Yanks Plunge On As Nazis Abandon Lines

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Feb. 1—U. S. troops drove as deep as two and a half miles today through hitherto unbreached ramparts of the westwall south of Aachen against resistance so light the belief grew that the Germans had weakened the Reich's great western fortifications to bolster the Eastern front.

The full weight of the assault by the U. S. First and Third armies was crunching through dragon teeth tank traps and pillboxes on a 40-mile front, widening the breaches in the Siegfried line against an astounding lack of resistance. Some First Army forces in the forefront of the assault found the Germans had fled from roadblocks and pillboxes, abandoning main positions with guns and ammunition.

Nazi Tanks Absent

The Third Army, closing to within seven and a half miles of Prum after seizing Winterscheid, swept three and a half miles into Germany without sighting a tank. Prum is the big road and railway center which supplies the Siegfried network facing southern Belgium and northern Luxembourg.

Ahead of them, hundreds of Allied heavy bombers battered rail yards and bridges in the Ruhr and Rhineland, attempting to paralyze German troop movement from the Western to the Eastern front.

NAZIS QUITTING ITALY?
LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Indications that the Germans were withdrawing from the peninsula area of northern Italy were reported tonight in a London Daily Telegraph dispatch from Bern.
Long convoys were observed moving northward on roads leading to the Brenner pass, the dispatch said.

Far to the south, the battle to drive the Germans from Alsace gathered momentum. French and American forces virtually wiped out the Rhinebank salient south of Strasbourg and tightened the ring around Colmar — last big French town in German hands—by severing its main railway line to the Rhine.

Pull-Out Indicated

Heavy rail and road traffic moving east from Karlsruhe on the Rhine and north from Wissembourg at the northern border of Alsace indicated that here too the Germans were pulling out and sending the best of their forces east for the attle of Berlin.

(The German news agency DNB declared that Gen. Eisenhower had virtually completed preparations for a big offensive east of Aachen and speculated that it might coincide with a renewed drive from Holland farther north).

An Associated Press dispatch patch from the presently-quiet U. S. Ninth Army front on the Roer north of Aachen said that there was something "screwy" on the Western front— that whole sections had been abandoned by the Germans and not yet occupied by the Allies.

Resistance Varies

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army, storming the Siegfried line in at least three sectors, met little resistance at some points and heavy at others as it developed its assault along a line from the area of Monschau, 15 miles southeast of Aachen, southward for 20

Nazis Report Reds Cross Frozen Oder

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, Feb. 2.—Russian troops encircled the German Pomeranian stronghold of Schneidemuhl and captured the northern Polish stronghold of Torun yesterday as the Nazi high command disclosed that other Soviet units had reached the frozen Oder river 30 to 40 miles northeast of the capital.

Moscow officially placed the nearest Red Army units 59 miles northeast of Berlin with the capture of Duhringshof, 18 miles from Kustrin, one of the last strongholds barring the road to the Axis capital.

REDS IN OUTSKIRTS
LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP)—A Stockholm report, unsubstantiated elsewhere, quoted travelers arriving in Sweden tonight as saying that a Russian patrol had penetrated to the outskirts of Berlin today and withdrew after reconnoitering.

The German communique, however, declared that "north of the Warthe (Warta river) enemy forces advanced as far as the Oder northwest of Kustrin, where they met our newly brought up reserves."

Kustrin is 40 miles northeast of panic-ridden Berlin, and the Oder in its winding course northwest of the city flows to within 30 miles of Berlin. The Germans did not name the exact point where the Russians broke through to the last natural defense line before the capital.

German broadcasts said that the Russians crashed into the eastern side of Kustrin and then were thrown out by strong reinforcements which have been hurried to the Eastern front from central Germany, from the Western front and from the Baltic port of Stettin.

A Moscow radio broadcast early today on the second anniversary of Stalingrad said that the diplomatic corps in Berlin had been instructed to leave for Munich in the south. German broadcasts said that "frantic preparations" were under way to fortify Berlin, which is choked with thousands of refugees.

Although Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army apparently was meeting increasingly heavy German resistance on the approaches to both Kustrin and Frankfurt, another Oder river stronghold 16 miles to the south, the Soviet communique announced that Zhukov's troops had gained from four to 14

Terrified Germans Ordered To Stand

By RICHARD R. KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 1—The low, ominous rumble of heavy guns could be heard in Berlin tonight as workers stripped the capital of its once terrifying concentration of anti-aircraft guns to bolster the faltering Nazi Army in the east, Dispatches to neutral capitals said.

The German military radio issued an order for a death stand because "there's no way back."

Radio reports from surrounding capitals — Stockholm, Moscow, Bern and Luxembourg—all gave a picture of deep anxiety in Berlin.

Zero Hour Near

The German military radio heightened the picture with its warning to German soldiers not to place their lives "above the life of Germany." Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels added his dramatic touch with an article in Das Reich declaring "it's just before zero hour."

"Let no coward think that in this hour of peril he can get away with placing his life above the life of Germany or that he has the right to accuse our leaders," the military radio said, hinting that the stolid Germans at last were beginning to grumble openly of their leadership.

A dispatch to the Stockholm Aftonbladet said railway artillery was being removed from the Gleisdreieck, Anhalter, Schlesische and other railway stations and that anti-aircraft artillery was disappearing, with even the tremendous anti-aircraft towers in the

Way Cleared For Wallace Cabinet Post

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — The Senate and President Roosevelt agreed today on separating the huge RFC from the Commerce department. The assumption was plain that Henry Wallace can have what's left of the cabinet post.

The confusion centering around nomination of Wallace for the dual job held by Jesse Jones was rapidly cleared in this series of quick steps:

1—The Senate forestalled by a vote of 43-41 efforts to bring up Wallace's nomination immediately.

George Bill Passes

2—The George bill divorcing the multi-billion dollar lending agencies from the Commerce department was passed, 74 to 12, and sent to the House.

3—Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky then read a message, coming indirectly from the President, saying he would sign the George proposal.

This message promptly enhanced Wallace's chances of being confirmed as secretary of commerce —a post in which he would supervise the census, the weather bureau, the coast and geodetic survey, the Civil Aeronautics administration and statistical bureaus.

Lacks Experience

His opponents contended he didn't have the banking experience to handle the lending agencies.

Action on the pared-down nomination, however, was not off until March 1 to allow the House time to pass and the President the opportunity to sign the separation bill. This was done on a voice vote.

By this compromise, the administration broke through a road block set up by senators who were all-out against Wallace's holding any public office and those who were willing for him to be secretary of commerce but would not vote to let him administer RFC.

This group admittedly represented the majority of the Senate and Wallace's supporters had conceded that the only way they could save the cabinet appointment was to follow the procedure of letting the George bill become law first.

Wallace himself previously had told the Senate Commerce committee that while he believed he should administer the loan agencies, he was willing to accept the Commerce portfolio without such authority and would serve in that job for the duration of the war.

Wallace Statement

Asked for a statement on the Senate action today, Wallace told reporters:

"It seems inappropriate for me to make any comment until March 1."

His statement was interpreted, however, as indicating that he still is willing to accept the cabinet post without the lending authority.

The action sealing off a vote on the nomination for a month came at the close of a drama-packed day in which the administration had beaten down by the slenderest of margins, 43 to 41, a determined effort of southern Democrats and Republicans to force a test on the the appointment at once.

New Episcopal Bishop Named

Rev. Thomas W. Sumners, of Houston, has been appointed bishop of the North Texas diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church to succeed the Rt. Rev. E. Cecil Seaman of Amarillo, who resigned because of ill health, The Morning Avalanche was informed Thursday night.

The new bishop is a brother of Mrs. Scott Bledsoe, of 3218 Twenty-first, and a cousin of Mrs. Mary W. Doak, of 1917 Seventeenth.

Mr. Sumners has been associated with St. John's the Devine in Houston since 1939.

Has Twin Brother

His career has closely paralleled that of his twin brother, Rev. Charles A. Sumners of St. Daivd's at Austin. The brothers were graduated together from the Episcopal Theological seminary in Alexandria, Va., in 1928. They became ministers of the Episcopal church in the same ordination ceremony in Houston in 1929. They married sisters in a double ceremony in Houston in 1940.

Bishop Sumners' first charges were three small churches in Houston, Baytown and Dickinson. In 1933, he joined St. John's the Devine, then St. Stephen's, succeeding his brother, who resigned to become arch-leacon of a large diocese in South Texas.

Bishop and Mrs. Sumners have no children.

Two Dead In Haskell Blaze, Others Hurt

HASKELL, Tex., Feb. 1. (AP)—A father and mother were dead today and three other members of the family remained critical as a tragic aftermath of a fire which destroyed a farm home near here last night.

Dead were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Robertson of Haskell.

Critically burned in Haskell and Stamford hospitals were Mrs. Lewis Oakley and Mrs. Lee Brown, daughters, and Mrs. James Harris Robertson, a daughter-in-law.

Also hospitalized with less serious burns were the Oakley baby, one-month-old Theresa Darlene; Douglas Robertson, six-year-old son of Mrs. James Harris Robertson; Joy Gale Brown, 2, daughter of the Browns, and Pfc. Lovoy Robertson, a son.

Brown suffered only slight burns and was released from the hospital last night after treatment.

New Landing Below Manila Tightens Jaws Of Jap Trap

513 Gaunt Bataan Survivors Are Snatched From Jap Camp

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Feb. 1. —Greenclad United States Rangers and Filipino guerrillas rescued 513 gaunt and ragged men, mostly American survivors of the Bataan "death march" and Corregidor, in a bold raid Tuesday night 25 miles behind Japanese lines.

It was the first mass rescue of prisoners in the Pacific war, carried out by 407 picked fighters of the Sixth Ranger battalion and guerrillas.

Stealthily piercing the Nuevo Ecija province hills, the Commado force led by Lt. Col. Henry Mucci, of Bridgeport, Conn., with the Filipino guerilla unit under Maj. Robert Lapham of Davenport, Ia., hit the Cabantuan prison camp near Cabu at 7 p. m., their guns blazing.

The prisoners feared the firing meant their liquidation by the Japanese had started—an end to their nearly three years of cruel custody since the fall of Bataan and Corregidor.

The gaunt and hungry men dodged to the floor, waiting. Then Rangers burst into the barbed wire-enclosed barracks with the reassuring words:

"Take it easy fellows, the Yanks are here. We got this place, pals."

Freed were 486 Americans, 23 British, some of whom defended Singapore; three Netherlanders and one Norwegian. Two of the men died on the way to safety, their failing hearts unable to withstand the ordeal which climaxed their three years' imprisonment.

They were all that were left at the Cabantuan camp, which once held 10,00 captives. Hundreds had died from disease, malnutrition or mistreatment. Others had been removed to work camps in Japan.

Cleanup of the Japanese guards proceeded briskley, the 121 Rangers and 266 Filipinos moving with deadly precision.

With no time to lose, the rescuers and rescued started their night forced march back to American lines. Some of the prisoners walked despite tropical ulcers, wounds and bodily weakness. Others were carried on the backs of Rangers. Some rode in carabao carts.

The Japanese struck the column in persistent, tank-led attacks, but the Americans and Filipinos were not to be denied their prizes.

Fighting on the way back took 523 Japanese lives, better than one for every rescued man, and cost the enemy 12 tanks.

The daring operation cost the lives of 27 Americans and Filipinos. Two more were wounded.

"No incident of the campaign has given me such personal satisfaction," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique announcing the rescue.

To emphasize his satisfaction, he warded decorations to every member of the Commando party.

Cheering doughboys of the American liberation army lined the roadway as the prisoners were driven in trucks and ambulances to an evacuation hospital for food and new clothing.

Some of the prisoners appeared dazed, unable to realize their good fortune, their return to friendly

Some Units Only 20 Air Miles Out Of Island Capital

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Friday, Feb. 2—A new landing southwest of Manila—the third invasion of Luzon island—forged the jaws of a trap north and south of the Philippines capital, with some Yank columns reported today a bare 20 air miles away.

Virtually sealing off the possibility of Nipponese troops south of Manila joining those to the north, 11th division troops of the Eighth Army landed at Nasugen on the west coast of Batangas province 32 miles southwest of Cavite naval base.

Others Push Southward

They opened a drive north while Yanks of the Sixth Army pressed south from Calumpit down Bulacan province to the Angat river, the closest approach to Manila. These Yanks have covered approximately 100 miles since their Jan. 9 landing at Lingayen gulf.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported in his communique today that patrols were operating freely on this closest approach to Manila.

Eighth Army elements which landed Monday northwest of Manila and quickly secured Subic bay as a base for the Seventh Fleet were reported today to be moving east against light enemy resistance across the base of Bataan peninsula toward a junction with Sixth Army columns driving southwest from Lubao.

Land Without Loss

MacArthur reported the entire was "caught off balance and landed without loss" at Nasugbu.

A fine road leads from Nasugbu to Manila by way of Tagaytay ridge through Cavite province.

The first wave of the 11th Airborne division under Maj. Gen. J. M. Swing hit five miles of Batangas beach from Rear Adm. William M. Fechtler's landing ships Wednesday morning without firing a shot and speared quickly inland through the town of Nasugbu without serious opposition.

It wasn't a totally bloodless landing as was the invasion of the Zambales coastline to the north last Monday. After the Yanks had been pouring ashore for a half hour, Japanese in caves off the northern flank brought machine-guns and 77mm fire to bear on the landing beach. Mobile artillery and naval gunfire quickly silenced the enemy.

Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger originally planned the foray as a reconnaissance in force, with the proviso the Yanks pull out if the

Freedom, Food Revive Hazy Memories Of Rescued Men

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LUZON, Philippines, Jan. 31 (Delayed)—The sight of the American flag—freedom after almost three years in a Japanese prison camp hell—and food and more food—these were the things that stirred the hearts, revived the cloudy memories and put new life into 511 American and other Allied prisoners who were daringly rescued last night.

Some were hysterical with happiness at the time of rescue and others gave way to long pentup emotions later—one when he saw the flag on passing through the American lines.

ALL ARE SUFFERING
LUZON, Philippines, Feb. 1 (AP)—Virtually every one of the more than 500 American and Allied prisoners rescued from the Japanese Tuesday night is suffering from some ailment, reported Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent.
These ranged from pre-surrender wounds to the aftermath of such deficiency diseases as beri-beri and scurvy.

"It cut right through me—the flag," cried S/Sgt. Clinton Goodbla, of Longview, Wash. "Being free cut through me. And the cigarets and chow . . ."

One Near Hysterics

One guant young prisoner, his eyes shining with the glorious knowledge of release, flung his arms around Pfc. Thomas Grace, jr., of New Orleans, of the rescuing Rangers, embraced and kissed him.

"I got so damned flustered," said Grace, "that I almost forgot to do my job."

The happiness of the released prisoners was infectious. Rescuing Rangers and Filipino guerrillas were in a celebrating mood when the column arrived at the American lines.

They told how they surprised the Japanese guards at the Cabanatuan prison camp at Cabu last night and shot them down while the prisoners rushed out.

Three Ranger sergeants, Creatus Norton, of Hendersonville, N. C.; Richard Moore, of Los Angeles and Melvin Gilbert, of Portland, Ore., sprayed the Japanese barracks with bullets. They killed 30 or 40 of the enemy before they could get out of the building.

Most of the 511 prisoners brought out—two were so ill their hearts failed in the hour of rescue — were eager for American food.

"This probably will make me as sick as hell," said Pvt. Alfred Jolly of San Francisco, "but I don't give a damn."

The haggard, one-armed young soldier, he lost the limb at Bataan, ate six eggs, a large helping of meat, seven biscuits with jam and a can of grapefruit. He washed it down with five cups of coffee.

"White bread!" exclaimed a British soldier, Signalman Thomas Potter of Harron, Middlesex, England. "Blimey, this is better than I got in peacetime!" He was captured at Singapore.

Expressing regret over the two prisoner deaths, one Ranger said they "weren't in very good shape."

His understatement also could be applied to many who came out alive. But food, freedom and happy anticipation of trips home were expected to serve as speedy recovery incentives.

Manpower Draft Is Passed By Senate

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Brushing aside every proposed major change, the House passed and sent to the Senate today legislation to coerce men between 18 and 45 into war plants.

The roll call vote was 246 to 165.

Passage of the measure requested by President Roosevelt came only after its backers staved off a mighty drive by opponents to substitute a voluntary plan for meeting manpower needs.

The substitute, backed heavily by Republicans, went down by a non-record vote of 187 to 177. Earlier, the House decisively rejected moves to incorporate in the legislation a so-called "anti-closed shop" amendment and a ban against giving essential rating to an employer unwilling to hire a worker because of his race, color or creed.

Also defeated, on a standing vote of 205 to 71 shortly before the final ballot, was a proposal by Rep. Voorhis (D.Calif) to handle the problem by giving the War Manpower commission authority to impose labor ceilings on employes and to provide for renegotiation of war contracts by employes using labor obtained through the WMC program.

While the House was taking final action, production and military

Charge Filed In Injury Of Youth

Benjamin R. McWhorter, 66, Hale county farm owner, was charged Thursday with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle, it was announced by Plainview Highway Patrolman O. D. Jackson, as Eugene Heath, 14, of Abernathy, one of three persons allegedly hurt by McWhorter's truck Wednesday night in Abernathy, lay critically injured in West Texas hospital here.

Jackson said McWhorter posted $1,500 bail binding him to action of the May term of the Hale county grand jury.

Two Men Also Hurt

The youth and E. M. Copp and Lewis Hollingsworth, both of Lubbock and linemen for Southwestern Public Service company, were injured as they stood on the highway near the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber company's yard as it was being leveled by fire.

X-ray examinations at St. Mary's hospital Thursday morning disclosed that neither Copp nor Hollingsworth suffered broken bones. Their only injuries apparently were minor lacerations and bruises.

Young Heath, son of Ed Heath, a carpenter, and Mrs. Heath, of Abernathy, received a fractured skull, compound comminuted fracture of the left leg and internal injuries.

Entangled In Loose Line

Jackson said that investigation yesterday revealed that none of the trio was hit by the truck itself. Two were entangled in a severed power line which had fallen on the highway and which became attached to the moving truck. The third person was hit by a flying cross-bar still affixed to a wire picked up by the truck.

The patrolman said he was informed by witnesses that Heath was whipped into the air " as high" as a nearby light pole.

Set Out As Danger Area

Jackson related that the section of the highway in which the victims were standing had been signified as a danger area north and south of the burning yard. Men bearing red flags had been stationed at either end, he said.

The patrolman said McWhorter gave Breckenridge, Tex., as his home address and that McWhorter owns "one or more" farms in the Cotton Center community. He has been residing in a hotel at Hale Center, Jackson stated.

Giant Drydock At Singapore Sunk

20TH BOMBER COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, India, Feb. 1 (AP)—Superfortresses of the 20th Bomber command dealt the Japanese Navy a devastating blow in an attack today upon Singapore, destroying the huge floating drydock which could have handled the largest warship in the world.

Reconnaissance photos proved the dock was sunk. A 460-foot merchant ship which had been in the dock was seen to be burning.

It was one of the greatest air attacks in strength ever flown by B-29s.

Explosions Rake Dock

Numerous returning crews reported seeing bomb explosions solidly aboard the 855-foot drydock which is capable of servicing the largest war craft afloat. Its 172-foot width gives it capacity to handle 50,000-ton vessels.

In stallations bordering Georgetown harbor on Penang island also were hit and set ablaze by a sizeable diversionary force. Pilots returning from Singapore who flew over Penang said flames covered the Georgetown waterfront area. Penang is one of the most important Japanese submarine bases and supply ports in the Asiatic theatre.

(A communique from 20th Air force headquarters in Washington said none of the Superfortresses was lost to enemy action.

Western Front Turns Screwy

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE U. S. NINTH ARMY IN GERMANY, Feb. 1.—There is something screwy on the Western front.

There are large sections of the front where the Germans have suddenly fled. Allied patrols have failed to contact the enemy, which means there is considerable territory unoccupied by the Allies or Germans in a situation that parallels the "sitdown" war of 1939.

For the past three days there has been no German artillery fire on U. S. troops attacking eastward along a line from St. Vith to Monschau forest, something virtually without precedent since the Allies first reached the westwall.

Germans Surrendering

In comparatively small and not too violent local actions, considerable numbers of Germans are giving up.

In the Ardennes area, U. S. troops of the 82nd Airborne division moved right up to the Siegfried line, finding road blocks and temporary defenses unmanned.

In the last 10 days the 102nd division at Brachelen, northeast of Aachen, captured 97 pillboxes intact without a fight. The 78th division took 50 more near Monschau along with 500 prisoners in 48 hours. Six weeks ago it might have taken weeks to do this.

Second Rate Troops

Along the whole westwall contact has been made recently with but one German armored division. The rest are scratch infantry.

A great many German divisions have disappeared entirely. There are few first class troops to be found on the Western front, at least where the fighting is.

The present Allied attack, which is concentrated in the Ardennes, engages only a fraction of the available Allied forces.

Three U. S. Vessels Lost In Philippines

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP) — Loss of two mine sweepers and a tank landing ship from enemy action in the Philippines was announced today by the Navy.

The mine sweepers were the Hovey and the Palmer, converted world war one destroyers, and the landing ship the LST 759.

There was no indication of extent of casualties, but the Navy said all next of kin had been notified.

Normal complement of that type of mine sweepers is about 120, and of an LST, 64.

The announcement brought to 258 the total of naval vessels lost from all causes since the start of the war, including 208 sunk, 40 overdue and presumed lost, and 10 destroyed to prevent capture.

Japs Fighting Back Fiercely In Burma

CALCUTTA, Feb. 1. (AP)—Japanese troops, after yielding hundreds of square miles to the Allies, appeared to be stiffing their rearguard forces and violent close-quarter fighting broke out on three battlefronts in Burma.

Saging, directly across the Irrawaddy river from the key city of Mandalay, was being steadily reduced by Allied air and ground forces.

The fast U. S. Mars task force far to the northeast of Mandalay was breaking up concentrations of Japanese attempting to hold along the Burma road to Lashio.

Chuck Groundhog Refuses To Give Out Advance Dope

"I ain't saying whether I'll come out or stay in," said Filbert (Chuck) Groundhog, dirt farmer, in answer to a reporter's request for his plans for today.

It was a little crowded in Groundhog's burrow and the reporter kept sneezing as his subject's bushy tail brushed back and forth across his nostrils. "You're catching cold," he would tell the newsman.

"In the first place, you can't tell what this West Texas weather is going to do," Groundhog said, laying aside a half-munched turnip. "Sometimes I think it's nobody's business what I do—I got my rights. And blamed if I don't think it's a little risky to come out this year, this housing shortage what it is."

It was on the eve of Groundhog day, when, according to rural tradition, if a Groundhog sees his shadow he retreats to his hole for six weeks, held to be a sign of a late spring; failure to see his shadow being a harbinger of an early spring.

"I guess us Groundhogs are saps," he mused, "giving away free gratis all this weather information. It's just that we sorta feel obligated to carry out tradition. But cabbage feathers! Even that ain't much anymore. Look what Roosevelt did to it!"

Groundhog is something of a two-tone job. His legs and the lower part of his body are what might be called a chestnut-red, while he is black and a little grizzled on the deck. His head is broad and flat and he is squatty. With a little imagination you can detect a slight resemblance to Mayor LaGuardia.

"We ain't bad architects, you notice," he said proudly. "See, we dig our burrows slanting upward, mostly on the side of hills. This keeps us from waking up some month with a gizzard full of water."

He went on, "Some people's got it in for us because we like vegetables and other crops. But a guy has got to eat, ain't he? We can't bank on some ex-vice president bringing us a quart of milk."

Texans Joyous As Sons Are Freed

(By The Associated Press)

Texas received with joyous tears today the news that many of her heroic sons had been snatched from a Japanese prison camp on Luzon.

It brought to an end nearly three years of great anxiety for members of their families, some of whom had had no definite word of the fate which befell the Texans after the fall of Corregidor.

Mrs. C. H. Chamberlain of Marlin expressed the general feeling:

"After three years of suspense I'm floating on a cloud. I guess I'm the happiest person in the world."

Her son, Lt. Clifton H. Chamberlain, jr., was among those rescued.

Other Texans to be freed were:

Texan Is Commander Of Hard-Hit "K" Company; Made Great Record

By LEWIS HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE 80TH INFANTRY DIVISION, Luxembourg, Jan. 31 (Delayed)—"K" company of the 317th regiment was a loosely knit, odd lot of rookies, clerks, cooks, drivers and gunners—learning a rifleman's job and wondering what combat was all about.

Today "K" company is a band of proven fighting men with a healthy cockiness reflected in a newfound motto: "'K' company leads the way."

Took Two Towns Alone

This metamorphis occurred during 48 blazing hours last week when "K" company took two towns alone, helped take another and captured and killed more than its own normal combat quota of 155 fighting men.

"K" company could count only 12 combat-able men December 27 when its commander was hit. The long Lorraine campaign and the fierce fighting for the Luxembourg village of Kehmen had accounted for the rest.

First Lieut. Karl E. Wallace, husky 22-year-old of Coleman, Tex., normally a mortar platoon leader in another company, was placed in command of the hard-hit company.

"Within a few days after I took over reinforcements came in fast and we soon were up to numerical strength," said Wallace, a Texas A. and M. graduate. "But it was a mixed bunch—transferred from anti-aircraft outfits, clerks, cooks and drivers—far removed from a rifleman's life.

"My dozen holdoyers included only one noncom, my first sergeant, Frank Dobozy (Youngstown and Struthers, O.)

Got In Intensive Training

"Fortunately we then were in a quiet sector so Dobozy and I and the few other veterans were able to get in some intensive training in the use of Garands, Browning automatic rifles, bazookas and rifle grenades. This training was interrupted by a great deal of marching and shifting about so when the time came for our first big job I couldn't be sure how well the men had learned and I knew they had no real idea what an attack meant.

"When we got orders to attack across the Blerf river into Wilwerwiltz the night of December 26 we really were whipped down. But the outfit clambered across a broken bridge and waded the stream to get into the town and quickly mopped up a handful of snipers, some of whom had been located by a patrol which went in earlier under my untried platoon leader, Lieut. Charles W. Garbutt of Charleroi, Pa.

No Rest That Night

"There was no rest that night and next morning we had to attack up a steep hill to take the town of Pintsch, about a mile away and held by 300 Germans with three tanks. We closed in at 10 a. m., running and firing, and thanks largely to an encircling move made by Garbutt's platoon which struck in from the right rear we forced the Germans out and cleared Pintsch by about five p. m. after house to house fighting.

"Once during the battle for Pintsch we nearly ran out of ammunition but two company drivers drove a jeep load through enemy fire to Wilwerwiltz and saved us.

"In this scrap we took 66 prisoners and I think we must have killed over 100. The next day we went on another two miles with the rest of the battalion to take Bucholz. Our losses were only a very small fraction of those we inflicted.

"Because those untried men had learned their lessons well and had plenty of guts I couldn't single out one for individual praise."

Kindling Wood May Be Secured At SPAAF

Need any kindling wood?

Lt. R. D. Brown, salvage officer at South Plains Army Air field, reported Thursday afternoon that 30 loads of scrap kindling are available to the public on a first-come, first served basis.

Anyone interested is invited to come out with a truck and the wood is theirs for the asking and upon payment of $1.50 a load.

Officials are also anxious to get rid of several loads of scrap lumber in preparation for inactivation of the field in the near future. Lumbermen or anyone interested are asked to submit bids by 2 p. m. today.

HOME OFFICIALS RESIGN

CORSICANA, Feb. 1. (AP)—R. T. Bedell, superintendent, and Mrs. Bedell, matron, of the IOOF Home here, submitted their resignations today to the home board, effective as soon as the vacancies can be filled.

Extension Class To Hold First Session

Initial meeting of the extension class, Every Teacher's Problem" of Education 338, which offers three semester hours credit and may be applied toward a teaching certificate, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in room 211 of the journalism building at Texas Tech, J. H. Millikin, extension director, announced.

General problems of teachers and individual teaching problems will be studied, Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, who will instruct the class, said. The three hour credit will be given for graduate or undergraduate status and will apply as either administration or methods for a teaching certificate, either elementary or secondary level.

Enrollment fee for the course is $15, Millikin said.

Oliver St. John Goarty, Irish poet, novelist and essayist, is also a surgeon and noted throat specialist in active practice.

Former Tech Men Hold Paris Reunion

Paris was the site of a recent reunion between two former Texas Tech professors, Capt. T. C. Root and Sgt. Haskell G. Taylor, who have served in France four months.

Capt. Root, stationed at Luxembourg, was formerly head of the department of accounting and finance and is now serving with the Army Air corps intelligence department. Sgt. Taylor, former professor of accounting, is with the division of finance disbursement in Paris.

Sgt. Taylor and Capt. Root were instructors at Tech six years, before they entered the service two years ago.

Baby With Two Teeth Born Here Wednesday

Granting all babies are unusual, this one nevertheless is something unusually unusual.

T/5 and Mrs. Harold Caffey of route 2, Post, became the parents Wednesday of a son who is already two jumps ahead of his nursery comrades. He was born with two lower teeth and weighed 9 pounds and 8 ounces at birth!

The child was born at St. Mary's hospital. The father is overseas.

Postoffice Offers New Postal Notes

A supplement to the older money order service—postal notes—was initiated Thursday at the postoffice, said Amos Howard, postmaster.

The notes, which simplify the sending of money through the mail, are in the form of cards and range from $1 to $10. Postal note stamps in denominations of one to nine cents and 10 to 90 cents are affixed to the notes when odd cents are desired. These stamps are cancelled when placed on notes.

An example: John Doe wishes to send $8.86 to Richard Roe. He goes to the regular money order window at the postoffice and asks for a postal note, telling the clerk the amount he wishes to send. The clerk takes an $8 note from his stock, writes in 86 cents in the space provided. Then he affixes to the note an 80 cent stamp and a six cent stamp which he cancels. He then hands the note to Doe, who in turn pays the clerk $8.91, the amount he wishes to send plus five cents for the note.

Doe then takes the note and writes the name and address of Richard Roe on the face of the note in the space provided therefor, and writes his own name and address on the back. He then tears off the stub, or receipt, and places the note in an envelope and mails it.

Howard said the public should be warned that when purchasing postal notes, the buyers should be sure to tear off the receipt stubs and keep them as they are the only means of checking on lost notes. He also warned against erasures on the notes. In writing names and addresses on notes, care should be taken having the names and addresses correct, as the notes are invalid if erasures exist.

Simpson's Forces Have Taken 61,708 Nazis

U. S. 9TH ARMY, Germany, Feb. 1. (AP)—Lt. William H. (Texas Bill) Simpson's U. S. Ninth Army has captured 61,708 prisoners, 1,376 since the German offensive opened Dec. 16, his headquarters announced today.

This brought to 868,982 the number of prisoners reported taken since D-day and to 64,886 the number captured since Dec. 16.

Soldier In France Given Tech Degree

A B.S. degree in agriculture was awarded by Texas Tech last week to Wayne Mears, which is more unusual than it sounds.

Mears, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mears of Fluvanna, is a sergeant who is in France. In 1934 he was a student in Tech, and the depression rolled around. He didn't attend school regularly. Then came war.

However, he didn't permit a global war and his participation in combat action to interfere with his graduation plans.

During the 19 months he was participating in the African, Italian and French campaigns, he completed three correspondence courses which fulfilled requirements for a degree. The 28-year-old veteran, in charge of all propeller work in his squadron with the 12th AAF Service command, was recently commended for developing a special block that will handle all types of repair work on the giant four bladed propeller.

Sgt. Mears was listed among the first USAAF groundmen to land on the beaches of southern France. His squadron also won the honor of occupying and operating from the first Allied airdrome in the Rhone valley, shortly after the enemy had fled.

He enlisted in the AAF Oct. 28, 1942 and wrote Dean A. H. Leidigh, head of the department of agriculture at Tech, May, 1943 from Africa that he "wanted his degree so much he would take courses from there."

Home Ec News Letter From Tech Due Soon

Another issue of the Texas Home Economics "News Letter," published three times yearly at Texas Tech, will appear early this month, Editor Bernice Borgman, who is assistant professor child development and family relations, announced.

An official publication of the state home economics organization, the association News Letter carries state-wide home economics news and covers activities of colleges, high schools, extension services, home economics women in business, homemakers and dietitians.

Miss Borgman and assistant staff members are beginning their third year on the Tech publication. Miss Elizabeth Hawley, assistant professor of arts, is art editor and cover designed. Other assistants are Mrs. Ella Mae McCorkle, homemaker in Lubbock; and Mrs. Jessie Bateman, home economics teacher in junior high.

With each succeeding year that the war is prolonged, automobile production recovery would require additional time, due to accelerated obsolescence of present cars.

March Of Dimes Fund Here Totals $4,116

A total of $4,116.70 was netted by the March of Dimes campaign which ended Wednesday night, Clark W. Abbott, chairman of the drive here announced. The contributions were made by theater audiences through collections at the end of each complete show in all Lubbock theaters over a period of a week.

The March of Dimes is sponsored annually by the National Infantile Paralysis foundation to aid in research and treatment of the disease. Half of the money netted in the drives stays in the community and the other half goes to the National organization. The Lubbock County Crippled Children's council will keep half of the money donated here for use in its work.

The March of Dimes has been extended for another 15 days in parts of Texas, but no announcement has been made here as to whether Lubbock will continue the drive.

Tech Names Faculty Advisors February 20

Nominations for Texas Tech advisory committee successors for 1945-46 and report on committee activities during the fall semester of 1944-45 will be made at a general faculty meeting, 4 p. m. Feb. 20 in the Engineering building auditorium, Dr. W. M. Whyburn, president, announced.

No person on the faculty advisory committee who has served a full three-year term shall be eligible to succeed himself immediately, Dr. Whyburn said. This proposal wouldn't disqualify from election one filling an unexpired term of an elected member.

Names of three persons receiving the majority of nominational votes for each position to the faculty committee will be submitted by the election committee for a run-off election. Voting in this election will be by mail.

WHY OVAL SHAPE SOAP LASTS LONGER

Now's no time for waste-away soap! So pay particular attention to the shape of the soap you buy. That's the way to be thrifty. Notice that SweetHeart Soap is OVAL—rounded top and bottom. Unlike many soaps that lie flat, only a very small part of SweetHeart's big oval cake actually touches the wet soap dish. Air dries it off fast—helps avoid wasteful "jelly" in the wet soap-dish. Among eight leading brands, only long-lasting SweetHeart Soap is oval in shape.

IS A HALF-CARAT
DIAMOND
WORTH $150 OR $300?

BONDED L DIAMONDS
Lester's tell you the 4 factors which determine a diamond's value
Carat Weight is too often the only factor considered in selecting a diamond. But the diamond expert will tell you that real value depends upon these other qualities as well.
Cutting The style and accuracy of cutting govern the brilliance of a finished diamond. All Lester Bonded Diamonds are perfectly cut to give the utmost in brilliance.
Degree of Perfection There are many graduations of purity in diamonds. Lester's will tell you the actual grade of the diamond you select, and put it specifically in writing.
Color
The color of a diamond is an important factor in determining its value.
THE OMISSION OF A SINGLE FACTOR can leave you completely in the dark! At Lester's you can pick your Bonded Diamond with a definite knowledge of all four factors. Lester's will not only tell you . . . but will put it into a written guarantee! No matter what the size of the diamond you buy, what price you pay, you can be sure of its intrinsic worth. The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

WE DOUBT if there has been a time since D-day when so many Texans and New Mexicans were united in interest in the war as that roused over the story of the daring commando raid that freed 513 prisoners of war from the Japanese.

The war has advanced far since the fall of Bataan and Corregidor, but it is easy for many residents of this section to send their minds back over the months and years to the time they first learned their loved ones were imprisoned in the Philippines. No one can aptly describe the joy that must fill the hearts of the civilians who learn of the release of a husband, a son, a brother or a sweetheart. A number of Lubbockites hardly stirred away from their radios through Thursday they were so afraid they might miss the list of rescued prisoners. As this is being written, no Lubbock man's name has been listed.

Once again we hail MacArthur's troops who kept faith with the men of Bataan and Corregidor, "One day we shall return."

WASTED "WILS"

IT IS one of the little ironies of life that those who dislike nicknames are made to suffer the most for them.

We've known people who were given atrocious nicknames by schoolmates that were so objectionable they gave them complexes that extended into adult life. Others decided to make the most of their fate and resigned themselves to answering to "Mutt," "Pieface," "Shorty," "Long John," etc.

Don't you know people who have gone by a nickname so long their real names seem to be forgotten?

We heard of a man, William Williams, who determined that none of his children would be called by nicknames. To that end he gave them all first names that began with Wil, on the theory that in order to distinguish one from the other, people would have to use the full name. He had five sons and named them respectively, William, Willard, Wilbert, Wilfred and Wilmot.

Right enough, the neighborhood children could not distinguish all these Wils. For that reason, the five boys grew up with the names: Bill, Skinny, Butch, Chuck and Bozo.

Richardson Is New Mayor At Lamesa

LAMESA, Feb. 1. (Special) — Sam Richardson, who has lived here 21 years, has succeeded Charnell Jobe, resigned, as mayor of Lamesa.

Jobe, partner in a furniture business here, had been elected in April of 1942.

Richardson came to Lamesa in 1924, established a grocery store and later merged it with a variety store. Both businesses were sold this month.

Richardson's appointment came through Lamesa's city commissioners, John Allen, jr., and Nelson Cope. A member of the Rotary club, American Legion, Chamber of Commerce and Presbyterian church, he owns a residence at 604 North Fourth street, and he and Mrs. Richardson are parents of three daughters, Mrs. Charlie Meyers of Lamesa and Donnie Louise Richardson, who attends elementary school here, and Miss Doris Richardson, a senior arts and sciences student in Texas Tech.

TWENTIETH BOMBER COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, India, Jan. 19. (By mail) (AP)—The first Bronze Star medals awarded to members of the Twentieth Bomber command were presented to five officers at recent ceremonies.

Bronze Stars are awarded "for meritorious service not involving aerial flight."

"Exceptional ability" in supervising maintenance of aircraft brought the award to Maj. Samuel Gershon, Austin, Tex., a group engineering officer.

Maj. Inman L. Massey, another recipient, directed repair and return of a B-29 which landed on a small, muddy field only 20 miles from Jap lines. Massey lives in Flatonia, Tex.

Seventy-three members of the command received Air Medals "for outstanding and meritorious achievement" in flights over the Himalayan hump or on Superfortress missions. They included these Texans:

1st Lt. Royce K. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Jones, Higgins; 1st Lt. Saba J. Balacia, son of Mrs. Louise Kaleel, Austin;

Seminary Lands In Valley Area Are Sold

McALLEN, Feb. 1. (AP)—A deed showing sale of 1,830 acres of land, including 700 acres of citrus, northwest of Edinburg by the Southwestern Baptist tehological seminary at Fort Worth to three Rio Grande valley men for $630,000, was filed in the office of the Hidalgo county clerk today.

Purchasers are listed as Judge J. C. Looney of Edinburg, Henry Whittenburg McAllen fruit shipper and Lee Hamilton ond Edinburg.

The transaction includes a fruit crop valued at $150,000 and all equipment of the farms which were operated by the seminary. Hamilton succeeds Luther Adams as farms manager.

The U. S. Army Signal Corps makes use of as many as 60 types of power units for ground use alone.

George D. McLean, representative of the veterans' administration's Waco office, visited Texas Tech Thursday to confer with veterans attending school under the GI Bill of Rights, W. P. Clement, registrar, said.

Practice teaching work in the Lubbock Junior and Senior High schools was begun this week by student teachers of the department of vocational home economics. They are Ethel Burns, Dora Gaither, Lena Mae Austin, Carole Cleavinger, Dolores Snodgrass, Frankie Nixon, Margaret Leonard, Mrs. L. C. Reithmayer and Emma Jean Tonn.

An article entitled Clothes on Your Back Should be off Your Mind, prepared under the direction of Mrs. O. A. Kinchen, instructor in the department of clothing and textiles at Texas Tech, was published in a recent issue of Practical Home Economics magazine. A series of radio programs, sponsored by the Tech home economics division, broadcast over station KFYO, last spring were known by the title of this article.

Four former Texas Tech students were included in a list of American prisoners of war in German camps which was sent to Pres. Wm. M. Whyburn's office recently from the World Student Service Fund of New York City. These prisoners interned in Stalag Luft III are Col. J. S. Jenkins, 1st Lt. M. R. Pullen, 1st Lt. J. Bailey, and F/O J. R. Coleman.

Civilian Freight Embargo Set Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—A new four-day embargo on railroad shipments of civilian freight will go into effect in eight states at 12:01 a. m. Saturday.

The Office of Defense Transportation and the Interstate Commerce commission today directed the railroads to put the embargo into effect because of continued severe weather conditions.

There will be numerous exceptions to allow movement of coal, and civilian traffic considered essential for such government agencies as the Army and Navy.

Territory Involved

The embargo will apply to the states of Ohio (except lines of the Wabash railroad and the territory included within the switching limits of Cincinnati), and to Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, the portion of West Virginia and Virginia north of the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad extending from Huntington, W. Va., to Potomac Yard, Va., which is near Washington, D. C., and to the District of Columbia.

Texas Women Urged To Enlist In WAC

AUSTIN, Feb. 1. (AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson has called on qualified Texas women to apply for service as WAC medical technicians to care for wounded soldiers returning from the battle fronts.

Stevenson yesterday proclaimed Feb. 1 to April 30 as a period for special emphasis on recruiting in Texas, and urged the state health department, medical association, state war council and county, area and local war councils to cooperate in the campaign.

Club Hears Views On Compulsory Training

Proposed compulsory military training was discussed at the Kiwanis club weekly luncheon Thursday in Lubbock hotel by James O. Cade, Lubbock attorney.

"We can not maintain a permanent peace following this war other than by force of right thinking nations," he said. "We must train our men first in the principles of democracy and back of that we must have force. We must not destroy our arms as we did after the last war. If we had built up our defense machine as we should during the last 25 years there would not have been a Pearl Harbor."

Cade was introduced by Roy Faubion, program chairman.

Also discussed at the luncheon was the proposed purchase of the Central Ward school property for a civic center. W. G. McMillan led the discussion, in which several members of the club took part.

Announcement was made by President W. C. Wood, who presided, that a meeting of all Kiwanis committees would be held in the small dining room on the first floor of Lubbock hotel at noon today.

Zippy Sauces Flavor Fish

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

TROUBLE in the ration point department again makes it necessary for the housewife to plan additional meat substitutes.

Though we have available to us a considerable variety of fish and the past season brought a record catch, most Americans aren't enthusiastic about eating fish. Undoubtedly due partly to the fact that we've always had such a great variety of meat and liked it, we didn't need to bother with fish.

Our general national lack of enthusiasm for fish may also, just possibly, be traced to the fact that we who cook it don't make the most of it. Then it's high time we learned some tasty ways to prepare it, don't you think?

Let's remember first a few basic rules of cooking and of flavor. Never overcook fish. If you overboil it, it falls apart. If you overbroil or bake it, it dries up. if you over-fry fish it gets a hard, unpleasant crust on it. No fish requires long cooking time. If you will follow the directions given you in any good recipe and take the fish off the fire or out of the oven as directed, the family attitude on this food may change considerably.

Next, let's remember that many fish are quite bland in flavor. And take well to sauces. Though we still have much to learn about the delights of beautiful sauce concoction in this country, we have ample cause to experiment now. Making good, zippy sauces for fish is an inspiration and an education. The few suggestions offered here you'll find can be fun.

Some fish, however, which possess distinctive flavor of their own should be enhanced only by the sharpening influence of lemon juice, salt and pepper and melted butter or margarine. In example I give you swordfish, shad, trout, mackerel and fresh salmon. You will perhaps wonder "What! Not cod?" Well, to my mind cod is a fish that needs embellishment, if there ever was one.

Fish, cooked and flaked, makes beautiful souffles or a good substantial loaf, like the one below.

Baked Fish Loaf

3 cups corn flakes, finely crushed	1 tablespoon chopped chives or minced onion
1½ cups milk	1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cups cooked fish, flaked and chopped	¼ teaspoon thyme
1-3 cup sour cream	1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chopped parsley	Dash of pepper
	2 eggs, well beaten

Combine corn flakes and milk. Let stand ten minutes. Add remaining ingredients, except eggs, and beat thoroughly. Fold in beaten eggs. Turn into well-greased one-quart loaf pan and bake in 375 degree oven one hour. Serve with white sauce flavored with a small amount of mustard.

Try using green peppers as a dish by themselves. Slice them, season with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and saute until tender.

Your Entertaining May Be Different

Associated Press Newsfeatures

You have entertained at lunch, dinner and tea, but have you ever thought of having a small group of friends in for Sunday morning breakfast?

Experts at the College of Home Economics at Cornell University suggest that you set an hour that allows time for all the guests to arrive conveniently. The finishing touches can be put on after the group arrives. Make it a casual occasion for which guests may dress as they please and where they may have the fun of helping to prepare the meal.

Another party idea is to have an old-fashioned "box social" to which each lady brings a box packed with a tasty supper for two. Then auction off the boxes, and the guest who packed the lunch dines with the gentleman who purchased it. This is an excellent "ice breaker" for a group. The money earned can be given to the Red Cross.

Another perennial favorite is a popcorn party, particularly if you have a fireplace and can pop the corn over the coals. Have a big dishpan ready to receive the popped corn, with individual bowls or milk to drink and a bowful of shining red apples and nuts for munching. Informal dancing with phonograph music, or a song-fest makes a friendly gathering a welcome affair indeed. Informality is the keynote of the times when everyone needs inexpensive relaxation and recreation to keep in good mental and physical health.

Gala ice cream cake for Valentine's party.

Giving A Valentine Party? Here's Idea For Dessert

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

BEAUTIFUL to look at and sweet as a young girl's heart—that describes this special Valentine's Day ice cream dessert.

The sponge cake requires no butter, you can buy the ice cream, and the rich and wonderful sauce justifies itself at first taste.

Sponge Cake-Ice Cream Dessert

One cup sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon combination baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 6 tablespoons hot milk, strawberry ice cream.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Beat eggs with rotary egg beater, until thick enough to stand up in soft peaks (5-7 minutes). Add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add lemon juice. Fold in flour, a small amount at a time. Add hot milk and stir quickly until thoroughly blended. Bake in two 8x8x2-inch pans which have been greased very lightly on bottoms only, in moderate oven (350° F.) 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from oven and invert pans 1 hour, or until cold. Remove from pan and cut in squares or oblong pieces. Put slice of strawberry ice cream between layers and top with chocolate sauce.

Chocolate Sauce
(Makes about 1 cup)

Two squares unsweetened chocolate, 6 tablespoons water, ½ cup sugar, dash of salt, 3 tablespoons butter, ¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Add chocolate to water and place over low flame, stirring until blended. Add sugar and salt and cook until sugar is dissolved and mixture very slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add butter and vanilla.

Idaho Potato Beehives

Four cups mashed potato mixture which is fairly dry, 1 egg, 1 sweet Spanish onion.

Add egg to mashed potato mixture and shape into mounds beehive fashion, and place on greased baking sheet. Slice the onion and separate the rings. Parboil them until they are soft. Place 6 or 8 rings over each potato mound, choosing slices to fit from a larger ring at the bottom to a correspondingly smaller one for the space toward the top. Brush with melted butter and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 15 minutes, or until onions are lightly browned.

BARBECUE SAUCE

An oven barbecue sauce that is too good to keep to herself is submitted by Mrs. Aetna Christie, 1609-A Ave. Q. The ingredients are: Two or three bottles of Coca-Cola, one-fourth cup Worcestershire sauce, four tablespoons smoke sauce, one-fourth cup A-1 sauce, one-half cup vinegar.

Mix ingredients, pour over meat chosen to barbecue, shoulder, ham or spare ribs, bake two or three hours.

Honey Orange Muffins

½ cup sifted flour	1 egg, well beaten
½ teaspoon salt	¼ cup orange juice
2 teaspoons baking powder	1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ cup whole wheat flour	⅛ cup honey
	3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together. Add whole wheat flour and mix thoroughly. Combine egg, orange juice and rind, honey, and shortening. Add all at once to flour, stirring only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in well-greased muffin pans in moderately hot oven (400° F.) 15 to 20 minutes, or until browned.

Florida Orange Eggnog
(Serves 4-6)

Two and one-half cups chilled fresh orange juice, 3 teaspoons sugar, 2 coups evaporated milk, 1 1/3 cups water, 4 eggs yolks, 4 egg whites, dash nutmeg.

Combine orange juice, sugar, evaporated milk and water; chill. Beat egg yolks, add with nutmeg. Beat egg whites; fold in.

Molasses-Chocolate Bread Pudding

¼ cup sugar	2 cups milk
2 tablespoons cocoa	1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt	1 cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup old fashioned molasses	½ cup raisins (optional)
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg yolks

Mix sugar, cocoa and salt together. Add molasse and egg yolks. Add butter to milk and heat. Add to mixture. Add bread crumbs and vanilla. Bake in 325° F. oven for 30 minutes.

Variation: For Molasses-Spice Pudding, omit cocoa and add 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon allspice and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg.

Corn Bread

¾ cup cornmeal	1 cup milk
1 cup flour	¼ cup honey
3 teaspoons baking powder	1 egg
½ teaspoon salt	2 tablespoons melted shortening

Mix dry ingredients. Add milk, honey, and beaten egg. Add melted shortening last. Bake 25 minutes in a buttered shallow pan in hot oven (400° F.). Serve with honey.

Date And Nut Tapioca

½ cup tapioca	1 cup dates, chopped
2 cups water	½ cup walnut meats, chopped
1 cup maple syrup

Soak tapioca in water overnight. Combine tapioca with maple syrup and cook in double boiler until clear. Add dates and cook for ten minutes more. Remove from stove and stir in walnut meats. Cool and serve with cream.

Cheese, like eggs, has a rich amount of protein which will become tough and stringy if it receives fast cooking.

Kneading the dough for a half minute after mixing will improve the texture of baking powder biscuits.

Slice root vegetables such as carrots and parsnips lengthwise to retain the maximum nutritive value.

SOLDIER IS SHOT

EL CAMPO, Feb. 1. (AP) — George W. Kelly, Camp Swift mess sergeant, was in an El Campo hospital today following a scuffle at a dance last night during which he was shot through the side by Dick Shaver, local chief of police.

County authorities at Wharton reported that Shaver shot the soldier after he had started a fight with civilians at the dance. His condition was not regarded as serious.

U. S. Reaffirms Crimes Policy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP) — The United States today reaffirmed its intention to see that German leaders and their associates are punished for atrocities committed against Jews inside Germany as well as for regular war crimes.

The statement of policy was made by acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew, who also spoke out at a news conference in favor of the creation of a "representative" government of Yugoslavia. This, he said, would be in accord with President Roosevelt's expressed desire for European settlements along the line of the Atlantic Charter.

Grew's declaration on war criminals stemmed from the controversy over dismissal of Herbert C. Pell as American member of a United Nations War Crimes commission. The controversy had raised questions as to whether and to what extent the United States government was determined to seek punishment of those Germans who committeed atrocities against their own Jewish people and other minority groups.

Convict Faces Trial For December Murder

TEXARKANA, Feb. 1 (U.P.)—Roy Gandy, an escaped convict, today faced trial in connection with the murder of W. L. Curtner, Texarkana used car salesman, who was shot, robbed and tossed from a demonstration automobile last December.

Gandy, who escaped from the Texas penitentiary in 1942, was indicted yesterday by a Bowie county grand jury.

Curtner's murderer lured the salesman to taking him for a ride, shot him through the head, robbed him of $1,300 and tossed the body from the car.

Goebbels Rushes Preparations For Battle Of Berlin

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Berlin's gauleiter-dictator, Paul Joseph Goebbels, was reported tonight feverishly rushing preparations for a defense of the capital "which will not leave one stone atop another when the Russians enter."

The Germans said the Red Army was less than 60 miles from Berlin and reported a big-scale Allied offensive in the west was approaching.

The Moscow radio declared there was "ferment of rioting" in Berlin and elsewhere in the Reich.

Stockholm reports said Goebbels had transformed Berlin for the death battle. All public buildings and institutions—even the zoo observatory—were said to have been converted into defense points. As Gauleiter, Goebbels had full charge of the capital's defenses. Under him the city's garrison of Volkssturmers and slave labor were digging and building strongpoints.

"Factories will be blown up and the whole capita scorched," the Nazi propaganda minister was quoted.

PROTEST IS LODGED

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 1. (AP)—The German ambassador to the Holy See was reported today to have lodged a formal protest with the state secretariat on the alleged ejection by Swiss guards of two escaped German prisoners of war who sought refuge in Vatican City.

Wacker Buys Boyd Property

Purchase of another building sit in Lubbock by the G. F. Wacker stores interests was announced here Thursday with the filing of a warranty deed transferring for $30,000 in cash properties at 711-13 Broadway.

The deed listed new owners as Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Wacker, Mr. and Mrs. Straus Baker and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Leaville, said John Spikes of the real estate firm of Spikes-Sellers.

To Build Two Stores

Wacker, who reputedly owned 39 variety stores before he recently bought the Wheelock corner, at Broadway and Ave. L, for $100,000, announced through representatives he would construct at least two stores here when building materials were made available.

The 711-13 location is occupied by Boyd Bros. Market and grocery. J. W. Boyd and Miller R. Boyd, the brothers, bought the property and the store has been there 24 years.

60-Day Proviso Included

Evidence of plans to build a new structure on the property is found in a 60-day notice proviso in the lease contract signed with the new owners by the Boyds, who plan finding another building when the Wackers terminate the lease.

A modern one or two-story building will be constructed on the 50 by 115 foot location, it was announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Wacker live at Pauls Valley, Okla., where the main offices for their store system are located.

Final LAAF Cadet Class Is Graduated Thursday Morning

"You are the best trained pilots in the world," Lt. Col. William J. Moser, LAAF deputy commander, told the graduates of Class 44-K Thursday morning, as the last pilot training class at Lubbock Army Air field received its wings. Col. Moser was principal speaker in the absence of Brig. Gen. Earl H. DeFord, commanding general of the 33rd Flying Training Wing, scheduled to speak at graduation exercises but prevented because of bad weather.

Congratulating them on their achievements, Col. Moser, introduced by Col. Howell M. Estes, jr., LAAF commanding officer, emphasized four cardinal rules for the graduates to remember: (1) the maintenance of discipline and courtesy: (2) continued initiative; (3) the willing acceptance of assignments, whether as combat pilots or as instructors; (4) the ability to listen to the experiences of others and the continuation of aerial training.

As members of Class 44-K received their wings and diplomas LAAF was getting into full-swing as an instrument instructors' school. The latest and last group of pilots received their diplomas from Maj. Donald M. Thompson, commandant of cadets, and Capt. Roland F. Orr, assistant to post adjutant. Capt. John T. Muir and Capt. Harry W. Beck, commanding officers of the first and third training squadrons, respectively, presented the wings.

Friends and relatives of the newly-commissioned pilots filled the Post Theater for the ceremonies and the pinning of wings on his son, Lt. Francis A. Rougeou, by William A. Rougeou, of Boyce, La., was symbolic of the feeling of many members of the audience.

Honor students who received wings and diplomas individually were Lloyd E. Schmacher, Ottertal, Minn., highest ground school academic record; Alden D. Ike, Lincoln, Neb., foremost athelete; Jesse E. Evans, St. Louis, Mo., highest military record; and Arthur P. Grochowski, N. Riverside, Ill., highest flying record. All of them were commissioned second lieutenants.

Newell Johnston Buys Douglas, Ariz., Paper

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Feb. 1. (AP)—Sale of the Douglas Daily Dispatch, pioneer Arizona newspaper, to J. Newell Johnston of Sherman, Tex., has been announced by James Logie, Dispatch publisher more than 35 years.

Johnston came here after disposing of interests in the Sherman Democrat, of which he was former editor, and a Sherman radio station.

Baruch Says Production Of War Goods Must Be Continued To End

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (U.P.)—Bernard M. Baruch warned today that despite the new wave of good war news from all fronts, production of war goods must be continued "to the uttermost necessary" until the unconditional surrender of both Germany and Japan.

"It would be treasonable to our fighting men" to think of anything else, he told the United Press.

Warns Against Optimism

Baruch is a long time White House adviser on production, a role similar to that which he occupied during World War I, and is the "father" of administration plans for limited reconversion when military needs permit. But he warned in his statement to the United Press against permitting temporary optimism to influence premature effectuating of those plans.

He pointed out that provisions already have been made for protection of war workers and industries against a sudden end of the war, so that "there need be no grounds for fear of peace jitters." Indirectly addressing war workers considering a return to civilian industry jobs because they fear postwar unemployment, he added:

Must Use Sense

"If we use half our sense in making peace terms, there will be for many years more work than there will be minds and hands with which ot do it."

Baruch's statement was in response to this question: "Do Allied military successes call for a readjustment now of wartime business controls to allow gradual reconversion to civilian production?"

His answer, in full, was:

"Your query prompts me to ask one: 'Can't we in this country ever learn anything?' We have just got over a setback that was ascribed in part to a resumption of civilian production. We have corrected that mistake but now it is popping up again.

Would Be Treasonable

"It would be treasonable to our fighting men to think of anything but war production to the uttermost necessary until unconditional surrender of Germany and Japan. There need be no grounds for fear of peace jitters as we have made provisions against war stoppage.

"They are: First, unemployment insurance which must be augmented; second, the GI bill of rights which should be enlarged and activated; third, prompt payment of contract terminations, large and small; fourth, removal of governmental owned material and transfer of government owned plants to surplus administration, freeing workers and factories for peace work.

Employment Is Vital

"We must arrange further access to credit for small business. There must be a program for gradual tax reduction accompanied by debt reduction, as well as intensification of the public works program. Above all, every emphasis should be placed upon the widest employment of workers.

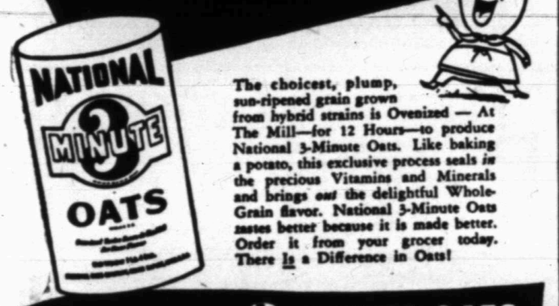

"If we use half our sense in making peace terms, there will be for many years more work than there will be minds and hands with which to do it."

Baruch's statement came at a time when military and production leaders have been hammering for weeks at the urgent need for increased output of war materials.

There is no railway in Iceland, although it has a normal population of 120,000.

Fast Fights Mark Gloves Tourney

With lots of leather filling the air, the Avalanche-Journal district Golden Gloves boxing tournament opened its first three night show last night at the Texas Tech gym with 17 fights on the opening card.

The show will continue tonight at 8 o'clock with about twelve fights on the second night show, with the novice class finals to be decided in tonight's fights.

Most of the fights on the opening card went pretty well according to pattern, with favorites gaining the nod. But one major upset was staged in the 126 pound class when a newcomer breezed through the ring with a potent TNT laden right, and landed a kayo on the chin of H. C. McMillan of Tahoka.

Haynes Scores Kayo

McMillan, who was one of the sensations of the tournament last year, was favored to go a long way in the fights this year, but the lights went out early as Grady Haynes journeyed all the way from Seymour to fight for 40 seconds in setting himself up as a favorite in this class.

Both boys came out swinging, and Haynes landed first, second and last and Referee Bo Sexton counted up to the fateful ten over the "blacked out" McMillan.

Others Look Impressive

Two more lads who looked very impressive in their first round victories were Kenneth Glasgow of Petersburgh and Hardy L. Sorkin of Lubbock Army Air field. Both lads won their opening bouts in short order, and both by the technical knockout route that left them but little to show.

Glasgow came out swinging with Lobin Henderson of Littlefield, and with a show of plenty of punching power, he battered down the game youngster from Lamb county, and Sexton stopped the battle with Henderson weaving on his feet. The end came in one minute and 30 seconds of the first round.

It took Sorkin seven more seconds to clip Proctor Burnett of Texas Tech with a blow that spun Burnett around and left him standing, but unable to defend himself farther.

Before the fans could settle in their seats, Jackie Driver of Tahoka won his 112 pound class opener with a techincal knockout over Bill Bybee of Lockney in the shortest fight of the night. The decision came after only 38 seconds of the first round had passed.

Balch Is Winner

Lonnie Balch, popular Lubbock High school youngster, gave the fans an impressive show in the second bout on the card, winning a decision over John Morgan of Lubbock Army Air field.

Morgan made a showing at the start of the fight, but Balch showed a much cleverer style of fighting, and in the third round, Balch was landing hard and often. Balch was an easy winner, scoring three knockdowns in the third round, and landed another that sent Morgan to the mat as the bell sounded.

James Cline, plucky Lubbock youngster, staged a great battle until the second round, but fell victim to the veteran William McCarty of Littlefield when McCarty began to weave under Cline's long reach and land hard and often to the head.

Referee Bo Sexton stopped the fight after one minute and 22 seconds of the second round, and awarded the battle to McCarty by a technical knockout. It was a great fight, and showed that McCarty had lost none of the punch and cunning that won him the Golden Gloves title in 1943.

Good Novice Fights

A pair of novice battles gave the fans plenty of action with Landon Grissom of Littlefield getting the nod over Loyd Reecer of Lockney in one of the 126 pound class battles. Gordon DePriest of Petersburg outslugged Dwayne Fleming of Tahoka in another novice class 126 pound battle; and won by a technical kayo in one minute and 56 seconds of the second round. Both were good battles, and the boxers mixed it freely.

Another novice battle that drew plenty of cheers from the crowd found Joe Lilly of Lubbock Army Air field getting the nod of the judges over his buddy of the same field, Gill Pellerin, in a fast three round battle.

Other novice battles on the card found R. R. Harrington of LAAF winning a close decision over Joe Wilson of Lockney in the 135 pound class. Both boys mixed it freely, and it was a pleaser to the crowd.

In the novice 175 pound class, David Williams of Lockney turned in one of the knockouts of the night, flooring Jack Shirley of Littlefield for the full count in one minute and 57 seconds of the second round.

Vouch Gets Nod

David Vouch of Petersburg got the nod over A. A. Sedgwick of Littlefield in a championship battle in the 175 pound class. Lots of leather was slung in this battle, and both fighters were rocked often with right and lefts to the head.

Dwayne Vaughan, hard punching Tahoka lad, showed plenty of class with his footwork, and a ready punch, and gained a decision over D. C. Brannon of Post. There seemed little doubt as to the winner of the battle, but the game Brannon weathered the storm all the way and took everything Vaughan could offer, and kept punching.

Albert Haag of Lubbock Army Air field made good use of his long reach to punch his way to a win over Leroy Kelly, Petersburg southpaw, in the 160 pound class. Haag was an easy winner, but Kelly made a game fight of it, and kept bounding in to land hard punches and never stopped trying.

Gerald Bullock of the Lubbock Boys club won a decision over Kenneth Haynes of Tahoka in the following 135 pound class, but both boys were over cautious and mixed it very little.

Sims Looks Good

Moving up to the 147 pound class, Vern Sims of Lubbock Army Air field punched his way to a win over Bill Grider of Tahoka in one of the best fights of the night. As if wanting to make up for the slow battle that preceded them, both boys mixed it hard and fast all the way, and threw plenty of leather. Both took plenty of punishment and drew a big hand from the crowd.

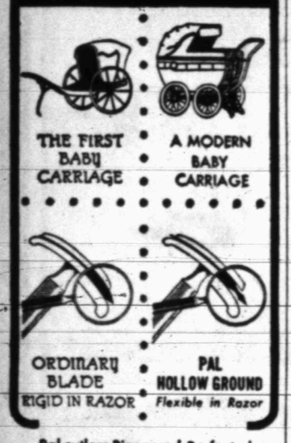

The final fight on the card provided another free mixing battle in which Leslie McNeely of Tahoka won a decision over Raymond Terry of Littlefield in the 160 pound class.

Both boys mixed it well in this battle ,and dealt out plenty of punishment, with McNeely getting a clear cut decision from the judges.

Another bout listed on the opening card went to Darrell Carpenter of Texas Tech on a default from Hollis Black of Petersburg. No reason was given for the default.

The open championship bracket will be pared to the finals tonight, and the novice divisions will be completed as the show, the annual mid-winter sports feature on the South Plains, swings into the second big night of leather pushing.

Torrid Games Mark Opening Tussles In Cage Tourneys

(Special To The Avalanche)

SUNDOWN, Feb. 1—Six teams chalked up impressive victories here tonight as the annual Sundown High School Invitation basketball tournament got underway. The heavy firing continues through Friday and will be climaxed Saturday with semi-finals and finals to name the respective champions, in the girls and boys divisions.

In the opening games of the tournament in which eight girls and eight boys teams are entered, the host team, Sundown's girls managed to take a decsive 26 to 15 triumph over the Smyer's girls club. Camille Fite with 14 points won high point honors for the afternoon with Smith taking honors for the losers with six. Arlene Jackson was outstanding on defense for the winners.

Ropes Wins Thriller

The three opening games featured girls teams and were played in the afternoon. In the second contest Anton's girls came through with a top heavy 27 to 13 win over Bula with Billings topping the scoring with 12 points for the winners and Nickels coming through with seven for the losers. Anton was substituting for Littlefield in the meet.

An old fashioned scoring duel between the respective forwards featured the final afternoon girls game of the day today with Ropes finally managing to edge out Frenship, 22 to 18. McAter and Jamison for Ropes and Clark and Williamson of Frenship tied for high point honors with nine points each for the tussle.

Night Tussles Close

Two torrid contests marked the night program tonight with Whiteface starting the fireworks to edge out the Sundown's boys team, 19 to 17. Lloyd DePauw was high point man for the winners with six while James Matlock was cramming in eight points for the losers. A desperate goal that would have tied the game for Sundown came a second after the whistle.

Anton's Boys chalked up the most decisive triumph of the night in the next game by rolling over Bula, 31 to 19. Anton's 6-foot-inch star, Wood, came through with 16 points for the night and high point honors of the entire tournament thus far, while Bula's James also was turning in an impressive performance with 11 points.

The last game on the night's card found Smyer and Frenship battling it out in a heated contest. Smyer came through in the last 10 seconds to edge out a thrilling 19 to 18 decision with Lamarr with eight points and Kinslow with six showing the way. Frenship also came up with a final shot that would have won the game had it hit the net a second sooner.

Slaton Wins Two Over Southland Cage Teams

SLATON, Feb. 1 (Special) — Slaton teams won two and lost one game here tonight in contests with Southland.

The Southland Juniors defeated the Slaton Juniors, 27 to 9, in the opener with Barkley and Gililland leading the winners with 10 and 9 points each. The Slaton girls swamped the Southland girls, 33 to 22. And in a boys tussle, the Slaton B cagers stopped the Southland A team, 21 to 18. Earl D. Roberts with 9 and Joe Gayle Fleming with 8 were high point honor men for Slaton and Southland in that order.

(Special To The Avalanche)

ABERNATHY, Feb. 1. — Four games were chalked up here today as the opening rounds of the Abernathy schoolboy cage tournament got under way.

In the opening contest the Spade Longhorns won over the Cotton Center Elks girls, 19 to 12. Padden with nine points was tops for the winners and Wright with six was the standout for the losers.

Abernathy A Team Wins

In a boys game in the second tussle, Cotton Center's team made up for the original loss in the opening contest by walloping the Spade boys, 31 to 24. Burnett for Cotton Center with 10 points and West for Spade with 13 points topped scoring in the tussle.

Two lopsided scores marked the final two games of the opening day of play with New Deal's A club rolling over Abernathy's B team, 31 to 8. Holt with 13 points paced the winners with Riley with three points coming through for the losers. In another lopsided game, Abernathy's A team swamped Whitharral, 36 to 6. Harvey Lutwick of Abernathy was tops with 13 points, Wade of Whitharral leading the losers with five.

Friday, four more teams take the floor with Plainview and Shallowater, two favorites, and Friona and Olton on the schedule.

LAAF Five Entertains Hobbs AAF Tonight

Lubbock Army Air field makes its first February appearance tonight in an encounter with Hobbs Army Air field in the LAAF gymnasium.

The club is in top shape for the contest—that is, the players it has left—but doesn't know just what to expect from the New Mexico soldiers. Lt. Maurice John, player-coach, has not returned from San Antonio, where he is attending a physical training school.

In the Fliers' last outing, against Dalhart, Lt. Gerald McCarty furnished the offensive steam, assisted by Sgt. Bruce Prior, the blond scoring star of the team. Prior's leg was slightly injured before that game, but is in shape again.

Westerners Hosts To Cubs Tonight

Lubbock High Cagers Open Defense Of District 1-AA Hardwood Crown

Lubbock High School's Westerner cagers fire the opening baskets in defense of their District 1-AA hardwood championishp tonight when they entertain a powerful Brownfield High School squad in the initial battle of the southern half playoff.

The tussle is set for the Lubbock Senior High School gym and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected to be on hand. The menu calls for a double bill with the two opponents' B teams tangling in the curtain raiser at 7:30 o'clock and the main dish being served up immediately thereafter.

Cubs Show Improvement

The Westerners, with one of the better records in this area, will be slightly favored to take tonight's contest, what with a comparison of recent scores and on season's wins and losses alone. However, the visitors have been showing steady improvement of late and may toss an upset into the books.

Winners of six games in 10 contests, two of those losses being to Amarillo's Golden Sandies in the northern half—the Westerners will field a club which has consistently chalked up higher scores than the Cubs, and against somewhat stiffer opposition. Brownfield has won five games while losing six. The Cubs did not play in District 1-AA last season.

Currently the Cubs are leading the south half playoff, having chalked up a 21 to 17 decision over Plainview's Bulldogs in the opening southern half game Tuesday night. Just previous to that win the Terry county lads had evened up their series with Tahoka, 36 to 31. Thus far this season the Cubs have split two games with Denver City, divided a pair with Tahoka, dropped two to Lamesa and two to Levelland, and in turn have defeated Morton and New Home as well as Plainview. In losing to Levelland's topnotch club in a torrid three-overtime period game Wednesday, 24 to 22, the Cubs turned in one of the best games of the season.

Lubbock High has been more or less hot and cold thus far but in recent games the Westerners have been hitting the nets with almost monotonous regularity, their 44 to 38 defeat of Tahoka being their best scoring performance of the year. In winning six of ten games the Gold and Black clad lads have amassed 301 points to the opposition's 271.

Starting lineups for tonight's fray will find Byler and Donald W. Moore at forwards for Brownfield with Kempson at center and Wheatley and Franks at guards. The Westerners will send in R. W. Moyers and Charles Pressley at forward posts, Verdell Turner at center, and George Brewer and Gerald Davis at guards.

Sandies Best Pampa In Cage Loop Opener

The Amarillo Golden Sandies opened the defense of their north half championship in the District 1-AA basketball race this week by winning over the Pampa Harvesters, 23-20.

The Harvesters indicated they were not to be counted out of the race by holding the towering Sandies to the three-point margin, but indications are that the Borger Bulldogs will step into the spotlight before a champion is crowned.

The Sandies engage Borger in the second game of the playoffs tonight.

Shadows Cast Before

A Better World Is Demanded!

YOU have probably seen this picture before.

We are reprinting it because we believe that it is the most eloquent of all editorial comments on the fourth inauguration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt as President of the United States.

The picture was taken by Acme Photographer Robert Woodsum, member of a craft whose names are seldom seen or heard by the public. But it seems as right for his name to be signed to this picture as for an artist to sign his painting or a writer his story. For Mr. Woodsum, like any good news photographer, possesses many of the painter's and writer's gifts, without their opportunity of reflecting and revising.

In this picture it took artistic imagination and journalistic perception to turn from the inauguration's central figure and to focus attention and camera elsewhere. The result was a momentary scene which became a perfect symbol of the solemn occasion.

It was no mark of disrespect that the photographer made the President a small and shadowy figure at his own inauguration. For surely the two young soldiers on crutches loom no larger in this picture than they and thousands like them do in the President's picture of his fourth term.

As Mr. Roosevelt spoke, he could not be unmindful that while he dedicated himself and his country to total victory and durable peace, he was heard by young men who already had dedicated their blood, and a portion of their bodies, and a part of their lives to these same goals.

As he spoke, the President could scarcely forget that the great task facing him and his country in the next four years is to work toward a world that will give meaning to the sacrifices of these young men, and hope to their futures.

But the reason for reprinting this picture was not to explain something that needs no explanation. The purpose was to give us all a chance to look again at two lads on crutches, turned in hope and in judgment toward their President and the country which he governs by consent of the governed—a chance to look long and remember.

Bing And Frank: Symbols

WE are sure that most of those who heard the program enjoyed Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra when they teamed up the other night to salute President Roosevelt on the anniversary of his birth and the success of the March of Dimes campaign to fight inmantile paralysis.

Those fortunate persons in the Hollywood studio certainly enjoyed the antics of the songsters. There was no doubt of that. The applause and laughter proved it.

But interesting, too, was the fact that the "Old Maestro" and the "No. 1 Challenger" of championship crooning apparently had more fun than anybody. They kept the airwaves loaded with harmony and wisecracks.

That this is a great country can be testified to not only by war production, skyscrapers, bank deposits, degree of literacy and all the other yardsticks usually employed for such purpose. The fact that it can, and does, support two troubadors to the tune of million dollar-plus annual incomes each means something, too.

Bing and Frank, whisked from humble surroundings to places in the sun by a generous and admiring public, are more than personable and financially successful young artists.

They are symbols of the nation which says to its sons:

"Give your countrymen what they want and there is no limit to the heights you may reach."

That is the American Way of Life and most of those who want to change it are those who haven't either the talents or ambitions to attain success.

The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hosts. Haggai 2; 8.

A DAY IN A VIRGINIA PLANTER'S LIFE (1713)

II

ALL the Randall family except Lucy, the eldest daughter, was at the breakfast table when Swain joined them.

At his elbow stood a white maid in a dark-gray dress with a yellow apron. She put before him a bowl of hominy and milk which had been heated and then sweetened with molasses. Smiling, she said: "Eggs this morning, sir?"

"Yes, Minnie," he replied. "A dish of battered eggs." (Battered eggs were what we call scrambled eggs today.)

In the early 18th century Negroes were seldom used as house servants in Virginia. All ablebodies slaves, both men and women, were needed for work in the tobacco fields. Another reason perhaps for their exclusion from household employment was that most of the slaves were still too barbaric to be acceptable as servants. They had not learned household manners. The Randalls had only three Negro servants in the house. The white maids were either indentured servants or the daughters of poor farmers.

As soon as he was through with the hominy and molasses Swain turned to the various platters on the table. His battered eggs were to be cooked and served hot, but there were many cold dishes. He selected a slice of baked ham and a piece of broiled partridge. There were two kinds of bread on the table — corn hoecake and wheat biscuits, both cooked that morning and served hot. He took a biscuit, cut it open and spread butter on it. From a shining silver pitcher he poured himself a tankard of cider.

"I'M sorry to hear that you're leaving us today," said Mrs. Randall, a thin, sallow woman in her early 40s.

Mrs. Randall seldom smiled or laughed on account of her teeth. They were black with decay and many of them were missing.

"Yes, Mary, I have to be on my way," said Mr. Swain. "The House has adjourned until fall, as you know, and I have much to do at Belmore. I am thankful to you—to all of you — for your many kindnesses and hospitality."

"Don't mention it," said Mrs. Randall. "It was a pleasure. We've enjoyed your visit and whenver you come to Williamsburg I hope you will make this house your home."

"Oh, I shall do that," said Ned Swain, laughing. "And I give you the same invitation to Belmore. Come and visit us and stay a month."

"Stay a month!" Mary Randall exclaimed. "What with keeping house, looking after the children, and watching servants—why, if I stay abroad even overnight I'm as restless as a cow that's lost her calf."

Her husband spoke up hastily, and changed the subject. He was sure that his wife would talk for an hour on her troubles. "That roan mare of yours, Ned," he remarked, "looks like a fine bit of horseflesh. Why don't you race her?"

"Oh, I don't know. I've enough race horses as it is. Little Princess makes a nice saddle horse."

"I'm sure she does."

"Come out to Belmore with me today, Harry. I'll show you the stud, and we'll call on some of the neighbors, and can have a lively time. You can get along without him, can't you, Mary, for a couple of days?"

"Surely. A change will do him good," Mrs. Randall agreed.

"You hear that, Harry?" Ned Swain continued. "I'll take you home with me today."

Then Henry Randall spoke up. "There you go," he exclaimed, "both of you, making plans for me. How do you know I have the time to spare? I have a great deal to do right here. Maybe I'll go and maybe I won't.

BEFORE he had delivered this speech he had already made up his mind to visit his friend's plantation, but he would not admit it. Why? Because he had cultivated all his life an air of reluctance to agree to anything without first disparaging it, or doubting its worth or validity. This manner had become a deep-seated habit.

By virtue of it, he had become one of the most successful traders in Virginia. In buying tobacco from small farmers to ship to England he began usually by telling the grower that the tobacco market was oversold; that only the best weed had any value, and that was not much; that prices were going down; and that he didn't know what was going to happen if things kept on as they had been going.

He would take a handful of the tobacco offered for sale, roll it between his palms until it was pulverized, and then hold it before his nose. After he had taken a couple of sniffs he would say "Whew!" with a look of disgust and throw the tobacco away. Then he would brush his hands carefully and say to the farmer, "I'm sorry. It's low grade—poor quality. How much do you want if I take it off your hands?"

In purchasing land or slaves he followed the same principle.

Outside of this propensity to trade he was an excellent fellow, full of good humor and hospitality. But many of those whose property had been so generously taken off their hands so generously taken off their hands by Mr. Randall were unmoved by his jolly laughter and his wise savings. They were inclined to sit in sullen, dark-browned contemplation even while he was telling his funniest stories.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

WHY is it that so many people, people who are well educated and good conversationalists, become so completely tongue-tied (or rather pen-tied), when they have to sit down and write a letter or a report or something to read at the next club meeting?

Like all writers, I get a lot of letters from all over the country and from all kinds of people, and at least six out of ten read as if they had been written by nine-year-old kids rather than by adults with college degrees or at least a high school education.

BRANDEIS

Here is an example:

I recently made an application to have my hospital insurance transferred from New York to Connecticut, since I am now a resident of that state. I enclosed my check and this is part of the letter which came back, signed by a department head:

"We are herewith returning your check in the amount of $10.50, inasmuch as same is not acceptable. Inasmuch as you wish your account transferred to this service it will be in order for you to discontinue payment on your account in the New York plan. We shall notify them that you are enrolling as a member in this organization on a transfer basis and it will be in order for them to cancel your account."

The letter went rambling on for three more long paragraphs and finally closed: "We trust this clarifies the situation but if you wish further information please do not hesitate to write to us."

I had occasion to talk to the writer on the telephone a few days later. She spoke good English — short sentences, clear-cut thoughts and apparently was a well educated person.

But on paper she was stiff, stilted, involved, repetitious and monotonous.

Writing is simply talking on paper. Imagine yourself sitting opposite the person to whom you write. Don't write, talk. That's all.

Be original, if you can. Be complete. Be brief.

A WELL-KNOWN newspaper editor told a story about a youngster who applied for a job as a cub reporter. He reminded him of the old saying: "If a dog bites a man that isn't news, but if a man bites a dog, that's news."

He sent the youngster out to get some news. Pretty soon his phone rang.

"I got a story," said the cub. "Fire hydrant bursts at Fourth and Main. Wets dog."

And talking about completeness, here's another yarn the editor told:

"A tramp rang the bell of a house. A lady came to the door and said, 'What do you want?' 'Lard,' said the tramp, 'could you give me a glass of water? I'm so hungry I don't know where I'm going to sleep tonight!' "

I think I told you this before, but it bears repeating:

Ray Long, the famous editor of Cosmopolitan, wired Irvin Cobb, who was in Paris, "Must have 3,000 word story by Saturday. Cable it."

Cobb wired back: "Haven't time to write 3,000 word story. Will 10,000 word story do?"

Brevity is clarity. Clarity is thinking. Thinking takes time.

Wanted: One Magician

Washington Has Another Puzzle

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE three members of the Surplus Property board which will supervise the disposition of almost 100 billion dollars' worth of federal goods, concluded at their first organizational meeting that they face an almost impossible task. It is the prime example of the muddled and makeshift manner in which both the Congress and the administration are handling many reconversion plans.

The basic law, a patchwork piece of legislation because of last-minute, Senate-House squabbles over key provisions, is full of ambiguities and contradictions. It places the board under the control of War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes, who is so burdened with other obligations that he cannot discharge them in person or in detail. He delegates actual supervision to his family of assistants. He has already issued several directives which embarrassed the new agency even before it came into existence.

TUCKER

The statue imposes two irreconcilable functions on SPB. It declares that the bureau shall have only "general supervision" of sales, and this interpretation was taken literally by Budget Director Harold D. Smith when he skimped on the funds and personnel allocated to this important unit.

By his decision it must get along with only a skeleton force in Washington. But at the same time the legislation holds the Board accountable for efficient, economical and businesslike disposition of the vast holdings which it must liquidate.

Chairman Guy M. Gillette of Iowa, as well as co-members Robert A. Hurley of Connecticut and Lt. Col. Edward H. Heller of California, wonder how they can manage this hodgepodge setup without letting themselves in for possible postwar indictments and jail sentences.

CHECKING: The problem is aggravated by the first that the Gillette group must dispose of billions of dollars' worth of foreign holdings which cannot be brought to the United States after the war. This country owns railroads in the Middle East, docks and hoisting machinery in England, France, Australia and India, air strips and radio installations in North Africa and factories in South America.

Many of these properties are on the market at the present moment. Under the Byrnes-Smith decrees SPB will be held strictly responsible for the terms under which these costly instruments are sold to foreign buyers. But, thanks to the political delay in establishing the unit and to the War Mobilizer's orders, it has no means of checking on the deals before they are consumated.

Uncle Sam, for instance, built a 500-mile railroad from the head of the Persian Gulf to Teheran to transport war supplies to beleaguered Russia. Now that Turkey permits us to send our vessels through the Dardanelles, the land line is no longer needed. The War department has already negotiated for its sale to local interests without consulting the SPB-ers. Yet they must answer to Congress for all details of the transacion.

BLAMEWORTHY: The United States, as it did after the last conflict, will probably turn over tons of food abroad to numerous European governments. Our authorities on the spot will presumably make the best bargains they can with local purchasers, whether for K rations or locomotives. Again, the SPB will be held legally responsible for the terms.

One reason for this dangerous and irresponsible system lies in the Budget Director's insistence that SPB be no more than a bookkeeping agency in Washington with no real power. It will not be allowed to organize a sales or investigative force in the field.

Another factor is the long delay in establishing SPB, for which the Senate is partially blameworthy. Confirmation of Messrs. Heller and Hurley was held up for many weeks because of charges that they were "political appointees" and possessed no qualifications for the post.

Pending settlement of the Senate row, Mr. Byrnes authorized each government agency having goods to get rid of them as quickly as they could. That December fifth decree gave the green light to Treasury Procurement, War, Navy, Agriculture and numerous other departments to sell or give away everything without asking anyone's permission.

REFUSAL: The penalties resulting from this crazy-quilt arrangement will be paid for by the American taxpayers and individuals who may not be offered chances to buy articles that they can use in business, on the farm or in the home.

As officials charged by Congress with full responsibility, the SPB-ers would naturally try to make the best deals possible in disposing of foreign property. But its agents in the Army and Navy, wanting to clear out of overseas stations and get home quickly, might not be so particular. In future congressional investigations they can always "pass the buck."

The "little fellows" may be left out in the cold because of sales practices already formulated by the various agencies empowered to sell under the Byrnes order mentioned above. Many farmers, ex-soldiers, office managers and home owners have written to Treasury Procurement, asking for an inventory of the articles which Henry Morgenthau's unit has on the market. The writers have mentioned such things as jeeps, trucks, typewriters, furniture, desks, musical instruments, medical supplies, etc. But all requests are answered with this icy refusal:

"Policy provides for the sale of surplus through regular trade channels, and our mailing lists are built entirely on this basis."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THRIFTY shoppers will probably benefit by the drastic new OPA program to make available more low-priced wearing apparel, according to the prevailing opinion in the New York clothing field.

The need for controls has been obvious for a long time, as any woman knows. Two years ago seven of ever 10 dresses sold under $8; today there are only three in 10.

Manufacturers, who normally made inexpensive goods, added a button or a pleat and shifted to higher price lines. Retailers have difficulty in obtaining cheaper merchandise to satisfy their less affluent customers.

LEMAN

The government has now decreed that 75 per cent of all fabrics for civilians must be made into low and medium priced garments. Costly attire will depend on left-over materials.

Some factory owners think the move is merely a gesture to kid the public into believing that FDR is keeping down the cost of living and that the ruling will not be enforced. Others fear an expansion of the black market that will cut into legitimate supplies.

Complaints about "more red tape" are widespread. But in general business representatives are not prone to find fault until complete administrative details are published.

UNDERWEAR: The order came from Chaster Bowles at an unfortunate moment as New York City is crowded with buyers from out-of-town department stores seeking stocks in the finished goods market. The visitors now hesitate to sign contracts until they know what's what. This may delay deliveries.

But their reports on conditions back home indicate scarcities in the late spring unless more low-priced materials are released. Some foresighted managements in various parts of America still have ample inventories. But, as a whole, here is the picture—the men getting the worst of it:

Men's underwear is hit the hardest; there are even fewer woven than knit shorts. By April there will be half as many men's shirts as there were a year ago; good quality stocks already are practically nil in most places.

Here And There In Texas

Cost Of Crime Heavy In State

By BILL KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOW much is crime costing Texas? No one can say exactly but there are indications that the figure is large.

In monetary property loss alone the lawless may be costing citizens more than $10,000,000 a year.

Here's why:

The Bureau of Identification and Records of the State police shows in its last annual report that automobile theft, thefts other than automobiles, burglaries and robberies in the first six months of 1944, based on known figures affecting 48 per cent of the population, represented an economic loss of $5,147,122.

If the rates of crime commission continued for the entire year the cost would double.

And that cost doesn't reckon the economic loss resulting from crimes of violence.

Some Cold Facts

Here are some cold facts regarding crimes (and remember, these reports necessarily do not cover the entire state because all sheriffs and police departments are not included) for the first half of 1944:

Murders and homicides occurred at the rate of 8.11 per 100,000 persons for more than 3,000,000 population. That means 519 murders and negligent homicides known to police.

Based on the known rate there were 857 attempts to murder, 1,023 robberies, 9,772 burglaries, 27,196 thefts other than automobile, 6,020 automobiles stolen, 322 rapes.

WHERE does the juvenile enter this crime picture? The bureau has a partial answer to that.

From actual reports it is known that 5,792 juvenile delinquents were handled by reporting authorities in the first half of last year. That's a rate of 188.05 per 100,000 population in the reporting jurisdictions.

Here again the picture is not complete. If the rate remained the same for the unreported sections of the state there would have been 12,054 juvenile offenders handled by officials. Some police and sheriffs departments do not record juvenile cases but refer them to probation departments from whom state police receive no reports. The bureau believes its estimate is conservative when it says between 35,000 and 45,000 juveniles were in contact with enforcement or probation officials in Texas last year.

The statistical record of crime is collected for a reason. Officers have long since learned that it lays the predicate for enforcement and prevention. The legislature has required the state police to compile such data as an aid in future lawmaking.

The crime picture in Texas cannot be completed, however, without more reporting by local authorities.

Bureau Short-Handed

The bureau says that with its present limited personnel it is unable to handle monthly crime reports for 254 counties and the state's leading 333 cities which in all probability would contribute regularly if report forms were supplied them.

The bureau observes:

"Our experience in soliciting law enforcement departments for their voluntary cooperation in submitting such reports . . . leads us to believe that reports could be obtained regularly from the great majority of 254 counties and 333 cities and towns in Texas.

"Information would thus be at hand which would provide officials and administrators with an accurate record of the known number of major crimes committed in Texas."

MEMBERS of the House of Representatives sometimes get in a jocular mood—and Rep. Sam Hanna, Dallas, is generally in the scene.

As an instance, Rep. M. L. Ramsey, Beckville teacher, offered a resolution providing that funds be used to buy name plates to go on members desks.

These name plantes, Ramsey thought, would "expedite the moving around of members."

Hanna first moved that the resolution be sent to the Livestock committee. Then he said Ramsey had incorrectly stated the number of new members. Hanna said Ramsey missed the number by two. There are 62 first termers.

"How much did they charge you for that name plate—or is it a sample the company gave you?" Hanna asked.

"I'm sorry I don't stand in as good with the company as you do the Adolphus hotel," Ramsey answered. "It cost me $3.50. I'll leave it to the House to determine if they want to buy the plates."

(Hanna is assistant manager of the hotel.)

Hanna then asked Rep. Julian Greer, Elkhart teacher, if he could figure how much the plates would cost, and added:

"Since you mention the Adolphus, I'll tell you I don't use a name plate up there. Some drunk might hit me in the head with it. That wouldn't happen here, but I still don't want one."

Then Miss Rae Files, Waxahachie representative, inquired:

"Can anyone be exempt from having to use a name plate? They find my desk too easy as it is."

Hanna moved that the resolution be tabled—and it was, so members won't have desk name plates paid for by the state.

UTILITIES LEAD ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—Utilities enjoyed a burst of strength in today's stock market and were followed to a certain extent by selected rails and industrials.

Armament-connected issues were not particularly depressed by the fresh sweep of the Russians and western Allies in Europe.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .2 of a point at 58.9 while the utility average advanced .5 to 40.2, best level in five years. Transfers totaled 1,558,510 shares compared with 1,177,-960 Wednesday.

Railway bonds pushed ahead.

Forward curb leaners were Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share and North American Light. Turnover here was 621,-100 shares versus 395,575 yesterday.

NINE GIVEN DEATH

PARIS, Feb. 1 (AP)—Nine American soldiers were sentenced to death during January by the Seine section of the general courts martial in cases involving diversion of Army gasoline into black market channels, it was disclosed today. Three others tried in similar cases were acquitted. Names of the nine condemned men were not disclosed.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—Cotton prices tumbled 40 to 70 cents a bale today under the influence of favorable war developments. Contributing to the decline was a tendency among commission houses to take profits following Wednesday's sharp rally, in addition to liquidation and hedging in late dealings. Offerings were absorbed principally through scale down mill buying against textile contracts. Spot markets were quiet.

Futures closed 40 to 70 cents a bale lower.

Pioneer Woman To Be Buried Today

CROSBYTON, Feb. 1. (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Etta Parlee Coward, 86, pioneer resident of Crosby county who died early Thursday at the home of of her son, Byron Coward, will be conducted this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Crosbyton Baptist church, Marr Funeral home announced.

Services will be read by pastor of the church, Rev. P. M. Gilliam. Burial will be in Crosbyton cemetery.

Mrs. Coward was born in Mississippi and had been a Crosby county resident for 28 years. Her husband died in 1901.

Other survivors are two sons, A. J. of Crosbyton, D. E. of San Antonio; one sister, Mrs. J. A. Bagett o. Mineola; one brother, J. W. Morgan of Carlton; 15 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

The Army Quartermaster Corps has developed a smokeless oil heater for tents.

Western Front

miles to the front near St. Vith.

Gains of as much as four miles were registered as these doughboys plowed eastward through the snow and slush toward the Eifel mountains where lie the main Siegfried fortifications.

The Ninth Infantry division moved two and a half miles through the Siegfried line before it ran into heavy machinegun and rifle fire at a crossroads nine miles southeast of Monschau.

Farther south the veteran First division, first to resume the drive on the westwall, moved more than a mile east through the woods and on through dragon teeth and lightly manned outer Siegfried pillboxes without drawing a challenge from the main forts' guns beyond.

Patrols said they found only a flicker of life in the fortifications, 16 miles east of Malmedy, which is roughly mid-way between Monschau and St. Vith.

The 82nd Airborne division sent patrols into the edge of the German town of Losheim, inside the Siegfried line 13 miles northeast of St. Vith, after capturing a dozen 88-mm German guns complete with firing data, sights and ammunition.

Border Towns Dead

Even the German border towns, many of them leveled by fierce U. S. artillery fire, were dead. The civilians had fled east, where American artillery tonight was pouring its fire into the main defenses.

In the Monschau area, the Second division moved into the center of gloomy Monschau forest against light opposition, reaching the first of the more formidable Siegfried defenses.

The 78th Infantry division, northern spearhead of the First Army, capturing two villages three and four miles northeast of Monschau, struck its first heavy opposition east of Kesternich.

Kesternich, in the stream-cut hills five miles northeast of Monschau, has always been a touchy sector with the Germans, which occupy strong positions which prevent any easy drive up both sides of the Roer river, natural barrier to the Cologne plain.

The First Army in the last 24 hours took 1,332 prisoners, the biggest single day's haul since the Allies opened with their counter-offensive in the Ardennes.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army on the south extended its bridgehead over the border river Our to a width of seven miles and a depth of three and a half miles, capturing at least five more German towns. Gains up to two and a half miles were registered despite heavy small arms and mortar fire, rain, mud and slush.

One column slogged two and a half miles northeastward and took Ingelschein, two and a half miles inside Germany. Another column seized Winterspelt, nine miles west of Prum and six miles southeast of St. Vith.

The Germans were refusing to commit any large forces to the defense of the outer works of the westwall, had pulled back their tanks and likewise were withholding artillery fire.

Patton's patrols now were operating along the Our river all through northern Luxembourg without encountering resistance.

Russian Advances

miles during the day and captured 150 German localities.

A new crossing into Germany from Poland southeast of Berlin and Russian advances in Pomerania far to the northeast gave the Russians a continuous 320-mile line in eastern Germany two years after the turning point of the war at Stalingrad, now 1,320 miles behind Zhukov's troops.

The Russians appeared to be engaged in a great pincers movement on Berlin as well as a direct frontal assault, and in the new crossing into Germany they penetrated to within six miles of Glogau, a stronghold on the middle Oder 117 miles southeast of Berlin.

Fifty localities were taken in the new drive into Germany on a 20-mile front west of Leszno, Polish frontier town. Fraustadt, 11 miles west of Leszno, fell, as did schussenze, 13 miles northwest of Fraustadt, and Schlichtingsheim, seven miles southwest.

Oder Said Crossed

The Germans said Russian units crossed the Oder in this area, broke into Steinau and hit farther to the west, but Moscow has kept silent about this development.

The Germans were reported shelling the Oder river directly east of Berlin and also dynamiting it in an attempt to break up the ice packs which might aid a Russian crossing. Paris radio quoted reports that the Red Army already had crossed the stream in the Kustrin area, but this appeared to be premature.

Berlin's danger was so great that Nazi broadcasts said the "battle of Berlin" had begun; Soviet planes were raking German troop movements east of the capital and the light of their flares could be seen by Berliners at night.

Rites Set At Loop For Mrs. Mary Hunt

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Hunt, 75, who died early Thursday morning at the home of a son, T. O. Hunt, at Loop, will be conducted at 3 o'clock tthis afternoon at Loop, Rix Funeral home announced.

Other survivors are three sons, R. L. of Loop, R. C. of Lamesa, D. N., who is overseas; five daughters, Mrs. Lovia Cowart of Tarzan, Mrs. Jessia May Fleming of Loop, Mrs. Gussie Kidd, Mrs. Velma Ellyson and Mrs. Geneva Brandenberg, all of Lamesa; 28 grandchildren and five greatgrandchildren.

News Briefs

C. N. Price, 29, of Amarillo, former Slaton resident, was admitted to West Texas hospital Thursday night for treatment of serious injuries suffered several weeks ago near Amarillo on a "rabbit hunt." Both Price's legs were broken and he suffered pelvic injuries when he fell from the front of the car and was run over, hospital attendants were told. Price, who reportedly became a victim of infantile paralysis in infancy, is the son of Mrs. W. L. Houser of Slaton.

A 28-year-old Crane, Tex., man was arrested Thursday afternoon by Bill Mabray, assistant chief of police, and Glynn Hudgens, city-county officer, in connection with the burglary Tuesday night of Dryer and Lee service station at Broadway and Ave. A. Officials said the man probably would be charged this morning. The suspect was traced through the alleged sale of a radio which was taken from the station. The only other loss was approximately 60 pennies.

Luzon Jap Trap

opposition proved too tough. But three hours after the 8:30 a. m. landing he changed it to a full-scale invasion.

Nasugbu is 21 road miles west of Taygaytay ridge, a 2,000-foot crest from which artillery can control the entire Batangas peninsula and roads leading to Manila from the south.

The two new west coast landings within 8 hours, plus the rapid drive down the central Luzon plain toward Manila from the Lingayen gulf beachhead established Jan. 9, caught the Japanese around the capital in a giant noose.

Columns Converge

General MacArthur said:

"This operation places the Eighth Army on the south side of Manila, which is now the center of two converging columns of the Sixth and Eighth armies. It largely seals off the possibility of the enemy troops south of Manila joining those in the north, and definitely outflanks the enemy's defense lines in southern Luzon."

Meanwhile Sixth Army Yanks moving south upon Manila from captured Calumpit reached a point only 22 miles from Manila as they reached the Angat river in Bulacan province.

Resistance Light

Eighth Army troops who landed on the west coast of Zambales province just north of Subic bay on Monday were advancing eastward against only light Japanese resistance in their drive to seal off the Bataan peninsula.

MacArthur announced the hard-hitting First Cavalry division which distinguished itself on Leyte now was commtted to the Luzon campaign.

In the northern sector First corps forces seized San Nicholas, six miles east of San Manuel on a road, vital to the Japanese, leading into the Cagayan valley of northern Luzon.

MacArthur reported that a Japanese column caught between two Yank forces on the Balungao-Umingan road in this sector was "completely destroyed."

Bay Defenses Bombed

Heavy bombing of Manila bay defenses was announced. In successive days heavy bombers dropped more than 152 tons of bombs on Corregidor, the fortress guarding the entrance to the harbor, and the Cavite naval base.

Carabao island, off Manila bay, was pounded by patrol bombers.

Takao and Kagi airfields on Formosaa were bombed by long-range patrol planes which caused large fires.

Enemy shipping south of Formosa was attacked. Direct hits were scored on a 10,000-ton tanker.

Daring Rescue

hands.

Most of them plainly showed their elation. A few of the officers still wore their insignia of rank. Some had managed to retain their battered Army campaign hats; others wore overseas caps at jaunty angles.

Tears filled the eyes of many of the men when they once again saw the American flag and the equipment and might of the new United States Army.

The dream of liberation became a staunch reality when the men were given their first breakfast under freedom.

Real Food Convincing

Eggs, meat, grapefruit, coffee, biscuits and jam were the convincers. They tackled the food with enthusiasm bred on a prison diet made up mostly of rice.

Removed farther back, to the 92nd evacuation hospital, there was more food for them and full facilities for treatment of wounds and diseases.

General MacArthur visited the hospital to chat with officers he had known on Bataan and Corregidor. Those of the men who could stand, came to attention as their commanding officers entered. Some already had obtained new clothing and insignias which they proudly wore.

The three years in prison had not completly dimmed the energy of some of the men, and they expressed one great wish—to get back into the fight and help MacArthur recover Manila and Corregidor.

Terrified Nazis

Tiergarten and at other strategic points bereft of guns.

"One can see anti-aircraft guns, partly manned by women, rolling through Berlin streets all day long," the dispatch said.

Svenska Morgonbladet of Stockholm said streetcar service in Berlin was being suspended and the subway reduced to a minimum, leaving a reduced bus service to carry the major burden of transportation. Coal was reported short and the gas service completely out. Electricity, the dispatch said, was provided one hour a day.

Transportation Halts

War workers were said to be sleeping at their plants and the transportation breakdown was reported to have set off a "mass removal of the population."

(The Swiss newspaper Gazette De Lausanne, quoted by OWI, said that Potsdamer Pltaz, the very heart of the downtown section and the transportation lines, was to be the inner core of last resistance when the Russians reach the capital. Unter Den Linden, with its once smart shops and palaces and the famous Bristol and Adlon hotels, also was named as a part of this last-ditch defense.

(In such a defense the Russians would come up against the workers' section of Berlin first. They are on the north and east sides of the capital. The swanky homes are on the western outskirts.)

Build Trench System

A transocean broadcast said a huge trench system was being erected around Berlin "in greatest haste" and Volkstrum men were hurriedly learning to handle the German version of the American Bazooka and machineguns.

The Luxembourg radio claimed the death rate in the refugee-packed city had rocketed and "at present 1,300 people are dying every day, many collapsing in the streets, and there are no ambulances to carry them away."

The Moscow radio said there were frequent disorders with "bread having disappeared as the refugees ransack foodstores."

Manpower Draft

sources, which strongly backed the measure throughout, put in a new argument—that the extent of reconversion after V-E day will depend to a considerable extent on the fate of limited national service bill.

This would be true, it was stated, because the legislative controls over "job-jumpers" would stabilize the labor supply, insuring against any exodus from war plants occasioned by a limited resumption of civilian goods production.

In meeting a manpower request, local draft boards may request men to take designated jobs or may direct them to do so. They also may "freeze" registrants in existing jobs.

Severe Penalties

Any registrant leaving a job into which he has been "frozen" or refusing to take one into which he has been directed could be inducted for general military duty or fined $10,000 and imprisoned for five years.

The legislation requires draft boards to give men a reasonable choice of employers, a provision recommended by the military committee as a substitute for a discarded proposal permitting a man to take a job in a closed shop plant without joining a union.

It also provides that a registrant may decline to take a job if he has a just cause, but he may have to prove to a court or a draft appeal board that his reason was valid.

Must Consider Family

In assigning men to jobs, draft boards are directed to consider the effect of a job-change on a man's family and the possible impact on the civilian economy.

Men taking jobs voluntarily or at draft board order would receive travel allowances if the job is away from home and benefits of the soldiers and sailors civil relief act and the reemployment priorities of the draft law.

The bill was stoutly opposed by organized labor and industry, spokesmen for which contended the manpower problem could be solved voluntarily.

Allied Patrols Hit Nazi Lines In Italy

ROME, Feb. 1. (AP)—Daring Allied patrols, moving through some of the most difficult fighting country in Europe, again carried the burden of war in Italy today as both sides prodded ceaselessly at long dormant lines all along the front.

At one point east of Monte Rondinaio, a 6,200-foot peak nine miles east of Castelnuovo, an American patrol was engaged in a bitter fight, but returned with six German prisoners after inflicting a number of casualties. Not an American was lost.

Another Fifth Army patrol north of Canovetta in the mountain line before Bologna fought for an hour with the Germans.

WILLIAMS RITES HELD

GALVESTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Funeral services for Judge Frank Alvin Williams, distinguished Texas jurist and member of the state Supreme court for many years, were held this afternoon, with Dr. Will R. Johnson of the First Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be tomorrow morning at Crockett.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Congratulations To:

First Lt. and Mrs. Augustine Nicholas Keller, 808 Ave. R on the birth of a son weighing 8 pounds, 15 ounces at 2:35 p. m. Wednesday. The father is stationed at Altus Army Air field, Okla.

Farm Bodies Oppose Williams' Nomination

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP) — Three national farm organizations today urged the rejection of President Roosevelt's nomination of Aubrey Williams as Rural Electrification administrator.

They are the American Farm Bureau federation, the National Grange and the National Cooperative Milk Producers federation.

In a joint letter addressed to Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) of the Senate agriculture committee, the organizations said Williams is "not qualified by experience or training."

The committee, scheduled to consider the nomination this morning, postponed its meeting until tomorrow to permit Democratic members to attend a party caucus.

Baptists Hit FDR's Relations With Pope

ATLANTA, Feb. 1 (AP) — The Atlanta Baptist ministers conference called today for a decision whether President Roosevelt "has the right to ignore the constitution of the United States in sending a representative to the pope."

The Senate foreign affairs committee was asked to investigate correspondence with the State department by Dr. Louie D. Newton, vice president of the Southern Baptists convention, who recently asked for a Senate investigation of "the status of our government to the Vatican."

MARINE GIVEN DEATH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP) — A jury of 11 men and one women today convicted Marine Pfc. Earl McFarland, Guadalcanal veteran, of first degree murder in the rape slaying of 18-year-old Dorothy Berrum, a government clerk. The conviction carried with it the death penalty.

Barney's Ninth Army Press Camp Draws High Praise Of Ken Dixon

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN FRANCE, Jan. 27. (Delayed)—When it comes time to leave an Army press camp where you've worked several weeks or months you suddenly realize that it was either a good place to live or a bad one.

Kenneth Dixon

It's that feeling of relief or regret that does it — and leaving Barney Oldfield's camp brought regret, because in all the seven Army camps in which this correspondent has lived in the last year and a half, Barney's Ninth Army setup was the best.

Former Newspaperman

Barney is a major, a former paratrooper, and a former newspaperman at Lincoln, Neb., and he combined the best of all three backgrounds to help correspondents who came his way.

To correspondents who often weary of having public relations officers haunt their footsteps and read over their shoulders, he always said "we presume you know your buisness, so none of us will kibitz. The soldiers in this camp all are former line company guys. They will do their best to meet your wishes in transsmission of your copy, your housing, your transportation and your messing. Anything else you want they'll try to help you get. But what you write or how you write is your own business."

Correspondents appreciate it. Scores of men who have been covering this war from the beginning term Barney's camp the best yet.

Claims No Credit

Barney would be the last to claim credit. When he drew the Ninth Army public relations assignment he asked for a staff right out of line outfits. He got it, and gives it the credit.

There was "Griff." Capt. James Griffith, Grove City, Pa., camp commandant, a hardworking guy who—usually shorthanded — never let anybody go cold or hungry.

There was "Pop" Carroll — 24-year-old Walter Carroll of Goldthwaite, Texas, a technical sergeant but an acting topkick. Twice wounded, they put him back together with silverplate and wire after a burst of machinegun bullets cut him up at St. Lo. Somehow Pop always managed to keep competing correspondents convinced that each one had the best jeep driver.

Exceptional Jeep Drivers

The jeep drivers were exceptional.

Typical was Pfc. Inez Martinez, Elsa, Tex., who drove for Gordon Grant of the Tampa, Fla., Tribune, and Al Smalley of the St. Paul Pioneer Press until the latter was wounded. The subzero blizzards through which the boys drove daily were vastly different from Rio Grande weather, and quiet little Martinez suffered terrifically—but never complained.

One day after a 150-mile haul in an open jeep in cruel weather Martinez quietly passed out. Treated for exposure at a hospital, he immediately asked, "My boys? My boys all right?" Al and Gordon, both older than Martinez, were "my boys."

Practically every man in the Ninth army press camp worked that way — Lt. Tom Patterson, camp troubleshooter from Haskell, Tex.; Lt. George K. Williams, Pomona, Calif., mess and motor officer; Lt. William R. Brown, jr., press and pictorial officer, Woodhaven, Long Island, N. Y.; Lt. Erler Richardson, Marion, Ala., radio officer who once was wounded and captured but escaped by leaping from a moving prison train. All these wear either the Purple Heart, Bronze or Silver Star, combat infantryman's badge or all three.

Then there's Lt. John H. Pecor, Youngstown, Ohio, who once stalked a stubborn sniper, spotted him in a tree, and paused before cutting him down long enough to shout "take that, my fine-feathered so-and-so," and Pvt. J. L. (Blackie) Morris, another top driver from De Berry, Tex., and Cpl. David Tannenbaum, Cleveland, Ohio, who handled our copy far into the night during the breakthrough crush.

All those and a lot of others made the Ninth Army camp a good place to live and work.

Greater Conservation Of Forests Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP) — President Roosevelt called today for greater efforts to conserve the nation's forest resources in a message praising work of the U. S. service on its 40th anniversary.

"Great tasks remain ahead in forestry," Mr. Roosevelt said in a letter to Lyle F. Watts, forest service chief.

"To most of our forests, forestry is still unknown. Before the economic future of America can be wholly safe, the future of our forests must be assured."

SOLDIERS ARE AWOL

PARIS, Feb. 1. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, U. S. provost marshal, said today that 8,000 American soldiers are absent without leave in the European theater —not 18,000 as reported last week in a statement credited to his office.

Well, Anyway, It's Good On The Eyes

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Feb. 1 (AP) — Bateman's store advertised this way in the Evening Transcript today:

"Come and see a nice selection of pictures of beef, pork and lamb."

The invitation also advertised "choice, juicy, tender salt fat pork —"tender boneless minced ham."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
