Aid Asked In Identifying Body

Aransas County Sheriff Bob Hewes has appealed for the public's help in determining the identity of a young man believed to have been the victim of a hit-and-run accident last week.

A full autopsy report has not been made in the death of the youth. The body was discovered July 9 by the side of the northbound lane off Texas 35 near Rockport.

Local law enforcement officials

Help sought

Artist's drawing of youth believed to have been a hit-and-run victim was made to assist in identification.

Officers have been assisted by both the Department of Public Safety and Texas Rangers, in the week-long quest to identify the victim.

His age has been estimated at between 15 and 20, and while his ethnic origin was originally believed to be Anglo officers say it is possible that he was Mexican-American.

Early in the case, a Corpus Christi restaurant owner said the boy might have worked for him at one time several years ago, but that he could not remember his name.

The youth was about 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighed about 145 pounds. His hair was brown and of medium length. His eyes were blue-grey.

Hewes said the youth was dressed in a white cut-off T-shirt, white trousers, and brown shoes with a buckle. A tan straw hat was near the body. He was not wearing socks. The belt he wore was blue and red web with a gold buckle.

Hewes said if anyone has any information which may lead to identifying the youth, to contact their nearest law enforcement officer, or call the Aransas County Sheriff's department in Rockport.

Aransas Pass Man Charged With D.W.I.

Herbert Ferguson, Jr., of Aransas Pass was charged with driving while intoxicated after being involved in a one-car accident Sunday at Corpus Christi and S. Doughty Streets, according to State Highway Patrolman Rick Brush.

Brush said that Ferguson, in avoiding a collision with a car driven by Raul Pena of Portland, swerved off the road and ran into the yard of Mr. Salazar, knocking down some plants and running into a utility pole.

All Band Booster members, band students and interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

Peter Chaney, the Junior High School Band Director, will also be present.

Miller Again Told to Move

Justice of the Peace Lawrence Miller of Rockport, said Friday that he had combed his precinct for office space -- and if it's to be had, he can't find it.

He is about to receive his second directive this year from the Aransas County commissioners court to move his office, now located in Justice of the Peace Roy Hinton's Precinct 2.

Market Street is the dividing line for Precinct 2, and Miller's Precinct 1, and Miller is on the "wrong side of town."

The commissioners court on July 13 instructed County Atty. Ellis Clark to write a letter to Miller asking him to move. "He is operating illegally," remarked County Judge John D. Wendell, when the subject came up.

As a matter of fact, said Wendell, if a case is appealed to county court (over which Wendell presides) "I may have to reverse it" because of the jurisdictional issue.

Clark commented: "We've got to get him out of there." The county attorney told Commissioner Raymond Owens that the county would be faced with reimbursing the fines paid into Miller's court unless individual suits were brought against the county.

"And I don't think anyone is going to that expense to get a $17.50 fine back" he said.

Owens had expressed concern over the possibility that the county might have to come up with a substantial sum of money which it does not have.

The fuss over Miller's office location of South Austin, arose the first of the year when Hinton assumed a peace justice post that had been vacant for several years. Miller was told at that time to relocate.

Miller, elected from Precinct 1, had served both precincts until that time.

Miller said Friday that the reason his office is in Precinct 2 to begin with is because at one time the office was within Precinct 1 boundaries. He said a change in the peace justice precinct boundary lines a few years back placed him outside his precinct.

The 76-year-old judge has been in office about eight years and during that period he has conducted his affairs at the same address -- 403 S. Austin.

Miller said, "I've looked every place." He added: "I'll move when I find suitable space."

TV Executive Addresses Rotary

Ninety-six percent of homes in the Corpus Christi viewing area, including Rockport, now have television sets, according to Charles Bright, local sales manager for Station KIII, Channel 3, who spoke at a Rotary Club luncheon meeting July 11 at Corky's restaurant.

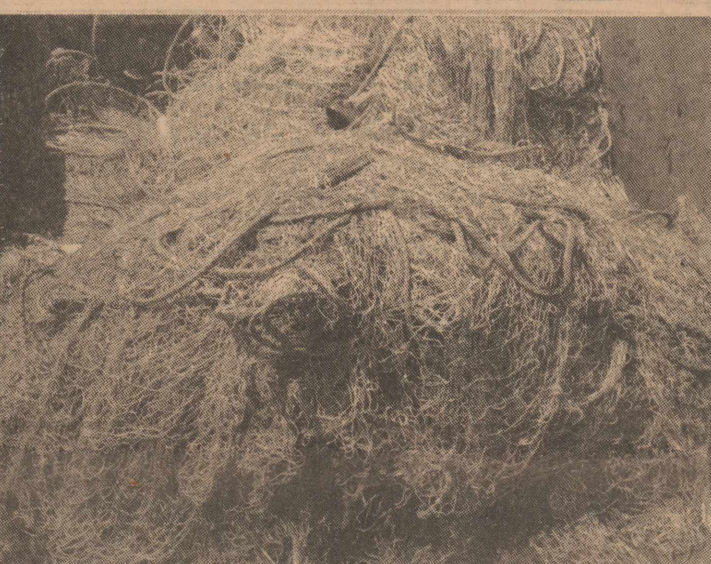

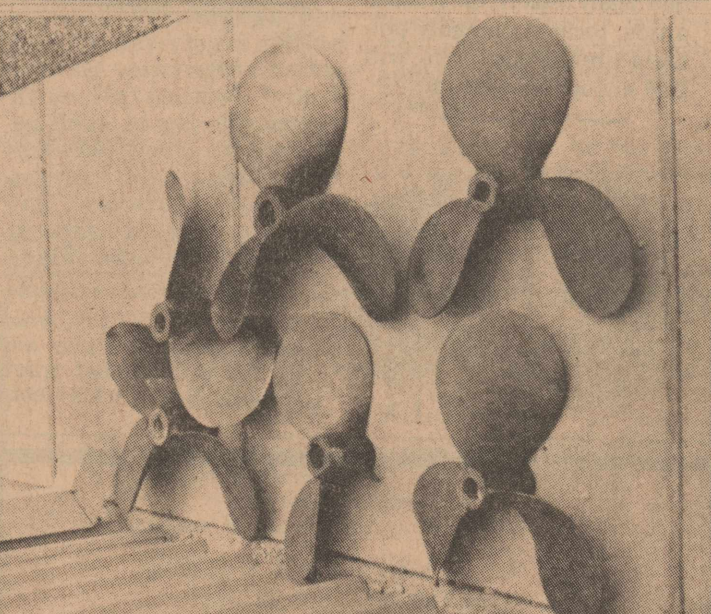

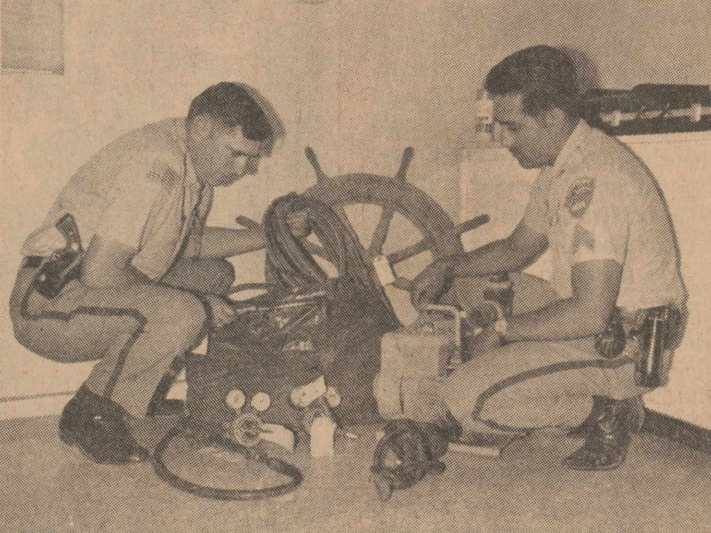

Some 60 per cent of the homes in this area have color sets, he added. Also, he said, 92 per cent of television owners watch the tube at least 30 minutes a day. Today the average watching time is six hours and 12 minutes a day compared with five hours and six minutes a day in 1960. He said these figures were obtained through a booklet type of survey which included scores of questions on television habits.

Bright reported that January was the "best" watching month and July the poorest. He said prime time in this area is from 9 to 10 p.m. with movies the most popular program, adding that variety shows were the least popular. So-called "soap operas" remain the most popular daytime programs, he asserted.

Monday night football is the most popular of all programs, and the most expensive for buyers of commercial time.

Notice

The Family Planning Council of Rockport will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m., Monday, July 23 in the district courtroom at Aransas County Courthouse. There will be refreshments. Everyone in the community is invited to attend.

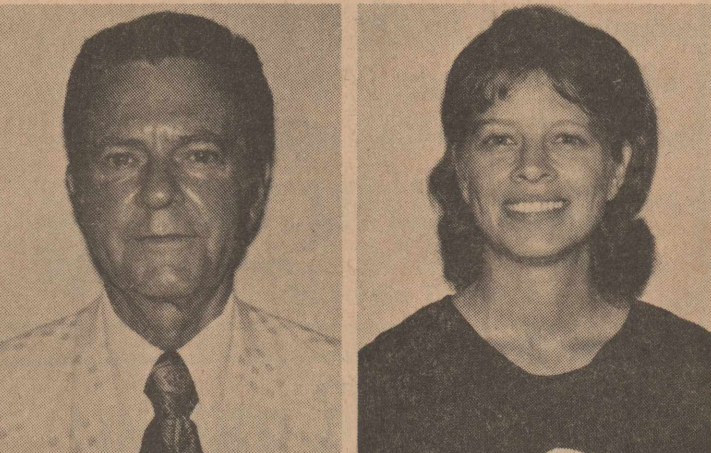

RECOVERED LOOT — Chief of Police James Craigmile and Sgt. Joe Hinojosa examine $850 worth of cutting torches and welding equipment stolen from Heldenfels Bros. Ship Yard.

Middle photo — Propellers valued at approximately $850 were stolen from L. M. Dyson of Rockport and recovered at a salvage yard in Corpus Christi.

First National Bank Names New Officers

Two new officers were named by First National Bank's Board of Directors Tuesday. They are Clifton H. Brown, who was made assistant vice president, and Mrs. Joyce Hill, assistant cashier.

Brown has been with the bank since February 1969. His first responsibilities were to update the bank's records in preparation for introduction of computerized accounting. Currently he processes certificates of deposit. He also prepares data for the computers on demand deposits and handles all insurance drafts of customers. He is in charge of the bank's safety deposit boxes.

Mrs. Hill has been with First National since November 1970. She is note and exchange teller, operating a special window for customers making payments on loans or purchasing bank drafts and travelers checks.

Brown was born in Devine, Texas, graduated from the local high school and attended Southwest State Teachers University at San Marcos.

He spent 26 years in government service prior to his retirement in 1968 at Kelly Air Force Base where he was interservice coordinator responsible for liaison between the Air Force and other services. He was in the Army Air Corps during World War II.

Brown and his wife, Sally, live at 1610 Sorenson Drive and are members of St. Peter's Episcopal Church. In addition to music, Brown's hobbies are tennis and gardening.

Mrs. Hill (Joyce) is married to Gilbert B. Hill, Jr., a contractor and they live in Peninsula Oaks Subdivision with their two children, Richard, 7, and April, 4.

A graduate of Robert E. Lee High School at San Antonio, Mrs. Hill is a member of First Baptist Church of Rockport and her hobby is art. She has taken a number of special courses in banking.

Police Continue Recovery of Loot Stolen in 12 Burglaries

Chief of Police James Craigmile reported this week that the Rockport Police Department had recovered an additional $2,500 worth of equipment stolen in 12 burglaries solved with the arrest of four juveniles. The recovered loot is shown in the accompanying photos.

In addition to the four juveniles, three local adults were taken into custody in connection with the investigation of the burglaries, according to Chief Craigmile.

He said the adults, all of whom have been released on $1,000 bond each, are Bennie

Joe Cady, charged with burglary and felony theft; David Hale, charged with felony theft; and Alfred Court, Jr., charged with felony theft.

Craigmile said that in some of the cases, those involved (when caught) wanted to make restitution and "Then forget the fact that a crime had been committed."

"Quite often the victims themselves," the chief said, "Don't care about prosecution as long as they get their property back or are paid for their loss."

"That's not the way law enforcement works. This defeats the basic purpose of law in our society. Without the deterrent factor of arrest and prosecution, how can we stop or prevent future crimes by the same persons."

"Many times the victims will state, 'I've got my property back now and want to drop charges.' If the police are filling the charges, then they will not be dropped."

"If our officers are willing to work extra time to recover stolen property, then they should be backed by those they serve."

"Good citizenship is not only a privilege but a responsibility."

Fun Tennis Tourney Set

Parings for the first annual mixed doubles Fun Tennis Tournament scheduled for Saturday and Sunday will be completed late this week by Jim Langham, Key Allegro Tennis Club professional who is handling details of the tourney. According to Langham, he plans to pair the players so as to insure each pair a reasonable chance to win a trophy or prize.

Top award will be the Fred Whittle Memorial trophy which will be held for one year by the winners whose names will be inscribed on the trophy. There also will be awards for runners-up and for consolation winners, Langham said. The awards will be made at a dinner scheduled for the Racquet and Yacht Club at 8 p.m. Sunday, according to Dewey Lingo who has been promoting the event in honor of Whittle who is credited with arousing widespread interest in tennis in this area, especially among young players.

The tournament will be played on the courts of the Key Allegro Club, Racquet and Yacht Club and the court at Sea Gun. Play will start at 9 a.m. Saturday. Finals will be played on the Key Allegro courts late Sunday. Because of the number of players who have signed up for the tournament, winners in the first two rounds will be those who are first to win eight games.

This system, known as the Jack Kramer pro set, is widely used in tournaments with many entries and limited number of courts available. Also, in tournaments limited to two days it provides some relief for players who otherwise would be required to play four full sets, Langham explained.

In the semi-final and final round, winners will be determined by best two out of three sets.

In addition to the $2 per player entry fee, each pair of players will provide one can of new balls. After each match the winners will get the can of unused balls and the losers the balls used in the match. Pairings of players will be available at the Key Allegro Tennis Club pro shop Friday, according to Langham.

Vacation Church School Success

Much excitement and many smiling faces of boys and girls are evidence that the joint Presbyterian and Methodist vacation church school is under way. The Vacation Church School is growing daily. Parents and friends are asked to bring a sack lunch on Friday and come to browse and join in the indoor picnic spread at noon for closing out an exciting week.

Special thanks to all who helped in many ways to make this effort possible for children of the community.

The Rockport Cemetery Association will meet Monday, July 23 at 3:30 p.m. This will be the first stated meeting over which the new president, J.H. Russell, will preside. All members are urged to attend.

Phone Assurance Service Planned

A Telephone Assurance Service is being suggested for our community to provide a communication check with people who live alone and desire a once or twice daily telephone call.

If you would like to be a part of this telephone chain or would suggest a friend who would benefit from the service, please call the Concern Center, 729-2672, between 9 and 11 a.m. Monday through Friday. Members of Concerned Women of Aransas County, are coordinating the organization of the service working in cooperation with A.A.R.P. and other groups.

"Your academic achievement for the Spring Semester 1973 has earned you the designation of 'Distinguished Student', and it is my privilege to inform you of this honor. All of us in the College of Business Administration are proud of our students and especially those who have applied themselves more diligently to their academic work. The faculty joins me in extending to you our sincere congratulations."

"The University looks to 'Distinguished Students' from the College of Business Administration for leadership in all areas of campus activity. We hope the enclosed 'Distinguished Student' card will serve as a constant reminder of your accomplishments and the position of leadership you hold."

Blood Donors Club Formed

For you and your entire family in a time of emergency a supply of blood can be available through an organization now enlisting members in our area.

The Blood Donors' Club of Aransas County requests some member from each family enroll in the Club which will bring a mobile unit medical team here periodically to receive blood from donating members (no more than one donation per family required annually, from family members 18 to 65 years old). Families of donors are eligible for blood should emergencies arise within our county or anywhere in the United States. In cases where a family has no eligible donor, someone outside the family can give blood to qualify that family. According to Bland Davis, chairman of the Fulton Lion's Club drive to organize the donors here, there is an urgent need for blood at this time in this Coastal Bend area, and of course, an emergency here in Aransas County, would find us short.

To become a member, a form may be filled out at the Concern Center, N. Church St. (Catholic Convent Building) from 9 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday. A member of Concerned Women of Aransas County will be available to answer your questions, or you may call the Concern Center, 729-2672, or Mr. Davis, 729-5900.

Electric Cars

Next June the state-owned electric company of France will take delivery of eighty electric cars in the city of Dijon. Service men will use them to make regular business calls.

The car, built by Renault, is the R-4. Electricite de France, the State electric monopoly, admits the cars are costly but feels it is pioneering in electric automotive transportation, which may some day comprise a major part of the automotive picture.

The R-4 moves off with a disarming realization of motion without noise and even at good speed sounds more like an electric razor than an automobile engine. The R-4 can attain 40 miles an hour and travel about 48 miles in the city without battery recharging, which requires ten hours.

Company cars are not used at night and recharging is no problem but obviously a shorter recharge time and greater range is required if the car is to be marketed for city use by individuals. An electric company official in Dijon says much research is now going on to obtain a greater yield from batteries. Those interested in ecology and economy earnestly hope for a breakthrough in this direction. The R-4 produces no pollution and the cost of the electricity per mile is estimated at two cents!

Swim With Care

With vacation time in full swing, we offer a word of caution to the swimmer. Judging from the experience of other years, approximately 3,500 lives will have been lost by accidental drowning these next few months. This represents only about half of the total number of people drowned each year.

The annual death toll in the United States from drowning grows larger each year. More than one-half of those dying in this manner are young persons under twenty-four years of age.

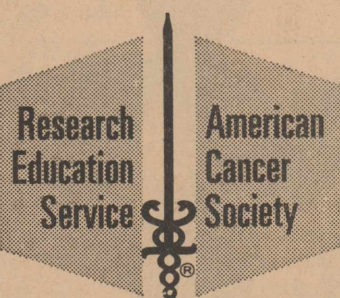

Every vacationist should be careful this summer.

The Thames

Good news in the war on pollution comes from England. The famed river Thames, so badly polluted ten or fifteen years ago fish didn't live in it, is clean and beautiful again. Over fifty species of fish are now found there—even haddock!

The city of London first cleaned up its smoggy air (and then its public buildings) by ending the causes of air pollution. The Thames had for many years been polluted by sewage, detergents and chemical wastes. Authorities enacted regulations barring such polluting, over a period of years. And the regulations were enforced.

Now one can catch edible fish in the Thames, enjoy its beauty to a far greater degree. The future is open to new forms of wildlife, beauty and usage. The story is one many American communities, located on badly polluted streams and rivers, will find encouragement in.

Gauguin - Man and Myth

To many of us, the painter Paul Gauguin represents a romantic ideal. We are told that he was a poor bank clerk who, disgusted with the sooty air of Paris and his own dull life, fled to Tahiti to live as a painter. From here, it is said, he dazzled the world with his bold and exotic paintings of beautiful tawny maidens and lush palms. Eventually, most of that is myth. Despite his actual fame and triumph, much of his life was difficult, or sad, or just ordinary.

Gauguin was a Parisian, born in 1848. Far from being a poor bank clerk, he was in fact a prosperous stockbroker; he painted as a hobby, and collected works by the modern artists of his day. He was married, and had a family.

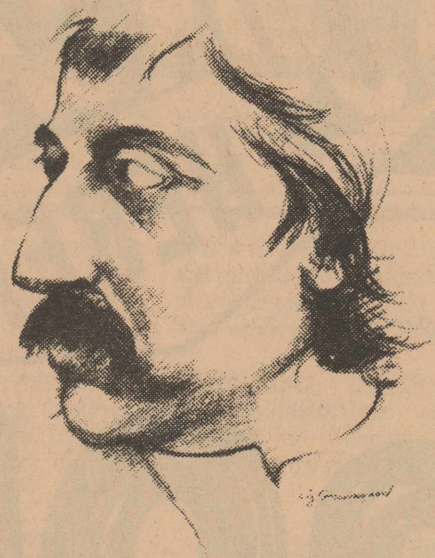

At thirty-five, he took a bold and decisive step. He abandoned his successful business career in order to devote himself solely to painting. He separated from his wife and children, and allied himself completely with the Impressionist group of painters then so active in Paris.

Gauguin believed that western civilization was a sick or dying society; industrialism, he thought, denied Man a complete life, forcing him to be materialistic and money-grubbing while his emotional life was neglected.

Gauguin wanted to discover, or rediscover, for himself the world of true feelings; so he set out on a quest which was to last for the rest of his life.

He first traveled to Martinique, but illness drove him back. The following year, he sold all his possessions and went to live among the peasants of Brittany, the westernmost province of France. He absorbed himself in their lives, becoming particularly aware that religion was still a part of their everyday existence. He tried to portray their simple, direct faith and deep religious experience in his paintings.

In 1891, Gauguin sailed to Tahiti, once more in search of an unspoiled life. He wanted to reverse the usual role of the white man in the Islands; he hoped to learn from the natives rather than teach them. He remained in Tahiti for two years, painting some of his finest pictures and writing Noa Noa, an autobiographical novel.

Briefly, he returned to France. He exhibited his new work, which aroused some interest but made him very little money. His bright and bold canvasses showed clearly the influences of the native art of the South Pacific and of non-European styles.

Gauguin told his European friends that the renewal of western art and of western civilization as a whole must come from the "primitives." This romantic doctrine of a return to nature was not new, but no one before had gone so far towards putting the theories of "primitivism" into practice.

Discouraged and ill, he sailed back to the South Seas in 1895. There, he contracted leprosy, and his last years were spent in extreme discomfort, both of body and of mind. Nevertheless, he painted to the end. He died at Atuona in the Marquesas Islands, in 1903.

Today, Gauguin's paintings are highly prized. His beautiful compositions, brilliantly colored and decorative, with their flat planes and smoothly curved outlines, have won him a place among the greatest of modern painters. He is credited with helping to restore the interest of other painters in the fundamentals of color and pattern for their own sake.

KNOWING WHEN to get out of the way is a vital part of a second baseman's job, as Paul Popovich of the Chicago Cubs shows here in avoiding Willie Crawford of the Dodgers.

The first point in basketball history was scored by William R. Chase in December, 1891, from mid-court to win the game for his team by a score of 1-0.

There is a fish on our Texas coast that is readily available, easy to catch, delicious to eat, easy to prepare, and almost completely ignored as a food fish. In Florida and in Mexico smoked mullet is considered a gourmet's delight---in Texas we use them for fish bait. Of course the mullet can't be classified as a game fish because they are not normally taken on a hook and line. The best way for the individual to catch them is with a cast net and with untold millions of them in our shallow bays, it just seems like a shame to let that much good food swim around out there with nobody doing anything about it.

I have heard old timers down here talk about mullet and eggs for breakfast. They seem to think there's nothing to compare with that combination, but the real gourmets always talk about smoked mullet. That seems to be the answer---smoke.

There are two ways to smoke fish, "cold smoke" which is more trouble but this is said to allow you to keep the fish longer and gives it a better flavor, and "hot smoke" which is really barbecued fish done in a covered cooker with lots and lots of smoke. In cold smoking the fish is kept several feet away from the low, smoldering fire and the temperature is kept below 90 degrees. A smoking time of several days to a week or more is necessary. To do very much smoking of this kind it would be advisable to construct a permanent smokehouse, of which there are several types. The average fisherman will not be that ambitious, at least not to start with, and hot smoking will be the route he'll want to take. Hot smoking requires less time and less complicated equipment, and the results are certainly not to be sneered at. The temperature should be 120-180 degrees and the fish is much closer to the fire. Any regular barbecue grill will do as long as it's covered.

For best results you need really fresh fish to start with, the fresher the better. Scale, head, and clean the fish thoroughly, then split down each side of the backbone about three-fifths of the way, beginning at the front. Remove this section of the backbone. Wash the fish thoroughly then soak it in brine for at least 30 minutes. The brine should be strong enough to float an egg. This is an important step because it firms up the flesh and adds flavor. Wash the fish again and dry them with paper towels. Put them on a greased grill over a low charcoal fire. Peanut oil is good to grease the grill with because it can stand very high temperatures without burning. Cover the fire with hickory chips that have been soaked overnight in water. Cover and cook. Keep adding hickory to keep up a dense smoke. After about an hour and a half build up the fire a little to raise the temperature, brush the fish with peanut or salad oil and cook about 15 minutes until they are brown. You'll have a real taste treat that it seems everybody already knows about except we Texans. To Texans, mullet are just fish bait.

Selective Service News Announced

AUSTIN -- Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, reminded young men that they still must register with Selective Service even though there is no draft.

Glantz urged those men who have not registered to do so promptly, saying: "Failure to register is a violation of Federal Law and could result in prosecution by the Department of Justice."

The President's authority to induct men into the Armed Forces expired on July 1, 1973. The Nixon Administration does not plan to seek an extension of this authority, and the Defense Department is relying on volunteer enlistments to supply military manpower.

Glantz emphasized that only the authority to induct expired. All other provisions of the Military Selective Service Act remain in force. The annual lottery will held, young men will continue to register, and their local boards will continue to classify them as to their availability for possible military service should Congress authorize the resumption of inductions in the event of a national emergency.

The State Director said the law requires all male persons, except certain nonimmigrant aliens, to register with Selective Service within 30 days before or after their 18th birthday. He said: "Young men have three legal obligations: (1) they must register at age 18, (2) they must notify their local draft board when they change address, and (3) they must carry their draft cards with them until their liability for service expires, for most men this is age 26."

The Colonel explained that Selective Service is undergoing a major reorganization and that as Selective Service goes into a standby operation, no inductions are taking place. Many local board offices are being relocated, with the result of fewer draft board offices in Texas. Glantz said there are places of registration provided in each Texas County for the convenience of young men in registering.

The registrar for Local Board No. 107 is Mr. Weldon B. Cabaniss, Rockport.

An infection that means a day in bed for a normal child is a threat to the life of a child with leukemia. Once, leukemia victims lived only a few months. Now, in some cases, we can prolong lives a few years.

Letter to the Editor

This is a letter of thanks and appreciation to our Managers of the Angels -- Bob Edwards (our son) and Mr. Elmer Redden. They have spent many hours with our team, working out with the boys trying to teach them the art of baseball -- but also teaching them good sportsmanship and fair play, and as everyone knows, it is as important to lose gracefully as well as to win.

This is what our managers have done for our boys. We are very proud of our Angels.

Thank you again,
Mr. & Mrs. D. C. Edwards,

Comment On Sports

BASEBALL

BY PETE FRITCHIE

WASHINGTON, D.C.--The New York Yankees, once the terror of all baseball, are on the way. If there's any doubt about that, one need ask only Billy Martin, who must still hold the Yankees in awe.

Last season Martin's club lost three straight to the Yankees late in the season, and it almost cost the Tigers the pennant in the east. Recently they dropped five in a row to the Yankees, an unprecedented humiliation in recent years for the Bengals, the last four decisions by one run, a clear indication there is either something psychological at work or morale problems among the Detroiters.

The establishment of such mastery over the Tigers is shocking, since they are the team to beat and since they, with Cleveland, are one of the two teams which has never surrendered in awe to the once-powerful Yankees. In fact, for many years the Tigers have played the role of spoilers to the Yankees.

Back in the great days of the McCarthy Yankees, it was the Tigers in 1940 (as in 1934 and 1935) who won the American League flag. They did it again in 1945, though then they slept for 23 years. But even in that long slumber, they had the reputation of Yankee killers.

Martin has thus far been a successful manager; Ralph Houk seems, however, to have the ex-Yankee's number.

Letter to the Editor

Your story on the burglaries in yesterday's Pilot was "SUPER".

Far too few times in these days, are the law enforcement agencies given the credit they rightfully deserve. The long hours they put in and the abuse they take often overshadow the basic good services they render to the public. So much of police work is taken for granted by the public at large.

Well, I for one, want to commend Police Chief Craigmlie not only for heading the "team" that cleared up these burglaries BUT PARTICULARLY for the guts to call the crux of the problem by its real name -- in effect "LACK OF PARENTAL SUPERVISION". The attitude of the parent in this incident is appalling!! To top it off, the lad who admitted complicity was already taking the first step to "get back on the track" and the parent just plain "let the boy down". Support by love and understanding was needed, not recriminations against law and order. Surely Chief Craigmlie was 100% on the ball, call it like it is.

With Chief Craigmlie and Sheriff Bob Hewes, we have two excellent people to head our law enforcement for the city and the county. Let's try to give credit where it's due.

TEXAS BOATERS MAY SUFFER GAS SHORTAGES

AUSTIN -- This summer's gasoline shortage threatens to affect more than just automobile owners -- boaters might also feel the energy pinch between now and Labor Day.

The Boat Owners Association of the United States and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department warn boaters that fuel rationing already exists at some marinas in Texas.

There's not a filling station on every corner of a lake or along the Gulf Coast, and water safety officials are concerned that out-of-gas distress calls to the U. S. Coast Guard and other marine agencies might increase if boat owners do not exercise economy in the operation of their crafts.

High-speed operation should be avoided, because, as every veteran boat owner should know, an increase in performance is disproportionate to the increase in the amount of fuel consumed.

These tips might help boaters do their part in conserving fuel this summer:

--Plan cruises carefully, allowing sufficient reserve for a return trip.

--Use tides and currents to best advantage.

--Throttle back to an economical cruise setting, usually just above planing speed on many boats and 60 percent power on others.

--Check the flame arrestor or air filters for cleanliness. Restricted air-intake makes the engine run rich.

--Keep the bottom of the boat free of grass or barnacles which cut performance.

--Just like the family car, a boat engine must be kept in tune for peak efficiency; check the plugs, points and carburetor settings.

--Stick to marine gas for use in most outboards, many marine engines will be damaged from other fuels such as low-lead or lead-free gas.

Boatmen are also urged to not run low on fuel because the final inch of gas in the tank is one which contains water and other contaminants that stop an engine cold.

In addition to saving fuel, these pointers might help avoid a night adrift or in a desolate area.

ABOUT YOUR

HOME

By April Rhodes

Bee stings can be fatal. Watch for symptoms such as respiratory difficulties, nausea, abdominal cramps and diarrhea.

To prevent crushed collars on shirts when packing for vacation, place socks in the ring of the collar.

A papertowel in the crisp-drawer of your refrigerator will keep the drawer clean and absorb moisture.

To keep your swimsuit bright wash it often (but gently) to remove chlorine from pools and salt from ocean water.

A mixing center in the kitchen (with all mixers and utensils within reach) is even more time-saving when located next to the sink.

Don't ever put poison or insecticides in a soft drink bottle. Small children lose their lives every year from such carelessness.

Help your baby or toddler stay cooler during hot, humid days by applying baby powder--especially in skin folds. Mommie might try it also.

Girls Return from Twirling Camp

KINGSVILLE -- The 23rd annual Twirling and Drum Major School at Texas A&I University closed Thursday (June 12) with a public performance by instructors and students and an awards assembly in the gymnasium of the Physical Education Center at 6:30 p.m.

Attending from Rockport were Cindy Haigood, Pam Hutchins and Velma Pina. Performances included exhibitions of routines learned during the week-long camp. For the 253 students from 64 Texas towns the performance ended a six-day camp where students were taught solo, duet and ensemble twirling and leadership in drum majoring. Special twirling and ensemble routines were taught to majorette corps for use during football half-time performances.

Dr. Joseph L. Bellamah, A & I bandmaster, was camp director.

Memory is the product of intelligence and work.

Record Yellowfin Tuna Caught

AUSTIN -- June 9 was a good day to go tuna fishing out of Port O'Connor.

That was the day Stewart Campbell of Houston hooked the current state record yellowfin tuna which measured five feet, 9 1/2 inches long, three feet, six inches in girth and weighed 146 1/2 pounds. The previous record was a 115-pound fish. Campbell caught the tuna on 80-pound-test line.

Yellowfins grow to a large size, usually in the 20- to 120-pound class. The largest one to be taken was a six-foot, 10-inch-monster weighing 266 pounds caught in Hawaii.

The species may possibly reach 400 pounds. Exploratory fishing has discovered yellowfins in the Gulf Stream throughout the year. They are common in tropical and subtropical waters and have been regularly found as far north as New Jersey.

Tagging of yellowfin tuna indicates that they do not travel great distances like their more pelagic relatives the bluefin and albacore tunas.

Presbyterian Circle Holds Meeting

Mrs. Forrest Melton and Mrs. Mae Ross were hostesses to Circle #2 of the First Presbyterian Church in the home of Mrs. Melton July 12. Prior to the meeting the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Mrs. Kenneth Holmgren, co-chairman, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Erma Clobertants opened the meeting with a prayer. Ten members answered roll call with a verse from the bible. It was reported that vacation bible school started July 16. Treasurer's report was given.

Mrs. Margaret Hight read an article entitled "The Acids of Resembling Goodness". The lesson "The Journey Outward" was given by Mrs. Hight assisted by the members present.

The next meeting will be held at the church with Mrs. Hight and Mrs. Holmgren as hostess. The meeting adjourned with the Mizpah.

Job Opportunities For Veterans

Some 144,000 new job opportunities for veterans have been developed by the Veterans Administration through a cooperative program with private business firms across the country. An estimated 59,000 openings will be developed this fiscal year alone, VA reported today.

Under the agency's job-training "outreach" program, started in July 1971, VA specialists visit employers to suggest that qualified veterans be placed in training "slots" to develop skills tailored to their needs.

VA pays the trainees G.I. Bill benefits starting at $160 monthly for single veterans, with higher rates for those with dependents. Employers must start trainees with at least one-half the monthly wage the veteran will earn when he completes training. The training period normally lasts from six months to two years.

As the training progresses, VA decreases the veteran's allowance every six months, while the employer increases his salary on a regular schedule. By the last full month of training, the employer must pay at least 85 percent of the wage of the job for which he is training.

It is estimated that 340,000 veterans have participated in on-job training programs under the current G.I. Bill since the program was initiated in 1967. During May 114,000 veterans were in training.

You can get tan.
And you can get cancer.

Maybe you think you look better tan. Tan looks healthy.

But under that healthy glow you could be giving skin cancer a head start.

So if you spend a lot of time in the sun, or if you work outdoors and you have a sore that doesn't seem to heal, see your doctor.

Almost all skin cancers can be cured if diagnosed early.

If you have fair skin, cover up. And if you've been lucky so far, plan on a little less sun this year.

You'll be better off for it in the long run.

We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.

Give to the American Cancer Society.

Aransas County Riding Assn. Organized In '65

In the summer of 1965 a tall, lean, lanky, local cowboy by the name of Edward Truelove got to talking to some of the citizens of Rockport. As a result of these talks, on October 11, 1965 as temporary chairman, Don Meek made the motion that the initial move of the association (to be named later) be made in order to form and promote horsemanship in the Aransas County area.

The following men were appointed as temporary Board of Directors: Floyd Rouquette, Dick Fox, Edward Truelove, Don Meek-Chairman, Tom Petrilli-alternate, D. M. Meador, Joe Lee and Jim Kautz.

A motion was also made and seconded that the temporary name of the organization was to be the Aransas County Riding Association until a permanent name was decided on.

October 26, 1965: A report was given by Dick Fox after the meeting of the board with Judge John D. Wendell. One piece of property in particular was discussed which might be given to the club for its activities. The temporary Board of Directors met on October 27 to set up by - laws to be presented to the Commissioners' Court on October 29.

November 2, 1965: After the meeting of the Board with the Commissioner's Court, the Association was given the land on which to build an arena. The Commissioner's Court approved rules, plat and layout of arena, etc., and the Association set off to get a charter.

Committees were set up to nominate individuals for the permanent Board of Directors and Advisory Board. Of the names submitted the following were elected: Board of Directors: Dick Fox--President; Jim Kautz--Vice President; Tom Petrilli, Theodore Tiffin, Sr., Floyd Rouquette and Joe Sosa. Advisory Board: Joe Lee, Brady Traweck, Don Meek, D. M. Meador, Denver Agler and Edward Truelove.

A committee was appointed to draw a plat showing the layout of the arena which will be shown and explained to the Commissioners Court by Tom Petrilli.

November 9, 1965: Tom Petrilli presented the Commissioners Court with the plat and plans of the arena. They were very much in favor and the charter has been applied for.

In regards to dues, they were set at $5.00 a year for one member of a family and $1.00 additional for each member of the same family.

November 19, 1965: Motions were made to get a casing well which will cost more than the first one suggested; signs will be made to publicly thank any donors; that the judges stand be 10 x 20; to build four bucking shoots; to order stationery and membership cards.

December 3, 1965: The first financial report was given to the club, Jim Kautz and Tom Petrilli will approach Raymond Owens in Precinct 3 about the culverts and leveling of the ground.

A motion was made and seconded that the club give away a shetland pony for Christmas and the pony will be raffled off Dec. 22, 1965, in front of the Rockport Fire Station.

The above are some of the highlights of the minutes the first Secretary - Treasurer Julia Fox, kept when the Aransas County Riding Association was first organized.

CHARTER

The Aransas County Riding Association is hereby granted permission to operate an association within the boundaries of Aransas County, Texas, for the purpose of promoting horsemanship. The association will be governed by a Board of Governors duly elected by the said membership. The association will be operated as a non-profit, non-political, non-segregated, self governed organization. The Aransas County Riding Association will strive to maintain the dignity and pride of the community and will assist and cooperate with all other meritorious organizations interested in the community welfare.

Since the club was first organized in October 1965, members have been on three annual trail rides from Corpus Christi to San Antonio with South Texas Trail Riders Association and have had two annual trail rides on Padre Island and had a moonlight trail ride Saturday, December 7, 1968 here in Aransas County.

Of the many small youth rodeos we have had the youth rodeo June 1st & 2nd, 1968 was the most memorable as the Harris County Junior Sheriff's Posse Drill Team came down to perform for us. Plans are in the mill not for the next annual open youth rodeo next year when the drill team will again be with us.

Saturday, June 1, 1968, we had our parade through downtown Rockport. Of the floats which were in the parade the one which won the most beautiful was the Paws and Taws Square Dance float and the one which won the most original was the Coon Hunters. Also our rodeo queen, Audre Ankele, led the parade on Blanco.

The first open professional rodeo was Oct. 27 and 28 and there are plans in the mill for our next open professional rodeo before too much longer.

The first Country Western dance was at the Colony Room at the Sandollar when Jackie White and his band played for the enjoyment of a packed house April 8, 1967. The second dance which was a Western Barn dance was at the old Rockport Steel Form Building in Fulton when Pee Wee Parr and his Drug Store Cowboys played to a packed house March 20th and the third dance which was also a Western Barn dance was at the same location. Claude Merritt and his Texas Plainsmen played to another packed house August 31st. Also the Riding Association had a barbeque on this date.

November 7, 1966 the club voted to have the caricature of Yosemite Sam on their patches and Yosemite Sam is also painted on the sides of the skid-o-can.

The club ordered an Imperial Low Moose Saddle from Rockport Auto Supply to be raffled off and the drawing to be December 19, 1966. Pat Harrist won the saddle.

Questions and Answers

Q. I own a grocery store. I report my employees' wages and send in the social security contributions every 3 months. However, my brother, who owns a greenhouse, only makes out his report once a year. Who's right?

A. Both of you. A grocery store is considered a regular business and reporting employees' wages is done quarterly. However, operating a greenhouse may be classified as an agricultural enterprise which requires reporting employees' wages on an annual basis.

Q. I'm 64 and for several years I've been getting monthly social security payments based on my late husband's work record. Now I'm planning to remarry and the man I'm marrying is getting monthly retirement checks. After I'm married, will I continue to get payments?

A. Yes, you'll continue to get monthly checks after you remarry, and the amount of your monthly checks may increase. Call, write, or visit your social security office to notify them as soon as you remarry.

Q. I'll soon be 62 and plan to quit work then and retire. I have raised my two grandchildren since they were babies. Now they're both in grade school. Will they be able to get social security checks on my record when I start getting monthly benefits?

A. Possibly. Under recent changes in the social security law, grandchildren can get monthly checks based on a grandparent's earnings record if certain conditions are met. You should file a claim for benefits for them at any social security office and receive a formal determination on the matter. This can be done when you apply for your retirement benefits.

Q. Since I'll be 65 in a few months, I was planning to come in to the social security office and apply for monthly retirement payments. But last week I broke my leg and can't get around very well. How can I apply now?

A. Call your social security office. Most applications can be completed by telephone. If necessary, the people there can arrange to have a representative visit you at home.

Q. My 71-year-old husband died recently. Social security sent me a check for $234. Isn't the lump-sum death benefit payment always $255?

A. No, the amount of the lump-sum death payment under social security can vary from $211.20 to $255, depending on the worker's average earnings under social security. The amount of the payment is three times the monthly benefit at 65, but never exceeds $255.

Q. I am a car dealer. One of my employees is my father, who works full time as my office manager. Can I report his earnings for social security purposes just as I do for all my other employees?

A. Yes. Your father's work is covered under social security since he is working for you in the operation of a business. On the other hand, household work by a parent in a son's or daughter's home is not covered by social security.

Have a question about social security and its retirement, survivors, disability or Medicare benefits? See your telephone directory for the phone number and address of the nearest social security office.

Q. I was told that I would get social security credit of $160 per month for each month of my active military service from 1941 to 1944. However, I sent in a post card for a record of my social security earnings and found my military time wasn't listed. Why was it left out?

A. Military service is not actually credited to your record until the time when you apply for social security benefits. When you apply, you will be asked for your discharge papers or other proof of military service. The people at the social security office will see that you get your military credits then.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

PFD could be the most important thing in your life. At least it could be if you'd keep it handy. Or better yet—wear it.

It is a new-specifications life-saving device for use by anyone (young or old)—in, on, or around water.

PFD is short for "Personal Flotation Device". You'll hear the term used often from now on. Having one handy is important—but wearing it is 10 times more so.

It's really any kind of approved life-saving outfit designed for an individual to wear—if it meets the new requirements outlined here.

An approved PFD that attaches to one's body will do far more good than an approved seat cushion and will last for years, especially if worn.

If left lying around the boat or on the beach it becomes dirty and unattractive to the point you don't even want to wear it. So, keep it clean!

If worn while aboard a boat it will get less wear, tear and abuse than when trampled on, stuck in a corner among junk and rubbish, or sat upon as a cushion.

From this you can gather that we're not hep about seat cushions as life preservers. Frankly—NO! They are about the poorest excuses ever conceived for life-saving devices.

Main trouble with seat cushions as life savers is you need to take one with you when you fall overboard, or leave someone in the boat to toss the cushion to you. Even then its usefulness is based on the fact that you can swim, at least far enough to reach the tossed-at-you cushion. And of course it's presumed that you weren't knocked in the head and knocked unconscious when you went overboard.

All of which points to the fact that you need a real, honest-to-goodness life preserver, a slip-over outfit that straps to you (under your arms and around your body) . . . and has sufficient flotation in back to keep your head above water. That's "PFD" numbers I, II and III.

Can you imagine youngsters carrying along seat cushions as they run up and down the beach or gather rocks and shells at the shoreline?

Of course the point we wish to make is that life jackets are life preservers; seat cushions are seat preservers. Let's keep them in their proper place.

As stated earlier you'll be hearing more about PFD. It becomes mandatory on October 1, as a new requirement of the U. S. Coast Guard. Bless 'em—they're going to save your life in spite of you. You won't wear life jackets voluntarily.

Unfortunately the new law won't apply to boats under 16 feet in length, so 67 per cent of the U. S. boat owners will not be affected by the rule changes. But just wait—if you too don't use an approved Personal Flotation Device, voluntarily, you'll be next—if you don't drown in the meantime.

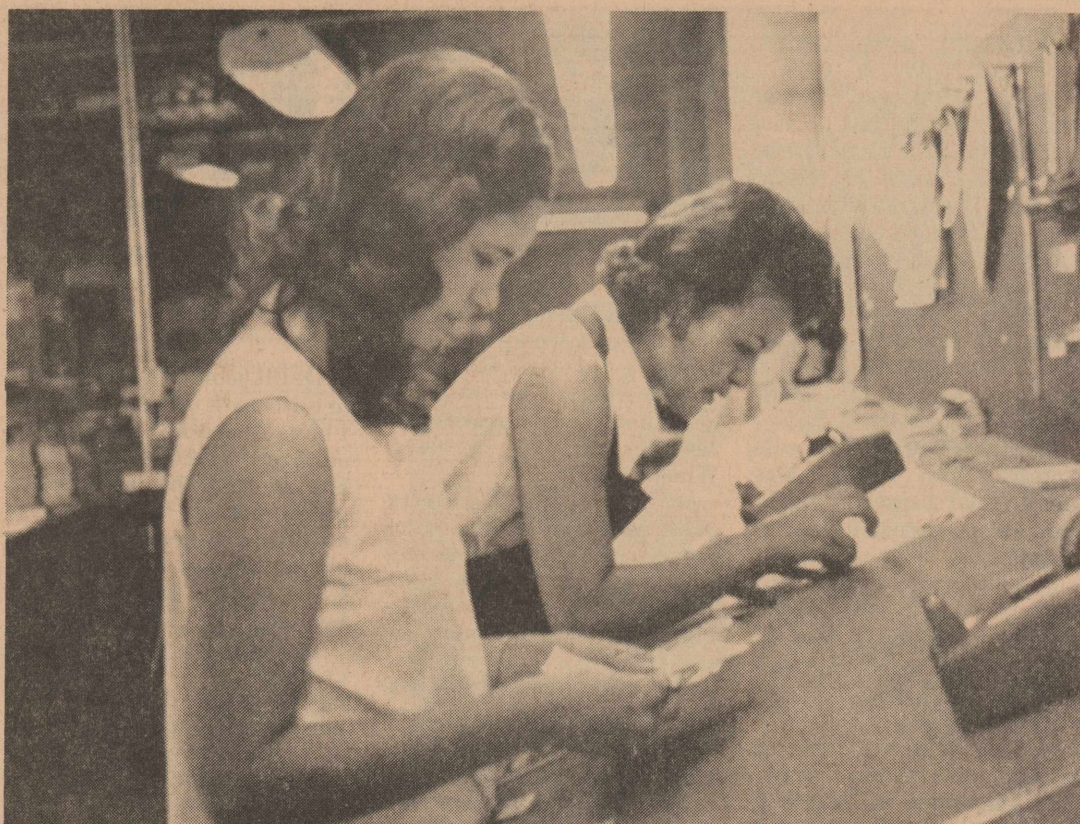

Four types of PFDs are included in the approved stock of life preservers.

All four are much alike as to buoyancy, except Type I which must sustain at least 20 pounds. Specs for Types II and III call for 15.5 pounds of buoyancy and Type IV, 16.5 pounds.

Unfortunately the latter is the buoyant cushion, again—designed to be thrown to a person in the water. But the new regulations do require that it be in addition to Types I, II and III on boats of 26 feet and longer.

After October 1 manufacturers will be required to specify the Type number on each Personal Flotation Device they offer for sale. Just remember that Type IV is the cushion; Type III is good, Type II is better; and Type I is the very best. So—value your life accordingly. Buy the best!

It's no feat to make money if you already have it.

Recent donations have been made by Mrs. Jack Battle, Mrs. T. E. McArdle, Mrs. H. R. Bratt, Mr. and Mrs. Goode, Mrs. Fred Cabbage and the Rotary Club. The Library gratefully acknowledges these gifts.

WASHINGTON--Charles H. Pulley, president of the American Safety Belt Council, says that within a year or two, some states will require motorists to wear automobile seat belts.

Why does high humidity in summer make us uncomfortable?

The relative humidity (percentage of moisture in the air) has a noticeable effect on us because the body perspires constantly, the amount varying on activity and other factors.

On days when a high pressure system is above us, with its usual dry, cool air, we feel good. The drier air causes rapid evaporation of perspiration, and clothes do not become wet or sticky.

In addition, low pressure (which often accompanies high humidity) acts on our blood vessels with what is sometimes a depressing effect. Thus physically and physiologically high humidity directly affects our comfort.
