COMMITTEE DECLARES MRS. FERGUSON NOMINEE

Maine Joins Democratic Trend In Governor's Election

Close Race Doubtful In Early News

Democrats Threaten To Upset Traditional G. O. P. Majority

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 13. (Tuesday)—(US)—Early this morning indications were that the Democrats had a better than fighting chance of electing two out of three congressmen and a governor, in what promises to be the greatest upset in the history of this rock-ribbed Republican state.

John L. Utterback of Bangor, Democrat, leads former Republican Gov. Ralph O. Brewster by a slight margin in the congressional race of the first district, and Carl Moran, Democrat of Rockland, is out ahead of Congressman John E. Nelson by a few hundred with three-fourths of the second district returns at hand.

Cities Uncounted

In the third congressional district Judge Joseph E. F. Connolly, Democrat, and Congressman Carroll L. Beedy are running very close, with Beedy getting an early lead in the small towns, but Connolly likely to gain heavily when the delayed votes in the cities are tabulated.

Louis B. Brann of Lewiston, Democratic candidate for governor defeated Burleigh Martin, Republican, by 94 votes in the latter's own city of Augusta and carried Lewiston by 3,500. Brann also carried Martin's own county, Kennebec.

While 336 of the 518 towns in the state give Martin 56,327 and Brann 52,576, this total does not include any one of the 20 cities in the state, which are apparently swinging to the Democratic candidate.

Hotly Contested

The election today was the most hotly contested by Democrats in Maine in 16 years. Not since 1916 have the Democrats been victorious, and for more than a decade, so discouraged have they been by the heavy and customary Republican majorities, that they have not even attempted to run a full state ticket.

Political leaders of both sides declared that the heavy balloting, especially in Portland and other cities, would prove to run up the heaviest vote in Maine's history, with conservative predictions of more than 250,000 voting.

Besides a governor and three congressmen, both branches of the legislature and all county officers were elected.

Sign of Trend

While the political adage, "as Maine goes, so goes the nation," is not considered by any means infallible by Democratic or Republican leaders, both sides believe that the Maine result will be an unmistakable indication of national voting tendencies.

A customary, overwhelming Republican vote would be considered as an indication of approval of President Hoover.

Ex-Judge Killed By Wife at Ada, Okla.

COLGATE, Okla., Sept. 12. (UP)—Mrs. U. G. Winn, charged with shooting to death her husband, Judge U. G. Winn, former territorial U. S. commissioner and once postmaster at Ada, was ordered held without bond late today pending a preliminary hearing on Sept. 22.

Mrs. Winn admitted the shooting—believed to be the aftermath of domestic troubles—but pleaded not guilty to them under charge, according to County Attorney Wylie Snow.

Mrs. Winn, 45, was ordered held in the Pontotoc county jail at Ada after the court had overruled her attorney's motion for a writ of habeas corpus.

Mrs. Winn, the court was told, was Judge Winn's second, fourth and fifth wife. She had married him three times and divorced him twice. He was 20 years her senior.

The prosecutor said that two years ago, Mrs. Winn had fired five shots at her husband but missed.

COUNTY TO SET NEW TAX RATE AFTER HEARING

4 Chambers of Commerce Present Suggestions For Reductions

SALARY SLASH ASKED

Plans Range From Cutting Out Offices to Ending Tax Delinquencies

Members of the commissioners court will meet at 9 a. m. Tuesday for the purpose of setting the county tax rate for 1933, and to consider budget recommendations made at a public hearing in the 89th district courtroom Monday afternoon by representatives of the chambers of commerce in Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park.

With tax committees of the two local chambers of commerce, representatives of other similar organizations in the county, and a considerable number of other citizens present, the hearing quickly resolved itself in an open forum on economy in county government.

Pay Limit Proposed

Limitation of elected county officers to annual incomes of not more than $4,000; material cuts in the salaries of lesser employes; elimination of several positions now maintained by the county; and the strictest application of economy by the commissioners court wherever possible were recommended in the report submitted.

Recommendations made Monday were the result of study and investigation which began immediately after County Judge John P. Marrs filed his tentative 1933 county budget with the county clerk on Aug. 15 in compliance with a new budget law. Members of the committee representing the local chambers of commerce assured the court that all recommendations were made with the desire to cooperate rather than to criticize. In expressing appreciation of the attitude taken by the committee and by the citizenship generally, Judge Marrs said:

"This is the first time in my recollection that a body of voters has come before this body to urge economy rather than to ask this court to spend more money for something or other."

Relief Needed

Emphasis was placed in Monday's discussion upon the need of relief for the general fund, from which all general expenditures for county government must be made. To balance that fund, drastic economies were recommended, and the slashing of levies for other funds in order to divert revenue to the general fund.

One of the most important recommendations made calls for the dropping of a levy of 10 cents on all funds for the coming year. Because of decreasing interest payments on these bond issues, it was pointed out, a surplus has been accumulated in several of them which would allow the stipulated schedule of bond and interest payments to continue for at least one year, and probably more, without the assessment of taxes for that purpose in 1933. Adoption of that recommendation would mean the slicing of 10 cents from the 75-cent tax rate tentatively adopted by the court for 1933.

Urge Collections

Emphasis upon the collection of delinquent taxes also was strongly recommended, and urgent recommendation was given for the enrollment of personal property allegedly omitted at the present time from the county tax rolls. Insistent pleas were made to the commissioners that instead of reducing the sal-

Officer Charged With Contempt of Court

CORSICANA, Texas, Sept. 12. (AP)—Ross Dickey, state highway patrolman, posted $1,000 bond today to appear before District Judge H. F. Kirby of Groesbeck in district court here Sept. 16 to answer a charge of contempt of court.

Dickey was cited for allegedly disregarding an injunction granted by Judge Kirby restraining officers from interfering with Navarro county truck operators hauling loads greater than 7,000 pounds over the state highways. The injunction was to hold until constitutionality of the load limit law could be determined.

Identifying Bodies After Old New York Ship Explodes

With 43 dead and a score still missing, following the explosion which sank the ferryboat Observation with 150 workmen on board, New York City and federal authorities today are investigating the cause of the disaster. Upper photo shows police checking identification of victims after the bodies had been taken from the East river. Bodies of the dead were taken to Bronx piers as they were recovered by police boats dragging the river. Lower picture shows the Observation as it looked in the days when it served as a sightseeing boat that carried many visitors to New York around Manhattan island.

Boos For Hurley And Cheers For Curley Show Legion's Sentiment

Secretary of War Soft-Pedals Politics and Is Given Applause After Greeting War Veterans

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12. (US)—Boos for Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war and recognized defender of the Hoover administration, and cheers for Mayor James J. Curley of Boston, defender of the bonus army, rocked the opening session of the American Legion national convention to its foundations here today.

Despite warnings of National Commander Henry L. Stevens to the packed auditorium that "the first man who hisses or otherwise hackles any speaker" would be ejected from the convention, a wave of intermingled boos and applause greeted the secretary of war as he was introduced.

Censure Implied

The delegates had just listened to a fiery speech from Mayor Curley, in which he implied censure of President Hoover and deplored the fact that world war veterans had been "shot down like dogs in the streets of our capital."

Prior to Secretary Hurley's appearance on the stage, administration leaders had waged a 24-hour battle to get Hurley seated as a delegate from Oklahoma.

They succeeded only after Hurley agreed to vote for immediate cash payment of the bonus and repeal of the 18th amendment. The Oklahomans are voting on these issues as a unit.

Only half the audience arose as the cabinet member strode from the wings, where he had waited for two hours, to be introduced by Commander Stevens.

Vets Listen Quietly

A tense feeling gripped the audience as it listened quietly to his opening words concerning the subject of national defense.

After speaking briefly for proper maintenance of the national guard, R. O. T. C. officers' training camps and an adequate army and navy, he touched a sore spot by appealing to the delegates to refrain from having political issues enter the organization. A storm of boos greeted his utterance.

Apparently sensing the tenor of

GEN. GLASSFORD DEFENDS B. E. F.

Washington Police Chief Assails Report

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (US)—Tall, soldierly Pelham D. Glassford, the retired brigadier general of the army who is Washington's police chief, today assailed Attorney General Mitchell's scathing report on the B. E. F. as containing assertions in conflict with police records and "with facts known to the police department."

Risking dismissal for his stand, Glassford, who won the plaudits and loyalty of the bonus army by friendly advice and by helping to provide food and shelter for the tatterdemalion groups of unemployed veterans, took sharp issue with the administration's picture of the bonus riots.

Meanwhile, the new attack by President Hoover and Mitchell on the B. E. F. continued to stir up a raging controversy.

The White House indicated President Hoover may carry a fight for vindication to the country if the

WATER FINANCE PARLEY HELD

Bondholders and District Officials Confer

The first of a series of conferences to solve the financial tangle of the Wichita County Water Improvement District No. 1 was held Monday afternoon at the council room of the Memorial auditorium. Eight representatives of insurance companies and bondholders were introduced to members of the two district boards and a group of interested Wichitans.

The future meetings, the first scheduled for Tuesday on call of the visiting representatives, will be private sessions of the directors of the two boards and the visiting group. The sessions are being held at the request of the bondholder's representatives to work out a financial arrangement whereby the district bonds may be retired without loss to the security owners and on a schedule that may be met by the taxpayers.

Payments Defaulted

Discussion of the situation is a result of defaulted payments of both principle and interest of the district No. 1 bonds. The meeting Monday afternoon was informal and following talks by Atty. A. H. Britain for the district and M. H. Smith of Dallas of the Brown-Crummer company of Wichita, Kan., the eight representatives retired for a conference among themselves. Result of their deliberations will be brought out in future meetings with the directors.

The original bond issue for district No. 1 was for $4,500,000 to be retired between 1924 and 1950. The issue was 6 per cent bonds with interest payable on April 1, and Oct. 1, semiannually. The issue was

Aerial Rum Runners Arrested With Alcohol

FALLBROOK, Calif., Sept. 12. (US)—Two alleged aerial rum runners, Sam Wise and Robert E. Stevenson, were arrested by federal agents today when they landed their aeroplane in an isolated pasture near here with a cargo of 175 gallons of alcohol from Mexico.

Wise and Sevenson were accused by the government men of flying liquor and alcohol from Tia Juana and Mexicali to the landing place for reshipment by truck to Los Angeles.

The plane, a six-passenger de luxe model valued at $15,000, was seized.

No Man's Land Pioneers To Hold Reunion Sept. 23

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 12. (UP)—Plans have been completed for the annual reunion of the pioneers of No Man's Land at Beaver, Sept. 23, Miss Maude O. Thomas, highway commissioner, and past president of the organization, said today.

She said Walter Ferguson, Tulsa, will be principal speaker and that about 300 persons will attend the celebration of the pioneers of Beaver, Texas and Cimarron counties. She also will speak.

AMERICANS HELD

TOKYO, (Tuesday), Sept. 13. (UP)—J. N. Pelington and Henry Kinney, Americans, and two managers of the Wagon-Lits hotel at Harbin have been kidnaped by guerilla soldiers, a dispatch to the newspaper Nichi Nichi from its Harbin correspondent said today.

ALLRED FLAYS HUMBLE ORDER IN STATEMENT

Scheme to Tear Down New Well Allowable in East Texas Charged

STORAGE REFUSED

Company Misinterpreted Injunction, Says Judge Robertson

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 12. (AP)—Charges that the Humble Oil and Refining company and the Humble Pipe Line company had issued orders in "furtherance of their scheme to undermine and tear down the order of the railroad commission of Texas which raised the per well allowable in East Texas from 43 to 50 barrels per day," were made by Atty. Gen. James V. Allred.

The statement was issued by Allred shortly after being shown a telegram received from presidents of the two companies by District Judge W. F. Robertson, who last night granted the state an injunction restraining the companies from placing into effect a proposed order whereby the company would purchase only 50 per cent of the per well allowable set by the railroad commission and would accept the other 50 per cent for storage.

The telegram was signed by W. E. Farish and R. V. Hanrahan, presidents of the two companies.

Storage Order Withdrawn

Allred stated it instructed superintendents of the companies to withdraw the offer to store oil and to run to the pipe line only 50 per cent of the allowable set by the commission. The order further instructed its superintendents to purchase only 50 per cent of the allowable from wells to which they were connected in the East Texas, North Texas and Panhandle fields, Allred said.

"It is commonly known," Allred stated, "that the Humble company has been dissatisfied with said order but, fortunately, under the laws of Texas, it is the duty of the railroad commission to set the allowable which may be produced and not the perogrative of the Humble Oil and Refining company."

Allred stated he could not conceive how such a construction as that indicated by the telegram could be placed on Judge Robertson's injunction and said the interpretation was "unreasonable and unwarranted."

Allred Takes Stand

"The Humble Pipe Line company is a public utility and if it refuses to transport and store crude when properly offered it would be violating the law," Allred stated.

"Every effort of this department will be directed toward making them comply with the law or take

Jean Harlow Returns To Movie Studio

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12. (US)—Jean Harlow, beautiful platinum blonde siren of the screen, came back to the studio today, pale, red-eyed but ready to carry on.

She returned to the set on which she was working almost up to the hour when her husband of two months, Paul Bern, sent a bullet crashing through his brain to enact one of filmdom's most sensational tragedies.

Before facing the camera Miss Harlow denied she saw Bern's "phantom wife," Dorothy Millette, in San Francisco last August, or knew of her existence until after the suicide of her husband.

Oklahoman Denies Guilt Of Proration Charge

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 12. (UP)—The first criminal court charge in Oklahoma's oil proration enforcement controversy resulted today in Otto Bradford pleading not guilty to operating a pipe line without filing a plea with the state corporation commission.

Bradford, former Oklahoma City oil field umpire, was released on $1,000 bond. The charge was filed by Col. Cicero I. Murray, military supervisor of the field. Previously, proration violation cases have been punishable only by contempt citations by the corporation commission.

Tabulation Of Votes Shows Majority Of 3,333 Over Sterling

Charles I. Francis Accepts Report But Declares His Belief Irregularities Exist; Committee Favors Recount And Legislative Remedies

LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Texas Democratic executive committee tonight found that Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson led Gov. R. S. Sterling in the run-off Democratic primary by 3,333 votes. The official figures were: Mrs. Ferguson, 476,074; Sterling, 472,741.

The committe adopted the tabulation and certified the candidates to the state convention.

C. I. Francis of Wichita Falls, a sterling partisan acquiesced in the report.

He said he believed there had been "gross irregularities" in the voting and requested that the official returns be preserved under seal.

The total from Guadalupe county was not included because there was doubt about the accuracy of the returns from that county.

Former Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin made a point of order at a night meeting of the executive committee against a resolution proposing that the legislature enact certain laws proposed as a cure for certain practices said to have been rampant in the recent primary.

Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls proposed the resolution. Wirtz opposed it as a matter belonging to the convention and said it was preposterous that the committee should attempt to pass on such a matter.

Chairman W. O. Huggins sustained the point of order.

Fight on Resolution

There was a fight on the resolution. Francis said he believed there were 25,000 illegal votes cast for Mrs. Ferguson. J. O. Guleke of Amarillo said the resolution should be adopted.

Carl Estes of Tyler spoke in support of the chairman's point of order.

Senator Wirtz said he believed talk of a contest had been put forward to help the "Republican machine."

G. E. Hamilton of Matador and W. C. Campbell of Palestine supported the proposal and argued the committee should not sustain the point of order.

James E. Ferguson, husband of the gubernatorial nomination claimant, sat on a front seat during the debate.

As the argument proceeded the audience increased. There was discussion of the supreme court's decision in the effort of Mrs. Ferguson to mandamus the committee and convention to certify the candidate with the most votes.

Vote 5 to 19

The committee overruled the chair, 5 to 19, and the resolution was adopted as follows:

"Whereas, it has been reported to the state Democratic executive committee and the individual members thereof, that, in the last Democratic primary election, there were cast thousands of illegal and fraudulent ballots; and,

"Whereas, this committee is advised that, under the law, it has no authority to inquire into these reports; and,

"Whereas, this committee realizes that upon the integrity of the ballot rests the safety and security of the commonwealth.

"Therefore, be it resolved:

"First—That it is the sense of this committee that the legislature of this state pass such laws as will make a recurrence of such practices impossible.

"Second—That it is the judgment of this committee, after due deliberation, that the honor of Texas democracy demands and requires that through a proper orderly judicial tribunal a thorough investigation of these charges be made, and a recount of ballots be taken in order to determine whether or not the tabulated returns of this committee, for the parties nominee for governor reflect the true vote of a majority of Texas Democrats entitled to cast a ballot."

200 Jobless Loot Grocery Store

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 12. (UP)—A group of unemployed stormed a store of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company here today, carrying away with them several hundred dollars of merchandise.

The crowd, estimated as well over 200, had left the courthouse where county commissioners had promised $3,000 for the relief of the needy.

Before police squads could answer a summons to aid in quelling the disturbance, the looters had fled.

ROOSEVELT OFF ON CAMPAIGN TOUR OF WEST

Nominee to Make First Major Talk at Topeka Wednesday

By ROBERT BARRY
Universal Service Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Franklin D. Roosevelt packed his presidential hopes tonight for an 8,900-mile campaign trip on which he aspires to write the 1932 version of "The Winning of the West."

He embarked on the most strenuous, the most extensive tour by a presidential nominee since that of James M. Cox, 12 years ago.

Governor Roosevelt ventures westward to meet voters who are represented to him as being in the same frame of mind as in 1920:

Hostile to the administration in Washington.

Twelve years ago, Cox tried to stem the tides of revolt against a Democratic administration, that of Woodrow Wilson. He gained little for his effort.

Against Hoover Now

Roosevelt reaches out beyond the Mississippi, beyond the Rockies, to the Pacific coast, to seek to capitalize what is described to him as an equally significant uprising against a Republican administration, that of Herbert Hoover.

The Democratic nominee for White House honors carried no illusions with him aboard his train tonight. He does not concede that his home state will go against him

GARNER EN ROUTE TO MEET ROOSEVELT

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 12. (AP)—John N. Garner, Democratic candidate for vice president, passed through San Antonio tonight en route to Kansas City, Mo., where he said he would meet Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for president, for a conference.

Garner said he would accompany Governor Roosevelt to Topeka, Kan., and from there would go to Washington.

When Garner was asked when he would open his campaign tour, he stated:

"That is probably one of the matters Governor Roosevelt and I will discuss."

Attorney Offers Defense For Kidnaper of Son

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12. (AP)—Joseph S. Lawton, attorney for Hubert J. Jenkins, said today he had been unable so far to find anything in Texas law to provide for indicting a parent for "kidnaping" his own child. A hearing by which Dallas officers seek to return Jenkins under a kidnaping indictment is to be held by Gov. Ruby Laffoon tomorrow. Kentucky law specifically provides that a parent may legally take custody of a child under 10 years of age. Jenkins brought the boy here last week, taking him from his step grandmother in Dallas, and his indictment followed.

Steel Plant Using East Texas Ore Proposed

DALLAS, Sept. 12. (UP)—A new venture to make commercial use of East Texas iron ore deposits was announced today. The Mid-Continent Iron and Steel corporation opened offices here and announced intention to establish a steel plant using Texas raw materials exclusively.

It is proposed to establish a plant near Dallas and surveys have been made of possible sites. D. R. Knapp, consulting engineer of New York, will be president of the corporation, proposed capital of which is set at $1,500,000.

Capt. S. R. Crawford, Young County Pioneer, Dies In Dallas Hospital

DALLAS, Sept. 12. (AP)—Capt. S. R. Crawford of Graham, widely known ranchman and business man died in a hospital here tonight. He had been suffering from heart disease for several months.

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, Sept. 12.—Word of the death of Capt. S. R. Crawford, one of Young county's best known and beloved citizens, was received by friends here tonight. With his passing Northwest Texas loses one of its most colorful and able leaders in business, and in political and civic enterprises. He was 85 years old.

A native of Ohio, Captain Crawford went to New Orleans in his youth and for several years was a steamboat captain on the Mississippi river. He came to Young county in 1879, according to Albert Kay and Paul Deats, pioneer residents here and fast friends of Crawford's. Entering the cattle business, his activities soon extended over several counties and were successful. He became president of the old Beckham National bank of Graham. In later years his business interests widened to include the grain business, and at his death he was president of the Graham Mill and Elevator company.

Captain Crawford served as a member of the state legislature

Gandhi Says He'll Starve Rather Than Accept New Electoral System

LONDON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi has determined to starve himself to death rather than accept the electoral representation system worked out for India by the British cabinet.

This was revealed tonight when the India office made public letters that have been exchanged by the mahatma, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary for India. Gandhi intends to take no more food after midday Sept. 20.

The particular part of the government's electoral scheme to which he objects is a provision for a modified form of separate electorate for India's "untouchables."

"I respectfully inform his majesty's government that in the event of their decision creating a separate electorate for the depressed classes, I must fast unto death," he said in one of his letters.

The mahatma apologized for any embarrassment he might cause the government, but said he would hold to his decision even if he were released from the prison where he has been kept for months.

Official sources were unable to say what steps the government was taking to prevent the mahatma from killing himself by starvation.

Forcible feeding of the aged rebel was considered, but it was admitted that if the mahatma were determined on starving it would be most difficult to prevent him.

COUNTY TO SET NEW TAX RATE

Civic Groups Present List Of Suggestions

aries of subordinates in the various departments, the general fund deficit be made up by levying taxes upon "much personal property now escaping taxation."

"I want to make a recommendation to the chambers of commerce," said Commissioner L. L. Kuntz, in furthering that suggestion. "If you will get out among our citizens and get their notes, their cash holdings, their furnishings, their jewelry, their fine libraries, on the tax rolls, you won't need to cut salaries which already are small. You get that property on the tax roll, and we'll reduce your tax rate."

C-C Suggestions

A separate resolution introduced by Gerald Coffey for the Junior chamber of commerce tax committee asked the court to pass resolutions asking the following legislative action: Abolition of one district court here; consolidation of the county court and the county court at law; consolidation of county auditor's and treasurer's offices; and a reduction in district court reporters' pay.

Iowa Park and Electra Chambers of Commerce approved the recommendations offered by the local chambers' committees on tax matters. The Burkburnett organization's resolution asked that the commissioners court be unhampered relative to fixing tax levies, but that strictest economy be practiced wherever possible, and that elected officers limit their annual incomes to a maximum of $4,000.

Other recommendations made were as follows:

Approval of the court's plan for dropping entirely the road and bridge fund precinct levy, a plan of economy in the general fund with the following specific suggestions: a 40 per cent cut in the general hospital appropriation, a $2,000 cut in the fund for maintaining the plat book system, increase the charge to headlight test stations on light testing receipts from five cents to 10 cents; abolish the position of county highway officer, that all elective officers turn back to the county amounts they receive in excess of $4,000 per year, and further reductions in the salaries of clerks and deputies in nearly all departments.

Limitation of the numbr of deputies employed by the tax collector, that loud speakers be installed in district courtrooms for calling of witnesses so that bailiffs will only be needed in special instances, that the position of one jailer be done away with.

That the levy of 10 cents in 11 of the 13 bond interest and sinking funds be dropped for one year and that the jury fund levy be cut in half.

Edgar Mann headed the committee which conducted the study of the proposed budget, and which prepared the recommendations submitted Monday. Other members of the committees here were Burton Stayton, J. M. Bland, J. L. Jackson, John Hirschi, W. M. McGregor, J. A. Richolt; Gerald Coffey, Charles B. King, Joe N. Sherrill, and Alveh Connor; Walter Skinner and Ed Schlaffke of Electra; John C. Murphree and Lock Lowrance of Iowa Park; J. A. Alexander and M. Brown of Burkburnett.

Senator Gains Severance In Lottery Case Trial

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—United States Senator James J. Davis today secured a severance for purpose of trial of the case of the government against himself and Bernard C. McGuire and the other defendants named in indictments charging participation in lotteries.

After hearing argument by United States Attorney George Z. Medalie and Charles H. Tuttle, Davis' attorney, Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy granted the severance so the senator's case could be brought to trial next Monday.

Political Parties Report Receipts and Payments

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (INS)—The Democratic national committee and subsidiary organizations today reported to the clerk of the house receipts of $353,154 and expenditures of $321,111 between June 1 and Aug. 31.

The Democrats took a long lead over the Republicans in both the raising and spending of money in the presidential race. The Republicans' report for the same period showed total receipts of about $108,000 with expenditures of $97,000.

The area of the District of Columbia is 69 square miles.

Sterling Forces Prepare Protest While Demo Committee Counts Vote

ditch fight in the courts, expressing confidence that they would declare him the legal nominee of the Democratic party because of illegal votes cast for his opponent in the runoff primary. The governor was thoroughly aroused, thoroughly in earnest, and he spoke with a vigor and emphasis he has never been known to exhibit.

The caucus passed resolutions urging that Sterling file the contest with "a competent court at the earliest possible moment," and urged that all good citizens of Texas support him in it.

"This is your fight and my fight," said Sterling, "it would be easy for me to step aside now, and say all right, but by gatlins, I'm not built that way. It matters not what may become of me, but the honor of Texas is at stake. This is no time for talk. It is the time for action. My forefathers fought at San Jacinto, and under Lee and Jackson, and I am here fighting to the last ditch for grand old Texas."

Governor Sterling was cheered by a crowd that rushed to the platform to congratulate him when he had finished.

Former Gov. Dan Moody said that from what he had seen and heard today, he believed a majority of the convention delegates were for the Fergusons.

"But I do not believe we should let Ferguson control the party machinery if we have the votes to prevent it," said Moody. "We ought to elect the state executive committee if we can."

Charles I. Francis, of the state executive committee from Wichita Falls, and a leader in the Sterling forces, said that he was unwilling to accept Mrs. Ferguson as the nominee until the courts had declared her such.

To Meet on Floor

A definite challenge also was issued to the Ferguson forces by Sterling, who promised to meet "Jim Ferguson on the convention floor tomorrow."

James E. Ferguson, husband of the nominee apparent, was in the committee room as the official canvass of the vote was undertaken.

Mrs. Ferguson, more or less shy of public gaze, made herself scarce around hotel lobbies, but "Jim" was much in evidence. He shook hands all around and bowed benignly to all comers.

A predicate was laid for the court litigation by the formal statement filed by R. A. Stuart of Fort Worth, alleging certain irregularities, before the state executive committee.

The committee, however, ruled the formal protest out of order on motion of Carl Estes of Tyler, who argued that the supreme court of Texas, in denying Mrs. Ferguson a mandamus to force the committee to certify her name in connection with the tabulated returns, found that the committee could not go behind the tabulated returns.

McDonald Nominated

The committee on temporary organization tonight recommended officers of the state convention tomorrow as follows:

Temporary chairman, C. C. McDonald, of Wichita Falls; temporary secretary, John Maddox, of Austin; temporary assistant secretaries, Mrs. John Onion, of San Antonio; S. L. Bennett of Hallettsville; Adam Cole Jr., Palestine; Alvin Waller of Trinity; temporary sergeant-at-arms, Col. Lee Beaty of Lockhart; temporary assistants, sergeant-at-arms, Senator W. D. Sebastian, of Austin and R. C. Hoover of Yoakum.

It was recommended that proxies shall not be recognized on the floor of the convention and in senatorial or county caucuses, except from those counties having no delegates present in person, and then only where such proxies are on file with the secretary and have been approved by the Democratic executive committee.

DAN BOONE NAMED STATE COMMITTEEMAN

LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 12.—Dan Boone, Wichita Falls, wet Ferguson supporter, was selected by the Wichita county delegation in caucus Monday night to succeed Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls for member of the Democratic state executive committee for the next two years. With other county support for Mr. Boone assured, members of the delegation said the Wichita county vote made his selection certain in the district caucus tomorrow.

Roy J. Daniel, chairman of the delegation, presided over the caucus. Resolutions were adopted pledging support of the nominees of this convention and of Democratic nominees from president to constable. The delegation endorsed C. C. McDonald, who was present, for temporary chairman of the convention; a post to which the retiring pro-Sterling state executive committee already assigned him.

WATER FINANCE PARLEY HELD

made on a vote of 843 to 26. The district has retired $497,000 of the bonds from 1924 to 1931, leaving $4,003,000 due from 1932 to 1950. The issue went into default April 1, 1932, on $89,000 principle and $120,000 interest.

No. 2 Bonds Bought

District No. 2 is brought into the situation by the purchase of its bonds by the No. 1 district. The original issue for district No. 2 was for $1,525,000 maturing from 1925 to 1957 at 6 per cent semiannually with payments due March 1 and Sept. 1, each year. The issue was a result of a vote of 35 to 2.

The board has retired $142,000 of the issue from 1925 to 1931 leaving $1,383,000 outstanding payable between 1932 and 1957. District No. 1 owns $937,000 of the outstanding bonds of district No. 2.

District No. 2 paid the interest due on March 1, 1932, but went into default $14,000 on the principle and defaulted the interest on Sept. 1, 1932.

Notes Outstanding

In addition to the bonds, $200,000 in notes is outstanding which were issued by district No. 1 and the collateral for the notes includes the district No. 2 bonds, posted two to one, or $400,000 in district No. 2 bonds. The original issue of notes was for $575,000 of which $375,000 has been retired.

None of the notes has been defaulted. Of the amount $50,000 is due the W. T. Waggoner estate on the purchase of the Lake Kemp reservoir site and $50,000 borrowed from the Brown-Crummer Co.

When the bondholders' representatives meet with the directors of the two water districts the discussion will center on reduction of the principle of the outstanding bonds; reduction of the interest rate, now at 6 per cent; extension of time in which to pay the present amounts up to the 40-year limit allowed on a refunding issue; or a moratorium of from three to five years in which no principle will be retired.

At the meeting were district No. 1 directors Atty. A. H. Britain, President H. A. Gray Jr., Director Rhea Howard, Secretary Homer Lee, Director J. T. Harrell, Manager G. A. Remington, H. M. Barton, assessor and collector; and Orville Bullington, vice president.

District No. 2 board, President T. J. Pace, Vice President D. E. Hooks, Director J. C. Birks, Director B. F. Greer, Secretary W. L. Hodges and C. H. Clark, former director.

Bondholders' Agents

Bondholders representatives, John S. Corley of Des Moines, Iowa; Bing Wolson of Fort Worth, C. C. Dabney of Dallas, all of the Bankers Life Insurance company; James H. Windsor and L. J. Kelleher, both of Des Moines, of the Equitable Life Insurance company; and M. H. Smith, Atty. Alex Wiseberg and Joe B. Warren, all of Dallas, representing the Brown-Cummer Co. of Wichita, Kan.

Wichita Falls citizens, Joe Ward, J. C. Ward, C. M. McPherson, C. A. Rogers, Cliff J. Fore, V. R. Smitham, W. W. Brown, Julian Montgomery, John H. Young, C. E. Sherman, C. H. Herndon, Lawrence Shields and W. P. Killingsworth.

Gen. Glassford Defends B.E.F.

American Legion convention in Portland censures him for evicting the marchers. This would throw the issue sharply into the political campaign.

Members of congress were insisting upon an investigation to sift all the facts in the face of charges and counter charges from opposing groups.

E. F. Atwell, chief of staff of the B. E. F., in a message to the legion convention, attacked Mitchell's statement that 1,069 bonus marchers were criminals, and added:

"We fell sure the legion will not accept such evidence as concrete proof."

In a statement as laudatory of the B. E. F. as the administration's report was critical, Glassford denied:

1. That he favored calling out federal troops. He said the soldiers were summoned without his knowledge and he first learned of the order an hour afterwards from a newspaper reporter.

2. That the B. E. F. brought to Washington "the largest aggregation of criminals that had ever assembled in the city at any one time." He said there were but 12 arrests of marchers for offenses of a criminal nature out of 362 arrests reported by Mitchell. Washington was singularly free of crime during the B. E. F. occupation, he added.

3. That communism, crime and subversive influences were rampant among the marchers. He said there were "many demonstrations of patriotism and discipline by the great mass of unemployed veterans."

4. That "a large body of Communists and radicals" attempted to incite the veterans to disorder. He said that not more than 210 Communists were in the city and their efforts were completely frustrated by the police and the B. E. F.

5. That the B. E. F. got beyond control of the police. He said order was quickly restored by police after the first clashes on July 28 and "there was no trouble of any kind between 2 p. m. and the time the troops arrived, which was after 5."

6. That police inefficiency and laxity hampered federal efforts to bring instigators of the riots to justice. He said the police unswervingly followed "policies of humanity and of respect for the rights of citizens under the laws and the constitution" in preserving law and order during the B. E. F. invasion.

HURLEY BOOED BY VETERANS

Josephus Daniels Appeals For Individual Work

the convention, Hurley did not prolong his remarks. A round of applause, greater than that received upon his introduction, followed him to his seat.

Delegates were in an angry mood when they assembled this morning following what they believed was an unwarranted attack by the administration on the character and credentials of the bonus army.

Warm Welcome

They warmed up as Gov. Julius L. Meier of Oregon and Mayor George L. Baker of Portland and Alex G. Barry, Oregon commander, welcomed them.

Little time was spent in adopting new rules. One barred any person not duly enrolled as a delegate or alternate" from convention deliberations and another limited debate on any subject to two hours.

The unit rule was barred and another authorized the national commander to clear the galleries in event of disorders.

After Mrs. Louis W. Williams of Indianapolis, national president of the American Legion auxiliary, had given her speech of welcome, Josephus Daniels, war-time secretary of the navy, came to the front. He was given an ovation.

Daniels urged the legionnaires to "go into politics," not as an organization, but as individuals. He deplored the lack of interest in national affairs by the voting population of the United States and warned them that corrupt governments were inevitable as long as they persisted in neglecting their governmental duties.

The convention got a laugh when Daniels was heckled by a veteran as he was praising the veterans of the world war.

"We went to war, not to fight for any political party, but for the preservation of this great country . . ."

"And for the 18th amendment," a veteran with a "dark brown" voice interposed.

A roar of laughter swept the hall and Daniels smiled.

The body will be brought here Tuesday, it was said. Funeral rites had not been planned tonight.

Sudden Rise of Grande Causes Heavy Damage

PRESIDIO, Texas, Sept. 12. (UP)—The lazy Rio Grande rose suddenly in its "big bend" here today, nearly 500 miles from its swollen levee-bound lower reaches at Brownsville, and caused damage estimated at $450,000.

At Brownsville, a flood which had its origin far upstream 10 days ago reached within two feet of protective levees and had caused $500,000 damage in one lower valley county alone.

Rising approximately 14 feet in 24 hours here, the Rio Grande destroyed United States customs, immigration and public health offices, damaged an international foot bridge and drove farmers to higher ground.

The population of India has increased 33,000,000 in 10 years. It is now about 353,000,000.

Army Post Completes Plans For Sending Horses and Riders Here

Services of 12 horses and veteran riders of the U. S. army artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla., were definitely arranged Monday for the golden jubilee rodeo, Sept. 26-28, at Athletic park in Wichita Falls. Five of the horses to be brought overland to this city by vans took part in the recent Olympic games at Los Angeles.

Capt. Eddie Argo of Fort Sill will ride in the shows, which will be daily features of the rodeo, and will be mounted on the Olympic steeplechase champion. Captain and Mrs. Argo were in Wichita Falls Monday to complete arrangements for the artillery horse show.

Adds to Rodeo

The addition of the army post horses, recognized as the best in the nation, will add much to the program for the rodeo in charge of Leonard Stroud. The Fort Sill horses will be brought to the city about Sept. 22, and the two battalions of artillery will arrive Sept. 24. The horses and riders will be presented daily in parades.

While in the city Captain Argo conferred with Parade Chairman Horrace Robbins and Maj. J. H. Fletcher of the Texas National guard units here. Major Fletcher is making arrangements to house the horses at the national guard stables here. The camp for the artillery battalions will be arranged at Scotland park.

The horses will be put through their paces as circus veterans, including hurdle jumping, and the final day of the jubilee rodeo women riders will be mounted for the rides over the hurdles.

Parade Planned

Chairman Robbins announced plans for securing sponsors for the historical parade on Sept. 27, when highly decorated floats depicting the city's history will be displayed. The floats will be prepared by a Chicago decorations company and Kindel Paulk was named chairman of a Junior chamber of commerce committee to handle details of securing local sponsors for the individual entries.

The Fort Sill artillery battalions, trick horses, American Legion and veterans of United States wars will be presented in the final parade of military forces and Major Fletcher has arranged to include the local national guard units.

The opening day parade has been dedicated to the pioneers of the Wichita area and only pioneer vehicles, including chuck wagons, covered wagons, ranch supply wagons and similar conveyances.

Mr. Paulk's committee will go into action Tuesday with 60 groups arranged covering all business classifications, societies, lodges and clubs. Merchants and club heads are urged to consider the plan presented by committeemen as no high pressure salesmanship is planned. The city is asked to cooperate in the parade as a civic proposition.

COUNCIL MEET OFF

No meeting of the city council was held Monday night because of the absence of three aldermen from the city. Councilmen R. O. Harvey, J. S. Bridwell and J. M. Spoonts were the three members absent.

VON PAPEN IS REFUSED AID

Confusion Follows Vote Of Non-Confidence

BERLIN, Sept. 12. (AP)—A defiant reichstag overwhelmingly voted non-confidence in the ministry of Chancellor Franz Von Papen today and thereby precipitated a confused situation unprecedented in German parliamentary history.

Just before the vote was taken the chancellor tried to forestall it by decreeing the dissolution of the legislature. He was thwarted by Hermann Wilhelm Goering, reichstag speaker and, as a member of Adolf Hitler's national Socialist party, one of the bitterest enemies of the Von Papen regime.

After the members had expressed their lack of confidence in the ministry by a vote of 513 to 32 the Nazi speaker read the decree of dissolution. But he declared afterward it was invalid because it was signed by a defeated government. On the other hand, the ministry contended that the legislature was legally dissolved.

The courts must decide who is right. In the meantime the Von Papen ministry will continue to function.

Interior Minister Baron Wilhelm Von Gayl announced that the government intended to call new elections within 60 days—the constitutionally specified time—and added that this plan would be carried out "unless serious disturbances of public order render elections inadvisable."

He does believe the West is inclined to grant him its suffrages. He realizes he will have to talk the language of the West to hold whatever advantage he may have at the moment.

To Visit 20 States

Governor Roosevelt's tour cafries him into 20 states. His train stops at 80 cities and towns. There may be more stops. There always are on trips of this kind.

The Democratic leader goes forth with the idea that he will confine his oratorical activities to four major speeches. The first of these will be on the steps of the Kansas state capitol at Topeka, Wednesday afternoon, the same spot on which Vice President Curtis twice has accepted Republican nominations for the runner-up position.

Speaker John N. Garner, who will join Roosevelt at Kansas City, will attend the Topeka meeting. Then he will leave on his own speaking tour.

That speech at Topeka is viewed by the governor as one of the most important of his campaign. In it he will expound his ideas on farm relief. He will invade the farm strike belt later, Sept. 29, at Sioux City, up in the northwestern corner of Iowa, a key spot for that whole five-state area of agricultural discontent.

The Roosevelt train, leaving Albany shortly before midnight, was scheduled to run straight through to Topeka.

Methodist Women Meet In First Session Of Autumn

With Mrs. H. W. Barton, the president, presiding, members of the Floral Heights Woman's Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon in a business session and planned their work for the coming year.

Mrs. Barton opened the meeting with a brief talk on commendation for the past efforts of the organization, and encouraged the assembly to press onward and lend a hand for the work ahead.

Mrs. S. E. Trevathan led a song service, with Mrs. Austin F. Leach at the piano, after which Mrs. T. R. Boone read the devotional scripture from the book of Luke, and gave interesting comments on the topic, "Woman's Privilege to Serve Jesus," Mrs. George Thorburn, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Leach, sang for the devotional solo, "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross."

In the reports, Mrs. M. Faulk gave an itemized statement of all the society's finances, and Mrs. Hal Yeager read the minutes of the last meeting which was held in June. Mrs. Val Land gave interesting topics from "The World Outlook" on the purpose of the week of prayer. The special foreign work for the year was announced as the girl's school in Korea, and the erection of a dormitory for girls in the school at Houma, La., was announced as the special home project. The domitory will be a memorial to Miss Esther Case, one of the council secretaries.

Mrs. Finis Crutchfield, corresponding secretary, read a report of all the department activities of the society, after which Mrs. Marvin Smith outlined the mission study work from a book on China.

Social Work

Mrs. Lester Jones gave a resume of the Christian social relation work done by the society during the second quarter, showing that much kindness has been extended to the needy.

Mrs. Charles Crowell read a paper on "Spiritual Life Group Work," after which Mrs. Hal Yeager read an interesting report on the Janie Chauncey day school in China which the society supports, and announced that a lovely photograph of the 14 girls recently graduated from the school is being sent the organization.

Mrs. A. B. Gough reported 76 subscriptions to the World Outlook, and Mrs. Barton announced the district federated mission meeting to be held at the Woman's Forum Sept. 22 when Mrs. W. W. Cook will take reservations for the plate luncheon to be served at noon. At this meeting an instructive program will be led by Mrs. Virgil Walker, conference study superintendent, who will also give a review of the books to be studied this fall.

Mrs. Leon Deaton announced the meeting of the Federated Missionary society board to be held Tuesday morning at the First Southern Presbyterian church, and Mrs. George Truitt reported on the baby, primary and junior division of children's work.

Mrs. S. E. Trevathan dismissed the members with prayer, and circle seven led in attendance.

Wichita Area Pioneers Urged to Turn in Names

An appeal for pioneers of the Wichita area to rush remaining registrations for the golden jubilee party, Sept. 26-28, was made Monday by T. J. Waggoner Jr., of the registration committee. Hundreds of pioneers have registered and those who have not sent in blanks or names for the 50th anniversary celebration honoring old timers of the section should do so at once.

Arrangements for entertainment for the veterans of the range and early day residence here require information on the number expected to attend, Mr. Waggoner said.

IT'S 4 O'CLOCK KATY

In an advertisement of special rates offered by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad in Sunday's Times it was erroneously stated the special rate applied to fares on the 11 o'clock Katy in Wichita Falls. This should have been the 4 o'clock Katy. The 11 o'clock train was discontinued several weeks ago.

Lamar Baptist W. M. U. Plans Autumn Work

Members of Lamar Avenue Baptist circles who met Monday afternoon planned their personal service work for the coming month, discussed special mission work and heard interesting lessons. Members of circle one met at the home of Mrs. Solon Harvick, who gave the devotional after the opening prayer by Mrs. A. V. Hibler.

Mrs. W. L. Garner presided in a short business session and gave a splendid talk, urging all chairmen to report each Monday. It was voted to send a gift to a member in the hospital.

Mrs. Garner taught the mission lesson from "Talks on Soul Winning," and Mrs. E. A. Turner gave the closing prayer dismissing eight members and one visitor, Mrs. W. H. Harwell.

Circle Two

Mrs. W. D. Talley was hostess to members of circle two with Mrs. R. D. Kirk giving the devotional and Mrs. E. M. Teeters the opening prayer.

Mrs. E. F. Moore presided in the business session when members voted to have the day nursery for their personal service work in the coming month. Plans were made to pack a box for the refuge home in New Orleans and members of the circle will make gifts for a mission gift shop there.

Mrs. B. L. Benton was in charge of the mission study lesson and Mrs. Moore gave the closing prayer dismissing 12 members and one visitor, Mrs. Bertie Milford.

Circle Three

Mrs. C. T. Walters was hostess to members of circle two when Mrs. J. E. Strickland gave the devotional and Mrs. Walters the opening prayer. An interesting lesson from the text book, "Along the Highway of Service," was taught by Mrs. L. C. Blakely.

In the business session, new officers were elected for the coming year and personal service work was discussed.

Mrs. Walters gave the closing prayer, dismissing eight members.

Circle Four

Members of circle four met with Mrs. L. E. Griffin and Mrs. F. C. Paul gave the devotional and Mrs. W. P. Ruby the opening prayer. Mrs. A. A. Foster taught the interesting lesson on "How to Pray."

Mrs. Paul presided in the business session when a linen shower was planned for a rescue home at the next meeting. Visiting the county farm was planned as personal service work.

Mrs. W. B. Woods gave the closing prayer dismissing 10 members.

Circle Six

Mrs. A. E. Stanley was hostess to members of circle six and Mrs. T. P. Walker followed the devotional given by Mrs. V. M. Tillerson with prayer.

Mrs. Tillerson was in charge of the business meeting and Mrs. G. W. Anderson taught the mission lesson. Three new members, Mesdames T. P. Walker, A. E. Jennings and C. O. Hicks, were welcomed. Mrs. J. W. Tanner, W. M. U. president, was a visitor.

A lovely shower was presented Mrs. Tillerson bespeaking the love of the circle for her and their admiration for her faithfulness as a leader.

Dainty refreshments were served to 10 members and Mrs. J. W. Tanner gave the closing prayer.

Lory Memorial Installs New Year's Officers

Members of Lory Memorial Baptist W. M. S. met at the church at 10:30 for the regular all day session that inaugurated the autumn work. Mrs. L. W. McCulley gave the devotional and Mrs. Ella Baxter the opening prayer.

Reports were heard from all chairmen and officers. The society voted to hold a school of instruction Monday, Sept. 19, and it was announced that a miscellaneous shower would honor Mrs. G. F. Campbell Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Mary Spanger, 109 Henrietta. A report on the yearbook was given by Mrs. W. B. Allison and Mrs. A. P. Lindley dismissed the morning session with prayer.

After the delightful luncheon, the meeting reconvened at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Lindley giving the devotional. Mrs. L. W. McCulley was leader in the royal service program on "Intrusted With the Gospel."

At the close of the program, officers for the incoming year were installed as follows: Mrs. G. E. McCulley, president; Mrs. C. W. Briley, recording secretary; Mrs. F. H. Conaster, corresponding secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Etta Baxter and Mrs. R. T. Spettel, enlistment chairmen; Mrs. W. W. Christian, publicity; Mrs. R. Cumberland W. M. S. Meets at Church

Members of the Cumberland Presbyterian Woman's Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon. The session was opened with a song, after which Mrs. G. J. Towles gave the devotionals and led the mission lesson on "Stewardship," from the Missionary Messenger. Various topics were discussed by those present.

In the business session, the W. B. M. day program was arranged and will be presented at the church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. R. L. Norris dismissed five members and two guests, Ellen and Jane Towles, with prayer.

Circles Of First Baptist W. M. S. Plan Fall Work

All circles of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary society met Monday to plan autumn activities and enjoy get-together meetings. Mrs. Daisy Dean was hostess at her home on Bluff to members of circle one when interesting plans were discussed in the business session that preceded a beautiful devotional by Mrs. J. S. Martin.

In a short social meeting following the business, dainty refreshments were served to 11 members.

Circle Two

Members of circle two met with Mrs. Ben King when Mrs. W. H. Davis gave the opening prayer and Mrs. A. B. McIver a beautiful devotional, using the 135th Psalm as her scripture.

Mrs. King, who is leader, presided in the business session when plans were discussed for the coming season's work.

Mrs. L. C. Cole taught a very interesting mission lesson, after which Mrs. I. A. Farris dismissed 13 members with prayer and in a short social session, dainty refreshments were served.

Circle Three

Mrs. W. B. Davis was hostess to members of circle three and Mrs. M. Dodson gave the opening prayer. Mrs. A. M. Abbott presided in the business session and the Bible lesson was taught by Mrs. Dodson.

Mrs. T. M. Smyre gave the closing prayer dismissing 13 members.

Circle Six

Members of circle six met at the home of Mrs. Roy I. Carter and made plans for their work for the coming year. An annual luncheon was also planned for Monday, Sept. 26. There were six present.

Circle Seven

Members of circle seven met with their leader, Mrs. E. Gremillion, who appointed the following chairmen for the coming season: Mrs. R. Lee Joiner, assistant leader; Mrs. J. L. Booshee, Bible leader; Mrs. J. E. Kanatzer, mission study; Mrs. Myrl Thompson, personal service; Mrs. M. B. Smith, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. W. E. Young, publicity.

In the social half hour following the business meeting, Mrs. Gremillion served dainty refreshments to 25 members.

Circle Eight

Mrs. Dell Brasher was hostess to members of circle eight and the session was opened with devotionals by Mrs. H. Willis. Kenneth Snell gave two readings, after which new officers for the year were announced as follows: Mrs. Brasher, chairman; Mrs. H. Willis, co-chairman; Mrs. B. C. Hess, personal service; Mrs. J. A. Hood, Bible study chairman; Mrs. J. L. Waggoner, benevolent; Mrs. T. P. Duncan, secretary; Mrs. W. B. Baldwin, treasurer.

Mrs. Brasher dismissed 12 members and two visitors with prayer.

Circles 11 and 12

Mrs. Floyd Randel was hostess at her home on Kemp boulevard to members of circles 11 and 12 of the First Baptist W. M. S. who will meet jointly through the coming year.

Officers and committees were planned for the coming year and plans were made for donations of hand work for a mission gift shop in Brazil. A donation was also planned for Baylor Belton college.

Current Baptist religious news was discussed and Mrs. Randel outlined the new book to be studied, "Bible and Missions."

In the social hour, dainty refreshments were served to 11 members.

Central Fire Station Chief Scores High

District Fire Chief Henry Smith of central station received a 93 per cent grade on work completed last month at the annual Texas firemen's training school at Texas A. & M. college, Chief J. L. McClure announced Monday. Director H. R. Brayton of the school commended the work of Mr. Smith and Wichita Falls is listed as eligible for a three per credit on the fire insurance key rate as a result of the work.

The three per cent credit is substracted from the basic charge per $100 on insurance used in compiling policy charges by insurance companies. Assistant Chief Grover Habern attended the school but was not enrolled in the training course due to his rank as a state marshall.

Herschel Johnson Wins Student Fliers' Permit

Herschel Johnson of Wichita Falls has been issued a student flier's permit and has re-enrolled in Fred Ridenour's aviation school at Call field, it was announced Monday.

First Methodist W. M. S. Hears Splendid Talk

"Gentleness and Meekness" furnished the topic for interesting devotionals given by Mrs. J. J. Perkins at the first meeting of the autumn season held by members of the First Methodist church in the parlors of the church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. J. C. A. Guest gave the lesson on the subject, "A Quiet Woman," illustrating her talk with the biblical character, Mary, the sister of Martha. Her subtopics included Mary in provocation; Mary in meditation and Mary in consecration, and her talk proved especially instructive and interesting. Following the talk, Mrs. Stanley Raub sang in an impressive manner, "In a Garden," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. E. O'Brien.

Mrs. Walter Cline, mission study chairman, announced that the society will study China, and Mrs. Somerville, the president, gave a short talk, outlining the work for the coming year and announcing the federated district woman's missionary meeting to be at the Woman's Forum Sept. 22, when Mrs. W. W. Cook will take reservations for the plate luncheon at noon.

Mrs. W. W. Silk dismissed 37 members and one guest with prayer.

First Presbyterian Joint Circles Hear Addresses

Circles of the First Presbyterian Woman's Missionary society met jointly Monday for the first program meeting of the autumn season. Mrs. B. L. Fain, president, was in the chair and Mrs. G. D. Anderson gave a very beautiful devotional on "Faithfulness," giving the 10 points necessary for faithful service in church work.

Mrs. H. J. Strief was leader in the program and presented the speakers gracefully. Mrs. Albert Crenshaw gave an interesting and informative talk on Texas Synodical Missionaries and Mrs. J. Woods Parker of Electra, who is presbyterial president, outlined in her splendid talk a study of the church courts.

Mrs. J. Will Gray sang a beautiful special number, "Close to Thee," with Mrs. O. E. Maer accompanying.

Following the joint meeting, each circle spent a short period in outlining business plans for autumn work and hearing reports.

The Mizpah benediction dismissed the joint meeting, where there was 46 members and one visitor present.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—If Vice President Curtis had only been certain several months ago that the administration influence would be as strongly exerted for his renomination as it turned out at Chicago, he might have patterned himself a la Jack Garner, with two strings to his political bow.

JOHN N. GARNER

He might, for instance, have sought a Kansas senatorial nomination as well as the vice presidential honor.

As it is, in the event of Republican defeat, Mr. Curtis will be, politically speaking, out in the cold after 48 years in public life. And whatever may be the honors of such a period of public service as that, they rarely lead to the building up of private means.

In respect to this consideration, the November results would appear to have a more direct bearing on Curtis than on any other of the four standard bearers. President Hoover, Governor Roosevelt and Speaker Garner all are men of private means.

One Job or Another

Mr. Curtis having relinquished any claim his previous congressional service might have given him on the Kansas senate seat he held so long and resigned to become vice president, Garner remains, so far as the available records show, the only 1932 model politician running for two federal offices at once.

And in his case the election merely will decide whether he is to continue as speaker, running house proceedings, or transfer to the senate and become a presiding officer ordinarily without voice or vote in what goes on.

Clearly Mr. Garner may look forward to November in a far less unsettled state of mind than anybody else in major event of the race. Only Republican recapture of the house could deny him one or the other of those two offices that stand next to the presidency in political estimate.

In a republican controlled house, even, he would merely pass back from the speakership to minority leader, presumably. And that rates almost as much honor as the speakership.

Solid in His District

It is an odd situation in which Garner finds himself. Party foes have been critical of his decision to run both for his long-held house seat and the vice presidency. Yet what can they do about it?

Re-election of Garner to the house has become such a habit with his Texas district that the idea of trying to beat him on that front does not seem to have occurred to his opponents.

Denver and Rio Grande Granted Permit for Loan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (UP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today gave the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad company authority to borrow an additional $3,850,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The money is for the purpose of constructing the proposed Dotsero cutoff which would shorten the rail distance between Salt Lake City and the West.

Germany isn't satisfied with the Versailles treaty. Apparently that peaceful document is turning out to be just another "scrap of paper."

Mayor Cermak of Chicago has extended a cordial invitation to European nations, including even England, to take part in the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition. Can you imagine what Big Bill Thompson is saying?

Faulty Home Planning

WHEN the president's conference on home building and home ownership completed its survey of 3,000 typical American homes recently, it pointed out that "much needless impairment of home and family life in present-day America" is due to faulty house plans.

The almost universal scheme for the small home provides for three rooms downstairs—living room, dining room and kitchen—and, as the conference remarks, for a family of any size this is pretty cramped.

"Only a single living room for recreational activities of too many people—children, parents and grandparents; no private place to read, or rest, or play, or entertain personal friends"—that is the way the conference report sums it up.

Here seems to be one of those perfectly obvious truths that we fail to recognize until some one points them out to us. The average house is cramped, and when we look back on our own experience we realize it.

A HOME ought to have one room where children can distribute their playthings as they see fit. The bane of childhood, very often, is the fact that just as you get your blocks, or your toy train, or your building set arranged to your fancy you have to put the whole business away, because other people need to use the room.

It ought to have a room where daughter can entertain her boy-friend without driving the rest of the family off to bed. You might reflect that if more homes had such rooms, there would be fewer "parking parties" along lonely roads late at night. Most young people would greatly prefer to meet in their own homes, if they could do it without crowding their parents out.

And it should provide a lot of other things—a workshop for an energetic and mechanical-minded boy or adult, space where part of the family could enjoy music without disturbing those who want to read or chat, and so on. Of course, getting all of this into a small house isn't as easy as it might be; but couldn't our designers come a lot closer to it than they usually do?

A Lingering Problem

OPTIMISTIC reports about business prospects continue to appear in the papers, and they make exceedingly good reading. Meanwhile, however, we should not forget that even if the return of prosperity is a whole lot nearer we are still going to have the task of caring for the unemployed on our hands for a while yet.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor warns that the nation faces its worst winter of unemployment, and estimates that around 11,000,000 jobless men will be among us for some little time; and it is highly important that we do not let reports of business gains make us feel that the unemployment problem is about to take care of itself.

Community chests, soup kitchens, free lodging houses and all the rest will be needed very badly this winter. They must be supported as spiritedly as if the crisis were still ahead of us, and not—as we hope—at last behind us.

Which Is the Best Level?

WHEN Germany's plea for equality in armaments with other nations comes up for consideration, it ought to be remembered that there are two ways in which such equality could be obtained.

Equality can be obtained if Germany increases her forces to the level of those of other nations; or it can be obtained by cutting the forces of other nations to the level of Germany's present establishment.

Adopting the first alternative would simply mean a new armament race—and we have enough of that right now without adding a new competitor.

Taking the second plan would relieve the world of enormous expenses and would bring world armaments down to within sensible limits.

If Germany is to have equality, there can be little doubt about the best way in which it should be obtained.

Our Dangerous Holidays

APPARENTLY we are still as far as ever from learning how to handle a week-end holiday without great loss of life.

Figures compiled by the United Press show that more than 210 Americans lost their lives over the two-day Labor day holiday. Automobiles, as usual, were the "deadliest weapons," accounting for more than half of the deaths; swimming came next, with a quarter of the deaths due to drownings. Airplane accidents, fires and other accidents accounted for the rest.

We used to hear a lot about the campaign for a safe and sane Fourth of July. Evidently we need to start a similar campaign for all our holidays. Give us an extra day on any week-end and we kill and maim ourselves at a rate that would be appalling—if we ever really stopped to give it a little serious thought.

To Constance

My dear Miss Bennett: Very often when
I see you representing one of those
Poor silly creatures, much betrayed by men,
You pose.
And when you obviously are not true,
You surely try the patience of a Job;
But never disappoint the patrons—you
Disrobe.
When you have been deserted once again
And all good honest people are asleep;
Returning to your swell apartment, then
You weep.
Sometime why not display a little tact
And act?

—VAN H. ESHELMAN.

Oop!

One of the quips that George M. Cohan relates on himself deals with the days when he was a novice. He tells how he sold himself to E. F. Albee, the head of the Keith Circuit, by masquerading as a "trick violinist" and left it to Albee to fix his wage.

After his first engagement Cohan was irked to find only $6 in his pay envelope. "Can you beat that?" Cohan groaned to a fellow player, "Albee said he'd give me what I was worth and paid me $6."

"Really," was the indifferent retort, "what's the extra dollar for?"

In Fewer Words

One of the better squelches was recorded on the West coast recently by Al Jolson, who was being heckled by a member of the audience.

Holding his thumb and index finger to his nose the heckler yelled: "Peeyew!"

"And you," screamed Jolson, "are a complete blueprint for a moron!"

Was My Face Vermilion?

They were arguing about first-nighters, particularly the critics, who boast that they never dress for a premiere.

"You forget," said a reviewer, "that we go to the first-nights professionally—not socially."

"That's no reason," stifled a listener, "for you fellers to dirty up a theater!"

In Other Words

The Thanatopsis and Inside Straight Poker club was in session. Between deals the pun-makers went gay. One of the group said something about a bon mot.

"Bon mot Levy?" queried F. P. A., who certainly has made up better puns.

"Bon mot Levy, hell," said Merrie Ryskind, "Bon mot Selzer."

Fair Enough

The demands for help from this and that stranger finally got on the nerves of one lad the other day. The stranger said: "We have a new charity and we've got you down for $100—will you give it?"

"Here's one-fourth of it," said the benefactor, whose name is now on all such lists, "that makes you lose 75 and I only lose 25."

Novelette

The chatter switched to Charles B. Dillingham and his grand career as a Broadway showman until the recent sour breaks came. One of the group recalled this fact. Dillingham's ex-wife was terribly social. She refrained from mixing with the Broadway crowd and was so uppity she rarely went to see her husband's first-nights, which always enticed fashionable crowds.

One day he evened matters. His wife threw a dinner for her social friends. Dillingham was told to engage butlers and waiters. He hired a troupe of jugglers, frocked them in butler apparel, and when the socially registered sat down to dine, the waiters and butlers removed their plates and juggled them all over the dining room.

The Dillinghams were divorced a month later.

Obviously

They were discussing the late Wilton Lackaye again the other day. Irving Hoffman recalled that some one once asked Lackaye whom he considered to be a really finished actor.

"A dead one!" was the reply.

The Reason Perfect

Sam Rosoff, the subway builder and sportsman, was having a difficult time of it entertaining his friends at Saratoga one sundown because his butler resigned at the last moment. Sam asked him why he was leaving so suddenly.

"Well," was the reply, "that friend of yours who is staying here with you asked me to bet a dollar on a horse for him. And if I remained here to buttle for a guy who bets a dollar on a horse that would make me lower than him—so I quit!"

Horse Sense

Perhaps no other local knows more racetrack slang than Bill Farnsworth, the sports editor. He obliges with these: "Only the feed man beats the races" (meaning the bozo who sells hay, oats, etc., and winds up a winner) . . . "Sane men check their brains at the gate when they go to the races" . . . "A half-mile track or a country fair track is a "merry-go-round" . . . In the very cheap races when they "dope the nags" the race is called: "The Drug Store Handicap" . . . A "boat race" is one where the jockeys "shoo in" the horse they are betting on . . . "A yank" and "a pull" is when the jockey doesn't want to win with his mount, and the ace of the nick-names for a racetrack is "An open-air insane asylum."

Where There Ain't No Ten Commandments

By ROSITA FORBES

Copyright 1932, by Rosita Forbes

A girl in the gaudy finery of the Ouled Nails, the courtesans of the Sahara, was huddled against the wall.

F-4

Journeying across the Sahara in a company of Bedouins.—Disguised in the finery of an Algiers dancing girl.—How the masquerade was nearly ended by a clever Frenchman in an isolated village.

INSTALLMENT IV

In real life it is so difficult to know where an adventure begins. One is in the middle of it before one realizes that an incident has turned into an event.

For instance, when I went with a couple of friends to see some dancing in the native quarter of Algiers, I'd no idea that it would land me, by way of a murder, in the arms of an attractive Frenchman somewhere in mid Sahara!

The house we went to was an ordinary native building with a blue-painted door and a maze of inner courts but the dance we saw was not one of those usually staged for tourists. Half a dozen blacks their skins gleaming with oil, their muscles rippling under a mass of metal ornaments, gyrated slowly round the carcass of a sheep. Each man clashed a pair of cymbals which echoed and accentuated the drumming of his bare feet. They moved like animals, swift and lithe and balanced. It was as if we were in a jungle watching something old as the earth. There were no contortions and no excessive excitement but the rhythm caught us and quickened the beating of our hearts till we found ourselves leaning forward, strained and panting. None of the dancers looked at us, but their leader, a magnificent piece of ebony, glanced over our heads once or twice. As the crashing brass took on a fiercer note he flung up an arm to greet somebody in the doorway behind us. I looked over my shoulder and saw a bundle of green and gold pressed into the shadows.

The blacks quickened their pace. Their heads were flung back and their throats swelled as cries were apparently forced out of them by some deep-rooted and long-restrained emotion. A diaphthaline lamp reflected queer shadows on a whitewashed wall. Suddenly the whole thing was unbearable.

The breaking-point came when a shriek sounded behind us. The circle disintegrated and as we stumbled to our feet we were conscious of a chaos of black limbs—of the impact of metal on bare flesh.

The next moment we were in the passage, where a girl in the gaudy finery of the Ouled Nails, the courtesans of the Sahara, was huddled against the wall.

"She's fainted," said some one and, impelled by fear, we hurried toward the door and the steep lane which led to the lights and the trams and the civilization of Algiers. But I had noticed something odd about the emerald and gold draperies over which we stepped. The Ouled Nails are fond of jewelry, but they don't usually wear the silver hilts of daggers in their hearts.

So I went back next day to hear the story. It was an ordinary one. The son of the house had found the girl dancing in a cafe and won her with gold pieces and pretty things to wear, but she came from the desert where blood runs hot and strong. Her lover caught her gazing at the Nubian who, with a skin girt round his loins, danced as if he owned the earth of which he was a part. Perhaps he reminded her of the desert, lawless, wind swept, sun scorched, and her heart, primitive enough in spite of her sojourn in the sophisticated coastal cafes, responded sufficiently to merit the knife with which the man who had bought it stilled it for ever.

"Wallahi, see what has been wasted on her clothes!" murmured the old woman who, for a consideration, regaled me with coffee and a tale which seemed to her commonplace.

I bought the many-colored garments and the necklaces strung with coins and amulet cases, the earrings and the heavy spiked armlet which, fitting closely above the wrist, is the weapon of the Ouled Nail.

For weeks I kept them and then, influenced perhaps by the spirit of their former owner—for who can compute the effect of clothes on a woman—I dressed up in them one night in Touggourt when I was tired of being a tourist and joined a South-bound caravan.

I doubt if any European can satisfactorily pass as an Arab. For me it is particularly difficult because I am much too tall and my hands are hopelessly wrong. But I can walk and move and talk like the Bedouin women and when my face is stained brown or sufficiently sunburned, its flatness and the setting of the eyes and brows are in keeping with native dress.

I've often posed as a Circassian and on the occasion of which I write there were stranger figures than mine among the caravan, for there had been rumors of Tuareg raids and every merchant, pilgrim peddler, or dervish who had business in the South had contrived to attach himself to the retinue of a Sayed traveling to one of the holy places in the Sahara. There were family parties of all sizes strung out with their camels and tents and household belongings half a mile behind the dromedaries of the personage whose name and fighting slaves protected them. I joined one of the humbler groups and though, doubtless, they didn't believe a word of the fantastic story I told them, they accepted my money and with it the responsibility of feeding and generally looking after me during a three months' journey.

They were kindly and simple people. The man was the owner of a small store where he bartered piece goods, sewing materials and cooking pots for feathers, ivory, sandalwood and perhaps an occasional surreptitious slave. His wife, Mabruka, was absorbed in the care of a year old son whom she regarded as the justification of her existence. There were a couple of other women, a brother who played on a sort of lute whenever there was a moon and a blind follower who was an excellent cook.

During the first week, while we were passing villages where there might be French posts linked by telegraph with Touggourt, I never uncovered my face. It was quite possible that inquiries might be made. The French are exceedingly capable administrators, and though they are generous in helping exploration, they could not be expected to approve of stray tourists wandering into the blue and getting into heaven knows what mischief among tribes whose habits are as odd as their appearance. I hoped the inn-keeper in Touggourt would be satisfied with the payment of my bill and my very lame explanations, but if he reported the matter to the commandant, I guessed my adventure would come to a swift and ignominious end.

However, a month passed and nothing happened. By this time I was as brown as the women whose quilts I shared at night and I felt so completely at ease that when we camped for a day or two on the outskirts of a comparatively large village, I did my share of the family washing in the stream and scarcely noticed the approach of a Frenchman.

It happened that the child was ill. Quinine was obviously needed, but I'd already given away the little I possessed. As I wrung out one of the striped cotton sheets (barracan) that the women wind, cocoonwise, over a multitude of other garments, Mabruka pulled my skirt. "Here is a Frangi. He is surely a doctor. Ask him for quinine," she whispered.

The devil promptly entered into me, or it may have been the sun, or just that I was riotously happy and barely 25 and enjoying to the full a masquerade which had hitherto proved unexpectedly easy.

So, muffling my face in my barracan I slithered up to the Frenchman who was young and hard and keen-looking like all the camel-corps officers, and whined for "Quinina, a sick child who would surely die—"

"You people think quinine will cure anything, don't you? It's probably the last thing your infant needs and I haven't got any—voyons!" he replied in a mixture of French and Arabic.

But, by this time, I was highly amused, so I shuffled after him, repeating my plea.

"What an infernal nuisance!" he exclaimed in a voice which belied the words, "Come up to my house this evening—I'm busy now—and I'll give you your quinine."

Delighted at my success, which I took as a good omen, I returned to the anxious Mabruka and told her she must go and fetch the medicine at sunset. The caravan was to depart that night after the evening meal, but I felt I'd tempted fate enough. I had no intention of testing the Frenchman's perspicacity on his own veranda. But when the shadows of the palms made bridges across the sand, it was obvious that the child was really ill. Mabruka begged me for the quinine as a dying man for water. Everybody else was absorbed in some mysterious work for the alleviation of the small, fever-racked body. So go I had to and my spirits sank into my heel-less slippers as I padded up the hill and skirted the mud-walled village to a house which stood alone on the edge of a palm-grove. By the time I reached the porch, my heart was in my mouth. I no longer felt native. I began to think of myself as an extremely foolish and inadequate female about to be exposed.

Leaning against the rough, mud walls, I made sounds indicative of a human presence and the young officer came out. He looked worried. As a matter of fact he was just composing a reply to the commandant's wire from Touggourt concerning an errant Englishwoman who was to be stopped at all costs.

"Bien—I'll get the stuff," he said, and went back into the house, to reappear with a tube of white pellets.

Keeping myself well hidden, I held out a corner of my barracan, in which the Arab women always tie up their smallest and most precious possessions, but he flicked it aside and I was obliged to extend a hand. Under the huge spiked wristlet it looked very long and slender.

"You are not of the country?" said the man indifferently, as my fingers closed over the tablets. I remained silent, but even as I tried to slip away into the palm trees which lapped up to the edge of the porch, I knew I had made a mistake. His curiosity was of the most casual kind. It could have been satisfied by a few inarticulate explanations. But amused by what he imagined the unusual shyness of an Ouled Nail he caught my shoulder and turned me around with a laughing, "By Allah, lady, your race are not generally so frightened of men," and of course the barracan chose that moment to slip.

Amazement and appreciation struggled in the blue eyes widening as they stared at me. "Grand dieu, it's the English woman!" asped their owner.

After that all sorts of things

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Thousands of government experts are working constantly for the benefit of all citizens of the United States. They will work directly for you if you will use our Washington bureau. This newspaper employs Mr. Haskin to act as an agent for its readers. He will take your matter to the proper authority. State your inquiry briefly, write clearly, and, enclosing three cents, carefully wrapped, for return postage for a personal letter in reply. Address The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Is the District of Columbia a bird sanctuary?—A. C.

A.—By act of congress approved July 14 the District of Columbia is, in effect, made a bird sanctuary. The act repeals a provision of law which allowed shooting of wild waterfowl on parts of the eastern branch and on parts of the Virginia side of the Potomac river within the District. The administration of this law, as in the case of most other laws affecting the District, comes under the metropolitan police, but the game protector of the bureau of biological survey stationed in Washington will cooperate with the police.

Q.—What is meant by the Breeches Bible?—S. H. T.

A.—The Breeches Bible, a name for the Geneva Bible of 1560, is so called because "breeches" is used for the aprons of fig leaves made by Adam and Eve.

Q.—When was wall paper first made in strips?—L. G.

A.—In 1760 Fournier, a merchant on the rue Carre St. Martin, Paris, made the first attempt to produce paper in long strips by pasting the small sheets together before printing, thus forming a roll. An edict of Louis XVI in 1778 decreed that each such roll should contain 24 sheets of paper, pasted end to end, making the length about 34 feet. The name and address of the maker was obligatory on the two-end sheets. This was the standard size for a roll of wall paper until the metric system was adopted.

Q.—What does the musical term, andante, express?—P. K.

A.—The Etude says that it does not signify either fast or slow. It has the idea of "keep moving."

Q.—What is the history of the old two-masted sailing vessel Argo now anchored in the Potomac?—A. G. T.

A.—The Argo was built at Essex, Mass., in 1892. She was the property of Charles F. Fitzgerald of Baltimore. Mr. Fitzgerald's son was killed in football at the Naval academy, and in memory of him the vessel was turned over to the academy in 1907. For some reason she was never properly registered there and the naval academy suddenly discovered that it had no clear title to her. They wrote to Mr. Fitzgerald as to what disposition to make of her. His reply was to turn her over to the Navy Relief society or take her out and sink her. She was turned over to the Naval Relief society, with headquarters in Washington. On April 16, 1930, she was purchased from the Navy Relief society by the District of Columbia Council Boy Scouts of America for use as a sea scout ship.

Q.—Where is the Theodore Roosevelt highway?—S. J. F.

A.—The Theodore Roosevelt International highway connects Portland, Maine, and Portland, Ore., by a route which traverses 12 states and one Canadian province.

Q.—Where can I get a cookbook in Braille?—E. M.

A.—The library of congress has recently reproduced Aunt Sammy's radio recipes in Braille. These recipes were worked out and tested by the bureau of home economics and have been used in that department's daily broadcasts. The Braille edition of the book is available from the publisher, the Clovernook Printing house, Mt. Healthy, Cincinnati, Ohio, at 50 cents per copy.

Q.—Who was the man who fought a duel seated in a chair?—M. R. C.

A.—Benjamin Constant, the famous Republican of the late 18th and early 19th century, and the intimate friend of Madame de Stael. He had been crippled for the remainder of his life by a fall in the French chamber of deputies and was unable to stand. Nevertheless, he fought and won a duel seated.

Q.—How do writers of columns, comic strip artists, political commentators, and similar newspaper contributors protect their material?—A. McD.

A.—While the former practice was to copyright such material, there is a growing practice of registering titles as trade-marks. The theory is that the contributor's regular readers look for the distinctive column heading or title and that if this is protected against use by another, there is no necessity for protecting the actual material printed or displayed from day to day. The patent office now lists some 600 such trade-marked captions.

Hints on Correct Clothing—Colors and Types

This is not a fashion guide, nor does it tell the correct costume for a morning wedding or an afternoon tea. But it will tell you the colors and the kinds of clothes you should wear if you are blond or brunet, tall or short, stout or thin, or whatever your particular problem may be in selecting fabrics and modes that are most suitable and most becoming to one of your complexion, figure and age. It is an exceedingly practical discussion of exceedingly practical questions that interest men as well as women.

KENTUCKY GOLF PRODIGY TAKES LEAD IN NATIONAL AMATEUR

JOHN FISCHER TURNS IN 69

Gus Moreland Stays Among Leaders With 76

By LESTER RICE
Universal Service Sports Writer

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 12.—At Ann Arbor where he is a 20-year-old junior at Michigan university his classmates call Johnny Fischer "The Owl," probably because they can never get more than a hoot out of him. He is of the stolid studious sort, not easily excited.

At Five Farms today where even veteran pulses were palpitating abnormally during the first qualification round of the national amateur championship, Johnny Fischer was as emotional as a frozen shade as he extracted a wondrous 69 that none other in a great field of 159 could match.

This tall blond, pompadoured youth, who makes his home at Fort Thomas, Ky., is golf's latest prodigy.

Collegiate Champ

Earlier in the summer he won the national intercollegiate championship and only last Saturday at Cincinnati he won the Queen City open tournament from a band of marauding professionals with a blazing last round score of 68.

After that exploit Johnny boarded a sleeper, got to Baltimore Sunday afternoon in time for a fragmentary practice round and today was out here showing the boys how a tough course should be played without knowing it too well.

Fischer's score, which was one under the par of 70, led the qualifying parade by two whole strokes. Another mid-westerner, Jack Westland, the little member of the U. S. Walker cup squad, was his keenest rival. Westland came to scratch with a workman-like 71.

Four Shoot 72

At Westland's heels were four grouped at 72. They included another Walker cupper, George Voight and another who should have been but wasn't, Johnny Goodman, and two young men comparatively unknown to big time golf, Bill Blaney, of Brae Burn and stock Charles Yates, a 19-year-old student at Georgia Tech. Yates, a self-tutored product of the same East Lake course at Atlanta, which gave us Bobby Jones, is but another of those prodigies who spring suddenly into prominence at national championships and help to prove how fast the game is growing in this country.

Then at 73 came five others, a mixture of age and youth. One of these was a golfer of ancient vintage, H. Chandler Egan, who was the national champion 27 years ago and another was the steady performer from Canada, Ross Somerville. The others to fill out the quintet were Sidney Noyes, the noiseless, who put on a hurricane finish of three three's after building a seven at the 14th hole; Wilfred Crossley, of the Boston district and Edwin A. McClure, a husky lad from Shreveport, La.

Big Guns Flounder

These were the leaders in an anxious, nerve-tensed crowd and they represented an unusual mixture of fixed stars and flashing meteors. The big guns of the nation's recognized talent, where were they? They were farther down the list, some so deeply down that their chances of qualifying are slimmer than a horse player's bank roll.

O'l Jess Guilford, the Boston siege gun, a champion as far back as 1921, and the complacent Cyril Tolley, former British champion, were comfortably situated in a bunch of nine at 74 that also included 18-year-old Willie Turnesa, the seventh of the Turnesas of Westchester, and your old pal, Chuckling Chick Evans of Chicago. Having failed by a single shot in three prior tournaments, it was good to see Chick getting a break at last.

Moreland Bags 76

There were only three at 75, included among whom was Charley Seaver, from the Pacific slope, one of the heavy favorites for the title, and there were more than 20 posted at 76. Among these were Gus Moreland, the tall Texan; Eddie Driggs, former Metropolitan champion, and Johnny Lehman, the handsome Chicagoan.

Altogether there were close to 50 at 76 or better which forbode no good for those who were suffering in regions below. Among those teetering on the ragged edge was the defending champion, Francis Ouimet, whose 78 leaves him a difficult assignment for the morrow. Francis must shoot a 74 or better to fill one of the 32 qualifying places for it seemed certain tonight that the qualifying requirement would be a two-round score of 152.

Ouimet in Trouble

Ouimet's bloated score was due in large part to a 7 he contracted at the second hole whose par is 4. While Ouimet was in the act of driving from the tee, Tony Torrance, his playing partner, unwittingly executed a practice stroke that so disturbed the Bostonian's equilibrium that he knocked the ball out of bounds. Francis committed other faults but that seven put him on the spot for tomorrow's supreme test.

Prospects Bright For Seymour High Eleven

Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, Texas, Sept. 12.—With 37 uniforms already issued to as many prospective Seymour High school Panthers, Coaches Jenkins and Sandlin have high hopes for this year's first string team. Nine letter men have thus far joined the squad that has been in serious training the past two weeks. At least 10 more prospects are expected to be added to the squad.

Letter men who have already returned for this year's squad are Captain Mack Coy and Richmond, guards; Harrison and Shawver, ends; Howard, tackle; Seals, center and three backfield men, Hughes, Hooser and Chilton. Nonletter men who were members of the '31 squad and are outstanding prospects for 1932 are Holmes, Powell, backfield; St. Clair and Smith, linemen.

Seymour's first conference game will be played on their new field at Fair park on Oct. 7, with Burkburnett.

Plans are already being made for the feature annual clash with the Olney Cubs here on Thanksgiving day, a game which usually attracts a district record crowd. New stands are to be erected to seat the expected record of fans, and there is some talk of equipment for night games.

STEERS TAKE ROAD TODAY

Play-Off Games Will Not Be Broadcast

DALLAS, Sept. 12. (AP)—Manager Happ Morse and his pack of 20 Dallas Steers will embark from here Tuesday noon en route to Beaumont for the Texas league play-off. The Steers will arrive at the export city early Tuesday evening, get a good night's rest and will be ready for the first of the five-game series Wednesday. The Exporters, in their lair and waiting to jump their prey, will also be ready when the gong clangs.

There is no doubt but that husky George Murray, right-hander, will pitch the opening game for Dallas. In today's practice, Manager Morse allowed Murray to take his turn at hitting, and even allowed Murray to pose for the photographers with a bat in his hand. Murray said he was feeling great, and that his old souper never felt better.

Steers Limber Up

A long hitting session and a snappy infield workout limbered the Steers up for their play-off. Morse said there would be no change in the Dallas lineup. Murray and McMullen will form the battery. Bonura, first base; James, second; Morehart, shortstop, and Holman at third will be the infield. Langford, left field; Purdy or Jeanes, center, and Radcliff in right will be the starting outfield.

Izzy Goldstein, who has enjoyed his share of luck against the Steers this season, will probably oppose Murray. In the recent four-game series at Beaumont, a series that put Dallas into the lead for the second half pennant, Goldstein was the only pitcher to beat the Herd. Reiber, one of the finest young catchers in the Texas league in years, will be Goldstein's battery mate.

Manager Del Baker will probably stick to the lineup that finished the season. It was Greenberg, first base; Holley, second; Newsome, shortstop; Benton, third; Easterling, left field; Tauby, center field, and Fritz or Hughes, right field.

Won't Be Broadcast

Powerful radio stations will be prohibited from broadcasting the play-off series. J. Alvin Gardner, president of the league, had this to say regarding the broadcast:

"The contending clubs have decided against a descriptive play by play broadcast of the games by radio stations in the towns where the games are being played. In other words, no home games are to be broadcast. As to the road games, it will be permissible for WRR in Dallas (stations of 500 watts or less) to broadcast the games played at Beaumont and the Beaumont station will be allowed to broadcast the games played in Dallas. The limit of 500 watts was stipulated with the view of prohibiting the big radio stations from bringing about through broadcast what would be equivalent to a "home" broadcast.

"Any descriptive service furnished to newspapers must be accepted by the newspapers for publication only and not for broadcast over their radio stations. I am sure an agreement similar to this will be reached between the contending clubs in the Dixie series this year.

Crowell Cats Blank Knox City Nine, 11-0

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Sept. 12.—The Crowell Cats shut out the Knox City club of the Brazos Valley league here Sunday by the score of 11 to 0. William Bell, pitching his first game since early in the season, held the visitors to six hits and never was in danger of being scored on but twice, once in the first inning and in the eighth. He had the Brazos Valley boys swinging at his slow ball and also a terrific fast ball that left them guessing.

Lewis Mints was the star hitter of the day with a double, triple and home run. The Knox City infield made several costly errors to help run up the score as Crowell only got eight hits. Score:

Coyotes Resume Training Routine

The Coyotes were back at their task Monday, and the usual heavy workout marked the beginning of the second week of training for the approaching football season. Under the direction of Head Coach Jefferies, and Assistants Bill Morris and Charlie Lindsey, the entire squad went through a drill that included most of the fundamentals.

Morris took charge of the linemen for an extended session of charging, while Jefferies and Lindsey supervised a spectacular workout in tackling and blocking. The fine looking huskies seeking berths on Jefferies' backfield were given a large potion of tackling drill.

Jefferies also experimented with one of the huskiest backfield combinations in the history of the school. The biggest of the quartet were Preston Thompson, 195-pound training camp sensation, and Olin Burnett, a 193-pounder who enjoys the distinction of wearing a No. 12 shoe. When this giant showed up for fall practice Jefferies had to wire in haste to an equipment company for an oversize pair of shoes. Burnett has other distinctions, however. He is a hard blocker and tackler and apparently will run a big race with other aspirants for backfield posts.

The other two backfielders were the veteran "Dub" Hawthorne, a 180-pounder, and Weldon Beck, who tips the scales at 160 pounds.

One major change was noted yesterday in that R. J. Byrd, Coyote lineman the past two years, has been transferred to the backfield brigade. The shift appeared amply justified yesterday as Byrd was among the pace-setters in the heavy tackling diet. He is a low and hard tackler, a good blocker, and is fleet of foot.

Vernon McDaniel was on the sidelines yesterday and will be out for a few days as the result of strained shoulder ligaments, sustained in last Saturday's practice. McDaniel is a lineman.

With the opening of classes in the school yesterday about 10 newcomers made their appearance at the camp. Most of them were little fellows. Workouts will continue daily at 4 p. m.

Electra Gridmen Hard At Work

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 12.—The candidates for a berth on the Tiger football squad are receiving daily workouts under the supervision of Head Coach W. W. Gibson and Assistant Coaches E. M. Tampke and Wilbur Presson. With seven letter men available in addition to a number of second string men from last year's team prospects look brighter than they have in some time. The first game will be with Matador during the last of September. Harvey Stanford, mentor of the Tigers for five years, is now head coach at Matador, and a hard battle is anticipated.

The Tigers will play their first conference game here with their old rivals, the Wichita Falls Coyotes. The game is scheduled for Oct. 8. However, if present plans are completed, floodlights will be erected on the field by that time and the game may be changed to the night of Oct. 7.

Vernon Lions Go Into Second Week of Drill

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 12.—Candidates for the Lion football squad Monday returned to the one-practice-a-day routine, after a week of two workouts daily. The opening of the second week of practice here was also marked by the starting of work on developing a passing attack, and the continuance of drills on running plays, on blocking, tackling and kicking, both punting and placement kicking in the latter subject.

The discarding of the place-kicking system as a method of adding extra points after touchdowns is being seriously considered by Head Coach W. C. Weir and it is likely that any extra points registered by the Vernon eleven this year will be through passes or charges at the line. The Lions have not had a capable placement kicker since the graduation of Capt. Robert Cox four years ago.

BRONCS STRONG AT CLARENDON

Squad of 50, With Eight Letter Men, at Work

By SAM BRASWELL
Record News Correspondent

CLARENDON, Texas, Sept. 12.—Over 50 stalwart huskies have been driven through their initial week of conditioning exercises and fundamental drills by Coaches Frank Stocking and John Hutton as they aim the district and bidistrict grid champions to their third district title this fall. The Broncho squad is the largest ever to grace the Maroon and White of Clarendon High school, boasting eight letter men from last year's great team which marched to the bidistrict throne with only one touchdown being registered by the opposition. A splendid nucleus of reserves and squadmen of last year supplemented by the most promising group of rural school transfers make up one of the most imposing arrays of football talent ever assembled on a class B gridiron.

Flashy Backs Return

While the majority of the experts of the Panhandle are bemoaning the chances of the Bronchos to repeat this year as they recall that such stars as Captain Nichols, powerful fullback; Fred Reid, sensational halfback, and Tony Watson, F. L. Behrens, Easterling and Morris, star linemen will represent the champions on the gridiron no more, they fail to consider the return to the Broncho corral of two of the flashiest high school backs who were lost to the squad last year through scholastic ailments. These are Hudson, half, and Whitlock, quarterback. Both are in the pink of condition and are determined to stage a comeback which will quicken the heartbeat of their many admirers. Another who seems destined to become one of the greatest athletes turned from the local institution is Boles, a transfer from a rural school. This youngster has brought smiles to the faces of all the railbirds and also a few cheering remarks from the two Broncho mentors. Still another transfer who may break into the lineup is Turnbow, 135-pound flash, and Arthur Davis, a 1930 squadman who was absent last season, but back this year with considerable more weight and a world of fire and determination to utilize his wonderful speed to the annoyance of the opposition this fall. Then of course the veteran backs of last season, Captain Snooks Andis, Elery Watson and T. J. Mann, will be back to give the new men plenty of competition in every department.

Strong Line Promised

Letter men returning for the line include Martin, McMahan, Watters, Greene and Easterling. To these will be supplemented Cooke, Gorman, Halle, Linders, McCrary, O'Neal and Jackson, last year reserves and Hughes, Clemmons, Johnson, transfers; and O. C. Watson, elongated end, who returns to the Bronchos this year after an enforced intermission last season due to classroom difficulties.

Uniforms will probably be issued the latter part of this week to the candidates with heavy scrimmage and signal drill consuming the following week.

The 1932 Broncho machine will be attired in brilliant new equipment from shoe to helmet and will be one of the most handsomely attired grid units in this part of the state. Jerseys of dark maroon with white shoulder and cuff stripes, maroon helmets, new pants and white warmup jersies will feature the Broncho attire this fall. To add to the equipment College park was sodded with bermuda last spring and at the present is a beautiful thick green carpet of grass, affording one of the best playing fields in West Texas.

Open With Quitaque

The Bronchos open the season Sept. 30 at Quitaque and then return to their own range where they are hosts to Claude, Hollis, Okla., Shamrock, Wellington and McLean on successive week-ends before leaving again on armistice where they will invade the domain of the swirling Memphis Cyclones, traditional rivals, for the final contest before the district play-off begins.

Oilers Start Practice For Second Title Tilt

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 12.—The Electra Oilers have a stiff week of practice in view as the second of the championship series will be played Sunday at Tipton. Tipton carried off the first game here Sunday, 3-0. An Oiler victory next Sunday will mean another game to be played at Vernon. Although Tipton is favored in the series, Electra fans who have been following the Oilers all summer believe the Oilers still have a splendid chance at the championship.

SOUTHEAST OF GRAHAM

The Rathke Oil company No. 1 J. A. Allen, a deep test located in the N. Lynch survey, abstract 171, southeast of Graham in south Young county, has spudded in and is drilling at a depth of 600 feet.

NORTHWEST OF ANARENE

W. B. Hamilton No. 2 A. J. Ikard, located in the J. J. Young survey, abstract 664, north of Anarene in Archer county, is underreaming to set 8¼-inch pipe at a depth of 983 feet.

SOUTHWEST OF SUNSHINE STATE

A Saute and associates No. 1 L. F. Wilson, located in southwest quarter of northwest quarter of block 1, section 94, A. T. N. C. L. survey, southwest of the Sunshine State pool three miles in Archer county, a deep test, has pulled pipe and abandoned at a total depth of 2500 feet.

JACK COUNTY TEST

Peery and associates No. 1 J. M. Box, located in the Sam Chairs survey, abstract 55, in the Bryson pool of Jack county, is drilling at 650 feet.

NORTH OF TEDFORD

The Texas Plains Oil company's No. 1 J. Lemmons, a wildcat about two miles north of the Tedford shallow pool, in the south 80 acres of block 3, Nunelly survey, failed to extend the pool's production and is a dry hole at a depth of 903 feet.

SOUTH YOUNG FAILURE

Art Tucker and others No. 1 J. F. Gilmore, in the south half of north half of section 3, B. B. B. survey, abstract 27, south Young, is dry at 2670 feet.

NORTH OF ARCHER CITY

Reports from the Helena Oil and Gas company and Kork Kelly showed the well which came in last week a much better producer than was first reported. The well, a wildcat and the first producer from the 1130-foot sand on the east side of the Wichita Falls and Southern tracks, is located in Wm. Henry survey, abstract 163, on the M. B. Ray land about one and a half miles northeast of Archer City. First reports from the well indicated it was the usual 40 to 50 barreler, but later, when swabbing, it showed the earmarks of between 350 to 400 barrels from the seven feet of sand. No more sand will be drilled and the well will be placed on the pump. No. 2 location has been staked out to the north, and the derrick is being erected. South of the producer Wayne King and others are ready to start drilling on No. 1 King in their 20 acres in the same survey.

DEEP OIL DUSTER

The Deep Oil Development No. 1 Jehlik, located in the southeast corner of block 123, J. W. Harris subdivision, north of Archer City in Archer county, failed to pick up the 1130 sand and was later abandoned as a dry hole at 1150 feet.

YOUNG COUNTY TEST

Primrose Refining company No. 2 Barnett-Gibbs, located in the southwest quarter of section 2245, T. E. L. survey north of Newcastle in Young county, is drilling at 300 feet.

Herbert Scales Again Appears Before Judge

DALLAS, Sept. 12. (UP)—Herbert Scales, scion of a once wealthy family and well known clubman, was hailed into police court here today, his second trip to court this year.

A few months ago, he was tried in Memphis, Tenn., and acquitted on charges of participating in a bank robbery there.

Scales and William Barnett, husky news hawker, engaged in a fist fight recently, and Barnett was the unofficial victor. They were arraigned today, charged with affray. Scales said Barnett made a habit of passing his place of business and yelling his names as being connected with a robbery. Barnett denied it.

Judge Cavin Muse fined them $5 each.

BOUT DATE SET

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Friday, Sept. 23, today was set as the definite date for the Max Schmeling-Mickey Walker 15-round fight at the Madison Square garden bowl. In case of rain, the bout will be held the following night.

Absent Minded Electra Woman Misplaces Small Son

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 12.—Absent-minded professors have nothing on an Electra woman. She came to town Saturday; did her shopping, and when she went to her car she noticed that her small boy was not in the car. She began a search at once and was soon joined by others who looked everywhere for the boy. The search continued until the mother suddenly remembered that she had left the boy at home.

SCHOOLS NAME TAX COLLECTOR

Roy Jones Employed to Receive Payments

Roy Jones of Wichita Falls has been named delinquent tax collector for the Wichita Falls independent school district with the passage of tax relief legislation last week by the state legislature, Supt. H. D. Fillers announced Monday. The bill withholding interest and penalties on delinquent taxes until Jan. 1, 1933, was signed by Gov. R. S. Sterling late last week.

More than $500,000 in delinquent taxes are listed on the books of the school board, Mr. Fillers said. More than $200,000 of this amount became delinquent in the 1931-32 session with the remainder overdue from the 1930-31 and previous terms. Mr. Jones will devote his entire time on delinquent collections.

Jack Hall Murder Trial Is Begun at Pecos

PECOS, Texas, Sept 12. (AP)—The murder trial of Jack Hall, accused slayer of T. C. Barnsley, prominent West Texas rancher, began here today.

The case was trasferred to Pecos on a change of venue after a previous trial in Crane county at which Hall was convicted and sentenced to 30 years imprisonment. The case was appealed and Hall was granted a new trial.

Barnsley was killed last year, purportedly in a dispute over a transaction involving land on the Pecos river.

Depression Not Over Says Socialist Leader

METUCKEN, N. J., Sept. 12. (UP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, charged in a speech here that the Hoover administration is misleading the people in representing that the economic depression is passing.

"I am here to tell you," Thomas said, "that the depression is not over, not with 11,400,000 persons out of work."

WOMEN FORM ATHLETIC CLUB

'Fats' and 'Leans' at Electra Perfect Organization

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 12.—Members of the "Fats" and "Leans" baseball teams, at a special meeting recently perfected the organization of a women's athletic association to be known as the Fat and Lean Athletic association. Mrs. Dannie Dale was chosen manager; Myrtle Russell, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. John C. Greene, captain of the "Fats," and Mrs. J. L. Wright, captain of the "Leans." The purpose of the club will be to reduce the fats and to fatten the leans and to play benefit games under the auspices of civic organizations.

The association is making arrangements to match games with out-of-town teams. No definite place of practice has been selected. However, the ladies hope to secure a vacant building for that purpose. Basket ball, baseball and other sports will be included on the program during the winter if present plans work out. Members of the two baseball teams will be the charter members along with Mrs. W. A. Gault, Dr. N. E. Leonard and Mrs. C. C. Lynch, who were elected honorary members because of their loyalty to the teams.

Present at the meeting were Mesdames P. N. Goodale, John Greene, Steve Rumore, Dannie Dale, J. L. Wright, H. D. Miller, C. W. Thomas, W. F. Hosch, C. A. Hodges, Frank Fisher, G. F. Lebus and Dick Kettle and Miss Myrtle Russell.

Shrine Leaders Give $35 to Parade Fund

Contributions totaling $35 for the historic floats division of the golden jubilee parade for Sept. 27 were received Monday night at a banquet honoring Arthur Kelly, president of the Shrine Recorders Association of North America, at the Wichita club. Mr. Kelly contributed $10 and his donation was matched by Leslie Swan, past president and present India temple recorder at Oklahoma City.

Mr. Kelly then ordered Recorder Al Ellis of Maskat temple to donate $15 to the parade. Mr. Ellis also is secretary-treasurer of the National Recorders association. Shrine Director Kindel Paulk is chairman of the Junior chamber of commerce civic parade committee and welcomed the donations.

Mr. Kelly and Mr. Swan will be honored at the Shrine Luncheon club Tuesday at the Wichita club and at a stag wrestling party following a Maskat business meeting Tuesday night.

Candidate for Governor Cancels Address Here

George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth, candidate for governor of Texas in the November election, rested in Wichita Falls Monday night after cancelling a speaking engagement at the courthouse here. Mr. Armstrong said the name of his party would be changed to either the Independent Democratic party or the Jacksonian Democratic party. Both names were certified to the secretary of state Monday morning. However, the Independent name has previously been ruled out by the state secretary, he said. Armstrong plans to speak here late in the campaign.

The party has been known as the Good Government party. Armstrong plans to speak at Iowa Park at 11 a. m. Tuesday, Burkburnett, 3 p. m.; Electra, 5 p. m., and Vernon at 8 p. m., filling four engagements daily on a tour calling for 280 addresses.

Man Kills Stepfather In Mother's Defense

MARVEL, Ark., Sept. 12, (INS)—Asserting he acted in defense of his mother, J. D. Graves, 38, today shot and killed his stepfather, N. T. Guthrie, 70.

Surrending immediately after the shooting, Graves said Guthrie was threatening him and his mother when the shooting occurred.

Disheartening Search Continues For Members of 'Flying Family'

ANGMAGSALIK, Greenland, Sept. 12. (AP)—By land, sea and air, men of five nations carried on a disheartening search in this vicinity tonight for the American aviator, George R. Hutchinson, and his "flying family."

More than 24 hours had passed since last distress calls were heard from the Hutchinson plane, forced down in the sea while carrying eight persons, two of them children, on another stage of a leisurely flight across the Atlantic. The area from which the signals came has been crossed and recrossed by planes and ships.

The search was the more poignant because of the fear for the children—the two young daughters of Hutchinson. His wife, Peter Redpath, navigator; Gerald Altfilisch, radio operator; Joseph Ruff, mechanic, and Norman Alley, newsreel cameraman, were also in the plane.

Word came tonight from Copenhagen, saying Prime Minister Theodore Stauning ordered that neither expense nor effort be spared by the Danish government in carrying on the search along the deeply indented coast studded with islands and made treacherous by icebergs.

Grace Williams And Orville Medford Win Audition Contests For District

Emerging from the largest and most impressive fields ever assembled for a radio audition here, Miss Grace Williams, coloratura soprano, and Orville Medford, tenor, were declared winners Monday night of the annual Atwater Kent audition contest in the Wichita Falls district, and will represent this section in the state contest at Dallas soon.

Miss Thelma Adams, lyric soprano, and Joe Uttz, baritone, captured second places. Judges, who heard the contestants through a radio in the residence section, were Mesdames Pearl Calhoun Davis, Lucille Brooks Huff and Edwin A. Bebb. Ethel Allen Nelson, local violin instructor, supervised the enlistment of contestants, and their presentation in competition Monday night. Both in number of entries, and in a sustained standard of musicianship, the 1932 contest eclipsed any formerly conducted in this city.

Other entries were Misses Ruth Pruitt, Evelyn Franklin, Rose Marion Art, Thelma Moss of Electra, Dorothy Lindsey, Eloise Wofford, Viola Grace Doern and Virla Howell; Messrs. Horace Logan, T. H. Cogdill of Quanah, A. J. Slayton, Homer Gilbert and Ed Reeder.

Miss Williams used "Charmante d'Oiseau" by David, and Mr. Medford sang D'Hardelot's "Because" to win first places. They were accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr. and Miss Lorene Tucker, respectively.

Little Hope Held For Injured Steeplejack

The condition of Abie Bean, 26, of New Jersey continued critical late Monday night with physicians at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital holding little hope for his recovery. It was indicated a crisis may be reached in his condition Tuesday morning. Bean suffered three severe fractures about his head at 7 o'clock Sunday evening when he fell 100 feet from the top of a Continental Refining company smokestack.

The injured steeplejack was descending in a boatswain seat after completion of a painting job on the two company stacks when a break in a rope hurled him to the ground. He was employed by the M. W. Kellogg company of New York. Foreman Clarke Culp was attempting to locate a brother of the injured man in Texas.

Wichita Physicians To Address Association

The medical profession of Wichita Falls will be well represented at the convention of the Northwest Texas Medical association at Ranger, Texas, Tuesday. Three Wichitans will appear on the program including Dr. J. A. Heyman, association president, who will respond to the address of welcome.

Dr. Bailey R. Collins will present a paper on "Diverticulitis of the Colon," and Dr. W. B. Whiting will read a paper on "Diagnosis of Heart Disease." Dr. Collins is connected with the Northwest Texas clinic and Dr. Whiting with the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital.

Others planning to attend include Drs. O. T. Kimbrough, C. W. Stevenson, M. H. Glover, R. B. Wolford, and J. E. Haynesworth.

CHURCH MEET OPENS TODAY

Vernon Host to Northwest District Methodists

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 12.—The annual fall meeting of the Vernon district of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference will be held at the First Methodist church here Tuesday, opening at 9 o'clock. More than 200 ministers, lay leaders, Sunday school superintendents, missionary society presidents, and chairmen of board of stewards of this district are expected for the session.

Plans for the closing of the year, Nov. 10, will be made by the officials in conference here, according to Rev. R. A. Stewart of this city, presiding elder of the Vernon district, who will preside at the meeting.

Bishop H. A. Boaz of Houston, bishop of the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist church, will deliver a sermon at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The principal talk on the afternoon program will be given shortly after noon by R. H. Nichols of Vernon, district lay leader.

Counties included in this district are Wilbarger, Hardeman, Childress, Foard and Cottle, and parts of Hall, Knox and Dickens counties.

ALLRED FLAYS OIL COMPANY

Attorney General Attacks Humble in Statement

the punishment prescribed by the statute," Allred asserted.

Allred said he understood it had been the intention of the company, starting today to continue to produce 50 barrels from each of its East Texas wells, "buying from themselves 25 barrels of it and storing for themselves the other 25 barrels but refusing to purchase from independents and other operators to which they were connected more than 25 barrels per day."

Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson said today it was probable the commission would hold a hearing in East Texas in the near future to hear testimony on charges that oil is being stolen and conservation orders of the commission violated. Thompson said the testimony would be adduced under oath.

Injunction Commended

Commissioner Thompson commended the action of Attorney General Allred in filing the injunction suit against the Humble companies.

Judge Robertson said Farish and Hanrahan evidently misunderstood the terms of the injunction.

"You evidently misinterpreted the terms of the injunction granted by me last night because you intimated that because of same you were withdrawing your offer to store oil in the areas involved," Judge Robertson today wired Farish and Hanrahan.

"The state did not even ask that you be restrained, nor were you restrained from transporting as a common carrier or storing oil as a public utility in any way. The injunction or order only prevented your pipe line company from unlawfully disconnecting from any wells to which it was connected and further ordered your company to purchase oil from those to whom you were connected in the same amount and of the same proportion that you take oil from your own wells in the same field.

"This telegram is sent merely to relieve any misapprehensions you might be laboring under."

Farish issued a statement at Houston stating "we cannot and will not purchase any more crude than we can consume and sell."

Farish stated the Humble had followed the policy of sharing its market outlet with its customers even before the passage of the common purchaser law.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A GASOLINE MIRACLE—On Dec. 8, 1922, 34 city blocks of the business section of Astoria Ore., burned, resulting in the destruction of the entire district and leaving only a smoldering mass of ruins. Because of the tremendous amount of gasoline stored in underground tanks of filling stations and garages, a series of explosions was momentarily expected. But paradoxically enough the gasoline was the only commodity salvaged from the flames.

FANNED 32 BATTERS AND LOST—Harry Ponas, pitching for the Holy Cross Boys club of Scranton, Pa., on May 7, 1932, struck out 32 batters of the Cathedral club, yet lost the game by a score of 7-6. The game went 15 innings. Ponas gave up only seven scattered hits during the game, but was the victim of ragged and loose playing by his mates whose errors allowed the runs of the opposition.

Where There Ain't No Ten Commandments

happened. I protested in several languages, while the young man held onto my arm as if I was likely to dematerialize in front of him. Then we were in his sitting room alternately apologizing and explaining. When I found he was determined to carry out the orders received from Touggourt, rage made me forget the last shreds of a dignity already impaired by my disguise and I made a ridiculous dash for the window. My sandal caught in the fringe of a rug and I should have fallen on to my nose if the Frenchman hadn't been considerably less clumsy than I was.

In his arms, I was conscious of the charm of eager eyes and lips perilously near my own, but I was so furiously angry and bitter and disappointed that for a second I thought of using the Ouled Nail bracelet. Had he tried to hold me, I should have done so—and regretted it—but he let me go at once.

"I am sorry, madame, but what would you have me do—" he began to talk of the dangers of the southern routes, Toureg raiders, sandstorms, waterless deserts, the possibility of treachery and slave-trading and all the rest of it! I didn't listen to a word he said. I remembered that the caravan was going to start in one hour—in two hours at most. I must get out of the house before then, but I must wait until the very last moment. If I could lose myself among the crowd as the hundreds of beasts started southwards amidst all the confusion of delayed loadings, of arguments and last arrangements, I might yet escape.

A servant came in with a lamp. "You will dine with me, won't you madame? Then one must make arrangements for your stay—"

I murmured something about giving a great deal of trouble and tried to look as if there was no more hope left in me.

The Frenchman seemed relieved. He plied me with questions, cigarets and aperetifs, but I noticed that he placed his chair where it commanded the only means of exit.

Time raced while we talked. I wondered what was happening by the stream. They must be loading the camels. Excitement blazed in me, but it was fed by conflicting impulses.

I had watched the servant laying the table and I saw a chance of escape. We drew up our chairs and still the Frenchman was between me and the open door. He was teasing me. "If you are of the country, you must drink leghbi. Have you ever tried it?"

He leaned across to fill my glass with the raw syruppy spirit extracted from palm soap and we took stock of each other, our faces barely a foot apart. I said to myself, "He's rather nice—it would be fun to say—" and then as his smile mocked me gently, gaily, for he was obviously delighted with the adventure, I thought, "No I won't be beaten. I'm going to get away—" Unobstrusively, I picked up the little jar of pulverized peppercorn. At first, I had thought of using it as vitrol; then I remembered half a dozen wild young people experimenting at Claridges with peppered cocktails. The result had been catastrophic.

"I can't drink leghbi neat," I protested.

"It is said that the English like everything, except sport, diluted—" he suggested and turned to look for some water.

Simultaneously, I emptied the red pepper into his drink. It did not show in the thickish brown liquid.

A moment later the man raised his glass. "To your courage, madame, and to my luck!"

I made some sort of reply. My face was scarlet, my voice shook. The Frenchman misinterpeted the signs. Perhaps he was justified—it had been stimulating, that hour on the extreme edge of civilization; I wished it could have been prolonged.

"To us!" he said, "you permit?" and tilting back his head, swallowed the mixture in one gulp.

For a second he remained rigid. Then, choking and spluttering, he fell across the table. I was on my feet and half-way to the door, before he attempted to intervene. His chair crashed backwards as he struggled upright, but his breath came in gasps and all he could do was to stagger against the wall.

That was the last I saw of him, but I never felt less triumphant than when, after a wild race through the palms, I managed to scramble into a litter at the tail end of the caravan. While explaining my undesired presence to a number of extremely surprised women, I wondered why I had taken such a lot of trouble to do what I no longer wanted!

25. FOR RENT, MISCELLANEOUS

DO YOU NEED REVENUE?

That set of unrented office rooms is "eating its head off." It's a part of your business overhead which includes taxes, interest charges, etc.

An unrented house, either business or residence or a spare room, offers the same problem to the home owner. You have no justification in assuming they can't be rented until you have put your problem up to Want-Ad Headquarters. If they can be rented at all, Daily Times-Record News Classified Ads will do the work at the lowest cost—two papers for the cost of one.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Cotton prices broke about $2.50 a bale today, sending values down more than $7 a bale from the levels prevailing when government crop estimate was published last Thursday.

The decline was accompanied by heavy liquidation and southern selling. The December position sold down to 7.72, a net loss of 53 points from Saturday's final closing at 7.80, while the general market closed barely steady at 42 to 45 points net decline.

The opening was 12 to 14 points lower in response to weakness in Liverpool. There was a considerable volume of selling orders in the market for southern account, indicating increased hedging operations.

Weakness in the stock and wheat markets contributed to the general lack of confidence in cotton values. The trade was a fair buyer on declines but demand from this source was limited and apparently the mills had lost some of their recent confidence in the market owing to the sharp declines and to the falling off in the demand for textiles. The official figures on carded cotton cloths for August showing the lowest mill stocks ever recorded by the present authorities and an increase in unfilled orders of 113.1 per cent had no apparent influence on the market.

Exports today 40,508, making 732,281 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,327,443.

Futures closed barely steady. 42-45 lower. Oct. 7.64@7.65; Dec. 7.80@7.82; Jan. 7.86@7.87; March 8.02@8.03; May 8.12@8.14; July 8.21@8.22. Spot quiet; middling 7.75.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12. (AP)—Cotton turned downward again today on hedge selling, long liquidation uncovering stop loss orders, weakness in stocks and grain, coupled with continued favorable weather, and the close showed net declines of 45 to 49 points.

Manchester cabled the feeling in the cloth market was more optimistic regarding the strike.

Although there were slight rallies from time to time, prices showed a steady downward trend and prices reached lows for the day in the late trading with October at 7.60, December to 7.73 and January at 7.81 or 51 to 53 points below the close of Saturday. There was a rally of 5 to 7 points at the end on satisfied shorts covering and the three active months closed at net declines of 46 to 47 points.

The textile statistics for August issued at the opening showed sales of cotton goods during the month to have reached 282.4 per cent of production and unfilled orders at the close of the month were 113.1 per cent larger than at the close of July.

Liverpool was due tomorrow on New Orleans 10 to 11 penny points down.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—Cotton prices broke sharply on general liquidation and hedge pressure, but rallied moderately before the close. Final prices on the board of trade were 38-45 points net lower. This represents a decline of more than $2.00 per bale for the day. The opening was 8-13 points down on cables that were 5 points more than due. Weakness soon developed when securities and grain developed a downward turn and continued until December had traded at 7.84 or ½c per pound lower. A moderate rally followe in late business. The Textile Merchants' association issued a report Saturday which was very bullish, but was ignored.

Stocks Suffer Reaction To Recent Spirited Market And Prices Tumble

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (US)—Stocks suffered a sharp decline today, taking their immediate cue from weakness in the speculative division of the bond list and from weakness in leading commodities.

Cotton resumed its slump inaugurated with the crop estimate published by the government last week, and sold at new low price for the present reaction. Wheat and other grains joined the general decline.

The break in stocks, which was substantial despite efforts by the enthusiasts to minimize its degree, came rather suddenly, despite fairly wide expectation of a "setback for corrective purposes." To many speculators, sold on bullishness, the reaction went further than their own anticipations, or hopes.

It was a day of general reaction in all the principal markets; the fact that it had been delayed in stocks accentuated the reaction once it set in.

Volume was not particularly enormous, though the 4,000,000-share aggregate equaled Friday's pace. Prices were declining most of the day, and finished not far above the minimum levels.

Frankly, a stiff shake-out in the stock market has been called for long before this. In the wild churning of stocks, however, by the bull pools, sight was lost of the greatly impaired technical position of the market irrespective of the fundamentals.

Publication after the close on Saturday of the official short interest figures emphasized the impaired technical condition. Instead of an expanding short account, which would represent a building up of protection behind the market's uptrend, the bear interest was reduced 11 per cent to an amount rather insignificant when contrasted with the active trading recently.

The decline today in prices was not especially rapid, but the absence of a short account was quite noticeable; rallies were feeble for the day at least.

The news was not at all reassuring, including as it did the accentuated discussion of the possibility that the veteran's bonus movement may gain momentum. The Maine election outcome was still in doubt.

Increase in U. S. Steel's unfilled orders by a meager margin during August was somewhat reassuring, even though it failed to measure up to the exaggerated estimate broadcast last week. Its principal significance lay in the change of trend after 16 months of decline.

What was the touch-off development in the market, however, was the announcement that the Interstate Commerce commission had approved a loan to the Nickel Plate railroad of but 25 per cent of maturity requirements in the near future.

It has been the accepted custom of late to anticipate a 50 per cent loan by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to railroads in financial difficulties, and a great deal of speculation has been taking place in the railroad bonds on this assumption.

The shock instituted by the 25 per cent approval found disastrous repercussion in the Nickel Plate issues, with one obligation breaking 16 points below Saturday's price. The weakness spread to other speculative bonds, and soon extended itself into stocks.

Now it will be the task of the market sponsors to calm the speculative sentiment and stabilize the price structure. A resumption of the advance presumably will be attempted as soon as stabilization is achieved.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 12. (AP)—Demand was very good Monday for all offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market except the sorghums.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate or Texas common points:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing, 56@58c.

Barley—No. 2 nominally, 33½@35½c; No. 3, 30½@31½c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo, nominally, per 100 pounds, 64@65c; No. 2 kaffir, 63@65c.

Delivered Texas common points or group three:

Corn—No. 2 mixed nominally, 41½@42½c; No. 2 white nominally, 44@47c; No. 2 yellow nominally, 44@46c.

Delivered Texas common points:

Oats—No. 3 red, 24@25c; No. 3 red, 20½@21½c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—Shaken by breaks both in securities and cotton, grains suffered sharp setbacks today, with corn and oats outdoing the season's previous bottom price record.

Enlarged estimates of 1932 wheat production in Europe, especially France, tended to accelerate price downturns. A fresh increase of the United States wheat visible supply gave point also to assertions that despite virtual failure of the domestic winter crop, North America had a better wheat yield than in 1931, with prospects of feeding 100,000,000 bushels less.

Wheat closed unstead at the day's lowest level, 1⅝@2 cents under Saturday's finish, corn 1⅝@1½c down, oats unchanged to ⅝c off and provisions at 12 to 27 cents decline.

Stop loss selling accompanied the fall of wheat values, and despite brisk buying at times for houses with connections east, the market tumbled to more than 4½ cents under last week's high and the lowest point touched in nearly a month. Particular disappointment resulted from scantiness of export business, which totaled but 500,000 bushels, all Canadian, notwithstanding that supplies on ocean passage were down to 20,872,000 bushels. This is the smallest amount recorded in years and equal to less than two weeks' requirements of importing countries.

Declines in corn led to some talk of export business, but handlers said prices were still out of line. Shipping demand for corn, however, improved. Oats followed corn and wheat downgrade.

Closing indemnities: Wheat: Sept. 49⅝ bids; Dec. 51½@⅝c, 55⅛@⅝c; May 58⅝@⅝c, 60⅝@½c. Corn: Dec. 30⅛@⅛c, 31⅝c; May 35c, 36c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (US)—Buying of September corn by local cash houses on the break today was reflected in reported sales of 155,000 bushels of cash grain for shipment. Pit observers reported there was fair buying of December wheat on the dip to 54⅝c which aided in checking the decline.

Wheat harvest in north Manchuria is about one-third of last year's crop because of excessive rains, flood damage and reduced acreage, according to O. L. Dawson of the department of agriculture.

The Bulletin Des Halles estimates the French wheat crop at 388,000,000 bushels, compared with its previous prediction of 368,000,000 and last year's official final estimate of 264,000,000. A government report recently placed the crop at 332,000,000 bushels.

For the first time in more than a year there were several cars of No. 3 yellow corn here yesterday on a consignment basis. Bids were ⅝c under December.

Rainfall for the first 10 days of September was locally irregular but moderately heavy in Ohio, Indiana and southern Illinois, light in Iowa and fairly normal in Missouri. Oklahoma was generally dry despite scattered showers, while Kansas, Nebraska and the spring wheat territory was markedly deficient and in many localities entirely without rain.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Cotton goods opened quiet today with prices barely steady in the gray goods division following a sharp decline in cotton. Overcoatings were in better demand. Less pressure to buy was noted in rayon markets. Silk good continued in steady call, chiefly crepes. Burlaps opened steady.

W. B. Hamilton Addresses Kiwanis Club

Improved economic conditions will result from activities of the new home loan banks, from a lowering of the daily allowable oil runs in East Texas, and from new cotton crop reports to be issued soon, W. B. Hamilton declared before members of the Kiwanis club at the Wichita club Monday noon.

Prevention of foreclosures on homes and other property, and of the closing of banks, is the principal benefit to be derived from the home loan bank system, the speaker said.

Conditions in the Southwest have been hurt by the railroad commission's recent increase in allowable production of oil, and by the cotton report issued recently by the government, Mr. Hamilton said. Further analysis of the cotton situation will prove encouraging, however, the speaker asserted, since cotton acreage will be lessened by recent rains.

Privileged to draw upon the home loan banks for backing, building and loan associations, savings banks, etc., will be enabled to pay all taxes, the speaker stated. He added that by Oct. 15, by virtue of amendments now being made by the legislature, $125,000,000 will become available for loans on homes and mortgages.

Miss Josephine Gutowski, accompanied by Miss Lorene Tucker, sang several numbers. D. O. Wilson was program chairman.

Three Wichitans Face Charges After Detectives Recover Stolen Goods

Charges of receiving and concealing stolen property were filed before Justice of the Peace R. V. Gwinn Monday afternoon against Kenneth Roy Tabor, Emil Young, and Lewis Breeden after city and county officers has recovered about 30 leather vests stolen from a traveling salesman's automobile while it was parked before a downtown hotel here last May 10.

City Detectives Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson and Deputy Sheriff Pat Allen recovered the goods and made the arrests. Bond in amount of $1,000 each was perfected by each of the defendants Monday afternoon, it was announced by Sheriff Perry Browning.

The merchandise recovered Monday was taken from the car of John O'Brien, Waco salesman, last May. A large part of the articles reported as stolen at that time was recovered a few days after the robbery occurred when three youths were arrested near the Wichita river.

According to George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, the jackets were seized at Young's home. Breeden was accused of having negotiated the sale of the goods to the other two defendants.

A charge of burglary was filed Monday morning against Robert Carter in connection with the robbery of the R. E. Tuck home, 410 Front street, last week. District Attorney Sam B. Spence took the complaint. Carter was given a suspended sentence of five years here several months ago on a burglary charge. He was arrested Saturday night by Detectives Roberson and Hart.

Two Youths Accepted For Service in Navy

Jack Atnipp of this city and Luther C. Gregory of Jolly have been accepted at the local naval recruiting office for enlistment in the U. S. navy on Sept. 22, representing the September quota for the Wichita Falls district, according to Thomas Hall, local recruiting officer.

Atnipp is the son of Ammesieh Atnipp, 708 Travis street, while Gregory is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory of Jolly. Both are high school graduates, Gregory having been valedictorian of his graduating class at Jolly, according to Mr. Hall.

Both youths will report Sept. 22 to the Dallas recruiting station for final examinations before departing for San Diego.

Funeral Services Held For R. B. Tompkins

Funeral services for R. B. Tompkins, 54, 710 Travis, were held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Hines mortuary chapel with the Rev. L. S. White, First Church of Christ pastor, officiating. Burial was in Riverside.

Mr. Tompkins died Sunday morning at his home after a short illness. He had resided in Wichita Falls 23 years and had followed the carpenter trade.

Pallbearers were Jack Voss, Payne Hill, Joe Wisdom, George Wiest, Clifford Panplin, and B. N. Blankenship.

Survivors are the widow, two daughters, Mrs. R. M. Marshall and Miss Moraine Tompkins; four sons, J. B., Clayton, Robert and Charles Tompkins; a grandson, Eugene Marshall, all of this city; and a brother, George Tompkins of Cleveland, Texas.

Eight Guilty Pleas In County Court Trials

Eight pleas of guilty were entered before Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court at law Monday on misdemeanor charges, with each defendant drawing a small fine and costs.

Another defendant was tried Monday afternoon on a charge of theft over $5 before a jury. He was accused of having robbed the cash register in a local paint store recently. The jury was dismissed until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock after hearing arguments of attorneys.

CHAMBLESS HELD HERE

Joe Chambless, indicted last week by the July grand jury for child desertion, was returned Monday by Deputy Sheriff H. L. White from Pampa and placed in the Wichita county jail.

HIGH SCHOOL ROLLS CLIMB

Ward Buildings Report Decline of 250

First-day registrations of the Wichita Falls public schools Monday revealed a gain in students in all high schools and the Junior college over the first day of the 1931-32 session, although the 14 ward buildings reported a total loss of 250 pupils. Registrations totaled 7,521 as compared to 7,771 a year ago.

The rush of parents enrolling young sons and daughters in the grade schools for the first time resulted in numerous traffic jams at various buildings and officers of the police department were kept busy keeping the streets open at several schools.

The senior high school and Junior college classes open at 8:30 a. m. daily and the ward buildings start at 9 o'clock. The full class schedules for the term were followed Monday at all buildings.

Detailed enrollment of pupils as filed with Supt. H. D. Fillers follows: Junior college, 154; senior high, 1,230; Zundelowitz, 530; Reagan, 658; Alamo, 662; Austin, 672; Barwise, 217; Bowie, 163; Carrigan, 447; Crockett, 440; Fannin, 197; Franklin, 320; Huey, 340; Houston, 380; San Jacinto, 411; Travis, 160; Benito Juarez, 22; Washington, 518.

Brick Plant Worker Crushes Foot in Shaft

John Ware, 20, 1210 Bluff, was reported resting as well as possible late Monday night after suffering a critical injury to his left foot about 9 o'clock Monday morning at the Acme Brick company plant. The member was crushed when the end of a drive shaft on machinery he was oiling caught it as Ware stepped on a guarding rail. Two bones were broken and the foot cut deeply.

Ware, who is a son of Plant Supt. W. T. Ware, was rushed to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital by a Hines mortuary ambulance.

Rocky Point P.-T.A. To Hold First Meeting

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 12.—The Rocky Point Parent-Teacher association will hold its initial meeting of the new school year Tuesday night at the schoolhouse. A splendid program has been arranged, and the patrons of the school are urged to attend. School was opened Monday of last week at Rocky Point and the teachers were accorded a welcome by the residents of that community Monday night when a special program was given. Rocky Point has one of the best P.-T. A. units in the county.

Square Dances To Be Jubilee Features

The round of social entertainment for the thousands planning to attend the 50th anniversary party here this month will include two square dances with the services of the best callers of the Wichita area planned for the occasions. Popular fiddle bands have already signed for competition in the string band contest of the jubilee, and the best groups will be employed for the dances.

Six jubilee dances are planned at the same time, two each night with one at the Wichita club and the other at the Kemp hotel. The opening dance at the Wichita club will be played by the Early Bird orchestra of radio station WFAA, already announcing plans over the air for their trip to Wichita Falls, Monday evening, Sept. 26. The orchestra will be accompanied by the WFAA radio circus, presenting Jimmie Jeffries and Olga, Morris Ginsberg, Bob McCracken and Alice Holcomb, torch singer.

The radio circus will be offered as a floor show during the dance and the entire program will go on the air locally over KGKO.

Churches Change Time Of Evening Services

Evening services at Wichita Falls churches will begin at 7:30 o'clock starting next Sunday, Sept. 18, it was announced Monday by Dr. O. L. Powers, ministerial alliance president. A meeting of the group was held Monday morning and plans were made for a city-wide union service the evening of Sept. 25, in connection with the golden jubilee opening the following day. Dr. Powers, the Rev. Ben Bell and the Rev. A. H. Muehlbrad were named on a committee to plan for the joint services at the Memorial auditorium.

RELATIVE OF WICHITANS DIES

Brother-in-Law of R. E. and V. A. Huff Succumbs

Word was received Monday afternoon by V. A. Huff of the death of Robert Skelton, 76, at Scottsboro, Ala. Mr. Skelton was the brother-in-law of R. E. Huff and J. N. Huff of this city. Judge Huff had left for Scottsboro Sunday in response to a message from his sister, Mrs. Skelton, but did not arrive before Mr. Skelton's death. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Scottsboro.

Mr. Skelton is the third of Judge Huff's relatives to die within the past week. A niece, Mrs. Sidney Skelton Hackworth, died last Thursday, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. A. B. Huff of McAllen, died last Friday. Mrs. Hackworth was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Skelton. Mrs. Skelton is now ill, but is reported improving.

Mr. Skelton was a merchant at Scottsboro for many years, retiring a few years ago. He had been in failing health for some time.

Archer City School Enrollment Is 459

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Sept. 12.—Public schools opened here this morning with an enrollment of 459. This figure is expected to be increased next week by transfer from other schools.

Measures of economy have reduced the faculty to 14 this year. Salaries of teachers have been cut 20 per cent. These efforts to reduce expenses were made in order that schools here would run a full nine-months term. Otherwise, school officials pointed out, the high rating established would suffer.

Members of the faculty are Mrs. O. M. Wylie, Miss Thelma Smith, Miss Glenna Johnson, Miss Grace Hardeman, Mrs. Charles C. Hooper, Miss Ruby Range, Mrs. J. A. Gowdy, grade teachers; Miss Lillesse Hays, Spanish and physical education; Miss Helen Mitchell, history and Latin; Mrs. G. R. McNeil, science; Miss Clara B. Simer, English; Floyd Shawver, history and physical education; Jot Hodges, Algebra; Harry V. Pearston, geometry and physics. Mr. Pearston is superintendent; Mr. Hodges is high school principal and coach and Mr. Shawver is assistant coach.

Sting-Ray Wound Fatal For Los Angeles Man

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12. (US)—Blood poisoning, developing in a wound made in his foot by a sting-ray when he was wading in the surf at Long Beach on Sept. 4, caused the death of Sidney Lucas, 33, today at the county hospital.

ATTILA—
"THE SCOURGE OF GOD"
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the great painter, Harvey Dunn . . . inspired by the barbaric cruelty of Asia's most dreaded plunderer . . . "the grass could not grow where his horse had passed" . . . 433-453 A. D.

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies
. . . the mildest cigarette
you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
