

Spooky fun scheduled here Friday, Saturday

Halloween activities are scheduled in Scurry County both Friday and Saturday to include two carnivals, trips to rural haunted houses, a "Phantom of the Opera" spook house and the traditional trick or treat fund raiser for UNICEF.

The seasonal activity begins Friday night with a guided tour of three spook houses planned by the Kappa Chi organization at Western Texas College.

The tours, which will be from 1 to 1 1/2 hours in length, begin at the Christian Student Center on campus at 7:30 p.m. Tours are planned both Friday and Saturday.

Admission is $1.50 and youth younger than junior high age must be accompanied by an adult.

Saturday night Halloween carnivals are planned both at Ira and in Snyder.

In addition, the drama department at Snyder High School has scheduled a "Phantom of the Opera" spook house at Worsham Auditorium Saturday.

Ira's festivities, sponsored by the Ira PTA, will kick off at 5:30 p.m. with a supper in the cafeteria. Menu items include barbecue, homemade chili, hot dogs and desserts and will be served until 8:30 p.m.

Booths will be open in the gymnasium from 6 until 9 p.m.

In Snyder, the Stanfield Parent Council has planned a Halloween Carnival in the National Guard Armory. Activities will open at 6 p.m. Saturday and conclude at 10 p.m. In addition to prizes and activities, various food booths will also be available.

A uniformed policeman will also be on patrol at the armory during the carnival.

The SHS drama department's spook house will be open from 7:30 until 11 p.m. at the auditorium.

Sponsors say visitors will be taken through a backstage trip into the past full of "monsters, thrills and excitement" using corridors, stairways, stage lighting and costumes.

Tickets to the spook house will be $2 per person and may be purchased at the box office prior to entering the spook house. There is no age limit but younger children should be accompanied by an adult. Tour guides will conduct each group through the house.

Trick or treaters for UNICEF are expected to be ringing doorbells Saturday night also.

Local youth from First United Methodist Church will be out collecting donations for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Crane topples at blaze

Snyder firemen battled a tank battery fire Thursday — a fire complicated somewhat by a toppled crane at the scene.

Local units were dispatched around 5:30 p.m. to the site on the Fuller Ranch about 17 miles north of the city.

According to reports, residual oil and fiberglass lining in the tank were ignited by a worker's torch. The Texaco-owned tank was being torn down by Cox Tank Construction of Abilene.

The large crane at the scene became overbalanced and fell shortly after the blaze began while the operator was attempting to move a section of the tank away from the fire.

No injuries were reported to any workers at the scene and Cox company personnel said the crane was not damaged in the fall.

Bunkers were under construction

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Intelligence photographs show evidence that missile storage bunkers may have been under construction in Grenada, prompting the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff to urge an immediate invasion, according to a report today by the Knight-Ridder news service.

The photos showed four concrete shelters 200 feet long and 40 feet wide, with walls 12-to-18 inches thick, under construction about 800 feet from the new airport runway at Point Salines, Knight-Ridder said. The story was carried in the Philadelphia Inquirer and other Knight-Ridder newspapers.

The photographs were taken by a spy on Grenada who relayed them to sources off the island using a scanning device and a radio transmitter, according to Knight-Ridder, which said the information was compiled from Pentagon, congressional and independent sources.

The bunkers still were under construction and were only about a third complete, as were the aprons and concrete runways intended to link the bunkers to the airport, the report said.

"It was the first clear evidence that a Soviet-Cuban construction unit was building more than runways," said one source quoted in the article.

Asked for comment on the report, an unidentified high-ranking administration official told Knight-Ridder, "I can't confirm that. ... I haven't heard that."

Lubbock cases again linked here

Officials with the Scurry County Health Unit report a third case of hepatitis has been diagnosed here — a case again linked to People's Restaurant in Lubbock.

Paula Pierce, health unit nurse, said the case is being treated "like all other hepatitis cases we handle." Individuals who came into personal contact with the person are being notified and advised to receive gamma globulin shots.

"This past week, we've received calls asking about other Snyder restaurants. We've checked each call and we can

An unidentified Pentagon source said the Joint Chiefs were particularly worried because of the size of the buildings under construction.

"The dimensions ... right down to the width of the doors and the thickness of the concrete, matched perfectly with the dimensions of Group Soviet Forces missile bunkers in Cuba, Poland, East Germany and the Soviet Union," the source said.

In addition, the source said intercepted radio transmissions between the Soviet Embassy in St. George's, the capital of Grenada, included information in which Soviet rocket-forces advisers discussed a military construction project at the field.

Knight-Ridder said that U.S. reconnaissance has found similar construction in East-bloc countries in which missiles are stored.

say that none have proven true," Pierce said.

The third case has been traced to People's Restaurant in Lubbock since the individual ate their some seven weeks ago. The hepatitis germ, once come in contact with, usually takes from 15 to 50 days before symptoms appear and the disease becomes contagious.

The recent case is actually the sixth reported in Snyder in 1983. "We have sporadic cases all the time," Pierce said.

"Unless they're directly affected, people just aren't aware of them."

To catch the disease, the germ has to be transmitted either orally or through an injection of some kind. When cases are confirmed, persons who were likely to have had such contact are contacted by the health department and advised to receive the gamma globulin shot. It boosts the body's resistance sufficiently to overcome the hepatitis finding germ.

Change swindle reported

Snyder police say a pair of quick change artists were apparently at work in the city Thursday.

Detectives report that cashiers at two local restaurants, K-Bob's and Whataburger, were victimized by the two black men Thursday.

The quick change game basically involves a thief who pays for a small item at the store with a relatively large bill and then relies on his ability to confuse the cashier into giving too much change in return.

Local merchants were advised that the pair may still be in the area.

Rural residence said burglarized

Investigators with the Scurry County Sheriff's office are searching for suspects in connection with the burglary of a rural residence reported Thursday.

According to reports, Mrs. Jimmy Joe Key returned to her home in the Fluvanna area around 3 p.m. Thursday to discover that the house had been burglarized.

Investigators reported that two small televisions sets, two radios (one a ham unit and the other an aircraft two-way), a video cassette recorder and two guns had been taken from the residence.

Entry to the house was gained by forcing open the back door and investigators have pinpointed the time of the burglary as sometime between 1 and 3 p.m. Thursday. No estimate was available for the value of the stolen property.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Political season is approaching, and James Roberts in the Andrews County News had a political story that's been making the rounds.

It's a tale about one of the unluckiest men in the world. He decided to kill himself and took special pains to succeed.

Afraid his old pistol wouldn't work, he got a gallon of kerosene, a piece of rope, some rat poison and rowed down the river to where some trees leaned out over the water.

He tied the rope around his neck and over one of the trees, poured kerosene and set fire to himself and swallowed the rat poison. He figured on shooting himself when he kicked the boat from under his feet.

He fired the piston, shot the rope instead of himself and fell into the river. The water put out the fire, and the choking from the water made him throw up the poison.

That one experience made the fellow think his luck was changing, so he swam to shore and ran for office.

"Durned if I didn't get elected," he said.

George Dolan of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram has been on vacation. Being a frugal sort, he stops at small, out-of-the-way restaurants.

Thinking all the trucks parked about indicted good food, Dolan ordered the blue plate special. Said Dolan, "The food was so bad the Humane Society wouldn't let them give out doggie bags."

Noting she was engaged to be married again, an Odessa writer said Elizabeth Taylor's new beau is said to be a Mexican lawyer named Victor Luna.

"Who'd want to marry a gal who seven other guys couldn't live with?"

Q. — On several mornings, we've seen some type of animal swimming in Deep Creek. It looks like a cat, but I don't think it is. Any idea what it could be?

A. — It is likely a nutria. The animal, which is about the size of cat and whose true name is a coypu, is an aquatic rodent native to South America. It was introduced locally since it is reputed to eat algae.

In Brief

Economic gauge increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's main economic forecasting gauge rose 0.9 percent in September, the Commerce Department said today.

The rise, the 13th straight monthly gain, appeared to be another sign the economy would grow at a more moderate pace into next year.

The forecasting gauge, the Index of Leading Economic Indicators, is a compilation of a dozen forward-pointing statistics covering manufacturing, employment, prices and other areas.

The department revised its August figure up from a previously reported 0.1 percent decline to a 0.3 percent increase and July's down from a 0.8 percent gain to a 0.6 percent gain. The September, August and July advances were the smallest of the year.

By comparison, the index jumped 3.1 percent in January, as the economy headed for the booming second quarter and by more than a full percent in every other month.

Bush defends Reagan plan

HOUSTON (AP) — Vice President George Bush, continuing his vigorous defense of President Reagan's policies on Grenada and the Middle East, said today that the United States cannot practice isolationism when faced with foreign governments that are obviously immoral.

Bush compared 1930s Europe and Central and South America of the 1980s, saying he often was tempted to ask people accusing the United States of imperialism "if it would have been moral or immoral to replace Adolph Hitler."

Bush said he hoped discoveries of Cuban armaments on the island of Grenada would change the opinions of many Americans who criticized the invasion there.

"I am hopeful that when they see those Cuban arms and when they see the big lie of Fidel Castro ... they will realize this is a tough world we are living in," Bush told about 400 members of the Forum Club, a local civic organization.

Snipers firing at Marines

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Undeterred by sniper fire, searchers today reached the basement of the bomb-devastated U.S. Marine post at Beirut's international airport. The Pentagon put the American death toll at 225.

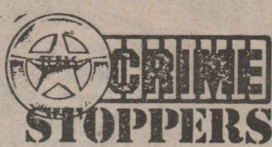

Marine spokesman Maj. Robert Jordan said the base took "some sporadic sniper fire during the night" that caused no casualties. He said the Marines did not fire back.

Jordan said the sniping from southeast of the base did not interrupt the round-the-clock search through the rubble of the Marine command post, shattered by a suicide terrorist's truck bomb Sunday.

Woman warns suicide can strike any family

WASHINGTON (AP) — Her voice trembling, a Texas woman whose 18-year-old son shot himself to death two months ago has told a congressional committee that it can happen in any family — and that parents need to be on guard.

"When we talk about suicide, so many people think of kids on drugs or alcohol and kids who've been in trouble with the law, but I'm here to tell you different," said Elaine Difiglia, 38, of Plano, an affluent Dallas suburb where six teen-agers have committed suicide since February.

"It can happen in the best and happiest of homes," Mrs. Difiglia told the House committee, which is studying crisis assistance for teen-agers. "It can happen to you."

In a hushed committee room on Thursday, Mrs. Difiglia, dressed in a blue suit with a gold butterfly pin on her lapel, described how her son, Scott, committed suicide without warning only hours after chatting cheerfully with her on the telephone.

"There isn't a day or an hour that goes by," she said, breaking into tears, that she doesn't wish "I could talk to Scott, to laugh with him again, to hug him and tell him that I love him and let him know we care."

The suicide epidemic in Plano sparked widespread alarm in the Dallas area and prompted expanded efforts to combat suicide among teen-agers.

Judie Smith, program director of the Dallas

Suicide and Crisis Center, told the committee that nationwide 6,000 people under age 25 commit suicide each year and that for every one who is successful, an estimated 50 others try and fail.

One major cause of such suicides, she said, is "the failing of the family as an institution." The Dallas area, with one of the nation's highest divorce rates, also has the second highest suicide rate among adolescents, she said.

A community such as Plano has grown rapidly and the relocation of families has resulted in their leaving behind "friends that are so important in times of crisis," Mrs. Smith said.

The pressure on children to succeed is also intense, with the children setting "high expectations for themselves with overt and covert messages from their parents," said Mrs. Smith.

"High goals of being accepted into a prestigious college, becoming the star football player, being chosen a cheerleader or homecoming queen, or making straight A's may be an unrealistic burden for these teen-agers who are achievement oriented," she said.

Mrs. Smith said that to help combat the problem the center has used a 24-hour hotline and outreach teams, has developed a curriculum on suicide prevention for use in Dallas schools and has held numerous training sessions for teachers, parents and teen-agers themselves.

But she warned that "in spite of this aggressive programming, we fully expect that some day another young person will commit suicide in Plano."

Mrs. Difiglia said parents need to talk with their children about suicide before it happens.

She said, "Ask our kids how they feel about it, if they've ever considered it, if they realize how final it is, and if they realize all the heartache and pain it leaves behind."

Saving money is important. For everyone. That's why people who know insist on natural gas for drying.

Gas dryers cost less to operate than non-gas models. In fact, high-efficiency gas dryers dry about three loads of wash for the cost of drying one in a non-gas dryer.

And gas dries clothes faster. And it makes them feel soft and fluffy.

So if you like saving money, call your local appliance dealer. Find out more about the benefits of gas drying. Both for your clothing. And your pocketbook.

Drug for migraines

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been told by a friend that the drug Sansert was prescribed for the migraine headaches she had for years. After taking Sansert only once, she never again had another migraine. But she did say this drug is dangerous and changes your blood system. I would like to know your opinion. I have tried so many drugs with no relief.

DEAR READER — About Sansert, it is a good medicine and is used to prevent migraine headaches in cases that cannot be controlled by other methods. I do not know what you mean by saying your friend used Sansert only once. If you mean she took medicine only once I would doubt the story. If you mean she took treatment for several months and stopped having migraine headaches, that would be more plausible.

Like most other migraine medications, Sansert seldom cures or totally prevents migraines. That is why it, as well as other medications, needs to be taken for long periods of time.

That is where the trouble begins with Sansert. It may stimulate thickening of the fibrous tissues in the body cavities leading to serious complications. To prevent this most doctors who use it prescribe it only for a few months and then stop it to give the body a chance to avoid such changes or reverse those that have occurred.

Several other medications are used on a continuous basis to prevent migraine headaches. Some are stopped by changes in lifestyle, including avoiding certain foods that contain tyramine, such as aged cheese.

I have discussed the factors related to migraines in The Health Letter 16-12, Headaches and What To Do About Them, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Fortunately for most women who have migraine headaches they usually stop after menopause is over. In a few women, however, they start then. But few things are constant in medicine. One person's blessing is another person's curse.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm in my late 20s and have been exercising because I'm obese. My problem is that upon losing weight from my waist and hips I have noticed that my right hip goes up more on one side than the left. It is also scary as one buttock is much higher on that side, too. I'll do anything to try to correct this problem. I'm not vain, Dr. Lamb, but clothes look and fit terribly. In bathing suits I really look deformed.

DEAR READER — You may have two problems. Often our two halves of the body are unequal. One breast may be larger than the other. Even the sides of the face are often different.

So many people have one leg that is shorter than the other. That will tilt your pelvis and make one hip higher than the other. In that case, if you find out which leg is shorter you can have a lift in your shoe and help to straighten the foundation, so to speak. That decreases the pelvic tilt.

The other (or additional) possibility is that one half of your pelvis may be smaller than the other half.

It is important to determine if your difference is great because it can cause your entire spinal column to be askew in balancing your body. Why not go see either a specialist in physical medicine or an orthopedic specialist and find out if you have enough change to require help.

Three die in blaze set

FRESNO, Texas (AP) — A 4-year-old girl and two infant brothers died in an apartment fire apparently set by another brother who was playing with a cigarette lighter, authorities say.

Killed in Thursday's fire were Marie Elna Lopez; Jose Pablo Lopez, 1; and Daniel Lopez, 1 month.

The children's mother, Maria Lopez, tossed the other son, George, to rescuers, said Fort Bend County Sheriff Ervin Hurta. After failing to rescue her other children, Mrs. Lopez jumped from the second-floor garage apartment, he said. She suffered a broken back and was listed in satisfactory condition at Fort Bend Community Hospital in Missouri City.

George Lopez apparently set a bathroom curtain on fire with a cigarette light. Mrs. Lopez grabbed her son, ran to the balcony and dropped him to rescuers, Hurta said.

She tried to save her other children, but was unable to reach them because of the fire and smoke, he said.

Avon items said stolen

County authorities were advised Thursday afternoon of the theft of a quantity of Avon products from a residence near Camp Springs.

Some $175 worth of the products are thought to have been taken sometime between Oct. 18 and Oct. 22.

Microwave stolen from store

A microwave oven was reported stolen from a Snyder business Thursday.

Personnel with Hoyt Furniture in Snyder called police at 10:13 a.m. to report the theft.

A Tappan microwave oven, value at $230, was said missing. It was thought to have been taken sometime during the business day Wednesday.

Although the Ra was no match for the Caribbean hurricane season, Heyerdahl built a sturdier papyrus craft and successfully crossed the Atlantic in Ra II in July of 1970.

Reagan tells of recent actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, declaring "we are a nation with global responsibilities," says U.S. troops are in Lebanon and Grenada to protect America's interests against a Soviet "network of surrogates and terrorists."

The president went on nationwide television Thursday night to address the concerns of an American public shaken by the startling deaths of more than 200 Marines and sailors in Beirut and the invasion of the tiny island of Grenada.

In strong terms, he defended U.S. actions on both fronts and blamed the Soviets for encouraging the troubles in Lebanon and Grenada.

"The events in Lebanon and Grenada, though oceans apart, are closely related," Reagan said. "Not only has Moscow assisted and encouraged the violence in both countries, but it provides direct support through a network of surrogates and terrorists."

"It is no coincidence," he said, "that when the thugs tried to wrest control over Grenada, there were 30 Soviet advisers and hundreds of Cuban military and paramilitary forces on the island."

And he noted that 7,000 Soviet advisers and technicians are in Syria, which, he said, "makes no secret of its claim that Lebanon should be a part of a greater Syria."

He opened his address with a reminder of another Soviet act: "Some two months ago, we were shocked by the brutal massacre of 269 men, women and children, more than 60 of them Americans, in the shooting down of a Korean airliner."

"Now," he added, "in these past several days, violence has erupted again."

He vowed that those responsible for the bombing of the Marine barracks in Beirut "must be dealt justice. They will be."

The president said before U.S. and Caribbean forces invaded Grenada on Tuesday it "was a Soviet-Cuban colony being readied as a major military bastion to export terror and undermine democracy. We got there just in time."

He said the foremost mission of American forces on Grenada was to guarantee the safety of U.S. citizens there. "The nightmare of our hostages in Iran must never be repeated," he declared.

Reagan put American actions in a broader context when he said: "We are a nation with global responsibilities. We are not somewhere else in the world in the world protecting someone else's interests. We are there protecting our own."

"The world has changed," he added. "Today our national security can be threatened in faraway places. It is up to all of us to be aware of the strategic importance of such places and to be able to identify them."

Reagan said he ordered the invasion of Grenada because of an urgent request from that island's neighbors "that we join them in a military operation to restore order and democracy in Grenada."

"These small, peaceful nations needed our help," the president said, adding that three of the countries do not have any arms and the others have only limited forces.

Reagan said the number of Cubans on the island was larger than the invaders thought and that they were a military force.

"Six hundred have been taken prisoner and we have discovered a complete base with weapons and communications equipment which makes it clear a Cuban occupation of the island was planned," he said.

"Regrettably," he said, Cuban President Fidel Castro "ordered his men to fight to the death and some did. The others will be sent to their homeland."

The president said he was sorry about the casualties on Grenada. "They were small in number but even one is a tragic price to pay," he said.

In Lebanon, Reagan said, the United States "will do everything we can to ensure that our men are as safe as possible."

He said there was strong circumstantial evidence that the terrorists responsible for the bombing were the same that destroyed the American Embassy in Beirut several months ago. While pledging that, "those who directed this atrocity must be dealt justice," he didn't name any group as being responsible.

He said the obvious purpose of the attack was to weaken American resolve and force the withdrawal of American and French troops from Lebanon.

"Let me ask those who say we should get out of Lebanon: if we were to leave Lebanon now, what message would that send to those who foment instability and terrorism?" he said.

And Reagan also asked: "If America were to walk away from Lebanon, what chance would there be for a negotiated settlement producing a unified, democratic Lebanon?"

"If we turned our backs on Lebanon now, what would be the future of Israel?"

"Can the United States or the free world, for that matter, stand by and see the Middle East incorporated into the Soviet bloc? What of Western Europe's and Japan's dependence on Middle East oil?"

"Brave young men have been taken from us. Many others have been grievously wounded. Are we to tell them their sacrifice has been wasted?"

third place winners in the women's division. Standing are Emmett Askins, first place winner in the men's division and Owen Miller and Pete Glass who tied for second. Not pictured is third place winner Philip Fisher.

Doctors are optimistic

HOUSTON (AP) — Doctors say they're encouraged with the condition of a 12-year-old boy who had an experimental bone marrow transplant that could free him from his plastic, germ-free bubble where he lived since birth.

The boy, identified only as David, suffers from severe combined immune disorder, a rare defect that leaves his body without the ability to fight germs. He has lived longer than any other person born with the disorder.

One week ago, David received less than two ounces of specially treated cells taken from his 15-year-old sister's bone marrow. His physician, Dr. William T. Shearer, said David had showed no adverse reaction to the procedure.

Doctors said they will not know for at least three months whether David will be able to leave his isolation unit at Texas Children's Hospital and live safely in the germ-filled world. Shearer said the boy was in "especially high spirits."

"He's doing all the normal things he would if he were at home. So far, everything is going very well," Shearer said.

Spooky fun promised here

Halloween activities will continue in the county Halloween day and night Monday.

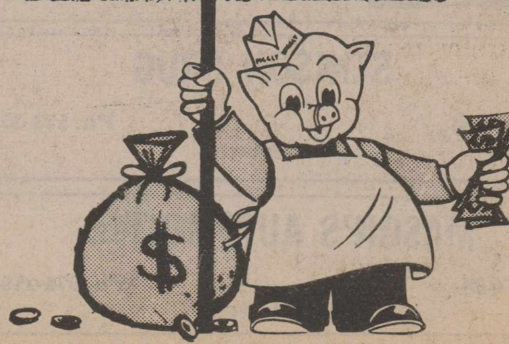

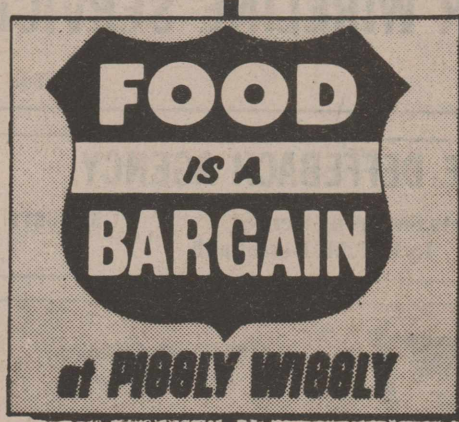

Kmart in Snyder will sponsor its second annual costume contest Monday with gift certificates given away.

No age limit is placed on entries, who need only come by the store from 3 until 7 p.m. to be judged. First prize will be a $50 gift certificate. Second, third and fourth place winners will receive respective gift certificates of $25, $15 and $5.

Halloween night, the Hermleigh school has planned its traditional carnival at the high school from 6-9 p.m. A variety of games and fun activities including a costume contest and spook house are planned. Several items will also be given away.

To make this Halloween season safe, the Taco Villa restaurant is introducing a special token program to avoid the possibility of youngsters bringing home contaminated candy.

The restaurant is offering for sale bags of tokens, to be given out as treats instead of candy. These can be redeemed at the restaurant at a later time for a free soft drink or a discount on a meal.

The British mandate was proclaimed in Palestine in 1922.

North's four-club bid was Gerber to ask for aces and South's four no-trump showed three. North's seven no-trump was an overbid since there was no way he could visualize 13 tricks unless South held the right face cards in addition to his three aces.

South wasn't as mild as we are. He looked over dummy and said, "Partner, thank you for getting us to a 24 percent grand slam. A sensible six would be the right contract and even that has only a 90 percent play."

The 24 percent play worked. South won the spade, led a low club, finessed dummy's nine, returned to his hand, led a second club, put the king on East's jack, returned for another finesse and now had 14 winners.

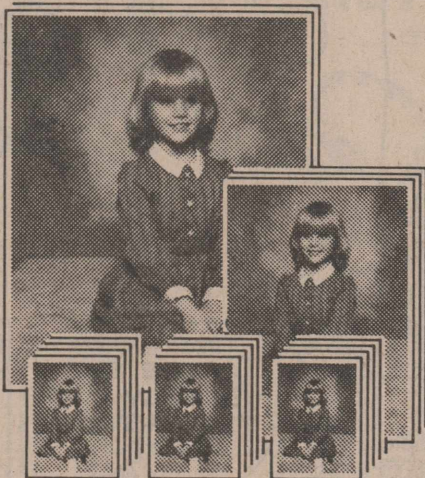

"You made it," said North. "But didn't you mis-play it? Shouldn't you have played one top club first to guard against a singleton queen or jack in the East hand?"

"Nonsense," replied south. "That was only a 7 percent play. My play was bound to win as long as West held both the queen and jack of clubs; your play, only if West held exactly four clubs to either the jack or queen, or Q-J doubleton."

SUPPER FOR FOUR
Lasagne & Salad
Fresh Pears & Coffee
LASAGNE FOR FOUR
It's chock-full of cheese.
10 whole packaged lasagne noodles
3½ cups thick tomato-meat sauce
1½ cups (or more) ricotta cheese
6 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
½ pound mozzarella cheese, cut into 16 slices
Cook lasagne according to package directions; drain and separate noodles. In a 2-quart oblong baking dish (about 12 by 8 by 2 inches) spread ½ cup of the tomato-meat sauce. Layer with 4 noodles, folding over ends; ½ cup ricotta; 2 tablespoons Parmesan; 4 slices mozzarella; 1 cup tomato sauce. Repeat layers twice more but for these use only 3 noodles for each layer. Bake, uncovered, in a preheated 375-degree oven until done — about 5 minutes; arrange remaining 4 slices mozzarella over top and continue baking until melted — 5 minutes or so. Makes 4 servings.

ISLAND PARFAIT
The pudding is very sweet, so we suggest small portions.
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
20-ounce can crushed pineapple in pineapple syrup, drained
Salted macadamia nuts, whole or chopped
Into an 8-inch cake pan, pour the condensed milk; cover with foil; place in a 10-inch round cake pan of hot tap water (the water should come up as high as the milk). Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven until thick and light caramel color — about 1 hour. Chill. Divide among 6 sherbet glasses, using 3 generous tablespoons for each. Top each with a generous ¼ cup crushed pineapple; sprinkle with macadamia nuts. Makes 6 servings.

"Changes" plot ends predictably

CHANGES. By Danielle Steel. Delacorte. 348 Pages. $15.95.

Danielle Steel's latest novel, "Changes," is a harmless, but ineffective story about two super-achievers who fall in love, and who are faced with the difficulties of combining families and careers.

Dr. Peter Hallam is a famous cardiac surgeon at Center City Hospital in Los Angeles. Recently widowed, he is the father of three children. Melanie Adams is a television news anchorwoman. She is divorced, the mother of twin teen-age daughters, and lives in New York City. Peter and Melanie meet while Melanie is in Los Angeles doing a story on a young girl in need of cardiac surgery. They are attracted to one another, but neither one comes out and says so in so many words before Melanie returns to New York.

Melanie goes back to Los Angeles a short time later to cover the attempted assassination of the president of the United States. It is during this trip that Peter tells Melanie: "You're the first woman I've been attracted to in 20 years, other than my wife." And Melanie tells Peter: "The only thing that's too bad is that we're so far apart. You live here. I live there. We'll never find anything out like this."

They find it increasingly difficult to remain apart. It becomes more and more evident either that they will have to spend the rest of their lives on airplanes, flying back and forth between New York and Los Angeles, or that some changes will have to be made. But there are many obstacles to overcome: Peter's children are still mourning the recent death of their mother, while Melanie's daughters are accustomed to having their mother all to themselves. And both Peter and Melanie have their careers to consider. If they are to marry, one of them will have to uproot children and career to relocate. Who will make the sacrifice?

Miss Steel's novel is written in a style that is easy to read. The author is somewhat successful in illustrating the conflicts that can arise when two unique, and honorable, individuals attempt to make a life together. But the author breaks no new ground in defining male-female relationships, and the novel has a predictable, "and they all lived happily ever after," ending.

Mother Searches for Way To Cure Lovesick Daughter

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I need some advice fast. I have a 13-year-old daughter who is crazy in love with a 19-year-old neighbor boy. Today, you hear about 12- and 13-year-old girls getting pregnant, and I am out of my mind with worry. So how do I keep my precious daughter from making this mistake? I keep close tabs on her. She isn't allowed to date this boy, but she may talk to him in front of the house.

Abby, I pray every night, and I know God hears me, but I need to know how to handle this in a calm manner. Every time I think of it, I cry. I hear her talking to her friends on the phone, and I know she is in terrible danger. She "loves" this boy so much, she would do anything he asked her to do. (I pray to God she hasn't already done it.)

I can't lock her up. I have talked to her about love, making love, and how important it is to save herself for marriage, but I'm not sure I got through to her. Please help me. I am desperate.

GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: First, have a calm, non-judgmental, heart-to-heart talk with your daughter and find out what the relationship is between her and the 19-year-old neighbor man—not boy. Does he have a serious interest in your daughter? Or is she (like many 13-year-old girls) living in a dreamworld?

If your daughter is sexually involved with this young man, have a talk with him. Does he know that sexual intercourse with a minor is statutory rape? And does your daughter know everything she needs to know about how to prevent an unwanted pregnancy? (Don't make the mistake some mothers make in thinking that if they discuss this with their daughters it's the same as giving them permission. It's not.)

If your daughter has a father, include him in this discussion. She's his daughter too. (P.S. Prayer is wonderful. But it's a very unreliable contraceptive.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 years old and I am trying to get over my first love. Last summer I fell in love for the first time and I never knew I could be so happy. He told me he loved me and I never doubted him for a minute. Then he left for college in another state, saying he would send me his address so I could write to him.

He left last month and I haven't heard from him. This hurts me so much. Is this what love is all about?

I was able to get his address from directory assistance. Should I write to him, or try to get over him? I love him so much. Please tell me what to do.

IN PAIN

DEAR IN PAIN: Don't write to him. This is not what a lasting "love" is all about—it sounds more like a summer romance. Don't dwell on thoughts of him. Consider it a good learning experience. You will be the richer and wiser for it. Close that door and don't look back.

DEAR ABBY: After a homosexual male has had a sex-change operation and becomes a female, is he then a heterosexual, bisexual or is he still a homosexual?

This is not a joke, Abby, it's a question that has been puzzling me for a long time.

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: If the sex-changed female chooses for her sexual partner another female, she is a lesbian. If she prefers males exclusively, she is heterosexual, and if she enjoys sex equally with both males and females, she is bisexual.

Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

For the first time since the Civil War, during the 1970s, and 1980s, more blacks entered the South than left, according to National Geographic. Just before the war there were about 3 million slaves in the South, the numbers swelling from less than 250,000 in 1790.

Survivor recounts day

HOUSTON (AP) — A medical student airlifted from St. George's University Medical School on Grenada says the "greatest sound in the world" was an American soldier kicking in the door to a dormitory room where he, his wife and 50 other were huddled.

"American soldier — the freeze' were the first words we heard," said

Timothy Mooney, 23, of New Orleans, upon arrival Thursday at Houston Intercontinental airport.

"It scared the hell out of us, but that was the greatest sound in the world," he said.

Mooney and his bride, Michele, 21, flew to Texas from Charleston, S.C., for a tearful but happy reunion with their families.

Mrs. Mooney said she and her husband were not only afraid the Grenadians would not let them leave the island to safety, but that they would be wounded by gunfire.

"We felt our lives were in serious danger," she said. "We were terrified."

Mrs. Mooney said she and her husband were not only afraid the Grenadians would not let them leave the island to safety, but that they would be wounded by gunfire.

Two wounded soldiers describe the fighting

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The first two wounded American soldiers to speak to reporters after being evacuated from Grenada say they landed at the island's airstrip amid smoke and fighting and immediately faced disciplined, well-armed enemy troops.

"They were waiting for us," said 1st Lt. Andre Menu of Portland, Maine, describing the initial firefight Tuesday when his unit landed during the U.S.-led invasion.

The 34-year-old officer and Sgt. Gerald Bannon, 29, of Fayetteville, appeared before a roomful of reporters Thursday and for 10 minutes described the action, praised their comrades and voiced approval for the policies that led to the military strike.

About 300 yards from the airstrip where they landed was "a lot of smoke, a lot of action," Menu said.

"We were fighting against very highly armed people, with armored per-

The dinner was held Oct. 20 at the Petroleum Club in Midland. W. D. Edman, division manager, expressed his appreciation for the contribution made to Chevron by the recipients. Approximately 85 employees, spouses and guests were in attendance.

sonnel carriers that were jammed full of ammunition," he said. Asked if the resistance exceeded his expectations, he replied, "Yes, sir, they were waiting for us."

But "the officers and the men of the 82nd performed like true professionals. They lived up to the reputation of the best in the world."

The two expressed thanks for the praise U.S. troops received from St. George's University Medical School students rescued from the island. "We really appreciate the American students for telling Americans something positive — that we did our job and we did it well," said Menu.

Menu, a member of the 1st Battalion, 325th Field Artillery of the 82nd Airborne Division, suffered shrapnel wounds to his right arm. Bannon, of the 2nd Battalion, 325th Infantry, was shot in the left arm.

Both were evacuated to Womack Army Hospital at Fort Bragg on Wednesday night.

"It's just good to be back in one piece," said Bannon. "I hope all the guys in my unit made it. My unit had a specific job to do. We went to the points we were supposed to and we set up. The men performed admirably."

Bannon said his unit came under fire from a tree line as soon as its plane landed. He said he was wounded in the left shoulder Wednesday morning as his unit left a defensive position near the airport.

Menu said he was injured by a hand grenade during "house-to-house" combat.

Battle Loboos tough...

Girls set for playoff with Pecos

MONAHANS -- If you talk to Coach Leslie O'Pry today, you might get the feeling Snyder won its volleyball match with Monahans here Thursday.

"We played great. Now obviously you don't think of somebody saying they played great and then didn't win, but considering we've been beaten badly by Monahans twice, and had a little bit of a mental thing about them, I thought we did very well," said the coach.

She may be right. Monahans dominated the Tigers in their other two meetings this year, but had to fight tough all the way to eek out a 16-14, 13-15, 15-7 victory.

The loss puts Snyder against Pecos in a district playoff match for the runner-up spot, to be held 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, site to be determined. The winner will face 1-4A champion Pampa in bi-district play either Thursday, Friday or Saturday of next week.

Monahans, which won District 2-4A with a 13-1 record, will play 2-1A runner-up Levelland (8-4) in bi-district action next Tuesday.

Monahans came out in the first game here Thursday and ripped to a 10-0 advantage before Snyder got its composure and rallied back to make it a two-point, 16-14 contest. The teams then fought to a 12-13 score in the second match before Sabrina Sullivan served three straight points to put the teams at one win apiece.

"We played intelligent volleyball. We got our blocks and that was probably a key factor," said O'Pry. "We just took too much time getting started and Monahans played a smart match, especially in that third game."

Serving for points for Snyder were Cari Walker 8, Susan Brim 8, Mona Green 7, Tricia Gregory 1, Sullivan 11 and Karlene Thompson 1.

Snyder has beaten Pecos in two matches this season, but both were pushed to three games.

"It's not going to be easy, but I feel like those wins should give us a psychological edge. And Pecos lost to Andrews, us and Monahans all in a row before beating Sweetwater last night (Thursday)," said O'Pry. "So they are kind of like a dog that's been backed into a corner. We know it's going to be tough, but we're coming out of the Monahans game with a good feeling. I'd like to urge all of our fans to make the trip. We can use the support."

Snyder ends the regular season with a 10-4 district record, 20-12 for the year.

In other play here Thursday, Monahans defeated Snyder JV 15-6 and 15-4. Serving for Snyder were Shondra Robinson 2, Allison Adams 3, Kima McLarty 1, Shannette Thompson 1 and Stacy Dunk 3.

Turnovers may be factor in Fort Stockton game

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

FORT STOCKTON -- It could come down to turnovers here tonight, when Fort Stockton and Snyder, two give-it-up teams clash at 8 o'clock.

Both squads have had more than their share of turnovers this season, especially through the sky. Snyder has been intercepted 12 times; Fort Stockton 11.

The situation is similar on the ground, where Fort Stockton has had success in moving - but not scoring with - the ball. Unofficially, the Panthers have fumbled 10 times in 1982.

Snyder has let the ball slip through its fingers 11 times.

But barring turnovers, it appears to be a ground game versus an air attack. Fort Stockton, which has only gone to the air for 139 yards this season - lowest in the district - has rushed for 1,648. That ranks second.

The Tigers have tossed for 662 and run for 842.

Despite having the fifth-rated offense in the district, Fort Stockton has put up only 20 points in district play, or about 5 a game. Snyder is averaging 9.5. Both defenses are allowing over 20 points a contest, largely due to the aforementioned turnover problem.

Fort Stockton boasts the No. 3 rusher in the conference, Russell Winn, who has 524 yards and 6 touchdowns on 96 carries. Hobbled with an ankle injury, Winn is not expected to be full speed for tonight's contest. Tony Munoz, a 165-pound senior, leads the conference's regular rushers in yards-per-carry at 7.7. He has 271 yards and 4 TDs in 35 totes. George Garcia has 230 yards while end Darren Huckaby has 218 and George Gladson has 208.

The Panthers make good use of their running backs, behind an offensive line that averages in the 190s. Quarterback Van Watson, a 152-junior, is not a running threat. He has 52 yards for the season.

Watson, who took over for an injured Lee Daggett in district play, has thrown complete 13 times in 40 tries. He has eight interceptions. George Garcia, slot, is Fort Stockton's leading receiver with only four catches for 57 yards.

Snyder's leading rusher is senior Norman Malone, who has 447 yards and four touchdowns on 99 carries. Quarterback Jimmy Cain has 139 on 65 tries. Cain, a junior, has passed for 432 yards in 29 of 90 tosses and has 10 interceptions. His favorite target is senior end Chad Peterson, who has 373 yards on a league-leading 26 catches.

Defensively for the Tigers, linebacker Paul Thompson leads in total tackles with 91, an average of 13 per game. Eddie McClure, linebacker, has 61. Tackle Jeff Minor has 58 for the season, while tackle Jeff Sisneros has 52. Peterson is next with 51 while Jimmy Hunter and Charles Bollinger have 37 each, cornerback Joe Boudreau has 35, noseguard Dewayne Williamson has 30 and corner Webb has 28. Peterson leads in unassisted tackles with 12.

The Tigers have recovered seven fumbles and intercepted one pass. However, Snyder has only grabbed two turnovers in district play, both fumbles.

Underclassmen show good improvement

Snyder junior high teams won one and lost four games Thursday, but showed improvement all the way, according to their coaches.

The eighth grade B team lost 60-16 to Big Spring.

Snyder scored on a QB sneak by Roland Romo and a two-point conversion by Nelson Garthel. Kenneth McClain also scored a touchdown and the conversion was a pass from Romo to Brad Newman.

"The first half our B-team played real well, it was 26-16. We were really tickled with the way they played the first half," said Coach Roger Goodwin. "The second half we played a lot of substitutes and that's how the score got so out of hand."

Key players for the team were Stacy Browning and Jason Polk.

BIG SPRING -- Snyder freshmen were defeated in two games by Big Spring on Thursday.

The Cat B-team lost 22-8. Snyder scored first, aided by a 45-yard pass from Mike Kershaw to Lou Vicknair. On the next play Barry Byrd carried over from the 2-yard line. Byrd also ran over the conversion.

"We felt like we just didn't play good defense," said Coach Ricky Howell. "One bright spot, Brad Gambrell played an outstanding game at linebacker."

Snyder A-team suffered its first loss of the season, 14-6. After recovering a fumble, Snyder scored on a quarterback sneak from the 1-yard line by Kyle Guerry. That tied the game at 6-6 in the fourth quarter.

"We felt like we had a good chance to win but we had a penalty on our extra point attempt and then missed the (conversion) pass. With 30 seconds left we gave up a 40-yard pass for a touchdown," said Howell. "Overall we played well defensively except for two or three big plays. On offense we were our own worst enemy. We stopped ourselves."

"We're still proud of our young men. We feel like they'll bounce back and play the last two games in good fashion."

The Cats travel to Andrews next Thursday.
