Military Plane Collision Kills 12

Balloon Rope Jerks Youth To 3,000 Feet

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A 12-year-old boy, dangling from a rope, was carried to a height of 3,000 feet by a balloon Saturday before the pilot realized the youngster's plight.

The pilot, William Berry, 36, of Concord, Calif., then put the hot-air balloon into a rapid descent and landed the boy safely.

The lad, Danny Nowell, of Tennessee Valley, had volunteered with others to hang onto restraining ropes until the pilot was ready for his ascent.

Berry gave the signal. All cast the lines away, except young Nowell. He had wrapped his rope around his left wrist.

As the lad was jerked into the air 75 horror-stricken spectators screamed. Some women knelt in prayer.

Berry, sitting in the balloon basket, could not see Nowell dangling directly below him.

At a height of 3,000 feet Berry sensed that something was amiss.

He saw the boy and at once cut off the fans that forced hot air into the 50-foot-high balloon.

Berry descended gently in the back yard of Robert Dewalt, two miles from the launching.

Danny was taken to Marin General Hospital where his left hand, badly discolored from loss of circulation, was treated.

Berry, wearing a helmet and ear pads to drown out the noise of the hot-air fans, said he didn't hear shouting from the ground.

Divers Search For Air Crash Victims

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Divers reached the wreckage of a jetliner in the Persian Gulf Saturday and reported they have given up all hope of finding any survivors among the 49 persons—including 23 Americans—aboard, an airline spokesman said.

The French-built Caravelle of Middle East Airlines-Air Liban plunged into the gulf while trying to land in a swirling sandstorm Friday night at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. It was just three minutes from landing time at the end of a two-hour nonstop flight from Beirut.

ers of the airliner, as former West Texas residents.

They are Brant McDonald, an employee of Drilco Oil Tools, who was en route to assist in Saudi Arabia field operations of the Arabian American Oil Co., and Ralph Devenney, a petroleum engineer, whose home town was unknown here.

McDonald recently moved from Perryton, Tex., to Marion, Ohio, as a salesman for Drilco. He was a native of Odessa.

ONE BODY

Reports from Dhahran said only one body had been recovered and rescue operations were continuing.

Rescue operations were being impeded by rough weather.

which began easing slightly after dark, the spokesman said.

The weather had cleared enough Saturday morning to permit a search by helicopter and small surface craft. A U.S. Navy spokesman reported the plane was sighted in shallow water between the British-protected island of Bahrain in the Persian Gulf and Dhahran. The exact location was given as 10 miles south-southeast of Dhahran.

NO SIGNS

The Navy said there were no signs of survivors, although the fuselage of the plane was intact, with one broken wing jutting up from the water.

John Northington Dies After Stroke

Associates in Midland recalled two men listed among passengers of the airliner.

John S. Northington, 85, pioneer resident of Big Spring and son of the founder of Abilene, died in a hospital here Saturday after a long illness.

He had been critically ill, however, for less than a week, having suffered a stroke. He rallied from this soon after arrival of his daughter from Houston, but his condition then worsened progressively.

Mr. Northington operated a meat market here for many years, and in appearance he was the epitome of the cattleman—erect, wiry, friendly, and straight-forward.

Funeral rites have been set for 4 p.m. Sunday in the River-Welch Funeral Chapel. Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate, and burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Mr. Northington was born in Georgetown Nov. 25, 1878 and came here from Abilene in 1906 to go to work for the famous J. & W. Fisher Company general mercantile firm. On April 29, 1907 he was married to Miss Eva Gooch, member of a prominent Big Spring family.

One daughter, Elizabeth (Mrs. Paul Drouet), was born to them. Besides the widow and daughter, other survivors include one granddaughter, Paula Drouet, Houston; a sister, Mrs. Sudie Hancock, Lawton, Okla.; a brother, Alex Northington, Big Spring.

He was the son of John F. Northington, who drove his cattle in 1879 to the spot where Abilene came into being. The town probably would have been known as Northington had not the wind blew off the hat of a railroad laborer who commented he had not experienced such winds since he'd left Abilene, Kans. The elder Mr. Northington decided to name the place Abilene, gave away town lots cheaply to encourage settlers to venture to West Texas, and imported teachers from California when Abilene's first school was built. Although a right-of-way grant had a reversionary clause for much choice property in Abilene, the family never pursued the matter and allowed the agreement to drop.

After leaving the Fisher store, Mr. Northington entered the retail meat business himself. In later years he also worked in market departments for B. O. Jones Grocery and for Safeway.

He was one of the organizers of the Big Spring Country Club in the late 1920s and for a time served as its manager. In recent years, his health gradually failed.

Mr. Northington was a member of the First Christian Church in Abilene.

The body will lie in state at the funeral home until time for services and will be closed not to be reopened.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The proposed post office project moved up a notch last week when the House Public Works Committee approved the $1,367,000 outlay. The measure, however, has a long way to go for it must be voted by the House, then clear the corresponding committee in the Senate, then be reconciled if the two bills are different.

Big Spring fire fighting units got top rating on tests last week. With addition of two new 1,000 gpm pumps and two new stations and two new crews, Big Spring could get an adjustment on its key rate. This would mean more than credits which are extended for good fire records.

Johnson Orders Study Of Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered a sweeping study Saturday of military manpower policies to determine whether the draft can be eliminated in the 1970s.

Johnson made the announcement at his second news conference in three days, this one a 35-minute session in his office, not announced in advance.

ALTERNATIVE

The President said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will undertake the one-year study to "consider alternatives to the present draft selection system, including the possibility of meeting our requirements on an entirely voluntary basis in the next decade."

Asked if this foreshadows a cutback in military strength, the chief executive said: "I wouldn't want to anticipate the results of that study. Of course, it is the hope of everyone that tensions in the world can ease, that we can bring about disarmament, that we can take part of the resources that are now going into military production and protection" and "spend them on a better society and a greater society."

Draft calls this year have run between 16,000 and 12,000 monthly.

POLITICS

Politics again figured prominently in Johnson's give-and-take with newsmen. In response to one question, Johnson seemed to concede that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination.

Johnson related that he talked Friday to a man "very knowledgeable in public affairs" who thought Goldwater might go into the GOP nominating convention in July with some 632 votes and that more than 500 votes "looked like a pretty solid figure."

Referring to Goldwater, Johnson said, "I think he will be up there pretty high."

Declining to announce his own candidacy for election, the President said, "I try to keep as far away from partisanship as I can."

and campaigning as I can. I try to keep my political speeches restrained."

ALL THE PEOPLE

The chief executive said he wants to "be President of all the people and do what I think best for all the people; not just best for Democrats, but best for all Americans."

He said it is "very damaging to the American nation to have opposition for opposition's sake and to have blind opposition."

He said "it grieves me" to see party-line opposition to measures "calculated to benefit all Americans" but he did not go into specifics.

The chief executive said he would have something to say "about the responsibility of the candidates" when he addresses the annual luncheon of The Associated Press in New York on Monday.

Johnson said his speech will encompass "a very general statement of our foreign policy," notably with respect to American-Soviet relations, Cuba, Communist China, Viet Nam and Latin America.

INACCURATE

Johnson opened his news conference by saying he has seen what he termed a "very inaccurate" published report that his Monday speech will announce plans for a cutback of 45 per cent in the production of fissionable materials for nuclear weapons.

Reading at a rapid clip, Johnson began the conference with a series of statements and announcements, one of them reciting encouraging economic statistics.

The President reported increases during March in farm prices, housing starts, new auto sales, and industrial production and a drop in wholesale prices — "very good news."

He also reported a year-to-year drop of 900 in federal employment, saying, "It is significant that it dropped at all because it has generally been increasing."

Optimistic For Talks On Rail Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Saturday recent negotiations between railroad management and operating unions have been very productive and he believes this collective bargaining will end a nationwide strike threat.

Speaking at a news conference on the eighth day of intensive White House sessions, Johnson said he is "encouraged and hopeful" that an agreement will settle the lingering dispute before a possible new strike deadline at 12:01 a.m. next Saturday.

NO DETAILS

Johnson stayed off questions about details of talks between representatives of nearly 200 rail lines and five unions who are sitting in with federal mediators.

The President emphasized that he has set no deadline for the negotiators to announce settlement or a hopeless deadlock. But he said the intensive bargaining sessions will continue and he is looking forward to a progress report early next week, hopefully on Monday.

Johnson said the negotiators "are meeting late at night" and "negotiating in the traditional free enterprise manner. We are very proud of the conduct of both sides. I think we have had a very productive few days."

DECLINED

He declined to give any indication of what steps he will take if the negotiations fail to avert a strike which he said Friday would be disastrous for the nation's economy.

Four Missing, Three Injured

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — At least 12 Air Force men were killed Saturday night as two military transport planes collided in the air near this home of the Clinton County Air Force Base, a civilian information officer, Schurr, said.

The sheriff's office said all ambulances and fire trucks from Wilmington and the Air Force base were called into duty.

The planes crashed on U.S. 22 near Melvin, about 10 miles east of Wilmington in southern Ohio.

Three men were injured and four were missing.

One of the planes caught fire and crashed into a plowed field.

Major Theodore Behling, an information officer at the base, said there might be as many as 14 dead. Twelve bodies were found and six of them were burned badly.

A reporter who said he helped load four bodies into ambulances said he saw a major's insignia on one of the bodies.

Major Behling said the men were paratroopers from Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Edward L. Schurr, a civilian information officer at the base, said the men were on a weekend training mission.

He said the planes had been in the air about 1½ hours and were coming back to the base when they collided. Cause of the collision was not known immediately.

Schurr said the planes crashed in a plowed field that was "very hard to get to."

The state highway patrol said bodies from the burning plane were scattered in the field.

One plane was reported to have broken in half, and one engine could not be found.

The scene was described as "general confusion." One man said there "was a lot of burning stuff."

A glow from the burning plane could be seen for a long distance, another person said.

The planes were C119s of the 907th Troop Carrier Group at Clinton County Air Force Base, a civilian information officer, Schurr, said.

Rusk Touring Peaceful Areas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk toured relatively peaceful regions north of Saigon Saturday and told villagers "we are with you every day, every week, until victory is achieved."

U.S. and South Vietnamese security men kept a grim watch in the belief Communist suicide squads might try to kill Rusk.

Stringent precautions were in effect in Saigon, to which Rusk returned at dusk. The massive air-ground net set up to shield him on his arrival Friday was tightened after a terrorist bomb exploded in a military bus here early Saturday, wounding two U.S. servicemen.

Police intelligence reports said the Communists planned a series of bomb explosions during Rusk's three-day visit, with electrical transformers, U.S. installations and American vehicles among the targets.

Laotian Conference Falls Apart Saturday

PLAINES DES JARRES, Laos (AP) — A summit conference of the three leaders of Laos' coalition government collapsed Saturday and Prince Souvanna Phouma announced he will ask King Savang Vatthana to be relieved as premier. His departure could spark full civil war.

The idea of the rightist, neutralist and leftist meeting was to turn the royal capital of Luang Prabang into the temporary administrative capital in an attempt to solve Laos' year-old crisis.

NO RESULTS

Souvanna, a neutralist, came out of a field tent in which the leaders had been meeting for two days and said no results had been reached. He had conferred with Gen. Phoumi Nosa-van, the rightist faction leader, and Prince Souphannouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and half-brother of Souvanna.

Souvanna, who has been premier for 22 months, told newsmen: "Upon my return to Vientiane (permanent administrative capital) I will make a report to his majesty the king."

"Because of my inability to solve the Laotian problem I will ask the king to relieve me from functions of coalition premier."

GRIM

He looked grim, depressed and nervous. Asked if the king would accept his resignation, Souvanna replied: "I don't know."

Souvanna had asked the king to relieve him a year ago, but the king requested him to stay on the job.

Souvanna was scheduled to leave April 23 with the king on state visits to France and Britain. It was reported in Paris, however, that because of his prostate operation, President Charles de Gaulle had informed the Laotians he could not receive the king and Souvanna and that a later date would have to be set.

FEUDING

Souphannouvong has been feuding with the neutralists and the rightists for more than a year. His forces control about 1,000 miles of border with Red China and Communist North Viet Nam. Souvanna and Phoumi accuse the Pathet Lao of expanding their influence steadily with the aid of the Chinese and North Vietnamese.

But the issue that broke the summit conference was the question of Luang Prabang as the administrative capital. Conference sources said Phoumi and Souphannouvong could not agree on ways to neutralize the royal capital.

The informants said Phoumi agreed in principle to neutralization of Luang Prabang—now under rightist control—but proposed a three-party commission to discuss details. Souphannouvong insisted, however, that the details of neutralization be agreed upon by the summit conference, informants said.

Neutralization of Luang Prabang, under the protection of three-party police, would allow the three members of the coalition to meet until the crisis is solved. At the height of his dispute with Souvanna and Phoumi, Souphannouvong moved his headquarters out of Vientiane to the Plaines des Jarres, refusing to return.

Man Lost In Boat Collision

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A fishing boat and a Dutch tanker collided Saturday in the Gulf of Mexico, the Coast Guard reported. The fishing boat sank and four of its five crewmen were rescued.

The fifth man was believed lost, the Coast Guard said.

A Coast Guard seaplane was sent to the scene, about 200 miles southwest of St. Petersburg, where the tanker, Kate Maersk, was standing by.

The fishing boat, Miss Laura, was bound for its home port of Tampa after leaving the Campeche banks, the Coast Guard said.

The tanker left Galveston Friday night for Bombay.

Names of the Miss Laura crew were not available.

The tanker did not report damage.

Pickets Cheer Agreement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A hiring agreement for minority groups, ending massive civil rights demonstrations on San Francisco's "auto row," was announced Saturday to more than 2,500 cheering pickets.

The agreement came in response to demands that car dealers hire more Negroes as salesmen and mechanics.

The demonstrators—75 per cent white—had paraded in front of six auto agencies for more than three hours while officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People negotiated with the Motor Car Dealers Association.

Pickets Return

AUSTIN (AP) — Pickets appeared again Saturday in Austin's civil rights square. The demonstrators seek a city ordinance to provide penalties for racial discrimination.

Newspaper Is Ordered Closed

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Martial law authorities in Istanbul Saturday ordered the Istanbul newspaper Hergun to close for 10 days for publishing "baseless" stories.

The National Assembly extended martial law in force in Istanbul and Ankara for two months last Friday.

CANDIDATES HAVE COMMENTS

Road Principle Endorsed

The "unit system" for operating the Howard County Road and Bridge Department is endorsed in principle by ten of 12 candidates for a place on the County Commissioners Court this year.

Some have reservations as to employment of a "licensed engineer" as against a road supervisor of proven competence. The Herald did not receive replies to a questionnaire on the matter from two of the candidates.

Some ten days ago, those bidding for commissioner posts were asked by The Herald to state their views on the "unit" system. Technically, this means operating the Road Department under the "Optional County Road Law of 1947," which was voted into effect here in 1948, endorsed by the voters again in 1955.

The candidates were asked to state whether or not they are in favor of the county operating under terms of this law; and whether or not they would want to press for employment of a county engineer qualified under terms of the law.

They were also invited to make any comments they cared to.

Since the Road and Bridge Department is the county's largest, in money spent and personnel employed, and probably in service rendered throughout the county, The Herald asked for the comment as a matter of information for voters who will cast ballots in the May 2 primaries.

The inquiry was sent to the following: Commissioner's Precinct 1: Rufus Stallings, incumbent; A. E. (Shorty) Long, Granville Miller, Simon (Cy) Terrazas; Arthur (Jack) McNew, Commissioner's Precinct 3: Joe Hayden, incumbent; C. V. Hewitt, C. L. Rutherford, B. W. (Ben) Boroughs, John V. Cherry, Jimmy Jones, all Democratic candidates, and Harold Hall, Republican.

The questionnaire, with answers, and all comments written by the candidates, appears on page 2-A of today's Herald. All voters interested in information on this effect are invited to turn to that page for the results and all comments.

Polish Leader Has Surgery

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — President Alexander Zawadzki, 65, underwent surgery two days ago for an ailment of the digestive tract, the official Polish press agency reported Saturday.

The postoperation symptoms are correct, a brief announcement said, giving no further information on the exact condition of the president and member of the ruling Communist party bureau.

Good And Sweet

Patients in the psychiatric units at the Big Spring State Hospital have what every ill person should have: Good and Sweet nurses. Mrs. Mary Ann Good (left) has been employed at the hospital for the past nine weeks. A staff nurse, she and her husband, George L. Good, came here from Dallas, residing at 1429 E. 6th. Mrs. Thelma Sweet (right), an assistant supervisor in the hospital, has been in Big Spring for the past eight years. A native of Frankfort, Ill., she now lives at 105 W. 8th. She is the mother of two sons, Reid, who recently was discharged from the U.S. Navy, and Rama, of San Angelo.

FFA Members Receive Awards

COAHOMA (SC) — Awards were passed out to Future Farmers of America and to adult supporters at the annual banquet held Friday evening in the elementary school cafeteria. There were 110 in attendance.

Honorary memberships were presented to Burton Mason, Donald Webb and Bill Easterling for exemplary aid to the chapter during the past year, and they were given plaques along with Jim Burgess, Bill Read, Delton Long and Aaron Stokes, last year's honorary members.

Gerald Oakes, chapter adviser, presented the livestock award to Terry Denton, a freshman. Terry received the Star Greenhand award for project and leadership achievement. The top award of Star Chapter Farmer went to Tommy Mense, and this year's DeKalb award for outstanding performance by a senior went to Vernon Long, chapter president.

Pat Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Chapman, was presented an FFA pendant by Tommy Mense on behalf of the chapter to its sweetheart.

Several certificates of appreciation were awarded, among them: Mrs. Ellis Anderson, supervisor of the lunchroom; Mrs. Iona Bright and Smith Cochran for raising funds to pay off the note and expenses of Bobby Pherigo, whose pig was stolen on the eve of the show; to David Barr for substituting for Oakes; to Johnny Justus and John Westmoreland for operating concessions; to Leon Mense for gathering and hauling stock; to Supt. W. A. Wilson.

Oakes reported on the year's activities which included: placing half the 36 entries in the Howard County show; placing four of five lambs, six of 11 barrows, one milk fed and six commercial steers in the State Fair; placing a calf and lamb at Houston. The chapter also took five of six banners in the district leadership conference. The senior skill team won fourth in the area; the livestock judging team placed fourth at San Angelo; the swine team placed fifth at Abilene. The chapter will have three teams in the area contest Friday-Saturday at Lubbock.

Vernon Long presided at the banquet; Stanley Phillips and Eddy McHugh led the prayers; Joe Anderson introduced guests and parents.

Spence Given Special Award

E. V. Spence, Big Spring, has been presented with a Half-Century certificate by the Permian Basin chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers. Spence, who is general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and a former city manager for Big Spring, began the practice of engineering in 1911 when he graduated from Texas A&M. He served in World War I and II, was city manager at San Angelo and served on the Texas Board of Water Engineers and the Interstate Water Compact Commission.

This is the first year that TSPE has given this special award. Robert Rush, Odessa, also was honored with one by the chapter. The presentation came Thursday evening at the chapter meeting in Midland, presided over by O. H. Ivie, Big Spring president.

Two New Fire Stations Go In Service This Month

Improvements in the Big Spring Fire Department, costing about $125,000, will be ready for use in less than a month.

City Manager Larry Crow said today two new diesel pumpers will be shipped to Big Spring about the 28th of this month.

The two new trucks will be the first diesel pumpers put in use by a Texas Fire Department. Each is capable of pumping 1,000 gallons of water per minute. The diesel motors will guarantee sustained pumping performance, city officials said. The cost of both pumpers is about $55,000.

Two new fire stations, in the Airport School vicinity and near the golf course, are nearing completion and should be ready for occupancy in May. Virtually all of the exterior work has been completed at both stations. The contractor, J. W. Little, Big Spring, is completing interior work. Crow estimated the cost of both stations would be about $80,000, including costs for furnishings.

County's Road Death Toll Begins To Climb

Howard County has already scored four traffic fatalities in 1964 and is one death ahead of its total on this same date in 1963.

State highway patrolmen are gravely alarmed over the ominous probability that 1964 will go down in the books as one of the bloodier years on county roads and highways. The worst year of all in the history of Howard County was 1958 when there were 27 road deaths charged to the county.

The mounting death toll is common to the entire 24-county Midland Highway Patrol District. For the first three months of 1964, the district death toll was 27 on rural road which was 10 more than for the same period in 1963.

The officials at the DPS regard this as an alarming increase and point with apprehension to the mounting traffic flow on the highways as the vacation season begins.

Of the 27 deaths recorded for January, February and March in the Midland District, 16 were caused in one-car-one-driver mishaps.

The Highway Patrol office at the Howard County courthouse has a map of the county and colored pins are inserted into the map to show the accidents the patrol investigates. The death cases are marked with red pins. The officers placed the fourth red pin on the map at the intersection of US 87 and the Knott cutoff April 10, to mark the crash which took the life of Henry H. Vineyard, 65-year-old Abernathy man.

Red pins already on the map for 1964 indicate the fatal accidents which took the lives of Brig. Gen. Howard J. Withycombe, Jan. 5; Andres L. Torres, Jan. 11; and David Ortega, 19, March 7.

The county had one fatality and five injuries in accidents in March. There were 14 accidents on rural roads. Car damages stemming from the mishaps aggregated $7,095.

The first three months of the year credited Howard County with three fatalities, 22 persons injured and a total of 25 accidents on rural roads. The total damages resulting from these accidents was $31,000.

So far, the city has had no traffic deaths. In 1963, seven of the 11 deaths charged to the county were on city streets. At this same date last year, one fatality had been listed inside the city limits.

Other counties in the Big Spring area and their accident reports through March:

Borden County—no fatalities, three injuries, 40 accidents, damages $1,020.

Tech Will Award 20th Honor Degree

LUBBOCK — For only the 20th time in its 29-year history, Texas Technological College this spring will award an honorary degree.

The degree, Doctor of Science was voted by the board of directors to George W. Pfeifferberger, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Lubbock, for outstanding service to the High Plains cotton industry, to Texas Tech, and for his accomplishments in cotton research and marketing. Presentation will take place during the 1964 spring graduation ceremonies at Tech.

"He has, through his work, brought about hundreds of millions of dollars of additional funds to the South Plains economy," said Harold Hinn, Tech director from Plainview, of Pfeifferberger. The cotton executive was largely responsible for area cotton producers getting from $18 to $14 more per bale for cotton of light spot grade since 1958.

Pfeifferberger has been head of the area cotton producer organization since 1956, climaxing a lifetime in cotton and textile research. He set up the operation of a pilot spinning plant at Texas Tech, and he has influenced the PCG to make investments in Texas Tech's research program where the pilot spinning plant was located.

He began his cotton career in 1930 as one of the first technologists in the newly formed cotton fibre laboratory of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In 1945 he left the department to become a member of the National Cotton Advisory Committee and a researcher for Chilcope Mfg. Company and other textile concerns.

Contracts Are To Be Ready

Proposed contracts for extension of the Sun Oil waterfield contract are expected to be ready for board perusal within a few days.

O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager, assigned to this project by E. V. Spence, general manager of Colorado River Municipal Water District, said that negotiations on principal items in the contract had been completed.

When finally approved by the CRMWD board, Sun Oil Company and Perkins & Prothro, extensive oil operators in northwestern Coke County, the contract will clear the way for construction of an additional pipeline and increase in the contract quantity of water to Sun.

Perkins & Prothro contemplates taking treated water from the Sun Oil plant at Silver. The CRMWD will build a pipeline to Perkins & Prothro's terminal point, a distance of about five and a half miles.

The operators in the newly served project will require 1,500,000 gallons per day. Sun has about 900,000 gallons per day under contract which is not now being used, and the district plans to increase its deliveries by 600,000 gallons a day to meet the demand.

If the timetable is met, it is not improbable that CRMWD could ask for pipeline bids as of May 21.

Air Space To Be Restricted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 14,500-square-mile air space over parts of three Western states will be restricted to military use May 17 to May 30 for a defense exercise involving 100,000 troops and 1,000 aircraft.

The Federal Aviation Agency on Friday designated the space over sections of southeastern California, northwestern Arizona and southern Nevada.

The Air Force asked for the ruling because of possible hazards to other aircraft, the FAA said.

The operation, called "Desert Strike," will include parachute drops of troops and heavy equipment, flights of target drones and of jets simulating bombing and strafing attacks.

Mother Of Seven Stabbed To Death

GALVESTON (AP) — The mother of seven children was stabbed to death Friday night and her husband was charged with murder.

Mrs. Frank Guerrero, about 32, was killed while her children slept upstairs.

Charged with murder was Frank Guerrero, 33, who was arrested in the street a few minutes after the body was found. A knife was protruding from his chest.

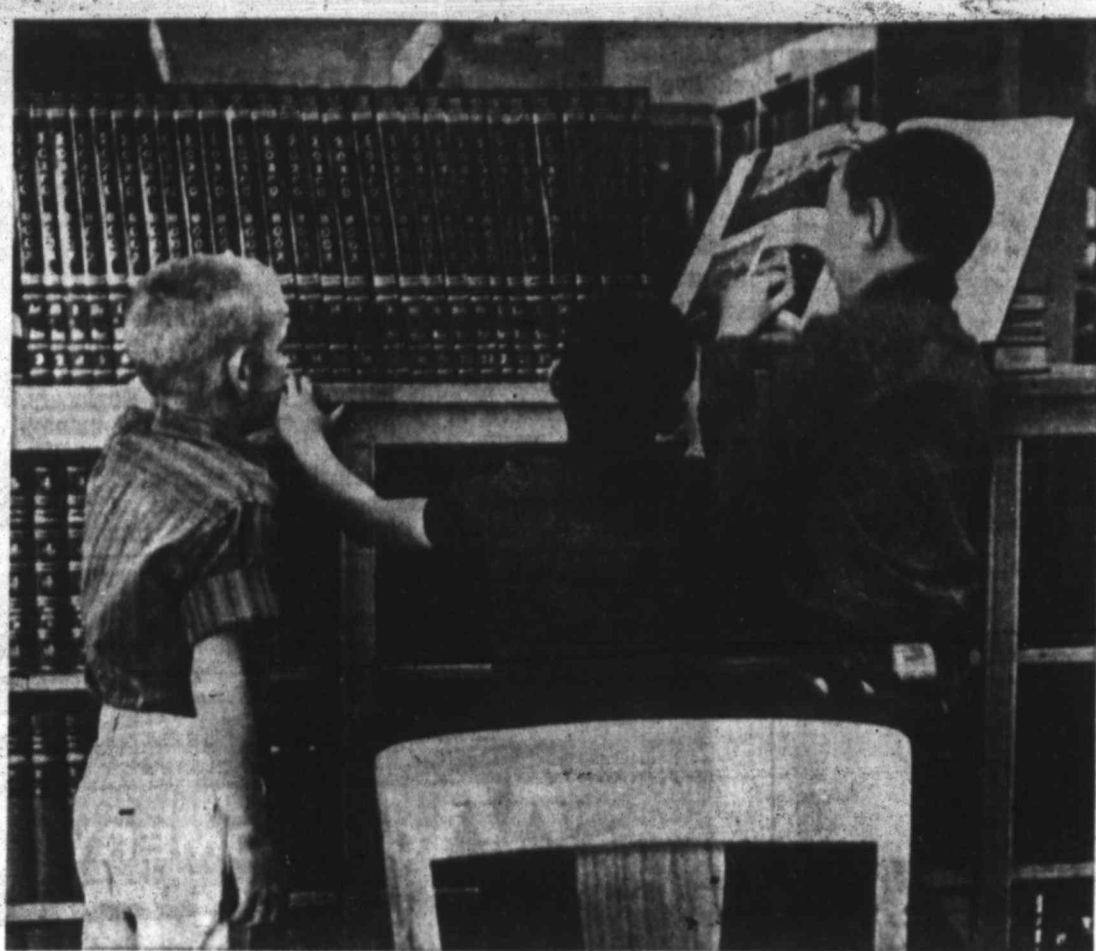

"He pulled the knife from his chest and walked toward me," policeman K. L. Phillips said. "I drew my gun and told him to stop. He shouted that he wanted to die and then collapsed."

Guerrero was taken to a hospital.

KING-SIZED REFERENCE BOOKS APPEAL TO KIDS
Unusual reference works on display in county library

Younger Readers Rush County Library Last Week

Last week was National Library Week and the younger readers of the community seemed to have picked on it as a week to give the Howard County Free Library a grand rush.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that it seemed that more than the usual number of boys and girls stormed the library all week but, she added, the nearness to the end of school may be a partial explanation.

Each year as the school term nears its finish, there is a heavy demand for reference works in the library by the boys and girls.

The library handed out special booklets explaining how to make the best possible use of a library and how the library card system works.

A feature of the week and one which caught the interest of nine-tenths of the younger patrons, was a display of a set of the special edition of the World Book Encyclopedia for the partially blind. These huge books, printed in extra large type and with all illustrations enlarged accordingly, were eye-catchers.

The books would be of great value to the library but are, for the time, just on display, she said.

Mrs. McDaniel points out that the special edition was published to serve 136,000 boys and girls under 20 who are partially blind. Of this number, 40,000 are pre-school age and 95,000 from 5 to 19 years of age. There are 11,000 in the 5-19 bracket who are not in school. However, the number of people these books might help goes farther afield than the 136,000 named. There are 229,000 men and women 20 to 30 years, 538,000 in the age bracket 40-64 and 989,000 in the

Weed Control Field Day Scheduled Here May 1

Howard County Cotton, Weed Control Field Day and meeting has been set for May 1, from 1 to 5 p.m., at the USDA Experiment Station here. The field day has been set up through the cooperation of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce and County Agent Herb Helbig. The experiment station has been made available for demonstrations of equipment and talks.

Weed control in cotton will be the main subject of the discussions and demonstrations with authorities in their fields leading discussion.

Bill Gunter, agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will discuss "General Weed Control"; John Seibert, extension farm management specialist, "Economics of Cotton Weed Control"; Dr. Allen Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Southwestern Great Plains Field Station at Bushland, "Chemical and Herbicide Weed Control"; Elmer Hudspeth, agriculture engineer, South Plains Research and Extension Center, Lubbock, "Equipment for Weed Control"; Duane Scott, farm demonstration for Collingsworth, Wheeler and Hall counties, and part time extension service and Texas agriculture experiment station employee, will also be with the group of specialists in handling equipment and chemicals.

Dr. Wiese has done extensive research on the High Plains on chemical control of weeds, both pre-emergence and post-emergence. Hudspeth has had an interest in farm equipment and its use in weed control, including lateral oiling and post-emergence sprays. Equipment from several firms will be on hand for demonstrations.

Former Resident Dies In Canada

Mrs. Karen White, wife of Charles T. White, former Big Spring resident, died Friday in Saskatoon, Sask., Canada where they had made their home for the past 15 years.

Funeral rites have been set for Monday in Saskatoon.

Mr. and Mrs. White came here from New Orleans about 1942. Both were employed at Iva's Jewelers, which later became Zale's, and she continued with the firm until they left here after 1949. Mr. White also was associated with Big Spring Hardware and KBST. Most of the time they lived here they resided at 205 Mt. View, and they were avid flower fanciers.

Mrs. White had been a nurse prior to her marriage. A native of Denmark, at one time she had been a nurse to the royal family.

There are nearly as many physicians and medical researchers involved in the flight of an astronaut as there are engineers and technicians. The effect on the astronaut's body is studied very closely and the data collected is already being used in the development of new and more effective medicines.

Someday soon we will start to get these new medicines in our pharmacy and physicians will be writing prescriptions for them. When we see a spectacular space feat we know that it also represents a big step in the conquest of disease and the maintenance of good health.

Presbyterians Climax Seven Years Of Planning

Seven years of planning and work were climaxed in November, 1963 when the first Presbyterian Church, 701 Runnels, completed a $300,000 building program.

It was the first building program of any significance since a new church at Seventh and Runnels was built in 1929-30. The new program included a sanctuary, several new classrooms and remodeling of the old church building.

The sanctuary, with a seating capacity of 400 is connected with the old building by a long corridor. Classrooms for children of ages two through five, nurseries, a parlor, the Elizabeth McDowell class, and church office rooms open onto the connecting corridor.

A connecting archway from the front of the new sanctuary to the old building encloses a courtyard which opens on the north into the parlor, and on the east into the corridor. The Century class now meets in a larger room, having combined its space in the old building with the room that had been used by three-year-olds.

Other changes in the 1929-30 structure find the Covenant class meeting in the old parlor, the Senior High School group meeting in the old nursery and the old choir room being used for a janitor's storeroom. The existing structure was remodeled and repainted throughout.

The new sanctuary also contains a choir room off to the north and two sound rooms on both sides of the auditorium to provide a smooth and equitable distribution of sound from the organ. A cross high on a wall behind the pulpit can be spotlighted with different colored lights.

The entrance leads into Runnels Street. Opening services were held in the new sanctuary Nov. 10. Formal dedication will not be held until the church is debt free.

A large picture window in the west end of the church carries out the theme: "Jesus Came Preaching," showing Jesus preaching from a boat beside the sea of Galilee. Side windows depict events in the life of Christ. Beginning with the southeast window and continuing along the south side of the sanctuary, then the north side, the windows symbolize: the Annunciation, the Birth of Jesus, the Flight into Egypt, the Boy in the Temple, the Baptism, the Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem; the Lord's Supper, Gethsemane, the Crucifixion, the Resurrection, the Ascension and Pentecost.

Engineers To Meet In Amarillo

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Members of the Texas Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers selected Amarillo for their Oct. 1-3 meeting.

Thirteen members were presented life memberships Friday. They include Henry Nunn of Midland and W. D. Howren of Amarillo.

City's Biggest Church May Add Another Wing

New faces, both personal and in the form of mortar and bricks, are a large part of the First Methodist Church story for the past year.

The big project, still on the drawing boards, is the spacious new building which will be constructed at the present church location—on the site of a former service station. This will

Aggies To Train At Webb AFB

COLLEGE STATION — More than 100 Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets at Texas A&M University will train this summer at Air Force bases, Col. James F. Starkey announced.

The professor of air science said most cadets will go to either James Connally Air Force Base, Waco, or Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring. Half of the 114 Aggies will start the four-week training June 14. The balance reports July 26.

Berea Baptist To Build Again

Berea Baptist Church, with a record of doubling its facilities and trebling its membership since establishment two years ago, is on the verge again of a major enlargement.

Construction of a new sanctuary will be started within a few days, and it will be located in the center of the present U-shaped Berea facility which faces the old San Angelo highway in the southwest part of the city. Space will be provided for 750 worshippers, and much of the work on the building will be done by members themselves. Bonds will be sold to help provide the financing of the new building.

Recently the church successfully launched a day nursery for convenience of working mothers with pre-school children. More playground equipment, toys and books for the child's library are being added. The nursery is open to any child and not merely to those of the church family.

Berea Baptist was started in January, 1962 with 88 charter members as a mission of Hillcrest Baptist. On Jan. 27, 1963, it officially became a church in its own right, and soon an educational wing with 4,500 square feet was added, doubling space for Sunday school, Training Union, etc. Now, 15 months after becoming a church, Berea has 230 members, Sunday school enrollment of 350, Training Union Missionary Union, Brotherhood, Young Women's Association and Royal Ambassador units have been organized.

organized in 1891 by the Dallas Presbytery. The first church building was erected at Fifth and Main in 1895, and it was used by the congregation until the building at Seventh and Runnels was erected.

Eighteen pastors served the church from its beginning in 1891 until 1946, when the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, the present pastor, assumed the pulpit.

One Of City's Newest Pastors

One of the newest in Big Spring is the Rev. Sinforsoso Barrera, minister of the Baptist Mission Le Fe. He assumed his duties here March 8, 1964.

Rev. Barrera was called to the ministry in 1947. He studied at St. Joseph's Academy in Brownsville, Edinburg Junior College and Southwestern University in Georgetown. He has held pastorates in Alpine, Georgetown, Texas City, Gonzales and Alvin. His church here has 120 members and is located in the northern part of Big Spring.

FIRST STRUCTURE

Lutherans To Start Building

Trinity Lutheran Church, temporarily located at 110 Circle Drive, is planning to move into a new $72,000 educational unit in December at the intersection of Marcy and Virginia Streets.

Since Sept. 5, the congregation has been meeting in its present location, a house chapel owned by the minister, Rev. Donald Kenning. Only organized April 28, 1963, the membership

Act Equal, Negroes Told

NEW YORK (AP)—A Negro lawyer, seeking a state Senate seat, says Negroes should look to improve their own community before considering integration.

Cora Walker, 39, said Friday: "We have put the cart before the horse. Integration should not be a goal in itself. We should be demonstrating for better schools in Harlem instead."

As for housing integration, Negroes "should take more pride in their own homes before they worry about living with whites," Mrs. Walker said.

"I feel there must be a movement within this (Harlem) community to improve itself before we can even talk about the questions of integration," she said. "Before you can be equal, you have to act equal. You have to take an equal responsibility."

She charged that many of Harlem's Negroes have a "cock-eyed sense of values," adding: "We Negroes spend $80 million a year for liquor, $75 million for wigs and hairpieces, and for cars we spend close to $150 million."

"In terms of changing the values here in Harlem, we must first create an awareness on the part of the Negroes of their own faults."

St. Thomas Church Has Continuing Growth Here

St. Thomas Catholic Church, 605 N. Main, established in 1910, continues to grow in membership in its second year, after being closed for a year when the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church was built in south Big Spring. The present building, erected in 1911, was completely remodeled, including a new floor, last year.

The Rev. Robert McDermott said the congregations number over 500 for services each Sunday, and that there are between 350 and 400 families listed in the membership. He said a census would be taken of the entire San Angelo diocese May 17, and that the census would show an increase in St. Thomas parish.

The full block of church property, including the parish home, is set at about $45,000. The auditorium of the church will seat 250 persons.

Rev. McDermott holds one mass each Sunday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Coahoma. Many families come to the earlier mass at St. Thomas from Coahoma. Plans are being considered for a new church at Coahoma where the membership is over 50 families, and where the attendance is all the building will hold.

"The remodeling of St. Thomas last year has made the building more inviting and our attendance is regular at each service," Rev. McDermott said.

College Baptist Plans Fourth Building Program

Less than 10 years old, College Baptist is embarking on its fourth major building program—a large sanctuary.

Bids were made available last Monday to contractors, and the church hopes to award a contract following opening of bids May 15. Gary and Hertz are architects.

The sanctuary will face north on Eleventh Place toward Howard County Junior College Campus. It will connect with the present Sunday School classrooms.

Building has been a constant matter for College Baptist since it was created in 1955 as a mission of the First Baptist Church. A sanctuary and four classrooms were provided at the outset, to accommodate the 85 who first attended. Within a couple of years the mission had become a congregation within its own right and had added to its educational wing. In 1959, another addition was made to the west wing when five nursery rooms were constructed.

Within the past 18 months the church has added 250 members and now has a membership of 650. The Rev. Byron Orand, a graduate of Baylor University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, is pastor of this rapidly growing congregation.

Pleads Guilty

Roy Thomas Welborn, under indictment for theft, pleaded guilty to the charge in 118th District Court Friday. Judge Ralph Caton sentenced the defendant to two years in prison and then probated the sentence on good behavior. Welborn was the ninth defendant to plead guilty Friday to indictments returned by the recent Howard County Grand Jury.

Classrooms Are Added

Trinity Baptist Church, 810 Eleventh Place, is constructing a $35,000 educational complex which will take care of the overcrowded facilities in the now-existing Sunday School Annex. The addition will be completely air-conditioned.

Repairs, New Addition Go Up At Trinity Baptist

Trinity Baptist Church, 810 Eleventh Place, is currently in the midst of a $35,000 construction program.

Of the total, $35,000 is being used for the construction of a new educational building at the west end of the auditorium. It will consist of nine classrooms and a nursery, all of which will be air-conditioned during the summer months by two 10-ton refrigerated air units. The new-existing educational unit will continue to be used, but it will be cooled by washed air.

The rest of the money is going toward repairs on the attic above the auditorium. The attic was damaged by fire March 26, which was apparently caused by a short in a neon sign. The underside of the roof was burned, but the flames did not break through the top of the building. The auditorium is cooled by two 15-ton refrigerated units.

Water Stockpiling Test Appears To Be Success

An experiment in stockpiling raw lake water underground is drawing near its first trial period with all the earmarks of success.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District now has injected 156,000 gallons of water from Lake Thomas into a dewatered zone of its Martin County well field. This is only four million gallons short of the target goal, and O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager, said that one well would continue to inject for several days.

Results so far have indicated that the injection has proceeded as well or better than anticipated. Through small observation wells, migration and mounding of the water is being checked.

Three new water wells, drilled and equipped at a cost of $15,000, have been sunk below the injection wells to intercept and recover the lake water. Theory behind the operation is that the district can pump lake water to the field during winter months, when demand is lowest and there is excess

Cosden Predicting '64 Sales At $20 Million

Petrochemical sales of Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., based on first-quarter experience, are expected to pass the $20 million mark by the end of the year. Strategy for achieving this volume was mapped at a chemicals and plastics sales meeting here this week.

The annual sessions are arranged to keep the company's field representatives and distributors informed of product development policies and future plans. Frank Eck, vice president of chemical sales, and Kenneth W. Perry, chemical products manager, coordinated the program with the assistance of Bill Claypool, polystyrene sales manager.

Participating in the sessions were sales representatives Ken Naumann, Steve Stoltz, John Burrell, Charles Wagner, Doane Pickering and Don Smith.

JACK WATKINS

Dealers Elect Watkins To Top Post

Jack Watkins, owner-operator of Good Housekeeping Shop, has been elected governor of the Southwest Region Retail Furniture Dealers Association of Texas. The group of about 50 dealers, with their wives, met in Odessa last week. Watkins succeeds S. E. Patton, Odessa.

At the same meeting, Sam Phillips, Odessa, was named as the outstanding furniture dealer of the year. Marvin King, salesman for Sprague & Carlton, was named outstanding "road runner" (salesman) for the year. He operates out of Dallas.

The Southwest Region extends from Colorado City to Monahans, and from Lamesa southwestward to the Rio Grande, taking in over 20 counties.

Watkins said the association was organized to keep up with trends in the retail furniture business, including legislation affecting dealers, transportation methods and costs, manufacturing changes, and labor relations.

Five furniture dealers in Big Spring are members of the association, Watkins said.

"We are going to make an effort to get the September convention in Big Spring," he said. "We have excellent programs, and many state association officials attend the conventions."

Watkins has been a retail furniture dealer in Big Spring 12 years. He and Mrs. Watkins, who live at 1200 Pennsylvania, have three children. He is active in civic affairs, and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, and the Lutheran church.

Two Cuttings Are Reported

Two cuttings and an unusual accident Friday sent three men to Howard County Hospital Foundation for treatment.

Police said a tire exploded while Clyde Thompson, truck driver, was changing a tire, cutting his hand and face. The accident occurred about 10:45 p.m.

Valente Hernandez, 311 NE 11th, was cut on the head during an altercation in an alley behind 604 NE 9th, about 10 p.m., police said.

Thompson and Hernandez were released from the hospital Saturday.

Another cutting occurred about 4 p.m. Friday at 902 NW 1st, according to police, who said Dennis Harrison was treated at Howard County Hospital Foundation for a cut behind the left ear and released. Police said no charges will be filed.

THE WEEK

tions seem to be spinning wheels. A preliminary report last week got only mediocre response from block chairman, and less than an eighth of the projected goal was subscribed. Maybe we will go back to the old time red and green light strings.

We erred concerning the YMCA gym benefit—not on the benefit per se but on the object of the benefit. Youngsters who put on the show have been working like beavers to raise funds for gym equipment, notably a gym mat.

The clean-up, paint-up, fix-up week got reasonably good response last week. If it is like those of the past, it will prove to be a stimulus and the major part of the cleanup will come as people get infected with the fever.

Chamber of Commerce directors last week gave their blessing to a plan for erecting three major billboards on IS 20 on either side of Big Spring. Lease on these would run about $2,400 per year, but letting cross-country travelers know where our city is and what it has to offer should be worth that. With the loop opening last this summer, time draws short.

Robert Settles gave cause for a bit of home town pride when he captured first place in district Interscholastic League typing contests. He will represent our school in the regional meet. Over in New Mexico there was another cause for pride when Gov. Jack Campbell (N.M.) declared Friday "Charley Johnson Day" for the entire state to honor our hometown boy who is making good in a big, big way with the St. Louis (football) Cardinals. Charles attended college in New Mexico.

Several mishaps occurred in and near Big Spring, none too serious. However, death came to a former Big Springer, John J. McCon, who died in a crash at Merkel while en route here. He may have had a heart attack which caused his car to go out of control.

Oil & Gas Property Management No. 1 Thelma J. Cole has been spotted as a 9,100-foot explorer in extreme northeastern Howard County. It will seek the canyon lime three miles south-east of Vincent. A central east Howard county wildcat continues to deepen, but it has been rumored to have shown production possibility. Roden No. 1-B Read, northwest Sterling venture, flowed 480 barrels from two zones of the Wolfcamp.

City and county commissioners last week appeared to be clearing the last obstacles to the erection of a new rehabilitation center and health unit structure. Agreements for acceptance and operation appeared to be about firm. Previously, the Dora Roberts Foundation had announced $165,000 for the badly needed structure.

In another inter-governmental cooperative move, city and school authorities conferred on joint utilization of some properties. Of most immediate consequence would be use of part of a school ground for a ball park, proving double utility for the tract.

Resignation of Jack Shea as a vice president and director of American Petrofina, has more than casual interest here because of Petrofina's ownership of the Cosden complex. This creates a vacancy on the board which could have special interest locally.

Particular emphasis was placed on polystyrene, polybutene and agricultural chemicals. With polystyrene, Cosden is concentrating on the television and appliance market, the packaging industry and quality toys, to gain a better position in the plastics market. Already a substantial portion of Cosden polystyrene goes into the molding of television cabinets, refrigerator door liners and other major appliances.

Polybutene is used in the caking and sealing industries as a lube oil additive. Other new uses have become possible since Cosden's development of a new polybutene POLYVIS SH. It is recommended for use as an insulating oil for high voltage cable transmission.

For the specialized field of agricultural chemicals, Cosden supplies solvents blended for the agricultural pesticide and insecticide industry, backed by technical service representatives.

In addition to these chemicals, Cosden sales include styrene monomer, benzene, toluene, xylene, paraxylene, orthoxylene, metaxylene and ethylbenzene. Styrene monomer outranks all others in sales volume, with polystyrene in second position. An average of 270 tank trucks loaded with these products moved to market monthly for domestic and foreign consumption.

Police Check Complaints

Police investigated a variety of complaints Friday. Someone took five sets of 2 1/2- to four-inch threading sets valued at $115 each from the Blomshield Bearing and Supply Co., 207 Austin. The theft was discovered at 5 p.m. Friday by Harry Blomshield, owner, police said, but may have occurred during any of the previous four or five days.

Police also investigated complaints of obscene telephone calls to housewives in the 400 block of Dallas and the 2700 block of Lynn.

Teen-agers reportedly were destroying property in Jefferson Park and throwing bottles in the street near Eleventh at Goliad.

A Webb AFB airman told police someone twice attempted to force his car off the road on FM 700 between US 87 south and the base entrance.

IT'S WARM FOR APRIL

The high temperature reading Saturday was 94 degrees in Big Spring — and the mercury is supposed to reach 95 today.

As hot as these readings feel today, they are cool compared to the record readings for this date. Thirty-nine years ago, on the same two days, the temperature registered 101 degrees.

On only two other April days has the temperature reached 100 degrees in Big Spring. The mercury went to 101 on April 25, 1959, and soared to 103 on April 30, 1928.

City and county commissioners last week appeared to be clearing the last obstacles to the erection of a new rehabilitation center and health unit structure. Agreements for acceptance and operation appeared to be about firm. Previously, the Dora Roberts Foundation had announced $165,000 for the badly needed structure.

In another inter-governmental cooperative move, city and school authorities conferred on joint utilization of some properties. Of most immediate consequence would be use of part of a school ground for a ball park, proving double utility for the tract.

Dr. Sloan Jones, head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture entomology division, dropped in unexpectedly Friday to visit Carlton Chapman, Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee chairman and the leader of an effort to get stepped research in cotton pest control. Dr. Jones inspected facilities at the United States Experiment Station, and it is not improbable that the USDA will shortly announce assignment of a veteran researcher and staff to Big Spring to begin studies.

Resignation of Jack Shea as a vice president and director of American Petrofina, has more than casual interest here because of Petrofina's ownership of the Cosden complex. This creates a vacancy on the board which could have special interest locally.

Eastland Asks Pointed Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi Sen. James O. Eastland told the Senate on Saturday it is difficult to understand why President Johnson and other civil rights advocates consider "sit-ins, lie-ins and sleep-ins" violent in the North and peaceful in the South.

"A trespass on private property is equally or more reprehensible than a stall-in on a public road or highway," the South-Eastern spoke in the wake of a series of warnings by Johnson, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Senate civil rights leaders that unruly demonstrations, such as the planned Tuesday of World's Fair traffic in New York City, would slow progress toward bettering the Negro's lot and impair the chances for passage of civil rights legislation.

Joy Puts Him Back In Jail

ROME (AP) — Sheer joy put Roberto Marcelletta back in jail again Saturday, just after finishing a five-year term.

When the former boxer completed his prison sentence for slugging a school teacher, he was so exuberant that he smashed up everything in his cell, then went happily home.

Police came for him and took him back to Regina Coeli Prison, where he'll have to serve two more months for damaging a state-owned building.

New Center

FORT WORTH (AP)—Ground was broken for a $13 million federal center Saturday just west of the City Hall.

Injury Scene

Teen-Ager Injured In Car Collision

John Kee, 17, 800 Main, sustained a cut over the eye about 8:15 p.m. Saturday in a two-car collision at Seventeenth and Johnson.

Police said he was a passenger in the car of Jerry Thornton, 18, 1416 Wood. He was taken to Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital by River-Welch ambulance.

Also involved was Ronald Fife, 18, Webb AFB. The collision occurred as the Thornton car was going north on Johnson and the Fife vehicle was traveling west on Seventeenth, police said. They said damage to both cars was considerable.

David Bronson, 19, a passenger in the Thornton car, was not injured, according to investigating officers.

In another accident investigated by police Saturday, the car of Susan Lewis, 15, 702 Marcy, received about $300 damage as it crashed into a curb at 1710 Austin following a blowout.

Car Thieves Rounded Up

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A roundup of known car thieves was under way today in an attempt to find the slayers of three policemen who were surprised in the dark, shackled with their own handcuffs and then shot repeatedly.

Sheriff Quill Sammon of Gwinnett County said the killings were linked to thieves who have been bringing stolen automobiles into the county and stripping them of parts. A 1963 car, stolen Thursday night in Atlanta, was found 100 yards from the bodies.

Officer Marvin Jesse Gravitt, 52, was shot five times in the head. Jerry R. Everett, 28, was shot three times in the head and once in the hip. Ralph K. Davis, 49, was shot three times in the head.

Everett and Davis were taking Gravitt home after he became ill, but they received a call to investigate two cars on a dirt road. The site was about 20 miles northeast of Atlanta.

Three Die In Lubbock Crash

LUBBOCK (AP)—Three persons died Saturday when a four-place private airplane crashed and burned about a half mile north of the Lubbock Municipal Airport.

The victims were tentatively identified as George Smith, 47, of Augusta, Ga., Mrs. Milton Smith and a young girl, Tam Smith. Their relationship, if any, was not immediately known.

The bodies of the Smiths were still strapped in their seats when rescuers reached them. They were charred beyond recognition.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ben Hecht, the author, died Saturday at the age of 70, leaving a legacy of millions of words in print and on film. An open book and his reading glasses lay beside his body.

In a career which started as a cub reporter, Hecht turned out about 70 motion picture scripts, 26 books, 20 plays and hundreds of short stories and magazine articles.

He recalled being attracted to the profession when "the printed word was king, a writer was somebody and a novelist was an awesome sight."

That year was 1910 in Chicago and Hecht, the New York-born son of immigrants from southern Russia, was a boy of 16 who had run away from home in Racine, Wis., to make his own way in life.

His fabulously successful career embraced almost every form of the written word from newspaper advertisement to poetry.

At his peak he earned $3,500 in one day of writing in Hollywood.

Hecht's wife, former newspaperwoman Rose Caylor, found him in a dressing room of their West 67th Street apartment, the apparent victim of a heart attack. He was kneeling, with his face in a pillow.

She put her lips to his and tried to breathe life back into her husband of 39 years. A police emergency squad administered oxygen.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at the Temple Rodeph Shalom in Manhattan.

Young Man Injured In Accidental Shooting

Larry Wayne Balkum, 19-year-old Miles painter, was accidentally shot with a new .22 caliber pistol he was showing to friends about midnight Friday, according to police.

The shooting occurred at Donald's Drive-In, 2406 S. Gregg, while the young painter was sitting in a car with three friends on the parking lot, police said. He handed the pistol to Mrs. David (Stephanie) Haley, wife of a serviceman stationed at Fort Collins, Colo., and told her to shoot him (because) the gun was not loaded, police explained. However, the pistol was loaded, police said, and one bullet went through the lower lip, the bottom jaw, the tongue and lodged in the back of Balkum's neck. His companions took him to Cowper Clinic-Hospital for treatment following the shooting, police said.

Hospital authorities Saturday said the youth was released Saturday morning to his sister, Mrs. Dewey Pierce of San Angelo, and that he was transferred to a hospital there, where an operation to remove the bullet would be performed. They described his condition as serious, but not critical.

Police said Balkum is an employee of a San Angelo contractor and had been working at Cabot Carbon Co.

Two Arrested In NS Park

Police arrested two men, both 20, in the Northside Park about 5:45 p.m. Saturday in connection with possession of alcoholic beverages. A similar reason was given for the arrest of a 19-year-old about 8 p.m. Saturday in the 300 block of Northwest Fourth.

Police recovered two abandoned bicycles in the City Park about 12:20 p.m. Saturday. Richard Cauble, 1310 Sycamore, reported the theft of a red and white boys' bicycle Saturday morning, police said.

George Holloway was taken to Howard County Hospital following a cutting incident on the North Side Saturday morning, police said, and he was released after receiving treatment.

Charles Peterson, 608 NW 8th, reported the theft of four hubcaps from his car while parked in the 400 block of NW 4th Friday night.

Military police at Webb AFB main gate surprised two persons who were ransacking cars on Webb Lane late Saturday, but they escaped on foot, according to police.

Convoy Passes Here Saturday

One of several Army convoys, from Fort Hood headed west during the past 10 days, was escorted over the Elbow road to Lomax and onto IS 20 west Saturday night.

Big Spring police said requests were made to the highway patrol and sheriff's units for escorts, and the rural route was chosen because there was less traffic.

The convoy Saturday night was going to Arizona from Fort Hood.

Wins TCU Post

FORT WORTH — Mrs. Jean Lineberger Davlin, 707 W. 13th, has been awarded a teaching assistantship at Texas Christian University for the 1964-65 school year, according to Dean Sandy A. Wall, graduate school. She will be working toward a Master of Arts degree in English. Mrs. Davlin is a graduate of Lakeview high school and won a B.A. degree from Southwest Texas State in 1958.

Ben Hecht Dies Of Heart Attack

BEN HECHT

The springboard to fame and riches for Hecht was "The Front Page," the hit play he wrote in collaboration with the late Charles MacArthur, husband of actress Helen Hayes. Their play, laid in the press room of a Chicago court, injected a portrait of romance, drama and humor into the newspaper profession that exists, a stereotype, to this day.

Hecht did the movie scripts for such pictures as "Wuthering Heights," "Notorious," "Spellbound," "Viva Villa," "Scarface," and "Gunga Din." Hecht's novels included such works as "Erik Dorn," "Fantasmas Maltare," and "Perfidy." Among his plays were "Twentieth Century," "The Egotist" and "Fun to Be Free."

Airman Black Wins Webb Honor Award

An airman second class of the 3561st Student Squadron outdistanced eight other airmen in the Webb AFB first Airman of the Quarter award for 1964.

Airman 2.C. James W. Black, physical training specialist in the Student Squadron, won the award for January-March. The award was presented Friday by Col. A. F. Taute, Webb's wing commander.

Nominated were Airman 1.C. Edwin Knox, Hospital; Airman 3.C. Royce A. Plock, Headquarters Squadron; Airman 2.C. Bradley T. Runyon, Support Squadron; Airman 1.C. Norman S. Cousten, Field Maintenance Squadron; Airman 1.C. Donald Ruch, Communications Detachment; Airman 1.C. Teddy L. Morris, Supply Squadron; Airman 3.C. George Laubmeier, 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron; Airman 1.C. Calvin White, Organization Maintenance Squadron; and Airman Black.

For winning the award, Airman Black received a $25 Savings Bond, a three-day pass, relief from fatigue duties 30 days, and a night's stay for two at the Holiday Inn.

Airman Black has completed more than three years of Air Force service. He came on active duty Nov. 7, 1960 and after completing basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in January, 1961, he was assigned to Webb. From January, 1961 until August, 1963 he was a physical conditioning specialist with Personnel Services. He was reassigned to the Student Squadron last August.

He attended the University of Indiana and completed more than three years on a wrestling scholarship, majoring in physical education. While in high school Black was the Indiana State High School wrestling champion as a junior and a senior. In his junior year he held the 112 pound title and in his senior year he held the 127 pound championship.

This year he is training for a spot on the U.S. Olympic Team. He will go to Oklahoma next month for a 30-day training tour and in June will be entered in the Interservice Wrestling Matches at West Point, N.Y. The Olympic trials will be held in August at the World's Fair.

Airman Black is married to the former Florence Parrotta, Morgantown, W. Va. The Blacks have one daughter, Vicki, 23-month-old. They live at 107 W. 19th.

After he completes his Air Force enlistment Airman Black plans to return to college to get a degree.

Displays Planned For Coin Week

National Coin Week, being observed April 18-26, will be noted in Big Spring this week by the Big Spring Coin Club.

The club, now in its third year, began its observance of coin week the first year it was formed. Last year, the club's observance won third place in the nation and the club is the proud owner of a big trophy. This year, the club members are planning to push even higher in national recognition.

Last year, the club contented itself with a handful of coin displays. This year, 26 special displays are being arranged and will be on hand Monday. These will feature many unusual and rare collections of coins. Some displays are already in place. All will be ready by Monday morning.

Dan Kester, president of the club, said that National Coin Week has been officially proclaimed in Big Spring by Mayor George Zachariah. Merchants and institutions, he added, have been cooperative in helping the club with display space.

Victor Barlow is coin week chairman.

He is being assisted by Kester, Orbin Dally and all the 150 active members in the club as well as by numerous outsiders. He said that the offers of rare coins for special displays have been most generous.

The trophy, which the club won in 1963, is on display in the Elmo Wasson show window. W. E. Wozencraft, president in 1963, brought the trophy back from the national collectors convention. Joe Maenner was NWC chairman that year.

The publicity which resulted from the successful observance of coin week, led to a successful coin show in October. At this show, a million dollars worth of rare coins were shown and 1,000 visitors registered at the door.

The coin displays in the 26 windows this week are prominently indicated so that

As the second round leaders faltered, Nicklaus posted a 76 - 66 - 66 - 70 and Souchak, the 1959 Classic champion, collected rounds of 71, 69 and 68 to move into Sunday's final round five under par for the 7,233-yard, par 35-71 Sharpstown Country Club course.

Nicklaus had begun the third round at even par, two strokes behind Souchak and three behind the first place traffic jam of Don January, Billy Maxwell, Buster Cupit and Ramon Sota. Nicklaus and Souchak were one stroke up on Al Geiberger, 26-year-old Californian, who tied Sharpstown's course record with a third round 65 to go with earlier rounds of 74 and 70.

Souchak seeking his first tournament victory since the 1961 Greensboro Open, said he is playing better now than he has at any time in the past two

PENN SCHOOLBOYS TO OPPOSE TEXANS IN FOOTBALL GAME

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania will meet Texas in the 1964 "Big 33" Scholastic All-Star football game, matching two of the nation's top producers of high school talent.

Al Clark, executive sports editor of the Harrisburg Patriot-News and president of the Pennsylvania Big 33, Inc., announced approval of the game Saturday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The Aug. 1 contest at nearby Hershey Stadium will be the seventh renewal of the All-Star game which started in 1958, as Pennsylvania against the nation, then switched to an intrastate East-West battle.

The Pennsylvania team was picked last winter by a panel of 45 sports writers and includes a large number of the 1964 Associated Press All-State team.

The Texas team is in the process of being selected by Fred Cervelli, Orange, Tex., sports editor, and other Lone Star state scholastic writers.

Albert Fierro, Big Spring quarterback, is one of the Texas players who has been invited to perform in the Harrisburg game.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — SMU's blazing half-mile relay team, John Carlien with 4:42 anchor mile Emporia State and Texas A&M strongman Danny Roberts were the standouts of the 39th Kansas Relays Saturday.

Seven meet records were smashed and two equalled in the closing day, bringing the two-day meet harvest to 12 records set or equalled.

Roberts set a shotput record of 60-23. He won the discus 176-9 Friday and is the seventh man in Kansas Relays history to win both weight events the same year.

CBS Wins Right To Title Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System has made the latest move in the pocketbook battle for television rights to pro football—a $1.8 million move for the National Football League's championship game.

CBS pledged that amount per game Friday for the telecasting rights to the NFL's next two championship playoff games, completing the near-incredible bidding for pro football TV rights for the next few years.

The figure is roughly twice the $926,000 paid for the 1963 game and is a record for a one-day sports event for home television. This, of course, excludes the closed-circuit telecasts of heavy weight championship fights.

The two-year pact was announced jointly by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and William MacPhail, vice president in charge of CBS-TV sports. It's the first time CBS has had rights to the NFL title game.

In a prepared statement, Rozelle said:

"Negotiations for the two-year agreement were limited to CBS-TV because each of the other two major networks have contracts with the American Football League to televise regular season games during the period of this contract, and one of these networks is committed to carry the AFL playoff game in 1964.

"Therefore it is considered in the best interest of the National Football League to keep its championship game free of any possible conflict of interest, especially in the area of promotion."

The deal completes the line-up for telecasting of football for the next couple of years. Most of the arrangements have been negotiated in the past few months.

The line-up:

CBS — NFL championship games in 1964 and 1965, $1.8 million per game.

CBS — NFL regular season games in 1964 and 1965, $28.2 million for the package.

ABC — AFL regular season games for 1964, $2.35 million for the package.

NBC — AFL regular season games for five years, starting in 1965, $36 million for the package.

NBC — AFL regular season college games for 1964 and 1965, $13 million for the package.

Odessa Wins Golf Match

AMARILLO—Odessa College's No. 1 golf team swept past all Western Junior College Conference opposition easily Friday as the Wrangler tandem of Leon Anderson and Bob Archer posted a six-over-par 146 on the Amarillo Country Club course.

The score, eight strokes lower than any other twosome, boosted the Odessa team into a commanding first place lead among 100 teams with 34 points. The Odessa No. 2 team, the next closest crew, has 25½ points.

The Howard County team finished seventh in a tie with Amarillo, each tandem carding a 66. Howard County slipped from sixth to seventh place in conference rankings.

There are two round-robin matches left.

Anderson was medalist for the day with a 68.

1. Odessa No. 1 (146); 2. NMAMI No. 1 and South Plains (154); 4. Frank Phillips No. 1 (155); 5. Odessa No. 2 (156); 6. Frank Phillips No. 1 (158); 7. Howard County and Amarillo (160); 8. NMAMI No. 2 (171).

Water Levels Fall Sharply At Lake Travis

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

Property owners at Lake Travis, who formerly put out their boats from atop steep slopes, now face 50-foot cliffs because of that Central Texas lake's falling water levels, says the manager of the Lower Colorado River Authority.

To get into such a boat from that height would be like trying to get into a car from the third floor of a building.

The manager, Slim Gideon, said unless there are some major rainfalls on the Colorado River watershed before October, Travis' level will go down to 610 feet, an all-time low.

The Parks and Wildlife Department's office at LaPorte has good news for fishermen—the annual spring run of flounder is under way. One catch of 30 flounder weighing from one to three pounds already has been reported at rollover pass at Gilchrist on Bolivar Peninsula.

Some 200,000 fingerling bass were placed in the new Bastrop lake recently, the first of many stockings designed to make the Central Texas lake a fine fishing spot. Catfish and sunfish will be stocked there soon.

In West Texas, $15 marine fish fingerlings from the Gulf of Mexico were placed in the Red Bluff reservoir on the Pecos River. The fingerlings included 368 redfish, six speckled trout, 15 flounder, 25 pincher and 50 shrimp.

The annual Texoma Fish bowl, counterpart of the Texas-Oklahoma college football game each fall, has been set for Oct. 23 at Lake Texoma Lodge. Oklahoma anglers won the first contest. Texas won last year.

In less than a week, Texas fishermen will compete for the championship of the State Bass Tournament. The meet is set for April 23 at East Texas' Lake o' the Pines.

The Big Spring Tigers open their 1964 baseball season in a doubleheader with the Lamesa Lobos in Lamesa today, starting at 1 p.m.

Tony Fierro will probably hurl the opening game for the locals. Johnny Subia will be available for relief work on the mound.

Santiago Lopez will mount the knob for Big Spring in the second game. His relief could be Joe Cadenhead.

Starters for the Tigers in the opening game will be Roy Esparza, catcher; Andy Gamboa, third base; Albert Mendoza, center field; Tom Arista Jr., left field; Herbert Perez, second base; Billy Weatherall, first base; Robert Hambrick, right field; and Jimmy Fierro, shortstop.

The Tigers are booked to play every Sunday through the spring and summer.

Stanton Qualifies Two For Regional

CRANE — Stanton qualified two boys in three events for Regional competition in the District 7-AA track and field meet, which was conducted here Friday.

They are Donnie Polson, second in both the discus throw and shot put, and Royce Hamilton, runnerup in the 120-yard high hurdles.

McCamery won only two first places and tied for another but finished first in the meet, with a total of 132 points.

Crane was second with 118½, followed by Alpine, 102½; Sonora, 77; and Stanton, 62.

The regional meet takes place in Lubbock Friday and Saturday, with the Class AA boys due to begin competition at 10:30 a.m. Friday. Finals in all running events start at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Crane won five first places

Sonora copped the broad jump and both hurdles while Alpine won the sprint relay, 440-yard run and mile relay.

Rudy Montez won the mile in 4:53.4 and was followed across the finish line by two team mates.

McCamery also won the ninth and eighth grade track meet held in conjunction with the varsity show.

Rusty Joey Giardello Is Narrow Winner In Ring

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I was on the banquet circuit too long." That's how middleweight champion Joey Giardello explained his hard-fought split decision over unranked Juan Rocky Rivero in a 10-round, nontitle fight here.

Rivero wasn't Giardello's dish Friday night. He gave the champion all he could handle. Only one point separated them on each official's card.

"I was a little rusty from being off so long," said the 33-year-old champion after his first fight since beating Dick Tiger for the title last Dec. 7. Giardello weighed 163 pounds, Rivero 160, for the nationally televised fight.

"The worst I should have gotten was a draw," Rivero, 26-year-old Argentine middleweight champ, said through his manager and interpreter, Sid Martin. "I could have gone 20 more rounds." Rivero, virtually unmarked after the overwork fight, indicated he should get a re-match because "I'm entitled to revenge."

But Rivero appeared happy with his showing and joked with an entourage of Spanish-speaking admirers.

Giardello, 33, slugged toe-to-toe with the ever-pressing Rivero in several rounds, but was at his best flicking left jabs, hooks and counterpunches.

There were no knockdowns. Judge Bill Thomson and referee Tony LaBranch had Giardello the winner, 46-45, while Charlie Bill gave it to Rivero by the same score. The Associated Press saw Rivero as the winner, 45-44.

The victory was Giardello's sixth straight and improved his record to 102-22. Rivero has a 41-11 record.

Bradley Pleased Over Recruits

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Basketball Coach Harold Bradley made public Saturday a list of 10 recruits, including five players 6 foot 6 or taller.

Two are junior college transfers. The others will enroll as freshmen.

"We're pleased, real pleased," said Bradley who has been at Texas for five years. "On paper, it's the best group we've had since I've been here."

The junior college players, who will be eligible for varsity competition next season, are Mike Wade, 6-8, from New Mexico Military Institute, and Mickey White, 6-6, Tyler Junior College.

Three incoming freshmen—6 foot 8 Mike Lochner of Graham, 6-2 Billy Arnold of Fort Worth Haltom and 6-6 Gary Overbeck of Hobbs, N.M.—were all-state players in high school.

The other recruits are Larry Lake, 6-3, Fort Worth Haltom; Kirk Lawrence, 6-2, Austin McCallum; John Matzinger, 6-3, Graham; Don Ray, 6-5, Abilene Cooper; and Ronnie Wilson, 6-6, San Antonio Marshall.

TES, 331st Record Wins In League Here Friday

The 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron went extra innings to topple Forsan Oil Well Service, 6-3, and Texas Electric scored in every round to defeat Skateland, 8-3, in American Softball League games played in the City Park Friday night.

A three-run home run by Boyce in the eighth inning, which came with none out, enabled the 331st to turn back Forsan.

Forsan plated all of its runs in the first inning but the Webb team tied the count with a two-run fifth.

The 331st outthrew the Forsan club, 7-5. James Fluey collecting three blows for the winners. Skateland got off to a fine start in its outing with TESCO, scoring three times in the 'ello' frame, but Joe Blasingame shut the door after that and wound up hurling a six-hitter for Texas Electric.

Texas Electric cracked a total of 11 hits, including four by Tom Enloe. Enloe batted in a total of five runs for the red-hot Electricians.

Phil Stovall had two of Skateland's five safeties.

New Oil Continues To Drop Sharply

Production of new oil in area counties continued to drop in March as the month's figures indicate that new potential dipped 1,275 barrels from the previous month. It followed a similar trend established the month before.

In February, 38 oilers finished 3,816 barrels, including 217 barrels of oil in discoveries. The total was down almost a fourth from January's 5,047 count. March's 2,541 barrels continued the drop.

Three counties led in completions—Howard, Mitchell and Borden—each finishing six projects, but Borden County led in the amount of new potential showing 822 barrels for the month. The barrels of new oil for one county was greatly decreased from Dawson County's 1,293 barrels during February. The six wells plugged and abandoned were twice as many as the previous month.

BORDEN
Borden County made the greatest comeback from the totals it showed in February. During that month, there were no completions. But the six completions in March showed 822 barrels of new oil, 143 barrels of it being from wildcats. The county's Good, Southeast field produced the most potential of any field in any area county as it showed 408 barrels for March.

There were two new locations in the Good, Southeast and Spraberry Trend areas with one wildcat being plugged and abandoned.

DAWSON
Dawson County dipped in new potential from the month of February. March's 496 barrels was 797 barrels down from February's 1,293 barrels. The Welch and Ackery fields accounted for most of the new oil with 266 and 209 barrels respectively.

There were eight new locations. One is a prospecter, while the Ackery, Patricia, Smith and Spraberry Sand fields also had one new location apiece and the Welch showed three new attempts. One wildcat was plugged and abandoned.

GARZA
Garza County had four com-

Petroleum Course Is Slated This Week

LUBBOCK—A chemist, two petroleum engineers and one mechanical engineer will be on the feature panel during the 11th annual Southwestern Petroleum Short Course on the Texas Tech campus April 23-24.

The quartet will discuss producing, handling and treating water for water injection projects. This discussion will center around the processing of three specific types of water used in waterflood projects.

During the course of the discussion, panel members will recommend operating procedures designed to insure water quality and control of all types of injection.

Panel moderator is Richard J. Cassin, district engineer in the secondary recovery department, Forest Oil Corporation.

Harold J. Frost of Midland will discuss aerated fresh water. Frost is senior operations engineer with the Atlantic Refining Co. in Midland. A veteran of 18 years in the oil business, Frost holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Tulsa.

pletions in four fields—Dorward, Kirkpatrick, Post, and Rucker A—with the four accounting for 218 barrels of new potential. There were four new locations, two being prospectors, and the other two in the Dorward and Rucker A fields. No projects had to be plugged and abandoned.

GLASSCOCK
In Glasscock County, five fields came in for only 66 barrels of oil as two were plugged and abandoned and two were water supply wells. The only producer, C. W. Guthrie No. 2 Jack Berry, finished March 23 in the Zant (San Andres) for the 66 barrels. There was one new location, in the Howard-Glasscock field, and two wells plugged and abandoned, one a wildcat and the second in the McDowell field.

HOWARD
Howard County's six completions came up with 315 barrels of new oil as three completions were seen in both the Howard-Glasscock and Snyder fields. The Howard-Glasscock field, while the others were in the Coahoma, Snyder and Wesson fields and a prospecter. No wells were plugged and abandoned.

MARTIN
Martin County was the only area county showing no completions during the month of March. The only activity in the county being the filing of two new locations, both wildcats.

MITCHELL
In Mitchell County, the six finalists pumped 383 barrels of new oil with only the Turner-Gregory field coming in with more than one completion, as the two in that field showed 132 barrels. One wildcat also came in along with wells in the Iatan, East Howard, Sharon Ridge (1700) and the Westbrook.

Eight new locations were filed, four being in the Iatan-East Howard field and two in the Westbrook field. Others were in the Turner-Gregory and previously untied zones. There were no plugged and abandoned wells.

STERLING
The final county in the area, Sterling County, pumped 241 barrels of new oil from five completions as four wildcats accounted for 192 barrels of the total. The final producer was in the Elkay field.

As in two of the other counties, there were eight new locations, three being wildcats. Others were in the Elkay, Parochial Bode, East, Spade, Turner-Gregory, and Westbrook fields. Two wildcats were plugged and abandoned.

New Projects To Be Drilled

Humble Oil & Refining Company will drill two 7,200-foot projects as outposts to the Sterling County sector of the Jameson (Strawn) pool, 18 miles northwest of Robert Lee.

No. 19-1 Lou E. Johnson is a one-mile north and west outpost and spots 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 65-2, H&T survey. It is on 8,640 acres.

No. 20-1 Johnson is a one-mile southwest stepout and is 560 feet from the south and 1,930 feet from the west lines of section 28-2, H&T survey. It will drill on an 8,640 acre lease also.

Shell Moves Two Employees

MIDLAND—C. P. Bristol, vice president of Shell Oil Company's Midland area, announces the following staff changes effective May 1. J. L. Brown, presently gas manager for Midland area, will assume the position of manager-gas pipeline development. S. M. Paine, now chief-gas utilization, Houston area, will succeed Brown as gas manager for the Midland area.

After graduating from Louisiana State University with a B.S. degree in Petroleum Engineering, Brown joined Shell May 15, 1933, as a gauger in the manufacturing department at Norco, La. He worked in various positions until Jan. 1, 1935, when he was promoted to gas engineer at Long Beach, Calif. Later, on Sept. 1, 1936, he was made foreman, absorption plant and worked in three California plants at Santa Maria, Bakersfield and Ventura. He was named assistant manager, gas at Los Angeles in 1945, a senior engineer at Houston in 1947 and gas manager at Midland Jan. 1, 1948.

S. M. Paine joined the company in 1948 as a mechanical engineer in California, and from 1953 to 1955 Paine had assignments as an exploitation engineer in Houston and Denver. In 1955 Paine was promoted to area petrophysical engineer in Houston and served in the same capacity in New Orleans. From 1958 to 1960, he served as division exploitation engineer in the Delta Production Division in Westwego, La. In 1960 and 1961, Paine was on assignment in New York and became chief-gas utilization for the Houston area in 1962.

Paine was born in Sentinel, Okla., and served as a U. S. Navy lieutenant in the Pacific during World War II. He received a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering from Stanford University after the war.

Justice Department Moves On Antitrust

HOUSTON (AP)—The Justice Department's decision this week to try to block a $329 million oil transaction didn't shock the industry.

A similar antitrust action involving an even larger deal has been under way in a San Francisco Federal Court since February.

Fear of such action has ended several other major merger and purchase transactions ever since the Justice Department sanctioned the $144 million merger of the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky with the Standard Oil Co. of California in 1961.

This week's action seeks to halt an agreement by the Humble Oil & Refining Co. to buy certain western properties of the Tidewater Oil Co. for $329 million. The petition seeking an injunction against the deal prior to trial of the case alleges the transaction would eliminate actual and potential competition in the sale of petroleum products.

The San Francisco trial dates back to 1961 when the Honolulu Oil Corp. sold its properties to the Pan American Petroleum Corp. and to Tidewater for about $356 million.

Preliminary and permanent injunctions were denied in 1961 in the Honolulu case. The Justice

Oil Scouts Will Meet

AUSTIN — The International Oil Scouts Association will hold its 41st Annual Meeting June 24-27, 1964 in the Captain Shreve Hotel, Shreveport, La. Cliff Burgess, second vice president in charge of the meeting, announced today.

Five speakers have been named to address the meeting Friday, June 26. Officers will be elected the following day.

Scheduled to speak to the scouts are Jack A. Horner, president of Shell Pipe Line Corporation, Houston, Texas; G. P. Brown, Shreveport, La., independent oil man; J. C. Templeton, vice president in charge of production and exploration for the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company; Phillip E. LaMoine, Alabama State Geologist and oil and gas supervisor; and Paul N. (Red) Adair, Houston, Texas, fire and blow-out specialist.

Department then launched the divestiture case that is expected to continue at least several weeks longer in San Francisco.

A pre-trial brief filed in the San Francisco case gave possible indication of the Justice Department's long-range thinking toward major mergers and purchases within the oil industry.

The brief minimized a fear of elimination of competition but argued the purchase of an integrated producer by a major dependent producer by a major integrated company should be declared illegal.

The pre-trial brief said: "What we propose to show is the (Honolulu) acquisition is part of a trend which, if not stopped, threatens an undue restriction in the number of independent producers and independent refiners by concentrating ownership of domestic production of 20 or so large integrated oil companies."

A footnote in the brief listed the 20 major companies, including the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Jersey Standard, the parent firm of Humble, was named a defendant in the suit filed this week in Los Angeles. Indiana Standard, the parent firm of Pan American Petroleum, is a defendant in the San Francisco case.

The Humble-Tidewater suit was filed only two weeks after the Supreme Court held that the El Paso Natural Gas Co. must divest itself of the Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. it acquired in 1957. The Federal Power Commission, ignoring an antitrust suit filed by the Justice Department in 1957, authorized the transaction and the merger of the two gas pipeline firms became effective in late 1959.

Socony Mobil Oil Company, Inc., reported last week that 1963 marked the fourth consecutive year in which its profits increased at a faster rate than the volumes of oil it produced, refined, and sold.

The company's annual report, now being mailed to shareholders, showed net income of $271.9 million in 1963, an increase of 12.2 per cent over 1962's $242.3 million. The 1963 figure includes $5.5 million calendar-year earnings of Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation, which was merged with Socony Mobil last November.

Socony Mobil's per-share earnings were $5.44 in 1963, compared with $4.98 in 1962, based on the average number of year—49,964,827 in 1963 and 48,663,371 in 1962.

Cash dividends paid in 1963 rose to $2.60 a share, including an extra dividend of 20 cents a share paid in December. The quarterly dividend rate, which was raised from 50 cents to 60 cents a share in January, 1963, was increased in January, 1964, to 65 cents a share.

About 10 per cent of the motor fuel consumed in the United States is used by America's more than 11 million farm vehicles.

A recent government report said these vehicles used more than 6 billion gallons of gasoline, diesel oil, liquefied petroleum gas and other motor fuels during 1959, the year of a special census.

The report said there were 4.7 million tractors, 2.8 million trucks and 3.6 million cars on America's farms.

Stripper Wells Big Producers Of Petroleum

Stripper wells—those oil wells whose production averages less than 10 barrels a day—account for more than one-fifth of the nation's output of crude oil.

At the start of 1963 there were more than 406,000 such wells in the United States. Their production amounted to 1.6 million barrels a day—21.7 per cent of the nation's total. About two out of three of the nation's producing oil wells are classified as strippers.

During 1962, the last year for which complete figures are available, production from these wells amounted to 882 million barrels.

Senior Golfer

Mrs. Dora Spangler poses with her golf clubs and tallies her score. The 85-year-old woman took up golf and bowling after passing her 80th birthday and now golfs two or three times a week. Her golf score averages 153 and her bowling 75. She was left a widow and took up golf in 1959 when she "began to feel kind of lost." (AP Wirephoto)

Tiny Octogenarian Finds Fun In Golf, Bowling

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Sports fans who think golf or bowling is the life have solid support from Dora Spangler, who took up both after passing her 80th birthday.

Mrs. Spangler became 85 last March, plays 18 holes of golf two or three times a week, weather permitting, and bowls at least once a week.

The tiny octogenarian has a golfing average of 155, a bowling average of 75 and hopes some day to reverse those scores.

Her sports life started in 1959, several years after she became a widow and "I began to feel kind of lost," she said.

"My daughter played golf and she wanted to take me," Mrs. Spangler explained. "I never been on a course in my life and didn't know which end of the club to use."

"But I started and I've been at it ever since. I love it," she said. She plays three days a week.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Spangler has three sons, eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Spangler walks the courses, pulling her own golf cart.

"I never had a caddy but once," she said. "I get along very well by myself."

Monday nights she bowls in a local women's league.

Ten Teams Enter Softball Loop

Some 10 teams are entered in the base softball league which began action Monday evening.

In Monday's action 3561st PTS dropped the Hospital 13-3 and the 3560th PTS overwhelmed Headquarters 33-1.

Two games are scheduled each Monday and Wednesday until the third week of July. Game time is 7:30 and 9 p.m.

A double elimination tournament will be held beginning July 23, with the winner representing the base at the Air Training Command softball tourney Aug. 12-16 at Lackland AFB.

Next week's games are Supply vs. FMS and 3561st PTS vs. Headquarters, and on Wednesday it will be 3560th PTS vs. OMS and Hospital vs. 331st FTS.

Jim Langdon Due Friday In Vote Appeal

Candidate for one of the major political offices in the state, Jim C. Langdon who seeks a full elective term on the Railroad Commission, will be in Big Spring Friday.

Judge Langdon's current schedule is for him to arrive here around 10 a.m., to remain for a brief period. A reception and coffee hour in his honor will be held in the First Federal Savings & Loan Community Room, and all persons are invited to attend.

Supporters of Judge Langdon said he probably will make brief remarks and be prepared to answer questions. They urged all voters to come meet the candidate.

Judge Langdon was serving as chief justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals when Governor John Connally drafted him to take the place on the Railroad Commission made vacant by the resignation of William Murray. He has established a record of deep knowledge and quick understanding of Texas transportation interests and its vast oil affairs.

Judge Langdon, holding to the state's historic conservation practices, has gone on record that he will follow practices to keep "stripper" or marginal wells alive. He is reiterating his stand against federal control of the oil industry.

RITA RICHARDSON

Named For Annual Award

Rita Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Richardson, has been nominated for the annual Achievement Awards Program, sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE).

Rita is a Big Spring High School junior who plans to pursue a career in architectural design upon graduation. She is a member of the National Honor Society and the Library Club at BSHS.

For the seventh year, the council is conducting the national awards competition to grant recognition to outstanding high school seniors for excellence in English. The writing abilities and literary awareness of each nominee will be judged by local and state committees.

Rita will take standardized tests and submit samples of creative writing in competing with students from all 50 states.

NCTE will announce the winners in December, 1964, and will send their names to every U.S. college and university with the recommendation that these students be considered for scholarship.

Cub Pow Wow Date Fixed

A real extravaganza for Cub Scout leaders is being shaped in a Cub Pow Wow set for May 2.

Bill Crocker, chairman of the Pow Wow, said that the event was planned as one of the biggest events of the year for volunteer leaders among the younger boys. It is designed as an aid and stimulus for the Cub program.

The Pow Wow will be held in the First Methodist Church basement from 12:30 to 5:15 p.m. There will be exhibits from every pack in the Lone Star District, and a midway will be filled with homemade games.

"This will be a fun-filled conference for den mothers, den dads, committeemen, cubmasters and prospective leaders," said Crocker. "The Pow Wow is intended as a place for folks to exchange new program ideas." Each pack is asked to have at least one leader in each of the two sections to be held in connection with the exhibits. One section is for cubmasters, den dads and committeemen and will deal with pack administration and games. The other section is for den mothers and prospective den mothers and will deal with skits and puppets, also with handicraft and materials. Fee for the big Cubbing demonstration will be $1, Crocker said.

Most Of State Needs A Good General Rain

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—

There is a growing need for moisture in widespread areas of Texas. The high-flying dust which came from the northwest and settled over the state Monday emphasized the need.

A good general rain, said John E. Hutchison, director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, would solve a lot of problems.

Generally, he added, farmers continued to make good progress with land preparation, springing coastal bermuda grass and planting. Moisture conditions were described by Hutchison as spotted but vegetation was responding to the spring-like temperatures.

By extension districts, the situation in the Panhandle continues to find soil moisture short over the entire area, said W. W. Grisham Jr. from Amarillo.

High winds have done some damage. Some insect damage to wheat has been reported and spraying for control is underway, and pastures and ranges are generally below average.

South Plains irrigated wheat is good but wheat and other dryland small grains need rain now, said W. H. Jones from Lubbock. Small grains in the southern counties of the area have reached the boot stage.

Grain sorghum planting is picking up steam and some cotton has been planted.

Showers fell in spots but all Rolling Plains counties need rain, reported James Simmons from Vernon. High winds have dried the top soil and hail did some damage in two counties. Small grain needs moisture to keep it growing and stock tanks are low in a few counties.

Everything is green and growing and moisture is adequate over most of the North Central Texas area, reported Ted Martin from Denton. Small grains continue to make excellent growth; pastures and ranges are making a fast recovery. He estimated half of the corn and grain sorghum acreage was now planted.

The overall moisture situation in Northeast Texas is favorable, said R. S. Loftis from Mt. Pleasant, but, he added, a high percentage of the fruit crop in the northern counties was lost to the last freeze.

The warmer weather has helped grass and crop growth where moisture is available, but general soaking rains are needed in far West Texas, reported Ray Siegmund from Ft. Stockton. Prospects for fruit from home orchards are good; livestock are in fair to good condition but eagles and varmints are working on the kid and lamb crops in the Big Bend area.

"Wheat is in the boot stage and hurting for moisture. We need a general rain in West Central Texas," said Roy Huckabee, from San Angelo. He listed the Hill Country fruit prospects as good and said live-rain, reported James Simmons from Vernon. High winds have and drivers involved: 1512 Gregg, Joe Cramer, Box 344, Coahoma, and Maxine Boardman, 2514 E. 24th; 1706 Gregg, Nelda Whitman, 2054 Galveston, and parked car of unknown motorist; 2406 Gregg, James Wood, 703 E. 15th, and Robert Litwin, 1519 A Sycamore; 400 block of East Ninth, Russell Krause Jr., 903 Nolan, and Merritt Barnes, 2307 Daphne.

Three Injured In Two Friday Wrecks

Three persons received minor injuries in two separate motor vehicle accidents Friday.

Charles W. Head, son of Col. Charles W. Head Jr., Webb AFB, was taken to the base hospital by a base ambulance about 6 p.m. Friday after his car apparently was in collision with a utility pole in the 2600 block of Wason Road, police said. The youth's condition was described as good. Damage to the pole was estimated at $95, and damage to the car was set at $375, according to police, who said the accident occurred as the youth, 17, was going north on Wason Road.

Also injured Friday were Mrs. Mannie Jenkins, Route 1, and Janet Butts, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Butts, 2002 S. Monticello. Police said neither person was injured seriously enough to require hospitalization.

Janet was a passenger in the car of her mother. Police said Mrs. Jenkins was traveling east on Fourth and the collision occurred as Mrs. Butts was traveling south on Nolan. Police said the impact knocked the Jenkins vehicle several feet from the intersection. It came to rest near a hedge at the northeast corner of the police station building.

Damage to the Butts car was estimated at $125, and damage to the other vehicle was set by police at $200.

Locations of other accidents investigated Friday by police

No Plaudits For Exposing

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Frank Starzel, former general manager of The Associated Press, said Saturday night the tough but primary function of a journalist in these days of crises is "one of leadership through dispassionate exposition of basic truth."

Speaking at the awards dinner of the Texas A&M Journalism Department, he also said the dedicated newsman can expect no immediate plaudits while exposing skeletons in private, public and political closets.

"No statues will be erected nor hymns of praise sung in thanksgiving for your efforts—at least contemporaneously," Starzel said.

"You'll never be all things to all men if you are doing your job. It's possible that you may not always be right. But right or wrong, you have only one mind and one conscience to follow if you want to be true to yourself and your profession," Crocker said.

Most Of State Needs A Good General Rain

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—There is a growing need for moisture in widespread areas of Texas. The high-flying dust which came from the northwest and settled over the state Monday emphasized the need.

Good general rain, said John E. Hutchison, director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, would solve a lot of problems. Generally, he added, farmers continued to make good progress with land preparation, sprigging coastal bermuda grass and planting moisture conditions were described by Hutchison as spotted but vegetation was responding to the spring-like temperatures.

By extension districts, the situation in the Panhandle continues to find soil moisture short over the entire area, said W. W. Grisham Jr. from Amarillo.

High winds have done some damage. Some insect damage to wheat has been reported and spraying for control is under way, and pastures and ranges are generally below average. South Plains irrigated wheat is good but wheat and other dry-land small grains need rain and now, said W. H. Jones from Lubbock. Small grains in the southern counties of the area have reached the boot stage. Grain sorghum planting is picking up steam and some cotton has been planted.

Showers fell in spots but all listed the Hill Country fruit Rolling Plains counties need prospects as good and said live-rain, reported James Simmons from Vernon. High winds have dried the top soil and hail did some damage in two counties. Small grain needs moisture to keep it growing and stock tanks are low in a few counties.

Everything is green and growing and moisture is adequate over most of the North Central Texas area, reported Ted Martin from Denton. Small grains continue to make excellent growth, pastures and ranges are making a fast recovery. He estimated half of the corn and grain sorghum acreage was now planted.

The overall moisture situation in Northeast Texas is favorable, said R. S. Loftis from Mt. Pleasant, but, he added, a high percentage of the fruit crop in the northern counties was lost to the last freeze.

The warmer weather has helped grass and crop growth where moisture is available, but general soaking rains are needed in far West Texas, reported Ray Siegmund from Ft. Stockton. Prospects for fruit from home orchards are good; live-stock are in fair to good condition but eagles and varmints are working on the kid and lamb crops in the Big Bend area.

"Wheat is in the boot stage and hurting for moisture. We need a general rain in West Central Texas," said Roy Huckabee, from San Angelo. He listed the Hill Country fruit prospects as good and said live-rain, reported James Simmons from Vernon. High winds have soil moisture in East Texas continues adequate but the high winds were drying out surface moisture.

Rains in far South Texas early in the week have helped the situation but they did not cover the entire area, said W. H. Lehmberg from Weslaco.

Five screwworm cases were reported last week—three in Starr and one each in Hidalgo and Medina counties. Onions and carrots continued to move in volume, but cabbage shipments are light, Lehmberg said.

Three Injured In Two Friday Wrecks

Three persons received minor injuries in two separate motor vehicle accidents Friday.

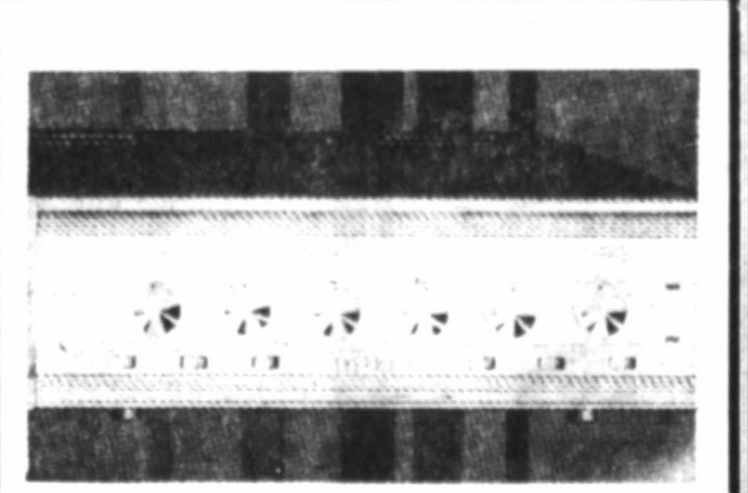

Charles W. Head, son of Col. Charles W. Head Jr. Webb AFB, was taken to the base hospital by a base ambulance about 6 p.m. Friday after his car apparently was in collision with a utility pole in the 2600 block of Wason Road, police said. The youth's condition was described as good. Damage to the pole was estimated at $95, and damage to the car was set at $375, according to police, who said the accident occurred at the youth 17, was going north on Wason Road.

Also injured Friday were Mrs. Mannie Jenkins, Route 1, and Janet Butts, 4 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Butts, 2002 S. Monticello. Police said neither person was injured seriously enough to require hospitalization.

Janet was a passenger in the car of her mother. Police said Mrs. Jenkins was traveling east on Fourth and the collision occurred as Mrs. Butts was traveling south on Nolan. Police said the impact knocked the Jenkins vehicle several feet from the intersection. It came to rest near a hedge at the northeast corner of the police and station building.

Damage to the Butts car was estimated at $125, and damage to the other vehicle was set by police at $200.

Locations of other accidents investigated Friday by police

Ream Home Selected For Foreign Student

By MARY COCHRAN
Members of the R. J. Ream family at 508 Highland Drive will be sharing their home and hearts with a foreign student next year.

They have been selected by the American Field Service to receive a teen-age boy as a family member for the coming year.

This foreign student exchange project — being started here for the first time in August — had its inception locally in the student council at Big Spring High School, a program that was sparked by Sebron Williams, assistant superintendent, and Harold Bentley, assistant high school principal.

Selection of the family was made by the field service in

New York from reports compiled by a local committee composed of community leaders. John Burgess serves as chairman, assisted by Joe Pickle, Wade Choate, Harold Bentley, the Rev. Byron Orand, Mrs. Matt Harrington, and Terry Cauble, student representative.

The Reams do not yet know who the student will be. They do know he will be a high school senior from one of 63 countries, that he will speak English, and that the New York office will have "matched" the visitor as nearly as possible to the family.

They saw this program in action when they lived in Andrews three years ago and had made application for a student then. Mrs. Ream was not old enough at that time under the rules set up by the service. The family is delighted that it was chosen this year by the AFS.

STUDENTS VISITED
Mr. and Mrs. Ream interviewed two exchange students last week when they were attending a Rotary convention in Sweetwater. One of the first questions Mrs. Ream asked was how the visitors felt about American cooking. She was pleased to know that food had posed no problem for them and also to find they had been so busy that there was no time for homesickness.

The two boys in the Ream household, Rickey, 17, and Jimmy, 13, are making plans for entertaining their houseguest. They will share their interest in music, tennis and golf. The family swimming pool and the home stereo will be sources for family fun.

Family trips to points of interest in the community and surrounding areas are being studied by the family as they prepare to introduce their guest to America as he live here in West Texas.

There are 2,560 foreign exchange students sponsored by the AFS in the United States today, and 19 countries are taking part in this exchange program. The student council is responsible for $700 for passage to the States, medical expenses, transportation within the United States, and a personal allowance.

Qualifications for selection of the family as outlined by the AFS are listed as, "A heart—large enough to share a portion with another child from another land for a year."

Also, "A mind—open to the different life and culture the student will bring with him, open to accepting him for his differences and not for his similarities. And a share of laughter and gaiety to shrink the problems which may come up and to strengthen the bonds of communication."

Mattress Proves Easy To Handle

Latex foam rubber mattresses are thinner than ordinary inner-spring units.

The slim foam rubber models are paired with special box-springs that are extra-thick, so that the surface of the mattress is at a normal height. The thinner mattress is easier to handle because it is flexible and lightweight, yet there is no loss of comfort because the foam rubber is so resilient.

These foam rubber mattresses never require turning, because the rubber does not mat down the way cotton or other fiber padding does.

FEMININE, ELEGANT AND WEARABLE

Hats Head For Fashionable Spring

By JO BRIGHT

The wonderful look in hats that says, "Spring-1964," is exceeded only by the liting language used to describe it. After a long, perhaps boring, winter what woman could resist the adventure promised if she owns a chapeau that is "deu- cedly flirtatious," "fetchingly mysterious," or simply "so out- ragedly romantic as to be downright dangerous"? None. Any woman with a brain in her pretty head is going to crown it with a cloche, top it with a turban or bare it with a beguiler.

In the opinion of Peter Brandos, fashion director of New York's famous custom fashion house, "Mr. John," no fashion silhouette is complete without a hat.

"It's like hanging a picture without a frame," he said recently when interviewed in Montreal. "The hair alone cannot frame the face. Some women today are frying and baking and spraying their heads but they are still not fully dressed without a hat."

Women, he suggested, should use fashion to attract the opposite sex. A woman who doesn't upset a man with a new hat hasn't accomplished the right effect, he said.

"A man may not like your hat, but at least he should look at it."

This year's styles have an air of elegance reminiscent of the early 1900's when a lady's hat was truly her crowning glory. The shapes may differ some but the effect is the same. At the turn of the century, toques and sailors were lavishly adorned with trims that are still basic items in high fashions houses. A simple little "morn- ing" hat of Milan straw might feature only a narrow ribbon trim but a small toque for eve- ning often had a large chou of ribbon in the back which fell upon the hair. Shaded roses and tulle rested on every fash- ionable head, as did ostrich plumes in black, white or colors.

This spring, a lady can still have a toque or sailor—or she can choose a fedora, skimmer, bowler, roller, suiter, beret, poul, circlet, beguiler, bonnet, cloche, turban, hood, boater, coif, pillbox or traveler.

What are they made of? Some shout for attention with bold prints on cotton or linen that is easily packed. Others whisper femininity with peau de soie, watered silk, shadow tulle, checked gingham or embro- dered organdy. Rustic styles come in anything from cloud batiste to crocheted seaman's twine.

The colors are called the most beautiful and entrancing that could be coaxed from the fash- ion canvas.

The millinery manufacturers have wisely provided a size, shape and shade to suit any female. If you are going to bare your soul this spring, the least —and best—you can do is cover your head.

The perfect hat to set off this high-waisted silk dress by designer John Weitz, which was shown by the American Designers Group, is a wide brimmed Milan straw with draped band encircling the crown.

Pearl Price Fluctuates

By The Associated Press

Temperamental oysters make money for man. So man culti- vates oysters.

But oysters refuse to be ex- ploited, and unless man keeps their living conditions near-per- fect, they retaliate, either by producing inferior stones or by dying.

Japanese pearl farmers whose oysters produce most of the world's cultured pearls, have become experts at oyster-pam- pering.

But sometimes the pampering is not enough. Masayasu Kato, United States representative for Japan's cultured pearl industry, reports that some sizes of cul- tured pearls will be in short supply this year after four years of unfavorable weather which lowered production.

Everything possible is done to insure peace and quiet for the oyster while he works. The oyster creates a pearl by de- positing nacre around a piece of polished shell placed in his flesh by the farmer.

While the pearl grows—a process that takes years—the oyster is kept happy, healthy, clean and in quiet water of the proper temperature and salinity.

Vitamins, complex pipe sys- tems which keep underwa- ter beds clean and supply food, and hospitals where the implant operation is performed are stand- ard equipment on modern oyster farms.

Despite the care oysters re- ceive, only about five per cent of the pearls harvested in a typi- cal year are good enough to be called gems. And in bad years, the crop falls off sharply as the oysters refuse to produce.

Siesta, deep sleep, or just plain get-away-from-it-all... you'll find it more refreshing in your new Monterey bedroom. There's a definite Spanish feel to the spindle-on-spindle bed headboard, the square-turned posts at head and foot. The nightstand, too, speaks español, its framed door panels looking as if they had come from the walls of a long-ago nobleman's manor house. And oh, the marvelous storage provided in the eight-drawer dresser and five-drawer chest! All this in solid and veneered pecan with a warm Vintage finish... from an exciting and colorful collection for living, dining, and bedroom.

Proclamation Begins Secretaries Week

The 12th annual observance of Secretaries Week begins today for members of the Big Spring Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) and members of 550 other NSA chapters. They will join secretaries throughout the country in observing the week which will climax here with a Bosses Night barbecue Friday at the Horace Garrett ranch. The week's theme is "Better Secretaries Mean Better Business."

PURPOSE

The purpose of Secretaries Week is to bring recognition to secretaries for the vital role they play in business, industry, education and government. The aim of the association, founded in 1942, is to elevate the standards of the secretarial profession through education.

Through its Certified Professional Secretary program, attention has been called to the knowledge deemed essential to a well-rounded educational background for the secretary. The first examination was given in 1951; today there are 2,737 Certified Professional Secretaries—of whom six are men. The two-day examination is given annually and covers such areas as human relations, business administration, business law, and secretarial accounting, procedures and skills.

The local chapter of NSA, chartered in May, 1957, has grown to include 19 members, nine of whom are secretaries at Webb Air Force Base.

PROCLAMATION

A proclamation issued this week by George J. Zachariah, mayor, reads as follows:

WHEREAS, the efficient functioning of modern society is largely dependent upon effective communication, and the modern methods of communication have come more and more to rest in the hands of our office secretaries, and

WHEREAS, the increasing amount of communications inherent in our complex society has made it necessary for today's secretary not only to acquire technical skills for the use of office machines and the taking of dictation, but to assume the responsibility for countless details in the operation of a business, and

WHEREAS, today's secretary must have at her command tact, diplomacy and many other attributes so necessary to the increasing role she plays in good public relations for her employer and

WHEREAS, the important contribution made by secretaries in the economic and governmental life of our country has been recognized by establishing the last week in April as Secretaries Week, and Wednesday, April 22, 1964, has been designated as Secretaries Day.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, George J. Zachariah, urge all citizens to recognize and pay tribute to the efforts made by our secretaries in the operation of industry, the professions, and government, all of which have made them truly silent partners in American business.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

A noon flight from Dallas today will take the HORACE GARRETT to New York and the opening of the World's Fair. The Garretts will be in a party composed of the ANGUS WYNNS, senior and junior, and the BEDFORD WYNNS, all of whom live in Dallas. The Garretts left here Saturday night. Angus Wynn Jr., who set up the Six Flags Over Texas layout, is responsible for the Texas Exhibit and Music Hall for the World's Fair.

There will be much fun connected with the pre-opening festivities in which the Garretts have been invited to take part. The big thrill is a black tie dinner hosted by GOV. and MRS. JOHN CONNALLY following the presentation of "To Broadway With Love."

During the fabulous week the Garretts will probably see "Hello Dolly," "Funny Girl," and one other popular Broadway show. They plan to be back home Sunday.

I didn't know until Thursday that pretty CHARLOTTE MAC ANDERS, who is Miss Big Spring, is a niece of GEORGE MCALISTER.

MRS. VERNON SMITH is expected to return today from Fort Worth where she has been with her daughter, MRS. RAY ABEL, who is ill.

MR. and MRS. LLOYD WASSON have been in Ruidoso, N.M., for the past few days to open their cabin for the summer months.

Back from a trip to Texarkana and Fort Worth are MRS. J. P. DODGE and MRS. W. G. WILSON JR. The two enjoyed the beauty of the East Texas flowers, particularly the dogwood. The white variety was growing wild and numerous pink blossoms were to be seen in the yards.

In Fort Worth the two women made their first visit to 6209 Sunset Drive, in Ridgeway where they viewed the reproduction in wax of "Leonardo da Vinci's 'The Last Supper.'" The lifelike display was the gift to Fort Worth's religious cultural movement by the late Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming. The figures were produced by California artists.

There have been four long faces at the DEAN FORREST home the past few days caused by the passing of MR. B. He was the English bulldog that had been part of the Forrest family for the past eight years. He died of a heart attack Wednesday.

DR. and MRS. CAL GUILLIAMS plan to leave Wednesday for Houston where they will attend a district dental meeting. Dr. Williams is associated with the Veterans Administration Hospital.

MRS. K. H. MCGIBBON is in Bloomington, Ind., grandmothering her two grandsons while her parents, MR. and MRS. CHARLES WEBB, vacation in New York.

M. C. GRIGSBY AND MRS. G. W. HOLDEN

Mrs. George Holden Begins Retirement

When Mrs. George W. (Gladys) Holden went to work for the C. R. Anthony Co. April 4, 1942, she earned $12.50 per week, and worked from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. She has seen many changes in the business world since then, including higher pay and shorter work days. When she retired last week she could claim benefits from an employee pension and profit sharing plan.

Mrs. Holden was born in Comanche and was reared on a farm near Roby. She met Holden at a Christmas party in 1923 and they were married in 1925 at Roby. Their daughter, Charlotte, is married to W. M. Irwin, a Baptist minister who is now a teacher at Boydston Elementary School.

The Holdens moved to Big Spring in 1936. At that time he was a welder and she became an office receptionist for a chiropractor. When he closed his office in 1942 and went to work in a shipyard, she joined Anthony's.

She went to work on Friday and the following Monday morning was placed in charge of three departments; the baby, piece goods and housing. Five years later she was relieved of two and remained in charge of the piece goods which she has managed ever since.

The war years were hectic and help was difficult to get and keep. During one month 29 different girls worked with her in the department.

One of the highlights of those years was on the occasion when she was awarded a 20 year service pin, a gold medallion attached to a small bow.

"There are many hours of hard work, joy, heartache and tears tied up in that little bow," said Mrs. Holden, "but I have enjoyed every minute of it."

"I want to thank all my customers and friends for helping turn those tears into laughter and hope to see them all again," said this veteran saleslady as she began her new life of retirement.

Apron making and sewing for her granddaughters will take up many of her leisure hours. She is a teacher in the family church, the East Fourth Baptist, where she has charge of an adult Sunday School class, and her husband is a deacon.

Holden was affiliated with Corden Petroleum Corporation until 1950 when he was injured on the job and disabled. He was unable to work for seven years. He is employed now as a barber at the Long Horn Barber Shop.

Teachers Hear Talk On Music

Miss Elsie Willis stressed the importance of sight reading to members of the Piano Teachers Forum at the Thursday meeting held in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

A committee was named to select festival music for next year. They are Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt and Mrs. Robert Heinze.

Refreshments were served to 14 members.

Mrs. Delnor Poss will have charge of the last recital of the season to be given April 26 at Howard County Junior College auditorium.

Starr Family Has Weekend Guests

FORSAN (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Randall of Wichita Falls are weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Starr and family. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wash visited in Lubbock Thursday.

Mrs. Jimmy Porter and daughters, Dana and Ellen, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Clara M. Fletcher.

Mrs. M. M. Fairchild is in Odessa for the weekend to be with her granddaughter, Teresa Digby, who has been a hospital patient.

Future Bride Complimented

Miss Catherine Jane Greenlee, bride-elect of Joseph Edward Granger was complimented with a tea Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. D. Harmon, 405 Edwards Blvd.

The honoree was presented a corsage of white carnations, and her mother, Mrs. William E. Greenlee, was given blue carnations.

Hostesses with Mrs. Harmon were Mrs. Milton Barnett, Mrs. John Burgess, Mrs. Wade Choate, Mrs. Joe Connally, Mrs. Leland Graves and Mrs. Jack Tayrien.

The tea table was covered with a cutwork cloth of white linen and was centered with a silver candelabrum holding five blue tapers and entwined with huckleberry and blue blossoms. Silver and crystal appointments were used. Hostesses alternated at the silver tea service and in serving the blue and white petits fours.

A shallow bowl holding huckleberry and white daisies graced the table where gifts were displayed, and the register table held an arrangement of blue and white daisies to carry out the honoree's chosen colors.

Calling hours were from 3 to 5 p.m., and 150 were included on the guest list.

Miss Greenlee will return to New Orleans Monday. The couple plan to be married there June 13 in the chapel of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Prevent dark cottons and lins from getting a grayish tinge by adding a half cup of vinegar to each gallon of last rinse water.

Baptist Class Has Quilting Session

A quilting session and business meeting was held Thursday by the Hannah Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. F. W. Bettie, a guest, worded the invocation, and the opening prayer was given by Mrs. Carl McDonald. A covered dish luncheon was served to 12 members and the guest in the church basement.

The next meeting will be a luncheon at the church May 21.

NEW YORK—To remove tattle-tale gray, which is an accumulation of soap residue, from your white wear, run the articles through the regular wash cycle with three tablespoons of sal soda concentrated, home economists suggest.

Don't use soap or detergent until running the articles through a second wash cycle. Add more sal the second time, too. In laundry circles this process is referred to as stripping.

Miss Janet Thorburn Marries Lt. Reuben Dixon Saturday

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Janet Thorburn and Lt. Reuben Trowbridge Dixon Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church. Dr. H. Clyde Smith performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Thorburn, 2902 Parkway Road, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Dixon Sr., 415 Bay St., Miami, Okla.

The bride approached the altar, accompanied by her father, down a bridal aisle marked with white tapers, satin ribbon and huckleberry foliage. The vows were read before a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Matching baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums banked with palms and illuminated by wedding tapers were used on each side.

Roy Custer of Sherman, cousin of the bride, played traditional wedding music at the organ, and accompanied Hubert Murphy who sang, "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer."

BRIDE'S GOWN

The bride's gown of ivory satin was styled with a Sabrina neckline, a fitted bodice and long tapered sleeves. Tiny covered buttons accented the back, and the deep pleated skirt extended into a chapel train. The front of the skirt was fashioned with a white lace inset accented with seed pearls. The finger-tip length veil of illusion cascaded from a pearl encrusted Juliet crown. She wore a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bridal bouquet of feathered chrysanthemums and orchids was showered with picot ribbon, and the bride carried a hand carved ivory fan belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. O. T. Dixon.

Miss Sydna Phillips of Dallas was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Catherine Greenlee, New Orleans, La.; Miss Maida Corder, Hondo, cousin of the bride; and Miss Anne Hogan, Lubbock. The bride attendants wore street-length gowns of seafoam green organza over pale green taffeta styled with long sleeves, fitted bodices and softly gathered skirts. They carried semi-cascade arrangements of salmon pink gladioli.

The tapers were lighted by Miss Lisa Ottinger, cousin of the bride, of Austin and Gary Hinds. The best man was Lt. Gary L. Heartsill and ushers were Capt. Joe M. Hitzel, Lt. Dwight Campbell and Lt. Walter E. Kowalk. Also, Frank Corder Jr., of Brady served as usher.

WEDDING TRIP

The bride wore a light green two-piece suit with matching green gloves and a bright gold straw hat and accessories for her going-away costume. Her orchid corsage was from the wedding bouquet. The couple enplaned for Dallas, New Orleans, La. and Montgomery, Ala., before returning to his home base in Fayetteville, N.C. where he is stationed at Pope Air Force Base.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and graduated in January from the University of Texas at Austin. Dixon is a graduate of Oklahoma State University and completed his flight training at Webb Air Force Base.

MRS. REUBEN TROWBRIDGE DIXON and Miss Marguerite Cooper, all of Big Spring.

RECEPTION

The bridal couple, their mothers, and the bride attendants received guests at the reception held in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club. The bride's table was draped with white organza and the centerpiece was arranged with silver candelabra and a cascade of white gardenias. The three-tiered wedding cake was atop a revolving base trimmed with white net ruffling, and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Champagne was served at a small table centered with gardenias.

Miss Jan Caldwell, cousin of the bridegroom, of Oklahoma City registered guests. House party members were Miss Karen Cummings of Dilley, Miss Judy Pug of Seagoville, and Mrs. Roy Custer of Sherman. Fruit Gatherers Clothed Heavily Picking pineapples, a major occupation on the island of Lanai in Hawaii, is a curious affair. The women who bring the crop in from the fields dress like welders in a steel plant with heavy gloves to handle the saw-tooth stem, goggles to shield the eyes from slivers, hats to shade them from the sun and bandannas to keep out the dust.

They work night and day from May to August, but few of them are seen by tourists, since there are no resorts on the island. The pineapple island of Lanai lies in the Pacific some 60 miles from Honolulu.

Plants Sold At Party

The West Texas Republican Women's Club sponsored a plant sale and patio party Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Grant Boardman, 2514 E. 24th. Mrs. Boardman was assisted with hostess duties by Mrs. Edwin Ballard.

The coffee table in the living room held an arrangement of pink and blue irises in several shades. In the family room, was a bouquet of yellow irises and purple larkspur, and an apothecary jar held small red blossoms.

During a meeting following the party, Zell Smith spoke on precinct and county conventions and Texas voting laws. A humorous skit presented by Mrs. Simpson featured Harry Blomshield.

Out-of-town guests were Bill Heck and Bill Adams of Midland.

Surprises For Men

Buried by the big headlines out of Dallas recently is this Texas city's annual report on newly available gifts for people who don't have everything after all.

An executive lunch box, non-smoking equipment, and an apartment house barbecue pit are among the innovations exhibited at a recent gift trade mart there.

That lunch box with status is a fiberglass - insulated binder zipped all around to look like a notebook. The boss, once the coast is clear, can open it flat as a place mat and dig in.

For the brave soul who has snuffed out cigarette and bearing the inscription "Last Inhaled—1961—"

For the wavering soul is a tiny glass dome, the kind sometimes used to display antiques, which covers a package of cigarettes. Accompanying it is a tiny gold hatchet to "Break in case of Emergency."

For fireside chats and outdoor cooking for people without fireplaces or barbecues is a paper-flame grill which looks like a square waste basket and which will barbecue a steak with four pieces of folded newspaper.

GERANIUM MORE THAN FIVE FEET TALL
Terrie Lee Pollard, 5, stands by tall one; one to right is three feet

Geranium Grows To Giant Size

By M. A. WEBB

How tall will a geranium grow in West Texas? There is one in Sand Springs which grew to 64 inches after it was taken from a pot a year ago last November and transplanted to a planter box on the east side of the house. It came from Colorado.

Mrs. J. H. Pollard, who lives north of US 80 on an extension of the Moss Creek Lake road, said the giant geranium had grown so heavy that limbs were breaking off. The plants are naturally brittle, and light pressure will snap off any limb or leaf. They also have a lot of water stored in the various parts.

The plant was filled with red blossoms most of the time, but Mrs. Pollard had to take steps to prevent the big plant from breaking. She cut it back to a shorter size after the photographer made a picture.

Pollard, who works for the Cabot Corporation, built the house three years ago, and dug a water well 50 feet deep, which furnishes an ample water supply. Mrs. Pollard asked for the planter, 18 feet long and 15 inches wide inside, to be built on the east end of a sun room. She picked up the geranium while visiting with a friend, Mrs. Alma Reingnohl, in Colorado. She had placed soil, along with mulch and proper plant-growing ingredients, in the box and set out the geranium. "It started growing right off," she said. "I had never been able to grow much of anything outside the house and never dreamed that this plant would grow as tall and bloom as much. I have a pink one (in the same planter) and it is about half the size."

"I came in the back door last fall and found our 18-year-old son, James Harold, digging in the dirt. I asked what he was doing and he said he was putting fishing worms in the dirt. They are still there, and I can't do much digging without coming up with an earth worm. They have helped all the plants grow," Mrs. Pollard continued.

"It seems that they keep the soil porous and provide some amount of fertilization." A neighbor, who passes the house twice a day and who had admired the geranium through the big picture window, called Mrs. Pollard Friday morning to know what had happened to the plant, only to be told that it had to be broken back to preserve the trunk.

The geranium is a large genus of South African herbs, mostly with showy flowers. Some grow wild and have as-while visiting with a friend, Mrs. Alma Reingnohl, in Colorado. She had placed soil, along with mulch and proper plant-geranium of oil used in perfumery, flavoring, and soap. But this West Texas variety stands only for beauty in the home, and for those passing the window, where the deep red blossoms in clusters may be seen the year around.

Performing Bulls Due For Rodeo

Leon Adams, "Rodeo's Professional Showman," from Stuart, Okla., has been signed by Howard County Rodeo Association to provide feature acts for the annual RCA-approved rodeo here June 3-6. Gene and Bobby Clark of Bakersfield, Calif., will handle the clowning acts, along with Braham bull fighting features. Clem McSpadden will return from Chelsea, Okla. as announcer.

E. P. Driver, president of the rodeo association, said contracts had been signed by the men, and that all would be contributing factors to the success of the spring rodeo here. Adams features four acts during the performances, including trick riding, Roman style, comedy, with class, a Braham bull jumping through a hoop of fire, and his performing Braham bulls. The showman has a colorful wardrobe, with a fresh change for each performance. He was featured in over 30 rodeos in 1962, and booked almost solid in 1963. This will be his first appearance in Big Spring. The Clark brothers have perfected the art of Braham bull-fighting to a thing of precision timing and classic footwork, spiced with comic antics and remarks designed to keep rodeo

Dunnam Heads Banking Group

Charles Dunnam, cashier of the First National Bank in Big Spring, has been named president of the Permian Basin Conference of the National Association for Banking Audit, Control and Operation.

The demonstrations and lectures will be given by engineers of the Portland Cement Association, Austin, and will be beamed to meet needs of general contractors, architects and engineers. Sessions will be in the Associated General Contractors' building at South Fifteenth and Woodward.

Mrs. Forrest said that women (and men, too) interested in the governor's candidacy for the Democratic nomination were urged to be at the Wednesday 5:15 p.m. meeting at the Settles Hotel. Among other things, plans will be made for a coffee from 3 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. April 25 in the hotel lobby.

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus said unto him, Go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole. (Mark 10:52.)

PRAYER: O Father, take my life and make it what it ought to be. Reveal my need to me. Prescribe what I should do. Help me to follow Thine instructions to the best of my ability and find healing through Christ, Thy Son. Amen.

Vote Of Confidence

Within two weeks, voters of Texas will march to the nominating primaries, and we hope that those participating in the Democratic primary will renominate Gov. John Connally by an overwhelming majority.

Gov. Connally is, we believe, entitled to this vote of confidence. Despite opposition attacks which have been couched in generalities and distortions such as "poorest" and "worst," the fact is that Texas is doing well and is going to do better. The climate created by the practical and enlightened approach to our current problems has played a key role in the progress of and outlook for Texas.

The governor lays no claim to having wrought any miracles, and indeed to lay claim to having solved all the riddles in little more than a year in office would make a man suspect. The important thing is that Gov. Connally has identified and come to grips with the more pressing issues. In several instances, a sound start has been made, and considering that in some areas we had gone for years and even decades without taking any concrete action, a mere start would be a major achievement.

The governor has been criticized by those whose ox was gored in first steps at state government reorganization, but it is acknowledged by almost everyone that the state's administrative machinery is in need of modernization if not extensive overhaul. While the amount of appropriation for the advertising of the state's tourist and industrial potentialities is not nearly as large as many of us would have liked, the fact that the governor was the first in the history of the state able to persuade the legislature to embark upon this is a testimonial to his skill.

He has been abused by some for cutting state taxes by $20,000,000 on the grounds that this resulted in cuts in cooperations. Directly or indirectly, this saving has accrued to the benefit of all citizens of the state. In certain instances, industries have been preserved for this state as a result of tax modification by restoring them to a competitive position.

His commitment to education beyond the high school is far-sighted and it is not window dressing. This is so essential and it involves so much in resources and in the future of this state that it cannot be entered into without support and confidence of responsible leaders in representative areas of our economy and activity. Imperative success here, the governor has understood, is not altogether a matter of a program, but even more a matter of understanding of the stakes.

The state's economy is on an incline. Texas has more new industrial locations than any state other than New York last year. The outlook is even better, and under the steady, responsible, capable hand of Gov. Connally, we believe it will exceed even our present expectations.

... And Another One

Our senior high school band and choir will be leaving soon on a trip to California, and as a final activity before they depart, they will present a joint concert Monday evening at the city auditorium.

The admission on this is nominal.

Marquis Childs Military Spending And Politics

WASHINGTON — General Curtis LeMay, a career officer serving as Chief of Staff of the Air Force, has publicly opposed the policy of the government set by the highest civilian authority.

This is an astonishing phenomenon reflecting the huge defense establishment, its links with Congress and the contracts and favors that can be dispensed out of a $50 billion budget. It is astonishing only because it goes directly against the provision in the Constitution making the President the commander-in-chief and the supreme authority over the armed forces.

GENERAL LEMAY'S disagreement with Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara over the ratio of dependability of America's missiles can be discounted as part of a technical argument. But when he recommends a 100-megaton bomb and criticizes, if only by implication, the nuclear test-ban agreement, he is in direct conflict with official policy.

In releasing the facts showing how America's military superiority has increased in the past three years McNamara was trying to head off what happened in 1960. At that time each of the three armed services had its own separate and independent intelligence branch. They made their own separate estimates of the capability of a potential enemy measured against this country's own capacity.

THE AIR FORCE, needless to say, did not err on the conservative side. Estimates of Soviet capability in missiles and bombers were, as was later established, grossly exaggerated. These estimates were leaked out to writers and politicians only too ready to give them the widest currency.

The Democrats, in particular, certain Air Force-minded Senators, fastened on what became as a campaign charge the "missile gap." It was wholly false. As McNamara has said, three weeks after he came into office he knew the charge was a myth.

ONE OF McNamara's early moves was to establish a Defense Intelligence Agency combining the three intelligence services. The aim was to prevent competitive estimates in which each service built up its own case.

LeMay's objective is plain enough. He is a big bomber man, persistently pushing the RS-70 which McNamara has opposed on the ground that present bomber strength provides, with swiftly increasing missile capacity, a sufficient mix for America's deterrent. If you have a bigger bomber then you must have something to carry in it — therefore, the 100-megaton bomb.

THIS IS ALL tied in with defense contracts and the politics of who gets what out of the vast defense pie.

That may help to explain why in any controversy before a Congressional committee between civilian and military authority the latter always seem to get the breaks. The men in uniform will be around agitating for bigger appropriations when a new set of civilians green at the game tries to master the defense controls.

THERE IS ONLY one way to untangle politics from the continuing pressure to sustain, if not to increase, defense expenditures so that jobs may not be jeopardized. This is to move rapidly toward an orderly and coordinated effort by business and government to convert needless military plant capacity to peacetime uses. Billy Graham

If a person sins publicly, brings reproach on the church, and is truly repentant, and truly prays to God for forgiveness with all his heart, will God then forgive him or must he confess his sin before the church before his is forgiven? —C. F.

Confession should be as open as the deed.

If you sin in secret, confess it to God in secret.

If you sin against your family, then confession should be made to your family.

If you sin against the church, and as you say, "bring reproach upon the church," then confession should be before the church.

Too many of us have gotten away from the Biblical doctrine of confession. The Bible says: "Confess your faults one to the other, that you may be healed." Many Christians are powerless because their lives are cesspools of unconfessed sin.

If some church people would confess their worldliness, their gossip, their malice, and their coldness, I believe that revival would come to many of our churches. The Bible says: "If we confess our sin, He is faithful and just to forgive our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

Real Puzzlers In Prosperity Parade

Outwardly, like spring, prosperity continues to flower. For the sixth consecutive month industrial production has pushed higher. The Federal Reserve Board index edged up half a point last month to 128.2, another all-time high. It was a half point above the February figure of 127.7 and nearly 6 per cent above the level of March a year ago.

This persistent advance reflects many things. The higher level of income, the boom in automobile sales, the strength in new capital expansion, improvement in exports and perhaps the tax cut.

It also is reflected in many things: Increased corporate dividends, stock splits and forecasts verging on the jubilant by corporate executives.

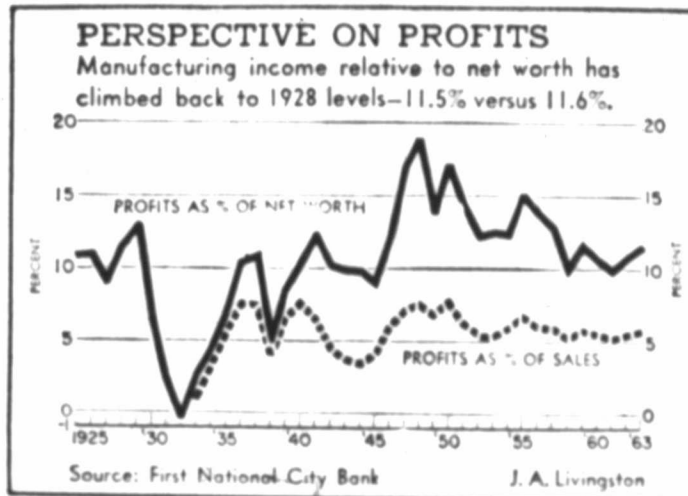

Wall Street pays proper homage. Brokers and speculators who once mentioned "800 in the Dow" as an awesome hurdle, now talk glibly of hoisting the 900 banner some time this year. Confidence and optimism feed on themselves.

STATELY CRAWL

Though dividends have been rising, industrial stock prices have been rising faster. Result: The rate of return on stocks has fallen to slightly below 3 per cent. In contrast, the rate of return on high-grade corporate bonds is 4.4 per cent. But at this stage of prosperity, people—investors and speculators—prefer growth and capital gains to stationary, fixed rewards.

Because anticipation sometimes exceeds achievement and leads to disappointment, it is well to scrutinize critically the progress in industrial production. How bullish is it? In actuality, this has been a stately crawl.

In the four months of October through January, production advanced only 1.5 points. This, followed by half-point gains in February and March, is slow progress, like grinding out three yards a play on the football field. And if you go back to July when the index registered 125.5, only 17 points were gained in eight months. That's hardly more than a plateau. Indeed 70 per cent of the advance in 1963 came in the first six months.

PROFITLESS PROSPERITY

As a further check on over-optimism, the First National City Bank of New York, in its April bank letter, observes that corporate earnings "still have a long way to go to match the levels recorded in past periods of prosperity."

Corporation profits after taxes have fallen from about 8 per cent of the total output of goods and services—Gross National Product—in 1929 to 4.6 per cent in 1963. And despite the 13 per cent upsurge in GNP the last two years, this is only slightly above the 4.2 per cent rate in 1961.

Corporations have to work much harder—in terms of production and sales—to earn only half as much as in the late twenties or the period after the war. Hence the term "profitless prosperity." In 1950, for example, the after-tax profit was 8 per cent of the GNP.

GREAT EFFICIENCY?

And here's a curiosity, a paradox. Perhaps you can offer an explanation: Though profits are down relative to dollar volume, they are not down relative to net worth.

The First National City Bank data show that manufacturing corporations are earning about as much on net worth or capital today as in the late 'twenties.

Pct. Return on Net Worth
1925...10.7 1959...11.7
1926...10.8 1960...10.6
1927...9.0 1961...9.9
1928...11.6 1962...10.9
1929...12.8 1963...11.5

From that, you could conclude that manufacturing enterprises are just about as well off as ever. But how is that possible if net income is down? Could this be ascribed to higher income taxes? Pre-tax corporate profits relative to GNP today are just about what they were in 1929—8.8 per cent versus 9 per cent. But because income tax rates are much higher a much smaller proportion is retained.

Perhaps greater efficiency in the use of capital explains the paradox of the high return on net worth and low return on volume. Maybe corporations are able to offset higher taxes with a higher rate of return on their machinery or their investment.

Or if that hypothesis doesn't suit, try this. Maybe the net worth figures are understated. This has been a period of protracted inflation. Building and equipment went on corporate books at prices lower than those prevailing today.

Therefore, present-day dollar earnings measured against capital values of 1955, or 1950, or even earlier would yield a higher rate of return than if measured against today's real worth. Still, the same might have been said of rates of return in the late twenties.

To Your Good Health Don't Handle Food With out Washing The Hands

By JOSEPH G. MOINER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Moiner: How important is washing the hands before handling food or eating utensils?

Personally, this is a MUST with me. But perhaps I am too touchy.

Several months ago an elderly relative (76) came to live at our home. The fact that she does not wash her hands causes me to cringe whenever she asks to help in the kitchen. Although I admonish my two small children quite purposely in her presence of the necessity for clean hands before handling food, she does not seem to get the point.

For my own peace of mind I have refused to let her dry dishes or set the table. After all, I am responsible for the health of five persons. Yet maybe this one thing has reached mountainous proportions with me.—MRS. S. H.

Rather astonishing, don't you think, that an adult should need to be told the importance of having clean hands before touching food.

It's partly the difference between a healthy civilization and a disease-ridden one. Safe milk, safe drinking water, refrigeration, food inspection, sterilizing milk bottles between use, vaccination, all these things are part of the difference between nations where life is consistently long, and the backward nations where life is still short.

Oh, sure, you can violate any one of these rules and get away with it most of the time, just as some people drive recklessly and still escape disaster, most of the time.

But sooner or later, somebody gets caught. The unwashed hands occasionally will carry pinworms, or a germ that causes diarrhea, or an infection of the mouth, or skin. Or whatever germ that happens to be lingering.

Dear Dr. Moiner: Is a man an alcoholic when he consumes more than five drinks? He just can't stop until he reaches the point of stupor and nausea. This occurs at intervals throughout the year.—H.D.

There is no numerical rule for an "alcoholic."

Anyway, argument of whether a person is an alcoholic is futile. The real question is whether a person has "a drinking problem." Seems to me that makes the answer obvious in this case.

Note to W. W.: Yes, I've heard before that "a person isn't normal unless he has five or six bowel movements a day." That is NOT normal; it could be regarded as diarrhea, or as incomplete evacuation. More than one or two in any 24 hours is abnormal in my judgment.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Moiner in care of the Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Moiner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Around The Rim

What's Wrong With A Little Nap?

This column, as a matter of practice, has avoided getting into controversial things such as politics, because when you write about politics, somebody always gets sore.

But here goes a change of face today. We are going to talk about Republican politics, even.

Not in the way you might think. We will not take up the comparative merits and shortcomings of Messrs. Goldwater, Rockefeller, Nixon, Scranton, Romney et al, which includes Mrs. Smith.

WE ARE NOT even going to refer to Mr. Lodge, except on this point—and it could turn out to be a salient one, at that.

Have noticed in several columns lately, those that profess to analyze the trends, feel the pulse of the people and all that jazz, that the old "pros" of the GOP — whoever they might be—make a citation against Bro. Lodge that he didn't put his whole soul into the 1960 campaign, for 24 hours a day.

THE MOST base charge seems to be that, during the crush of the vote-getting effort, he would take a daily nap. To make matters worse, the allegation goes, he even climbed into his pajamas to do so.

Well, whoa, there. Those of us who preach that the world moves too fast might just feel a kinship for a fellow who, come hapsance or high water, gets in his little siesta each day. And, to come right down to it, the siesta is much more effective if performed in the proper garments. Comfort, you know.

I DON'T KNOW Bro. Lodge's age, but there comes a break point as one climbs the hill of time, when just a little teeny-weeny rest in the middle of the day is a fresher-upper, a puller-together, a new leaser-on-life, if you get what I mean.

My old Pappy, who was a hard-working man if I ever knew one, managed a nap most every day. He would walk home from his print shop, eat the noon-day meal that was on the table, then retire to his bed. He didn't put on his pajamas, but he took off his shoes, loosened his belt and his collar and flopped back on the pillow. It was the period of quiet around our house, and in a second or two he was sawing dead logs. In a matter of 15 or 20 minutes, and with one last snort, he was up, dressed again, and headed back to his work.

THERE MAY HAVE been some other things in his favor, but he made it until nearly 90. And as the saying goes, what was good enough for my Pappy is good enough for me.

Back to the political angle, what American citizen in his right mind wants to hear a candidate yapping between noon and 2 p.m., anyway? Even if the candidate doesn't think he needs the respite, the voters are entitled to a break. I say morning and night talks are enough, even for a would-be President of the United States.

IF THE political leaders of either party are going to come out four-square against a snooze after lunch, particularly during the summer season of a campaign, then I will take up my placard or else stage a write-in against 'em.

Who Comes After Khrushchev?

WASHINGTON — Friday was Nikita Khrushchev's birthday. At 70, the Soviet boss is older than Gomulka of Poland, than Kadar of Hungary, than Novotny of Czechoslovakia, than Zhivkov of Bulgaria, than Gheorghiu-Dej of Rumania, than Hoxha of Albania.

Khrushchev is older than Johnson of the United States, than Erhard of West Germany, than Douglas-Ham of England. He is younger than Mao of China, Ubricht of East Germany, Nehru of India, and De Gaulle of France, but he can't go on forever. In descending order of probability, Big K's successor could be one of the following:

LEONID ILYCH BREZHNEV, 57, the husky, bushy-haired Chairman of the Supreme Soviet's Presidium—a title which makes the man official head of state.

Not only is Brezhnev a personal friend and long-time deputy for Khrushchev, but he has his boss' wide range of interests. Brezhnev started as a metallurgical engineer. He supervised Big K's virgin lands development in Kazakhstan, but he's had jobs in Soviet military affairs, in space, in heavy industry and in general supervision of the sprawling Russian economy. On top of all that, he's made 14 good-will trips abroad since 1956. He is author of a 166-page propaganda book, "The Soviet Union: True Friend of Africa."

NEXT TO BREZHNEV, there is the sad-faced A. N. Kosygin, 60, whose ascension might indicate a determination in Russia to concentrate upon domestic economics. Kosygin seems to be in charge of the $46 million effort to build a Soviet chemical industry. He arranged the barter with Italy, which provided Russia with the materials for the oil pipeline from the Volga River into East Europe.

Nikolai V. Podgorniy, 60, is more in the old tradition of Russian intrigues. Last December, he flew to Cuba and returned with Fidel Castro, who made a triumphal tour of Russia. In February of this year he went to Paris and is credited with masterminding the drive to split France and West Germany.

IF THE RUSSIANS should turn for leadership to a younger generation, Alexei Adzhubei, 40, Khrushchev's traveling son-in-law and editor of Izvestia, might have the inside track.

We are in a world era which has seen a new American President, a new Pope, a new Prime Minister of Great Britain, the passing from power of old men in West Germany and India. But only in Russia and Red China is the transition likely to produce a power struggle that could be felt around the world. Khrushchev has enjoyed magnificent successes for his country in space spectaculars, in the build-up of sea power and in nuclear parity with the United States. But his failures have been equally prodigious. He has been forced to import Western wheat, and forced to grant some partial independence to his East Europe satellites. He lost a big gamble in trying to fortify Cuba with long-distance missiles, and he has presided over the mammoth split with Red China. Whoever succeeds to his boss-hood may have the job of reaping a whirlwind.

All He Did Was To Win Big

WASHINGTON — Maybe two and two don't make four, after all, in national politics. Judging by some of the television and radio broadcasts on Tuesday night and subsequent comments in the press, Sen. Goldwater got the highest number of votes in the Republican presidential primary in Illinois but nevertheless suffered a "setback." He, of course, acquired almost all of the 48 delegates chosen this week by the Illinois voters in the Republican party, but the impression conveyed by some of the broadcasters and newsmen was that this didn't mean very much.

WHAT PURPORTEDLY happened was that speculation attributed to a few persons here and there in the Goldwater camp in advance of the primary was construed as a firm estimate that the Arizona senator would get 80 per cent of the vote. Actually, he got 71 per cent of the combined vote cast for himself and his principal opponent, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. Also, out of all the Republican votes cast, Sen. Goldwater obtained between 64 and 65 per cent. Even this isn't supposed to be a "victory," if the comments made on the Tuesday night broadcasts are to be accepted as accurate political analysis.

The truth of the matter is nobody could know ahead of time precisely how the citizens of Illinois were going to vote. Such commentaries, therefore, on the radio or television serve only to mislead many people and take away from the victor in the election contest some of the prestige which he deserves when he gets a majority or more.

SEN. GOLDWATER'S triumph in Illinois is an important development for many reasons. First of all, it shows his vote getting strength in a populous state which has more than four times as many delegates as were won by Henry Cabot Lodge, the "favorite son," in the New Hampshire primary. Actual "write-ins" were small in number and all together came to only about 10 per cent of the total vote cast, as against about 50 per cent in New Hampshire. There wasn't, of course, any organized "write-in" campaign in Illinois, as was the case in New Hampshire.

What stands out in the Illinois primary election is the fact that the Republican voters of a northern State—and a populous one, too—have chosen Sen. Barry Goldwater as their prospective nominee. His strength heretofore has been believed to be largely in the South and Southwest. To capture Illinois is unquestionably an encouragement to his managers.

AT PRESENT, the Arizona senator has the largest number of delegates pledged to him of any of the Republican aspirants. But this doesn't mean that he will necessarily get the nomination. On many an occasion a candidate who has managed to mobilize the largest single bloc of delegates in advance of a convention hasn't always survived the first two or three ballots there. The problem for the Goldwater managers is to hold the delegates they now have and to win some from the ranks of the other candidates. Whether they can do this is anybody's guess, especially at this early stage of the pre-convention campaign.

SO, ON THE WHOLE, the Illinois primary can be viewed as a step forward for the Goldwater candidacy and as a significant piece of political news which will make a favorable impression on some of the leaders in other states who may be sitting on the fence.

It takes more than just a few primaries, of course, to win a presidential nomination, but there have been very few primaries in other presidential years when such a substantial majority has been attained by the winner.

The Goliad team is composed of Mrs. Maurine Burks, Miss Sara Cave, Mrs. Mona Elmore, Mrs. Rebecca Hagood, Miss Margo Lauderdale, Miss Ruby Peaselee and Mrs. Sue Shockey.

During the past few weeks the discussion spotlight has been turned on the required subjects offered at Goliad. Beginning this week, the various elective courses will be featured. This week, Spanish, taught by Mrs. Dolores Gage, and home economics, taught by Mrs. Fern Alexander and Mrs. Lucille Brokaw, are spotlighted.

Spanish in the eighth grade has two primary purposes: to encourage pre-high school study of the language and to provide a natural, interesting introduction to Spanish. Short dialogues dealing with practical, real life situations similar to the students' own daily experiences, are used. Only a bare minimum of grammar is included, but by the end of his first semester, a student will know whether or not he is interested enough to continue the study in high school.

The ninth grade, or first complete year of Spanish, is taught by the aural method. The students hear, repeat and master the 20 basic dialogue sentences of each unit first. As the teacher says a sentence in Spanish, the students are seeing it in English, but they repeat it in Spanish. These sentences, added to those from preceding lessons, are used throughout the unit in pattern practices, question-answer practice, short dialogues and conversations.

Homemaking I is designed to assist individuals in acquiring homemaking skills and an understanding of human relationships, which will help them achieve satisfying home living. Areas of study include family relationship; clothing, feeding and housing the family; health; safety; first aid; and child development.

Sally Tribolet, Mike Weaver, Lila Williams and Tom Wood.

At an assembly, Richard Caulley, president of the society, welcomed everyone and spoke to the new members about what will now be expected of each. Five of last year's inductees explained the qualities each person in the society should have. Lynn Green spoke on scholarship. Lucy Keene on service. Denise Head on leadership. Mark Price on citizenship, and Karen Crooker on character.

The Goliad choir participated in a contest in Odessa last week where they again proved their talent by winning a second rating in concert and a second in sight reading. Tomorrow the choir will sing for the VA volunteer workers at 7:30 p.m.

A challenging volleyball match will take place at Big Spring High School gym on Thursday at 4 o'clock. The game will be between some of the Goliad women teachers and some of the high school teachers. The Goliad team is composed of Mrs. Maurine Burks, Miss Sara Cave, Mrs. Mona Elmore, Mrs. Rebecca Hagood, Miss Margo Lauderdale, Miss Ruby Peaselee and Mrs. Sue Shockey.

Forsan Names Council Officers

By BETTY CONGER

were set in one big rectangular shape. The columns were connected with garlands of green leaves.

At one end of the setting was a golden fountain which sprayed blue water over blue and gold rocks at its base. Pictures of the guests were made there. Each table was covered with white, centered with gold strips, accented by the place favors which were golden key chains. The head table was decorated with an arrangement of blue asters in a gold container.

DEAR ABBY

Curtains On A Friendship

DEAR ABBY: Over the past five years I have done so many favors for my neighbor I can't count them. I have kept her children weekends while she went on trips with her husband. I've been a free taxi service for her because she had no car. I've given her at least a dozen home permanents, and I have never asked her for one favor until yesterday. She sews well, so I asked her if she would help me make some kitchen curtains. I thought she would be glad at the chance to repay me for some of my favors. She said she would, for 300 TRADING STAMPS! I went right out and bought some curtains. What do you think of that?

FLABBERGASTED: I think it was appropriately "curtains" for your friendship. Next time you do a friend a favor, don't assume it puts her in your debt, and you won't be flabbergasted.

DEAR ABBY: For the past two weeks a man has been calling my home. As soon as he hears my voice, he starts with a string of filthy questions. I hang up on him. Now when my phone rings I can tell that someone is on the other end, but he never says anything. He just ties up my line. Should I report this to the police, or to the telephone company?

NOT LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

DEAR NOT LOOKING: The

next time he calls, send someone quickly to the neighbors and have them report it to both the telephone company and the police. If this can be done while he is still on your line, the call can be traced.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is the obvious favoritism shown for our first-born by his paternal grandmother. We lived with my in-laws when he was born, and my husband's mother went completely overboard about the child. When our second baby came along, Grandma was so partial to the first that we had to be constantly on our guard, so the little one would not be hurt. It's not my imagination, Abby, everybody notices it, and many have commented. She'll go all out for gifts for the big one, and gives the little one some cheap little trinkets. I am mostly interested in having both children love their Grandma. Should I mention it to her? If so, how should I phrase it?

NAMELESS, NATURALLY: DEAR NAMELESS: Ask your husband to tell his mother what she is doing, perhaps unwittingly. YOU keep out of it. Eventually the children will make their own evaluation, on their own terms and in their own way.

DEAR ABBY: What makes a pastor think he can stand in the pulpit and insult a member of his parish week after week, and get away with it? I have sat there, fighting back the tears while he has aimed his remarks directly to me and to me alone. He has done everything except mention my name. I am getting tired of this. What do you suggest?

INSULTED: DEAR INSULTED: There is an old saying, "If the shoe fits, wear it." Too many shoes fit.

Kiwanis Set Drive For Old Clothes

A house-to-house canvass of Big Spring to collect useable clothing for the Big Spring Citadel of the Salvation Army is to be conducted April 25 by the Big Spring Kiwanis Club.

The Rev. Clyde Smith is general chairman for the drive. The Kiwanis Club conducted a drive of this type last year with exceptional success. Enough clothing to serve the needs of the Salvation Army for almost a year was collected.

The club has sounded an appeal to all residents to cooperate in this effort. The Salvation Army has many calls from needy families for clothing and these can only be filled if residents are generous enough to supply the garments.

The Kiwanis Club is mustering trucks and crews and will set out on a city-wide canvass at 10 a.m. Saturday. All residents who have clothing they wish to give are asked to place the bundles on the front steps of their homes not later than 10 a.m.

The town has been divided into 14 zones and teams and trucks will be covering each zone. The collected clothing will be taken directly to the Salvation Army quarters on West Fourth.

In the event a bundle is overlooked, however, it was announced that a phone call to the First Methodist Church — AM 4-6394 — will bring a special truck to pick up the overlooked bundle.

The

of Big Spring

What is the church? The church is man when his awed soul goes out in reverence to a mystery that swallows him all about.

When any living man in awe gropes Godward in his search; Then in that hour, that living man becomes the living church. Then, though in wilderness or in waste, his soul is swept along Down waves of prayer, through aisles of praise, up altar-stairs of song. And there man fronts the Mystery with spirit bowed in prayer. There is the universal church—the church of God is there.

HISTORY

time, the First Christian Church had moved to a school building and when ousted, built a church at 1st and Main streets. The First Methodist Church was organized July 16, 1883 with five charter members. Services were held in the schoolhouse until the first plant was erected in 1884 on the site where part of the present plant stands.

Priests from the Carmelite monastery established in 1881 at Grelton (later Marensfield and Stanton) began regular visits here in 1883 in the home of Louis Huttmann. This led to establishment of the St. Thomas church, which erected its first building in 1888 on the corner of 5th and Main streets.

In March of 1885, Bishop Garrett held the first Episcopal worship service in the school building, and by November he gave permission for organization of the St. Mary's Mission. The following February the building was started at Fifth and Runnels.

Baptists attended services in other early churches and gathered together occasionally when itinerant ministers visited. On Nov. 11, 1886, the First Baptist Church was chartered formally.

Five years later to the day—Nov. 11, 1891—the First Presbyterian Church was chartered with more than a dozen adults and children listed as charter members, and four years later the initial church building was erected.

Stadium Baptist Completes New Plant In September

One of Big Spring's newest churches, Stadium Baptist Church, at the intersection of Tulane and Rutgers Streets, was completed in September with the building and grounds valued at $55,000.

Made of yellow brick veneer and stucco, the building consists of an auditorium that seats 200 and an educational room, both of which will be cooled in the summer by two evaporative air conditioners and heated in the winter by central heating. Construction was begun in the middle of June by Jack Thorpe, Big Spring, with the dedication ceremonies taking place Sept. 1. There were 36 original members of the church, but the number has since increased to 100.

Rev. J. William Arnett, organized the church in October, 1962, but members were without a church at the time. The first services were held in the
