Around The Lot In Major Leagues Training Camps In South And West

Baltimore, Md., Mar. 10.—A good "battering eye" depends not entirely on good vision, says Ty Cobb, recovering in Johns Hopkins Hospital from an operation for the removal of an ocular growth.

"Don't put too much stress upon eyesight when speaking of hitting," the Detroit American League manager warns. "I remember one afternoon in New York I had been having trouble with my left eye and was doubting about getting into the game. I couldn't see things out of that eye. Finally I decided to play—and I made four hits."

"No, it isn't all vision. You must have a free and easy position at the plate. You must walk into the ball. You must have confidence. You must tighten up at the impact of the bat with the ball."

Despite his declaration that his fame is not all due to keen eyes, examination at the Wilmer Eye Clinic of Johns Hopkins Hospital showed the Georgia Peach to possess exceptional eye sight. Before the operation was performed he was able, in the chart test, to read two lines more than normal eyes are expected to read.

Giants Win Yankee Loss
NEW YORK, Mar. 10.—Victory for the Giants over the Buffalo International, 6 to 5, and defeat of the Yankees at the hands of the Boston Braves, 6 to 1, featured the training camp practice of Greater New York baseball teams in their first real exhibition tests. The hitting of two outfield recruits featured the contests. Tyson Collins, a scratcher for the Giants, while Culler fashioned a triple and single for the Yankees and stole a base.

Wilbert Robinson, president-manager of the Brooklyn team, laid down stringent rules at Clearwater. The limit in draw poker games for players hereafter will be a quarter.

Major Breaks Loose
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 10.—Participating in his first real game since the loss of Joe Mauer, star first baseman of the Athletics, out all last season with a broken knee cap, came back strong yesterday, knocking out a triple and a single in a practice game at Fort Myers. He ran bases well.

Brilliant playing of Joe Buskey, the Phillies' new shortstop, enabled the Julinos to defeat the regulars, 5 to 1, at Westtown. He drove in the two runs.

Boston Boys Busy
BOSTON, Mar. 10.—The Braves feel a lot better today as a result of their 6 to 1 victory over the Yankees at St. Petersburg. Babe Ruth failed to get a hit, but caught hold of two of Walter's pitches for wicked feints which landed two or three squares from the ball park.

The Red Sox, at New Orleans, put on a nine inning scrap in which the Yankees downed the regulars, 6 to 5. Fred Haney made two doubles.

Reds and Indians To Play
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Mar. 10.—The Cleveland Indians play their first exhibition game of the season at Lakeland today, the Cincinnati Reds being their opponents. Byron Speese, substitute twirler, was selected by Manager Speaker to start the game. He will be followed by Joe Shaute and Benny Karr.

Harris To Out Squad
WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—Manager Harris is preparing to try his punning pitcher to try the budding 1926 Washington Senators line up, with seven of his rookies. Ten pitchers, three catchers, six infielders, five outfielders and Joe Harris will likely form the crop with which the hopes to harvest another world's series.

McKechnie Is Worried
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 10.—Manager William McKechnie is concerned over the condition of Captain Max Carey and first baseman George Grantham of the Pirates squad now in training at Paso Robles. The skipper is not fearful that the two men will not fully recover from their present indispositions but afraid they will not have time to get into trim for the opening of the season.

Carey is recuperating at a St. Louis hospital from an attack of grippe, while Grantham is at Paso Robles suffering from shoulder muscle trouble which fails to respond to treatment.

The first and second Buccaners teams engage in their initial interclub game today.

Thomas Looks Good
DURHAM, N. C., Mar. 10.—Alphonse Thomas, the former Baltimore hurling ace, was the principal attraction at the Chicago White Sox training camp at Shawneetown yesterday. He displayed his stuff for the first time in a warm-up session, before the dazzled eyes of Manager Collins.

Willie Kamm, third sacker—the most expensive in the circuit—reported yesterday. The Chicago Cubs had another practice game at Catalina Island with the makeshift line-up wallowing the regulars 14 to 1.

St. Louis Teams Active
ST. LOUIS, Mar. 10.—From now until mid-April, the Cardinals have only five dates on which exhibition games will not be played. They meet the San Antonio Bears today and tomorrow at San Antonio and the squad will be split up over the week-end for games at Houston and San Antonio.

The Browns also will be busy with exhibition games during the next month. They start off today by meeting the Brooklyn Dodgers at Tarpon Springs, and in the seventeen days that follow will meet major league clubs in twelve other exhibition games, four at Camp and eight in the enemy country. Two teams of the squad batted yesterday.

Landis Praises Reds
CINCINNATI, Ohio, Mar. 10.—A brilliant future was predicted for the Cincinnati Reds by Commissioner of Baseball Landis, who watched the team in two practice sessions at Orlando yesterday. "If this team will play as well as they did today, I think the Reds will make an interesting race of it. I was much impressed with the form shown by Pipp, Emmer, Christenson and some of the young pitchers. When Rixey joins the club, the pitching staff will be one of the best in the league."

Meeting the Cleveland Indians at Lakeland today, the Cincinnati Indians had their first big league tilt of the season.

Tigers Work Hard
DETROIT, Mich., Mar. 10.—Taking advantage of warmer weather, the advance squad of the Detroit Americans went through the stiffest workout in the ten days they have been in their Augusta camp yesterday. Thus far Harry Helms, heavy slugging outfielder, is the only member of the outfield corps in camp and none of the infielders have shown up, forcing pitchers and catchers to take turns in the field for practice. Additional members of the squad are expected to arrive momentarily to take part in the daily drill.

McCraw States His Reasons For Ball Stars' Slump

NEW YORK, Mar. 9.—High salaries, automobiles and numerous diversions are held responsible by John J. McGraw, vice-president and manager of the New York Giants, for a decline in the ability of major-league baseball players.

"There is not a player today, he believes, who can hold a candle to the playing of Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner and many others when they were in their prime fifteen years ago."

"In those days, players practiced several hours a day to perfect themselves," he explained. "But no longer is this true. After the training season and early games are over, they practice fifteen or thirty minutes a day. Then they are off in their automobiles or there are other things to demand their time."

Not Pessimistic
McGraw, however, is not pessimistic over conditions, for it is his belief that with the one exception, baseball has improved in every way. The game is cleaner and better organized. Playing fields are much better and traveling accommodations are greatly improved. More people than ever attend the games.

"Ten pennants and three world championships have been won by McGraw since he has managed the Giants. Outside of directing the team on the diamond, he attributes much of his success to trades with other clubs and the development of rookies."

"Many times I have let a good man in one position go because I needed more strength at another place," he said. "To win pennants, you must have a good, all-round club. If you get very weak in one department, then you must strengthen it even if it is necessary to lessen somewhat the efficiency at another point."

Relies on Scouts
In the selection of rookies, McGraw relies greatly upon the judgment of his scouts, but when the new men enter the training camp each spring he forms his own opinion as to those to be kept.

"I see something in a man the first time I watch him practice," he related. "It may be an asset or a fault, but it is recorded all the same. The first thing I look for is speed."

"As for mentality, it is impossible to tell whether a man has a good baseball head until he has been in at least several games. My observations during thirty-six years have taught me that a 'dumb' player is always 'dumb.' You can't get it out of him. This fault has kept many a player from being a second Cobb or Wagner."

Handles Each Differently
During a training season, McGraw devotes as much time to rookies as he does to his regulars. Each man has to be handled differently. Faults have to be corrected in most everyone.

"I believe a recruit has real ability. I stick to him through his poor exhibitions," he said. "Take Marquard as an example. I got him from Indianapolis and for three years he was wild. Then he found his control. Schupp was the same way—two cases of nerves."

"Ross Young came to me as an infielder. I told him he was an outfielder and farmed him out for experience before he came back and made good in the outer garden. Occasionally, I get a man like Greenfield, our kid pitcher, who on his first appearance pitched like a veteran."

McGraw said he "hadn't given a thought" to retiring.

A silver cup with silver basketballs will go to the second team and its individual members, and for the third place combination a silver cup and bronze basketballs for the individual players is offered.

Other loving cups are offered to winners of fourth place and to first and second teams in the consolation tournament to be played by teams eliminated in the first round.

All trophies are provided by the Cisco chamber of commerce and high school. Receipted will be pro-rated among the visiting teams. Entertainment is being planned for the visiting girls. They will be accommodated in homes of the city.

HELEN WILLS HAS EASY TIME IN 2 GAMES

NICE, France, Mar. 10.—Miss Helen Wills, the American tennis champion, bowled over two opponents in short order in the singles of the Nice tournament today, losing one name in the two matches.

She defeated Miss Helen Shirely at 6-0, 6-0, and Miss Sally Maynard at 6-0, 6-1.

Billy Evans Says

Here's One About Umpire Emmett Ormsby and the Maskmen

Often one snappy remark will get an umpire out of what otherwise might be a very unpleasant situation. It is customary for every umpire to have his fix ball club. The Athletics have always been a hoodoo team for Emmett Ormsby. When he has any trouble it is invariably with the A's.

During the slump of the Athletics last summer, which put them out of the pennant running, a ruling on interference by Ormsby in a certain game snuffed out an Athletic rally.

At the time the A's had lost 10 straight and any alibi was to be grabbed at. There was the usual kick and the continued shouts from the bench: "Well, you lost that one for us."

After listening to it for an inning, Ormsby quietly walked to the bench and remarked:

"You can blame that one on me when you get back to Philadelphia but you are going to have a tough time explaining the other 19."

The retort courteous hit a tender spot and had the desired effect—silence. The Athletics may have thought a lot of things about Ormsby but didn't express them.

CHOICE REPARTEE
Baseball is filled with choice bits of repartee. Some of it, however, wouldn't make a hit in our best family newspapers.

Sports which have more than two or four players are contenders offer greater opportunities for the expression of one's feelings. That is why wise-cracks fly thickest in baseball and football, rather than golf, boxing or tennis.

Each sport has some particular feature which is typical of that amusement. For years in boxing the introducing of anywhere from 10 to 20 fighters was the custom before starting the main bout.

At first it was interesting to get a glimpse of the real celebrities of the ring. However, it got so that every "ham-and-egg" fighter in the country was clamoring to be introduced and usually got away with it.

Instead of being interesting, the stunt began to be ridiculous. The fans, in order to have their fun out of it, would yell in pure mockery, "Speech," "Speech" as each fighter was introduced.

UNIQUE SPEECH
Along these lines Scotty Montie, former manager of Johnny Dundee, who is now handling Kid Kaplan, told me an interesting yarn.

Scotty once had in his stable a pre-eminence fighter by the name of Sammy Marino. He was known as the original sphinx. Either native dumbness or a natural disinclination to talk caused the fight fans to wonder if he was both deaf and dumb.

Whenever he was at the ringside the fans, purely as a joke, would demand that he be introduced and then they would clamor for a speech as he was dragged into the ring.

Marino would always back away without even so much as a smile or a wave of the hand. But the fans were insistent, hoping some day he would break the silence and give them a real laugh.

TABLOID CODE OF SCORING GOLF IS PROPOSED

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—Codification of the rules of golf has been discussed for years, but thus far no one has been able to convince the Royal and Ancient Golf club of St. Andrews that the law of the game might be modernized.

A tabloid code that would be possible if the same rules were made effective for both match and medal competition has been suggested as a sample of what could be done to simplify the rules.

Golf has grown over a long period of years and rules to meet contingencies added from time to time. The tenets were formulated almost entirely in Scotland, and some of them are thought to be obsolete even there. The main features of the suggested basic law, as tabulated by penalties, could be printed on the back of an ordinary score card. It follows:

- One Stroke Penalty For:
1. Moving ball anywhere while in play, accidentally or otherwise.
 2. Hitting competitor's ball with own on green.
 3. Lifting ball from water hazard or casual water in other hazard.
 4. Disturbing grass, brush, etc. unnecessarily in search for ball.
 5. Hitting self with own ball.
 6. Stopping own ball with person, caddy or club.
 7. Striking ball twice during stroke.
 8. Lifting ball for identification except in presence of competitor.
 9. Lifting ball on green while competitor's ball in motion.

- One Stroke and Distance For:
1. Lost ball, except in water hazard.
 2. Out of bounds.
- Two Strokes Penalty For:
1. Putting ball from elsewhere than where it lies.
 2. Pushing, scraping or spooning ball.
 3. Marking line of play.
 4. For removing irregularities of surface through green.
 5. For removing loose impediments more than club length from ball through green.

6. Taking practice stroke within club length of ball, except on tee.
7. Walking away from ball in play after ball has been addressed.
8. Moving, bending, breaking anything fixed or growing, except in mowing.
9. Grounding club heavily, or drawing across line of play.
10. Improving in anyway lie in any sort of hazard.
11. Pressing down anything in any manner on green.
12. Touching line of putt with club, foot or hand, except to remove loose impediments.
13. Playing on green while competitor's ball in motion.
14. Hitting flag or person at hole from within 20 yards.
15. Lifting ball from green before holed out.
16. Failure face hole and drop ball over shoulder when dropping.
17. Playing moving ball.
18. Failure play ball where it stopped or deflected by outside agency.
19. Failure drop ball at point where it landed in anything moving.

Wealth Of Material Available For Westerners Baseball Machine As Coaches Begin Annual Spring Grind

SPTS—WEALTH OF MATERIAL
The warm, springlike weather of the past few days is beginning to work on the sporting blood of local baseball followers, and especially is this true with the Lubbock high school Westerners, who answered the first call to baseball Monday afternoon at the Merrill park. About forty of these boys are taking regular workouts each afternoon under the chaperonage of coach "Mule" Davis, of the high school and Skipper Sied Allen, well known baseball man and trainer of young ball material.

While the season is a little young yet to judge much as to what may be in store for Lubbock high on the diamond, present indications point to one of the most successful seasons in the history of the school.

Several Men Brought Over.
Several letter men were brought over from last year including Seaman Smith on the infield; Orville Brox, in the catcher position, and Amarel Payne on the receiving end.

In addition to these a wealth of material is available, much of which has had a great deal of experience on the diamond, and a lively fight for coveted positions on the nine is expected through green.

20. Failure drop ball on spot whence moved by outside agency, except wind.
 21. Failure replace competitor's ball accidentally moved in search.
 22. Removing more sand than necessary to disclose top of ball.
- Disqualification For:
1. Asking or receiving advice from anyone except caddy.
 2. Cleaning ball while in play.
 3. Playing two consecutive strokes with wrong ball except in hazard.
 4. Failure return to original spot and replay ball out of bounds.
 5. Playing or to on any green on opening day of competition in practice.
 6. Failure to play stroke No. 3 from tee limits if first shot outside markers.
 7. Holed out with other than own ball.
 8. Failure to replace ball moved by competitor, his caddy, club or ball.
 9. For dropping nearer hole when ball lifted.
 10. Refusing lift or play at request of player farther from hole when both balls on green.
 11. Failure to take penalty 2 strokes when lifting from unplayable lie.

to be the outgrowth.

On the pitching end, the coaches have at their disposal at least two men brought over from last year, one a right hander and the other a south-paw. Overton Dillard, long and lanky, who admits that he would not be a proper model for a beauty specialist, possibly will carry the brunt of the pitching duties, and if past performance may be accepted as an indication as to what may be expected this year, he will certainly carry his team well along into the state championship chase.

Dillard has a delivery rarely ever found in high school material; he has a quick breaking fast ball, and a mending and baffling curve, and in the opinion of Skipper Allen, is one of the best prospects ever discovered in a local high school. He is a right hander.

Two Southpaws Available.
From the starboard side of the mound, Frank Wright, another hold-over, is one of the best in this part of the state. Several other prospects also are available, including Charles Ing, a Fort Worth product, also a left hander, who has expressed a desire to hold down the initial sack, but who may possibly be called upon to work from the mound. Ing has plenty of "right," and a good delivery, but hasn't been given a chance to show what he has.

One or more prospects are now available for each position on the diamond with the exception of catcher, pivot of the entire machine, and although some performed well last year, the skipper is now anxious to have another candidate or two for this position, and already has found one or two who may be drafted into service.

The bulk of training to date has been confined to light throwing and a little hitting practice, but the youngsters are all now fairly well limbered up, and a stiffer program will be started in the next day or two.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—A supreme court review was granted today in the federal trade committee's suit charging the American Tobacco Company with adding in price-fixing in the Philadelphia district. The court of appeals, which had dismissed the case, was overruled.

FARM RELIEF
Edwin Meredith, of Iowa, formerly an assistant secretary of agriculture, recently explained before the Senate committee studying the subject, a new method of crop handling which he believes will be a big aid to the farmers of the nation.

It is Mr. Meredith's idea that surplus crops be held until they can be placed upon the world market at a good price instead of being sold immediately after gathering time. And Mr. Meredith's idea is doubtless good one for the farmers in almost all parts of the country. He is an expert in the agricultural line and should know what he is talking about.

Conceiving and presenting ideas, however, are the smallest tasks in connection with farm relief measures. It's putting them into efficient effect that counts.
Farm relief measures—at least from a national standpoint—have very little bearing upon agriculture on the South Plains of Texas. With the exception of methods of handling the cotton crop farmers in this section are little interested—at least from a personal standpoint—in what is done at the present time by the administration.

Yet, right here, on these Plains, farm relief is needed.
It's not necessary for anyone to explain to President Coolidge or to anyone else. We all know what it is—farmers, business men, politicians and everyone else. The kind of farm relief we need in Lubbock and Lubbock county—and all over West Texas can be summed up in one word—diversification.

SHOWING FAITH
A group of business and professional men of Lubbock are putting on a new addition to the city limits—Highland Heights is the name of it—and it is located southwest of the present corporate limits.
"Nothing strange about that," you say. "That's being done every day or two, and the men behind it don't deserve any credit—they're getting their feet of it in dollars and cents."

In the case of Highland Heights, and every other addition to the city in a lesser light, perhaps, the men behind the shove do deserve credit other than what they get out of the plan financially. They deserve that credit because through their faith in Lubbock they are adding to its size and its beauty. They are doing the same for Lubbock that the Santa Fe did for the Plains when it built the first railroad into the territory and aided in making a great agricultural domain. They are banking on the future—and by so doing cause others to unconsciously, perhaps, follow their example.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BATTLESHIP CAN BE SUNK BY PLANE-LAGUARDIA

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10 — Having failed to get out of my system all that Congressman LaGuardia, flying World War one of the House of Representatives, told me about aviation the other day, here's another installment, even if it does seem like getting around to LaGuardia again a little too soon.

But it ought to be remembered that LaGuardia really is an eminent and a very practical authority on problems of the air—problems which are much to the point just now.

First, as to the question, "Can an aviator sink a battleship?"
That is to say, "Can he do it regularly?" "Can he do it so certainly that battleships no longer are any good?"

He can sink one, of course. It's been done. It's been done, however, to battleships—at anchor—defenseless.
The aviator kept at it until he got results.
"You couldn't do it with a battleship with a crew on board," say orthodox navy men. "Either you'd have to fly so high you couldn't make a hit or the crew would bring you down with an anti-aircraft gun."

"You could," answers Congressman LaGuardia.

"Suppose we were at war and a hostile fleet attacked our coast and I was in command.

"I'd pick out one of my boys and I'd lead him down with explosives until he couldn't fly very high, even if he wanted to, and I'd send him out to sink a battleship—and I wouldn't expect him to come back.

"Maybe he'd be shot down without sinking the ship. Then I'd send another and keep on sending, not expecting any of 'em to come back. Sooner or later I'd get that ship."

YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Henry Rand, 55, a business man, found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.
Janet Rand, his daughter, breaks her engagement with Barry Colvin because of the "disgrace." Jimmy Rand, his son, goes to Cleveland where the theater is. The stub is traced to Olga Maynard, a cabaret singer.
Jimmy meets and falls in love with Mary Lowell. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with Samuel Church, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.
Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warning to leave Cleveland and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.
With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy accuses her of marrying for money.
Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the "stub," he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police picture as Ike Jensen.
Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartiness causes her to break their engagement.
Olga and Jimmy are eating lunch together in a hotel. Suddenly she looks across the room and her eyes blaze with hatred. "There's a man I could cheerfully kill," she says.
Olga at lunch with Jimmy, tells him that Church, because she had refused to have anything to do with him, had persecuted her to the extent of causing her to lose several jobs. Jimmy suddenly realizes that Olga is in love with him, and is deeply troubled.

"Paul," she said to the office boy, "will you drop this in the mail box?"

CHAPTER XXXVII
A long silence fell on them. The orchestra was playing that most passionate of love songs, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delilah." Neither of them could utter a word; neither of them dared.
It was Olga who broke the spell cast by the music. She shrugged her shoulders and raised her hands in airy gesture to utter a platitude. "Oh well, live and learn, Jim."

Then he leaned forward and held her eyes with his, talking very fast. "Olga, if I do nothing else, I'm going to see that you get a real chance after—after things are cleared up. I've got one or two things against Sam Church myself. I think I'll make it a point to meet him and see if I can't pound a few respectable notations into his hand."

Concentration Of Refrigerator Cars In Valley Asked

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Mar. 10. (AP)—The problem of concentrating thousands of railroad refrigerator cars in the Rio Grande valley for the movement of fruits and vegetables is to be considered at the Southwest Shippers' Advisory Board meeting here March 15 and 16.

This board is a branch of the American Railway association and is composed of shippers and receivers of freight, farmers, merchants, representatives of industries and the public. It was organized to obtain efficient transportation for the nation's commodities.

The ever increasing volume of traffic from the valley requires the seasonal concentration of thousands of cars and this confronts the railroads with a problem the shippers' advisory board is aiding to solve.

The current season will require at least 8,000 refrigerator cars in the valley, according to C. P. Wasson, assistant secretary of the shippers' board. In the first two months of this year more than 3,000 loaded cars were moved out of the valley and beginning April 1, 1,500 cars will be needed at Laredo for moving the onion crop.

The shippers' advisory board gathers from shippers information on which it estimates future car needs and then cooperates with the railroads in concentrating the cars where needed.

There are 12 of these boards in the United States. The Southwest Board covers Texas and Louisiana and most of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

The first of these boards was organized in the early part of 1923 following a period of transportation distress which upset all industry and created a situation of industrial chaos. Out of these unfortunate conditions was born the idea of re-establishing relations between transportation and commerce on the basis of voluntary cooperation between all interested parties.

About 15,000 leaders of industry and railroads are now associated with the enterprise. No dues or fees are charged and the work is done without cost to the members.

Representatives of the railroads meet and cooperate with the board in matters pertaining to transportation and related activities, but have no directing voice in the affairs of the board. Railroads submit their equipment and transportation situations, prospective improvements, service charges and similar information.

The secretary, who testified before the house commerce committee said such a procedure would be in accordance with the original conception of the board. Differences between the executive and the board, he said, was one reason why we have failed to make progress with our merchant marine.

The committee, which took up the bill to carry but the principle of Secretary Hoover's proposal regarding the shipping board, recently approved a bill providing for co-ordination of all navigation functions now supervised by the department.

"We will never have a real or satisfactory merchant marine until it is owned and maintained by private," the secretary said, but he advocated government aid "to keep the flag flying on critical routes," until this could be achieved.

Florida Attracting Less Attention, Said

FORT WORTH, Mar. 10. (AP)—Judging from travel to California through Fort Worth and West Texas, the Florida boom is attracting less attention, Ed McRae, head of the highway department of the chamber of commerce here, said. Hundreds of west bound motorists still come through daily, although all of them do not stop at the tourist bureau for travel information.

The proposed Fort Worth-Plains highway, plans to which were drafted by the Spur, will be likely to attract a great deal of the California-bound traffic, as there is little difference in the mileage of the several routes, and the one paved first is expected to get the bulk of the tourists.

Every county between Fort Worth and New Mexico through which this road passes either already has hard-surfaced roads or has voted bonds for building the roads, with five exceptions, which McRae believes will fall immediately into line. The highway is a revival of the old Fort Worth-Roswell highway projected in 1914 and interrupted by the war.

Florida Photographer, Beaten By Masked Men, Walks Eight Miles To Home After Flogging; Wife Jailed

(By The Associated Press) TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 10.—Dudley Read, 31, photographer for the Tampa board of trade, who was taken from his home and whipped Monday by five masked men was not so badly injured but that he was prepared to return to work today. His wife and her parents Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Wendelborn, were released by police after being detained eight hours for questioning.

All are said to have denied any knowledge of the flogging. TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 10.—Dudley Read, photographer, who was taken from his home here and severely beaten by a band of unmasked men Monday, returned home this morning. He displayed numerous wounds on the body. The victim told the police that his abductors took him to a lonely spot about fifteen miles from Tampa and whipped him with a wide leather strap. He was blindfolded.

Read's hips and back were swollen and bleeding. Detectives said he had been struck probably fifty times. Read, who is 26 years old, said his abductors came to his home about 9 o'clock last night in two automobiles. Mrs. Margaret Read, his mother, answered the door bell. She was confronted by three men. One of whom wore a badge and said he was a deputy sheriff with a warrant for Read's arrest.

Mrs. Read called her son. He asked to see the warrant, and with a brusque "tell it to the sheriff," the men whisked him into the first of the waiting automobiles. Arriving at their destination, the abductors forced their victim from the car and after lashing him left him by the roadside with the remark that if he didn't abandon a divorce action which he had recently started, they would take him out again and nearly kill him.

Walks Eight Miles After walking eight miles he caught a ride into town and reached his residence about four o'clock this morning. After hearing Read's story, Chief of Police Carter ordered the arrest of Read's wife, her mother, father and brother, and detained them at police headquarters pending investigation. They declared that they knew nothing of the attack. Mrs. Read, 26, was formerly a feature writer.

About two months ago Read instituted divorce proceedings naming John Kelly, a friend, as respondent. Kelly and Read continued to be friends, Kelly living at Read's home and helped him in his work. Reports said Kelly had been flogged recently, but he denied this last night. Chief Carter would make no charges against Read's wife or her people, pending an inquiry, but expressed the belief that the whipping was "a domestic trouble." Read was reported to have told the chief that he had been "forced into the marriage."

BANKERS CHARGED IN OKLAHOMA

(By Associated Press) WEWOKA, Okla., Mar. 10.—Arraignment of W. C. Laurer, president of the First National bank of Kiefer and R. E. Owens, cashier of the Seminole State bank, of Seminole, on charge of embezzlement, was set for Tuesday before T. O. Criswell, county judge. Both banks are closed and in the hands of examiners. Laurer was arrested at his home in Kiefer last night and placed in jail here. Owens has been in jail since Thursday. The Seminole bank was taken over last Wednesday by the state banking department and the next day the Kiefer institution closed its doors. Investigation disclosed alleged illegal transactions between the two banks.

The amount of the alleged irregular declines had not been revealed by O. E. McPherson, state bank commissioner, says a heavy shortage has been found. R. E. E. Steigleder, president of the Seminole bank, for whom a warrant has been issued, has not been apprehended. Relief is expressed officially that he may have fled to Mexico.

Work Of Firemen At San Antonio Varied In Nature

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 10. (AP)—San Antonio's fire department, besides fighting the flames, finds time to build all of its own equipment, do its automobile repair work, paint its apparatus and conduct a nursery for plants and trees. And, then when things are dull it puts on exhibition drills for visitors in addition to its regular daily drills and calisthenics. At Station No. 2, on Crockett street around the corner from the Alamo, is the department's shop where all kinds of ladders are built and repair work done. Here there are two machine mechanics, two carpenter mechanics, two painter mechanics and one supply wagon driver. All of them came from the ranks of the fire fighters and all were trained while on the force. Equipment in use was valued by Chief J. G. Sarrazin at $5,000. This includes several expensive lathes. There always is in stock $10,000 worth of parts for the machinery and fire apparatus.

Second-growth fir from Oregon is used in making the ladders, and the rungs are made of hickory. Some of the department's automotive apparatus has been in use for seven years, but it is kept brightly painted and in perfect mechanical condition. Some of the trucks have been almost completely rebuilt by the shop mechanics. Chief Sarrazin believes in keeping all of the 18 stations scrupulously clean and attractive. As a means of beautifying the station's surroundings, he started a small nursery at No. 18, where evergreen and weeping willow trees and hedge are planted, as well as a few flowers.

RETAILERS OPEN A PAY PROMPTLY CAMPAIGN

A "Pay Your Bills Promptly" campaign was inaugurated Tuesday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Retail Merchants Association when a good-crowd-of-merchants were present to discuss the movement. Due to the fact the association is operated in connection with the chamber of commerce in Lubbock expenses of the association are cut down to about half of what they would be. At this time however, according to a statement of J. D. Hassell at the meeting, the dues of the association are not sufficient to take care of the present expense. Seven firms volunteered to stand the expense of the first advertising which will be run, under the name of the Retail Merchants Association to

Work is now progressing at a rapid clip on the water and sewer line extensions in the city of Lubbock, but much better progress has been made in laying the water lines than the sewer, according to Harry N. Robert, consulting engineer. Work in the amount of approximately $2,000 is yet to be done on the water lines. Mr. Roberts said, on the program that called for expenditure of more than $127,000 by a contract let last August to the Peninsula Construction company of this city. The bulk of remaining work is on 23rd street, where it is understood that right of way has not yet been secured. The sewer program, which has progressed much more slowly for more than one reason, is now considerably more than half done, with approximately $45,000 worth of work yet to be completed. The original contract, which was let at the same time of the water contract, called for expenditure of approximately $115,000. The depth of the lines in some sections of the city, and rock encountered in digging the ditches considerably hampered progress on this part of the program. A bond issue voted last year set aside $200,000 for the two projects, $150,000 on each water and sewer, and the proposed extensions, which at contract prices totalled a little less than $250,000 leaves a balance that probably will be consumed in further extensions of the lines and the building of reservoirs for water storage. Approximately ten miles of water line, mostly of six and eight inch pipe will have been laid under this program when completed, and thirteen and a half miles of sewer line, of six, eight and ten inch pipe are called for.

SIKI'S DEATH IS CLEARED WHEN BOY FOUND

NEW YORK POLICEMEN IN DISGUISE, GETS FACTS ABOUT MURDER

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Mar. 10. (AP)—Revelations were made today as to the mysterious slaying of Battling Siki in Hell's Kitchen last December. The last few minutes of his life were spent in a saloon brawl with men he called "white trash." The story of what happened in the early hours when the Senegalese boxer's body was riddled with bullets, was told today by an 18 year old youth, Martin Maroney, who was arrested on a charge of homicide. Police believe, however, that the youth had fled before Siki was killed.

Two detectives they first suspected Maroney when they overheard him in a telephone booth discussing plans to make a getaway "because the bulls are too close to us." The detectives, disguised as truck drivers, had frequented a Ninth Avenue social club for weeks investigating Siki's death.

NICE, Mar. 10. (AP)—Steve Donoghue is too good a jockey for the movies. Steve came to Nice to take one of the chief parts in a new film called "Riding for the King." His first work was to ride a horse in a race with an automobile, in which the car was supposed to win.

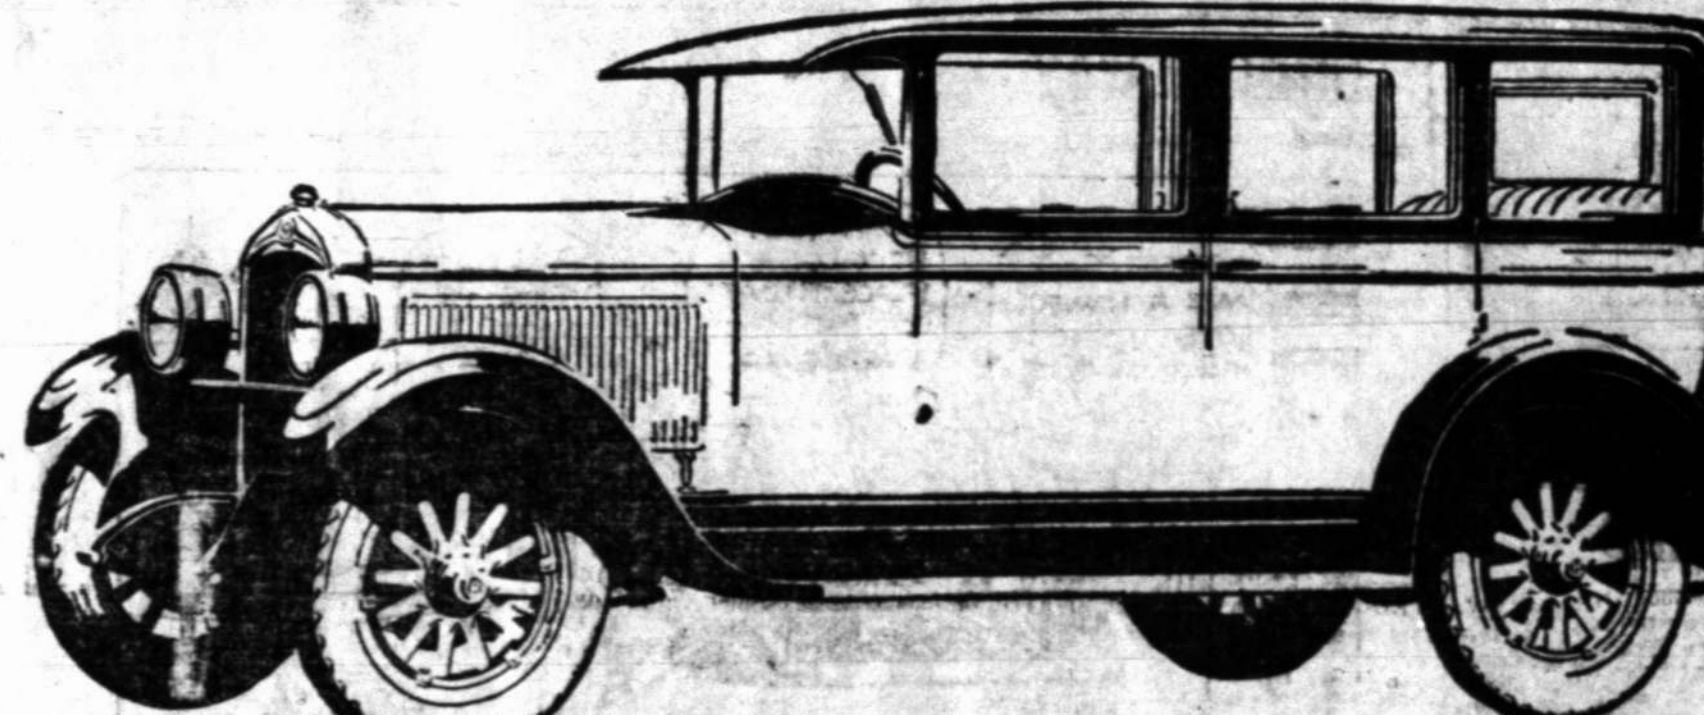

Donoghue Could Not Lose Race For Movies

Donoghue has given the names of several men who were in a Ninth Ave. luncheon, where Siki is believed to have been shot. Siki, Maroney said, entered the lunch room in a drunken rage, called eight men "white trash" and hurled a chair at them. The men leaped at the boxer and during the fight that followed, Maroney fled. A few blocks away he heard shots.

POLITICS IS CAUSE OF MURDER, CLAIM

CENTER, Tex., Mar. 10. (AP)—The warm political fight attending the 1924 sheriff's race in Angelina county, and said to have been responsible for the slaying of Ben F. Smith, a candidate, was reviewed here today in the murder trial of Greer C. Dunn, former state ranger.

Defense witnesses admitted under cross-examination they had supported Sheriff Youngblood, successful candidate over Smith and that they were familiar with circulars printed attacking Smith, and on which Smith's widow later recovered damages.

Additional testimony probably will be offered this afternoon for the defendant in attempts to establish that Smith threatened Dunn's life. Dunn is not expected to be placed on the stand until Thursday.

Dunn killed Smith on the night of September 14, 1924 at Lufkin, a short time after Smith had been defeated in the run-off for sheriff, and the case was brought here on a change of venue.

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 10. (AP)—W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, in San Antonio, today announced his candidacy for re-election for a second term on his same platform: "A public office is a public trust; and must not be used for private gain."

"I am glad that the Attorney General, Dan Moody, is on my platform. I hope the other candidates for governor will follow Mr. Moody's example. Thirty days before assuming the duties of state treasurer, I said to all who came to see me about the policy which I would pursue as a state official that my platform would be my policy. It has been. And I am running for re-election on the same platform."

Two Families Furnish Gymnastic Champions

BERKELEY, Cal., Mar. 10. (AP)—Representatives of two families prominent in widely separated fields are found on the University of California gymnastics team, which also is unique in that it is composed entirely of champions who may be unable to defend their titles.

They are Paul G. Wilbur, son of the secretary of the navy, and A. Samalago, a brother of Ramon Novarro, moving picture actor. The team has found it difficult to secure competition, despite repeated challenges, said Coach C. A. Pease, who assigns the superiority of his squad's prowess as the reason.

CONSTANT GROWTH SHOWN IN LOCAL ASSOCIATION

The auditor's report of the past year's business of the Lubbock Building and Loan Association, which was made by Roland H. Hall, local accountant, was reviewed and approved by the directors of the Association at a meeting here Tuesday afternoon.

The audit shows all money properly accounted for, and that the books, papers and securities are in perfect shape according to Joe Hess, Secretary-Manager of the Association.

The directors expressed themselves as very much pleased with the splendid and continued growth of the association as shown in the report, especially regarding loans, which incidentally are confined entirely to the building of homes in Lubbock by members of the organization.

The report showed that 151 loans have been made by the association since its organization in 1921 with assets of $9.61, for a net average over the five year period of nearly four homes per month that have been built through the association. Two loans were made in 1921, 17 in 1922, 42 in 1923, 48 in 1924, 66 in 1925, and during the little over two months of this year, 22 loans have been made, showing steady growth, both in the assets of the association, and the number of homes being erected through it. The total assets of the association now are $24,400.51, which grew from $9.61, which were sole assets at organization in 1921.

Eleven loans totalling $29,169 for erection of homes here were approved at the meeting of the directors yesterday, according to Mr. Hess.

FEDERAL JUDGE FACES CHARGES

House Committee Vote Leaves Matter Up To Entire Body To Decide On Trial

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—The house will be called upon within the next two weeks to decide whether Federal Judge George W. English of the Eastern Illinois district shall be tried by the senate on charges of "high misdemeanors in office."

Recommendation that impeachment proceedings on such grounds be instituted against the judge were voted late yesterday by the house judiciary committee. Its action, taken by a 14 to 6 vote, followed an investigation based on findings of a special committee which last summer inquired into charges that the judge was involved in manipulation of bankruptcy and was guilty of usurpation of power.

The judiciary committee appointed a sub-committee to draft the articles of impeachment and report back March 15. The committee plans to place the matter before the house within two days after these articles are submitted to it, and its report will refer to any in the house over all other business.

RUTLAND, Vt., Mar. 10. (AP)—Five feet of snow, the heaviest late winter blizzard in many years, covers many sections of the state. STATE FILES ITS ANSWER IN COURT

AUSTIN, Mar. 10. (AP)—The state, represented by Assistant Attorney General R. B. Cousins, Jr., today filed answer to the mandamus proceedings brought by the American Book Company to compel S. M. N. Marrs, superintendent public instruction to recognize its $30,000 contract and submission of said argument before the Texas supreme court was postponed until Friday.

Postponement was made in order to give W. A. Keeling, attorney for the company, time in which to study the answer. Indications were that the report to be filed by the Attorney General in district court to cancel the contract would be withheld until after the supreme court acted on the application for writ of mandamus.

(By the Associated Press) GENEVA, Switzerland, Mar. 10.—It is learned that Foreign Minister Stressmann, of Germany, told the Allied statesman at this morning's session that if Germany was unable to enter the league council alone, he delegates would be obliged to return to Berlin as anything else would be a violation of their mandate.

SEATTLE, Wash., Mar. 10. (AP)—Complete unofficial tabulation today indicated that a proposal to abolish the office of mayor in this city and that of establishing a city manager lost in the election yesterday.
