

Milo Harvest Is Near Completion

The Collingsworth County grain sorghum harvest is now estimated at between 80 and 90 percent completed, with yields on some irrigated land running as high as 5,000 pounds per acre.

An estimated 180 cars, or 18 million pounds, of milo had been delivered to buyers in Wellington and Dodson by the week end.

Yields are considered good, however the total crop will be cut short because of the large acreage hailed out during the series of storms that struck the county after it was too late to replant.

Most of the dry-land milo this year has cut from 2,000 to 3,000 pounds per acre, although individual fields have run as high as 4,000 pounds.

Still to be cut is a considerable part of the crop in the Quail area, and this is expected to produce some of the better yields also. Until now, the better yields have come from the area east and southeast of Wellington, buyers say.

The crop delivered in Wellington is being held in elevators here, although most of the Dodson milo is being trucked to Houston for overseas shipment.

Services Held Saturday for Mrs. Morton

Mrs. Rudean Morton, 101 8th Street, died in an Amarillo hospital at 10 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7. She had been in failing health several months but entered the hospital only recently.

She had lived in Collingsworth County 43 years.

The former Frances Rudean Wood, she was born Oct. 24, 1904 in Arkansas, the daughter of the late J. C. and Annie Wood. While she was still small the family moved to Brinkman, Okla., where they lived until coming here in 1914.

She had been a member of the Church of Christ since early in life.

On May 14, 1927, she was married to Floyd Morton in Wellington. Over a long period of years, Mrs. Morton was associated with her husband in the ownership of an auto agency here. She also had worked for other firms in Wellington and was widely known through the area.

A woman of much compassion for those who needed her help, she gave freely of her time and work and her understanding was a source of strength and encouragement to many.

Funeral services were conducted at the Church of Christ at 2 p.m. Saturday, with Minister E. J. Fletcher and Minister John Gay of Amarillo officiating. Burial was in Memorial Gardens under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Palbearers were Shelton Nunnelle, Billy Moseley, Raymond Barton, Chester White, Elmer Hiett and Gilroy Rummel.

Mrs. Morton is survived by a daughter and son, Mrs. Junior Kellison of Amarillo and Richard Morton of Albuquerque, N.M.; a brother, Rudell Wood of Amarillo; and seven grandchildren.

White Heads Red Cross

Tony White, pharmacist at C&H Pharmacy, has been appointed Collingsworth County Red Cross Chairman. He succeeds T. E. Lennon, who resigned from that post.

Mr. Lennon will remain the chairman of one section of the Red Cross work in the county, he said.

Mr. White said that plans for the annual Red Cross fund drive will be made later in the year.

Vandals Operate

Watermelons Thrown Into High School

Vandals heaved three half-grown watermelons through a window and two doors at Wellington High School some time Saturday night, Nov. 9. Police Chief Donald Nunnelle has reported.

One melon was thrown through the window into the office of Supt. J. L. Harper. It burst on impact, and shattered glass and melon were spattered over the entire office, the police chief said.

Another went through the glass panel of one front door, and again glass and melon were scattered over the floor. An attempt was made to throw the third melon through a glass panel of one gymnastum door, but this glass was shatterproof type and although it broke, the melon did not go through.

Supt. Harper reported the vandalism to Chief Nunnelle and Sheriff John Rainey about 9:45 a.m. Sunday.

Vandals did not enter the building, and the monetary loss was small.

The same night vandals stopped at Langford Brothers Station at the corner of US 83 and FM 338 and opened all bottles that were visible in the coin operated pop machine, Chief Nunnelle reported.

Apparently they drank none of the pop, but let it run out onto the station driveway, he added.

Cyclone Biggest Yet

Skyrockets End Season Against Memphis Fri.

The Wellington Skyrockets will close their season at Powell Field against the big Memphis Cyclone Friday, Nov. 15. Game time is 8 p.m.

This game took on an altogether different status after Memphis came through with its biggest upset against a strong Seymour team Friday, Nov. 8. All of District 2-AA is wondering if they can do it again.

"Memphis has a real big ball club, with a great deal of speed," said head coach Thayne Amonett. "They are strong although their season record hasn't shown it—they have won three and lost the others. They have had problems with injuries through the season and they seem to be getting the boys back in condition now."

It is conceded that Memphis lost some games earlier in the season they might have won if it had not been for their injuries.

Now it's Wellington's turn to be injured.

Three key players were hurt in the Childress game Friday night. Andy Lowe received a left shoulder injury and was hospitalized over the week end. It is doubtful if he will be able to play, Coach Amonett said. Lowe was hurt while carrying the ball in the second period.

Larry Kane received a sprained ankle, also in the second period, and has not been able to work out so far this week. Then Jerry Woodridge sprained his ankle. He has been working out, however.

"Other than that we're in pretty fair condition," the Rocket coach believes. However this does not count Ted Martin and Gary Brewer, out with earlier injuries.

To fill Lowe's spot, Coach Amonett has switched Ricky Brown over to right half. He had been alternating with Ricky Nall at left half. He is also shifting Danny West into the backfield on occasion and using Nall at end.

RC&D High Level Meeting Set Here Nov. 21

Problem areas within the six counties in the Rolling Plains Resource Conservation and Development program will be studied by a team of three men representing the State Soil Conservation Service Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 20 and 21.

The team conducting this hearing will be James Abbott, J. I. Kincaid and C. A. Rechenthin.

"They will probably start looking at some of the problem areas in Hall County, then Donley County, and then go on to Pampa to spend the night," said Gary Reed, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service.

"Thursday morning they will review Wheeler County and Collingsworth."

A meeting of the three state SCS representatives and the board of directors of Rolling Plains RC&D is slated at the Greenbelt Electric Co-operative for 1:30 p.m.

The RC&D program is sponsored in each of the participating counties by the Soil Conservation Districts.

Rocket B Ends Season Against Memphis Thurs.

The Skyrocket B team will close out its season against Memphis there Thursday, Nov. 14, according to Coach James Stavenhagen.

The Rockets won an earlier game 34 to 14.

"We expect more difficulty this time, due to the loss of Julius Johnson, one of our star scorers, and to the fact that they have some boys back who weren't there when we played them before," said Coach Stavenhagen.

"They generally get mentally prepared for Wellington and I am sure it will be an interesting ball game."

Mrs. John Nash Hurt in Crash

Mrs. John Nash, 401 9th St., is in a Groom hospital for the treatment of injuries received in a car accident in that town Sunday, Nov. 10.

Mr. Nash said her injuries are not considered serious, although they are painful, and include a broken finger, bruised leg and sprained ankle. She is due to return home Sunday or Monday.

He was uninjured. The accident occurred about 11 a.m. when the Nash car and another vehicle collided at an unmarked intersection, according to Mr. Nash.

There was considerable damage to the car, he added.

County Bank Assets Near $11 Million Mark

Collingsworth County's bank assets soared at mid-Autumn to near the $11 million dollar mark, while deposits in the three banks lack only a few thousand dollars of topping $10 million.

These figures were revealed in the reports of the three banks to the Federal Reserve Bank and State Banking Commissioner at the time of the bank call Oct. 30.

Assets at the close of business on that date were $10,921,716.05.

Deposits at the same time were $9,991,760.76.

The call is almost a month later than the third quarter bank call in 1967, so comparisons cannot be precise. However, assets this year are approximately $640,000 higher than in 1967. Moreover, it is more than two million dollars over the third quarter asset figure of 1966.

A good comparison comes with the third quarter of 1965, which was nearer to this year's date.

Assets this year are more than three million over the 1965 figure of $7,765,251.

Deposits follow a similar trend.

The early October figure of 1967 showed deposits at $9,432,682. In 1965, later in the month, deposits were $7,390,846.07.

The 1968 bank call reflects a large part of the grain sorghum harvest, but not all. It reflects none of the cotton crop whatsoever.

Of the deposits in the three banks, First State at Dodson, Wellington State and City State at Wellington, demand deposits account for $6,309,169.58. This figure represents the checking accounts of individuals and business firms—the money they use in everyday transactions.

Time deposits this year amount to $3,682,591.18. This is money belonging to individuals which they permit their bank to use and on which they draw interest. It is a little more than one million above the time deposit figure in 1967.

Loans and discounts on Oct. 30 stood at $6,102,056.13.

Undivided profits are $372,695.15, up approximately $35,000 from last year.

Quail School Regains TEA Full Accreditation

The Quail Rural High School District, warned a year ago of violations of accreditation standards, has been cleared and is now carried as fully accredited by the Texas Education Agency for grades one through twelve, Supt. E. P. Haynie was notified late last week.

The recommendation came after a second accreditation visit Oct. 22 by a team composed of Jack Mayberry, James Burns and James Harper of the TEA.

Their report, which covered all phases of the school's operation, said, in closing: "The board of education, administration, faculty, supporting staff and patrons of the Quail Rural High School District are to be commended for the improvements made since the previous accreditation visit."

Among the things noted in the report were:

—The 176 instructional days schedule for this school year, with an enrollment of 99.

Norwood Hosts Annual District Scout Dinner

The annual appreciation dinner of the Comanche District, Boy Scouts of America, will be held at Samnorwood Saturday, Nov. 16 at 7 p.m. The dinner will be in the school cafeteria.

This is an annual event, and the district officers and members at large will be installed for the coming year, according to Dave Agnew of Shamrock, Scout executive. Awards and recognition in behalf of the district and Adobe Walls Council will be presented to Scouters and Den Mothers.

The highlight of the program will be a visual canoe trip into Canada from Minnesota, given by Supt. Robert Dwight of Samnorwood. Turkey Shoot Planned

Gun Club Formed For Local Trap Shooters

Trap shooting is the newest sport available to Collingsworth County residents. Organization of the Wellington Gun Club has been completed and plans are now being formulated to acquire a trap site and build a trap house.

Officers were elected to serve on a temporary basis until Jan. 1, and include: Mickey Breedlove, president; Tony White, vice president; and Billy Moseley, secretary-treasurer. The board of directors will include these three and Pat McAlister and W. T. McAdams.

The first project of the Gun Club will be a turkey shoot, which will be open to the public. The date has not been set but it will be held before Thanksgiving, according to Mr. Moseley.

Officers and directors will draw up by-laws and also contact gun clubs in Amarillo and Lubbock for guidelines.

The club is open to anyone who is interested. There will be dues, which will be minimal, plus a small monthly fee, Mr. Moseley explained.

Membership will entitle the entire family to participate, for a children's section is also planned. Both men and women shoot in the adult section.

Membership also entitles members to buy their clay pigeons for the actual cost, according to the officers.

A committee composed of Raymond Pike, chairman, Russell Hill and Mr. White was appointed to locate the trap site. A masonry trap house will be built and the traps ordered within a short time.

Bobcats Win District Game There Nov. 8

By JACK FORD

The Childress Bobcats, capitalizing on a fumble and pass interception of the Wellington Skyrockets, rolled on to down the Rockets 25 to 8 before an estimated 2,000 cold fans Friday night, Nov. 8 in Childress.

It was one of those types of football game that the Rockets wish they could forget about. It seemed that every play on offense the Rockets tried, either a missed assignment or another types of miscue upset their plans. The breaks were even against them with the football taking the so called opposition bounce.

It was a better game than the score indicated, and the Rockets played a hard running and hard hitting Bobcat eleven that would not be denied this game. Again the Rocket defense was called on to put all they had into stopping the Bobcats, and they rose to the task on a number of occasions to Rockets Charles Mauldin, Ricky Brown, Tony Hurst, Don Martin, Nicky Watts, Larry Robinson, Andy Lowe, Danny Watts, Jimmy Bohannon, Larry Kane, Mark Killian, Ricky Nail, James Jones, Teddy McLain, Jerry Woodridge, Reese Bowen, Chuck Wilbur, Lester Robinson, Danny West, Danny Brooks and Bobby Saied gave their fans lots to cheer about on both offense and defense.

On offense the fans saw some great running and passing, and the defense stopping a Bobcat drive on the Rocket 1; T. McLain breaking up a Bobcat screen pass by penetrating through the blockers and throwing the receiver for a 3 yard loss. And of course the Rocket pass defense did yeoman service in stopping the fine passing game of the Bobcats, and came close to intercepting a number of Bobcat passes.

It was midway of the second quarter that the Bobcats put a drive together after receiving a bad Rocket punt.

Putting the ball in play on the Rocket 42 yard line, the Bobcats in ten plays drove into the end zone for the first Bobcat touchdown. The extra point kick was good. Bobcats 7, Rockets 0 at the half.

In the third quarter it looked like the Rockets would get started. Starting on their own 7, they kept plugging away to their own 49 yard line, but then a Rocket fumble was recovered by the Bobcats on the Rocket 38.

The Bobcats took just five plays to score and put the lid on the game. The try for extra point failed. Bobcats 13, Rockets 0.

The fourth quarter was the one that nailed down the game for the Bobcats, when they scored two touchdowns, one after intercepting a Rocket pass on the Rocket 30.

It was also in this quarter that the Rockets scored their only touchdown. Taking the kickoff after the last Bobcat touchdown on their own 41 yard line, Rockets C. Mauldin, N. Watts, R. Nail and L. Robinson drove to the 1 yard line and then Quarterback C. Mauldin took the ball and drove into the end zone for the touchdown. C. Mauldin then passed to L. Robinson for the 2 extra points.

Seven plays later the game ended. Bobcats 25, Rockets 8.

This Friday night at 8 p.m. the Rockets meet the strong and big Memphis Cyclone at Powell Field in Wellington. Again this should be a good game. The Cyclones have been a team that plays good football, their defeat of Seymour shows that, and this will also be the last game of the season for both teams. A win by either team will give them a good win and loss average and a better standing in the district.

The Rockets will have to play tough again in this game. The Cyclones consider a win over the Rockets as a good season, so the Rockets will have to play hard football and want to win this one. The Rockets can do it and they will need all their fans backing them up. The Rocket fans have been

HOLDING THINGS UP

Renee Fast of Houston appears to hold up the Leaning Tower of Pisa, which she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Fast, visited in the summer.

Volunteer Workers Transcribe Textbook for Blind Children

The world of books opens at a touch of the fingertips to the child without sight, a world that grows broader each day because two different groups of Braille book technicians put their time to work for Texas school children.

The first is a group of volunteers—mostly women—long active in Braille textbook production. The other transcribes, binds and reproduces Braille textbooks behind the bars of the Texas Department of Corrections at Huntsville.

Both are vital to the Texas Education Agency's special textbook program.

"We depend heavily on both groups because the demand for Braille textbooks always exceeds the supply we have on hand," says J. B. Golden, director of the Agency's Textbook Division.

The director estimates the need to be around 1200 Braille textbooks a year. In addition, there are the many tests and workbooks which are transcribed for local school use in the traditional Braille dot pattern so the teacher can evaluate the blind student's work.

Texas is one of the leading states in the nation in providing free special textbooks in Braille so that its youthful blind population can keep up with their sighted classroom contemporaries. Many of these books are obtained from the American Printing House for the Blind in Louisville, Ky. But for the many titles not produced there the agency depends on the two transcribing groups.

The Pete Fast's Help Texas Young People Discover Europe

By Rev. Pete Fast

Renee Fast, Mrs. Charles Slay's granddaughter, is shown trying to "prop up" the leaning tower of Pisa in Italy which has been leaning ever since it was begun in 1174 and finished in the 14th century because of a sagging foundation and leaning more than ever. Some of the Houston group who were with Renee purchased what they thought were tickets to go to the top of the tower of Pisa but because of their inability to read Italian did not learn until later that they had purchased life insurance in the event that the tower were to fall on them after leaning these hundreds of years.

Renee Fast is one of the group of 27 college youths and graduates and a few adults who attended the Baptist Youth World Congress in Bern, Switzerland last summer.

Rev. and Mrs. Pete Fast of Woodridge Baptist Church were tour leaders for the group. Rev. Fast is minister of education. He first dreamed of this trip as a graduation present for their daughter, Renee, who finished Baylor cum laude last spring and is now attending the University of Houston working toward a master's degree in reading in the elementary field.

In Holland they visited the home of Ann Frank and went to see the flower market where flowers are "wholesaled" and sent all over the world. They also visited the famous Rijksmuseum and saw the well-known paintings of Rembrandt such as the "Night Watch".

It was in Cologne, Germany, that most of the group first ordered water with their evening meal only to have the waiter bring mineral water with an additional charge.

When the waiter was asked why he couldn't just bring us plain water instead of mineral water he remarked rather bluntly, "Frankly, I can't make any money by bringing plain water and so I try to sell you 'some drinks'."

One of the most interesting events was a ride down the Rhine on a steamship on a cold 20th of July viewing the beautiful castles all along on either side, the grape orchards, gardens, homes, villages and the churches along the Rhine. Once off the ship and after a good night's rest the group was excited to actually visit a real castle at Heidelberg which is one of the best preserved and dates back to 1303.

In Switzerland the group learned to eat hard rolls, cheese and coffee for breakfast in Hotel Lowen in a small village where the Notz family has had ownership of the hotel since 1741. We must admit that Swiss hospitality even surpasses Texas hospitality.

The choirs and the music seemed to be the best part of the Baptist Youth World Congress and every evening we rushed from our hotel and village to Barne for the convention which was attended by some 10,000 Baptists from 57 countries representatives of which were dressed in their native dress on Wednesday night as they appeared before the convention and gave the theme of the convention in their own language, "One World, One Lord, and One Witness."

The group traveled to Lucerne to buy watches and to climb the 10-mile ski-lift to the top of Mt. Pilatus and view the city, lakes and snow covered mountains below—what a view!

Since most of the Swiss speak a Swiss-German, Mr. Fast helped bridge the language barrier since he grew up on German and Dutch in his native Montana.

The bus drive took the group through the Swiss Alps and over the Simplon Pass, a never-to-be-forgotten event. Milan, Italy, with the great cathedral and the famous LaScala Opera House came next, where we saw a "covered mall" 200 years old. In Italy we had more difficulty ordering our food in some cafes that were all filled with so many people, but we ate and ordered many varieties of spaghetti.

In Rome we went to see the opera Aida by Verdi staged in the open ruins of the famous Roman baths and there must have been 15,000 people present. It seems that Romans attend the opera like Texans attend football games. In Rome we also visited our English-speaking Southern Baptist Church there, pastored by Rev. W. C. Ruckti and our missionaries, Dr. and Mrs. Roy Starmer with the publishing house there.

The Italian people seem to stay up all night and the streets with the little cafe tables on the walks were still in full swing at 2 a.m. Of course we went to "Sound and Light," and wondered at the past glories of Rome when they ruled the world and even "laid out" such cities as Paris and London. The many high-rise apartments all along the long Italian Mediterranean coast impressed us as we learned that there are 50 million people in Italy in a country about the size of the state of Arizona and 50 million means 1/4 the population of the U.S.

In Paris we had our own church service in our hotel lobby as we were unable to locate our Southern Baptist Church on the edge of the city.

At the Paris airport we were surprised that we could not exchange our French money into American money as we left France, which was a new move on the part of DeGaulle and his cabinet after the money crisis in France. The English, however, accepted our French money with a slight penalty. We saw a few broken windows from the student riots, but all else was cleaned up and France welcomed us.

In London once more we could communicate with our English friends, although a large part of London's 10 million or more are not traditional English, but many nationalities. We attended a Mozart opera in the Royal Prince Albert Hall and saw about 4 or 5 hundred fine youths stand up at the very lowest level for the entire performance of some three hours—standing there in perfect dignity and quiet respect. Evidently not all of the English youths are Beatles or Hippies.

Of course, we had to see the changing of the guards at Buckingham Palace and all of the young ladies in our group wanted their pictures made with one of the guards. It so happened that one of the guards with whom Marilyn Terence of Houston was having her picture made came to attention, stamped his feet, clutched his rifle and the bayonet accidentally cut an inch and a half deep gash in Marilyn's cheek. The guard could not speak or move, but we did see his chin quiver. Everyone was "shook up" and we took Marilyn to the doctor to have half a dozen stitches taken by socialized medicine, but her only concern and a small amount killed by frosts was just getting underway when it was halted by rain last week end. Heavy dew in the mornings has further slowed harvest. A freeze or killing frost is needed to drop the remainder of the leaves on the stalks to put harvest into full swing, Cain said.

Two classers are presently on duty at the Memphis Cotton Classing Office but others will be added as the backlog of unclassified samples increases.

Quality of the crop is good in both grade and staple. Of the cotton classed this week, 63% was in the White grades and only 37% Light Spot and Spotted grades. The three largest grades were Middling, 43%; Strict Low Middling 13%, and Middling Light Spot 27%.

Prevailing staples were 15/16, 23%; 31/32, 29%; 1 inch to 1 1/16, 37% and 1 3/32 and longer, 9%.

Micronaire readings show 10% 3.4 and below. There was 87% in the desirable range of 3.5 to 4.9 and only 3% 5.0 and above.

Pressley results, or breaking strength in thousand pounds per square inch, is also released by was that she would get to continue to Windsor Castle that afternoon and she did. When we got back to Houston we read a little article in the Houston Post in which the London Guard apologized for the accident with the Houston lady whose name and address he did not know. Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Land of Wellington amazed the entire group by staying up with the youth who went all day and every night for 21 days, even though they are almost retirement age.

Results this week show 92% in the desirable range of 75,000 and above. The weekly average was 84,000 and the season average so far is 85,000.

The market is very quiet at this time. This is due to a light demand on the part of buyers and to farmers not having harvested sizable lots of cotton to offer. Not enough sales were made to quote average prices for any grade or staple. It is felt that market interest in this area will pick up, however, as the harvest gets underway.

What Is the Best Buy?

COLLEGE STATION. — Does "best buy" mean price, prestige, food value or convenience? Nothing is a "best buy" or even a good buy if it is not useful to the buyer, notes Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

No food item is a good buy unless the family will eat it. Family customs, nationality and personal preferences, regional characteristics, family income, employment of the homemaker outside the home, and store advertising influence food choices.

Does price indicate a food item's value? No, says the Texas A&M University specialist. This is one of the most misleading concepts in consumer buying. You need to compare similar size and quality products at the same time.

For example, price will have less bearing on the value of meat for a family dinner than the number of servings a cut will yield. The number of servings may vary according to cut, amount of bone, fat or other waste and cooking method, Mrs. Clyatt points out.

What is the best value for you? First consider actual cost, number of servings, food value, convenience, preference — then decide.

There's a Way to Preserve Autumn Leaves

If you hurry, you can save some of this fall's brilliant leaves to use in dried arrangements this winter.

To preserve autumn leaves, press them with a warm iron to set the color, suggests Extension housing specialist Bonny Lay.

Then soak the pressed leaves in a solution of one part glycerine to nine parts water. When thoroughly soaked, the leaves should be removed and pressed between blotters. The leaves will remain flexible.

In Appreciation

It is with a great sense of humility that I extend my appreciation to the voters of the 75th Legislative District of Texas for the trust you have placed in me. I am also deeply grateful to the various committees and individuals who gave their time, money and in many other ways, helped my campaign for the office. Without your trust and dedication my election would have been impossible.

I would also like to extend an invitation to everyone in the district to contact me on the various issues that will confront us as we enter the new season of legislative work. Your opinions and insight into the problems and needs of the district will weigh heavily on any decision I will be called on the make in the legislature.

Again thanking each of you.

Homes for America's future. Homes where living will be the expression of everything good and fair.

Homes where truth and love and security and faith will be realities, not dreams.

We are the Future Homemakers of America.

We face the future with warm courage and high hope.

Consumer Education Week

Texas Consumer Education Week for 1968 was November 4 to 8. The theme this year was "Calling All Consumers." This year as has been in the past, the purpose was to call to your attention the educational information available in your County Extension office. Come by our office and visit with us any time about Consumer Education Week.

With this special week in mind, the following items are for wise consumers:

Impulse Buying

Do you go to the grocery store for a quart of milk and come home with several bags of food? According to a continuing study of supermarket shoppers almost half of the purchases are completely on impulse.

It is no accident! Manufacturers, advertisers and merchandisers use psychology to encourage impulse reaction. Color, design, packaging and convenience features often attract you before you stop to ask "Is this item the best buy for me?" Stores make it easy to find the foods they make money on.

Avoid impulse buying—have a food budget and stick to it. You may want to restrict the amount of money you carry to the store.

Shop with a list compiled at home. When making the shopping list plan menus and basic items that need replenishing. Careful planning not only reduces impulse buying but also helps reduce the number of trips to the grocery store.

Shopping alone also lessens impulse buying. If the children must accompany you to the store, they should know they cannot have everything they want or all they see in television advertisements.

If you shop while hungry you tend to impulse buy. If it is possible arrange to do your shopping soon after you have eaten. You will find it much easier to by-pass items which are not on your shopping list.

New Laundry Product

A new development in laundry products is an enzyme-action additive which researchers say is "entirely different from any detergent and entirely different from any bleach."

The concept behind the use of the active enzymes is their biological breakdown of the molecular structure of many stains, loosening them so they wash away during the regular wash cycle.

Among the substances which cling stubbornly to fabrics and which the new products claim to attack effectively are familiar troublemakers of gravy, blood, dirt on white socks, grass and diaper stains, baby foods, yellowing of pillowcases and grimy lines on shirt collars and cuffs.

Most of the enzyme-active products are used in a pre-soaking period, before clothes are put into the washer with detergent.

Look for this new product at local stores and decide for yourself if it meets your family's needs.

Peanut Butter

Peanut butter has now been standardized by the Food and Drug Administration.

The new ruling, which became effective Oct. 22, 1968, calls for peanut butter to contain at least 90 percent peanuts by weight.

The order also states that artificial flavorings and sweeteners, chemical preservatives, additional vitamins and color additives cannot be added to peanut butter.

JALOPY

The expression "jalopy" for an automobile originated in the 1900s. Because of a shortage of cars in Mexico, many were shipped to Jalapa, Mexico, for resale and thus arose the corrupted term "jalopy" meaning an automobile.

QUICKER THAN QUICK

You need one-seventh of a second to wink your eye on purpose. However, when an insect darts toward your eye, reflex action will snap your eye shut in one-third of that time.

Many Agencies Offer Help in Medical or Other Crises, Club Members Told

Sister Agnes Catherine of the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital was the guest speaker at the Domestic Science Club Thursday afternoon, November 7, when she told members of the resource agencies to which families may turn in certain medical or related crises. Most of these agencies center in Amarillo.

Mrs. J. Frank Johnson and Mrs. Hiram Cudd were the hostesses, and the meeting was held in the hospital staff room. Mrs. L. C. Hill presided at the business meeting.

Mentally retarded or suspected mentally retarded children may be helped by the Amarillo State Center on Human Development, which has among its five satellite centers those at Clarendon and Childress. Sister Agnes Catherine said. From the time of birth, counseling is available for the parents at a cost adjusted to their income. This help may delay and/or prevent institutional care.

Also offering care for children is the Kilgore Children's Psychiatric Center, the first hospital in Texas designed exclusively for the psychiatric care of children.

"Any child is eligible and is accepted after careful evaluation indicates that this service would be beneficial to him," Sister Agnes Catherine said. "While receiving care which is offered Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., the child may attend classes in specially equipped classrooms conducted by teachers trained to assist those emotionally disturbed children. This service also has a sliding fee scale."

Another child and mother resource agency is the High Plains Children's Home for Unwed Mothers. The program for unwed mothers was set up by the Church of Christ in Amarillo a year and a half ago.

The Family Service Agency functions often as a referral service. This health resource agency offers individual, husband and wife, and total family unit counseling.

Another United Fund agency is the Amarillo Council on Alcoholism, which is affiliated with the Texas Commission on Alcoholism and is not the same as Alcoholics Anonymous. It has a downtown information and referral center and offers health education programs to teen ages.

One of the agencies to which it may refer a person is the Vocational Rehabilitation Center, which aids persons in securing a self-supporting job.

"In conjunction with rehabilitation, there is a Friendship Club in Amarillo which provides a social outlet for patients recently discharged from the State Hospital in Wichita Falls," Sister Agnes Catherine said. Halfway House likewise assists patients discharged from other hospitals, easing the transition from dependence upon others to self dependence, and a successful return to society.

The American Cancer Society also makes adjustment from hospital to home living easier. Through it, one may obtain hospital beds, wheel chairs, crutches, walkers and other items on a loan basis. Certain dressings and other expendable comfort items may be had through this society upon the written request of the patient's doctor.

"Even though there is no county health program in Wellington other than the immunization of school children, you are still entitled to the services offered by the American Cancer Society, American Red Cross, and Texas Department of Welfare and perhaps some of the other resource agencies I have mentioned," the speaker concluded.

Club Hears Van Gogh Study

Mrs. Lowell Wells was hostess and program leader for the Excelsior Club Thursday evening, November 7.

She continued the club's study of famous artists with a review of the life of Vincent Van Gogh, then displayed a number of his paintings. His affinity for the poor around him enabled him to capture so accurately the expressions of his subjects, many of whom were from this economic class.

Mrs. Wells also described the many famous works of art of San Simeon, the home of the late William Randolph Hurst on the California coast north of Los Angeles, which she has visited.

A dessert plate was served to Mrs. J. F. Michael, Miss Sara Jones, Mrs. Rosemary Langford, Mrs. Henry Vaughan, Mrs. E. F. Bartlett, Miss Marie Shadid, Miss Dorothy Robertson, Miss Rose Shadid, and Mrs. Wells.

Mrs. Joe Thompson presided over the business meeting. The club made plans for the Christmas party on December 4.

Mrs. J. M. Strong gave a demonstration on arrangements of fall flowers. Mrs. Howard Riggs also read a poem "Why We Should Send Flowers," by Robert Goodrick, a Methodist minister.

Guests present were Mrs. Guy Clement, Mrs. R. L. Dyess, Mrs. Henry Davidson, Mrs. E. F. Bartlett, and members present were Mrs. Howard Riggs, Mrs. Coy Vaughan, Mrs. Walter Franks, Mrs. G. L. Jones, Mrs. O. B. Raburn, Mrs. Silas Crawford, Mrs. Woodrow Wood, Mrs. Ray Clubb, Mrs. Harold Gattis, Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mrs. J. M. Strong, and the hostesses, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Vaughan.

Rev. Squyres, a Baptist minister, is now 89 years of age and Mrs. Squyres 87. They live alone and care for their home and yard.

The population explosion, explained Mrs. Michael, probably due to the increasing percentage of people over the age of 65. "Medical science has added years to our lives, but not life to our years," she said.

In her work she taught crafts, ceramics, decoupage, sewing, and knitting, and there were periods for recreation, games, and song-fests. And there was also time for listening, as loneliness is one of the problems of age, she continued.

Club Hears of Auxiliary

Mrs. L. B. Bratten was hostess to the 1954 Study Club on Thursday, November 7.

Mrs. James Richardson was program chairman and introduced a guest speaker, Mrs. Jeff Wilson.

Some past projects were assisting in purchasing window units for hospital rooms, hi-low beds, and a new x-ray machine. A junior auxiliary also serves the local hospital. This group is composed of high school girls known as Candy Strippers.

A special project of the hospital auxiliary for this year is an extensive drive for new members. Mrs. Wilson stated that work with the auxiliary provided a rewarding and enriching experience to the individual members as well as valuable service to the community.

Follow-Up Important

During the recent election campaign hundreds of Wichita Falls residents worked overtime putting up signs promoting their favorite candidates.

This is well and good, for in many instances the signs helped the voting public to decide. But like other good things, these signs have served their purpose and are of no longer any value to anyone.

It would be nice if the same volunteers who so willingly volunteered to spend countless hours putting these signs up would devote a few minutes to taking them down.

"There is nothing so desolate looking as a political campaign headquarters the morning after the election or a campaign poster a few weeks later.

If you value the appearance of our city, please do your part in helping to clean up the area around each headquarters and the many signs on our streets and highways in this area. —Wichita Falls Record-News

Fatal Disrespect

Enforcement of law and order in the United States is becoming an increasingly hazardous profession. Last year, 76 officers were killed in the line of duty, 19 more than in 1966. In addition, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover estimates that 14 of every 100 officers in the nation were assaulted during the year, an 11 per cent increase over 1966.

Of the 539 offenders involved in the killings, 77 per cent had previously been arrested and 67 per cent had previous convictions. Two thirds of the police killers previously convicted had been paroled or probationed and 3 of 10 were actively on parole or probation at the time of the murder.

The record is hardly enviable for a nation based on the concept of government by law. It reflects the contempt shown law-enforcement officers by public groups who openly ridicule and condemn officers attempting to discharge their duties.

To survive, the nation must depend on the effective enforcement of all laws. But this effectiveness is impaired when officers must win a physical struggle while making an arrest or face death in discharging their duties.

Public support for law-enforcement officers is vital for the continued success of a society based on the rule of law. Continued disrespect for law and officers can be fatal to not only the officers but to the nation. —The Dallas Morning News

HUGLUND'S HAPPENINGS

SEPT. 30, 1846—Dr. William T. G. Morton, using a new anesthetic, ether, extracts a tooth from a patient and becomes the first painless dentist.

FLYING EYES of the North American Air Defense Command, these EC-121s carry more than five tons of electronic gear to "see" any aerial invaders.

AUSTIN.—Voters showed they are in an economy frame of mind in their decisions on 14 proposed state constitutional amendments.

They voted Nov. 5 to cut out the state property tax, but they refused to go along with raising the state's public welfare ceiling from $60 million to $75 million a year or to increase legislators' salaries from $4,800 to $8,400 annually.

Approved were changes in state employees' pension system, university fund investment liberalization, removal of the $504 a year ceiling on contributions to teacher pensions, wiping out the property tax and clarification of a legislator's eligibility to run for other office by virtue of the termination date of his elective term.

Texans turned thumbs down on tax exemptions for warehouse-stored property, El Paso local governmental consolidations, Dallas road bonds, tax aid for Texarkana tobacco merchants, state contract changes, tax benefits for anti-pollution equipment purchasers and industrial bond issues.

Biggest allocations of $1 million each went to hospitals in Houston, San Antonio, Dallas, Bonham, Irving and Ft. Worth. Memorial Hospital in Uvalde received two grants totaling $865,000. Atlanta City Hospital received $900,000; Brownfield's Terry Hospital District $650,000; Hotel Dieu at El Paso $855,500; Johnson City Hospital $390,000; Community Hospital at Brazosport $242,090; Ballinger Memorial Hospital $300,000; Highland General of Pampa $321,119; St. Joseph's of El Paso $594,313; Seton of Austin $375,000; Denison Memorial $210,000; Newton County Memorial $320,350; and Morningside Manor (home for aged), San Antonio $700,000.

Smaller amounts went to facilities in Waco, Lone Star, Jacksonville, Floresville, Hempstead, El Paso, Robert Lee, Coleman, Sterling City, Midland, Greenville, Corpus Christi, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston. Hill-Burton funds pay up to half of the cost of construction-modernization work.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

News is that all of the teachers in a Missouri school walked out after one of them got stabbed by a discontented junior higher.

They wouldn't even go back to work after the school board offered to hire a guard to protect them from the students. They didn't think one man could do it unless he was a Texas Ranger or Matt Dillon.

My reminiscence neighbor says back at old Bitter Creek School the big boys didn't scare even the little teachers, who had paddles, baseball bats, superiority complexes, and kids whose parents thought they ought to tame a child before they sent him to school.

and B. E. McCollum of Port Neches is vice chairman.

Glenn Biggs, formerly of Abilene and one-time executive assistant to House Speaker Barnes, has been appointed president of National Western Life Insurance Company.

Hill-Burton Fund Approved

Forty-two applicants received allocations of $15,198,504 in federal Hill-Burton hospital construction-modernization funds through State Board of Health.

Biggest allocations of $1 million each went to hospitals in Houston, San Antonio, Dallas, Bonham, Irving and Ft. Worth. Memorial Hospital in Uvalde received two grants totaling $865,000. Attack redirected

Texas Animal Health Commission has changed its attack on hog cholera in Texas by de-emphasizing the cure which has turned out to be a cause of the disease.

Commission has been depending on the modified live-virus vaccine to combat the disease. But statistics show that in 1967 31% of the hog cholera cases were traced back to the use of the MLV.

In 60% of those cases, the vaccine was improperly used. But in the other 40%, it was not. Texas statistics showed that 33% of the cases were caused by use of the MLV.

So, the Commission approved a new requirement that all hogs leaving a market for destinations other than slaughter be inoculated with inactive serum. Then, if the owner wants to use live virus, he may.

Secondly, the Commission amended its regulation that all hogs entering the state must have been treated with the modified live-virus vaccine. The new requirement will be the use of the inactive serum only.

Recreation Funds

Texas is due to get $1.7 million of $45.7 million in funds for acquisition and development of outdoor recreation facilities approved by Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, U.S. Department of Interior.

Allocations are made largely on basis of population, federal resources and programs and out-of-state visitor use. States must match the grants 50-50.

Blue Law Suit

Texas Supreme Court has heard the first arguments for and against Penal Code Article 286a, which prohibits the sale of certain listed items—covering just about everything—on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays.

Suit is the State vs. Gibson's Discount Center of Midland, which—the State contends—tried to get around the law by staying open the legal six days then "leasing" its facilities and stocks to another company created and owned by Gibson's—for the seventh day.

At the local level, a district court judge upheld Gibson's move by saying that the "Blue Law" is unconstitutional, because the items listed in the statute are vague and indefinite.

In its arguments before the court, Gibson's concentrated on allegations that the state's appeal—directly to the Supreme Court from the district court—was improper and should be refused.

High Court will rule on the jurisdictional question before it gets into the substance of the case.

Loan Bonds Sold

Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System sold $12 million in student loan bonds to Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago at 3.8637 interest.

Money provides assistance to needy students. So far, 29,480 have benefited from it.

Board also approved fine arts programs at nine schools and administrative reorganization of arts programs at the University of Texas at Arlington and West Texas State. Construction of a $1.5 million physical education complex at San Angelo State College got authorization, as did the plan for participation in federal aid to campus building.

On Dec. 3, Board will make key decisions on dental education, medical education and North Texas higher education needs.

Gin Rider Dumped

A controversial appropriations bill rider twice vetoed by Gov. John Connally was stricken from a budget draft on motion of Lt.-Gov.-elect Ben Barnes.

Barnes got some opposition from House Speaker-designate Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham and Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah, but Gov.-elect Preston Smith held his motion carried on voice vote.

Rider sought to keep funds from being spent to police air pollution by cotton gins. Mutscher said the problem is insignificant and is used by politicians to "demagogue." Connally has maintained that the problem caused by gins is major. Barnes argued that the rider is unnecessary and is simply a "political factor".

"Plenty of time during the legislative session to work it out," Smith said in sustaining the vote on deletion.

Shamrock Couple Shows Two Grand Champions Saturday

The 11th annual Collingsworth County Quarter Horse Show, held Saturday, Nov. 9, drew an entry list of 75 of the top animals of the Panhandle and western Oklahoma. In spite of cold weather, this was one of the largest shows to be held here.

Forty-five horses were entered in the performance classes, according to Tony White, chairman.

Cecil and Hazel Gillespie of Shamrock exhibited two of the three grand champions selected. Fleeta Rita, a 1964 mare, won top honors in that division and the champion stallion was Regers Skip, shown in the 1967 class.

The grand champion gelding was Ely Bar, owned by Orin and Karen Barnes of Amarillo.

Three reserve champions also were chosen by Judge Johnny McClellan of McLean.

These were Rose Skip, a 1966 mare owned by Charles Brown of Amarillo; Sugar Man, a 1964 stallion owned by Billy Everett of Amarillo; and Big Roll, a gelding owned by Pete Caviness of Amarillo.

In the final event of the day, the barrel race, Ann and Jeanell Elliott, sisters from Hollis, tied for first. A flip of a coin gave Ann the top place and Jeanell second.

Federal Regulations on Special Diet Foods Are Now in Force

COLLEGE STATION. — New regulations on special diet foods have been established by the Food and Drug Administration. They are aimed at providing the consumer with more facts about the food he buys for weight control and for other special diet needs, reports Sally Springer, Extension nutritionist.

Foods for special dietary use are intended to fill a particular physical or physiological need. These may be for persons who are overweight, underweight, diabetic, allergic to certain foods or on a salt-free diet. A special food may fit needs of infants or children, also, explains the specialist at Texas A&M University.

New regulations require the manufacturer to support his claim that the food is intended for special dietary use. A list of dietary properties that support the claim must be printed on the label, says Miss Springer.

Foods which are sold for special dietary use in reducing or maintaining body weight must be labeled "for calorie-restricted diets." In order to be labeled such, calories must be reduced by at least 50%. The term "lower in calories" may be used by manufacturers on the label. However, the declaration "low calorie" may be used only if the foods contain not more than 15 calories in a serving and not more than 30 calories in the average total daily consumption of the food.

The manufacturers of artificial sweetener and foods which contain artificial sweeteners have been required to state on the label that it is or contains an artificial sweetener and that it is non-nutritive. The label of an artificial sweetener must also state the amount of artificial sweetener in a specified serving (tablet, capsule, teaspoonful) and a description of its sweetening effect in comparison to a quantity of sugar.

Foods for diabetics must be labeled: "For the diets of diabetics." The manufacturer is

Nervous Armadillo Doesn't Like Owls

AUSTIN.—Jasper Henry, who travels with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Wildlife Exhibit, says he doesn't know if horned owls eat armadillos, but he says he knows of at least one armadillo who thinks they do.

Henry said he carried the armadillo to what he thought was an empty cage and put him in the door. "As soon as I got him through the door, he started acting skittish," Henry said. "He tried to back out and I gave him a shove. He started out again, and I caught him between my legs and shoved him in again. He ran around in the cage, trying to get out any way he could."

required to state on the label the protein, fat, carbohydrate and caloric content in 100 grams of such food.

These new regulations also require the manufacturer to provide information if non-nutritive ingredients have been added. Sometimes cellulose and other bulk which have no nutritional value are added to foods.

Finally, Henry decided to investigate a little closer. Poking his head through the door, he saw the exhibit's great horned owl perched at the top of the cage.

"That owl must have looked awful fierce and hungry to our armadillo," said Henry.

support for U.S. and allied ground forces.

During operations off the coast of Tam Quan, 115 miles south of Danang, McKean's guns fired 5-inch projectiles in support of the Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade and 101st Airborne Division. Striking at enemy positions, infiltration routes, observation posts, and supply areas, the ship's gunners were credited with destroying multiple enemy structures, bunkers, and supply dumps, and causing numerous secondary explosions in ammunition storage areas.

Loyd Langford to Speak at American Society of Agronomy

Loyd Langford, associate agronomist at High Plains Research Foundation near Plainview, is one of the speakers at the 60th Annual American Society of Agronomy meeting now in session at New Orleans, La.

The former Collingsworth man presented a report on cotton fiber properties and yield as affected by skip-row and inter-plant cropping systems. He stated that during a three-year period, the interplanted and skip-rowed cotton at the Foundation produced 23% and 18.6% more lint, respectively, than conventionally planted cotton.

Low fiber micronaire on the Texas High Plains results from immaturity caused by cold nights and a short growing season. "The object of planting a taller crop such as grain sorghum inter-spaced with the cotton was to provide a wind-break and allow heat from the fallow rows to remain around the cotton plant," he said.

"Available data shows that cotton maturity increases as degree-hours for air temperature above 70 degrees increase," Langford said.

"Interplanting cotton increased micronaire from 3.16 to 3.46 and indications were that the Pressley strength and steloter measurements would consistently be higher," he pointed out.

"Spinning performance and yarn testing results showed that interplanted cotton was superior in some factors," he continued.

Mr. Langford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Langford, was one of three speakers from High Plains Research Foundation. The others were Dr. Douglas F. Owen, senior agronomist, and Jim Valliant, soil scientist. Other speakers came from universities, research stations and government agencies throughout the nation.

Farm to Market Highway Goal is 50,000 Miles

The Farm and Ranch to Market system is the Highway Department's response to the cry of "Get the farmer out of the mud."

With a projected goal of 50 thousand miles, the Texas FM-RM system is the most sophisticated and highly developed rural highway network in the nation. Although FM-RM roads are primarily service roads for local traffic needs, many are connecting routes to distant metropolitan markets.

The Texas Highway Department is placing increased emphasis on solving urban highway problems. The state's urban areas have experienced fantastic growth. Vehicle travel within these areas more than doubled between 1940 and 1960.

ORIGIN OF NAME

Actually, the barber got his name from trimming beards, since "barba" is Latin for beard. When men began to get their hair cut instead of their beards, the barber shifted to this job without changing his name.

Temperatures above 125 degrees will cause blisters on the skin.

Beef Selection Programs Aid to Consumers

COLLEGE STATION. — The beef cattle industry has enjoyed a tremendous increase in the consumption of beef, due in part to selection programs being employed by more and more breeders, says Dr. Frank A. Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University.

Consumers are asking for and getting more muscular beef cuts along with more quality. Quality of lean and quantity of lean are not antagonistic, so a breeder can select for these two attributes at the same time.

Marbling, which is a measure of beef palatability and tenderness, muscling, fat covering on the outside of the carcass and fast gaining animals, are highly heritable. Therefore, all of these economically important beef carcass traits can be used in a selection program. But a breeder must also include in his selection program percent calf crop, weaning weight and feed efficiency in order to produce cattle economically, Orts says.

A breeder should secure carcass evaluation data on at least 15 steers or heifers from each

Rotary Hears DPS Patrolmen

Three patrolmen from the Texas Department of Public Safety were guest speakers at the Rotary Club Tuesday, Nov. 5.

Doug Wright and James Haley of Wellington and Tex Scates of Memphis, briefly outlined what the DPS is and the duties of the patrolmen.

During a question and answer period, it was brought out that they also assist local officers when they are needed. But the men also brought out that it was only the individual who can cut down the number of accidents, and the help of Rotary in eliminating accidents was asked.

Texas has more than 20,3 thousand bridges and more than 2,000 grade separation on the State highway system.

SOME INTERESTING MONEY DATA

In 1955 a law was passed which directed that "In God We Trust" must appear on all United States paper currency and coins.

The spectacular seal of the United States Treasury which is imprinted upon the face of American currency and Treasury documents is older than the Constitution of the United States.

This seal was designed by order of a committee appointed September 26, 1778, and may be seen on documents as early as 1782. Isn't that something?

The fascinating design consists of a shield on which may be seen the scales of justice, a key, and thirteen stars for the original states. Both sides of this seal are reproduced on the United States one dollar bill.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

When you think of how much can happen in minutes and hours, it seems like a long and anxious time until the new President can take office and in the meantime about all the lame duck President can do is carry on. He can and does advise the man who will succeed him of some of the problems that will face him. Such a transition period is a necessity in a system such as ours; for it would be next to impossible for the new President to appoint a Cabinet and for them to assemble their staffs in a short time. These also must be briefed by the men they will succeed. To some it is a time of uncertainty and apprehension and to others it is simply a time of waiting and preparation. The country has muddled through these days before without mishap and it will do it again.

So it is time for us to get ready for that busy, bustling season known as the Christmas Holidays. Some of the merchants wonder how business will be this Christmas. All indications are that it will be a record breaker generally. Business is individual and much of its climate depends on what the merchant does himself. The crops are here and the money will be here and apparently the merchants have done well in assembling the wares they intend to sell. The real outcome will depend on how well they promote their merchandise.

Clarence Black has a small museum of one-row farming equipment assembled at his machinery shop in Dodson. They include such items as a walking harrow, a go-devil complete with knives, discs and other gadgets, a walking one-row grain drill with planter box, a stalk cutter and other plowing implements. But the real museum piece is not a plow. It is an "Estate Triple Original Effect" gas burning stove that he found in the warehouse of the Norris Hardware at Childress. It was patented April 7, 1896. It is a beauty. Black also has other interesting antiques that came from M. P. Scott and J. M. Coley. He already has a valuable collection.

Jack Christy wants to join the P.O.O.F. (producers of oversized fruit) Club of 1968. He raised a crop of carrots that might have been grown in Alaska. One carrot was 12½ inches tall and was 9 inches around and weighed 1½ pounds. The other was shorter—only 9 inches—but it was larger in circumference, 12 inches, and weighed more than 2 pounds. Their remarkable quality was their crispness and taste.

Just before the freeze Ben Wilhelm brought a cluster of green grapes to the office. It was the second crop his vines had produced this year; but they were far from maturity.

The pecan crop is another oddity this year as you will discover when you go to the grocery store. Dr. and Mrs. J. Frank Johnson returned from Tennessee recently and they report the pecan crop is short there and in Mississippi and in East Texas. Last week Louise and I drove through the pecan and peanut country of Cross Plains, Rising Star and Comanche. The peanut harvest was bountiful; but the pecan crop seemed below normal and this is the story from a wide area.

One group of growers say it is the year the pecan trees went to wood instead of nuts and another says it is due to insects. The latter is a questionable reason for the commercial orchards spray regularly. Unless carefully fertilized, pruned and sprayed both the nut trees and the fruit trees have a tendency to have a "rest" year. Some peach growers say that the trees must take a rest of else they will die from overproduction.

Bill Seale is hereby appointed official frost forecaster for the county. He hit the killing freeze exactly. He used the old recipe of the first northern in August and the first light frost 60 days later and a killing freeze 90 days later. The difference between Mr. Seale and some weather prophets is that he made his predictions well before the event and not after.

Last year we harvested approximately three bushels of pecans from two trees in our backyard. This year we will be lucky if we gather a gallon and a half. We have been assisted by two squirrels who

Skyrocket Basketball Season Opens Nov. 19

The basketball season opens for the Wellington teams during the coming week, with the Skyrocket A and B boys teams meeting White Deer here on Tuesday, Nov. 19.

This will be followed by another home game when the Rockets and Rockettes meet the Clarendon teams Friday, Nov. 22.

"Ordinarily we don't like to play quite so soon after the football season, but White Deer owed us a ball game and this was the only date we could get together," said head basketball coach James Stavenhagen.

White Deer girls already had a game scheduled for Tuesday.

The Skyrockets have five lettermen back, Glen Barber, Gary Brewer, Chuck Wilbur, Tony Hurst and Herman Moore. Barry Johnson and Andy Lowe also will be back. Although they played on the A team some last year, they were used mainly on the B team to give them as much experience as possible.

"It won't be a completely inexperienced team, but it will take a while to get smoothed out," Coach Stavenhagen said.

The Skyrocket strong point will be speed. Small size and lack of depth will be handicapping factors.

Gary Brewer, one of last year's standouts, still has a knee injury and it is questionable if he will get to play, the coach said. Joe Brock, another of last year's stellar players, moved to Portales, N.M., and so is lost to the team.

Twelve boys will be carried on this year's squad, but Coach Stavenhagen will not select these until the season starts.

Four of last year's starting Rockettes are returning this year, Mary Lou Holton, Betsy Trapp, Linda Williams and Sharon Cummings.

There are five other lettermen.

"We look for the girls to improve all year. They will be young, but they have a real fine attitude and we think we will have a real fine ball club," declared Coach Stavenhagen.

Last year the Rockettes had a 22-10 record and the Rockets 26-6.

Their coach feels the girls will do better this year and the boys should at least equal their 1967 record.

Rocket B Loses to Shamrock 26-0

The Shamrock B team marched over the Skyrocket B 26 to 0 on the Irish field Thursday night, Nov. 7. This was the identical score by which the Irish won an earlier game between the two.

Luck moved against Wellington in the loss of one of its principal scorers, Julius Johnson, who moved to Dallas, and several others were ill.

"I feel that our boys did a tremendous job on defense," said Coach James Stavenhagen.

"Two of the Shamrock touchdowns were earned through our offensive mistakes. They intercepted a pass and ran it 65 yards to the one yard line and then recovered a fumble inside our 10 which set up another touchdown. These two mistakes made quite a bit of difference in the final outcome.

"The boys have done a real good job. We have had to change personnel for every ball game and this has hampered the offensive efforts a great deal.

"We will just have to look forward to next year as far as Shamrock is concerned. We did move the ball pretty good and had several drives going. Mistakes or busted assignments would break the continuity of the offense."

staff of 10, all graduates of approved colleges and holding valid teachers' certificates, along with two additional staff members employed on a county co-operative basis, a counselor assigned four days each month and a registered nurse assigned six days each month.

The care with which the official meetings of the school board were recorded was noted, along with the guidance program it has approved.

Also noted was the follow-up record of graduating seniors. Supt. Haynie told The Wellington Leader that over a 10-year period, more than 80 percent of the school's graduates have gone on to college.

The report described the school's new combination science laboratory and lecture room, also newly equipped along lines suggested by a consultant from the Texas Education Agency.

Another section dealt with the library, which was completely renovated after the earlier accreditation visit.

The district is a participating member of the Region XVI Education Service Center and makes use of its materials.

The condition of the school's facilities was praised and the accreditation trio added:

"The students were well-mannered and there appeared to be good pupil-teacher rapport."

National Legion Head Speaks in Memphis Sunday

MEMPHIS.—Legionnaires and Auxiliary members from the 18th District of The American Legion have a great treat in store for them when they attend the District Convention in Memphis Nov. 16-17. The National Commander of The American Legion, William C. Doyle of Vineland, N.J., will speak before the convention on Sunday afternoon, Bill Ballew, convention chairman, has announced.

Commander Doyle recently returned from an official visit to the fighting fronts in Vietnam and is expected to report on his findings and his opinion on the halt of the bombing in North Vietnam as it affects the security of American forces in South Vietnam.

The convention will get under way on Saturday with registration commencing at 10 a. m. There will be a Post Officers Conference at 2 p.m. for all officers and interested Legionnaires.

District Vice Commander Dennis Holland, Dodson, will appear on the program.

At 5 p.m. there will be a social hour followed by a joint banquet for The American Legion and Auxiliary.

On Sunday morning Chaplain Henry Teubel of Tulsa will have charge of the Memorial Service.

At 1:30 p.m. the Legion and Auxiliary will hold their separate business sessions, with Commander Brady presiding over the Legion meeting.

The highlight of the convention for the Legion and Auxiliary will be the principal address by National Commander Doyle on Sunday afternoon.

Doyle was elected National Commander of The American Legion at the final session of the 50th Annual National Convention in New Orleans, La., Sept. 12. He is a World War II veteran having served with the U.S. Army in the European Theater. He holds the Silver Star and Bronze Star with Cluster and V-clasp among his decorations. He rose to the rank of Brigadier General in 1964 with the New Jersey National Guard. He presently serves as Assistant Division Commander, 50th Armored Division. He has held many high offices in The American Legion, locally, as well as state-wide and national.

A large group from the Wellington and Dodson Legion posts will attend.

Kane's place on offensive guard at present, and Mark Killian is playing defensive end in Larry's place.

"We hope for a real fine ball game and real fine effort from the kids," Coach Amonett said. He reminded, however, that Memphis is probably the largest team the Rockets will meet all year. Their line, especially, outweighs that of the Rockets, averaging around 210 pounds. This includes one 275-pounder who wears the Cyclone uniform. Wellington coaches are looking to Rocket quickness to offset some of the weight.

Hearing Asked on Possibility of Watershed

A preliminary hearing on the Sand Creek Watershed has been requested to determine if there is a possibility of watershed improvement under Public Law 566, according to Gary Reed, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service.

A large body of preliminary information was sent last week from the Wellington SCS to State Conservationist H. N. Smith of Temple. This was followed by a letter from Douglas Cunningham, area conservationist, SCS, of Pampa.

This is the watershed that heads north of Wellington and comes through town. It is the course that channeled damaging waters into parts of the town during the July 15 12-inch rain.

From Wellington, the Sand Creek Watershed extends southeast, and Lake Atterberry lies within it. The dam at this lake also was washed out in the July 15 flood. Eventually Sand Creek turns northeast and empties into Salt Fork about two miles south of the Texas 203 bridge.
