Hobbs cleans up after twisters

■ Three tornadoes that touched down in Hobbs caused minimal damage, city official says.

Associated Press

HOBBS, N.M. — The three tornadoes that touched down on Thursday caused "minimal damage," and this eastern New Mexico town should be back to normal within a few days, a Hobbs city official said Friday

"I don't think it will be a long, drawn-out process," David Hughes said of the cleanup operation that was under way Friday.

Hughes, assistant to the city manager, said the damage wasn't confined to a specific area and was mostly to structures and trees.

The National Weather Service said the three tornadoes touched down briefly in Hobbs between 4:40 p.m. and 5:40 p.m. MDT Thursday. The town is near the Texas border about 70 miles northwest of the Midland-Odessa area.

Hughes said cleanup work started when clouds cleared at 8 p.m., but crews had only about half an hour of daylight. Rainwater left by the storm made immediate cleanup slow, he said.

The weather service reported .83 of an inch of precipitation for Hobbs.

David Hooten, emergency management director for the city, said he would send a report assessing damages in the area to the State Disaster Preparation Office in Santa Fe. The state will use the information in determining dispersal of relief money, he said.

The damage assessments were conducted by the American Red Cross, Hooten said. He said two houses and five mobile homes were destroyed.

Hughes said the city's procedures for notifying citizens of the emergency worked. He also said the timing worked to the residents' advantage since most everyone was off work and on their way home or at home.

"There weren't a lot of people out and about," Hughes said. "And through our cable system and our local news media, we were able to get the word out very quickly."

By Friday night, crews and volunteers were "getting everything cleaned up," said Lea County Sheriff's Dispatcher James Hale of Hobbs. "They are working on it."

Road opening

The opening of the renovated Lamesa Road will be celebrated Tuesday with a 1:30 p.m. ribbon-cutting ceremony at the intersection of Lamesa Road and Wadley Avenue. The event is sponsored by the city of Midland, Texas Highway Department, Midland Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and Eastside Economic Development Task Force.
Phase II of the Lamesa Road renovation project was completed last month after a bridge at the Wadley Avenue intersection opened.

Oil fire update

LONDON — A Kuwaiti official said Friday he expected most of the 550 oil wells torched by Iraqis during the Gulf War and still burning in Kuwait to be extinguished by March of next year. Oil Minister Homoud Al-Raqobah, on a five-day visit to London, praised international efforts to help cap the 600 wells set ablaze by Iraqi troops as they fled Kuwait in March. About 50 wells have been capped.

Houston, Washington schools to look like new come the fall

■ Local elementaries undergoing million-dollar renovations.

By Myra Lee Salcedo
Staff Writer

Two of Midland's older public schools are getting million dollar facelifts this summer.

Stacks of bricks are lined up outside of Houston Elementary School, 2000 W. Louisiana, and the roof of Washington Elementary School, 1800 E. Wall, has been stripped in readiness for a new roof.

The renovations, ($1.3 million for Houston and $1.5 million for Washington) received the stamp of approval from Midland school board trustees in April.

Houston was built in 1951 and Washington in 1952. Neither school has had renovations in the past.

"We're talking about going from the bare essentials to a totally new look at Houston," said Wilson Heidelberg, executive director of auxiliary services for the school district.

Heidelberg said the Houston renovation — which includes a new kitchen, safety features, a ventilation system, covered walkways, barrier-free entrances and a new carpet — would make the school a "comparable, viable building, prob-

Hale enters guilty plea

By David Morris
Staff Writer

Former Glenwood Psychiatric Hospital Administrator Bryan Allen Hale pleaded guilty Friday to federal charges of sending obscene material through the mail.

In return for the plea, prosecutors are recommending that child pornography charges against Hale be dropped.

Judge Lucius D. Bunton III, who heard the plea Friday in U.S. District Court in Midland, set Hale's sentencing for July 17. Hale could face up to five years in prison and a $250,000 fine for the obscenity charge.

Hale admitted mailing a 155-page book detailing his sexual fantasies and entitled "Three Beautiful, Wonderful, Women — Rough Beginnings" to undercover U.S. Customs Service Agents in Florida in March.

Investigators said Hale had been communicating with the agents, whom he initially contacted through a computer bulletin board system, in an effort to purchase a videotape containing child pornography.

Agents delivered the tape, entitled "Educating Valerie," to Hale's Glenwood office on April 8 and arrested him for receiving child pornography. Subsequent searches of Hale's home and office uncovered photocopies of a magazine entitled "Lolita" that also contained child pornography, investigators said.

A federal grand jury later indicted Hale, 47, on two counts

Wife urges treatment for Hale

By David Morris
Staff Writer

Sending Bryan Allen Hale to prison will help neither him nor the community, Hale's wife of five years said in an interview this week.

C.R. Hale, who asked that her first name not be used, said that her husband doesn't need incarceration — he needs treatment for sexual addiction.

"I don't think punishment in a prison setting helps," said Mrs. Hale, who describes her husband's arrest and subsequent odyssey through the judicial system as a "dark saga."

"Here's a man who has not hurt anybody physically ever," she said. "He has been a good, upstanding member of society, and the only way that he's going to get better is through a treatment program....If we are living in a compassionate society and not a punitive society, and we want to have whole, healthy human beings, then treatment is the only way to go."

Bryan Hale, 47, pleaded guilty Friday to federal

Midlander discovers prolific producer in Austin Chalk trend

Staff Report

A Midland oilman has discovered what is expected to become one of the most prolific horizontal wells in the Austin Chalk trend of South Texas.

R.A. "Bob" Manning, president of Lithic Exploration with offices in Midland and Houston, said his company in a venture with Barnes Exploration Co. of Nashville, Tenn., has drilled a well with estimated flow rates of 5,000 to 8,000 barrels of oil per day and 5 million cubic feet of gas daily.

Manning said exact flow rates cannot be determined, but he is satisfied that current flow rates make it potentially the third largest producer to be drilled in the Austin Chalk trend.

Victory parade 'good for America,' Bush says

■ Celebration to honor veterans of Persian Gulf War.

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Tourists by the thousands crowded Washington's grassy Mall on Friday, a day before the big victory parade, to gawk at the military might arrayed there. Even George Bush stopped by, briefly, and declared "This is good for America."

It also was expensive for America. Costs for the celebration had risen into the $12 million range, with the Pentagon spending between $5 million and $7 million.

For Friday's huge crowd on the mall, the 1½-mile-long open space between the Capitol and the Lincoln Memorial, the cost was the last thing to ponder. People lined up to climb into a Sea Knight helicopter to get the feel of the controls, or to stand on a tank.

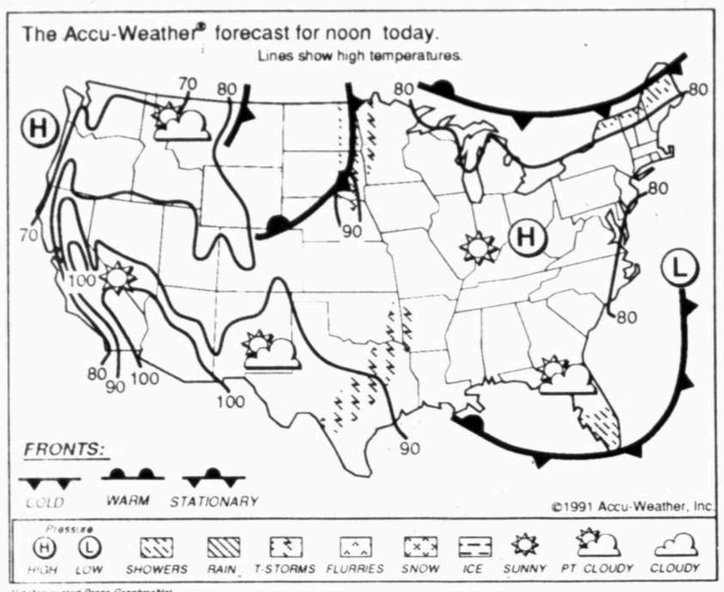

During the noon hour, there were as many bureaucrats wearing suits and ties in the waiting lines as there were families in shorts and T-shirts.

All this was a prelude to today, when 8,000 men and women who served in the Persian Gulf War will parade down Constitution Avenue behind their commander, Army Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf. More than 100 military aircraft will zoom over them.

WEATHER SUMMARY

Via Associated Press GraphicsNet

STORM: Damage minimal

(From 1A)

During the emergency moments of the storm and in the following hours, Hale said, there was "real good" cooperation among law-enforcement and other emergency agencies.

On the day after the storm, the weather has been "sunshiney all day long," he said. "We haven't had anything (inclement weather) today," although storms were forecast.

A 40-year-old woman was admitted Thursday night to Lea Regional Hospital in Hobbs with a fractured ankle, hospital officials said. At least four others were treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Eight people spent the night at a homeless shelter because the storm damaged their homes. There also were scattered power outages during the storm that left traffic signals dark.

The tornadoes, accompanied by hail and heavy rain, were spawned by a storm that formed west of Carlsbad and moved across New Mexico before passing into Texas, the weather service said.

Tornadoes also touched down near Portales and Elida, midway between Tucumcari and Hobbs, but no damage or injuries were reported there. High winds tore a metal roof off a church in Tucumcari, where inch-diameter hail was reported.

Staff writer Ed Todd contributed to this report.

More rain forecast for area

Staff Report

More rain, along with possible thunder and lightning, may visit the Midland area this weekend.

The weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland International Airport is calling for less than a 20 percent chance of late afternoon thunderstorms today.

The peak temperature is to be in lower 90s. Winds are to be southerly at 5 to 15 mph.

For tonight, the weatherman is predicting partly cloudy skies and a 20 percent chance of mainly evening thunderstorms. The low temperature tonight is to be in the mid-60s.

Skies are to be party cloudy on Sunday, when the high temperature is to be in the lower 90s.

Friday's high temperature was 87 degrees, and the overnight low was 60.

The record high temperature for a June 7 is 106 degrees in 1964. The record low temperature for a May 8 is 57 degrees in 1949.

STATE

It was mostly muggy Friday across Texas as the mercury climbed in humid conditions under cloudy skies. West Texas was mostly fair.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms dampened the central and eastern portions of North Texas in response to an upper level disturbance. Storms also were active over portions of Central Texas, along the Texas Gulf Coast and in the Trans-Pecos.

Winds were generally from the east at 5 to 10 mph but light and variable in West Texas.

Forecasters expected cloudy skies would continue during the weekend with warm days and mild nights. High temperatures generally in the 80s were predicted for North Texas and 90s in the south. Overnight lows were expected to be in the 60s north and 70s south with scattered mainly evening showers and thunderstorms.

The Associated Press also contributed to this report.

PARADE: Bush comes out to view military hardware on display at Mall

(From 1A)

The day begins with a wreath-laying by the President at the Tomb of the Unknowns at Arlington National Cemetery. Bush and the ambassador of Kuwait will speak.

The day, however, belongs to the troops and their families. For them there is a giant picnic on the ellipse behind the White House. In early evening there will be a USO show on the Washington Monument grounds, and that Washington specialty, a fireworks display near the monument.

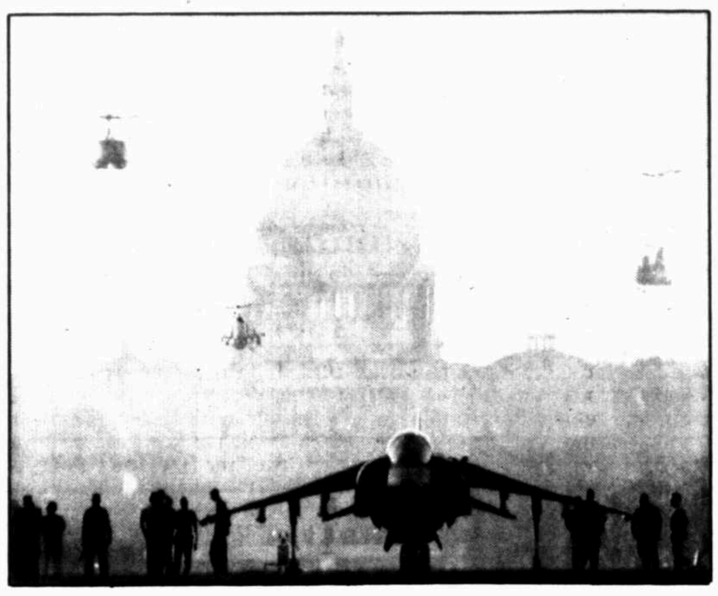

The Mall was like a giant fair on Friday. The best part was when the display was assembled.

A Harrier jet, which can take off and land vertically, and a formation of helicopters arrived under their own steam. Two amphibious assault vehicles swam up the Potomac, lumbered ashore, and drove a few blocks to the Mall. Thousands of troops arrived by bus, train and planes from as far away as Germany.

Capt. Keith Chapman, who flew a Harrier out of King Abdul Aziz air field in Saudi Arabia during the war, found himself answering the same question over and over. Isn't the Harrier a British plane? How fast does it go? How does it fly straight up?

The plane was made in St. Louis by McDonnell Douglas, its speed is 600 knots (690 mph), and it can turn its jets toward the ground.

Has he ever bailed out? "I've never expected to and I don't want to," said Chapman. He described the ejection seat to a grandmotherly woman as "like a barber's seat."

AP Laserphoto

A group of helicopters arrive near a Harrier "jump jet," above, on Capitol Hill Thursday for the National Victory Celebration today in Washington, D.C.

Amry Spec. 4 James Koontz, of Evansville, Ind., was in the middle of the biggest crowd, by a Patriot Missile Launcher. He said he can load four Patriots in 29 minutes but has a friend who can do it in 25. Asked a technical question by a teen-ager, he replied "I can't explain it. That's not in my echelon."

But he was happy to be in the celebration. "Before the war," Koontz said, "everybody joked that the Patriot was no good." But now, "everybody says, you're a hero ... . It makes me feel good."

Sponsors of the parade are veterans organizations. They have raised about $5 million from corporations and individuals, with $1 million each coming from the nations of Kuwait and Saudi Arabia.

Pete Williams, spokesman for the Defense Department, said the military's cost is between $5 million and $7 million and that a final accounting is yet to come.

On Capitol Hill, Rep. Joe Kennedy, D-Mass., said while "we will pull out the stops to ensure that 500,000 Gulf veterans know how proud our country is of them," no one should forget thousands of homeless veterans of the Vietnam war.

PLEA: Hale pleads guilty to federal charges of mailing obscene material of receiving child pornography and one count of sending obscene material through the mail. If convicted of receiving child pornography, Hale would have faced up to 10 years in prison on each count.

The plea agreement that saw those counts dropped also led to the dismissal of state burglary charges against Hale in Ector County.

"From the defense standpoint, that was a necessary prerequisite," said Glen Aaron II, Hale's attorney, after the plea.

Assistant U.S. Attorney William W. Torrey, who prosecuted Hale, could not be reached for comment Friday afternoon.

However, Ector County Assistant District Attorney Mike Griffin said he was glad to drop the burglary charges against Hale in return for a guaranteed guilty plea in federal court.

"Here in Texas, in the state system, inmates are doing about 10 percent" of their sentences, Griffin said. "He's probably going to end up with more time than if we tried him here and got a great verdict."

The maximum penalty for burglary of a habitation, a first-degree felony, is 99 years or life in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Burglary charges against Hale stemmed from the theft of some documents from the Odessa home of one of his Glenwood co-workers, Marilee Anne Kyler, in March. Among the stolen papers were notes Ms. Kyler said she was keeping to support a possible sexual harassment lawsuit against Hale and Glenwood.

Ms. Kyler, who filed a burglary complaint against Hale on April 12, testified during one of Hale's detention hearings that she thought he was stalking her and her 13-year-old daughter.

Hale resigned his Glenwood post following his arrest and has been replaced at the hospital.

Aaron said the emotional and financial trauma that Hale and his family have suffered since the arrest were two of the reasons that a plea agreement was sought.

Concerns that a fair trial might be unlikely in Midland also were a factor in Hale's decision to plead, Aaron said.

"Once the motion to change venue was overruled and once a deadline was set for plea negotiations before pretrial on the rest of the motions filed, it became imperative that I get my negotiating hat on," Aaron said. "We've had broad (media) coverage of the subject matter of this case. I'm not going to say it's not possible to have obtained a fair trial here ... but one does not know until they've gone through the trial whether that has occurred."

Judge Bunton signed the order denying Aaron's change-of-venue motion June 3.

Hale, who lives at 4415 Northcrest Drive in Midland, is being held without bond in the Midland County Central Detention Facility pending his sentencing.

Judge Bunton agreed Friday to a defense request that he not consider testimony given during Hale's April 11 and May 24 detention hearings when deciding on punishment.

Hale, released on $25,000 bond after the April 11 hearing, was sent back to jail after investigators testified May 24 that Hale sent electronic mail to a computer bulletin board indicating his obsession with Ms. Kyler and her daughter.

"The rules of evidence do not apply in a detention hearing, which means that totally irrelevant and inflammatory matters can come in," Aaron said. "The detention hearing is not the trial ... and I simply did not believe ... that it should be considered in sentencing."

Suspect in Odessa robbery released in Indiana

Staff Report

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — A 26-year-old Odessa man who was jailed following a U.S. marshal's arrest on Thursday for the June 3 armed robbery of AmWest Savings Association in Odessa has been released from custody, officials said.

Brian Matthew Day, was not charged, a Marion County Jail spokesman said Friday night.

"He was here Thursday, they did not file charges on him, and he was released and put back on the street," the spokesman said.

Day reportedly was arrested at his sister's house in Rushville, southeast of Indianapolis.

FBI officials in Indianapolis offered no immediate information.

Reportedly, Day was to appear before the U.S. magistrate in Indianapolis for an identity hearing to ascertain that he was the same man listed in the FBI warrant out of the Midland office.

The Odessa AmWest office was robbed about 7:30 a.m. on June 3 by a man wielding a pistol and wearing a mask.

The man had surprised an AmWest teller who was reporting to work and held her at gunpoint while they walked into the business. After the man entered the vault and stole cash, he attached a fake bomb to the teller and locked her in the vault.

charges of sending obscene material through the mail. The material in question was a 155-page book of his sexual fantasies entitled "Three Beautiful, Wonderful, Women — Rough Beginnings."

Hale sent the book to Florida undercover agents from whom he also purchased a videotape entitled "Educating Valerie" that reportedly depicts a 10-year-old girl engaged in sexual activity with her father. However, child pornography charges against Hale were dropped in return for his guilty plea to the mail offense.

Mrs. Hale said her husband's behavior was a response to the stress of his administrator's job at Glenwood Psychiatric Hospital, where he had worked about seven months before his April 8 arrest.

"I acknowledge the fact that he was under extreme stress," Mrs. Hale said. "He was working from 4 o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night and this was his way of handling the stress."

What her husband did is not a crime, Mrs. Hale said — it's a disease.

In a written statement released to the Reporter-Telegram, Mrs. Hale said her husband's sexual addiction can be overcome with proper treatment, and that treatment is not available in prison.

"As in any addiction there is a cure if the individual is treated at an institution specializing in this addiction," the statement reads. "Aside from any consideration of guilt or innocence it would appear there would be no gain from incarcerating an individual with no previous record, who did in no way hurt or abuse another person. Treatment at a center designed for for this addictive disease is the just and effective approach for the individual, the family and the community."

Hale, whose sentencing is scheduled for July 17, faces up to five years in prison and a $250,000 fine. His prosecutor, Assistant U.S. Attorney William W. Torrey, has argued that he is a menace to the community and a would-be child molester with a sinister obsession.

Meanwhile, testimony during Hale's May 24 detention hearing indicated that Glenwood Community Relations Director Marilee Anne Kyler feared that Hale was stalking her and her teenage daughter.

But in her statement, Mrs. Hale described her husband as a "warm, wonderful, caring man." Rather than being a pedophile, Bryan Hale is the victim of "false accusations and slanted reporting representing a good, worthwhile human being in a negative light."

She concurred with Hale's attorney, Glen Aaron II, who said Friday that Hale had been the victim of "overkill" on the part of federal prosecutors and investigators.

"It just rips your heart to shreds," Mrs. Hale said. "Because they don't take into consideration total life. They look at an isolated piece of a person's life and they put it in the worst possible light. They demean everybody in the process."

Store robberies

Staff Reports

A Midland liquor store was robbed at gunpoint late Thursday afternoon.

Midland police reported that a 6-foot-1 man wearing a baseball cap held a pistol on the Pinkie's liquor store clerks at Northland Shopping Center about 6:10 p.m. Thursday and "escorted" them to the back room where he took personal items, including a billfold and money clip, from them.

Afterward, the bandit took the store's employees to the cash registers up front and took an undisclosed amount of money.

The man fled on foot.

In a separate case, two teenagers made off with two cases of beer which they picked up at a 7-Eleven convenience store five minutes after midnight on Friday morning.

According to police, the two teen-aged boys, one about 6-foot-2 and the younger boy, about 4-foot-11, hauled off two cases of beer, as the clerk was about to lock up the store for the night. The teen-agers "forced their way past" the clerk in turning what could have been a theft into a robbery, police said.

Oil-truck fire

WEST ODESSA — The driver of an oil truck reportedly was injured Friday afternoon in an oil-truck fire here.

ably for the next 40 years."

Washington will also receive a new look, including a kitchen and enclosed walkways. "It will cost half as much to renovate it as tearing it down and rebuilding it," Heidelberg said.

"It's kind of scary to see everything being destroyed," said Melva Cardenas, principal of Washington.

The Washington principal said she visited the school Friday to see the progress of the construction workers.

"The entire building is being completely remodeled," she said. "They are enclosing the hallways, gutting the classrooms, putting in new cabinets and storage, expanding the office, library and kitchen, putting in new floors, carpets and windows."

Ms. Cardenas noted that the windows in the school were sealed and that the building — built in the 1950s — was built prior to energy efficient measures.

"When finished, Wsshington will basically be changed from an outdoor to an indoor school," she said. "Right now classroom doors open to the outdoors. When finished, the classroom doors will open to an enclosed hallway."

"I'm pretty excited," the principal said. "I'm just keeping my fingers crossed that it will all be ready the first day teachers report to duty."

Two trains collide, killing at least 100 people

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A crowded express train slammed head-on into a freight train north of Karachi early Saturday, killing at least 100 people and injuring scores more, railway officials said.

The death toll was expected to rise as rescue workers cut through the twisted wreckage in what is believed to be Pakistan's second worst train accident, the officials said.

The express, which travels the Karachi-Lahore-Islamabad route, was headed north for Lahore when it slammed into the freight train parked at the station in Ghotki, 400 miles north of Karachi in Sindh province.

Most of the passengers were asleep when the accident occurred at 1:10 a.m. Dozens of train cars derailed, officials said. They said the train was moving at 40 miles an hour.

Officials said the crash was heard for miles, jolting awake residents in surrounding villages, who rushed to the station to help with rescue efforts.

The train is called the "Taz Gam," which means fast runner in the Urdu language. It is frequently used by middle- and uppper-class Pakistanis if they are unable to get plane tickets.

There was no immediate explanation for why the express, which daily carries hundreds of people along the 980-mile route, was allowed into the station, railway officials said.

Woman convicted in murder, twin sister acquitted

By Joe Kafka

BELLE FOURCHE, S.D. (AP) — Jurors convicted one woman of conspiracy to commit first-degree murder on Friday but acquitted her twin sister of charges that they helped to kill the 85-year-old man each had married twice.

Darlene Phillips was convicted of the most serious charge but cleared of three other charges. Her sister, Delores Christenson, was acquitted of all four charges she faced, including two counts of conspiracy.

The jury returned after deliberating about five hours.

Mrs. Phillips immediately was sentenced to mandatory life in prison.

When asked by Butte County Judge Robert L. Tschetter if she had anything to say before sentencing, she quickly said: "I'm not guilty, sir."

Christenson's lawyer, Bob Van Norman, said his client was acquitted because her association with her sister didn't make her a conspirator.

"Innocence is a relative word, obviously, but she wasn't guilty of what she was charged with," he said.

Mrs. Phillips and Christenson, 46, each has been married four times. Both had brushes with the law before they were indicted in the death of Walter Gibbs, who was slain April Fools Day 1990 at his home in Lemmon.

Christenson was named beneficiary of the Gibbs' estate.

"Walter was a nice guy until he got mixed up with those nitwit twins," said Lillian Burns of Morristown, whose husband, George, was a close friend of Gibbs. "They're crazier than a couple of bedbugs."

Jerome D. Phillips, 38, a convicted rustler who's married to Darlene but says he's in love with her sister, confessed to smothering Gibbs with a pillow. He testified at the twins' trial this week that Darlene helped hold down Gibbs.

Phillips pleaded guilty May 21 to a murder conspiracy charge. He is to be sentenced July 2.

The twins were charged with planning the murder and helping to kill the frail Gibbs.

Phillips said he and the twins had several discussions about ways to kill Gibbs, who had named Christenson as heir to his $178,000 estate.

State Assistant Attorney General Mark Smith said in closing arguments Friday that the sisters had persuaded Gibbs to change his will in January 1990.

Smith told the jury Mrs. Phillips admitted to investigators that she helped smother Gibbs.

He said Christenson "sat in the kitchen while Jerome and Darlene went into the living room and did in Walter Gibbs."

Mrs. Phillips' lawyer, Bruce Hubbard, said in his closing argument that the sisters were intimidated into helping kill Gibbs, and that Phillips was the mastermind of the plot.

Hubbard, and Christenson's lawyer, attempted to discredit Phillips' testimony, saying he lied on the witness stand.

"Mr. Phillips would not recognize the truth if it reached up and bit him," Hubbard said.

He said Mrs. Phillips obeyed her husband, who is 6-foot-1 and 280 pounds, because she was afraid he would harm her if she didn't.

Van Norman told the jury his client essentially has the mental capacity of a second-grader and is not nearly smart enough to either plan Gibbs' death or to know that she should report the murder scheme to authorities.

'Walter was a nice guy until he got mixed up with those nitwit twins. They're crazier than a couple of bedbugs.'

— Lillian Burns, friend of Walter Gibbs

Gibbs was 58 when he first married Christenson, who was 18 at the time. They were divorced about 10 years later, and he married Darlene. Another divorce, two remarriages to the twins and one other marriage brought his total to five marriages.

"It's confusing to everybody who knows them," Mrs. Burns said.

Mrs. Phillips already is serving a 50-year prison term for trying to burn down Gibbs' farm house in 1989 while he was sleeping on the couch. A neighbor saw the fire and helped Gibbs get out.

Mrs. Phillips was sentenced in August 1990, four months after Gibbs' death.

Authorities first thought Gibbs' death was natural but got suspicious several months later when they received a tip that Mrs. Phillips was blabbing in prison about a murder.

Gibbs' body was exhumed 13 months after burial. Officials had thought he died at the hospital in Lemmon, a town of 1,600 in northwestern South Dakota just three blocks from the North Dakota line. Although his body was taken to the hospital, they didn't discover until later that he was dead when an ambulance picked him up.

Phillips is serving eight years for rustling sheep and pigs last year. Christenson served 60 days for helping him.

Mrs. Phillips met her present husband in the state's prison for men and women several years ago when she was serving time for torching a house in Bison, and he was in jail for writing bad checks.

"The twins tell me I'm like a brother to them," said Lemmon Police Chief Nick Sch.. fer. "I don't know why because I've arrested them several times."

Friends of Gibbs said he was a sucker for a hard-luck story. That's why he remarried the twins and why after divorcing them he later let them and Phillips live with him, they said.

months of uncertainty over the homeport's fate, said Rep. Solomon Ortiz, D-Corpus Christi.

"I know it looked like an elevator, up and down," Ortiz said. "Now we're safe, we have a mission. I think we'll be OK. This is a time for celebration and a time for thanking God."

"This settles it once and for all," added Gramm. "This is the clear-cut victory we've been waiting for."

For Goodfellow and Kingsville, however, the uncertainty continues for at least another week.

The independent Base Closure and Realignment Commission will be comparing Goodfellow with Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, and it will compare Kingsville with Chase Field Naval Air Station in Beeville and Meridian Naval Air Station in Meridian, Miss. The three are the only bases nationally that train Navy pilots to land on aircraft carriers.

The panel will then decide which bases should remain on the list of installations targeted for closure.

Gramm said the commission's decision to keep Goodfellow on the list was politically motivated and meant to "placate" Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo. Schroeder has complained that the Air Force "cooked the books" to make its case for keeping Goodfellow open and closing Lowry, which has a similar mission.

"I believe that an objective weighing of the facts will induce the commission to ultimately decide to keep Goodfellow open. But it upsets me when a shrill politician induces a commission to go through all this folderol to reach a logical decision," Gramm said.

Gramm accused Schroeder, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, of using "inflamatory language" to compare Goodfellow against Lowry.

Schroeder, however, said the base closure commission was "above politics. It's facts, not politics, that's driving the base closure commission's vote."

The Pentagon included Lowry on a list of 43 bases targeted for closure or realignment. The commission, which is reviewing the Pentagon's list, announced last week that it would consider another 36 installations for possible closure.

The commission's list included Goodfellow, the Corpus Christi homeport, and the Kingsville and Meridian air stations. The Pentagon's list included three Texas bases — Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth, Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin, and Chase Field.

Gramm said he contacted several members of the commission after learning of the decision to keep Goodfellow on the list.

"I think it injects an element of politics that threatens the credibility of the commission," he said.

The commission will compare the Air Force's figures on the two bases with data on the installations compiled by the General Accounting Office, the investigative arm of Congress. The next step would be to decide whether to visit Goodfellow, which employes about 4,000.

Gramm said Goodfellow, which provides technical and intelligence training, is a new base with unique facilities not found elsewhere. Rep. Lamar Smith, R-San Antonio, said Lowry's primary mission is aircraft maintenance and food service training.

"The Air Force can easily contract out maintenance and food service. Contracting out intelligence training could put our national security in jeopardy," Smith said.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said several hundred million dollars have been spent in recent years to provide state-of-the-art training equipment as well as top security for Goodfellow.

Ortiz said the six-year fight over homeport's future appeared to end with the commission's decision to spare the not-yet-completed, $150 million facility.

The Navy had originally planned to station an aircraft carrier and a battleship at the homeport, but scrapped those plans as part of an effort to reduce the size of the military.

Instead, the Navy recently designated Ingleside as a center for mine warfare countermeasures, which will bring 2,500 active duty military personnel to the area.

Jobless rate in Texas drops to 6.4 percent

DALLAS (AP) — Texas' unemployment rate tumbled to 6.4 percent in May, the lowest rate since February, but a government analyst Friday said the dip means little.

The April statewide jobless rate was 7.1 percent. In May a year ago, Texas had 6.3 percent unemployment.

"We're really just holding steady rather than anything improving," said Nic Santangelo, an analyst for the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"I can't just look at one month's set of numbers and say a seven-tenths percent decline in the unemployment rate (from April to May) is great and that we're on our way. That just doesn't hold enough water," he said.

Texas' unemployment rate swings with greater volatility than the nation's. Santangelo said three-month averages of the state's rate follow "national economic trends."

The U.S. unemployment rate rose to 6.9 percent last month, ending a one-month reprieve from the steady climb that has occurred since the recession began last summer. In April, the nation's jobless rate fell from 6.8 percent to 6.6 percent.

In Texas, nonfarm employment growth for the 12-month period that ended in April slowed for the third consecutive month.

Over the year job gains occurred in the construction and mining divisions. But those were partially offset by a loss of nearly 12,000 jobs in manufacturing, the bureau said.

The aircraft and parts manufacturing industry accounted for more than three-fourths of the division's job losses.

In contrast, the service-producing sector added almost 90,000 jobs for the year.

"We're still seeing job losses in the financial sector of the state's economy," Santangelo said. "And even where we are getting growth, like in the service and government sectors, the rates of growth are still well below what they were about a year ago."

Across the country, total civilian employment was 116.6 million, down about 800,000 from the 117.4 million-strong work force in April.

"A good way to say it is that we're at a juncture now," Santangelo said. "We're poised to go on with the recovery if some of the numbers start to break in right...or perhaps extend the recessionary pressures if such things as retail sales, housing starts, and construction don't improve."

Texas firms sue Pentagon

WASHINGTON (NYT) — General Dynamics and McDonnell Douglas on Friday filed suit challenging the Pentagon's cancellation of the A-12 attack plane, which the two aerospace giants were developing for the Navy.

The two contractors asked the U.S. Claims Court in Washington to reject the Defense Department's demands that they repay the government $1.3 billion. They also are seeking up to $1.5 billion from the Pentagon to cover program costs and termination expenses.

"The companies are confident this matter can be resolved in a fair and equitable manner," GD and McDonnell Douglas said in a joint statement after filing the petition.

The federal lawsuit challenges the Pentagon's claim that the two aerospace manufacturers defaulted on the $4.3 billion contract to develop the carrier-based Navy plane.

GD and McDonnell Douglas are not seeking to revive the A-12 but want to change the terms of the cancellation to avoid additional costs. Both companies are expected to compete for the A-12 replacement, known as the A-X.

A Navy spokesman declined comment. "It's really inappropriate for us to comment on litigation that's pending," said Lt. Fred Henney.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney ordered cancellation of the A-12 program Jan. 7, resulting in the loss of 3,500 jobs at GD's Fort Worth plant and 4,000 at the McDonnell Douglas production line in St. Louis.

The government, in declaring the two companies in default, is seeking $1.3 billion for work that it said was billed to the Pentagon but not performed.

But Pentagon officials have said they would waive the repayments until the matter is settled in complex legal proceedings expected to last several years. Two congressional committees are studying the waiver amid complaints from some lawmakers that the Pentagon is being soft on the two companies.

The lawsuit contends that the Navy, in awarding the contract, violated the terms of the contract and set specifications that it knew were unattainable.

The manufacturers further contended that the government eliminated studies and tests that would have reduced risks, failed to provide critical data from other classified programs, and didn't pay enough money to carry out the contract.

Pentagon officials, the suit said, refused to share information about the B-2 Stealth bomber that would have been useful in developing similar technology for the A-12.

UT System smoking ban may be a first

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas System's immediate ban on smoking at all its 15 campuses might make it the biggest system in the country to have taken such a step, university officials said Friday.

The system's board of regents voted Thursday to make all 15 campuses statewide smoke free and to phase out all tobacco sales on campus.

But in a 4-4 split vote, regents killed a measure that would have required the system to divest its $70 million in tobacco stocks.

Gov. Ann Richards, the Texas Board of Health and some student groups had supported divestiture. But regents voting against the move said state policy forbids investment decisions for social or political causes.

System officials said Friday they still were refining terms of the smoking ban.

Ray Farabee, UT System general counsel, said it appeared to apply to all system facilities, including the open-air, 75,512-seat Memorial Stadium, where UT football games are played; and the Frank Erwin Center, an enclosed 18,000-seat facility often used for basketball games and concerts.

Officials of each campus will be required to immediately develop their own plan to implement the resolution, Farabee said.

"I think it's fairly explicit in the term of immediate declaration of UT facilities as being smoke free. There is some latitude in implementation," Farabee said. "The bigger question arises as to whether you allow any smoking areas, and if so, where."

The resolution apparently will allow smoking outside system buildings, Farabee said.

Officials still must determine how to enforce the measure, particularly in stadiums, he said. Another legal tangle will involve leased property, such as married student housing and dormitory room, where renters have a right to privacy, Farabee said.

"I think that it will have its difficulties, but I think that we've gone far enough on some campuses to know that it can be done. It's the type thing that you may never get 100 percent compliance," Farabee said.

The UT System's 140,000 students make it one of the largest nationwide. Officials said they did not know for sure, but had not heard of another comparably sized university system that had made such a comprehensive smoking ban.

Kevin Goebel, lobbyist for the California-based group Americans for Nonsmokers' Rights, told the Austin American-Statesman that the regents' decision means the UT System will join about 20 college campuses across the country that are smoke-free.

Steve McCarthy, public affairs director for the California State University System, said each of the system's 20 campuses, comprising 370,000 students, has its own smoking policy. Several campuses have halted all smoking inside their buildings, McCarthy said.

The University of California System, with 164,000 students on nine campuses, follows a similar policy, said news director Ron Kolb.

Kolb said Berkeley University had a no-smoking ban on nearly its entire, campus and soon would extend that to the football stadium.

A law that took effect in New York state last year requires all public buildings to adhere to the Clean Indoor Air Act, which mandates that all employers provide smoke-free work areas for non-smoking employees, said Ken Goldfarb, State University of New York System spokesman.

The university system as a whole doesn't have a smoking policy. Instead, each campus must create a policy that abides by the state law, Goldfarb said. The New York system has 64 campuses with 400,000 students, he said.

Although some UT students complained about the smoking ban, Gene Binder, UT System spokesman, said the regents' decision may well be followed around the nation.

"This is a landmark decision on the part of our board," Binder said. "It may set a mark that systems across the country are going to fall in line with."

■ Gasoline tax increase likely, Richards says

AUSTIN — There probably will be an increase in the state's gasoline tax, Gov. Ann Richards said Friday. But she said it's unlikely to be as high as the 25 cents a gallon proposed by the chairman of her revenue task force.

"I think it would be very, very difficult to pass a tax of that size," Richards said of the proposal by former Gov. John Connally.

A 25-cent increase could raise more than $3 billion over the next two years, the Houston Chronicle reported Friday. Combined with current state and federal taxes, it would require Texas motorists to pay almost 55 cents in tax on every gallon of gasoline they buy.

Richards said Connally is trying to reduce the impact of property taxes and make a larger contribution to cities and counties, and she endorses that effort.

Connally heads the Governor's Task Force on Revenue. The blue-ribbon panel is to give revenue alternatives by July 1 to lawmakers, who will meet beginning July 8 in a special session on the budget.

The state is facing a budget shortfall estimated at $4.7 billion over the next two years.

■ Gov. Richards signs spate of cleanup bills

AUSTIN — Gov. Ann Richards on Friday signed into law a half-dozen bills that she called "the most comprehensive environmental package ever to come out of the Texas Legislature."

The laws include measures intended to increase recycling, cut the state's production of hazardous waste and protect the coastline.

Also signed was a plan to help bring water and sewer services to colonias, unincorporated border areas with high rates of disease. Texas voters must authorize this fall the sale of $150 million in bonds to pay for the measure.

■ Garment workers praise judge's ruling

EL PASO — Garment workers are hailing a judge's ruling that a contractor must pay wages a subcontractor failed to pay.

State District Court Judge Peter Peca ruled Thursday that the DCB Apparel Group was partly responsible for back wages of workers for its subcontractor, Sonia's Apparel.

Those wages total $24,000, according to the Texas attorney general's office.

"This is the first time a contractor has been found responsible for wages owed employees by a subcontractor," Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said in a statement issued Friday.

Dublin Dr Pepper plant celebrates centennial

DUBLIN, Texas (AP) — The world's oldest Dr Pepper bottling company celebrated its 100th anniversary Friday with the fizz and pop expected of a one-of-a kind facility.

The Dublin plant is the only one still using pure cane sugar to bottle Dr Pepper, general manager Bill Kloster said.

Kloster has been singing the soft drink's praises for 58 years and has been drinking 6½-ounce bottles of Dr Pepper even longer. He says the sugar-sweetened drink, once advertised as "good for life," hasn't done him any harm.

He turned 73 Friday.

When other bottlers opted to cut costs by switching to corn syrup 20 years ago, Kloster didn't budge.

"I think the sugar tastes much better," he told the Abilene Reporter-News. "If you notice with a canned drink, the heat from your hand heats the drink. Two-thirds of the way down, a corn syrup drink you notice — it's not a bitter taste, I don't know how to describe it — it's a flat taste."

There was also nothing bland about the activities planned Friday at the plant located about 100 miles southwest of Dallas.

Tours and a look at Kloster's huge collection of Dr Pepper memorabilia were planned for Dr Pepper drinkers.

"Dublin Dr Pepper is an extraordinary operation because it works about the same way it did a century ago," John R. Albers, Dr Pepper chairman and chief executive officer, said.

S.H. Prim founded the Dublin plant in 1891. The bottling company is now owned by Prim's daughter, Grace Lyon.

Dr Pepper was concocted in 1885 by Wade Morrison. He named it after a Virginia drug store owner, Dr. Charles T. Pepper, whose daughter Morrison had fallen in love with 14 years earlier.

Safer in Saudi: Gulf veteran slain in apparent robbery

HOUSTON (AP) — Tarron Dixon's neighbors and family were planning a big welcome home barbecue this weekend to greet the Marine lance corporal who served nine months in the Persian Gulf.

Instead, they were making funeral arrangements after Dixon was gunned down early Friday in an apparent robbery near his home.

Dixon, 25, was shot twice while walking home early Friday from a bar where he was celebrating his homecoming with his two brothers.

"His brothers saw some friends and stopped to talk," police spokeswoman Linda Ramsey said. "He continued to walk alone.

"They heard two gunshots, walked a little farther and saw someone lying in the street."

Dixon's wallet and some jewelry were missing when his body was found lying in an intersection a block from his home, police said. He died of a wound to the chest.

Police had no suspects.

"I think he was a great kid," his father, Andrew Dixon, said Friday. "I couldn't ask for a better son. He never gave us no problems. He always tried to do the right thing. That's one reason he went to the Marine Corps, so he could get some of the things he wanted.

"It would have been much better to happen over there instead of coming home and die like he died."

Dixon's uncle, L.P. Smith, said Dixon had returned from duty in Saudi Arabia three or four days ago.

"That's the hard part about it," he said. "After serving the country well and making it back here, that's what happens."

Friends said he had spent time since returning home working on his car and hoped to do some repairs to his house.

"It's really bad for a man to be over there and then come back here and be shot down in the streets," his aunt, Ora Smith, said.

Bird has surgery

BOSTON (AP) — Larry Bird, the star forward of the Boston Celtics, underwent surgery Friday to correct a back injury that kept him out of 22 games this season.

Bird, 34, was operated on for about two hours at New England Baptist Hospital, as doctors tried to repair both congenital and playing-aggravated problems in his back.

He was expected to be hospitalized at least three days. After that, he will begin a rehabilitation program that includes nearly 10 miles of walking each day, said Celtics physician Dr. Arnold Scheller, an orthopedic surgeon.

Dave Gavitt, Celtics senior executive vice president, said, " ... Larry was very positive and very committed to the surgery for two reasons. First, he has been fitted with a brace that finally makes him comfortable. Second, there wasn't any talk about a spinal fusion, the possibility of which made him uneasy."

Bulls steal show

Associated Press

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — The Chicago Bulls were on the road. They trailed by 13 points late in the third quarter. And they were down by two with 10.9 seconds left in the fourth.

But the team that complained of nervousness in its first-game loss at home was awfully cool as it cleared one obstacle after another to take control of the NBA Finals with a 104-96 overtime victory over the Los Angeles Lakers on Friday night.

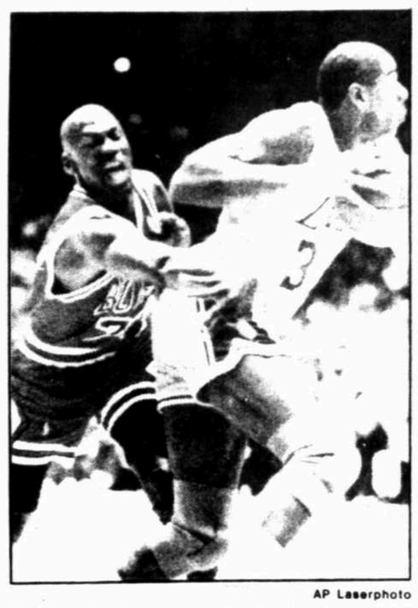

"We've been able to maintain our poise all season long," Michael Jordan said after Chicago took a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 series. "We've always given ourselves a chance to win the ballgame."

Even in the first game, the Lakers needed a 3-pointer by Sam Perkins with 14 seconds left to win, 93-91. Since then, the Bulls, despite being in the Finals for the first time in their 25-year history, have dominated.

They won Game 2 at home 107-86 but faced three consecutive games in Los Angeles. And they overcame a 69-56 deficit with 4:19 left in the third quarter to regain the homecourt advantage they started the series with.

The Lakers' crowd wasn't as raucous as Chicago's.

"That's the difference between Los Angeles and Chicago," said Horace Grant, who scored four of the Bulls' points in an 8-0 run that closed the game. "The LA crowd, when (the Lakers) are down, they sort of go down themselves. In Chicago, if you're down, they pick you up."

AP Laserphoto

Michael Jordan and Magic Johnson go at it full tilt.

Grant was especially eager to play well after scoring just six points in the opener. He had 20 in Game 2 and 22 points and 11 rebounds Friday night.

"I got embarrassed in the first game," he said. "I didn't want that to happen again. I have a lot of pride and I wanted to come back and prove that Horace Grant can have an impact on this series."

Bulls forward Scottie Pippen, who fouled out with 10.9 seconds left in regulation, said his team can handle adversity.

"We've been in this position before," he said. "We're a team that knows how to win. The Lakers have experience on us, but we have enough to win."

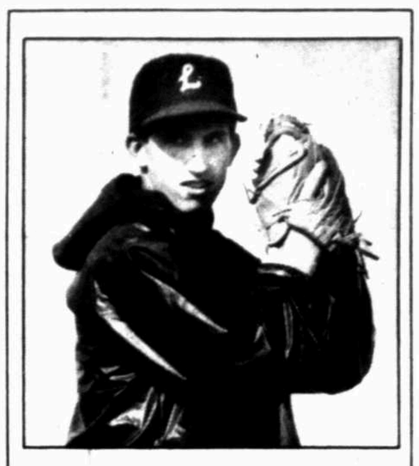

The Lakers have more experience, but they also are an older team and that may have taken its toll in the overtime game.

"They're not young anymore," Grant said. "I think with our speed and quickness, we use that to our advantage."

"Everybody seems to be playing with a lot of enthusiasm," Pippen said of the Bulls, "maybe because we're younger."

Jordan hit the tying jumper with 3.4 seconds left in the fourth quarter that sent the game into overtime.

"We had the advantage going into overtime," Pippen said. "We felt like they were tired."

Midland Lee lefty Jeff Johnston decided late Friday afternoon to help start a new baseball program at the University of Texas at San Antonio.

Johnston signed a baseball scholarship agreement with UTSA Friday and will join former Lubbock Christian University baseball coach Jimmy Shankle when UTSA puts forth is first Division I baseball team on the field next year.

"Coach Shankle was convinced that I can play and he told me I would have a shot in the starting rotation next year. That interested me a lot," Johnston said. "Coach Shankle and I had a good relationship during recruiting and it's nice to know that a coach is interested in me."

Johnston also talked with Texas Tech, Hardin-Simmons, Howard College and Odessa College before mak-

Brevard does it

■ Gators scorch the field to win the National Junior College Athletic Association Golf Championship.

By Jimmy Patterson
Assistant Sports Editor

One day after surviving a rain scare that threatened to wash out its record low single round team score, Brevard College again had to overcome a scare in order to secure its National Junior College Athletic Association golf tournament title at Green Tree Country Club.

Friday, it was food poisoning which threw a wrench into Brevard's plans. But only temporarily.

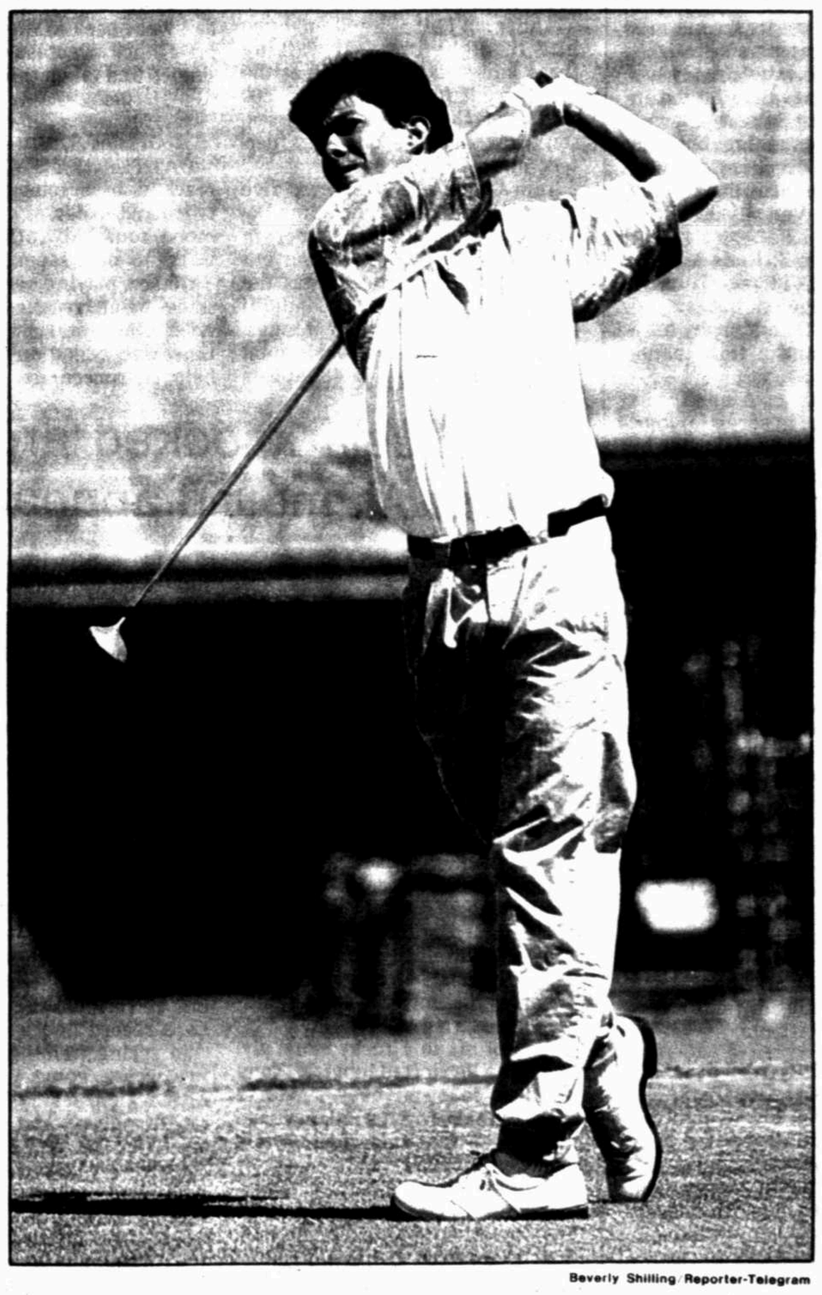

With little doubt in anyone's minds, the Gators won the tournament Friday with a four-round 39-under, 1,128 team total after shooting a 9-under, 283, Friday. In the process the Gators picked up another five strokes on second-place Midland College. The Chaps closed the tourney with a 72-hole, 1,149 total.

Jason Williams, Brevard's No. 4 player who chalked up a 67 Wednesday, was ill throughout the night before the final round. Williams made it to the 14th hole before being taken to the hospital with severe stomach pains.

With Brevard having virtually locked up the tournament with their 272 Thursday, the focus of attention shifted to the medalist race between Midland's Andrew Coltart and Brevard's Richard Sadler.

The medalist match-up came three years after the two individuals met in the European Boys Team Champion-

Midland thwarts Missions

By Terry Williamson

After Midland clobbered the San Antonio Missions, 10-4, at Angels Stadium Friday night, there is a good chance that Angels pitcher Alan Sontag won't be skipped in the starting rotation the next time his turn comes around.

Sontag was the one got to sit out a start last week while Fernando Valenzuela was working his way back to the "Big Show" in Little Rock, Ark. He then got pushed back a couple of days as Don Vidmar, Dave Shotkowski and Mark Holzemer were given their regular turns. Holzemer's arm stiffened Thursday night and Clemente Acosta got the call.

But it was worth the wait as Sontag pitched seven innings of three-hit ball to earn his first victory of the year for Midland. He gave up four runs, but only one was earned as the Angels committed four errors behind him. He had to get five outs in San Antonio's two-run seventh.

Surprisingly, Sontag didn't act like the bitter one you would expect after the long wait to take the hill.

"I'm just to go out and get a win and

Junior college golfer defies life's odds

Without question, the most inspiring site at this week's National Junior College Athletic Association golf tournament was watching Roe Skidmore walk up the 18th fairway at Green Tree Country Club Friday.

Patterson

Skidmore didn't have the low scores like the Coltarts or Sadlers. His team wasn't in contention for the title.

Still, the small crowd gathered around the final hole of the tournament watching the last few teams come off the course couldn't help but be impressed with the play of the 21-year-old Decatur, Ill., native.

The No. 1 player for Lincoln College in Lincoln, Ill., Skidmore was born with a right leg decidedly shorter than his left. Doctors at the time made the decision to amputate a portion of his right leg so he could be fitted for a prosthetic device.

Two decades later, Skidmore has become accustomed to the limb. He says he barely even thinks of it now as he walks through round after round of golf.

Openly talkng about the device and the affect it's had on his life, Skidmore admits that he is constantly being asked for interviews during tournaments. Still, he oblingingly takes the time, and patiently answers the questions he's no doubt heard time and time again.

"It all depends on how you look at it," Skidmore says of how he has adjusted to a life with a prosthesis. "If you think it's a disadvantage it will turn out to be a disadvantage, and it will hinder you. But it can work to your advantage if you let it."

Skidmore, who chiseled out an admirable 8-over par, 299, through the 72 holes at the NJCAA, becomes an inspiration virtually wherever he goes. Especially at the hospitals he visits.

"I've talked to a couple of people in Decatur," Skidmore said. "Not adults, but kids. People with cancer who are going to lose their lower leg. It's sad to lose your leg to cancer when you're five years old."

His parents and girlfriend have kept on him and kept him going through the years. Not for a moment, Skidmore said, would any of them let him give up hope.

"Mom and dad have been great," he said. "They haven't babied me. If I didn't want to go out and swim (for exercise), they'd send me out there anyway. And they've made me deal with everything."

Dad knows a little something about trying to overcome long odds. Roe Skidmore, Sr., listed in the baseball record books for his career batting average of 1.000, played briefly with the Chicago Cubs in the late '60s. He was Ernie Banks' backup at first base. Thus the short career.

"He had four at bats, walked three times and singled in his career," Skidmore said of his father.

The younger Skidmore played baseball himself, again not letting his prosthesis get in his way. He quit when he was 12 because, as he explained, he "got too slow for everybod else."

Skidmore is convincing when he talks of how his prosthetic device won't ever hamper whatever it is he plans on doing in life. He longs for a career of professional golf, but after Friday's final round, all he wanted was to have a seat.

"I just want to sit down now," said Skidmore, who added that the only complaint he has about having to play with an artificial leg is the fatigue that sets in after 18 holes. "I get tired, but I don't know who doesn't after a round."

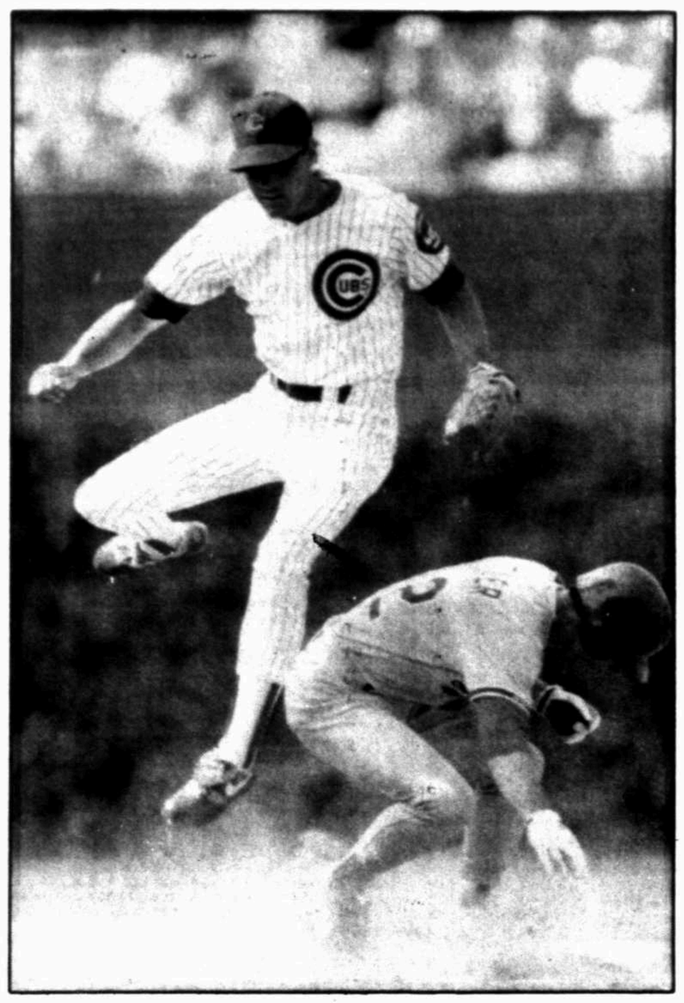

It was the only disparaging word Skidmore spoke in about 15 minutes of talking. He doesn't waste breath on little inconveniences.

"I enjoy life to its fullest," he said. "I don't consider myself disabled. If I was disabled, I'd be riding around in a golf cart.

"The first two doctors my parents talked to when I was two years old said I wouldn't walk. That I'd be in a wheelchair. I'm thankful for that not happening."

Dodgers edge Cubs

Associated Press

NL

CHICAGO (AP) — Lenny Harris drove in two runs with a double and a triple and scored on an errant pickoff attempt Friday, helping Mike Morgan and the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

It was the third straight win for the first-place Dodgers and the third loss in four games for the Cubs.

Morgan (6-4) allowed six hits, walked one and struck out three in seven innings. He is 5-2 in his career against the Cubs and 4-0 in Wrigley Field. John Candelaria pitched a perfect eighth, then Jay Howell worked the ninth for his 10th save.

Shawn Boskie (2-5) was the loser.

Mets 6, Astros 3

HOUSTON — Kevin McReynolds' ninth-inning double sparked a six-run rally as the New York Mets, stymied for eight innings, beat Houston.

With the Mets trailing 2-0 with one out in the ninth, Houston starter Jim Deshaies walked Dave Magadan and Gregg Jefferies and was pulled in favor of Curt Schilling.

McReynolds lined a double into the gap in right-center to finish the shutout and, after an intentional walk to Hubie Brooks, Al Osuna relieved Schilling (2-4).

Pirates 1, Padres 0

PITTSBURGH — Doug Drabek, pitching again like a Cy Young Award winner, outdueled Bruce Hurst with the defensive help of Don Slaught and Andy Van Slyke.

The Pirates won for the 11th time in 13 games while San Diego, failing to score despite getting 13 hits, lost its second in a row after winning six straight.

Drabek (4-7), who already has lost more times than he did in going 22-6 last season, allowed 10 hits in seven innings but benefitted from excellent defense, especially the throwing arms of Slaught and Van Slyke.

Phillies 5, Reds 4

CINCINNATI — Tommy Greene struggled but stayed unbeaten as Dale Murphy hit a solo homer and a tie-breaking single.

Greene (5-0) gave up 10 hits and four runs in seven innings, including a three-run homer by Paul O'Neill that tied it 4-4 in the fourth. Roger McDowell gave up a single in the eighth and Mitch Williams walked two in the ninth before getting his 10th save, preserving only the second victory for the Phillies in six games.

Expos 11, Braves 2

ATLANTA — Marquis Grissom had a career-high five hits, three steals and three RBIs to power Montreal over Atlanta.

Grissom scored Montreal's first run in the first when he singled, stole second and third and came home on a wild pitch by Steve Avery (6-4) as the Expos improved to 3-1 under new manager Tom Runnells.

Boyd (3-6), who missed his last start because of upper back spasms, improved to 3-0 lifetime against Atlanta.

Giants 5, Cardinals 2

ST. LOUIS — Don Robinson scattered seven hits in eight innings and also drove in a run, and Matt Williams homered for the second straight game as San Francisco won its fifth victory in six games.

Rangers squander Downing's slam

Associated Press

AL

NEW YORK — Don Mattingly's run-scoring single with two out in the ninth inning gave the surging New York Yankees a 5-4 victory Friday night over the slumping Texas Rangers.

The Yankees have won 10 of their last 14 games, including five in their final at-bat. The Rangers have lost five consecutive games and eight of nine after winning 14 in a row for baseball's best run this season.

With two outs, left fielder Juan Gonzalez misplayed Steve Sax' liner into a double. Mattingly followed with a single to right off reliever John Barfield (2-1) to make a winner of reliever John Habyan (3-1), who pitched two innings.

Starter Mike Witt, activated from the 60-day disabled list before the game, was breezing along when Texas took a 4-3 lead in the fifth on Brian Downing's seventh career grand slam. Downing came up in a 1-for-22 slump.

Witt had the misfortune of shortstop Alvaro Espinoza messing up a relay on a potential double play and catcher Bob Geren mishandling Jeff Huson's bunt single to load the bases.

In five innings, Witt gave up four runs and six hits in an impressive comeback from a sore right elbow that sidelined him with two weeks left in spring training.

AP Laserphoto

Brian Downing receives congratulations for his seventh-career grand slam, but the Rangers ended up with a loss in New York.

Twins 2, Indians 0

MINNEAPOLIS — Allan Anderson pitched a strong game, and Chili Davis homered as Minnesota beat Cleveland.

Anderson (3-4) allowed only two hits in eight innings, walking three and striking out one as the Twins went four games over .500 (29-25) for the first time this season. Rick Aguilera pitched a perfect ninth for his 14th save.

Tom Candiotti (7-3) allowed five hits in 7⅓ innings — including Davis' team-leading 12th homer in the second — while striking out five and walking two. It was the 10th time in 12th starts Candiotti has lasted at least seven innings.

The homer matched Davis' total for all of last season in 412 at-bats for California.

Anderson slipped to 7-18 last year after going a combined 33-19 in the two previous seasons. He was off to another slow start in 1991, entering the game with a 4.96 ERA. He came in 0-1 with a 6.30 ERA at the Metrodome.

The Twins scored in the eighth when reliever Jesse Orosco struck out Davis with a wild pitch. The ball went back to the screen, scoring Chuck Knoblauch, who had singled and taken third on a hit by Kent Hrbek.

Orioles 6, Blue Jays 4

BALTIMORE — Leo Gomez reached base four times, scored twice and drove in a run as Baltimore took advantage of eight walks to beat sagging Toronto.

Gomez, playing his second game since being recalled from Class AAA Rochester, walked three times and added an RBI single to help Baltimore defeat the Blue Jays for the second straight night. He had the game-winning hit on Thursday.

Four of the batters walked by three of Toronto's pitchers eventually scored, one on a bases-loaded walk. The Blue Jays have lost nine of their last 13 games.

With the score 3-3, Baltimore took the lead for the first time in the fifth inning against Juan Guzman, making his major league debut. Tim Hulett walked, moved and eventually scored on a single by Dwight Evans.

White Sox 2, Royals 0

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Charlie Hough and Scott Radinsky combined on a six-hitter, and Tim Raines scored twice as the Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City.

Hough (3-2), going for just his second shutout in five years, was replaced by Radinsky with two out in the seventh inning. Hough gave up all six Kansas City hits, struck out three and walked none.

Radinsky got his first save, striking out two.

Kevin Appier (3-7) gave up five hits while striking out a season-high eight and walking two for his third complete game in his last four outings.

Mariners 2, Brewers 1

SEATTLE — The Mariners got only four singles, but Henry Cotto scored twice on groundouts by Tracy Jones as Seattle beat Milwaukee, handing the Brewers their fifth straight defeat.

The Mariners got a combined three-hitter from Bill Krueger, Bill Swift and Mike Jackson, who got his seventh save by retiring the final seven batters. Krueger (2-2) went 6⅓ innings, giving up three hits, striking out six and walking two.

The Mariners tied the ganme at 1-1 in the first when Cotto singled and stole second.

Valenzuela knocked around in first AL mound appearance

Associated Press

ANAHEIM, Calif. — Pitching for a different team in a different Southern California town, Fernando Valenzuela returned to the major leagues Friday night with the California Angels, allowing five runs on nine hits in five-plus innings.

The 30-year-old left-hander, released by the Los Angeles Dodgers on March 28, wasn't impressive in his first American League appearance, but struck out five and walked none.

He signed with the Angels on May 20 and made three minor-league starts before joining the team as California's fourth left-handed starter.

He got off to a rocky start, giving up a leadoff double to Tony Phillips, followed by a single to Lou Whitaker. After Alan Trammell's pop fly, Valenzuela struck out Cecil Fielder.

The Tigers got a run in, however, when second baseman Luis Sojo bobbled Pete Incaviglia's fly ball along with right-field line.

Valenzuela settled down after that, even showing his reflexes remained sharp by picking Travis Fryman off at first.

After pitching 2 2-3 scoreless innings, the pitcher gave up consecutive home runs to Phillips and Whitaker, giving the Tigers a 3-0 lead in the fifth.

Fielder singled down the left field line to lead off the sixth, and Incaviglia followed with single to end Valenzuela's appearance.

The crowd cheered Valenzuela as he walked to the dugout, giving way to Joe Grahe.

The Dodgers released Valenzuela after 10 seasons, the last highlighted by his first no-hitter. But he finished the season with a 13-13 record and a 4.59 ERA.

In spring training this year, he was worse, going 1-2 with a 7.80 ERA. Valenzuela kept pitching after his release, and it finally paid off when he was signed by the Angels.

His one-year contract is laced with performance incentives that would allow him to make as much as $1 million.

Plano jumps out in front at COM Summer Invitational

Staff Report

The City of Plano Swimmers hold a slight edge over the City of Midland Swim Team after first day action at the COM Summer Invitational Friday at the Doug Russell Pool.

Plano collected 124 total points, to edge out COM's 120.

Midland's girls hold down first place, however, with 72 first day points, to Plano's 55. Plano's boys out-paced Midland 69-48.

Lubbock Swim Club was a distant third with 49 points.

COM winners included Robin Hill and Susie Carnett, who finished one and two in the girls' 13-14 400 intermediate medley. Hill's winning time was 5:27.88 while Carnett was a few strokes behind at 5:36.15.

Howard Flowers, swimming in the 13-14 boys 400 intermediate medley, won the event with a time of 5:37.78.

In senior girls, 18-year-old Marika Sagre won the same event with a 5:41.06.

Blake Johnson's time of 19:22.36 was good for a first place finish in the 13-14 boys 1,500 freestyle.

Kathryn Krall, a 15-year-old competing in the senior category, won the 1,500 for girls with a time of 19:24.47.

ANGELS: Midland bats explode 14 times

help the team," Sontag said. "You just have to be ready when they send you out there and pitch when it's your time.

"I was just fortunate to get a lot of runs. Our guys are starting to hit the ball well. I was pretty pleased with the game, but I couldn't fool Braulio Castillo much. Other than that, I did OK."

Castillo touched Sontag for a two-run homer in the second inning and a run scoring fly to center in the seventh. Castillo also had a fifth inning single off of Sontag, but Angel right fielder Tim Salmon threw him out trying to go to second base.

Mission designated hitter Lance Rice had the only other hit off of Sontag in the seventh.

Midland's bats exploded for 14 hits, rising out of the recent ashes of dormancy to help break a two-game losing streak, keeping the Angels from falling into the Texas League West cellar.

Mark Howie hit a low two-run homer that squeezed into the cut-out between the Grandy's sign and the scoreboard. He had two hits and drove in three runs on the night as he continues to hit over .400 against the Missions.

Newcomer Walt McConnell had three hits and two RBIs while Damion Easley, Terry Taylor and Bobby Jones had six singles between them. Easley, who came into the game hitting at a .138 clip since May 15, welcomed the two-hit night.

ANGEL DUST: Even though the game was a sloppy affair with six errors (four by Midland), Salmon had three defensive gems, robbing Steve Finken of a hit in the second and Brian Traxler of extra bases in the eighth. Salmon's on-the-money throw to second to nail Castillo was also a big play in the game...Reggie Williams, playing in center, drove in his first run for the Angels. Williams joined the club Thursday and had two errors, two defensive gems and picked off base in an up and down start that got washed out with the rainout. He had another error Friday...Easley did break his batting slump with two hits, but he also took a brusing body block from Brett Magnusson, who broke up a double play in the second inning...Midland's four errors gives the club 97 errors in 53 games. That, more than anything, is the biggest trouble area for the Angels, who may be the worst fielding team in the Texas League...The two teams play a doubleheader, beginning at 6 p.m. today...The Missions lead the current series by a 2-1 margin with three to play...

Hricsina grabs Showboat seed

LAS VEGAS (AP) — John Hricsina, a rural postman who covers 75 miles a day on his route, made up a lot of ground in the final six games Friday night to emerge as top seed of the $110,000 PBA Senior Inviational Tournament at Showboat Lanes.

Hricsina, the 1990 senior bowler of the year, started the final six games in sixth position.

Robstown nips West Mesquite for 4A title

Associated Press

AUSTIN — Mike Gutierrez picked up the victory on the mound and hit two doubles as Robstown edged West Mesquite for the Class 4A baseball championship Friday.

The Cotton Pickers (27-6) won their first title in front of an overflow crowd of 5,273 of mostly Robstown fans. They've made the trip to the tournament four of the last five years and finished second a year ago.

Gutierrez improved his record to 9-1, while allowing only five hits and three walks. The junior right-hander also fanned four.

At the plate, Gutierrez was 2-of-3 with a run batted in. J.J. Velasquez and Domingo Garza also each collected two hits for Robstown.

The Cotton Pickers pounced on Wranglers starter Chris Byrd for five runs and four hits in the top of the first, sending nine batters to the plate. Byrd (5-3) did not last the inning and was replaced by freshman Dale Mason for the final out.

State Finals

Class 3A

Falfurrias 5, Queen City 2

Relief pitcher Paul Barber hit Tydie Castillo with a pitch with the bases loaded in the seventh inning to send home the winning run as Falfurrias beat Queen City in the title game.

Falfurrias went on to score two more runs in the final inning as Queen City's 22-game winning streak ended. It was only the Jerseys second loss of the year against 29 victories.

After Barber — in relief of starter Klark Reynolds — put Castillo on base, Matthew Benavides scored on a passed ball, and a throwing error made the final score 5-2.

Reynolds lost his first game of the year after 12 victories.

Pitcher Marco Zuniga went 6 1/3 innings for the victory and ran his record to 11-2 on the season after allowing four hits and striking out five.

Class 2A

Van Horn 7, Schulenburg 3

Seven consecutive batters reached base in the sixth inning as Van Horn took advantage of two crucial passed balls by Schulenburg catcher Marc Tidwell to win the championship.

It was a game of miscues as Van Horn (21-3) scored its first run on an error in the second inning, its second run on a wild pitch and passed ball in the third, and added five in the sixth on four singles, two passed balls and three walks — two intentional.

The championship was the first in baseball for Van Horn, which made its first tournament appearance. Schuleburg (25-5) was a semifinalist last year in its first trip to the tournament.

Left-hander Lucky Mendez (10-1) was the winner for Van Horn, pitching all seven innings and allowing four hits, after recording a save with three innings of relief in Van Horn's semifinal victory Thursday.

Class A

Valley Mills 10, Gunter 2

Valley Mills scored five runs in the first inning, with Michael Sexton slamming a two-run double, and defeated Gunter.

Designated hitter Andy Sadler of Valley Mills had four singles, giving him seven of eight for the tournament, which established a new tournament record for a batting percentage of .875.

Valley Mills pitcher Doug Scallion (11-1) won his second game in the two-day tournament and had 12 strikeouts for a tournament total of 23.

The losing pitcher was Kevin Powers (11-3), but he had both RBIs for Gunter, which had five batters hitting over .400.

ing his decision to become part of UTSA's first baseball effort.

Johnston was 13-1 for the District 4-5A champion Rebels, losing only to Plainview by a 1-0 score.

"Well, it was an unearned run," notes Johnston, "but winning the district championship and going 9-0 in district was really special. It was also nice to have two victories over Abilene Cooper, once when they were ranked something like number five in the state."

Johnston was 20-6 for the Rebels over two years.

Tourney unbeatens clash in College World Series title tilt

Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb. — For the first time in recent College World Series history, two teams unbeaten in tournament play will meet for the NCAA Division I championship.

Wichita State (66-12) and Louisiana State (54-18) each are 3-0 in the tournament. Winners of the two brackets in the modified double-elimination tournament did not go unbeaten in the four previous years of the current format.

Regardless of who wins today's game, the champion will be the first to sweep through the CWS without a loss since Texas in 1983. There have been 10 unbeaten champions in the 45-history of the event.

"History will be made here in the short format," Wichita State coach Gene Stephenson said.

Stephenson and LSU coach Skip Bertman said it should be an excellent final, because both teams are hitting well and their pitching has been good.

The Shockers will start right-hander Tyler Green (11-1), who had 14 strikeouts in nine innings without a decision in a 3-2, 12-inning CWS win over Creighton Monday night. LSU will go with right-hander Chad Ogea (13-5), who has pitched only 3 1-3 innings in relief in the tournament.

"Tyler Green is a magnificent pitcher like we saw the other night," Ogea said Friday. "You have to keep your concentration up the whole game against a team like this or before you know it they have runners at second and third."

Green said he admired Ogea and the Tigers, but wouldn't alter what he has been doing on the mound.

"I don't think you want to go out and do anything different," Green said.

"Whatever got you here is what you do," Ogea said.

Tigers slugger Lyle Mouton, who has three home runs in the tournament, said LSU hitters will have to be patient against Green and try to lay off the knuckle curve of the hard-throwing, first-round major league draft pick.

"We haven't seen anything like that," Bertman said.

Jack Nicklaus, who designed the TPC of Michigan layout, managed a 70 and still trails Trevino by 10 strokes after two rounds.

Trevino bolts into Players lead

Associated Press

DEARBORN, Mich. — Lee Trevino, gunning for his third victory of the year, shot a 5-under-par 67 Friday for a two-round total of 137 and a two-stroke lead over Bobby Nichols and Dave Hill in the Senior Players Championship.

Last year, Trevino finished 21-under when the $1 million tournament was played at nearby Dearborn County Club but still finished six strokes behind Jack Nicklaus.

Nicklaus, who designed the new 6,876-yard TPC of Michigan layout, recovered from an opening-round 77 with a 2-under 70 on Friday but still trailed Trevino by 10 shots.

Trevino started the second round four strokes behind first-round leader Jim Albus, and got to 7-under with a round of eight birdies and three bogeys on the par-72 layout.

Albus, a club pro from Long Island, followed his first-round 66 with a 2-over 74 to fall into a four-way tie for third with Charles Coody, Mike Hill and Bob Charles.

Miller Barber matched Trevino's second-round 67 but was far back in the pack at 1-under 143. That makes him the leader among those 60 and older.

Nichols, seeking his first win since the 1989 Southwestern Bell Classic, started at 4-under. He fell to 3-under during a hot and cold front nine. But he turned at 4-under with a birdie at No. 9. He birdied the par-3 12th, then parred in from there for a 71.

Hill has six Senior wins, but none since 1989. He started birdied three of the first five holes, got to 7-under with a birdie at the par-3 15th but bogeyed the 16th and 18th to finish at 68. Hill's tee shot on No. 18 was a duck hook that traveled only 135 yards.

Trevino, playing in the group just behind Hill, first got to 7-under with birdie at the par-4 14th, considered the most difficult hole on the course.

Trevino bogeyed the par-4 16th but regained the lead with birdie at No. 17, a 521-yard par-5.

Last year was Trevino's first on the Senior Tour. He won seven events in 1990 and was the leading money-winner in all of golf. His $1,190,518 in official earnings made him the first senior to earn over $1 million in one season.

Trevino, who won 27 tournaments on the PGA Tour, has won two senior events this year.

Lidback leads struggling field

Atlantic Classic

Associated Press

SOMERS POINT, N.J. — Jenny Lidback bettered par for only the fifth time this year with a 3-under 68 and took a one-stroke lead after the first round of the LPGA Atlantic City Classic on Friday.

Lidback had five birdies and two bogeys in recording her first score under 70 in 41 rounds this year.

Amy Alcott, who will join the LPGA Hall of Fame with her next victory, was at 69 along with Judy Dickinson and Caroline Pierce, who like Lidback has never won an LPGA event.

Laura Baugh, who is still looking for her first victory after joining the tour in 1973, was at 70, tied with Cindy Schreyer.

Several of the name players in the field — which includes none of the top eight money-winners this year — struggled on the tree-lined 6,270-yard Greate Bay Country Club course. Defending champion Chris Johnson had a 74 and former winner Nancy Lopez matched her second worst round of the year with a 76 that included four bogeys, a double bogey and a birdie.

Lidback did not have a bogey until her 15th hole of day. The native of Peru started her round on the 10th hole and raced to four under by rolling in birdie putts of 1, 30, 15 and 14 feet on the 14th, 15th, first and fourth holes, respectively.

She bogeyed the sixth and seventh holes after hitting drives into the trees and fell into a tie with Alcott and company at two under.

However, Lidback took the lead by hitting a sand wedge within three feet on the par-5, 465-yard eighth hole and making the putt.

Alcott had four birdies and two bogeys in her first competitive round after sitting out the last two weeks with the flu. But she also missed five makeable birdie putts of less than 20 feet, including two 5-footers, that could have given her the lead and moved her closer to career win No. 30.

Dickinson, the ninth-leading money-winner this year, also had some putting problems on the bumpy greens and missed a couple of chances for birdies.

Tope scores ace

Staff Report

George Tope recorded a hole-in-one at Midland Country Club Friday, shooting an ace on the 146-yard No. 11 hole with a seven-iron.

Tope was playing with Lynn Durham, Hugh Looney and Lloyd Ugland.

Chris Perry makes it a three-way tie for Buick Classic lead

Associated Press

HARRISON, N.Y. — Chris Perry birdied the last two holes for a 3-under-par 68 on Friday and a share of the lead with Paul Azinger and Denis Watson halfway through the Buick Classic.

Perry, who is at 8-under 134 after 36 holes, is atop the halfway leaderboard for the second time in three weeks.

"They're thinking, 'Perry? Oh, he hasn't won yet. We don't have to worry about him,'" the son of former major league pitcher Jim Perry said.

"One of these days they won't be saying that," said Perry, not yet a winner in a 7-season PGA Tour career.

"If I keep getting in position, it's going to happen sooner or later," he said. "Maybe this week. Maybe next week. Maybe a year from now.

"But it'll happen."

Azinger continued his mastery of the front nine on the Westchester Country club course in a round of 68. For the second day in a row he played the front in 31.

For two days, Azinger now is 10 under par on the front and two over par on the back.

"Just coincidence," he said.

Watson, who has played infrequently in the last couple of years due to a variety of medical problems, scrambled out of trees and traps to a 67 and also finished birdie-birdie.

"This is kind of exciting for me," said Watson, who collected three victories in 1984 but hasn't won since.

"I've been through some frustrating times," said Watson, who is in the rehabilitation process after surgery to the right wrist, elbow and shoulder.

Fred Couples holed four putts in the 20-30 foot range in the best round of the tournament, a 65, that left him one stroke off the lead.

Oilers ink seven

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers announced Friday the signings of seven free-agent players.

They are: Ed Beaulac, a kicker from Cal State-Sonoma; Corey Edmond, a linebacker from North Carolina State; Keith Friberg, a linebacker from Syracuse; Gary Hollingsworth, a quarterback from University of Alabama; Doug Lewis, a running back from University of Akron; Jon Reed, a wide receiver from Western Carolina University; and Scott Thomas a guard-tackle from Western Michigan University.

STOCKQUOTE HOTLINE

WHAT IS STOCKQUOTE HOTLINE?

Stockquote Hotline gives you the latest stock prices direct from the wires of the Associated Press. Over 9,000 stocks are listed from NYSE, AmEx, and OTC sources; all available 24 hours a day. You can receive up to 10 quotes with one easy phone call.

HOW TO USE STOCKQUOTE HOTLINE:

1) Call the Stockquote Hotline at 560-2400; enter the category number which is 9988.

2) You will be asked to enter your stock ticker symbol. These are based on industry-standard symbols, which can be found in a Standard & Poor's Ticker guide, or by calling your local stock broker.

3) Once you've entered the numberical code for the ticker symbol, press the Star Key(*) and you will hear the current price and net change from the last Associated Press update; which is a few minutes behind market activity.

4) After the stock is quoted, you will be asked to enter another ticker symbol. You now have 2 options:
- You may request a quote for another stock by repeating steps 2 & 3.
- You may request additional information on the stock just quoted by once more pressing the Star Key(*).

Now the volume, high and low will be given, and then you will be asked to enter another ticker code.
- You may enter up to 10 ticker symbols per call.

5) To exit Stockquote Hotline, simply hang up the phone.

Strike the Gold, Hansel line up for bonus bucks

Associated Press

Belmont

NEW YORK — Trainer Dermot Weld will try to repeat history Saturday in the Belmont Stakes. Jockey Julie Krone will make it.

Strike the Gold, the Kentucky Derby winner, can hit paydirt in the form of a $1 million bonus. Also in good position to become a bonus horse is Hansel, winner of the Preakness.

Poor performances by either could enable Mane Minister or Corporate Report to steal the $1 million.

Weld brought Go and Go to New York three days before the 1990 Belmont and the colt ran away with the 1½-mile final race of the Triple Crown series.

Saturday, Weld will try and win the Belmont with Smooth Performance, who arrived Wednesday from Ireland.

Go and Go was an Irish-bred, who had raced and won on the dirt in the United States as a 2-year-old. Smooth Performance, a Kentucky-bred son of Seattle Slew, has raced only in Ireland, winning three of nine career starts on the grass.

Irish jockey Michael Kinane also will be shooting for his second straight Belmont victory. The last rider to win consecutive Belmonts was Laffit Pincay Jr. on Conquistador Cielo, Caveat and Swale from 1982-84.

"With Go and Go we were quietly confident," Weld said Friday after Smooth Performance galloped a mile at Aqueduct where he is stabled. "With this horse, we're hopeful."

Krone will become the first female jockey in the 123-year history of the Belmont when she leaves the gate on Subordinated Debt.

Diane Crump, in 1970; Patti Cooksey, 1984, and Andrea Seefeldt, this year, rode in the Derby. Crump rode in the Preakness in 1985.

"It's the thrill of a lifetime, as far as my career goes," said the 26-year-old Krone, whose career is going very well.

She had ridden more than 2,000 winners and her mounts had earned $30.5 million before this year. She currently is ninth in the national jockey standings for money won this year.

Strike the Gold and Hansel are tied for the Triple Crown Challenge bonus with 10 points each. Points are awarded on a basis of 10 for a win, 5 for second and 3 for third. Strike the Gold finished sixth in the Preakness, while Hansel was 10th in the Derby.

Mane Minister, who was third in both the Derby and Preakness, has 6 points. Corporate Report followed up his ninth in the Derby with a second in the Preakness and has 5 points.

Where there are only four horses who can win the bonus, seven other 3-year-olds will be running for the winner's share of $417,480 from a purse of $695,800. The 11-horse field is the biggest for the Belmont since that many ran in 1984.

Strike the Gold was the early 5-2 favorite to become the first horse since Swale in 1984 to win the Derby and Belmont. Hansel, 3-1, will try to duplicate Risen Star's 1988 feat of following a loss in the Derby with wins in the Preakness and Belmont.

"After we won the Kentucky Derby, we thought we had an unbelievable chance to win the Triple Crown," said Nick Zito, trainer of Strike the Gold.

There has not been a Triple Crown winner since Affirmed in 1978.

Zito then stated what has to be the credo of any owner, trainer and jockey:

"I do know you need luck."

Strike the Gold drew the outside post in the 11-horse field. The last winner from that post was Conquistador Cielo in 1982, when there also were 11 starters.

Starting in the Belmont after skipping the Preakness will be Derby starters Green Alligator (fourth), Quintana (sixth), Lost Mountain (12th) and Another Review (13th).

The last Belmont winner to have started in the Derby, but who skipped the Preakness, was Caveat in 1983.

Top handicap horses and two 3-year-old fillies also will be featured at Belmont Park over the weekend.

Farma Way, Jolie's Halo and Festin head a 10-horse field in the 1⅛-mile Nassau County Handicap Saturday.

The 1⅛-mile Mother Goose Sunday shapes up as a showdown between Lite Light and Meadow Star for leadership of the 3-year-old filly division.

WLAF braces for NFL raids, rating wars

■ World Bowl pits Barcelona versus London, Sunday at Wembley Stadium.

Associated Press

LONDON — Mike Lynn believes there have been more pluses than minuses in the inaugural season of the World League of American Football. The league president does admit those minuses are big ones.

Before the WLAF focuses on expansion next season, Lynn says it must deal with poor TV ratings at home and the danger of losing standout players to the NFL.

"We are concerned about our ratings in the U.S.," Lynn said two days before the league's World Bowl between the London Monarchs and Barcelona Dragons at Wembley Stadium. "But here we are after a year and I believe, as the quality of our product improves, so will our ratings."

Lynn, former general manager of the Minnesota Vikings, said the league also is bracing itself for a raid by NFL teams.

"The best thing for the World League is that there should be no movement at all. But that's not being realistic," he said.

"I hope there is a two-way streak. If we lose 15 players we hope to have 15 or 30 players of similar or better quality from the NFL."

Lynn said the WLAF would welcome NFL players who were inactive during their season through injury.

"No off-season program replaces actually playing games," he said. "The best way to get better is to play games at this level."

He said the WLAF will look at expansion during a series of meetings June 16-28.

"We plan to expand by a minimum of two. If we decided to go for six more teams that might dilute the product," Lynn said.

He named Moscow, Belgrade, Athens, Milan, Paris, Helsinki and Dublin as European cities who had shown interest in joining the league.

"And there have been half a dozen people who have expressed an interest in owning a World League team in the United States," he said.

While Lynn measures the prospects for next season, one weighty problem concerns how he will present the trophy to the winner on Sunday.

"The World Bowl trophy weighs about 60 pounds," he said. "There's no way I can pick it up and hand it to the captain. We will have to devise another way of handing it over."

The trophy is a solid glass globe on top of a stand, with the nations of the world etched into the surface.

The WLAF is hoping Sunday's crowd will beat the 61,946 that watched the first Super Bowl between the Green Bay Packers and the Kansas City Chiefs at the Los Angeles Coliseum in 1967.

But Sunday's crowd will not include Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, Lynn said.

"The highlight of the trip so far is meeting Prince Charles," Lynn said. "I asked him if he was going to the game. He replied: 'What game?.' I told him it was the American football game at Wembley.

"He said he really was not a big fan of American football but, in a reference to his two young sons, said be probably would be in the future."

Receiver critical after wreck

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Gary Cooper, a wide receiver with the WLAF's Montreal Machine, remained in critical condition Friday, three days after the car he drove crashed into another, killing two.

Cooper, a former Clemson football player, was in critical condition at Floyd Medical Center, said spokeswoman Chris Davis.

He was hospitalized Tuesday after the accident on Georgia 155 near Calhoun.

Gladys Modean Ralston, 60, and Valence Cardel Aker, 19, both of Calhoun, were killed in the wreck, the state patrol said.

Cooper was charged with two counts of vehicular homicide and driving under the influence, the patrol said.

Cooper completed his Clemson career in 1989 as the school's record-holder in single season and career yards per catch.

He caught 77 passes for 1,577 yards, a 20.5 average, and 11 touchdowns in his college career. He set the single season per-catch mark at 32.1 yards as a junior in 1988. He also had 147 yards rushing on 13 attempts and scored 78 points at Clemson.

Agassi, Courier set up rare all-American final

Associated Press

PARIS — Andre Agassi provided the lightning and Jim Courier supplied the thunder on a dreary Friday at the French Open, setting up the first all-American men's final since 1954.

The boyhood rivals used raw power to overwhelm Germans Boris Becker and Michael Stich in four-set semifinals.

Agassi pounded out a 7-5, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 victory over the second-seeded Becker, picking on his opponent's second serves and controlling the match with deep serves and groundstrokes.

Courier smashed shots all over the court against Stich in winning 6-2, 6-7, 6-2, 6-4.

The final Sunday will be the first pairing of Americans in a French Open men's championship match since Tony Trabert defeated Art Larsen in straight sets 37 years ago. The only other all-American men's finals at Paris were in 1939 and 1949.

"I'd like to slap around the people who asked where American tennis was about five years ago," Courier said. "This says, 'Here we are.' "

It will be a meeting of players with similar styles and backgrounds — they trained together at the Nick Bollettieri Tennis Academy in Florida during the mid-1980s.

The semifinal victories showed their common tennis heritage, with each lashing winners off both the forehand and backhand sides.

AP Laserphoto

French Open

Agassi, who lost in the final last year to Andres Gomez, was the epitome of steadiness, forcing Becker into a baseline battle.

"I knew that the longer the rallies went, the more it favored me because that's more my game than his," Agassi said.

"I kept it deep. I kept him on his heels. I kept him from coming in a lot. I didn't let him play his game."

Becker, seeking the No. 1 world ranking and the only Grand Slam title he has never won, was left screaming at himself in German and muttering about missed opportunities.

If he had won, Becker would have passed Stefan Edberg atop the rankings — even if he had lost in the final. Instead, it became Becker's third semifinal loss at Roland Garros in five years.

The biggest point in the match, which started 80 minutes late because of rain, came in the 11th game of the first set. Agassi was facing a break point when he uncorked a second serve that hit the line for an ace.

Becker thought the ball was out, which would have meant a double fault and a service break for the German. He asked the linesman to verify the ball's mark on the soft clay, but the linesman stumbled as he walked onto the court — his glasses flying out of his pocket.

Becker put on the glasses and peered at the mark, but didn't like what he saw. Agassi won the next two points, the first on a shot that hit the net and jumped over Becker's racket, to go up 6-5, then broke Becker's serve to win the set.

"Shots like that can decide a match, and it did today," Becker said. "We both knew that the winner of that set would take such a mental edge that he would win. That game at five-all killed me."

Apart from a Becker surge in the third set, Agassi dominated the rest of the match and ended it with his sixth ace. The two walked off the court with their arms clasped around each other's shoulders.

"Every time we step on the court together it's a battle, and that creates a lot of respect for each other," said Agassi, who is seeking his first Grand Slam title.

Courier, the ninth seed, came out slugging and never let up against Stich. His only trouble came in the second set.

It's official: Tarkanian has one season to go

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — UNLV coach Jerry Tarkanian, who built a basketball dynasty in the desert and fought a long battle with the NCAA, said Fridy he was resigning effective the end of the 1991-92 season.

Tarkanian

Tarkanian choked with emotion as he told a crowd of media and supporters that he would quit at the end of his 19th season as head of the Runnin' Rebels.

The resignation announcement came 13 days after publication of photos showing three former players with convicted sports fixer Richard Perry. Tarkanian has said he warned his players repeatedly to stay away from Perry.

Tarkanian said the flap over the Perry photos was difficult for him and devastating on his family.

Tarkanian is the nation's winningest college coach and could retain that position if his 1991-92 team, void of any starters from last season, wins 20 games. The Rebels are banned from television and post-season play next season as the final resolution of a battle Tarkanian has had with the NCAA dating back to 1977.

Tarkanian is 811-146 in 30 years of coaching and 483-103 in 18 years at UNLV. His UNLV tenure has included four trips to the Final Four and a national championship in 1990.

"The latest round of inaccurate, but damaging rumors has proven to be the final straw," Tarkanian said. "The pain I now see in my children's eyes makes me realize none of this is fun for anyone.

"If it weren't for the latest incident, this wouldn't have happened."

UNLV president Robert Maxson praised Tarkanian.

"He took the basketball program to national prominence," Maxson said as Tarkanian sat with his chin in his hand, looking glum.

Maxson said Tarkanian's upbeat style of pressure defense and a running game changed the face of college basketball.

"There's no question Jerry Tarkanian is a legend," Maxson said. "This marks the passing of an era."

Maxson said a search would begin for a new coach in the fall.

Possible candidates include John Thompson of Georgetown, Billy Tubbs of Oklahoma and Bobby Cremins of George Tech, a friend of Maxson's the past 15 years.

Tarkanian said he wanted to stay another season to help defend the program in a current NCAA investigation.

Theismann, Crosby reach settlement on estates

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Former Washington Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann and actress Cathy Lee Crosby have settled a suit involving two estates they bought when they were a couple.

Theismann and Crosby reached the settlement after appearing at a court in the Washington suburb of Alexandria. Under an agreement reached with their attorneys, neither revealed details of the settlement.

"I couldn't be happier," Crosby said. "There was a great deal of love with Joe Theismann in the past. I just hope now we can get beyond the acrimony — maybe even someday, after a while, have a friendship."

On the other side of the courthouse hall and in view of Crosby, Theismann gave a lingering kiss to his new wife Jeanne Caruso.

"She's worth every bit of it — and more," Theismann said of his bride.

Unemployment rate climbs to 6.9 percent in May

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's unemployment rate worsened to a four-year high of 6.9 percent in May, but a separate government survey released Friday showed businesses were expanding their payrolls for the first time in nearly a year.

President Bush said the jobless rate was "not bad." But then he quickly added, "Not good. Anytime in this range it's not good." Nevertheless, he said the economic recovery was on track.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater pointed to the rebound in job growth and other recently encouraging reports as beacons of better times ahead.

Congressional Democrats and some private economists were not as cheered by the numbers.

"The economic recession continues unabated ... A growing army of displaced workers wonders each day how to take care of their families and make ends meet," said Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine.

The economy is showing all the "strength of a punch thrown by Mother Teresa," said Jack Albertine, who heads an economic forecasting firm in Washington. "I think the recovery has started, but it's weak and anemic."

In May, the civilian unemployment rate rose a sharp 0.3 percentage points, up from April's rate of 6.6 percent, as another 370,000 Americans were added to jobless rolls, the Labor Department's report showed.

But at the same time, U.S. businesses reported new hiring. Nonfarm payrolls increased by 59,000 in May, the first time jobs grew during a month in nearly a year.

Janet Norwood, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, noted that the two numbers — more unemployed Americans at the same time companies were adding jobs — seem to contradict each other.

The two statistics, which are derived from different surveys, should be looked at over the past two months for a more consistent picture, Mrs. Norwood said. Then, the data show a stabilizing jobs market, she said.

"While the first three months of the year saw massive job losses and a rapid rise in unemployment, the data for April and May indicate a leveling off in the labor market," Mrs. Norwood said.

The number of newly jobless and the payroll number can also be at odds because the total number of the unemployed includes both people who lost their jobs and those who are new to the job market, or are attempting to reenter it.

Joblessness has been climbing steadily since the recession started last July, except for a one-month reprieve in April, when the rate fell unexpectedly from 6.8 percent to 6.6 percent.

Most analysts considered the April drop a fluke, and had expected a May increase in unemployment to cancel out the previous month's decline, even though other areas of the economy, such as auto sales and factory orders, have been improving, fanning hopes that recovery is on its way.

The recovery scenario of many analysts was bolstered with Friday's news on May's 59,000-job gain.

"That number was surprisingly strong. May was probably the turning point," said David Jones of Aubrey G. Lanston & Co.

The unemployment rate can keep rising, even after a recovery is under way, because businesses are generally leery about adding workers until sales are strong again. Some analysts think the unemployment could rise to 7 percent or more in coming months, even if May's trend of new jobs continues.

"For the average person on Main Street, it's still going to be difficult to see the good news for a while ... The unemployment rate is usually the last dog to die, the last piece of bad news to go away," Jones said.

With the 370,000 Americans added to the ranks of the unemployed in May, the nation's jobless now number 8.6 million — 1.7 million more than last July, the Labor Department said.

Officials weigh change in definition of AIDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal health experts who track the AIDS epidemic are seriously considering changing the definition of the disease to include many more people infected with the virus, an official said Friday.

Dr. Gary Noble, a deputy director of the federal Centers for Disease Control, said the change might double the number of people considered to have AIDS.

Since the government began counting 10 years ago, 174,893 people in the United States had been diagnosed with AIDS and 110,530 of those have died.

Experts say between 1 million and 1.5 million others in the United States are infected, some with no symptoms and others have varying degrees of illness.

Many who would be newly classified as having AIDS under the plan being considered are now diagnosed only as being infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS.

AIDS activists have been clamoring for a more inclusive definition. That would enable more HIV-infected women to get Social Security disability and other benefits, eligibility for which is linked to whether they have AIDS.

The definition of AIDS has evolved from the early days of the epidemic, when it was a disease mostly of white, homosexual men. The disabling conditions that defined full-blown AIDS were those found most commonly among this population.

The definition was updated in 1985 and 1987, but in recent years the disease has been spreading rapidly among intravenous drug users and women. AIDS activists have been saying it is time for the definition to reflect the changing face of the disease.

The definition, for example, does not include gynecological conditions or infections found most typically in HIV-infected women. Some of the infections also commonly afflict heterosexual men with the virus.

These conditions are often as disabling as the ones that define AIDS. But because they are not part of the definition used by the Centers for Disease Control, people seriously ill with HIV infection but not technically having AIDS must wait months or years to prove their disability, activists say.

Noble said CDC officials are seriously considering adding to the AIDS definition those who have severely low immune levels, which would be CD4 counts — a common measure of immune function — below 200.

"We do recognize that the basic problem of those with HIV infection is an immune deficiency, and immune deficiency leads to increased severity of scores of diseases," Noble said.

Women's advocates maintain that diseases such as yeast infections, genital herpes, pelvic inflammatory disease and cervical neoplasia are much worse in women with HIV than in uninfected women.

"That is probably true," Noble said, "but we also have evidence that there are scores of other infections that are also worse in people with severe immunodeficiency.

"So there is considerable logic in including all HIV-infected individuals who have severe immune deficiency because that will include virtually all of these individuals who are suffering from the complications of severe immune deficiency," he said.

A 280-foot-long white bridal gown designed for the Statue of Liberty stands at the World Financial Center in New York Thursday.

Pre-nuptial events begin for statues in U.S., Spain

NEW YORK (AP) — It will be a transatlantic bond of copper and bronze. The bride's 310-foot veil is shaped like a dried codfish. And she will never, never meet the groom.

But the bridal bells will toll — in spirit only — for the Statue of Liberty in New York and a statue of Christopher Columbus in Spain.

Her 280-foot-long, 935-pound white bridal gown and train, flown in from Paris, was shown for the first time Thursday at the World Financial Center's Winter Garden in Lower Manhattan.

The "wedding" in 1992, the 500th anniversary of Columbus' voyage to America, will be in Las Vegas.

The nuptials will be the culmination of Spanish artist Antoni Miralda's "Honeymoon Project," a five-year chain of events in the New World, the Old World and Japan.

The bride is a 105-year-old, 298-foot-tall copper-skinned beauty residing in New York Harbor. The groom is 103, a bronzed mariner who sits atop a 200-foot-tall harbor perch in Barcelona, Spain.

The wedding will be in Las Vegas, Miralda said, because "the city is a total fantasy, strange, wild, therefore logical."

Slightly less logical — but OK for two statues — is the fact that she's about 100 feet taller than he.

The monstrous gown, hanging from the Winter Garden's 10-story-tall west wall, faces New York Harbor and the bride, Liberty, herself.

Two years in the sewing by students at Paris' Ecole Esmod, the dress is made of sheer white polyester with black trim. The train is ornamented with a silver pattern of Columbus' fingerprint.

Headed In The Right Direction

One small sailing vessel sits on the horizon, surrounded by the vastness of the sea. The sky is becoming threatening, its azure blue surrendering to churning clouds of blackness. No longer is the sea an expanse of liquid sapphire, sparkling in the sun. It has become a manipulative gray monster, violently tossing the little sailing ship with angrily waving arms.

Just as it appears that the tiny ship will forever become a prisoner to the depths of the sea, a white cloud of billowing sails floats triumphantly from the mast of the frenzied craft, and it begins its voyage back to the safety of the shore . . . headed in the right direction.

We all encounter storms and crisis at some time in our lives. Yet, we need not succumb to them, for like the billowing sails, God is always there if we call on Him, waiting to rescue us . . . to head us in the right direction.

Look to God this week as you worship in your church or synagogue.

RELIGION

RELIGION IN BRIEF

■ Bible schools set

■ Fannin Terrace Baptist Church is planning its Vacation Bible School for June 10-14 from 9 a.m. to noon.

Director of VBS this year is Becky Lofton.

■ St. Paul United Methodist Church, 4501 Thomason Dr., has scheduled Vacation Bible School for 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon June 24-28. Classes will be available for children ages two through sixth grade. "Jesus Calls. Come Follow" is the theme for this year's school which will include Bible stories, music, crafts and snacks.

In order to ensure that there will be enough materjal for each child, please register your child by May 31. Registration forms are available at the church office. For additional information call 689-8775 or 694-5381.

■ Fannin Terrace Baptist Church has scheduled Vacation Bible School for June 10 through 14.

Hours are 9 a.m. to noon. Classes will be held for kindergarten through sixth grade.

This year, VBS will culminate with a carnival on family night, June 16, following the Sunday evening service. During the evening service, the children will lead the congregation in joint worship then share some of the things they've learned during the week.

The church's minister, the Rev. John Rasco, will dismiss the congregation into the carnival area. During the week of VBS, the children will be earning tickets to use at the various booths. The carnival will include food, games and prizes for all.

In other news at the church, the summer Wednesday night schedule goes into effect June 5. The schedule is 6:15 to 7 p.m. childrens' choirs grades 1-6; 7 to 7:45 p.m. prayer meeting, children's mission activities and youth choir practice, and from 7:45 to 9 p.m. adult choir practice.

For more information call the church.

■ Crestview Baptist Church, 3300 Thomas Avenue, will hold its annual Vacation Bible School beginning Monday June 10, continuing through Friday, June 14. Hours are 9 a.m. until 12 noon. Classes will be available for 4 year olds (by Sept 1) through 6th grade.

Special activities will be bible stories, clowns, puppets, and refreshments.

■ Workshop scheduled

The workshop "Healing the Aloneness (Hurt) (Shame)" will be presented from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. today at the Permian Church of Religious Science, 2311 Elizabeth Ave.

Nichols

Rev. Paul Nichols will conduct the workshop which will focus on healing compulsive, addictive or dysfunctional behavior.

"For the inner child to finish growing up and heal these inappropriate behaviors there must be a safe place," Nichols said. "This playshop will be a safe place to heal the inner hurt that binds us, to be able to hear our own inner voice and to empower ourselves for change — for spiritual transformation."

Reference material for the seminar will include "Homecoming" by John Bradshaw, "Healing Your Aloneness" by Chopic and Paul, and "Science of Mind" by Ernest Holmes.

Cost of the workshop is $25 per person. Drinks and snacks will be available.

For more information call 684-4230.

■ Pastor to be honored

Our Savior Lutheran Church will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. David Herman with a recognition dinner June 8.

Herman was ordained as a pastor of the Lutheran Church in Rheim, Saskatchewan, Canada, June 1, 1941, upon his graduation from Wartburg Theological Seminary in Dubuque, Iowa. He graduated from Wartburg College, Waverly, Oiwa, in 1937 and then studied law at the University of Saskatchewan.

His first parish was Peace Lutheran Church, Cleveland, Ohio, which he served for a year. He went to Park Place Lutheran Church, Houston, in June of 1942.

From the end of 1961 to 1964, Herman served Good Shepherd Luthern Church, San Diego, Calif. He was called to become pastor of Midland Lutheran Church in February of 1964 and served the congregation until his retirement in 1980.

In February of 1983, he became associated with a new mission in Midland, Our Savior Lutheran Church, as a volunteer pastor. He continues to serve as an associate of the Rev. James Otterness in this ministry.

In addition to his parish work, Herman served on the board of Mexican Missions for 30 years, spending 12 of those years as chairman. He wrote a book on the establishment of new mission churches for the National Lutheran Council. He also served two terms on the board of Lutheran Social Service of Texas.

Herman was born on July 26, 1915, at Rhein. He married Alice Zancig Sept. 10, 1941. They have three children, Ann Beatty, Alice Wright and Audrey Wolf, all living in Midland.

■ Church to celebrate

The congregation at Grace Lutheran Church will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Rev. Donald V. Hafemann's ordination June 16.

Hafemann graduated in 1941 from the St. Louis Seminary of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. His career in the ministry has been marked by the organization of congregations and the instigation of building programs. He has served congregations in Dumas, N.M., Lawton, Okla., Austin and Plainview as well as other locations in West Texas.

In 1966, he was called by the Grace congregation in Midland. He was instrumental in efforts which culminated in construction of Grace's current home at 3000 W. Golf Course Road. Although he retired from full-time service in 1984, he has continued to serve various congregations in the Permian Basin on a part time basis and formerly functioned as chaplain of the Lutheran Home of Midland.

The celebration will include a service of praise and thanksgiving to be held at Grace Lutheran Church at 3 p.m. June 16. Following the service, a dinner and program highlighting Hafemann's career will be conducted at ranchland Heights Country Club.

Interested persons are invited to attend. Banquet tickets, priced at $10 per adult and $5 per child, may be reserved by sending a check to the Hafemann Celebration Committee, 3000 W. Golf Course Road, Midland, Texas 79701 or by calling 697-3221. Deadline for reservations is June 10.

■ Health care discussed

"Humanity's quest for health" set a distinct tone for the 96th annual meeting of members of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, held here in early June.

Helping society find solutions to health care challenges including the well-being of children and families was a primary concern at he meeting. Because of deepening public discontent over health care and mandated medicine, it was felt answers can no longer be put off.

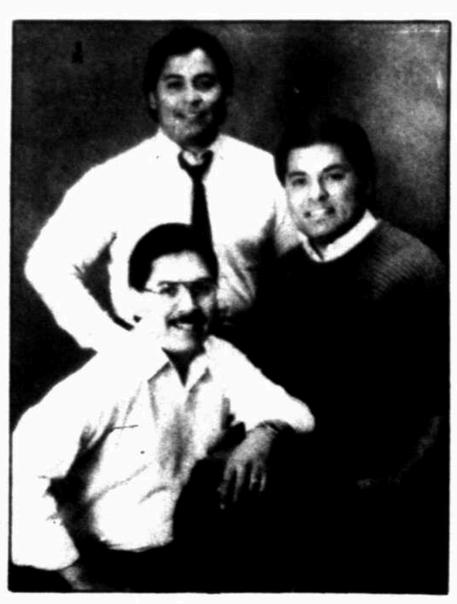

Many people are searching for fresh solutions to pressing health care issues. Yet, hardened stands by organizations as diverse as those representing doctors and atheists, resist religious alternatives to conventional medicine.

In a special statement, however, the Christian Science Board of Directors offered this reminder: "Christians of many denominations are actively involved in healing services and prayers for the sick." They pointed out that many people around the world nave found Christian healing an effective remedy in modern-day society.

Many of the activities of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, this past year were focused on the welfare of children and the restoration of strength to families.

The Christian Science Publishing Society's Monitor Channel on cable television was launched with a special series on children entitled "Childhood: A Journey." The May issue of World Monitor magazine featured articles on children's issues including an in-depth report entitled "Growing Up Confident." The Church's daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor, ran two major series: "Raising Children: Who's in Charge?" and "Being 16 Around the World."

The half-day meeting, which will be re-broadcast on shortwave radio in English, German, Spanish, French, and Portuguese, was opened by Jurgen Kurt Stark of Boston, outgoing President of The Mother Church. The incoming President is Jill Gooding of Surrey, England.

Crystal River will be ministering in song and music at La Gloria de Dios, 611 S. Terrell, Sunday at 11 a.m. The group performs contemporary, Latin and mellow progressive country Christian songs. Crystal River has appeared on the PTL and TEN Christian networks and has several albums to its credit.

■ Churches to conserve

AUSTIN — A program that sponsors say can conserve more than $5 million in natural resources has been launched by the 66 United Methodist congregations of the Austin (Texas) District.

Included in the goals is a 25 percent reduction in energy consumption in the churches and in the homes of 22,243 members of the congregation. Other parts of the program are focused on lighting, lawns, car-pooling, elimination of plastic foam and plastic cups and dinnerware, recycling of paper, glass, plastic and aluminum.

■ Pastor to be guest

R.I. Stewart

Rev. R.I Stewart of Houston a former Midland Pastor in the early 1950's will be speaking at the Abundant Life Worship Center, 4801 Princeton, 7 p.m. Tuesday June 11, for Men's Meeting at church and June 12 for Mid-week service at 7 p.m. Public is welcome.

■ Recognition dinner set

Our Savior's Lutheran Church of Midland will celebrate the 40th anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. James Otterness at morning worship service on Sunday. There will also be a recognition dinner today at the Saddle Club South Clubhouse, starting at 6:30 p.m. with serving beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Otterness

Otterness was ordained at his home church, First Lutheran of Brookings, S.D., on June 10, 1951 upon his graduation from Luther Seminary in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Otterness is best known for his teaching in the TV program, "Simple Secrets Of The Kingdom." This program has been showing in the Permian Basin for the last 16 years on Sundays, presently KTPX-TV, channel 9. He was vice-president of the Southern District of The American Lutheran Church for two terms. He was also a member of the Evangelism Commission, and the Board for Life and Mission in the Congregation on the national level of the church.

He is a graduate of South Dakota State University in electrical engineering, and was a naval aviator in WW II. He married Adeline Prottengeier on August 24, 1947. They have five children.

■ Worker to be honored

A special day of recognition for Jo Stewart is planned this coming Sunday. She will be honored in the 11 a.m. worship services at Alamo Heights Baptist Church with a card shower to follow.

J. Stewart

Jo has been the church secretary since November 1966, retiring this month. Not only has she worked there as secretary for 25 years, but she has served the congregation in many capacities over and above the call of duty.

Anyone wishing to participate in this event is invited to attend or if you would like to send a card, mail them to the church office at 1305 N. Midland Drive.

■ Group to be featured

The Johnny Minick Singers from Littel Rock, Ark., will be featured at Midland's First Assembly of God, Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. A special Gospel Sing will also be hosted on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Johnny Minick, former pianist/arranger for the Happy Goodmans, is a Dove Award nominee and has appeared on numerous television shows. Two singles, "How Long" and "The Church is Alive and Well" charted in the Top 40. A family group, their music is vibrant and worshipful. Admission is free to the public.

■ Youth choir to sing

The Children's Choir of Victoria, Texas, will present a concert on Friday, June 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of Midland. The choir's concert is part of an 11-day tour through New Mexico, Colorado, and Texas, highlighted by singing at two services at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs and a noontime concert at Santuario de Guadelupe in Sante Fe.

The touring choir recently performed the treble choir role in a production of "Jonah" composed and conducted by the Welsh composer, William Mathias, at the Presbyterian National Music Conference in Montreat, N.C.

The June 14th concert is free to the public and will be held in the Sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church of Midland at 7:30 p.m. Child care and free parking are available for the concert. First Presbyterian is located at Texas and Avenue "A".

■ Conference planned

This years theme for the Youth Conference for teen-agers 14-18 years of age is "It's a Jungle Out There." The conference is sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and will be held at 2001 N. Washington in Odessa on June 7 and 8 beginning at 9 a.m. each day.

Preregistration is required.

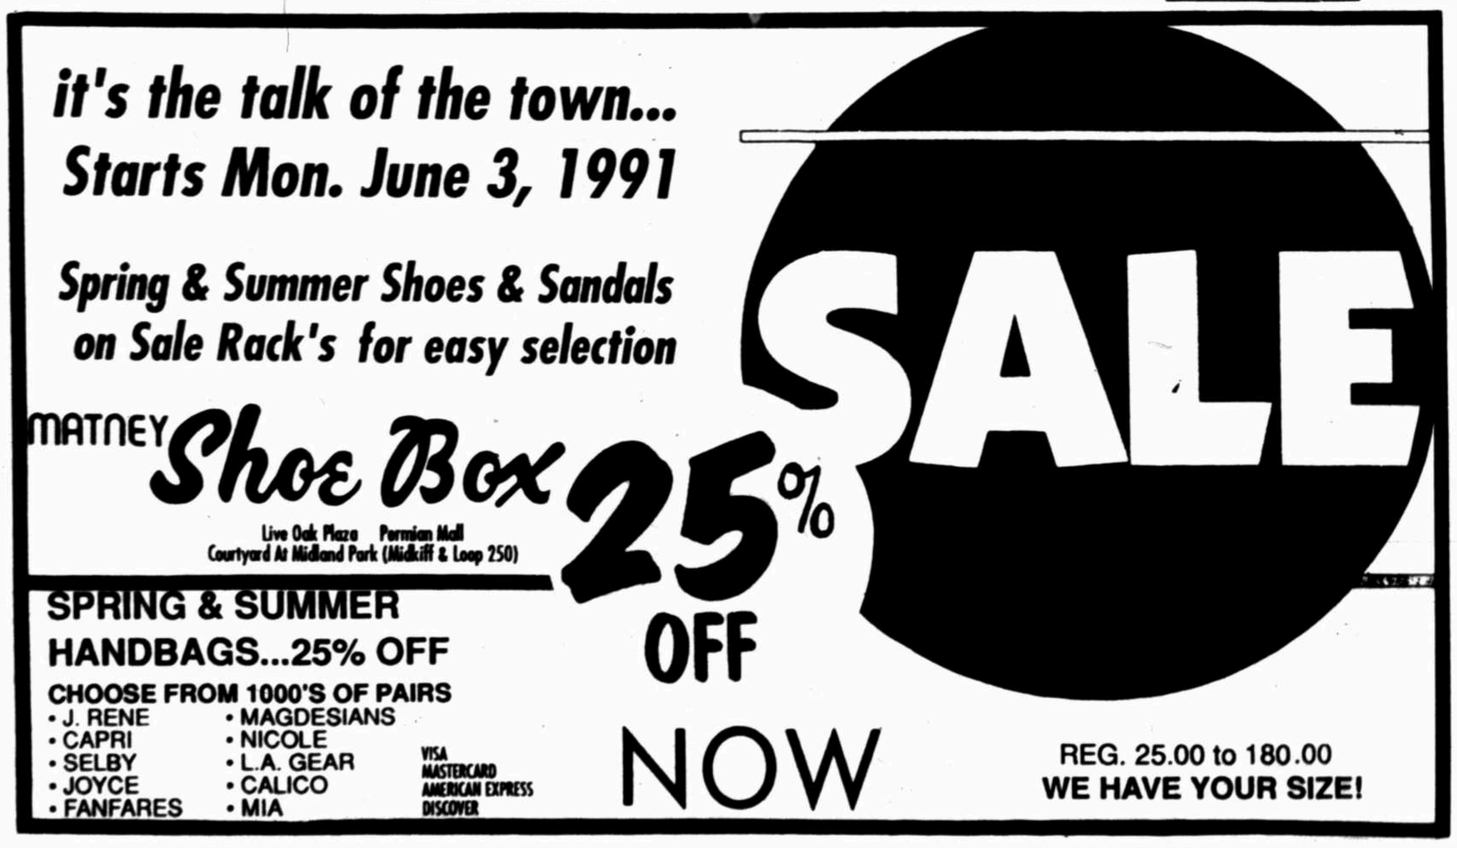

The purpose of youth conference is to build faith and stregthen testimonies, develop talents and leadership skills and give the youth opportunities to make new friends and have fun with other youth who share similar beliefs and standards.

Scheduled activities include workshops, a talent show, charades, a video display of service projects conducted during the past year, water sports, organized free time and dancing.

Workshops will include "Don't Take a Chance On Dangerous Romance" by Bruce Young; "Combing the Jungle" by Bishop Brent Rigtrup; "Take The Guide Who Knows The Perils," Bob and Debbie Lindsey; "I Wouldn't Go Out There If I Were You," Lamar Mad-

Church's positions outlined in confession of faith

By George W. Cornell
Associated Press

Over the centuries, churches periodically have set forth summations of their faith, varying from the short and basic to long and complex. Now comes a brief, snappy one, adding new convictions.

Stotts

It holds that God is both motherly and fatherly.

It elevates to the level of doctrinal belief the admission of women to the ordained ministry.

It delineates the life of Jesus as a model for living.

It admits exploitation of the earth entrusted to human care.

These positions are affirmed for the first time in a church confession of faith (summary of beliefs). It has been drawn up, widely sanctioned and is stamped for almost inevitable adoption this month by the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

The 650-word Brief Statement of Faith is to become a guiding credo of the 3 million-member denomination, a 1983 merger healing the Civil War split between Northern and Southern Presbyterians.

SIGNIFICANTLY, THE statement "gives confessional identity to the new church," said the Rev. Jack L. Stotts, an Austin, Texas, scholar who shepherded the new confession through eight years of development.

It was given preliminary approval a year ago by the church's governing assembly, and since has been approved by an overwhelming majority of the 175 regional presbyteries.

All that remains to incorporate it in the church's authorized book of confessions, along with past classic creeds, is the virtually certain final adoption by this year's assembly in Baltimore meeting through next Saturday.

Only slight, scattered opposition has been registered, such as that by presbyteries in Rustin, La., and Scranton, Pa., which felt the confession lacked the majesty and stature of some older classics.

Also, a few individuals objected to ascribing motherly aspects to divinity in lines saying God is "like a mother who will not forsake her nursing child, like a father who runs to welcome the prodigal home."

The inclusive imagery was "debated as much as anything," Stotts said in an interview, but drew broad backing.

STOTTS, PRESIDENT of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary and head of the committee that drafted the faith statement, said new confessions are intended to "carry the faith forward.

"They're to address contemporary concerns and be reflective of historical circumstances," he said. "It's not something you can expect to last a thousand years. It's the confession of this church, at this time, in this place.

"If it lasts, that's a matter for history to judge."

He pointed out the new confession upheld classic doctrine in brisk, condensed formulations, but was distinctive in several ways, including its recital of hallmarks of Jesus' conduct and views as the way to live.

Previous creeds have affirmed mainly that Jesus was born of the Virgin Mary, crucified to atone for human sin and resurrected but "haven't focused on Jesus' life and ministry as a style to be followed," Stotts said.

As to reasons for past omissions, he expressed "some wonderment," but added, "Maybe it used to be taken for granted that Jesus' life was the pattern for obedience. But we're now in a day when awareness of his life can't be assumed.

"With the secularizing of society, and the biblical illiteracy attending it, it's neccesary to make his life a point of focus when talking about what being Christian means."

THE 80-LINE confession also specifies that the Holy Spirit "calls women and men to all ministries of the church" and also distinctively recognizes humanity's responsibilities for the earth.

"It confesses our complicity in threatening death to the planet entrusted to our care," Stotts said, thus "calling us to work to restore God's good creation."

The confession also explicitly links Christianity to Judaism, referring to God as "the Holy One of Israel" who chose "a covenant people to bless all families of the earth."

Stotts said the wide attention given the new confession and discussions of it show increased concern for central beliefs. "I see the document as one that stimulates theological reflection as well as reflecting it," he said.

"The church has needed to remind itself of the basic convictions that unite us and guide us. That is a foundation given by God that enables us to disagree about other issues without losing our bearings.

"It holds us accountable to these enduring convictions, even when disagreeing about some things. When we forget the foundations, we become like cut flowers and muddled about other issues."

AMONG CRITICS of the confession, the Rev. John Rogers, a Shreveport, La., pastor said he would have liked the doctrine of the Trinity "somewhat more lifted up," saying it was included but "in a lukewarm way."

The Trinity refers to Christianity's view that the one God manifests himself in three ways — as Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

Despite some reservations, however, Rogers and other critics said they would use the new document in worship. He said, "There's a great hunger in the pews for theological seriousness."

■ Public forum set

The Unitarian-Universalist Church of Midland, located on the corner of Midkiff and Neely Streets, will host a presentation and public forum titled, "What are the Real Cost of National Security and Nuclear Weapons Production?" Sunday from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m.

The speakers will be Les Breeding, founder of the Peace Farm, and Mivis Belisle, Director-in-Residence.

The proposed expansion of the Pantex Nuclear Production Facility in Amarillo will be discussed by the speakers.

The public is invited to attend. Child care will be provided. Information call Robert G. Volkmann at 685-0646.

■ Adult classes set

Continuing today at 10 a.m., the Adult Classes of Kelview will be veiwing a choice of three series. "Turn Your Heart Toward Home" by Dr. James Dobson, will be shown in the Ambassador Married Couplers Classes; 'Hidden Keys To Successful Parenting" by Gary Smalley, will be shown in the Harvesters Married Couples Classes; and "One Is A Whole Number" by Harold Ivan Smith, will be shown in the single adult class.

These award winning films will encourage and challenge you in your most important relationships. Nurseries and children's classes are available.

Kelview Heights is located off N. Big Spring Street, at Scharbauer Drive.

■ Pledge drive complete

Hope Lutheran Church has quickly completed a pledge drive to support its building program.

An initial goal of $60,000 was exceeded after special "Commitment Sunday" services on May 5, with pledges totaling $101,500.

A planned 4,000 square foot addition to the church at North A St. and Scharbauer Drive, is designed to served educational needs of the conversation.

The church has an active membership of 150.

NATION IN BRIEF

■ Vintage planes collide

LAFAYETTE (AP) — Two antique military airplanes collided Friday afternoon, and one crashed and exploded, authorities said.

Walker County Sheriff Al Millard said at least one of the two people on the T-37, an old two-seat military training plane, was killed in the crash. Rescuers were still searching for the second person.

Federal Aviation Administration spokeswoman Kathleen Bergen said the top of the plane had been "popped," indicating those on board ejected, but rescuers found no signs of parachutes.

The A-26, a World War II attack plane, sustained nose damage in the collision but landed safely at an airport in Cartersville, about 45 miles southeast of the crash site.

Ms. Bergen said the planes collided in the air near LaFayette, 20 miles south of Chattanooga, Tenn. She said the flight originated in Calhoun and the planes were traveling together to McMinnville, Tenn.

Airport officials said there were three or four passengers aboard, all of whom survived; they did not say if any were injured.

Ms. Bergen said the pilot of the A-26 told FAA officials that he hit the tail of the T-37 and cut it off. She did not identify the pilot.

■ Keating counts dropped

LOS ANGELES — A judge Friday dismissed 13 of 34 counts of securities fraud against Charles H. Keating Jr., ruling the Lincoln Savings operator couldn't have broken the law as stated in the case against him.

Superior Court Judge Lance A. Ito also gave defense attorneys a chance in three weeks to again challenge the remaining counts. Those include the heart of the case — that elderly investers were duped into buying risky junk bonds at Lincoln branches instead of safe certificates of deposit.

Lawyers for Keating on Friday urged the dismissal of all charges against Keating and his two co-defendants, saying they can't be held liable for junk-bond sales made by employees. But the judge didn't address their plea specifically.

The counts dropped by Ito could be considered regulatory components of the case, which do not remove the substantial charges.

The counts that were dropped accused Keating and the others of selling junk bonds at Lincoln branches in violation of the terms of the permit from the state Department of Corporations.

However, Ito ruled that the law was not technically broken because the statute involved selling securities without qualification or permit. Whether the terms of the permit were later violated was irrelavent, Ito concluded.

■ Board fights bankruptcy

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — Homeowners worried Friday that property values would fall, police gassed up while supplies lasted, and city employees quickly cashed paychecks a day after the city filed for bankruptcy protection.

City, state and federal officials began a tug of war to determine if this once-bustling industrial center can seek refuge from state oversight in U.S. Bankruptcy Court.

No matter who oversees city finances, however, a painful combination of layoffs, cuts in service and steep property tax increases appears almost inevitable.

"The homeowner will see his property devalued 20 to 30 percent overnight," warned former Mayor Tom Bucci, the two-term Democrat defeated by Mayor Mary Moran two years ago. Bucci said it would be difficult to find anyone wanting to move to a city with such financial problems.

"It feels like someone stuck a knife right in the heart of the city," said police Detective Michael Whitaker.

"I think it stinks. ... I'm very worried about what will happen," said Pat Cornish, a county courthouse worker who just bought a house seven months ago.

■ Man arrested in slayings

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — The arrest of a 22-year-old loner accused of killing six people for the thrill of it ends months of fear and tension in the California capital.

Eric R. Leonard was arrested Thursday night for investigation of the February slayings, three victims at a time at a convenience store and pizza parlor on two consecutive Tuesdays.

Leonard, an unemployed former college student, was interviewed three times by authorities before his arrest, said sheriff's homicide Lt. Ray Biondi, who led the investigation.

Witnesses described a man wearing a trench coat at both crime scenes and the link was crucial in leading detectives to Leonard, Biondi said.

Leonard was held without bail and arraignment was scheduled for Monday.

Ballistics tests on bullets from a .25-caliber handgun belonging to Leonard's father matched bullets found at the murder scenes, Sacramento County Sheriff Glen Craig said. The gun was surrendered to authorities by the father, who is not suspected of wrongdoing.

■ Salmon said threatened

WASHINGTON — The government proposed on Friday that more Northwest salmon be declared threatened species, the latest step in a high-stakes battle between protectors of the dwindling fish and users of the region's vast Columbia River basin.

The National Marine Fisheries Service softened the potential economic impact by recommending lumping two fish runs together as one population and finding another does not warrant protection because its native strand already is extinct.

The agency proposed that the Snake River's fall chinook salmon be listed as threatened next June under the Endangered Species Act.

However, to the dismay of environmental activists, the agency also proposed that the spring and summer chinook runs be counted together as a single threatened population group and determined that the Lower Columbia coho does not warrant a listing.

"Lower Columbia River coho are presently comprised of a mixture of fish of various origins and no evidence was found that there remains a distinct wild population segment of coho salmon in the lower Columbia river," the agency said in reference to the influx of non-native coho released from hatcheries.

Fishermen, shippers, farmers and hydroelectric ratepayers all stand to feel the impact of government action requiring the diversion of water to help the salmon make their trip to the ocean and back to river spawning grounds.

■ Texas truckers testify

LEXINGTON, Tenn. — Two truckers testifying at the assault trial of state Sen. John Ford said Friday they saw a pistol fired from a dark Mercedes Benz on Interstate 40 last October.

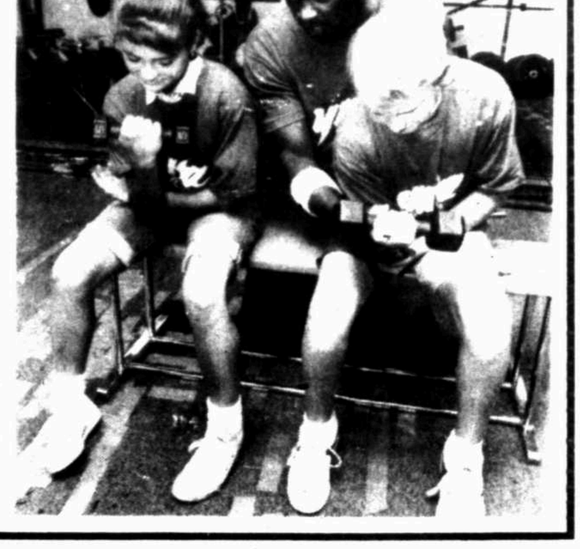

Trucker Nelson Kieffer, 34, of Dallas said the gun was fired at him.

He pointed to Ford in the courtroom as his assailant.

Ford, 49, is charged with shooting at Kieffer during a traffic confrontation.

UN says lack of funds jeopardizes relief efforts

GENEVA (AP) — An acute shortage of funds is preventing the deployment of more U.N. guards to Kurdish camps in Iraq despite plans to replace American and allied troops, according to a U.N. report Friday.

The report, released on the day that the U.N. refugee agency officially took charge of relief efforts for the Kurds, cited "intense unease" among the Kurds resettled in Iraq and warned that many might seek to flee their country again.

The report by the Office of the U.N. Disaster Relief Coordinator added that refugees remaining on Iraq's borders with Iran and Turkey were increasingly reluctant to return home.

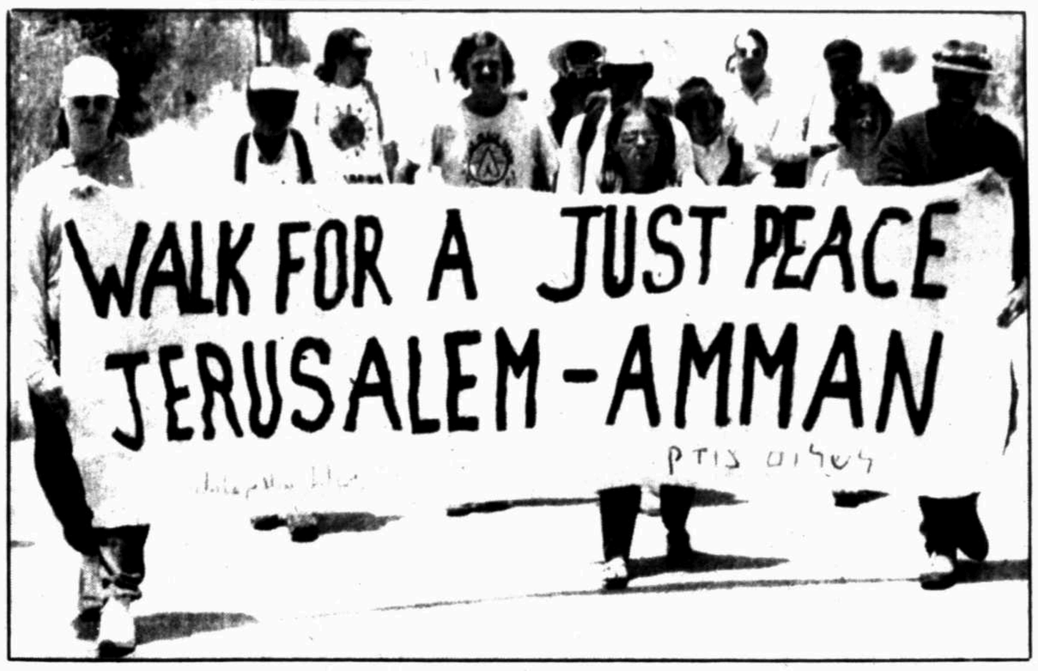

Although Kurds continue to return to the allied-run security zone around the northern Iraqi town of Dohuk, their reaction to the forthcoming withdrawal of allied troops is unpredictable, the report said.

It said the uncertainty was worsened by the delay in deployment of U.N. guards to the area because of lack of financing. Only $4.5 million has been promised despite an appeal for nearly $35 million to fund the guards' deployment, it said.

U.N. spokesman Theo Loir said 40 lightly armed U.N. guards were currently with the Kurds in northern Iraq and 20-25 more were scheduled to leave Geneva on Monday.

This falls far short of the 500 guards provided for in an agreement signed between Baghdad and the U.N. last month.

March for peace

More than 20 international peace activists cross Allenby Bridge Friday after a three-day march in the Israeli-occupied West Bank to demonstrate in support of peace between Israel and Arabs. In arriving here they ended the first half of an 87-mile walk commemorating the six-day Middle East war of 1967.

Kurd leader anticipates agreement

N.Y. Times News Service

BAGHDAD, Iraq — The principal leader of Iraq's Kurdish minority predicted Friday that he and other Kurdish leaders would reach an agreement with Baghdad by mid-June, granting autonomy to his region and removing the need for American and allied forces to remain in northern Iraq.

The upbeat assessment by the Kurd, Massoud Barzani, echoed similiar statements by government officials. But another important Kurdish figure, Jalal Talabani, told a French reporter in northern Iraq on Thursday that "serious difficulties" remained in the discussions with Iraqi leaders.

"The main difficulties are over the geographical boundaries of a Kurdish autonomous area and over democracy," Talabani was quoted as saying.

The divergent accounts suggested differences in the Kurdish leadership over the negotiations, but it is possible that the two leaders were merely adopting different negotiating tactics.

The Iraqi authorities are resisting Kurdish demands that the oil-producing city of Kirkuk be included in an autonomous region and are proposing that a new constitution enshrine the supremacy of President Saddam Hussein's ruling Baath Party. "This is unacceptable," Talabani was quoted as saying.

In an interview, Barzani rebutted suggestions that he and Talabani were in dispute.

"I expect an agreement by June 15 or around that time," he said. "There is no disagreement with Talabani."

Barzani leads the Kurdish Democratic Party, the biggest Kurdish group, while Talabani is head of the Patriotic Union of Kurdistan. Both lead clans among the fractious Kurds, a non-Arab group spread over Iran, Iraq, Turkey, Syria and pockets of the Soviet Union.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1991

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: A year of exciting action and increased productivity lies ahead. Let events unfold naturally in late summer. A raise or promotion will add to your financial security in October. A partnership breaks new ground in December. Someone you meet while on a vacation early next spring could win a permanent place in your heart. May 1992 is a wonderful time for a wedding. Those acquiring stepchildren should show special understanding.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: First lady Barbara Bush, actress Alexis Smith, singer Boz Scaggs, architect Frank Lloyd Wright.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Patience will be required when dealing with a younger person. Cast off obstinacy or inertia. Contact with influential people comes through attending more social gatherings. Romance begins to heat up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Luck is on your side. Whatever you do, you will get the results you want. Although house guests will add to your weekend enjoyment, be careful not to go overboard on expensive entertainment.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Complete household chores early in the day, then spend quality time with your offspring. Get outdoors and engage in some exercise.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Intense communication is enlightening. Fresh ideas, some scientific, will open new doors. You need to remain calm when fulfilling your duties. Home is exciting if you are with the right people.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A partnership in your area of expertise leads to interesting results, although you may wonder about someone's methods. Friends prove their loyalty in many ways. Share secrets with loved ones.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Good fortune comes to you when you are in the public eye. People respond to your loving direction. Your thoughts of budgeting or income-enhancement are very sensible. Delay major decisions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Intellectual pursuits are favored over physical exertion today. You take pride in your home and family. Let loved ones express their ideas even if you disagree. Give-and-take is essential.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Activities in your special field will go well if you are willing to confine yourself a bit. Your friends are dynamic, giving and communicative. Let them take the lead. Trust your intuition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your ideas are both idealistic and progressive. You find interesting common ground with new friends. Children respond to gentle direction. Love could strike when you least expect it.

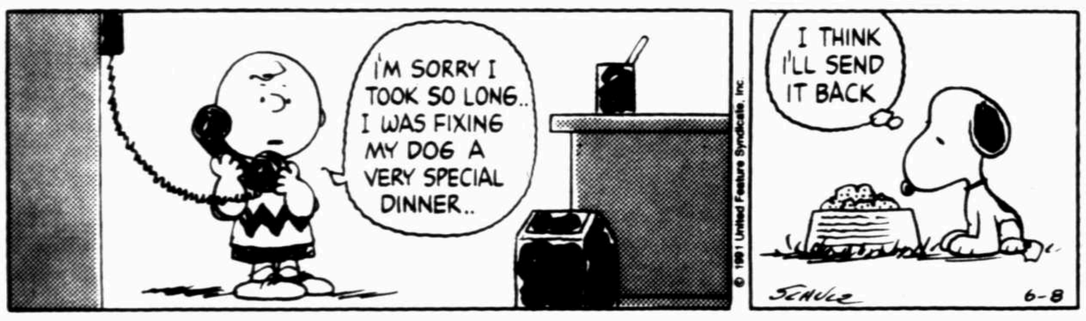

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A loved one is reaching out to you. There are no barriers to self-expression. Go with the flow in an unusual situation. Avoid rushing to give advice. A partnership seems made in heaven.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): An interesting idea comes to you. Get together with friends who share your aims. Love comes to you when you go out of your way for someone. Accept a favor graciously.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A restless mood need not turn to impatience; you can use it to accomplish a lot. Seek specialized knowledge and inventive solutions. You will enjoy being in the social whirl now. Dress up.

TODAY'S CHILDREN are bright and enthusiastic, quick learners who enjoy school. Their happy nature and good humor will make them popular with their peers. Wise parents will recognize their offspring's wit but not let it get out of hand. Encourage these Geminis to share their toys instead of being so possessive. Their generosity will be returned many times over.

Iacocca helps alma mater

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca wasn't a math whiz when he attended Lehigh University, but he had no trouble adding up dollars to help his alma mater.

Iacoccoa

Iacocca returned to the campus Thursday to celebrate completion of a $58 million fund-raising drive he led. Lehigh is a private school with about 6,500 students.

"I'm glad my physics teacher who gave me a 'D' isn't here. He said I'd never amount to anything," recalled Iacocca, who graduated in 1945.

Lehigh used the money to buy 742 acres and establish the university's Iacocca Institute, which sponsors programs to improve performance in American schools and factories.

BOSTON — Former Gov. Michael Dukakis takes his political experience to the classroom when he becomes a visiting professor at Northeastern University later this month.

Dukakis

Dukakis' appointment was announced Thursday by Northeastern President John A. Curry. He spent the spring term teaching at the University of Hawaii.

Dukakis' first assignment is a summer course in political science that begins June 24. In the fall, he'll teach courses on health care policy and either American government or public policy.

Dukakis, a Democrat who lost the 1988 presidential election to George Bush, was elected governor three times. He did not seek re-election last year.

INDIANAPOLIS — Comedian Jay Leno says he had no idea his decision to emcee the Indianapolis 500 Victory Banquet this year would get the show knocked off local television.

Leno

Leno said his bosses at NBC refused to allow the annual victory banquet to be televised on Indianapolis station WTTV because he was the host. Leno on Thursday was named to succeed Johnny Carson as host of "The Tonight Show."

"If it was just up to me, doing the local TV special would have been fine," Leno said Wednesday. "But NBC pays me a lot of money for an exclusive contract and considers me its property.

"All I can do is sincerely apologize," he said.

WTTV, an independent station, televises the post-race banquet each year. This year it broadcast backstage interviews with drivers instead.

LONDON (AP) — Prince William was enjoying a computerized golf game while recovering from surgery to repair a skull fracture he suffered during a round of the real thing, said his mother, Princess Diana.

"He's fine now," the princess said while meeting with students and Gulf War airmen at a school in High Wycombe, west of London.

The 8-year-old William, second in line to the British throne after his father, was released from London's Great Ormond Street children's hospital Wednesday.

He was resting comfortably at home on Thursday at Kensington Palace, but a date was not set for his return to school, Buckingham Palace said.

William underwent a 70-minute operation Monday to fix a depressed fracture in his forehead after he was accidentally struck by a golf club swung by a classmate at Ludgrove School, on London's western outskirts.

To pass the time during his convalescence, Diana told two students that her son was playing a hand-held computerized golf game.

"She said that William had the new computer game Game Boy and that he is always playing on it," said James Pegrum, 12.

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Daredevil pilot Mathias Rust, who gained worldwide attention by landing a plane in Moscow's Red Square, was secretly married here.

"We probably had about 20 people from Germany, the news, filming it. It was like a documentary almost," Roberta Monroe, manager of the Heart of Reno wedding chapel, said Thursday.

News of the marriage between Rust and Katarzyna Burdzy, 27, from Poland was reported in the German newspaper Bild on Thursday, saying the $27 wedding took place May 23.

Monroe said she was unaware of who Rust was at the time of the marriage.

Rust became a folk hero in 1987 by flying a borrowed plane through the Soviet Union's air defenses and landing on Red Square. He spent more than a year in a Soviet prison for the feat.

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Former television actress Dana Plato has pleaded guilty to holding up a video store and stealing $160.

Ms. Plato, 26, entered the plea Thursday before District Judge Stephen Huffaker. The charge was reduced from armed robbery under a plea bargain agreement.

Ms. Plato's attorney, Stewart Bell, said he would seek probation for the actress.

WORLD IN BRIEF

■ Former guard charged

EAST LONDON, South Africa — A former security guard was charged with murder Friday for the shooting deaths of 39 blacks while on night patrol in neighborhoods and business districts of this southern city.

Sybrand van Schoor, a white 39-year-old, did not enter a plea during his brief appearance in the East London Supreme Court. He was released on bail of $5,300 and is to return to court on Aug. 19.

According to court documents, the charges stem from the shooting deaths of 39 blacks and the injuries sustained by several others at the scenes of alleged house break-ins and burglaries from 1986-89 in East London.

During those years van Schoor worked for a private security firm patrolling neighborhoods and business areas at night.

Many of the blacks were shot in the back, according to inquest records.

One man who was shot and survived told a South African newspaper that van Schoor approached him, ordered him to start running and then fired.

■ Greek papers accused

ATHENS, Greece — Six newspapers defied a government ban and published a statement by a Greek terrorist group Friday, and the government promptly announced it would file charges against the papers' publishers and editors.

No arrests had been made by late Friday, said Athens Public Prosecutor Theodoros Karatsalos. If convicted, the newspaper officials could be fined up to $265,000 and sentenced to five years in prison.

The newspapers defied the ban in solidarity with Serapheim Fintanides, director of the daily newspaper Eleftherotypia, who was arrested Thursday after being the first to publish the statement by the terrorist group November 17.

Fintanides is free pending his June 21 trial.

November 17 claimed responsibility for recent missile attacks on Greek and foreign firms and the sinking of a tugboat involved in breaking a strike.

Three of the dailies that violated the ban belong to media baron Makis Kouris, who also owns a television and radio station.

Kouris is a member of Parliament for the Panhellenic Socialist Movement and often uses his media outlets to criticize the conservative government.

The law forbidding the publishing of terrorist statements was pushed through Parliament in December. Publishers call it unconstitutional because it restricts press freedom.

■ Over 100 identified

BANGKOK, Thailand — More than 100 bodies remain unidentified after the May 26 crash which killed all 223 people aboard an Austrian Lauda Air jet, and British morticians are preserving the remains, a British official said Friday.

The British Embassy official said about a dozen specialists are engaged in the task and that the bodies will be kept in coffins at a Buddhist temple pending identification and final disposition.

The Police General Hospital morgue in Bangkok to which the crash victims were taken has no refrigeration equipment.

There was confusion on the number of bodies identified in the crash. A Lauda Air official said Friday that 69 bodies had been identified. He said a figure of 117 given Thursday was incorrect.

Many foreigners were on the Boeing 767, which had just left Bangkok for Vienna when the disaster occurred.

The officials spoke on condition of anonymity.

■ Men arrested in death

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — Four men have been arrested in the death of an Irish Republican Army man who was shot by comrades who accused him of being a police informer, the IRA's political wing said Friday.

Hugh Brady, a councillor for Sinn Fein, the IRA's legal political arm, and three other men were arrested in the death of alleged informer Rory Finnis, according to a statement from Sinn Fein.

Finnis' hooded body was found Thursday night in Londonderry, 60 miles northwest of Belfast. He disappeared last Saturday after being seen in a Londonderry pub with another man, police said. The other man is missing.

A statement from the IRA said Finnis, 21, was killed because he gave security forces information about IRA members, safe houses and operations.

The Royal Ulster Constabulary refused to discuss the IRA allegations. It also refuse to say if arrests had been made.

Also Friday, Amnesty International criticized the British government for the secrecy surrounding killings by its security forces in Northern Ireland. Of more than 2,800 victims of two decades of political violence, 340 have been killed by police and the army.

There have been 21 prosecutions of security personnel, said a report by the human rights group.

"The secrecy shrouding police and military investigations has led many victims and their relatives to allege that authorities have actually suppressed information and deliberately concealed actions," the report said.

The IRA has been responsible for more deaths than any of the other parties in the conflict over the province. British troops were sent to Northern Ireland in 1969 to keep order.

■ Pope advises Poles

WARSAW, Poland — Pope John Paul II urged his fellow Poles Friday to reject the sensual, secular culture of a Western Europe that he contended had betrayed the roots of Christendom.

"Do not let yourself get caught up by this civilization of desire and consumption," the pope said, his voice filled with emotion. He offered his vision of a post-Communist Poland that could stand as a spiritual exemplar for the continent. "Is it civilization or an anti-civilization, a culture, or an anti-culture?"

Since the fall of communism in 1989, Poles often speak wistfully of their hopes for returning to Europe, which means everything from the chance to enjoy political freedoms and to the purchase of imported goods from the West.

But the pope said that amounted to striving toward a false god if it amounted to abandoning the teachings of the church in this predominantly Roman Catholic nation.

"My dear brothers and sisters, I wish as bishop of Rome to protest at such a definition of Europe, of Western Europe," the pope told an open-air Mass in the city of Wloclawek in central Poland.

"This insults this great world of Christian culture from which we have drawn, from which we had co-created for the price of our sufferings."

"We do not have to enter Europe, because we helped to create it and we did so with greater effort than those who claim a monopoly on Europeanism, on exclusiveness," the pope said to a rain-soaked crowd estimated at 150,000.

"And what should be the criteria of Europeanism? Freedom? What kind of freedom? The freedom to take the life of unborn children?"

The comments on the seventh day of a nine-day trip marked the second time the pope has strayed from his prepared text to deliver unscripted, personal pleas for morality.

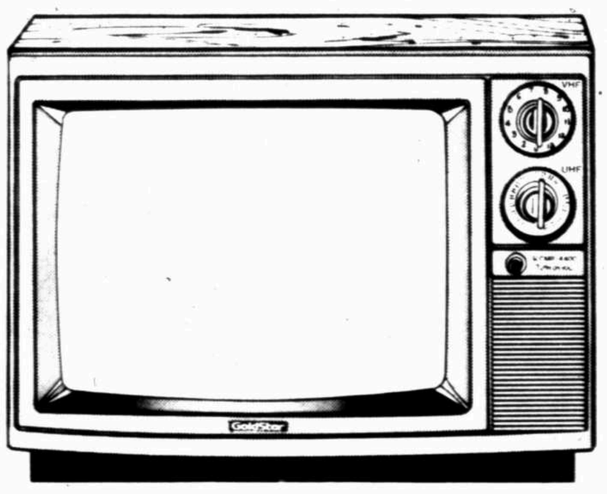

Through his remarks at these sprawling, open-air masses in the countryside, the pope has been calling on Poles to build an island of Catholic piety in which abortion is banned and spirituality more important than material goods.

SAIL AWAY

A jaunty sailboat rides the waves on a crocheted warm-weather top. As an added touch, waves continue on the back. It takes five colors of sport-weight acrylic yarn to work this nautical scene from a chart. Directions are easy to follow and gauge is 5 stitches per inch.

PART-TIME INCOME AVAILABLE

The Midland Reporter-Telegram has several distributorships which need to be filled with qualified, responsible individuals.

OFTEN ASKED QUESTIONS:

Is it worthwhile for adults also?

Yes! Our current carrier force is already 90% adult and 10% youth. Morning newspaper routes are attractive for:

- ADULTS who have full-time jobs, yet want to supplement their income with a steady part-time job.
- MOTHERS who can't justify a small job and daycare, because as a carrier, you do not need daycare!
- COLLEGE STUDENTS needing a part-time job which will work with classes!
- SENIOR CITIZENS wanting regular exercise, added income, or just want to work with people, neighbors, and friends.

How much money can I make as a carrier?

Depending on the size of the distributorship from $300 to $700 monthly! Some make even more!

How long does it take?

The actually delivery takes 1 - 2 hours Monday - Saturday, and 2 - 3 hours on Sunday, again depending on the size of the distributorship. Also, a few hours a month are needed to collect from subscribers. Many carrier's choose to handle some of this by putting envelopes in subscribers' papers. Collecting in person will be necessary though!

When do papers have to be delivered by?

6 a.m. Monday - Friday and 7 a.m. on Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

Do I ever get a day off?

The job requires a 7-day a week commitment. However, carriers do take days off by finding a friend or family member to substitute for them!
