Water district approves $162.5M contract

Pipeline to bring water from T-Bar Ranch set to be complete by May 31, 2013

By Kathleen Petty
Staff Writer

The Midland County Fresh Water Supply District No. 1 on Friday approved the execution of a $162.5 million contract that will cover the bulk of the work necessary to build pipelines from T-Bar Ranch to Midland County.

In a 3-0 vote, the board agreed to allow chairman José Cuevas Jr. to finalize an agreement with Black & Veatch/Garney for design and construction services associated with the T-Bar Ranch water project.

"This is the largest contract we'll have," Cuevas said.

Just as the freshwater district has agreed to in its contract with the city of Midland, Black & Veatch/Garney have agreed to have a pipeline and other necessary infrastructure completed by May 31, 2013. The pipeline will allow for the delivery of an average of 10 million gallons of water per day to the city of Midland.

Jay Edwards, project manager with Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, said the contract will cover well drilling, pipeline construction and tank construction, among other things. Black & Veatch will take responsibility for constructing the pipeline from the T-Bar Ranch property in Winkler and Loving counties to a delivery point near Farm-to-Market Road 1788, Edwards said.

"We're excited about getting this one done," Edwards said, adding the contract approved Friday is a major stepping stone to meeting the deadline for water delivery.

The contract calls for the cost of work to not exceed just more than $162.5 million. Edwards said that's near what the district had budgeted as it anticipated construction costs could be around $160 million.

The district also will have costs associated with acquiring right-of-way, some additional professional services and an extended infrastructure the city has requested, Edwards said. No final estimate for those costs has been reached.

"There's still some other expenses out there," he said.

If Black & Veatch doesn't meet the May 31, 2013 deadline, its contract requires it pay the district a penalty fee of $5,000 per day. If it completes the work before that deadline it will receive an incentive payment of $5,000 per day.

In a contract the city and water district will formalize next week, the city agrees to pay the fresh water district $5,000 per day in incentives if it beats the May deadline. The district, in turn, will pay the city a $5,000 per day penalty fee if it misses its agreed-upon date.

Midland's jobless rate falls to 3.5 percent

■ Midland and Odessa again post Texas' lowest unemployment rates.

By Mella McEwen
Oil Editor

Fueled by growth in the dominant oil and gas sector, Midland and Odessa continue to lead the state labor market.

The Texas Workforce Commission said Friday the unemployment rate in the Midland metropolitan statistical area fell to 3.5 percent in April (the lowest in the state) from 3.7 percent in March and is below the 4.2 percent seen last April.

Odessa's unemployment rate fell to 4 percent from 4.4 percent in March and 5.8 percent last April. Odessa posted the second-lowest unemployment in the state.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Midland was tied with Lincoln, Neb., for the second-lowest unemployment rate in the nation during March, following Bismarck, N.D.

Midland added 1,100 jobs from March to April and 1,700 jobs from April 2011 to April 2012 for a growth rate of 2.3 percent.

Odessa led the state in job growth at 9.8 percent, said commission Spokesman Mark Lavergne. Odessa added 6,400 new jobs from April 2011 to April 2012 and 1,200 new jobs from March to April.

Lavergne said that neither Midland nor Odessa saw job losses in their 10 industrial sectors. In Midland, six of the 10 showed gains; three were flat. For the 12 months from April 2011 to April 2012, five sectors added jobs, four had no change and only the government sector lost jobs. Midland has added jobs since last year and every month this year, he said.

In Odessa, seven sectors added jobs from March to April, and three showed no change. From April 2011 to April 2012, nine sectors added jobs, and only the information sector showed no change. Odessa's job count of 71,500 is the highest since 2000, he said.

Kelly Grover

Kelly Grover, 42, beloved mother, wife, daughter, sister, and friend, passed away on Wednesday, May 16, 2012. A memorial service will be held at 2:00 p.m. on Friday, May 18, 2012, at Stonegate Fellowship, with Pastor Mike Goeke officiating.

Cherished memories of her remarkable life will remain with her husband, David Grover; her three daughters, Riley, Colby and Landry; her parents, H.L. "Dusty" and Barbara Rhodes, all of Midland; her sister, Leslie Rhodes, of Lubbock; her father- and mother-in-law, Arden and Rosalind Redfern Grover, of Midland; her brothers-in-law, Arden "Tex" Grover, Jr. and Jeff Grover; her sister-in-law, Rosson Grover; her nephew, Kapps Killingstad; and her niece, Rosalind Killingstad, all of Dallas.

Kelly was a 1987 graduate of Lee High School in Midland, and a 1993 graduate of Texas Tech University. She married the love of her life, David, on April 30, 1997, in Carmel, California.

Kelly loved the Lord her entire life. One of her greatest pleasures was sharing her faith with her precious girls and the people who God sent to Kelly for encouragement. She earnestly believed in God's ability to perform miracles in each of our lives and especially hers. And, she had the clarity to see miracles others might miss. Certainly, she knew that the greatest miracles God ever sent were her three radiant daughters, whose lights will always shine to the glory of God and their momma.

Kelly and David's home was and will continue to be the "fun" house; the house where all the kids play. Kelly was the quintessential "Kool-Aid Mom," opening her heart and her home to her daughters' friends, their moms, and anyone else who needed a shoulder or a smile. It abounded with patience, love, laughter, happy dogs, and a pantry full of after-school snacks and a driveway arrayed with scooters and soccer balls.

Throughout her life, Kelly was a loyal, caring and true friend. In the past several months, her friendship was repaid many times through the selfless devotion of her closest friends and the support she and her family received from the families, faculty and administration of Trinity School, and the greater Midland community as a whole. The Grover and Rhodes families wish to thank Sally Agar, Manisha and Anand Cholia, Christine Foreman, Degan Fricker, Caroline Hinson, and Jane Shepperd, particularly for their love and support for Kelly and her family.

In remembrance of Kelly, the family suggests memorials be made to the Kelly Rhodes Grover Endowment Fund at Midland Memorial Hospital or to a charity of your choice.

Arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home & Crematory of Midland. Online condolences can be made at www.npwelch.com.

Coin toss decides city council election

A winner has been chosen by a coin toss in a Texas city council election.

Church administrator Bruce MacNair won Friday's flip that decided the race between him and Bryan Studer.

The two had agreed to the coin toss to decide the contest for a seat on the Wolfforth city council after each received 118 votes in last weekend's election.

The men saved the tiny city the $10,000 cost of a run-off election.

Dewhurst gave his Senate campaign $6 million

AUSTIN — Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst gave his campaign for the U.S. Senate an additional $6 million in the last six weeks, demonstrating the advantage of being a multimillionaire politician.

Previously Dewhurst had spent $2 million of his own money to replace retiring U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison. Texas high court orders state to pay ex-inmate $2M

AUSTIN — The Texas Supreme Court ordered the state Friday to pay about $2 million to an ex-inmate who spent 26 years in prison for murder before his conviction was overturned, a decision legal experts said could set a new standard for when ex-prisoners should be compensated.

Texas has paid nearly $50 million to former inmates who have been cleared. But state Comptroller Susan Combs had resisted paying Billy Frederick Allen, arguing that his conviction was overturned because he had ineffective lawyers, not because he had proven his innocence.

The state Supreme Court, in a unanimous opinion written by Justice Dale Wainwright, disagreed, saying the state's criminal courts had shown Allen had a legitimate innocence claim and he should be paid.

Official: Teachers are not prepared for new standards

Associated Press

AUSTIN — Texas school teachers should be better trained to prepare students for the state's higher standards and new statewide tests and their salaries should be raised to make the profession more attractive, the higher education commissioner told lawmakers on Friday.

Commissioner Raymund Paredes said he reached that conclusion after looking at national and international studies examining teacher quality around the world, particularly with the introduction of new standardized tests that make greater demands on students.

"They don't have the faculty in K-12 that can teach to those standards. As we move to end-of-course exams and higher levels of rigor, I am fearful and virtually certain we are going to face exactly the same challenge," Paredes said.

The testimony set off spirited questioning in the Senate Education Committee, which was holding a hearing on how the state prepares teachers and principals in public schools.

"How do we hold these kids accountable for taking these high-stakes tests if they don't have a teacher who is adequately prepared?" asked Sen. Royce West, D-Dallas.

"We have to move to higher standards for teachers, we have to move to better training for teachers and we have to particularly develop better policies," Paredes replied.

Democratic Sen. Wendy Davis of Fort Worth was concerned the state was not being fair to teachers.

"If we are not giving our teachers the tools they need to help those students best succeed in those standardized tests, then we measure the teachers based on the student's performance, it's probably pretty unfair to those teachers," she said.

TJ Maxx will open store in Midland

From staff reports

The department store TJ Maxx is moving forward to open a new location in Midland.

Workers are set to convert the former Mervyn's location in Midland Plaza at 3001 W. Loop 250 North into a TJ Maxx and its companion home furnishings unit, HomeGoods.

Fort Worth-based AUI Contractors has received a $780,000 alteration permit and a $97,000 demolition permit that company officials say will let it take the 78,000-square-foot location down to the four walls and then rebuild.

TJ Maxx officials said they plan to officially announce the new store close to its opening date.

Today in history

Today is Saturday, May 19, the 140th day of 2012. There are 226 days left in the year.

Today's highlight:

On May 19, 1962, actress Marilyn Monroe sang a sultry rendition of "Happy Birthday to You" to guest-of-honor President John F. Kennedy during a star-studded Democratic fundraiser at New York's Madison Square Garden (the third of four arenas to bear that name).

On this date:

In 1992, Vice President Dan Quayle sparked controversy by criticizing the CBS sitcom "Murphy Brown" for having its title character, played by Candice Bergen, decide to have a child out of wedlock.

Riders make way through the Basin

About 500 Run for the Wall riders roared into Odessa Friday evening for a stop in their trek from California to the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C.

The purpose of the ride is to promote healing for veterans and their supporters. The riders make stops at veteran hospitals, schools and memorials along the way.

Today, the group plans to visit veteran memorials in Midland and Big Spring before heading to Grand Prairie.

The long road trip wasn't without some challenges. Department of Public Safety trooper Emmit Moore said two motorcyclists near the back of the group had to "lay down" their bikes to dodge traffic in a construction zone about 20 miles west of Pecos on Interstate 20. Moore said two men and two women received minor, "road rash" injuries.

The riders also were delayed near Monahans because of a one-vehicle rollover on eastbound I-20, according to DPS.

PDAP dedicates auditorium to the Judge John Hyde family

By Audrie Palmer
Staff Writer

Cindeka Nealy/Reporter-Telegram

Sharon Hyde, left, talks to Stop DWI president Faye Hodges, Friday after a ceremony renaming the PDAP auditorium to the John Hyde Family Auditorium.

He was a humble man who loved his family, community and serving others.

Many on Friday said the late Judge John G. Hyde would not have wanted any recognition. He wouldn't have wanted any honors, and he certainly wouldn't have wanted his name on a building.

Still, those at the Palmer Drug Abuse Program felt that renaming their auditorium after his family would be the best way to honor the man who presided over the 238th District Court for 20 years.

"Our core purpose at PDAP is to extend love and understanding to everyone who walks through the door. The care and compassion (Hyde) showed for others really epitomizes what we strive to achieve every day: love people unconditionally," said interim executive director Brent Blackburn.

Hyde died Jan. 2 after a two-year battle with cancer. He was 69. He began volunteering with PDAP in 1993 and served as chairman of the board in 1995 and 1996.

More than 50 people gathered Friday afternoon in the main room of the PDAP building at 1208 W. Wall St. for the dedication of the John Hyde Family Auditorium.

Mark Dettman, a local attorney who serves on the PDAP board of directors, told the audience that before he found his faith, he was addicted to alcohol and that it saddened Hyde, who was his friend.

He said he believed Hyde was involved with the organization because he saw so many individuals in his court who were one the road to recovery but would slip and continue with their substance abuse problems.

"I know (he was glad) to see people recover," Dettman said.

Hyde always saw something in those who came before him in court and wanted to give many a second chance, Dettman said.

"We may not have our dear friend John Hyde, but you cannot walk up and down a street or go to the courthouse and not see a reflection of him in someone's life he touched," he said.

Midland County District Attorney Teresa Clingman echoed Dettman's sentiments about Hyde's touching lives and said that he was a man she looked up to and that he would touch someone's life without ever meaning to.

His priorities were his faith, family and service to his community and others, she said.

Hyde's wife, Sharon, thanked those in attendance and added that she knew he would not have liked to have his name on any building but that he loved his family and he believed in PDAP and the help it provided to both individuals and the community.

"His whole desire was to do what he could to help other people," she said. "He never sought attention but it always seemed to find him like a little magnet."

Bell Helicopter workers claim Lotto Texas jackpot

Associated Press

AUSTIN — The winners of last weekend's $21 million Lotto Texas drawing have claimed their prize.

A group of 10 co-workers from Bell Helicopter in Fort Worth turned in their winning ticket on Friday at the Texas Lottery office in Austin.

KXAN-TV reported each person gets $1.6 million after taxes.

Mario Mercado, one of the winners, said the group, which charted a bus to come to Austin, has been pooling its money since January. Each person would put in $5 per week.

Mercado said after he realized the group had hit the jackpot, he started screaming so much that his wife thought their home was on fire.

Mercado said he knows he has to be smart about spending the money and has enlisted the help of a financial advisor.

DeLay's appeal hearing put on hold

Associated Press

AUSTIN — The 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin on Friday canceled oral arguments in ex-Rep. Tom DeLay's hearing without giving a reason.

The Austin American-Statesman reported the cancellation follows a request by DeLay's attorney to have one of the justices on the court — a Democrat — recuse herself because of "anti-Republican remarks" the judge is alleged to have made at a political convention.

JOBS

From 1A

Midlander Vance Poe, the franchise owner who is bringing a Souper Salad restaurant to Midland, said that as a long-time Midlander, he knew about the labor force issues when he decided to open his business. His wife is a native of Midland and a graduate of Midland High School.

The new Souper Salad will have a grand opening at 11 a.m. June 4 at 4706 N. Midkiff Road in front of the Albertsons at Loop 250 and Midkiff.

"We tried to attend all the job fairs we could," he said, saying he received some applications from Midland College's job fair. He also worked with the local Workforce Commission office and posted jobs on the Internet and at local colleges and schools.

"I think the word got around; people came out," said Poe, whose son Patrick will work with him as general manager of the restaurant.

As it prepares to open, he said, he now has a pool of 40 to 45 workers, though the corporate office would prefer a pool of 60.

"I told them I didn't think we could get 60," he said. Acknowledging that he won't be able to compete with oil company wages, he said it will be a challenge to attract and keep staff. But he's excited about his new business.

"This will be a different concept for Midland," he said. "The menu is geared toward healthier eating. Everything is made from scratch."

The state unemployment rate fell below 7 percent for the first time in three years, coming in at 6.9 percent in April, down from 7 percent in March and 8 percent in April 2011.

Eight of the 11 major industries in Texas gained jobs in April, led by construction with 7,300 jobs. Manufacturing added 6,300 jobs, and trade, transportation and utilities picked up 2,900 positions.

Leisure and hospitality lost 4,300 jobs, while professional and business services dropped 2,600 positions. The state also saw an increase in initial claims for unemployment — 80,887 in April compared with 74,343 in March.

While Midland reported the lowest unemployment, McAllen-Edinburg-Mission and Brownsville-Harlingen tied for the highest at 10.1 percent each.

Feds say Colorado wildfire started on camp stove

Associated Press

LIVERMORE, Colo. — Warm, dry weather hindered hundreds of firefighters battling a blaze in northern Colorado that federal officials say started with a camp stove.

The fire, which has grown to cover about 12 square miles, had prompted officials to evacuate about 80 homes, but all residents were allowed to return by Friday night.

Firefighters protected neighborhoods by burning grass, shrubs and small brush to prevent the wildfire from advancing toward homes. Crews got a boost as wind pushed the blaze to an area scorched by a previous wildfire, which slowed its growth.

The fire about 20 miles northwest of Fort Collins was almost half contained Friday evening. More than 500 firefighters, two planes and five helicopters were on hand to help fight the blaze that started Monday. No homes or buildings have been damaged. Three firefighters have suffered minor injuries.

The U.S. Attorney's Office said that James J. Weber of Fort Collins started the fire with an outdoor stove while camping in the Roosevelt National Forest.

U.S. Forest Service investigators say the 56-year-old Weber, a mental health counselor at Colorado State University, tried to stamp out the fire Monday but then fled as the blaze spread. Wherer later reported to the Larimer County Sheriff's Office that he started the fire, officials said. There is no cell phone service in the area where the fire started.

The Forest Service issued Weber a citation for causing a fire without a permit. He faces a $300 fine. However, the authorities also plan to pursue restitution for the blaze.

Weber's lawyer, Joseph A. Gavaldon, said that his client is praying with "hope that this gets under control."

Weber "is most concerned about what's going on now," Gavaldon said, adding that Weber is focused on the well-being of the firefighters, residents and wildlife in the area.

Gavaldon refused to comment on how the fire started or any events that followed.

The Colorado blaze was one of several burning in the West. Wildfires charred terrain in Arizona, California, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah.

The most significant blaze in Arizona has led to the evacuation of two communities in the northern part of the state, including a historic mining town about 85 miles north of Phoenix. The blaze has grown to nearly 16 square miles and has destroyed three homes and a trailer. No significant injuries have been reported.

Troubled NM city cancels mayor meeting

Associated Press

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Councilors in a troubled New Mexico border city have canceled another meeting to appoint a mayor days after the state began taking over some of the city's functions amid a number of scandals.

Last Monday the Sunland Park City Council had scheduled a special meeting on Friday to vote on a new mayor, their fifth try at naming a new leader. But the meeting was called after council members were unable to break a tie on the votes for the appointment of the new city leader.

Mayor Pro Tem Isabel Santos told The Associated Press she and other councilors decided against holding the meeting Friday because the standstill that originated has not been resolved.

Councilman Sergio Carrillo said he is attending the meeting even when Santos has called it off. "If four of us show up, we have quorum to have a meeting," Carrillo said.

"Maybe we can elect a new mayor and get this over with; the city needs a mayor," he said.

However, no one showed up Friday.

Former Mayor Pro Tem and former Mayor-elect Daniel Salinas was barred from taking office after being indicted for schemes ranging from trying to force rival Gerardo Hernandez out of the race with a secretly recorded video of him getting a topless lap dance to unfolding allegations of widespread financial abuse.

Last month, the council appointed Javier Perea, a 24-year-old jewelry store worker, to fill the seat. But Perea resigned a week later after questions were raised about whether the council violated open meetings laws because so many people came to the meeting that they couldn't all fit in the chambers and the overflow crowd could not hear.

On the next meeting, held outdoors to accommodate neighbors, the council agreed to consider both Perea and Hernandez, who finished in second place after Salinas in March's election.

Hernandez has filed an appeal alleging fraud in the absentee ballots and is awaiting a ruling that could place him in the mayor's seat.

Aside from the political turmoil the city is in, a report released this week by State Auditor Hector Balderas accuses officials of using the city's budget as personal slush funds.

Immediately following the release of the report from the state auditor, Finance and Administration Secretary Tom Clifford suspended the town's finance director and purchasing agents and said the state was taking over those functions.

Balderas said the report was just the beginning of his probe and that he was asking the state to investigate the City Council.

Bag of human bones found near apartment complex

Lubbock police say a bag filled with human bones has been found near an apartment complex.

Capt. Jon Caspell said a maintenance crew working on sewage lines found the bones Friday morning.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported police believe the remains had been at the site for some time, but couldn't immediately say if it had been months or years.

Castell said the remains could be related to a cold case, but declined to comment on which one it might be. He also declined to say how deeply the sack was buried or the size or nature of the remains.

Castell said police will continue digging around the site.

Police fatally shoot man with knife on bus

Authorities say a knife-wielding man on a Houston bus who had been threatening another passenger was fatally shot by police.

The man had been arguing with the passenger as the bus traveled in southwest Houston on Friday when he pulled out a knife.

The Houston Chronicle reported when the bus stopped, the 20 other passengers on board and the driver got fled.

Houston police spokeswoman Jodi Silva said an officer boarded the bus and ordered the armed man to drop the knife and when the man refused and continued to lunge at the other passenger, he was shot.

The man, whose name has not been released, was taken to a local hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Silva said she didn't know what prompted the incident.

Glitch confuses investors of Facebook IPO

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Some investors who thought they had bought Facebook shares at the opening of trading were left without knowing for hours whether they had received the shares.

The Securities and Exchange Commission is looking into the glitches in the trading of Facebook's initial public offering around the time of its scheduled debut Friday on the Nasdaq Stock Market.

The glitches caused traders problems changing and canceling their orders.

Nasdaq said about noon that it was "investigating an issue in delivering trade execution messages" for Facebook stock.

The SEC will review the incident with Nasdaq "to determine its cause and steps that will be taken to address it," agency spokesman John Nester said.

Technical glitches at the Nasdaq Stock Market already had delayed the trading of Facebook's stock by half an hour.

The stock was expected to start trading at 11 a.m. However, it opened at 11:32 a.m. at $42.05. Facebook ended its opening day at $38.23.

Joseph Saluzzi, co-founder of broker Themis Trading, said it's understandable that a delay at the opening might occur with a large IPO like Facebook's.

"The problem is when people don't know if they had bought or sold a certain number of shares and that affects how people manage risk," Saluzzi said.

Brokers who might have wanted to sell after the IPO was priced weren't sure if they had received a piece of the highly anticipated offering from the online social networking phenomenon.

Nasdaq didn't respond to requests for comment, but the exchange posted a message on one of its websites telling investors who had problems buying or selling Facebook stock between 11:11 and 11:30 a.m. to call Nasdaq before 5 p.m. with their order information.

"Our intention is to reach resolution of those trades today through an offline matching process," Nasdaq said in a comment posted on its website. "If at the end of that process, a firm continues to have questions or concerns, the firm needs to submit a formal accommodation request to us through the normal channels."

OIL BRIEFS
FROM WIRE REPORTS

HOUSTON

Weekly US oil, gas rig count up by 12 to 1,986

The number of rigs actively exploring for oil and natural gas in the U.S. is up 12 this week to 1,986.

Houston-based oilfield services company Baker Hughes Inc. reported Friday that 1,382 rigs were exploring for oil and 600 were looking for gas. Four were listed as miscellaneous. A year ago this week, Baker Hughes reported 1,830 rigs.

Of the major oil- and gas-producing states, New Mexico gained three rigs; California and West Virginia each gained two; and Alaska, Colorado and North Dakota were up one apiece.

Pennsylvania declined by four rigs, and Arkansas declined by one.

Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming were unchanged.

NEW YORK

Expect lower gas prices heading into Memorial Day

If you're lucky enough to live in some parts of the United States, you may see gas pump prices fall to about $3.25 a gallon or less in the next week or two.

Retail gasoline prices dropped by a penny to a national average of $3.71 per gallon on Friday. That's 22 cents less than the high of $3.94 per gallon reached in early April. Lower oil prices are the main reason. Weaker demand also is helping to push down prices, as consumers watch their spending in the sluggish economic recovery.

Motorists on the West Coast, in Illinois and New York are paying the most for gas — from $3.83 per gallon to $4.54 per gallon — according to AAA, Wright Express and the Oil Price Information Service. The lowest prices, from $3.39 to $3.51 per gallon, were in the South and parts of the Midwest.

Prices should continue to decline heading into Memorial Day. The national average is expected to be about $3.60 per gallon, or a little bit higher for the long holiday weekend, but a smattering of cities may see prices much lower.

Stocks fall on Europe worries

Associated Press

The Dow Jones industrial average has been in a slump over the past two weeks as traders saw an escalating risk that Greece could leave the euro, causing more disruptions in markets. Remember the go-go days of May 1, 2012? The Dow was up 8.7 percent for the year. After Friday, it's up just 1.2 percent.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 73.11 points, to close at 12,369.38. It fell 3.5 percent for the week. The Dow has now declined on 12 of the last 13 trading days.

Nine of the 10 industry groups in the Standard & Poor's 500 index fell. Financials dropped the most, 1.1 percent.

The Standard & Poor's 500 index fell 9.64 points to close at 1,295.22. The Nasdaq composite index fell 34.90 points, or 1.2 percent, to close at 2,778.79.

Arizona official: It's 'possible' Obama won't make ballot

McClatchy Tribune

WASHINGTON — In a revival of the controversy surrounding President Barack Obama's Hawaii birth certificate, a state official in Arizona says it's "possible" that he'll hold Obama's name off the Arizona ballot if Hawaii officials don't send him confirmation that the president was born there.

Arizona Secretary of State Ken Bennett, a Republican who is exploring a 2014 race for governor, said he waded into the issue after receiving more than 1,200 emails from people requesting that he verify Obama's birth in Hawaii before placing the president's name on the 2012 ballot.

"First of all, I'm not playing to the birthers," Bennett said in a radio interview with KFYI radio host Mike Broomhead. "I'm not a birther. I believe that the president was born in Hawaii — or at least I hope he was."

"But my responsibility as secretary of state is to make sure that the ballots in Arizona are correct and that those people whose names are on the ballots have met the qualifications for the office that they're seeking," he said.

Ever since Obama ran for president in 2008, some critics known as "birthers" have suggested, without proof, that he was born in Kenya. The Constitution states that only natural-born citizens can be elected president or vice president.

In an effort to put the issue to rest, the Obama campaign in 2008 released a certificate of live birth from the Hawaii Health Department. Still unsatisfied, Obama's detractors demanded release of his original birth certificate, which is not considered a public record under Hawaii law.

The White House posted a copy of the long-form version of his birth certificate last April. Doing so required the president to personally send a request to the Hawaii Department of Health. A White House official retrieved the certificate in person and copies of it were given to reporters and posted to the White House website.

"I have seen the original records filed at the Department of Health and attest to the authenticity of the certified copies the department provided to the president that further prove the fact that he was born in Hawaii," Hawaii Health Director Loretta Fuddy said in a statement at the time that the long-form birth certificate was released.

Documents show Loretta Lynn older than she claims

Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Country music legend Loretta Lynn is three years older than she has led people to believe, an age change that undermines the story she told of being married at 13 in "Coal Miner's Daughter," documents obtained by The Associated Press show.

Lynn's birth certificate on file at the state Office of Vital Statistics in Frankfort, Ky., shows that Loretta Webb was born on April 14, 1932, in Johnson County, Kentucky. That makes her 80 years old, not 77. Also on file is her marriage license and two affidavits from her mother, Clara Marie Ramey, and S.W. Ward Jr., who was not related to the family, listing the same birthdate.

The records weren't filed until 1965, which meant that Lynn needed multiple documents to prove her age at that time. Lynn's signature appears on the document as Loretta Webb Lynn.

Melvin Webb lists his daughter "Loretta" as 7 years old for the 1940 Census, according to a digital copy on file at the Kentucky Historical Society. Lynn's marriage license, obtained by the AP from the Johnson County clerk's office, lists her as 15 on Jan. 10, 1948.

Country music star Loretta Lynn, right, and actress Zooey Deschanel sing Lynn's hit "Coal Miner's Daughter" during a performance of the Grand Ole Opry on May 10 in Nashville, Tenn. Newly discovered documents indicate Lynn is three years older than she has led people to believe, a change that undermines the story told in "Coal Miner's Daughter."

In "Coal Miner's Daughter," the autobiography that became an Academy Award-winning film, Lynn told a different story — that she was married at 13 and was a mother of four by 18. Most books and public references to Lynn list her current age as 77.

When contacted by the AP, Lynn's spokeswoman, Nancy Russell of Nashville, Tenn., declined comment. She said that Lynn has told her before in no uncertain terms, "If anyone asks how old I am, tell them it's none of their business!"

Lynn's younger brother, Herman Webb, declined to disclose Lynn's age, although he said there might have been a "mix-up" with Lynn's paperwork after she moved to Nashville to launch her country career. Her parents and many other relatives, including her husband, O.V. "Mooney" Lynn, are dead.

Lynn isn't the first celebrity of a certain age to be less than forthcoming about a birthday, but the discrepancy is significant because age isn't just a number for the Country Music Hall of Fame member. It is woven into her compelling life story, made famous in her 1976 bestselling autobiography, "Coal Miner's Daughter," and the subsequent film starring Sissy Spacek. The movie made $67 million nationwide and was nominated for seven Oscars; Spacek won for her portrayal of Lynn.

The Grammy-winning singer recently announced that it will become a Broadway musical, starring actress and singer Zooey Deschanel.

The way Lynn chose to tell it in the book, she was married at 13, moved with her husband to Washington state at 16 and was a mother of four by 18. Lynn has six kids in all. The marriage certificate shows that Lynn instead married just shy of her 16th birthday, which was not unusual in Kentucky at that time. Her husband was 21.

It would have been illegal for a girl under the age of 14 to marry in Kentucky in 1948, said R. Eric Henninger of the Kentucky State Law Library. At that time, he said, "lots of folks didn't have any sort of official proof of age."

Straily strikes out 15, 'Hounds score in 9th to beat Hooks

By Oscar LeRoy
Sports Writer

RockHounds	6
Hooks	5

Dan Straily's baggy pants were just flailing in the stiff breeze on Friday night, but there was no way that would distract him on the mound against the Corpus Christi Hooks. He would just take a deep breath and deliver the pitch.

As it turned out, the Hooks' offense wasn't going to bother Straily much either and the 24-year-old righthanded starter for the Midland RockHounds struck out 15 batters and allowed just one run on three hits through seven innings.

Unfortunately for Straily, he got a no decision as the Hooks' came back to tie the game at 5 before the RockHounds rallied to win it, 6-5, in the bottom of the ninth when Jeremy Barfield scored on sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Josh Horton in front of 5,687 fans at Citibank Ballpark.

The RockHounds (22-19) also moved to within two games of Texas League South Division leader Frisco, which lost 5-2 to San Antonio on Friday.

Straily, who saw his ERA drop from 4.37 to 3.96, just shrugged off the no decision and was just as happy for the team win.

Straily

"We're like the comeback kids around here, we just keep battling," said Straily, whose 15 strikeouts was six shy of the Texas League record of 21 set in 1978 by Tulsa's Dave Righetti. "It was no different tonight. We just went out there and just kept battling. And once again, we found ourselves on the right end of a walk-off."

Straily, who also walked one batter, left with a 4-1 lead before the Hooks rallied with two unearned runs in the eighth.

After Midland added a run in the bottom of the eighth on an RBI single by Michael Choice for a 5-3 lead, the Hooks rallied again against closer Jonathan Ortiz and tied the game when Jacob Goebbert punched a two-run, two-out single into center field.

But in the bottom of the ninth, Barfield reached on a walk and Anthony Aliotti reached on an error. After a sacrifice bunt by Ryan Ortiz to move runners over, Kevin Chapman (2-2) intentionally walked Leonardo Gil. Horton, who came in to pinch hit for Dusty Coleman (2 for 4 with a solo home run), faced an 0-2 count against Hooks reliever Jason Stoffel before he lifted a fly ball just deep enough in center to score Barfield with the winning run.

"It was unfortunate," said Midland manager Steve Scarsone about not getting his pitcher that win. "Jonathan Ortiz has been extremely good in that save role, but that ball got through and you've got to give (the Hooks) credit for not just quitting. That's HOUSTON — Rangers starter Neftali Feliz couldn't locate his pitches Friday night. The relievers who came out of Texas' bullpen had no problem in that area, though.

Adrian Beltre homered and drove in two runs and Michael Young broke out of a slump with two hits and an RBI to lift the Rangers to a 4-1 win over the Houston Astros.

Feliz allowed three hits and a run with five walks in 4 2/3 innings — his shortest start of the year.

"It all comes down to, he just couldn't command the baseball and he just couldn't find the rhythm that he needed," Texas manager Ron Washington said.

Feliz was relieved by Robbie Ross (5-0), who allowed one hit in 2 1-3 innings for the win.

Joe Nathan pitched a perfect ninth for his ninth save. He has appeared in four straight games for the first time since September 2009.

"Showed me the professional he is, showed me the great teammate that he is, showed me that he will do whatever he has to do to make things happen for his team," Washington said. "We certainly appreciate what he's done because we called on him way beyond his duty the past few days."

Nathan doesn't mind pitching several days in a row.

"It's a situation where I'm feeling better now, feeling stronger and I think everybody here is getting more comfortable with putting me out there on consecutive days," he said.

The Rangers were up 3-1 when Beltre belted his eighth homer, a two-out solo shot to left-center in the seventh inning. Beltre, who has a season-high nine-game hitting streak, put Texas on top 1-0 in the third with a sacrifice fly. He also doubled in the fifth and scored on Young's double to make it 3-1.

Young entered the game in a 0-for-11 slide and was 5 for 41 with one RBI in his previous nine games.

Big 12, SEC have deal for football champs to play

Associated Press

Neinas

Slive

The Big 12 and the Southeastern conferences have announced a deal that will pit their football regular-season champions against each other in a New Year's Day bowl game for five years beginning in 2014, positioning themselves for the expected switch to a four-team playoff.

In fact, SEC Commissioner Mike Slive all but said it's coming in Friday's announcement of the agreement between two of the most successful BCS conferences.

"A new January bowl tradition is born," Slive said in a statement. "This new game will provide a great matchup between the two most successful conferences in the BCS era and will complement the exciting postseason atmosphere created by the new four-team model. Most importantly, it will provide our student-athletes, coaches and fans with an outstanding bowl experience."

If one or both of the league champions are selected to play in the playoff, another team would be selected for the Big 12-SEC bowl showdown on Jan. 1.

The move will establish the equivalent of the Pac 12 vs. Big Ten Rose Bowl, minus nearly a century of tradition. Those two conferences have pushed for a new format preserving that matchup for the Rose Bowl, which Slive has indicated he doesn't favor.

"Our goal is to provide the fans across the country with a New Year's Day prime-time tradition," acting Big 12 Conference Commissioner Chuck Neinas said. "This is a landmark agreement between two of the most successful football conferences during the BCS era to stage a postseason event. The creation of this game featuring the champions of the Big 12 and SEC will have tremendous resonance in college football."

Specific details for the matchup, including host sites, will be announced later.

BCS executive director Bill Hancock has said 11 conference commissioners and Notre Dame's athletic director will present a "small number" of options — two to seven configurations — for a four-team playoff to their leagues at conference meetings this summer.

SEC teams have won the past six BCS national titles, including Alabama's victory over LSU in January. The Big 12 and SEC have each had a top-four team in the final standings in 11 of the 14 seasons since the BCS was created, the most of any league. They share the top spot with 14 teams apiece finishing in one of those four spots.

The two league champions have met twice in BCS bowl games since 1998, both in BCS championship games. In 2010, Alabama defeated Texas, 37-21, in Pasadena, Cal., and in 2009 Florida defeated Oklahoma, 24-14, in Miami.

Chaps finish national tournament in 6th place

From staff reports

NEWTON, Kan. — The Midland College golf team improved on its rough third day at the NJCAA Division I National Championship, but only by four strokes on Friday and finished the tournament in sixth place.

The Chaps shot a 311 at Sand Creek Station in Newton, Kan., which was four strokes better than the 315 MC on the third day that took the Chaps out of contention for a national title. They finished at 1,214 for the tournament.

Midland College was one stroke behind fifth-place Darton (Ga.) Community College and four behind fourth place Meridian (Miss.) Community College, which shot 1,210 over four rounds. This year's sixth-place finish marks the 23rd time in 25 years of playing in the NJCAA national tournament that Midland College has finished sixth or better.

Bodemeister takes aim at Preakness win

By Tim Wilkin
Albany Times Union

BALTIMORE — Mike Smith, jockey of the super-fast colt Bodemeister, thinks he will be visiting the winner's circle this evening at Pimlico Race Course.

"I am extremely confident in this horse's talent," Smith said in the Pimlico jockey's room Friday, the day before the 137th running of the $1 million Preakness Stakes. "I think he can win, without a doubt. And I think he can win impressively."

Bodemeister is the 8-5 morning-line favorite in the Preakness, the second jewel of the elusive Triple Crown.

Bodemeister is the favorite because of his gutty second-place finish in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago. The colt, a son of 2003 Belmont Stakes winner Empire Maker, set some of the fastest fractions in Derby history before getting caught in the final sixteenth of a mile by I'll Have Another.

The Derby winner? Well, he's in the 11-horse field, too, and his trainer, Doug O'Neill, sounds just as confident about I'll Have Another as Smith does about Bodemeister.

"We're going to win," O'Neill said this week. "Obviously, we need a lot of racing luck, and things need to go our way, but if we have things go our way, I think we'll be very tough."

"I thought it was a good effort on the guys' part, and it was really difficult playing today," Midland College coach Delnor Poss said. "We've had a lot of years of sixth or better. We set that as one of the goals this year and I was happy with the guys accomplishing that."

Indian Hills Community College won its second straight title as Indian Hills produced its first over-300 round of the tournament on Friday but finished 13 strokes ahead of second-place Western Texas. The Westerners shot 308 on Friday and finished at 1,198 and Indian was at 1,185 after the four rounds.

Odessa College moved up to third after firing a 311 on Friday and were at 1,206.

"(The weather) was actually worse today, and I think it's indicative of the scores, and we had one of the best scores of the day," Poss said.

Midland College freshman Tyson Turnbow was the only Chap to finish in the top 15 and earned second team NJCAA All-American honors after tying for the eighth spot. Turnbow shot a final-round 74 on Friday and was at 297 for the tournament.

Paul Simpson finished tied for 35th after an 81 on Friday and finished at 308, with Luke Richardson ending up tied for 37th after a final round 77 and finishing at 309. Richie Farmer was at 312 and tied for 59th in the tournament and shot 83 in Friday's final round. Blake Brorman shot a 79 on Friday and also finished tied for 59th at 312.

"At least we made a run early with the three freshmen," Poss said. "That was a good performance today, and we could've made up some ground and we almost did. Our two stars, Richardson and Farmer, didn't play anywhere close to their ability and it really did affect us this week. Blake Brorman and Paul Simpson stepped up and had good rounds, and Tyson had a solid week. Being second team all-american is awfully good when you're playing the type of competition we play."

Hawks end season after going 2-2 at national tournament

From staff reports

ST. GEORGE, Utah — The Howard College softball team was eliminated from the NJCAA Division I Fast-Pitch Tournament on Friday after falling to Northeastern Oklahoma, 6-1, at Canyons Complex.

The Hawks managed to get one run across in the bottom of the fourth inning, making the score 3-1 at that point. After leading the inning off with a single, Faith Koria eventually came around to score courtesy of a sacrifice fly by third baseman Jazzmin Arrant.

It was Howard College's second loss in two days at the national tournament. The first came in the second round Thursday against Salt Lake Community College, 9-5. In that loss, the Hawks surrendered seven runs in the first two innings, but rallied with a five-run third inning.

The Hawks couldn't get on the board again, though, and Salt Lake added two insurance runs in the sixth. Arrant had a home run and three RBI in the game.

Howard opened the tournament Thursday with a 5-1 victory against Lake Land College, using a five-run sixth inning to claim the win. Megan Granado had a three-run homer in the inning, while pitcher Sandra Serna allowed just one run on five hits and four walks over seven innings of work.

Howard also started Friday on a good note, taking a 12-9 decision from Seminole State. Granado and Claudette Smith each homered in the game, while WJCAC MVP Olive Naotala was 2 for 5 with three RBI.

Howard finishes the season with a 49-17 record after making its second straight trip to the national tournament.

just the way this league is as every team is going to fight until the end. At least (Straily) got the satisfaction of walking out with satisfaction of his performance, plus the team win."

Even though he didn't get the win, Straily just wanted to pitch better than in his last two starts where he struggled to get past five innings.

"I had been struggling with fastball command recently and I just got to the point where I wasn't going to let it happen any more," said Straily, who had an 11-strikeout performance against the Hooks on May 3. "I put my foot down and said 'enough is enough.' Fortunately I had my slider tonight and that was my best pitch. I threw a lot of them, got a lot of swings and misses and got a lot of groundballs out of it. It was one of those nights where everything was working."

The Hooks were swinging and missing early as Straily struck out two of the three batters he faced in the first inning.

At one point Straily struck out nine consecutive batters and even struck out four in the fifth when catcher Ryan Ortiz dropped a called third strike on Jonathan Villar and then threw the ball away when he was trying to get the putout at first base. Straily wasn't fazed as he proceeded to strike out Goebbert to end the inning.

"That was my first one ever," said Straily about his four-strikeout inning. "An errant throw and that happens one time out of a hundred. He never does that. (Ortiz) came out there and said 'OK, let's get this one, too.' The important part was to get the next out because the score of the game dictated that."

Scarsone said Straily's performance was "phenomenal."

"It was a combination of throwing all his pitches for strikes when he needed to and then getting the swings and misses on balls out of the zone," he said. "He was in a zone.

"His last outing wasn't quite as sharp in San Antonio, but tonight was his night," Scarsone added. "I believe his mom was here, so she got a chance to see that. We're going to have to bring her on the road."

'HOUND BITES: The RockHounds could have made things a little easier on starter Dan Straily with a few more runs as they stranded 13 on base. ...RHP James Simmons has been placed on the seven-day disabled list retroactive to May 15. Taking his roster spot from Advanced-A Stockton is RHP Arnold Leon. ... Corpus' Jonathan Villar stole his Texas League-best 17th base in 21 attempts in the eighth inning. ...Hooks RF T.J. Steele struck out all four times at the plate.

TODAY'S PROBABLES: The RockHounds host Corpus Christi in the second game of their four-game series at 7 p.m. today as Midland is expected to start RHP Sonny Gray (1-2, 4.54 ERA), while the Hooks will probably start RHP Ross Seaton (1-2, 4.29).

Notes & Quotes: This is the first of two scheduled meetings between Abilene and West Texas this season. Both squads have just two wins this season with Abilene dropping three of its last four, while the Roughnecks have lost two of their last three. ... This is the last of five straight home games for the Roughnecks. They have a 2-2 record so far during that span, and would like to come out of the long home stand with a winning record. After today's game, West Texas has just one home game remaining on the schedule when they host Corpus Christi on June 9. ... This is the third straight road game for Abilene and two of the Ruff Riders next three games after today are also on the road. They're 0-3 on the road this season. ... The Roughnecks' Daniel Dillinger has established himself as perhaps the best kicker in the Lone Star Football League this season. Dillinger has converted five of his 10 FG attempts and has also made 17 of 22 extra points. Kicking field goals and extra points in arena football is more difficult because the uprights are more than three feet narrower than in traditional football. Dillinger is 10th in the LSFL in scoring, averaging 9.5 points per game.

Cubs P Wood retires after 13-plus seasons

By Rick Gano
Associated Press

CHICAGO — Kerry Wood arrived in the majors 14 years ago, a fresh-faced kid with No. 34 on his back, slinging fastballs at 100 mph, delivering breaking pitches that were often unhittable and striking out 20 batters in just his fifth start.

On Friday, he left the game after one final, emotional appearance with the Chicago Cubs.

Fittingly, "Kid K" struck out the last batter he'll ever face and retired at the age of 34, ending a career that was eye-popping at times but hampered by injuries.

"I had a blast. I wouldn't trade it in. I learned from the injuries, I learned about my body and what it takes to compete and go out and play every day," Wood said after his final game, a 3-2 loss to the White Sox.

"Mentally and physically we get to this point," Wood said. "Every player gets to this point where we don't all get to choose when, we don't all get to have a say in it. But I was fortunate enough to play this game a long time in a great city in front of the best fans in baseball. ... It was time."

Wood struck out Dayan Viciedo on three pitches, the last one a swing and a miss, in the eighth inning before he was replaced by bench coach Jamie Quirk — manager Dale Sveum had been ejected earlier. His teammates joined Wood on the mound to congratulate him and he left to a rousing ovation. Even White Sox slugger Adam Dunn doffed his batting helmet and clapped for Wood as he stood at first base.

Wood hugged his son as he reached the dugout, then lifted the boy into his arms. Moments later, he came out for a curtain call and waved his cap to the fans.

"I felt like I was getting ready to pitch my first inning. The adrenaline was the same, the nerves were the same. I can't give enough credit to the fans, just a tremendous feeling," Wood said.

Wood went on the disabled list this season with shoulder fatigue — he was on the DL more than a dozen times during his career — and had struggled all year. His frustrations were evident when, after a bad outing against the Atlanta Braves at Wrigley Field, he tossed his cap and glove into the stands.

"My body wasn't bouncing back this year. I felt like I was putting guys in the 'pen in situations they didn't need to be in. I definitely didn't want to go out with my last inning being me throwing my glove in the seats," Wood said. "I wanted to put up a zero or at least get one guy out."

FRIDAY'S MLB ROUNDUP

FROM WIRE REPORTS

INTERLEAGUE
TIGERS 6, PIRATES 0

DETROIT — Justin Verlander came within two outs of his third no-hitter, allowing only Josh Harrison's ninth-inning single in the Detroit Tigers' 6-0 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates on Friday night.

The 29-year-old Verlander, last year's AL MVP and Cy Young Award winner, nearly became the sixth major league pitcher with at least three career no-hitters. But with one out in the ninth, Harrison reached out and flicked a 1-2 slider into shallow center field for a clean single.

YANKEES 4, REDS 0

NEW YORK — Andy Pettitte pitched eight sharp innings for his first regular-season win since July 2010, leading New York over Cincinnati.

Making his second major league start since ending his one-year retirement, the 39-year-old Pettitte (1-1) limited the young, free-swinging Reds to four hits — all singles. He struck out nine and walked one, throwing 78 of 115 pitches for strikes.

BRAVES 5, RAYS 3

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Tommy Hanson pitched seven effective innings, Freddie Freeman drove in two runs and Atlanta beat Tampa Bay.

Hanson (5-3) allowed two runs and six hits. Freeman had a run-scoring double and Brian McCann hit an RBI single that put the Braves up 4-2 in the fifth. Martin Prado added a solo homer in the seventh.

MARLINS 3, INDIANS 2

CLEVELAND — Carlos Zambrano pitched seven strong innings to help Miami open interleague play with a victory over Cleveland.

The Marlins broke a 2-all tie in the eighth on a sacrifice fly by Hanley Ramirez. All three Miami runs were scored by batters who walked.

BLUE JAYS 14, METS 5

TORONTO — J.P. Arencibia and Rajai Davis each hit two home runs, Yan Gomes hit his first career homer and Toronto routed the New York Mets.

Trailing by nine, the Mets gave their weary bullpen a break by turning to catcher Rob Johnson to pitch the eighth. Johnson produced New York's only 1-2-3 inning of the night, striking out Eric Thames to end it.

WHITE SOX 3, CUBS 2

CHICAGO — Gordon Beckham hit a tiebreaking home run in the eighth inning and the Chicago White Sox beat their crosstown rivals in what was likely the final major league game for Cubs reliever Kerry Wood.

Beckham's solo shot and a two-run drive by Paul Konerko in the first were the only runs allowed by Cubs starter Jeff Samardzija (4-2).

PHILLIES 6, RED SOX 4

PHILADELPHIA — Cole Hamels pitched seven strong innings and Jonathan Papelbon saved his first game against his former team in Philadelphia's sixth straight victory.

ORIOLES 2, NATIONALS 1, 11 INNINGS

WASHINGTON — Nick Markakis homered into the second deck in right field to give Baltimore a victory over its beltway rival.

RANGERS

From 1B

Rangers got to Wandy Rodriguez (3-4) for a season-high 10 hits and three runs in six innings.

Josh Hamilton went 1 for 5, a day after his 16-game hitting streak ended. Ian Kinsler added three hits for the Rangers.

The crowd of 34,715 was much larger than what Houston has been drawing this season. Many fans were rooting for the Rangers, with chants of "Let's go Rangers!" breaking out sporadically and bellows of "Cruuuuuz" filling the park each time right fielder Nelson Cruz was at the plate. Some of the loudest cheers of the night came when Texas president Nolan Ryan, who pitched for both the Astros and Rangers, threw out the ceremonial first pitch.

Rangers set to counter Devils' success in Game 3

By Tom Canavan
Associated Press

NEWARK, N.J. — For one game, at least, in the Eastern Conference finals, the New Jersey Devils found a way to beat Henrik Lundqvist and the New York Rangers.

After losing out in the Rangers' block party in Game 1, the Devils found a solution in Game 2. They forechecked, moved the puck, didn't give the New York defense time to set up, shot quickly and got traffic in front of the Rangers' goaltender.

It wasn't anything novel. It was Hockey 101, and a better effort than in the opener of the best-of-7 series.

Now it's the Rangers' turn to respond as the series shifts to New Jersey for Game 3 at the Prudential Center today.

"We know the Rangers are going to push," Devils coach Peter DeBoer said. "We know they're going to come out and play a great hockey game tomorrow. It's on us to do the same thing. So I expect it to be the best game of the series tomorrow from both ends."

Both teams returned to the ice on Friday and, of course, continued to tweak their games.

"I think both teams," DeBoer said, "are going to take their game to another level."

At the least, the Devils need to prevent the Rangers from blocking shots again. New York blocked 26 in its 3-0 win in Game 1, but New Jersey did a much better job in getting rubber at Lundqvist in evening the series on Wednesday.

"They do a great job of blocking shots, but the reality of it is that we have to get two or three guys in front and then somehow get the puck through," said Devils defenseman Bryce Salvador, who had assists on New Jersey's final two goals, including the primary one on Ryan Carter's game-tying goal late in the second period Wednesday.

"They do it more than anyone. We have to maintain some sort of presence in front of the net. It doesn't have to be a great shot, but it has to get there. I tried to get it to the side of the goal and Carter got to it. If we don't try, then nothing goes in. We have to get the pucks to the net to create second shots."

Devils center Travis Zajac, who was reunited with Zach Parise and Ilya Kovalchuk as his wings in Game 2, said New Jersey was able to apply more pressure the second time around.

"The focus will continue to be to get as many pucks to the net as possible," he said. "If we move the puck quickly, we don't give them a chance to set up, so that helps. I think we also won battles earlier in the shift to get to the point where they couldn't block shots."

Losing the battles didn't sit well with Rangers coach John Tortorella. New York posted the best record in the conference by winning the little wars all season, and wouldn't have survived two seven-game series vs. Ottawa and Washington to get to this point, had it not showed that kind of grit.

"I think that's a big part of how we play," Tortorella said Friday. "Big, small or medium build, we play hard along the boards. Obviously, that was void the other night. So no matter who it is, when you're at this point in the season, you're playing against teams that we're playing against, Jersey, and the other two teams playing in the West, that's a big part of playoff hockey. That's a big part of who we are, and we certainly have to be more consistent with that part."

Kyle Busch captures pole for Sprint All-Star race

By Steve Reed
Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Kyle Busch has been a force on the NASCAR circuit for years, but of is 24 Sprint Cup victories, none have come at his favorite track — Charlotte Motor Speedway.

He has nine top-10 finishes in 16 starts. Victory lane, though, has proven to be elusive.

He's hoping that's all about to change after capturing the pole for Saturday night's Sprint All-Star race for the second straight year. Busch completed the unique three-lap qualifying that included a mandatory four-tire pit stop in 1 minute, 59.11 seconds, wrestling the pole away from Ryan Newman.

While winning the pole puts Busch and his No. 18 Toyota in great position to win his first All-Star race, it certainly doesn't guarantee a first-place finish — and the $1 million prize that comes with a win. In fact, winning the pole has proven to be a bit of a curse.

The last pole winner to win the All-Star race was Davey Allison in 1992.

Just don't tell Busch that.

"I don't have a win here in a cup car, so we're definitely trying to break through that threshold," Busch said. "To do that you have to be able to put a whole night together and I haven't been able to do that here in the past. Last year we ran a smart race and a good race, but we came up a little short. Hopefully the lessons we learn there will allow things to turn out different this time."

Kyle Busch raises the trophy in Victory Lane after winning the pole position Friday for today's NASCAR Sprint All-Star race in Concord, N.C.

It appeared for a while that Newman's time of 1:59.82 might hold up after 17 other drivers were unable to beat him. However, Busch, who was the fastest during practice and the last driver to hit the track for qualifying, pushed Newman to the outside row.

Denny Hamlin will start third, followed by Greg Biffle and Kevin Harvick. Jimmie Johnson qualified sixth, while Paul Menard, Jeff Gordon, Tony Stewart and Regan Smith round out the top 10.

Defending champion Carl Edwards will start 13th.

The All-Star race format has changed significantly this year.

The 90-lap race will be split into four 20-lap segments preceding a 10-lap shootout. There will be a mandatory pit stop prior to the final 10 laps.

The new format places a premium on winning one of the four segments and showcases the importance of the pit crew. The winner of each segment will move to the front of the field right before the cars head down pit road for their mandatory stop. Drivers will then line up in the order they leave pit road to start the final segment.

Busch's strategy is to win the first segment.

"If you win that first segment that sets your pace for the whole night," Busch said. "From that point out all you have to do is stay out of trouble and make it to their final segment where they have the realign and you start in the top four."

Veteran crew chief and former team owner Ray Evernham says the new format forces teams to have a fluid strategy.

"Nobody can sit here and say this is what we're going to do. You've got to perform on the fly," Evernham said.

FROM WIRE REPORTS

76ERS 92, CELTICS 83

PHILADELPHIA — Andre Iguodala snapped a tie game with five straight points in the final 90 seconds to help the Philadelphia 76ers storm back from 15 points down and stun the Boston Celtics 92-83 on Friday night in Game 4 of the Eastern Conference semifinals.

The Sixers were a team reborn in the second half and played like a squad that refused to roll over for the championship-tested Celtics. They tied the series at 2-2 and guaranteed a return home for one more game.

Iguodala, one of the more-maligned athletes in Preakness history, put the Sixers ahead 85-83 and buried a 3-pointer for a five-point lead.

Game 5 is Monday in Boston.

Iguodala scored 16 points, Evan Turner had 16 and Lou Williams added 15.

Kevin Garnett had his first bad outing in an otherwise monster series with nine points. With Garnett in a funk, so were the Celtics.

PREAKNESS

From 1B

I'll Have Another has won all three of his starts this year, but had everything go his own way in the Derby. He was one of the lucky horses not involved with any traffic problems. He and 25-year-old jockey Mario Gutierrez, who will make his first Preakness start after a successful maiden voyage in the Derby, ran down Bodemeister to win the roses and be the only horse with a chance to sweep the Triple Crown since Affirmed in 1978.

"A lot of people thought I was going to melt down there," Gutierrez said of the Derby. "You know what? The horse is going to take me there. I believe in the horse. He did it for me in the Kentucky Derby, he's looking great and he's going to do it again. I'm not doing anything. The horse is just proving a lot of people wrong."

Both horses will have to overcome obstacles. For Bodemeister, it will be his third race in five weeks. When does fatigue start to settle in, or is this an iron horse?

"My horses are really fit horses," said Bob Baffert, Bodemeister's Hall of Fame trainer. "They can handle a lot. He handled the Derby pretty well. He doesn't look like a horse who just ran a mile and a quarter."

In the Preakness, I'll Have Another will have a sixteenth of a mile less to reel in Bodemeister.

O'Neill is confident his colt will be able to track Bodemeister, who everyone agrees is the fastest horse in the race.

"I think there will be some speed with him," said Hall of Fame trainer D. Wayne Lukas, who will saddle long shot Optimizer in the Preakness. "In these Triple Crown races, form goes out the window, as far as pace goes. It's not realistic. But if Bodemeister gets loose on the lead, he is very dangerous.

I think he gets bolder and bolder."

Besides the top two finishers in the Derby, the Preakness has attracted Went the Day Well (fourth in the Run for the Roses), Creative Cause (fifth) and Daddy Nose Best (10th). Optimizer was 11th in the Derby.

Horses who run in the Derby, are, historically, the horses to beat in the Preakness. Since 2000, only three horses who didn't run in the Derby (Red Bullet in 2000, Bernardini in 2006 and Rachel Alexandra in 2009) have won the Preakness.

"Horses who have done well at the Derby, they're peaking now, they're in the zone," Baffert said. "My horse is fast, Doug's horse is fast. These are good horses."

There are those who will say the Derby is a two-horse race. You won't get that from trainer Mike Harrington, whose Creative Cause lost the Santa Anita Derby to I'll Have Another by a nose and then was beaten three lengths despite a wide trip in the Derby.

Jason Dufner chips onto the 16th green Friday during the second round of the PGA Byron Nelson Championship in Irving. Dufner finished with a two-round score of 7-under-par.

Dufner takes Nelson lead with late birdie spree

By Stephen Hawkins
Associated Press

IRVING — Standing over his ball in a swale behind the 18th green, Jason Dufner would have been content with a par and a spot in the big group tied for the lead in the Byron Nelson Championship.

Instead, Dufner had the lead to himself Friday. He finished by chipping in from 37 feet, his fourth birdie in five holes, after driving wide right and having his approach roll over the green.

"No, that wasn't in the thought process," Dufner said. "Pretty lucky for it to go in, but that's part of golf. Sometimes you get those breaks."

His second long chip-in wrapped up a 4-under 66 for a two-round total of 7-under 133. That put Dufner a stroke ahead of a group of six players that included Matt Kuchar, the world's fifth-ranked player who won The Players Championship last week.

Dufner got married the week after his first PGA Tour victory at New Orleans last month, and returned to play last week.

He has the 36-hole lead for the fourth time this season, including the Masters, and the seventh time in his career. The experience of having a victory can provide a different mindset while leading at the halfway point again.

"Maybe a little bit," he said. "I'm confident with my game and happy with where my game is right now."

Kuchar shot a 68 to join first-round leader Ryan Palmer (70), Chad Campbell (66), Pat Perez (67), Dickey Pride (68) and Marc Leishman (69) at 6 under.

Defending champion Keegan Bradley (68), who last summer won the PGA Championship three months after becoming a first-time winner in a Nelson playoff against Palmer, was two strokes behind the leaders along with Ryuji Imada (68) and Charley Hoffman (69).

Kuchar recovered from a miserable early stretch when he had two bogeys and a double bogey in a four-hole span.

After a birdie at No. 10 to start his second round, Kuchar had a bogey at the 455-yard 12th when his approach from the rough landed in a bunker. His approach at No. 14 went in the water, leading to a double bogey before he again wasn't able to get up-and-down out of a greenside bunker at the par-4 15th.

"I got on the wrong side of things," Kuchar said. "Par 5, took advantage of that. So I was pleased that I was able to hang in there and bounce back."

His approach at the 546-yard 16th was inside of 5 feet. That was the first of his five birdies without another bogey over his final 12 holes.

Kuchar still has chance to become the first PGA Tour player since Tiger Woods in 2009 to win in consecutive weeks. Woods also was the last player to win in his next start after winning The Players Championship. That was in 2001, two years after David Duval pulled off that feat.

The only other top 10 player in the field is Phil Mickelson, who had a fitting finish in a round of 69 with a double bogey after his tee shot at No. 18 went in the water and his approach after the drop went over the green.

"I hit it terrible today, there was no other way around it," Mickelson said. "I've just got some mechanical issues where I was not striking the ball very solid. I was able to hit decent shots on the backside to make birdies and make a run, but that last hole stunk."

Temperatures, after a cool start, will rise to very comfortable levels by the afternoon. There will be a few thunderstorms that develop over the central Appalachians in the afternoon because of daytime heating.

The rest of the Southeast will remain mainly dry with the exception of coastal sections of the Carolinas and much of Florida.

Teen's anti-cursing crusade causes friend to cry foul

DEAR ABBY

Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. Her column is distributed by Universal Press Syndicate.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 19 and have a dear friend, "Emily," who is offended by cussing. She literally has never said a curse word in her life. When I'm around her, I never use swear words because I respect her and her friendship.

My issue is that Emily gets very upset if people swear around her. There have been nights that she ended up in tears because someone used foul language. She also angrily confronts people on this issue.

I commend my friend on her decision not to curse, but I think it's unrealistic of her to expect everyone in the world to bend to her morals. I also think it's wrong for her to try to force them. Abby, what are your thoughts? — CHALLENGED FRIEND IN LARAMIE, WYO.

DEAR CHALLENGED: If Emily prefers not to be in the company of people who use four-letter words, that's her privilege. And if she finds it offensive, she has a right to speak up and make it known. But to "wind up in tears" because someone used foul language — as long as it wasn't directed toward her — is overreacting. And for her to angrily confront someone about it would only invite more of the same. Emily will be much happier if she spends more time in the company of people who feel as she does.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, "Gina," is engaged but hasn't started making any plans yet. We have had some rough mother/daughter years but are now in a good place. When it's time, I would like my daughter to ask me to help her pick out her wedding gown. I have a strong hunch that Gina will ask a girlfriend instead. I also know that if I talk to her about my wishes, she'll say, "Sure" or ask me to join her friends. This may seem silly, but I want her to want just me to go. What do you think is the best way to handle this? — MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: Your relationship with your daughter may be better now, but its pattern was established years ago. You appear to be extremely invested in an "ideal" of how her wedding will be. For your own sake, lower your expectations. You can't make somebody want something if it doesn't come naturally. Because Gina isn't a mind reader, speak up now for that exclusive mother/daughter shopping jaunt. If she likes your fashion sense, she may agree. However, it is not unusual for a bride to include not only her mother, but also her attendants and future mother-in-law when choosing her wedding dress.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend bought his house two years ago. We were fortunate to have found such a darling little place. It was owned by only one woman since it was built in the 1950s. She is now deceased, and we have no way of contacting anyone in her family.

For the last two years my boyfriend has received greeting cards from an old friend of the former owner. What should we do about the greeting cards? I feel terrible that he doesn't know the woman who lived here is no longer with us. — STEPHANIE IN URBANA, ILL.

DEAR STEPHANIE: I know you and your boyfriend have the best of intentions, but according to the post office, whether there is a return address on the envelope or not, you should write "deceased" on the envelope and let the Postal Service handle the matter.

JACQUELINE BIGAR'S STARS

The stars show the kind of day you'll have: 5-dynamic; 4-positive; 3-average; 2-so-so; 1-difficult

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, May 19, 2012:

This year you become more centered and caring. Others — even friends — cannot get enough of you. If you are single, this newfound popularity could be wonderful. If you are attached, be careful, as you do not want your sweetie to become jealous. Make sure you give him or her your time and a lot of say in your mutual life. You'll see the world with new eyes. Travel, a foreigner or more education could play into this change. A fellow TAURUS is stubborn but does not show it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★ Whether you are involved with planning an event or buying a special gift, you are spending money. At one point, you might veer off in a different direction. You also could decide to spruce up your wardrobe. This behavior is so unlike you. Why not indulge yourself? Tonight: Your treat.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★★★ Everyone will know that your old spunk has returned. You reach out to friends and loved ones, make plans and above all, decide to opt for something fun. Invite a friend or two to join you. Your vitality and charisma will replace a former dreariness. Tonight. You can have it all.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★ Sometimes by pulling back and doing your own thing, you feel more resilient and ready to deal with the many people in your life. A discussion with a partner has to happen, but there could be some fireworks as a result. Tonight: Play it as you like.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★★★ Be grateful for your friends. In some regard, they make your day very special, even if it is simply the fun you have together. Curb a tendency to be sarcastic. That tone easily could be misread. Tonight: Only where the action is.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★★ Stay in tune with others, as you might need to step in and take a leadership role. Many of you will be in contact with older friends and relatives. Make plans accordingly. If you do not offer suggestions, what results might not be as rewarding. Tonight: A force to be dealt with.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★★ Honor your need for a break in patterns and/or a change in scenery. Everyone needs to pull out of his or her routine occasionally. Whatever you choose needs to involve an outlet for your energy, whether it is hiking or walking around an airport. Tonight: Try something different.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★★★ Go along with someone's suggestion. This person will be pleased, and the outcome will make your life easier. You might want to stay closer to home, but you will like what occurs if you can break past mental barriers. Tonight: Visit over a great meal.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★ Others come to you with ideas, invitations and a need to be with you. Slowly but surely, you'll realize that your plans might need to be changed. Make it your pleasure. Be willing to walk into a new situation or scene. Tonight: Take a risk.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★ Dedicate some time to finishing up a project that has been on the back burner too long. You might have to revise your budget, as factors or elements of your life change. A parent or an authority figure could be very challenging. Tonight: Make it easy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★ Do you realize how moody you have become? Still, a loved one or child puts his or her best effort forward to include you in plans. Hop in the car and take off. In the moment, you will relax. Tonight: Try a cuisine you have never tried.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★★ It appears you have some plans that could keep you quite busy at home. On some level, you are making an assumption and following that hunch. Do not get upset with a close friend or loved one, should there be a last-minute adjustment. Tonight: Be spontaneous.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★★ Return calls and finish an errand or two. Join friends for a mutually favored pastime, be it the movies, a baseball game or making dinner. Once more, you note how much a friend is changing. You do not need to comment, but you do need to respect this person's process. Tonight: Close to home.

Vegas seeks to get back in the game with new attractions, hotels

By Greg Morago
Houston Chronicle

LAS VEGAS — The city that makes its name on gambling has been dealt some bad cards in recent years. High unemployment, a bottomed-out housing market and drops in gaming revenue contributed to unrest and malaise in party city.

But when the chips are down, Vegas knows how to get back in the game. The city is still very much alive with new projects, hotel rooms, restaurants and attractions meant to lure visitors and keep entertained those who never gave up on Vegas. Caesars Palace is not only opening a new Nobu Hotel and Nobu restaurant this summer, it also is going ahead with the Linq, a $550 million retail, dining and entertainment district anchored by a 550-foot-tall observation wheel directly across from the existing Caesars Palace, set for completion in 2013.

Meanwhile, there are plenty of new reasons to visit Las Vegas. Here are 10:

1. MOB MENTALITY. If your idea of movie entertainment is another night with "Goodfellas" and your prime-time television viewing includes "Mob Wives," then your next visit to Las Vegas must include a trip to the Mob Museum. Located downtown (in a former courthouse that bore witness to hearings on organized crime),

There's a niche pool for every taste in Vegas

By Helen Anders
Cox Newspapers

Pool season in Las Vegas just kicked into high gear, with all sorts of promotions and events heralding the arrival of consistently warm weather.

Typically, resorts have separate pools for families and partying adults, and that's a very good thing.

During my recent visit with my daughter, we found the adult pool at the Flamingo completely mobbed when the guy on the PA announced the booty-shaking contest (in which, I hasten to say, we did not participate). Several bachelor and bachelorette parties were in full swing, and the average age at the pool seemed to be 23 — and only that high because of the presence of a couple of bathers of a the museum is a $42 million panorama of the history of the American gangster. Inside, visitors will find interactive displays and exhibits showcasing hit men, gangland figures, undercover agents, tommy guns, wiretapping equipment and even the entire brick wall from the St. Valentine's Day Massacre. Throughout, mobdom's biggest names lurk: Al Capone, Meyer Lansky, "Bugsy" Siegel, "Lucky" Luciano, Sam Giancana, Joe Bonanno, John Gotti and more.

2. TRIGGER FINGER. If your idea of happiness is a warm gun, then you probably should take aim at Machine Guns Vegas, a new, off-the-Strip attraction for those who like to go ballistic. The clublike venue features hostesses who help you pick out your weapon from an iPad menu (perhaps an M4 carbine, Uzi or AK-47); there also are female "range masters" who are responsible for guest safety and personal instruction. There are 10 shooting lanes, including two completely private lanes with a separate entrance for VIPs. Packages range from about $100 to $800, depending on the firearm and number of rounds. Each package includes your targets and a T-shirt as mementos. There's also complimentary transportation from the Strip. Oh, in case you were wondering: No alcohol is served.

3. SPEED RACER. Life in the fast lane is what you'll get at Dream Racing, a new attraction that literally puts you in the driver's seat. Set at the Las Vegas Motor Speedway, Dream Racing offers speed demons the opportunity to be a race-car driver for a day. It begins with a 15-minute classroom instruction on how to handle a race car, followed by 3-D simulators that provide a realistic experience of high-speed racing. Then you don your racing suit and helmet, strap into a track-ready Ferrari F430 and you're off: 0 to 60 mph in 3.5 seconds and speeds that would not be street legal. All-inclusive packages begin at $499, including transportation from the Strip. If you're too scared to take the wheel but have a need for speed, you can purchase the "Hot Laps" option as a passenger with a race-car driver who will whiz you around the track.

Dream Racing, Las Vegas Motor Speedway, 7000 Las Vegas Blvd. N.; 702-599-5199; dreamracing.com

4. HYDE AND SEEK. Visitors are thrilling to the new Katsuya, a hip sushi house that also boasts a hot clublike scene. The man behind that welcome buzz is Sam Nazarian, CEO of hospitality powerhouse sbe, responsible for some of the hottest hotels, restaurants and clubs in Los Angeles. So when sbe dipped its toes into the Vegas nightlife scene, townies knew it had to be good. The result is Hyde, a sleek indoor/outdoor club at Bellagio with unrivaled views of the hotel's famous fountains. Smaller than the megaclubs vying for the attention of nightcrawlers, the Philippe Starck-designed venue is meant to suggest an opulent Italian villa. But an Italian villa with a gourmet mixology program, 40 VIP tables and the likes of Sofia Vergara, Lauren Conrad, Joe Jonas, Stephanie Pratt and Eliza Dushku, who all helped celebrate the club's opening on New Year's Eve 2012. Now that's a party.

5. 1 OAK. Adam Levine, Pitbull, Katy Perry, Kanye West, Jessica Alba, Josh Duhamel, Fergie, Ashton Kutcher, Lenny Kravitz and Bruno Mars — those are just some of the celebs and musicians who have partied the night away at 1 OAK, the white-hot new club at Mirage Hotel & Casino. A slick sister to the original 1 OAK in New York, this Vegas outpost boasts a sophisticated design featuring original artwork by Roy Nachum. The 16,000-square-foot club offers all the upscale pleasures of a typically hot Vegas club but with more adult sensibilities. That's not to say the place doesn't rock. It sports the best sound system money can buy and imports DJs from around the world to keep the party boys and girls dancing until the sun comes up.

6. ROOM SERVICE. Some people actually go to Vegas to sleep. Yes, it's true. And why not? The city boasts some of the most spectacular hotels with the most indulgent accommodations that money can buy - and that goes beyond just comfortable beds. Here are three places to consider.

MGM Grand: All 3,570 guest rooms and 642 suites in the hotel's main tower are getting a plush, $160 million facelift with contemporary furniture and a warm new color palette. An initial set of rooms already has been completed with the remainder to be ready by September. MGM Grand, 3799 Las Vegas Blvd. S.; 877-880-0800; mgmgrand.com

Caesars Palace: With its new hotel tower, Octavius Tower, Caesars has expanded its inventory to 3,960 rooms and suites. The 668-room tower, opened in January, offers guests their own private valet entrance, separate hotel lobby and spacious rooms (starting at 550 square feet) that combine plush comfort with innovative in-room technology. Caesars Palace, 3570 Las Vegas Blvd. S.; 866-227-5938; caesarspalace.com

Bellagio: The hotel with the famous fountain and blinding collection of luxury restaurants now can boast redesigned rooms. All of the 2,568 rooms and suites in the main tower have undergone an elegant redo with three distinct color palettes. The $70 million project provided rooms with cashmere-covered mattresses, 40-inch flat-screen televisions, iHome docking stations, new furniture and a digital media hub to accommodate any and all devices. Bellagio, 3600 Las Vegas Blvd. S.; 888-987-7111; bellagio.com

7. SKY HIGH. Of the nine newbies that made the list of AAA Five Diamond Awards for 2012, only one is in Vegas. That distinction goes to Sky Suites at Aria Resort & Casino. A hotel within a hotel, Sky Suites boasts 442 deluxe rooms, suites and villas all located on floors 25-59 of the mammoth hotel's south tower. The A-list treatment begins with an exclusive porte cochere accessed by limousines only (transportation to and from airport is courtesy a stretch-limo fleet); private check-in; personalized itinerary and welcome gift; direct access to suites without entering casino or other public spaces; and daily lounge service in the Sky Suites Lounge, which is open 24 hours a day. The rooms, priced between $700 and $7,500 per night, offer dizzying technology and even more impressive views. Aria Resort & Casino, 3730 Las Vegas Blvd. S.; 877-580-2742; arialasvegas.com

8. EAT, DRINK AND BE MERRY. It's hard to keep up with the jackpot of restaurants in Vegas. So many new places to eat, so little time. And while we wait patiently for the new Nobu at Caesars, the new Gordon Ramsay Steak at Paris and the new Javier's margarita and Mexican food bar at Aria, here are some places that are keeping us happy and very well fed.

La Cave: Take all the hip sophistication of the city's best restaurant/bar and drain it of all hype and pretension and you have La Cave. This casual charmer overlooking the pool area of Wynn combines a modern American small-plate menu with a beguiling global wine list that has something for everyone. La Cave Wine and Food Hideaway, Wynn Las Vegas, 3131 Las Vegas Blvd. S.; 888-320-7123; wynnlasvegas.com

Old Homestead Steakhouse: The famous beef emporium from Manhattan's Meatpacking District has put its meat hooks in Vegas by opening a classic New York steakhouse experience in Caesars Palace. From raw bar, burgers and Kobe meatballs to prime rib, lobster and a 32-ounce Gotham rib steak on the bone, Old Homestead is ready to indulge the high-end wine and dine fantasies that make Vegas famous. The place looks and acts authentic — like it's been there forever despite being only months old. Old Homestead Steakhouse, Caesars Palace, 3570 Las Vegas Blvd. S.; 877-346-4642; theoldhomestead steakhouse.com

Center Cut Steakhouse: The Flamingo has turned a former burger joint space into a snazzy new steak restaurant that goes the martini-and-meat route but with some polish that some might not expect from this Strip casino. Center Cut aims straight at the heart of the steakhouse purist with shrimp cocktail, crab cakes, seafood tower, lobster bisque and steak cuts including New York strip, bone-in ribeye and porterhouse. Here's the delicious twist: All the beef comes from Aspen Ridge Farms in Colorado where stock is fed a natural diet free of hormones and steroids.

Center Cut Steakhouse, Flamingo, 3555 Las Vegas Blvd. S.; 702-784-8821; flamingolasvegas.com

9. IT'S A HARD ROCK LIFE. One of our favorite resorts off the Strip is the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino, which always manages to sport more vigor and verve than its hip peers on the main drag. That's because the hotel constantly reinvents itself with youthful energy. The latest shot of adrenaline is the new 35 Steaks + Martinis. Another steakhouse, you yawn? This one has a rock vibe invested in its slick design and menu. The restaurant's name is an homage to Elvis, who was born in 1935, and the king's sense of oversize indulgence is evident throughout the restaurant's cool mash-up of classic steakhouse fare with cutting edge pizzazz. Pair your 35-day aged, 35-ounce steak with a 35 Gimlet, a gin cocktail with a touch of cucumber. On the menu: charcuterie, oysters, wedge salads and prime steaks. For dessert: a tribute to the King in the form of caramelized bananas, crunchy peanut butter crust, peanut butter ice cream and chocolate-covered bacon.

35 Steaks + Martinis, Hard Rock, 4455 Paradise Road; 702-693-5585; hardrockhotel.com

10. LIVE FOR TODAY. There's a reason we are constantly drawn back to the Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas, This casino knows how to party. This summer we're ready to dive into the second season of Marquee Dayclub, a glitzy daytime party venue with two pools, multiple bars, private cabanas and even gaming in music-throbbing playground of glistening flesh. The other Cosmo novelty is the new EA Sports Bar, a pop-up concept that combines the thrill of a sports bar, the comfort of a living room and the gameboy rush of video games. The masculine, high-tech bar is a total video-gaming immersion set on the ground floor of the casino. It takes the place of the previous pop-up concept, a 24-hour wedding chapel where couples could perform faux ceremonies or renew their vows by choosing from options that allowed them to marry inexpensively or bling out their mock nuptials.

certain age who appeared to be from Central Casting. (I'm not talking about me. I visited, took a few pictures, then left the booty-shaking behind.)

At Cosmopolitan's Boulevard Pool, things were definitely less frantic. The vibe was more like that of a high-end cocktail party with a lot of folks sprawled on floats in the pool. Occasional movies, live music performances and cookouts spice things up here on weekend evenings. The Cosmo also has a pool club called Marquee Dayclub, which is pretty much a nightclub with water.

And speaking of clubby pools, let's not forget Paradise Beach and the Nirvana Pool at the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino, which recently opened for the season. This one's definitely for the party crowd. Summer activities known as Beachlife include Summercamp Fridays, where "counselors" organize water balloon fights; multi-concert music festivals; and Rehab Sundays with deejays. (You have to buy tickets to these; go to hardrockhotel.com/party.)

If you're visiting with a family, you'll like the pool complex at the Golden Nugget downtown, which includes slides and a shark tank. One of the slides actually goes through the shark tank.

Virtually every casino resort has a unique pool scene, so find yours. Whichever one you choose to visit, remember to take your room key — proof that you belong there — and your ID for drink purchases as well as entry to the pools marked specifically for adults.

You can personally assist your hotel's aesthetic aspirations by wearing a coverup until you get to the pool. We all thank you.
