Norwood Cage Teams in Final Play for District 14-B Title

The Eagles defeated the Hedley Owls 62 to 55 Monday night. Feb. 13 in the first of a three-game series to determine the winner, while the Eaglettes met the Claude girls Tuesday night in their first game of the series.

The Eaglettes lost this game 68 to 55 on the Samnorwood court. The second game of the series will be played at Claude Friday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m. If the Eaglettes win, a third game will be scheduled.

The Eagles and the Owls will meet again Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Hedley for the second game, and if a third game is required it will be played Saturday, but the location has not been determined.

The girls game Tuesday night was played at Samnorwood, and the second will be played at Claude.

The Samnorwood teams were winners in the east half of District 14-B and the Claude girls and Hedley boys in the west half. The play-off now under way will determine the winners for the entire district.

Described as "one heck of a ball game," the Eagle - Owl tilt was close all the way. Norwood led 15 to 13 at the end of the first quarter, but the game was tied 27-27 at the half. At the third period, the Eagles had a one-point margin, 42-41, then in the final period the Norwood boys gradually pulled away to take the 62-55 victory.

Randall Murray,Eagle guard, was high scorer with 23 points and played the outstanding game of his career. One of the smaller members of the team, the 5-foot, 10-inch Murray guarded the Owls' 6-foot, 5-inch Bobby Roland, keeping his scoring to a minimum.

The Eagles' record to date is 24 wins and 8 losses. Twice they went down to Hedley, and lost one game each to Gruver, Canadian, Shamrock, McLean, Granite and Hollis. They have not lost a game in district play.

Neither have the girls lost a district game. They have defeated Hedley twice, 48-45 at Norwood and 46-45 in an overtime period on the Hedley court.

Quail Ex-students Association will have its annual banquet Saturday, April 1 in the school gymnasium, Gano Wilson, president, announced this week.

The class of 1936 will be honored on the 25th anniversary of its graduation.

Registration will begin at 6 p.m. and the banquet will be served at 8 p.m.

A caterer will serve the banquet, and for that reason it is necessary that the officers and committee know ahead of time how many will attend.

Any former student, teacher, board member, and husband or wife or other guest, is eligible to attend, Wilson pointed out.

No formal invitations will be sent, as the mailing list is incomplete, and all those who read the notice may consider themselves invited, Wilson explained.

Reservations should be mailed to Mrs. Jack Neeley, 1106 15th St., Wellington. Tickets will be $1.50 each as in the past.

Miss Willis to Teachers Meet

Miss Bonnie Willis was in Austin and Abilene last week attending meetings of educational groups.

Going first to Abilene, she attended the three-day session of the Texas Association of Supervisors and Curriculum Directors. Key speakers were Dr. Earl C. Kelley, professor of education at Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich., and Bertha Brandon, co-ordinator of elementary education in the Waco Public School system.

In Austin Miss Willis attended a meeting of the committee for improving educational services of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Miss Willis is supervisor for Hall County schools.

National Debut

Quail Chorus Seeks Funds for Kansas City Appearance

The Quail high school chorus, which will sing at the convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs in Kansas City April 20 to 26, has opened its drive to raise funds to finance the trip, Mrs. Lowell Wells, director, announced this week.

The group is one of two in Texas invited to appear on the program of the national convention, and they will sing a group of folk songs at the Mid-West Farm Breakfast on April 24, honoring the music club delegates who will attend from all of the 50 states. The other invited group is the Madrigal Singers of Texas Tech.

Both groups are from the 7th District of Texas Federation of Music Clubs, of which Mrs. B. M. Sims of Wellington is president.

A series of entertainments will be sponsored by the chorus, Mrs. Wells said, and support of the entire county is needed, as the chorus will represent not only the home community of Quail, but the entire county.

Donations also will be appreciated, Mrs. Wells said, and checks should be made out to the Quail high school chorus in care of Mrs. Lowell Wells.

Cost of the trip will be around $700. The Quail school district will furnish the bus and driver, but the girls will defray all other expenses, Mrs. Wells pointed out. Between 20 and 30 will make the trip.

This is the first time the Quail girls have represented this area in a national event. Several times in the past they have appeared before the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, and last spring they sang at the convention of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs in Lubbock. The girls made a hit at the latter appearance and this led to their invitation to sing before the national group.

Appearing on the program of the National Federation of Music Clubs convention will be nationally known conductors and musicians.

Pampa Negro Killed During Ball Game

Virgil Lee Lynch, 23-year-old Pampa Negro who formerly lived here, was shot to death as he stood in the door of Wellington high school gymnasium Wednesday, Feb. 8, about 10 p.m., as a basketball game between the Booker T. Washington and Pampa colored schools was being played.

Charges of murder with malice were filed Thursday against his wife, Laura Lynch, 25, after she had admitted the shooting in a statement to District Attorney John T. Forbis, Sheriff John Rainey reported.

Lynch was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was struck six times by bullets from a .22 calibre pistol, ranging from his feet upward over his body. Sheriff Rainey said the fatal bullet struck Lynch just below the nose. Two other shots fired from the gun missed Lynch.

She waived an examining trial and Judge Raymond Horton, justice of the peace, set her bond at $2,500, which she made Thursday afternoon.

In the woman's statement, she said Lynch was flirting with some girls and refused to talk to her. She went to the car, got the gun Lynch had brought with him, and again told him she wanted to talk to him. According to her, when Lynch saw the gun, he said, "Just shoot me."

The basketball game was finished without interruption.

Lynch was born Jan. 23, 1938 at McLean. After living here

Commissioners Handle Routine Work Monday

The commissioners court, in a day-long session Monday, Feb. 13, attended to routine matters, then recessed to meet again Wednesday morning..

The group moved to open machinery bids on Wednesday and postponed a decision regarding bids for trucks.

Bids were accepted from Armco Drainage and Metal Products, Inc. on corrugated metal round pipe, and the bid of Brown Supply Co., Lubbock, on bridge timber.

County treasurer Ruth Aaron was authorized to invest $3000 in series H savings bonds.

The Wellington State Bank was accepted as depository for the county and the county schools.

A transfer of $5,692.46 was made from the disaster fund to the disaster item of the road and bridge fund, and the same amount then moved from the disaster item to the purchase of equipment item by amending the budget.

Attorney General Opinion Says Clerks Offices to Be Combined

The offices of county clerk and district clerk in Collingsworth county will be combined at the end of the present term of the district clerk, due to the drop in population between the 1950 and 1960 census, the office of Attorney General Will Wilson has ruled.

There will be no change in the status of the tax assessor-collector's office, and the county superintendent's office, as those were approved in local option elections after the county's population dropped below 10,000.

The commissioners court in its January meeting instructed County Attorney R. L. Templeton to request written opinions from the attorney general on these offices.

The county population between the two census dates dropped from 9,139 to 6,100.

The content of these opinions was due to be brought before the commissioners court Wednesday morning, Feb. 15, according to Judge C. C. Bishop.

The opinion stated that the district clerk will continue to hold office until the expiration of the term for which she was elected. Mrs. H. B. Lowrie is the present district clerk.

"The county clerk will then assume the duties of the district clerk," Judge Bishop said.

The office of county superintendent, now held by B. W. Beaird, will be continued because of a local option election held Nov. 3, 1942, in which continuance of that office was approved. A similar local option election divided the offices of sheriff and tax assessor-collector Nov. 5, 1957. Miss Louise Fulcher is the present tax officer.

The opinions pointed out that both of these were held after the county's population had dropped below 10,000 and that a further drop does not affect the offices.

The opinion on the tax office was based on an opinion rendered June 8, 1960, to Chas. L. Reynolds, county attorney of Childress county, which in turn was based on an opinion to the Hale county attorney Sept. 11, 1920.

Concerning the office of county superintendent, the opinion said "that the office of county superintendent still exists in Collingsworth county since an election was held pursuant to the provisions of Art. 2688, Vernon's Civil Statutes, at which it was decided to continue the office of county superintendent."

"Since your county had a population of less than 10,000 inhabitants at the time of the

Rockettes and Spearman Meet to See Who'll Represent 5-AA

Wellington Rockettes ended their season as co-champions of District 5-AA, sharing honors with the Spearman girls. The two teams are now in a three-game playoff to determine which will represent the district in bi-district play.

The crucial game to be played locally this season comes Friday night when the two teams meet at 7:30 p.m. in Rocket gym.

Coach E. W. Clements Rockettes lost to Spearman by one point Monday night, 41 to 40. If they win Friday night, tying the series, the third game will be played in the Pampa high school gymnasium Monday, Feb. 20. Game time has not been announced but he said it probably will be 7 p.m.

The Wellington girls are seeking to repeat the performance given during three out of the last four years, when they represented the district in bi-district competition. On those occasions, however, they had outright district championships.

This is the first year Spearman has played in Class AA competition and they are more nearly equal to the Rockettes than any opponent in recent years. The Wellington girls have a season record of 20 games won and 5 lost. Spearman's record is similar.

In district play, each team has lost only one game, and they lost to each other. The Rockettes won from Spearman in Rocket gym; Spearman won on their own court. The non-conference losses were to Samnorwood Eaglettes.

Coach Clement praised the performance of his girls Monday night. "They played a good game; the breaks didn't go quite right. They are in top condition and I am pleased with their playing," he declared.

Starters in the Friday night game have not been picked, as Coach Clement does not choose these until immediately before the game.

Coach Clement said he did not yet know who this will be. Anson was the winner last year and won the bi-district crown from the Rockettes. The year prior to that, however, it was the Rockettes who defeated Anson for the same title.

Alert Due

National Guard Takes Part in Muster Day

The Wellington unit of the National Guard will participate in the Muster Day alert, which is expected Sunday, Feb. 19, Capt. Bob Lynch, executive officer, reported.

The goal of the alert is to get 80% of the men to the armory within 30 minutes, he said.

The alert will come from headquarters at Austin through the battle group headquarters in Amarillo. The local unit in return will report to Amarillo when 50% of the men arrive at the Armory.

Lynch explained that Muster Day is a custom that has grown up in recent years in which National Guardsmen throughout the United States participate.

The purpose is to commemorate the days when the Militia was mustered annually on the village green—that is, assembled and counted off to see how many able bodied men were able to bear arms in event of an emergency.

The period Feb. 18 to 26 is designated as Operation Muster 1961, Lynch said.

Men of the local unit are scheduled for a regular drill Sunday.

How to do it

Farmers Are Urged to Have Soil Tested

County Agent Bob Lynch again reminded that soil testing should be done in the immediate future. With the new testing station at Lubbock, earlier returns on the tests can be expected, he said.

Dig a V-shaped hole 6 to 8 inches deep and take a half inch slice of soil out of it. Do this in at least 10 places over the field.

Mix all the soil together and take out one sample of about a pint, and this is what will be tested.

Lynch said he will send off the soil sample and will assist farmers in filling out the accompanying questionnaires.

The county agent warned that samples should not be taken in unusual places, such as fence rows, depressions, gulleys or rocky knolls. The test should be representative of the entire field.

There is a charge of $2 plus postage.

Our Girls Need Help in Publicizing Collingsworth County

A gay and lovely group of girls will give Collingsworth county nation-wide publicity this spring.

The Quail high school girls chorus has been invited to appear on the program of the National Federation of Music Clubs when it holds its annual convention at the famous Hotel Muchlebach in Kansas City April 20 to 26.

They are one of two groups chosen from Texas. The other is the Madrigal Club of Texas Tech, Lubbock.

The girls are ready to go.

There is just one thing—the question of financing the trip.

The cost will be about $700, according to Mrs. Lowell Wells, director of the chorus. There will be between 20 and 30 girls to make the trip. The Quail School District will furnish the bus and driver, but all additional expenses must be met by the chorus.

All of these are farm girls, and late April is not a good time for the average family to hand over money for a trip.

The Quail chorus is trying to pay its own way through entertainments that are to be given. They ask, and they deserve, the support of the people of the county in attending these. These girls always give or sponsor a program that is enjoyed.

Every community is trying to get itself publicized. Here among us, in the person of girls we know and love—who drink pop in our kitchens and who are our customers — is a source of publicity that will bring Quail and Collingsworth county before distinguished women from every one of the 50 states of the union.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I note that everywhere you look there is another interview with some professor of economics, giving us The Word on how come the economy is sick, or isn't.

My fog-bound neighbor says what we need these days is some way to tell which of these disagreeful experts' testimony has got any authority.

Says we could tell if their economic opinions are any good if they'd just sign their names with both titles and financial net worth; say, like, John D. Theorypitcher, Ph.D. $17.25.

I see where some drug makers are trying to better their industry image by sending out speechmakers to tell about their tough battle to cure the ails of man.

My capsule - conditioned neighbor says that money is noisier than words and it will take a mighty powerful speech to change the image he gets from buying miracle drugs, which the miracle will be if he can ever pay the druggist.

Says if the drug people want happier customers, they ought to try giving the undertakers a little competion, so it won't be so much cheaper to die.

I see where a magazine writer says President Kennedy won the election because scientists contrived him an electronic People Machine to probe the public brain and tell him what promises would pull the most votes.

My fuddled neighbor says this AC-DC thought-reader may even be useful year-around to some politicians who give a hoot what the public thinks between elections.

Saye he would like to own a citizen's model of this machine himself, so he could tell before voting instead of afterward, if a candidate's thinking matches his speeching.

I see where a lawmaker has introduced a bill to provide an official flag for Congressmen to fly on their cars, yachts, etc.

My oldfangled neighbor says it used to be you could recognize a Congressman the minute you saw one, on account of they were running the country and self-importance was their flag.

Says, though, since the legislative branch turned government over to the courts and bureaus, we do need some way to mark our Congressmen so we can tell them from us common run of bureaucrats' vassals.

I see where the State Department's new legal adviser says another try is going to be made at knocking off the Connally Amendment.

My foggy neighbor says the way he understands this move, it would put us under an International Super - Supreme Court with the judges stacked against the U.S. there, too.

Says he figures if we ever let ourselves get suckered up before this World Court, half the countries in the world will be suing us for non-support.

I see where our new Chief Economics Mastermind, a Mr. Heller, says these extra tax exemptions for the aged and the blind are a drawback to national economic growth.

Seems the head money expert also wishes to do away with everybody's little old $600 tax loophole, and also stop the chiselers who dodge taxes by giving money to churches and charities.

My taxhausted neighbor says it must be in the People Herders' Creed somewhere that a bureaucrat can't go to Heaven if he let any dollar get by untaxed.

SCD Cooperator Seeds Waterway

F. E. Carreker, near Dozier, seeded a permanent grass in his waterway during the first week in February, according to Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service.

This waterway was shaped and planted to sorghum for a dead litter cover last year. Seeding the waterway to permanent grass will allow water to move through Carreker's farm with a minimum amount of erosion.

CAREFUL WITH BULLETS

Carrying loose ammunition around in your pocket is foolhardy. The little .22 cartridges are especially dangerous. They are small and easily lost and may turn up in the open fireplace with a bang—literally.

More Range Seeding in SCD

Range seeding has been done by several cooperators in the Salt Fork Soil Conservation Service District during the past month.

These include H. J. P. Field, Mrs. Charley Starkey and P. E. Starr. These landowners seeded their grass in dead litter cover established last year for the purpose.

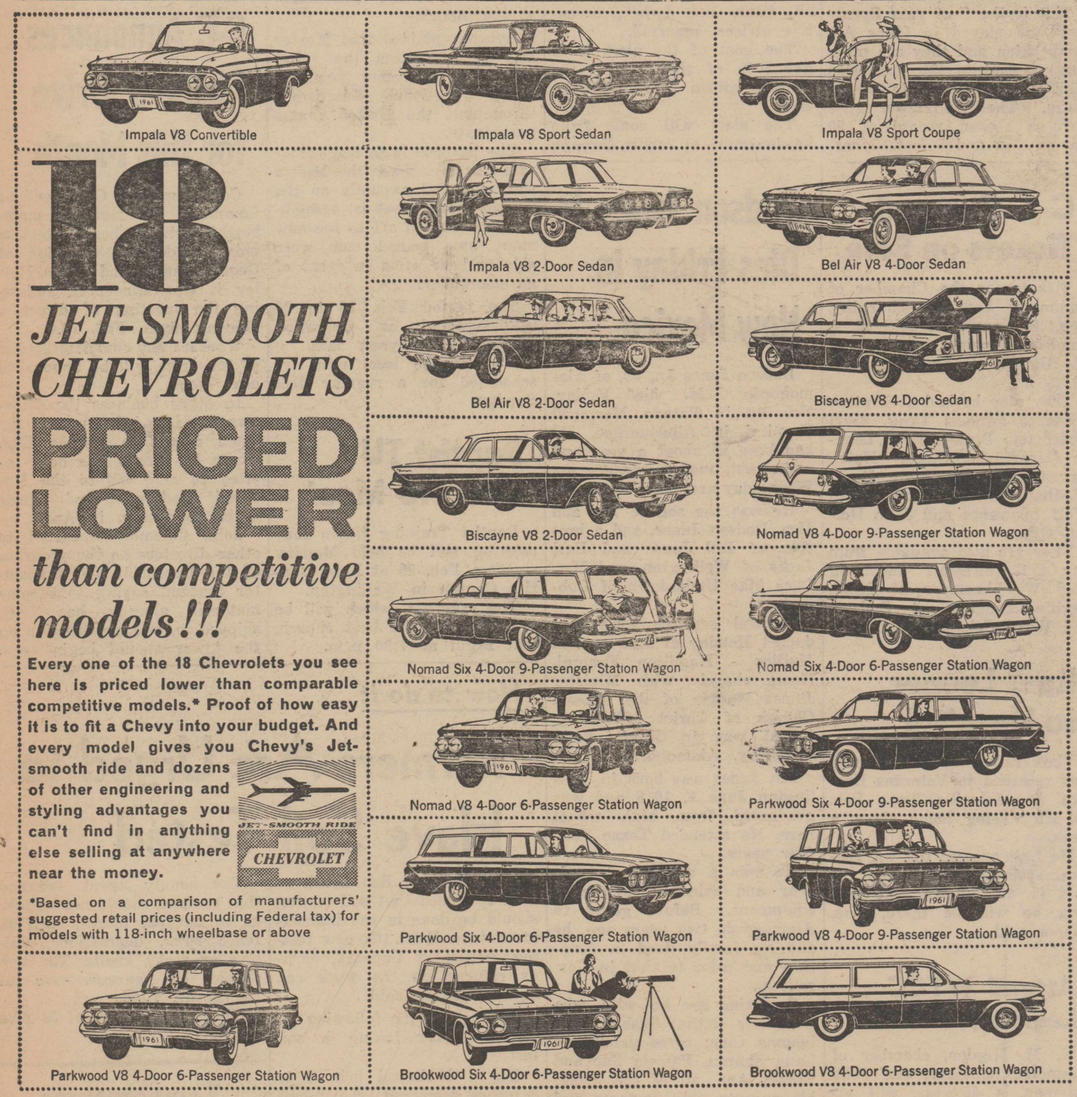

Cooperators who are planning to seed grass this year are advised to seed as early as possible, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service, said.

"Past records show that grass planted early will generally come up to a better stand and survive the summer better than grasses planted late.

"Landowners needing assistance as to the mixture to plant and the seedbed preparation needed should contact the Soil Conservation Service on the third floor of the court house," Squyres said.

Memphis PCA Begins its 28th Year of Work

The Memphis Production Credit Association in 1961 is entering its 28th year as an organization founded to provide short-term credit for people engaged in agriculture and ranching.

This group, one of 36 in Texas, on Jan. 5 observed its 27th anniversary of service to farmers and ranchers in the eastern Caprock and South Plains area.

The Memphis PCA, with its headquarters in Memphis, was founded in 1934 during the nation's longest and most severe economic depression and one of the worst and most widespread drouths on record. Memphis area farmers and ranchers, like those through the agriculture belt of the Midwest, found there simply was no place they could turn to to receive sufficient financial aid to continue operations.

A small group of ranchers and farmers met at Memphis in 1934, a few months after the Farm Credit Act of 1933 was passed by Congress.

Serving on the Memphis Production Credit Association board of directors are: J. C. Emmert of Wellington, president; John E. Glover of Childress, vice president; and L. M. Bartlett of Childress, W. C. McClendon of Paducah and W. W. George of Turkey.

Emmert is serving his ninth year as president and has been a board member for 12 years.

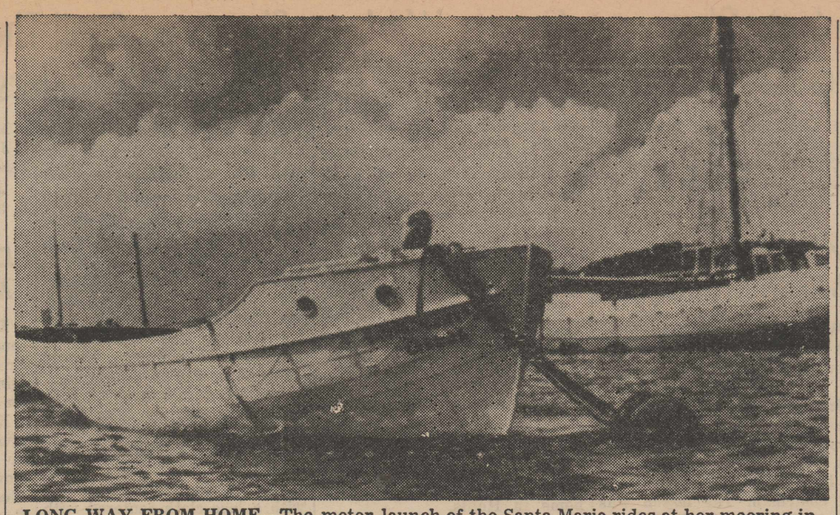

The Memphis PCA serves an area of Hall, Childress, Motley, Cottle, Hardeman, Foard, East Briscoe, Donley and Collingsworth counties. Central office is in Memphis with field offices in Matador, Paducah and Wellington.

Billy R. Jones of Memphis is assistant manager of the association. Field office managers are Herbert Bearden of Wellington; Ward Rattan in Matador and Chester Havins in Paducah.

Other office personnel include Sue Hutcherson, assistant treasurer; Pauline Wynn, assistant bookkeeper, and Cynthia Hayes, stenographer, all in Memphis; and Clovis Rainey of Wellington, Helen Meyer of Matador and Mary Davis of Paducah, all clerks.

Horatio Alger wrote more than 50 books about poor boys who made good.

Inspection Due on Most County Motor Vehicles

Of the 3,940 registered motor vehicles in Collingsworth county, only 21% had been inspected to date, according to Capt. Alan Johnson, motor vehicle inspection supervisor, of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Drivers are urged to have their vehicles inspected early to avoid the last minute rush. This time of the year is noted for adverse weather conditions which may predominate during the next two and a half months and as a result the number of inspection days will be cut down, since stations cannot inspect vehicles under these adverse conditions.

"Texas law requires all registered motor vehicles in Texas to display a valid inspection sticker," stated Johnson. All motorists not displaying a valid inspection sticker will be subject to a fine of $1 to $200 plus court costs.

Capt. Johnson further advised that all licensed trailers having a gross weight exceeding 4,000 pounds are required to be inspected.

"By having your vehicle inspected today, you will be driving a safer vehicle," Johnson pointed out.

Former City Man Injured Near Dallas

Richard Leggitt of Hereford, formerly of Wellington, is slowly recovering from critical injuries received recently near Lewisville, as he was en route to Dallas.

Leggitt, 20, is the son of Mrs. Olean Leggitt, Hereford high school librarian. He lived here as a youth, then returned several summers to serve as lifeguard at Marian Airpark Pool. He was here part of last summer.

Officers investigating the accident said Leggitt apparently went to sleep. His 1956 model sedan struck a sign post and rolled 400 feet down the expressway on which he was driving.

He received a broken pelvis, concussion and severe head lacerations.

For the past three semesters he has been a student at Oklahoma City University, where he majored in journalism and worked nights for the Daily Oklahoman. Reports here were that he dropped out of college and was on his way to Dallas to begin work for the Dallas Morning News.

Next time out try laying it on an old inflated inner tube. The inflated rubber absorbs the knocks and scuffs, and preserves the finish.

Four New Great Plains Contracts Signed by SCS

Four Salt Fork SCD cooperators have entered into the Great Plains program, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service reported. They are: W. R. Ward, Yates Brewer, P. E. Starr and William O'Rear.

More Protection for Wildlife

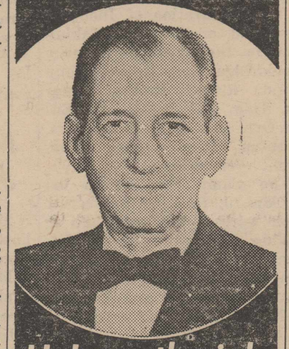

L. A. Gilmore, whose farm is west of Wellington, recently completed a fence for protection of a wildlife area from grazing, Soil Conservation Service personnel reported.

Food and cover are a must in wildlife propagation, and if anyone is interested in this phase of conservation, fencing out an area is a good way to insure food and cover.

INVITING NEW INDUSTRY is one way we work to help build this community

The advertisement reproduced above is appearing in a number of national publications to promote the industrial advantages of this area. It is the first of our 1961 area development national advertising schedule which is to run throughout the year.

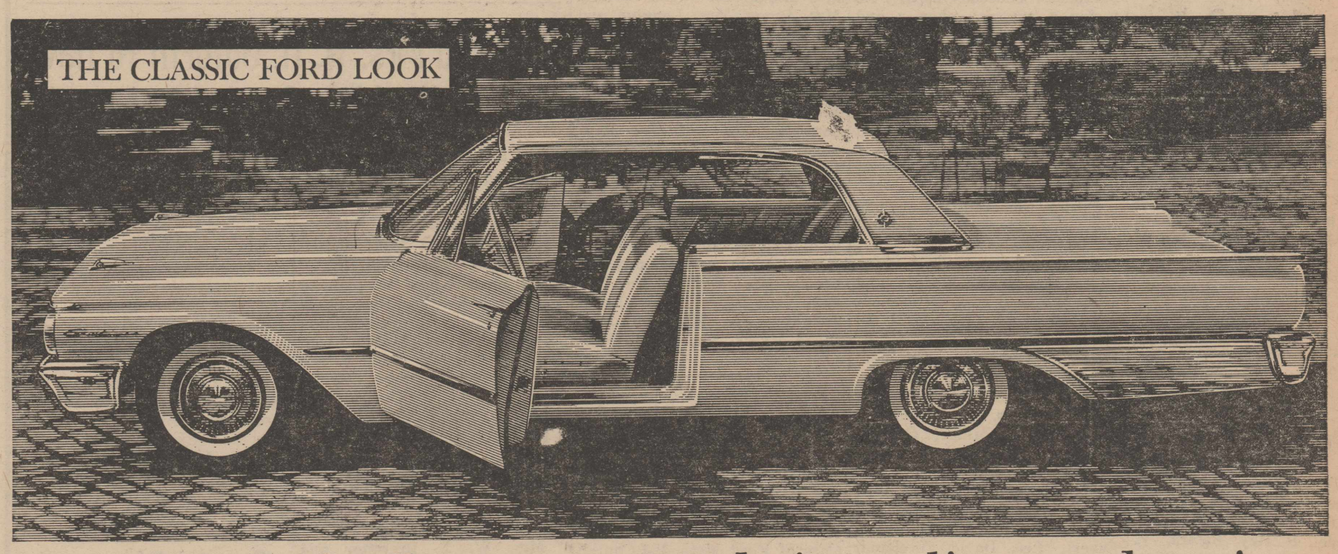

THIS year, West Texas Utilities Company is expanding its area development activities because we believe the growth opportunities ahead demand it.

We believe our service area faces growth unlimited because we are the center of the Southwest, and the Southwest is growing faster than the Nation.

This is the kind of story we are telling American industrialists in our national area development advertising. It is being supplemented by colorful folders depicting the industrial advantages of the area, and by personal visits which our representatives will make during the year.

Through the expanded area development program, we are working to help build this community, because as the Southwest grows, so should West Texas Utilities grow . . . and the communities we serve.

West Texas Utilities Company — an investor owned company

Beautifully built to set trends in styling and savings beautifully built to take care of itself

This is probably the most imitated Look in automobiles today. Take the roofline, for instance. (Most other cars have!) Yet it looks best on its original setting, the Ford Galaxie. The roof and all the rest of the car were designed to go together. This is what makes the Classic Ford Look.

Moreover, this car is as beautifully built as it is beautifully shaped. As Ford takes care of itself, it takes care of your budget.

See the roster at right, and you'll conclude: This is the Ford in your future. May we open its door to you . . . soon?

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes).

Cleans its own oil—You go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter (which filters better through specially packed fibers).

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes care of its own finish—Just wash and clean Ford's new Diamond Lustre Finish and it will continue to glisten like new. It never needs waxing.

Extended Warranty—Each part of '61 Fords, except tires, is dealer warranted against defects in materials or workmanship for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. Owners remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of maintenance items such as filters and ignition parts.

Every '61 Ford, like the Galaxie Club Victoria above, shares an honor to be proud of. It is the medal presented by the international fashion authority, Centro per l'Alta Moda Italiana, to the 1961 Ford for functional expression of classic beauty.

Boat Numbers Must Show Good Contrast

Austin.—"Texas boat owners may need a woman's opinion in choosing the colors for the registration numbers on the hulls," Bob Townsley, director of the Texas Highway Department's Motor Vehicle Division said recently.

"Boat number colors and boat hulls aren't contrasting enough to be readable—that's the problem.

"Too many boats are not numbered in accordance with the law—which requires a legible, visible, contrasting number for good identification. The solid-color area of the boat number should contrast strongly with the hull of the boat. A good many of the boats we have looked at have white numbers on a white hull—and the thin colored border around the number doesn't make it show up.

1. The solid-color area of the regulation three-inch block letters must contrast with the hull of the boat.

2. The numbers should be located on each side of the forward half of the hull, as near to the stem as possible.

3. Between each part of the number there should be a hyphen or a space. Example: TX-1234-AA or TX 1234 AA.

Townsley said the boat-numbering problem was nationwide and that manufacturers who make boat numbers are helping out by increasing the size of the solid-color area of the boat number to a full three inches.

Coast Guard and local enforcement authorities will give owners of boats whose numbers do not meet federal numbering specifications until July 1, 1961 to make necessary changes.

The Water Safety Act passed by the Fifty-sixth Legislature gave Texas Highway Department the responsibility of administering the Act. Owners who power their boats with a motor in excess of ten horsepower are required to obtain a license. Numbers are issued by the Motor Vehicle Division of the Department.

Townsley stated that 150,000 power boats were registered in Texas, and that registrations on these were good until March 31, 1963.

"The registrations are good," explained Townsley. "Now we want to get the numbers so we can read them. No matter what power rating a boat may carry, it is to the owner's advantage to register his boat. The boat's registration will provide an inexpensive way of quick and positive identification should the craft be stolen or involved in difficulty."

FOR BETTER SHOOTING

As you get older, the open sights of your rifle get fuzzier and won't stay on the target. You find yourself missing the target often.

Of course, this can be overcome by using scope sights. But often a scope isn't feasible, or you may not like scopes.

So, the next best thing to do is to switch from open to ring, or peep sights. You won't have to squint and your target is again clear.

COOL RABBITS

Never shoot a rabbit or a squirrel and stuff the warm carcass immediately into your bag or game pocket.

Ten to one the critter is alive with fleas.

Protect yourself by hanging the game in a tree. As soon as the body cools, the fleas leave it like rats from a sinking ship.

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

SLOW START

Congress got off to a slow start this year. This was due to several reasons, number one being the inauguration of the new President. The 20th Amendment to the Constitution, Section 2, provides as follows:

"The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meetings shall begin at noon on the 3rd day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day."

The inauguration of a President takes place at noon on the 20th day of January. Hence you can see that there is a lapse between the convening of Congress and the inauguration of the President. When a new President comes into office, the Congress is more or less stalemated during the interim period. They do not have the Inaugural Address of the new President, his State of the Union message, nor his Economic Report.

Under these circumstances it is not advisable for Congress to take any affirmative action prior to the Inauguration.

However, it has always been the policy for Congress to get completely organized and move forward quickly after the inauguration ceremonies.

This brings up the second reason for the slow start in Congress this year. That is, the controversial Rules Committee issue. It was this issue which kept Congress from moving forward with its usual organization plans and being ready to proceed immediately after the inauguration.

The heat revolving around this issue and the firmness of conflicting opinions on the subject made it impossible from a parliamentary standpoint, a practical standpoint, or a political standpoint, to fully organize the House before that issue was settled.

As most of you know, the issue was settled on Tuesday, Jan. 31. The settlement was not to my liking, nor in keeping with my vote, but it was settled. Immediately thereafter the machinery of naming and electing the several members of each committee by the Democratic and Republican parties ground into action. However, the machine did not get into high gear soon enough, and Congress ran into another obstacle of delay.

Strange as it may seem, the third reason for the delay is the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. For many years it has been customary for Republican members of Congress to make speeches throughout the country extolling the virtues of Abraham Lincoln—and he had many.

Although Mr. Lincoln was born on the 12th of February, and speeches concerning his greatness and his contributions to this country would be most appropriate on that day, the distances which many of the members must necessarily travel in order to be at the appointed places at the opportune time, requires that congressional activities be held in suspended animation for a period of approximately 10 days.

Hence, the time for departure of these speechmakers arrived before committee assignments had been fully determined by the Republicans, because it took so long to settle the Rules Committee issue, which could not be settled until the inauguration of the new President, who could not be inaugurated until noon on Jan. 20, because of the provisions of the Constitution.

So you see, it is not too difficult to blame anything you like or dislike on the Constitution.

The fact is that Congress should have gotten started earlier and should have much of its work behind it. But the further fact is that this has not been done. It means that this session of Congress could very well extend into late fall.

Ticklers By George

"Still some life in the little devil, eh, Frisby?"

A slow start does not mean a fast finish. It usually means that measures which must be passed before the end of the fiscal year, which is June 30, will receive priority of treatment and action. Emergency matters, and there could be a fertile field of these, will consume quite a bit of time; first to determine whether or not they actually are emergency matters, and secondly, if so, what to do about them.

In any event, this country can certainly look forward to a most interesting year. It's nice that the people are alert and watching every move. !

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Dee Coleman during the week end were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mario Coleman of Amarillo; and their other daughter-in-law, Mrs. John D. Coleman of Denton. She came to pick up her small daughter, Carol, who had visited here and with her other grandmother, Mrs. Bill Burden of Shamrock.

LANKART COTTON

Planted by More Farmers in Texas and Oklahoma than any other variety!

There is a reason. When planted year after year it gives more satisfaction and profit. This is to be expected when one realizes that during the past fifty years the desirable qualities of vigor, high yield, drought resistance, large stormproof boll and quality standard staple have again and again been bred into this cotton by close line breeding methods.

Lankart cottons can be successfully harvested by either of four methods: hand picking, machine picking, hand snapping or by stripper machine. Many thousands of bales of Lankart cotton are stripper machine harvested in the Southwest, annually, at a saving of up to $25.00 per bale. Cotton harvesting may be an important item to the farmer this fall. Now is the time to determine what harvest methods will be used. A prime factor will be to save cost. Many farmers gin their Lankart cotton carefully to prevent gin mixtures and save the seed for their own planting. It has pure-line breeding back of it and does not "run out" in a year or two. We fully recommend this practice to all good farmers.

We produced a good crop of planting seed the past year but our supply of saw cleaned fuzzy Lankart Selection 57 has all been sold for this season. We have a limited supply of acid delinted seed of this variety. In our early maturing Lankart Selection 611 we have a supply of both saw cleaned fuzzy and acid delinted seed at this time.

We have sold our Breeders quality seed in our Trade Marked bags to many cotton gins and seed dealers throughout the state. May we suggest you see your ginner or seed dealer, if he cannot supply you with our seed contact us. Write for circular.

We are the originators and breeders of Lankart Cottons.

JAPAN FALLING TO COMMUNISTS

At the All-American Conference to Combat Communism held in Kansas City recently, Keigi Tomatsu of Japan, who came all the way from Tokyo to make a 45-minute presentation, issued a shocking warning to the people of the United States. He said that Japan would be in the hands of the Communists within three years unless the United States government drastically changed its policies. He said that U.S. government policy in Japan had helped build Communist strength and had worked against the anti-Communist forces within the country.

This wasn't a crackpot speaking. Keigi Tomatsu came to Kansas City from Tokyo as a representative of the Japanese anti-Communist Federation called "The Japan National Council." He is president of the Global Culture Association. The federation which he represents numbers 56 highly respected nationwide organizations in Japan, with a membership of 7,000,000 people. It is similar to the All-American Conference which includes the American Legion, VFW, Catholic War Veterans, Amvets, National Federation of Business and Professional Womens Clubs, Lions, Kiwanis, Elks, and 50 other nationwide organizations.

Bad Policies

Tomatsu stood before a distinguished audience of American leaders in Kansas City and told how American State Department policies in Japan had given Communists the opportunity to infiltrate into the government, the press, the schools and wield great power over the life of the nation.

"The Japanese Communists," he said, "have steadily grown in power and stature, stirring up anti-American sentiment among the people and finally, as of now, have seriously undermined the foundations of Japanese-American friendship. Bluntly stated, Communism in my country was nurtured by American leadership in the post-war years. Its power is still in ascendency and the counterforce is ineffective in Japan."

Reds Aided by U.S.

Tomatsu said: "While the Communists accumulated power and prestige during the Allied Occupation (due largely, he said, to actions of the U.S. Civil Affairs headquarters in Japan), the anti-Communists were summarily suppressed. Those who were not in sympathy with Communism were called reactionaries, aggressors nationalists, Fascists, militarists, etc. Those who really loved their country and those who were anxious to uphold fine traditions were persecuted and banished from public life. An effective check on Communist expansion was made impossible in Japanese governmental organizations.

"The educational system of the country was equally affected. In 1946 the Educational Commission from America came to Japan and directed the reorganization of the entire school system under which the Japanese children were made Godless, selfish individuals without a trace of love for their country . . . the Education Bureau of the Occupation headquarters exerted influence in appointing Communists for critical teaching positions. These Communist teachers formed powerful units in local and central public and private schools throughout the country.

Reds Now Powerful

"Today there is hardly any hope of teaching our children true ideas of Western democracy because the Left-wing Japanese Teachers Association (Nikkyoso) controls the educational systems. Thus it is easy to imagine that present anti-American activities are spearheaded by Japanese university students, who have been guided by their Communist teachers in elementary and secondary schools and colleges for the past 14 years.

"There are Communists in many government offices today; they are engaged in planning and fostering anti-American activities and obstructing pro-American measures by the government. . . The U. S. Civil Affairs, Assistant Administrator, in the occcupation headquarters, was regarded as instrumental in placing Japanese Communists in important official positions, particularly in the law enforcement agencies (Ministry of Justice)."

These are grave matters.

FARM PLANNING

Modern farming is a competitive business and the successful farmers, believes C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, must plan just as carefully as does his counterpart in industry. Technology figures large for both. Bates recommends that farmers take advantage of the technical services available to them through local county agents.

PATCHING BOOTS

An enduring emergency patch for that hole in your rubber boot can be made by heating (not too hot) enough common tire tape to do the job, and applying to the dried surface of the boot. It lasts!

PROPOSED GREENBELT DAM SITES
The old and the new dam sites of the proposed Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority are shown above. The old site is titled Whitefish Creek Dam Site. This site was abandoned when core drlling proved there would be no red clay onto which the ends of the earthen dam could be connected and eventually leakage would develop. The new proposed dam site, shown on the map as the Alternate Dam Site, is down river and in Collingsworth County. Both are north of Hedley. The Alternate Dam Site has not been core-drilled but visible clay banks indicate a solid foundation for the dam. The old lake would have covered 4,690 acres and impounded 153,400 acre feet of water while the new dam, according to engineers, will cover 5,212 acres and hold 158,850 acre feet of water. The map shows that water impounded would back above the site of the Whitefish damsite.

CANDY MOORE plays the leading role in "Tomboy and the Champ," dramatic story in color of a young 4-H club member who overcomes hearbreaking handicaps to rear the nation's grand champion calf. Showing at the Ritz Theatre Thursday through Saturday.

To all this—now film fame for the Lone Star State.

Newly formed Signal Pictures Corp. of San Antonio—releasing through Universal - International, has just produced a motion picture which has inspired Hollywood preview audiences to nominate it "The Best Family Show of the Year."

It is "Tomboy and the Champ." appearing Thursday Friday and Saturday at the Ritz Theatre, a light-hearted drama of a 13 year old girl who guides a pet outlaw calf to the glory of a Grand Championship at the Chicago International Exposition.

It introduces Candy Moore—a blonde blue-eyed hoyden who 'clicked' in the Broadway stage presentation of the Pulitzer Prize Drama "J.B." and followed with major roles on TV's "Alcoa Presents."

Tree Program Has Customers

Publicity given the tree program of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District has resulted in customers from a considerable distane, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service, reported.

One buyer came from Follett and a group drove over from Donley county. One Seymour resident sent an inquiry.

The trees are part of an order of 4,000 Rochester Arbor Vitae, red cedar and ponderosa pine the district ordered for farmstead planting. They are also available to persons who are not SCD cooperators, but who wish to improve their yards.

SCD to Buy Two Seed Drills

Supervisors of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, in the February meeting Saturday night, Feb. 11, voted to buy two seeders to be attached to the front of tractors, to be used by farmers in seeding rye, legumes, or other similar seed.

These ground covers are to be seeded while the crops are still green and will provide a cover during the winter months when much wind erosion occurs, according to Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of SCS.

The supervisors also voted to sponsor Soil Stewardship Week from May 7 to 14. This is an annual event.

The district also will sponsor the 4-H Club soils judging team that will participate in the land judging contest at Oklahoma City later in the year.

YARD LIGHT SAFETY

A well lighted yard and walkway is desirable for accident prevention and convenience. One or two yard lights located near the driveway or on the corner of the house will provide illumination for the entire area and help provide night-time security, says W. S. Allen, extension service agricultural engineer.

Greenbelt Head to Appear for Committee

Dr. S. H. Townsend, president of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority, was in Austin Tuesday for a hearing before the Senate committee on Water and Conservation.

A delegation from Louisiana is scheduled to appear before the committee to protest a bill before the State Senate which would increase the state's participation in the building of dams from $5 million to $15 million.

The bill, if passed, would enhance the chances of the Greenbelt Dam which is the only adequate water supply left in this section of the state.

The delegation will base its protest that Texas will build too many dams which would flood some of the timber areas of East Texas and some of that land is owned by residents of Louisiana.

State Senator Andy Rogers is co-author of the bill to increase the state's participation from $5 million to 15 million. He is also on the Water and Conservation committee for the Senate.

Senator Rogers will present Dr. Townsend to the committee to give his arguments in behalf of the Greenbelt's interest in the state increasing its maximum loan participation in Texas water projects.

Buck Creek Farmer Plans Brush Work

Travis McGuire, cooperator in Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, is building a crossfence on his farm near Buck Creek.

The purpose of this fence is to enable him to practice deferred grazing on part of his pasture land..

McGuire is planning to do brush control work and will defer grazing on his pastures for several months in order for grasses to seed and increase in vigor.

Road Sought In Area of Greenbelt Dam

The proposed Greenbelt Dam on the Salt Fork of the Red River should not interfere with construction of the proposed highway between McLean and Hedley, according to a letter from the Commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation to the Texas State Highway Engineer.

Congressman Walter Rogers said Monday the letter from Floyd E. Dominy, commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation, to Dewitt Greer, state highway engineer "should be in the mail today or tomorrow."

Action on the proposed road, to be built under the Area Development Program of the State Highway Commission, was postponed last week, awaiting information on the proposed dam.

In a recent letter to Rogers, Dominy pointed out that construction of a dam at either of the sites now under study would probably be little, if any, interference to the proposed legislation of the highway.

If the dam were built at the upper site it would seem quite possible to relocate the road across the dam while construction at the lower site would have little effect, if the bridge and approaches were built at an elevation 2,267 feet above sea level, according to the letter from Dominy to Rogers.

Greer said last week his department is awaiting engineering data on the proposed Greenbelt Dam and Reservoir. At that time he indicated a decision on the road could be made within 30 days after receipt of the engineering information.

Cost of the proposed 23 miles of highway is estimated at $973,500. About 2½ miles of the road, immediately south of McLean, will be in Gray county, while the remainder will be in Donley County. About 10 miles of the road will be south of the river.

A highway link between Hedley and McLean has been proposed for more than thirty years. The river can be forded by motor vehicles only after long periods of dry weather.

Hunting dogs, especially setters, have a mighty hard time in hot weather. So don't forget to give yours plenty of shade and water at all times. Many sportsmen are inclined to neglect the pooch during off season.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

They have bills to suit every taste in the hopper down at Austin. They have one that would outlaw trading stamps. This won't get to first base. The trading stamp people would have women writing letters and sending telegrams by the hundreds and thousands. Another is to tax trading stamps a flat 10%. This one suits me fine, but I would give odds that it will not pass either. In fact there has been so much feuding over the speakers race it makes you wonder if they will pass anything.

T. Wyrick and Bernice Welch were enthusing over a bill that would provide for legalized horse racing in Texas provided a city or community also voted it in by local option. They claim that West Texas money is educating half of the children in New Mexico. Can't see why they should be so excited. You can get to Raton or Ruidoso quicker than you can reach Ft. Worth or Dallas.

I doubt if many communities would vote in horse racing even if it was legal in the state. When Arlington Downs was running, it was the merchants and housewives of Ft. Worth and Dallas who led the fight to make racing illegal. The merchants' hands were so busy studying racing forms and getting the returns on the races that their work was only half done. But the worst part was that they were so broke by the end of the month that they couldn't pay their bills. The wives wanted some of the betting money for clothes and groceries.

Let's all get down to the gym Friday night for the second game in the three-game playoff for the district championship. A big crowd will just naturally cause the girls to play a little bit better. They lost the first game by only one point and are expected to even the score on their home court. The third game, if necessary, will be played on a neutral court.

Thank goodness the bad weather has passed for the time. The long spell didn't do business any good. Neither did it help the cowmen from the standpoint of profitable gains. Tom Wilson tells this story about T. Davenport: Davenport was feeding his cattle over in Oklahoma. He had the pickup idling along in low gear while he sprinkled cake from the rear. As he opened a fresh sack the truck hit a bump and he and the cake went out the back. He managed to catch hold of the bumper as he fell and it nearly jerked his arm off. Asked how he ever managed to catch the truck, he said: "I had to catch it. It was headed for a ravine."

George Shadid says you can't please some people regardless of how hard you try. He told of a crochety old gentleman who retired and went to live in a hotel. One morning the wealthy old man ordered toast and two eggs, one egg up and the other over easy. After the chef had taken particular pains the waitress brought two perfect looking eggs, each cooked as ordered. "Is this all right?" asked the smiling girl. The old gentleman snorted: "Blank, no! He turned over the wrong egg!"

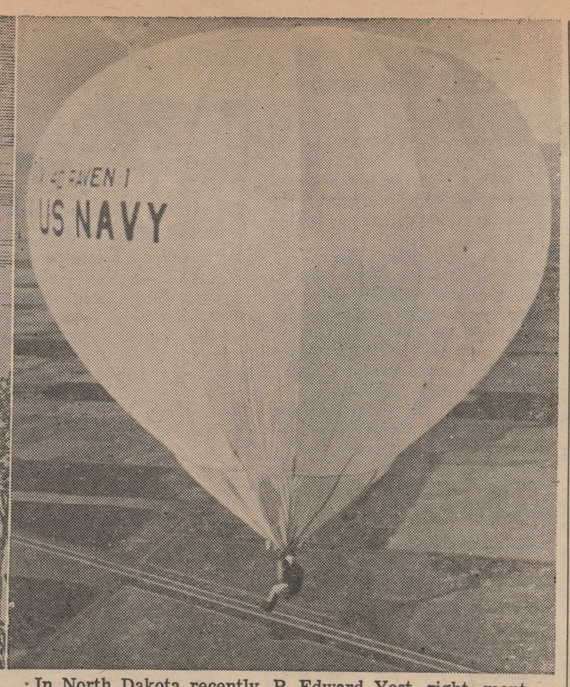

Bill Langford is going to vote for Bill Blakley and the first name has nothing to do with it. He liked what Blakley had to say about the new Federal Housing Administrator. There are now 29 in the senate race and you can have your choice of colors such as pink, red, black, white, etc.

The highway department has installed safety lanes at the intersections of 8th and 15th streets. This will help but it won't make it any easier for east-west traffic to get across 83 to the Dodson road. Still say there should be a red-red blinker there instead of the amber-red blinker.

Something I never knew until Monday. The Rev. J. F. Michael is a Republican.

One hundred and twenty-five years ago today, February 23, a small band of Texans under Travis, Bowie and Crockett began a 13-day defense of the Alamo. The best book on this historic battle is "Thirteen Days to Glory."

TRIED AND STILL TRUE—It seemed almost too simple when 178 years ago the Montgolfier brothers brought man's dream of flight to reality. Their balloon, left, was launched over the French countryside by building a fire under the craft. As the air within warmed, the balloon rose in the air. As it cooled, it settled slowly earthward. In North Dakota recently, P. Edward Yost, right, montgolfiered to a 9,000-foot, two-hour flight in a U.S. Navy test balloon. Suspended in a swing seat, he manipulated a portable propane burner which warmed the air inside. To land, he merely turned down the flame. Advantages, says the Navy, are economy and simplicity of operation.

In the second quarter Wellington pulled ahead at 22 to 19. Also at the end of the third quarter they still led by one point 34 to 33. It was nip and tuck for the last quarter, ending with the 41 to 40 score in favor of Spearman.

Dark Cottons Should Receive Special Care

Wonderful dark cottons now provide comfortable and fashion-right costumes the year-around and especially during in-between seasons. With proper care they can be kept attractive and new looking for a much longer time, according to extension clothing specialists of Texas A&M College.

Good dark cottons should be dry-cleaned to preserve their finish and appearance, at least as long as they are used for best wear, say the specialists. Garments with decorative details, padding, interfacings and designs which cannot be removed must either be dry-cleaned or laundered with special care. Dry cleaning avoids any risk of spoiling the appearance of the garments.

To launder the garments, wash each one individually in softened water. Rinse completely to remove all traces of soap or detergent. Soft water helps to prevent hard water curds or lint from sticking to the cotton. Use warm, not hot, water with mild soap flakes or detergents. Soapless detergents are good for dark cottons, especially in hard water. Be sure to read the directions on the package. Some detergents are used for cotton and some are recommended for rayon. Don't use a bleach. Many of the bleaches affect the finish of the material.

TRACTOR TO FIT

While farm tractors have long since proved their worth as power suppliers, they must be chosen wisely and used efficiently if they are to return top dividends. W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer, says a tractor represents a sizeable investment and should be selected to fill the needs on the farm.

REFRESHER

On a hike, or sitting all day in a deer blind, you can keep up your energy by dissolving in your mouth now and then a pepper-upper made by mixing a teaspoon of instant coffee with a teaspoon of sugar.

Wrap these in twists of paper, waxed or foil, before leaving home, and carry a number of them in your hunting coat or game bag.

local election to separate the offices of sheriff and tax assessor-collector in 1957, the mere fact that there has been a further decrease in population does not change the effect of the election which was held pursuant to Sec. 16-A of Art. Spray Shrubs to Maintain Good Looks

College Station.—Twig blight is a common disease of cedar, arborvitae, juniper and cypress. The fungus disease is more apt to be a problem in areas of higher rainfall or during seasons of above average rainfall. It occurs in epidemic form in coniferous nurseries and in ornamental plantings in the Eastern half of the United States.

Tips of branches turn brown with progressive dying back. A whole branch or even a young tree may be killed. Trees over five years are not apt to be killed. A large amount of young nursery stock can be blighted in a very short time.

Microscopic fungus seed (spores) are produced in quantity on diseased twigs and branches. Spores ooze out in little tendrils in moist weather to be spread by wind and rain. Germinating spores gain entrance through healthy wood as well as through wounds. Wetting foliage with the lawn sprinkler encourages the spread of the disease.

Prune off and burn or destroy dying branches during the dormant season. Make the pruning cut several inches below the diseased area. Avoid leaving branch stubs when pruning. In nurseries the diseased seedlings should be removed and burned as soon as possible.

Spray with a fixed copper or Bordeaux mixture fungicide after pruning. Make three applications at three-week intervals through the winter or spring. More applications may be necessary if above average rainfall occurs. When landscaping, buy healthy trees and shrubs.

WHOSE BIRD?

Who has the rightful claim to game shot by more than one hunter?

This question has plagued sportsmen since time began.

There is no single answer. Proper etiquette is observed differently according to the section of the country.

Most widely accepted is that the deer, bird, or other animal belongs to the one who first wounds it. Other shots are supposed to kill . . . but only to prevent waste and suffering.
