided an applicant for citizenship must take an oath to fight, if necessary, for the United States.

This conclusion was reached in the cases of Marie A. Bland, now in New York, Canadian war nurse, and Professor Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, Yale theology professor, also a Canadian.

Justice Sutherland delivered the majority opinion and Justices Butler, McReynolds, Van Devanter and Roberts agreed. Chief Justice Hughes read a vigorous dissent and Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone also dissented.

Already Settled

The government in opposing the naturalization of Miss Bland and Professor MacIntosh because they would not take an oath to bear arms in defense of the United States under all circumstances, said the question already had been settled by the refusal of the court to allow Rosika Schwimmer, Hungarian writer and linguist, to become a citizen.

She also refused to take an oath to fight for the country. Justice Sutherland took the view the cases today were ruled by the principle laid down in barring her.

He quoted from the decision of Justice Butler in that case, on May 27, 1929, which said "that it is the duty of citizens by force of arms to defend our government against all enemies whenever necessity arises is a fundamental principle of the constitution."

Hinged On Point

Chief Justice Hughes said the cases hinged on the narrow point whether congress had exacted a promise to bear arms as a condition of its grant of naturalization.

"That the congress has not made such an express promise is apparent," he said.

Every seat in the courtroom was taken as Justice Sutherland began delivering the decision.

Chief Justice Hughes said to conclude the oath of naturalization would bar those who had religious scruples against bearing arms would be repugnant to "the fundamental principle of representative government."

VISITING RETAIL MERCHANTS DELEGATE WANTS SILVER TO JINGLE; CAN RELIEVE DEPRESSION

Numerous means of restoring prosperity to the United States have been suggested, but there is a visitor to the Retail Merchants' convention who believes that the business depression can be driven away by silver dollars.

Shortly before noon yesterday the visiting delegate dropped into a drug store to replenish his supply of cigars.

Making the purchase he tendered a $5 bill to the clerk.

Methodically, the clerk counted out the change, including four bills.

"I don't want that kind of money," said the customer. "Give me silver dollars."

"If we all carried a little silver in our pockets and jingle it as we go down the street we would all forget about business depression," he said as he walked out of the store.
