July 4 Is Date For General Closing

Next Wednesday, July 4, has been set aside by the Retail Merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce as a date for general closing in Perryton. However, the drug stores, cafes and service stations will be open, according to information received by the Herald. The banks, post office and most other stores will observe the general closing.

Bud Fuller Buys Shamrock Station

Announcement has been made of the sale of the Andrews and Coon Shamrock Service to Bud Fuller. The new owner took over the station Sunday.

V. R. Coon and J. D. Andrews, who have operated the station for several years, have purchased a Shamrock station in Amarillo on NE 8th street and will take over there on July 10.

Fuller, who has been employed as a mechanic by the Perryton Motor Co., said that the same policies and service will be maintained under his ownership. He invites old and new customers to pay him a visit.

Automobiles Damaged, No One Seriously Injured In Wreck

Two cars were heavily damaged, but no one was seriously injured in a wreck which occurred at 10:50 o'clock Monday night about eight miles east of Perryton on highway 117.

Involved in the wreck were a 1950 Chevrolet coach driven by Fred Tarbox and a 1950 Pontiac sedan driven by Duane Bell. Four other young people were in the Bell car, and one, Faye Marie Beck, was slightly injured. Others in the car were Josephine Foote, Bill Melvin and Ed Melvin.

Investigating patrolmen Jack Shields and Bob Loving said that the head-on collision occurred when Tarbox pulled over into the left lane of the highway, crashing into the Bell car.

Bell told the patrolmen that he saw the approaching headlights, and when he could see that the oncoming car was heading toward him, he blinked his lights and sounded his horn. When the car continued toward him, Bell said that he attempted to pull to his left and avoid a collision.

Shields said that Bell probably avoided a more serious impact by doing this. As it was, the right front wheels of each car met, spinning each vehicle around and off the highway. Neither one turned over.

Miss Beck suffered bruises, and all occupants of the Bell car were shaken up considerably by the impact. They were returning to Perryton after attending a Methodist church young people's meeting in Follett.

Charges of driving while intoxicated were filed against Tarbox. He pleaded guilty in county court Tuesday morning and was fined $400 and costs by county judge Dave Shanks.

Clubs Urged to Organize Home Nursing Classes

Clubs and organized groups are encouraged to sponsor home nursing classes, said Mrs. J. E. Cudd, county Red Cross home nursing chairman. The Taz and McMillen home demonstration clubs have just completed a course in home nursing and the Church of Christ has a class now in progress, Mrs. Cudd said.

There were 14 students in the home demonstration class and there are 16 students in the Church of Christ class, with Mrs. Clyde Sheppard as the instructor.

Those who finished the course from the Taz and McMillen clubs were Mrs. Mike Downey, Mrs. I. B. Faries, Mrs. Virtle Faries, Mrs. Travis Flowers, Mrs. William Flowers, Mrs. Warren Gum, Mrs. Gertrude Hardy, Mrs. John Hardy, Mrs. Paul Hardy, Mrs. Ellis Matthews, Mrs. Martin McCartor, Mrs. Charles Trew, Mrs. Terry Yates and Miss Corrine Flowers.

NEW McGARRAUGH WELL—This is the No. 1 A. E. McGarraugh oil well being drilled in the south part of the county by the Texas Co. The well is located in section 123, Blk 13, T&NO Survey. It is located about a quarter-mile north and west of the old Cedar Bluff school site.

Early Varieties Now Being Harvested; Expect to be in Full Swing In Another Week

Wheat harvest got under way in the Perryton area this week, with the peak expected to be reached in another week or ten days. First load delivered in Perryton to the Equity elevator came from Don Seaton, in the Gray community, who delivered a load last Thursday, June 21.

His wheat tested 53, had a moisture content of 16, and was reported to be making four to five bushels per acre.

Others who have brought in wheat this week to the Equity include R. B. Frantz, F. E. Leatherman and Roy Sargent. None of this wheat delivered early has tested too well, although the moisture content has been low.

The Ellis Grain Co. received wheat Tuesday morning from George Yates and L. R. Conner, harvested Tuesday on land in the southeast part of the county. This wheat tested 60 and had a moisture content of 11.5. Although the yield was not learned, Yates said it was making "very good."

R. W. Leatherman and Jake LeMaster also brought wheat in to the Ellis Grain Tuesday. These loads tested high and had a low moisture content, according to manager J. H. Woodward.

Little wheat has been cut southeast of Perryton, where the best wheat is located.

There will be little wheat harvested in the Farnsworth and Waka areas, according to elevator operators.

There have been instances reported of weevils in the wheat as it comes from the field. Wet weather is said to be responsible

Water Pump On South City Well Out of Operation

The submersible pump which supplies water to the south water tower went out of operation Monday and it will be the latter part of the week before the south well is back in operation.

However, city manager J. B. Whigam says the city has plenty of water for present needs. Water is being pumped out of the north wells into the water tower, then transferred by gravity to the south storage tank.

This submersible pump is located about 300 feet down in the well. It sprung a leak, and the water put the motor out of operation. This pump motor was sent to the Byron Jackson Submersible Pump Co. at Los Angeles, and an exchange motor is on the way now, Whigam said.

Waves Damage County Roads

Even though the heavy rains have let up, water is damaging roads in Ochiltree county.

It's the waves that do the damage on a windy day. For example, the State Highway Department has had to put 5,000 cubic yards of earth on the roadbed across the city lake south of town after the waves from the lake ate away the earth Sunday.

At the highway across the Dear lake, south of Farnsworth, local Highway Department superintendent M. J. Wolfrum estimates that it will take 15,000 cubic yards of earth to repair the roadbed.

Emergency Power Unit Planned For Red Cross

The disaster committee of the Ochiltree Red Cross decided at the Tuesday night meeting to purchase a portable power unit for emergency use in the county. A committee will be appointed by the board of directors to secure this equipment.

It was pointed out that the portable unit would be used for lighting and also to furnish power to amateur radio stations in the event of disaster.

The committee also discussed setting up a storm warning system for this area.

It was decided to hold semi-annual meetings of the disaster committee, to be held on the second Tuesday in April and the second Tuesday in October.

Representatives from the city, county and state met with the Red Cross committee members Tuesday night.

A Highly Unusual Case

Pulling $2,800 Out of Sock Stuns Experienced Patrolman

Finding a man drunk in an old model automobile is not too unusual in the course of a policeman's duties, but when he pulls $2,800 out of his sock, even an experienced officer like highway patrolman Jack Shields is apt to sit up and take notice.

That's what happened Sunday afternoon about three miles north of Perryton. Shields and patrolman Bob Loving stopped to investigate when they saw this 1941 Chevrolet parked beside the road.

They found a man stretched out inside, quite obviously under the influence of intoxicating liquor. They also found a loaded double-barrel shotgun beside him.

After questioning him a while, they found that he said that he was from Amarillo, but some of his answers didn't quite make sense, so they took him to jail, to be charged with being drunk in a public place.

At the jail, they found that he had $81.84 in his pocket. While giving him a receipt for his money, pending his trial for the misdemeanor, the man said, "Well, you might as well hold this for me, too," and reached into his sock and pulled out twenty-eight $100 bills.

Since this was highly unusual, the patrolmen radioed to state Department of Public Safety headquarters in Austin for any information on a man answering to his description.

They found that a man answering to his description was wanted in New Mexico, but since New Mexico authorities were unwilling to extradite him, the only charge the local officers had was that of being drunk in a public place.

Accordingly, he was brought before Justice of the Peace Helen Lee and upon pleading guilty to being drunk in a public place, was fined $5 and costs. His money and belongings were restored to him and he went on his way.

The patrolmen are still not quite sure why he carried $2,800 around in his sock.

Texas Draft Quota Set But No Word Here

The Texas draft quota for August has been set at 485 men, according to information received by local board 99, but there has been no quota set as yet for the four counties served by the local board.

Mrs. Norma G. Phelps, clerk of the board, said that there will be no physical examination of registrants during July and August, as there is now a sufficient pool of men examined and acceptable to take care of induction needs.

There were no men inducted or given physicals during July from the local board.

There were golfers present from Beaver, Booker, Hooker, Guymon, and other Plains points Sunday. Saturday night rains in the Oklahoma Panhandle kept a number of golfers from making the trip to Perryton. If the weather is good, a larger crowd is expected on July 15.

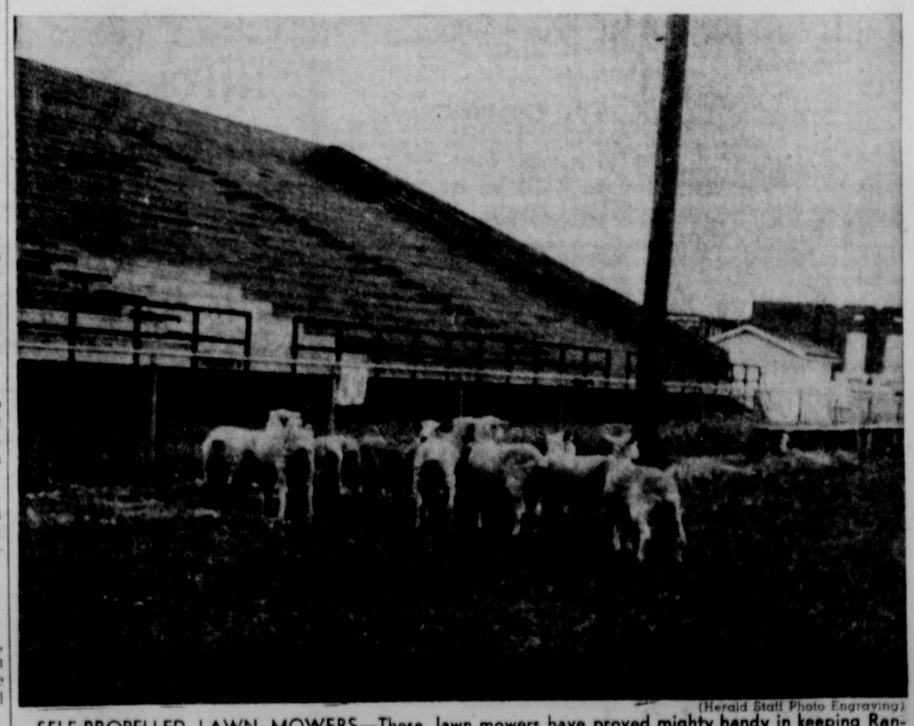

Beards Of All Kinds Making Appearance

Beards are making their appearance on Perryton's Main street, and people are being reminded that the 32nd Annual Perryton Celebration is not far away. There are scraggly beards, black ones, red ones and full ones, but a good many Jaycees and other Celebration boosters have started their crop of chin whiskers. Deadline for starting a Celebration beard is July 1, with all Jaycees required to have one, and other male residents asked to grow one.

Lookout Tower Delivered by Air

MISSOLUA, Mont. (AP)—The U. S. Forest Service has successfully delivered a lookout tower by parachute. More than 130 timbers, to be used in construction of the tower, were dropped on Bear Mountain 54 air miles southwest of here in the Selway Wilderness area.

Forest Service officials said it was the first time timbers as long as 20 feet had been dropped by air in the service's growing aerial program. A twin-engine Douglas DC-3 made three trips over the mountain to drop the lumber. The total weight was 9,200 pounds.

Grocery Bag Treasure

DAYTON, O. (AP)—There was a mad scramble to peer into sacks of groceries in Dayton recently. Mrs. Mildred Soendlin, a checkout clerk at a Dayton supermarket, told police a packet of stamps valued at $300 to $500 was placed in a customer's sack by mistake. Nobody yet has reported looking into the right sack.

New Money Order Forms Go Into Effect July 1

A modernized and streamlined postal money order will go into effect in Perryton and throughout the country on July 1, postmaster Irvin Hergert has announced.

The new money order may be cashed at any post office and will also be payable through any Federal Reserve Bank.

This new money order is printed on a punched card, prepunched at the time of manufacture to indicate the Regional Post Office in origin and the serial number. The new form will replace the postal notes which are not used any more, but will resemble the postal notes in appearance.

Hergert said it is believed that the new system will not only reduce the cost of handling the postal money order business, but that it will speed up and improve the service. The provision for cashing these money orders in any post office will eliminate the slow and cumbersome method now used.

Smoking Lamp Lit For Marine Pilots

WITH THE FIRST MARINE AIRCRAFT WING IN KOREA (AP)—To smoke or not to smoke has long been a question bothering Marine aviators, since their single-seat fighter-bombers had no facility for disposing of ashes.

But now makers of the Corsair (Chance Cought) has solved the problem by installing not only an ash tray, but a cigarette lighter to help pilots soothe jaded nerves on the way home from a combat strike.

The new cockpit fixture replaces the time-tested method of opening the canopy and allowing the slipstream to carry away ashes. The freezing Korean weather made this and other stop-gap measures highly impractical.

New Look for Tires

AKRON, O. (AP)—Passenger car tires that are dirty and dingy after winter and spring driving can be made to look bright and black again in a few minutes.

Only a little effort is required to do the trick, reports the B. F. Goodrich Co. Use a tablespoon of detergent in a pailful of cold water and whip up some suds. After washing the tires with a rag or a stiff brush, rinse them well with clear water. Dry with a clean cloth to regain the new look. Avoid using gasoline, kerosene or any other petroleum product.

How U. S. Army Uses Manpower In Wartime

By CLARK BEACH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON — How do the Russians get 175 divisions out of 2,500,000 army men while the U. S. gets only 18 divisions from 1,300,000?

Does the U. S. waste most of its manpower in armchair jobs and non-combat frills while the Russians have most of their men shouldering rifles?

A breakdown of how the two nations organize and use their army forces shows that the U. S. gets almost as many combat troops out of a given number of men as the Russians.

A General's Testimony

Brig. Gen. D. A. D. Ogden, chief of the Army's organization and training division, acknowledged in testimony to a Congressional committee that the Russians get along with somewhat fewer non combat troops than the U. S. does. But he said that's because the Russians don't take the same care of the lives of their soldiers.

Ogden told the committee that:

1. Russian soldiers do not spend such a large proportion of their time in training as U. S. troops. They serve longer in the army, and very little training is given them before they join combat units.

2. Russian soldiers dont get much medical attention. A large proportion of the sick and wounded is allowed to die.

3. The Russians are closer to their fighting fronts than the U. S. Thus they need fewer men along their lines of cummunication.

4. The Russians use civilians or part-time soldiers to man much of their anti-aircraft artillery and make extensive use of forced civilian labor in jobs done by military personnel in the U. S.

Red Division Is Smaller

What makes the biggest difference in the number of divisions, however, is the fact that the Russian division is smaller than the U. S. division. And the Russians designate as divisions a lot of units which in this country are not organized along division lines.

The average U. S. infantry division at war strength contains 18,000 men, compared to the present Russian average of 8,900. Our forces are backed up in the combat zone, moreover by fighting men who are even more numerous than the men in the divisions—combat troops in the artillery, armored forces, reconnaissance, engineers, signal communications, etc. In many small theaters of war no divisions are used—just regimental combat teams or special purpose forces.

One high-ranking Army expert on personnel says the Army has about 65,000 men for one division of 18,000 men. To explain where the extra 47,000 men are stationed he sets up the idea of a division "slice" of the Army. To picture the division "slice" he assumes the division is in combat 1,500 miles from U. S. shores.

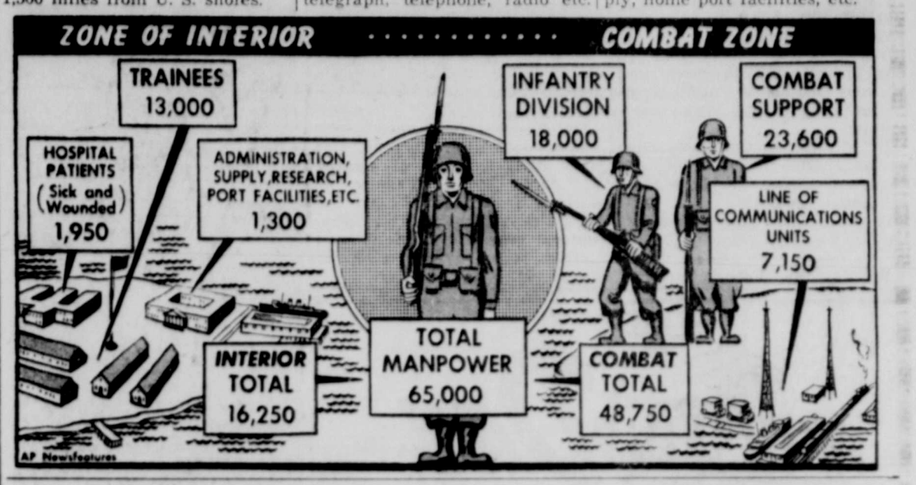

Many of the men in the "slice" have nothing to do with a division. The "slice" is just an account of the number of men who are assigned to various duties who would be combat troops in artillery, armor, signals, etc., not assigned to any division.

First are the 18,000 men in the division. There are 23,000 more 1,500 miles from U. S. shores. That means 64 per cent of the total "slice" would be in combat.

Communications Takes Men

Not in combat would be 7,150 troops in communications work or 11 per cent of the total "slice." They man port facilities on the foreign shore, store and deliver supplies over there, keep highway transport and railroads going, run hospitals, maintain telegraph, telephone, radio etc.

In the United States would be the remaining 25 per cent of the "slice"—16,250 men. Of these, 13,000 or 20 per cent would be in training, including transients—men shipping out and coming back. Sick and wounded in hospitals would number about 1,950 or 3 per cent. And 1,300, or 2 per cent would be engaged in administrative work, research, supply, home port facilities, etc.

Old Maids Wane In Illinois

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — A Southern Illinois educator, Dr. Sina Mott, says the days of the "old maid" teacher, who lived in one room and ate in the restaurant around the corner, are just about gone.

Dr. Mott's statement is based on a study of 420 southern Illinois teachers in nursery and primary schools. It showed that the "old maid" with her book satchel, is being replaced by the teacher-home-maker with her grocery bag.

Miss Josephine Thomas and Mrs. Edna Watson of Pampa and Mrs. Elbert Thomas of Wichita Falls visited in the Debs Riley home Friday. Mrs. Watson, who is Mrs. Riley's mother, will stay for a longer visit.

OPTIMISTIC HARVESTERS—Despite the fact that the wheat crop in Ochiltree this year will be well below normal, custom combine men are now coming in looking for wheat to cut. Typical of the visitors is this combine and truck from Montana, photographed Tuesday on a city street.

Austerity that Really Pinches

BUDAPEST (AP)—In line with the government's advocated policy of economy here, "austerity controllers" have been appointed in thousands of Budapest industrial plants offices and instutions.

Their function is to persuade employees not to keep money in their pockets but to deposit it on "transfer-deposit books." As for housewives, they are urged to compete for the title: "Most thrifty housewife."

Danger: Bedouins At Work

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Desert bedouins recently stumbled across a half-submerged shell on a World War II battleground near here and went to work trying to extract the cordite from it.

They dug a hole in the ground stood the shell upright and lit a fire around it. Suddenly the shell went "whoosh" and took off. Authorities who investigated the fall of a missile in a village more than a mile away said the shell was a German 15-centimeter rocket. No causalties.

The Next One's On Him

BELGRADE (AP)—Some city slickers here manage to get a rosy, alcoholic glow every day, free of charge—or rather, at the expense of their country cousins.

It's the tradition here that a customer in public markets is entitled to sample before he buys liquor. And who's to object if the prospecfive customer shakes his head after the sampling and rejects the quality?

A reporter on a Belgrade newspaper trailed such a sampler and found that after eight samplings, his quarry still hadn't made a purchase. This sampler is very likely at the end of his free ride, however. His picture was published in the paper, showing him in the act, and a complete expose of his racket was included.

Burger Family Reunion Held At Cordell, Okla.

Friends and relatives of I. S. Burger of Waka met at Camp Spring Lake near Cordell, Okla., on Saturday and Sunday, June 16-17, in observance of Father's Day. Here the group met and ate their meals together around one large table, paying respect to the man who meant so much to all of them.

Saturday evening was spent in visitation, in swimming for the youth, in renewing old acquaintances and in viewing movies. On Sunday morning church services were observed at the camp under the supervision of Rev. Harley Stump, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren of Oklahoma City and grandson of Mr. Burger.

In this service, Mr. Burger spoke to the group concerning the high ideals he and Mrs. Burger had taught the growing family of boys and girls. Rev. Stump spoke briefly, using as his text: "Remove not the ancient landmark which thy fathers have set."

At noon a basket lunch was enjoyed by all. Those signing the guest book at this lunch included the guest of honor, Mr. Burger; Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Frosch, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Curtis Alan and Mary Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kearns, Donna Mae and Deana Kay, Rev. and Mrs. Harley Stump, Harl Gene and Nelson Earl, Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Marie Keith, El Reno; Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Burger, Mrs. Nadine Godfrey, Darrel, Jimmy, Corky and Cheryl, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Burger, Connie and Kenneth, Pampa.

M-Sgt. and Mrs. Arthur Mayo, Cleta Fern and Rickie Leigh, Roswell, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tenney, Archie, Maxine Rowena and Ray, Perkins, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Burger and Vernie; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Gurley, Peggy, Orvie Lee and Pat, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Leighnor, Carolyn Mae and Harvey Dean, Perryton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamilton, Harold Dean, Betty Lynn and Charles, Hydro, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Burger, Adair, Okla.; Lt. and Mrs. Clem Carroll, Jimmie, Jackie and Jerry, Olathe, Kansas; Mrs. Reece Fender, Mrs. Nadine Danford and LaNae and Mrs. L. W. Nichols, Thomas, Oklahoma.

Two of Mrs. Burger's children, R. O. Burger of St. Jo, Ark., and Mrs. Lester Stump of Cabool, Missouri, were not able to be present because of illness.

Insult and Injury

SINGAPORE (AP)—Police here are looking for a 16-year-old Chinese bride-to-be who fled from her house with all her wedding presents and ornaments just before she was to have married her 44-year-old suitor.

The girls mother gave her the presents and ornaments when she asked for them. Then the girl asked for money to get a dress from a tailor. She left but never returned. The bridegroom arrived with guests at the house and, when he found the bride was gone—with all ornaments—promptly summoned police.

Cars Damaged In Booker Wreck

A two-car collision in Booker Friday afternoon did considerable damage to two automobiles. Involved were Charles W. Shaw of Wichita, Kansas, driving a 1950 Buick, and Charles R. Altmiller, Jr., of Follett, driving a 1946 Ford coach.

Investigating highway patrolman Jack Shields said that the collision occurred on highway 117 while both vehicles were traveling west. Altmiller had slowed down to make a left turn and as he did so, was struck from behind by Shaw in the Buick.

Damage to the Ford was estimated at $300 and it will take at least $900 to repair the Buick, Shields said.

Boss On The Spot

(AP) Newsfeatures

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Whether you are a good worker in your job may depend on the kind of boss you have say a group of researchers at the University of Michigan.

The reasearchers, members of the university's Institute for Social Research, studied the factors making for higher productivity at the home office of the Prudential Insurance Company in Newark, N. J. They examined 12 groups doing the same kind of work, some with high productivity records and some with low.

"Most of the difference found between high and low work groups appear to be related to the differing nature of the supervision of the groups," the institute reports.

"Some of the most important findings indicate that the heads of the high-producing sections are significantly more likely to receive general rather than close supervision from their superiors; to like the amount of authority and responsibility they have in their jobs; to spend more time in supervision; to give general rather than close supervision to their employees; to be employee-oriented rather than production-oriented."

The researchers say they found few differences between the attitudes of high and low-producing employees. But workers in the better sections had a "greater degree of pride" in their work. In one department of the company, the higher producers griped more about some company policies like the rating and placement systems.

"In addition," the report says, "employees in the low productivity sections participated more in company recreational and athletic programs."

"Neither intrinsic job satisfaction with the company, nor financial and status satisfaction was found, to be directly related to productivity," the report adds, but it suggests that this may be due to the fact that the same working conditions prevailed for both high and low producing groups.

Love Via Air Mail

SINGAPORE (AP)—An excited, 28-year-old Italian blonde stopped briefly in Singapore recently on her way to Sydney, Australia, to marry a man whom she has never met.

Signorina Ester Rebuffe, a hat designer, of Fontanile, in Asti province, explained her romance and the reasons for making the 10,000-mile Rome to Sydney flight.

"It was last August that my cousin in Australia wrote to say the 38-year-old Bob Boronio wanted to marry a girl from his own country," she said.

"Bob sent his picture to me and I sent mine. His letters showed that he had good character and was full of dash. We fell in love, and so he sent for me."

Minature Writing Opens Door to Auctioneering

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP)—George Borum's son, Georgie, is the youngest graduate auctioneer in the country. At 14, he can duplicate almost all of his father's talents.

In his impressive string of hobbies, the elder Borum has developed the ability of miniature writing, fancy penmanship, card carving, "flourish" drawing, chalk talk, sketching with both hands simultaneously, copying signatures, wood carving and painting.

He learned auctioneering thru rice writing. The head of an auctioneering school sent for an inscribed grain of rice. Borum sent it with a letter expressing interest in the auctioneering trade.

The auctioneer responded with: teach me to write on a grain of rice, and I'll teach you auctioneering."

Opium in Lovers Lane

SINGAPORE (AP)—Polic recently made the biggest opium haul this year—500 pounds of it, worth $250,000.

Lt. Parsons Is Called by Navy

Active duty orders have been received by H. W. Parsons and he left Saturday for St. Louis for duty with the U. S. Navy.

Parsons held a reserve commission as lieutenant, junior grade, and served in the Naval Air Corps during World War II. He will take an eight week refresher course at St. Louis then report to Pensacola, Florida, for flying duty.

He and his family have lived in the Gray community for the past two years, where they have farmed land for Mrs. Parsons' mother, Mrs. B. T. Manning. Mrs. Parsons and daughters plan to join him at Pensacola after he finishes his training at St. Louis.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A CONTEMPORARY DESIGN that is narrow enough to fit on a 50-foot lot with a side driveway and detached garage, this is Plan 755 by Walter T. Anicka, architect, 617 Forest, Ann Arbor, Mich. The house measures 33 by 48 feet and has a floor area of 1,337 square feet. The architect suggests a hedge or a fence, as shown in the drawing, to provide privacy for the large living room windows. Either vertical or horizontal siding and an asphalt shingle roof will provide colorful contrast. The house has a basement.

A SHRINKING RESOURCE—IV

Gas Misuse Hurts Industrial Future

AUSTIN, Texas—Many state officials are bothered by the thought that Texas may be hurting its own industrial future.

State Rep. Harley Sadler of Abilene, an oilman, expressed it this way at a legislative committee hearing:

"If we are going to keep industry here, we must have the basic raw material. If a major portion of our gas is dedicated to go out of the state, what position does that put our Texas industries in?"

Last year, over half of the gas sold to pipe lines moved into other states. Much of it went to areas with factories which compete with Texas manufacturers. Many of them have fuel sources, such as coal, to last for generations.

Texas' gas supply is estimated to last twenty-five years, with predictions ranging from twelve to forty years. A great portion of Texas gas is under long-term contract for sale to interstate pipe lines.

Representative Sadler, like many others, is searching for an answer to the problem of protecting Texas' industrial future.

T. L. Dyer, spokesman for Phillips Petroleum Company, commented that Texas still is in a "colonial" era, buying products made elsewhere.

Gas is the life blood of Texas industry.

Ninety per cent of the gas sold in this state goes to industry. Yet it is so desirable a raw material for chemistry that a University of Texas scientist once said burning gas for boiler fuel is like "shooting the buffalo for his hide."

Carthage Hydrocol, Inc., is spending $30,000,000 building a plant at Brownsville to make motor fuel and many other products from natural gas, using all its elements.

Dow, DuPont, Monsanto, Celanese Corporation — these and many other great names in the chemical industry — have invested billions in the Southwest because of gas.

But gas' main market still is for fuel.

Eleven dollars' worth of gas in Chicago delivers as much heat as $31 worth of coal, after paying carrying charges. That is the report of Thomas D. Bailey, Oklahoma City engineer, in the Oil and Gas Journal.

This nation's coal supply is estimated to last 2,000 years.

It has only twenty-seven years gas reserve, and the expectancy is shrinking rapidly because of increased demands.

No wonder there is concern for the future of Texas industry and for the state's welfare.

The average price for gas now is 6c a thousand at the well. The output of Woodlawn field, Harrison County, recently sold for 12c a thousand.

The 6c price is better than prewar days but it is like selling oil for 35c a barrell, based on heating values. Oil brings nearly $2.75 a barrel, and is not as good as gas for heating.

What if shrewd investors had been able to tie up the East Texas field oil supply twenty years ago, when oil sold there for 10c a barrel?

It would be comparable to the feat performed by men who built the pipe lines moving Texas gas into other states in ever-growing quantities.

There is no shortage of harvest machinery, because of the small crop. There is a big demand for single hands, with most of the demand for plowing right now. Lee Little, whose Chamber of Commerce office acts as a clearing house for harvest labor, said Tuesday that there were some calls for experienced combine operators, but that most of the demand is for tractor drivers.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ellis and daughter, Roxanna, have moved back to Perryton from Ft. Worth, where Dan has been attending Texas Christian University. He received his degree, in business, at TCU this month. They are at home at 521 S. Drake. Mrs. Ellis is the former Miss Norma Thurston, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Thurston. Rev. Thurston is a former pastor of the First Methodist church.

There may be another final round in the National Open like the one in which Ben Hogan staged his remarkable comeback to win this year, but Texans will have a more personal interest in the big show next year.

That's when it will be staged at the Northwood Country Club in Dallas.

A group of officials from the Dallas club went up to Birmingham, Mich., to see how golf's blue ribbon even was run. They got quite a surprise, if some reports are true.

It takes almost a year's planning and hard work before the first players tee off.

Northwood is miles from downtown Dallas and one of the big problems the club will have is transportation. They'll probably solve this by running regular Transit Company buses from strategic points downtown to the course.

Food for the thousands who will turn out will be another big problem. Most golf fans will come early and stay until the last shot is fired. They'll have to have several places where the public can get a meal. The club house is much too small, so tents might be the answer.

The men who went after—and goth—the tournament are already at work on such problems.

So are the men who must make the course tougher and to specifications of the United States Golf Association.

They're not going to make a trapped nightmire like the Michigan course this year. But they are going to toughen it and trim par a stroke to 70 for the Open.

One entry the Open might get next year because it is in Texas that it didn't have this year is Byron Nelson. The rancher from Roanoki will probably make the comparatively few miles from his place to the course for this one. Now in semi-retirement, Nelson didn't enter the Open this year.

Budget Campaign Is Launched by Darrouzett Church

DARROUZETT—The organization of the budget campaign for the First Methodist church of Darrouzett was completed at a meeting held Thursday, June 21. Max Suess, chairman of the board of stewards, introduced Merle Cross to the workers.

Cross told the workers their responsibilities in the promotion of the campaign, which is to extend to August 8, 1951.

Arda Smith is leader of the educational program which will be carried through the first four weeks in July. Assisting him are Mrs. F. T. Peterson, who will report to newspapers the news of the campaign; Mrs. C. D. Clark, who will prepare special bulletins to be distributed each Sunday; Miss Lula Winfrough and Mrs. Carl Woods who will prepare promotional signs and posters; Mrs. Melvin Beck, who will prepare four special letters which will be mailed each Wednesday in July to the entire membership.

The membership will be informed as to the plans and needs of the church; the responsibilities and pledges of the members.

Mrs. Dave Youck will prepare a special brochure to be mailed to the membership and Mrs. Glen Phillips will arrange a schedule of speaking appointments in the church school departments.

In the meantime, Roy Hennigh is making arrangements for the canvass of the membership which will begin July 30.

The campaign is being promoted in an effort to clear the church of back debts and make it possible to avoid additional indebtedness, as well as to provide for current expenses.

Mastitis Control Seen

OSLO (AP)—Effective veterinary control may reduce cases of mastitis—a glandular infection of the cow's udder—to the vanishing point in less than a year, experiments here show.

Dr. Ottar Bratlie, head of the State Institute for Mastitis Research in Oslo, says the institute has succeeded in wiping out mastitis in the Lesja area during the ten month period from March 1950 to February 1951.

The infected cattle are given penicillin and the cow sheds are thoroughly disinfected.

Mrs. Hallie Veale is attending the summer session at the St. Louis Institute of Music in St. Louis. She expects to return on August 3.

...19 persons were killed, ...Europeans, and 200 were injured. Nearly 100 automobiles were overturned and burned by Moslem mobs. Property damage ran into millions of dollars. All Singapore was under curfew for a week or more. As the mobs got out of control and battled back police who tried to halt them, British troops had to be called in to end rioting.

Now, in brisk street exercises, and under the stern eyes of British officers, Malay and Gurkha police go through training of quelling "mobs" by baton and riot-shield charges, by hurling tear gas, and finally by firing rifles.

The idea is to be prepared for any fresh outbreak of rioting that may come in the future.

Where Have You Been all its Life?

THIS ad is addressed to the fellow known as "the man on the street." From that vantage point, you must have noticed that a lot of folks are driving 1951 Buicks.

You must have noted that you can spot one of these beauties—by its sparkling forefront—its gleaming fender ports—(three for the SPECIAL and SUPER, four for the ROADMASTER)—and by its fluent grace of lines and contours.

You've probably noticed, also, that these Buicks give a good account of themselves in traffic—ease to a gentle stop—get away to a nimble start when the light says, "Go."

You may even have noticed that these cars have a level-gaited stride that traces, as we've said before, to the fact that each wheel rides beneath its own coil spring.

But what we'd like to know is—when are you going to try one?

It's about time you climbed in the driver's seat.

It's about time that you sensed for yourself the thrill that comes from feeling your shoulders sink back in the cushions, when your toe gives the gas treadle a gentle nudge.

It's about time for you to be on the receiving end of those admiring glances which are the due of folks smart enough to pick the smart buy of the year.

What's holding you back? It can't be prices—for as you can quickly discover for yourself, you can own a SPECIAL for less than the price of some sixes—and SUPERS or ROADMASTERS are just as smart a buy in their fields.

So why not end the suspense? The welcome mat is out at our showrooms. We hope to greet you soon.

July 4 Celebration Set For Liberal

The National Air Show troupe of Columbus, Ohio, will make its first appearance in Southwest Kansas and will provide feature entertainment in the gigantic all-day July 4th celebration in Liberal this year. The Ohio troupe features Capt. Rod Jocelyn, 1950-51 International aerobatic champion, and Miss Caro Bayley, 1950-51 women's champion, with many other outstanding pilots of the nation.

Liberal this year, for the first time in several years, is going "all-out" to provide one of the largest celebrations of Independence Day in Southwest Kansas. Together with the widely-known air show which will be held at the former huge army air base on the city's outskirts, will be such added attractions as baseball and softball games and a free display of aerial fireworks at the air base in the evening.

They ...iduals who are con... the alert for the ... of mosquito which can ...ases; when such mos... are found, their breed-ing places must be cleaned out for the protection of population over a wide area. Pot-bellied minnows are considered the best agent for the removal of mosquitoes after the marsh, pool, puddle or pond has been cleaned enough for the minnows to have free access to all parts of the water, especially around the banks.

With such a program of sanitation, malaria has become a much rarer disease than it was in the past. Filariasis is extremely rare in this country; cleaning out mosquito-breeding places will keep it so.

It takes more than a mosquito to spread either of these diseases, however; those special kinds of mosquitoes have to feed upon someone with either malaria or filariasis and become infected before they can pass the disease on to someone else. That is why a person afflicted with either of those diseases owes it not only to himself but to his whole community to be treated for the disease and to observe utmost caution that no mosquito feeds upon him.

When the mosquito bites a person with the disease, the "skeeter" gets so chockful of infection that sinking his long nose into another person transmits the disease: it's there in his nose. With malaria, the mosquito transmits a form of animal life known as a protozoa; with filariasis, the mosquito transmits the disease by the way of a threadlike white worm.

With malaria, that protozoa from the mosquito latches on to the red cells of the blood stream and eventually causes those cells to burst open, ruining the cell but freeing the protozoa to find other red cells. When a great many of those red cells through the body are bursting open, you have the typical picture of malaria: shaking chills, high fever, and then drenching sweat.

All malaria cases do not follow the same pattern, of course, but that is the most common pattern of the disease. That trio of symptoms of chills, fever and sweat may be repeated twice a day, daily, every two days or every three days, usually setting up a definite pattern.

There are four different types of protozoa each of which causes a different brand of malaria, some rather slight cases and some very serious. By an examination of the blood, your doctor can tell which type of malaria you have. Sometimes the disease affects the head, sometimes it invades the digestive tract, and sometimes it creates damage in the chest. When the most obvious sign of the disease is a cold, clammy skin and a state of shock, it is called algid malaria; when the disease creates headaches and dizziness with a yellowish tinge to the skin, it is called bilious malaria.

Dove Season to Be Decided by Texas Sportsmen

AUSTIN—Friday, July 6, will be D (for dove) Day for Texas sportsmen.

At that time, the result of the popular poll on hunting preferences for the coming mourning dove season will be announced.

The Game, Fish & Oyster Commission, according to the Executive Secretary, plans to use the results of the poll as a basis for recommending mourning dove shooting dates for the 1951 fall season.

Final action on the dates, hunting hours and bag limits is taken by the Federal Fish & Wildlife Service since mourning doves are a migratory bird, and therefore are under Federal jurisdiction.

This is the first time, the Executive Secretary said, that the sportsmen's own preferences, as indicated by a mail poll, have been used as a guide in this decision.

The Commission asked Texans to write their date ideas to the Game Department, Walton Bldg. Austin, after considerable conflict in opinion developed over last season's shooting regulations, particularly in the south zone.

Some sportsmen thought that the southern zone mourning dove season should have paralleled the quail hunting season which is set by law.

The southern zone dove season last year was from October 20 to December 3. The quail season set by law is from December 1 to January 16.

The northern zone mourning dove dates in 1950 were from September 1st to October 15.

New Grease Keeps Rifles Shooting

WITH THE MARINES IN KOREA (AP)—Sgt. Frank T. Versage is credited with inventing a grease that kept Marine rifles firing in the Korean winter. It was found that ordinary grease sealed rifles as effectively as a welding job when cold froze the grease.

Rifles cleaned with gasoline and fired dry worked for a while but soon jammed. Versage experimented for a week and came up with a mixture of graphite, diesel oil, 80 octane gasoline and No. 10 motor oil. Rifles greased with it worked despite cold.

Lake Fryer Should Be Restored

An area-wide meeting has been called for Monday night in Pampa to seek federal government assistance in repairing the spillway on the Lake McLellan dam, damaged by the recent high water and heavy rains.

This is fine. Certainly the people of the Perryton area should assist in this project, but there is another lake that could be restored at the same time, and we think it should be restored first.

We are talking about Lake Fryer, which went out four years ago when high rains washed out the spillway. The government answer to requests for repairing the dam and restoring this beauty spot of the Plains has been: "Sorry, but there is no money available."

We think there is money available. It may take a special appropriation, but this will be money well spent. And if there is money available to repair the Lake McLellan dam, there is money available to repair Lake Fryer.

Soil Conservation and other government officials have been unanimous in declaring that Lake Fryer is the "gem" of all Panhandle lakes because of its trees, its natural setting, and the most important fact that it is spring-fed and does not depend upon surface run-off.

We are certain that Lake Fryer can be restored. All it will take is the concerted action of the people in the North Plains area who are interested in restoring this recreation spot.

The New Ones Are Dangerous

Our contention that the recent law making inspection of vehicles mandatory in Texas means little in the prevention of traffic accidents is borne out in the annual report of Texas Motor Vehicle Traffic Accidents.

While it won't hurt anything to force every car in Texas to have a stamp signifying that the horn, brakes, etc., have been inspected, we can't see where this is going to cut down much on the accident toll.

You see, the Department of Public Safety has found that a great majority of the accidents involve cars that are one year old or less.

It's not the old, outdated jalopies that are involved in the accidents. In 1950, more than twice as many cars, one year old or less, were involved in accidents than those over 10 years old. In addition, the new cars are way ahead in the number of fatal accidents.

Check the garages, repair shops and wreck yards and you will find one out of three cars wrecked in accidents are new.

Of course the new automobiles are not unsafe. Every new car can pass a "safety check" with flying colors. Engineers have built all the safety devices at their command into today's cars.

The difference is in the driver. That, and the fact that the new ones run faster, easier than the old ones, and speed is the biggest single factor in fatal accidents.

The driver of a new car races down a highway, visits with the passengers while relaxing on a comfortable seat, guides the car with one or two fingers on the steering wheel, and doesn't even have to shift gears—that being automatic, too. All he has to do is occasionally glance at the road and push a foot on the accelerator.

The newer, safer built cars have proven more dangerous not because of mechanical imperfections but simply because men and women assume them to be fool proof.

Wolf Creek Philosopher

Joins Battle Against Saving

(Ed note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher reads the newspapers a lot more carefully than we do, or else he's just making this up.)

Dear Editar:

People are always pokin fun at what comes out of Washington, me included, but this mornin I was sittin out in the pasture under the shade of a tree readin a newspaper I'd picked up in town yesterday at Ernest Dye's barber shop, was in there for restin purposes only, and noticed where an expert from Washington made a speech in Austin before a group of economics students and said "too much saving by people will put us on the verge of a depression."

I read it twice and that's what he said.

"Our big problem today," he added, "is to keep a balance between income classes to avoid over-saving."

I want you to know this kind of advice is right up my alley. For years I been listenin to people tell me over-spendin was the surest way to go busted, that no nation could spend itself into prosperity, but this is the first time I've read any warnin against over-savin, and believe me I'm in favor of hearin more.

Accordin to this expert, whose title is Chief of the Consumer Price Index System of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington, what caused the celebrated depression in 1929 was over-savin. "In 1929 we oversaved, and that brought on the depression," he said.

I'm glad to hear the wisdow of my way of life underscored, and whatever you can say about me, you can't say I helped bring on the 1929 depression, and furthermore I'm doin all I can to avoid bringin one on now. You don't catch me oversavin. In fact, the only reason I don't spend more'n I am is because too many store keepers are short-sighted, depression minded, and won't let me.

Throw up a credit screen that's puttin this country on the verge of a depression, if that expert knows what he's talkin about.

However, I have been reflectin on this problem of over-savin, and while I don't want to knock nobody out of a job, I believe that expert has succeeded in talkin himself about out of one, as most folks I know have come around to his way of thinkin and if there was ever a nation bent on avoidin a depression by refusin to ever-save this one is it. If that Washington bird is right, this country has got smooth sailin from now on.

Yours Faithfully
J. A.

Woodward Race Meet July 3

WOODWARD, June 25—(Special)—Its horse racing time again at Woodward, and R. H. Johnson, general chairman, has been busy assigning weights and accepting entries from stables all over the southwest.

Six races per card July 3-4-5-6, with night racing all four programs and a special afternoon 2 o'clock card on the 4th makes up the tempting dish for racing fans. As usual, the Woodward Jaycees have a whole horde of derrapins ready to compete on Main street's pavement for three big money pots.

From The SIDELINE

with HAROLD HUDSON

Probably the sorriest looking bunch of golfers in the Panhandle could have been found Sunday afternoon at the local course. When the deluge came, most of the players were on the course and were soaked to the skin before they could reach cover. Everyone spent a couple of hours huddled around the concession truck, looking for all the world like a bunch of drowning chickens.

It was really a pity that the rain had to call a halt to the first golf tournament in years. There was a good crowd, some excellent golfers, and until the rain, the day was perfect for golf. Members of the local club had spent the entire week getting the course in top shape for the tournament and it was the best we have ever seen it.

Funny thing, most everyone we talked to seemed pretty confident of being right up there in the trophy case. The fact that the third, and deciding round was yet to come may have had something to do with this.

R. B. Yoakley is downright peeved at the OPS. He sent off his pricing list a week or so ago, stapling the sheets neatly at the top, in the center of the pages. Saturday, back came the list, with a note saying that it was unacceptable until he took the staple out of the center of the page and moved it to the upper right hand corner!

He received the list Saturday afternoon and it was supposed to be back in Dallas (with the staple correction) by Monday morning. We don't believe those OPS folks in Dallas are acquainted with the speed of mail service in our area.

Brother Yoakley says it seems to him that these OPS people are just deliberately aggravating him.

For several years now we've been receiving through the mail communications from the BBDO in New York and frankly, they have us puzzled. This letter is usually sent by first class mail, but sometimes by air mail and we can remember a couple of times when it came air mail, special delivery. Guess what they are sending!—a complete weekly summary of television shows!

Maybe we ought to forward these schedules to Harold Nagel or Herman Meadows. They're the only television set operators in this area that we know of.

We've always thought one dog was about as good as another—in fact, a dog seems to lead a pretty democratic life, but the lawmakers at Austin have dispelled our notions about this. It seems that a town dog has less privileges than the country mutt, under the terms of a measure passed by the Senate.

This measure would levy a fine of $25 to $100 on a dog owner when his pooch bites a person in the daytime without being teased. Dogs that live in towns under 50,000 population were exempt. Besides that, to qualify for the fine, a city dog must snap the seat of the trousers between eight in the morning and six in the evening. Biting after those hours is strictly legal.

Dogs living in a town the size of Perryton can bite, legally, anytime. Come to think of it, this law doesn't reassure us much, even when we visit the city. We don't know of a single dog, even if he wears a gold collar and one of these plaid jackets, that is smart enough to tell time, or give two hoots about breaking the law.

Incidental intelligence: A couple at Stanton, Texas, made the society page last week with this headline: "Stanton Couple Exchange Vows On Roller Skates." The groom is the owner of a roller rink, the bride, a waitress. The vows were exchanged right on the skating rink floor before 300 friends and patrons. Everybody wore roller skates except the preacher, Rev. Willard Bryant, a Baptist minister. Music was played over a public address system during the ceremony.

Bet the society editor had a gay old time writing this one.

You heard lots of comment lately about "What has happened to the weather in the Plains country" It used to be said that this was the most tornado-free country in the world, that tornadoes followed rivers, etc., and that the wind blew so much out here that a tornado didn't have a chance to form.

Nowadays, and for the past few years, you can hardly pick up a paper without reading about some tornado, small in most cases, but large in too many instances. A doctor at Vega, who has closely observed the Plains weather for 37 years, says that the atomic bomb explosions have thrown things out of kilter.

He says that he charted more or less regular cycles in weather until they exploded the first atomic bomb, then things went haywire. In fact, he strongly objects to firing another one.

He may be right. Personally, we favor the contour plowing theory. This is the theory that the high plains winds, sweeping across the fields, hit the contour furrows in the modern plowed fields, are whirled into a twister, and on into a tornado.

But don't quote us on this one.

Mrs. James Pitts and children are vacationing in Corpus Christi for two weeks. Mrs. Pitts' mother, who lives in Stephenville, is vacationing with them.

Close-up....of an American Tradition!

Sooner or later, every quality-conscious family falls in love with a Packard. That's an American tradition.

And never has the pride of Packard ownership been so completely practical, because here you're getting not only the newest new car of the year . . . but the car most likely to stay that way for many a year to come! Just consider points like these:

You get the efficiency, and the incredible smoothness, of new Packard Thunderbolt engines—America's highest-compression eights. Plus: the service-free simplicity of a design with up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power.

You get the amazing smoothness of Packard's exclusive Ultramatic Drive. And with it: the extra efficiency of no gas-wasting slippage when cruising.

You get the famed Packard Limousine Ride, with all its new refinements—a ride that's unequalled anywhere for gentle smoothness and enduringly fine roadability.

The deeper you look, the better you'll know why Packard has chalked up the most illustrious durability record in automotive history. For it's a fact that of all the Packards built—in the last 32 years—over 50% are still in service!

But when people were asked what their grocery bills were running per week, they reported they are now spending very little more than they were a year ago. The average per week in August 1950 was $19.95, and now it is $20.01. So, with prices higher, we must be eating less, or cuttind down on expensive items, or buying lower quality.

Application for Patrolman Jobs Due By July 10

AUSTIN—Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that the closing date for receiving applications for appointment as Texas Highway Patrolmen is July 10th.

Young men who are citizens of the United States and who have resided in Texas for at least one year immediately preceding the date of their application and who are between the ages of 21 and 35 years, inclusive, with a minimum height of 5 feet, 8 in.; and who meet the other necessary physical, mental and character qualifications may secure application blanks from their nearest Texas Highway Patrol, nearest Texas Highway Patrol District Office or by writing directly to W. J. Elliott, Chief, Texas Highway Patrol, at Austin.

Garrison pointed out that the Patrol offers excellent advantages in working conditions to young Texans who are interested in career law enforcement.

Applicants who successfully pass the exhaustice character investigation and field examinations will be thoroughly schooled at the Department's headquarters in Austin early this Fall before assignment to duty posts over the State.

Health for 30 MILLION People

...an 30,000,000 people have found that the new ... art known as CHIROPRACTIC is an effective ... of returning their bodies to full vigorous health ...ny of them had given up hope of being well.

...l these people desperately consulted doctors of ...s, searching and hoping for cures, finally turned ...practic and had their health returned to them by ... methods of releasing "The Power Within."

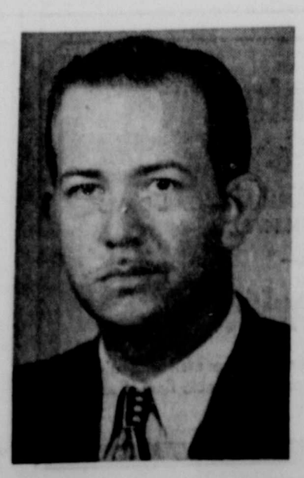

The Chiropractic principle was discovered in 1895 by Dr. D. D. Palmer who returned hearing to a deaf man in Davenport, Iowa. People suffering from other disorders consulted Dr. Palmer and obtained results from their illnesses. Dr. Palmer established a school which became the largest and foremost Chiropractic Education center in the country and which has taught thousands of Chiropractors how to bring health to suffering humanity.

Many famous people have selected Chiropractors as their doctors, including such individuals as King George V of England, Duke of Windson, General Chiang Kai Shek, Jack Dempsy, John D. Rockfeller, Paul Robeson, Nick Kinney, Caruso, Arthur Godfrey, and other famous and less famous people, including your friends and neighbors.

These thirty million sick people have profited by the Chiropractic principle which proclaims that the nervous system controls the body and its functions—that the nervous system must be free of any interruptions to its Vital Nerve Energy transmission. If nerve pressure exists on any of the important nerve trunks as they leave the spinal cord thru openings between the veterbrae there will be incoordination of some sort—resulting in sickness.

JEANNE CRAIN finds herself having a dinner on the floor of the sorority dining room in a hilarious moment from the new Technicolor film on college life, "Take Care of My Little Girl," which comes to the Ellis on Tuesday-Thursday.

'Take Care Of My Little Girl' Is Tale of College Sororities

"Take Care of My Little Girl", the new Technicolor movie which comes to the Ellis on Tuesday-Thursday, sounds like a tear-jerker about infants, but is really a story of college sorority life.

Based on the book by Peggy Goodin, the story attacks the worst aspects of college sorority and fraternity life and seeks to inform the college freshman that being a "Greek" is not necessary to sussess.

Starred in the picture are Jeanne Crain, Mitzi Gaynor, Betty Lynn, Helen Westcott, Jean Peters, Dale Robertson and Jeffrey Hunter.

The story opens with lovely Jeanne Crain and her home-town friend, plain-looking Janet Shaw, arrive on Midwestern University campus, ready for college life. Liz gets a sorority bid, but Janet doesn't, and leaves college, broken-hearted.

Liz falls for a non-fraternity man and gets into all sorts of difficulties with her sorority sisters over this. In the end, she sees the light, turns in her pin, turns to the non-fraternity man and walks tenderly onward, presumably to a new happiness.

'Soldiers Three' Has 1890 Indian Army Setting

"Soldiers Three," starring Walter Pidgeon, Robert Newton, Stewart Granger and Cyril Cusack, is a British Army picture laid in India during the 1890's. It comes to the Ellis on Sunday and Monday.

Granger, Newton and Cusack are privates in the Rutlandshire Infantry, and Pidgeon is their commanding officer.

These soldiers cover a variety of escapades, such as winning a sedan chair and eight bearers in a lottery; fighting Scotsmen in barroom brawls; insulting officers; and, of course, doing a little Indian fighting as they go along.

Weaver Brothers Convert Snobs

The Weaver Brothers and Elviry are starred in "Mountain Rhythm," which comes to the Pertex on Sunday-Tuesday.

At the opening of the picture the Weavers are starting off from their mountain home on a vacation trip, when they learn that the government is making an appeal for agricultural workers to help harvest the crops. Realizing it is their duty to do anything they can to assist in the war effort, they cancel their plans, go to the West Coast and buy one of the farms formerly cultivate by Japanese families.

The farm as it so happens, is situated next to the Tudor, a swanky and highly exclusive prep school. When the Weavers are unable to hire extra workers to help in the harvesting, they appeal to the students at the school. The boys, however, have been taught by their smug, overbearing headmaster that they are too aristocratic to work with their hands, and refuse the request.

The Weavers then determine to show the students the fallacy of the headmaster's teachings, and to convince them that it is the duty of every American—young or old, rich or poor—to assist in the winning of the war.

Mrs. Inez Hargrave, who has been employed at the Hotel Coffee Shop for the past three years, has resigned in order to assist her mother, Mrs. Fannie Davis, who is ill, through harvest on her farm near Booker.

MEET THE YOUNGSTERS—Bessie Paulette Morrison is the year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Morrison of Booker. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Paul Shuey, and her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Harrison of Booker. Her great grandmother is Mrs. Asa Tosper.

Veterans Forum

Q—If I finish my GI Bill classroom course after the July 25 cut-off date, and have remaining entitlement, could I continue with on-the-job training in the same field?

A—If the job training were more or less a repetition of the material you learned in school, you would not be permitted to take it under the GI Bill. But if the job training were an essential part of your over-all GI training program, and was required before you could qualify as a trained worker, you probably would be permitted to take it. But you would have to apply for it before you completed your classroom work.

Q—Could I receive a free general physical check-up at a VA hospital? It wouldn't be in connection with any veterans' benefits, but only because I haven't had one for a long time.

A—VA is not permitted to provide physical examinations that have no bearing on VA-administered benefits.

Q—My National Service Life Insurance term policy has lapsed—but the term period has not expired. Is it possible to reinstate it under the new "free-insurance" law? I am a veteran, not on active duty.

A—Yes. Your policy may be reinstated on or before—but not after—its term period has expired.

Swiger-Malsam Wedding Vows Are Solemnized In Raton, N. M. Church

Wedding vows for Miss Euteva Swiger and William Malsam were solomnized in St. Joseph's Church at Raton, N. Mex., June 16.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Swiger of Balko and Mr. and Mrs. George Malsam of Collyer, Kansas are parents of the bridegroom.

Rev. Father E. J. McCarthy read the nupital high mass at 8 a. m. before an altar decorated with pink carnations and peonies.

The sleeves were long and fitted and came to points over the hands. The full skirt fell into a cadethedral train and was edged with lace. Her fingertip veil fell from bonnet of lace and she carried a white prayer book topped with red roses and a shower of satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. For something old she carried a gold crucifix, belonging to the great-grandmother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. L. L. Hecker of Buffalo Park, Kansas was matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ardella Swiger of Beaver, Okla. and Mrs. Herbert Gray of Liberal, Kansas. Their floor length dresses were of pastel pink, blue and green. They wore coronets of matching net and short mitts. Their corsages were of gardenias and carnations.

Albert Malsam of Wakeeney, Kansas was best man. Ushers were L. L. Hecker and Herbert Gray.

Following the reception the bridal party was honored at a wedding breakfast at the El Portal in Raton. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, flanked by white candles and bud vases holding pink roses. Miss Ardella Swiger served the cake.

For a wedding trip to Denver and points in Colorado, the bride traveled in a navy blue dress, with white lace jacket and white accessories. After June 23 the couple will be at home in Collyer, Kansas.

Mrs. Malsam graduated from Balko high school and Panhandle A and M College. For the past three years she has been a member of the Collyer high school faculty. Mr. Malsam graduated from St. Michaels school at Collyer, Kansas and is a rural mail carrier and electrician.

Foreign Students Help 4-H Club Roundup Theme

Foreign students helped Texas 4-H boys and girls to fulfill their 1951 theme, "Working Together for World Understanding," at the State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M College on June 24-27.

Mrs. Mary Watson Jones, county home demonstration agent, said 25 foreign students attending Texas colleges participated in the Roundup. Three International Foreign Youth Exchange students, now living in Texas, were present.

Two German students represented Texas Tech, and nine students from Texas University represented China, Canada, Hungary, Chile, Afganstan, France, Iraq, Turkey and the Philippines. Students enrolled at A&M from Egypt, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Pakistan, India and Venzuela also participated in the Roundup.

Two foreign students worked with each group of boys and girls. In these groups, the 4-H members learned how the foreign people live—their customs, type of agriculture, type of government and recreational activities.

Miss Gladys Darden, home management specialist, was in charge of this part of the program. Miss Darden has visited Perryton and is known by many of the HD club members here.

Nupital Vows Read Friday Evening For O'Leen Yates and Delbert Trew

Solemnized at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, June 22, in the First Methodist Church was the wedding of Miss O'Leen Yates and Delbert Trew. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Evalyn Yates of Greentree, N. Mex. and H. M. Yates of Borger and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Trew of Alenreed.

Rev. Addison Cutter, pastor of the Methodist Church of Waurika, Okla., assisted by Rev. Lloyd H. Jones officiated at the double-ring service.

Decorations at the altar featured baskets of pink gladioli and candelabra backed by potted palms, fern and groups of branched candelabra. Ropes of greenery and white satin bows draped the chancel rail and completed the nupital setting.

Mrs. A. P. McCelvey, organist, played "To a Wild Rose" and "Romance" by McDowell, "Indian Love Call" by Friml and "Liebestraum" by Liszt, preceding the ceremony and accompanied Marvin C. Genuchi as he sang "Wedding Prayer" and "With This Ring" and "O Perfect Love" as the benediction. "I Love Thee' by Grieg was played softly during the ceremony. The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and net over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted torso bodice, short puffed sleeves and low wide neckline finished with a bertha of lace. The full floor length skirt, worn over hoops, was attached to the bodice with double net rouching.

Her fingertip veil was held by a matching lace cap trimmed with orange blossoms. She wore long net mitts and carried a white Bible topped with delight roses and white satin streamers.

Miss Co'Leen Yates, twin sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. She wore a gown of Nile green organdy over taffeta, fashioned with a basque bodice and full floor length skirt. She wore a halo of Nile green net and flowers and carried a bouquet of pink gladiola.

Little Miss Jacque Gill of Miami was flower girl. Her dress was of yellow organdy trimmed with orchid bows.

Michael Yates of Borger and Billy Peters lighted the candles.

Dean Maberry was best man and ushers were Curtis Leicht, Don Trew and Dean Morgan.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Yates wore a dusty rose crepe dress with navy and white white carnations. Mrs. Trew, the bridegroom's mother, chose a navy sheer dress, with navy accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception in Fellowship Hall honored the bridal party. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with delight roses and baby breath. The three-tiered wedding cake, crested with a miniature bride and groom and crystal punch service adorned opposite ends of the table. Miss Connie Kershaw, Miss Dorlea Flowers and Miss Corrine Flowers presided at the reception table.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore a sunset pink linen suit with white accessories and a white rose corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Trew graduated from Perryton high school with the class of 1950. Mrs. Trew attended Central Business College at Denver and Mr. Trew attended West Texas State College at Canyon.

The couple will make their home on a ranch south of Perryton where Mr. Trew is associated with his father in ranching.

Out of town guests included Rev. and Mrs. Addison Cutter and Miss Madolyn Cutter of Waurika, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moore of Canadian, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. George Yates, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. John Lamm and family of Borger, Mr. and Mrs. Oris Bruner and Miss Barbara Bruner of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Aldrich of Capitan, New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Boisdorf of San Bernardino, California, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Flowers, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Webb and Jane, Mrs. R. A. C.W.F. Group Has Luncheon June 21

The Christian Women's Fellowship, of the First Christian Church, met June 21, in the social hall of the church for a covered dish luncheon and the last general meeting of the year.

This meeting concluded the study of the Philippines.

The luncheon table was centered with a large fruit plate. Tropical plants were used along the center of the table and a parrot and palms lent atmosphere to the scene.

Beautiful leis were presented the president, Mrs. Leon Shrader and to the chairman of the service committee, Mrs. J. W. Brown. Each member was given a corsage. Mrs. Neal Thompson was responsible for the leis and corsages.

The program opened with a hymn followed by a vocal duet by Mrs. Blanche Clack and Mrs. Monroe Ballard.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Martin Duke.

A story of the work in the Philippines was told by Mrs. Orville Brummett. Her subject was "Will You Help Us Build Our Church"?

A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Leon Shrader.

Mrs. B. B. Kent and Mrs. Roy Jeoffroy of Amarillo were guests at the luncheon. Forty members were present.

Guests of the club were Mrs. J. W. Putman and Mrs. Roy Bell, a former club member. Members present were Mesdames Claude Allen, Sibley Jines, Dwight Sims, Ross Leatherman, Clifford Beck and Orlan Bell.

A dessert course was served at the close of play.

Mrs. Sims held high score and Mrs. Putman was second high scorer.

Texas Pheasants Grace Diplomatic Tables

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pheasants raised on the 40-acre farm of a Texas congressional secretary and her lawyer husband are served regularly in foreign embassies here.

The dual role of farm wife and Capitol Hill aide is played by Mrs. Elizabeth Reeves Meyers, wife of R. Baldwin Meyers—Justice Dept. attorney who hails from Fort Worth, Texas. She came to Washington in 1941 to work for former Texas Congressman Fritz G. Lanham. In that job she succeeded her present boss, Rep. Wingate Lucas of Grapevine, Texas, who was a congressional secretary for several years.

Cocoa beans grow directly on the trunk and main branches of the cocoa tree, not at the tips of the branches as do many seeds.

Party Honors Douglas Fuller

Mrs. Bud Fuller entertained with a birthday party, June 20, honoring her son, Douglas, on his fourth birthday.

Games were played and movies were made of the group. Each guest received a balloon as a favor.

Refreshments of ice cream, pink and green iced cup cakes and punch were served.

Those present were Sandra Kay Gidley, Shermalee Fulton, Linda Schuster, Darlene Clark, Judy George, Linda Schollenbarger, Sandie Hawk, Judy, Kay and Sue Headlee, Jerrylee and Joyce Overton, Vickie and Craig Lawrence, Kenny Wooster, Clifford Ray Phelps, Danny and Boyce Overton, Ray Gyger, Bruce and Mary Helen Collingsworth, Janis Fuller and the honoree.

Also present were Mrs. Jack Wooster, Mrs. Gene Lawrence, Mrs. Clifford Gyger and Douglas' grandmother, Mrs. Roy Enfield.

"V Discs" Coming Back

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—To fill the needs of service hospitals and recreation centers, the Defense Department is reactiviating World War II "V-Discs."

The Armed Forces Radio Service here has been designated to supervise production of the discs which have been given a new name—Armed Forces Records.

The records will feature top musical entertainers and will be shipped to military installations around the world for the enjoyment of service personnel.

A Famous First

Bruce Collingsworth is Party Honoree

Mrs. Tip Collingsworth entertained with a party last Saturday afternoon honoring her son, Bruce, on his fifth birthday.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream and lemonade were served to Sherry Slack, Shermalee Fulton, Corky Williams, Billie Max Miller, Douglas Fuller, Tryna and Terry Farris, Danny and Debby Hudson, Pat Drake, Polly Loving, Jud Shields and the honoree.

Adults attending included Mrs. Zeb Williams, Mrs. Alva Drake, Mrs. Jake Lamb and Mrs. Grace Jenkins of Spearman.

Laziness Keeps Business Going

CHICAGO (AP)—J. O. Reinecke, an industrial designer, is happy people are lazy.

"If they weren't we'd starve," he said.

He's designed such things as a foot pedal drinking fountain, automatic cigarette lighter and powered orange squeezer.

"When enough people buy these new gadgets we create to make life easier, we just can't help being happy," Reinecke said.

Canadian Bread Rumor Quashed

OTTAWA (AP)—Unusual letters are commonplace at the Canadian Government Travel Bureau here, but one from a feminine writer in Hollywood, Calif., gets the nod as the most remarkable.

She wrote to ask if it were true that the sale of white bread brings the death penalty in Canada. She said in her letter that she had heard the practice was illegal and the penalty was death.

Travel bureau officials pondered the wisdom of mailing her a loaf of Canadian white bread, finally compromised by advising her there was no such offense and certainly no such penalty.

GETTING READY FOR FALL—The wood in the new grandstands at Ranger Field were supposed to be treated against deterioration from the weather, but custodians Oliver King and Loren Allen put a coat of paint on the stands this week, just in case. The stands are now painted a light gray, and the two workers are shown above wielding their mops.

Simple Solution for Old Problem

FRANKFURT (AP)—Austria and Germany — after feuding for years over water rights like pioneers in the American West—are enjoying a big payoff now from cooperation.

Three rivers—the Danube, Inn and Salzach—flow in both countries. Who controlled them was a chronic sore point. It never got near a settlement by diplomatic negotiation. But when Hitler marched into Austria in 1938, there was, for a time, nothing left to decide.

At war's end, the quarrel burst out again. Peacetime reconstruction brought a sharp need for hydro-electric power. Both West Germany and Austria wanted the lions share of the three rivers. Finally, with Allied military government assistance, the Austrian-Bavarian Power Company was formed. Ownership was divided equally between the two countries.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

This is for the man trying for the first time to catch trout on flies. But before we start, let's remember that trout aren't complete nitwits—they are shy, timid. So walk lightly and don't let them see you.

But the first step is to find them. The most generally productive spot and the most easily fished is a narrow tongue of current entering a pool from a swift, shallow stretch. The greatest amount of food will be concentrated there. And trout will be watching the current, ready to dart out and grab an enticing morsel.

If you can cast down there, well and good. But you can get just as many trout by merely stripping line from the reel and letting the current wash the fly down to the good spot.

It calls almost for a sixth sense to hook trout with a fly drifting naturally on a slack line. Jason Lucas cautions beginners to remember this: When working the fly, keep the rod tip low, with leader and line straight from fly to rod grip where the line passes under a finger of the right hand. Let the line slip in and out under that finger or you'll be in trouble.

Use your left hand, not the rod tip, to give the fly little jiggles. When your left hand gets back too far, reach out and take a fresh hold behind that forefinger, forming a coil in your left hand with the slack. Thus, when a trout takes the fly, your fingers feel him instantly and before he can turn, it's pure reflex action to jerk your hand and set the hook.

Don't give a hard jerk—a quick little tug does it. As soon as you've hooked him, raise the rod to the vertical, to play him against its full spring. To do this, you of course let line slip freely under that finger of the right hand; when there's enough out, a gentle pressure of the finger against the cork grip stops it, or causes a mild brake to slow him. A small trout is played by stripping in line with the left hand. A big fish can be handled best by playing him from a single-action reel.

Man of Double Distinction

NEW YORK (AP)—Lou Novikoff, the "Mad Russian," led two minor leagues in batting the same year! In 1939 Novikoff topped the Texas League hitters with .368 in 419 times at bat. He was playing for Tulsa and was promoted to Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League late in the season. He then proceeded to belt the horsehide at a .452 clip for 135 times at bat to lead the PCL in the batting department.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

(AP) Newsfeatures

SELECTED as an ideal design by the Small Homes Guide, this house combines the center hall feature of traditional colonial planning with the modern rambling one-story layout. This is Plan No. 4739 by Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 2, N. Y. authority on small house design. The house covers 1,679 square feet, exclusve of porches and garage—a convenient figure for estimating local building cost. Front vestibule has a guest closet with sliding doors; rear vestibule offers access to kitchen and basement. The architect suggests wrought iron supports for the porch overhang for decorative touch.

All in a Day's Work

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—A rubber tapper, on his early morning round of trees here, was chased up a tree by a tiger that kept him there for four hours.

The treed trapper called for friends who came and beat on drums and cans to frighten the beast away. But the tiger reclined at the foot of the tree and kept his eyes fastened on his quarry. Police finally arrived and shot the animal. It weighed 200 pounds.

Johnson Grass Killer Found

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — The Texas agricultural experiment station here has proven that chemicals can effectively kill that scourge of the farm—Johnson grass.

But three experiment station A. & M. experts admit that chemical eradication of the grass is too expensive at this stage of development to allow its use on entire fields.

But the chemicals do have important uses in places where you can't easily or effeciently reach the grass with plows or other mechanical means. And the researchers contend the chemicals are cheaper than digging out the grass with hand tools.

The grass shouldn't be allowed to grow uncontrolled, the experts point out, for plants along fences and in roadside ditches can badly infect clean fields.

The report was prepared by R. D. Hamilton, assistant agronomist of the Amarillo conservation experiment station; C. J. Whitfield, superintendent of the station, and H. F. Rea, associate professor of agronomy at Texas A. & M. college.

The experiments were conducted in roadside ditches about one mile north of Bushland in Potter county.

The researchers reported up to 100 per cent kill resulted from use of sodium trichloroacetate (TCA) and polyboro-chlorate (P-C).

Sixty to 90 per cent of the old Johnson grass plants treated with P-C in October, 1949, were dead the next June 15. Plots receiving these treatments did not become reinfected with seedlings until August, 1950.

Ninety-five to 100 per cent of the old plants were dead by Aug. 1950, on the plots treated with TCA the previous June. These plots later became reinfested.

Rainfall has considerable effect on the amount of kill and the length of time the ground remained sterile. Rainfall is needed to send the chemicals down to the plant roots, but rain also favors growing of seedlings.

Tests are continuing to determine best how to kill the seedlings.

The two chemicals used in the tests overcome objections raised against other chemicals used by farmers for some time. Sodium chlorate and Atlacide are effective Johnson grass killers but both are highly inflamable. TCA on the other hand, may cause irritation if too much falls on the skin.

"I got the story on 50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil" says W. R. Abel, Traveling Salesman, El Paso, Texas

"I travel 40,000 miles a year," says Mr. Abel. "Since I've changed to new Conoco Super I never have to add a quart between drains, and I've had no engine trouble."

"I have 80,000 miles on my Chevrolet, using Conoco Super," says Nick Motzner, Shop Foreman, Twin Falls, Idaho. "The motor has never been torn down, oil consumption is at a minimum, and gasoline mileage averaged 23 miles to the gallon."

"I've had a decided decrease in maintenance costs and gasoline consumption since changing to Conoco Super," reports Goddard Langlinais, Taxi Fleet Operator, Lafayette, La. "I only wish all my cabs had been broken in with Conoco Super."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

Texas Reports 283 Polio Cases Since January

AUSTIN—During the first five and one half months of this year 283 cases of poliomyelitis, polio for short, have been reported to the Texas State Department of Health. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued the following suggestions concerning the disease and its control.

"All the methods of transmitting the disease may not be known, however, sufficient information is at hand to demand certain precautions and these include personal hygiene and campaigns for sanitation improvements.

Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate house-flies, mosquitos, and rodents and to destroy their breeding places. Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems, and secure safe water supplies. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems are not in operation, it is necessary to install and maintain sanitary septic tanks and outdoor privies.

All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before use and protected from filth and insects. All food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the State law concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils. Those restaurants with insufficient personnel to maintain approved sanitation, should close one or two hours a day so that employees can assist in maintaining cleanliness and high sanitation standards.

Over exertion in children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is illness. Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back. When suspicious symptoms appear, a physician should be called immediately.

Two Texas League baseball clubs played through an entire season without changing the batting order. The 1922 Fort Worth Panthers was the first and the 1930 Wichita Falls team of 1930 was the second.

Schoolboy Track Star Draws Raves in Texas

(AP) Newsfeatures

ODESSA, Texas—In Joe Childress' room you'll find 26 medals, eight trophies, a gold track shoe and a gold watch chain. They're indicative of the prowess of this schoolboy in track.

Joe has been running since he was in the fifth grade in school and now, as a high school junior, he has compiled one of the most fabulous records in Texas history.

Twice he has been state champion at 100 and 220-yard dashes and the boy has another season to go before he accedes to the pleas of a college scout.

He has done 100 in 9.7 seconds and 220 in 21.4. He runs the quarter-mile under 49 seconds. He did a lap on the mile relay team in the state interscholastic meet in 48.7. His Odessa High team won the meet for the second time in a row.

Childress has lost only two races in his career. He lost a 220 when he was ill and drew the inside lane which had been badly chopped up from previous events. He lost a 100-yard dash when his starting blocks slipped. It had rained and the track was soft. Also, he had just finished running the quarter-mile.

In his first meet—in the fifth grade—he won the 100, 220 and high jump and broad jump. In junior high he did the 100 in 10.2.

Childress looks, walks and runs like Charley Parker, the great schoolboy and University of Texas sprinter of recent years. he also starts slow like Parker but has a tremendous finishing kick—also like Parker.

He's accustomed to coming from behind. One day Joe took the baton on the anchor lap of the mile relay well back of the last runner of the Midland High team. "He'll never catch up; he's too far behind," yelled a fan. "Oh, yes he will," said his coach Gail Smith.

And Joe did, as usual.

Table Tool History

NEW YORK (AP)—Jean Sulpice, who probably was a Frenchman had this to say about table manners in 1480:

"It is wrong to grab your food with both hands at once; meat should be taken with three fingers, and too much should not be put in the mouth at the same time."

The quotation comes from a pamphlet prepared by Dan S. Defenbacher, director of the Walker Art Center, for use with an exhibition showing the evolution of the knife, fork and spoon. The display is open here at the American Museum of Natural History.

Early forks are traced to the Greeks and Romans, and the three-tined fork to a 17th century Italian whose wife nagged him about using all five fingers. The knife is pre-historic, and the first spoons were sea shells and gourds, the booklet said.

Homeless Counted

NEW DELHI (AP) — Operation homeless—counting the thousands of this and every Indian city's pavement dwellers—confronts volunteer workers finishing up the first national census.

The census-taker must enumerate the vast floating population of beggars, refugees, and day laborers by torch or candlelight as they lie huddled in tattered blankets along bazaars and streets.

Irishmen Like Bachelor Life

DUBLIN (AP) — Although Ireland onec had a reputation as a land of romantic lovers, statistics show that the marriage rate is far below most European countries.

Officials are hoping that this year's census will show that marriage is staging a comeback.

The 1946 census showed that only two out of five Irishmen between 30 and 34 years old were married—the lowest proportion in the world.

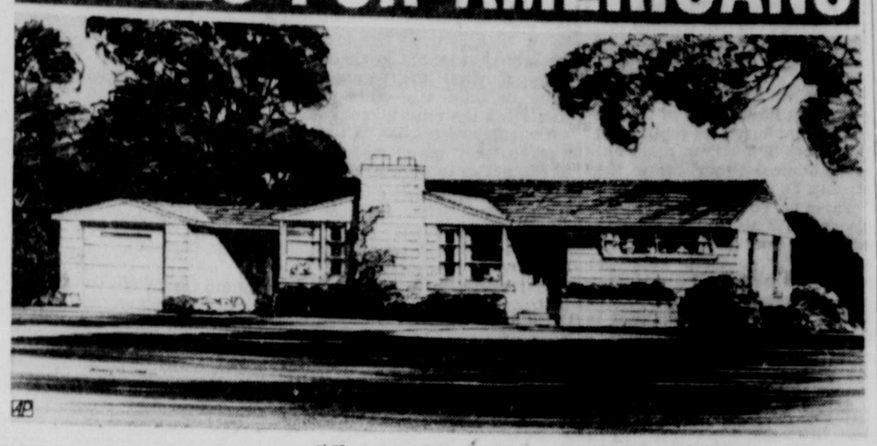

Money Behind Reds

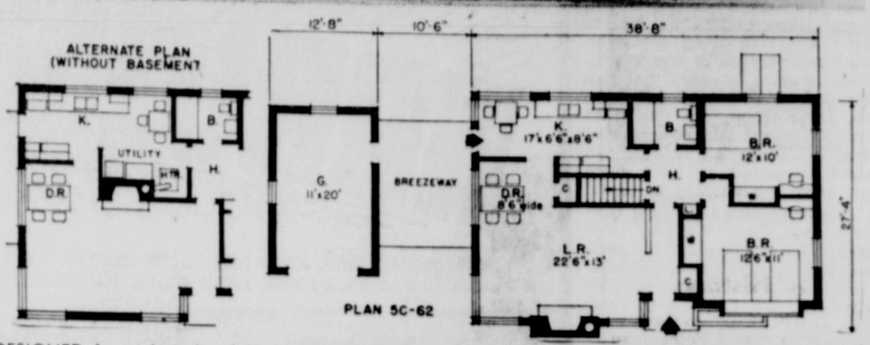

SINGAPORE (AP)—The "Straits Times" claims an organization backed by plenty of money and believed to include a number of Singapore businessmen is operating in this British colony as a supply agency for Communist terrorists in Malaya.

The newspaper said these supplies include opium, tobacco, tinned food and drugs. It added that thousands of dollars are spent by the "organization" in evading the customs patrols and in landing supplies at certain points along the west coast of Johore state. The "Times" asserted police are expected to make a large number of arrests soon in Malaya.

In parts of Africa and also in Australia and elsewhere, it is a common tribal practice to remove one or more front teeth.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

DESIGNED for eight-inch solid masonry construction with light-weight concrete blocks, this ranch style cottage can be built with or without a basement. The alternate plan shows how the living room fireplace is moved to make the chimney available for heating equipment in space that would be used for cellar stairs. The garage is lengthened a few feet to provide additional storage space when basement is eliminated. This is plan SC-62 by Elmer Gylleck, architect, 120 South Grove Ave., Elgin, Ill. The house covers 1,018 square feet without breezeway and garage, and contains 17,300 cubic feet when built with basement (12,200 cubic feet without basement). These figures are used as guides in estimating building costs locally.

A SHRINKING RESOURCE—III

Halt Gas Export, Commission Urged

AUSTIN, Texas — The Texas House of Representatives wants the Railroad Commission to oppose exporting more natural gas.

A Senate committee will hear Tuesday the House-passed anti-export resolution by Rep. R. E. Blount of Big Spring.

Olin Culberson, commission chairman, favored that policy for years but until recently got little support.

Culberson also objected to using Texas gas for refilling old gas fields in Canada, Michigan, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania. He had no way of stopping the practice, which several pipe lines now follow.

The place where a protest can be registered is the Federal Power Commission. It approves the permits for interstate lines.

Twenty-four million persons in thirty states now can buy gas from wells in the Southwest. Fifty million will be able to buy gas when all FPC-approved lines are finished. And requests for more gas are piling up.

Harrington Wimberley, an Oklahoman on the FPC, fears the Southwest is rapidly running out of gas. His concern is not so much for the producing states as for the consumer who fails to share in Texas' fuel bonanza.

Pipe line companies fight over the rich New York-New England industrial markets.

Other areas can not be expected to stand idly by and let northeastern states hog the supply of America's finest fuel, Wimberley said recently.

Yet Texas and most other producing states have not only stood idly by watching this development. States whose economic future may be ruined have encouraged the move.

There are going to be some red faces in a few years among officials in producing states when the public realizes that exploitation of gas supplies, Wimberley warned.

Louisiana alone made a futile effort to stop the export lines. It finally levied a tax on all gas lines. Arkansas now is trying to collect taxes on gas piped through the state. Oklahoma and Kansas passed price-fixing law to help the producer and royalty owner.

Texas officials generally have taken the attitude that we have plenty of cheap gas for everybody.

Until 1951, the Legislature refused to go on record against the mounting, multiplying sale of gas to interstate lines. It would not even ask the Railroad Commission to object to new permits. The Federal Power Commission does not have to accept advice from the Texas commission, but at least it would know how a Texas public body felt on the subject.

John L. Lewis' coal miners—not Texas—are the main opponents of the interstate gas lines. The United Mine Workers hold a tight grip on America's economy. They do not like to compete with cheap Texas gas.

The miners and the coal-hauling railroads likewise backed the move for FPC control over "end use" of gas.

With that authority, FPC could say how gas may be used. They could cut out the competition between gas and coal where it hurts the miners.

"End use" powers also would permit FPC to reach back into Texas and dictate the purpose for which gas may be produced. It could stifle the state's industrial boom.

Control over gas would mean control over oil too. You can't separate the two.

The Texas Railroad Commission objected vigorously to letting FPC govern gas use. It took the position that a producer should sell to whom he pleases, with no strings attached.

Now the Commission faces two pleas.

Many producers and royalty owners seek relief from gas prices which they claim are unconscionably low. Legislators are urging the Commission to do what it can to halt more sales of cut-price Texas fuel in other states.

FPC's Wimberley thinks the Southwest needs to protect itself, as well as the nation. Under FPC permits already granted, gas lines by 1954 will be taking nine trillion feet a year. That is triple the 1946 rate.

Industries vital to the nation have blossomed in the Southwest—because of gas. Wimberley is worried that they may run out of gas in a few years and endanger the whole nation."

"That time may be nearer at hand than we think," he told the Interstate Oil Compact.

Town Fights For Survival

PUSING, Malaya (AP)—The 3,000 residents of this little mining town in Perak state of Malaya are fighting to "make good.' If they dont they may suffer the same fate as the village of Jenderam in Selangor state.

The British forcibly evacuated all of Jenderam's 1,600 people in February and ordered it burned off the map of Malaya because it was a "wasp's nest" of Communist terrorism. The people were screened and the worthy ones resettled elsewhere. Pusing has ben described by a British magistrate as the "worst town in Malaya," because there's been a lot of Red terrorism, murder and sabotage in and around Pusing.

The British have delivered an ultimatum—that there must not be another single act of terrorism in Pusing, or "other arrangements" will be made. The hint was that Pusing would get the same medicine as Jenderam. The British ordered the Pusing people to organize themselves a home guard within 48 hours to protect themselves against the terrorists. All able-bodied men rushed to join up.

Loss-Proof Five-Year-Old

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tommy Powers may be only five but he knows his way around. His father took him to town recently. Tommy stopped to watch the antics of some chickens in a poultry market window. When his daddy looked around, Tommy was nowhere in sight.

Squads of police scoured the crowded streets in vain. Late that day Tommy's father started home to tell the bad news. It took him 25 minutes by trolley to reach his home on the outskirts of Pittsburgh. The distance is close to five miles. The first person to greet him was Tommy.

"Pop," the lad shouted, "what did you go off and leave me for?" I had to walk home by myself."

Belgium Establishes Free Money Market

BRUSSELS (AP)—A free money market has been set up in Belgium. All currencies can now be exchanged at the rate prevailing on the day of exchange. Previously all currencies except the dollar, French and Swiss franc and German mark were exchanged at a rate fixed by the National Bank.

This Way Out

DAYTON, O. (AP)—So, the police said to the truck driver: "Get out of here, mister." Then, they escorted him to the city limits to make sure he did. The truck was parked on a downtown street and it contained 31,000 pounds of six-inch Navy shells loaded for shooting.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

When we asked a veteran angler what he thought of the new fluorescent lures, he replied that they were better than plain ones—sometimes. Other times they weren't as good as regular ones.

This, of course, is what experienced fishermen had expected. But some of us were more gullible. There were great expectations based on the fallacious idea that the more visible a lure, the more irresistible to fish. But veterans know this isn't so. Sometimes bright gaudy ones are best; sometimes the dull inconspicious one produce fish.

It was suggested that fluorescent lures might reflect certain rays visible to fish but not to man. However, some fairly recent experiments by English biologists seem to prove that fish see the same wave lengths we do. These biologists say that fish see colors and even shades exactly as humans. This isn't so surprising since we have much the same eye strcture as theirs.

Angling editor Jay Lucas suggests we must consider this point: What normal fish foods are fluorescent to make fluorescent lures seem nautral to fish? However, we know that most fish at all times, and the most choosy at most times, don't seem to give a darn what they swallow. All a fish usually asks is that the thing be of suitable size and seem alive.

Should one use fluorescents? So far as our two chief species of game fish—bass and trout—are concerned, it seems highly unlikely that we'll ever find a lure that will be effective at all times. Both of these fish are extremely changeable in their notions of what they want, far more so than any other game fish. Even the musky, most temperamental of the lot, is unpredictable only as to when he'll strike, not as to what he'll strike.

What does all this add up to? To precisely what most of us had expected right from the start: You should by all means have some flourescent flies or plugs along, to try when the light is dull. But it would be foolish to rely on them at all times.

Stopover for Moon-Bound Rockets

STUTTGART (AP)—If they had a billion dollars, German scientists believe they could devise a "way station" to be hung in space for the use of passengers bound by rocket from the earth to the moon.

The German Society for Interplanetary Research here was told that such a project was possible, but that it would cost at least a billion dollars. The flight would be made in rockets similar to the C-type used against England in World War II.

Refreshing Summer Drinks are Easy!

By Mary Manning

Once you taste a glass of cold, fresh Fairmont Milk, I'm sure you'll say, "Here at last is milk that is really delicious and refreshing!"

Mary Manning

Fairmont Milk has a deep-down creamy goodness that pleases . . . satisfies . . . refreshes.

Make sure every member of your family drinks three or four glasses of this wonderful milk every day.

We never outgrow our need for milk. Doctors urge teenagers and adults to drink milk daily.

For a real summer cooler that is wonderfully nutritious, try this recipe for PEPPERMINT STICK MILK SHAKE. It makes six servings.

Crush ¼ pound peppermint stick candy. Add 1 cup of cold Fairmont Milk and ⅛ teaspoon salt.

Keep in refrigerator, well covered, two to three hours, stirring occasionally until candy is dissolved.

Pour into glasses and top each with several large spoonfuls of ice cream. Shave sweet chocolate over top and serve instantly. Really delicious!

Stepping into the Future...

For his trip through life, you can create for your child (or grandchild) an immediate estate which will increase in value with the passing years. Southwestern Life makes it possible with an insurance plan known as the Child's Estate Builder.

CONSIDER THESE IMPORTANT ADVANTAGES:

1. Life insurance protection multiplies. At age 25, original protection is automatically increased five times; that is, $1,000 becomes $5,000; $2,000 becomes $10,000; $5,000 becomes $25,000.

2. Extremely low cost. On a child three years old, $1,000 of original protection costs only $3.16 a month. At age 25 and throughout life, the cost remains at $3.16 a month but the value of the insurance increases to $5,000.

3. Education or emergency fund builds up. The accumulated value may be used for attendance at college or to meet any unforeseen emergency.

4. For old-age security. At retirement time, the accumulated cash value may be used to purchase a guaranteed income for life.

Your Southwestern Life representative will be glad to discuss the details of this and other plans of insurance with you.
