A recent issue of "The Campfollower," a publication of the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., which is building the big 48-inch pipeline in the northland, published letters from four Snyder sixth grade students in a recent issue.

"Vicki Holder Johnston of Snyder, Tex., wanted to discuss the Trans Alaska Pipeline with her sixth grade class, so she contacted her father-in-law, Richard Johnston," explained the editor of The Campfollower. "Johnston, Alyeska's Manager of Operations Field Staff, produced a slide show with sixth-graders in mind. Using his own slides, he wove the pipeline theme into a program which included many pictures of flowers, animals and scenery to hold the students' interest and acquaint them with the Alaska invironment.

The pupils responded with letters, some of which were printed by The Campfollower.

"I really liked the slides," wrote LaRhonda Koonce. "I loved the flowers, they were lovely. Especially the blue rounded kind. My uncle was going up there to work, but I don't think he did. I've seen a picture where a man's beard froze, just like that one of yours. I've heard of the pipeline, but have never seen it until the slides were shown. I hope the pipeline will be built pretty soon. Thank you for your time and slides. Good luck with the pipeline."

"Thank you for the pictures and information that you gave us about Alaska," wrote Jesse Zamora. "I like all the slides that Mrs. Johnston showed us. I hope you enjoy your work. How deep do you have to dig to burry the pipelines? You're lucky picking that kind of work. I really enjoyed them."

"Thank you for spending the time and money to have us see those slides," said Danny Brooks. "They were beautiful pictures and the pipeline is very interesting. The devise that took and made diesel fuel for the turbans was quite interesting."

"Thank you for sending us the slides and for helping us kids get through the hard times of life," said Ronny Lindsey." And I hope that you and the other men finish the long pipeline and I hope that you and all the other men don't get very cold."

While Snyder area residents were looking hopefully at the clouds Sunday morning, there was one weather broadcast that told of some intense showers in Southeastern New Mexico and into Texas which were moving this way. But, the report noted that these heavy showers had been observed aloft and were not reaching the ground. Perhaps we've had a lot of good rains through here the past few weeks, but they have flown over us.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, April 6 the 97th day of 1976. There are 269 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1917, President Woodrow Wilson signed a Declaration of War between the United States and Germany.

On this date:

In 1777, Marquis de Lafayette's French volunteers arrived in America to assist in the revolution against Britain.

In 1830, the first Mormon church was organized by Joseph Smith at Fayette, N.Y.

In 1841, Vice President John Tyler was sworn in as the 10th American president after the death of President William Harrison.

In 1909, the American explorer, Robert Peary, reached the North Pole.

In 1955, Sir Anthony Eden succeeded Sir Winston Churchill as British Prime Minister.

In 1965, the world's first commericial satellite, the communications satellite Early Bird, was launched from Florida's Cape Canaveral.

Ten years ago: The Brooklyn-born opera star, Maria Callas, gave up her American citizenship in an attempt to solve her marital and fianancial problems.

Five years ago: Composer Igor Stravinsky died in New York. He was 88.

One year ago: U.S. Embassy personnel were being evacuated from Phnom Penh as enemy forces carried out ground attacks seven miles from the Cambodian capital.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia resolved that any merchandise could be exported from the American Colonies except to British ports.

Jarrell is president, Miss Eiland is secretary, and Miss Ayers is vice president.

Reagan Makes Bid For Votes In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Ronald Reagan said today that union leaders are completely out of step with the rank-and-file workers "who are more afraid of the shop steward than they are of the company boss."

Reagan, bringing his Republican presidential campaign to Texas, said he would support legislation that would permit union workers to vote on all policy matters in secret.

"As it now stands the worker is afraid to stand up and be counted because if he votes against what the union leader wants, he could be in trouble," he said.

The former California governor spoke at a Law Week ceremony at Southern Methodist University and received a warm welcome from 2,000 students.

RONALD REAGAN

Most of the questions from the students and faculty were of the friendly type, but one youth said, "concerning your stand on crime I believe we should lock out people like you and Richard Nixon from our homes."

Reagan replied, "You have a misconception of crime. Don't you ever believe that only the poor commit crimes. The greatest victims of crimes are the blacks. Poverty does not cause crime; criminals cause crim."

Reagan said his philosophy of the rising crime rate could be summed up by, "I'm against the intentional foul in basketball. Why should you be allowed to foul when a player has a sure two points and you are hoping by fouling him he will miss his free shot?"

Reagan, who arrived in Texas Monday, also was to visit Wichita Falls, appear at a pancake supper in Abilene and at a Wednesday breakfast in Lubbock.

He has planned two more campaign trips to the state before the May 1 Texas primary.

Reagan will meet with Southern Methodist University students today for a question and answer session and then head west for a town meeting in Wichita Falls, a pancake supper in Abilene and a Wednesday breakfast in Lubbock. This is the first of three planned campaign trips to Texas before the May 1 primary.

Hughes Autopsy Decision Delayed

HOUSTON (AP) — A decision whether to perform an autopsy on the body of billionaire industrialist Howard Hughes was delayed today while Harris County's chief medical officer was in court on another case.

Hughes' body lay in the pathology lab of Methodist Hospital under armed guard while Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, county medical examiner, was in a court case at nearby Richmond, Tex. Jachimczyk said earlier he must approve transfer of the body to a state-licensed physician or perform an autopsy and sign Hughes' death certificate himself.

George H. Lewis Jr. of the Geo. H. Lewis & Sons Funeral Chapel said he was to meet with Hughes representatives today to discuss funeral arrangements. He said Hughes' closest living relative is an aunt, Mrs. Frederick R. Lummis, widow of a Houston doctor. Her son, Will Lummis, is handling funeral arrangements.

Youth Protest Continues In Peking Square

TOKYO (AP) — Small, scattered protests continued today in Peking's Tien An Men Square and youths made a brief assault on a public building, a resident reported. The Yugoslav news agency said Chinese carried more wreaths into the square to honor the late Chou En-lai.

The Peking resident, reached by telephone from Tokyo, said the youths forced their way into the building but were easily repulsed by soldiers guarding it.

Up to 100,000 Chinese surged through the square Monday in sometimes violent protests against the removal of memorial wreaths honoring Premier Chou, who died Jan. 8. The demonstrations were seen as an indication of support for Chou's moderate, stabilizing policies and opposition to the current campaign against Chou's disciple, Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping.

Monday's demonstrators battled militiamen, set three motor vehicles afire and temporarily seized and partially burned a public building.

The building, believed to belong to the Ministry of Public Security, was drawing crowds all day today, the telephone informant said. But except for broadcast warnings at midday, authorities were not taking any conspicuous security measures, he said.

The warning, the same one broadcast by Peking's Revolutionary Committee until midnight Monday, alerted citizens against "evil persons" carrying out sabotage and counter-revolutionary acts.

"Foreigners who didn't mind their p's and q's got themselves into a little trouble," the resident added. After a brief talking to, members of the People's Militia would advise them to move on, he said.

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency, said the atmosphere in the square was "quite electrifying" and had an antiforeign tone.

There was no indication in any reports on Monday's demonstrations that Teng was behind them. Teng had been Chou's choice to succeed him as premier, but he has not been heard of since Chou's funeral Jan. 15. Security chief Hua Kuo-feng was named acting premier.

Removal of the wreaths was considered an indication that Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and the radicals currently denouncing Teng as a "capitalist-roader" saw the adulation of Chou as threatening.

The radicals and the moderates are at odds over Mao's all-out effort to eradicate all traces of bourgeois thinking and practices, with the pragmatists emphasizing stability and building of the national economy.

Turnout Light In NY; Heavy In Wisconsin

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

Wisconsin, which has made or broken presidential contenders, and New York, always important because of its big bloc of convention delegates, held presidential primary elections today.

At stake in New York were 274 Democratic nominating votes and 117 Republican delegates to go with 37 already picked. Wisconsin's Democrats decided the allocation of 68 Democratic and 45 Republican delegates. The polls were scheduled to remain open in both states until 9 p.m. EST.

In New York, election officials said voter turnout was "by and large very light" and forecast only 25 per cent of the state's eligible voters would cast ballots despite mild, sunny weather.

Wisconsin election officials said voter turnout was heavy in opening hours under sunny skies and with temperatures heading for the 60s.

Plans For Apartments Here Near Completion

Plans for a 48-unit apartment complex in Snyder are nearing completion and construction work could begin this month, it was disclosed Monday night at a meeting of the Snyder City Council.

Murry Bowden told the council that he planned to develop the apartments in response to Snyder's housing shortage. The apartments will be located on a site between Cogdell Center and the Western Texas College campus in South Snyder.

Bowden, a Snyder High School graduate who now practices law in Austin, was granted waivers on two requests he submitted to the city council in connection with construction of the apartments. He asked the council to waive a requirement of the Snyder Electrical Code, which calls for conduit throughout an apartment building, and for a waiver of a plumbing code requirement which prohibits the use of plastic drainage pipe for sewer service lines.

It was pointed out that the requirement of conduit for wiring in apartment buildings was adopted for multi-family units on a single system. Bowden said his apartment complex will consist of a dozen quadraplexes, all at ground level and that each living unit will have its own wiring system the same as a one-family dwelling. The wiring will conform to the National Code. Bowden said.

Bowden requested a specific grade of plastic drainage pipe which has been adopted in codes of several metropolitan areas, including Austin.

The waivers were granted on unanimous votes by the council. At the same time, the council asked that the local electrical and plumbing boards study existing codes here with a view toward making these changes, and possibly others, a part of the code here.

In other business, the city council approved plans for an addition to the police building, as prepared by J.D. Hinton, architect, and authorized bids on the project. The project entails a 17-foot by 38-foot addition on the west end of the police building.

The staff was instructed to proceed with plans for improvements to the city water treatment plant, despite the fact that a request for a "block grant" has been denied by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. City Manager George Patterson said that the city had been led to believe last fall that it had a good chance of qualifying for a federal grant, but that requirements were changed to put emphasis on specific poverty areas rather than projects of city-wide benefit. The city hopes to make the improvements gradually on its own and City Engineer Jim Dower's recommendation for a list of priorities was accepted. An engineering contract for the first two projects will be negotiated this year.

The council approved a design

One Vote Fills Post On Board

How much is one vote worth?

It was not only enough to elect one candidate to office but also was the total for an entire precinct (1) in last Saturday's elections.

This was revealed Monday when Scurry County commissioners canvassed the returns in the county school board election. Blake Walker was re-elected to the county board with a single vote. He was unopposed on the ballot.

In the vote canvass for other places on the county board, Bob Bell received 141 votes for member-at-large and Ray Fulford received 33 votes for the member from Precinct No. 2. There were two write-in votes, one for Buford Browning and one for Buford Sterling, both for member-at-large.

The vote count for the county board was not known until the official canvass, since ballots were cast in the various school districts for the county board positions and no overall tally was made prior to the canvass.

In other business Monday, county commissioners voted to instruct J.D. Hinton, architect, to proceed with plans for a new county jail. No date has been set for the project to be submitted for bids, but Hinton is working on plans for a jail to house some 50 prisoners, with office space for the sheriff and his deputies.

A motion to proceed with the plans passed by a 3-1 vote, with Commissioners Charlie Yoast, Eldon Perry and Jess Everett voting for it and Commissioner Hassie Sneed voting against it.

Mystery Surrounds Hughes Even In Death

By B.F. KELLUM
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — In his death, Howard Robard Hughes was as much a mystery as he was in life.

Hughes, billionaire industrialist and aviation pioneer, died of a stroke Monday on a private jet en route from a seaside Mexican resort to a hospital in Houston, where his parents are buried and where he was born 70 years ago.

From the age of 19, when he inherited his father's tool company, until his death, Hughes was an enigmatic figure.

Even after Hughes' death, the staff in the beachfront Acapulco Princess Hotel could not say for certain that he had been there, though he was said to occupy the entire top floor. The pilot who flew him on his final flight did not know he was to be their passenger until shortly before takeoff. And an unmarked ambulance met the plane.

Hughes amassed an empire valued at more than $2 billion. His holdings over the years included hotels, gambling casinos, airlines, movie studios, spacecraft and electronics.

As Hughes body lay under guard in Methodist Hospital, a board of directors continued to run Howard Hughes' far-flung financial empire "as in the past," said Arelo Sederberg, spokesman for Summa Corp.

Summa was the umbrella corporation that was wholly owned by Hughes.

"It has been run by the board of directors and a three-person executive committee," Sederberg said. "It will continue to be run by that group. The company will continue to be a company."

The committee is composed of F.W. Gay, executive vice president of Summa; Nadine Henley, Hughes' long-time secretary and now a senior vice president of the firm; and Chester Davis, general counsel for Summa.

Sederburg said he did not know who would be named executors of Hughes' estate or if the elusive billionaire had even left a will.

Sederberg disclosed that Hughes died of a stroke — "a cerebral vascular accident."

After a fling in Hollywood and a stint as an daredevil pilot during the 1930s and 1940s, Hughes became more and more retiring.

He disappeared from public view in the 1950s, conducting his businesses from a series of sealed-off hotel suites.

Methodist Hospital in Houston was told Monday morning at 9 a.m. that Hughes was flying there for treatment.

Two doctors, two nurses and four assistants came to Houston Intercontinental Airport in an unmarked ambulance to await Hughes.

The pilots who flew the ailing Hughes from Acapulco to Houston were hired Sunday night in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Roger Sutton and Jeff Abrams said a Florida doctor chartered the Lear jet from an ambulance aviation service. They arrived in Acapulco early Monday morning, but only after sitting on the runway for five hours were they told that their passenger would be Howard Hughes.

Hughes looked "like a tired, worn-out old person" when he was carried aboard the plane on a stretcher, Abrams said.

Sutton said Hughes had a thin beard, long greyish hair and looked "very wasted" and "very, very pale."

At the Houston airport, authorities had been alerted that a private plane was coming in with a sick man aboard.

But when the plane arrived about 2 p.m., Hughes was dead.

The doctors accompanying Hughes said he died about half an hour before the plane landed in Houston.

In Beverly Hills, Calif., Jean Peters, the actress who married Hughes in 1957, said: "I'm sorry; I'm saddened." Miss Peters, Hughes' second wife, divorced Hughes in 1971 after a childless marriage. His first marriage, to Houston socialite Ella Rice, ended in divorce when he was 23.

He dropped out of sight about 1947. Ten years later, after his secret marriage to Miss Peters, his seclusion was virtually complete.

After moving around between a series of homes and hotel suites, he and Miss Peters moved into a mansion in Bel Air, Calif., in 1961.

In 1966, Hughes moved into the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Boston and took over an entire floor. Four years later, on Thanksgiving Eve, he slipped into the Desert Inn in Las Vegas and barricaded himself in the penthouse.

After that, he moved to The Bahamas, then to Nicaragua where an earthquake forced him to flee his hotel, then on to London, back to The Bahamas and finally to Acapulco in February 1976.

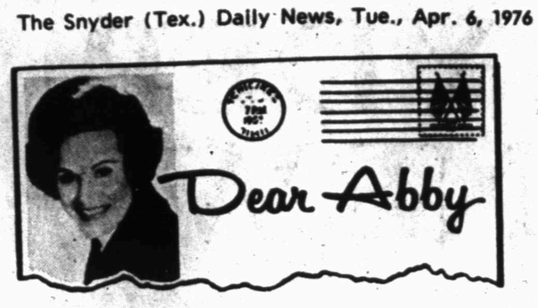

Hughes' business empire grew out of the Hughes Tool Co.

In 1909, Hughes' father and a partner invented an oil drill bit which today is used in drilling operations in every oil-producing company outside the Communist bloc.

Hughes did not earn his initial fame as a businessman but as a pilot.

Do Indian Men Make Better Lovers?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: When a reader asked you if Indian men were superior to white men in the art of lovemaking, you suggested that he contact the Bureau of Indian Affairs or the American Indian Movement.

As the executive director of the American Indian Movement, I feel it is my duty to respond.

For the Indian, "love" does not begin when the lights go out or when pot or liquor is consumed, and it is not confined to the bedroom or any other hidden place.

The way in which the Indian treats his wife throughout the marriage is the key to making him a superior lover. His daily acts of kindness, consideration and respect for her demonstrates his love.

While we recognize that the sex act may send man's mind afloat for a few fleeting moments, it is but a minute part of the overall act of love.

The above code of behavior plus the Indian's respect for women have been passed down from father to son. I personally have 15 children and am an Ojibway Indian.

Very truly yours,

DENNIS J. BANKS

DEAR ABBY: May I answer Ed in East Illinois, who asked: "Is it true that closely guarded tribal secrets on how to please a woman are passed down from father to son, making Indians better lovers than white men?"

First the white man took all the Indian's land and some of his women. Now they want the Indian's "love secrets." No way! The Indian needs something to call his own.

HALF-BLOODED INDIAN

DEAR ABBY: Now I know why The Lone Ranger never got the girl. They all ended up with Jay Silverheels, that good looking Indian who played Tonto.

SEMINOLE IN FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: Tell Ed, "Yes, there are many closely guarded, secret Indian lovemaking tricks." You will notice that divorce is very rare among Indians. That's because they know how to please their women.

Secrets like the "Apache grip" and the "Kickapoo twist" will never be sold or given away by a true Indian.

MIKE WHITEFEATHER IN SEATTLE

DEAR ABBY: In response to Ed in East Illinois: I have lived with a Mandan Indian for five years, and I wouldn't trade him for FIVE white lovers. He is the greatest!

LINDA IN MARYLAND

DEAR ABBY: I am one-half Indian and have had two Indian squaws, who both ran off with white men. Apparently the "closely guarded secrets" of lovemaking from the Indian side of my family were not passed on to me.

LONELY WOLF IN HOUSTON

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old white woman who is married to a 57-year-old Modoc Indian. We have been married almost nine years, and as far as I'm concerned, he has the white man beat all to heck.

I was married to two white men before so I know what I'm talking about.

College Vote Is Canvassed

In a special session last night, the Board of Trustees of the Scurry County Junior College District met and canvassed election returns and informally discussed a letter of reply to the student senate at WTC concerning cancellation of "Play it Again, Sam."

Edwin Parks (Place 5), R.C. Patton (Place 6), and W.A. Jones (Place 7), were re-elected to the Scurry County Junior College District Board of Trustees. All three men ran unopposed. Parks received 378 votes; Patton received 355 votes; and Jones received 363 votes.

The student senate had earlier drawn up a resolution calling for more consideration of student opinion in matters of administrative policy decision. The board agreed to wait until its next regular session before adopting any official letter of reply to the Student Senate.

March Auto Sales Up

DETROIT (AP) — March was the best month in 2½ years for American new car sales.

The four big U.S. auto makers reported their March sales Monday, and the total — 815,477 — was the biggest since October 1973.

"It's clear that the spring selling season has arrived earlier and stronger than anticipated," said a Ford official.

The total was nearly 300,000 over March of last year, which was the worst March in 14 years.

General Motors posted the sharpest gain, with sales up 58 per cent from a year ago. Chrysler sales rose 51 per cent, Ford 44 per cent.

American Motors, hurt again by its concentration on small cars, reported a 6 per cent drop.

Similarly, sales of imports — most of which are small cars — fell 13.5 per cent from a year ago to 129,800.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

A minor traffic accident was reported by the police department.

The accident occurred yesterday at 12:55 p.m. at Twenty-fifth Street and Hidetown Drive. Involved in the mishap were a 1972 Ford driven by Teresa Crager of Breckenridge and a 1973 Chevrolet driven by David Yearwood of Snyder.

A typical home in the United States uses about 27 light bulbs, less than half the number lighting up an automobile.

PLANS

for planters in connection with beautification work on College Avenue. Rayburn Burgess, chairman of the College Avenue Beautification Committee, and Hinton, who is designing the project, discussed progress on the work with the council.

Returns of Saturday's city election were canvassed and members of the council who were elected took the oath of office. These included Mayor W.A. Vestal, Place 2 Councilman Jack Cummins, Pace 4 Councilman John Fagin and Place 6 Councilman Vernon Rannefeld. Rannefeld succeeds Charles Blakey, who had served two terms on the council. The others were re-elected.

Councilman John Fagin was elected to serve this year as Mayor Pro Tem. Truett Bryan has served in that capacity the past year.

Vestal appointed committees of councilmen to bring back recommendations for appointees to three boards. The terms of Dr. John Blum and W.A. McGlaun on the Colorado River Municipal Water District Board, expire on May 31, and an alternate member of the Zoning Board of Adjustment is needed to replace Rannefeld who is now a member of the council. Also, a new member is needed on the Planning and Zoning Commission to replace Bob Wilson who has moved from the city.

Councilmen John Fagin and Rod Waller were appointed to nominate members of the CRMWD board, Councilmen Jerry McWilliams and Jack Cummins were named to nominate an alternate for the Zoning Board of Adjustment, and Councilmen Truett Bryan and Rannefeld were named to nominate a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The council accepted the bid of $7,748 from Snyder Truck and Tractor Co. for purchase a tractor, and a bid of $799.72 from Key Brothers Implement Co. for purchase of a shredder to be used by the water and sewer department.

Bids were opened on two lots the city had acquired for taxes. The council voted unanimously to sell one of the lots to Sam Stephens for $1,610, the highest proposal received. For the other lot, two bidders had identical proposals of $805. The council voted to decide the issue by a coin flip and it went to Louise Clarady. The other high bidder was Michael Graves.

The council discussed the possible need of dedication of Forty-second Street east of College Avenue, but took no action except to instruct the staff to study the matter. Also discussed was traffic at the city's landfill operation and possible methods of control.

Local Group Attends DAV Convention

Disabled American Veterans of Region I held a spring convention the past weekend at Lubbock with a record attendance.

Dignitaries at all levels of the organization attended, including national state, region and local officers. Region I is the largest in Texas extending from El Paso to Abilene, and from Amarillo and Borger to San Angelo.

Attending from Snyder were Jack Huddleston, senior vice commander and alternate delegate from the local chapter, and Mrs. Sam Glover and Mrs. Pearl Sellars. Mrs. Glover is commander of the Auxiliary and Mrs. Sellars is a state executive committee woman.

Huddleston served on the nominating committee at the convention and was appointed to the state membership committee for the coming year. Mrs. Glover served on the rules and regulations committee and was appointed sergeant-at-arms for Region I for the coming year.

Mrs. Sellars expects to attend the state convention in Austin early in June.

A number of visitors were present at the convention, some flying in from Japan. The convention next spring will be in Odessa.

WIN TROPHY—Sandra Cumbie is a member of the first place grass team and Terry Williams is a member of the third place crops team which competed at West Texas State University for the Snyder FFA last weekend. Sandra was sixth high individual.

Hughes' Death

in 1935 and again in 1938 when he circled the globe in 3 days, 19 hours.

He started designing his own planes, giving birth to the Hughes Aircraft Co., which in time manufactured helicopters, missiles, spacecraft and plane and rocket electronics.

Hughes designed or helped design major components of the XF-11 experimental photographic plane, the P38 Lightning fighter, the Constellation airliner and the H-1 monoplane.

But it was his huge plywood airplane, nicknamed the "Spruce Goose," which was most often remembered.

The government had invested $18 million in the airplane, which was eight stories tall and designed to carry 750 soldiers across an ocean.

Called before a Senate subcommittee in 1947, Hughes swore it would fly. It did, but just once and only for one mile. Some critics said its engines were too heavy, but the true reason was never known. The "Spruce Goose" is still locked up in a hangar beside the harbor in Long Beach, Calif.

Meanwhile, in addition to his aviation interests, Hughes was involved in the Hollywood scene.

Starting in the 1930s, he had dated such stars as Jean Harlow, Ginger Rogers, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Yvonne de Carlo and Ida Lupino.

He started financing and making movies, boosting Jane Russell to stardom in "The Outlaw."

In 1947, he took over Trans World Airways. In 1970, he acquired Air West, a regional airline, and renamed it Hughes Airwest.

In 1963, hit by a lawsuit challenging his 77 per cent ownership of TWA, Hughes refused to appear in public for questioning. TWA hired ex-FBI agents to serve the papers, but even they were unable to find him. After 10 years of claims and counterclaims, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled against TWA. Hughes, in the meantime, had sold his interest in the airline for more than $500 million.

In 1972, he sold the oil tool division of Hughes Tool Co. through a common stock offering that brought him more than $140 million.

The Summa Corp. was then set up as Hughes' umbrella for Hughes Airwest, his Nevada hotels and casinos and his vast real estate holdings.

Meanwhile, Hughes had made the headlines again.

Writer Clifford Irving had sold the New York publishing company McGraw-Hill an "autobiography" of Howard R. Hughes for $750,000. Irving said Hughes had authorized the book and had collaborated on it.

McGraw-Hill, convinced the book was real, paid Irving the money, part of which was to be passed on to Hughes. Instead, it ended up in a Swiss bank, deposited by a "Helga R. Hughes" who turned out to be Irving's wife, Edith.

In an elaborately engineered telephone call to several reporters, a man claiming to be Hughes denied that he had authorized the book.

McGraw-Hill sued the Irvings and won a court judgement for $766,000, including expenses.

The Irvings were indicted in New York by state and federal grand juries on charges that included mail fraud, conspiracy, grand larceny and possession of forged documents. They pleaded guilty and were fined $10,000 apiece. Clifford Irving was sentenced to 2½ years in prison, while Edith Irving drew a 2-month sentence.

After his parole in 1974, Irving filed suit for bankruptcy.

Hughes made the headlines again during the Senate Watergate hearings which preceded President Richard M. Nixon's resignation.

Charles "Bebe" Rebozo, Nixon's close friend, reportedly told the Watergate committee that Hughes gave him $100,000 for the Nixon campaign. But Rebozo also reportedly said that he kept the money in safety deposit boxes for nearly three years and then returned it.

One of the last chapters in Hughes' strange career involved the Central Intelligence Agency, a Russian submarine and a gigantic ship named the Glomar Explorer.

The Glomar was ballyhooed by the Summa Corp. as a marine mining vessel which could pluck valuable minerals from the ocean floor.

Instead, it was used by the CIA in 1974 in an attempt to salvage the Soviet sub which had sunk six years earlier in the Pacific Ocean.

FFA Teams Place High In Contests

The Snyder FFA grass judging team placed first in competition at West Texas State University on Saturday. Team members are Traci Brice (top high individual), Lee Allen Jarrell (2nd high individual) and Sandra Cumbie (6th high individual).

The livestock team was represented by Kenneth Goldsmith, and he was second high individual.

The crops team placed third. Members are Kathy Merritt, third high individual, and Terry Williams.

The meat team comprised of Danny McCormick, Tammy Hicks and Charlotte Barrett placed fourth.

The poultry team was eighth.

Man Starts New Business At 76

BAINBRIDGE, Ga. (AP) — At 76, Jack Davis started a new business at his farm near Lake Seminole.

Davis, who has been in a sawmill business for 53 years, claims his new venture is turning out the best quality corn meal anywhere around.

BY HEW ORDER

SS Numbers Are Released

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The secretary of Health, Education and Welfare has ordered the release of Social Security numbers to help track down runaway welfare fathers who cost taxpayers more than $1 billion annually.

The decision by HEW Secretary David Mathews ends a running dispute between two agencies within the department and opens the way for confirmation to a high government post of a scion of the famous Taft family of Ohio.

HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service, which is responsible for administering the new "Federal Parent Locater Service" to help states track down fathers and collect child support payments, said it needed the Social Security numbers. The numbers would be given to the states for use in tracking missing parents through state records, such as motor vehicle registrations.

If a state has exhausted all avenues open to it without success, it can ask HEW to try to trace the missing parent through the IRS, Pentagon or Veterans Administration records. The Internal Revenue Service records tell where the parent is living now, his employer, his earnings, and other assets.

But the Social Security Administration had contended that federal privacy laws protected the confidentiality of Social Security numbers of about 100 million wage earners and that it was obligated to furnish only the last known address of the missing parent and his employer.

After months of arguing against the release, Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell reversed his position under heavy pressure, sources said.

Mathews, in his role as referee, issued a memo to his subordinates that said he was acting on the basis of legal advice of HEW lawyers and the Justice Department "that the intent of the Parent Locater Service law is for the Social Security numbers to be provided and that that authority is not canceled by the Privacy Act...."

HEW estimates that 2.8 million of the 3.4 million families receiving Aid to Families With Dependent Children have absent parents and that about 1.4 million of those parents are financially able to pay for their families' support. When the program is fully implemented nationwide, the department says about $1 billion in child support payments will be collected annually, with a comparable savings to federal and state taxpayers.

A sign that the impasse had been resolved came Monday when the Senate voted to confirm the nomination of William Howard Taft IV, great grandson of President William Howard Taft and nephew of Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, as general counsel of HEW.

Taft's nomination had been held up for more than a month by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who had argued that the numbers should be released.

Man Hurt In Road Mishap

A Snyder man was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital following a one-vehicle accident yesterday approximately one-half mile south of Ira, highway patrolmen said.

Marvin L. Sipes of Snyder was travelling on Texas 350 at 6:30 p.m. when he lost control of his 1973 Ford pick-up truck when rounding a curve.

Sipes was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where he is listed in good condition. A wrecker had to be called to the scene of the accident to remove the heavily damaged pick-up truck.

On March 31, 1917, the United States took possession of the Virgin Islands by purchasing them from Denmark.

FIELD TRIP—Girl Scout Troop 61 from North Elementary enjoyed a field trip to the farm of Buck Woolever where they saw a new colt. On the way they stopped by the Wade Davis farm to see several sets of twin lambs. Following their field trip they went to the home of their leader where they gathered wood and learned to build a campfire. They made "Smores" a favorite dessert of Girl Scouts. Pictured above are (from left) Deborah Foree, Becky Irwin, Julia Tucker, Teka Eicke, Marika Sitton, Edith Perkins and Tammy Hembree.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The principle of restricted choice is that when a player follows suit with, or wins a trick with, one of two equal cards, he would have had to play the actual card if he held just one. Thus he would have been equally likely to play the other card if he held both.

South wins the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs, leads a spade and plays his seven spot after East follows low. West wins with the jack and leads a heart. South wins, enters dummy with the queen of diamonds and leads a second trump. East plays low and South must decide whether or not to play the king.

East is a good enough player to duck twice with the ace and South has to decide whether or not to play his king.

The principle of restricted choice applies here. If West held both the queen and jack he might well have won the first trump with the queen. Therefore, the odds are two to one that East holds the queen. South plays a low spade and is home with the bacon.

The two to one has paid off this time. It won't do so all the time, but it is the way to handle things in the long run.

Ask the Jacobys

A Minnesota reader wants to know what we respond to partner's one notrump opening with:

♠ 10 6 5 ♥ A J 9 2 ♦ K 5 ♣ J 10 4.

His opening shows 16-18 points.

We recommend a two-club Stayman response, intending to bid three notrump next if he replies two diamonds or to raise two spades or two hearts to game. If not playing the Stayman convention you simply go directly to three notrump.

Sew For Summer And Save

By Joanne Schreiber

Summertime sewing is easiest of all. Fabrics are light and airy, styles are soft and simple. Emphasis is on ease, in silhouette and stitching. Separates work up quickly and combine to give you a versatile wardrobe. Summer is coming and it's time to plan your spring and summer stitching.

To get you started, send for the brand new edition of Basic Fashion, available exclusively to readers of this newspaper. From the sleek jumpsuit on the front cover to the casual cape on the back, it's packed full of the designs you like, for the easy life you lead.

Basic Fashion is noted for its Young Originals designs, created by talented young designers from the Art Institute of Chicago and Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. Each Young Orignials pattern has the unique Photo-Guide, to help you in assembling the pattern pieces and a coordinator which suggests fabrics, accessories and design variations.

JAMAICAN SHORTS—Jamaican shorts length will be a leading warm weather outfit. Make it with a Mandarin collar, n denim, poplin, chambray or sail cloth.

Among the best of the Young Original designs are a western-look pantsuit with a big embroidered rose on the back of the jacket and the side of the leg, a safari suit to make in natural-tone poplin, softened evening dresses, plus slimming jacket dresses for women's and half sizes.

Specially for summer are easy sundresses, cool toppers to wear over shorts or jeans, plus pretty dresses and separate skirts and slacks. Doll clothes, toys, children's patterns and loungewear are offered, too.

The Sewing Supplement includes directions for a popover apron, a picture-pretty ruffled pinafore for a little girl and instructions on making a Chinese frog fastening for your new Oriental jacket.

In addition to all these exciting new fashions, each edition of Basic Fashion carries a coupon for a free pattern, so you can save even more.

For your copy of Basic Fashion, send just $1.25 to Stitchin' Time, care of this newspaper, Box 503, Radio kCity Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for the 1976 edition of Basic Fashion and be sure to include your own name, address and zip code.

Perry Turnbow To Present Program

The Snyder Newcomers Club will meet Thursday, April 8, at 10:00 a.m. at the Snyder Savings and Loan Building. Following the business portion of the meeting, Perry Turnbow will be presenting a program on landscaping and gardening.

Hostess for the meeting is Mrs. Pearl Wheeler. Coffee and refreshments will be served following the meeting and the nursery will be provided for those who need it. Everyone is urged to attend!

Why not make flowers to decorate an Easter cake: For each lily, use a large yellow gumdrop; flatten it into a thin oval and cut in half crosswise to make petals. Fold and press together the cut corners and shape petals into a cornucopia. Insert slivers of green gumdrop into the flower for the stamen.

Longhorn Profs Uphold Athletes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three University of Texas professors have dismissed as "technical and unintentional" any rule violations by Longhorn athletes on the state payroll.

The professors' edited report also said athletic director Darrell Royal and other coaches were "in compliance" with NCAA and Southwest Conference rules regarding financial aid and summer employment for athletes.

They said they and chairman J. Neils Thompson of the athletic council"have labored mightily and have brought forth a mouse—because a mouse is all there was."

They quoted Dist. Atty. Bob Smith as saying, "What is involved, here, is a bucket of worms, and this is the smallest worm in the bucket."

Smith's reference was to an investigation by his office of Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel, who was indicted on three counts of theft, one of forgery and one of official misconduct.

During the investigation, published reports disclosed that four athletes in the Senate Print Shop had admitted accepting pay after theyhad quit coming to work in the summer.

School president Lorene Rogers appointed a three-member committee which investigated hiring practices, and chairman J. Neils Thompson of the athletic council conducted a separate inquiry into the matter.

The names mentioned in news stories about Capitol jobs included football players Alfred Jackson, Terrence Tschatschula, Brad Shearer and Rick Burleson; hurdlers Bill Blessing and Robert Primeaux and basketball player Rich Parson.

The committee was instructed to determine if the athletes had violated NCAA or Southwest Conference rules and what role coaches had played in obtaining jobs for athletes.

The report said Smith was not interested in the athletes' pay because he felt no crime had been committed.

The report noted that state payrolls are made up two weeks ahead of time, and this sometimes causes overpayment of temporary employes—including athletes—who quit after mid-month.

The number of athletes employed in a given summer is "quite small," the committee said, and is in line with Royal's observation that, "We can hardly get kids to work with the state because the pay is so poor."

It mentioned that in the summer of 1975, only 12 of 233 scholarship athletes had state jobs.

"There is no basis for concern that a disproportionate number of student athletes are employed by the state, or that their employment is concentrated in one or a few state agencies," the report said.

Only in the Senate Print Shop, for which Schnabel was responsible, were "work norms" found to be "lax," the report said. Its only recommendation was that state officials should correct the situation.

The only other recommendation was that the UT athletic council develop a program to insure that athletes understand NCAA and SWC rules regarding financial aid and summer employment.

The professors said they were "gratified" to report that athletic department personnel are in compliance with NCAA and SWC rules; that the Senate Print Shop situation was an "isolated incident"; and that "any rule violations by the students in this case were technical and unintentional."

Dr. Rogers noted that she had deleted portions of the report dealing with direct testimony of athletes before the grand jury and with matters "under active consideration by the NCAA and the SWC."

49ers Get Plunkett

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers are building Super Bowl dreams on Jim Plunkett, the homegrown quarterback with Rose Bowl memories.

"Obtaining Jim Plunkett is a vital cornerstone toward building the kind of club we want the 49ers to become," new 49ers Coach Monte Clark said Monday after the trade with the New England Patriots finally was formalized.

"I'm glad to be back," said Plunkett, the Heisman Trophy winning star of Stanford's 1970 Rose Bowl championship team.

San Francisco's home attendance dropped alarmingly last year and the acquisition of the popular local boy could help turn that situation around.

To get Plunkett, whose home town is nearby San Jose, the 49ers sent 23-year-old quarterback Tom Owen to the Patriots and also gave up their two first round choices in Thursday's National Football League draft and their first and second round choices next year.

"It was the price we felt it was necessary to pay to get a quarterback of Jim's quality," said Clark. He added that the 49ers must improve in several other areas, after three straight losing seasons, "but we want to get to the Super Bowl."

Chuck Fairbanks, the Patriots' coach and general manager, agreed that the 49ers had acquired "one of the premier quarterbacks in the NFL, coming into the prime of his career at 28 years old."

But Fairbanks has two fine young passing prospects in Steve Grogan, who filled in capably for the injured Plunkett most of 1975, and Owen. The Pats have three first round picks Thursday, getting to choose the fifth, 12th and 22nd college players available.

The 49ers and Patriots agreed on the trade two weeks ago, as was evident when San Francisco dealt veteran quarterback Steve Spurrier to Tampa Bay last Friday. An NFL trading moratorium was lifted last week, and the Plunkett deal was announced after the 28-year-old passer signed a three-year contract Monday.

Miss Softball Plans Told

Registration for the Miss Softball America program will be held from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday at the Towle Park barn.

The Miss Softball America program is open to any Scurry County girl of age 8 through 18. Girls should be accompanied by one parent and bring their birth certificates and a $5 registration fee when they register.

Anyone interested in managing or coaching a team is invited to attend the meeting.

Junior Varsity Beats Coronado

The Snyder High School junior varsity baseball team whipped Lubbock Coronado's JV, 4-2, here yesterday afternoon.

Mitch Mackey scattered seven hits for the victors while losing pitcher Matthews was touched for eight safeties.

Snyder scored one run in the 1st, one in the 4th and two in the 6th while the visitors tallied single runs in the 4th and 5th frames.

With the score tied 2-2 going into the bottom of the 6th, Snyder got the two winning runs on singles by Scott Crenwelge, Randy Tate and Alvin Ollison combined with a sacrifice.

The JV Tigers had gone ahead 1-0 in the first inning when David Zajeck drew a walk and scored on successive singles by Ollison, Tracy Witherspoon and John Hopkins.

Snyder's 4th inning tally resulted from a walk to Joe Longbotham combined with a throwing error.

Coronado got its first run when Matthews reached first on a fielder's choice, went to second on a passed ball, and scored on an error. Their second tally resulted from a single by Law combined with a wild pitch and a fielder's choice.

Ollison, Crenwelge and Randy Tate each got two hits for Snyder while single base hits were credited to Witherspoon and Hopkins. Balk went three for four for the visitors.

The Tiger JV will host Lubbock Monterey here at 4 p.m. Thursday. The varsity Tigers entertain Lamesa at 4 p.m. Friday, then visit Brownfield Saturday.

Cincinnati Could Win Crown Again

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Give the Cincinnati Reds an arm and they'll take a leg. Give them a couple of new legs, and they'll probably take a pennant.

The Reds won the World Series last year despite lack of championship-level bench strength. But they didn't sit on their bench over the winter, swinging some deals which appear to have made them stronger in that department this season.

The Reds added a lethal right-handed pinch hitter in Bob Bailey and a swinging lefthander in Mike Lum and now Sparky Anderson's gang is loaded, if you'll pardon the expression.

The Reds are a team that has everything—speed, power, defense, pitching and bench strength and the guess is that they'll also have the National League pennant by the time the 1976 baseball season is over.

Along with their new bench strength, the Reds can count on some old strengths in catcher Johnny Bench, second-baseman Joe Morgan and third baseman Pete Rose, all Most Valuable Players at one time or other. Those Big Three are joined by reliable Tony Perez, giving Cincinnati's thoroughbreds the inside track in the West Division race.

The Reds will probably be challenged most seriously in their division by Los Angeles, which remains a palpable threat despite the loss of pitcher Andy Messersmith, who won free agent status and jumped the Dodgers in search of fortune elsewhere.

Pitching is the Dodgers' forte. They led the league last year for the fourth straight season with a 2.92 earned run average and figure to have a strong staff with Don Sutton, Burt Hooton and Doug Rau as the nucleus. If left-hander Tommy John comes back with some of his oldtime authority, the Dodgers could make it red-hot for the Reds.

National League champions two years ago, the Dodgers have big run-producers in Steve Garvey, Ron Cey and Dusty Baker, the center fielder acquired in an offseason deal with the Atlanta Braves.

The San Francisco Giants finished 27½ games off the Reds' runaway pace last season, and don't figure to get too much closer this time. The only thing positive about the team is that it'll be playing in Candlestick Park. On the verge of a move to Toronto, the financially troubled Giants were saved at the last moment by a local group, but won't be saved the embarrassment of finishing third in the West despite the presence of outfield star Bobby Murcer and the addition of third baseman Ken Reitz.

The talent gap which separates San Francisco from the top two teams becomes even more discernible in the rest of the West.

General Manager Tal Smith and Manager Bill Virdon put the trading emphasis on pitching for Houston over the winter, unloading longtime star Doug Rader and catcher Milt May. The Astros have plenty of prospects on the mound and that's precisely what they are with few of proven quality.

The San Diego Padres came out of the cellar for the first time in their history last season, but still won't see much light this year. They've acquired the aforementioned Rader to bolster their infield, but pitching is still their main problem. Randy Jones pressed New York's Tom Seaver for the Cy Young Award last year, but Dave Freiselben and Dan Spillner are the other leading starters and they only won 10 games between them in 1975.

The Atlanta Braves had a disastrous fifth-place finish last season despite high hopes and General Manager Eddie Robinson took things in his own hands over the winter. He tore up the Braves beyond recognition, unloading hometown favorites like Ralph Garr and Baker in a major reconstruction job.

In the East, the Pittsburgh Pirates have strengthened their pitching staff with the acquisition of Doc Medich and the development of young John Candelaria. The perrenial East champions present one of the richest hitting teams in the NL with the likes of Willie Stargell, Rennie Stennett and Manny Sanguillen.

The Pirates will be pressed by the Philadelphia Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals. The Phillies have one of the best long-ball hitting teams around with Mike Schmidt (38 home runs in 1975) and Greg Luzinksi (34). Should Dick Allen return to his onetime power form, Philadelphia would have the strongest 3-4-5 line-up in baseball. The Phillies have also buttressed their pitching with the acquisition of Jim Kaat and present a strong defensive alignment keyed by shortstop Larry Bowa and second baseman Dave Cash.

The Cardinals needed a lefthanded pitcher and a righthanded pinch hitter, so southpaw Pete Falcone was obtained from the Giants and outfielder Mike Anderson from the Phillies. Falcone will join a staff that has to improve, although Al Hrabosky is one of the best relievers in the business.

Like the Cardinals, the New York Mets had priorities. But unlike the Cardinals, the Mets didn't fill them. In need of a third baseman, the Mets dealt for more pitching strength and got Mickey Lolich from Detroit. He'll join a staff that includes Tom Seaver, Jon Matlack and Jerry Koosman, a formidable group among the starters. However, the Mets will fall on the development of youngsters for bullpen help, a situation that could be fatal in New York.

The Chicago Cubs and Montreal Expos will present no problems to the East's frontrunners. The Cubs have trouble in the pitching and catching departments and the Expos have trouble just about everywhere.

Seaver Signs For $200,000

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Tom Seaver can take off the black hat. He's back in the family. His long, bitter holdout is over.

Seaver reached agreement with the New York Mets shortly before midnight Monday on a three-year contract which the Mets say will make him the highest paid pitcher in baseball history.

"Tom Seaver becomes the first pitcher in baseball history to make $200,000 a year," said M. Donald Grant, chairman of the Board of the Mets.

There have been reports that Ferguson Jenkins will be paid $200,000 by the Boston Red Sox this season, but Grant termed that figure inaccurate.

"This is the highest salary a baseball player has ever been paid to pitch," Grant said of the accord with the 31-year-old right-hander, who compiled a 22-9 record last season and won the Cy Young Award as the National League's premier pitcher for the third time in his stellar career.

Seaver had been asking for $800,000 over three years, and had told the Mets that if he did not get what he felt he was worth he would consider playing out his option. Such talk is unheard of among the Mets organization, which prides itself on maintaining a happy family image.

Seaver, one of the most visible members of the Major League Baseball Players Association during the labor negotiations this spring, became the first official holdout in Mets history. He accused the team of trying to make him look like a villain, between his holdout and his union activity, but said he had to go by his convictions.

"I can't wear a black hat the rest of my life," he said. "I have to answer to myself."

The contract dispute between Seaver and Mets' management became acrimonious, to the point where reports circulated that he was on the trading block. One story had him going to the Los Angeles Dodgers in a package deal that would have brought Don Sutton, among others, to New York, and Seaver said that at one point he was "90 per cent certain that I would be traded."

But the Mets backed off from their hard line last week and made Seaver an offer, and the pitcher resumed negotiations with General Manager Joe McDonald. Trade talk all but disappeared.

Grant had said he would enter the talks only if Seaver asked for his presence, and Seaver did so over the weekend. They met for one hour 40 minutes before and during the Mets' exhibition game against the Yankees Monday night, and finalized their agreement after a 15-minute post-game session, bringing Seaver back into the Mets' family.

"We agreed to terms verbally," said McDonald. "We have to work up the contract itself. We need some time on that, but we have a complete understanding."

Seaver, meanwhile, said he was happy to rejoin the clan.

"I'm glad it's all over," he said. "It's been a very trying six weeks. I found it very difficult to concentrate on pitching my last few starts. I don't think there's any doubt that it'll help our entire ballclub knowing this situation is over."

While precise slary terms were not disclosed, Grant's statements indicate Seaver will get at least $200,000 for 1976. He presumably will receive a raise in each of the next two years.

LET'S JUST PRAISE THE LORD.

Union Leaders Admire Profits

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate profits have taken a leap that would make a pole-vaulter proud, and in the audience of admirers are, among others, the nation's union leaders.

Since the first quarter of 1975, when after-tax profits dropped to an annual rate of only $59.6 billion, they have watched the measurement bar being placed at steadily higher levels.

In the second quarter of last year, the rate rose to $66.6 billion, in the third to $78.8 billion, in the fourth to $80.6 billion. In the first quarter of 1976 it reached $85.5 billion.

Argus Research Corp., which supplies much research used by investment institutions, calls it "the profits explosion." Argus projects a rate of $100 billion by the fourth quarter of the year and $110 billion by mid-1977.

Such stunning increases are bound to raise the sights of labor leaders, even though the first-quarter rate doesn't even bring profits back to the level of 1974's third quarter, just before the big dip.

Labor hasn't been excluded from the improvement either. Real disposable income has risen steadily since the first quarter of 1975, achieving a gain of about 4 per cent in 1975, with more projected for 1976 and 1977.

Escalator clauses helped protect some 6 million workers, or 59 per cent of those under major contracts. But, says the AFL-CIO, such clauses recover only about 50 per cent of the buying power lost to inflation.

Moreover, disposable income — that is, income available to the worker after payment of personal taxes — is diluted in power by the pre-empting of close to 20 per cent of it by food-beverage purchases.

In addition, labor's experience with prices and joblessness during the recession has resurrected some old fears, especially about job security, which is expected to receive high priority in new agreements.

The bargaining schedule this year involves 4.5 million union workers under major contracts, one of the largest figures on record. In agreements reached last year, only 2.8 million workers were covered.

This month, the United Textile Workers' agreement, covering 16,000 workers, will be renegotiated, as will the agreement 70,000 Rubber Workers have with Goodyear, Goodrich and Uniroyal.

Dr. Lamb

Doctors record heart sounds

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have listened to many heartbeats since 1929. I hear the "lub-dub." Every heart has a distinct "lub-dub." Is it not possible to record and play back the "lub-dub" of good hearts, diseased hearts, irregular hearts, etc. so that the doctors can compare the good ones with the bad ones?

My dad is 90 years old and suffered one stroke and his heart sounds through the stethoscope as a slow, strong sound. I never heard a heart sound quite like it.

If a doctor had a recording of several heart cases, could he not be better able to detect a new heart case that he had never seen before?

DEAR READER—Thank you for your interesting thought. Like many good ideas, someone else has already had it.

We have been using recordings of heart sounds for years. They were first put on old phonograph records. Later magnetic tape, and practically every means of recording sounds and reproducing it, has been used to record heart sounds - normal ones, irregular ones and all the different abnormal sounds made with valvular disease and various cardiac conditions.

These are mostly used to teach doctors; in some instances they're used for patient records. The classic clinical record is the phonocardiogram which is usually a photographic means of recording the vibrations generated by the heart sound. You can see the individual vibrations created by abnormal sounds as well as the vibrations created by the normal sounds. There are even textbooks devoted to this subject showing the pictures of heart sounds.

The "lub-dub" sounds you describe are the formal first and second heart sounds of every heartbeat. The first sound (lub) is created by the closure of valves between the upper and lower chambers of the heart. The second sound (dub) is caused by the closure of the valves at the outlet of the heart where blood is ejected into the right (pulmonary) and left (aorta) arteries leaving the heart.

These heart sounds have even been analyzed in terms of frequency and how much of each part of the sound is produced by different frequencies in the sound spectrum.

We also have means of listening to a patient's heart and simultaneously broadcasting it to numerous different locations. This is sometimes used in demonstrating heart sounds to medical students in a large auditorium or even in smaller groups.

I sometimes think the public does not realize how much has gone into producing the level of medicine which they receive today. The advances in technology such as those in the sound recording area that are applied to hi-fi work and other techniques have of course been brought into use in medicine as well. There are very few advances in technology that cannot be used in some way or another in medicine. And in most instances there is someone busy applying them.

Your dad's heart sounds may be perfectly normal with a relatively slow heart rate. A stroke which affects the brain does not necessarily affect the function of the heart. For more information about strokes send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 2-5, Strokes: Cerebral Vascular Accident - Cerebral Thrombosis. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful today not to treat people in your charge in an arrogant fashion. It could create resentments they'll long remember.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're likely to have little tolerance or patience today with persons who can't wholly support your views. Try to be less opinionated.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Avoid a friend who is more of a taker than a giver. This person might try to use you to his advantage today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Keep your ambitions within reasonable bounds today. If others feel you are too self-serving, they may put roadblocks in your path.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you may do something in spite of your better judgment and wind up creating a problem. Don't be your own worst enemy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are obligated in any manner to an acquaintance, try to get the matter cleared up now. If he has to ask you about it, he'll be miffed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be careful today not to unintentionally offend someone whose cooperation is essential to your plans. It could cost an ally.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Select your co-workers for critical tasks with care today. Avoid types who would rather be a boss than a willing helper.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's good to believe in others, but don't place your faith today in persons who don't warrant it. You're likely to be let down.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) There won't be much harmony around home today if you or your mate are too insistent upon having your own way. Find a middle ground.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may have the opportunity to be of service to someone today whose help you will later need. Do what's expected willingly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let your extravagant tendencies gain the upper hand over prudent judgment today. Keep your budget in mind at all times.

Texas 15th In Abortion Rate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A team from the University of Texas Health Science Center reports at least 35,382 abortions were performed in 1974, Texas the year after the procedure was legalized by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The findings—apparently the first effort at counting abortions in Texas—were published in Texas Medicine," official journal of the Texas Medical Association.

Dr. Lewis H. Roht, Ruth O. Nelson and Paul Callen sent requests for information to all Texas hospitals and "free standing abortion clinics."

The responses indicated Texas had the nation's 15th highest abortion rate with 162 abortions for every 1,000 live births. The District of Columbia was first, with 3,766 abortions per 1,000 live births.

Clinics performed most abortions—24,888—while general hospitals did 8,216.

"The relatively large number (1,678) reported by only 11 physicians suggests that a considerable number of abortions are performed in doctors' offices and most have not been identified. Inability to collect data from this source is a limitation of this study," the report said.

Several hospitals, clinics and doctors agreed to provide demographic and clinical information about patients without disclosing their names for the period between November 1974 and June 1975.

It showed that 33.6 per cent of the women receiving abortions were 15 to 19 years old. Another 32.2 per cent were between 20 and 24, and 17.2 per cent were between 25 and 29.

Almost three-fourths—73.5 per cent—were not married, the survey showed.

Data obtained on race and ethnicity indicated that Anglos accounted for 70 per cent of the abortions, blacks 17 per cent and Mexican-Americans 10 per cent.

Virtually all the abortions occurred in the first three months of pregnancy, the period which the supreme court said the states may not regulate. The survey found, however, that 11.3 per cent occurred after that period.

"Concern over the number of second trimester abortions arises because of the increased morbidity and mortality, compared to early abortion," the authors said.

They found that 65.7 per cent of the women had not used any form of contraception during the year preceding their abortions, 2.9 per cent had used an intra-uterine device, 17.9 per cent had taken birth control pills and 13.5 per cent had used "other" means.

Storms, Showers Hit Texas

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms growled across the Texas Panhandle and other areas in West Texas today and fog slowed travel through the state's midsection in early morning.

Showers were mixed with light to moderate storms over a broad area. Occasionally heavier weather menaced the Panhandle sector along with neighboring areas of Oklahoma.

Rains tapered off, meanwhile in Central Texas, where moisture measurements ranged up to 1.25 inches Monday, and in East Texas, where amounts were smaller.

Fog dropped visibility sharply over much of the central part of the state near daybreak, prompting the National Weather Service to issue a special travel advisory. There was occasional fog also in South and Southeast Texas.

While generally fair weather was forecast across the state, some of the West Texas thunderstorms were expected to spread eastward and official observers looked for possibly severe storms in the Panhandle.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 46 degrees at Amarillo and Dalhart in the Panhandle.

Poverty Level Raised

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of Americans once looked at an income of $100 a week as a major benchmark, a sign of middle class success. Now, the government says, a family of four with that income lives below the poverty level.

The rising cost of living means the federal government's definition of poverty will go up about $500 to nearly $5,500 this year for a non-farm family of four, the Labor Department reported today.

The Labor Department said it will use the higher income levels in determining eligibility for its employment and job training programs, effective April 1.

The $5,500 figure is the same as a preliminary estimate of the Census Bureau, which will issue its own poverty definition in June or July, according to Arno Winard, a staff assistant at the bureau.

The 1975 poverty level was $5,038 for a non-farm family of four. The Census Bureau said there were 24.3 million persons living below the poverty level last year, equal to about 12 per cent of the population. The number of Americans living below the poverty level last year had increased 5.6 per cent from a year earlier.

Winard said the bureau won't know how many persons are living in poverty this year, based on the new figures, until after results of its annual population survey, conducted in March, are compiled.

Both the Census Bureau and Labor Department say higher calculations of the poverty level are based on the cost of living increases during 1975.

The Labor Department said its poverty-level guidelines are for use by federal, state and local administrators of job and training programs provided under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

Panel Has Votes To OK Gun-Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A poll of House Judiciary Committee members indicates there now are enough votes on the panel to approve gun-control legislation and send it to the floor of the House for the first time since 1968.

Although any committee approval would only be the first step in the legislative process that includes Senate committee action, floor action in both chambers and either the president's signature or a veto battle, such approval would be a landmark because past gun-control efforts have been defeated at that point.

Of the 34 members on the Judiciary Committee, there were indications that 18 members, the bare minimum needed for approval, would vote to send the legislation to the House floor.

Fourteen members declared outright, either personally or through staff members, that they would vote for the latest gun control legislation tobe approved by a judiciary subcommittee. Two more said through aides that they leaned towards voting "yes," while the remaining two listed themselves as undecided. However, each of these four has consistently voted in favor of gun control proposals in the past. Furthermore, two members voted against another gun control measure recently now say they can support the latest version.

There was no word from Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., about when he would call a new meeting to consider the new legislation, although he is among the 14 supporters of the bill listed in the poll by a reporter.

Democratic Reps. George E. Danielson of California and Edward W. Pattison of New York, who voted against the bill on March 2, now say they can vote to approve the bill.

Besides Danielson, Pattison, and Rodino, those who say they will vote to send the bill to the floor are: Republican Rep. Robert McClory, Illinois; and Democrats Robert W. Kastenmeier, Wis.; Don Edwards, California; John Conyers Jr., Mich.; John Seiberling, Ohio; Robert F. Drinan, Mass.; Elizabeth Holtzman, N.Y.; Herman Badillo, N.Y.; Christopher Dodd, Conn.; William Hughes, N.J.; and Martin Russo, Ill.

Reps. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., and Paul S. Sarbanes, D-Md. were described by staff members as leaning towards "yes" but still in the "maybe" column. Both have consistently voted for gun control positions in the past.

Finally, Reps. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., and Romano Mazzoli, D-Ky., who also have supported gun control positions in the past, said they were waiting to see exactly what was in the new bill before making up their minds.

The bill they would be asked to vote on is designed to do away with Saturday Night Specials by banning the manufacture, sale, importation and possession of those handguns. The bill also calls for reducing the number of firearms dealers in the country by greatly increasing license fees, and it calls for mandatory sentencing for using a handgun to commit a felony.

The legislation also calls for the creation of a national fire arms tracing center in Washingtn, designed to make it easier for law enforcement authorities to identify owners of weapons used in crimes.

Here's how Texas Electric uses lignite coal to make your electricity.

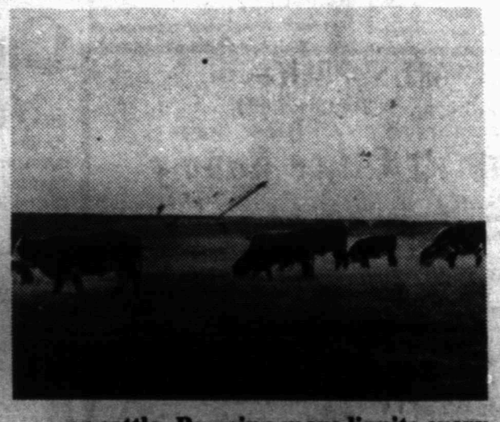

Large deposits of low-sulphur lignite coal lie 40 to 130 feet beneath land like this in various parts of East Texas.

A five million-pound dragline scoops away overburden to expose the lignite, which is hauled . . .

. . . to a nearby power plant. There it goes through crushers until it becomes a fine powder which burns easily . . .

. . . and is used to boil large amounts of water. Steam from the water turns generators to make electricity.

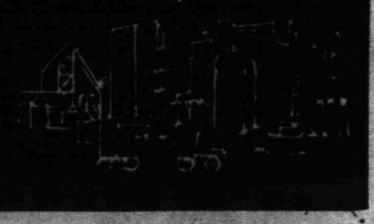

After removing the lignite, we begin to reclaim the land immediately. Within months it can be used to raise crops . . .

. . . or cattle. By using more lignite every year, and less natural gas, we're saving our customers millions of dollars in fuel.

Kountry Korner Gift Shop Is Now Open In Hermleigh

A new gift shop has opened in Hermleigh. It's the Kountry Korner Gift Shop, located four blocks east of the traffic light on Highway 84. Mrs. Gradine Roemisch, owner of Kountry Korner and Mrs. Ociene Mayo, manager of the new shop are planning to have an open house sale April 16-17. Free coffee and doughnuts will be featured in the sale.

The Kountry Korner Gift Shop, which opened March 13, is a center for community activities. It features a small kitchen and has for sale such items as coffee, doughnuts, pizza, sandwiches, soft drinks, and home-made baked goods.

The gift shop features such hand-made goods as pillows, napkins, ceramic and macrame items. Also featured are paintings by area artists. Easter arrangements are also available. In the gift shop, all goods are hand-made.

The Kountry Korner Gift Shop is a center for community activities. Anyone interested in selling their wares can take them by the gift shop. Kountry Korner is a place where you can sit down with a friend and savour a cup of coffee and a doughnut. Its relaxed country atmosphere is as refreshing as any food or drink. Mrs. Roemisch and Mrs. Mayo will be happy to have you as their guest.

Craftmanship is emphasized at the Kountry Korner. If you are looking for a gift for a hard to please friend, shop at the Kountry Korner for a quality gift at a reasonable price. If you're not shopping for a gift for a friend, treat yourself to a surprise and go by the Kountry Korner. You'll be glad you did.

The Kountry Korner is open from 6:30 a.m. till 9 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and from 1 p.m. till 5 p.m. on Sunday. The phone number is 863-2442.

Bill's Auto Salvage Stocks Or Can Get Any Part You Need

"Any part of an automobile we either have or can get," said Jimmy Farmer, owner and manager of Bill's Auto Salvage. Farmer knows what he is talking about. He has twenty-five acres of wrecked cars. He is also a member of two telephone hotlines that cover about 300 other wrecking yards. Farmer's motto is, "If we don't have it, we can get it for you."

Bill's Auto Salvage has 45-50 motors in stock and almost as many transmissions. Also in stock are rear-ends, wheels, tires, numerous body parts and windshields. Farmer has mainly late model cars in stock, although he still has a few older cars on his lot. Farmer is in the process of mashing up the old cars and restocking with newer, late model cars.

Farmer has two wreckers and a 24-hour-a-day wrecker service. He's been in the wrecking business for six years. He knows his business well.

Farmer also has about 20 late-model used cars on his lot. Included in that group of used cars are a '73 Corvette Stingray; a '74 Cheyene three-quarter ton pick-up truck; a '75 half-ton pick-up truck; a '73 Ford LTD; a '74 Maverick 4-door; and a 1963 Ford.

Bill's Auto Salvage, located on East Highway 180 at the traffic circle, has been in business 26 years. They obviously must be doing good work. For dependable used auto parts, you should shop Bill's Auto Salvage. And remember, if Farmer doesn't have the part, he can get it for you.

Bill's Auto Salvage is open 8 a.m. till 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday and till noon on Saturday. The four employes there will be glad to help you find the right part you need.
