Rebel Is Executed

MEXICO CITY, May 4. (AP) — The war office announced tonight that federal troops patrolling the Mexico City-Laredo railroad about 30 miles from Queretaro discovered Hermilo Juarez in the act of attaching a bomb to the rails of a tunnel. He was court martialed and executed by a firing squad.

Depends On Figures

PARIS, May 4. (AP)—Solution of the problem of German reparations seemed tonight to depend on whether the allies will accept figures proposed by Owen D. Young and accepted by German experts. What those figures are, remains a secret.

To Consider Merger

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—Stockholders of the Marland Oil company will meet shortly to act on the corporation's merger with the Consental Oil company. The amalgamation was announced officially today by Dr. D. J. Moran, Marland president.

Firing Breaks Out

BERLIN, May 5. — Desultory firing broke out again early this morning in the communist stronghold in the Neukoelln suburb. It was the fifth day of shooting growing out of the demonstrations of May Day.

Owens Heads Auto Men

LAREDO, May 4. (AP) — B. B. Owens, Dallas, was elected president, and Fort Worth was chosen as the next convention city of the Texas Automotive Dealers association, which closed its thirteenth annual convention here today. Roy William, Amarillo, was named third vice-president.

District Is Abolished

SAN SABA, May 4. (AP)—The San Saba water control and irrigation district was abolished here today by decisive vote. The tabulation was incomplete tonight. The election was held under a special law voted in the last session of the legislature.

Election Contest Ousted

EDINBURG, May 4. (AP) — The election contest filed by Gordon Griffin against Judge J. E. Leslie of the thirty-third district court was dismissed today by Judge Hood Boone of the seventy-ninth district court, on motion of attorneys for Griffin. No reason for the action was given.

Celebrate "Cinco de Mayo"

LAREDO, May 4. (AP)—Nuevo Laredo today was bedecked in gay fighting in preparation for the celebration tomorrow of "Cinco De Mayo," Mexican Independence day. It is the most joyous event on the Mexican patriotic calendar, commorating the sixty-seventh anniversary of General Ignacio Zaragoza's victory against the French at Puebla in 1862.

Go To Record Levels

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—Heavy buying assumed to be due to reports of a reparations agreement at Paris sent the Associated Press stock price index of 50 industrial issues and 20 utilities to record high levels today.

Grain Power In Danger

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—Fear that Canadian grain may block American grain to foreign markets through preferential railroad rates on the Atlantic seaboard was expressed today by Representative Garrett, democrat, Texas, whose Galveston, is one of America's largest grain exporting ports.

"How Dry I Am" Sends Men Off

SAN ANGELO, May 4. (AP)—While a cornetist in a hotel near the depot tooted "How Dry I Am" 12 persons convicted of liquor conspiracy, many of them prominent here, started to Leavenworth tonight to begin their sentences. More than 1,000 people were on the streets to see the procession to the depot.

Most of the defendants laughed and joked on their way to the train and one of them leaned through the car window to make a speech attacking the star state witness. Carroll Bates, former Texas ranger and chief of police here, was the principal defendant in the cases. He was unmoved by the excitement and refused to comment on his conviction.

Attorney Is Released On $20,000 Bond; Gave Protection To Family As Reason For Shooting

(By Associated Press)

AMARILLO, May 4.—R. H. Hamilton, a former judge on the commission of appeals of the Texas state supreme court, today shot and killed his 21-year-old son-in-law, Thomas Walton Jr., and explained the slaying only by saying: 'I had rather be dead than kill a man, but I had to protect my family."

The shooting occurred in the law office of Hamilton, where the boy was reported to have gone to disclose his marriage to Hamilton's daughter, Theresa, 19. Both Walton and his young wife formerly attended Texas university.

Although Mr. Hamilton, after the shooting, denied that his daughter was married, records in the county clerk's office at Georgetown, near Austin, site of the university, revealed that Theresa Hamilton and Thomas Walton Jr., were married last February 10. Justice of the peace Bryan Blalock said he had performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Hamilton had been in Austin with the daughter since Janu-

Sinclair May Go To Prison Soon

HARRY F. SINCLAIR

Sinclair's Jail Term Is Ordered By Supreme Court

Last Judicial Step In Oil Man's Sentence Is Made Saturday; Time To Be Set Monday By Justice.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The supreme court today formally directed the District of Columbia supreme court to enforce the three months jail sentence on Harry F. Sinclair for his refusal to answer questions asked by the senate oil investigating committee.

The order of the supreme court, placed in the mail late today, Monday will reach Frank E. Cunningham, clerk of the District of Columbia supreme court. It is the last judicial step in the commitment of the oil man to prison except the actual imposition of the sentence by Justice William Hitz, trial judge.

Whether the district supreme court on Monday will order the enforcement of the sentence and set the time for Sinclair to begin his jail term was not determined today by that court's officials. Several formalities will be necessary before the committment order can be promulgated.

City's Activities Beaten Only By Houston In Week

Week's Total Is $444,614, Hilton Hotel Permit Being Big Factor In Amount For Period

Fifth For Year

Permits For $15,252 Issued Saturday; Seven Cities In State Build Over $100,000 During Past Week

EXCEEDED only by the metropolis, Houston, in amount of building permits issued during the past week, Lubbock stepped up to second place for the entire state of Texas, leading such large cities as Dallas, San Antonio and Ft. Worth, by practically two times the total amount for the period.

Lubbock's place for the year, to date, stands in fifth place, where it has been now for several weeks. The total for the year is $2,091,655.

With a permit issued last Monday to the McKee Construction company, for the erection of the 14-story Hilton hotel, at the corner of Texas avenue and Main street, amounting to an even $400,000, this city rolled up an additional $44,612 the past six days in smaller building jobs.

Four Cities Higher

Only four other cities exceed Lubbock in this year's total, which with $14,998,813; San Antonio $8,979,656; Dallas, $4,377,352, and Ft. Worth with $3,711,011, every one of which is more than six times as big as this city in population.

Saturday witnessed the issuance of four permits by D. J. Schlag, city building inspector, totalling $15,252. These were as follows:

Debenture Plan May Go Through

Administration Leaders Look With Concern On Stand Taken On Question; Demos To Support

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The narrow margin on which hinges the fate of the export debenture plan in the Senate was called to the attention of President Hoover today as administration leaders looked with concern on their chances of eliminating this provision, which the Chief Executive opposes as a part of his farm relief program.

Mr. Hoover was informed of the situation by Senator Watson of Indiana, republican leader.

Watson then called a conference of administration leaders, including McNary of Oregon, and Fess of Ohio. Plans were discussed to strengthen the administration lines, rapidly giving way recently.

Debenture Plan Gains

Meanwhile advocates of the debenture section, encouraged by the support they have gained this week, also looked to their strength and laid plans to have every senator on their side in his seat Monday when the vote probably will be taken.

Denver Asking For Pampa Line

CHILDRESS, May 4. (AP)—The Childress Chamber of Commerce tonight made public a telegram from W. E. Williamson, president of the Burlington lines, saying that the Burlington was preparing to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission for a writ of public necessity for construction of a railroad line from Childress northward through Wellington and Shamrock to Pampa.

J. H. Barwise, special attorney for the system, was to arrive in Fort Worth Monday or Tuesday in the interest of the proposed line, a message to A. J. Fires here said.

Payroll Of $6,400 Nabbed By 3 Men; Policeman Shot

Galveston Messenger Slugged By Robbers; Search Is Made; Houston Police Join In Hunt

(By Associated Press)

GALVESTON, May 4.—A payroll of $6,400 taken from H. D. Pike, Galveston dry dock and construction company messenger, by three men who shot and seriously wounded a policeman in the spectacular robbery seemed about to slip through a veritable cordon of police who late tonight had not found the robbers.

Belief that the three, who slugged Pike today, had hidden somewhere on Galveston Island caused concentration of the search there but, though hope for a capture had been raised intermittently throughout the evening, no arrests deemed valuable had been made just before midnight.

Houston police joined the hunt tonight, believing that the automobile used by the thugs was stolen in that city.

Officer Thomas H. Hawkins, the patrolman-victim, was resting easily and Pike had recovered from the pistol blow administered him.

Hawkins was accompanying the messenger from a call to the Hutchins Sealy bank when the holdup occurred.

Attempt Is Made On Calles' Life

NOGALES, Ariz., May 4.—(AP) — Reports were received by the Nogales Herald from Hermosillo, Sonora, that an attempt was made there last night to assinate General E. Plutarco Calles, Commander in Chief of the Mexican armies and former President of Mexico.

The reported attempt was made during a reception given in honor of Calles.

A man said to be the mentally unbalanced, son of th late Rafael Isabel, Governor of Sonora during the Diaz regime, embraced General Calles during the reception, holding in his hand an open knife. General Rico, who t..k an important part in the Mazatlan siege, seized the young man, disarmed him and the reception proceeded.

Passage Of Money Bills Expected To Be About Only Goal; Moody's Program Is Facing Failure

By R. W. BARRY,
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 4.—(AP) — Belief seems to be general that this legislature is about at the end of the row. Even Governor Moody's most optimistic friends have little hope, now that two weeks have passed with the symptoms unmistakably indicating that the membership is still in the mood that characterized it during the special session.

Governor Moody, himself, although he will not admit it publicly, is said to have decided that the legislature is in the humor only of passing the appropriation bills and going home. In fact, it is rumored that he may decide to submit appropriations this week and let it go at that. Even though he should submit them there is some doubt if the bills would be ready.

Money Bills Doomed

Senator Pollard, chairman of the finance committee, said his side of the legislature could pass the money bills in four days. However, the greatest time is likely to be consumed in free conference since indications are the house and senate will be far apart on the educational, departmental, and eleemosynary bills.

Also, the gasoline tax and automobile registration fee bills are yet

Pretty Mid-West American Girl Who Rose To Fame From Obscurity To Go To Farm; Retires

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 4.—Marion Talley, pretty mid-west American girl who rose from obscurity to grand opera stardom at 19, sang her swan song here tonight after four season as a prima donna of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company. Her final appearance was in the name role of the opera "Lucia Di Lammermoor."

Miss Talley in an exclusive statement to the Associated Press, said there are no reservations to her retirement.

Won't Make "Come-back"

"I do not intend to study for a 'come-back' as was reported in some New York newspapers recently, and I have no plans for marriage," Miss Talley said.

"I am not tired of Grand Opera but I want to retire and I choose farm life because it seems the only sane way to live—the nearest way back to a simple, natural life."

Miss Talley said she and her parents were going to buy a farm either in Missouri, Ohio or Connecticut, and going to live a "real farm life."

Diebel Boy Dies From Shot Wounds

As the result of gunshot wounds, inflicted accidentally more than a week ago, Richard Diebel, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Diebel, 1812 Nineteenth street, died in a local hospital at 12:15 p. m. Saturday.

The boy was shot through the abdomen, while playing with a .25 calibre pistol which he ad found beneath a pillow on a bed in the home, the weapon being accidentally discharged when he fingered the trigger. He was taken to the hospital and had been in a critical condition, physicians performing an operation in an effort to save his life.

Besides the parents, survivors include his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Diebel and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Feazell, and two aunts, Mesdames Green and Wiggins, all of Lubbock.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 this afternoon from the family residence, Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Burial will be in the Lubbock cemetery under direction of Bynum Brothers.

Lloyd Davidson Admits Slaying; Mystery Cleared

Confession Is Signed Saturday Before Mexia Chief Of Police And Citizen; Tells Of Details

Argument Is Cause

Man Strikes Father, Woman With Stick Wood; To Face Grand Jury Action At Groesbeck

(By Associated Press)

MEXIA, May 4.—Lloyd Davidson, 34, son of W. T. Davidson, signed a confession here today that he killed his father and stepmother, Mrs. Ella D. Davidson with a stick of wood Friday at their country home and then set fire to the house.

The confession, witnessed by a citizen and the chief of police, said Lloyd Davidson, was at his father's home and an argument arose. The stepmother hit the youth over the head with a flashlight and he grappled with her, it continued.

Hit Father With Stick.

W. T. Davidson then interfered and Lloyd struck the father with a stick of wood. After the elder Davidson was knocked down, Mrs. Davidson was killed, the statement said. A can of oil then was obtained and the house was burned.

After the confession was obtained, young Davidson was taken to jail at Groesbeck to await grand jury action Monday.

The county attorney said an axe was found near the seared bodies.

Mrs. E. P. Earhart Buried Saturday

Last Rites For Pioneer Resident Of Lubbock Said Yesterday; Large Crowd Present At Services

Last rites were said yesterday afternoon for Mrs. E. P. Earhart, 80, who died early Friday morning in her residence, 1016 Avenue O, after an illness of about a week.

Funeral services were conducted in the Cumberland Presbyterian church by the pastor, Rev. O. N. Baucom; Rev. A. A. Collins, of Floydada, and Rev. J. L. Elliott, of Denton. Burial followed in the Lubbock cemetery and Rix morticians were in charge.

Many Attend Funeral

A large number of friends of the family, many from out of town, attended the funeral services.

In addition to Mr. Earhart, the deceased leaves a son, J. B. Earhart, and a daughter, Mrs. Eppie Sowder. Three grandchildren, E. P. Earhart, jr., Mrs. F. W. Groce, and Mrs. Mike Barrier, survive in Lubbock. Other grandchildren are Steve Edsall of Amarillo, Mrs. Ralph Norman of Chicago, and Miss Vivien Earhart of San Diego. Several great grandchildren and other relatives are living in Lubbock. George R.

Hayward Thompson, Par-Optic Wizard, Proves His Claims Of The Seemingly Impossible With His Exhibitions On Streets Saturday

THE OTHER DAY Hayward Thompson, par-optic wizard extraordinary—whatever that is—made the statement that he didn't know why he possessed the faculty of receiving sensations of sight even when blindfolded; he only knew that he possessed such power.

After following Mr. Thompson over town yesterday, after watching him, though securely blindfolded, whipping his Hupmobile sedan through the midst of Saturday afternoon's heavy traffic without the slightest infraction of city traffic rules, and without even so much as scratching a fender or brushing against one of the innumberable youngsters who darted here and there, and made driving, even for an unblindfolded man a peril, most of Lubbock is willing to agree with him. They don't know why, either.

Worked For Nine Years

Mr. Thompson has performed his 'stunt' if you wish to call it that for the past nine years. He gives on the average of forty exhibitions a year. On each occasion, there have been scores of spectators who have observed rather knowingly that there is a "trick" to it. Not in any case, however, has this "trick" ben explained.

The drive started on scheduled time. Crowds, estimated into the thousands milled about the Avalanche-Journal building shortly afternoon. Thompson made his appearance at 1:30 and gave several demonstrations of his par-optic ability.

Youth Has Tablet

A freckled-faced, tousled-headed youngster, threaded his way through the crowds. In his hand he clutched a tablet, which probably was filched from his school locker.

"What kind of a tablet is this?" he asked of the "wizard," now securely blindfolded. The youth was furthermore, insistent. Thompson, without even discerning to turn his blindfolded optics in the direction of the tablet, said: "It's a Red Bird." And it was.

Obeyed Rules

That was only one instance. Heralded by motorcycle office, C. E. Luce, Thompson drove—using A. A. A. international driving signals—first to the Conley building where he visited the office of Phillips and Haymes, den-

Tech Officials Lay Plans For Banner Summer Term

Enrollment Expected To Be Nearly As Large As In Winter Session Of College Here; Faculty Well Chosen

Many Graduate Studes Will Do Work In Torrid Term; Baylor Dean Will Draw Many Pupils, Belief

DESPITE the fact that appropriations for the session have been slightly decreased in the legislature, officials of Texas Technological college are preparing for the greatest summer school ever held by the college. The first term is to open on June 3, and will continue until July 13. The second term will convene on July 15 and run until August 23.

Arrangements are being made to take care of an enrollment almost as large as the regular long session, Dean J. M. Gordon, who is in chareg of the summer work, said yesterday. With each session for the past three years showing an increase of more than fifty percent, the enrollment is expected to be between 1,200 and 1,500 students this year. A total of 965 were registered last summer.

Seventy-Five On Faculty

Seventy-five faculty members will remain for either or both of the summer terms. They will include nine visiting professors from leading high schools and universities of the southwest.

Heading the list will be Dr. Thomas Dudley Brooks, dean of the school of education at Baylor university, Waco. Prof W. A. Stigler, assistant superintendent of schools at El Paso, who has taught here for the past three summers, will again return as will Prof. W. A. McIntosh superintendent of the Amarillo public schools, Lee Clark, superintendent of the Plainview schools, M. H. Duncan, superintendent of the Lubbock schools and Mrs. Lelia Hammett, penmanship and public school art specialist of the Houston public schools.

Holden to Be Here

Dr. William Curry Holden, former head of the history department at McMurry College, Abilene, is to be a teacher in the summer session. He is also to remain as a regular member of the college faculty. L. B. Cooper, dean of Clarendon Junior college, is listed as a summer instructor as is Burl Bryant, county superintendent of schools in Wichita Falls.

Courses in each of the four schools will be offered, giving a much wider range of instruction than at any time in the past summer sessions. More than two hundred and fifty courses, one hundred of them which will be advanced will be offered during the terms.

Dean Gordon reports that an unusual amount of graduate students have already made application for taking work here this summer and and that he expects this department to be as great as any school in the state outside of the University of Texas. More graduate work will be offered than ever before, it was said. Courses in graduate work will be offered in the departments of Economics and Business Administration, Education and Psychology, English, Geology, Government, History, Mathematics, Philosophy and Sociology.

Cotton Classing Feature

As in the past two summers, a four weeks' cotton classing school will be given during the second term. The work will be under the direction of the head of the department of textile engineering, Prof. E. W. Camp, who for several years conducted cotton classing courses at Georgia School of Technology in Atlanta. In addition to the cotton classing and study work, another course will be given on testing of textiles which are made in the college plant.

The college will continue its summer entertainment policies again this year, offering varied forms of recreation during both sessions. Band concerts, organ recitals, lawn parties and various other events are to be scheduled. Two personally conducted trips to the Carlsbad Caverns are on schedule for the summer session again this year. The first one will be on July 2, 3, and 4. The second will come on August 3, 4 and 5.

Body Of First A. E. F. Dead Is Brought Back

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 4 (AP)—A mother's wish that her son, James Bethel Gresham, first American soldier killed in the world war, sleep near her grave in the family burial plot has left vacant a crypt in the American Legion's national shrine at Indianapolis. Both are buried here.

Mrs. Gresham, on her deathbed, said her son had won sufficient fame and that she hoped his body would be left beside hers.

The Gresham burial plot, already shows in inscriptions on markers that beneath its sod lies the first of American's battle line victims. Evansville and Vanderburgh county officials also requested that the body be not moved.

MAKE CYMBALS

Is The Historic Vocation For One Family

PSAMATIA, Turkey, May 4 (AP)—Cymbals that clang in American jazz bands and cymbals that punctuate the wail of pipes in Anatolian coffee houses owe their origin to the same small but ancient factory hidden in this suburb of Constantinople.

Here are made the finest cymbals in the world, the secret of whose perfection has been guarded by one Armenian family and handed down to the head of the family of each generation for several hundred years.

The name of the family, Zildjian, means "cymbal-makers." The present head of the clang clan is an old lady more than 80 years of age.

Add These To The Old 'Line'

STAMBOUL, Turkey, May 4 (AP).—Members of the English speaking world who wish to enlarge their vocabulary of endearments, now that spring is coming on, would do well to take up Turkish, a language prolific in billings and cooings.

Here are some favorite Turkish tags for the object of one's affections: "my sap" (with quite a different intonation from America's use of saphead); "my eye" (this too, the antipodes from the Anglo-American "Oh, my eye!"); "my soul and my liver"; "my sugar"; "doll of my eyes," and "interior of my soul."

Turkish ladies who are properly approached in the above language respond with "my little lion" for their cavaliers, and "my bearded one" for their husbands.

Slaton C. of C. Session To Come Tuesday

SLATON, Texas, May 5.— The quarterly membership meeting of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday night, at the Slaton club house, Horace Hawkins, the president, has announced. The meeting will be in the form of a "smoker" and will be largely attended, it is expected.

Rouge In Sand

Hurry, Girls; It's In New Jersey

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., May 4 (AP).—Rutgers university is undertaking a survey to develop commercial possibilities of extracting potash from New Jersey's greensands—one by-product of which is a good grade of rouge.

Greensand is a deposit of marine origin, largely of ordinary sand (silicon) but with a small amount of iron oxides. It is this iron that probably is responsible for the green tint, and the name of the sand.

This sand contains about 6 per cent of potash, and sometimes a little more. It has been estimated that there are 257,000,000 tons of potash in Jersey greensands that can be obtained in open pit mining, and a total of 2,242,000,000 tons available if underground mining also is undertaken.

One Man Army

Officer Occupies Town For Calles

MEXICO CITY, May 4 (AP).—A few hours after the rebel evacuation of Torreon in March, Col. Santiago Philemore, a Chilean aviator serving with General Calles' army, occupied the city single handedly in behalf of the federal government.

While on an observation flight the colonel discovered the insurgents treking away to the north, whereupon he landed at the aviation field just outside the city and proceed afoot to the center of town.

During four hours this one man army served as the city's military garrison, busying himself by organizing a police force and other public services while awaiting the arrival of reinforcements which came in the form of three more airplanes.

Colonel Philemore was one of the first to fly from Santiago, Chile, across the Andes, to Buenos Aires. During the world war he was a captain in the British royal air force.

Trails Of Giant Monsters Found

Unique Fossilh Discovered in Cavern Near Canyon City, Colorado, by Exploring Party

(By Associated Press)

CANYON CITY, Colo., May 4.—A pathway made by gigantic animals of many million years ago is the latest find in Colorado fossils.

It lies 900 feet below the surface, in the Chandler coal mine near here. It was discovered by Andrew Wilson, a worker in the mine.

In the roof above a six-foot drift of coal he noticed oddly shaped formations of sandstone that resembled huge footprints. Although the tracks were numerous, one pair especially attracted attention, visible for a distance of 150 feet, until they were blotted by other similar tracks.

He blasted loose two of the formations and took them to the surface. They were great, three-toed tracks, the largest 40 1-2 inches from heel to tip of the big toe and 32 inches across.

They resembled the tracks of dinosaurs, but of a much larger variety than previously identified in this section.

Scientists have not yet classified the beast. They think it may have weighed five or six tons, that it walked on two feet and used its tail for balance when erect. It lived, they say, when Colorado enjoyed tropical weather.

NEW GYMNASIUM

Contracts For Work Let At Abilene

ABILENE, May 4—Contracts for the erection of a high school gymnasium, two stories high and covering ground space of 108 by 117 feet and for an elementary school building in the Fair Park section of this city, have been let for a total figure of $116,790.

The gymnasium building will be erected on the high school campus and will be near the high school building. It will be of the same design and style as the main building, and in addition to having a full sized basket ball court will have all necessary facilities and equipment for physical education courses.

The Fair Park school building will be two stories high and will contain eight classrooms and an auditorium.

The gymnasium will contain offices for the athletic coaches and physical edueation instruction; a room for the football squad; lockers for around 200 boys; apparatus rooms, supply rooms and accommodations for visiting teams, on one side of the basket ball court, while on the other side like facilities will be provided for girls.

Railway electrification in the Paris, Savoy and southwestern regions of France is to be extended.

"My Dear Abie:

"Congratulations to the citisenship of Lubbock on the passage of the $75,000 bond issue. No one thing which Lubbock could do would more assure its place among the cities of Texas than the development of a real airport. It will place you on the aviation map of the United States and bring to you winged messengers from the most populous cities of the United States.

"I knew all the time that Lubbock would take its place in the aviation firmament."

In All The World There's No One Like Mother

What a charming custom it is to give to our mothers on mothers day. The one who is ever ready to give the utmost—doing the tender, thoughtful little things for us, and now, that this day is set aside for her, lets remember her with something lasting, something that will be an ever reminder of a return love, needed and yet always a symbol.

It is easy to give her a bed room suit, or your choice from a hundred and one odd pieces of furniture. Here's How!

This Judge Rolls Dice; He Deals Justice And Not Law

Alabama Jurist Uses Unique Methods; Oath Is Given On Skull

By NEA Service

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 4.—"It may not be law, but it's justice" says Judge H. B. Abernethy, veteran jurist of the Jefferson county court of misdemeanors, who has his own way of disposing of petty cases that come before him for trial.

Just the other day when one man had another arrested for selling him a "choking mule," the judge ordered the mule brought into court as a witness. It developed, however, that the mule was quite a kicker when he became excited so, fearful of trying to bring the animal up the elevator to the courtroom, Judge Abernethy conducted the examination on the courthouse steps.

"Yes, he's a choker," said the judge as he peered down the animal's throat. Forthwith he ordered the defendant to pay a fine of $5 or else buy the mule back from the plaintiff at the price the latter paid for the animal. The plaintiff chose to buy.

Shoots Dice With Prisoners

Many of the prisoners brought before Judge Abernethy are negroes, and with them he deals out justice uniquely.

Judge Ab, as he is familiarly known, keeps a pair of dice in his desk and when a negro is brought before him on a charge of craps shooting he brings them out.

"Boy," he says, "we are going to shoot craps to see if you go free or get 10 days in jail."

Judge Ab turns up his sleeves and rolls the dice out on his bench. If he throws a "natural" or "makes his point," the negro goes to jail; if he fails, the prisoner goes free. Just to show that the dice aren't loaded, he occasionally lets a prisoner roll the bones.

Oath Taken On Skull

No oath is taken on the Bible in Judge Ab's court to be divorced, he wrench a human skull, obtained from a medical college, which he uses for his purpose.

"Boy, put your right hand on that skull and swear to tell the truth," he will tell a negro witness. And the dusky witness, with trembling fingers and bulging eyes, usually tells the whole truth—and nothing but.

When negro couples appear in Judge Ab's court to be divorced, he asks man and wife to join right hands and raise them high in the air.

Then he reaches across his bench and knocks the hands apart with a law book—sometimes it is a telephone directory, but that doesn't make any difference.

"Now you two are divorced," he tells them.

The judge keeps in his desk a small box of "cunjure powder" (it's really only flour) that he uses to "break spells" when a negro appears before him and complains that he has been "cunjured" by another negro.

"Ee-nee, mi-nee mo! Go, bad conjure, go!" gravely says Judge Ab as he sprinkles the powder on the negro's head.

The victim then leaves the courtroom much relieved.

Justice, Not Law

"I try to decide cases on their merit and keep the law in the background," says Judge Ab. "If a hard-working man comes before me on a charge of drunkenness, I seldom fine him because if he has worked hard all week he is entitled to a little dram, providing he does not disturb anyone.

In many cases that come before me, the persons are guilty of violating the law but the circumstances are such that they should not be punished. A man was once brought before me for beating his wife. He admitted that he had whipped her, but when I found out she had gone out with another man and left her two small children at home with a negro nurse. I freed the husband and told him he had a right to whip his wife if that was the only way to make her behave and care for her babies.

"I don't allow lawyers to bring law books into my court. I don't need them. I know enough law to run my court and if they are not satisfied with my verdict they can appeal."

But they seldom appeal, for Judge Ab's brand of honest justice is liked in Birmingham and both negroes and whites admire him. He is a great favorite with the negroes who trust him implicity and he often speaks at their churches and attends their ball games.

Judge Ab tries all sorts of minor cases. He once stopped the trial of a wife beater to marry a couple—but that's another story.

At the right is Judge Ab—Birmingham's celebrated dispenser of justice, not law—and above is a "choking mule" that was summoned to court as a witness. The mule had a habit of kicking when excited, so it was deemed advisable to conduct his examination on the courthouse steps, rather than to try to take him up the elevator.

Stern Discipline Will Confront Sinclair In Washington Bastile

Oil Magnate Probably Will Be Consigned To Workhouse, Rather Than Jail, In Serving Sentence

BY HERBERT C. PLUMMER
Associated Press Feature Writer

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—If Harry F. Sinclair is compelled to serve his 90-day sentence for contempt at the District of Columbia workhouse he will run up against discipline to which he likely never dreamed he ever would be subjected.

The general opinion now is that Sinclair will go to the workhouse rather than the District of Columbia jail.

In the workhouse at Occoquan, 26 miles from Washington, no distinctions are made. No prisoner is sent there unless he is physically fit for work and able to comply with the workhouse routine. Occupations range from work in the brick plant to gardening.

The prisoner's first realization of what he has to put up with during the extent of his sentence comes within a few minutes after he arrives at Occoquan. Every article of clothing he has on at the time is taken from him. There is substituted the regulation prison garb, consisting of a gray or blue denim jumper and a pair of trousers. He also is given one union suit, one pair of socks, one pair of shoes, one shirt, one handkerchief and a cap.

These he must wear for one week before they are turned in at the laundry for a fresh supply.

One towel is allotted, also to be turned in after a week's use. It may be washed during the week by the one who uses it.

The prisoner is limited to one shower bath a week, unless his work is such that more frequent bathing is required. Occoquan houses a lot of men and hot water is at a premium.

Sleeping quarters are in large brick dormitories with concrete floors. Each man has an army cot.

All prisoners must be in bed at 9 o'clock sharp and are forbidden to get up until 6:30 the next morning without permission from the guard. At no time between these hours may they put on any part of their clothing. No pajamas or night shirts are provided, but the prisoner may furnish his own.

At Occoquan no doors are locked at night. A lone guard is stationed at each dormitory. However, a short distance away there may be heard at times the baying of a bloodhound, one of 12 held in instant readiness to pick up the trail of an escape.

Plain and solid food is served. Occoquan officials do not permit inmates to provide their own meals.

EXPECTS BIG TOTAL

Collector Clark Says 1929 Registration 10,000

That Lubbock county will have a total of at least 10,000 automobiles registered by the close of this year was the declaration of County Tax Collector A. J. Clark yesterday. To date there have been 8,855 passenger cars registered here, with 915 motor trucks and 2,878 automobile transfers. Saturday witnessed the registeration of six more new cars, as listed below:

Elbert Wilson, Slaton, Ford sedan. Mrs. J. H. Jenkins, Ford sedan. A. L. Porter, Ford roadster. Mrs. Ada Grimes, Ford coupe. T. B. Duggan, Ford coupe. O. O. Sampson, Studebaker sedan.

BUSY WEEK SCHEDULED

Eight Civil Cases Docketed In 99th District Court

A busy week lies ahead of Judge Clark M. Mullican and the Ninety-Ninth district court this week, with eight civil cases docketed remanding jury trials, as named below:

Montgomery versus Nowlin, Baldridge versus Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, Miller versus Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, Hinds versus Ballinger, Crews versus American Insurance company, Brocht versus Inman, Nichols versus Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, and Jones versus Jones.

Many titled Englishwomen have "gone into trade." One of them is a barber, although she styles herself "coiffeurer."

Pianos Vanish

Its Magic of Tax That Does It

PARIS, May 4 (AP).—City tax collectors wonder what becomes of all the pianos that are purchased here. There are hundreds of stores that sell them, yet the official census of the music makers has been around 160,000 for several years, never showing any increase.

This is so, newspapers say, because eight years ago the city put a tax on pianos. It has been even more unpopular than other taxes and once there was a best selling popular song, "Hide Your Piano," that apparently has guided owners.

West Texans Show Way As San Angelo Wins Interscholastic Meet

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

WITH ALLAN CARNEY

A TOUGH SPOT

Milton Stock, manager of the Dallas Steers of the Texas League, seems headed in the same direction that other Herd pilots have gone. Seven straight defeats have been handed the Steers and Stock offers various reasons for the poor showing of his club. One of the big reasons given for the failure of the team to come through in early season games was Randy Moore, Dallas outfielder, who was highly touted at the beginning of the year's campaign.

Stock's policy in pointing out one member of the squad as the chief reason for the team's failure cannot lend harmony to the already floundering Herd. Each player will naturally feel that he will likely be the next to bear the brunt of the manager's barrage. Dallas officials have changed managers at a rapid pace during the past few years and Stock is unlikely to be an exception. Baseball fans of the north Texas metropolis are not noted for their support of a losing ball club and the howl for another change in the managerial post is already audible.

Dallas was named as one of the pennant contenders prior to the opening of the season, but since that time have failed to show very much of the supposed punch that goes with a flag-winning aggregation. Waco, on the other hand, has come through with flying colors, much to the surprise of Wacoans and all alike. Manager Pratt has been given an exceptional brand of pitching by his young hurlers, and this factor together with a slugging group of fielders, has put the Cubs at the top of the ladder.

WHAT ABOUT IT

From a financial standpoint, the wrestling card staged at the Merrill Park Thursday night was a failure, but it was far from such from the standpoint of entertainment. The spectators were given fast matches with plenty of action and were given ample returns for their money. This was the first venture of the season and the promoters did not expect to fill the park to overflowing, but later on some real boxing and wrestling talent is to be brought here. Then the test of the sporting blood of Lubbockites will come. There are plenty of drawing cards in the boxing and wrestling game who are waiting for an opportunity to appear in Lubbock and it will be up to the fans here to show enough interest to bring them to the city.

IT'S ALL OVER

Tech tracksters wound up their 1929 season yesterday at Abilene when the Christian college Wildcats walked off with the heavy end of the score in their dual track and field meet. The Christians excelled in practically every department with a flashy crew of speedsters showing their heels to the Matadors in all track events. The loss to A. C. C. was the only dual meet the Paynemen failed to capture during the entire season. J. H. Tadlock continued to show the way to the individual high point men, scoring 12 points.

Members of the track team store away their abbreviated uniforms tomorrow and don the moleskins for spring football training. Coach Payne will point the football coaching staff this week. Coach Higginbotham will take charge of the football training camp immediately after the completion of the present road trip with the Matador baseball team. The Tech nine opens a week of activities tomorrow at College Station. Following their second game with the Texas Aggies Tuesday, they will journey to Austin for a two game series with St. Edwards University. Two games with Daniel Baker at Brownwood on Friday and Saturday will wind up the jaunt through central Texas.

TAKE FINAL PRACTICE

Entries In British Open Ready For Match

GULLANE, Scotland, May 4. (AP)—Between heavy showers a score of American golfers and more than 200 others of the cosmopolitan entry for the British Open championship today had their last heavy practice over the Muirfield and Gullane courses were qualifying rounds will be played Monday and Tuesday.

With the pick of the world's best exponents of the game here representing North America, South America, Australia, South Africa, Indian and Continental countries, it is difficult to get the veterans even to hazard a guess as to who is most likely to carry from Muirfield the title Walter Hagen of America holds.

Four District 2 Athletes Place In Track Events

Price, Lubbock; Simmons, Slaton; Hooper, Olton And Wiggins, Loyola Win Places In Annual Affair

AUSTIN, May 4. (AP)—Scoring 19 points, San Angelo high school captured the 19th annual University of Texas Interscholastic track meet over a field of competitors whose entries shattered four state records.

The victors were responsible for lowering the one-mile relay mark of 3 minutes, 30.5 seconds made by Vernon in 1925 when they sped the distance in 3 minutes, 26.9 seconds.

San Jacinto high school of Houston placed second in team scoring and Grand Prairie and Temple tied for third. Houston was responsible for 11 markers and Grand Prairie and Temple counted 7.

Hardman Scores High.

Hardman, Grand Prairie's one-man team who placed third in the 120-yard high hurdles and first in the low hurdles in the record time of 24.4 seconds, was high point man.

Other state marks broke during the afternoon's performance were the 880-yard run, won by Brothers, San Angelo flier, and in the pole vault. Baxter soared 12 feet, 2 5-8 inches in the latter event to better the previous height of 12 feet, set by Jackson of Dalhart in 1920.

Four Masonic Home high school speedsters of Fort Worth who pressed San Angelo hard in the relay were timed in 1 1-2 seconds faster than the former state records.

Roberts of Friendship school in Kaufman county proved the iron man of contestants from small rural schools, finishing first in the pentathlon.

The summary:

TRACK EVENTS:

Mile run—Simmons, Slaton, first; Blakeney, Karnes City, second; Brown, Central of Fort Worth, third; Storm, Austin, fourth. Time four minutes, 36.4 seconds.

120-Yard high hurdles — Hooper, Olton; Kroschell, San Jacinto of Houston; Hardman, Grand Prairie; Acker, Knox City. Time 15.5 seconds.

100-Yard dash—Russell, Hereford; Haley, San Angelo; McJunkin, Woodrow Wilson, Dallas; Gunn, Masonic Home. Time 10.1 seconds.

880-Yard run—Brothers, San Angelo; Archer, Brownwood; Schultze, Temple; Cox, Corpus Christi. Time two minutes, 1.2 seconds. (new record).

440-Yard dash — Coker, Temple; Phillips, Woodville; Garretson, Woodrow Wilson, Dallas; Holloway, Lufkin. Time 51.4 seconds.

220-yard dash — Morrison, San Angelo; Bardwell, Maine Ave. of San Antonio; Gunn, Masonic Home of Fort Worth; Price, Lubbock. Time 22.1 seconds.

One-mile relay — San Angelo (Jones, Brothers, Haley, Morrison); Masonic Home of Fort Worth; Abilene; Stephenville. Time 3 minutes, 26.9 seconds. (new record).

FIELD EVENTS:

Discus throw — Petty, Kaufman; Rather, Hallettsville; Palmer, Forest Avenue of Dallas; Kloerner, Fredericksburg. Distance 125 feet.

Broad jump — Hale, Smithsville; Huddleston, Texarkana; Evans, Lufkin; Scott, Jourdantown. Distance 22 feet, 11 inches.

Shot-put — Smith, Electra; Perkins, Grafford; Koerner, Fredericksburg; Mullenix, Sherman. Distance 47 feet, 10 1-4 inches.

Javelin throw—Viebig, San Jacinto of Houston; Sanders, Taft; Kloerner, Fredericksburg; George, Albany. Distance 177 feet.

High jump — Watkins, Holliday; Nesrsta, Flatonia; and Scott, Jourdantown, tied for second; Jones, Sugarland and Dixon, Bigfoot, tied for fourth. Height six feet, 1 1-4 inches.

Pole vault—Baxter, Nacogdoches; Scott, Jourdantown and Nearsta, Flatonia, tied for second; Ruthven, Donna. Height 12 feet, 2 5-8 inches. (New record.)

Rural pentathlon — Roberts, Friendship school, Kaufman county; Vickers, Shawver school, Baylor county; Wiggins, Loyola school, Martin county; Turner, Owensville school, Robertson county.

Dallas Netters Hog Honors In Meet

AUSTIN, May 4. (AP)—Dallas garnered all but one of the state tennis titles in the Interscholastic League meet here which ended today.

When Charlotte Macquiston, 14, of North Dallas high school trimmed in straight sets in the finals of the girls' singles, she became the youngest girl ever to hold the state championship.

Doc Barr of Oak Cliff high, Dallas, had easy sailing in the boys' singles finals. He did not drop a game in three sets, beating James Adkins of Brady, 6-0, 6-0, 6-0.

Barr and his team mate, Hugh Freazier, trounced the doubles contingent from San Jacinto high of Houston, 6-3, 8-6, 2-6, 6-4 to win another title.

West Texas sisters proved better netters than South Texas sisters, when Josephine and Virginia Martin of Eastland beat Mary Virginia and Edna Lee Clatt of Pharr, 6-2, 6-2, in the girls' doubles finals.

"A chip off the old block," was the way some sized up the young girl racket wizard from Dallas as she beat Earlyne Sisley of Abilene, 6-4, 6-1. Their thoughts reverted to 1913 when Harvey Macquiston, Charlotte's father, won the state men's title and paired with his brother, Paul, to take the doubles crown.

The girl's back-hand was a beauty to watch and her placement shots sure.

Her stroking resembled that of her father.

Eyes Of Turf World Scrutinize Eligibles For Kentucky Derby Classic At Churchill Downs

(By Central Press)

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 4.—Eyes of turf fans throughout the nation are focused on Lexington as trainers of three-year-olds that are eligible to start in the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, May 18, turn into the homestretch in preparation of their charges for America's most famous horse race.

In the "winter books," only two of the 158 thoroughbreds that are eligible to start in the derby are quoted at odds of less than 10 to 1. They are Blue Larkspur and Clyde Van Dusen. Both are training at Lexington.

Dwindling.

In addition to these two favorites 24 other horses are working out, either at the century-old Kentucky association course in Lexington or at private thoroughbred farms near the city. Nearly half of these 24, however already have been counted out of the race by the "railbirds" and when the final starting fee of $1,000 is paid on the day of the derby it is not likely that more than two or three of the remaining half will be found in the list of starters.

A majority of the trainers of derby horses will tell you that their charges are certain starters in the derby, and it's quite likely that each of these trainers believes he is telling the truth. But any thoroughbred owner, even the wealthiest, will think twice before he pays that $1,000 starting fee. Thoroughbred history proves that more than four-fifths of the April entries not only will not start in the Derby, but that many of them, before the summer is over, will be running out of the money in claiming races.

Barring unforeseen accidents, Blue Larkspur and Clyde Van Dusen can be considered certain starters in the Derby. Both hung up impressive records as two-year-olds; both have done everything their trainers have asked of them in their preparations this spring. Blue Larkspur is quoted at 3 1-2 to 1 in the winter books, and Col. E. R. Bradley, his owner, is reported to have offered to wager $25,000 that his colt will beat any horse picked against him in the $50,000 classic. Clyde Van Dusen, now quoted at 8 to 1, has shown in every trial this spring that a firm rein was needed to keep him from "burning up the track."

In addition to these two favorites, there are more than a dozen other three-year-olds training in or near Lexington that are going about their workouts as if they mean business. They include Lord Braedalbane, Deep River, Negodale, Sandy Shore, London Pride, Last Thought, Current, Dr. Parrish, Frank Horan, Aleman, Herrick, Plumago, Bather and McGonigle. Special favorites of the race followers are Lord Braedalbane, owned by Desha Breckinridge, Lexington publisher; Current, the filly that seems to have the best chance of any horse of her sex in the country to trim the Derby field; Sandy Shore, which defeated Nalshapur winner of the Tia Juana Derby, in a race at New Orleans during the winter and London Pride, the "30-cent" horse.

Sentimental Favorite.

London Pride is a sentimental favorite with all who know the colt's history. He is owned by Senator Johnson N. Camden. When a yearling he went blind, and was about to be destroyed. Senator Camden remarked that he would sell him for 30 cents, and Jack Bryan, Camden's manager, took the proposition and paid for him, the story goes. Then Bryan, after long and careful treatment, cured the colt and returned him to Camden at the original price. London Pride is a big, strapping colt that seems ready to run all day, and is very highly regarded by stable attaches.

Lexington turf followers are willing to wager even money that the next Derby winner is now in training in the Blue Grass. But knowing which of the six will be that winner—that's another question.

Jamieson And Stephenson Are Leading Sluggers In Two Major League Loops

Indian Star Drops In Average But Retains Lead

CHICAGO, May 4.—(AP)—Charlie Jamieson's batting average dropped 87 points within one week, but he still kept an edge over the field in the race for American League clubbing honors, unofficial averages including Wednesday's games, reveal.

The Cleveland outfielder's mark at the end of the second week of the campaign is .437 compared to .524 a week ago, but his chief rivals also slumped. Lou Blue of St. Louis, who clung to second place, dropped from .500 to .435 in seven games.

Several hitters made great gains, especially Marty McManus of Detroit, who lifted his average from .324 to .410 to go into fourth place. Bud Clancy of the White Six gained nine to take third with a .426 average. Other leaders were: Foxx, Philadelphia, .409; Goslin, Washington, .405; Simmons, Philadelphia .400; Judge, Washington .382; Hale of Philadelphia .361 and Metzler, Chicago, .360.

Gray Leads Pitchers

Sammy Gray, sturdy right hander of the St. Louis Browns, hung up two more victories during the week and went into the lead in the pitching race with four straight triumphs. In 27 innings Gray has allowed nine runs. Uhle of Detroit and Hoyt of New York had three victories each.

Feeding upon Boston pitching, the Philadelphia Athletes jumped to the top of the heap in team batting with an average of .326. Detroit was second with .317, while the Yankees were in eighth place with .255. Washington clung to the top in fielding with a .985 percentage.

Philadelphia led in runs with 95 in 12 games and the White Sox were the hardest to score on as only 41 have been tallied against them in 12 games.

Other leaders:

Home runs, Philadelphia 14; double plays, Cleveland 18; triple play, Chicago 1; runs, Blue, St. Louis, 19; runs batted in Alexander, Detroit; stolen bases, Epnseca, Cleveland, and Averill, Cleveland, 4 each; strikeouts Gray, St. Louis, 16.

Front And Back Numbers For Cats

CHICAGO, May 4. (AP)—When Northwestern university's football team takes the field next fall, the players will be attired in jerseys with numbers, 20 inches in height, on the front as well as the back.

Coach Dick Hanley believes this innovation will be warmly greeted by the fans since it will be easier for them to identify the ball carriers.

Chicago Fly Chaser Moves Into Lead In National

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—J. Riggs Stephenson, the Chicago outfielder, moved into the leadership of the National league batters for the period ending with Wednesday's games, according to averages revealed today, and Percy Lee Malone, also of the Cubs took the top perch among the pitchers. Stephenson boasted an average of .442 for 13 games and Malone showed three victories and no defeats for a percentage of 1.000.

Stephenson had the greatest number of hits in his league, 23, and was tied with his teammate, Hack Wilson, and Hughie Critz of Cincinnati for the lead in scoring. Each showed a total of 13 runs. Frank Frisch's six doubles put the St. Louis star ahead in this useful specialty, but the three-base leadership remained in dispute. Rogers Hornsby and Kiki Cuyler of Chicago, Delphage Bissonette of Brooklyn, Lloyd Waner of Pittsburgh and Curt Walker of Cincinnati, each had two.

Hack Wilson and George Harper finished the week in a tie for home run honors, each having four. Wilson led by himself in batting runs across the plate with a total of 17. Jake Flowers of Brooklyn showed the way in base stealing with five thefts.

Regulars following Stephenson in the batting table were: Gilbert, Brooklyn, .435; High, St. Louis, .433; O'Doul, Philadelphia, .425; Harper, Boston and Jackson, New York, .400; Frisch, St. Louis, .388; Herman, Brooklyn, .386; Dressen, Cincinnati, .285, and Hogan, New York, .375. This list includes only players who have appeared in six games or more.

Following Malone in the pitching table were five men with two victories and no defeats: Carl Hubbell of New York; Burleigh Grimes, of Pittsburgh; Guy Bush, of Chicago; Bob Smith, of Boston, and Jesse Haines of St. Louis. Six others had a single victory apiece, without a reverse.

The team batting table displayed the Cubs out in front somewhat alone, with a handsome mark of .310. The Reds were second with .293. The Braves led in team fielding with .983, and the Cubs were second with .972.

"Farms" Necessary To Protect Young Players, Says Ruppert

By NEA Service

NEW YORK, May 4.—Colonel Ruppert, who owns the New York Yankees, thinks baseball farms are necessary if major league clubs are to protect their young players.

"You can't be sure that a manager not under your control will take care of your rookies," he says. "A manager is out to make a good showing and he uses every means in his power.

"When a major league club sends a youngster to its own farm, the owners are assured the manager will develop him and won't ruin him in the effort.

Gordon Rhodes' case is a good example. He was just out of college last season but he was with Hollywood and Hollywood was trying for the pennant, Rhodes was over-worked. If he hadn't fallen a victim of tonsilitis and thereby given a rest, it is doubtful whether he would be with us this season."

Girl Sprint Star Is Paced By Dog

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn, May 4. (AP) — Olive Louise Kruger, 18-year-old Chattanooga girl who returned recently from Boston, where she outdistanced 150 competitors in the novice 50-yard dash at the national indoor women's meet, has gained new laurels.

Before an admiring throng in Cattanooga she recently outran the world's track record for 40 yards for her class when she did the distance in five seconds. The Olympic record is 5 2-5.

The recently-discovered sprinter from the hills of Tennessee was not trained by experts. Her training companions have been police dogs on the Harlow farm, where she makes her home with the Harlow family.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 4. (AP)—Beckoning with his flying spikes, George Simpson, sprinting darling of Ohio State's track team, showed athletes from sixty colleges the way to glory today by breaking the accepted world record for the 100-yard dash in the feature event of the sixth annual Ohio relays.

Action, and Plenty of It, In Penn Relays

Fort Worth Outfielder Has Best Of Shreveport Cox In Race For Leadership; Caldwell Leads Pitchers

DALLAS, May 4. (AP)—Larmon Cox, hard hitting Fort Worth Cat outfielder, had 35 points the best of Dick Cox, Shreveport ball buster, in a race for the batting leadership of the Texas League through Thursday's games, in which three players still boasted .400 averages. Claude Robertson, veteran catcher and manager of Beaumont, was in third place. The ten leading hitters were:

Larmon Cox, Fort Worth, .447; D. Cox, Shreveport, .408; Robertson, Beaumont, .400; Blackerby, Waco, .397; Sanguinet Waco, .391; Wetzel, San Antonio, .391; Benton, Wichita Falls, .391; Tate, San Antonio, .385. Easterling, Beaumont, .383; Whelan, Shreveport, .382.

Leads In Base Hits

Sanguinet, Waco slugger, has pelted seven homers through Thursday to lead the league in that department, with Starr, rookie Shreveport catcher, second with five.

Pepper Martin, Houston speed merchant, promises to give Ray Flaskamper, Dallas swift, a real race for base stealing honors this season. He had 10 to his credit, compared to five for Flaskamper, last year's leader.

Earl Caldwell, Waco sensation, was the leading pitcher of the league with four straight victories. Lumovich and Thurman, also of Waco, had three victories apiece, and Schelberg, Houston, three; Wiltse, Wichita Falls, led in strikeouts with 21.

The Nut Cracker

By Joe Williams

Joe Williams

Dick Curley told a Detroit newspaper man that he had forsaken the boxing game because it was too crooked. Mr. Curley has gone in for wrestling.

DICK FURTHER SAYS ONE OF THE REASONS WHY WRESTLING IS SUPERIOR TO BOXING IS THAT YOU CAN ALWAYS GET A LAFF OUT OF A PUNK GRAPPLING CONTEST, BUT A SOUR SPARRING MATCH IS SOUR INDEED, WITH NO SWEET GIFT OF HUMOR ABOUT IT AT ALL.

On that score O'Goofty arises to defend boxing. He says he hasn't seen any people wearing boxing gloves except clowns for quite a spell.

Supporting his contention he points to a ring where little hoary old men like Jack Britton and Johnny Dundee can still step in and smear the jesters.

In a ring where a referee can count as long as he likes over a prostrate gladiator, where an aged rubber worker can leave his tires and smack down the rising lights of the cauliflower industry, where champions can be knocked goofy and still retain their championships, where a champion gets $5,000 for winning a bout from a man who gets $50,000 for fighting him—in that ring, is there no lilting laughter whatever?

To cinch his argument, O'Goofty points to the German boy who came over to be managed by everybody in New York cl... Jack Sharkey, glaring super-coxcomb of the arena; to Johnny R... who loses to every ham he meets and beats the good guys, and to that natural born wrestler, Young Stribling, who finds more good clean fun in boxing than he ever could in being butted hither and yon by Gus Sonnenberg or twisted into a pretzel by Mr. Lewis.

Stanford Carries Off Team Honors In Coast Contest

Olympic Club Of San Francisco Is Second In Pacific Association Meet At Kezar Stadium

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4. (AP)—Stanford university athletes won team honors in the Pacific Association track and field championships at Kezar Stadium today, with 80 points. The Olympic Club of San Francisco placed second with 72 points while the University of California was third with 19.

The feature performance was turned in by Russell Sweet of the Olympic Club who stepped the 100 yard dash in 9 2-5 seconds, bettering the present world's record. The mark probably will not be allowed as a new world record as he had a wind at his back.

Golf Tourney Is Set for Plainview

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, May 4. (AP)—A golf tournament between the directors of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture and members of the Board of City Development has been arranged as a result of a challenge from the first organization to the other.

The match will be played before May 15 on the Lena Ware Golf Course at Plainview, and the losing organization will be host to the groups at a dinner.

Plainview has a unique commercial organization plan. The Board of City Development is a group of fifteen men appointed by the City Council, and financed by a two mill tax to do chamber of commerce work. The Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture is a voluntary organization with paid memberships. The work of both is closely correlated with one office and one managing secretary.

The purpose of the tournament according to Presidents Bill Goudy and Chas. Reinken is to create a better acquaintance between the members of the two organizations, and at the same time enjoy the splendid golfing facilities at Plainview these Spring days.

FROG NETTERS COP

FORT WORTH, May 4. (AP)—Texas Christian university's varsity's tennis team trounced the Mustang netters here today for the first time in many years, 4 to 2.

WACO, May 4. (AP)—The Baylor university track team registered a victory over the North Texas State Teachers college representatives here today, 69 to 48.

FEDERATED MISSIONARY SOCIETY ENTERTAINED MONDAY

The Federated Missionary society, composed the Christian, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches, were guests Monday afternoon of the ladies of the Baptist church. An improvised reception room, made of a number of class rooms, was made cheerful with pretty decorations and a welcome most cordial made guests happy indeed. Mrs. L. J. Dunn, vice president of the organization, acting chairman, made a brief introductory talk, which was followed by the minutes of a previous meeting, read by Mrs. Walter Gracey, secretary. A beautiful and appropriate devotional was in the hands of Mrs. F. H. Perkins. Mesdames H. O. Longbrake, H. R. Winston, W. W. Price and McGowan sang "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown" with Carrie Jacobs Band's much loved "Perfect Day" as accompaniment with Mrs. Ivy Savage at the piano. "The Purpose of the Federation" was presented by Mrs. W. H. Dallas, the first president of the organization. Little Misses Elray and Vou Dee Lewis, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lewis, played a piano duet. A business period followed the program, in which officers for the following year were named as follows: Mrs. E. V. May, president; Mrs. J. H. Griffith, vice president; Mrs. J. A. Michel, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Sawyer, treasurer. The investigating committee was appointed with Mesdames S. H. Holgate, H. W. McSpadden, S. V. Wheeler and J. T. Auburg acting in this capacity. A banquet soon to be given, the arrangement and program committees were appointed. The ladies served delicious ham sandwiches, pineapple pie and iced tea to about seventy-five guests. Plate favors were pink roses. The contact of the afternoon in a social way was very uplifting and pleasant and conductive to higher aims in church life.

James Harley Dallas of Tech college visited a short while with home folks Sunday.

Mayor and Mrs J. J. McGowan returned Sunday from a brief stay in Quanah and Fort Worth.

Miss Bess Baldwin, guest of friends in Abilene last week end, returned to Brownfield Monday to resume her duties as violin instructor in the schools.

Bill Collins of the Tech college had for his guest Sunday Dick Browning of Albany, also a Tech student. The young men returned to Lubbock Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stephens of Post passed through Brownfield Sunday on their way to Roswell, New Mexico. Mrs. Shelton, mother of Mrs. Stevens accompanied them to Roswell.

Miss Sallie Truman Stricklin visited her little friend, Caroline Spencer at Lubbock last week end.

Mrs. H. W. McSpadden and daughter, Miss Gladys McSpadden of Lubbock were visitors of Mrs. McSpadden's sister, Mrs. O. Marshbands at Shallowwater Sunday.

Tom May, Ike Bailey and Mr. Craig have returned from the Shriners convention held at El Paso last week.

DELEGATES TO SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION

Rev. and Mrs. E. V. May and baby daughter left Saturday morning for Memphis, Tenn., where they go as delegates to the Southern Baptist convention held may 5 to 12. Mr. and Mrs. May will visit relatives in Mississippi before returning to Brownfield.

YOUNG WOMEN'S MISSIONARY ENTERTAIN

Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. C. Hunter, the Young Women's Missionary society of the Methodist church entertained with showers complimenting Mrs. Boone Hunter and Mrs. T. L. Treadway. The home was made most attractive for the event, and an enjoyable afternoon was spent. The guests were Mesdames Olie Stice, Leo Helms, Holmes, Finney, Cecil Smith, J. B. Knight, C. C. Coleman, Clyde Gross, N. B. Moore, C. Fitzgerald, Hopson, Downing, C. R. Williams, J. B. Jackson, H. O. Longbrake, G. T. Webber, Allan Owen and the honorees. Sandwiches, cake and tea were served by the entertaining ladies.

Among out of town visitors in our city last week were A. M. Whitaker of Fort Worth, agricultural manager of the W. T. C. C.; Max Bentley, managing editor of the Abilene Reporter; Col. C. C. French, industrial agent of the Fort Worth Livestock Exchange.

MAY QUEEN CROWNED

A presentation of unusual beauty of the crowning of the May queen and the awakening of the sleeping flowers, the farewell of winter, all combined to delight and entertain the crowds of visitors on the lawn, when Tuesday evening just at dusk the celebration of pomp and brilliance began. Miss Christova Sawyer, the chosen queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Sawyer, a senior of Brownfield high school, was gorgeously costumed in a lace frock of the Elizabethean type, having a white satin train, embroidered in rhine stones as were her white satin pumps. Her escort, Prince Charming, was played by Judge H. R. Winston in court regalia. Miss Mary Ann Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, as Duchess of Brownfield, was most attractively costumed in pastel colors. Miss Lenore Brownfield, as maid of honor, was also handsomely gowned, Miss Farris of Forrestor community was maid honor, presented a beautiful picture, in lovely costume.

Following the coronation many pretty and fascinating drills and dances were heartily received, among them were the milk maids, the Gypsies, the Japanese, the Swiss children, the Scotch lads and lassies, the Irish, Robin Hood's men, the Hollanders, the golden butterflies, and the grand finale came when the beautiful May pole dance was given. Gorgeous and colorful costumes were worn by the young girls in this number. The predominating colors were pink and orchid. Miss Lucille McSpadden gave a pretty dance, as the "Summer Dance," Miss Frances Brownfield was beautiful in the "Snow Costume" dance. Bill Savage and Wendell Smith were heralders. Enchanting music by the orchestra and union voices was a vital part of the affair.

Mrs. W. B. Toone charmingly directed the fete, sponsored by the P. T. A., which proved to be most successful. Miss Queenelle Sawyer, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sawyer, played the fairy queen role in pretty and dainty interpretation, while her maids of honor, Miss Sallie Truman Stricklin and Miss Julia Ruth Markham, were quite in harmony and prettily gowned. The occasion was not without the usual court jester, who proved to be an unending source of amusement in his attempt at mimicry. Pretty little girls and manly little boys played parts well adapted to them. Booths where drinks could be purchased were in charge of the organization sponsoring the May fete.

Mr. and Mrs. Plem McSpadden are home after a ten days sojourn in El Paso, Ruidoso and Hot Springs, New Mexico.

Back Of Every Saving Account There Lies

Two Big Reasons

Profits—Earnings

The first consideration is that you receive interest on money placed on a savings account. It is producing while you sleep. Interest paid on invested money each year is four and one-half times the amount earned by all the people—in the United States.

Self Preservation

When an individual starts a savings account, he is protecting himself against emergencies. If he has a family, he is protecting the members of it. It is insurance against the stormy days which occur in the lifetime of every individual. The individual who saves treats himself to a "feeling of security."

City.

Dear Friends:

A word of appreciation for the quick and efficient work you accomplished in my mouth. I was in doubt as to the possibility of you completing the work in the time you were allotted; however, the bridge is a master-piece and has availed me much comfort and relief.

I cannot help but congratulate you and the citizens of Lubbock—you for your complete and efficient work and the public for being availed the opportunity of your services.

Your prices are the most reasonable I have ever encountered—the high quality of the work being taken into consideration. As you know, from examination, the bridge-work in my mouth that you so efficiently re-adjusted required painstaking effort and scientific construction. So—I again thank you for your efforts and hope the entire community will take advantage of your excellent services. Again wishing you the success you so rightfully deserve, I remain,

Cordially and sincerely,
Signed: HAYWARD THOMPSON.

C. OF C. HOLDS SMOKER TUESDAY NIGHT

The quarterly smoker which will be held every three months this year by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday night at the club house. Plans are being made for a good program and a large crowd is expected. A special invitation is extended to all Santa Fe employees to attend these affairs. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

Next year the Slaton schools will have public school music included in their programs. This is a dream come true to Miss Jenette Ramsey, head of the music department who has taught music in the schools here the past 14 years. And it is through her untiring efforts that this has been secured. Further announcement will be made before the opening of the next school term.

RUTH WESLEY CLASS SOCIAL

Mrs. L. Williams and Mrs. D. Kemp were hostesses to the members of the Ruth Wesley Class of the Methodist Sunday school Friday evening at Mrs. Williams' home on West Panhandle street. After a short business session conducted by the president Mrs. D. L. Badgsley. The first two chapters of the book "The Pupil," was led by Mrs. Williams. The third and fourth chapters were assigned as the next lesson. Lovely refreshments of home made ice cream and cake were served.

P.-T. A. PARTY

Every one who attended the benefit party given by the East and West Ward Parent-Teachers organization Wednesday and Thursday evenings reported a very entertaining evening. Mrs. Allan Ferrell and Mrs. Carl George furnished the music both evenings. The four high-score scores played off the tie on Wednesday evening Miss Nora Sealy and Mr. Ayers played off the tie with Miss Elizabeth Smith and Allen Ferrell. The first two winning. And on Thursday evening Miss Billie Mae MarsHall and Hugh Diamond played opposite Miss Joe Hestand and L. B. Wooten, who had not lost a game all evening. But lost in the game with Miss Marshall and Mr. Diamond.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED

Harlan Cook and Miss Alice Dulaney were married Sunday, April 21, at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. R. T. Breedlove officiating. The marriage was known to only a few relatives and intimate friends for several days and that accounts for the fact that there was no mention at the time of the weeding.

Mr. Cook is a brother of Mrs. D. H. Goodnough and is a splendid young business man. Mrs. Cook is a niece of Mrs. J. H. Edwards, and is a most popular young lady. Both have resided here and attended school here for several years and have been showering them with congratulations and good wishes. They are residing temporarily with the Goodnough family.

MUCH BELOVED TAHOKA WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Genuine grief was brought to many Tahoka hearts last Saturday morning as it became known that Mrs. Amanda Tredway, wife of A. M. Tredway had passed away during the night.

Mrs. Tredway had been critically ill for two or three weeks and the end was not unexpected but the grief of hosts of friends was very poignant just the same.

Funeral services were conducted at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Church of Christ, of which Mrs. Tredway had long been a faithful member, and the remains were laid to rest in the City cemetery. Elder W. A. Kercheville, her pastor, conducted the funeral services, but Rev. B. N. Shepherd, the Baptist pastor here, who has been a close neighbod of the Tredway family for the past few years, also spoke at the funeral, paying a touching tribute to the virtues of the deceased as a companion.

MEETING RESULTS IN MANY ADDITIONS TO CHURCH

There were 38 addtions to the Church of Christ as a result of the revival services held last week, according to Elder W. A. Kercheville. Twenty-six of these were by baptism. This was the greatest meeting in point of visable results the church has ever had here.

The preaching was done by Elder Glen Wallace, a splendid young evangelist not yet out of school. He is a student in Abilene Christian College. Elder W. A. Kercheville is pastor of the local congregation and has been doing most effective work since becoming pastor here about a year ago.

Prof. Nat Williams, who has been principal of the Tahoka high school for the past three years was notified early this week of his election to the superintendency of the public schools at Cross Plains. The scholastic population of the district is 640.

Safety Campaign Inaugurated For Traffic In City

Spring And Summer Periods Find Traffic Congested; Perils To Children Are Also Much Greater

With traffic during the spring and summer months heavier than at any other time of the year, Chief of Police John Lemond and members of the Lubbock traffic squad are laying plans for an extended safety campaign.

"As there are more children playing about the street in the warm months and because traffic is heavier we are going to take extra precaution to prevent accidents," Chief Lemond says.

A strict enforcement of all traffic laws and requirements is to be adhered to in an effort to eliminate the danger of accidents.

"Can't Please Them All"

"It is impossible to please everyone," Lemond declares. "Some people contend that Lubbock is the hardest place in the world to drive because drivers pay no attention to regulations, and others say that we are too strict here.

"The thing to remember when driving under traffic lights is to be ready to start when the green light comes on," he continues. "And drive fast when the light is with you, for one of the main faults with Lubbock's downtown traffic is slow drivers in the center of the street. If you want to drive slow get in the inside line of traffic."

Sirens are Installed

Another step in the safety program was taken last week when fire sirens were installed at the intersections of Texas Avenue and Main, Texas Avenue and Broadway, and Broadway and Avenue K. When the sirens are heard, all motorists, whether in the business or residential section, are supposed to pull to the curb and remain there until the sirens stop.

Stopping at stop signs, making a complete stop before turning right under a red traffic light, and signaling before turning are practices which traffic officers are to take special emphasis to enforce.

Increase Will Be Made In Rent Of Postoffice Boxes

An increase in the rent of post office boxes, authorized by Lubbock $100,000 postal receipt total of last year, will go into effect here July 1, it was announced yesterday by Postmaster John L. Vaughn.

The increase ranges from twenty-five to fifty per cent on the three months rates. The price for 75 cent boxes will be $1; the $1 boxes will be $1.50; the $1.50 boxes will become $2; and the $2 boxes will be $3.

This increase marks Lubbock's step from the small town class to the metropolitan class city. Last year's receipts in the local postoffice were slightly above the $100,000 mark, placing this city in a new division calling for the increased box rates. This is the first increase since the $40,000 division and will be the last one until the $300,000 total is reached.

These rates are designated by the postal department.

Erika Peters, Tech Co-Ed, Contrasts University Life In Europe And U.S.; She Sees A Difference

By MARGARET TURNER
Avalanche-Journal Staff

THE average American college student has much more freedom than he dreams of and greater leisure time than European scholars, according to Erika Peters, senior at Texas Technological college, who has visited in Germany, Switzerland, and France. Miss Peters and her mother Mrs. O. K. Peters, spent last summer on the continent and Erika intends to go abroad this summer.

In her travels she has not done as the average tourist, who follows the guide book and a prescribed course, but fortunately having friends and relatives in many of the larger cities of Eufope, Miss Peters has been enabled to come into close contact with the people and consequently to know them better. She also speaks Germarf and this fact has been of much benefit.

English Is Understood

"Anyone may travel all over Europe speaking only English and he will be understood," said the senior. "However if one does speak French, Spanish, or German he is at a decided advantage because Europeans think that most Americans are millionaires and charge them prices accordingly."

When the party was at Freiburg, Germany, a university fraternity was celebrating the anniversary of its chartering and the entire town was joining in the celebration. Flags were flying from homes and business houses alike, while the students paraded the streets in their funny little caps and gayly colored bands. Incoming trains were met where each alumnus and the "best girl" were welcomed to the festivities. Each student had two freshmen or "foxes" as they are called, whose business it was to run errands and make themselves generally useful. Sororities are unheard of abroad and Miss Peters sad that the students marveled at her pin and could not understand what a girl's club would be like that was organized along the lines that fraternities are.

Few Girls In College.

Girls in Europe have much more freedom than they did before the war but those who attend the universities are few in number and even if they are fortunate enough to attend a finishing school they need an unstinted allowance according to the Tech student. "Pensions" teach languages, the fine arts, and charm and there are many specialized schools where girls may study home economics, or education.

The boys, on the other hand, after graduating from the "gymnasiums" which are equivalent to four years high school and two years of college work, enter the universities as freshmen. Here they specialize in medicine, law, theology, etc., and many times follow the professions followed by their fathers. The first year is usually spent in acquiring the art of being a gentleman: classes are attended if one feels the urge to go, and roll call is never made.

Students Really Study.

One noticable thing about the universities as compared with those in America is that the students learn their assignments thoroughly and seem to retain their knowledge, and many are enabled to speak several languages quite fluently. When a boy enters college he is placed on his honor and made the custodian of his own morals.

Miss Peters told of a young German student who met a girl at a fraternity dance and asked her for a date to the next dance. She consented and when the night arrived he waited in vain for her to appear at the dance, finally taking a cab to her home where he was met at the door by a frigid mother who declared that before he might expect her daughter to attend a dance as his guest he must first pay the family a formal call. The next morning being Sunday the young man dressed in the necessary cutaway coat and accessories and went to see the girl. After a miserable hour spent with the entire family he was reinstated in the good graces of the mother and became recognized.

Do Not Get Soused.

"I think that the majority of people have the wrong conception of foreign students," said Miss Peters. "They seem to think that they sit around in the beer gardens and live exactly the life portrayed in the screen version of "The Student Prince." It is true they do drink but they have been reared to it and during the entire time I was in Europe I saw only one intoxicated person. The girls do not wear funny clothes but on the contrary most of them dress a great deal like American girls and use rouge and lip sticks."

There is a custom in vogue on the continent which is fast becoming a lost art in America—chaperonage. At the summer resorts when a ball is given the girls go into the salons and sit with their parents or chaperones at little tables placed around the walls. A gentleman desiring a dance comes to the table and after bowing graciously to the mother asks permission to dance with the daughter. Upon receiving the permission they whirl away to American jazz that in more than likely a year old, because by the time a modern song crosses the ocean and becomes popular on the continent it is out of date in America.

Lynn County Plans For Annual Fair

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

TAHOKA, May 4.—The Fair Exhibits committee of the local chamber of commerce has formulated plans for the organization of a Lynn County Fair association, naming a director from each rural community, two from Wilson, three from O'Donnell, and seven from Tahoka. The committee has named the directors and a meeting will be called in the future to complete the organization.

The directors from Tahoka are Mrs. R. W. Fenton, J. K. Applewhite, Claude Wells, Chester Connolly, Taylor White and Emory Nance. One of the first problems of the committee will be to secure permanent buildings to house the fair.

MOSCOW, May 4. — Tuberculosis shows a downward trend in Russian cities says the Commisariat of Health. In Leningrad the annual death rate dropped from 38.2 per ten thousand in 1904-8 to 21.1 in 1927. In Moscow the decrease was from 34.5 in 1901 to 15.9 in 1927.

Abundant Labor Available Here

Surplus Will Take Care Of Any Construction To Be Started Here During The Year Ahead

LUBBOCK has a surplus of both skilled and unskilled labor, which furnishes a supply of labor to take care of any and all building that might be started here during this year, a survey of conditions made yesterday reveals.

Out of a total of about 178 members of one of the building trades, for instance, at this time only about 50 of them are at work. This condition, however, promises to change for the better as construction work on the Hilton hotel and the Hotel Lubbock addition gets under further way.

"There are entirely too many workmen in all crafts here now," is the statement of one of the leaders of the building industry. "We have had an influx of workmen from other cities, as is to be expected following Lubbock's long record of expansion in all building, and it will take some time for things to get back to normal, insofar as they are concerned."

Some Are "Boomers."

Some of these surplus workmen are of the "boomer" type, while others are substantial folks looking for a place to locate. In every case it is the problem of the individual workmen to find his job and stay with it. Some might come to town and immediately go to work, while many others come and find nothing and are compelled to leave for other fields. The law of elimination will ultimately take care of these.

There are a few humorous and some tragic incidents to relate. As was learned from the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, where many inquiries center, recently a newcomer claimed that this organization had advertised for several hundred laborers, when the subway construction began. This gentleman was politely informed that the Chamber of Commerce had not advertised nor even intimated that there was need for 300 or 400 more laborers here, and he was offered a $10 reward if he could produce any such advertisement or statement. He did not produce.

The Chamber of Commerce officials announce that a standing reward is open at all times for anyone who can produce a paid advertisement emanating from them to the effect that laborers are needed here. That is something entirely outside of their province.

There is not a shortage of work and neither is there a shortage of labor here, is the gist of statements gathered. As the natural growth of the city progresses the supply of workmen, as needed, will be available, without any rapid influx of members of any crafts.

The individual, again, is the final problem center. If he is wise he will not go to any city in search of a job, unless he has promise of work, or the necessary funds to tide him over until he can locate it.

WARSAW.—This city has purchased several bison for the forest of Bialowiesax. Herds of the shaggy animals which formerly roamed there were killed off during the war either by soldiers or poachers.

High School And Tech Graduates Facing Busy Weeks

Sadness Felt By Lubbock Seniors Completing Work

Various Events Will Mark Commencement Time For Planting Of Tree With One Feature Of Program

THE army of graduates which will be sent forth into the world by Lubbock high school this month are in a gala series of festivities before the time comes for each of the 256 hopefuls to receive the coveted "sheepskin" May 15.

Gay laughter and many a heartache will be intermingled with the farewell events scheduled in rapid succession during the few remaining weeks of their high school careers. As the time nears when the members of this largest graduating class in the history of the local school system shall break the ties of friend ship and cut loose from the traditions of the Westerner spirit, there is a noticeable tinge of regret on the part of those who are venturing forth in the business of "life."

Serious Note Seen

An unusual note of seriousness is prevalent in the ranks of the 1929 class of graduates on the eve of the "beginning," but at the same time there is that determination to make the most of the few remaining days of the carefree high school life.

Beginning next Friday with an all-church reception, the 256 graduates will be thrown into whirl of events in their honor. The First Baptist church will be the scene of the opening festival at which the graduates will be the honor guests.

Dean Arthur H. Leidigh of the school of agriculture, Tech, will preach the baccalaureate sermon before the high school class at the Tech gymnasium on the following Monday night, May 13.

Junior Play Scheduled

On Tuesday night the annual junior play, "When a Fellow Needs a Friend," will be staged as the first step toward the publication of the 1930 senior year book. The seniors of '29 recently distributed the third annual that has been published at Lubbock high school without the use of advertising or contributions. Junior and senior plays furnish the capital for the cost of the book.

The customary valedictory and salutatory address will be omitted from the graduating exercises this year. When the graduates assemble at the First Baptist church on Wednesday night, May 15, for the final exercises, the address by Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the First Baptist church, will hold the full attention of the graduates. Instead of the usual ceremonies at the graduating exercises, Ruth Winton Reed, first honor graduate, and Nina Opal Davies, second honor graduate, will appear on the program of the seniors' farewell assembly held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon on May 15 at the high school auditorium. George Pierce, president of the graduating class, is in charge of the program.

To Plant a Tree

Oother senior day events will include the planting of a tree on the high school campus by members of the class. The traditional brudges will be entered with the roots of the small tree.

Following the presentation of diplomas Wednesday night at the graduating exercises, the seniors will leave early Thursday for Silver Falls near Crosbyton for an all-day picnic. The class will have full concession of the grounds during the day.

Other parties are being planned by the sponsors of the senior class for the outgoing graduates. C. C. Cox is chairman of the sponsor committee composed of the following: Misses Lomax, Armstrong, Brown, Daniel and M. E. Witt.

Reminiscences Of An Old Timer

A Series Of Articles, Anonymously Written By An Old Timer In The South Plains Section

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the first of a series which are being written expressly for the Avalanche-Journal by an old time resident of this section. The writer expects to tell many interesting stories of by-gone days, dealing in personalities among pioneers of the section. Watch for forthcoming articles in this space each Sunday.)

AS WE approach the evening of life, we are prone to dwell more and more on memories—we no longer look to the future for enjoyment. Being able to participate in the activities of the day, we spend our time in mentally revisiting places closely associated with memories and in trying to recall faces longer seen.

When the editor of the Avalanche-Journal asked me to tell their readers some of my memories, I wondered what I knew that would be of interest to any one else. I am not as chipper as I used to be—you may question the authenticity of some of my reminiscences I admit, but I distinctly remember when there was no break on the Plains in the endless monotony of sagebrush, beargrass and the misleading illusions, called mirage.

World is Changing

This world is constantly changing—due to the elements and other influences. Back in the time of old Adam, the most radical change ever made in the history was on account of a female—in the time of Joan of Arc, another great change was made. The entire topography of the Llano Estacado was changed by a female and to this day we men are blindly following the females.

An old cow staggering before the icy blast of a "norther" started a faint trail across the Plains, which was followed by other cattle, each making the trail a little more plain. The countless thousands of hoofs passing, cut the surface away and wore the path deeper and deeper until this trail became well defined and today the headwaters of the mighty Brazos river are flowing between the walls of an immense canyon, one time a dim cow trail. The time will no doubt come when this old cow's wandering steps will have resulted in state ships following the course she so blindly started. What was once the isolated headquarters of the Nunn ranch, will become known the world over as a port of sea-going vessels for I have been told that our Governor Dan Moody is favorable to declaring Blanco canyon a navigable stream, as a result of the recent legislature.

Why I can even remember when crime was unknown on the Plains. Back in 1883, when I was riding range here for Nunns, on the very site that is now the city of Lubbock, a United States marshal passed through with some prisoners. The only town of any size in this section at that time was Estacado—there had been no rain for months and months—these men were tired and when the marshal found a big cistern empty and dry he proceeded to put his prisoners in it. The cistern was jug-shaped and this was the origin of the saying "put in a jug" "or "get put in jug." The men were compelled to go in and out of this temporary jail on a ladder and when the ladder was drawn out, they were for a fact "in a jug."

Remembers the Hunts

I recall there was a family living at Estacado at that time named Hunt—Quakers I believe; one of their boys was a sort of religiously inclined fellow and he would come out to this cistern and while sitting on the edge, would exhort the prisoners on the evils of their way of living—they were compelled to listen for there was no way for them to get away. I hear this boy grew up to become a mighty orator and that he has preached to thousands of men that he did not have to fasten up in a jug to get them to listen and that he is now Rev. Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurry college in Abilene. There were several other children in this family—I'll tell what I can remember about them later on.

There were many other people here in the early days that grew to prominence in the history of Texas. I'll try and tell you what I recall of them if you will just bear with my ramblings. My memories come and go like faces—here today—gone tomorrow. Some of the faces associated with my memories are no longer to be seen—they passed away forever—others live in far distant places. The trails broken by these pioneers are being followed even yet and the influence of their lives will go down through history just as the old cow's wandering steps started a mighty river's course.

GREENVILLE DEPOT BURNS

GREENVILLE, May 3. (AP)—A box car and loading platform fire of unknown origin caused $8,000 damage at the Cotton Belt freight depot here today.

There are about 1,000,000 square miles of lake and river surface on the land, and 1,910,000 square miles of islands in the seas of the earth.

Tech Deans Will Be Lunch Guests Of Senior Class

Final Examinations Are To Be Given Graduates Week Ahead Of Others; Picture Of Horn Soon Ready

GRADUATION time comes but once in the life of a college student and for the 168 candidates for degrees this spring at Texas Tech much is in store in the way of entertainment and celebrations. From Senor Day on May 10, until the close of the current school year, the graduates are to hold full sway over the college campus and the entire city of Lubbock.

Plans for Senior Day call for a full day, packed full of activities. Beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning when the seniors will have charge of a convocation at the gymnasium, the degree candidates will be feted by the underclassemen throughout the day. Following convocation, the seniors will inaugurate a tradition on Tech campus by planting the first tree in a place to be designated as Senior Grove.

To Honor Deans

At noon the class will hold a luncheon at the Lubbock hotel in honor of the five deans of the college. This will be followed by a matinee at the Lindsey theater with the entire class membership as guests. A fitting climax of the day's activities comes that night when a mammoth reception and dance will be held in the ball room of the Lubbock hotel.

College officials have planned to give final examinations for the seniors one week earlier than the regular examination period for underclassmen. Graduates will be given their final tests on May 20, 21 and 22.

Plans for the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 26, are going forward rapidly. The Rev. T. W. Currie, president of the Austin Theological seminary, will give the address. The commencement address comes on the following day at 10:30 a. m. in the Tech gymnasium with Edgar Odell Lovett, president of Rice Institute, as the chief speaker.

Names Not Abilable

The names of those receiving the various scholarships awarded to honor graduates will not be available until after the final examinations. At least $800 of the George T. Morrow loan fund will be ready for distribution by next September, Dean J. M. Gordon announced yesterday.

The formal presentation of the seniors' gift to the college will occur on May 25 at which time a portrait of President Paul W. Horn will be donated by the class. This remarkable likeness of the college executive was painted by Peter Plotkin, famous Russian-Jewist artist, who has done the portraits of President Coolidge and other notables.

Lubbock Schools Are Nearing End Of Banner Year

Largest Number Were Listed For Season Just Past

Superintendent Confident Of Even Greater Season In Future; New Study Plan Was Inaugurated

LUBBOCK public schools are nearing the end of another year, the biggest in achievement and in the number of students enrolled.

Supt. M. H. Duncan thinks that this has been the greatest year for local schools and in one breath with this belief he prophesies that next year—he is forever looking forward—will be greater yet.

There is no equivocation about the enrollment. Figures tell this story. Mr. Duncan's belief concerning achievement is based on his knowledge of the past history of the schools.

New Study System.

A new system of education, the group study plan, was introduced into the public schools this year and this, alone, has been the outstanding event of the year, according to the superintendent. As with any innovation, results were not altogether satisfactory, but the system has grown in favor as the school year progressed and its effectiveness is now established.

Through perfection of this plan of study, results should be 50 per cent better next year and the schools should benefit accordingly, he believes. This will be a contributing factor in making the school even greater.

Departments Improved.

The football team is to be better next year, the band is to be larger, health standards are to be raised and every department is to be improved if it is possible, the superintendent states.

An exhibit of work from every school in the system, which will be open to the public during five days of this week, will tell the story of achievements in the schools to a large extent. Parents may there find their children's work and compare it with that of other children in the schools.

Exhibits Will Testify.

The originality of many articles exhibited during this week, displaying talents that have been revealed through the machinery of the new study plan, will be a testimony to the greatness of this year in the public schools.

"Through our new plan we are attempting to benefit each pupil the most. Our teachers must not believe that they are teaching a subject but they must realize that they are teaching children and training them through these subjects.

"It is the individual, the child, in whom we are interested and his welfare must come first. The group study plan is adapted to this idea because each pupil learns through doing, and there are places for every class of person—the backward, average or extra bright—to develop," Mr. Duncan explained.

Reading will not develop an individual unless he gives what he has learned, according to this superintendent, and the Lubbock school leaders propose to assist the children in receiving the greatest good from their schooling.

These are few changes in courses offered from year to year in the schools and much of each year's program is based on the program for a year previous, the superintendent explained. Changes come principally in the methods used in education.

Total of 5,385 Enrolled.

The gross enrollment for this year was 5,385, on Friday and about 50 more are expected to enroll before the end of the school term.

The largest number belonging at any one time was 4,431, a total of about 1,000 more than any previous enrollment, according to Mr. Duncan, and the scholastic census for this year was 999 more than for the year previous.

FIVE TO AUSTIN

School Well Represented In State Meet

Lubbock high school was fortunate enough to send five men to the state meet in Austin. These men are: Yancy Price, who will enter the 100 yard dash; J. J. Creighton, who will enter the 440 yard dash; Burns Kitrell, who will enter the pole vault; and H. A. Castleberry, who is to enter the shot put.

Gilford Scott is to represent the Gold and Black in tennis again this year.

These men accompanied by the coach, E. J. Lowery, left Wednesday morning for Austin.

SENIOR FLAG

Banner Will Fly Over The Campus On May 8

The senior flag is to fly on the campus on senior days, May 8 and 9. One side is a rose background with a silver strip through the center with the letters, Seniors 1929, across it in rose letters. The opposite side is in school colors with the word, Westerners, written across it in gold letters.

The flag was made by Maxine Bradley, a member of the class of 1929. The Senior president is to raise the flag at the program on the campus May 8.

REGULATIONS FOR SENIOR DRESS

Regulations for the Senior girls dresses, which they are to wear to the Senior entertainments were posted in the girls' study hall on Thursday. The dresses are not to exceed the cost of $12 and are to be inspected by a committee on or by May 10.

ANNUAL EXHIBIT

Display To Be Held In The Gymnasium May 10

The annual school exhibit is to be held in the gymnasium of the high school building beginning Monday, May 6, and will come to a close on Friday, May 10.

The exhibit will consist of the work of all of the schools from the first through the eleventh grades.

The friends and patrons of the school are invited to attend.

HOME ROOM MOVE

Trade Programs In High School Classes

The home room movement which was adopted in Lubbock high in 1927 has proven to be a huge success and has become a very interesting thing.

On Tuesday, April 30, the rooms exchanged programs. This movement has been sponsored by Mrs. W. P. Clement and C. C. Cox and they have made it prove quite efficient.

WEINER ROAST

Latin Club Enjoys Fete At Tumble-N

The Latin club of Lubbock high school enjoyed a weiner roast at Tumble N park Monday evening. This club has worked hard this year to uphold the Latin standard in Lubbock.

Five entries were sent to Canyon, and three out of the five were winners in the West Texas conference. The entries were Nina Opal and Leora Davies, Agnes Chinn, Jaunita Shannon and Eleanor Simmons.

41 WORDS A MINUTE

That Is Record Made By Typist Here

Phyllis Pool, honor student of Lubbock high school is to represent the Westerners in a literary way in the state typing contest this weekend.

Miss Pool won first place in the district by four points, making 45 words per minute, Floydada took second place with 41 words per minute.

Miss Pool is expected to hold one of the first places at the state meet, as the state record is only 47.

On Tuesday, May 7, the fourth and last edition of the Hub-Hilights will come off the press. This is a special senior edition with Margaret Conner as editor and is dedicated to the mothers of the class.

PEP SQUAD DISBANDED

The pep-squad of 1928-29 has been disbanded for the year. A due tribute has been extended to every member of the squad, for each member has made the squad what it is.

Club Of Seniors

Sheepskins Used As Party Favors

La Carta club, a club of seniors was entertained on Saturday afternoon by the sponsor, Mrs. M. C. Bradley, and Maxine Bradley in the home of Maxine Bradley.

Senior members of the club and Miss Kay Stallings, who is valedictorian of the senior class of Post high school were named as honor guests.

Senior flags were used as tallies and the senior motif was carried out in the appointments.

Minature diplomas were given as plate favors. A salad course was served to the members of the club and several guests.

Last Meeting Of Stage Crafters

The last meeting of the Stage Crafters club is to be held Monday afternoon in the club room under the supervision of the sponsors, Mrs. Wanda Banker and Sam Lifiste.

The club has given plays at each meeting since the first week in November and has proven to be a success.

Senior members of the club are to be honorary members of the Stage Crafters club of 1929-30.

Senior Song Is Chosen By Class

The senior class in a meeting on Monday, April 29, adopted the senior flower, the class deciding to wear a pink rose on a background of green fern tied with a silver ribbon to carry out the class colors of silver and rose.

A song was adopted by the class and is to the tune of "Carolina Moon." The name of the song is "Dear Old Class of '29." It was selected by the class in a meeting on Monday. Mrs. L. J. Von Tungeln was in charge of the songs submitted. The song is to be sung at the senior program, Wednesday, and also at the graduation exercises on May 15.

'Ye Scribblers' Disbands May 8

"Ye Scribblers" the organization of the journalism class disbands on May 8 as the club is comprised only of senior students.

"Ye Scribblers" has placed a picture entitled "The Great Divide" in the club room. The picture is a gift from Ye Scribblers of 1929 for the journalism department in the new high school.

On Tuesday the club will hold its last meeting, and is to be entertained by Little Miss Nell Thomas Stubblefield, a juvenile reader and entertainer.

Girl Debaters Off To Austin

The girls debate team left Wednesday for Austin. This team is made up of Mary Beth Sheely and Martha Brown who will represent this district in debate.

Cowboy Band Man To Come To City

H. A. Anderson, of Abilene, is to take the place of J. W. Crowley as director of the Lubbock High school band. Mr. Anderson took his bachelor's degree from Simmons University last year. He is to take his master's degree for that school in August and has been connected with the Cowboy Band for the past five years. For the past two years he has been assistant director and has had full charge on a number of different occasions. He holds the first chair in clarinet in the Cowboy band and is said to be one of the very best non-professional clarinet players in the state. Mr. Wiley, director of the Cowboy band, says he is one of the best men and musicians he has ever had in his band.

Mr. Anderson comes to the local band as the very highest type of character. He is recommended by the faculty of Simmons University and the citizens of Abilene as an exemplary character and as a leader of boys and girls altogether reliable and trustworthy. The local school authorities feel fortunate in getting such a man to fill Mr. Crowley's place, and it is their intention to make the Lubbock high school band better and bigger than ever.

Seniors To Have Whole Day Outing At Silver Falls

Custom Of Class Will Be Fulfilled On May Ninth With Picnic At Park Near Crosbyton

The custom of the senior classes of Lubbock high is to be fulfilled on May 9, when the class of 1929 is to spend the day at Silver Falls. The entire grounds have been given to the class for the day.

Diversions of hiking, horseback riding, boating, fishing, swimming and skating are to be enjoyed by the seniors.

Box lunches are to be prepared by Logan's Grocery and will be served on the grounds during the day.

Transportation to Silver Falls is to be furnished by school patrons.

Seniors who have passed in every subject and who have completed their work are to be dismissed on May 9 for the remainder of the school year. These seniors will be allowed to spend the day on May 9 at Silver Falls.

ATHLETIC REVIEW

The second edition of the Athletic Review which is published by the Athletic association, came out April 25. The money from this is used to send the track men to Austin.

School Annual Is Distributed

The biggest sensation of the year came Thursday when the "Westerner," the year book of the class of 1929, arrived.

Due to custom there is not a school annual published, on a year book of the seniors.

The annual is dedicated to the six sponsors of the senior class of 1929.

H. C. Garrad, W. R. Fickas, Opal Hawes, Hiley Boyd, Brooks Penny, and Evelyn Rutherford are to be complimented for the attractive makeup of the book.

The senior class extends an expression of sincere appreciation to their sponsors, Misses Hazel Armstrong, Dorothy Lomax, Ora Brown and Gertrude Daniel, Messrs M. E. Witt, and C. C. Cox, for their never-tiring spirit and effort to the many pleasures and enjoyments of the class this year. Mrs. W. P. Clements, director of the senior play, also deserves the credit and sincerest thanks of the class.

LAST HI-Y MEETING

Session Will Be Held On Monday, May 6

On Monday, May 6, the Hi-Y club will meet for the last time of the school year of 1929.

Several members of this club attended the Hi-Y convention in Childress in 1929 and have invited the convention to Lubbock i . 1930.

The "Western Racqueteers" are disbanded for the year. This is one of the youngest organiations of the school and has done a great work in the athletic affairs of the Westerners.

Four members of this club are the only four girls to represent the gold and black for the past two years in a meet. They are: Mary Beth Sheely, and Maxine Bradley in 1928, and Eva Tyer, Pauline Cole and Mary Beth Sheeley in 1929.

In 1928 both of the boys teams represented this district in State meet but this year only the boys singles, Gilford Scott will represent the district.

Eighteen To Receive Diplomas In Graduation Service At Olton Soon

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

OLTON, May 4.—Notwithstanding the fact that fifty-four sections were cut off into the Harts Camp school district last year, the scholastic population has increased more than 20 percent over that of 1927-28. The present scholastic enrollment is 544 with a total enrollment for the year of 656. Of this number, 182 are enrolled in the high school.

The seventh annual commencement program of the high school will be held in the high school auditorium on the evening of May 17. Eighteen seniors will receive high school diplomas, and two more will finish the high school course at the close of the summer school, making a total of twenty to graduate this year. There will be approximately forty to graduate from the elementary school this year.

Represent School at Austin

Jim Dickenson and Wilmer Smith are representing the school in the state meet at Austin this week in debate while Carl Hooper will compete in high and low hurdles. Mrs. Bohner, home economics teacher, is off to Dallas with Misses Neva Mooty and Ines Kennedy to the state clothing contest.

It is estimated that a motor car travels two and a half million miles for every fatal accident.

T. T. T. Trail Fast Becoming Paved

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SPUR, May 4.—With the opening up of highway 18 from Stamford to Leuders several more miles of pavement is added to the Texas Transcontinental Trail. The T. T. T. has been improved in the last few months until there is few miles of the way that is not absolutely first class from the point of road bed and drainage, and with the proposed work in Dickens county connecting up with excellent dirt roads in Stonewall county makes this highway as good as any highway leading to the South Plains.

From the Dickens county line the T. T. T. will be surfaced into Crosbyton using the kind of material as was used in topping the road from Dickens to the Crosby county line.

Lubbock county, though not successful in a bond election, is doing some outstanding improvements that will make their end of the T. T. T. second to none in the class of graded highways.

Trees equivalent to 500,000,000 fence posts are cut every year for that purpose in the United States.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED

Idalou Classes Attend Fete Friday Evening

Miss Glenys Honey, who is sponsor of the junior class of the Idalou high school, assisted that class in entertaining the members of the senior class Friday evening in the home economics room.

Talks were made during the evening by Delmar Keeler, L. S. Swinne and G. W. Scott.

Refreshments of ice cream and pink and white cake were served with plate favors of pink rose buds. Miss Honey was assisted in serving by Misses Opal Stewart, Louise Hill and Betty Holt.

INVITATIONS ARE MAILED

Invitations to the Graduation exercises are being mailed. The invitations contain a picture of the high school and the announcement of the graduation exercises in the Texas Technological gymnasium on May 15.

SENIOR QUEEN

The contest for Senior Queen started on Thursday of this week and the result is to be kept a secret until Wednesday when the one elected will be crowned by the class president at the Senior program.

The Island of Bunanr, near Australia, is inhabited solely by women. It is a training school for native girls.

tists. He walked and drove according to traffic lights. From there the went to the Welmaker Glass Works, at Tenth and Avenue J. Here, with his left hand he wrote backwards on the plate glass window of the place. He did it very naturally and the letters were perfectly formed.

At the Swart Optical company, in the Myrick building, Thompson gave a unique demonstration in which he distinguished between the close shadings and the minute alphabets presented by the optician in their tests.

At the Bumpass Laundry, Thompson placed a youngster on a pair of scales and quickly and accurately read the weight. At Lee Tire Sales Co., Main and Avenue G, he lectured on tires.

Goes Through Traffic

Turning up Broadway he stopped at the Bell Tailoring company and then threaded his way through heavy traffic to the brake-testing

> He figured he could do the "stunt" as well as Thompson, so why not?
> So late yesterday afternoon, following Thompson's performance on the downtown streets of Lubbock, Harold ventured forth from the lawn of his home on a similar journey only he didn't have a car. His "blind" walk was interrupted, however, by an older playmate before he had made much progress down the street among the passing cars.

rack at the Super Service Station. It's hard enough to drive on that rack without the blindfold but he did it—and how. After the test here he drove to the West Texas Motor company, bringing his car through the narrow doorway to the display room.

At the close of the drive Thompson jerked away the heavy silken blindfold. Immediately he collapsed, his face turning an ashy pale. He appeared as one just having undergone terrific nervous tension. A few minutes later, however, he appeared perfectly normal.

Thompson undergoes extensive preparation for each of his exhibits. Their performances leaves him very exhausted, he says.

From Lubbock, Mr. Thompson will go to Dallas, where he is to give his interesting exhibition.

Motorcycle Officer Luce stated after the drive:

"Mr. Thompson violated no traffic rules. I consider him an exceptionally good driver. Some of Lubbock automobilists," who drive unblindfolded, might do well to take a lesson from him."

Shooting

ary, it became known after Walton's death. Mrs. Walton had been a patient in an Austin hospital for a period recently, friends there said, but efforts to find she and her mother tonight were unavailing, and

It was assumed they had left for Amarillo.

Went to "Explain."

Walton, whom friends said had been sent to the Hamilton office to "explain everything" was shot a few minutes after he entered the door and said to Miss Evelyn Watley, stenographer, "If you hear some shooting you'll know I've been shot."

Mr. Hamilton was released late today on $20,000 bond after waiving preliminary hearing.

Miss Florence Hendricks, daughter of H. G. Hendricks, Hamilton's law partner, was an eye witness to the killing, it was learned tonight.

Mothers Ducklings Dallas Cat Takes Up Queer Family

DALLAS, May 4. (AP)—Mother cats have been reported as having adopted rabbits, mice and the such.

Now, a big, black cat, owned by Mrs. J. M. Martin of Dallas, has adopted a family of ducklings.

When the cat's kittens were born recently she lugged them to a corner in a barn. At the same time Mrs. Martin reported she had a setting of duck eggs hatching. Almost immediately three of the ducklings disappeared, Mrs. Martin said. Three days later they were found in the mother cat's nest along with her kittens.

Since then, Mrs. Martin said she has had several other settings hatched, and that the big cat has taken the same motherly attitude towards the latest arrivals.

Houston Has Five Million In Permits Last Week

DALLAS, May 4. (AP)—Houston, with a total of more than $5,000,000 worth of building permits this week more than doubled the total of all of the other principal cities in the State. Seven cities reported more than $100,000 in permits issued, Lubbock and San Angelo in West Texas taking their places among the big builders of the week.

Houston's enormous total was due to the fact that promoters of a huge cold storage warehouse to be built in the downtown section near the upper ship channel obtained their permit this week. The building is to be ten stories high and is to cost $5,000,000.

the Mexican state of Chihuahua with the Rebel General Marcelo Caraveo, former Governor of Chihuahua. His secretary is Antonio Maques.

The others were Russel Mathews, assistant director of immigration at El Paso, Texas and W. H. Fdyer, former assistant United States attorney at El Paso.

Ateca and Maques were arr ted in Kansas City Wednesday by secret service operatives as fugitives from justice from El Paso. Their bail was set at $5,000 each, which they promptly paid out of the big b'ack bag and kept on travelling.

Visit Prominent Hotel

Thinking, officials believe, they had outwitted the secret service, Ateca and Maques, with Matthews and Fryer, took quarters in a prominent hotel awaiting a chance to leave the country.

This afternoon Assistant United States Attorney George Mintzer, several detectives, and a group of secret service men closed in on the hotel and when they knew their men were there walked into their room with a pass key.

There are two charges against Ateca at El Paso. He is charged with violating the Presidential neutrality proclamation by smuggling an airplane to the Mexican Rebel forces across the border, and there is a civil action filed in the Texas city by the Republic of Mexico and the State of Chihuahua seeking to regain funds allegedly appropriated from the Juarez city treasury.

Pending hearing bearing on extradition to face these charges the Gambler-Rebel and his secretary were held without bail by a United States commissioner. The two others were permitted bail of $2,500 each on the conspiracy charge, but this time no hand was allowed to reach into the bulging black bag to pay bail.

TEXAS YOUTHS HELD

Pair Believed Connected With Echols' Slaying

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 4. (AP) — James E Jones and Charles Baker, Texas youths, were held here today while their possible connection with the killing of town Marshall William Echols at Van Alstine, Texas, last March, was investigated, officers announced.

The two were charged today with burglary of a theater at Murray, Utah, near here, last Monday. Officers said Jones has confessed two burglaries and has implicated himself and his companion in the theft of an automobile.

Visitors Flocking To Bryan For Annual Convention

BRYAN, May 4. (AP)—An influx of visitors almost as big as that attracted by a big football game at College Station was expected here tomorrow for the third annual convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, which opens business sessions Monday.

Many delegates already are in town and an entertainment program, beginning with a convocation in the morning and ending with a reception to the "Queen of East Texas," has been arranged for Sunday. Other items on the program were a band concert by the A. and M. college band and a dress parade at Allen Academy.

MAN BROUGHT BACK

Sheriff Hardy Returns With Prisoner Saturday

Sheriff Wade Hardy returned late Saturday afternoon from Fort Still, Okla., with S. L. Mann, as a prisoner, who had been arrested there with a stolen car belonging to the Charles C. Hornsby company of this city.

Sheriff Hardy reports the car intact, but that Mann had pawned about $180 worth of tools in the car to a filling station near Lawton, Okla., for about $6 worth of gasoline, oil and a tire, which was retrieved and brought back.

To Be Minister Iowa Girl Meets Mother's Wish

MINDEN, Iowa, May 4 (AP)—Fulfilling a wish expressed by her mother, who now is dead, Miss Darelle Elsabush, 20, expects to be an ordained minister within four years.

Until two years ago she expected to make music her career, and has studied to that end. Now she hopes her musical knowledge will help her in the pulpit. She drew large audiences a few months ago when she substituted for the pastor of the Community Congregational church.

She doesn't expect to be more capable in the ministry than a man, but thinks "there may be instances when my understanding will be greater."

Lives of young people today are more serious than those of their parents and the younger generation has been maligned, she believes.

C. E. Jones Pleads Guilty To "Cold Check" Charges

C. E. Jones yesterday pleaded guilty to charges of swindling in the Lubbock county court and paid off more than $100 in "cold checks" said to have been given by him here last fall.

Jones was fined $1 and costs by County Judge Robert H. Bean and given a one day jail sentence. He was brought here from Odessa by Chief Deputy O. B. Conley.

KENT MAKES BOND

One Of Six Indicted For Lynching Is Released

HOUSTON, May 3. (AP)—John "Slim" Kent, one of six men indicted in connection with lynching of Robert Powell, negro, June 24, 1928, was allowed, and made, bond of $7,500 on an agreement between defense attorneys and prosecution yesterday at an informal habeas corpus hearing before Judge Langston G. King.

Kent was indicted a second time Wednesday as an accomplice in the lynching of Powell. The original indictment was for murder. District Attorney O'Brien Stevens agreed Thursday to permit bond under the new indictment in the same amount as that of the murder indictment.

Of the six defendants indicted in connection with the lynching of Powell, charges against one were dismissed and a second was found not guilty.

Farm And Ranch Lands City Property

We have a strictly high-class, non-speculative, government supervised, non-assessable investment, dealing in a standard commodity in universal demand of proven and unquestioned merit and managed by prominent business men on conservative lines.

Attractive Returns

This proposition is restricted by law to high-class, conservative investments and securities. Attractive earnings are protected by state regulations and guaranteed and assured by modern commercial demands. This is a West Texas business, managed principally by West Texas business men, for the benefit of its owners who are principally West Texans.

Owners and Agents---Notice

We can exchange a portion of this investment for similar class of real estate liens and securities on terms and conditions that should produce unusually attractive returns on acceptable real estate. Only properties which are clear of debt, or with small debt which can be removed, will be considered, but either farm or ranch lands or first class town properties can be handled. This offers an opportunity to materially enhance the returns on good real estate investments. We will be pleased to co-operate with bona fide and reputable realtors and we heartily invite a thorough investigation of the merits and stability of this proposal.

Week-End Profit Taking Checked By Few Losses

Selling Is Swelled Early In Session By Break In Tractor Issues; Fifty Industrials Go Higher

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—A flood of week-end profit taking was checked before the close of today's short session of the stock market, and a main issues were pushed into new high ground, although a sprinkling of net losses remained at the close.

Selling was swelled early in the session by a break in the advance Rumely issues, subject to violent pool manipulation in recent sessions. News of improved prospects of a settlement of the reparations tangle and heavy dumping of the oil shares strengthened the market late.

Virgin Territory Found.

The Associated Press price indices of 50 industrials and 20 utilities, which broke through their record highs of mid-March yesterday, were sent still further into virgin high territory. The day's transactions fell but a little short of 2,000,000 shares, a substantial turnover for Saturday.

The upturn of the call money rate yesterday, interrupting the gradual improvement from the acute money situation which developed a week ago, was discouraging to traders looking for substantial improvement in credit with the passing of the month-end requirements, and inspired profit taking. Friday's rates carry over the week-end.

Chain Stores Increase.

Some of the chain store systems reported further marked increases in sales, and formal announcement was made of Marland-Continental oil merger.

In the oils, Atlantic Refining and the Pan-American issues were sent to new high levels, and Standard of New Jersey rose two points to within a fraction of its peak.

Commodity markets were irregular, wheat breaking about 1 1-2 cents a bushel to a new low level for the year and corn losing a cent or so. Cotton sold up more than 50 cents a bale.

Foreign exchanges remained dull but fairly steady. German marks were a shade higher, and Sterling Cables were steady at $4.85 5-16. The Spanish peseta, however, touched a new low for the year at 14.30.

170 ACRES MAIZE

Much Of Grain Will Be Planted In Howard

BIG SPRING, May 4.—One hundred and seventy acres of pure maize will be planted and cultivated by Four-H club boys of Howard county, County Agent Bush urging that a two row and skip one method of planting be used. This is being done to reduce the number of plants per unit of area and increase the moisture content per plant. The third row will be planted later in peas. Thirty four club boys are conducting "more maize on five acres" contests.

Covering Move Is Continued On New York Cotton Mart

NEW YORK May 4.—(AP)—Predictions of further showers in the cotton belt states over Sunday apparently were responsible for a continuation of the covering movement in cotton today. Prices advanced further with some buying believed to have been promoted by a show of stability in the Liverpool market. More or less profit taking appeared on the advances but offers were well taken and after selling down to 18.78, July advanced to 18.96 and closed at 18.91. The general market closed very steady at 11 to 16 points net advance.

The opening was steady at 4 to 12 points higher on steadier Liverpool cables than had been anticipated and on further private reports indicating crop deterioration. When the official weather forecast was published there was general buying on the prospect of renewed showery conditions and somewhat lower temperatures in the Western belt.

It was generally admitted that dry warm weather was desired over the entire belt with the exception of Western Texas where rains are needed.

Realizing sales carried May down to 19.53 and December to 19.05 but buying developed on the declines and these positions rallied to 19.70 and 19.15 respectively. Private cables from Liverpool reported local and continental buying as well as covering and trade calling. They also said that the threatened lockout in Lancashire was not regarded seriously, and that a better cloth inquiry had devloped from Egypt and the near east. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 89,781 bales against 96,335 last year.

The year 2589 of the Japanese era, being the 18th year of the period Taisho, began on January 1, 1929

Cotton Market Is Further Improved On Cable Reports

NEW ORLEANS, May 4. (AP)—Owing to fairly favorable Liverpool cables today's cotton market further improved. Other factors responsible were continued reports of damage to crops from low temperature and a forecast for unsettled and showery weather except for West Texas where rains are needed. The general trend was upward and the close showed a moderate net advance, although there were some reactions on week-end realizing.

After gaining 13 points at 18.90 in the early trading July eased off 12 points to 18.75 and later advanced 15 points to 18.90, closing at 18.86 or 10 points net higher for the day. The general market closed steady at net gains of 5 to 10 points.

In the late trading July and October went up to 18.90 and December to 19 or 10 to 12 points up from the lows, and 9 to 16 points above the previous close.

On a little realizing at the end, prices eased off 4 to 5 points, July closing at 18.86, October at 18.85, and December at 18.86 or 5 to 10 points net higher for the day.

Daily Markets

MID-WESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, May 4.—(AP)—Cattle trade around the circuit this week was less active and light to moderate declines were effected on most all classes. Sluggish demand and lower prices at Eastern dressed beef markets had a depressing influence on slaughter grades. Stocker and feeder steers were on a weak to lower basis aggregate receipts were around 203,500, an increase of 5,500 over last week but 28,000 short of corresponding period a year ago.

Hog prices fluctuated considerably on closing sessions shipping demand narrowed and packers inforced sharp declines. Current values are unevenly 20 and 75c lower than a week ago with weighty butchers showing the loss. Chicago had a late top of $11.50. Total offerings were around 517,500 as compared with 496,566 last week and 471,748 a year ago.

Continued liberal receipts and a narrow demand for dressed lambs and mutton resulted in another slump in sheep prices. Old crop lambs received a jolt of $1.00 and $1.75 while springers were unevenly 25c and $1.00.

Stock Is Common On Cattle Market

FORT WORTH, May 4. (AP)—Except for steers the slaughter cattle here today consisted of package lots and bulk of them rather common in quality. Two loads of steers, however, were well finished and sold at 13.75, a new top for the year, for heavy steers.

The two cars of steers were fully steady and consisted of good weighty beeves that averaged 1,306 pounds for the 40 head. No bulls of any consequence offered and those that arrived sold at unchanged prices.

Mixed lots of cows sold at 8.00@8.50, on about in line with yesterday's close. No good carlots offered. The fair kind of cows have displayed a little weakness on most days the past week.

A few odd head of heifers sold at 9.00@12.00, or about in line with yesterday's trading on similar quality.

Except for one load of calves out of a lot of stocker calves that was unsold at noon, trade was confined to rather common packages that sold steady with prices around 8.50 for the bulk of the sales. No good light calves offered today showed weight.

Not enough sheep on hand to test the market. Values considered about steady with the week's decline.

No good hogs offered and the trade was considered around 10 to 15c lower for the quality offered and the rail top $10.30 and the best truck butchers sold at $10.00.

ONE-TENTH PLANTED

Work Is Started In Howard County

BIG SPRING, May 4.—One-tenth of the total acreage to be planted to cotton in Howard county has been planted according to county agent Bush, however, the high winds that have been prevailing during the past two weeks will cause part of this amount to be replanted. The moisture content in most of the county is sufficient to bring up the cotton already planted. Some grains have been planted, but planting will not begin proper until the middle of May or until the high winds cease.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Litten, of Los Angeles, Cal., are visiting in the home of Mr. Litton's brother, Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Litton, 1614 19th street.

Two marriage licenses were issued here Saturday by Amos Howard, county clerk, one of which was to C. M. Adams and Miss Agnes Pitts, and the other to a couple whose names they requested not be printed.

In after-life you may have friends—fond, dear friends—but never again will you have the inexpressible love and gentleness lavished upon you which none but a mother bestows.
—MACAULAY.

MOTHER'S DAY is her own day. The day you think of her . . . in loving remembrance of all the things she has done for you. The day you give thanks for having so wonderful a mother. In all the world you know there's no one like her.

Remember . . . when you were a little tot and she was everything to you. How you depended upon her! How carefully she watched over and protected you. Remember that first day of school when she took you by the hand into a strange, new world. She shared your every joy and trouble . . . in childhood . . . and in later years. How proud she was of your achievements! How happy to tell of them . . . how quick to forget your faults. Surely a day is far too little to give to thoughts of this most precious Mother. But on this day let her know you are thinking of her. Some little token of remembrance will bring cheer and happiness to her heart. She will know that with it comes all your love and devotion. Sunday, May 12th, is the day to honor her.

Local Men Confess Early Ambitions

Leaders In Various Lines Remember First Jobs And The Vocations They 'Decided Upon' As Boys

By LUCILE BARR SMITH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

IT IS A great thrill for the youngster seeking his first job to say, "Mister, kin I have a job?"

But it is "the thrill that comes once in a lifetime" when he receives the first money from that labor.

"First job" stories are always interesting, and we might be surprised if we knew just how some of the outstanding people of the world got their start in life. It is usually the case that these "first jobs" have no connection with their life work.

Many Ambitions Fail

Small boy ambitions are not usually carried out. It may be some small boy's ambition to be a captain of a ship, but in many cases of this kind he probably won't ever see a large ship or get to cross the ocean on one, much less become a captain.

According to several prominent Lubbock citizens their "first jobs" ranged from chopping cotton to peddling tomatoes.

Mayor Harley D. Woods says that he is quite sure his first job, that of selling towsacks in Abilene at two-for-a-nickel, had nothing whatever to do with his becoming mayor of Lubbock. Like all small boys he, too, had his idea of what he wanted to do when he grew to be a man. He said that he wanted to be in the United States Cavalry so that he could ride a horse."

Mayor Woods is probably not the only boy who wanted to join the U. S. Cavalry, become a cowboy or join the Northwest Mounted Police just so he could ride a horse.

One Sold Tomatoes

Hubert L. Allen of the Texas utilities company said the first money he ever made was peddling tomatoes out of his mother's garden. As a boy his high ambition was to become a locomotive engineer. "And," he declared, "for several years I thought that was what I would be."

M. H. Duncan, city superintendent of public instruction, said that as a small boy teaching school or being superintendent never entered his head. His first ambition also was to be a locomotive engineer. "The first train that I ever saw put that notion in my head. As I walked past the engine I imagined I heard the engineer say 'There goes a boy who ought to be an engineer' and I was so sure that was what he said that I went home and told my folks that he did." But according to Mr. Duncan, when he was about 17 years old he wanted to be a band master, and for about two years that was all he could think about or talk about.

But many men become in later years what they plan to be when small boys.

Leidigh Followed Whims

Arthur H. Leidigh, dean of the school of agriculture of the Tech college, and president of the Kiwanis club, asserted that he wanted to work with the scientific production of plants, and that is what he does at present when he has time from his executive duties. His first job was riding a horse in the lead team in wheat harvest. He made fifty cents a day and his board. He was eleven years old at that time, and as his work often lasted until about a o'clock at night he sometimes went to bed without his supper because he was too tired and sleepy to eat.

J. W. Gamel, of Minter-Gamel store, said that his ambition was always to be the owner of a store. The owner of the store near where he lived used to give him pieces of red string and cigar boxes and he thought this old fellow was just about "It." His first real job was chopping cotton. "That was not the first money I ever made but that was probably my first job. I think the first money I made was from selling bottles that I had gathered up."

Murray Admires Orators

R. J. Murray, president of the Rotary club and local realtor, said he always wanted to be a lawyer. The silver tongued orators had an appeal for him.

This old world brings lots of disappointments, but after all it is a pretty good place to live. At least this is the opinion of these men who have either gone ahead with their young ambitions or given them up for more promising fields.

DRAWING PLANNED

Registered Calves Will Be Distributed

BIG SPRING, May 4.—A second drawing for the registered calves purchased by the chamber of commerce will be held Saturday, May 4, when members of the 4-H clubs who were unable to attend the first drawing on April 27, will be entitled to draw for a calf. This is the first calf project to be conducted in Howard county and it is being supervised by the county agent. The boys are giving their personal notes for the calves, being backed by the banks. The notes will be payable during the fall months, it being required of the boys to plant three acres in cotton and two acres in feed with which to meet the payment of the note. This is adding enthusiasm to the program of dairy development now in progress in Howard county. This immediate vicinity has developed rapidly toward dairy development during the past two years, there being one-third more dairy cows in the county at the present time than there were one year ago.

Peppers Pay

BIG SPRING May 4.—A. K. Merrick, Howard County farmer living about four miles north of Big Spring, cleared last year more than $400 on less than one acre of land planted to peppers and irrigated. Mr. Merrick plans to try an irrigation project this year planting three acres in garden truck. He has four wells that will furnish 86,400 gallons of water every twenty-four hours. If successful, Mr. Merrick says he will go into truck farming on a large scale.

Tried Ten Long Long Years To End His Trouble, He Says

Lubbock Farmer Claims He Never Felt Better Than He Does Since Taking Orgatone

"After ten years of suffering, during which I tried one thing after another to get relief, Orgatone alone went straight to the seat of my trouble and made me stronger and more fit for work than I have been in years," was the declaration made a few days ago by C. H. Bass, of rural route 1, Lubbock, Texas, who has been a farmer in this section for the past nine years and is well known.

"I had indigestion about as bad as anybody ever had it, it seems to mme, for the last ten years," said Mr. Bass, "and after each meal my stomach would swell up as tight as a drum with gas that formed from fermenting food. I would belch something awful and get rid of it, and I suffered agony every time these attacks came on, which would be about every day. I would wake up in the night with a heaviness in my stomach like I had swallowed a stone, and I would roll and toss and couldn't get easy for hours. I didn't know what to eat, for it looked like everything had the same effect. It just got on my nerves so I couldn't half do my work.

"I began to take Orgatone a few weeks ago, and had only used half a bottle when I noticed I quit bloating, and there is now no more sourness nor swelling nor gas formations. I eat anything at any time and in any amount I want to and never have any distress like before, in fact my digestion seems to be as perfect as anybody could want. Orgatone gives me strength and energy and makes me want to work, to eat and enjoy life. I have gained in strength, and I don't believe I ever felt better and healthier than I do today. Orgatone sure is a great thing, and I don't hesitate to say so anywhere."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock by the Bowen's Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Organtone representative. Out of town customers are being supplied by mail upon receipt of Price $1.25 for one bottle, or $6.25 for six bottles. Adv.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

A Lubbock woman, in filing suit for divorce yesterday in the ninety-ninth district court, claims that her husband abandoned her and ran off with another woman, after she had lived with him before and after he had been sent to the state penitentiary from Potter county to serve 24 months.

They were married in 1924, she states, and on March 10, 1929, he ran off with another woman, leaving a chattel mortgage on their household furniture unpaid, which she could not pay.

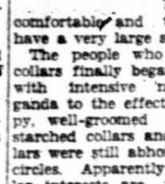
Collar Makers War Over Hoover

Hard And Soft Neckwear Manufacturers Engage In Fight Over Which Is Best With Hoover As Target

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, May 4—It may or may not be news that the soft collar industry and the stiff collar industry are engaged in a large industry are engaged in a large propaganda war for the privilege of clothing the national neck.



Once upon a time nearly all males wore starched collars, and the soft collars were so wrinkly and sloppy that the well-dressed man simply wasn't having any. But soft collars or semi-soft collars were developed which looked very well and were still comfortable and these began to have a very large sale.

The people who make starched collars finally began to fight back with intensive national propaganda to the effect that the snappy, well-groomed man still wore starched collars and that soft collars were still abhorred in the best circles. Apparently the other collar interests are now launching counter propaganda to offset all that.

The war has lately been centered ing on the neck of President Herbert Hoover. The president has always worn very high stiff collars and the hard collar publicists were quick to seize upon that fact and exploit it.

Recently, however the soft collar enthusiasts got busy. Thus one reads that Hoover has set a splendid example to all men who are slaves to fashionable customs; that he "wears a soft shirt and a soft turned down collar in preference to the boiler-plate castings dictated by hoary precedent."

Inquiry around the White House develops the fact that the president wears a shirt with soft collar attached while tossing the old medicine ball each morning but at all other times he sticks to starch. The starched collar industry is willing to admit that soft collars will sometimes do for sports.

Speaking of the daily session of the Hoover "medicine ball cabinet" recalls the recent widely published story to the effect that other members of that body were rather resentful of the fact that Justice Harlan Fiske Stone was throwing the ball altogether too hard. Justice Stone, the complaint was, ought to use a little more discretion.

One hears, however, that the feeling about Justice Stone's powerful heaves was not shared by President Hoover or by more than one of the other heavers. It appears that the only complaining sufferer was a distinguished newspaperman of great prestige but very slender build. When Justice Stone, in his unrestrained and exuberant enthusiasm, buried the big sphere at this "cabinet' member it was almost a case of an irresistible force meeting an all too movable object.

Craftily and probably with malice aforethought,' this newspaperman tipped off correspondents covering the White House that all was not well with the "cabinet" because Justice Stone didn't appear to know his own strength. It is now understood that the judicial conscience has been more or less stricken and that the justice tempers his steam in accordance with the direction of his heave

If everyone were as courteous and discreet as Mr. Edward Everett Gann, the husband of Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, the vice president's hostess things would be more comfortable for Mr. Gann.

Unfortunately, all Washington social functions of any size these days include a large number of persons who insist on talking among themselves, freely and frankly, about Mrs. Gann and the social war of which she was recently the heroine.

Unfortunately, also, a great many persons in Washington do not know Mr. Gann or what he looks like. So Mr. Gann is often likely to hear plenty and some of the things that are said are calculated to make him sore, despite his sense of humor.

Two or three stories are already kicking around Washington of alleged occasions when other guests spoke up without supposing Mr. Gann was anywhere near.

J. E. Hamilton, who is transacting business in Anton will spend the week-end with his family here.

Mr and Mrs. A. J. McCoy and little daughter, Charlie Nell, of Wilson, accompanied by Miss Warkenteen Bradshaw of Northeast Ward were visitors and shoppers in Lubbock Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Gullege and little daughter Mary Nell, of Roarng Springs, are the week-end guests of Mrs. J. V. Shirley, 1616 Avenue Y. Mrs. Gullege will teach in the Central ward schoolt next term.

SAVE DESERT FLOWER

Law Is Enacted By Women Of Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz., May 4 (AP) — Through the efforts of Arizona club women the giant sahuaro, the state flower, and other desert flora will be preserved from vandals and destruction.

Finding the flower was rapidly disappearing because of collectors, the club women aided in the enactment of a law to preserve the native flowers.

Mrs. George F. Kitt, state president, has asked the club women to furnish 150 names for walks, bridle paths and roads for the grounds of a new hotel here.

THE NUPTIAL ceremony for Miss Pearl Hensley and Gaylord Hankins is to be read this morning at 8:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church with Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the church, officiating, and a number of friends are expected to be in attendance.

Since announcement of this marriage was made during April, Miss Hensley has been widely feted here.

Palms, roses and carnations are to be banked about the church altar for the early wedding and pre-nuptial music will be played by Miss Willette Waters, pianist, and Miss Mary Meador, violinist.

Miss Spikes Sings

Following "The Flower Song," given instrumentally, Miss Alma Spikes is to sing, "I Love You Truly" and a wedding march will announce the approach of the bridal party.

The bride, who is to wear a dress of sand color with hat and other accessories harmonizing, will be attended by her sister, Miss Inez Hensley, who is to wear a frock of ash georgette with harmonizing hat. Both of these will carry arm bouquets of pink rosebuds.

The groom is to be attended by his brother, Weldon Hankins, and the bride will be given in marriage by her father, A. M. Hensley.

Ushers for the wedding are to be Curtis Price, John R. Johnson, Jack Hammond, Clarence Wiggington and Jamie Keathley.

After the ceremony, Mr. Hankins and his bride expect to leave on a honeymoon and they will be at home at 1625 Avenue Y after May 15. The bride's going away ensemble is to be of tan.

Parents Live Here

Miss Hensley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hensley at 2116 Avenue H street. She is a graduate of the Lubbock High school and has attended the Technological college and the Oklahoma A. and M. college at Stillwater. She is a past president of Los Chaperitas club social organization at the college here.

Mr. Hankins, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hankins, 2401 Broadway, is also a graduate of the high school here and an ex-student of Daniel Baker and of Simmons college at Abilene. He is now a department manager with the Hemphill-Wells company.

Feted At Party

The bride-to-be has been honored at a number of parties given during the last two weeks. One of these was a kitchen shower and the party given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Edward Allen in the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson, on Broadway.

Guests for this affair were Misses Alma Stiles, Mary Lou Bayless, Willette Waters, Mary Lois Gamel, Dorothy Rushing, Frances Ford, Avri Hensley, Flossie Burkholder, Alice Bryan, Gladys Grimsley, Gertrude Terrell, Lynn Dougherty, Louise Bates, Jo Dunman, Evelyn Stewart, Lillyan Watson, Beth Wulfman, Sarah Michie, Rita Huftsutler, Marjorie Ann Ainsworth, Virginia Conray and Mesdames J. H. Stiles, A. Friend, Marlin R. Smith, J. H. Hankins, and T. T. Garrard.

Miss Bates scored high in the games and Miss Wulfman made low score. Colors of lavender and gold were featured and refreshments were ice cream and cake.

Bride Entertains

Miss Hensley entertained members of her bridal party on Friday evening with a bridge dinner in the Glorieta Tea Shop. Following the three-course dinner, bridge was played with Miss Spikes and Weldon Hankins scoring high. Miss Waters' score was low.

Pink sweet peas and rose buds were arranged in a bouquet on the table and further decorations were pink tapers.

Flower Exchange To Be Sponsored By Church Women

Exchange Of Plants As Well As Cut Flowers Are Aims Of Movement; Hospitals To Receive Flowers

Stirred by the spirit and desire to give "Flowers to the living" Lubbock housewives beginning this week will conduct a "flower exchange" under the auspices of the Federated Missionary Society of this city. A similar exchange conducted in former years proved of such worth to the city's beautification program that it was deemed wise to undertake it again.

Following the plant exchange this spring, the work will be carried on throughout the summer when thousands of cut flowers of every sort together with roses will be carried to all the hospitals in a shower of flowers. One of these showers will be given sometime in June, the other late in September.

Therefore in further beautifying the city and making ready also for these flower showers, the committee urges that every woman who possibly can, plant and grow flowers which will not only make the city a more attractive place in which to live, but will in turn bring joy to the hearts of Lubbock's sick and shut-in's not to mention the many hundreds of out of town people who are patients or visiting sanitariums and local hospitals, or otherwise visit the city.

According to Mrs. W. C. Rylander, "We are extremely anxious to have Lubbock known as a city of flowers, . . . therefore, our slogan will be a flower garden for every home in Lubbock. If not a city of roses, we can have a city of flowers. If we will only set our goal we can make it. Thus as we again open this exchange of flowers to the women of the city, we want to urge again that they cooperate with the committee in every way and help to make of it the success that we hope it will be. Check over your flowers and see what you have to share with someone else. Also if you want some particular shrub, rose or other flower plants, call on the "Flower Exchange" committee and let your wants be known. Do not hesitate to call either of us, as to get the best results from the "Exchange" we should begin our work at once.

The committee as appointed by Mrs. H. T. Kimbro, federation president, and includes Mesdames T. W. Sawyer, W. C. Rylander, W. F. Denny and Hazel G. Lowery, with Mrs. Sawyer as chairman. Women who have flowers to offer for exchange are asked to telephone Mrs. Rylander, 674, or Mrs. Sawyer, 1259, who will turn them into the exchange column of the Avalanche-Journal.

There's Hint of Past in Cut and Length of New Wedding Gowns; Soft Colors For Bridesmaids; They'll Be Old-Fashioned Brides

The Moyen age inspired this lovely off-white satin wedding gown, from Henri Bendel. There is rich dignity and beautiful simplicity in its great length, its rose point lace yoke and its flowing sleeves that divide at the elbow to supplement the train. A medaeval period cap of tulle embroidered in pearls, holds the veil. To the left of the bride is the bridesmaid's frock of turquoise blue silk net, topped by natural colored bakou hat, with blue streamers. (Right) Bendel fashions a charming wedding dress of pinkish off-white chiffon for the informal ceremony. It has a full, scalloped skirt and a distinctive scarf treatment. The braid hat is gardenia trimmed.

Luncheons, Picnics And Other Social Occasions To Close Year For Clubs Here

Club Year Is Ending During May In Study Societies Here; Programs And Social Occasions Are Planned Here

Scholarships, Education, Social Service Are Among Projects Sponsored By Club Women

PREPARING for the usual inactivity of summer, club women of the city are ending their meetings during May. This month will be marked by last business sessions and socials that end another club year. No more meetings will be held until next September.

Several luncheons and other social occasions are being planned by the clubs, others plan to discuss closing social sessions at the May meetings and others will merely continue with regular programs during the month.

The New Era club year ended last week with a luncheon in the home of the president-elect, Mrs. Charles Whitacre. The Music club's annual luncheon is to be at Hotel Lubbock on May 11 and a musical program has been planned for this occasion with Mrs. Harry E. Blocker as leader. A few friends are invited to this luncheon yearly.

Club Picnics

A picnic is usually attended by Sorosis club members in the spring but none has been listed with the year's program in this society. Some social probably will be discussed at the next meeting of the club, according to Mrs. G. W. McCleary, president.

The Daleth Delphian club, of which Mrs. R. I. Tubbs is president, is to have a luncheon or banquet but the details are yet to be announced, and a social is to follow an installation service for officers in the Lu-Beta Delphian chapter on Thursday afternoon of this week. This club is to meet with the president, Mrs. R. A. Mills, on this occasion. Mrs. R. S. Rodgers is president-elect of the organization.

No social has been planned for the American Association of University Women and the last meeting of te year was held yesterday afternoon with the president, Mrs. A. H. Leidigh, in her home. Two more meetings of the Athenaeum club are scheduled for this club year and, although no social occasion has been planned, it probably will be discussed, according to the president, Mrs. J. F. Hankins.

To Have Luncheon

The annual luncheon for members of the Twentieth Century club probably will be on May 28 and a place is to be selected for the occasion. The Junior Twentieth Century club is planning some social occasion to close the club year.

Recently the Twentieth Century members gave a tea honoring the Junior Twentieth Century and Sorosis clubs.

While culture is the principal aim of these clubs, some civic and social service work is sponsored by the women. Regular meetings are conducted twice monthly for study and a few social occasions mark the club year, which is from September until May.

Practically every club has a scholarship in the Technological college, the Twentieth Century club sponsors the County Library and this year conducted "Why I Should Vote" contests.

Foster Education.

The American Association of University Women chapter encourages high school girls to continue their education and recently sponsored a two-day program of talks given by local women on careers open to college trained women. A tea was given for the high school senior girls in the Tech practice house on a recent Saturday afternoon.

The City Federation, composed of all the clubs, has planted Colorado blue spruce and other trees in a park in the northwest part of the town and fosters social service work locally.

To Have "The Messiah."

The Music club is fostering an annual presentation of "The Messiah" this afternoon at the Tech gymnasium with singers from all churches in the city participating. A tea was given in the early spring and friends of the members were invited. This organization gave pins to winners in the Music Memory contest in the public schools and cooperates with all things musical in the city.

Through the oCutny Federation clubs affiliated with this organization assist in promoting cooperative marketing and other features to benefit mutually the urban and rural women.

Each club has a course of study for the year and these are being ended at this time. Other programs of study are being selected for another year.

Wedding Gowns

trains: a quaint modesty in the cut of their necklines and incorporate in their scheme of things the tight bodices, long tight sleeves, peplums, and other themes of the long ago.

They are smart this June, however, in exact proportion to their effect of simplicity. Richness of fabric is the keynote. Cleverness in cut is its running mate. Much real lace appears as yokes and sleeve touches. Some gowns have net regally embroidered in crystals and pearls.

Off-White Shades Have Vogue

Classic dead-white satin has yielded to the suntan desire or off-white satin. Rich broches may have a gold or silver thread patterning them. Chiffon, net, tulle, georgette and mousseline de sole fashion many perfectly beautiful wedding gorwns, practically all of them in the delicate off-white shades instead of white. Even the pinkish off-white is having a vogue, and when combined with delicate costumes for the bride's attendants, makes a delectable picture that is unforgettable.

The tight bodiced wedding gown with some individual cut to the skirt, is the best taste. The skirt, whether flounced, tiered, composed of flat horizontal sectors, circular or gored, usually is cut with ingenuity so that it hangs in soft folds almost to the ground, with the train coming from the hips.

The train's length is immaterial. Some are short, usually the ones that dip in three points, from the back and both sides. Others insert circular widths that fall gracefully to fashion a court length train.

There's Width in Necklines

Necklines are apt to be wider than deep. Square and batteau lines are more the cut of the moment than a V neck. Sleeves are either the long tight kind or else follow some distinctive style, usually after they leave the elbow.

Veils of lace are an enviable heirloom to bequeath this year's bride. Nothing is more queenly than the creamy lace veil one's mother and grandmother wore. This year's veil flows from under a little cap, usually. This may be of lace, pearls, tulle, fine silver mesh or brilliants.

The bride's bouquet may be a sheaf of white roses or lilies, a big nosegay of orange blooms or gardenias, or a garden shower of white lilacs, narcissus and orange blossoms.

Distinctive and illustrative of the Moyen age theme is a wedding gown from Henri Bendel, of classis off-white satin, fashioned long and form fitting with a yoke of exquisite real rose point lace. The tight sleeves are unique in the way they open ata the elbow to fall in flowing beauty to supplement the train. The headdress is a Moyen age cap, made of seed pearls on tulle.

A Gokn For the Garden Bride

For the bride lucky enough to have a garden to be married in, or for the bride who prefers an informal home or church ceremony, Henri Bendel creates a stunning off-white chiffon wedding gown that is charmingly feminine.

Its bodice hugs the figure to hipline, where a voluminous, circularly cut skirt is posed with a quaint shirred heading. Its skirt's edge is scalloped and dips low on either side and the back touches the ground

A novel scarf of matching silk net crosses the bodice like a bolero, swings to pointed long ends in the back and simulates sheer sleeves. Her picture hat is off-white swiss braid, with gardenias trimming it.

The bride will be flanked by lovely soft colors this season. For six attendants' costumes a good color combination is maize, Parmesian violet, turkuoise blue, pink, apple green and either melon, flamingo or chartreuse. All of these, however, are pastel shades, The different blend as softly as flowers in a garden.

Chiffon is tremendously popular for the June bridesmaid's costume. Some garden weddings will feature organdie or net. Tulle is excellent for church or home weddings and lovely effects in panels, tiers and peplums can be obtained from its use.

There are long, irregular skirts on bridesmaid's costumes, with little diaphanous panels that dip and float softly in that walk towards the altar. Hats usually are of chiffon or horsehair braid in shades to match or contrast with the frock. They may have ribbons, flowers, lace or even ostrich feathers on them this summer for decoration. Slippers invariably match the hats and if mitts are worn, quite a stylish vanity this minute, they too are the hat's color

Nosegays of garden flowers are in good taste for the bridesmaids, or an armful of tulips or roses. The maid of honor usually has a frock of softer hue than the bridesmaids, for of course she stands nearest the bride and her color contrasts with the wedding gown itself.

The attendants' frocks are of silk net, the one shown being the turquoise blue one. It has wide pleats around the bodice and the hipline that dip to give much rear length. A big, old-fashioned sash bow hangs almost to the floor in the back. The big, flopping bakou hat in natural color has chiffon banding and streamers of the turquoise net.

Sports Costume Is National Daytime Garb

BY MME. LISBETH

The use of sports clothes in America is different from what it is in England or France. The English restrict the term 'sports clothes' to the costume worn by a woman actively engaged in outdoor sports, even though she does nothing more strenuous than walking, in which the English indulge to a marked degree. Because of their damp, rainy climate sports togs are developed largely in wools.

Paris, however, takes sports more casually. Comparatively few of the women who make fashion take an active part in sport, Suzanne Lenglen being the exception that proves the rule. The erms sports clothes denotes the simple little dress or sport ensemble worn out of town before the noon hour.

In the United States sports clothes embrace the togs worn in action and those for the gallery, now known as spectators' costumes. Cool summer silks that can be tubbed, as well as cottons, are considered highly desirable for the links, tennis courts, for spectator costumes, for dresses and ensembles worn at the beach, the country club, or by the hostess at home.

A washable stripe frock in crepe baroda, center, is charming in a tailored model combining a horizontal with a vertical treatment of the stripes.

Double Wedding Of Tech Students Is Announced; Misses Caraway And Lucas To Wed In Ceremony May 26

Announcement Of Nuptials For Miss Caraway and C. Wileman Made At Party For Miss Lucas

Announcement of the approaching marriage of two Tech students was made in Spur Wednesday evening at a bridge party given by Miss Dorothy Love of that city.

The nuptials are those of Miss Thelma Caraway, of Spur, and Cash Wileman, of Stamford and the wedding will be on May 26 in Spr.

This announcement was made at a party given for Miss Lucille Lucas Spur, who is to be married to Alfred Van Dyke, Tech student and whose approaching nuptials were announced several weeks ago.

Is Tech Queen

The two couples are to be married in a double ceremony.

Miss Caraway, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Caraway of Spur and has been a student in Technological college during the last three years. She was crowned queen at the junior class prom this spring. Miss Lucas graduated at the Tech last spring and is teaching in Spur this winter.

Heart-shaped ices were served at the party given by Miss Love and on the plates were small cards telling of the approaching marriage of Miss Caraway. Miss Lucas was given a surprise shower of gifts and little Nancy Roberds, dressed as cupid, made the presentation.

Parent Teacher Association Women Outline Constructive Program For Next Year; Accomplishments Listed

Feeding Of Undernourished Children Is One Aim Of Local Parent Teacher Associations

The undernourished child has been fed, school grounds have been improved, a lyceum course has been brought to the city, school house and ground equipment has been supplied and programs of study for the mother have been conducted by parent teacher associations during the year which is closing this month here.

New and retiring presidents of these organizations were called last week to learn high lights in the year closing and to learn of plans for the year of 1929-30 in Lubbock—plans which will be effected through the combined work of parents and teachers in the schools.

Is Clearing House

According to Mrs. W. W. Royalty incoming council president, "The council is strictly a clearing-house for other P. T. A. units, The members lay plans and offer suggestions which aim to inspire members in the individual associations, and urge that every parent enroll in the particular club where his or her child attends school."

Among the plans discussed recently by the executive board of the council for next year's work, were the employment of a social worker for the school, a physical culture director, further beautification of all the school grounds of the city, specialized boys' work under the head of child welfare and a dean for the high school.

Mrs. T. R. Prideaux, Mrs. G. T. Wales and Mrs. George Dupree, have been appointed on a committee to arrange the various meeting days of associations next year, so they will not conflict with each other. Mrs. T. A. White has been elected first vice-president and Mrs. E. L. Pitts, corresponding secretary, of the council.

Programs Outlined

The P. T. A. council, which has met each month during the school term, has mapped out programs for the local clubs to meet the needs of each, and has emphasized the beautification of school grounds, summer round-up and recreational programs sponsored lyceum courses, together with a students' loan fund. A George Washington party honoring the teachers of the city was given February 22. Mrs. J. N. Michie is council president.

Beautification of the school grounds and giving our undernourished children milk and oranges twice a day at recess, and seeing that all the children had milk with their lunch, is, I consider, the most worthwhile work that Dupre P. T. A. has accomplished this year," explained Mrs. W. T. Milam, president of the organization.

"We have bought a new victrola and furnish the children with music. We have bought other needed school equipment. Regarding the undernourished children, we have weighed them regularly throughout the year. Many have gained from 2 to 8 pounds during the term. Mothers of the youngsters, which number more than a half a hundred, have expressed their deep appreciation of this splendid bit of P. T. A. service," she continued.

Parents' Night Success

According to Mrs. T. A. White, president of George M. Hunt P. T. A. "Parents night was the biggest thing we put over this year. We had this meeting early in the fall and the affair served as an eye-opener to the parents and they have shown a great deal of interest in all our meetings. At this parents-night-program parents were asked to bring their books which were the ones used by their children and were enrolled and classified as were their children. They later recited lessons, bought their lunch in a cafeteria, and were also awarded low or high grades according to those made on their daily classwork and examinations. The cooperation given our executive board has been the very best."

Mrs. E. W. Camp, senior High school P. T. A. president, explained that the principal thing that club had done, had been to sponsor programs, revealing the purpose of P. T. A. work and to impres upon the parents their duty and obligation to the school and their children." Our organization is showing renewed interest in the work at hand and the cooperation among those who have attended has been splendid. We are planting our campus with shrubs and I hope to get concrete walks, soon," she said.

When asked regarding her plans for next year, Mrs. A. H. Leidigh, incoming president of the Senior High P. T. A. said:

"I have made few plans for the work beginning next fall, further than to plan a definite study group in which we will consider and discuss the adolescent child together with his reaction to things general. We hope to further the parents interest in the school by giving them interesting programs which will follow out the P. T. A. theme."

to own the studio.

three years ago, when the boy finished prep school, both his father gave him to go to college and gave him to go to colleke and spend a year or two in Europe. Junior demurred. Having had all his vacations since he was a mail boy watching pictures in process on the Universal lot, he knew that he liked the business and he couldn't see any sense in spending five or six years in college and Europe before getting into it.

Turned Down Big Office

Consequently he was given a job in the studio as supervisor of the "Collegian" series, which he originated. Largely because he was his father's son, he was given a spacious office every bit as elaborate as those occupied by the big executives. That office didn't suit Junior's taste. He wanted to be in a quiet place where he could work and from which he could observe all that went on in the studio. So he moved into a small bungalow on the back part of the lot.

Since that day, three years ago, Junior has been promoted to the position of associate producer working side by side with his father in running the huge studio. He puts in an average of 12 hours a day at the studio. Men much older in years and experience than himself consult him on nearly all activities. And they respect his word because they know that he knows what he is talking about.

Books

and Eadie's is "I Like Diving."

In the pages of these two books the heartbreaks and successes incident to the task of raising the stricken vessels from their watery resting places are related in graphic style. Ellsberg, on the tossing deck of the rescue ship Falcon, and Eadie, groping in the wreckage 100 feet down in the icy water, endured hardships such as come to few men.

It was Eadie who slid down the line first and caught the first glimpse of the wrecked S-4, lying in the mud at the bottom of the Atlantic off Provincetown. It was Eadie who heard the pounding signals of the six men trapped in the sub's torpedo room, and it was he who banged the shell of the boat in an effort to give them courage.

It was Ellsberg who crouched on the Falcon's deck with the telephone lines to his ears and heard the chattering teeth of the divers as they strove to accomplish their tasks. He could tell from their positions when their lines became fouled and more and once a diver's life was in the balance and there was nothing the men on top could do but wait with bated breath while they literally worked out their own salvation.

Eadie, in addition to the two big rescue jobs, has had other experiences as a diver and tells of them in his book. Stationed at Newport during most of his service in the navy, much of his time has been spent recovering torpedoes and clearing fouled propellers under the ocean's surface.

RELIGION FOR UNBELIEVERS

"Those who are perplexed by the consequences of their own 'irreligion' are the ones for whom Walter Lippmann, New York newspaper editor, has written "A Preface to Morals."

"We are living," says Lippmann, "in the midst of that vast dissolution of ancient habits which the emancipators believed would restore our birthright of happiness." Instead of such restoration, however, he see evidences of "greater difficulties" as a consequence of this "freedom."

They lie, he says, in the atheists "who have become very nervous; in the women who have emancipated themselves from the tyranny of fathers, husbands and homes, and, with the intermittent but expensive help of a psycho-analyst, now are enduring liberty as interior decorators; in the young men and women who are world-weary at 22; in the multitudes who drug themselves with pleasure; and "in the crowds who cannot be persuaded to take an interest in their destiny, nor to use the freedom to think freely without fear of priest or policeman."

To replace the old orthodoxy dissolved by the acids of modernism, Lippmann suggests a religion of the spirit.

When men find that they no longer believe seriously and deeply that they are governed from heaven, he says, they must become humanists, living by the premise "that whatever is righteous is inherently desirable because experience will demonstrate its desirability."

Palace

on slapstick. The cast in short is superb and Lloyd Bacon's direction is worthy of his enviable reputation. "The Lion and the Mouse" is the story of a young girl who tames the "Lion" to the point of making him free her father from disgrace, and offer her his son in marrigae. It is great drama, with suspense, punch, human appeal and a liberal sprinkling of humor.

'Celebrity' To Come Wednesday

"CELEBRITY," a new Pathe picture featuring Lina Basquette, Robert Armstrong and Clyde Cook, comes to the Palace Wednesday. This screen version of a famous stage hit of the same name, was admirably directed by Tay Garnett and the character portrayals were all that the most exacting taste might demand.

The story deals felicitously with a pugilist who is induced by his manager to write poems for publicity purposes to his sweetheart. He hides them under his mattress, but when they finally are printed, the fight fans deride their literary idol. Armstrong as the fighter, Miss Basquette as his Jane and Mr. Cook as "Circus," the battler's manager, acquitted themselves with complete artistry.

There are many laughable incidents in the action which is swift-moving and tensefu l throughout. The love romance between the Kid and Jane is exceptionally well developed. The ring battle is one of the most realistic affairs ever screened. "Celebrity" is a picture one may see several times with increasing enjoyment. Undeniably the picture stands forth as one of the outstanding productions of the current season.

THOMAS Meighan offers once again, this time in "The Mating Call," one of the most entertaining pictures of the season. "The Mating Call" will open at the Palace Friday.

Unlike his last film, "The Racket," in which he made a nationwide hit, "The Mating Call" packs a powerful heart-punch. It has all the elements of suspense and thrills which "The Racket" carried, possessing in addition an abundance of love interest which stamps it as another Meighan bell ringer.

In "The Mating Call," which was produced by the Caddo company and is based on the popular novel by Rex Beach, Meighan is presented in a virile romantic impersonation. He is supported by two leading women, Evelyn Brent and Renee Adoree.

Miss Brent is lovely as the blase and fashionable society girl. She wears a dazzling array of gowns and negligee which must delight the feminine patrons. Miss Adoree is a comely Russian immigrant girl and she gives one of the best performances in her screen experience.

There are many "big moments" in this latest Meighan production. The climatic sequence is a daring reproduction of the night raiding activities of a band of hooded terrorists.

Chautauqua

Colored Jubilee Singers will sing the songs characteristic of the negro race—"happy songs from the cotton fields, haunting melodies, oldtime hymn" Elsie Patay and her Viennese company, in Hungarian costumes, will give a concert, the special feature of which will be Miss Patay's playing of the cymbalon, a modern descendant of the Biblican psaltery.

Yodelers Are Coming

Another concert will be given by the Jack Wood Bell Ringers and Male Quartette. Fletche's Yodeling Tyroleans and the Brown-Meneley-Johanas Trio are also noteworthy features. Ethel Salisbury Hanley will give an afternoon dramatic program.

Two comedies, "Skidding" and "What Anne Brought Home", and a musical revue, "Fads and Fancies of 1929", are other features which it is thought will appeal especially to Lubbock audiences.

Beginning on Wednesday, May 8 and continuing through Tuesday, May 14, two programs will be offered each day, one at 3 p. m. and the other at 8 p. m. There will be no Sunday program.

'The Barker' To Be Shown At Slaton

All the interest attached to a carnival show without the uncomfortable features of a hard, six-inch plank for a seat and other inconveniences, is to be found in "The Barker," which is the attraction this week at the Palace theater, Slaton.

This George Fitzmaurice special production for First National Pictures stars Milton Sills as the ballyhoo artist with the Colonel Gowdy shows.

Dorothy Mackaill is co-starred and there is a great cast in support. It is the story of a traveling show that has its difficulties with weather and internal dissension. There are many thrills, much fine drama and a lot of laughs in this First National Vitaphone production chronized with music and sound effects, and several talking sequences. Mr. Sills is said to have one of the finest voices in Hollywood. Dorothy Mackaill's voice also carries well and so does that of Douglas Fairbanks, jr., and Betty Compson who play prominent parts.

Nearly 4,100,000 tons of coal were used in the last year for making gas for London.

By use of a new compressed-air machine for washing street cars, Manchester, England, expects to save $75,000 a year.

TELLS OF MARRIAGE

Miss Emily Taylor, Dallas, Is Married

Announcements have been received here telling of the marriage of Miss Emily Taylor and Garland M. Armstrong in Dallas on April 17. The bride has visited Mrs. J. H. Stiles here on several occasions and has a number of friends in Lubbock.

She is an ex-student of the North Texas Agricultural college in Arlington and of Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Taylor, Dallas, Mr. Armstrong is a graduate of Baylor University and is an attorney in Dallas.

Your eye glasses can be becoming and comfortable as well as beneficial.

OUR PLATE GLASS Is Not 'Blinding'

Hayward Thompson Visited The Welmaker Glass and Mirror Works Yesterday - - and could easily discern, although blindfolded, that Welmaker's Plate Glass is No. 1, and that it came direct from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. He also could see very distinctly that when a man drives up at Welmaker's for a new windshield, or a mirror for his home, he receives immediate service.

ANNOUNCING
Our Formal Opening

We wish to announce to the people of Lubbock and the great South Plains at this time that on May 9, 10, 11—we shall hold the formal opening of our new location, and that we cordially invite everyone to visit us. We are offering you a real paint bargain at that time, and it comes as an introduction to a new product for the city—a 40c value will be sold for 10c. It is something you can use immediately. Don't miss the formal opening.

USE PLATE GLASS IN AUTOMOBILES

One of the errors people make in having glass installed, is that they fail to designate plate glass. Plate glass is absolutely worth the money, and leaves the job well done. Crystal glass is full of waives, and is marked by its pale appearance. Plate glass is positively smooth and will not break so easily. Plate glass can be fitted into any shaped frame—at the expert hands of Welmaker.

'Singing Fool', With Song 'Sonny Boy' Plays Week At Lindsey

Appealing Tale Is Depicted In New Jolson Film

Davey Lee, Playing Part of Lad, Is Star

"THE Singing Fool," that appealing little love story which first presented the song, "Sonny Boy" to the public, heads the amusement week in Lubbock. The picture, which is interspersed with talking and singing sequences plays the entire week at the Lindsey, and is backed by a choice program including sound comedy, news reel, and short features.

"The Singing Fool," Al Jolson's second motion picture, is in the difficult position of following a phenomenal Jolson success, "The Jazz Singer." That it does not suffer by comparison is proof of the tremendous heart appeal of this story of the loves and losses, successes and failures, of a singing waiter of Broadway.

Jolson in his own inimitable way portray the piercing joys and sorrows of the humble waiter—raising him to heights of beauty — and thrilling audiences as the unique king of jazz has always done—but never quite to the degree which his role in "The Singing Fool" makes possible. Davey Lee, the child who plays the part of the hero's little son, was chosen by the star himself from among almost two hundred applicants. The scene between the father and son are tremendously moving—more so than any the present reviewer has witnessed on stage or screen.

"The Singing Fool" provides him with a story of universal appeal. First seen as a waiter in a New York cafe, in love with a beautiful entertainer, he later becomes owner of a pretentious night club and husband of the same faithless lady, who casts him into the depths of despair by deserting him and their little boy, for a stranger.

For the sake of the child he goes on, urged and aided by the pretty cigarette girl he had known in his less successful days. Then comes a call from his divorced wife—news that Sonny Boy is dangerously ill.

But no more of the thrilling story need be told. Suffice it to say that Jolson has never been quite so Jolsonian, never quite so tremendously appealing. The support is especially adequate, the photography is beautiful and Lloyd Bacon has done a masterly piece of directing.

Lon Chaney Lifts Face For Picture

Star Is 'Man With Lacquered Face' In Film

MYSTERY surrounds the "man with the iron mask," but Lon Chaney has even a stranger distinction. He was "the man with the lacquered face" while making his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle, "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," which comes today to the Lyric Theater. Chaney literally conquered age and, by the strangest trick of make-up he has ever essayed, presented the smooth face of a twenty-year-old boy in the opening scenes of the picture.

This was accomplished by what he called his "self-lifting face." It was a trick of make-up by which he eradicated all wrinkles, through use of a secret plastic material. The actor experimented four years to perfect his latest illusion, used for the first time in the new Herbert Brenon production.

Chaney starts the picture as a youth, appears as in middle age, and finally as an old man in the astounding drama of life behind the scenes in the theater. He plays the tragic clown enacted in the stage version by Lionel Barrymore, and Loretta Young is the heroine.

The "self lifting face" was one of several surprises Chaney sprang. The actor is usually associated with cripple roles, although in real life an expert athlete. As the clown in the new picture he does a sensational slide over the heads of a theatre audience in theatre scenes.

Need Drama as Test Ground for Plays, Producer Says

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., May 4.—Contrary to the general supposition, talking motion pictures will not eliminate legitimate stage plays—not even if film producers have to take over the legitimate theatres and stage these plays themselves.

That's the opinion of Carl Laemmle, Jr., youngest executive in the celluloid industry.

"The film industry can't afford to see the legitimate theater pass into discard," declares young Laemmle. "Why? I'll give you an example with one of our own productions, 'Broadway.' We paid $225,000 for the film rights to 'Broadway' and an additional $30,000 for the dialogue rights. And it cost more than $1,000,000 to produce the picture.

Pictures Cost Too Much

"Now that the talkies have become an established part of the industry, more stage plays than ever will be transferred to the screen. And film producers can't afford to gamble that much money on an original, untried play. A play can be produced on the stage for about $25,000 or $30,000, perhaps less. It can be worked over and over until it is just right and the public either accepts or rejects it. A picture is finished at a tremendous expense before the public sees it. If it does not meet with approval, that's just too bad—nothing can be done about it.

"Consequently our industry will not permit the stage to die out. We need it as the trial ground for future motion pictures."

That's pretty sound reasoning for a youth who will celebrate his 21st birthday on the 28th of this month. And it's just such reasoning as that, coupled with a fondness for hard work, that has made young Laemmle, familiarly known throughout the film colony as Junior, a leading executive in the industry.

This youth, who with his sister will some day inherit his father's fortune of approximately $30,000,000, is an interesting person to study. At an age when most rich men's sons are having a good time in college, he is production boss of the huge Universal Studio, controlling production activities involving millions of dollars annually. And Junior holds that position because of his own strong will, not because his father hap-

Interesting And Varied Program To Be Presented

Dramas, Lectures And Music Are Scheduled

ACCORDING to citizens who are sponsoring the entertainment in Lubbock, the Redpath-Horner chautauqua, which will appear here May 8 to 14, inclusive, carries on one of the most interesting movements in American life.

In 1874, we are told, Lewis Miller, of Akron, Ohio, and Dr. John H. Vincent, (afterwards Bishop), held the first chautauqua assembly on Chautauqua Lake, in Western New York. It was a 10-day gathering, devoted to the training of serious-minded Sunday School teachers and to wholesome recretation as well. About 1,000 persons of various denominations attended. The founders tried to keep all that was good in the old-fashioned camp-meeting, and to give people a vacation which meant change of work, instead of loafing; tried so successfully that the assembly was a success from the beginning.

Year by year the physical equipment of the original Chautauqua has developed until the assembly ground is now a beautiful and modern village, instead of a few ugly shacks. The educational program has expanded until now the original 10 days have grown to 60, and the courses offered in summer residence and in home reading courses comprise the substance of much that is offered by a first-class liberal arts college. It is hardly an exaggeration to estimate that nearly a million persons have, in the 55 years of the life of Chautauqua, been its students or hearers in one way or another.

The original institution has been flattered by many imitators. More than 350 local chautauquas are now working more or less after the fashion of the first although without organic connection therewith.

Development Is Rapid

A recent development has been the various circuits arranged by numerous chautauqua organizations. The Redpath-Horner organization is one of these, and one of the best. The talent, in the fields of lecture, drama, music, assembled by the Redpath-Horner company is of a high order of merit. Programs brought here in 1927 and 1928 by this concern were good and this year's offering will probably be as good, or better, the company advises.

Lectures will be given by Chester M. Sanford and William Rainey Bennet. Jay Tobias and Jess Pugh will furnish comedy. The Jackson

Another Feature Program Will Be Shown At Palace

Meighan, McAvoy & Barrymore Are Among Stars

THE Palace has scheduled another of those three-a-week feature programs.

Starting today and running three days the feature is "The Lion and the Mouse" starring Lionel Barrymore and the lovely May McAvoy; Wednesday and Thursday, "Celebrity" holds sway, and Friday and Saturday the reigning attraction is "The Mating Call" with the virile and manly Thomas Meighan.

'Lion and Mouse Revives Old Play

AUDIENCES are expected to greet with unusual enthusiasm the brillian screen revival of "The Lion and the Mouse." This was one of the really great successes of the stage, and the screening has added much to the original.

Lionel Barrymore's portrayal of "Ready Money" Ryder, czar of the business world is magnificent, and in effective contrast to the Shirley Ross, the "Mouse," of Miss McAvoy. Alec Francis is as lovable as in "The Music Master" or "Peter Grimm," which is saying a lot, and the young lover is saying a lot, and the manly charm by young Collier. Jack Acyroyd is always funny, with the funniness which doesn't depend

Spring Still Brings Poetry

Last Verse From Elinor Wylie Is Rated With Best

Edward Robinson Also Presents New Volume

THE LAST poems of Elinor Wylie must surely insure her a place among the Olympeans.

The sonnets, it seems to me, are certain to go on singing through time beside the best to be found in our mother tongue.

In reading the selections of Miss Wylie for "Angels and Earthly Creatures" (Knopf) one is clutched by a sort of despair that she died so young. For here she has soared high above the fine perfection of many of her earlier writings and, so I am told, most of the poems were written during her stay in England, where she died from injuries received in an accident.

There is, in these lyrics, an absolute magic, a capacity for deep and penetrant thought so lacking in even first rate poets and a beauty of words which seemed never to fail Miss Wylie. They seem to reveal an absolute limitlessness of growth. What she might yet have done—but there's small use in such ponderings.

In one moment I have come upon some lines which might well become her epitaph:

"Meanwhile I swear to you I am content
To live without a sorrow to my name;
To live triumphant and to die the same,
Upon the fringes of this contitinent."

FROM Edward Arlington Robinson, who has taken his place among our major poets—and our very popular ones, as well—comes as this season's contribution, "Cavender's House" (Macmillan).

Here, more than ever, Robinson's method, which is distinctly his own, provokes analysis. There is nothing of the singing poet in this man. He is somewhat of a philosopher and a great deal of a mystic. He seems often to be talking to himself, with doubt and a vast tendency toward introspection. Again, his lines often suggest rhythmic prose and poetry, as a matter of fact.

He dwells musingly on the inscrutability of life, on the elusive quality of happiness, on irony and fate and the curbs placed upon each other and destructive quality of love.

Strange, it has often seemed to me, that Robinson should become a best selling poet in America—considering his brooding moodiness!

AND, while on the subject of poets, let me hasten to introduce two new names: Robert Nathan's "The Cedar Box"—this young man surely is a poet, even when he writes prose—and Alice Mary Kimball's "The Devil is a Woman," which merits your most careful attention.

SHIPMENTS INCREASE

Dodge Trucks Show Gain Of 77 Per Cent

Registering a gain of 77 per cent in shipments of commercial cars and trucks for March compared to February, the truck division of the Dodge Bothers is increasing production facilities to meet the record breaking demand from domestic and foreign markets. In carrying out this production schedule, a record of seven months' standing was broken with the shipment of 331 trucks on March 30th, exceeding any single day since August 22, 1928. The export of 1,735 units set an all time record for March shipments to foreign markets.

"The rapid construction of paved roads and wide highways, and the manufacturing facilities to build trucks particularly adapted to every line of business are awakening executives to the possibilities of motor transportation never dreamed of before," said Howard E. Sneathen, director of Dodge Brothers truck sales. "Operators of truck fleets are finding expansion profitable and necessary in a competitive market that demands economy, speed and dependablity in transportation.

LONDON. — Brigadier General Percy Groves, honorary secretary of the British Empire, pointed out that Germany's civil aviators flew 45,000 miles daily last year while England's were doing only 3,000 miles. He especially urged development of commercial aviation in the industrial regions of northern England.

Gas Price Varies 77 Times In Day

A. A. A. Report Shows That Motorists Paid From 12 24 Cents For Gasoline On February 19th.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—There were 77 different prices for gasoline prevailing in the United States on February 19, 1929.

The price range was all the way from 12 cents a gallon to 24.5 cents a gallon for straight run, and from 15 cents to 27.5 cents a gallon for high test gasoline, exclusive of the gas tax, which varies in almost every state.

These and other startling figures on the divergence of gasoline prices in the country were ascertained through a simultaneous nation-wide check-up by 1065 motor clubs affiliated with the American Automobile Association and reported to National Headquarters here.

Forms Sent Out.

In order to secure an accurate picture of the gasoline price range on a given day, identical forms were sent to every A. A. A. club throughout the country; the local clubs in turn checked the prices in their respective areas and returned the forms to Washington.

The lowest price on the date of the check-up was 12 cents for straight run and 15 cents for high test gasoline at Muskogee, Okla., and the highest was 24.5 for straight run and 27.5 for high test at Wallace, Idaho.

As in previous check-ups, proximity to sources of supply appeared to be a negligible factor in determining current prices, says the A. A. A., since prices were in many instances as high close to the oil fields as they were at points to which a long haul was necessary. Prices at tidewater were on the whole as high as those charged at inland points.

Average Is 17 Cents

The average price at points along the Atlantic Seaboard on February 19 was 17.9 cents a gallon for straight run gasoline and 21 cents for high test. The average in the Mississippi Valley region was 16.5 cents for straight run and 19.5 cents for high test. On the Pacific Coast the average was 18.1 cents for straight run and 21.8 cents a gallon for high test gasoline.

One of the most striking features of the A. A. A. survey is its disclosure of the rapidity with which prices change within small areas where basic conditions such as rentals, supply and demand are the same, says the A. A. A. statement.

The widest divergence in price was nine cents in Colorado where the price of gasoline ranged from 15 cents a gallon to 24 cents for straight run gasoline, and from 18 cents to 27 cents a gallon for high test. West Virginia ranked next with a variation of 8 cents, ranging from 14 cents a gallon to 21 cents for straight run gasoline, and from 17 cents to 24 cents a gallon for high test gasoline.

Lovers Of Relics Hold Great Hope For Museum Here

Plains Museum Society Of Tech College Already Is Looking To Future; New Officials Are Selected

Pre-charter members of the Plains Museum society of the Texas Technological college met Thursday to further plans for the development of a museum at the college. Prof. R. A. Studhalter was elected president; Dr. M. A. Stainbrook was elected curator, with H. Bailey Carroll, assistant, while Mrs. Mary Dale Buckner and Dr. F. A. Kleinschmidt were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

According to Professor Studhalter, it is hoped to reach people who are interested within a radius of several hundred miles including New Mexico, and letters have been sent to news editors over Texas asking that they endeavor to interest their readers in giving donations to the museum.

Has Varied Objects.

The object of the organization is to foster, increase, and diffuse knowledge and appreciation of history, science and art, and to encourage the collection, study, and exhibition of objects of scientific, historic and artistic value in a museum.

Dr. W. C. Holden, head of the department of history at McMurry college, Abilene, is one of the vice-presidents of the society, and recently sent the college some objects of archaeological interest which were excavated from ruins of an Indian pueblo on the Canadian river. Corn grinders and mortars were in the collection. Dr. Stainbrook has contributed a number of pottery sards from two pre-historic pueblos, one being the Jemez, and the other the Sandia pueblo near Albuquerque. Metates and other instruments used in grinding corn which were excavated by Dr. Stainbrook while he was on a tour sponsored by the University of Mexico have also been added to the archaeological objects.

Bynum Has Collection

Another collection of interest has been made by S. K. Bynum, of Lubbock. Included are muzzle-loading pistols, the barrel of an old buffalo gun, spurs, old-fashioned bits, coffee pots, a dutch oven, oxen yoke, ranch bell, civil war cannon ball, and cow bells. Rupert Koeningen a senior student of the college, contributed a branding [illegible] which was used at one time at the Spade ranch.

Members of the museum society express themselves as being highly pleased at the interest manifested by people of the Plains and have stated that while no room is available at present for the express purpose of displaying the exhibits any collections will be taken care of temporarily by the various departments of the college.

A MONUMENT TO HUMANITY

LAST rites were said yesterday for Mrs. E. P. Earhart, 80 year-old pioneer of the South Plains and Lubbock county. Since 1891, 'Mammy' Earhart, as she was universally known before the city reached its present proportions, has been a part of life in this community. Recent years, of course, have found her less active than previously but the old timers, without exception, have found in her an understanding friend and a helper.

For more than 56 years Eliza Earhart was the wife of E. P. Earhart, who survives her today, and therein lies a beautiful story. The Avalanche-Journal tells it in the hope that it may stand out as a beacon light to younger couples in this age of perilous matrimonial conditions.

Shortly following the beginning of her illness Mrs. Earhart sank into sub-consciousness. Kindly, inquiring relatives and friends crowded about her bedside and filled the Earhart home, all solicitous, all wishing to be helpful. When they spoke to her or administered to her she remained oblivious to their presence, her illness seemingly triumphing over the human faculties of recognition.

But let the man whom she had served as helpmeet for more than 56 years enter her room and she realized it. If he spoke to her she answered. If he urged her to accept medicines she accepted them, without question. Fifty-six years of life, with its pleasures and its sorrows, its joys and its tribulations, had built a trust which could not be obscured even in the valley of the shadow of death. Fifty-six years of sunshine and rain, 56 years of triumphs and failures formed a foundation upon which was builded something vastly more than human attachment or affection. The years of that more than half a century erected a monument of implicit faith that only death itself could conceal.

Humanity, at its best, is frail. Those mysterious ingredients of character react in strange ways to quirks of fate and today it seems that relationship of man to woman in the exacting bonds of matrimony is easy to throw off.

But it is cases like this one, made possible by the 86 years which E. P. Earhart and Eliza Earhart spent together, which stand as fortresses in time of trouble in a world beset by many trials. We hear of case after case when the frail bark of matrimony plunges upon the cruel rocks of misunderstanding but rarely do we see the other side as has been so gloriously portrayed by a tired pioneer upon her death bed.

It is good that we can know that all is not chaos. We are fortunate, indeed for this example of trust and of fealty. Somehow it lifts the veil which we unconsciously accept and shows us that humanity can be—and often is as constant as the stars themselves.

PROGRESS OF EDUCATION

When the craftsman becomes dissatisfied with his own handicraft it is time a change were wrought. That is the situation in which the nation now finds its educators and the educational system of their own making. Education in the United States has no more severe critics than the university and college professors and school teachers.

The American Philosophical Society recently asked for expressions of opinion from prominent educators on the present state of education. They were instantly forthcoming, but were far from favorable to the system prevailing in the public schools and colleges.

That methods of mass production applied to education are producing men and women who are uniformly mediocre seems to be the consensus of the letters received by the society. One educator asked a complete revision of our system of education from the elementary school to the university. Another said the nation's slogan is "education without effort, information painlessly imparted."

It not this situation full of promise for a better system in the immediate future? General dissatisfaction is a symptom of healthy growth, particularly in the field of education. Every progressive step has been born of discontent with that which existed.

Educators tell the public that the United States has outgrown its system of education. That the old system served its purpose admirably, but sentiment should not fasten upon the nation an antiquated and retarding institution. That America is advancing intellectually and her system of education must keep pace with this advance.

CHANGING APPETITES

Is it a new fad or a permanent improvement in their diet, this growing demand among umban folk for more spring greens, new kinds of greens and greens in all seasons?

A number of explanations may hold true. Perhaps they all contribute a part. Physicians and dietitians have long been urging greens as a regular part of the diet. Truck gardens, hot houses and provision stores have cooperated in maintaining an all-year-round supply and getting it to the consumer appetizingly and healthfully fresh.

Al Smith is going to write for the magazines for $2 a word. Mr. Coolidge ought to ask for a raise.

CONGRESSMAN DECLARES PROPS UNDER DRY LAW ARE WEAKENING

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Congress is at least two to one dry. Maybe a little dryer than that.

The wets admit it.

And yet anti-prohibition senators and representatives insist the result would be wet if we were to have a national referendum.

It sounds ridiculous.

If a majority of the voters are wet, why do they send big dry majorities to Washington time after time?

In the interests of science I have put this question to a lot of wet congressmen. I never heard any better answer to it than that's what the wets think—or profess to think—until recently, when I submitted the puzzle to Representative Loring M. Black, Jr., of Brooklyn.

Representative Black's solution is technically logical—provided one accepts his premises as sound.

That they are sound I am far from asserting.

I simply repeat Mr. Black's arguments for whatever they may happen to be worth, as interesting to drys and wets alike, in that they purport to explain away what otherwise would seem to me to be an out-and-out paradox. The Long Island congressman avowedly is a very wet New Yorker. Due allowance should be made for what he says, accordingly.

"In the old days of political conventions," recalls the Brooklynite, "a senator or representative depended on his organization' to nominate him. He seldom worried about election day, because most states and congressional districts are pretty safely one way or the other—barring landslides.

"Indeed, he did no worrying at all. He relied on his 'organization' to nominate him; on his regular party majority to elect him.

"With the direct primary's advent, the cinching of nominations became more difficult. Once nominated, a candidate may feel perfectly sure of election; but in order to run, he first must be nominated.

"His 'organization,' so serviceable in a well-managed convention, is not much good in a primary fight. Inside his own political group, his party majority is no help to him. He is at the mercy of the individual voter's whim. Issues are many and conflicting, and primary ballots are cast every which way—except by one bloc of voters—the dyed-in-the-wool drys."

"Mind you," pointed out the congressman, "primary is only about half an election, for only one party is voting. And unless the community is exceptionally one-sided, the primary vote is not all dry. So we are safe in concluding that the dyed-in-the-wool drys are a minority of the total electorate.

"But it is a solid, dependable minority—the only bloc that the candidate can feel certain of, as for or against him.

"However numerous the wets may be, they scatter their strength.

"Thus the drys scare the candidate into a dry declaration. Elected, he is pledged to them in advance, regardless of his personal conviction—maybe regardless of the views of a majority of his constituents."

"But prohibition," continued the Brooklyn representative, "has been so undermined recently—

"It has been so undermined by charges of wet-drinking by dry congressmen; by the I'm Alone case; by the Aurora (Ill.) tragedy; by the wet result of the Wisconsin referendum; by the Jones law; by the surrender of the 'Leviathan's' new owners to wet necessity; by the rapidly mounting cost of enforcing Volsteadism—

"Prohibition has has been so undermined by such recent developments that, subetantial as its surface may appear, I believe it is ready to cave in suddenly when the props are knocked from under it."

Props?

"Prohibition enforcement," replied the representative, "is soon to be transferred from the treasury to the justice department. The latter, trained to consider all laws equal presumably will cease to concentrate especially upon dry law enforcement, whereupon I predict it will break down utterly.

"President Hoover's expected law enforcement commission cannot fail to point to prohibition's share in responsibility for our crime wave.

"Prohibition Commissioner Doran has launched a campaign to stop the unlawful use of certain large sections' enormous grape crop. How will the vine growers like it?

"Western agriculture, struggling vainly with its over-production problem, cannot much longer remain unmindful of the vast grain market which would immediately be reopened to American farmers by prohibition modification.

"These are the props that I believe already are cracking."

FOODS HIGH IN PERCENTAGE OF IRON ALSO MAY CONTAIN BENEFICIAL COPPER

Have You Had Your Copper Today?

"What food has the most iron in it? My doctor gave me injections of iron in the arms, but told me at would do me much more good if I ate the foods that provide iron also. I want to do this but don't know what to eat. MRS. N."

It used to be questioned if inorganic iron medication had any value, but it is now believed, as your doctor told you, that it is beneficial in anemic patients if sufficient of the organic iron is taken in the foods at the same time.

Animal experiments by Steenbock and his coworkers in Wisconsin, and others, have shown that iron medication can be made to serve this purpose admirably if there is fed with it, cabbage or extract of cabbage. And it was shown that the element in cabbage, lettuce (and liver) that helps this inorganic iron to be assimilated is copper. Copper is an element that heretofore has not been considered important to the construction of hemoglobin. (The hemoglobin is the red coloring matter of the red blood cells and has to do with the very vital process of carrying oxygen which burns the foodstuff, liberating its elements to be taken up by the system and carting away the gaseous refuse, carbon dioxide.)

I haven't read of any work on the analysis of foods for copper, but lettuce, liver and cabbage are mentioned. I'll give you a list of the foods high in iron; it may be possible that all of them have some copper also. I would take some fresh cabbage every day, Mrs. N. It is high in vitamins, and for these alone it is one of the leaders in the vegetable kingdom.

Foods High In Iron

Vegetables: Spinach, string beans, cabbage, lettuce, Brussels sprouts, celery, tomatoes, carrots, peas and potatoes.

Animal Foods: Lean meats (fish is not high in iron), and egg yolks (egg yolks have a very high percentage.)

Cereals: Whole wheat and oatmeal.

Nuts: Almonds, peanuts and walnuts.

Fruits: Fresh fruits, while they do not contain a high per cent of iron, have it in a valuable form. Dried fruits—dates, figs, prunes and raisins—are relatively high.

The vegetables and fruits are not only valuable because they have iron and other minerals in them and are alkaline in their final reaction in the body, but because they are high in vitamins and furnish bulk (so necessary for normal peristalsis) as well as energy value.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MILDRED LAWRENCE, stenographer at the Judson Hotel, has her fox fur snatched from her in a crowd, but STEPHEN ARMITAGE catches the thief and returns the scarf. He asks to take her home. Not wishing to seem ungrateful, she invited him to dinner.

Their evening is spoiled when PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of her employer, phones Mildred to return to duty. Stephen escorts her to the hotel where Pamela recognizes him as the salesman who had sold her a car. She snubs Mildred and tries to lure Stephen away by pretending she wants to buy another car.

Then Pamela meets HUCK CONNOR, who becomes infatuated with her, and she amuses herself by playing both men. When Stephen favors Mildred the manager asks her to be careful or Pamela will have her discharged. But this may not be so easy as her brother, HAROLD, is in love with Mildred. He is a weakling and Mildred permits him to call on her to keep him from Huck's gambling crowd. However, he suspects that she cares more for Stephen than for him and refuses to stay one evening when Stephen comes to see Mildred.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

Mrs. Lawrence was not surprised to see Stephen. Mildred had told her he was coming. But she was puzzled over their manner, the uneasy way in which Stephen stood before Mildred and the latter's accusing attitude.

"Why, good evening, Mr. Armitage," she said cordially, advancing to shake hands with him. She glanced inquiringly at Mildred. The girl turned abruptly toward the living room. At the door she called back casually:

"Come on; we'll play three-handed bridge."

Mrs. Lawrence smiled apologetically at Stephen while he doffed his overcoat.

"I can't seem to learn how to play bridge," she said; "else we could have a regular game."

Stephen made a quick mental computation. Three players without Mrs. Lawrence. That meant there was a fourth person about and it hadn't occurred to him there might be anyone to see him kiss Mildred. The kid sister, of course. He grinned.

Mrs. Lawrence's next words upset his conclusion. "Connie's out," she said. "Of course I don't like to have her stay up late for cards and Mildred says she talks too much . . ."

Mildred interrupted by calling out to ask where the cards were. Mrs. Yawrence went to search for them Stephen followed, wondering who was in the living room. He saw no one but Mildred.

Mrs. Lawrence looked around in astonishment. "Did Mr. Judson go?" she asked blankly. "I didn't hear him."

Mildred shrugged. "He wouldn't disturb you to say good night," she explained. "You'll have to play, Mom. We'll teach you. It's such a bore for two."

She looked defiantly at Stephen. "Let us play something your mother knows," he suggested politely.

"I don't believe you know any old-fashioned games," Mildred challenged with a meaning that was not lost on him.

"Well, there's post office," Stephen laughed. "I know how to play that. How about it, mother?"

Mrs. Lawrence beamed at him. It warmed her heart to hear this nice young man call her mother. She'd always wished that her eldest child had been a boy, and that Mildred had come next. She never could wish that Mildred had been anything but Mildred.

"I expect you young people of today don't bother to call it post office," she said, shaking her head reprovingly.

"But it's the same old game, eh, no matter how you play it?" Stephen persisted. "Nothing to get hot—er—angry about, what?"

But Mrs. Lawrence was not to be drawn into a discussion of kissing.

"Now, young man," she said, "I think what you need is a cup of tea or chocolate . . ."

"Chocolate," Stephen decided. He had a vague idea that it might take longer to make it and he wanted desperately to be alone with Mildred for a few minutes right then.

"I prefer chocolate myself," Mrs. Lawrence said, and left them.

"Mildred!" Stephen was beside her. "I'm sorry," he said, and hesitated. "I mean I'm sorry you didn't want me to kiss you."

"I suppose it hurts your vanity," Mildred replied.

"So that is it. You think I'm a practising Don Juan! Tell me the truth. Did you really object to being kissed, or was it just that you think I'm conceited enough to believe I can go about kissing whom I please?"

Mildred faced him steadily. "Well," she began uncertainly. Then, with a rush, came scornful words. "You must have had some pretty cheap experiences to imagine your uninvited kiss would be welcome to me," she ended breathlessly.

"Uninvited!" Stephen echoed. "Uninvited! My Lord, girl, don't you know that you were made for kissing at just that moment? I'm sorry because it offended you, but I can tell you that I appreciate it for all it was worth, if that helps any. And it was worth a great deal."

"Was it worth quarreling about?"

"Yep. I'd even fight for a chance to do it over again," he answered readily and Mildred was utterly routed by his blithesome sincerity.

"I'll be on my guard next time," she warned him.

Suddenly Stephen grew serious. "I don't think I'll try to kiss you again until I know you want me to," he promised solemnly.

"All right. I'll let you know," Mildred laughed.

"By the way," Stephen said lightly, "I didn't dislodge young Judson, did I?"

"Yes, you did," Mildred told him frankly. "And I wish I knew he'd be all right."

"What's the trouble?"

"If you get a chance to give him some good advice about gambling, especially with men like Huck Connor . . ." Mildred stopped abruptly. She had just remembered that Huck was with Parmela at the theater. She didn't want Stephen to think that she was criticizing Pamela's choice of friends.

"I don't like that guy," Stephen assured her. "I think I know something about him if I could only remember what it is. Something not so good."

"Well, you know there isn't anyone to keep an eye on Harold while his father is away," she said wearily. "Mr. Dazel is too busy." She was thinking that Stephen might interest himself on Pamela's account. His next words convinced her that he would.

"I might spare half an eye," he answered. "I'll need the rest of my sight. Demonstrating a car to Miss Judson tomorrow."

Mildred suddenly felt tired and disinclined to talk. Her mother came in with the chocolate and sake soon afterwards, and when it was finished she sent Stephen away.

"My girl must get up early, you know," she said with disarming candor. "But do come up again soon. Come to dinner. There'll be green apples in the market before long. "I'll bake you a deep-dish pie."

"I never got out quite so charmingly," Stephen teased her. "Another time, out home, the culinary

Up And Down Broadway With Swan

Nondescript Army Of Hangars-On Wait For Years To Get 'Breaks' That Never Come; Failures Many

NEW YORK, May 4.—Someone gave them the colorful title of "breakers."

They're that nondescript army of Broadway hangers-on who remain year after year, "waiting for the breaks." That the breaks come to few, if any, should be patent.

To cling, like barnacles, to their uncertain ship, they engage in all sorts of tenuous rackets. They have no trade and, if you asked them what they really are waiting for they might have difficulty giving an explanation.

The fact is that the Broadway virus is in their blood. They just want to "hang around." They're the people who would rather be a failure on Broadway than a big hit in the town they come from. And they never go back.

When they get old, they become the Broadway characters. And the side streets are littered with them. There is one in particular a disheveled, dilapitated old crone who is called "The Rose of Shubert Alley."

Shubert Alley is an areaway adjoining the Shubert theater, which is variously a chorine rendezvous, a stage entrance, and a breathing space. Here, on any night in the week, you can see "the rose" peddling her cheap candies and chewing gum. She seems never to tire of watching the parade of show girls come and go. So commonplace a figure is she that only the newcomers shake their heads pityingly. The rest toss her a few coins in exchange for some gum, and prance through the back door.

The newcomers may, like myself, wonder how "the rose" ever got there and why she stays, and stays, and stays.

There are ragged looking fellows who seem suddenly to slip out of nowhere to open your taxicab door. Then they take your handout—if any. Watch them and you'll see them and you'll see them on the fringe of hungry-looking crowds watching the sons and daughters of fashion and fame hurrying to first night performances.

There's another army that "steers" the taxis down certain thoroughfares; there are the street trinket merchants and the regular run up "pitch men." There are women always past middle life, who peddle all sorts of odd articles.

And so they tell me, most of these came to New York to "lick the big street." They came with their eyes fixed on the stars. Their dreams were pinned to the idea that, somehow or other, they could become leading ladies and matinee idols. In some small town their dreams were fired, perhaps by the sight of a traveling theater company playing one night stands. Many of them played the circus and the carnival routes, or went out with tent shows, only to be dumped finally upon the street of terrible contrasts.

It might never occur to you that the fellow who materializes out of the night, minus an overcoat and a collar, hides the ambition to be the juvenile hero of a melodrama. Nor that the scraggly blond once nursed the dream of dancing in the Follies.

That they are not talented never occurs to them. After a while even their dreams fail to occur to them. Perhaps they forget why they ever came or why they are there — or they swallow any chance remembrance. Habit has clutched them. And though they are far out of the picture they seem content just to look on, just to get some sort of third-hand thrill out of milling about and being completely lost in the crowds that crush together beneath the sparkling lights.

buch was introduced around 11 o'clock, but it was a demonstration of skill with a rolling pin. I'm sure I'd rather go on the promise of pie."

Mildred went to the door with him. She was thinking how little he was likely to be enticed anywhere by pie. Why, tomorrow he was going out with a girl whose background made pie seem positively vulgar. There were people, even at the Judson, who ordered pie, but it was pie disguised with decorative scrolls and pastry bouquets. It was not the spicy, juice-oozing pie her mother made.

And during the next few weeks, as the days grew warm with the early spring that comes like a false lure to lure New Yorkers into premature storing of winter wraps, Mildred found herself making excuses to her mother for Stephen.

They had seen very little of him at Mildred's home. She saw him often in the hotel, however, but she knew that he was there to see Pamela.

After that first demonstration of new car, Pamela had managed gradually to enthrall Stephen. There were times when he came to Mildred's desk and lingered as though reluctant to depart without wiping away some of the coolness that had sprung up between them, but his indecision ended generally with a cheery, "see you again," and nothing more.

Mildred hated herself because her indifference to him was not genuine. Try as she might, she could not keep her heart from jumping whenever she caught sight of Stephen. Time and time again he had passed her desk with Pamela hanging on his arm and her eyes had followed them.

Well, she'd known in the beginning that it was hopeless for her to want anything that Pamela Judson wanted. Only . . . she wondered sometimes if Stephen was happily ensnared, wondered if she couldn't win him away from Pamela if she tried. "But I can't," she always told herself in despair. "I can't vamp him and he'll never see me in Pamela's shadow unless I step out and show him that she isn't the only girl who has pep."

Crying it out in her pillow one night, she knew that Stephen would have to discover her for himself. If it meant anything that he couldn't forget her, that now and then he remembered the little morning nosegay, he would have to find the meaning alone.

But deep in her heart Mildred could not help feeling that Stephen belonged to her, that if Pamela had not set herself to dazzle him he'd have found it out.

And she couldn't do anything about it. She couldn't draw him to her with little smiles, little words, little tricks. There was nothing coquettish about her. She would give her heart in a gesture of magnificent surrender, but she would not make a game of it.

Stephen still thought her a peach of a girl, when his mind wasn't on Pamela or selling cars. Some one of these nice days he'd ask her to go for a spin in the country.

In the meantime Mildred became only aware that she was not the only one who faced hopelessness.

Texas Fifth For Number of Radio Sending Stations

New York Broadcasting Stations Outnumber Total for Ten States Of United States

NEW YORK, May 4.—New York city with 23 stations has more broadcasting facilities than 10 of the states combined.

While 14 of the New York stations maintain transmitters in the suburbs, all of the studios are located within the city.

The 10 states whose aggregate of stations does not equal that of the metropolis are: Maine, 3 stations; Kentucky, 3; Utah, 3; New Mexico, 3; Vermont, 2; New Hampshire, 2; Delaware, 2; South Carolina, 2; Nevada, 1 and Wyoming, 1. Nevada did not have any station until a few months ago when KOH, with the low power of 100 watts, was established. Wyoming's sole station is KYWO, with a 500 watt transmitter, at Laramie.

Chicago, with 21 stations, presses New York for broadcasting laurels. The transmitters of nine of these are located in suburban towns. Philadelphia is third with 12, and Seattle fourth with 11. Los Angeles and Portland each have 10, and Boston, St. Louis, San Francisco and New Orleans, have 6 each.

California leads the states with 46 states and New York is second with 45 not including 10 which have their transmitting plants in New Jersey and are credited to that state's quota. Pennsylvania is third with 41 station and Illinois fourth with 40. Texas, the largest state in area, is next with 31 stations, New Jersey has 28, Ohio, 27, Missouri, 22 and Massachusetts, 21.

Three stations in the Philippine islands, three in Alaska, two in the Hawaiian islands and one in Porto Rico are also under the supervision of the federal radio commission.

'Sweetest Maid'

That's This Young Radio Star

This young woman, Jane Holland Cameron, is the "Sweetest Maid" of several sweet young things who make up the orchestra broadcasting from KSTP, St. Paul, each Thursday. Miss Cameron conducts the orchestra and offers a few selections of her own. The program is composed of popular and semi-classical numbers, interspersed with vocal numbers rendered by Miss Cameron, who has a "sweet" crooning contralto voice too.

Radio Set Ousts Barometer As Forecaster Of Storms At Sea; Captain Pins Faith In Small Cabin Receiver

Steamship Skipper Relies On Radio For Forecasts

BY FRANK B. HOWE
Central Press Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May. 4—The modern radio entertainment receiving set is a better barometer than a barometer itself. This interesting scientific discovery, just made by Captain J. J. Cadogan, veteran shipmaster, is arousing much interest in radio and nautical fields.

Conducting a series of experiments on his numerous voyages around the world as the skipper of an American steamship, Captain Cadogan has found that he can predict storms in high latitudes as much as 48 hours in advance of the barometer.

Selecting a station broadcasting radio entertainment programs in a direct line with his course, Captain Cadogan tunes in with an ordinary receiving set. By the relative intensity of the program, he determines instantly the type of weather in his path. If the program is sharp and clear, he knows fair weather exists. If he gets the station only fairly, he knows a mild disturbance and a light storm is brewing. If, in extreme states, he cannot get the station at all, he knows a storm of serious magnitude lies in his route.

On a voyage just completed, the captain's barometer stood high and gave no indication of trouble. Yet his radio was blank for a station dead ahead. He ordered preparations for bad weather.

"But captain, the glass is high. There is no sign of weather," ventured a mate.

"Never mind, there's a storm coming," replied Cadogan, and the preparations were made with misgivings by the sailors.

Two days later the glass fell rapidly and the ship entered a moderate gale.

Time and again, the captain has been able to foretell storms many hours ahead of the barometer with his radio.

Other interesting and scientifically valuable radio discoveries have been made by Cadogan on his jaunts around the globe. One of the most notable of these is that of all places on the face of the globe, the Red Sea is the best for radio reception.

Radio Singers Bungle Ballads

FORT WORTH, Tex. May 4 (AP)—Most radio entertainers do not know how to sing cowboy songs, says Prof. Newton Gaines of Texas Christian university, president of the Texas folklore society and an authority on cowboy songs.

"If the cowboy sang his songs as most radio entertainers sing them, he'd get the breath knocked out of him," he declares. "Most so-called cowboy poets never rode a cow horse.

'Night Club Of The Air,' Started By Little Jack, Has Been Heard From More Than Two Hundred Radios

Famous Entertainer's Club Has 'Members' In Every State And In Many Nations Of Europe

CINCINNATI, May 4 (AP)—Little Jack Little's "mythical night club of the air" never sees its members.

Among the stations that have had the night club as a feature is WLW here.

Little, radio entertainer, developed the night club a year ago, and now there are members in every state and several foreign countries. Just a note to the station broadcasting the feature brings membership.

The entertainer was one of the first to try out radio vaudeville, commencing his broadcasting at WBAP, Fort Worth, five years ago. Since then he has played the piano at more than 200 stations.

Little, English born, became an American at five. The navy, during the war, assigned him to the piano when he enlisted, for submarine duty. Afterward he played in vaudeville, in orchestras, and any way to assure the "coffee and." Finally he became a "song plugger" in New York. Five years of that and then back to vaudeville and finally radio. His song compositions include "Jealous," "Because They All Love You," and "It All Depends On You."

Little's introductory "here tis" is a radio landmark.

Frogs, toads, reptiles and other non-fur-bearing animals cannot be stuffed and mounted by the ordinary methods of taxidermy and are commonly preserved in jars of alcohol.

'Magellan' Radio Fan Carries Set On World Cruise

Captain of Big Steamship Enjoys Reception From Many Lands In Journey Around World

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—Captain J. J. Cadogan, master of the Dollar liner President Hayes, might be termed the "Magellan of radio fans."

He is believed to be the first man to take a standard radio set around the world and keep a complete log of reception during the 110-day cruise. He has just finished his second trip around the globe with the radio receiver on his ship.

Captain Cadogan has made a number of interesting discoveries in his radio pioneering. The world's spot for radio reception, according to his log, is the Red Sea. Mid-Pacific perhaps is one of the best locations in the world for a DX fan, for 24 hours out of Honolulu the sea-faring radio fan picked up a station in Sydney, Australia, 4200 miles from his ship. Reception up to 3000 miles was an everyday occurrence, according to the captain.

A standard radio receiving set should become one of the seafaring tools of trade, according to Captain Cadogan, who explains that he has learned to use his set as a barometer. He discovered that poor reception and bad static usually were followed by bad weather and that when he could dial no stations at all, even though his barometer was high and steady, a bad blow was a matter of a day or less away.

Has Simple Receiver

The story of the radio set going around the world begins in San Francisco last September when Captain Cadogan received a standard Atwater Kent receiver and speaker. He had been told that reception of broadcast programs with an ordinary type of receiver was impossible on shipboard because of the proximity of the ship's wireless transmitter.

He avoided that, however, by rigging up a signal light connected with the radio room on the ship. Thus, when he wanted to use his set he was able to glance at the light and find out if the ship was transmitting signals. The wireless operator, also, was able to warn Captain Cadogan if he planned to use the set while the captain was tuning in.

On the first leg of his round-the-world cruise, Captain Cadogan noticed, as he neared the Hawaiian Islands, that signals from United States faded and he began to hear program from Japanese stations, as well as from transmitters in Shanghai and Calcutta.

Bad Reception in Tropics

His ship called at Japanese and Chinese ports and then moved south. His faithful set picked up programs from Japan, China, India and Australia.

The President Hayes cleared Singapore and the Straits and sailed west to the Red Sea. Reception wasn't good in tropical waters, and in the Red Sea it was terrible, he said.

For four days the ship's wireless operator was unable to get signals through to an Egyptian station and several times he had to listen in on the captain's set in order to pick up weather and time signals from shore transmitters.

Conditions improved when the ship reached the Mediterranean, and noted on the captain's radio log is "excellent program off Greece."

Sees and Hears of Eruption

One November night as his ship moved along the Sicilian coast, Mount Etna "boiled over." Captain Cadogan, from the bridge of his ship, saw flames shoot tthousands of feet in the air and then saw the impressive flow of molten lava pour over the volcano's lips. He went into his cabin and tuned in on a radio station in Birmingham, England, in time to hear a news dispatch describing the eruption read into a microphone more than a thousand miles away.

Programs were plentiful in the Mediterranean, and he heard announcers speak in English, French, Spanish, German and Italian.

Nov. 20, the President Hayes was off the Azores headed for New York. That night Captain Cadogan tuned in WJZ in New York and heard a program on the NBC network. He was still picking up programs from Europe at this time.

His experiences on his second trip around the world were identical with those of his first though on the second cruise he was able to check more accurately the performance of his set as a barometer.

Radio Goes Through Fight Stages

Elaborate Preparations Must Precede These Nightly Programs That We Get On The Home Receiver

NEW YORK, May 4—A radio program, to emerge from its chrysalis stage and be presented to the public, goes through eight separate stages at least if it's to be an NBC feature.

The first step is the germination of an idea for a program. This originates, in the majority of cases, in the planning board of the network. This idea goes through the third degree, is picked apart for flaws, reconstructed and then is ready for the second stage.

This is the selection of suitable artists to present the program. Eligible entertainers are picked, and the third stage sees the best ones selected and instructed under direction of the production manager.

The program department takes care of the fourth step. It plans a definite musical sequence, arranges proper balance and underlying psychology and then sends the program to the continuity department for the fifth stage. Here the type of music to accompany the presentation is decided, what announcer is to work, what he is to say, how the artists are to be introduced and how the sponsorship can be best worked into the program.

The musical and literary research departments form the sixth stage. It is their duty to look over music and literary copyrights to see that nothing is wrong with the numbers in the program. If this is all in order, the orchestra gets the program for the seventh stage.

Size of the orchestra accompanying the program, the personnel, orchestrations and other things are agreed upon and after this is settled the program is ready for the final stage—the rehearsals.

The minimum number of rehearsals at the NBC is three, the time of rehearsals averaging six hours for a one-half hour feature. The final dress rehearsal with its finishing an dpolishing sometimes takes from two to two and a half hours.

Then the minute of absolute silence before the mike, the program is swung over to the air and the work that has been going on for weeks at last shows fruit—if there is no hitch.

15,000 Children Hear Uncle Dave

'Comfy Time' Each Night Finds Large Audience in Tune with Station WIBW in Topeka

TOPEKA, Kas. May 4 (AP)—"Comfy time" each night calls more than 15,000 children to the radioland lap of Uncle Dave, story-teller and director of kiddies' entertainment at WIBW.

This half hour is set aside for youngsters of the station's junior capital club, which in five months has grown so rapidly that new memberships now average 100 a day.

Privately, Uncle Dave is E. D. Keilmann, whose story-telling talent elicits more mail from listeners than all other WIBW artists combined. His radio career began by accident, when WIBW was a portable. In the absence of a woman elocutionist he told a boyhood story. It made a hit and gave him the idea of a children's club.

Chief of his helpers are Aunt Bessie and the two Janes, Lucy Jane Keilmann, aged 11, his daughter, and Mary Jane Morrison, 12. Aunt Bessie is Miss Bessie Crotchett, singer and piano player.

No two nights of "comfy time" are alike. Sometimes there are fairy stories, or the two Janes appear in songs and instrumental duets. Again Aunt Bessie sings and plays, or Tom Powell, a Scotch comedian, sings Harry Lauder songs. One night a week there are Indian tales and songs; on another Uncle Dave tells Peter Pan stories or original yarns.

An average acre of garden is estimated to contain 53,000 earth worms.

HUPMOBILE

"A Woman's Car That Every Man Should Drive"

Signed: Hayward Thompson

HAYWARD THOMPSON, PAR-OPTIC WIZARD

Call upon the New HUPMOBILE for a smooth, controlled dash in traffic, or a furious burst of power and speed on the road—you feel its answer, not hear it—It voices no protest through a squeaking brake. Its brakes are silent, with full 16 inch clearance. No drag. Instant release — There's an uncanny stillness as you shift through its gears. Its long, smooth springs float you up and down on quiet controlled tides of power. Its engine doesn't roar and tremble with rage when the throttle goes down. The big, heavy crankshaft is quited by the famous Lanchester dampener. A silent chain runs the camshaft. No chatter from the valves—It screeches no abuse at you through ill-fitted coach work. HUPMOBILE bodies are tailored in steel as carefully as your dinner jacket.

A word to the wise has always been considered sufficient—But when you say "HUPMOBILE," whisper it!

A Man Who Knows Motor Cars..... this Hayward Thompson.....

THE NEW

HUPMOBILE

CENTURY SIX AND EIGHT

is his selection as the media through which to express his uncanny power of par-optic vision. We do not question that any manufacturer of fine motor cars would gladly present Hayward Thompson with an automobile, gratis—merely for the publicity the car would receive— however, Hayward Thompson is in a position to select that car, which to him represents the mechanical perfection. In selecting Hupmobile he has exercised the judgement that has swerved thousands to Hupmobile—The ease of handling—the positive functioning of every unit of the mechanical features, combined with its sublime beauty truly make HUPMOBILE outstanding among those who would have the best that money can buy.

We congratulate Hayward Thompson, truly a master showman, a man who has made his mark and is in a position to own and operate the best money can buy. We congratulate him as well as the thousands of other HUPMOBILE owners who have year after year remained behind the wheel of a Hupmobile.

To those who do not know the outstanding features and performance of HUPMOBILE—sixes and eights—we request them to get behind the wheel of one. "SEE" for yourself—"FEEL" for yourself the masterful performance of these truly great motor cars.

Government Film Teaches Economy Of Changing Spark Plugs

Gasoline conservation has become of such vital importance that the United States Government not long ago made an exhaustive study of fuel waste in internal combustion engines and has been carrying on an educational campaign to encourage gas saving in motoring.

In aid of this campaign the Bureau of Mines at Washington produced a photoplay, entitled "The Story of a Spark Plug." This educational film has enjoyed so much popularity throughout the country since its presentation that within the last few weeks the Champion Spark Plug Co., at the request of the Department of Commerce and the Bureau of Mines has issued a new edition of the "Story of the Spark Plug".

A Hot, intense spark means economy.
A Hot, intense spark means power.
A Hot, intense spark means a live engine.

The film shows clearly what happens when a spark plug deteriorates under the great stresses to which it is subjected in engine operation. It no longer causes complete combustion of gasoline. As a result:

Power is lost.
The engine is sluggish.
Gasoline and oil are wasted.

The engine is brought daily nearer to expensive overhauling and consequent loss of car.

Buy Hoods and be Safe

Anything can happen if a tire goes. And you never can tell just when an inferior tire may go. The price of SAFETY is not the price of a cheap tire. It is the difference of the few extra dollars you pay for a good tire.

Cheap or "bargain" tires must give you less for your money. And you ride on risk. Hood Tires—tires built to the famous Hood standard of tire construction assures you this tire safety. See for yourself the massive tread and giant strength of these tires that mean more mileage, longer life, and economy in the long run.

Any day you can stop in, we will gladly show you the Hood construction that assures complete freedom from tire trouble on the road. Pay no more than you pay for any good tire, but get the extra margin of safety. Buy HOODS and be SAFE.

We enjoy serving you and sincerely appreciate your business. It is our desire to serve so well, you'll think of us for good service—good merchandise—and reliability.

French Called Upon To Repel Invasion Of Yank Cars

American Automobiles Are Too Good And Too Cheap To Give Home Makers Much Of A Chance To Corner Trade

Despite High Tariff, More American Cars Are Being Imported Than Ever, Say Statisticians

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer

PARIS, May 4.—American automobiles are too good and too cheap for the comfort of French makers, judging by the alarm being expressed at the increasing American invasion.

Not only are more American cars being imported than ever before, despite the high tariff, but American money is being invested in prominent manufacturing concerns here to such an extent that native builders suspect a deliberate attempt to conquer the French industry.

The "hard-as-iron" methods of American makers is criticized by M. Rene Cheney, writing in Comoedia an appeal to French builders to rally together and fight the American invasion. He strongly urges an amalgamation of resources and brains to resist the American advance and suggests a French General Motors Company.

"Earthenware vessel or vessel of iron?" he asks rather sadly in his warning to French builders. "If I were allowed to choose I wouldn't hesitate a second; I would want to be made of iron, of good hard iron. But my ability to resist would by no means give me the desire to break my unhappy brother who happened to be made of earth. That point of view—let's call it French—is unfortunately not shared by the American mind, and we are now witnessing the gigantic and aggressive effort of the American automobile industry.

Points to Saturation Motive

"Fearing a saturation, that is inevitable and for that matter almost accomplished, of the national market, it is preparing a great offensive against the European markets, including the French market, the latter being especially aimed at because it is a quality market.

"As in France, there were in the United States several makers of automobiles," explains M. Cheney in trying to tell his people what is behind the American invasion. "The Ford Company led with a superior conception of what automobiles should be to appeal to the public. Its competitors, feeling themselves incapable of fighting such a colossus separately, founded the General Motors Corporation and then declared war on the great Ford organization.

"General Motors was within an ace of victory when Ford had one of those inspirations of which he alone knows the secret. He succeeded in adapting and modying his plants to a new type of car which corresponded to the mechanical perfection tastes of the day.

From Ford to France

"The General Motors Corporation, created to fight Ford and take from him his place in the automobile market, was on the way to failure. It had to find a new field of action to sell the thousands of automobiles manufactured by its constituent companies. It chose Europe because there existed a demand and because saturation had not yet been reached there.

"A new obstacle arose which hindered the program of exportation—the protectionist principle of the European customs regimes and the need of getting by with prohibitive prices for merchandise of equal value.

"At that point was born its desire to lay hands on our automobile firms. We have already felt the first manifestations of that desire. It is reported that the Peugeot Company right now is under the control of General Motors and that 40,000 shares of the Citroen Company are in its hands.

Calls for Co-operation

"It would be absurd to deny the danger run by the French automobile industry. It is heartbreaking to realise that we are offering no opposition at all. We have no program of concentration on individual makes with distribution of the models and we have no policy of uniting which would facilitate the exchange of ideas, common research work and financial accords.

"We have only independent minds and good wills which work each for itself and which waste their efforts by petty competition, which obey the orders of financial groups that are opposed to each other and that do not want to get together for mutual advantage.

"Why not abandon these narrow views? Why not, in a fine gesture of unity, hatch a French General Motors Company? Such an organization can very well exist without destroying that individuality which gives to all our products that which the whole world likes. Our builders must recognize the danger if they are not to see their market strewn with their debris. They must establish a French alliance whose supple resistance will break the brutal assault of the American bloc."

DeSoto Head Lauds Speedometer Value

The prehistoric cave man told time by a rope of burning grass, the strands twisted tightly together, with knots here and there by which the hours were computed.

If the knots were not made in the right place the "watch" was inaccurate, but that was the least of a cavemans troubles. In those days time and distance were not important. He probably had no theater appointments to keep; dinner engagements were not the social function they are today.

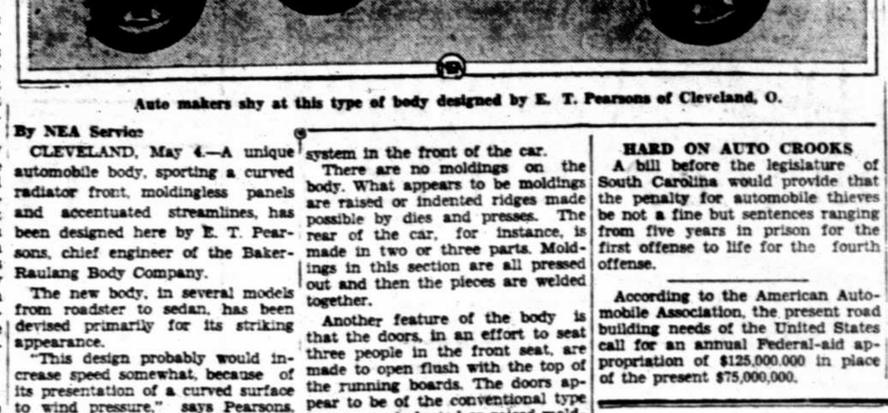
With civilization, however, distance and time have taken more significant places in the social system. Appointments must be kept on time and the question of distance enters into our everyday life, so people carry watches and equip teir automobiles with speedometers.

"The accurate speedometer relieves the driver, and particularly the summer tourist on long trips from untold trouble in finding his way on strange highways," said Mr. Pulford, service manager for the De Soto division of Chrysler Motors in a recent interview on servicing the automobile for summer touring.

MAKING ROADS SAFE

In four weeks, Pennsylvania revoked 525 automobile operators' licenses, 70 per cent of them for intoxication.

Body With Slanting Radiator Too Radical To Succeed



Auto makers shy at this type of body designed by E. T. Pearsons of Cleveland, O.

By NEA Service

CLEVELAND, May 4.—A unique automobile body, sporting a curved radiator front, moldingless panels and accentuated streamlines, has been designed here by E. T. Pearsons, chief engineer of the Baker-Raulang Body Company.

The new body, in several models from roadster to sedan, has been devised primarily for its striking appearance.

"This design probably would increase speed somewhat, because of its presentation of a curved surface to wind pressure," says Pearsons, "but beauty was the thing thought of in designing it. After all beauty is what sells a car more than anything else. Of course, mechanical perfection has to be there, but beauty is the deciding factor in a sale."

The design of this body, according to Pearsons, is so far ahead of present styles that manufacturers seeing it have hesitated to adopt it for fear it would not be accepted by the public.

No Abrupt Ending

The marked difference between this body and the conventional style is the departure from the vertical radiator. The shell curves out from the hood, forming a finished appearance. A conventional type of core, however, is used.

"I designed it this way," explains Pearsons, "in order to get away from that chopped off appearance. This style gives the radiator shell a finished appearance and gives the impression of lines running out into infinity rather than an abrupt stop at the radiator's nose. This also falls in line with the curve on the rear of the body, equalizing both ends of it."

Another thought in Pearsons' mind when he was designing the radiator was to give ample room in case it should be adapted to a front wheel-drive car. This type radiator would cover up the engine and leave room for any mechanical additions necessary t othe adoption of this drive. It would also provide for the adoption of an oil cooling system in the front of the car.

There are no moldings on the body. What appears to be moldings are raised or indented ridges made possible by dies and presses. The rear of the car, for instance, is made in two or three parts. Moldings in this section are all pressed out and then the pieces are welded together.

Another feature of the body is that the doors, in an effort to seat three people in the front seat, are made to open flush with the top of the running boards. The doors appear to be of the conventional type because an indented or raised molding runs across the mat the present height of the splash pan.

The stream lining is shown in the finishing of the radiator, the curves of the rear panels and the slope of the roof in the closed models.

HARD ON AUTO CROOKS

A bill before the legislature of South Carolina would provide that the penalty for automobile thieves be not a fine but sentences ranging from five years in prison for the first offense to life for the fourth offense.

According to the American Automobile Association, the present road building needs of the United States call for an annual Federal-aid appropriation of $125,000,000 in place of the present $75,000,000.

BALANCED MOTOR

Smoothness Insured In The Performance Of Plymouth

In the field of sport, perfect balance is essential to the champion, whether an individual or a winning team on diamond or gridiron. The well-balanced football team is the one that finished the season at the head of the list. The golfer who has rhythm of motion and the ability to time and balance himself properly is the one who succeeds in playing the course in par.

In business it is the well-balanced organization that functions smoothly, renders the most useful service, and shows greatest profits. In all phases of life, in sport—in business—in men—in machines, balance is essential to success.

Statistics Aid Chrysler Owners

Of particular interest to Chrysler car owners and of unusual value to police departments throughout the United States is the statistical department at the Chrysler offices in Detroit, where can be found a complete record of any Chrysler car that has been sold since July 1925.

Hundreds of columns of facts concerning Chrysler cars are available in this department, headed by John W. Scoville.

With such thoroughness are these records kept that it requires but 20 minutes to check completely any information desired on any Chrysler automobile in the United States. With that time and with only the engine number, the serial number, or the car number on the instrument panel as a guide, the records will show the name of the purchaser of the car, the purchaser's address, date of purchase, name of the dealer who sold the car, that of the salesman handling the sale, the model, date of purchase and the occupation of the owner in addition to a number of other facts of importance.

According to the Department of Commerce, of the 418,000 automobiles registered in Australia, 75 per cent of them are American-made cars.

EARNINGS DECREASE

General Motors Earn 61 Million In 4 Months

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., President of General Motors Corporation, announced today the following:

"Net earnings of General Motors Corporation, including equities in the undivided profits of subsidiary and affiliated companies not consolidated, for the first quarter ended March 31, 1929, were $61,910,967, which compares with $69,468,976 for the corresponding period a year ago. After deducting dividends on Preferred and Debenture stock amounting to $2,351,770 there remains $59,559,217 being the amount earned on the Common shares outstanding. This is equivalent to $1.37 per share on the Common stock as against $1.56 per share for the first quarter of 1928, calculated on a comparable basis."

Warn Motorists Of Thorny Vine That Cuts Tire

Puncture Burrs Which Came From Mediterranean Will Cause Trouble To Many Tourists, Belief

By NEA Service

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 4.—Motorists along national highways should beware of the puncture vine. This is a western weed that produces burs with spines sufficiently sharp to penetrate and puncture automobile tires on which they are carried long distances.

The plant is a native of the Mediterranean region that was probably brought to western seaports in ship ballast.

Puncture vine is a serious problem in California an dthe pest is spreading eastward along the routes of tourist travel. Recently a large specimen of the plaint was located along the National Highway near Greenfield, Indiana, by A. A. Hansen, weed specialist of the Purdue Experiment Station.

R. H. Crocheron, county agent leader of the state of California, reports that "A few years ago this very serious weed pest was observed only in a few counties but now it has spread until 13 counties located in the San Joaquin and Sacramento alleys have organized for the control of puncture vine."

Aside from the damage to automobiles and bicycle tires, the burs of puncture vine cause injuries that are frequently followed by serious infection in the soft tissues between the toes of cloven hoofed animals. The burs also lodge under the tongues of grazing animals, causing cankers and seriously interfering with feeding to the extent that alfalfa hay infested with the weed is practically unmarketable.

In California grape pickers kneeling in vineyards find the plant to be such a nuisance that laborers frequently decline to work in areas infested with the weed.

The gradual eastward invasion of the pest along tourist lanes of travel through the agency of automobile tires is being viewed with alarm by the motoring public as well as by agricultural authorities.

Cut in Hupp Price Results In Orders

Scarcely had news been sent out of the sweeping price reductions announced on April 7 by the Hupp Motor Car Corporation than orders began t o pour into the Detroit factory from every section of the United States and Canada despite the dampening effect of late and cold spring weather.

The price reduction affects every one of the New Century Six and Eight Hupp models. The reductions varied from $55.00 to $260.00.

In announcing the reductions the company declared that the new low prices were the first move in its new 1929 expansion program which started with the purchase of its new plant in Cleveland last January. More than a million square feet of floor space was acquired in Cleveland as well as modern factory buildings and manufactring facilities.

Pertinent Facts About Automobiles By Israel Klein, Science Editor For NEA Service

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

Spring weather is bringing out the new automobiles of the year, and this calls for further explanation and warning of the care needed in breaking in any new product.

Although the efficiency of the new car has advanced considerably over that of years back, there are still the old features that require attention before a driver can feel free to abuse his motor at will. As good as the modern engine has become it still requires a running-in period. As well built as the chassis and body may be, they also require tightening up after their first run of a few hundred miles. And as perfectly adjusted as the carburetor and ignition are, there is room for readjustments to suit individual requirements and the demands of specific localities.

Therefore the same rule as heretofore applies to the new cars of today—that of slow, careful driving, tightening of body bolts and readjustment of accessories at the 500 and 1000-mile points.

A fallacy that has gone the rounds of the country is that certain modern automobiles can be taken from the factory, right after assembly, and driven 40 or more miles an hour without fear of harming the motor or other moving parts. One auto manufacturer goes so far as to advertise this claim. But engineers generally agree that it is wiser for the motorist to drive at 20 or 25 miles an hour for the first 500 miles, raising this limit gradually until the 1000-mile mark is reached.

The reason for this care is that, no matter how much a motor may have been run in on the engine block in the factory, it does not get its real test until it is in the chassis and on the road. Then, hooked up through the transmission to the rear axle, it gets its loads and its bumps in such a way that only actual driving can give it.

The pistons may not be tight, they may be run in well, but the transmission and the differential alo require the working-in that the motor may have gotten in the factory. Proof of thi need is evident in the speed with which the transmission and differential oils become filled with fine grains of metal dust from the clashing gears.

It is for this reason not only that the car should be run in slowly, but that the oil in transmission and differential should be taken out and changed after the first 1000 miles. After that the need of change will be less frequent.

To aid the motor itself during this running-in period, it is good practice to add about a quart of thin oil to every five gallons of gasoline in the rear tank. This thin lubricating oil, fed into the cylinders from above, will aid in the lubrication of the cylinders when such lubrication is more or less difficult from the crankcase below, due to tight pistons.

After 1000 miles of driving with the use of the oil in the gasoline, the spark plugs may need cleaning, because some of this oil might have carbonized and collected on the plug points and porcelain. The plugs should never be scraped clean of carbon, for scraping might remove some of the glaze on the porcelain and so open up the porous interior to the absorption of unburned fuel. After a short while, this causes a short circuit in the plug and that plug is of no more use.

After a little driving, squeaks and rattles will turn up, even in welded steel bodies, for no car has yet been made entirely without bolts and hinges. It is therefore wise to take the car into the dealer every one in a while and have him tighten it up. Use always affords room for more tightening than could be done in the factory.

At the same time the mechanic can readjust the carburetor for proper feeding of fuel, according to the weather and the locality, and he can see that the breaker points in the distributor are hitting evenly. All this is a matter of routine to the dealer, but of great importance to the new car owner.

New Chevrolet Six Enjoys Popularity

DETROIT, May 4.—Evidence of the wide-spread popularity of the new six cylinder Chevrolet was revealed here today in an announcement by R. H. Grant, vice president of the Chevrolet Motor Company in charge of sales, that more than a half million of the new cars have been placed on the road since the first of the year.

A significant feature of this achievement, it was noted, is the fact that Chevrolet in four months time built a greater number of six cylinder cars than any other automobile manufacturers has ever produced in an entire year.

This figure would have been even greater, Mr. Grant pointed out, if Chevrolet had been able to take immediate care of the tdemendous volume of orders, with which the factory has been flooded since the introduction of the new car.

J. A. Blackwell Praises Lee Auto Tires

"During the several years that I have been serving the tire buying public of Lubbock and its vicinity," says Mr. J. A. Blackwell Distributor for Lee of Conshohocken tires, "I have never been so thoroughly enthused about a tire to meet the modern needs of quick starting, fast stepping and sudden stopping cars, as I have in the new Lee Super De Luxe which I am now displaying in my store.

"I watched the development of this tire at the Conshohocken factory. I have seen it come in the last eight months from an idea to an accomplished fact. I have noticed particularly too, the tests made of this tire with other super tires by the Lee of Conshohocken fleet of test cars, and I am convinced beyond peradventure that this tire that I am now offering to the discriminating motoring public of this city eclipses in safety, long life, easy riding qualities, and long wearing durability of the all-season non-skid tread, any tire that has ever been made."

ON AUTO ROW

USED CARS SELL

Various factors have been advanced by Lubbock automobile dealers for the sudden jump in used car sales in the past two weeks. The majority of dealers here report a decided gain in the delivery of used machines while new car sales have slowed down to a minimum.

THEY SET THE PACE

Two local dealers who have been setting the pace in the sale of used cars, Hub Jones and C. E. Gough, agree that the opening of the spring season and the apparent hesitency with which buyers are viewing the business outlook for the coming year, has caused used cars to move faster than the new jobs.

TWO CAR IDEA

The two-car idea is advanced by the Studebaker manager, Mr. Gough who attributes a part of the increase in ussed car sasles to the fact that many well-to-do business and professional men are investing in used cars for their personal use, especially on expeditions into the country and out-of-the-way places. This prevents unnecessary wear and tear on the higher-priced family car, it was pointed out.

JONES IS BUSY

Hub Jones, Hudson-Essex dealer of Lubbock, has delivered 16 used cars within the last thirty days. This number includes a number of high-priced, heavy cars. Five of these have been sold during the past week. This is the best used car record in the history of the concern. Negotiations are under way to move the used cars on hand by the Hudson-Essex company to a used car lot on 13th street.

GOUGH IN DALLAS

C. E. Gough, manager of the Gough Motor company was in Dallas Monday and Tuesday attending a meeting of Studebaker distributors. Three representatives from the factory at South Bend, Ind., were present for the meeting with the Texas officials.

A stock of Pierce Arrow automobiles will be brought into the show rooms of the Gough Motor company as soon as floor space is available, it was announced yesterday.

SPECIAL MODELS COMING

J. D. Watson, superintendent of schools at Post, is driving a new Hupmobile Custom Six sedan, it was learned at Hupmobile headquarters here yesterday. T. B. Duggan, vice-president of the Temple Trust company of this city, is the owner of a new Hupmobile Standard six sedan.

West Texas Motor company will receive two Special Sux Hubmobiles this week with wire wheels to meet a demand here for this model.

SALES ARE REPORTED

The South Plains Motor company reports the sale of two new cars during the past week. L. H. Allison of Levelland purchased a Whippet Six sedan and J. L. Hess of Lubbock a Whippet Six sedan.

TWO CARS SOLD

L. H. Plain, manager of the Panhandle Durant company, was in Dallas several days last week on business. The Durant agency delivered two new cars last week, a sedan to B. F. Hodges of Lubbock and a coupe to H. B. Wright of Lubbock.

TEN CARS SOLD

Used car sales continue on the upward trend at the Cap Rock Motor company lot on Avenue H, according to George Borham, used car sales manager. Ten sales were completed during the last week in this department. A new De Soto sport coupe was delivered during the week to Ralph Sherman of this city.

You can't compromise with Pride of Ownership

The owner of a De Soto Six has a sound basis for his pride of ownership—he is driving exactly the car that he wants to drive—a product of Chrysler Motors.

Cars of lower price attracted him not at all. He knows they lack many of his essential demands. And he didn't need to buy a more expensive car because he found complete satisfaction—full realization of his personal standards of performance, comfort, economy and durability—in the De Soto Six.

Here is a car that is literally built to order for those whose budgets are not unlimited—a car that even the most discriminating motorist can own without either sacrificing his pride or straining his pocketbook.

Before deciding on your purchase, give the Chrysler-built De Soto Six your most critical inspection. You will find all the advantages and comforts, all the zestful driving, and all the pride of ownership that are associated in your mind only with cars of much higher price.

Drive it—and you'll know Chrysler performance IS different

Chrysler enjoys its universal prestige and popularity because Chrysler is unique among motor cars.

There is no other motor car performance quite like Chrysler performance—so silky in power, so flashing in pick-up, so steady in speed, so untiring to drive, so disciplined in control.

This is understandable when you check the list of Chrysler engineering developments included in both the "65" and the "75"—chassis and body features, and combinations of features, to be enjoyed only in Chrysler cars.

Chrysler offers, in the final analysis, something more than just a motor car—a delightful new phase, a thrilling new experience, in motoring performance.

You can pay more and still not equal the performance or the intrinsic value that Chrysler "65" and "75" both give you at their remarkably moderate prices.

Ask any Chrysler dealer for a demonstration and learn the difference.

Motor Exports In Substantial Jump

Shipment of Automobiles to Foreign Nations Is Increased 400 Percent in Six Years

WASHINGTON, May 4.—American shipments of automotive products have increased more than 400 per cent within the last six years opening an enormous foreign market which has made possible price reductions at home and abroad.

American motor manufacturers shipped $552,097,974 worth of their products abroad last year, export statistics assembled by the department of commerce show.

This total is more than 400 per cent larger than the "tremendous business" enjoyed by the motor industry in 1922, when $104,505,518 worth of its products were shipped abroad.

The export shipments last year were 29 per cent higher than 1927, when units valued at $404,699,605 were sent abroad. In 1922, manufacturers set a new high mark by exporting 66,791 units.

This foreign market has grown steadily until last year's shipment was 368,328 cars valued at 416 times the record shipment of 1922.

Almost 10 per cent of all passenger cars produced in the United States and 26 per cent of the truck output, found their ultimate destination in foreign markets throughout the world last year.

The average monthly export valuation during the year was $43,508,164 as compared with $33,724,967 in 1927.

Canada received the largest share of the passenger cars produced for foreign markets, while Australia retained its leading position in the truck market.

Exports of passenger cars to Canada totaled 42,253 units with a value of $23,444,917, almost 10,000 more automobiles than were sent to the Dominion in 1927.

Olds Shipments Set New Record

LANSING, Mich., May 4.—During the first four months of 1929 ending April 30 all previous records for the manufacture and shipment of Oldsmobiles were broken. During that period more Oldsmobiles were shipped from the factories here than during the entire year of 1025. In addition more than 1,000 Vikings, the new V-type, eight cylinder companion car to Oldsmobile, were delivered to dealers.

Total shipments of Oldsmobiles and Vikings from January 1 to April 30 this year were 45,194, which is slightly more than 2,000 above the shipments made during the entire calendar year of 1925.

March shipments totalled approximately 14,900 Oldsmobiles and Vikings, as compared to 11,088 cars shipped during the same month a year ago. This is an increase of more than 34 per cent. The increase in shipments for the first four months of this year over those for the same months in 1928 totals more than 67 per cent.

Nash Retail Sales Show Big Increase

KENOSHA, Wis., May 4.—With retail delivery figures in key points for the week ending April 20th exceeding by 51.42 percent those of the corresponding period last year, executives of The Nash Motors Company anticipate the greatest April volume in the history of the Nash organization, according to C. H. Bliss, General Sales Manager.

"Three of the districts included in Nash's largest marketing centers for the week had increases in retail deliveries which were truly phenomenal," stated Mr. Bliss. "Minneapolis lead the procession with an increase of 165 percent over its record of the previous year, while Nash "400" series sales in Buffalo and Milwaukee bettered last year's figures by 100 percent.

HAS NEW PRINCIPLE

Gravitation Figures In Viking Production

Ever since Isaac Newton discovered the principle of gravitation it has been known that material substances pursue a downward course far more easily than when there is an upward grade. This is true even of so light a substance as gasoline vapor, which is heavier than air. For that reason automotive engineers for some years have been working on a downdraft principle of manifolding whereby the gas vapor would follow a downward course from the carburetor to the combustion chambers.

This principle is one of the several advanced engineering designs incorporated in the new Viking, the 90-degree, V-type, eight cylinder automobile recently introduced as a companion car to the Oldmobile Six. The engineers not only created a down-draft design but also arranged the manifolding so that it is exactly the same distance from the carburetor to each of the eight combustion chambers, thus providing equal fuel distribution with consequent smoothness of operation.

Super De Luxe Balanced Tire by LEE of Conshohocken

This tire, long in the making, expresses our opinion of what an ideal tire should be.

For as many miles as you will drive any car, a set of these tires will carry you the whole distance, leaving plenty to spare.

With all cars going 60 miles (88 feet per second) or more and holding this speed, no safety element is more important than the tire.

This Super De Luxe is for the up-to-date motorist, who, besides playing the safest game with his tires, wants to eliminate to the utmost, tire troubles and renewals for the life of his car.

It is unlikely that this tire will ever puncture, and long before it wears out your dollar investment will return to you dividends in safety and lack of worry, which you never before have received.

They ride more smoothly and easily than any other balloon tire we know.

Prices on this new Lee Super De Luxe Tire are high, probably higher than any tire on the market, and yet it sells for considerably less than those old fabric tires which satisfied you if they rendered 5,000 miles.

Buick Plans New Low-Priced Six

Performance, Stamina And Attractive Appearance Is To Feature New Car This Summer

Performance, stamina and attractive appearance, the elements in motor car manufacture which have made Buick the outstanding car in its price class, will be carried out in the new six cylinder automobile that Buick is to introduce into the lower price field early this summer, officials declare.

The mere fact that the new car is to be built by Buick places unusual demands upon the engineering department of that company. The officials have pointed out that Buick is not just merely the name of an automobile, but that it symbolises qualities which have built for the company's product a two to one preference over any other car listing above $1,200. They maintain that, as Buick leads in its field, so must the new product lead in the field which it is about to enter.

Conquers Road

Early in the history of the automotive industry Buick became the conquerer of the open road. No hill was too steep, and no journey too long for the Buicks of those almost forgotten days. As a matter of fact, about the only remaining traces of those early days are the Buicks which are still in service after more than 20 years.

In the present day, with modern America riding on "balloon" tires, behind throbbing, vibrationless motors, Buick is still in the lead, constantly winning performance records everywhere.

Graham-Paige Sets New Speed Records

New international speed records for 200 kilometers and for 200 miles have been established by a four-speed Graham-Paige on the famous Brooklands track, England. The car, an eight-cylinder five-passenger sedan, carrying complete equipment, and driven by D. M. K. Marendaz, covered the 200 kilometers (124 miles) in 96 minutes, 51.92 seconds, for an average of 76.97 m. p. h. (old record 62.53 m. p. h.) and the 200 miles in 154 minutes, 17.72 seconds, for 77.77 m. p. h. (old record 58.08 m. p. h.). The last ten laps were covered at an average of 79.25 m. p. h. The total elapsed time on which the average speeds are based included one stop for oil and gasoline.

The records broken (for class B, cars of 305 to 460 cubic inch displacement) were established last year by a Delage (French) sports car.

British writers on motor topics comment on the significance of the Graham-Paige achievement, in that a closed car of stock model, with full touring equipment, including headlamps, fenders, two spare wheels, and trunk rack, has proved itself capable of surpassing records formerly held by a car designed especially for speed.

PROGRESS and SPEED

THE history of transportation is the history of civilization. Since the days when the first men shambled afoot through noisome jungles, through the long centuries when kings and peasants alike crawled along the ridge of the earth in creaking ox-wagons, down to the days when Stephenson invented the locomotive, and the automobile klaxon supplanted the clatter of horses' hooves, Progress and Speed have matched strides.

And then came the airplane! Today is the second anniversary of an auspicious day in the history of flying. Two years ago a slim, grim young American dropped out of the fog of the North Atlantic and taxied into the glare of the beacons on Le Bourget Field—into the glamorous spotlight of a planet's applause. It's the spirit of the times. It's modern! Enterprising business men and commercial houses are "in the swing." Sweeping constantly ahead to greater and greater heights of popularity . . . making and breaking new records of success with impressive regularity . . . the new Chevrolet Six has established one of the most remarkable records in automotive history—more than 500,000 on the road since January 1st!

Not only does this brilliant accomplishment surpass the greatest record that Chevrolet has ever achieved in the past—but it brings to Chevrolet the significant honor of having built in only four months a greater number of six-cylinder cars than any other manufacturer has ever produced in an entire year!

Even with such a record to focus attention upon the outstanding value of the Chevrolet Six—many people still do not appreciate what "a Six in the price range of the four" actually means!

To such persons, consideration of the features responsible for this tremendous popularity will prove a revelation. So read the adjoining column carefully—and then come in and ask for a ride in this sensational six-cylinder car.

Outstanding Features of the New Chevrolet Six that have created this Tremendous Popularity—

6-Cylinder Smoothness

Due to the finer inherent balance of its six-cylinder motor—the new Chevrolet Six provides that smooth, quiet, flexible performance which is characteristic of the truly fine automobile. At every speed, the power is delivered easily, freely and without annoying vibration.

6-Cylinder Getaway

In sheer brilliance of performance, as well as in smoothness and quietness of operation, the new Chevrolet Six is a revelation. Acceleration is remarkably fast. And a new non-detonating cylinder head eliminates every trace of "lugging."

6-Cylinder Speed

The new Chevrolet Six has speed in abundance—but even more important than its speed is the smooth, quiet, restful comfort you experience at every point on the speedometer. You can open the throttle wide with a feeling of complete security.

Better Than 20 Miles Per Gallon

The marvelous performance of the Chevrolet Six would be exceptional in any car. But in the new Chevrolet Six it is actually sensational—for here it is combined with an economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

Exceptional Riding Comfort

Another vital factor that has influenced over a half-million people in their selection of the new Chevrolet Six is its marvelous riding comfort. It travels smoothly over rough roads—and its balance on turns and corners is exceptional.

Beautiful Fisher Bodies

Longer, lower and roomier—finished in attractive, long-lasting colors—and upholstered in rich, deep-tufted fabrics—the new Fisher bodies on the Chevrolet Six introduce into the low-price field an entirely new measure of style and distinction.

Proved Dependability

Tested for more than a million miles on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground—the new Chevrolet Six went into the hands of its owners thoroughly proved in every detail. And now reports of its performance on the highways of the nation pay glowing tribute to its endurance and dependability.

Amazing Low Prices

An achievement that surpasses even the brilliant performance qualities of this sensational six-cylinder car are the prices at which it is offered. Study these prices, and compare them with any other car and you will recognize the remarkable value represented in this Six in the price range of the four!
