ANSWERLINE

Q. I read that the Railroad Commission of Texas is promoting propane as a fuel. Isn't that a direct benefit to a private industry by a state agency?

A. No tax money is being used to promote the fuel. The promotion is being paid for by a 1/2 cent per gallon fee levied on first sales of propane. The Commission said they expect to add other fuels in the future and the main reason propane is first to be promoted is because of trying to clean up the air.

Vol. 88 No. 14 Pub. No. 122800

A LARGE CROWD ATTENDS TEC MEETING: Approximately 160 people attended a program put on by the Texas Employment Commission Monday night in Colorado City. Representatives explained hiring procedures during the construction of the prison and career opportunities with the TDCJ. Representatives of the prison system will be here on March 16 to further explain hiring procedures with the TDCJ.

Large crowd attends meet

Approximately 160 people attended a special meeting hosted by the Texas Employment Agency for those interested in working either on the construction phase of the 1,000-bed prison facility to be built here or beginning a career with the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Seven persons from the TEC office in Sweetwater were on hand to answer questions and aid prospective employees in their search for jobs.

Kelley Jones, area manager of the TEC, said "the turnout was just great. We really did not know how many to expect - we were prepared for a full house and that is what we got."

She said her staff registered approximately 60 or 70 new applicants and several who were already registered with the TEC had their applications upgraded.

"We think this meeting will benefit everyone and make the hiring during the construction phase of the prison go smoother for everyone-the prospective employees and the contractors and the sub-contractors that will be doing the hiring," said Jones.

She added that on many projects of this size, the TEC would put up a trailer on the site but she added that "since the site is so close to town, we feel that, and the Chamber of Commerce has graciously agreed to help, a building in town would be the best thing to have to help those looking for work."

Bids on prison are expected to be let in March and TDCJ officials said last week that trailers would be on site and ready to work on April 1.

City, School elections set for May 1 in County

Three positions on the City Council are up for election this May 1 according to city secretary, Glenna Garrett.

The place one council seat currently held by Sammy Contreras, place two position filled by Rex Thackerson and the place five post held by Bob Reilly all will be on the ballot.

Also, the mayor's post currently held by Jim Baum will also be on the ballot.

Nine positions are going to be up for grabs on local school boards as three positions each are to be filled - three each from Colorado City, Westbrook and Loraine.

CISD board positions currently held by Jesse Munoz, Larry Blasingame and Billy Bridgford are up for election.

In Westbrook, the positions of Clyde Gregory, Walter Smith, Jr., and Elton Carlisle expire.

Loraine trustees whose terms expire include Mike Gage, Mary Helen Gomez and Linton Ray Webb.

Filing for these posts started Monday, February 15 and will run through March 17. Early voting for the May 1 election will be from April 12-17.

Also, voters will have the opportunity to decide whether the Texas Constitution should require wealthy school districts to share part of their property tax money with poorer districts.

The Texas Senate voted Monday to accept the House's "share-the-wealth" constitutional amendment.

TDCJ officials here March 16

Officials from the Texas Department of Criminal Justice will be in Colorado City on Tuesday, March 16, to provide information on employment opportunities with the new 1,000-bed Medium Security Unit in Colorado City. The unit is scheduled for completion in June, 1994. The presentation will be at 7:00 p.m. in the Colorado City High School Auditorium and the public is invited.

Information presented will include the types of jobs available, qualifications, and how and when to apply. According to prison officials, the unit will be staffed with about 325 employees. Most will be correctional officers, but there will be a wide range of non-correctional officer jobs available.

While it is too early to submit an application for non-correctional officer jobs at the Colorado City Unit, anyone wishing to apply for a correctional officer position can apply now if they are willing to be assigned to some existing unit to gain experience before transferring back to Colorado City when the unit opens.

For more information on the presentation on March 16, call the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce at 728-3403.

Donations now being accepted for repairs

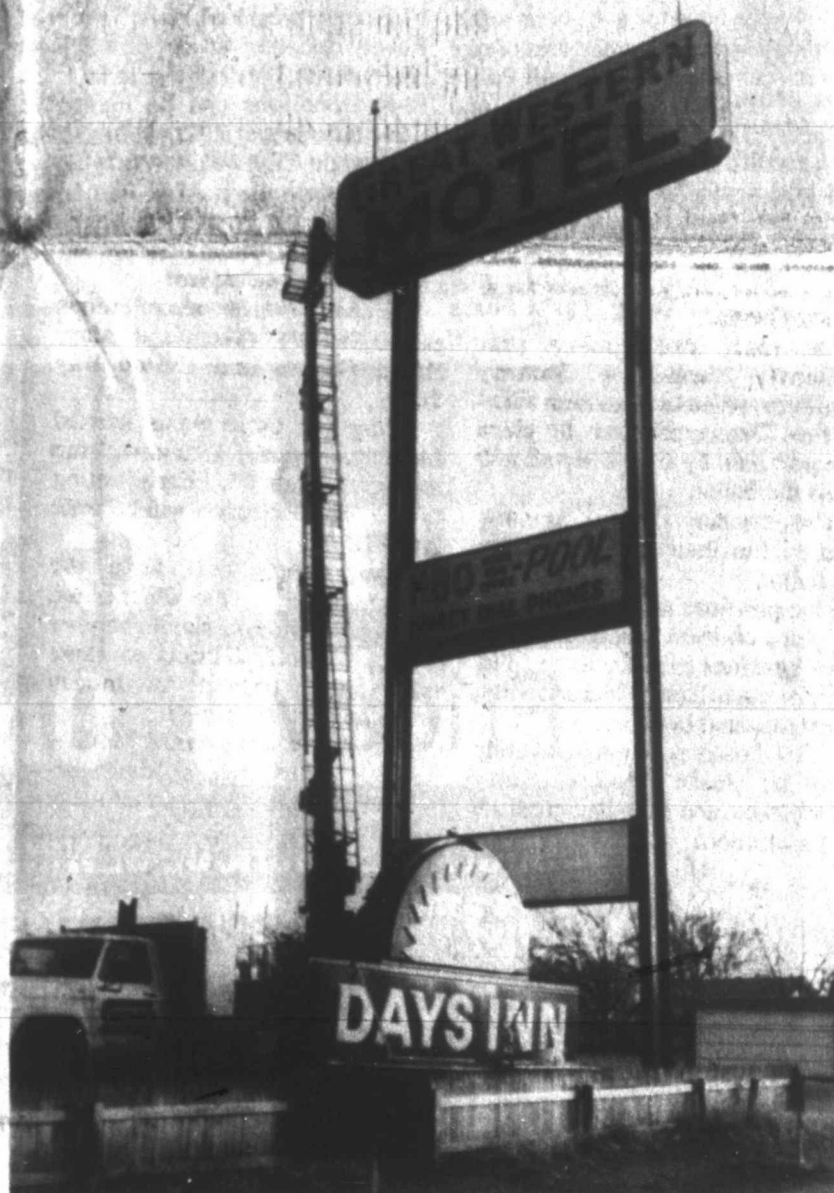

The Christmas in April program is now accepting cash donations for the one day blitz to repair homes in Colorado City, Westbrook and Loraine. Donations from 25 cents to $1,000.00 have been received. All donations have been greatly appreciated, however, more are needed to reach our goal of repairing the homes that have been selected. Mitchell County has a number of houses that need repairs to keep their occupants warm, dry and safe.

The repairs being planned are basic, no frills repairs. We are striving to do all we can, but much more financial assistance is needed.

The Christmas in April program can typically quadruple every dollar donated by using skilled and unskilled volunteer labor and securing donated materials and supplies, according to the sponsoring agency simply put, by good people coming together to help a neighbor, Christmas in April provides a cost-effective, vital service that not only repairs houses

TRY AND TRY AGAIN: Representatives of a San Angelo sign company have been trying for over a week to put up a new "Days Inn" sign at the former Great Western Motel on Hwy. 208. Strong winds and rainy and cold weather has hampered their attempts. The area got up to a half-inch of rain on Monday but forecasts call for warmer weather this weekend.

Commissary set for jail

Sheriff Patrick Toombs and chief deputy Mike Holloway met with the Commissioners' Court Tuesday morning and agreed to set up a commissary for inmates in the County Jail.

The Sheriff told the court setting up a commissary would do two things for the jail - (1) reduce the amount of contraband that is trying to be smuggled into the jail and (2) free a jailer for other duties who now spends time compiling lists and buying the items requested.

Holloway said a one-time cost to the County of $1200 would make the commissary self-sufficient and self-promoting as proceeds would go to purchase inmate's clothing, towels, mattresses, sheets, etc.

"A lot of things the county now buys - the inmates will now pay for through the commissary," said Holloway.

Commissioner Buddy Hertenberger said he felt the commissary had been needed for a long time.

Items stocked to be available for inmates include candy, chips, soft drinks, tobacco products, soap, stationery, stamps and other hygiene items.

In a hand-out provided the court, state law provides that the sheriff has exclusive control of the commissary funds and shall maintain accounts showing the amount of proceeds from the commissary operation and the amount and purpose of disbursements made from the proceeds.

Toombs said a separate checking account will be set up for payment of items and money brought to the inmates will be deposited and they will just draw on the money they have in the form of commissary items.

Holloway said as soon as tax See COMMISSARY, page 2

School seeks people to share knowledge with CISD students

A data bank is now being established of all people in Mitchell County to share their personal knowledge with the students in the Colorado Independent School District in order to enhance the curriculum.

Kitten Arthur, curriculum facilitator, said the Partnership Team consists of community, business and school leaders and was established to facilitate a greater collaboration between our schools and community.

Arthur said what the Partnership Team is looking for could be summed up in one word everything!

"We need to know who has traveled around our state, nation and the world - who has special hobbies (bird watching, flower arranging, weaving, gardening, sports, reading, outdoor activities, cooking) and who has a special seminar they feel would enhance our student's total education," said Arthur. "We would like to hear from those who grew up in Mitchell County or who has a field trip site you would like for us to visit. We want people who will speak on cultural practices so that our students will learn to appreciate and celebrate our rich, diverse heritage."

An application form is found on page two of this edition of the Record or call Arthur's office at 728-5581. All names and information will be put into a data bank so that the teachers will have ready access to people with personal expertise. You are asked to respond as soon as possible.

"We need you to partner with us for student excellence and equity in education," said Arthur.

that supporters hope will end the long-running court battle over the way public schools are funded.

When speaking at the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce Banquet in January, Speaker of the Texas House Pete Laney told the audience here that "we will not let the schools close."

An Austin District Judge had threatened to cut off all state aid to school districts if lawmakers failed to get this before the voters. This in turn has caused all school districts in the state to reassess all their spending for the remainder of this school year and to have plans in place in case state funds were to be cut off.

If state voters give their approval, the amendment will allow the redistribution of local school property taxes and authorize County Education Districts. The amendment would also allow the Legislature to set the tax rates for CEDs and school districts or school districts could set their own tax rate.

Another proposal that will be on the ballot would prohibit the state from mandating programs to local schools without providing the funding for these programs.

COLORADO CONVERSATIONS

BY BARBIE LELEK

Well guys, did ya do good? On your Valentines of course! How many of you had to take advantage of Colorado Floral being open on Sunday to get out of a tight situation? ***

I heard there was some discussion as to whether a person would give 2 cards or 1 if you were married on Valentines Day. Do you give an anniversary card and a Valentines card or only an anniversary card? Women, does this sound like a hard question to you? NOOOOOOO! You would of course give two cards AND two gifts as well!!!

Calvary Baptist Church held their Valentine banquet last Saturday evening. They had a good attendance of approximately 50 people. The family center was decorated with hearts, cupid and candles. Around the walls were the wedding pictures of many Calvary members. Many of them were hard to recognize, like Steve and Becky Manning. If Becky hadn't been in the dress, it might have been hard to tell who was who. His hair was almost as long as hers!! Mildred Free and her husband were another couple that were hard for me to recognize. She was a beautiful young woman as well. The winner of this game was Georgie Griffith. She won a wonderful "cruise". Her prize entitled her and Orville to ride in Tom Kelly's 57 Chevy around the drag, making a stop at the local DQ for a sundae!! Everyone also had fun playing the Newlywed game. Couple #1 was Mike and Sue McKinney, Couple #2 was Don and Leada Wood, and couple #3 was Tom and Elaine Kelly. Don and Leada proved they knew more about each other than the rest by snatching first place! This young "newlywed" couple won a fabulous entertainment center (a deck of cards and a puzzle!) THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT! The other two couples tied. Sue and Mike won the Washer and Dryer (dish cloth and dish towel!) Tom and Elaine Kelly won the Spa (bubble bath and a rubber ducky!). The crowd also played a Famous Couples game. Sue McKinney guessed the most correctly winning her a recliner (pillow)! Sue said she already had one-Mike! Two additional prizes were also awarded to the couple married the shortest length of time and the longest length of time. Chris and Tina McKinney, 8 months, won Exercise equipment (a jump rope)! Married 42 years was Winnie and Ed Roach. They won the refrigerator with ice maker (an ice chest and ice tray)! The entertainment of the evening was provided by James Whitmire of Odessa. Mr. Whitmire is employed as a DJ, he is also Donna Clarks brother! Dinner was catered by the Shack of Snyder. Everyone had a great time!

First Baptist Church also hosted a Valentine banquet. It was held last Wednesday evening. Their entertainment came from the First Baptist Church of Sweetwater. If anyone from the FBC would ever answer their phone, you would have MORE info. I'm sure it was fun and beautiful!

The Christian Temple couples traveled to Snyder to feast on the food from the Shack. They also played the Newlywed game and did the famous couples game! If that sounds familiar, you might guess that my mother gathered the games for Calvary and I just copied!! We also gave away several wonderful door prizes such as food, fun and frills (a stay in a motel). I had to keep with the F theme!

THANK YOU, THANK YOU, to anyone who purchased a cake from the Christian Temple youth last Saturday morning. They baked and iced these creations themselves to earn money to go to camp this summer. They raised over $180.00.

A reception was held for Don and Terri Jones on Valentines Day at the Thompson room. The employees and Directors of the City National Bank wanted to welcome him and his family to our community. He is the new President of CNB. They have two sons, Jonathan and Joel. There was a good turn out in spite of the yucky weather. Everyone enjoyed lots of delicious appetizers and punch. I even learned a couple of new aggie jokes! Ask Gay Houston and Jan Lemons to tell them to ya. I also learned that my column is being read as far away as Houston. HI SAM! Sam Houston, Gay and Corky's son is an attorney there.

COOK'S CORNER

Patti Savage

In Cook's Corner this week we feature Patti Savage. Patti is a wonderful person and a very special friend. She was born in Pasadena, Texas. Because her father was in the construction business, her family moved a lot, therefore she was actually raised in several states and went to many different schools. She attended college at Sam Houston State University receiving a Bachelor degree in Radio-TV Film.

She met her husband while in college. They were both working for the campus radio station, doing a morning spot entitled the Pat and Patti show. She said they fell in love across the glass! Upon the completion of their first date, Pat told his friends that Patti was the girl he was going to marry! Their anniversary is August 19, 1979. Not long after they were married, Patti was asked to come to Palestine to write the curriculum for and teach a television class. She taught for three years before quitting to begin a family and stay home with them a while. She later worked as a Social worker for the Texas Department of Corrections, the hours were good because she could work while her kids were sleeping and be home during the day. She and her husband were also working as part time youth Pastors. After a year and a half, the family moved to Tulsa where Pat attended the Oral Roberts University to receive his Masters of Divinity degree. Patti was also taking some courses in counseling while working as an Administrative Assistant to the Principal at a Private School. She also taught a Television course at the school. She gave up these jobs when the church they were attending, Victory Christian Center, asked them to become their Youth Pastors. In time the Lord called Pat to become a full time senior Pastor. While they were waiting for a church, the family moved to Richardson, where Pat became the Assistant General Manager for the Hawthorne Suites Hotel in that area. Patti worked with him there. One year later Christian Temple called Pat to be their pastor. They have lived here for 6 months. Patti stays busy these days teaching at Mothers Day Out and substituting at school. Pat also keeps her busy.

They have three terrific kids. Tiffany is 12, she enjoys basketball and reading. Kelly is 9, she is into singing and drama. David is 7, he likes to invent things.

Patti enjoys doing crafts. She likes to read and adores poems. She also likes creative writing, she has started writing a children's book which she would like to finish someday soon.

She is very active in anything of which her children are involved. She works with Stephanie Spear, her son's teacher, doing whatever needs to be done. She and Pat coach an Optimist basketball team. Working with the church youth and Women's bible study are also on her agenda for a normal week.

She says she loves to cook, "it's fun"! She learned to cook mostly "by doing". She has been cooking since she was nine years old. Her two older sisters would ask Patti to cook the toast in the mornings. They would rave about how inventive she was because she would carve their initials with the butter on the toast. It wasn't until years later that Patti realized her sisters just wanted her to do the work so they could watch cartoons, not because she was a wonderful cook! Today she doesn't call it cooking if it isn't done from scratch.

Patti remembered a cooking goof from early in her marriage. She was going to prepare blueberry muffins, from scratch, of course, for her in-laws. When she went to the store she found some "blue" berries but they had stems, she didn't recall them having stems the last time but oh well. As she was cooking them, she noticed that some of the skins came off and they were green inside. After the muffins were finished, she warned everyone that the skins came off and they were green but they were okay. Her mother-in-law took a bite which resulted in her spitting out a bunch of seeds. It turns out Patti had made Muscatine Muffins instead!

Patti's helpful hints: When using a boxed cake mix, use the same amount of milk instead of water. Tastes like scratch! When peeling a boiled egg, crack it on both ends, insert a spoon and lift. The shell will come off almost completely whole!

TxDot message is "Love with restraint"

Parents, love your children with restraint. That is the message the Texas Department of Transportation is spreading during National Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week.

Each year, more children die in car accidents than from any other cause. "More than 70 percent of these deaths could be prevented if children were properly secured in safety seats," said Arnold Oliver, executive director of the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT). "Parents need to buckle up their child in every time they travel."

This week, Feb. 8-14, TxDOT is reminding parents that Texas law requires children younger than 2 be restrained in a federally approved child safety seat. Children ages 2 to 4 must be secured by a child safety seat or a safety belt.

Last summer, researchers at the Texas Transportation Institute of Texas A&M University found only about half of the children they observed riding in cars were properly restrained. In 1991, 57 children age 4 or younger were killed in car accidents in Texas.

Nationwide last year, as many as 49,000 injuries and 455 deaths could have been prevented if every child younger than 5 had been fastened into a child safety seat, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) estimated.

TxDOT cautions that safety seats must be used correctly to be effective. "It is important for parents to read the safety-seat manufacturer's instructions, as well as the car manufacturer's instructions, to guarantee the proper installation and use of the seat," Oliver said.

"It is equally important for parents and caregivers to determine if a safety seat has been recalled. This is especially important for parents using a second-hand seat."

Parents should know which type of seat (infant, toddler/convertible or booster seat) is appropriate for each stage in a child's development, Oliver advised. They should be aware of current information about transporting low-weight and premature infants, and know how a child safety seat should be used in vehicles equipped with automatic safety belts or a passenger-side air bag.

The SafeRiders Program of the Texas Department of Health assists parents who cannot afford a child safety seat. It provides any parent with recall information and tips for proper use of the seats. The phone number is 1-800-252-8255.

NHTSA's Auto Safety Hotline (1-800-424-9393) also has information about child safety seats.

"Love your kids," Oliver said. "Buckle 'em up."

DOWNTOWN COLORADO CITY

LORAINE PERSONALS

...BY LOIS PHILLIPS

Looks like old man whiter kinda snuck back into our county over the week-end. Guess we need some real cold weather to help kill out the many kinds of pesky little insects that will destroy our crops and cost a bunch to try to kill out every year.

First thing I must tell Herman and Penny Mitchell I am sorry I left them out as grandparents to Tricia's new baby girl. Also to Penny's parents I say I am sorry. I must have been half asleep to leave out very important parents and grandparents out of any story.

I hear that Agnes Haney was really having a good time at the Sweetheart Banquet Sunday night at our church, but no wonder, she had her daughter and son-in-law with her and also her new grandchild. I know she was happy with her company.

Louise McMullen came home from a Lubbock hospital last week-end and is doing well I believe. We are happy that you are going to be fine.

I need to say "thanks" to people like Atwood and Billie; Raymond and Betty along with many other people who still see most of our ball games that are played on the hill at home even though their kids have been out of school for a long time. We really are proud of people who like to keep up with the kids and lend a hand along the way.

Thanks Doris for the Monday night cake it was delicious. I know there wasn't a crumb left and thanks again. It was real nice of you.

Jocelyn Lucas was in town over the week-end visiting his parents Top and Modess Lucas, brother and family Rick, Gloria, Heather and Ryan.

Iva Armstrong called to tell me to say thanks from her and Gus for the balloons given to them Sunday night. They had been used as decorations for the dining rooms at the banquet. She says they were very pretty and they appreciated them. I believe she said Cindy, Pam, Dawn and Debbie called on them. Iva has been sick a good while.

We will detail our banquet next week if we don't forget it.

Mr. and Mrs. Gage have moved to Snyder and the Roger Grahams have purchased the Gage house and are now living on the hill. I know you guys will like it up there. It is really a pretty place.

On February 10, our girls and boys went to Hermleigh to compete with them in basketball. Our boys won by a score of 70 to 53. Bulldogs scoring were Alvarez 12, Phillips 16, Lopez 10, Finley 1, Crawford 9, Mitchell 8, Arlinz 6, Moore 2, Woodell 5 and Henderson 2.

The girls also won, the score being Loraine 63, Hermleigh 55. Loraine girls scoring were Kahla Lamb 17, Kamie Lamb 16, Butler 5, Webb 8, N. Atkins 13, L. Atkins 2.

On February 13 Blackwell came to town and both boys and girls played. Our girls lost by a score of 79 to 35. Loraine scorers were Kahla Lamb 17, K. Butler 12, Cheryl Webb 8, N. Atkins and L. Atkins 5, K. Lamb 16.

Our win gave our boys sole possession of first place in District 27-A. As of now it looks like we will have a very good chance for district winners again next year. We have only three seniors on our main string but the others look very good when they are playing. I sure hope you guys are repeaters next year and hope the girls will come out well also.

The three seniors are Fabian Alvarez, David Mitchell and Chris Phillips. All are starters and have helped win our two district titles. While they were in high school and we are proud of them and when you look at the next years bunch, they look great also. Maybe both girls and boys can be winners next year. Sure hope so.

We must play in the district tournament and then on to baseball for several good games we hope. We won our district last year and hope to repeat.

March 27, 1993 is the date that has been set for the Firemen's Farm Sale. Don't forget about it and if you have items for sale call any fireman and he will discuss this with you. It will be about the same as usual with a concession stand, for cokes, sandwiches, pie and coffee, etc. Pies and cakes are being donated by the senior citizen ladies. Isn't that nice of them. We really do appreciate this, ladies.

I will remind you that Christmas in April is just around the corner so if you haven't donated your time to help or donate whatever you could let's all try to do a little bit for someone who needs our help.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

BY JIM BAUM

Early on the morning of August 19, 1883, just east of Colorado, Texas, two men faced each other ten feet apart and emptied their six-shooters at each other.

Mortally wounded was Sam Seals. Charged with his murder was Wade Hudson, who worked on the Clay Mann Ranch. Both men were black.

The shooting occurred at Phenix Park, an amusement center just east of present day Colorado City. Phenix Park had a dance stand, a beer stand and a prairie dog town. On the night of August 18, 1883, Colorado's negroes were having a dance.

About forty-five persons were there that night. Some had ridden their horses; others had taken the streetcar, which was pulled by a mule. That modern means of transportation had been introduced by the town's first mayor, Frank Lester, who obtained a franchise in 1882. It was a bright, moonlit night and there would be five witnesses to the Seals-Hudson shoot-out.

Apparently bad feelings between the two black men has formed in Pike's Saloon, which was located some sixty feet from the gate to Phenix Park. The feud had started earlier in the evening when saloon owner L.B. Pike heard the two arguing outside his building. He asked the men to quiet down and took Hudson by the arm and led him away from Seals.

The next time the two men came back into the saloon, they brought several more blacks with them. Once again a quarrel broke out among the antagonists and Pike ordered them all out of his business.

Hudson jumped on his horse and went over to Phenix Park. The other men drifted off in a group. Eventually it was learned that the bad blood between Hudson and Seals went back a week or so before the latest confrontation. A mutual friend, Horace Johnson, said Seals told him, "If Wade Hudson ever crosses me, I'm gonna kill him."

Johnson had repeated the threat by Seals to Hudson. The hostility between the two continued the night of the killing after the men left Pike's Saloon. At the beer stand in Phenix Park, another witness, Willie Lewis, said he heard Hudson and Seals talking. Although their conversation "did not amount to much," Lewis said Hudson told the other men, "I am enough for any of you sons of b-----s."

Another man at the beer stand was Ben Wilkinson. He said he, Seals, Peyton Overstreet, Willie Lewis and John Ragsdale were all drinking beer when Hudson rode up on his horse.

"You damned sons of b-----s are trying to run me over and I am prepared for any of you," Wilkinson quoted Hudson as saying.

Wilkinson replied, "Do you mean that for me?" Hudson said no. Wilkinson and his friends then left for Pike's. Just inside the door, Seals picked up a sledge hammer and confronted Hudson as he entered the saloon.

"What are you going to do with that hammer?" Hudson asked.

"I am going to fight with it," Seals shot back.

"Who are you going to fight?"

"Do you want to fight?" Seals demanded.

"No," Hudson answered. Overstreet then urged Seals to settle down. Come on Sam, he said he didn't want to fight.

Seals and Overstreet left the saloon and returned to the dance. Now it was Hudson who was aching for a fight. He followed the men back to Phenix Park. J.E. Edwards arrived about one o'clock (on the morning of the 19th) and heard Hudson ask Seals if he had a pistol.

When Seals said no, Hudson warned him to get a weapon because he was going to kill him anyhow.

Then Seals stepped up to Edwards and told him, "that damned negro won't let me go home, but says I have got to fight him. Loan me a pistol."

Edwards explained he didn't have a gun. Meanwhile, Overstreet has made tracks back to the saloon where he offered Pike $15 for his pistol.

"I wouldn't sell it to you for $1500," Pike said he told Overstreet. As Edwards started toward the dancing area, Hudson caught up with him and pointed out a horse close to the park gate.

"I am going to kill a negro here tonight and that horse will take me out of the country," Hudson told him. Hudson was half right. In just a matter of minutes his adversary would lie dying on the ground, but the killer wouldn't get far.

Edwards recalled Hudson got on his horse and hadn't ridden more than ten steps when Sam Seals came riding down the road on horseback.

Hudson jerked out his pistol, waved it over his head and spurred his horse to a gallop to meet Seals. Both men were anxious to fight.

"Are you ready?" Hudson asked Seals.

"Yes by God I am," Seals yelled back. "Turn yourself loose."

The two men sat astride their horses glaring at each other ready for the showdown.

Seals friend, Peyton Overstreet, also was on the horse as the two men rode double. He recalled Seals saying, "If you want to fight me, get away from that horse. I will fight you anyway, but if you stand behind that horse, you're a coward."

But now Hudson wasn't sure if Seals was ready to fight, or pulling a bluff. He shouted at Seals, "I'm going to make you fight or crawl like a dog."

With that, Seals dismounted and stepped to one side of his horse and said, "turn yourself loose." The move would prove fatal.

The two men were now within twenty feet of each other, and there was no turning back. Slowly Hudson climbed down off his horse, but unlike Seals, he kept his own horse between the two. Then, looking over his saddle, Hudson whipped out his pistol and fired the first shot, still holding his horse by the bridle.

Seals wasted no time in returning the fire and both men blazed away. Their horses were jumping and lurching while bystanders ran for cover.

When the gunfire erupted, Edwards recalled he hit the ground to keep from being shot. In fact, Seals had yelled out a warning to everyone, saying "Look out boys, you'll get shot."

Henry Alexander also dropped to the ground, later saying he was "very much excited."

When the fusillade had ended and the smoke cleared, Dan Seals lay mortally wounded. Hudson raced off on his horse. The victim had been shot in the right wrist and in the right side. He never uttered another word and died about thirty minutes after being shot.

Meanwhile, Hudson sped away on horseback. He later would claim he was going to turn himself in to Sheriff Dick Ware because he wanted

Development Plan sponsored by BPW

Individual Development Plan, a course sponsored by BPW-USA, will be offered in Colorado City for the next eight weeks.

The ID Plan is designed to help participants learn more about themselves, increase self-confidence, nurture leadership skills and practice effective communication. The group will organize Tuesday, February 16, 1992, at 7 p.m. in the Directors Room of the Chamber of Commerce.

Anyone who would like to learn more about communication, parliamentary procedure, planning programs, and improving one's own self image is invited to attend. Course materials will be provided to cover personal analysis, goal-setting, round table discussion, interviewing, preparing resumes, and evaluation.

A fee of $10.00 will be charged, but may be waived if requested is received prior to start of the course.

If you want more information about Individual Development, contact coordinator Shirley DeLaney or attend the meeting February 16.

protection by authorities.

But, it was the saloon owner, L.B. Pike, who had the distinction of making the arrest. Pike had heard gunfire and upon going to the door of his saloon, saw the exchange of shots across the way. Armed with his own pistol, Pike went to the gate of the park.

Shortly, a rider on horseback came barreling toward the gate.

"Just as soon as he got near enough, I threw my pistol down upon him and requested him to throw up his hands and surrender," Pike recalled. The gunman dismounted and became the prisoner of Pike until lawmen arrived.

The following October Wade Hudson went on trial in Mitchell County. The jury rejected his claim of self defense. In returning a guilty verdict, Hudson was sentenced to serve ten years in the state prison.

One question remains. Remember Seals didn't have a pistol? Obviously he got one and during testimony at the trial, another early day Colorado saloon owner, Archie Johnson, testified it was he who had loaned the weapon to Seals.

Johnson recalled Seals had stated "Now I will kill that damned negro," after he loaned him a pistol.

Instead, twenty minutes later, it was Seals who was shot dead.

Black cowboys played an important role in the formative years of the wild west. Some blacks, and some whites, were not solid citizens, but they all helped form what many consider the most romantic and colorful era in our nation's history.
