the Year; Mrs. R.V. (Gayle) Allcorn, Woman of the Year; and K.Y. Givens, Man of the Year.

'Outstanding' Citizens Recognized At Banquet

Oltonites acknowledged their admiration and gratitude to three fellow citizens Saturday evening at the annual Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet.

Lauded for their contributions to the community were Mrs. R.V. Allcorn, K.Y. Givens and Royce McFadden. They received plaques in recognition of their selection as "Outstanding" citizens.

Mrs. Allcorn was presented as "Woman of the Year" by the 1974 recipient of that honor, Mrs. Bob Coen. She is a native Oltonite and resource teacher in Olton Junior High School.

She has served as a Brownie Scout leader and Day Camp director. A staunch supporter of youth athletics, she has contributed many hours to the youth baseball program as concession stand worker, ad salesman, score keeper and press box announcer.

Mrs. Allcorn sponsored and organized a junior high clean-up program and helped organize two bike-hike drives, ones to benefit mentally retarded children and the other to aid Olton Medical Foundation.

Described as "a second mile Christian who lives her Christianity every day of the week in every part of her life," Mrs. Allcorn is active in First Baptist Church and has taught a Sunday School class for some 15 years. She directed two Vacation Bible Schools for children of Trinity Baptist Church.

She is the mother of a daughter, Brynea, a sophomore, Bryan, a senior and Brad, an eighth grade student.

Givens was introduced by Melvin Rape, last year's winner of the "Man of the Year" award. A "transplanted Texan" who received his nickname for his home state, Kentucky, Givens has lived in Olton since 1955.

Active in the work of Olton Lions Club, he has served every office and was president in 1967-68. He was named "Lion of the Year" for three consecutive years and holds a 16-year perfect attendance record.

Owner of Givens Texaco Station, he and his wife, Jolene, are parents of two daughters, Mrs. Joel Nelson of McLean, and Kay, an OHS senior. They have one grandson, Craig.

"Through the years, he has provided after school and weekend jobs for young persons who have wanted to quit school for work and has encouraged them to continue their education," Rape said.

"When there is need for extra help with ambulance service, he is on call to help. No matter what hour of the night I myself have had to call on him for help during the past five years, he's always been right there to do so."

Loyal supporter of all youth athletics, he has served as president of the Booster Club and was president two years of Olton Baseball Association.

Without sons of his own, he has worked tirelessly in the baseball program as tournament director, umpire, grounds keeper, fund raiser and countless other tasks.

"Farmer of the Year, 1974", Cotton Lewis, told some 250 banquet-goers "This year's Farmer of the Year was born Nov. 12, 1939 in the house that he lived in for 31 years and has never

'Mini Bus' Travel Available In Olton

A new era has dawned for Senior Citizens who have been hampered in the past by lack of transportation. The brand new "mini bus" has come upon the scene.

Driven by Bill Powell, research developer for South Plains Community Action Association, the bus made its initial appearance in the city recently at a meeting of Senior Citizens Club.

According to an announcement made by Powell, the mini bus will make free transportation available to all senior citizens every Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Operation of the schedule will begin Thursday Feb. 13.

This offer of transportation is extended to all senior citizens, 55 years of age or older, without regard to race, color, creed, sex or national origin.

Reservations for a ride, Thursday, may be had by calling Mrs. Helen Bohner, 285-2554. Calls may be made Tuesday afternoon or any time Wednesday, Feb. 11 and 12.

The mini bus transportation offer is made possible by Farmer Union and the Green Thumb program, in cooperation with Lamb County Senior Citizens Committee and Lamb County Community Action Board.

Lamb County is one of only 20 counties in the entire state chosen for this special service. Selected on a basis of need according to population, the continuance of the service will depend upon how well it is used.

History Of Fire Department Garnered Through Memories

Unpaid, frequently taken for granted, a small but dedicated army lives in Olton. Its soldiers wage their wars with little notice or acclaim until their need "hits home" for Mr. and Ms. Olton Citizen. They are the members of Olton Volunteer Fire Department.

Olton residents are not ungrateful people. They are, however, average folk who are sometimes unaware of the real worth of a volunteer fire department. Unaware, that is, until the unexpected comes - fires, like accidents, "are supposed to happen to someone else."

Members of Olton Volunteer Fire Department are just ordinary guys. They are "the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker" types of today's men; fellows who interrupt varied occupations the minute they hear the piercing scream of the siren's call or the ring of the monitor fire phone.

Olton's VFD has come a long way since its infant days which are now just vague memories. Lost, or never recorded, history conceals the authentic story of the department's beginning. This story is gathered from the memories of some of those who have served.

Fire Chief for 19 years before his retirement two years ago, Tom Smith provides some of the department's past. His brother, Bill, recalls still earlier events having served as fire chief himself in the late 30's and again in the 40's before World War II called him from home.

Sid Hopping, who later served as Lamb County Sheriff after the county seat was moved to Littlefield, was one of the first volunteers to bear the title of "chief." In the earliest years, there was no chief.

Bill Kemp, who served as volunteer fireman 19 years before resigning a few years back, recalls the pre-fire truck days when fire fighters used a "stripped down Buick" for an official vehicle.

He and others recall the first "fire truck" was an old truck given to the city by Jack Straw. It was mounted with a 250 gallon water tank, small booster pump and one-inch rubber hose. A little later, larger hose was obtained but the department did not have a booster pump for it.

"If the nearest fire plug had water pressure, we had pressure; if it didn't - well, we didn't either," recalls Bill Smith.

"The first fire station," Bill Smith remembers, "was a boxing strip building south of Henry Cowart's blacksmith shop. Guy Willis loaned it to us."

"And one station used to be about where Everett Loveless' garage is today," says D.M. "Bub" Holt, who is serving his twentieth year as a fireman.

For a time the truck was parked out in the open and Bill Smith remembers that during his days as fire chief there was a period when the truck was kept parked beside his own business, The Olton Enterprise, when it was located in the building just north of the Roxy Theatre.

Finally the department had its own home; a very small building, where the Girl Scout House is today.

"The Scout House was placed on the fire station's floor," says Holt. Bill Smith recalls that the building was moved to the city yard when the station was re-located to the western portion of the building housing the city hall.

Kemp has cause to remember when the fire truck was parked in the city hall building. "We got a call one night when tall weeds were burning back of "Polly" Owens" (at the eastern portion of the landscaped area of Olton State Bank) a threat not only to the Owens' property but also to the telephone office which was then located on the southeast corner of that block.

"I got to the station first," says Kemp. "I threw up the overhead door and jumped into the truck and took off. The old truck didn't have a cab, just a windshield made of plate glass not the shatter-proof kind. Well, the door had dropped back down a little ways - just enough to catch the windshield and knock it back over my head."

Kemp raced onto the fire but by the time he had driven the block's distance was unable to help fight the fire because of blood pouring from the cuts on his face.

"Dr. Seigler had just come here. He picked the glass out of my face and sewed up some cuts," the car dealer laughs.

Kemp remembers too, a fire call about one week later. "It was out at Quentin Redinger's, it was raining

American Flag Burned In Olton Boy Scout House

Tiny bits of red and white remain along with the charred gilt eagle from the flag pole staff lie in ashes on the smoked floor of the Boy Scout House. Remnants of the burned American flag are just a portion of the marks of vandalism in the building.

The Scouting program for Olton boys has faltered in the past because of a lack of adult leaders but re-organization has been underway. That was when the wanton destruction was discovered.

Entry was made into the locked building by breaking in a door, although windows have always been a target of destruction. Inside the building there is unbelievable damage.

Large holes have been knocked into the sheetrock walls. Remains of paint, once used for crafts, have been used to paint the lavatory of the bathroom whose door has been torn from its hinges.

Ugly words have also been painted on walls, blackboards and other items within the building. Table legs have been broken from the large work table.

The scene within the building (which has never been in "top shape" but was at least usable and had possibilities of being made into a building worthy of pride) is shocking.

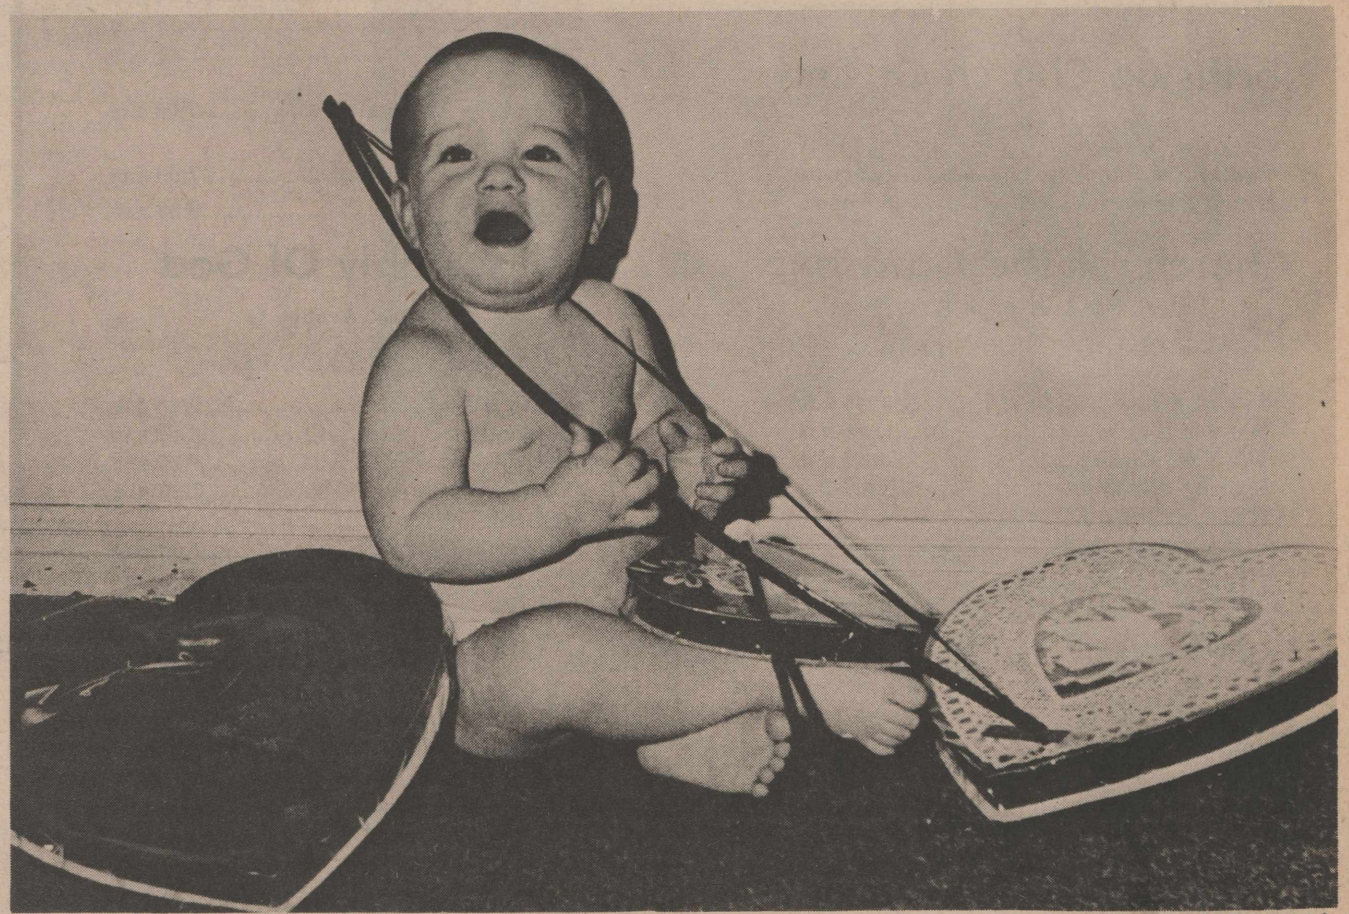

Of greater shock is the knowledge that whiten our small town there are those who would commit such destruction and the crime which is a federal offense.

Baseball Assn. Slates Meeting

A called meeting of Olton Baseball Association will be held Sunday afternoon, at 3 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of Production Credit Association, according to Jim Brown, retiring president.

Purpose of the meeting will be to elect officers for the new year, Brown stated. He urges all interested people to be present, that all offices may be properly filled.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

By Mozelle Trotter

Far be it for me, a gal who can't even balance the account in my piggy bank, to offer advice on economic matters. But then, as the old saying goes, "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

Every day's newspapers have headlines glaring the dire information of inflation, recession, depression, "it's going to get worse" or an occasional suggestion that "the worst is over."

Well, it can't be worth two cents - even at today's prices BUT ---- Information came to me second hand, since I don't take the Amarillo Daily News (I get the big daily to the south because of all the good publicity they give our town. MEOW!) Anyway, did you read or hear of Wes Izzard's column this week when he called attention that a New Mexico legislator asked for an estimate on having his suite of offices re-painted?

Estimate made. Re-paint job would cost (tax payers money) $9 100.

Did the politician go ahead? Huh uh! He advised his staff to expect a full weekend and, with $48 dollars worth of paint and the recruitment of his crew, his offices are now fresh and clean at a fractional cost of what might have been spent.

Would there were more politicians as he!

Almost on the home scene, the radio this week carried a brief comment on Hale County's Pete Laney's objection to $350 yearly apportionment to a chaplain - an Austin minister who arranges that someone would open the legislative sessions each day with prayer. He was not suggesting that the prayers be discontinued but did express the belief that the sum of money could be lessened.

Now probably there are numbers of other expenditures which are more subject to a study of reduction but I guess this is a good start.

The real issue, seems to me, is why can't our elected representatives pray for themselves, their work and us, the people they represent?

God doesn't care whether prayers are said with eloquence - He just asks they come from a sincere heart.

Texans are "served" by 150 representatives and 30 senators. THEY need OUR prayers, just as ALL America's leaders need our prayers. But they really need them if they can't pray for themselves and us!

HELEN MINARIK

Cook Of The Week

Recipes are shared this week by a woman who enjoys cooking and who admits she likes to try gourmet dishes, Helen Minarik, who moved here last summer.

Helen is a retired Licensed Vocational Nurse who still "sits" with patients. "I'm just like an old work horse," she says, "when I sit with someone. I want to put on my uniform and get right back into routine."

Born and reared at

Vernon, Helen and her husband helped rear four children. She came to Olton because of Mrs. Eldon (Margie) Towrey, a special person who is "just like my daughter." Proudly she remembers Margie placing the Towrey's first born daughter in her arms and saying, "Here's your first grandchild."

Occupying a special place in the Minarik home, too, is a small honey-colored dog, "John."

Helen says she has been "collecting stuff all my life." She has numerous pieces of beautiful cut glass, Carnival glass and Depression glass. She particularly likes basket shaped bowls and has lots of toothpick holders and salt and pepper shakers or cellars.

Old sugar shells and demitasse spoons are also among Helen's collectibles. She has quite a lot of old crockery, stoneware and numerous old fruit jars.

A special antique of Helen's is a small iron wash pot which her grandmother bought when they came to America. She also has the rocking chair which her father bought for his mother with wages he earned as a water boy on a cattle drive along the Chisolm Trail. "He spent all his wages on it," she says.

Helen also likes to crochet and has made several afghans. She enjoys needlepoint and says it's a relaxing handcraft.

Billy Davis
"Perfect Steers - should show good muscle in the forearm and arm with front legs set wide apart. Shoulders should not be excessively coarse and open. When viewed from the rear the back and loin should slope in Quonset fashion and be uniformly wide. Rounds should carry down full and thick with the widest points halfway from the hock to the rump. Moderately short necks and strong backs are necessary attributes. Common indicators of quality are a loose and pliable hide with the hair fine, smooth, and glossy. For good finish (fat), a common check point is under the steer's neck where a ball of fat should be felt near the anchor point of the tongue. On steers approaching prime grade fat will often be noticed at the point of the shoulder."

Tex Watson talks about

The Cost of Natural Gas

It's logical that Pioneer customers should ask why they are paying more for the energy they use in their homes. We are eager to have them understand why.

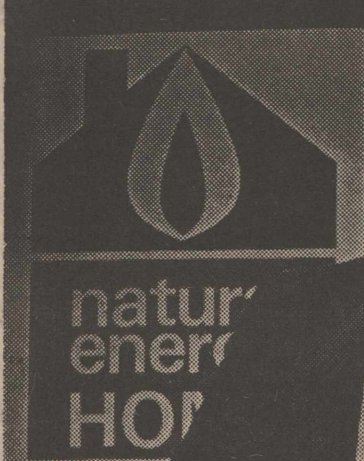

There is a lot of natural gas in West Texas, but we still must buy the gas in competition with other gas users across the country. To assure the people of West Texas that they will have the gas they need, now and in the future, we must pay the going price for new gas. Not only gas for our homes is involved, but most people's jobs depend on gas to run business and industry.

The gas is available, but we must pay the going price to get it. That price is reflected on your gas bill as a "cost of gas adjustment." I'm sure you don't like it. Neither do I. But I'm sure you agree that we must have the gas to run the homes and businesses of West Texas.

All energy will cost more in the future, but be assured that the Natural Energy Home will still be the way to go.

Mrs. Redinger Reviews Book For Study Club

Mrs. Glenn Singleterry was hostess Monday evening when members of Olton Study Club met to hear a book review presented by Mrs. George Redinger.

Having chosen a book by best selling author Peg Bracken, Mrs. Redinger allowed the group to laugh their way around the world as she recounted amusing incidents from the selection, "But I Wouldn't Have Missed It For The World." Beginning with general truths and assumptions, the book cites the pleasures and perils of an unseasoned traveler.

A short business session was directed by Mrs. C.S. Silcott. Miss Helen Locke was welcomed as a new member to the organization.

Members in attendance were Mmes. Roye Aikman, J.C. Brown, H.B. Carson, J.L. Carson Jr., D.M. Granbery, Bailey Hair, Barton Prestridge, Jack Straw, Jim Hyatt, Redinger, Silcott and Singleterry.

Mrs. Trotter Presents Cystic Fibrosis Program

Roll Call was answered with a statement of "How I Met My Husband" when Olton Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. O.T. Crosby.

Devotional thoughts were presented by Mrs. Melvin Souter following a short business session directed by Mrs. Alva Kersh.

The program was presented by Mrs. Gene Trotter who directed a showing of a film from American Cancer Society, and discussed cystic fibrosis for those present.

Mrs. Trotter, who was Coordinator of Olton Area Cystic Fibrosis campaign 1974, stated that the lung damaging disease in children might be mistaken for asthma at first notice.

In enumerating signs for suspicion she mentioned "recurrent wheezing, persistent coughing, excessive mucus, excessive appetite with poor weight gain, more than one attack of pneumonia, and "clubbing" or enlargement of fingertips."

"Upon appearance of one or more of these symptoms," she stated, "The child should be examined by a physician." She also pointed out that anyone may be a carrier of the disease since there are some 10,000,000 carriers in the nation. Treatment for the disease is very expensive since medicine alone often costs as much as $1200 per year.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Lester Kennedy, V.O. Harrod, Helen Minarik, Souter, Kersh and the hostess.

Refreshments of assorted cookies, canapes, soft drinks and coffee were served.

Next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Ross Carty. Appliance safety will be the topic for study.

Adult Class Has Party

Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Banks hosted a party Friday night for Adult II Training Union Class of Springlake First Baptist Church. Attending were Herbert Miller, Harvey Miller, and Messers. and Mmes. Ernest Baker, Ernest Green, Leslie Watson, Clent Kniffen, Rev. and Mrs. Glen Smith and the host couple.

Stew, cornbread, fruit salad, cake, tea and coffee were served.

multi colored balloons added to the decor, "Happy 4th Birthday Jeffrey" was lettered in red.

Refreshments were cake, ice cream and punch. Several children were in attendance.

Everyone has heard the story of George Washington and the cherry tree. Well, if you haven't noticed at OHS, we have a George Washington. Someone has gotten the idea that in order to be of high quality you have to follow in George's footsteps. In other words, someone has chopped or broken one of the trees in the patio. There are a few seniors, that we know of, that aren't too happy about this. It took a lot of time and effort to get these. But most of all, it took money and that we

We have been informed that the Thursday before Valentine's Day, OHS will have a Valentine's auction. The idea is about the same as last years. For all you newcomers we will explain: On Thursday, Feb. 13th, there will be desks in both halls. Boys will go to the desks and pay so much money for a certain girl you like. The limit is $2.00 a girl. In case there are two boys who both pay $2.00 for a girl, each boy will pay secretly, whatever he thinks the girl is worth or however much he wants her. Very romantic, huh? Also everyone in high school will vote for one boy and one girl, no matter what grade, for Sweetheart Boy and Girl. The winners will be announced at Friday's basketball game unless plans are changed. All couples are urged to attend the game together.

Fire Dept.

Continued From Page 1 and the roads were real muddy. We got the call about 8:30 and it was like 10 or 10:30 when we got there. The fire had already gone out long before we got there."

Bill Smith remembers some of the futile and unavoidable failures of the fire department's early days also.

"One Sunday afternoon in the early 40's we got a call that Luke Jordan's house was on fire. We got to the closest fire plug and uncoiled our hose and lacked about a hundred feet being able to reach it. We just had to watch it burn down."

Jan. 31, 1944 is a date also etched in Smith's memory. That bitterly cold night was the date when the Patterson Gin, located across the road from the southeast corner of the town section was totally destroyed by fire.

"We still just had the 250 gallon tank and when we got to the fire, the booster pump was frozen up. We just had to watch that one burn, too."

Earlier day volunteers recall fire runs in a not so long ago era when not all city blocks were marked off with streets and the fire truck was driven "beeline" over vacant lots of still remaining pastureland.

For many years, the department operated with the system of "first man there got to drive the truck" And, before the advent of the fire siren, the fire truck was equipped with a bell which another fireman rang as the truck and firefighters sped on their errand of service.

Bill Smith remembers the first mounted siren.

"We (fire department) got together about half the money the siren cost and put it up on a pole by the water tower. Then when the company wanted the rest of the money, we talked the city into helping us pay the rest of it - about $90, I think."

Today Olton residents are alerted by a multiple siren system. The old siren is installed between Eighth and Ninth Streets at Hillcrest and a larger, more powerful siren mounted atop a tall utility pole at the fire station. Equipped with 22 "wailers" or horns, it not only sounds the familiar fire whistle, but also is used to sound tornado warnings for both an "alert" and "take cover." A third siren, which the department is not yet satisfied with, is mounted in the city yard in South Olton.

Firemen are not sure when the city purchased the department a 1941 Chevy truck onto which the old equipment was transferred.

In the mid-fifties, the department made up enough money to purchase an old Army surplus fire truck, retiring the "old faithful" Chevrolet.

February, 1953 was eventful for the city and for the volunteer fire fighters. A new 500 gallon GMC pumper truck was received. In addition to carrying 500 gallons of water, it was equipped with 1000 feet of two and a half inch hose, 300 feet of one and a half inch hose, a 14-foot ladder and 14-foot extension ladder. The new truck also carried hose reels which greatly eased the labor of the volunteer firemen.

The City of Olton, in 1964, purchased a new Ford tilt-cab 500-gallon pumper truck. It was also equipped with 1000 feet of two and a half inch hose, 300 feet of one and a half inch hose, 300 feet of booster hose, two ladders and other equipment.

In 1967, the department purchased a van which is used to carry equipment. Today the department boasts three vehicles with radio equipment, one a four wheel drive pickup truck which was purchased by the fire department and civil defense unit.

The department today also boasts a portable generator plus a 25-watt generator which will pull most hospital equipment, walk-in boxes at grocery stores and other similar needs.

A large generator is also located at the fire station and, in the event of a power failure to the city, can provide lights and heat to the city hall and fire station. Still another portable generator was received last year which can serve the volunteer firemen for lights, their smoke ejector and other uses.

The department also has a smoke ejector which can be used to draw smoke out of buildings after the fire has been extinguished.

A vital piece of equipment which was worth its cost when it saved the first life, is the department's resuscitator. The department has had a resuscitator since 1953. Equipment also includes two 15-minute air packs and two half-hour air packs with a spare bottle for each.

The department also has bunker coats, boots and helmets for all members of the department. Firemen have the regular fireman's helmet as well as the little white helmets worn at fire practice and at other times.

After the Olton tornado of 1957, the fire department obtained a regular police radio and three high band radios, two mobiles and a base unit. The high band equipment was donated by Quintine Redinger. The fire department's radio operates on their own frequency.

The department presently has six radio units with one in Fire Chief Harold Jordan's pickup and another in the Pioneer Natural Gas Company's pickup driven by James Gallagher.

The present fire station was built in 1952 with city voted bonds. Additional space was built on in 1964 to house the tilt-cab pumper.

Volunteer firemen spend one night each month at the station to help insure his fellow residents and those in surrounding communities of "round the clock" readiness.

A bedroom is provided for this purpose and is equipped with TV to help dispel some of the loneliness or boredom that marks that unselfish duty.

Volunteer firemen have never received pay for their services, but in small measure of gratitude, do receive free water service in return for their giving of

Texas Public Schools To Observe Open House

"Texas Public Schools Week this year will concentrate on involvement and communication," said Joe L. Turner.

In making the announcement of the annual Texas Public Schools Week to be held March 3-7, Turner stressed the need for widespread community participation in examining the complex and changing problems faced by our education system. All parents and concerned citizens are urged to visit area schools during this week and talk to students, faculty and administrative personnel about our system of education. All grades - elementary through high school - will be open for public visitation and inspection during the week.

"Our schools today face growing problems unique in our history," said Turner. "Energy shortages and inflation pose questions which must be answered and dealt with, and action must begin on the community level. I cannot overemphasize the importance of concern and participation on the part of every citizen, both parent and non-parent, in this matter. The continuing quality of life in Texas and the nation will depend on our maintaining and improving the level of education of our children."

Those desiring more information on Texas Public Schools Week in the Olton community should contact the Olton Independent School District Office.

themselves and their time.

As with any volunteer service, the department is always eager for new members and a need is always present for another helper. New members would find a ready welcome.

Through the service of the men of Olton Volunteer Fire Department and the department's equipment and facilities, Olton property owners receive insurance protection at a lower rate.

In 1950 when the department was so poorly organized and equipped that the town faced the loss of all fire credits, the insurance key rate was 56 cents. The present key rate is 35 cents with a 20 percent good fire record credit. Olton's good credits are derived from the equipment of the department, the attendance by volunteer firemen at the annual fire school at Texas A&M University and the fire prevention program taught in the local schools.

Jordan, who is serving his eleventh year in the department, says that the updated equipment and increased knowledge of the volunteer firemen has also been a boon to the persons who are victims of a fire.

"We used to pour all the water we could on a fire," says one retired fireman. This is no longer true. Water darganges are minimal now, says Jordan.

'Flag'rant Abuse

"Throughout the history of mankind, symbols have exerted an impelling influence upon the lives of men. The Cross, The Flag, are the embodiment of our ideals, and teach us not only how to live, but how to die."*

Lovingly nicknamed "Old Glory" more than 100 years ago, the American flag has brought pride, joy, courage and inspiration to the people of the United States. It has become a sacred symbol revered by people who are proud to live in the free land it represents.

We have become too apathetic, too calloused, too un-American if we sit back and allow desecration or misuse of the national flag in our town to go unnoted.

Federal law was violated when an unknown person or persons burned an American flag at the Boy Scout house. Penalty for that act is provided by both federal and state laws.

We have also become negligent in our respect for the flag. We have failed to teach our youngsters the proper etiquette of displaying the flag and bear the same guilt.

The Stars and Stripes should be displayed on all legal holidays and on special occasions designated by the President, governors or other authorities. It should be flown on election days and on official buildings when in use. It should be displayed on, or in front of, schools in session.

No law prohibits a citizen from flying the flag at any time, but it is customarily displayed from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaves in the open.

It may displayed at night on special occasions if illuminated and should never be flown in stormy weather.

Dear Editor

Dear Sue and Residents of Olton:

I have meant to contact you much earlier. Last week when I read the letter in the Enterprise from my grandson and his sweet offering of assistance of the Garden Club, I thought I must get busy and write you to verify it.

Olton Garden Club was organized in 1933 some 42 years ago. It has been behind Olton on all projects for the betterment of Olton and its surrounding community.

Many of the members are from the surrounding parts of the country side.

The local club is affiliated with The National Council and Texas Garden Clubs of America, with over one-half million members.

This national institution recognizing and backs conservation in all its facets. Also Botanic Gardens, Garden Centers, National Parks Forests, and Wildlife Sanctuaries.

This, of course, applies to state and community levels.

Many of our members here in Olton have worked with city and community officials for the betterment and beautification of Olton for many years.

More recent projects are planting shrubs, iris, and hemeracalles at the City Park, with the help of the Green Thumb Men. Planting roses at the Olton Cemetery and project for this year is to replant those that died.

Planting trees in Granbery Park, sponsoring in Youth Communications, which includes speech and poster participation of students of Olton Schools, placing within the school system PATE books (People and Their Environment) to educate and encourage our young on the subjects of resource and conservation, as well as therapy are also projects. Our members have worked with local Red Cross, Salvation Army, sponsored Golden Agers since they were organized 17 years ago. They have participated in "Flower Shows" and other forms of beautification. The National Garden Club, Inc. is not a social club though it does promote a pleasant atmosphere of fellowship and social life.

Our members come from different church denominations working together for better community relationships in all phases of life.

I have told you all of this to establish our standing and backing the many projects of betterment and beautification for our town and community.

We, as members of Olton Garden Club, want to offer our assistance to city officials and the Olton Enterprise on the project "Clean up, Dress up and Beautify our Town."

One suggestion that comes across my mind that might be helpful, concerning the vacant lots. If our Real Estate people would contact all known owners of the lots and secure them for sale, then homes could be built on them. I realize that many owners are hard to locate, but this would eliminate the public responsibility of freeing them from trash, etc. at the same time beautify.

Personally to home builders, I will share shrubs, grass sprigs and flowers on request.

Thank you, Sue, for your space and kindness.

Mrs. L.G. Elkins
Chairman of Olton Garden Club
