Policy Deficiencies Told By Energy Study Team

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential study team recommended today establishment of a National Energy Council to guide and coordinate the activities of the 40 or so federal energy agencies.

But the chairman of the study team, William O. Doub, told newsmen such a council could not in fact require independent agencies such as the Federal Power Commission to follow a single policy line.

However, the council could provide to all agencies uniform guidance, letting them know what federal energy policy is, said Doub, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The report, prepared following a directive from President Nixon last June 29, concluded that federal energy regulation is unresponsive to change, poorly coordinated, and suffers from a lack of an over-all national energy policy.

But the study said the problem would not be solved by creation of a super regulatory agency or partial consolidation of agencies involved in regulating industry.

And it warned that the federal government may have to pre-empt state and local authority over the siting of new energy facilities unless there is better coordination with federal energy policy.

Deficiencies identified by the study team in the organizational structure of federal energy regulation include:

—Lack of a means to guide agencies on over-all energy policy. The study team found, for example, that while Federal Power Commission policies first drove many large consumers of natural gas to use of coal and oil, later decisions by the Environmental Protection Agency then limited the kinds of oil these consumers could burn. But neither agency had an effective means to take account of the other's objectives and policies.

—Unreponsiviness to change. Because agencies regulate on a case-by-case basis, the team found an inflexibility and shortsightedness that makes it slower and more difficult to benefit from new energy technology.

—Poor data coordination. The study group found there is no central data base for energy information, and most agencies rely on the regulated industry for the figures. It believes such a lack of information hampered government reaction to the Arab oil embargo.

—Poor federal-state-local coordination. Each level of government often doesn't take notice of the other's interests, with a resulting piecemeal, parochial and stop-gap approach to energy problems.

The National Energy Council proposed by the study group would develop national energy objectives, review energy regulation of other agencies and propose both new laws and executive actions to meet evolving energy problems.

Kim Pease of the Rotan Advance says he got this recipe for raising delinquent children from a leaflet distributed by the Houston Police Department. We saw it a few years ago from another source, but it still could be timely. Anyway, here's a list of rules for "Homemade Delinquents":

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to pick up even cuter phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."

4. Avoid use of the word "wrong." It develops a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being presecuted.

5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes, clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing off responsibility on others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in his presence so that he will not be shocked when the home is broken up later.

8. Give him all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you did?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food and drink and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratifiifed. Denial may lead to frustration.

10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying," I never could do anything with him."

12. Prepare for a life of grief, because you will be likely to have it.

Charles Didway of the Post Dispatch says he lifted this "food for thought" from Jim Reynolds' column in the Crosbyton Review:

Mary Somebody, Ann Everybody, Minnie Anybody and Samantha Nobody all belonged to the same auxiliary, but they were strange members. Everybody went to the movies Tuesday afternoon or stayed home to watch television. Anybody wanted to go to the meeting, but was afraid that Somebody wouldn't speak to her. So Nobody went.

Really, Nobody was the only good member. Nobody did the planning. Nobody worked on the committees.

Once the auxiliary was working on a special affair and it needed help. Everybody though Anybody could do it and Somebody thought Everbody would do it. Guess who did it? That's right—Nobody.

One day a prospective member appeared on the scene. Everybody though Somebody should invite her to become a member. Anybody could have at least approached her. Guess who finally invited her? Nobody!

Seems there's alaways a surplus of Nobodys.—— WACIL McNAIR

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, April 12, the 102nd day of 1974. There are 263 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1961, the Soviet Union became the first nation to put a man in space. Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin made a safe landing after one orbit of the earth.

On this date:

In 1654, Ireland and Scotland were united with England.

In 1861, the American Civil War began as Confederate forces took Fort Sumter at Charleston, S.C., from federal troops.

In 1916, American soldiers under General John Pershing were fighting in Mexico against forces led by Pancho Villa.

In 1945, President Franklin Roosevelt died and Harry Truman was sworn in as the 33rd President.

In 1966, U.S. bombers carried out their first strikes against North Vietnam.

Ten years ago...Two battalions of Communist troops attacked and briefly seized an important provincial town 130 miles southwest of Saigon.

Five years ago...The Viet Cong laid down what it called three basic principles for peace, including total and unconditional withdrawal of U.S. forces.

One year ago...The Occidental Petroleum Company signed the largest commercial agreement in the history of Soviet-American trade, a 20-year, multi-billion-dollar chemical fertilizer barter arrangement with the Soviet government.

Town Gets Foot Of Rain Today

WINNFIELD, La. (AP) — More than 11 inches of rain fell in a torrential downpour at Winnfield early today, leaving the town a virtual island as severe weather spread across north Louisiana.

A tornado hit Alexandria, ripping apart a trailer park but there were no injuries.

"We haven't had any fatalities but we've had several hairline rescues in boats," said a spokesman at the Winnfield sheriff's department. "Several of them involved people with their cars in the water."

Winnfield was almost isolated, with nearly every major road closed because of the water. Highways south to Alexandria were partially open, but covered with spots of water.

During one rescue, Winnfield Sheriff Sanford Jordan and a deputy were dumped into swirling waters when their boat hit a submerged object in the dark and overturned. Both were able to swim to safety.

At Natchitoches more than 8 inches of rain fell — the second major storm of the spring there. Tornados left widespread damage in Natchitoches last month.

Runoff Set For April 27

A runoff election for two school board posts here has been set for Saturday, April 27.

The board set the date Thursday at a called meeting at which the returns from the April 6 election were canvassed. The April 6 balloting resulted in runoffs for Place 3 and Place 5 on the board. Billy John Voss, who received 618 votes to lead the field, will face Dalton Walton, who received 264 votes, in the runoff for Place 3.

Bill Clayton, who received 448 votes, will face Ted Hanson, who received 285 votes, in the runoff for Place 5 on the board. There were four candidates for Place 3 and five candidates for Place 5 on the April 6 ballot.

The polling place for the runoff election will be at Lamar Junior High School. The voting site was moved there from the school administration building on the recommendation of Ray Lunsford, the election judge.

Absentee voting in the runoff election began today and will continue through Tuesday, April 23, at the school tax office.

One school board post was filled on April 6. Bill Eiland, the incumbent, defeated Guy Sullivan by a vote of 614 to 611 for Place 4 on the board.

HISTORY WEEK PROCLAIMED—County Judge Preston Wilson signs a proclamation designating April 15-19 as "History Appreciation Week" in Scurry County as Brud Boren and June McGlaun look on. Boren is chairman of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, sponsor of the annaul event, and Mrs. McGlaun is the committee's History Appreication Week Chairman.

EVENTS PLANNED APRIL 15-19

History Week Proclaimed

County Judge Preston Wilson signed a proclamation Thursday officially designating April 15-19 as "History Appreciation Week" in Scurry County.

The special week, which features activities sponsored by the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, has been observed annually here since 1967.

Present for the signing of the proclamation Thursday were Hugh Boren Jr., chairman of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, and Mrs. June McGlaun, the committee's History Appreciation Week Chairman.

The theme of the observance this year will feature the buffalo, the prairie animal that was a major factor in leading early settlers to the area. A new book, "In Search of the Buffalo...The Story of J. Wright Mooar." by Charles Anderson, just off the press, will receive special recognition during the week and will be offered for sale through the committee. Miss Evelyn Boone is in charge of the book sales.

The week's activities will begin Monday with school tours to the J. Wright Mooar ranch home northwest of Snyder. The museum room at Western Texas college will be open from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and a western art display by the Snyder Palette Club will be open at WTC throughout the week.

On Thursday, there will be a special program on Hidetown Drive, a segment of Avenue T between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Streets. Boy Scouts will set up a buffalo camp and there will be a musical program and Indian dances.

A series of events will be held at Western Texas College on Friday, April 19, including a chuck wagon barbecue dinner, musical entertainment a pageant and old time movies. Tickets for the barbecue dinner, priced at $2.50 each, must be

White House Will Turn Over Some Of Materials

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House, facing a House Judiciary Committee subpoena for tapes and documents, says it will turn over at least some of the materials.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler on Thursday said President Nixon would give the committee materials "consistent with his constitutional responsibilities."

Ziegler said the materials, to be turned over within two weeks, would bear out the President's past explanations of his Watergate role and "receive the support of the House."

However, Ziegler declined to say that the reponse would comply fully with the demand by the House committee.

Ziegler spoke several hours after the subpoena was hand-delivered to the White House.

The committee voted 33-3 to subpoena for its impeachment inquiry 42 presidential tapes and related documents the panel believes are tied to the Watergate cover-up.

"The playing of games is over. The committee means business," said Rep. John P. Seiberling, D-Ohio, summing up the committee's mood as it voted to demand delivery by April 25 of the evidence.

The committee has been waiting for the material since Feb. 25. Tuesday the White House said it would deliver some of it after April 22. In a vain effort to head off a subpoena, it promised just before the committee met Thursday to make a partial delivery in a few days.

But after urging support for the offer, which was made by White House lawyer James D. St. Clair in a telephone call, Republican members backed away from it when they were unable to get it in writing.

The subpoena spelled out in detail the conversations the committee wants. They involve President Nixon, his former aides H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and John W. Dean III; former Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst and Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen.

The committee staff's brief said, "Realistically, the President probably cannot be compelled to comply with a subpoena by use of the processes of either the House or the courts."

Steelers Agree On Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Steelworkers today approved a new three-year contract with the nation's 10 major steel companies providing wage increases totalling about 61 cents an hour for 350,000 workers.

Final details of the contract, worked out in an all-night bargaining session, were ratified by a committee of 600 local USW officials.

Complete details of the agreement were not immediately disclosed.

The pact reportedly provides for wage increases totaling more than 60 cents an hour over the next three years in addition to a hefty package of fringe benefits.

Steelworkers President I. W. Abel and R. Heath Larry, chief negotiator for the 10 major steel companies, bargained through the night, breaking only for coffee and a brief nap, to iron out the final contract language.

The union's 600-member Basic Steel Industry Conference, representing some 800 locals, was called into session at the Shoreham Hotel. The conference, which must ratify any proposed contract, was scheduled to meet Thursday night but at the last minute the meeting was postponed until today.

Sources said the steel agreement generally followed settlements earlier this year in the aluminum and can industries.

N-Viets Take Ranger Base

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops and tanks today overran a ranger base 50 miles north of Saigon that had been under siege for almost 14 months, the Saigon command said.

Government military sources said waves of South Vietnamese bombers retaliated within hours by leveling the base and attacking the Viet Cong headquarters at Loc Ninh, 25 miles farther north.

The Viet Cong said South Vietnamese warplanes also bombed and strafed a hamlet outside Loc Ninh, "inflicting large damage and killing or wounding dozens of persons." But the Saigon commmand said it had no report of this.

The Tong Le Chan base was manned by 250 to 300 rangers, military sources reported, and their fate was not known.

A government spokesman said the base was of strategic importance because it was on a Communist infiltration and supply route running south toward Saigon and north to An Loc, a provincial capital 10 miles away.

The Saigon command said the attack began late Thursday afternoon with a four-hour barrage during which some 900 mortar shells were fired. Then between 3,000 and 4,000 troops from the North Vietnamese 9th Division supported by tanks stormed the base.

The defenders had no support from the South Vietnamese air force because of low clouds, sources in the field said, but government artillery pounded the eastern flank of the base from An Loc.

Herrington Rites Set Here Today

Funeral service for Mrs. James Herrington, 57, who died early Wednesday, was set for 4 p.m. today at Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

The Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of the church, was to officiate . Burial was to be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Supervisor Of Lo-Vaca Quits

AUSTIN (AP) — District Court Judge Charles Mathews said today that Mills Cox, court-appointed supervisor of Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., has resigned.

Mathews said he would appoint a successor next week. He said he had several persons in mind but declined to name them.

Mathews said he understood Cox resigned Thursday at a meeting of directors in Houston.

Cox was named to supervise the financially troubled utility last summer.

Lo-Vaca, a subsidiary of Coastal States Producing Co., has frequently been unable to fulfill its gas supply contracts with Austin, San Antonio, Lower Colorado River Authority, and other customers for almost two years.

Kissinger Casts Doubt On SALT Agreement

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today there "would not be a permanent agreement this year" on nuclear strategic arms limitations with the Soviet Union.

In a brief session with reporters, the secretary said it was uncertain whether the United States and the Soviet Union could achieve a partial agreement in strategic arms limitation talks.

This was the strongest public statement by any administration figure casting doubt on the likelihood of a SALT treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons systems by the end of 1974.

The State Department press office subsequently told reporters that Kissinger did not intend to make a new policy statement.

Spokesman George Vest issued a statement saying the secretary was only repeating his past position. However, neither Kissinger nor President Nixon have stated on the record that there would be no comprehensive agreement this year with the Soviets limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

President Nixon last month said he expected to reach a SALT II agreement with Moscow this year.

Kissinger made his statement following a two-hour breakfast at the State Department with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy. According to the Egyptian leader, their discussion centered on the Middle East, particularly the efforts to reach a military disengagement between Syrian and Israeli troops in the Golan Heights area.

The question of SALT is a central issue in later meetings today between Kissinger, President Nixon and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The secretary said prior to the first White House session with Gromyko that they were likely to discuss all the issues to come up during President Nixon's expected June visit to Moscow. He indicated SALT and the Middle East would be included.

The Kissinger statement on the lack of prospects for a permanent SALT treaty this year follows the trend set by statements from very high State Department officials during and immediately following the secretary's trip to the Soviet Union.

Sex is no way to keep a boyfriend

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 21, considered attractive with a good personality. My problem is rather embarrassing, but I think there is something wrong with me.

When I meet a guy I like, right away I get sexually involved with him. In fact, going to bed with him is the only thing on my mind.

Naturally, no guy is going to turn anything down, but my sexual involvement never seems to accomplish what I hope it will. The longest a guy has ever gone with me is two months. They all give me a big rush at first and then they quit calling. Is it possible they get tired of sex?

I know I'm too forward, but I just can't help it. I don't think I'm a nymphomaniac because I don't get all that much out of sex. Could I be oversexed?

How can I keep from falling head over heels in love with guys I barely know? I can't seem to help myself. I'm always getting hurt.

Do I have a problem? And how do I solve it! PUSHOVER

DEAR PUSHOVER: You have a problem, and you can solve it by getting to know yourself and understanding why you behave as you do. You're insecure and searching for a lasting relationship, and you believe that the way to keep a guy coming back is by giving him sex. Wrong! [Obviously.] A good therapist is the answer. Ask your family doctor to recommend one. Or call your Family Service Association.

DEAR ABBY: My mother and I stopped at a gasoline station. She told the attendant she wanted $2 worth of gas and she held up two fingers.

The attendant left, and for some reason another man came out and put the gas in my mother's tank. He said: "That will be $3."

My mother said she asked for only $2 worth so the second man said: "Look, lady, what's another dollar? Besides with this gas shortage, you're lucky."

My mother said all she had was $2; but she lived only a few blocks away [which was true] so she would go home and get another dollar.

My mother didn't have any more money at home so she never went back because what could she have given him?

What should she have done? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: She should have told the man she would bring him the dollar as soon as she had it. And then she should have kept her word.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both dieting. We were invited to spend the weekend with some close relatives of mine. When I accepted, I expressly asked my aunt to please keep the food simple, and not to bake because we were dieting. She agreed.

When we got there she had pumpkin bread, fudge brownies, cheesecake and all the things we love and couldn't resist.

Because we are good friends, I spoke up and said I wished she hadn't done all that, especially since I had asked her not to. It caused hurt feelings.

Now the family says that it's up to the dieters to resist temptation because others should not have to go without. We say when houseguests ask the hostess not to serve high calorie foods she should comply. What do you think?

CALORIE COUNTER

DEAR COUNTER: Your aunt agreed to comply with your wishes, and she broke her promise. Shame on auntie. If she felt you were being unfair to the other guests by requesting she limit her menu to low-calorie food, she should have said so.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Fiance Working On Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Steven Weed says he is working on a plan to fly the kidnapers of his fiancee, Patricia Hearst, out of the country in exchange for safe release of the newspaper heiress

But if she isn't heard from soon, Weed says, he will conclude "either she is dead or she will be soon."

In a television interview Thursday with television station KQED, Weed said the "best thing" the Symbionese Liberation Army could do is "demand a plane out of the country, take some money and set up life and communication in some other country.

"I know that it could be arranged, because I've been working on that for several weeks," Weed said. He declined to elaborate.

FBI agent Charles Bates said the Hearst family has discussed such a proposal "quite a bit."

Campaign Reform By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a sweeping campaign reform bill and sent it to the House, where its chances of survival are in doubt.

Senate passage by 53-32 vote Thursday capped nearly three weeks of debate, with the bill's provisions for government financing of campaigns for federal office the chief issue.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., who led the opposition, predicted the fight against the bill in the Senate would strengthen the resolve of opponents in the House.

Except for its public financing provisions, the measure resembles a campaign reform bill the Senate passed overwhelmingly last July.

But the bill the Senate passed then has been stuck ever since in the House Administration Committee.

The House committee is working on a bill of its own, which is expected to turn out to be far different from the Senate measure.

Another hurdle for the Senate bill is the threat of a presidential veto.

President Nixon has said using tax funds to finance federal election campaigns would be a raid on the Treasury.

"The single most important action to reform campaign financing should be broader public disclosure," he said.

Voting for the Senate bill were 37 Democrats and 16 Republicans. Voting against it were 23 Republicans and nine Democrats, all southerners except for Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois.

The margin by which the bill was passed was far short of the two-thirds majority that would be required to override a veto.

WHEREAS, numerous Historical books and publication have been printed, namely: "Saga of Scurry County" by Kate Cotton; Golden Anniversary Edition, by Snyder Daily New; "Historical Markers in Scurry County," complied by Mrs. Wayne Boren and the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee; "77 Years as Recorded in Scurry County Newspapers" complied by Hooper Shelton, who also complied, "From Buffalo....To Oil, A History of Scurry County" in collaboration with the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee; and the latest book being presented this month entitled: "In Search of the Buffalo" by Charles G. Anderson, and sponsored by the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, County Judge, Preston Wilson, do by these present declare and designate the week of April 15th through 19th, 1974, HISTORY APPRECIATION WEEK FOR SCURRY COUNTY which shall follow the theme of a Tribute to our own buffalo hunter, Mr. J. Wright Mooar.

More Fuel For Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Office announced today that the April gasoline allocation for Texas is being increased by 54.3 million gallons.

The announcement was made by the FEO in Washington and by the Houston office of Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex.

Casey, Rep. Bill Archer, R-Tex., and Harris County officials earlier had appealed to the FEO for additional supplies for the Houston area. They contended FEO regulations penalize high growth areas such as Harris County.

Texas had been allocated 576.9 million gallons of gasoline for April but the FEO spokesman in Washington said today the figure had been based on incomplete reports of available supplies.

STOP HERE—TraveLodge International, Inc., and the Ford Motor Company are co-sponsoring a trip from San Diego, Calif. to Washington, D. C. to prove that family vacations are still economically feasible. The traveling group spent the the night here last night and were offically greeted at the TraveLodge Motel here by the Snyder Gold Coaters—members of the Chamber of Commerce's Producer's Club. From left, are Howard Gray and Herman Elkins, representing Ford Motor Company; members of the traveling group, Bob Edwards, Dottie Edwards, Dick Simon, Melanie Downing, Kathy Edwards and Laurie Edwards; and, members of the Gold Coaters, District Judge Wayland and Joe Williamson.

'TraveLogic' Trippers Make Stop In Snyder

TraveLodge International, Inc., and the Ford Motor Company are cooperating on a "family oriented" automobile trip to show the American public that its traditional family vacation can still be accomplished economically and comfortably.

Using two Ford automobiles, the TraveLodge and Ford Companies launched a trip from San Diego, Calif., to Washington, D. C. to prove that long trips can still be made with relative economy. The group left San Diego, Calif. Tuesday night and arrived about 12 hours ahead of schedule in Snyder last night.

On hand to greet them were representatives of the Gold Coaters—the Producer's Club of the Chamber of Commerce. Driving one of the cars was an expert professional driver, Dick Simon, accompanied by a photographer. In the other car was the Bob Edwards family—a typical American family of four. They are scheduled to arrive in Washington, D. C., on April 20.

Roger Manfred, president and chief executive officer of Travelodge International, has said: "The United States commercially perfected the automobile and made it possible for its people to be the most auto minded in the world. With great automobiles, a large affluent population and a vast land, Americans have shown the world what true family travel really means. TraveLodge wants to affirm the traditional American vacation is available to everyone and that the beauties and wonders of our great nation are accessible to the families of the United States this year."

Several months ago, TraveLodge International, Inc. began a nationwide advertising campaign entitled "TraveLogic." It was so well received by the traveling public that over 38,000 requests were processed for the free "TraveLogic" booklet. The 12-page brochure contains practical and proven methods to increase the efficiency of driving the family autombile.

The cars the group are traveling in are family-size Fords, provided by the Ford Division of the Ford Motor Company of Dearborn, Mich. The cars are equipped with Ford's new fuel "Sentry" meter, a device enabling the driver to see if his driving habits are compatible with good mileage.

Prior to coming to Snyder, the group stopped in Phoenix, Ariz., El Paso, and Carlsbad, N. M. Other stops are planned to Dallas, Little Rock, Ark., Memphis, Tenn., Nashville, Tenn., Roanoke, Va., and Williamsburg, Va. prior to the ultimate destination at the nation's capital.

Manfred has stated the basic traveling philosophy will be the use of interstate freeways systems throughout, travel between 8 a.m. and 4:40 p.m., observance of federal speed limit and as much sightseeing as prudently possible.

"We at TraveLodge feel this journey will add to the American public's faith in their freedom to travel—exploring the highways and byways of their land with the same spirit which has made them the most mobile citizens of the world," Manfred said.

Travelodge International, Inc. with headquarters in El Cajon, Calif., has about 500 motels and motor hotels with nearly 30,000 rooms in the United States, Canada and Mexico and is associated with Trust Houses Forte Limited of London, England, one of the world's largest hotel and catering groups.

American Kidnaped

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Police said the chief of the United States Information Service in Cordoba was kidnaped today in a violent incident. They identified him as Alfred Laun. There was no immediate confirmation from the U.S. Embassy.

A spokesman for the police precinct in suburban Unquillo, about five miles from here, said about nine unidentified persons, including a woman, kidnaped Laun from his home.

The State Department's Biographic Register lists an Alfred Laun III as 36, and says he is from Wisconsin.

American oilman Victor Samuelson is still held by Argentine guerrillas despite the payment of a record $14.2 million for his release. Samuelson, 36, of Cleveland, Ohio, manager of an Esso refinery north of Buenos Aires, was kidnaped four months ago.

Fires Put Out

City Firemen extinguished two grass fires yesterday.

The first one occurred off the 100 block of the East Highway at 6:10 p.m. Five minutes later, the other one occurred at Twenty-fourth Street and Avenue U.

Nixon Refuses Group's Offer To Buy Papers

DALLAS (AP) — A spokesman for the National Committee to Support the President said today President Nixon has refused the group's offer to buy his vice presidential papers.

"Mr. (George) Bush's office has informed us that President Nixon made an irrevocable gift of the papers to the national archives and he won't back out of it," said Cecil Emerson, a spokesman for the group. The offer was made through Bush who is GOP National Chairman.

Earlier, Jim Asaff, co-chairman of the group, said the papers would be housed at Baylor University, Waco, Tex, in the event Nixon sold them. Asaff said the group would pay up to $500,000, through donations, for the papers in an effort to solve Nixon's income tax problems. The President had used the papers as income tax deductions when he donated them to the national archives.

Emerson said Bush's office said Nixon appreciated the offer but he could not renege on his donation of the papers to the archives despite the advantages of a possible sale.

Tony Boyle To Seek New Trial

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — W. A. "Tony" Boyle's attorney says he will seek a new trial for the former president of the United Mine Workers, convicted of murdering union rival Joseph "Jock" Yablonski.

The jury which returned its verdict Thursday evening also found the ailing 72-year-old Boyle, now serving a three-year federal sentence for misuse of UMW funds, guilty of killing Yablonski's wife and daughter on Dec. 31, 1969.

The convictions carry a mandatory life term. No date was set for sentencing.

Defense lawyer Charles F. Moses, claiming the evidence was insufficient, said he would file a motion next week for a new trial.

Special Prosecutor Richard A. Sprague, who charged Boyle had ordered Yablonski killed and then authorized $20,000 in union funds to finance it, said:

"This man used the blood and sweat of miners for killing."

Sprague previously had convicted or obtained guilty pleas from eight others in the Yablonski case.

"Boyle was the originator," Sprague said. "We got back to the beginning and that's where we stop."

The jury of nine men and three women deliberated 4½ hours before returning a verdict.

Members of the Boyle and Yablonski families were on opposite sides of the hushed courtroom's center aisle when the verdict was read. All had their eyes riveted on the white-faced defendant sitting erect and unmoving in the carved armchair.

Boyle's wife was heard to whisper, "He didn't have anything to do with it." His daughter, Antoinette, held back tears and bit her lips as she rubbed her eyes.

Kenneth and Joseph Yablonski Jr., the two lawyer sons of the slain union leader, clenched and unclenched their fists and scowled.

Fight Pledged On Love Field

DALLAS (AP) — The president of Southwest Airlines declares he will fight in court any attempt by the city of Dallas to close Love Field to commercial air carriers.

"They know it a proposed ordinance is illegal but they're going to do it to pacify Fort Worth and we'll just have to undo it in the courthouse," said Lamar Muse.

A proposed ordinance banning commercial flights is on the agenda of city council business for its Monday meeting.

The heart of the issue is whether the council has the authority to close Love Field to commercial carriers, forcing all scheduled airline service to the new Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

Southwest Airlines already has won a court ruling permitting it to continue operations at Love Field so long as the city keeps the airport open. Muse seems certain his airline can obtain an injunction to bar any city council ordinance against airline flights at Love Field.

Spaghetti Only Dish Man Cooks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Most afternoons, through the wide window of a pots and pans store a few blocks away from my West Village house in New York City, you can see Wayne Marshall practicing the classical guitar while tending shop. Spanish, Japanese and American guitars hang on the walls along with French batterie de cuisine. Wayne is seriously interested in the classical guitar and his hobby is discovering fine ones; because the shop belongs to his wife Lydie, a young Frenchwoman who also runs a cooking school, he sells his finds there.

The Marshalls use their four-story 1846 building for the store and cooking school (both called A La Bonne Cocotte) and their living quarters. Wayne renovated the shop single-handed, including removing the plaster from a red brick wall, opening a working fireplace and gathering lumber from another old West Village house for beams and shelves.

Although he is greatly interested in French food preparation, he has never attended any of his wife's classes in "cuisine classique." When I asked "How come?" his answer was "She's never asked me." He cooks only one dish — and an Italian one at that!

Wayne is on the faculty of Long Island University's Graduate School of Business. His specialty is Operations Research, the application of mathematics and statistics to business. Wayne and Lydie met when he was doing his doctorate at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland and she was working for her M. A. in French Literature at Western Reserve.

Born and brought up in Tulsa, Okla., Wayne got his B. S. in mechanical engineering at the University of Colorado and his M. S. in industrial engineering at Purdue. Then came a two-year stint as an army industrial engineer in Texas followed by an engineering job in Michigan. "With my western background, it's no wonder that when I met Lydie her enchanting French accent fascinated me," he says. After completing his doctorate he came to New York to teach at Columbia University's Graduate School of Business; shortly after that he and Lydie married.

Wayne knew good American food because his mother is a fine cook, but Lydie opened the French gastronomic world to him. He set out to learn her native language and became so proficient that he has lectured in French at the European Institute of Business Administration in Fontainebleau. "When I speak French to a Frenchman, he never guesses I'm American," Wayne told me with some glee.

For the past seven years the Marshalls have spent summers in France where they have a country house. Wayne still remembers his first trip to Paris and his reaction when Lydie showed him the shops featuring charcuterie: "Eggs in crystal-clear aspic! Golden-brown quail garnished with black truffles! Galantine studded with green pistachio nuts! The charcuterie windows looked like museums to me. I couldn't believe you could carry away those works of art."

When I twitted him about his one-dish culinary repertoire, Wayne answered: "I wouldn't mind being a cook. It would be fun. But if I were going to cook I'd persuade Lydie to teach me everything she knows. There's no point in her having a mediocrity running alongside."

A slim, well-built man in his early 40s with an engaging glint in his eyes, Wayne thoroughly enjoys his life — including keeping his figure trim. He jogs every morning and counts calories.

"The first big gastronomic event in my life was in my late teens when I visited New York and met up with pizza," Wayne told me. "I hadn't known it existed, what I had missed! Then I heard someone talk about Italian spaghetti with white clam sauce. I tried cooking it and have been making it ever since." The Marshalls sometimes invite a few friends to supper to have what has become known as "Wayne's Spaghetti Dish," wine, a green salad and one of Lydie's splendid French desserts.

WAYNE'S SPAGHETTI DISH

1-3rd cup corn or peanut oil
¼ cup olive oil
1 cup finely chopped onion
6 tablespoons sweet butter
2 large shallots, minced
2 large cloves garlic, minced
1¼ cups dry white wine
½ teaspoon dry crushed oregano
Two 8-ounce cans minced clams
Freshly grated Romano cheese
1 pound spaghetti

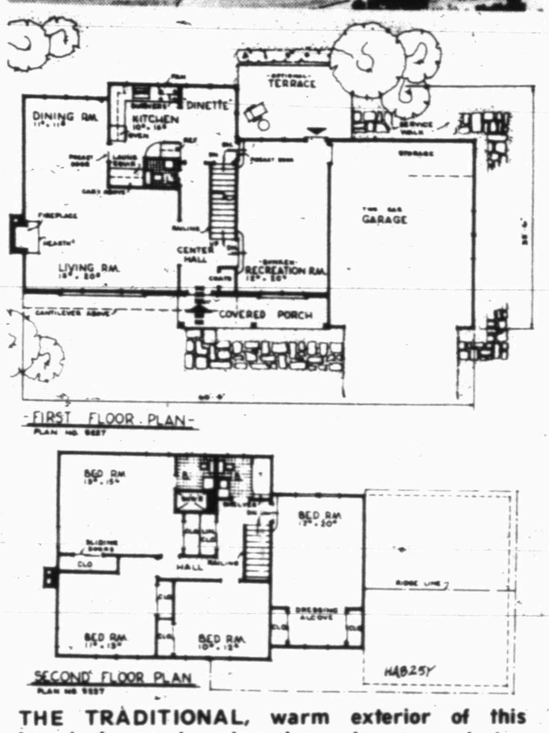

Heat oils; add onion and cook until transparent. Add butter, shallots, garlic, wine, oregano and liquid drained from 1 can of clams; discard liquid from other can of clams. Boil gently for about 20 minutes. Add drained clams (from both cans) and reheat; off heat stir in ¾ cup Romano. Meanwhile cook spaghetti according to package directions; place in large soup plates; spoon clam sauce over. Pass extra Romano and a pepper mill. Makes 4 huge servings.

BRIDE HONORED—Mrs. Bryan Baize, nee Cynthia Cadena, was honored Thursday night with a bridal shower at the Scurry County Coliseum. Hostessess for the event were Mmes. Mutt Thompson, J. W. Brinner, L. L. Neeper, Max von Roeder, William Erwin, Ruth Wilson, Albert Aycock, Murry Jackson, Dan Gibson, Speedy Moffett, Howard Sterling, Dale Stuard, Cecil Huddleston, Lindy Clark, Charlie Morrow, Dick Gray, Bob Sutton and Dick Rutledge. Pictured left to right, are Mrs. Stanley Baize, sister-in-law of the groom; Mrs. Bentley Baize, mother of the groom; the honoree; Mrs. Jesse Cadena, mother of the bride and Mrs. Brad Morgan, sister of the honoree.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THE TRADITIONAL, warm exterior of this four bedroom, two-story home has an enduring charm that will fit into any neighborhood and never look dated. It has a covered entrance porch and a center hall design. The dinette is separate, with corner windows. The laundry equipment is right in the kitchen. A door leads from the sunken recreation room out to the rear terrace. The garage is extra deep, for plenty of storage space. All bedrooms are upstairs, for privacy. The bedroom over the recreation room can be eliminated or added at a future date. Plan HA825Y has 772 square feet on the first floor, plus 255 in the recreation room and 1,050 on the second floor. It was designed by Herman H. York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N. Y. 11432. Anyone wishing to learn the price of the blueprint can write to the architect, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bedwetting Not Serious

COLLEGE STATION—Bedwetting usually isn't as serious as some parents think, one authority contends.

She's Dorthy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The specialist termed bedwetting "simply inconvenient—unless the family puts undue pressure on the child by making him view it as a problem.

"Actually, it's just one part of toilet training and a natural step in a child's development.

"However, it requires more parental help than other developmental processess—and lots of patience and understanding from the entire family."

Most parent just expect too much too soon, Miss Taylor said.

"They forget that children aren't little adults. Parents should expect only what children can accomplish."

In general, daytime bladder control comes first—followed by control at night. For most children, this happens by age three, she noted.

"We view bedwetting as a slight problem if a child doesn't accomplish this training by age three. Even so, most children outgrow bedwetting by school age."

Physicians can diagnose and treat organically caused bedwetting. In such cases—although not very numerous—family understanding is a "must," the specialist continued.

"When there's no organic reason for bedwetting, a physician can suggest raining methods which usually meet success. However, for these to succeed, parents must be willing to work with the child rather than nag at him.

"In addition, they can de-emphasize—or at least help the child cope with—any emotional factors accompanying bedwetting."

Giving credit when credit's due is one of the best things parents can do, Miss Taylor pointed out.

"A child likes to be praised as his efforts result in small triumphs.

"As with any other effort, this shows he's making progress—and helps him continue toward eventual sucess."

She stressed the parental—and family—role in reassuring and supporting the child in his efforts.

"Of course, the opposite also can happen. Criticism or punishment can undo any accomplishments a child has made. Pressuring him for immediate or consistent dryness may only delay the process.

County 4-H Meets

The county wide 4-H committee of Scurry County met Saturday, April 6. The meeting was called to order by Cathy Hess of Hermleigh. The roll was called and minutes read by Elowese Harrison of Snyder.

A number of things were discussed including County Team Demonstration, County Dress Revue and County Camp.

Seven members were present.

Manuscripts Given To Juilliard

NEW YORK (AP) — Holographs of two songs by Johannes Brahms have been given to the Juilliard School by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klingler of Paradise Valley, Ariz.

The songs are "Sehnsucht, Op. 49, No. 3" and "Im Garten am Seegestade, Op. 70 No. 1." The latter is a presentation copy. The sheets are elaborately bordered with an intermingling of foliage and musical instruments.

"Sehnsucht" is the composer's working copy showing changes Brahms made when composing the piece and other alterations in different ink and pencil.

Tollie Olson Wrote Novel

YONNONDIO. By Tillie Olsen. Delacorte. 196 Pages. $6.95.

Begun in 1932 when the author was 19, "Yonnondio" was set aside after a few years and not worked on again until recently when Tillie Olsen found portions of the old manuscript and tried to reclaim it.

The reclamation was not entirely successful since, as Miss Olsen admits in an afterword, "It was not to have ended here, but it is nearly 40 years since this book had to be set aside, never to come to completion." What does appear is a large fragment of what could have been an extremely powerful, moving novel.

Set in the 1920s, the story tells of the Holbrook family, struggling to survive both as individuals and as a family unit on the poverty-level income the father earns as a coal miner. Determined to have a better life for their children, Jim and Anna Holbrook manage through great self-denial to set aside a small sum of money that enables them to leave the mining town and set up as tenant farmers. After a brief period of happiness on the farm, this life slips from the Holbrooks when the father cannot pay his debts to the bank and they have to leave the farm.

Next stop is the slum of a large city and a job for the father in the slaughterhouse of a stockyards. The parents continue to struggle, the children continue to grow and the book ends on a small note of hope. What would have happened to the Holbrooks only Miss Olsen knows, inviting speculation that is interesting but pointless. What Miss Olsen has told, however, is fascinating and beautifully written. The author is most skillful at setting a mood and fleshing out a character, and her dialogue rings true throughout.

This book is worth reading not only for what it is but for what might have been.

APPLE BACON OPEN SANDWICHES

Inspired by Danish cuisine.

6 slices bacon
1 large golden Delicious apple, unpared and diced (1 and 2-3rds cups)
4 slices dark bread, preferably Danish style
Butter

In a 10-inch skillet over low heat cook the bacon, turning as necessary, until as done as desired; drain on brown paper and keep warm. Pour off all the bacon fat except about 1 tablespoon; or pour off all fat and then wipe skillet clean with paper toweling and add 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add apple to skillet; cook over moderate heat, stirring often, until apple is transparent — about 10 minutes. Butter bread and arrange hot apple over each slice; top with bacon. Serve at once. Increase quantities as needed. May be garnished with watercress or tiny lettuce cups filled with grated fresh horseradish. Makes 2 servings — 2 slices per portion.

Hotel Rates Expected To Double By 1980

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK AP—If you think hotel rates are high now, particularly when you're not on the expense account, you may have to recalibrate your standards by 1980. Prices are likely to soar.

That's the considered opinion of an executive with Helmsley-Spear, a big real estate owner-operator whose hospitality division acts as consultant, broker and manager of hotel and motel properties.

By the end of the 1970s a luxury double room in New York or in any major American city will be $100," states Steven Brener, who heads the hospitality division. A good convention hotel, he adds, will costs $70 a day.

Comparable prices today are $45 to $50 for two and $40 to $50 a day for one person in a luxury hotel. Conventional hotel prices range from $30 to $50 for two in a room, and $20 to $40 for one. In both cases there are extreme exceptions.

Land and construction costs are so great today. Brener says, that a new luxury establishment would cost its developers $50,000 and up per room. In some instances, he claims, the cost could run to $75,000.

In Brener's opinion, that means a hotel not only must charge very high room rates but must be assured of relatively high occupancy rates of between 70 and 80 per cent.

"In the past two years everything has changed," Brener states, aluding to higher land, building and operating costs.

The outlook for lower-priced hotels also is affected, Brener says, because it is nearly impossible to get costs per room below $30,000, at least here. The number of rooms in New York has decreased every year since 1964.

The occupancy problem is likely to be critical also for commercial hotels and motels, which Brener belives will find the business customer mainly because of a shorter work week.

Already, he states, some hotels are studing the possibility of closing one day a week in order to cut labor costs, and many of them might carry out their plans if the four-day week continues to gain in popularity.

Adaptations to a changing clientele are already being made by many motels. Specialty arrangements are developing. Honeymoon motels are popular, as are those equipped to handle business seminars. Domed motels with year-round swimming pools are attracting customers.

The efficiency unit motel also is coming back, mainly to accommodate families with young children who desire homelike conveniences, including kitchenettes, accommodations for six, a dining room table and a patio.

But luxury hotels and motels, if they are to remain leaders in their class, can only continue to do things they do well-24-hour room service, high quality food, security and the like-and charge more for them.

"X-es" Saving Steel

DALLAS (AP) — A new use for the letter "X" has just saved the owners of Dallas' tallest building $3 million, say the engineers for the structure.

The structure is the nearly-completed First International Building which soars 56 stores high in downtown Dallas in what once was a decaying part of the city.

Most buildings are constructed with straight horizontal and upright steel girders.

But in the First International, the engineering firm of Ellisor and Tanner of Dallas used gigantic steel "X-es".

Each "X" is 28 stories high and two are used on each side.

John Tanner of the engineering firm said, "In the first place, this system is very economical and doesn't require large amounts of heavy, expensive structural steel.

"In fact, we are saving approximately $1.50 per square foot by using X-bracing and stub girders rather than a more conventional framing system."

Tanner said the building contains 1.9 million square feet, meaning a saving of about $3 million.

The "X" braces are two to three feet square, anchored at the corners by steel plates 10 to 12 feet square.

The interior girders are designed so that architects were given greater freedom to use space. This is permitted by use of the "X" principle which resists wind forces and some gravity loads, eliminating the need for wind frames or trusses.

Use of the "X-es" blocks off some window space, but persons looking at the building from outside will not know the difference. The exterior walls are of two-layer silver mirrors which cannot be seen through from outside. Those inside can see out.

The building owners planned to light the interior at night to display the "X" concept but have suspended that because of the energy shortage.

Tandem elevators will be installed in each of 24 shafts, with one cab atop another operated on a single cable. Tanner says this is the first piggyback elevator system in Dallas.

In addition to the building itself, there is a 10-station drive-in bank, a 13-story parking garage for 1,000 cars, and tunnels will connect the structure with the 52-story First National Bank Building. The bank is a subsidiary of First International holding company.

70 Cents Gas Seen

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Motorists probably will be paying 70 cents a gallon for gasoline soon, a federal energy official says.

Philip Essley, deputy assistant administrator of the Federal Energy Office, told an annual seminar of city managers Wednesday that he differs with remarks made Tuesday by William Simon, federal energy chief, that gasoline prices might decrease.

"There is a possibility that the price might decrease," Essley said, "but I would say gasoline will cost 70 cents a gallon very soon.

"The latest projections by the energy office indicate there will be plenty of gasoline this summer. But the problem is that no one will be able to afford it."

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., voted against the bill.

Junior Editors Quiz on BROOK TROUT

QUESTION: What is Brook trout?

* * *

ANSWER: Brook trout is an active game, fresh water fish and is smaller species of the Salmonidae family of fish. It is native to the waters of the eastern United States and is characterized by a speckled or mottled body with red spots on the sides. Like other species of trout, it thrives in cool, clear water and feeds on insects, crustaceans and small fish. It weighs about 2 pounds, but in rare cases, Brook trout from 10 to 14 pounds have been caught. It is a fish very much in demand because of its good taste, and because anglers enjoy competing with the devious and cunning ways of this fish. It is a popular and handsome fish and many people are attracted by its coloring.

Brook trout is now widely distributed throughout the United States. It has been placed in hundreds of lakes and streams of the upper Mississippi Valley and the western United States. Sometimes trout are raised in hatcheries and released to suitable waters.

Coronado Nips Junior Varsity

LUBBOCK—The Snyder High School junior varsity baseball team blew a two-run lead in the bottom of the 7th inning as they fell to Lubbock Coronado's JV, 5-4, here yesterday afternoon.

Trailing 2-4 going into the bottom of the 7th, Coronado led off the last inning on a single by Bollinger. He went to third and Arterburn went to second on an error. After Grey grounded out, pitcher to first, Foster drilled a single to right field, driving in Bollinger and Arterburn to tie up the game. Foster went to second on the play. Neugent then cracked a line single to centerfield, driving in the winning run.

Each team scored once in the 1st. Snyder got its tally on a single by Richard Tovar combined with an error. Coronado got its run on an error and back-to-back singles by Foster and Neugent.

Snyder went ahead 2-1 in the 2nd when Gary Greenlee was hit by a pitched ball, advanced to second on a single by Danny Brumley, and scored on a single by Bo Wright. Snyder boosted the margin to 4-2 in the top of the 5th. Tres Falls singled and scored on a double by Kelly Ragland. Ragland went to third on the throw in and tagged up after a fly to centerfield by Tovar.

Coronado pulled within two runs, 2-4, in the bottom of the 5th. Grey singled and scored on a double by Neugent. Neugent was the outstanding hitter of the day, getting four hits in four trips to the plate.

The JV's next game will be here Monday against Lubbock Monterey's JV at 4 p.m. in Moffett Field.

Colbert Joins Portland Storm

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Jim Colbert, an assistant coach at San Jose State, has been hired to coach the defensive secondary for the Portland Storm, the World Football League team said Thursday.

Colbert, 34, is a graduate of Adams State College in Colorado and previously was an assistant coach at Fresno State in California.

Colbert Leads At Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — "The Old Lady was asleep," said stubby Jim Colbert, refusing to gloat over his 67 that led a sub-par charge into today's second round of the Masters Golf Tournament, "but you better not get cocky and over confident. She'll wake up and snap back at you."

The Old Lady is the Augusta National course, spoken of in personal terms since the day the broad and demanding layout came out of the head of the late Bob Jones.

It was Jones who labelled his green-garlanded brainchild "a fickle lady."

"She has to be petted and cajoled," said the immortal Grand Slam king. "If you try to attack her, if you treat her rough, she will devour you."

She merely purred in the opening round Thursday when a crazy quilt collection of favorites turned Augusta's par 72 into a sham. Twenty-one broke it, six others tied it.

"The golf course was not its most difficult," said the 3-1 favorite and four-time winner, Jack Nicklaus, registering a 69 despite a bogey on the final hole.

Young Johnny Miller, the 4-1 second choice as the result of his three tournament winning streak early in the year, had an erratic round that left him at par 72.

Augusta's 7,020 yards wore a lush green carpet. The massive, undulating greens were relatively slow, permitting bold shots at the pin. Until the arrival of tricky gusts late in the afternoon, the wind was little more than a gentle whisper.

"They say rain is coming," said Nicklaus. "That could change things. If, on the other hand, the greens get fast, it will help the better players and more sharply divide the field."

Entering today's second 18, with a 30 per cent chance of afternoon thundershowers forecast, Colbert had a one stroke lead over a trio of 20-1 or higher longshots, Don Iverson, Hale Irwin and Hubert Green.

Arnold Palmer, like Nicklaus shooting for his fifth Masters title, was uncomfortably placed at 76, in danger of missing the 36-hole cut.

"I am sick," the 44-year-old Arnie, unable to recapture his old putting magic, said of his opening round score.

Colbert is a 33-year-old former Kansas State Freshman football player who is entering his ninth year as a touring pro. He putted sensationally, thanks to an impromptu putting lesson from Australian Bruce Crampton, and rang in six birdies.

"I had a tendency of nursing everything to the right," Colbert said. "Bruce helped adjust my right hand."

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Here are the top first-round scores Thursday in the 38th Masters Golf Tournament on the 7,020-yard, par 36-36—72 Augusta National Golf Club course:

Jim Colbert	33-34—67
Don Iverson	35-33—68

Labor Dispute Continues

BOSTON (AP) — Suffolk Downs race track and the Massachusetts Mutuel Clerks Guild say no new talks are in sight in the labor dispute that has kept the track shut since April 1.

Negotiations between the union and the track broke off Thursday, guild business agent Joe Arena said, after the union asked for a $4-a-day increase spread over three years, and management countered with a $3.50-a-day raise over the same period.

Richard T. Donovan, Suffolk Downs executive vice president, said, "future meetings will be at the call of state mediators."

Montgomery Inks Broncos Pact

DENVER (AP) — Marv Montgomery, starting left tackle for the Denver Broncos, signed a multi-year contract with the National Football League team Thursday, the club announced.

Terms of the new pact were not released. Montgomery was drafted by the Southern California Sun of the rival World Football League.

Guthrie Signs With Sharks

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Grant Guthrie, former Florida State University placekicker who played with the Buffalo Bills of the National Football League, signed Thursday with the Jacksonville Sharks of the World Football League.

Guthrie, 26, holds the FSU records for most field goals, 29, and the longest field goal, 53 yards.

He played with Buffalo in 1970-71 and was with the New York Jets in preseason 1972.

The St. Louis Cardinals lead National League teams in World Series victories with eight.

Tigers In Twinbill

The Snyder High School varsity baseball team was to tangle with Lubbock High in a doubleheader beginning at 2:30 p.m. today in Mackenzie Park in Lubbock.

The Tigers are 14-8 for the season. Both teams are 3-5 in District 4-AAAA paly.

Coach Speedy Moffett listed probable starters for Snyder, according to batting order, as follows: Kelly Ragland lf, Randy Gressett lb, Ralph Lewis 3b, Robert Braziel p, Daok Witherspoon rf, Robert Alderete ss, Ernie Simons c, Sid Perry 2b, and V. T. Roberson cf.

Moffett said he would start either Doak Witherspoon or Gary Greenlee in the second game.

Friendly Skies Save Jim Kaat

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

For a fellow who's allowed seven runs and 14 hits in 91-3 innings pitched this season, Jim Katt hasn't lost his sense of humor.

The reason? Friendly skies which exploded at just the right moment to turn potential losses into rainouts.

Kaat pitched 62-3 innings Sunday against the California Angels, permitting nine hits and three runs before he departed. The White Sox managed to tie the game 4-4 before play was halted and the game postponed—thanks to a snow storm over White Sox Park.

Thursday's game was no different. In just 22-3 innings, the Minnesota Twins struck for five hits and four runs before the skies opened upon Metropolitan Stadium.

In other American League action Thursday, the Detroit Tigers topped the New York Yankees 4-1, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Boston Red Sox 7-6 in 11 innings, the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Cleveland Indians 7-5, and the California Angels defeated the Texas Rangers 11-8.

"I'm specializing in throw-away games this season," said Kaat, tongue very much in cheek. But another pitcher, Minnesota's Joe Decker, knew exactly how Kaat felt.

Decker had given up four runs and five hits in six innings to the White Sox Thursday and was trailing 6-1 Sunday when the Twins' game with the Kansas City Royals was rained out.

"Normally," added Decker in an apparent understatement, "I'm a slow starter."

The game will be replayed in its entirety at a later date, but all the hitting and pitching records will go into the final statistics.

Tigers 4, Yankees 1

Joe Coleman fared considerably better in his outing for Detroit, holding New York hitless for 71-3 innings on the way to a two-hitter.

Mickey Stanley hit a two-run homer in the seventh, while Aurelio Rodriguez and Ed Brinkman drove in the other Tiger runs with singles.

Gene Michael ruined the no-hitter with a ground single up the middle in the eighth inning and Roy White kayoed the shutout with a leadoff home run in the ninth.

Orioles 7, Red Sox 6

Baltimore's Elrod Hendricks scored from second base in the 11th inning when an attempted double play throw by Doug Griffin went wild.

The Orioles had scored a run in the 10th, but Juan Beniquez tied it again with a home run for Boston.

The Red Sox had taken a 3-0 lead, but the Orioles knotted the score and moved ahead 4-3 in the seventh inning.

Brewers 7, Indians 6

Milwaukee spotted Cleveland five runs in the first inning but eventually won the game.

SANCAP.
BECAUSE YOU HAVE ENOUGH SOIL PROBLEMS ALREADY.

If the soil in West Texas was the same as the soil everywhere else maybe the herbicides they use would be good enough for you.
But you've got different soil. Sandy soil.
And different problems.
You need an herbicide specifically made for sand, loamy sands and fine sandy loam soils.
You need Sancap®.
If you used it when we introduced it last season, you know what it can do.
STOP CARELESSWEED AND RUSSIAN THISTLE COLD.
Without hurting your cotton.
With just ordinary rainfall or irrigation.
And all you have to do is broadcast Sancap over your field at planting or within two days after.

Freed Pair Says Kidnaper Sick

BARRA DE NAVIDAD, Mexico (AP) — A Ruidoso, N.M., man and woman were under police protection today after being robbed and kidnaped by a man who threatened to kill them if they told anyone about it.

"He was sick. He said he'd come back and take us out to dinner. He even gave Beth his address," said James Tarwater, 21.

Tarwater said he and Elizabeth Zwick, 24, were in a hotel room here Wednesday when the man barged in. Barra de Navidad is about 180 miles southwest of Guadalajara on the Pacific Coast.

The man said he was a Mexican narcotics agent assigned to check hippies, Tarwater said, "so we let him go through our things."

He said the man took most of their money and possessions, and then forced them into a late model compact car with U.S. license plates.

"The man told us he was taking us to headquarters," Tarwater said, "but he turned off on a dirt road and forced me out at gunpoint."

Miss Zwick said the man then drove to Guadalajara, and forced her to accompany him to several parties.

"Beth just went along with him. And he released her, unharmed ... the next day," Tarwater said.

Miss Zwick said the man drove her to a Guadalajara bus station Thursday, and threatened to kill her if she notified any authorities.

"We've notified them all," said Tarwater.

"He introduced Beth to lot of his friends at the parties. He said, 'If you tell them I've kidnaped you. ...' It seemed like he wanted all his friends to think he had a date with a nice girl."

"She is okay although she said that the man who kidnaped her hit her a few times in the face and even threatened to kill her if the police found out about the abduction," Tarwater told a reporter.

Mexican authorities said the kidnaper was still at large.

Tarwater said the couple was waiting for money to be sent from the United States to return home.

"We don't have any money, but the hotel is letting us put our room and food on the bill," he said.

Tarwater and Miss Zwick both are employed by a Ruidoso, N.M., ski shop.

Their abductor was described as a Latin who spoke perfect English and called himself Hank.

Tarwater said that before the man barged into the hotel room, he had approached the couple on the beach, offering them a boat ride.

Tarwater said the couple planned to return to the United States as soon as the money arrived, possibly today. They had planned earlier to return Sunday.

Army Won't Pay Calley

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William L. Calley Jr., convicted of killing at least 22 Vietnamese civilians in the village of My Lai, won't receive a paycheck from the Army while he is free on bail.

Calley is awaiting a federal judge's decision on his appeal.

Actually, the Army stopped paying Calley in August 1971 when his life sentence was reduced to 20 years. But it continued to pay his rent and utility bills until Feb. 27 when he was freed on bond by U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott.

Calley's attorneys sought clarification of the payment. They received a memo Thursday which said there was no Army law or regulation requiring payment while Calley is free on bail.

Lobbyists Don't Plan To Comply

AUSTIN (AP) — Randall Wood of Common Cause says recent reports by lobbyists on spending show that some "have no intention" of complying with the new lobby control law.

Wood said Thursday one lobbyist "for an organization lobbying furiously in the (Constitutional) Convention" reported spending only $6 for entertainment.

Common Cause, the self-styled citizens lobby, reported about $21,000 in first quarter expenses for staff, printing, travel, telephone and miscellaneous items.

In a statement, Wood said, "The spectacle of seeing some of our most active and powerful special interest lobbyists report no entertainment expenditures, no telephone or mailing costs, no printing and no travel shows that these lobbyists have nothing but contempt for the new law and have no intention of complying with the new law."

TI Due First Of Leased Jets

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas International Airlines will receive the first of four leased DC9 jets from Trans World Airlines May 1.

Other jets will be leased beginning in August, September and November, Texas International said.

The four leased jets will bring to 21 the number of jet passenger planes in the Texas International fleet.

Probe Closes Coin Firms

DALLAS (AP) — Two Dallas-based firms considered Texas' biggest dealers in silver investment contracts were temporarily shut down today after being declared insolvent during a court of inquiry.

Houston lawyer Percy Foreman represented seven persons connected with the firms, all of whom cited 5th Amendment rights to remain silent.

The court probe is trying to develop information that could lead to criminal indictments in the sale of silver bullion and silver coins.

The two Dallas firms, Secure Monetary Systems of Texas, Inc., and Precious Metals of the World, Inc., closed their doors Thursday in compliance with a temporary restraining order.

The two companies and their presidents, Ronald D. Wright of Secure Monetary Systems and Phillip Fondren of Precious Metals, were temporarily restrained from selling unregistered securities. The state alleges the securities are "margin account contracts" for the sale of silver coins and bullion.

Other employes enjoined were James G. Manor, Glen O. Kirsch, John W. O'donnell, John P. Schnick, Harry Thomas, Douglas Lannom and Douglas Robinson.

Accountant J. R. Hurt testified the two firms' combined financial statement showed they were insolvent as of last Oct. 31.

State investigators have asserted the two companies operate separately as a "facade" under the same ownership.

Hurt said the companies couldn't meet "the call of all customers" if they made a run on silver at the same time.

Foreman claimed most banks could not meet a simultaneous call on deposits but hearing examiner Whitley Sessions said they could after liquidation because they are not insolvent.

In a petition for a restraining order, Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill claims the firms are purporting to sell coins and bullion to the public either by cash with immediate delivery or by margin account contract in which investors must pay about 20 per cent of the total contract price.

The petition claims investors' monies have been comingled by the firms to make unknown investments.

Waltons Special Stresses Faith

A special two-hour broadcast of "The Waltons" will bring into dramatic focus the extraordinary dimensions of this remarkable family when it is presented on the CBS television network station, Channel 13, Easter Sunday, at 6:30 p.m.

Entitled "It's About Faith," this special telecast of the regularly scheduled series is being sponsored by West Texas State Bank through its membership in the American Bankers Association (ABA).

Considered by many to be a classic TV family drama, "It's About Faith" was hailed as a "heartening message of faith" when it was first seen last April in over 19 million homes, almost half of the available television audience.

The story weaves around Olivia Walton, confidante and general mainstay of the Walton family, who is stricken with crippling polio. In bed, able to move only her arms and head, Olivia realizes that the problems caused by her illness are twofold. First, she must overcome her own anguish and peril, knowing that she may never walk again, and second, she realizes the effect that her illness is having on her family.

From her sick bed, Olivia responds in her typical fashions. With extraordinary faith and sheer power of will, she encourages her children to continue with their normal lives.

Jason is urged to enter music contest, Ben to be a saleman, John-Boy to prepare himself for college. She makes Mary Ellen a dress for the big dance; and in her determination to teach her daughter to dance, she manages to move her paralyzed leg and bring a glimmer of hope into the family. When little Elizabeth asks why would God punish someone so good, Olivia's answer is, merely, "There's a purpose in everything, and God knows what it is even if we don't."

The direction and script for this special telecast is by Philip Peacock and John McCreevy, the same "regulars" that have made the ficitional Walton Family welcome television visitors in over 20 million American homes every Thursday evening. Michael Learned, who pays Olivia, and Richard Thomas, who plays John-Boy each won an Emmy award for their characterizations in the series, which has garnered no less than half-a-dozen awards from the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

This Easter Sunday special is one of several telecasts that will be sponsored by the ABA in cooperation with the West Texas State Bank. On April 26, "Wild Science" program will be seen on NBC, and in June the ABA will sponsor a four-part series on Benjamin Franklin.

Agnew Clears Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has moved out of his last remaining federal office.

Agnew, who resigned last October after pleading no contest to an income tax evasion charge, vacated his government offices across the street from the White House.

Agnew reportedly used the offices to sort out his papers and memorabilia.

The White House spokesman said the former vice president has turned over his political papers to the University of Maryland. They will not be made public until 1977.

A spokeswoman for the university said no monetary value has been set on the some 600 boxes of papers, which include material from Agnew's days as Baltimore County, Md., executive, governor of Maryland and vice president.

Aid Funds Used For Comic Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard S. Schweiker says U.S. foreign aid funds have been used to circulate in Panama a birth control comic book picturing the Virgin Mary on the cover.

It bears a caption, 'Little Virgin, you who conceived without sinning, help me to sin without conceiving," the Pennsylvania Republican said Wednesday.

Schweiker protested "this outrageous and distasteful use of U.S. tax funds" in a letter to Matthew J. Harvey, assistant administrator of the Agency for International Development (AID).

Schweiker said Harvey confirmed that the Panamanian Health Ministry got $1,100 from AID to buy 10,000 copies of Los Supermachos, a Spanish language comic book published in Mexico.

"it is finished"

. . . so everyone thought. The Jewish pretender was dead. He could cause no more trouble for the Romans rulers. But the Romans were wrong. It was not finished. Indeed, the miracle was about to begin.

Just before sundown, Christ's body was taken from the cross, prepared for burial, and placed in a stone covered tomb, which was locked and guarded. But three days later the tomb was empty. He who had been declared 'Finished' was alive again. It is now Easter.

He who had raised up others from the dead was now raised up himself. And in this resurrection there was hope of life beyond the grave. There was a new beginning. This gave mankind a second chance for life by believing in Him.

The Roman rulers meant for the cross to finish Jesus. But God turned it into a new beginning. Christmas is now sanctified in Easter. Love turned Dark Friday into Good Friday. He lives and we, too, may live, in the measure that we learn to kiss the Cross.

We too can have this new beginning. It is Easter!
